10-member Cabinet tendered their resignations to clear the way for the formation of a national unity Cabinet to undertake the rebuilding of the homeland."

Gemayel, a Maronite Christian, said later in a statement that he needed time to decide whether to accept the resignations and asked the Wazzan government to remain in office "until the features of the new era crystalize and the arragements to usher it in are completed.

Syria and Lebanese Druse leader Walid Jumblatt had demanded the resignation of Wazzan as a condition for a cease-fire in the civil war, which pitted Syrian-backed Druse militias and their leftist Lebanese allies against Christian militias and the Lebanese army.

ADDRESS TO THE U.N. — President Reagan Monday morning, in an address to the recently convened session of the United Nations, proposed the U.S. and the Soviet Union cut existing nuclear arsenals.

Reagan offers to cut nukes in Soviet pact

UNITED NATIONS (AP) -President Reagan, declaring "a nuclear war cannot be won and must never be fought," today offered to reduce the number of new missiles the United States plans to deploy in Europe if the Soviet Union accepts his challenge to cut global nuclear stockpiles.

"The door to an agreement is open," he said. "It is time for the Soviet Union to walk through it."

The president made his remarks in a speech to the 38th annual session of the United Nations General Assembly. He was applauded once, when he had finished speaking.

Reagan used the speech, his first to the General Assembly, to castigate the Soviets for striking down a Korean Air Lines jetliner. But he also held out the carrot of arms control agreements, stressing the need for a peaceful solution to global disputes and employing less harsh language than in recent remarks on the airplane catasrophe.

At the same time, he affirmed "our unwavering support" for the United Nation's peacekeeping missions — at a time of when efforts are being made to cut the U.S. contribution to the U.N. budget - and decried "the emergence of blocs and the polarization of the U.N."

Council considers cable plea

The Big Spring City Council is expected Tuesday to once again consider a request by the local television cable firm to transfer ownership to its publically-owned parent company.

The council meets at 6:30 p.m. at City Hall at Fourth and Nolan

The council tabled the matter at its Sept. 13 meeting so members could study the proposal more closely. Councilmen Jack Y. Smith and Larry Miller questioned the legality of transfering the cable's private ownership to TCA Cable, Inc. of Tyler.

Jim Lancaster, vice president for Big Spring Cable, said the change from private to public ownership would give the local company more potential "to finance growth." He also said the move would not change the management of the local Lancaster said the 10 stockholders who currently own Big Spring Cable have approved the transfer to TCA.

In another matter, the council will consider changes in health insurance coverage for employees 65 to 69 years old.

Previously, these workers had been covered primarily by Medicare, but a recent change in the law requires that employers must provide employees in the 65 to 69 age range the same benefits afforded younger employees.

Councilmen will 'consider two plans of payment for insurance coverage the rest of 1983. The first option would cost the city $2,100 and the second, $7,268.

The judge macrames

A JUDGE AND HIS YARN — State District Court Judge Jim Gregg, a practitioner of macrame, proudly displays his latest creation, a cradle for his daughter's first child who is due this week. Gregg has been doing macrame for a decade and started by making planters.

Story of hobby is no yarn

By KEELY COGHLAN Staff Writer

In his spare time, 118th State District Court Judge Jim Gregg ties

Gregg practices the dying art of macrame. He started about 10 years ago with a simple hanging plant holder made out of bailing twine that hangs by his front door.

His latest project is much more elaborate — a white macramed hanging cradle for his daughter's first child, which was due this week. The cradle, modelled after one Gregg saw in Gatlinburg, has more than 3,000 square knots and half-hitches in the bottom, and used 2,545 feet of braided polyester, he said. "That's almost half a mile of material," Gregg said. "Macrame's about gone out. We had to go to a warehouse in Fort Worth to get it

His wife, Catherine, said she had a nightmare about the cradle dur-

'I dreamed the baby was born 12 pounds and 25 inches long, and that it was sitting up and waving to us from the window of our daughter's home in Kansas. He'd already outgrown the cradle," she said. "And Jim told me he hoped I wouldn't have any more of those dreams." "I already told my daughter this was the only cradle I was going to make," Gregg said. He has a grandchild and step-grandchildren by The judge said he uses macrame projects, such as the cradle, to relieve his tension. He worked six months on the cradle, off and on. "It's a lot of fun. But you have to stand up all the time while you're working, so you can't work on it all the time," Gregg said. Gregg became interested in macrame when he was looking for a well with a metal detector on someone else's property. He didn't find the well, but the woman who owned the property had lots of macrame on "She taught him in about 10 minutes," Mrs. Gregg said. Gregg said the woman showed him a few knots; learning macrame was easy, he said, because he had tied a lot of knots on ship rails in the In addition to the cradle, he has made a hanging glass table with a lamp and various plant holders. He plans to make a hammock next, and then a throw net for fishing. Gregg and his wife spend a good portion of his vacations fishing at various lakes throughout the state. The judge and his wife also work on their place north of Big Spring. But perhaps Gregg's most unusual hobby for a judge is playing Atari. He plays Pac-Man avidly, he says.

I've got a Pac-Man trophy in my office at the courthouse. I'll have to show it to you if you haven't seen it," Gregg said.

San Antonio police baffled by bombings

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - The attack on Don Patterson broke with the emerging pattern and left detectives unable to find a motive in a bizarre series of car bombings that have not injured anyone.

Patterson, a 41-year-old computer technician, loaded his 4-year-old son into the family station wagon on the morning of Sept. 9 and was backing out of his drive when a pipe bomb exploded beneath the car. The blast lifted the vehicle off the ground and sprayed shrapnel across the street. It also shattered what seemed like a pattern developing from two earlier car bombings here on successive Sundays in March.

"This is a rarity," Police Detective Larry Foraker told the Dallas Times Herald in a Sunday story. "To have three of these in six months — this just doesn't Foraker, of San Antonio's police department arson squad, said authorities have been unable to determine a motive for the Sept. 9 bombing, or to come up with an explanation for the rash of attacks.

Foraker said the type of bomb used against Patterson apparently was different from the ones used against the cars of an oilman and a congressman. The first two bombings caused extensive damage but also injured no one.

"In the first two you can speculate a little bit because of the type of cars they went after," said 'oraker, noting that the oilman's car was a $ Cadillac and Rep. Bill Archer's vehicle was marked with a government license plate.

"Maybe somebody's got something against money or authority.

"But in this last one," Foraker said. "Somebody may be doing it just for the heck of it, getting kicks out

In the March bombings, not enough of the explosive device was left to tell much about it, police said, but they surmise it was placed above the fuel tank because in both cases the gasoline was ignited.

The bomb used on Patterson's car was fairly sophisticated — gunpowder packed in a pipe that was triggered by the car's motion, said experts with the police department and the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

Foraker said the placement in the rear of the car suggested that the attack wasn't an attempt on someone's life, but rather "criminal mischief.

"If they wanted to blow up the tank or hurt the guy, they could have done it," Foraker said. "It would have been easy enough to put it (the bomb) below the seat.

concerns the Soviets had raised in Geneva: the question of whether the new U.S. missile deployment in Europe would completely offset Soviet global deployment, the inclusion of aircraft in the talks and the number of Pershing 2 missiles deployed if an agreement to reduce global missiles is reached.

While making the new offer, Reagan reiterated that he felt his original "zero-option," under which the United States would cancel the European deployment if the Soviets removed their 351 SS-20 missiles targeted on Western Europe, was still the best plan. "Unfortunately, the Soviet Union declined to accept the total elimination of this class of weapons," he said.

"I want to make an unequivocal pledge to those gathered today in this world arena," Reagan said. "The United States seeks and will accept any equitable, verifiable agreement that stabilizes forces at lower levels than currently exist." But, in a speech that referred to the Sept. 1 attack on KAL flight 007 that killed 269 people as "a timely reminder ... of the Soviets' concept of truth and international cooperation," the president said "we cannot compromise on the necessity of "Peace cannot be served by pseudo-arms control. We need reliable, reciprocal reductions," he said, adding:

"I call upon the Soviet Union today to reduce the tensions it has heaped on the world in the past weeks, and to show a firm commitment to peace by coming to the bargaining table with a new understanding of its obligations. I urge it to match our flexibility. If the Soviets sit down at the bargaining table seeking genuine arms reductions, there will be arms reductions.

"The time has come for the Soviet Union to show proof that it wants arms control in reality, not just in rhetoric," he said.

Giving the assembled heads of government and dozens of foreign ministers a tour of the diplomatic and global weapons horizon, Reagan said:

Southern governors discuss '83 drought

AUSTIN (AP) — Problems caused by this summer's drought and concern over public education top the agenda when 14 members of the Southern Governor's Association gather this week.

North Carolina Gov. Jim Hunt said he would introduce a resolution when the three-day conference begins today calling for a stronger federal response to the drought, a Hunt spokesman in Austin said Sunday.

"He will attempt to put in a resolution regarding the federal response to the drought," said the spokesman, Brent Hackney. "It will be in the form of a policy statement from the South as to what the government ought to do in response to the drought that is now upon us." Texas Gov. Mark White, who is hosting the conference, said it "gives top state officials an opportunity to share ideas on issues confronting our region — the need to improve the quality of education, balance energy and environmental concerns, find new markets for Southern-made products, and better manage state prison systems." Oklahoma Gov. George Nigh will lead a discussion on prison problems.

Also on the agenda are a teleconference by satellite with European coal representatives concerning Southern coal exports and a discussion of developing Southern ports and Southern exports other than coal.

Virginia Gov. Charles Robb, the chairman of the association and the son-in-law of former President Lyndon Johnson, will spend some time at the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, officials said.

Simon, Garfunkel in Israel

TEL AVIV - Singer Paul Simon wiped away tears as an ecstatic Israeli stadium audience cheered him and partner Art Garfunkel through the first of two concerts billed as their last together.

"I want to say so much, but I can't," said Simon, who doesn't usually talk to his audiences. Fighting back tears, he added: "I'm so happy to be here. I love you all.'

"We love you, we love you," the crowd of 50,000 yelled back as the two sang "Sound of Silence" at the Saturday night concert.

The duo seemed overcome by emotion as they played their first concert in Israel together. Simon performed here solo in 1978. Both men are Jewish. "We should have done this a long time ago," said

Garfunkel. Simon came here on his honeymoon with his wife, actress Carrie Fisher. He and Garfunkel scheduled two weekend concerts in the Ramat Gan Stadium outside Tel Aviv, with proceeds from the $50 tickets going to charity through the Variety Club of Israel. Simon and Garfunkel broke up to pursue separate careers 11 years ago. Two years ago they were reunited at a concert in New York City's Central Park. Their Israel performances come at the end of HANOVER - Lady Bird Johnson, widow of Presidnt Lyndon Johnson, says the late Republican Vice President Nelson Rockefeller would have made "a marvelous president."

Mrs. Johnson made the remark Saturday at the dedication of the Nelson A. Rockefeller Center for the Social Sciences at Dartmouth College.

Rodman Rockefeller, son of the vice president and New York governor, said the center, which houses classrooms and auditoriums, will become "a true center of dynamic inquiry, controversy and cross-fertilization.

Most of the $6.3 million cost of the center came from a fund drive, said Robert Graham, a Dartmouth spokesman. He said Mrs. Johnson and former President Gerald Ford, under whom Rockefeller was vice president, were honorary heads of the fund drive.

'You honor a productive and vibrant life in a way very much in character with the man," Mrs. Johnson told a crowd of 500 people. "He loved the grand plan, the blueprint, the commission, the study that would bring great minds and ideas together ... He would have been a marvelous

Soviets surrender debris

NEVELISK - A grim-faced Soviet general today turned over five wooden crates of clothing and debris from the South Korean jetliner shot down by a Soviet warplane, but insisted his country had found no remains of its 269 passengers and crew.

Major General A.I. Romanenko, head of the Soviet border forces for the Sakhalin and Kurile Islands. handed over the crates at Nevelisk, a fishing port on Sakhalin island not far from where Korean Air Lines Flight 007 is believed to have plunged into the sea Sept.

It was the first time the Soviet Union has surrendered items from the Korean plane. The Soviets turned over 76 items, mostly debris from the aircraft and articles of clothing.

Five bodies and several body parts have been found on the coast of Japan, as well as thousands of pieces of debris and personal items. Still apparently missing, and the object of intense U.S. and Soviet searches, are the flight recorders from the Boeing 747.

China promised U.S. arms

PEKING - Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger told Chinese officials today that most of the military technology they have requested from the United States can be furnished now that China has been reclassified as a friendly, non-allied country, Weinberger's official spokesman reported.

The spokesman, who briefed reporters on the condition that he not be identified, said Weinberger at a three-hour meeting told Defense Minister Zhang Aiping the U.S. Commerce Department can automatically approve 32 more items of civilian high technology with possible military use

He said 11 more could be approved after further study and assurances about the intended use

China in June 1981 presented a list of requests for militarily related or dual-use technology and munitions. Weinberger said 11 items initially were

His spokesman said the Chinese have not added to the list because of the troubled state of Chinese-American relations and a lapse in military contacts. But he refused to say how many items were on the list originally or to identify any of them.

IRA prisoners escape

BELFAST - Police today recaptured two Irish Republican Army guerrillas who escaped from the Maze maximum security prison and a massive manhunt continued for 21 still at large. "It is a desperately dangerous situation," said a senior police officer. "It is like trying to corner a pack of wolves." Hundreds of soldiers and police, aided by helicopters and tracking dogs, scoured the countryside for the guerrillas. British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, in Ottawa for talks with Canadian officials, said the breakout was "the gravest in our prison history.

James Prior, Britian's secretary for Northern Ireland, ordered a "rigorous and searching inquiry at the highest level" into how 38 men obtained guns and knives to fought their way out of the maximumsecurity Maze prison, 12 miles south of Belfast, on Sunday. Seventeen fugitives have been recaptured.

Belgian king dies

BRUSSELS - King Leopold III, who was forced to abdicate to his son Baudouin 33 years ago for surrendering Belgium to the Nazis in World War II, died here of heart failure, the royal palace said today. He The palace said in a state ment that Leopold died at St. Luc Hospital at Louvain University a few hours after team of American and Belgian surgeons performed a coronary bypass operation Sunday. The funeral will be Saturday, the palace said. Under Belgium's constitutional monarchy, the king appoints ministers but cannot make any political decision without their approval. However, Leopold was considered an authoritarian leader who preferred the advice of a select group of advisers to that of official ministers.

Leopold inherited the throne in 1934 at the age of 28 when his father, King Albert, died in a mountain climbing accident.

Socialists win in Germany

BONN - The Social Democrats, who campaigned against the deployment of NATO nuclear missiles in West Germany, defeated Chancellor Helmut Kohl's conservative party in two state elections.

The elections Sunday in Hesse and Bremen, which the Social Democrats have governed since World War II, were the first since Kohl's rightist-moderate coalition government won a major victory in national parliamentary balloting in March.

Kohl's party, the Christian Democratic Union, favors cuts in social welfare spending and backs the deployment of new U.S. missiles in Germany to counter Soviet missiles. Deployment of the U.S. missiles is scheduled to begin in December.

The left-leaning Social Democrats are leading opponents of the deployment, and the party is expected to formalize its stance in a resolution at a national convention in Bonn in November.

Kohl's government is committed to NATO's decision to station 572 Pershing 2 and Tomahawk cruise missiles in Germany, Britain, Italy, Belgium and the Netherlands if Moscow refuses to slash its arsenal of SS-20 missiles.

Marcos turns on clergy

MANILA - President Ferdinand E. Marcos today blamed his political opponents for the assassination of his chief rival, Benigno Aquino, and said he would press to complete an investigation of the killing within two weeks. In another development, U.S. Embassy and church sources said today that President Reagan will meet with Marcos' most prominent critic - Roman Catholic Cardinal Jaime L. Sin — if Reagan makes his planned visit to the Philippines in November. On Sunday, Marcos rejected a plea from Sin that he share his power, and he lashed out at Catholic clergymen, accusing them of teaching schoolchildren Reagan has faced pressure in the United States to cancel his visit because of political turmoil in the Philippines. Anti-Marcos demonstrations in the Philippine cities have had an increasingly anti-American tone, and organizers have vowed to stage large rallies

American dream is color blind

Parents pass on to their children a bedrock American dream: Any boy can grow up to be president of the United States. Any girl can grow up to be Miss America.

The dream embodies America's love of egalitarianism, a firm belief that with dedication and hard work, the sky is the limit. Perhaps that is why these apple-pie myths left blacks so disillusioned.

Minority children had their dreams too, but the reality was that only white men and women ever became American presidents or Miss Americas.

Part of that barrier tumbled down last Saturday when Vanessa Williams became our first black Miss America.

Vanessa Williams, who sings like Barbra Streisand and already has mastered several musical instruments at the age of 20, is highly accomplished. In fact, she's uupset the media has made such a fuss over her race.

She was not crowned only for her achievements, though. She also won for personality and appearance. And this was an important symbolic victory against racial discrimination, the kind of skin-deep bigotry that singled out targets on the basis of color and features

True, the new Miss America has light eyes. And because of the way in which pageant officials tend to homogenize the competitors' appearance, she did not look remarkably different from the other contestants.

But the fact is that as a black woman, she would have been barred from competing during the first three decades of the 63-year-old beauty pageant. During those early years, the only chance the Vanessa Williamses of the world had of getting close to the famous runway was to play the role of a slave to the white

With the changing times, black women were allowed to compete. But until this year, only two ever got to the finals.

Feminists, who already dismiss the pageant as a degrading sexist ritual, may view Williams' win as a token gesture.

After all, this year's runner-up is black too. What a coincidence.

And Williams apparently had no plans to participate until pageant officials in New York saw her perform and recruited Nevertheless, Miss America is vintage American, the beauty queen of the heartland, the girl next door. She is held up as an ideal.

Now that the Miss America racial barrier is broken, we hope it won't be long until parents of all races can tell their boys (and girls), "You could grow up to be president of the United States."

And mean it.

James Dean

James Dean is still with us. Even though he's been dead for 28 years come Sept. 30, the image of the frown-faced Dean in his red jacket are still being called up.

Without much effort, I came up with a few examples of Dean being used for illustrative purposes or to provide an image or mood.

Not long ago, a friend gave me a button that bore Dean's smiling face. The Robert Altman film entitled Come Back to the Five and Dime, Jimmy Dean, Jimmy Dean can be seen on cable. Texas Monthly recently used an illustration of Dean on its cover. And Esquire magazine has also used Dean's picture in the last few months.

Why the orginal teen-idol, coolguy prototype still endures is not a mystery. It's not that we are in love the James Dean, the person, but James Dean, the myth.

After he died at age 24 in a speeding silver Porsche, he established for us the myth of youth. Even though we all grow older, Dean remains to this day 24, hip, and living on an emotional edge. That's something we'd all like to do, but can't.

and cling to it often long after we should have let it go. But Dean will never grow old, and he gives us the courage, and perhaps the naivete, to imagine that we may never grow of him scowling in that red jacket look like the way I feel sometimes. He is, at least for me, a mirror of an emotion that cries out for more truth and genuineness in life, and much less confusion.

The best way to describe the emotion and look I'm talking about is to put it in the form of several strung together questions. Something like "why am I so scared, why am I so bored, why don't I fit in, why are you so stupid, why aren't things better, why don't I understand?"

In Dean's role in the film Rebel Without A Cause, he runs a gamut of emotions. He rants at us, he laughs, he cries, he screams and searches his soul for answers in a twisted world where few things

He plays out that feeling in each of us that has us asking the questions "Who Am I?" and "Why am I here?"

Most of us want to be different. We want to make our own individual marks on the world, and to do this we search for reasons for our existence. However, the path is never really clear, and there aren't In our culture, we worship youth many clues. "Rebels without causes" is an accurate label.

Some might call my fondness of James Dean juvenile or innocuous; however, as long as I have that emotion inside of me which Dean wears too well on the outside, he will always remain with me.

U.S. commitment to U.N. vital

WASHINGTON — The suggestion that the United States wants to shut down the United Nations - even though unauthorized and provoked comes at a peculiarly dangerous moment. For despite manifold weaknessess, the U.N. offers this country the best available forum for dealing with both the Lebanese problem and the Korean airliner incident. So Ronald Reagan, when he speaks to the General Assembly this Monday, will reaffirm this country's commitment to the world Questions about that commitment arose during a U.N. meeting on the responsibilities of the U.S. as host nation. A Soviet diplomat, Igor Yaklavlev, took up the restrictions on civil aviation invoked after the airliner incident, which Russia cited as reason for canceling Andrei Gromyko's projected visit to the General Assembly Yaklavelev said the restrictions proved the U.S. was unfit to be the host country.

That gratuitous shot maddened Charles Lichenstein, the American who serves as alternate Security Council delegate to Ambassador Jeane Kirpatrick. In anger, he retorted:

"If in the judicious determiniation of the members of the United Nations they feel they were not welcomed and treated with the hostly member states seriously to consider removing themselves and this organization from the soil of the United States

The White House, and the U.S. mission to the U.N., both quickly emphasized that Lichenstein's comments were "personal," ot official.

Not as a guarantor of American security. The U.S. and its allies can look after that. But there are occapropriately be contained by American power. The U.N. exists for those contigencies, and sensitivity to them is an ornament of American diplomacy.

Thus Franklin Roosevelt practically invented the U.N. When threatened by Khrushchev because of its role in the Congo, Dwight Eisenhower and John Kennedy fought to keep it alive. Were it to be wrecked now, the U.S. would be humiliated. Indeed, if the rest of the world consented to move the U.N. at this juncture, it would mark the decline of this country as a great power On top of those general considerations come the immediate issues of Lebanon and the Korean airliner. Maybe the combination of American diplomacy and American naval guns can foster a cease-fire between the Lebanese governemnt and the various dissident factions backed by Syria. But the chances are dim. In the event of failure, American Marines will be in a terrible trap, and this country will eventually want to extricate them.

The best way out is to do what President Eisenhower did after he landed American troops in Lebanon in 1958. That is to call in an observer force from the U.N. to take over. Negotiations to that end were in fact underway at the U.N. last week. They broke down because of intransigence by the Russians and the Syrians. But another effort along the same lines is practically certain.

As to the airliner incident, the exchange of insults serves neither Moscow nor Washington. The Russians only make it harder to develop any kind of constructive relation with the Reagan administration. sions - more and more occasions, The U.S. allows other countries to in fact - when world peace is turn away from what they can menaced by forces that cannot ap- disparage as a mere quarrel between the superpowers.

It happens, furthermore, that the delement of accident looms increasingly large in the tragedy. The Korean plane was way off course. Though much detail remains to be filled out, though an American white paper is probably in order, the evidence so far does not begin to sustain the Soviet claim of an intelligence operation. On the contrary, error seems to be the dominant force.

Conversely, much internal evidence suggests the Russians were genuinely obsessed by spy planes. Particulary on the night of 1 September when a major test of some kind was planned. Warning shots seem to have been fired. Confusion between the Korean airliner and an American spy plane is very possible - particulary on the part of the ground personnel who gave Everybody has an interest in establishing the facts. For if mistakes can be indentified, it will be possible to work out new provisions for warning away aircraft. So an impartial investigation by the technical body attached to the U.N.

 the International Civil Air Organization — makes sense. If the Russians refuse, then the world will know what to think - and not against the background of a Big Two polemic.

Only by resolving the airline incident, moreover, can the world move past the present spate of namecalling. President Reagan, while he can live with a period of tension, has no interest in promoting it. On the contrary, he is going to the U.N., on the motion of Ambassador Kirkpatrick, precisely to show this country's continuing commitment to the works of peace.

Bible's teachings are immortal

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know you place a lot of emphasis on the Bible. But does it really have anything to say about our practical, modern-day problems, since it was written so long ago? — J.G.S.

DEAR J.G.S.: Yes, I place a great deal of emphasis on the Bible and one reason I do so is precisely because it is so practical and deals with problems we all face in our everyday lives.

Why is this the case? It is true because first of all it is God's Word to us. It is not a book of human ideas and advice — it is God's Word, given to us by him to teach us how to live. "All Scripture is God-breathed and is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness, so that the man of God may be thoroughly equipped for every good work" (Timothy 3:16-17). God knows what we are like - far better than we know ourselves - and he knows what we need if we are to live as we should.

It also is true because man does not change. Yes, we live in a world which is much different from that of the biblical writers. But man is the same. Our hearts are the same, and our spiritual needs are the same. Our greatest need is to be reconciled to God, who created us, and in the Bible we discover the wonderful truth that this is possible through faith in Jesus Christ. We also need to know how to live. We need to know what is right and wrong, and we need to know how to love others and get along with others. The bible shows us the way. "Your word is a lamp to me feet and a light for my path" (Psalm 119:105).

I invite you to discover the Bible for yourself. (A good place to start would be with the book of Proverbs in the Old Testament and the Gospel of John in the New Testament). Read it every day, and ask God to show you its truth for your life. If you do, you will not only discover that it will guide you in your daily living, but you will discover the wonderful truth that God - the Bible's author — loves you and wants you to be his child through faith in Jesus Christ

The long 'Summer of Judgment'

WASHINGTON - Nearly a decade after the "summer of judgment," a bit player in the Watergate-era drama is once again under criminal investigation.

He is Felipe De Diego, one of the White House "plumbers." He was part of the burglary crew that broke into the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding, a psychiatrist who treated Pentagon Papers leaker Daniel Ellsberg. De Diego was indicted, but all charges were dropped because California prosecutors had given him immunity in return for his testimony about the burglary.

De Diego is a Florida businessman now. For the past six months, the fraud section in the Miami U.S. attorney's office has been examining charges made against him by the inspector general of the Small Business Administration. They involve in-stances of possible fraud and misuse of federal funds intended to help small businesses.

Dr. Diego's Feyca Investment Co. of Coral Gables is registered with the SBA as a "small business investment company" to serve as an intermediary for government loans to minority-owned firms.

According to one internal SBA audit, De Diego spent $132,000 in government funds claimed as business expenses for extravagant travel and entertainment, political contributions, club membership fees and yacht expenses. De Diego's attorney advised his client not to talk to me. But the attorney told my associate Tony Capaccio that De Diego has "reasonable explanations for everything." Since the first audit, SBA investigative files have been submitted to the U.S. attorney charging that four companies listed by De Diego as recipients of $529,000 in government-guaranteed loans through Feyca had their headquarters in pesonal residences. The investigators found no evidence that the loans were used for business purposes by the four firms: Ruiz Pool Service, Omega International Trading Co., the Adama Corp. and the Vice Corp.

"It would be embarrassing to the government if they file charges saying that these companies are not legitimate," warned De Diego's yacht, the "Ivonne," drew special attention from the SBA sleuths. On Jan. 15, 1982, for example, a $47,000 cashier's check was sent to the yacht's seller from Omega's account as a partial payment. Omega had received a $50,000 loan through Feyca the day before and got $14,000 a week later. An additional $118,000 was wired to the yacht's seller in the name of a company owned by De Diego's son, which used Feyca office space at the time. Within six days after De Diego bought the yacht, a $100,000 certificate of deposit in Feyca's name was used as collateral for a loan of equal amount to the son's company

Payments involving De Diego's

SBA investigators charged that De Diego applied for thousands of dollars of additional federal funds on the strength of loan commitments he said he had made to a boat repair firm and a florist. But when questioned by the SBA, executives of both firms said no such loan commitment had been made.

De Diego failed to mention the Fielding burglary indictment in response to a question on a government form asking if he had ever been charged with a crime. De

Diego's attorney said the failure to disclose was done "on the advice of In an interesting sidelight to the De Diego case, SBA files show $260,000 lent through Feyca to the Vice Corp. Listed as secretarytreasurer and one-third owner of the company was Virgilio Gonzalez, one of the five men arrested in the Watergate office of the Democratic National Committee on June 17, GRIZZLY DETAILS: The federal government is bearish on grizzlies. Since the late 1970s, the big bears have suffered from the fencing off of National Park Service garbage dumps, which had become an important source of food. This has forced them to forage in national forests, which often contain ranches and homes - and this human contact has led to a number of attacks.

The bear population in the Yellowstone ecosystem in Wyoming, Montana and Idaho has dropped to an all-time low of between 187 and 211. Poachers are a continuining problem, so is bureaucratic infighting, as five federal and state agencies compete for jurisdiction over the threatened grizzly bears.

Dear Abby

Notch-year babies' story continues

DEAR READERS: On Sept. 5, a letter signed "Notch-Year Baby" appeared in my column. It read in part:

"If you are drawing Social Security and were born in 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920 or 1921 (called 'the notch years'), you are being unjustly penalized by receiving lower benefits than those born prior to and afterward the abovementioned years. For example, if you worked until you were 65 before starting to draw Social Security, vou are receiving about $100 less in your monthly check thank those born before 1917, or after 1921.''

Before publishing this, I checked with a Social Security expert who verified that the above was accurate, so I recommended that my readers write to their representatives in Congress to protest this inequity. I have since been beseiged by members of Congress and officials with Social Security, many insisting that I misunderstood

In order to understand this very complex situation, we must go back to 1972, when Congress under President Nixon passed a law increasaing Social Security benefits in order to keep pace with inflation. This seemed fair and reasonable However, the law was overly generous because it accidentally compensated retirees twice, once for the increase in wage levels, and again for the increase in the cost of living.

It soon became apparent that if that law remained unchanged, within a few years the Social Security system would be bankrupt. In addition, by the turn of the century, most retirees would receive more from Social Security benefits than they would earning before they retired!

Consequently, the 1977 Congress, under President Carter, established a new formula for calculating Social Security system from going bankrupt, as well as to correct the overcompensation error. Rather than introduce the new formula overnight, it was decided that there should be a five-year transistion period to cushion the blow. So Congress selected as this transition group those born from 1917 through 1921 — later called "notch-year babies." (Unfortunately this caught most veterans of World War II, a group that had already sacrificied much on behalf of their country.)

It was suggested that I consult Dr. Robert J. 3rd - rated NBC sweeps Emmys

LOS ANGELES (AP) -Cops, doctors and a Boston bar helped NBC to a sweep of this year's Emmys, as "Hill Street Blues," Elsewhere" and "Cheers" powered the third-rated network to 33 awards, more than the other two commercial networks combined.

The 35th annual television awards show Sunday was a showcase for the insult-humor of Joan Rivers, who co-hosted with fellow comedian Eddie Murphy. Some of Miss Rivers' remarks, including gibes at U.S. Interior Secretary James Watt, drew angry phone calls from viewers.

NBC dominated for the third straight year and "Hill Street Blues" won its third straight Emmy as best drama series, compiling six awards to tie the ABC miniseries "The Thorn Birds' for the most Emmys.

It was the most Emmys NBC had ever won, but it failed to reach CBS' record of 44 in 1974.

NBC's critically acclaimed "Cheers," named best comedy series, won five awards. "Special Bulletin" took four awards and "St. Elsewhere" got

Maine hunters kill 739 moose

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — The weather and timing of the mating season cut down the number of the moose killed during Maine's annual six-day moose hunting season, game officials say. Meanwhile, the season's foes plan to open a campaign office this week to organize support for a statewide referendum to ban future hunts. The total for the hunt, which ended at dusk Saturday, was 739, according to Maine tagging stations. Last year, 883 moose were taken. Depending on the outcome of the Nov. 8 referendum, this year's could be the last of Maine's newly revived moose seasons.

After a half-century hiatus, an ex-registration figures from the six northern perimental season was held in 1980 and regular seasons resumed last year. "We've always felt a majority of the people in Maine oppose the shoot, and we want to see if our sense of the majority is right," said John Cole, founder of Save Maine's Only Official State Amimal.

The group, which forced the moose referendum by a petition drive, plans to open a campaign office in Portland and round up volunteers to campaign door-todoor and by telephone, said Cole.

LaJet-Coors Classic

Putt lifts Caldwell to No. 1

"I've finished second a lot," he told approving spectators around the 18th green, "but to win is great. I played well today. I came back from six shots. To win at home is unbelievable.

Caldwell, who relocated in Abilene just last March, earned $63,000 for his first PGA victory, pushing him to $279,851 and fifth place on the 1983 money-winnings list. His 282 total for four rounds was the highest in three LaJet events. But Sunday it was one shot better than Trevino's card or any other score, for that matter. That's what was important to Caldwell.

"Rex played well," said Trevino graciously. "He was due. I played about the same yesterday. I didn't make any putts. I hit good putts and didn't make them. But somebody made them. Rex made some.'

Andy Bean, the first round leader, bogied the 18th hole and slipped into a third place tie with David Graham at 285. Bean matched Trevino's 73 round, playing in the same threesome with Ben Crenshaw. Crenshaw slipped to a 74 Sunday and finished in three-way tie for sixth with Hal Sutton and John Cook, all at 287. Lyn Lott, the second round leader, was fifth at 286, firing a 70 Sunday.

Sutton's final round 68 and Caldwell's 66 were the only sub-70 scores.

The last 18 holes amounted to a modern rendition of "king of the mountain." Trevino held a two-shot lead and when the winds picked up in the afternoon to kill several early challenges faded, it looked as if his six-under score would stand up.

But Caldwell was wielding a hot putter and knocked in birdies on Nos. 9, 10, 14 and 15 to make his charge. He parred the tricky No. 16 hole and had a chance on No. 17 to birdie into a tie with Trevino. "I thought I had that putt," he said later.

No matter. He boomed a long tee shot on the final par 5, 562-yard No. 18 hole. That left him close for his second shot which he placed on the green. Then came the shot of the day. His putt for an eagle, no less than 70 feet, stopped inches of the hole Caldwell tapped in the birdie putt and raised a pair of triumphant fists to the roar of the gallery.

Trevino staved off numerous threats for 14 holes but now he was in trouble. On No. 15, disaster struck. Watching Crenshaw's similar putt go left, he stroked his to the right. It also missed

"They were difficult, awfully difficult," he said of the Fairway Oaks greens. "But I'm not complaining because I played better than I have for three years." The bogie dropped into second place and Trevino faced the task of making up a shot on Caldwell who was already in the clubhouse

On No. 16, he had a good run at a birdie but miss ed. He was close on No. 17 but missed again. That

Trevino smacked his drive just off the left side of the fairway and into tall grass. He had to dig the ball out with a 3-iron and the club turned in his hand, sailing into the ball into the gallery

The situation didn't look good for a birdie but Trevino, ever cool under pressure, blasted out of the crowd and to within range (19 feet) for the tying shot. After watching both Bean and Crenshaw whack the ball around trying to complete their rounds, the crowd silenced for the most important of the day.

Trevino's putt started and finished too much left. Over the groans of the pro-Trevino fans circling the green came cheers from the Caldwell camp.

"It's the thrill of a life," he chortled. "I've been out here nine years and shot a lot of good rounds but not as good as today.

'They finally made a tournament I could win,' he told the crowd during his victory speech.

Caldwell has played solid golf throughout the year but could only finish second on four occasions. Three came as the season opened and two were in playoffs; he lost to Keith Fergus in the Bob Hope Desert Classic, to Bob Gilder at the Phoenix Open and was second in the Big Crosby National Pro-Am. Last week, he trailed Fuzzy Zoeller by 8 shots after three rounds but rallied into the runner-up position at the Las Vegas Pro Celebrity Classic.

Sunday's 66 was 10 shots better than his Saturday score. He wasn't deterred entering the final 18 holes, telling his caddie, "Hey, we're still on the leader board." His afternoon of work built steadily towards the 18th hole where his tee shot traveled 300 yards and second shot put him within distance to putt for a share of the lead.

After completing his round, Caldwell was ready for more golf. "I knew Lee would birdie 18 and we would go play some more golf. But he missed and I'm the champion.'

Now that he has finally won, Caldwell wants to make his LaJet-Coors showing a habit. "The money wasn't the point. I just wanted to win," he said of his long drought. "Now that I've won, I won't play for anything but to win. I still have to go out and fight my way to victory.

"Finishing seocnd, I was getting a lot of money To win gets me in another dimension of the game. I finally beat all the players that wanted to play this week It's fun to win.

Caldwell won only $64,622 last year (68th on the money list) and had two top 10 finished.

Asked whether he's through for the season or not, Caldwell responded, "I'm going to play them all. I'm hot. I going to fill my pockets.

The unbeaten Dallas Cowboys fashioned their "ugliest" victory in recent memory Sunday overcoming seven sacks, four interceptions, two lost fumbles and a blocked extra point to nick the luckless New Orleans Saints

Dallas did it with eight bizarre fourthquarter points that came when Ron Fellows returned a blocked field goal 62 yards for a touchdown and when linebacker Anthony Dickerson sacked quarterback Kenny Stabler for a safety with 1:58 to play.

"We did everything humanly possible to lose and ended up winning," said Dallas running back Tony Dorsett. "It was one of the most bizarre games I've ever been involvved in."

Dickerson was tipped off to the fact Stabler might pass from his own end zone by watching

"I got up this morning and was watching New Orleans on the Game of the Week, Dickerson said. "I noticed Stabler passed from his own end zone and made 30 yards. If a team does it once, they'll do it again.

"I wasn't surprised. New Orleans Coach Bum Philips was

"I hope I don't stay around long enough to lose another one like this," said Phillips. The Saints had charged back from a 10-0 deficit to lead 20-13.

The go-ahead touchdown for the Saints, 2-2, came after defensive end Frank Warren had intercepted wide receiver Drew Pearson's pass at the Dallas 24 early in the fourth period and Wayne Wilson scored from a yard out three plays later.

The game took even more freakish turns. Dallas blocked its first field goal in four vears when Ed Jones batted down Morten Andersen's 43-yard attempt. Fellows fielded the bouncing ball and dashed for a touchdown. Rafael Septien had kicked 88 straight extra points and Dallas fans were anticipating a tie. However, Tyrone Young blocked the point

New Orleans, which hadn't beaten Dallas since 1971, then intercepted a pass in the end zone and ran it out to its four-yard line.

Dickerson then made his big play "We were just trying to get the ball out of there." said Stabler. "I didn't see where the guy came from.

You can call it luck but they've been lucky for a long time. Dallas Coach Tom Landry said "lucky" was a good description.

"I don't know what happened out there myself." Landry said "We were very lucky to

He added, "We're 4-0 and I'll take it." Dallas quarterback Danny White lost 67 yards in sacks

"Coach Phillips always comes up with something new and they blitzed us and blitzed us. They sacked us seven times because we couldn't pick it up." White said. White threw a four-yard touchdown pass to Drew Pearson but also suffered three interceptions. "I thought we had them," said Phillips.

"That's why Dallas wins. They are able to pull them out like that.

'They've pulled many out like that and they believe they can. And they did it.'

COWBOYS' SAFETY DANCE — Dallas Cowboys linebacker Anthony Dickerson (51) sacks New Orleans Saints quarterback Ken Stabler, right, for a safety during the fourth quarter of Sunday's game in Texas Stadium.

DIVING FOR A TOUCHDOWN - Buffalo Bills' running back Joe Cribbs (20) leaps over the Houston Oiler defense to score a second-quarter touchdown during Sunday's game in Orchard Park, N.Y. Cribbs rushed for 166 yards in the game to lead the Bills to a 30-13 victory over the winless Oilers.

Bills drop Oilers, 30-13

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) - Buffalo Bills Coach Kay Stephenson said it "wasn't pretty," but Sunday's game bet-ween the Bills and the Houston Oilers gave National Football League fans a heavy'dose of rushing.
While Houston's Earl Campbell bowled over tacklers, Buffalo's Joe Cribbs danced though the Oilers' defense in leading the Bills past Houston, 30-13. "I don't try to battle these young guys. I just try to live, to exist," said Campbell, adding, with a smile, "He's probably better looking than me anyway, he's younger. If you measure strictly by the yard, Cribbs was better than Campbell on Sunday Cribbs, a finesse runner whose forte is finding the holes and geting through them quickly, set a new single game best for himself with his 166 yards on 22 carries.

Campbell's 142 yards on 30 carries proved the man who entered the season as the 11th all-time leading NFL rusher wasn't loafing

But the 5-9, 240-pound Campbell, who usually gives as much pain as he receives, paid more for his yards than did Cribbs, who is the same height but weighs about 50 pounds less. "The Bills played a very physical game and they gang-tackle very well," said While Campbell acknowledged the role of the Bills defense, Cribbs credited his

The Bills came right back and marched 57 yards to set up the Joe Danelo field goal that broke the tie for good.

A rash of holding penalties hampered the Oilers as they tried to make a comeback, prompting Coach Ed Biles to say the Oilers beat themselves. 'We have nobody to blame but ourselves," he said. "We did what we had to do to, move the football, but those holding penalties really hurt us. Our inability to do a good job up front and the penalties took us right out of the game.

Browns top Chargers, Patriots stun Steelers

Quarterback Brian Sipe and tight end Harry Holt teamed up for a 48-yard touchdown pass just 1:53 into overtime to give Cleveland its victory over San Diego.

The Browns had tied the game when Chris Bahr kicked a 32-yard field goal with just 18 seconds remaining in regulation.

Raiders 22, Broncos 7

Two touchdown passes from Jim Plunkett to Cliff Branch powered the Los Angeles Raiders to its fourth consecutive victory. Denver scored in the closing moments to avert a shutout, which would have been the Broncos' first ever at home.

John Elway, Denver's rookie quarterback, suffered a slight concussion late in the first half and didn't see any more action during the game. Cardinals 14, Eagles 9

St. Louis posted its first victory of the season when veteran quarterback Jim Hart threw a 26-yard touchdown pass to Roy Green with 29 seconds remaining in the game. Hart, a 19-year NFL veteran. played in place of the injured Neil Lomax and completed 12 of 19 passes for 123 yards and two touchdowns.

Dolphins 14, Chiefs 6 Miami survived a mistake-marred first half to beat Kansas City as quarterback David Woodley hit rookie tight end Dan Johnson for one touchdown and fullback Andra Franklin bulled over from the 1 for the other.

Kansas City's only scoring came on field goals of 45 and 46 yards by Nick Lowery

Bengals 22, Bucs 17

Ken Riley sprinted 34 yards with an interception for a touchdown and Cincinnati went on to win its first game of the season, beating winless Tampa Bay. The Bengals stopped a late threat when Robert Jackson picked off another Tampa Bay pass in the end zone.

"We threw two passes we shouldn't have," Bucs Coach John McKay said after the game. "Mistakes are killing the Bucs.

Joe Montana passed for three touchdowns and the San Francisco defense sacked Atlanta quarterback Steve Bartkowski eight times as the 49ers ended a six-game, home losing streak. The 49ers, however, lost running back Wendell Tyler, who suffered a dislocated shoulder, indefinitely.

Atlanta also suffered a big loss as wide receiver Alfred Jackson broke his left collarbone.

Jets 27, Rams 24

Pat Leahy kicked a 26-yard field goal at 8:22 in overtime as the Jets scored a wild, fight-punctuated victory over the Los Angeles Rams. Jets quarterback Richard Todd had one of his best NFL games, completing 37 of 50 passes for 446 vards.

The Rams had sent the game into overtime by scoring a touchdown with 32 seconds left in regulation.

Bills 30, Oilers 13 Joe Cribbs outrushed Earl Campbell to lead Buffalo past Houston. Cribbs finished with 166 yards, his best singlegame NFL performance, while Camp-

Quarterback Steve Grogan and rookie Stephen Starring hooked up on a 76-yard scoring pass play with 3:59 remaining as New England upset Pittsburgh. The loss spoiled Franco Harris' run into the NFL

Harris passed O.J. Simpson to become the NFL's No. 2 career rusher behind Jim Brown. Harris rushed 25 times for 106 yards against the Pats and now has 11,309 career yards on a record 2,689 carries. He trails Brown by 1,003 yards. Redskins 27, Seahawks 17

Three touchdown passes by Joe Theismann powered the Washington Redskins over Seattle. It was Washington's ninth consecutive road victory.

The Redskins defense shackled Seattle rookie running back Curt Warner, who went into the game as the NFL's leading rusher. Warner picked up just 34 yards on 15 carries

Giants must stop Pack's Lofton

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (A) -New York Giants Coach Bill Parcells says Green Bay Packers wide receiver James Lofton is "really a pleasure to watch." But playing against Lofton is another story

'I think Lofton is the best receiver in the league. Who else averages 24 yards a catch?" said Parcells, who will get a close-up view of Lofton tonight when the Giants, 1-2, face the Packers, 2-1, at Giants Stadium.

Parcells also says he hasn't forgotten Lofton's ability to turn a game around. Lofton led the Packers to 27-19 comeback victory over the Giants last year

Sheehan wins again

La JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Patty Sheehan will be happy to see the Ladies Professional Golf Tour come to an end this year, but not before she can clinch Player of the Year honors.

Although saying she was tired, Sheehan used the bid for that honor as motivation Sunday to win the Inamori Classic by two strokes with a 209, 10-under-par, and assume first place in the tour point race over JoAnne Carner with only two tournaments remaining this

Inamori LPGA

Sheehan broke a second-round tie with former college teammate Juli Inkster and shot a final-round 71 at the Torrey Pines Golf Course for the $26,250 first prize in the tournament that was reduced to 54 holes because of fog that canceled play Thursday.

Inkster, who shot even par 73 on the final round, settled for a second place prize of $17,150.

Key City consolation title goes to C-City

 ${\bf COLORADO\ CITY\ (SC)-The\ Colorado\ City\ Wolves}$ won the consolation championship at the Key City Invitational Volleyball Tournament here this weekend. After falling to Miles 4-15, 15-11, 15-12 in its tourney opener, C-City came back to edge the Cooper junior varsity 15-13, 15-13 and Moran 15-7, 15-17, 15-4. Laura Baum was named to the all-tournament team representing the Wolves.

Fan's Mail

Dear Sports Editor

Greg Jaklewicz said in his Sunday column that Big spring is still learning how to win. I'm glad he included the whole community in that statement. The Steers lost the "war" Friday night on the scoreboard, but Big spring won all the battles. Little successes now will lead to big successes in the future.

The team played hard and did not quit. We had more fans at Abilene than the Eagles did and what trememdous fans they were. Their enthusiasm and encouragement defeaned our rivals. Our band won the halftime battle and the conflict in the stands with the fight song and "Eat 'em up.'

Loyal fans greeted the Steers with resounding ap-plause and quiet words of encouragment at the restaurant after the game.

Winning is contagious and traditional; getting down and discouraged accomplishes nothing. Come on, Big spring, take one more step of faith, faith in yourselves and the Steers. Thanks goes out to all those who have given so much already and to those who are positive enough to stay with the Steers as they continue to build their winning tradition.

> Sincerely Coach Quinn Eudy

Seattle pitching stops Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Seattle Mariners came within an out of recording their first back-toback shutouts ever Sunday, but still came away with a 2-1 victory over Texas thanks to two Ranger errors.

Mariner starter Bob Stoddard, 9-16, had allowed only four hits over the first 8 13 innings and retired 17 straight batters before a one-out single by George Wright. After striking out the first batter he faced, Caudill gave up two singles and an intentional walk to allow Texas to pull within a run. But he picked up his 25th save and second in as many days by getting pinch-hitter Larry Biittner to fly out with the bases loaded.

Caudill got the save in a 2-0 victory for Mike Moore Saturday

East crown by downing the Brewers

Baltimore began the day needing either one victory or a loss by second-place Detroit to wrap up the division. When Detroit beat Boston 3-2 earlier in the day, it was up to the Orioles to finish things off. The Orioles won their seventh division title by beating the defending AL champion Brewers for the 11th time in 13 meetings this season.

Tigers 3, Red Sox 2 Kirk Gibson drilled a solo home run and three Detroit pitchers combined on an eight-hitter.

White Sox 8, Angels 5 LaMarr Hoyt, tuning up for a start in the AL championship series, won his 12th consecutive game for his major league-leading 23rd victory Yankees 6, Indians 4

HOUSTON (AP) — San Francisco rookie pitcher Scott Garrelts hasn't been intimidated by his opposition on the mound this month. Garrelts, who beat Atlanta's Pascual Perez in his first majorleague start Sept. 7, was matched against Nolan Ryan Sunday night and shut out the Astros 3-0.

The 21-year-old righthander allowed five hits, struck out five and walked five in his fourth majorleague start and first complete

The Giants took advantage of wildness on the part of Ryan, 14-9, who walked seven and gave up four hits in four innings

Phillies 6, Cardinals 5 Pete Rose is used to leading off rallies. This time, he capped one and moved the Philadelphia Phillies one game closer to the National League East title. The 21-year-old veteran and National League's all-time hit leader hasn't been playing much lately as the Phillies have taken charge in the East. When called upon to pinch hit Sunday, Rose, as always, was ready. He delivered a bases-loaded single to snap a 4-4 tie in the 10th inning at St. Louis and the Phillies grabbed a 6-5 victory, their 10th straight

Atlanta started quickly when Brett Butler led off the first with a home run

Glenn Hubbard and Claudell Washington each singled in the third and eventually scored on Rafael Ramirez's two-run single. In the fifth, Hubbard singled with the bases full for two more runs.

Cubs 11, Mets 7

Reggie Patterson won his first major league game and Larry Bowa had four singles to pace Chicago's 15-hit attack. The Mets, who clinched last place in the NL East with the loss, committed five errors. Seven of the Cubs' 11 runs were unearned.

Reds 5, Padres 2 Rookie Dann Bilardello drove in three runs with a homer and a bases-loaded double at Cincinnati.

Liberty set for America's Cup final

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) - The longest-running drama in America's Cup history sailed toward its belated climax, apparently having avoided a stormy

The American defenders of yachting's most prestigious prize decided to make no further changes in the weight and sail configuration of Liberty, a slower and heavier boat than Australia II, her formidable foe

Alan Bond, chief of the Aussie syndicate, angered by another possible change in Liberty, pledged Saturday that Australia II would protest the seventh race at the start.

But Warren Jones, executive director of the Australia II syndicate, said Sunday, "We're pleased to learn that the configuration isn't being changed" and added that the decision to protest was being reconsidered.

U.S. skipper Dennis Conner used Sunday's final lay day of the 14-day old competition - equaling the duration record set in 1970 - to check weather reports and consider putting back some of the 924 pounds of lead that were removed from his boat's red hull last week

Today's forecast called for light and shifty winds at the scheduled

12:10 p.m. EDT starting time for the seventh and decisive race. That convinced Conner to make no further alterations beyond those made Friday in anticipation of the next

Conner is reeling from two consecutive defeats - by one minute, 47 seconds last Wednesday and by 3:25 Thursday — that evened the best-of-seven series at 3-3. He hoped the lightweight Liberty would provide the winning edge and keep him from becoming the American skipper at the helm of the first U.S. failure in the competition's 132

NANCY I WONDER WHY THEY CALL HER MOTHER NATURE WHY NOT FATHER NATURE? from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1983 GENERAL TENDENCIES: All kinds of changing conditions can be taking place today and tonight and especially if you yield to a desire to be restless and uncertain. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have to gad about a MAYBE IT'S BECAUSE SHE CAN NEVER MAKE UP HER MIND good deal if you want to change conditions around you TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If in any doubt concerning monetary affairs, it is best to delay and await a better day and time to handle them. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You had better plan a campaign of action early so that you don't go running off hither and yon and accomplish little. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You do not know what to do about that embarrassing situation, so keep mum and it soon clears up of itself LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) If you don't follow orders you can get in trouble with a bigwig who has power over your VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You want to make changes, so schedule your time well so that you can also get other BLONDIE things done that are important. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Not a good day for talks with people in business, since they are apticipe under pressure OKAY, THIS WEEK BOSS, I'VE WORKED TEN YEARS WITHOUT DOUBLE CHANGE and have no time for you. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't rely on others today to go along with your plans, since they are too busy SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21. You may find that there are changes being made at your work due to the actions of co-workers. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your amusement plans may go awry, so await a better day for such. Be sure to exercise caution in travel. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get your finest talent perfected so that you can realize more success in the future. Be thrifty today. BUT NEXT WEEK THAT'S TERRIFIC ! PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Conditions may not be as YOU'RE WORKING you would like at home, but do not lose your control, and FOR FREE IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he, or she will be one of those charming young people who will understand very readily every side of any given situation but this can also lead to the scattering of the forces so be sure that you give a fine education. ## Melon king cited

BIXBY, Okla. (AP) — Watermelons weigh heavy on the mind of Chester Conrad, but if you think he dreamed these babies up, try to carry one home. Conrad is the proud grower of nine of the world's fattest watermelons. No sooner was it decided that this Oklahoman's name would appear in October's new Guinness Book of World Records for a 219-pound melon than, sure enough, here came Conrad and family with a bigger one. The Conrads picked a 222.5-pound melon two weeks ago - shattering their own world record.

Then, on Saturday, Chester and sons Vernon, Gene and Melvin weighed and certified nine hugh melons under the watchful eye of Jane Grace of Hackettstown, N.J., a Guinness judge. One weighed in at 255 pounds.

Vernon and his wife, Linda, their son, James, and Chester were flown to New York recently by CBS News, which broadcast their horticultural achievements to the nation. Chester has been growing things since 1939.

On Saturday, a man flew in from New Orleans on a private jet just to buy one of the big'uns. Price: $400.

Modern-day Androcles

FLORINA, Greece (AP) — It took zoo officials in this northern Greek town months to find a veterinarian willing to update the ancient legend of Androcles and cure lion's poisoned paw.

But Greece's only lion, known as Bobby, probably won't remember Dr. Nikos Mustardos, the Salonica University veterinary science professor who removed his ingrown toenails.

Unlike the lion in Aulus Gellius' fable, Bobby was knocked unconscious with an anesthetic dart and kept under with ining the two-hour surgery.

'I was nervous of operating on a lion,'

Mustardos said. "I've performed operations on bears and camels, but never on a

By the end of the first day, Saturday, there were only 37 survivors. In Sunday's closing battle, a couple of good dodgers were designated winners. The event took place in a willow grove near the restaurant that sponsored the event
