Odessa bank closes; ruled insolvent

ODESSA (AP) — An Odessa bank was declared insolvent Friday and ordered shut down because of heavy losses over the past six months on energy-related loans.

The office of the Comptroller of the Currency in Washington announced the action against the National Bank of Odessa.

A spokesman for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. said the bank would reopen Monday under a new name.

The bank was closed by Acting Comptroller of the Currency H. Joe Selby, who said, "Over the past six months, the bank suffered increasingly heavy losses on energy related loans. These losses finally exhausted the bank's capital funds and reserves, rendering it insolvent."

The bank will reopen Monday under the name of the First State Bank of Odessa, N.A., a new bank subsidiary of Independent Bankshares, Inc., of Abilene, said Allen Whitney, a public relations officer with the FDIC in Washington.

Selby said the bank, which was chartered in 1959, was declared insolvent at 7:26 p.m. EDT Friday. It had deposits of approximately $77 million at the time of failure, Selby said.

Depositors of the National Bank of Odessa will automatically become depositors of the new bank, Whitney said.

"This deposit assumption was made possible with assist from the FDIC and avoids the necessity for a payoff of the 18,000 accounts in the failed bank," Whitney said.

"It also prevents possible financial loss to the owners of deposits that exceed the statutory insurance limit of $100,000," Whitney added.

The First State Bank of Odessa will assume about $81.2 million in deposits and has agreed to pay the FDIC a purchase premium of $1.2 million for the bank, Whitney said. The FDIC is advancing $46.9 million in cash to the new bank and is retaining assets of the failed bank with a book value of about $62 million, Whitney added.

The FDIC is authorized to assume deposits of a failed bank whenever it determines that doing so would reduce its potential loss. The board of directors made such a finding because of the premium paid by the new owners, Whitney said.

The FDIC expects to recover a substantial portion of its outlay through liquidation of assets not transferred to the assuming bank, Whitney said. In that respect, the FDIC will have priority over shareholders of the closed bank, he added.

Jobless aid OK'd for Texas

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee tentatively agreed Friday night to a provision that would give Texas an estimated $30 million in additional social services money, a large chunk of which supporters want used in high unemployment areas such as those along the U.S.-Mexico border.

The money, which would be made available over the next two years, would be Texas' estimated share of an extra $300 million for various social services to be provided nationwide.

Members of the committee said in a statement that they "intend that states consider the impact of severe unemployment on families in certain localities" in the allocation of the money, which can be used for a wide range of social services.

A legislative aide to Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, who had been pushing for the additional assistance, said "we do plan to work with the governor to see it goes to areas of the state where it's desperately needed, such as the border and some parts of East Texas."

The conference committee tentatively agreed to include the provision in legislation that would extend unemployment benefits for workers whose normal benefits had run out.

The committee was meeting to iron out differences between Senate and House versions of the unemployment legislation. Members adjourned before completing their work on the measure, but tentatively agreed on the provision providing the extra social services money.

The committee was scheduled to meet again Monday.

An amendment to the House version of the bill, sponsored by Hance, would have provided an extra $500 million in social services money nationwide over the next two years, with $200 million of it specifically targeted for areas of high unemployment.

Originally, Hance's office estimated the amendment would have provided an additional $30 million for Texas, with $12.5 million

ON TOUR — U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, Friday discusses his qualifications for the U.S. Senate before about 30 persons in the Howard County Courthouse. Hance toured West Texas towns Friday and will tour East Texas today.

Hance visits Howard Demos on campaign swing for Senate

By KEELY COGHLAN

Rep. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, in Big Spring Friday as part of his campaign tour through West Texas in an effort to win the Democratic nomination for Sen. John Tower's seat, criticized several Republican actions in an effort to place distance between himself and the Reagan administration.

Hance, speaking to about 30 persons in the Howard County Courthouse, labeled Secretary of Agriculture John Block's refusal to release grain in storage to West Texas ranchers hit by the drought as "poor judgment, practically and politically."

The federal government "wouldn't lose anything" by releasing the grain, mostly corn, from storage in the northern part of his congressional district, Hance said. The grain would last two more years and then would have to be dumped or destroyed, he said.

"It (Block's refusal to release grain) doesn't show much compassion. Historically, in a catastrophe such as a drought or hurricane, the federal government makes adjustments to help people who can't help themselves," Hance said.

He said Block told him the grain was not being released to Texas ranchers because the secretary was afraid farmers and ranchers in the Midwest would ask for similar programs.

"If he's using that as an excuse, that's no excuse," Hance said. Hance also said if the Midwest was suffering a comparable drought, farmers and ranchers there should be entitled to use stored feed. If elected to the Senate, Hance said his priorities would be agricultural and energy legislation. Included in his proposed agricultural legislation is a farm program Hance said would cost $6 billion compared to the $20 billion being spent on the Payment-In-Kind program. Under his plan, the larger the amount of land a farmer or rancher sets aside, the higher the loan.

Defending his past support of some of President Reagan's legislation and some of former President Jimmy Carter's foreign policy, Hance said he tries to work with any administration or president.

"I have never supported the President (Reagan) 100 percent. I didn't support Carter 100 percent. I don't think the people in the state of Texas want me to run into (Speaker of the House) Tip O'Neill's office or (Massachusetts Sen.) Ted Kennedy's office everyday to see how I'm going to vote," Hance said.

"To say everything is Reagan's fault is just as bad as when something goes right for some of his aides to say he did it all on his own," Hance said.

Hance, who has been labeled as a "boll weevil," a conservative Democratic Congressman who votes in favor of some of Reagan's economic legislation, said the issue works both ways.

Since his constituents are moderate to conservative, Hance says, the issue has benefited him more than it has cost him.

"Most Democrats who are offended by it (being a boll weevil) are a smaller group than those who are impressed by those (congressmen) who speak their convictions," he said.

Coahoma resets tax rate for '84

Less revenue cited for increase

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — The City Council Friday night voted unanimously, 3-0, to reset the city's 1983-84 tax rate because of "a mix-up in figures" used to determine the rate Wednesday, Coahoma Mayor Jim Rackley said.

Council members met "just long enough for me to explain the problem and reset the rate," Rackley said. Council member Billy Sullivan was the only member absent Friday.

The new tax rate is set at 56.2 cents per $100 property valuation, a 3 percent increase from last year's tax rate of 54.2 cents, Rackley said.

Council members Wednesday had set the rate at 58.7 cents per $100 valuation. That figure was supposed to be a 3 percent increase from last year based on the figures they were given, Rackley said.

The mayor said he found out about the mix-up in figures and arranged for the council to meet to reset the tax rate as soon as possible.

Council members decided to raise the tax rates because of a decrease in revenue, Rackley said.

"Most people increased their rates (this year). The only ones that did not had extra revenue from minerals," Rackley said.

Rackley said the Coahoma Independent School District had increased its tax rate 7.7 percent, but that the district had to go through extensive public hearings. Three percent is the highest level a taxing entity can increase its tax rate without holding a public hearing.

"We wanted to meet the Oct. 1 deadline (for tax rates to be set for the next year), so we chose not to increase the rate more than 3 percent," Rackley said.

Home insurance rates here to fall 1.4 percent

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Homeowners rejoice — insurance rates in Texas go down this weekend.

For those in Big Spring and several West Texas counties, the cost will drop 1.4 percent.

The new rates were approved by the State Board of Insurance in June and take effect Saturday.

A one-year basic homeowners' policy will drop from $270 to $265 on a $25,000 brick veneer home, from $471 to $463 for a $50,000 home and from $652 to $641 for a $75,000 home.

Tenant or renters' insurance will go up, however, by 9.4 percent, and fire insurance coverage will increase by 14.4 percent on dwellings and 6.5 percent on farms. Extended coverage will increase an average of 2.7 percent and farm and ranch insurance will decrease by 4 percent. In several other counties in the board's central territory rather than Big Spring's north-northwest territory, the rate changes are a bit different.

The counties are below a line running along the lower and outermost edges of Winkler, Ward, Crane, Upton, Reagan, Irion, Tom Green, Concho, Coleman, Callahan, Shackelford, Throckmorton, Archer and Clay counties.

Homeowners' rates in those counties will go down 6 percent, while tenants' rates will jump by 6.9 percent and fire insurance will increase by 14.4 percent on dwellings and 6.5 percent on farms.

Extended coverage will drop an average of 3.1 percent and farm and ranch insurance will decrease by 8.3 percent.

DANCING OPENING — Donnette Phillips, Laurie Choate Churchwell, Mary Herrera and Pat Porter inspect the new The Dance Gallery which features aerobic swimming.

Dance Gallery opens with a splash

By NICK GREENWALT
Staff Writer

It may sound like an exercise for fish, but Laurie Churchwell is hoping that water aerobics can make a splash with people in Big Spring.

Described by Mrs. Churchwell as regular aerobics done in a swimming pool, water aerobics is for people who are unable to do regular aerobics. The water removes some of the physical barriers, she said.

"People with arthritis and back problems just can't do aerobics, but they can do them in the water," she said, adding that it can also be done by overweight people and those with high blood pressure.

"For them it's a safer way to exercise," said Mrs. Churchwell, owner of the Dance Gallery, which opened last week at a new location on Birdwell Street.

The body loses 90 percent of its weight in water, so she said that it is also an easier way.

"It exercises the total body, and everyone still has enough little kid in them so that they just enjoy playing in the water," she said.

Knowing how to swim isn't even required for water aerobics, she said.

"Our pool is only 3 1/2 to 5 1/2 feet," Mrs. Churchwell said.

"You don't even have to get your hair wet." However, water does have its drawbacks.

In teaching an exercise Mrs. Churchwell, or Lynn Chalker, who also instructs, will demonstrate the routine out of the water. This allows the students to observe what they should be doing when in the water.

The routine is taught out of the water until the whole class knows it.

Another difference between water and regular aerobics is the music played during the routines. Jazz and more popular songs; used on land are replaced by easy listening and classical songs.

"It's a much more relaxing form of exercise," Chalker said.

Mrs. Churchwell discovered the exercise when students taking aerobics from her told her about the new form they were doing in health spas. She began researching water aerobics and decided to introduce their students to it.

Mrs. Churchwell's Dance Gallery studio has an indoor pool for her classes, but she says that weather would be the only reason not to have the exercise in an outdoor pool.

"You can do it in an outside pool, but then you only have nine months instead of 12," she said.

City awaits OK for federal grant

Big Spring may receive a $300,000 federal grant for water line improvements if an application approved by the Permian Basin Regional Community Development Review Committee gets the federal okay.

The money, from a Community Development Grant, will provide the neighborhood known as the "bird streets" with new water lines, increasing the water pressure and reducing the shutoff time due to breaks in the system.

It will also insure the availability of adequate water pressure in case of fire.

The grants are rewarded by a point system based on the community's need for the improvements and the relationship to the city's attempts in solving similar problems, which is being accomplished through Big Spring's five-year Capital Improvement Projects.

Approval of the grants will be made in Austin within 20 days. If approved, the project should begin in January with work expected to be completed within four months.

of that targeted for high unemployment areas.

Friday, that estimate was revised to an additional $50 million for Texas, of which $20 million would have been so targeted.

But the Senate version of the bill provided only a $200 million nationwide increase in social services spending for the upcoming fiscal year, and no targeting provision.

As a compromise, the conference committee tentatively settled on an additional $300 million over the upcoming two years. Hance's aide, Jim Rock, estimated that Texas' share would amount to $30 million.

Bill Cosby Lamponed

CAMBRIDGE — Comedian Bill Cosby took time out from a court case to collect a lifetime achievement award from the Harvard Lampoon, the university humor magazine.

Cosby, who lives in Shelburne, accepted Thursday night the magazine's first Elmer award on the front steps of the Lampon office near Harvard Square.

Earlier, the comedian gave a 13-year-old an autograph on a brace supporting the boy's broken collarbone.

Timmy McCarthy's father, who is Greenfield's police chief, told Cosby of the boy's bike accident while Cosby was in Greenfield for a hearing on a $153,000 civil suit, and Cosby offered to sign the brace.

"Okay. Jumping jacks, we're going to do jumping jacks," joked the comedian as he gave the boy his autograph.

Cosby is in court over a financial dispute with a company that installed a 130-foot-high antenna at Cosby's home. The company contends it has not been paid, while Cosby argues he was overcharged and has paid $25,000, according to court documents.

Hart in orbit over Glenn

CLEVELAND — Sen. Gary Hart says he loved the book and plans to see the movie, but he doesn't think the film version of "The Right Stuff" will boost the campaign of rival presidential hopeful John Glenn.

"The Right Stuff" depicts the early days of the U.S. space program. Glenn, now a Democratic senator from Ohio, was the first American to orbit the Earth.

Some have wondered if the impending release of the film might give Glenn enough favorable new publicity to help propel him into the White House, but Hart doesn't think so.

"Celebrities have not done well in public positions based upon their celebrity status alone," the Colorado Democrat said Thursday. "Ronald Reagan was elected despite his acting. John doesn't need the free publicity. He's already well-known. All the candidates must prove themselves."

Nancy eyes weight gain

NEW YORK — Nancy Reagan says she'll "keep nibbling cookies" until she replaces the weight that she has dropped her dress size from a 6 to a 2, the smallest regular size for women's clothes.

In an interview Thursday with syndicated society columnist "Suzy" writing in the New York Daily News, the first lady said she was in bed with a cold but contended that her weight loss was caused by worry.

"I know that people are saying that there is something really wrong with me, but there isn't," Mrs. Reagan said.

She said the weight loss began when President Reagan was shot in March 1981.

"Then my father, whom I loved dearly, died after being sick for six months," said Mrs. Reagan. In addition, she said, her mother has been sick in Arizona and "I can't see her as often as I want to."

"I think people believe that when one occupies this position, life is all roses and glamour and there are no worries. How I wish I were one of those people who never lets anything show on her face. Everything shows on mine," she said.

Mrs. Reagan said she had cookies by her bed. "My doctor has given me a complete clean bill of health. I just called him and told him I was drinking a milkshake. He said, 'Now that wasn't so hard, was it?'"

White appoints panel president

AUSTIN (AP) — Helen Giddings of Dallas, president of Select Personnel, an employment agency was named Friday to the State Human Rights Commission.

Gov. Mark White, who made the appointment, said Ms. Giddings' term will extend to Sept. 24, 1989.

The news in brief

By The Associated Press

Economic barometer drops

WASHINGTON — The government said Friday that its main barometer of future economic strength slipped 0.1 percent in August, the first decline in a year. Economists said the report confirms a welcome slowing in the economy but includes "minor warning signs" about the recovery.

The gauge is the department's Index of Leading Economic Indicators, a compilation of 12 statistics intended to focus on which way the economy is going. They include activity in manufacturing, employment and prices.

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said the small slide in the index last month was a normal development in "the transition to more moderate economic growth." He said it was "not cause for concern."

Spending bill okayed

WASHINGTON — The Senate gave final congressional approval Friday night to a compromise stopgap spending bill, assuring that major government operations will continue without interruption as the new fiscal year begins.

By a voice vote, the Senate passed the measure five hours before the start of the new fiscal year and sent the legislation to the White House for President Reagan's signature. Budget Director David A. Stockman has told legislators the president will sign the measure, although there were indications that Reagan might not actually affix his signature until Saturday.

Earlier, by a 232-136 vote, the House also passed the measure.

The turmoil of threatened government shutdowns and legislative wrangling, which has come to mark the end of one fiscal year and the beginning of another, was absent as congressional negotiators unanimously agreed to a bill that keeps money flowing to most government agencies from Oct. 1 through Nov. 10.

The measure gives Congress time to complete work on pending appropriations after the new fiscal year begins Saturday.

Pentagon goes shopping

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon went on a $4.25 billion spending spree Friday, the last day of the fiscal year.

Defense Department officials said the money covered 234 contracts, to dozens of businesses, for a wide range of weapons, parts and other goods.

By contrast, the Pentagon announced only 40 contracts a week earlier, worth a total of $777 million.

For the fiscal year that ended Friday, the Pentagon was authorized to spend $178 billion, the largest of any government agency.

In the fiscal year that begins Saturday, the Defense Department is authorized to spend $187 billion as part of the Reagan administration's five-year, $1.7-trillion defense buildup.

Syria rejects U.N. force

UNITED NATIONS — Syria rejected American attempts Friday to get its approval for a U.N. force to monitor Lebanon's cease-fire, but a senior Reagan administration official said Washington will persist in pushing for such a force.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz met for an hour with Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam. They parted without agreeing on the question of observers for the cease-fire, said the senior official, who briefed reporters on the meeting. The official insisted on anonymity.

Khaddam, in a U.N. address earlier this week, demanded that the multinational peacekeeping forces, including U.S. Marines, get out of Lebanon. He accused the United States of taking the government's side in Lebanon's civil war, which pits the government and Christian forces against the Druse and other Moslem militias.

But he said almost all other countries involved with Lebanon favor letting forces assembled by the United Nations monitor the cease-fire between the Lebanese government and warring factions.

Israeli coalition fails

JERUSALEM — Yitzhak Shamir's attempt to form a coalition with the Labor Party broke down Friday, and the prime minister-designate said he would try to put together a government from Prime Minister Menachem Begin's coalition within the next 12 days.

The failure of the talks between Shamir's conservative Likud bloc and Labor quashed hopes of healing a national schism over the war in Lebanon and the future of the occupied West Bank. It left the prospect of a weak government that may have trouble surviving until the next scheduled elections in two years.

He said he would try to present a government based on the Begin coalition's 64 seats in the 120-member Knesset (parliament) by Oct. 11. That is the deadline set by President Chaim Herzog following Begin's resignation, but Shamir can ask for a three-week extension.

El Salvador rejects talks

SAN SALVADOR — El Salvador's government on Friday said further peace talks with the leftist rebels are useless unless they abandon their demands to join the government, lay down their arms and take part in the presidential elections next year.

Parents call for son's surrender

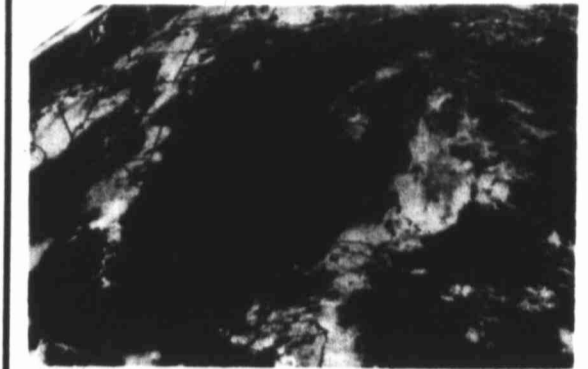

RUTHTON, Minn. (AP) — The parents of a man being sought for questioning in the slayings of two bank officers on a foreclosed farm made a televised plea Friday for their son and grandson to surrender.

Authorities have not identified the suspects sought in the shooting deaths. But Clayton and Mina Jenkins of nearby Florence said their son, James, and their 18-year-old grandson, Steve, were the people being hunted. "I am asking you to give up before anyone else is hurt. They'll give you safe conduct to any peace officer," Clayton Jenkins said in a broadcast taped by WCCO-TV in Minneapolis and made available to other television stations in the region.

"Steve, we want you to give yourself up and come home. Grandpa and I love you," Mrs. Jenkins said.

Weather

By The Associated Press

West Texas cloudy

A weak low pressure system triggered some shower activity in the El Paso area and brought cloudy skies to western sections of Texas Friday, but most of the state had clear skies and warm temperatures.

Temperatures reached into the 80s except in the Panhandle where afternoon readings were in the 70s. Forecasts called for scattered thundershowers in West Texas Saturday with skies to be clear to partly cloudy elsewhere. Highs were expected to be in the 80s and 90s after early morning lows in the 60s and 70s.

With Tropical Storm Dean hovering off the East coast, showers and thunderstorms extended from Florida to New Jersey Friday without a clear view of where Dean might hit land.

Snow showers blanketed western Montana late Thursday and turned to rain over North Dakota and northern Minnesota and parts of Wyoming, Nevada and California.

Las Vegas, Nev., suffered the brunt of a brief but violent thunderstorm that hit that area Thursday. Many city streets were flooded and hail the size of golf balls bounced off cars, roofs and buildings. No injuries were reported.

West Texas — Generally partly cloudy with isolated afternoon and evening showers and thunderstorms. Little temperature change. Lows upper 50s north to mid 60s south. Highs mostly 80s except mid 90s Big Bend valleys.

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY 10-3-83
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful Sunday for you to decide just where and how you want your life to extend itself in the future and to study whatever schools of thought or philosophy of life will aid you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Concentrate on the spiritual values that can enhance your life in the future. Spend some time alone to meditate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study your romantic life and know how you can improve it in some way. You've been too hasty in judgments lately.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan how to get on the good side of influential persons and gain more favors from them. Also get into some civic work.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan time for showing gratitude to those who have done you special favors in the past and gain added good will.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Good morning to get entertainment plans made with your friends. Later on, you'll be able to enjoy yourself fully.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Home is your best bet today and discuss important affairs with your family to plant the future more wisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get out to lectures and get good results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study into ways for adding to your present abundance and you get fine ideas for doing so.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Go on with those plans you commenced yesterday and be quite self-serving for a change and get good results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Have a meeting with clever experts and gain the knowledge you need for some enterprise you have in mind.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Go to those who are devoted to you and get that support you need right now. The results will be quite beneficial.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study your present status and know what should be done in order to improve it, then formulate a good plan.

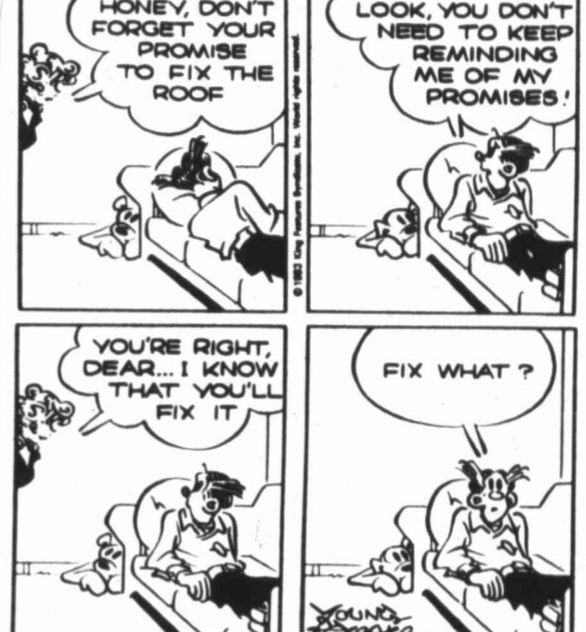

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ...he or she will be one of those charming young persons who will appeal to bigwigs wherever they are met and get along very well with them. There will be some artistic talent here, so foster it wisely with a good education.

 "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Sissy Spacek back on streets with new album

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Over the Appalachian Mountains from her beloved Virginia home rolls actress Sissy Spacek and family in a truck bound for the country music capital of the world.

She hits the pavements of Nashville not as an Academy Award-winning actress, but as country music's newest singing sensation.

"We put a double mattress in the back with pillows," Miss Spacek says in an accent that ties her unmistakably to her East Texas roots. "On the way, I kinda chuckled as I was spreadin' up peanut butter sandwiches, thinking, 'Oh boy! Here we go!'"

"We could have flown, but it was so much more exciting to have the radio tuned to a country station, rolling into Nashville in our truck. Oh man, to see that Nashville skyline!"

The family was in Music City so Miss Spacek could plug her first solo LP, "Hangin' Up My Heart."

But after two packed days of interviews, she found it hard to keep her mind on anything but loading the family's suburban-style truck for the overnight drive home.

As Miss Spacek finished her interviews, husband-director Jack Fisk took care of their one-year-old daughter, Schuyler, and packed the truck for the trip home.

More and more, Miss Spacek's life is beginning to revolve around the family's seven-acre horse farm in northern Virginia.

Up every day by 6:30 a.m., there's coffee on the front porch swing with Fisk while a round-faced and smiling Schuyler knocks back the first of several boxes of raisins.

"For kicks we just sit around and watch her grow," Miss Spacek says. "Then there's the horses, our second love."

At 34, she still enjoys making films and is scheduled to begin shooting "The River" with Mel Gibson next month.

"I'm lucky, because I don't have to be in Los Angeles hitting the pavement. But look at me now — hitting the pavement in Nashville ... trying to sell an album."

Singing country music is not entirely new to Miss Spacek, who won her Oscar for portraying country star Loretta Lynn in "Coal Miner's Daughter."

She also received critical acclaim as the disturbed teen-ager with telekinetic powers in "Carrie," and Jack Lemmon's distraught daughter-in-law in "Missing."

Born Mary Elizabeth Spacek on Christmas Day, 1949, she saved up babysitting money to buy her first Silvertone guitar from a Sears, Roebuck and Co. catalog.

Her first performances — singing and dancing — were in front of her family and later at school and civic association concerts before the 1,500 residents of Quitman, Texas, where she grew up.

"That's one of the good things about small towns: It's easy to excel," she says.

Miss Spacek soon moved to New York and eventually made her film debut in "Prime Cut" with Lee Marvin and Gene Hackman. Her role as the naive girl in "Badlands" displayed her deep talents. Last year, she starred in "Heart Beat" with Nick Nolte.

Country living suits the entire family, she says. While Fisk tends the livestock, Miss Spacek and Schuyler water the tomatoes, squash, corn and cucumbers in the garden.

Then there's breakfast and a nap for the baby. During those quiet times, Miss Spacek catches up on reading scripts or listens to a Rosanne Cash record.

"Seems like I'm always behind two or three books and four or five scripts," she says. Still, part of her contentment comes from a feeling of artistic accomplishment.

"It's the little, everyday stuff that makes me happy now," Miss Spacek says.

Last 6 minutes ruin Coahoma

By BOB CARPENTER Staff Writer

COAHOMA — Relying on an air attack and a trick play, the Denver City Mustangs grounded the Coahoma Bulldogs here Friday night 26-13 in a non-district contest.

The Bulldogs, who battled critical mistakes all night, had etched out a 13-12 lead with 6 minutes to go in the fourth quarter when the Mustangs reached into their bag of tricks for a miracle.

On first down from the Mustang 35, Denver City quarterback Ty Sefcik rolled left and hit wide receiver Shan Conway about 15 yards downfield where Coahoma defenders converged for the stop.

However, Conway then tossed a lateral pass to running back Joey Trinidad who out-sprinted the surprised Bulldogs to the goal line.

The TD plus a two-point conversion put Denver City up top for good at 20-13.

Coahoma opened the contest with a spirited 6-play drive early in the first quarter after taking possession at the Mustang 47.

A 21-yard run by Scott Mayall and solid runs of 8, 6 and 8 yards by fullback Richard Seals moved the ball to the 4 where quarterback John Swinney on a keeper rolled around right end for the score with 7:51 left in the first quarter.

The Mustangs' final touchdown came with 3:36 left in the game when fullback Trinidad slipped through the Coahoma line for a 27-yard score. The PAT failed.

Coahoma is now 3-2 for the year.

Denver City, after failing to move the ball against a stingy Bulldog defense, went to the air early in the second quarter. The move paid off with 6:02 left in the half when Sefcik found Conway running free behind the Coahoma secondary for a 17-yard touchdown completion.

The PAT failed leaving the score at 6-6. Denver City moved ahead of Coahoma in the third quarter after Mayall mishandled a punt giving the Mustangs choice field position at the Bulldog 27.

leaving the Mustangs with fourth down and 10. Sefcik rolled left, evaded a couple of Coahoma defenders and tossed one up for grabs.

Coahoma struck back with 7:22 left in the game when Swinney hit end Jimmy Carruthers on a 40-yard scoring play.

The play came at the end of a 6-play drive which began at the Bulldog 16. Swinney also had a 23-yard completion to David Gross during the drive to keep the Bulldogs rolling.

James Sanders booted the all-important extra point, and Coahoma went up 13-12.

After both teams traded punts, Denver City then went for the trick pass play on first down from its 35 and ended up with the best possible result and enough points for a victory.

Coahoma is now 3-2 for the year.

'Dogs win role reversal Midland rushing game tops Steers' air show

By GREG JAKLEWICZ Sports Editor

Movie fans expect a Steven Spielberg film to be a masterpiece. Football fans in Memorial Stadium Friday night expected to see a showcase of passing. They did...but by Big Spring instead of Midland High.

Midland High and quarterback James Welborn, widely known for their passing game, added run to their game plan to overcome three touchdown passes by Steer quarterback Tommy Gartman for a thrilling 38-33 victory over Big Spring in a District 4-5A game.

Shocked by Gartman's 3-yard scoring pass to end Dale Crenshaw with 10 seconds to go in the first half — giving Big Spring a 21-7 lead — Midland used the running of Randall Collins and Willie Swindell — and even Welborn himself — to even its league record at 1-1.

The game wasn't decided until the final 45 seconds when Cary Wallace recovered a last-gasp on-side kick attempt by the Steers.

"What a football game," said Bulldog coach Pat Culpepper. "Did that have enough excitement? We got that ole 'Junkyard Dogs' defense back in the second half. Heads started rolling and balls started popping."

It was quite a turnaround. Big Spring rolled up 218 yards in the first half, turning a Mike McKinley interception minutes into the game into a two-yard scoring run by Eric Sherman, the first of two scores by BSHS tailback.

"The main thing is I told them 'you've got to reach down and get a little something extra.'" Culpepper said of his halftime speech. "And they did."

With a vengeance. Midland took a short second half kickoff at the Big Spring 48 and four plays later scored on an 11-yard scoring burst by Collins. Richard Fry's PAT made it 21-14 with 10:36 to go and momentum was definitely on the Bulldogs' side.

Seconds later, Jay Pirkle fumbled at his own 32 and Midland had the ball back. Again the plan was to run and on fourth goal from the four, Welborn faked the roll-out to the right, reversed his field and dashed untouched into the end zone.

Fry hit the tying kick with 8:27 to go. Shrugging off adversity, as it had done against Abilene, Big Spring came right back to regain the lead.

A possession later, Collins fumbled to BSHS' Danny Arista at his 31 and Gartman found Crenshaw open down the middle for a 27-yard scoring pass. With 5:50 still left in the quarter, Big Spring had the lead back at 27-21.

Midland drove from its 41 to the Big Spring five but a goal-line stand by the Steers stopped the march. Misfortune struck on Steers' second play; Gartman was stripped of the football on an option and Albert Reed recovered for Midland on the one. Swindell scored from the one on second down and Fry's fourth PAT put the Bulldogs ahead to stay with 1:10 to go in the third period.

"It wasn't a fumble," Gartman protested. "I had the ball...it never touched the ground. That guy wrestled it away."

Jeff Alsup's interception on the Steers' next series led by Fry's clinching 27-yard field goal. Welborn's 2-yard pass to tight end Darrel Davis added to the victory with 2:30 to play. The scoring play came after the third short punt of the game by Pirkle which set up Midland just 49 yards away from the Steer end zone.

When the stats were totaled, Big Spring won the passing war but Midland's surprising triumph in the rushing department was the deciding factor in the contest.

Collins, who had only 162 yards entering the game, rushed for 135 on 20 trips as Midland outgained Big Spring 229-121. Almost 150 of that came in the third quarter.

Culpepper said his coaches in the pressbox called for more runs against Big Spring's pass defense after halftime. Especially effective were the "bounce-out" rushes by Collins, never successfully diagnosed by the Steers.

Gartman connected on 13 of 22 passes for 212 yards, easily his best game as varsity quarterback. He capped his evening by driving Big Spring 80 yards in seven plays in the last 2:30 of the game. Along the way, he hit Crenshaw with a 57-yard gain on fourth down and finished the scoring drive with a 12-yard scoring slant-in pass to Robert Porras with 45 seconds to go.

The TD catches were the first ever for Crenshaw and Porras. "I've been waiting for those for a long time," said Crenshaw, an all-district choice in 1982. "Tommy was real accurate."

Welborn, the league's top-rated quarterback, hit only 12 of 32 passes for 125 yards but made completions when they counted the most.

Another potential TD toss was dropped and another bubbled out by a penalty.

But it was the runs that hurt the Steers the most. "They stuck the ball down our throats two times," said Big Spring coach Quinn Eudy of the decisive third quarter. "We had no offense and turned the ball over twice. That was the turning point of the game."

Culpepper was gracious to the Steers. "Give Big Spring credit. They outplayed us in that first half. They came back from their loss...I don't know if there is a better coach in the district than Coach Eudy."

4-AAAA Roundup

Central subdues Lee; Coogs stun OHS

By GREG JAKLEWICZ Sports Editor

The "Big Showdown, I" is over. San Angelo advances, Lee falls back a step.

Central scored early and then held on to defeat Midland Lee 14-9 in a showdown of the state's No. 5 (Central) and No. 7 (Lee) teams Friday night.

Next week, the Bobcats travel to meet unbeaten and No. 3 state-ranked Permian.

In other games, Mojo thrashed Abilene 34-14. Cooper surprised Odessa 29-28 and Midland rallied by Big Spring 38-33.

Here's how they went around the 4-5A Friday night:

Central 14, Lee 9 MIDLAND — Central scored two quick TD's in the first quarter and held off the Rebels. Derrick Campbell burst for 66 yards and quarterback Greg Thomas ran six yards with Richard McKnight hitting two PATs.

Lee got three points back in the quarter as Craig Kamradt booted a 22-yard field goal. Issac Garnett, who had 150 yards on 22 carries, dove a yard for Lee's only touchdown in the third quarter.

Permian 34, Abilene 14

ODESSA — Abilene got within a touchdown on two occasions but a pair of Rex Lamberti scoring passes thwarted an upset bid by the Eagles.

Lamberti passed 16 yards to Mike Kwiatkowski for a first half touchdown and then hit Kirk Strahan with a 24-yarder in the third quarter that gave Mojo a 28-14 lead.

Cooper 29, Odessa 28

ABILENE — Allen Gunter dashed eight yards for a fourth quarter touchdown and Derrick Wilson pulled in the two-point conversion pass from Doug Hadley as the Coogs upset the Bronchos.

Two third quarter scores by Odessa, a one-yard run by Leonard Manning and 22-yard burst by Charles Hunter, had given OHS a 28-21 lead until Gunter's TD with 7:45 to go.

Hadley hit end Scott Anderson with two 18-yard scores in the first half as Cooper built its early lead.

Colbert leads with 8-under-par

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Jim Colbert shot a career-low, 8-under-par 62, set a seasonal record for 36 holes and moved into a one-stroke lead Friday in the second round of the $300,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament.

Colbert, 42, who scored the seventh victory of his career earlier this season in the Colonial National Invitation, put together a 2-round total of 128, 12 under par and the lowest 36-hole total on the PGA Tour this year.

"This course has been good to me," Colbert said, recalling two previous personal milestones he passed on the 6,525 yard Oak Hills Country Club course.

"In 1966, my rookie year, I won my first check as a professional, $537.50. And that's still the biggest check I ever won. I called everybody I knew to tell them about it," he said.

"And then last year, I made an 8-footer on the 18th hole of the final round to go past $1 million in career winnings."

This time Colbert played the back nine in 29, including an eagle-3 on the 10th hole, to compile the lowest competitive 18 hole score of his 18-year career.

"I've had a 61 and a 62, but both were in pro-ams," he said. "I've had 9-under several times, but those were 63s. So I guess this is the low competitive round I've had."

"And it just kind of came. I was playing pretty good, then made the eagle (a 3-iron second shot and a 30-foot putt) on the 10th, then made that long putt (a downhill 40-footer) on the 11th and there it was," he said.

Wally Armstrong and George Cadle, a pair of non-winning journeymen, held the next two positions. Armstrong, who said he has made a decision to end his 10-year tour career this season, shot a 63 that placed him at 129. Cadle shot a 64 and was at 130.

Playing conditions continued to be near ideal — sunny with gentle breezes — and the game's touring pros took advantage of it for some of the lowest scoring of the season.

Gary McCord and Tony Sills, each with a 64, were at 131. Lee Elder, with a 65, and Steve Hart, with a 66, were at 132.

Defending champion Jay Haas had a 64 and was tied at 133 with Mark Pfeil and Jack Renner. Pfeil had a 63 and Renner a 65.

And the spectacular scoring was not confined to the leaders. For example, there was Darrell Kestner, eight shots off the pace. His round of 67 included consecutive holes, the 11th and 12th, on which he scored eagle-2s.

The first came with a 9-iron from 120 yards, which hit short of the pin and trickled in the cup. Two swings later he holed out a 7-iron shot from 165 yards.

Craig Stadler, the first-round leader, went from an opening round 62 to 75 — including 35 putts — and dropped nine shots off the pace. He was tied with Lee Trevino, Fuzzy Zoeller and Rex Caldwell. Zoeller, needing to finish sixth or better to regain the season's money-winning lead, and Caldwell each had a 71. Trevino shot 68.

'Horns tackle Rice, Hogs battle TCU

By The Associated Press
The unblemished Texas Longhorns, picked to be runaway winners of the 1983 Southwest Conference football chase, open their league season against Rice Saturday night while defending champion Southern Methodist takes a non-conference breather.

No. 2 rated Texas was a prohibitive favorite over the Rice Owls, who got back on the winning track against Southwestern Louisiana last week.

No. 13 rated and unbeaten SMU also was a prohibitive — that means oddsmakers won't even issue a line — favorite over Texas-Arlington.

In other games, Arkansas was a seven-point choice over Texas Christian in their 11:37 a.m. (CBS) regionally televised matchup in Fort Worth; Texas Tech, on the rebound with a solid victory over Baylor, was a one-point pick over the Texas Aggies in the Red Raiders' first home game of the year; and twice-beaten Houston was a seven-point selection over Baylor in the Astrodome.

Texas was an impressive winner over Auburn then struggled to a penalty-marred 26-6 victory over North Texas in which the Mean Green led 6-2 at halftime.

Rice hasn't beaten Texas since the 1965 game in Austin and is 1-3 this season.

"We were proud for Rice breaking that losing streak and I just hope it doesn't get them too stirred up for us," said Texas Coach Fred Akers. "Obviously, they are going to be excited, and they proved they can be tough by having an excellent opportunity to beat LSU."

No team will be more pumped up than the Red Raiders in their first appearance in Jones Stadium against the Aggies, who have been a disappointment with a 1-2 record.

"Our fans have been waiting for us to play here since the middle of August," Moore said. "We're anxious to get back here."

Moore was still recovering from a sideline shot he took late in the Baylor game at Waco.

Moore said he got hit "pretty good" on the sideline by Baylor tackle Pat Coryatt.

"It was unintentional, but I sure felt it Sunday," Moore said.

"Baylor was a big win for us but there aren't too many people around who are more talented than Texas A&M," said Moore. Arkansas and TCU were on television last year and the Hogs won 35-0.

"TCU is talented," said Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz. "They have one of the best defensive teams in the league. It will be a tremendous challenge to bounce back (from a 13-10 loss to Mississippi) but we plan on bouncing back."

"I would have rather they had beaten Mississippi," Wacker said. "That will probably get their dander up."
