Outside: Rain

Cloudy and rainy with a chance of flash flooding. High today in upper 60s. Low tonight in the upper 50s. Winds from the south at 10-15 miles per hour. Forecasters say the probability of rain will decrease to 50 percent by evening.

Bulletin

The F. W. Woolworth Co. store at 317 Main will close Dec. 31, Woolworth Regional Vice President George Milyiori announced today.

"The company regrets closing the store after so many years of service to the community and the pleasant association it has had with customers here; however, the requirements of efficiency and economic operation make the closing necessary," Milyiori said.

"Woolworth has no immediate plans to open a new store here (in Big Spring), but the company is continually investigating all areas for future expansion," he said.

When feasible, personnel will be offered transfers to other Woolworth stores, Milyiori said.

GLOOMY DAY — According to an old saying, when it rains, it pours, and that was certainly the case in Big Spring yesterday as rain fell across the area throughout the day. Up to six inches of rain has been recorded in the Howard County area, with around three inches of rain being reported within the city limits. This photo, taken from atop the Permian Building, shows the low hanging clouds over the city.

RUN FOR COVER — Where is an umbrella when you need one? Most Big Springers had to search for their umbrellas yesterday when steady rains broke the summer's dry spell. Here, two Big Spring residents run for cover with only their jackets as protection as a steady rain falls on Scurry Street.

Dusty West Texas gets wish for rain

From staff and wire reports
Dusty West Texas got its wish for rain and then some as thunderstorms poured water on the thirsty land for the third straight day.

Much of the area, from Lubbock to Odessa was under a flash flood watch yesterday. Odessa and Midland each reported more than 4 inches of rain yesterday, and Lubbock which had almost 6 inches in less than 24 hours, experienced major flooding.

Official rainfall in the Spring City was 2.75 inches in the last 24 hours, according to the U.S. Big Spring Field Station. That brings the year's total to 11.47 inches. Normal for the year is 16.23.

The three-day rainfall total for Big Spring is 4.34 inches.

When it rains...

PHONE HOME — A record rainstorm hit the Lubbock area and dropped 6.1 inches of rain in the last 24 hours. Here Chuck Harrington uses the resources available to him to phone for help after running out of gas. He had to wade through four feet of water to get to this phone located on a little league baseball concession booth.

Induction rites

Honor Society induction held

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Twenty-nine students were inducted into one of Big Spring High School's most prestigious and select groups today as National Honor Society ceremonies were held at the school.

To be eligible for the group, a student must maintain a 90 average throughout each grading period of each year, possess character and leadership abilities, assume the responsibilities of service and recognize the importance of scholarship.

"These people inducted today are 'doers' — they have to be or they wouldn't be inducted," Principal Bill McQueary told the audience of parents, teachers and students.

"I've always considered the National Honor Society one of the most important things in high school because it is one of the few awards not based on popularity — a student must meet the criteria to be inducted."

During the ceremony, members of the society spoke on the four standards for inclusion into the group. Using quotes from past presidents George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Franklin Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, the students expounded on the meaning of leadership, character, service and scholarship.

Browyn Allen told her classmates leaders were ones of "self-confidence and poise...and possessed high morals, integrity, ambition and courage."

Clark Johnson said character "is not what others think you are but what you really are...a compound of all of the finest moral and spiritual chemistry."

Andi Burns said that service means putting "others above self interest" in an attempt to better the world.

And Eric Watkins told his fellow students that scholarship is not merely knowledge but See HONOR SOCIETY, page 2A

Reagan to sign King holiday bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says the country will have to wait to learn whether slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. was a communist sympathizer. Meanwhile, Reagan says he will sign legislation creating a holiday honoring King.

Reagan, speaking at a televised news conference hours after the Senate approved the bill 78-22, made it clear he would have preferred something less than a formal national holiday. But he said he believes "the symbolism of the day is important enough that I will sign that legislation."

Reagan's comments touched on a bitter Senate debate in which conservative Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C. had claimed King was a communist sympathizer and sought to delay action on the bill until secret FBI files were released.

Asked whether he he agreed with Helms about King's alleged communist links, Reagan said, "We'll know in about 35 years, won't we?"

Actually, the FBI files won't be opened until 2027, 50 years after federal judge sealed the files, which dealt with wiretaps of King's telephone conversations. The files were sealed after King's family sued the FBI over its activities.

Reagan added he doesn't fault Helms' "sincerity with regards to See HOLIDAY, page 2A

Customers flood Bell with gripes

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. shattered records with its $1.7 billion rate hike request and now customers are breaking records griping about it.

With Bell's proposal pending at the Texas Public Utility Commission (PUC), customers have lodged more than 8,000 protests, including hundreds of petition signatures, said commission Consumer Affairs Director Lora Rutledge. Some service complaints are included in the figure, she said.

Not only have the 1983 Bell protests set a record for a utility rate case, they already are double the 3,364 protests received during the six months Bell's 1982 rate case was pending at the commission, according to figures requested from the commission's consumer affairs office.

The protests come in all styles, including flowered stationery with shaky handwriting, scraps of paper and formal letterheads with crisply typed objections. "Ransom," "bloodsucking," "obscene," "preposterous," "rip-off," are just a few of the descriptions consumers have used in reference to the Bell request.

Letters arrive in waves, corresponding to news reports on the See BELL, page 2A

Police Beat

Two injured in wreck

Police reported at 7:16 a.m. Thursday a major accident at the intersection of S. Gregg and FM 700. Claude Day, 38, of 1308 Lexington driving a 1981 Chevrolet Custom Deluxe, ran a red light and hit a 1978 GMC Sierra Classic driven by John Stilwell, 42, of 610 Ash, police reports said. Both men were taken to Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital, treated for minor injuries and released, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Donna Hokanson of 1905 Wasson 4B4 told police at 12:31 p.m. Wednesday that persons unknown to her entered her residence and stole a television worth $115 and assorted jewelry worth $2,940 — including a $700 diamond cocktail ring and a $450 pearl ring.

Alma Taylor of 1314 Mobile told police at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday that a subject known to her stole a billfold containing $56 which had been left in a purse beside a telephone the subject had asked to use.

In an harassment complaint, reports said Felix Hilario of 1501 E. Fifth told police at 9:23 p.m. Wednesday that a subject known to him tried to strike Hilario's car with his own car.

Sandra Williams, 19, of 910 NW Fourth filed an assault complaint with police at 6:34 p.m. Wednesday stating that a subject known to her struck her and threw her down on the ground.

Police arrested at 1:47 a.m. Thursday Randy Alan Moore, 32, of 1601B Lincoln on a charge in connection with driving while intoxicated.

Monte Carlo spins wheels for charity

The glamor and glitter of the French Riviera will mark the March of Dimes Monte Carlo Casino Night Saturday at the Dora Roberts Center.

Showgirls and music, food and casino games will highlight the annual event. Tickets may be purchased by calling Gary Don Carey at 267-2187.

Following the auction a variety of items donated by Big Spring merchants will be auctioned. All proceeds go the Caprock Chapter of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation.

The local chapter recently purchased an infant ventilator which is housed at Malone-Hogan Hospital. The ventilator increases the ability of medical personnel to treat neonatal respiratory problems.

Sheriff's Log

Man arrested in theft

Howard County sheriff's deputies Wednesday arrested Levi Lee Edmondson, 48, of Gail Route in connection with a warrant on a charge of misdemeanor theft. Edmondson was released later on $500 bond set by County Judge Milton Kirby.

Sheriff's deputies also arrested William B. Winters, 24, of 1202 Harding in connection with a district court commitment in connection with failure to pay child support.

Delores Marie Davis, 21, of 706 B Goliad remains in custody of the sheriff's office after being arrested today in connection with a charge of revocation of probation.

Andy Lee Cheek, 22, of 602 W. 17th Wednesday was transferred from the police department to the county jail in connection with a charge of driving while license suspended. Cheek was released on $1,000 bond set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

For the record

James Kevin Harmon of 306 E. Fifth died of gunshot wounds early Monday morning, his 23rd birthday. Harmon, employed by Clint Hurts and Associates of Midland, was survived by his wife, Teresa Tate-Harmon.

Oren Lee Craig, who also turned 23 Monday, of Sand Springs remains in police custody today in connection with a charge of murder in Harmon's death.

The four-week cardio-pulmonary resuscitation course being taken by Boy Scout Troup No. 16 is sponsored by Citizens Federal Credit Union, not Cosden Oil & Chemical Co.

Police captain resigns

Three persons were promoted recently in the police department as a result of the resignation by a long-time member of the police force, Big Spring Police Chief Rick Turner said.

Police Capt. George Quintero resigned Friday from the police force for personal reasons, Turner said.

As a result of Quintero's resignation, Turner promoted former Lt. Lonnie Smith to captain in the detective division, Quintero's old position.

Lt. Alvis Jeffcoat was transferred to the patrol division from detectives, while former Sgt. Jerry Edwards was promoted to lieutenant to take Jeffcoat's place, Turner said.

Bill Price was promoted to sergeant, Turner said.

Chamber elects new board

Paul Shaffer was installed as president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce yesterday at a regular meeting, taking over the helm from Bill Read.

Also elected were Clyde McMahon Jr. as vice president, Maxwell Green as treasurer and LeRoy Tillery as executive vice president.

Shaffer, president of Chaparral Contractors, Inc., is also chairman of the chamber's quality of life committee.

said 2.8 inches had fallen at his farm since 9 a.m. yesterday, while Knott resident Larry Shaw reported 2.4 inches at his home.

A report from Coahoma said about 3.5 inches had fallen in that area, and south of Big Spring, Bill Cregar of Elbow reported that 2.9 inches had fallen there since yesterday.

A report from Colorado City said 3.8 inches of rainfall was recorded yesterday.

Elsewhere in the city, Red Thomas of 107 E. 13th reported 3.4 inches of rain.

Lubbock received the most rain and the most damage from flooding as sheets of rain inundated city for a second day, forcing the evacuation of a nursing home, closing streets and area roads, and stalling numerous cars.

Weather officials said the rains would continue today, and portions of West Texas, South Texas and North Central Texas were under flash flood advisories.

The storm dumped 5.85 inches of rain on Lubbock for the 24 hours that ended at 7:17 p.m. Wednesday, the most precipitation the West Texas city has ever received in a 24-hour period. The previous record was 5.7 inches on June 7, 1967.

But at the same time, the president said there is "no way" the records can be unsealed because "an agreement was reached between the family and the government" to keep them secret another 35 years.

Reagan's commitment to sign the bill caps a 15-year struggle in Congress to honor King, who was assassinated on April 4, 1968. The final act was played out before a hushed gallery, with King's widow, Coretta Scott King, looking on.

Although King's birth date was Jan. 15, the holiday will be observed the third Monday in January beginning in 1986. Federal workers will have the day off, with many state and local governments and private employers expected to follow suit.

After the vote Mrs. King appeared at a news conference that case, a PUC staff spokeswoman said.

On heavier days, it takes three to four hours to open the mail, she said. The consumer affairs division, swamped with protests, is answering with a form letter, advising of the hearing process.

The office also will prepare a report on the number and the nature of protests for the three-member commission to consider in reaching a verdict, Ms. Rutledge said.

Many of the letters are from senior citizens on fixed incomes or from children writing in their behalf. "My mother...has tightened her belt with each increase in the cost of living and I suggest the Bell System do the same and stop living 'high' at the cost of low-income people," wrote Anita Ansel of Longview.

"This is not only an economic issue but a social one as well," complained Leonard and Maxine George of Sherman. "Such a price is out of the question for retired people."

"Please let me keep my telephone," wrote an elderly Ennis resident.

"If you give them this raise they can just pick up my phones for I just can't pay what they are asking," noted Nettie Tinkle of Carthage.

"We may have to walk, fly or drive to touch someone," wrote Mrs. A.J. Formby of Corsicana.

A petition signed by more than 30 Abilene-area residents said Bell's proposal is "obscene" and is "too much to believe and too much to ask."

"Many times I have observed their employees working less than four hours in an eight hour shift," wrote B.E. Beecroft of Corpus Christi. "If they continue to operate the way they are...they will have to have a rate increase to make a profit."

A Rockport man said he was concerned about the "ransom money" Bell has applied for "to pay for damage caused by their own monopolistic practices of the past."

A Bell spokesman said the public outcry "is understandable from an emotional standpoint."

"Nobody likes a rate increase. Even the phone company. But it

State approves $50,000 grant for new hangar

From staff and bureau reports

AUSTIN — The Texas Aeronautics Commission this week approved financial assistance for 37 public airport projects, including one at Big Spring.

Commissioners moved that $50,000 in state funds be made available to help construct a T-hangar at Big Spring. This is part of the commission's aviation facilities loan program.

Although the city applied for the grant in 1981, Air Park Manager Hal Boyd said he is unsure if the hangar will be built.

If the city council approves construction, the city would provide money from the Air Park fund to match the grant.

Also approved was certification of Wise Airlines, based in San Angelo, for service between San Angelo and Midland.

Boyd announced Tuesday the formation of an Airport Safety Committee.

The committee is one of many in the region being formed at the suggestion of the Albuquerque office of the Federal Aviation Administration to bring local participation into administration affairs, said Boyd.

The committee is made up of Boyd, area pilots and representatives of airport fixed base operators Mac Air Inc. and Trans Regional Airlines. Pilot Larry Malone is the committee's chairman, said Boyd.

The group has no official enforcement power but will accept reports of airport safety problems and talk to the those involved to find a solution, said Boyd.

At a recent meeting of the committee, members met with representatives of the FAA and air controllers from Midland Regional Airport, said Boyd.

In a related matter, Warren C. Harmon of Bryan has been named the new chairman of the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

He was elected Tuesday to replace James Johnson of Austin, who stays on the six-member commission.

Harmon is a builder and developer and has a pilot's license. He was recently appointed to the commission by Gov. Mark White.

Commissioners also elected Mel Phillips of Amarillo as vice chairman and Jack H. McCreary of Austin as secretary.

Deaths

James Harmon

James K. Harmon, 23, died Wednesday morning at a local hospital. Services will be at 10 a.m. Friday at the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Byron Corn, minister of 11th and Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be at Mount Olive Memorial Park.

He was born Oct. 19, 1960 in Lubbock. He came to Big Spring in 1969 with his family and attended Big Spring schools. He was working as a derrick man for Clint Hurts and Associates Oil Co. of Midland.

He was preceded in death by his father, James M. Harmon in 1982, and by a brother, Roger Beaty in 1965.

He is survived by his wife, Teresa Rene Tate-Harmon; one son, Jonathon James Harmon of Big Spring; his mother, Mrs. J.M. (Janie) Ringener of Big Spring; two brothers, Gerald Harmon of Lubbock and Robert Beaty of Big Spring; two sisters, Synda Smith of Big Spring and Kay Varos of San Antonio.

Survivors include a son, Billie Norris of Big Spring; a daughter, Charlyne Wyatt of Lamesa; and two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Albert Negro

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Albert J. Negro, 49, a former Big Spring resident, died Sept. 25 in Colorado Springs, Colo., of a heart attack.

Services were held in Evergreen Chapel, and burial was in Evergreen Cemetery with full military honors. The Rev. Jerry Jordon officiated.

He was born on Aug. 24, 1934 in New York City and had lived in Colorado Springs since retiring as a master sergeant from the Air Force in 1973.

He was a member of Disabled American Veterans, the Air Force Sergeants Association and the Colorado Diving Team.

Negro was assigned to Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring from 1954 until 1960 and was married on July 13, 1957 to Vonna Beth Nutt of Big Spring.

He is survived by his wife; a son, James Negro; and daughters, Nancy Negro and Suzanne Negro, both of Colorado Springs; his mother, Anna Negro of New York City; a brother, Vincent Negro, also of New York City; and his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Nutt of Big Spring.

Veronica Martinez

Veronica Martinez, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martinez of Big Spring, died Wednesday at Lubbock General Hospital following a one-week illness.

Services are pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Charlie Norris

LAMESA — Charlie Norris, 88, of Lamesa died at 9:10 a.m. Wednesday at the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Big Spring. Services will be at 4 p.m. Thursday at Branon Funeral Home in Lamesa with the Rev. Bill Shockley, pastor of Nor-

Mary Tyler Moore to wed

NEW YORK — Actress Mary Tyler Moore has picked up a marriage license to wed cardiologist Dr. S. Robert Levine after the city kept its license bureau open late for their convenience.

Miss Moore, 45, got the license at the city clerk's office Tuesday night after asking it to stay open late to accommodate the schedule of Miss Moore's intended, a busy heart specialist, city clerk David Dinkins said.

The actress has been married twice before, most recently to Grant Tinker, with whom she founded MTM Enterprises, which produced the "Mary Tyler Moore Show." They were divorced last year. Levine is a heart specialist at Mount Sinai Hospital and at the Bronx Veterans Administration Hospital. Dinkins said he and Miss Moore could marry within 24 hours of getting the license.

An aide to Levine's mother at the North Shore Child Guidance Association said Wednesday the two may have already wed privately, the New York Daily News reported today.

Lithographs discovered

CHICAGO — Mayor Harold Washington sent out the alarm: $31,000 worth of lithographs were missing. Now 11 of the art works have been discovered in a most unusual place:

former Mayor Jane Byrne's apartment building.

Jay McMullen, husband of the former mayor, said he was rummaging around the couple's storage vault Tuesday looking for his winter clothes when he ran across 11 of the 31 missing lithographs.

Real estate tycoon Arthur Rubloff said he paid $1,000 each for the turn-of-the-century scenes before giving them to the city as a gift.

Mrs. Byrne has said the lithographs were given to her as a personal gift, but said Tuesday she was relinquishing all claim.

"My taste in art doesn't run along those lines, anyway," she said.

Mrs. Byrne, who lost February's Democratic primary to the 61-year-old Washington, said the lithographs must have been put in the box by movers who transferred her belongings from City Hall to the apartment building.

"Jay went down to the vault to start getting out his winter things and ran across this box marked 'trophies and plaques,'" Mrs. Byrne said. "He looked in there and found some pictures."

Another 12 lithographs already have been recovered.

Law firm goes to court

NEW YORK — The law firm of renowned attorney Louis Nizer has gone to court — this time on its own behalf — seeking compensation for "thousands of hours" spent on the divorce case of socialite Ethel Scull.

Phillips, Nizer, Benjamin, Krim and Balloncin contends Mrs. Scull, granted a divorce in May 1979 from her husband, Robert, operator of the Sculls' Angels taxi fleet, owes it $1.4 million in attorney fees.

Mrs. Scull's current lawyer, Raoul Felder, says of the amount sought by the firm of the 81-year-old Nizer, "If that's what he charges to lose a case, we'd be curious to know what he charges to win a case."

According to the Nizer complaint, filed in state Supreme Court Tuesday, the firm was paid $58,500 to represent Mrs. Scull from 1975 to 1982.

Represented by the Nizer firm, Mrs. Scull was awarded $1,300 a week alimony and six art works from her husband's multimillion dollar collection. A judge ruled that the rest belonged to Scull along with his taxi business and a $2 million home in Connecticut.

With Felder representing Mrs. Scull, an appeals court last June declared the art, the fleet and the home joint assets of the marriage.

Nizer's firm contends the successful appeal was based on the trial record its lawyers had built.

Joan Baez awarded

PHILADELPHIA — Protest singer and activist Joan Baez accepted a peace prize from the SANE Education Fund on a day she said held special significance.

The award has "meaning for me in that it points to a new future for peace and non-violent social change on the day that Congress recognized Martin Luther King's birthday as a national holiday," she said Wednesday night after accepting the organization's Peace Award before 400 people at a dinner.

Ms. Baez worked with King until his assassination in 1968. The SANE Education Fund said it was recognizing Ms. Baez's efforts to "heighten public awareness about nuclear disarmament and the importance of non-violence in building a more ... just world."

Reagan stands firm

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, standing firm in two key foreign policy areas, says the United States will "deploy on schedule" its modernized nuclear missiles in Europe, and that if Syria thinks it can wear him down by delaying peace talks in Lebanon, "they're going to be disappointed."

Reagan, calling Syria "a roadblock" to peace in Lebanon, said at a news conference Wednesday night the 1,600 Marines deployed in a multinational peacekeeping force will remain "as long as there's a possibility of making the overall peace plan work."

"We have made great progress there," he said. The president said that the United States was trying to make the Marines' positions on low ground near the Beirut international airport safer. Seven have been killed, including two hit by sniper fire since Friday.

"I know the Syrians are dragging their feet" in Lebanon, Reagan said, adding that about 7,000 Soviet advisers and technicians in Syria "are contributing to the disorder and the trouble."

But, he said, "if they're doing it with the idea of wearing me down, they're going to be disappointed."

The president said the Soviets were conducting "a great propaganda effort" in Europe to "persuade our allies to turn back and not ask us for the deployment of intermediate-range weapons."

"Well, we're going to deploy, and deploy on schedule," Reagan declared. "And once they see we're going to do that" and not disarm, "I think they're going to see that the best thing for them is to negotiate with us and in good faith."

Prime minister killed

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados — Soldiers killed Grenada Prime Minister Maurice Bishop and three Cabinet ministers outside army headquarters in the capital of St. George's, and the new regime today urged citizens to "be vigilant against imperialistic attempts at counter-revolution."

It warned again they would be shot on sight if they violate martial law.

Radio Free Grenada repeated a statement by the army commander, Gen. Hudson Austin, who late Wednesday said a "revolutionary and military" council had been established to rule the Caribbean island and all schools and businesses would be closed until "normality is returned."

In the radio broadcast monitored in Barbados, he said a 24-hour curfew had been imposed until 6 p.m.

Marines may hunt snipers

WASHINGTON — President Reagan is leaving open the possibility that U.S. Marines on peacekeeping duty in Lebanon might be allowed to go after snipers who attack their positions. Two leathernecks have been killed by sharpshooters in the last week.

Asked at his Wednesday night news conference whether the Marines would be allowed to "sally forth" from their encampment around the Beirut International Airport, Reagan replied: "I can't answer that question right now."

In response to another question, Reagan said, "We're looking at every option and everything that we can do that can leave us in a position to carry out the mission for which they (the Marines) were sent and at the same time make their lives safer."

Earlier, Pentagon sources said the Reagan administration was considering broadening the authority of the 1,600-man Marine contingent to counteract snipers who have been shooting at them from houses as close as 100 yards from the Marine perimeter.

"We aren't going to stand by and let our men be picked off," said one source.

Officials refused to discuss the options under study in any detail, but it was understood there was a possibility the Marines might be allowed to go after sniper nests outside the Marine perimeter around the Beirut airport.

So far, the Marines have been limited to firing back at the snipers from the present U.S. positions. After Marines were killed last Friday and again on Sunday, Marine snipers were brought in and officers at Corps headquarters say they believe between four and six of the attacking gunmen were killed.

In all, seven Marines have been killed in Beirut, including one in 1982.

Dioxin, cancer link studied

NEW YORK — Research suggesting a link between the toxic chemical dioxin and a rare form of cancer in humans who worked with herbicides has been challenged by a federal agency in five of the seven suspected cases.

But Marilyn Fingerhut, the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health epidemiologist who released the findings Wednesday, cautioned the new analysis "doesn't eliminate the concern and it doesn't exacerbate it."

"The bottom line is we need larger studies to confirm or to refute these smaller ones," Ms. Fingerhut said.

NIOSH is studying 6,000 workers at 10 plants where herbicides were made during the last 35 years. The expanded worker study is expected to be completed by mid-1985, Ms. Fingerhut said in an interview after she addressed a Rockefeller University symposium attended by 200 dioxin experts.

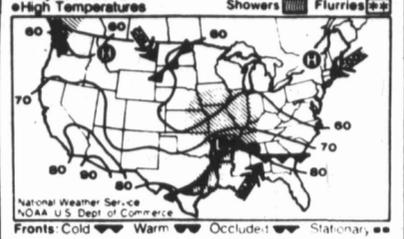

Statistical data connected with some of the original cases — the only ones reported thus far in the United States — had suggested the rate of soft tissue sarcoma incidents was more than 40 times the expected rate.

But the two remaining cases would still leave the actual rate of soft tissue sarcomas, which attack parts of the body such as fat, muscle and blood vessels, as much as 30 times above the expected rate.

The seven workers were employed by Monsanto Co. and Dow Chemical Co.

Flood watches posted

Flash flood watches were posted early today for parts of the Southwest, and portions of Texas remained underwater after heavy downpours dumped over 6 inches of rain in the Lubbock area.

Showers and thunderstorms lingered over the Southern Plains and the lower Mississippi Valley while other showers dotted areas from the Tennessee Valley into North Carolina.

The mountains of Arizona and New Mexico also were dampened, and scattered showers touched the Pacific Northwest and spread out from the Great Lakes to Virginia.

Meanwhile, locally heavy rains caused flooding in the Southern Plains Wednesday afternoon and evening. Many roads were under water and lakes were overflowing around Lubbock, Texas. The Pease River near Vernon, Texas, rose over its banks and there was considerable flooding in Oklahoma City, Okla., Wednesday evening.

Temperatures at 3 a.m. EDT today ranged from 24 in Montpellier, Vt., to 81 in Homestead, Fla.

Some other reports:

—East: Atlanta 64 foggy; Boston 43 partly cloudy; Buffalo 39 partly cloudy; Charleston, S.C. 66 cloudy; Cincinnati 50 rain; Cleveland 46 cloudy; Detroit 46 partly cloudy; Miami 77 fair; New York 53 partly cloudy; Philadelphia 51 cloudy; Pittsburgh 47 cloudy; Washington 57 cloudy.

—Central: Bismarck 43 foggy; Chicago 49 cloudy; Dallas-Fort Worth 74 cloudy; Denver 40 cloudy; Des Moines 49 drizzle; Indianapolis 52 rain; Kansas City 55 showery; Minneapolis-St. Paul 44 rain; Nashville 67 cloudy; New Orleans 71 fair; St. Louis 56 rain.

—West: Albuquerque 49 showery; Anchorage 34 showery; Las Vegas 63 fair; Phoenix 75 fair; Salt Lake City 43 fair; San Diego 70 foggy; San Francisco 55 fair; Seattle 52 foggy.

—Canada: Montreal 30 fair; Toronto 37 partly cloudy.

North Texas: Partly cloudy with scattered showers and thunderstorms. Highs mid 70s north to low 80s southeast. Lows upper 50s to upper 60s.

West Texas: Chance of thunderstorms mainly south, otherwise partly cloudy. Highs 70s north to 80s south. Lows 40s north to 50s south.

South Texas: Mostly cloudy with a chance of showers or rain east and south. Lows near 60 Hill Country to near 70 south. Highs low 80s north to the upper 90s south.

AIDS strikes rich, poor

BOSTON (AP) — AIDS strikes rich and poor alike in Haiti, but few victims in the Caribbean nation appear to be homosexuals or drug addicts — the major risk groups in the United States, according to a study published today.

The research also found that the illness probably did not exist in Haiti before 1978, and that the epidemic erupted there and in the United States at about the same time.

"No segment of Haitian society appears to be free of opportunistic infections or Kaposi's sarcoma," two major forms of AIDS, the researchers wrote in today's New England Journal of Medicine. "These diseases have been diagnosed in the indigent and the wealthy, the illiterate and the educated, and in people with diverse occupations."

Haitian doctors who conducted the study did not draw a conclusion on how the disease was transmitted among people.

"The most probable theory is the sexual route, but this is only speculation," Dr. Bernard Liataud, one of the researchers, said in an interview.

The study was directed by Dr. Jean W. Pape of the Haitian Study Group on Kaposi's Sarcoma and Opportunistic Infection in Port-au-Prince.

Most of the 2,400 reported victims in the United States have been male homosexuals or drug abusers, but about 5 percent have been Haitian immigrants who fell into neither of the other categories.

Some Haitians bitterly object to the decision of the federal Centers for Disease Control to list Haitian-Americans as a risk group.

Hemophiliacs who need transfusions of blood or blood products have also been struck by acquired immune deficiency syndrome, which destroys the body's ability to fight infection and leaves victims to other, sometimes fatal diseases.

The Haitian doctors surveyed 61 people diagnosed between 1979 and 1982 as having AIDS. Two possible risk factors — bisexual activity or blood transfusions — were identified in 17 percent of the men and 22 percent of the women. All of them denied using illicit drugs.

Because of strong taboos against homosexuality in Haiti, the researchers said they may have underestimated the extent of homosexuality among the victims.

Fighting hunger with knowledge

With chronic hunger and malnutrition so prevalent in the world, it is fortunate we have groups such as the Davis, Calif.-based non-profit Meals for Millions which are trying to do something about the heartrending problem.

Global poverty, burgeoning populations, limited international aid, droughts and other adverse conditions all figure in hunger. But it is especially tragic when people could feed themselves if they had the right knowledge and tools.

Meals for Millions, which moved its headquarters to Davis this year because of the university's food science, agriculture and nutrition curricula, is helping people become self-sufficient in producing food at the local level.

Its activities have ranged from introducing simple and easily maintained and duplicated food technology, such as a solar cooker for baking bread in Bolivia, to developing foods such as a cereal from leftover milled grain in Honduras.

In a world where tensions sometimes result in consideration of food as a weapon, it is gratifying that a group is attempting to share food production know-how as a weapon against empty stomachs. The efforts of the group, which relies on private donations for 36 percent of its backing, clearly merit support.

Around the Rim

Baby talk

What goes on inside the heads of little kids?

I have often pondered this thought, watching a diapered youngster gurgle and goo-goo away. Once, a long time ago, I was a little kid. But I can't remember a thing from those years. I can recall places and events, but what I thought of them at the time, who knows?

The biggest mystery lies in babies. The only thing they seem to want to do is sleep. But do they sleep just to sleep or is it because they are tired of six million strange faces staring at them and going, "Aawwhh, isn't she precious..." in silly high-pitched voices?

If I had a choice, I'd doze through all that stuff, too.

What makes babies laugh? They don't understand jokes or TV — or do they? — so does having someone makes faces at them make them happy? Or are they simply trying to humor the big people?

Why do they eat things? Yes, I know they're trying to work in their molars and bicusps and stuff. But chomp, chew, bite, nibble...it's a constant thing. Are they that hungry?

And why do they chew on their feet? How many times have you seen a baby grab its foot and stick it in its mouth? No wonder we do the same thing as adults. Later on in life, we get embarrassed or in trouble when we do that. When we're babies, it's cute.

And what do babies say when they babble? What is going through their minds? Are they trying to say something or just trying to make noise? Do they know they're making noise?

What do babies think of baby food? Try to convince me they go for that goosy stuff. Broccoli and carrot mix? Yuk. No wonder you have to spoon it in them. When do they acquire a taste for things like steak, chocolate cake and Kool-

Aid? Why do kids grow up liking certain things and hating others?

Is pain significant? Sure babies and little kids cry. But a lot of times they cry like they are in total pain and stop just as soon as the hurt is "kissed and made all better." Are they hurting or do they just want attention?

Why do kids do kid things? Like jump smack in the middle of a water puddle? Or pull the cat's tail? Or play hide-n-go-seek? All kids do these things, to one extreme or another. Some might even pull the cat's tail, toss it into the water puddle and tumble dry it in the dryer while they go play hide-n-go-seek.

How important is early education? Gone are the days of multiplication and language cards. Usher in the days of the Apple, Commodore and Radio Shack computers which make learning more of a game. Sure seems like a good idea to put Junior behind a keyboard and have him punch away. But are we limiting the mind's capacity to think on its own?

Are kids getting older younger? If so, why? Why are little kids recognizing and singing songs of the radio instead of singing "Mary Had a Little Lamb" at age 3?

It's a mystery to me. As we get older, we do things because we were trained to do them, like to do them, feel we need to do them. We understand and we react. But what goes on in a child's mind? Is everything there ready to be tapped? Or does the mind grow, not physically mind you, but in its mental capacities?

Since I have no understanding of babies and little kids, it's obvious I have none of my own. But just observing, I think therein lies one of the great mysteries of this world.

An even greater mystery is how can we keep the innocence, the honesty, the eagerness of the young mind in bodies as they grow older? In all my 25 years of wisdom, I haven't solved that one yet either.

What's so special about interests?

By now it's clear that one of the central issues of the 1984 presidential campaign will be "special interests." The Democratic front-runner, Walter Mondale, has won the support of several groups which fit the usual definition. His Democratic opponents, most of whom tried in vain to attract those groups, now damn him for succeeding. Republicans likewise ridicule him as the eager servant of any organized constituency.

His allies, unable to deny Mondale's captivity to certain constituencies (teachers, the AFL-CIO, feminists) instead deny that they are special interests. Lane Kirkland says people who criticize "special interests" want to exclude "working people, young people, environmentalists and the poor" from politics, leaving "a handful of prosperous, middle-aged white males to run the country." (Why Kirkland resists being governed by replicas of himself is a matter for his psychiatrist.)

Mondale himself expresses utter amazement that anyone might consider the AFL-CIO a special interest. Some agnostics have gone so far as to suggest there's no such thing as a special interest; it's merely any interest the observer doesn't share.

As two of the chief mouthpieces for powerful blocs of voters, Mondale and Kirkland have reason to feel defensive, but they also have some right to feel put upon. Special interests, it's true, aren't the exclusive preserve of the Democratic Party. The GOP has its share—farmers, defense contractors and any union whose leaders traditionally spend their retirement years at Leavenworth. But the bipartisan nature of special interests doesn't mean they don't exist, or that they are impossible to distinguish from other groups.

The first distinguishing trait of a special interest is that its primary objective is a transparently selfish one. Some examples: teachers demanding higher salaries, airlines criticizing deregulation, steel companies complaining about foreign "dumping," gun owners resisting registration laws. Naturally, they all try to disguise their self-serving motives with a lot of pious mumbo jumbo, but only the resolutely naive are fooled.

They differ plainly from other groups which stand to gain nothing directly from what they advocate, like the nuclear freeze movement, right-to-lifers and the American Civil Liberties Union. The latter organizations operate on some broader principle that whatever will enrich their members. In some cases they even oppose what might be seen as their narrow self-interest — as when the ACLU, whose leadership and membership are disproportionately Jewish, defends the First Amendment rights of Nazis. The principle upheld by any of these groups may be liberal or conservative, right or wrong, but it isn't a special interest.

Of course in some cases it is possible to promote both self-interest and the public interest. In lobbying for civil rights laws, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People served not only the obvious interests of blacks, but also, and more important, a compelling vision of simple justice. If higher teacher salaries would lead promptly to better education, they'd deserve support even from people who would have to pay for them — and they'd probably get it.

That is the second test of an organized group: Does its legislative agenda offer a plausible hope of improving the lot of society as a whole? If not, it's probably a special interest, and it probably shouldn't get its way. On the other hand, there's nothing wrong with proposing something that benefits you if your fellow citizens also stand to gain.

As for the relationship between politicians and special interest groups — well, every candidate has to cultivate some, if only in self-defense. The crucial question is who is using whom. If the candidate can keep a group with him even though he doesn't always do what it wants, the support shouldn't be held against him. But if he stands ready to endorse anything the group wants, he should be rewarded with a harmless sinecure in the private sector.

In the end, of course, every policy has to be judged on its own merits, not on who sponsors it. But those which carry the imprimatur of special interests deserve special skepticism, which in most cases they will justify. And any candidate who owes his success entirely to special interests should be presumed an enemy of the public interest. If that makes any presidential candidate nervous, he has only himself to blame.

U.S. Army's 'dream machine' is a bomb

WASHINGTON — American infantrymen may be in more danger to the battlefield in the Army's newest dream vehicle than they would by from enemy fire.

The High Mobility Multipurpose Wheeled Vehicle — called the "Hummer" — is intended to be the infantry's wheeled workhorse of the future. It's supposed to replace the jeep, the weapons carrier and the personnel carrier — with missile-firing capability to boot. The Army wants nearly 55,000 Hummers at about $22,000 apiece.

But the diesel-powered vehicle has already amassed a dismal record for reliability. And now a series of internal Army reports, examined by my associate Donald Goldberg, shows that the Hummer gets a flunking grade for safety as well.

A report sent to the Army's deputy chief of staff for research, development and acquisition lists a number of serious safety problems: —A badly placed safety strap can result in "passengers potentially ejected" from the carrier.

—The driver's field of vision is restricted. "This item is particularly important during driving over the crest of hills and in traffic on roadways," the report notes.

—There is no "PARK" position on the Hummer's automatic transmission. This oversight, "may result in accidents...due to potential driver error (inadvertently leaving transmission in a "DRIVE" position)."

—The brakes aren't protected from objects kicked up from below by the wheels. Result: "Potential brake failure."

—The Hummer's 62-pound "TOW" missiles cannot be tied down properly. "Failure of missile rack to adequately secure TOW missiles may result in missile becoming dislodged during vehicle operation over rough terrain, with subsequent damage or personal injury."

—If they avoid getting conked by a dislodged missile, the Hummer's crew faces serious danger from the ever-present possibility of a missile misfire. "This may result in a number of different accident situations, ranging in severity up to subjecting all crew members to TOW exhaust blast and flame."

—And even if everything goes like clockwork, the Hummer missile gunners will be subjected to deafening blast noise. "This will result in permanent hearing loss (even with double hearing protection) unless the number of exposures is limited to one per gunner per day" — hardly the kind of quota that wins any battles.

Army spokesmen stoutly insist that the Hummer won't be accepted until the bugs are worked out; they say testing is continuing. But other Army sources doubt that the safety issues will ever be resolved.

There's good reason for these doubts. Officials at the Army's safety center at Fort Rucker, Ala., have urged further tests and correction of the safety problems.

SCANDAL OF THE WEEK: With callous unconcern about the poisons that seep into our food supply, pesticide producers are lobbying strenuously against legislation that would tighten the testing requirements for deadly agricultural chemicals and the people who use them.

Industry pressure is expected to kill a requirement, for example, that older, never-tested pesticides be checked. What consumers don't know, it is presumed, won't hurt them.

The pesticide companies are also protesting the bill's proposal that "applicators"—the individuals who actually spread or spray the deadly poisons—must show that they know how to use and dispose of the chemicals before they get the necessary certification.

In some states, minors allegedly take the applicator tests for their il-

Commitment is only qualification

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Our pastor has asked my husband and me to become sponsors to our church youth group. We would like to be of service somehow, but we wonder if we are really qualified enough to tackle this job since we don't even have children of our own yet. Do you think that is a good reason for turning him down? — Mrs. T.J.M.

DEAR MRS. T.J.M.: The most important thing is whether or not it is God's will for you to assume this responsibility, and you and your husband should make it a matter of prayer to seek God's will. It is wonderful to know that whenever we face a decision — no matter how large or small — God has his perfect will. You should seek it diligently.

Having said that, I see no reason why you should turn down his request just because you do not have children yet. In fact, if you did have children he would probably not ask you, because children can be very time consuming. At present you and your husband have the time and the energy to undertake this, and unless you have a strong feeling that it would not be God's will, you should go ahead and accept.

This could be a great opportunity to serve Christ if you are open to his leading. Young people are at an age when they are asking very basic questions about life — why they are here, what their goals will be and so forth. Studies have shown repeatedly that a much higher percentage of people accept Christ before the age of 20 than in any other age group.

Therefore anyone who has an opportunity to serve Christ through teaching young people or being a sponsor to a youth group should take it seriously as a responsibility from God. Think through your goals very carefully in light of God's word, and pray for those in your group by name. Let them know you care for them, and be open to spend time with them and listen to their problems. Most of all, by your lives and by your words seek to point them to Jesus Christ. Make the Gospel clear to them and challenge them to live for Christ. It is not easy to be a young person today because of the pressures on them, but with Christ and with the guidance of adults who love Christ a solid foundation can be laid that will last.

with an enrollment of 946, has 15 sets of twins enrolled, a record for the Garland Independent School District.

School has 15 sets of twins

ROWLETT, Texas (AP) — Rowlett Elementary School principal Bill Kirk has gotten used to seeing double.

His school, with an enrollment of 946 students, has 15 sets of twins — eight of them identical twins — from kindergarten through fifth grade.

The unusually high number of twins has set a record for the elementary school as well as the Garland Independent School District, school officials said.

"I've never heard anything like it before," Superintendent Eli Douglas said. "Most schools have none."

Statistics indicate that nine or 10 sets of twins could be expected at the school based on its enrollment, said Dr. Jack Pritchard, professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School.

"I think it's just a statistical quirk," he said. "There's nothing in the water or anything."

Studies indicate that twins will occur in about one out of every 80 births for blacks, one in every 100 births for whites and one out of every 125 for Oriental, Pritchard said.

In Dallas County, there were 313 sets of twins born in 1982 compared with 30,425 single births, according to the Bureau of Vital Statistics in Austin.

And while adults find it unusual, 10-year-old Katherine Smith finds the matching sets "wonderful."

"It's wonderful because twins are an unusual thing," said Katherine, who attends fifth grade along with her identical twin, Karen.

And, she said, "when you get in trouble, you can play a joke on people (by switching places)."

Although Kirk said he hasn't caught any of the children trading places in classes, they do play practical jokes in the hallway by identifying themselves as their siblings.

The only problem caused by twins, he said, is that some parents want them to attend the same class. But he defended the school's policy of splitting up the twins, placing them with different teachers in different classrooms.

"Sometimes, the parents don't understand that. But twins are fairly dependent on each other. If they stay together, they tend not to make other friends as easily. They need to develop their own character," Kirk said.

Official quits after picking up alleged prostitute

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The city manager who last year suspended a policewoman for posing nude in Playboy magazine has resigned after being stopped by police for picking up an alleged prostitute.

Springfield city commissioners met in two executive sessions Tuesday night before announcing their unanimous decision to accept the resignation of City Manager Thomas Bay, 51.

A 28-year-old woman got into a car late Friday on the street in nearby Dayton with a man police later identified as Bay, a police report said. When plainclothes officers stopped the car, Bay admitted he was taking the woman to a motel for "a prostitution type activity," the report said.

Bay wasn't arrested, but Dayton court records said the woman, who had been approaching cars, was charged with loitering to solicit, a third-degree misdemeanor.

In a letter Tuesday to Mayor Roger Baker, Bay called his resignation "the only honorable thing to do. Private persons can stumble many times. In public life, you stumble once and that's it."

Bay, appointed city manager and public safety director in 1978, declined comment, saying only, "You can appreciate my position. It was a fatal error."

PUBLIC NOTICE

To All Interested Persons and Parties:

You are hereby notified of the opportunity for written public comment concerning the Construction Permit Application #9370 to construct an Acid Gas Flare in Iatan, East Howard Field, Mitchell County, Texas. The facility is located 6.5 miles west of the city of Westbrook and 0.75 miles south of I-20. This facility proposes to emit the following air contaminants: oxides of nitrogen and oxides of sulphur. The executive director of the Texas Air Control Board has made the preliminary determination to issue this permit.

A copy of all materials submitted by the applicant including the preliminary analysis thereof is available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board Region I office, Commerce Plaza Office Building, 1290 South Willis, Suite 205, Abilene, Texas 79605, and at the Texas Air Control Board, 6330 Highway 290 East, Austin, Texas 78723. All interested persons may inspect these materials and submit written comments to the executive director of the Texas Air Control Board. All comments received in writing by November 21, 1983, shall be considered by the Board in making its decision on the application. All comments will be made available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board Office in Austin.

Movie gets rave reviews

LONDON (AP) — "Heaven's Gate," the costly Western that was massacred by New York film critics in 1980, is back in an uncut version that has packed a London cinema and drawn raves from British reviewers.

"THE major Western of the 70s, an exceptional film," and "not a film to be missed" were some of the accolades London reviewers gave Michael Cimino's epic about immigrant settlers fighting land barons in Wyoming in 1890. The film was booked for a two-week run, but it is still going strong after five weeks.

At its debut in November 1980, The New York Times' Vincent Canby wrote: "Watching the film is like a forced four-hour walking tour of one's own living room."

Kathleen Carroll of the New York Daily News said then: "Frankly, had the movie been filmed entirely in Russian without English subtitles it might have made more sense...."

United Artists spent $36 million to make "Heaven's Gate" — three times the original budget. At the time, said Variety, it was the third-most expensive film ever. The film came to symbolize sky's-the-limit spending in Hollywood.

After the disastrous reception in New York, the film's national bookings were canceled, 75 minutes of it was cut, and it was released again in April 1981, this time in Los Angeles. Critics there panned the shortened 2 1/2-hour offering.

One of the London critics who hated the edited version when it was briefly released here in September 1981 ate humble pie in her review of the current run.

"If you thought you saw 'Heaven's Gate' the first time around, believe me, you didn't," wrote Margaret Hinxman of the Daily Mail. "I've had the pleasure of seeing Cimino's master work as he originally conceived it."

The drastic editing "destroyed the pace and rhythm" of Cimino's work, she said. But in the full version, "relationships and incidents in the plot that made no sense when I first saw it now fall naturally into place. It isn't a flawless film — it's still too long.... but it's a beauty."

Adrian Turner, program director at London's state-aided National Film Theater, worked to get the uncut version shown here. He first convinced the movie's British distributors, UIP, to show the original 70mm version in August at a festival about about immigrants in America.

"There's been an amazing response," Turner said in an interview. "I was surprised at the reversal of opinion by the critics here. It's very rare for a film that got such a drubbing to be so acclaimed on a second run."

Since its disastrous debut, the full-length version has only been shown at film festivals and some European art cinemas.

"There are at least 30 cinemas in Britain that would dearly love to show the uncut version," Turner said. "The problem is that it's only available on a 70mm print. It badly needs a 35mm print to get a wider commercial showing."

"That's sad because this is a classic, one of the few really, great American films of the last 20 years."

David Castell said in The Sunday Telegraph: "The truncated film was disappointing and confusing. The restored version is little short of magnificent.... Here is THE major Western of the 70s, an exceptional film."

The Times of London's Geoff Brown said of the film: "One emerges from the complete 'Heaven's Gate' dubious, perhaps, about its intellectual worth, but dazzled and moved by its magnetic power."

Dr. Donohue

Ulcer usually heals with medicine

Dear Dr. Donohue: About three years ago, it was discovered that I had an ulcer. I was put on Tagamet three times a day and at bedtime. The question is: Are there likely to be any side effects from taking this medicine? The ulcer is still around, but seems to be much better. — I am 77 years old. — L.M.

Are you sure the ulcer is still around? The common ulcer usually heals in four to eight weeks with treatment. While the ulcer is healing Tagamet (cimetidine) is given four times a day, and it may be given at reduced doses for a full year to prevent recurrence. But it is usually not used for more than a year. I suspect that, if you have an ulcer now, it is a recurrence from the one that was successfully healed three years ago, and your present treatment is for this recurrence.

About side effects. The term usually used is "possible" side effects. Perhaps a better one would be "uncommon" side effects. I'll list some of them from this medicine, but I don't want to scare you or deter you from taking your medicine if your doctor is prescribing it. They include diarrhea, dizziness, sleepiness, rash, joint pain, confusion (especially in the elderly).

If you are having none of those symptoms you need have no fears. Your other ulcer questions are covered in the new booklet, "Peptic Ulcers: The Modern View and Treatment," which other readers may obtain by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: A new sweetener has appeared in a variety of drinks and desserts. It is called Nutra

Sweet and is a brand name for aspartame. I have diabetes and need information about this. Will this sweetener serve as saccharin? — Mrs. D.P.

Aspartame is an approved artificial sweetener, a substitute for table sugar. And it can be used by diabetics as they would use saccharin.

Just a bit of background: Aspartame is made from two amino acids, chemical substances that join in long chains to make proteins. Here, the two amino acids are aspartic acid and phenylalanine. Because aspartame is not a carbohydrate it is not metabolized as sugar, even though it tastes sweet. A teaspoon of sugar has 16 calories. The amount of aspartame that is equal in sweetness to a teaspoon of sugar has only one-tenth of a calorie. So it is a good low-calorie sugar substitute. Aspartame cannot be used in cooking; heat inactivates it.

One research scientist feels there might be a possibility of behavior changes from this substance. Mood, appetite and sleep patterns, for examples, may be affected with large amounts. Others disagree with him. However, aspartame should not be used by those with phenylketonuria — a hereditary inability to metabolize phenylalanine, the amino acid.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For a better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Abby

Woman changes rules

DEAR ABBY: I am 45 and have three children in college. My boyfriend is 30 and all his children are grown and married. We've been sleeping together for over a year, during which time we've spent more time in bed together than my ex-husband and I did in the 20 years we were married.

The other night, I told my boyfriend I was beginning to feel "immoral" and I refused to go to bed with him. He left in a huff and I later learned that he returned a diamond engagement ring to the jeweler.

My problem: He has asked me to go to Canada with him on his two-week vacation. Should I go? I hate to lose this wonderful guy.

LITTLE RED IN MIDDLETOWN, USA

DEAR LITTLE RED: I can't blame your boyfriend for leaving in a huff; after sleeping with him for over a year, you suddenly change the rules. Obviously he had marriage in mind, and still has if he's asked you to accompany him on his vacation.

A mature person takes responsibility for his/her actions, so don't ask permission from me or anyone else to go to bed or go to Canada. If you want to go to Canada, but not to bed until you're married to this wonderful guy, tell him so.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 15-year-old boy, bigger than most grown men, who still sleeps with a security blanket? The boy happens to be my nephew. I've threatened to steal the darn thing and burn it. Except for this he is a normal, well-adjusted kid.

My sister (the boy's mother) tells me it is nothing to worry about and it will pass in time. I say it should have passed years ago.

Does Dear Abby see a problem here or not?

UNCLE JACK

DEAR UNCLE: The only problem I see is the one you are making by calling attention to it. If he is a normal, well-adjusted 15-year-old boy, skip it.

DEAR ABBY: In response to "Fat, Female and Feeling Fantastic," you wrote "One of our most cherished rights is the right to be ourselves, so congratulations. There's nothing wrong with being heavy as long as you're healthy."

That must have been sweet music to a lot of fat people, Abby, but the fact of the matter is the chances for an excessively overweight person's being healthy are slim.

Oklahomans attend local wedding events

Dedra Hamby of Guthrie, Okla., bride-elect of George Leaf of Oklahoma City, Okla., was feted with a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. W.A. Riley, Sept. 23. Mrs. Ralph Caton was co-hostess.

The hostesses gave the honoree glasses and a tray. Miss Hamby was given a bouquet of daisies. The table was covered with a lace cloth from Germany belonging to Mrs. Riley's mother. An arrangement of blue silk flowers was the centerpiece.

Miss Hamby and her sister, Jodi Hamby of Guthrie, Okla., visited Big Spring to attend the wedding of their cousin, Lana Hamby. Dedra and Jody Hamby are former residents of Big Spring.

The are the daughters of Diane Hamby of Denver, Colo., and Randal Hamby of Musogio, Okla.

The girls stayed with their grandmothers, Mrs. John Cobean, 605 Colgate, and Mrs. Rennis Kauffman of Midland.

Dedra Hamby and Leaf will wed Oct. 22 in Edmond, Okla.

Nursing home to sponsor annual Halloween carnival

The activities department of United Health Care Nursing Home will sponsor its annual Halloween carnival from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., Oct. 22. The public is invited.

The carnival will be in the north building, located at Eighth and Goliad. Featured booths will be darts, cake walk, bingo, toss across, bottle toss for money, clown toss and fishing hole.

All proceeds will go to the activity fund. Anyone interested in donating garage sale items for the country store, or decorated cakes for the cake walk, may call Janie Hale or Beverly Grant at 263-7633.

High interest rates slow down building

By The Associated Press
The pace of home building slowed last month, and with mortgage interest rates remaining high, an industry representative predicts more of the same in the months ahead.

The government said Wednesday that work was started on new houses at an annual rate of 1.65 million units, a 13.5 percent drop from August's 1.91 million. Even so, the September rate was 45.7 percent higher than in September 1982.

A gloomier figure was the 9 percent drop in permits issued in September for future construction. Permit issuances had declined 7.3 percent in August.

Harry Pryde, president of the National Association of Home Builders, says the drop in housing starts in September was a result of high interest rates.

"Builders have no choice but to curtail their building plans for the remainder of this year and 1984," Pryde said.

President Reagan was asked about the housing report at his news conference Wednesday night. He said he wasn't surprised that people wanting to buy homes were holding off.

"I think there's a great expectation that there's going to be further drops in the interest rates," said Reagan. "So anyone would be smart to wait for that drop to take place."

In other economic news Wednesday, American Telephone & Telegraph Co. said the "lingering effects of the recession" contributed to a 27.7 percent drop in its earnings for the latest quarter. AT&T reported a profit of $1.46 billion on revenues of $17.5 billion.

The company, scheduled to spin off its telephone subsidiaries by Jan. 1, 1984, also announced it will take a $5.2 billion charge against earnings for 1983 to account for costs associated with the divestiture program.

AT&T was the most active issue Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange with almost 6 million shares changing hands. The stock's price fell $1.375 to $62.875.

In other economic developments Wednesday:
—The Commerce Department said Americans' personal income rose 0.9

percent in September, or by $25.2 billion. Personal income had risen a revised 0.3 percent in August. Personal consumption spending rose 1.5 percent after falling 0.2 percent in August, and the personal savings rate fell to 4.5 percent of disposable income from 5 percent.

—The Federal Communications Commission freed the Bell System's long-distance competitors from virtually all regulation. By a unanimous vote, the agency also significantly reduced its regulation of satellite operators and domestic telex providers. The changes mean that companies like MCI Communications and GTE-Sprint will be free to raise or lower rates, enter new markets or discontinue services without the FCC's prior approval.

—BankAmerica Corp. reported a 29 percent drop in its third-quarter profit compared with a year ago. Continental Illinois Corp. said its earnings slumped 39 percent.

—AMR Corp., parent of American Airlines, reported its third-quarter earnings jumped more than five-fold from a year earlier, reaching $100.7 million.

Piedmont Aviation Inc., a regional airline, said its profits climbed to $25 million from $17.3 million. USAir Group reported a 48 percent increase to $24 million from $16.2 million.

All three airlines cited increased traffic. In 1982, the major U.S. air carriers lost almost $1 billion, an industry record. —The House Government Operations agriculture subcommittee said the Reagan and Carter administrations share responsibility for huge crop surpluses that depressed the nation's rural economy. The report said both administrations failed to act quickly enough to impose adequate production controls. It also said the farm economy's problems were aggravated when rising crop yields, a strong U.S. dollar and a worldwide economic recession sent farm exports plunging.

—The American Petroleum Institute, a trade group of oil companies, reported U.S. oil imports rose 11.4 percent in September from a year earlier. It also said gasoline use rose 2.1 percent and overall consumption of petroleum products rose 0.5 percent.

HC's Damron honored

Dr. Bill Damron, business instructor at Howard College, was recognized as the 1982-83 College Business Teacher of the Year in District 18 at the Texas Business Education Association's annual conference held recently in McAllen.

Damron graduated from both Big Spring High School and Howard College. He earned a bachelor's and master's in business administration from West Texas State University, and his Ph.D. from the University of Wyoming. In addition to Howard College, Damron has taught at Midland College and the Sul Ross State University Study Center at Uvalde, Texas.

Also attending the conference were Mrs. Doris Huibregtse, business instructor at Howard College and Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Brown, local Realtors.

DAVID CROWELL
...Avery & Associates

Johnnie Lou Avery, president of Avery and Associates, has announced the addition of David Crowell as a new associate with her firm.

Crowell currently is vice president in charge of sales and marketing of Crowell's Office Supply of Mineral Wells. Prior to that, Crowell worked in banking in the Dallas-Fort Worth area for 17 years.

Crowell will be available for programs, seminars, workshops and in-service staff development training.

A 30-year service award was presented to San L. Anderson recently at a safety meeting of Big Spring Atlantic Richfield employees.

Anderson has worked in Big Spring since his employment with Sinclair

Oil and Gas Co. on Sept. 4, 1983. He has worked as a roustabout, a truck driver, a unit operator and presently, he is a gang pusher.

During the meeting Anderson also received a 30-year safety award.

*****

State Comptroller Bob Bullock recently sent a $62,060 check to the City of Big Spring as its share of the one percent city sales tax payment for October.

The $62,060 is about $12,000 more than the payment a year ago.

However, 1983 payments are lagging about 17 percent behind last year's pace. This year's payments have been $1.1 million, whereas a comparable period a year ago saw payments at $1.4 million.

Australian band remembers war

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — On a desolate patch of ground in the gray and dusty suburb of Granville stands a reminder of Australia's contribution to the Vietnam War.

There, behind a veterans' hall, a rough granite boulder bears a simple inscription on a tarnished metal plaque — "To those who died and those who suffered as a result of the Vietnam War 1962-1972."

It is a lonely memorial to the 47,000 Australian troops and military personnel who served in Vietnam. Nearly 500 died and 2,398 were wounded, fighting alongside Americans who lost 58,655 killed and 155,149 wounded.

For almost 10 years, no one wanted to hear from the bitterly confused young men who had fought there. Now that has changed, partly because of a rock band called Redgum and its hit single, "I Was Only Nineteen."

The mournful folk-rock anthem to Australians who fought in Vietnam topped the music charts earlier this year. Written by Redgum member John Schumann, it goes:

"And can (you) tell me doctor, why I still can't get to sleep?
"And nighttime's just a jungle dark and a barking M-16?"

"And what's this rash that comes and goes, can you tell me what it means?"

"God help me, I was only nineteen."

"We've got guys whose wives were demonstrating against the war while they were fighting it," said Phill Thompson, national president of the 9,000-member Vietnam Veterans' Association of Australia. "We have one bloke who's father hasn't spoken to him since."

Some of their problems are similar to the problems of American Vietnam veterans — depression, insomnia, alienation and fear about possible health damage from exposure to chemical herbicides and defoliants such as Agent Orange.

But there was one crucial difference, veterans say.

"The Australians have suffered almost from a lack of identity," said former U.S. Marine and Vietnam veteran Phil Bacon of Shelburne, Vt., who now lives in Sydney with his Australian wife. "It was not really their war. They were never given the real credit they should have gotten."

Australia entered the war in 1965 when Prime Minister Robert Menzies announced he would send combat troops to Vietnam at the request of the South Vietnamese government. Yet the public long suspected that the United States had pressured its loyal ally into the conflict.

A decade later, while going through U.S. documents, Australian journalist Evan Whitton, an assistant editor of the National Times, wrote that he found the reverse was true.

"The weight of the evidence," Whitton said, "indicates that Menzies judged the U.S. and Australia should go into war and had no intention of being impeded by any discussion to the contrary."

Staunch defenders of Menzies, who died in 1978, accused Whitton of bias but there was no denial or dispute with his assertion that the Australian public had been fooled. But even public reaction was muted. By 1975, most Australians wanted to put the war behind them.

The country's role in the conflict actually began in 1962 when it sent 30 military advisers to train South Vietnamese forces.

Tests safely reveal sex of unborn baby

BOSTON (AP) — Safe, routine ultrasound exams given as early as the fourth month of pregnancy will accurately reveal whether a fetus is a boy or a girl, two studies show.

Ultrasound, which uses sound waves to take pictures of the unborn child, is often used to check the fetus for birth defects and monitor growth.

Although the test has been available for several years, improved equipment provides such clear images that doctors frequently can see the fetus' sex organs to determine sex.

This information also can be obtained from the genetic test called amniocentesis. But that procedure is more complicated, and since it involves a slight risk, it is usually not done simply to reveal a fetus' sex.

Ultrasound will "provide information for parents that will help them appreciate that little person that's inside and plan their families," said Dr. Jason C. Birnholz, who conducted one of the studies.

Birnholz' research, based on 865 ultrasound exams, was conducted at Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center in Chicago. It was published in Thursday's New England Journal of Medicine.

A similar study of 100 ultrasound exams at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco also was published in the journal.

In an accompanying editorial, Dr. John C. Hobbins of Yale Medical School suggested another advantage of knowing the baby's sex long before birth.

Thursday Notes

Taking care of few items of business...

● Condolences go to the Ackerly community, Sands High School and the family of Ken Peters. The Mustang coach died last Friday following a heart attack on the sidelines during the Roby football game. Although he has been in the this area just over a year, Peters was respected by all those in contact with him. We'll miss him.

● Two weeks ago, I received a thank-you note from coach George Martin and members of the Colorado City volleyball team. Just getting the scores of their matches in the paper made them happy. Well, the thank-you made my day. Thank you, Wolves.

● A report has it that Al Patterson, pro at the Comanche Trails Golf Course, is missing his driver. The club, specially made for Patterson 20 years ago, was taken sometime during last weekend's City Championship tournament. While he hasn't made a big deal of the theft, Comanche golfing regulars say Patterson is dismayed over the situation.

If the club doesn't turn up soon, Thursday Notes will send out Mr. T and the "A Team" to retrieve the missing driver.

● And finally, contrary to reports made in Notes last week, the Bulldogs defeated the Cowboys 10-8 for the youth football league championship. Every Bulldog fan from Maine to San Diego has informed us of that fact. Correction made. Okay?

The latest District 4-5A stats never made it out to Big Spring again but a phone call to Odessa did manage to get a few facts and figures.

Midland Lee, the team Big Spring tackles Friday night in the Tall City, is the leading defensive team in the league. The Rebels give up just 182 total yards a game, holding Permian — the district's top offensive unit — to a single touchdown last Friday.

Permian, by the way, is piling up 359 yards a game.

Big Spring is ranked No. 7 in offense with 263 yards a game. For the Steers have rushed for 1,096 yards and passed for 745 more. Defensively, the Steers are No. 6, surrendering 291 yards but the BSHS pass defense is giving up just 86 yards through the air each game.

Issac Garnett is No. 2 in the district in rushing with 839 yards and a 6.3 per carry average. Charles Hunter of Odessa is still No. 1 with a whopping 1,170 yards and 15 touchdowns. Garnett has scored 13 times. Junior running back Walter Jones has rushed for 288 yards.

Jay Pirkle is No. 9 and Eric Sherman No. 10 in the league with 363 and 326 yards rushing respectively for the Steers.

Quarterback Mark Johnson is No. 4 with 446 yards, hitting 47 per cent of his passes (31 of 67). Robert Porras is now No. 3 in total receptions with 21 catches for 309 yards (14.7 a catch). Charlie Ragan has 13 and Dale Crenshaw 10 catches for the Steers.

Field conditions for Friday night's game? How about muddy. That should be good news for Big Spring which is hoping to upset the state's No. 9 ranked football team.

Speaking of football, plans are still on for the Jaycees-KWKI sponsored flag football tournament this weekend at Blankenship Field. Entry fee is $80 per team for the double elimination event and the list should be pretty full judging by the numbers of calls the Notes staff has received.

Call Dave Trusty at KWKI at 267-4121 to enter.

In sports tonight, the Big Spring High Lady Steers travel to Midland to battle Lee. BSHS is 5-6 in District 4-5A play while Lee stands 7-4 and is in third place. Match time is 7 p.m., preceded by the junior varsity contest at 6 p.m.

And the Big Spring High swim team faces Permian at 5:30 p.m. at the Mojo pool. BSHS defeated Abilene but lost to Cooper in its opening district meet last Thursday at the local YMCA pool.

Speaking of the Y pool, there was more water coming through the roof this morning than there was under the diving board. How about that. Big Spring has the only indoor-outdoor pool in the state... — GREG JAKLEWICZ

'Everyday' player Rose released by Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Rose took his unconditional release by the Philadelphia Phillies with his usual homespun philosophy, but made it clear he intends to remain in the majors.

"If it's the best thing for the Phillies for me to hit the road, and the best thing for me, then hit the road," said Rose, 42, who was dropped Wednesday after refusing to accept the status as a parttime player.

"I don't like to play parttime," said the player who is among the top five in almost every major league offensive category.

"I've been an everyday player for so many years it is hard for me to play three days a week. I'm sure there are some teams out there who want me."

Rose turned down the role the Phillies offered because he wants to break Ty Cobb's all-time career major league hit record. He has 3,990, just 201 short of Cobb's mark of 4,191. He needs just 10 to become the second player in major league history to record 4,000 hits.

He said he had not talked with any other clubs, debunking a report that he had agreed to play for the Atlanta Braves who have a spot in the outfield. There also have been reports he would return to his native Cincinnati, where he played 16 years for the Reds, to finish his career.

Rose's agent, Reuven Katz, who attended the news conference disclosing Rose's unconditional release, said: "Any rumors are false rumors. We haven't had any conversations with anyone. We didn't know until an hour ago what the Phillies had in mind."

Rose added: "It's against the rules to talk to anybody when you're under contract."

He said he would be willing to switch to the American League and perhaps play parttime as a designated hitter and parttime in the field.

"It's major league baseball," he said. "It's a lot easier to play a three or four days a week and DH a couple of days a week."

"We'll just go back to Cincinnati and take the phone calls. Make sure the phone is on the hook every 10 minutes.

Where would he like to play?
"I don't know. I'd like to play anywhere. I'd like to play on a good ballclub. I'd play on a ballclub that has a chance to go to the World Series and the playoffs."

Rose said that his greatest memory of his stay in Philadelphia was the 1980 championship parade down Broad Street. He expressed regret that the 1983 team didn't achieve its goal of winning the Series.

"But we came close," said Rose, who signed a four year contract with the Phillies in December, 1978, at an estimated $3.3 million.

The Phillies released Rose, who hit only .245 with 17 extra base hits in 1983, because they plan to go with young Len Matuszek next season. Rose, who hit .375 in the National League playoff and .313 in the World Series, played in the postseason competition because Matuszek was brought up from the minors too late to be eligible.

Steers' Cearley is clearly a winner

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

If a football fan was asked to name his favorite center in the NFL, he or she might not have an answer. That's how obscure the position is in football but the situation doesn't bother Big Spring High's Jimmy Cearley.

The Steer senior spends his Friday nights snapping the football to quarterbacks Mark Johnson and Tommy Gartman. He doesn't get much recognition but he's accepted the fact.

"I can live without all the glamor," he says. "I know it's not going to be there for me."

A center, however, is as important to a football team as a catcher is to a baseball team. No play begins without him. "We usually don't have any problem with snaps. You've got to have good movement and quick feet and be lower than the defense. A center has to stay under the shoulder pads or the crease as coach (Todd Spencer) puts it."

His job is to keep the linebackers away from Steer ballcarriers and pass-protect on throwing downs. "I usually stay at home (rush) and keep people out (pass). You need to have good movement."

Cearley and the Steers' offensive line anticipate Midland Lee is show a 4-3 defense Friday night, although the Rebels ran a 5-2 in last week's upset of Permian. "They're pretty good sized but not one of the fastest teams in the district. Their secondary is quick. Someone said every one of those guys is on their 440 relay team."

In addition to his role on offense, the 185-pound senior alternates at linebacker and end on defense. With the injury to starter Mike McKinley, Cearley has filled in for Jerry Anderson and Robert Doportio at linebacker. He plays either side at end.

"I like linebacker more," he admits, "because I have more time to find the football. Playing end, I've got to keep containment and keep people from running outside of me." In the past, he preferred offense but this year his thoughts have changed. "I haven't liked it in the past but now I really do. I used to just consider myself an offensive lineman and that's all."

Cearley put on 15 pounds of muscle during the summer by working out on weights and the increased bulk has helped him play both offense and defense this

Akers: Ponies as good as last year

AUSTIN (AP) — Coach Fred Akers of Texas says the only thing this year's undefeated Southern Methodist squad doesn't have that SMU had last season is a running back "as big and fast as Eric Dickerson."

The record-breaking Dickerson completed his college eligibility and was a first-round draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams.

SMU, however, is 5-0 this season and now has gone 21 games without a loss, the longest non-losing streak in NCAA Division I. Its last loss was 9-7 to Texas on Oct. 24, 1981.

No. 2-ranked Texas, also 5-0, and SMU play at Texas Stadium in Irving on Saturday. A capacity crowd of 65,000 is expected, and the game will be on national television.

"I'll tell you what's incentive for us, or should be, they've beaten us two out of the last three years,"

Akers said.

SMU won 20-6 in 1980 and 30-17 here last year in a game that decided the Southwest Conference football championship.

"They don't have anyone like Eric Dickerson — with that kind of speed — back there, but who does?"

The other backs they have are good ones... Dickerson is the only football player they had a year ago that

Dupree enrolls at So. Mississippi

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Running back Marcus Dupree, after enrolling at the University of Southern Mississippi Wednesday, hinted that he may try to buck NCAA rules that would prohibit him from playing college football again until 1985.

"You never know what might happen here," the 19-year-old said, shortly after he enrolled. "There's always the possibility of going to court."

NCAA rules require an athlete who transfers to sit out one calendar year before he can compete again.

Dupree, who abruptly left the Oklahoma Sooners last week because, he said, he wanted to be closer to his Philadelphia, Miss., home, appeared a little annoyed at the attention his registration at Southern Mississippi had caused.

With his mother, Cella Dupree Connors, at his side, Dupree said that although he had been contacted by Georgia in the past few days, his real choice was between USM and Mississippi State.

He said he looked at the future football schedules of both schools and at the players on both teams before making his choice. "I think Southern has the better players and the better people," he said, adding that "I like Southern and I think it's an upcoming school. I want to be part of it."

Asked if he thought he still could be a candidate for the Heisman Trophy, Dupree replied, "If you perform well on the field, it really doesn't matter what school you're at."

USM officials confirmed Wednesday that Dupree had been given a full athletic scholarship.

Dupree said he did not know the specific courses he would take at Southern, although he had signed up for so-called "QQ," or accelerated, courses, which run half a semester in length.

The college sophomore appeared genuinely pleased at knowing that his studies will be resumed. He spoke of maintaining close to a 3.0 average at Oklahoma, where he was a communications major.

"I figured I needed to get into classes and start back to school because I didn't want to fall behind academically," he said.

He later added, "Academics always come first with me. To me, it's just as important, if not more important, to make an 'A' in class as it is to gain 200 yards in a football game."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTEA INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Forget conditions from the past and look to the future with courage and expectations. New projects are favorable and will bring much success, both financially and personally.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are deeply concerned with self and the days ahead, which is good, so that you can brighten your horizons.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have private aims now and can make those changes that are good for you and necessary. Watch finances.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan how to advance in the future and contact those who can assist you in gaining your aims. Success is around the corner.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Know where you are going careerwise and turn some conditions around that you do not like.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Find new interests that can help you to advance and have more abundance in the future. Consult with experts who can help you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Do something about modernizing your methods in business and get better results in the future with them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be alert to what partners expect of you in the future and try to please them and establish more harmony.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you get enthused about work you have to do, you can accomplish three times as much as usual.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good day to get into new kinds of recreations with your friends that are more pleasurable and rewarding.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find some way of being of greater service to family members and know exactly what they desire.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find better ways of adding to productivity and also discuss with partners and gain their cooperation in endeavors pending.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are eager to have a greater abundance and can do so if you apply yourself seriously and also consult some expert for advice.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will be one of those charming young persons who will be very capable at discerning whether new outlets are worthwhile or not, so give as fine an education as you can to your gifted progeny. Stress spiritual training as well.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

AN AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

DODGE... DAYTONA... COMIN' AT YOU 3 WAYS... EVERY ONE A DRIVING BARGAIN.

Dodge Daytona... Daytona Turbo... Daytona Turbo Z. Depending on where you're coming from, one of these machines will get you there...fast. Some specifics: The 2.2-liter engine is standard and available with a new breed of turbocharger that gets your horsepower up to 142 (amazing for a 4-cylinder power-plant that delivers 35 est. hwy. [22] EPA est. mpg *), electronic fuel-injection, power brakes, steel belted radials, and the other things you're seeing here, standard. But, specifications aside, these are performance machines you must sit in, grab hold of the steering wheel and let yourself go in. And, we're here to offer you that opportunity. We're your Dodge dealer...an American Revolution.

* Use EPA est. mpg to compare. Your mileage may vary depending on speed, weather and distance. Actual hwy. mpg probably lower.

Payments are a joke

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Johnny Carson slipped a catty retort into his "Tonight Show" monologue after his estranged wife's request for $22,000 in monthly support payments was made public. "I heard from my cat's lawyer.... My cat wants $12,000 a week for Tender Vittles," Carson said Wednesday during his stand-up routine at the beginning of the NBC-TV late-night variety-talk show. Lawyers for Joanna Carson filed court documents in July seeking the support payments pending the outcome of the couple's divorce proceeding. The sworn statements made public Tuesday claim Carson brought in more than $6 million in gross income from his television show, investments and holdings in the first three months of 1983. His gross income in 1982 exceeded $15 million, the attorneys claim. In the documents, Mrs. Carson said she is asking for the $220,000 a month "in order that I can maintain (the) standard of living which I have enjoyed during the past several years." Her monthly jewelry and fur expenses last year were $37,065, her monthly grocery bill averaged $1,400 and she required $4,945 a month for household help, the court documents stated. Other expenses include nearly $10,000 for upkeep of two New York apartments, $2,700 a month for travel and $5,000 for monthly department store bills. Mrs. Carson filed for dissolution of the 10-year, three-month marriage

March 9, five days after the couple separated. Carson has since been dividing his time between their home in Malibu and an apartment at the Beverly Hills Hotel, she said.

A Superior Court hearing is set Friday. Arthur J. Crowley, Mrs. Carson's attorney, said the divorce case would probably take more than six months to come to trial.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with rules and orders of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of its intent to re-file evidence and appropriate tariff(s) in support of a request to establish rates for the use of certain complex inside telephone wiring in the amount of $54.5 million annually. This request was previously a part of the considerations in Docket 5141 and now has been re-docketed as Docket 5420. Customers who do not own the Complex Inside Wire associated with their Customer Premises Systems (such as PBX and Key Systems), and who utilize Southwestern Bell's wiring after January 1, 1984, could be affected by this request. On January 1, 1984, all of the Customer Premises Systems presently provided by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company will be transferred to a subsidiary of AT&T and that subsidiary of AT&T will be almost exclusively responsible for the charges pursuant to the proposed tariff on January 1, 1984. After January 1, 1984, customers who purchase their Complex Customer Premises Equipment and do not purchase, but continue to use, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's inside wire will be subject to the charges proposed in the tariff. The proposed effective date for these new rates is January 1, 1984. Persons interested in intervening in this matter should file a writting motion expeditiously with the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78757, as the Hearing on the Merits in Docket 5420 is set for November 21, 1983.
