Bus strike threatening area service

From staff and wire reports Greyhound bus service to Big Spring may be halted indefinitely tomorrow if company officials and union representatives fail to hammer out a new contract for 12,700 bus drivers and other workers at Greyhound Bus Lines, Inc.

Negotiators for the Amalgamated Council of Greyhound Local Unions began meeting at 9:30 a.m. this morning with company officials in a last-minute bargaining session in Scottsdale, Ariz., said Linda Klein, a spokeswoman for the company. The current union contract expires at 1 a.m. tomorrow, and union members have authorized a nationwide strike if a new agreement cannot be worked out, she said.

Jim Owens, manager of the Union

Bus Terminal in Big Spring which services Greyhound, said his operations would not be seriously affected by a possible strike because none of the workers at the terminal are members of the union. Also, no Greyhound bus drivers reside in Big Spring, Owens said.

There would, of course, be no Greyhound service here if there is a strike.

He said bus service would continue for the Kerrville Bus Line Co. and the Texas-New Mexico-Oklahoma Coaches Co. which use the Big Spring terminal

A West Texas cotton crop reduced to "next to nothing" because of drought and a federal program aimed at bolstering prices could combine to hike the price of blue jeans.

The West Texas crop — mostly short-staple cotton used in denim jeans and work shirts - is "absolutely next to nothing" this year, said Don Richardson,

Howard County agriculture extension agent. Cotton farmers are reporting yields of as little as one-tenth that of a good year because of the drought and a federal program that encouraged them not to

A Big Spring woman injured Tuesday in a two-car automobile accident died Sunday afternoon at a local hospital from injuries suffered in the crash.

Hettie L. Minix, 75, of 1007 Birdwell died at 3:05 a.m. Sunday at Cowper Hospital.

Minix was driving a brown 1982 Chevrolet Malibu Classic west on the 100 block of 17th around 9 a.m. Tuesday when her car was struck by a white Ford custom pickup turning left onto 17th Street from the southbound lane of the 1600 block of Runnels, police said. Minix was trapped in wreckage of her car, which was driven by the impact of the collision into a stop sign on the right passenger side, police said. Minix did have a yield sign, police said. The other driver, Thomas Raymond Doane of 1408 Runnels, was not injured. Two other persons were treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital after being injured in separate accidents this weekend. Alford Lee Patton of 823 W Eighth was treated and released Sunday after being injured in a onecar accident at 8:06 p.m. Sunday on N. Birdwell and Interstate Highway 20, a hospital spokeswoman said.

'Next to nothing'

News Service There are more Pitcairners living on Norfolk Island than there are on Pitcairn Island itself. But there are not many on either.

The two islands, some 3,700 miles apart in the South Pacific, are home to the descendants of nine participants in history's most famous revolt at sea, the 1789 mutiny on the Bounty. The nine included the mutiny's leader, 24-year-old acting Lt. Fletcher Christian.

The Bounty, under the command of Lt. William Bligh, had been sent by King George III to barter for breadfruit trees in Tahiti and take them for replanting to the West Indies, as a source of food for slaves in the British colonies there.

But when Bligh hounded and humiliated Christian shortly after the ship left Tahiti, several members of the crew rebelled. They put Bligh and 18 loyal crewmen into a boat with provisions and sailing gear, permitting the deposed skipper to sail to safety. The mutineers returned to Tahiti. In the company of Tahitian women, nine sailed on to Pitcairn, an uninhabited, mischarted island, where they set fire to the Bounty. Their children were the first Pitcairners.

The colony grew, to the point where they seemed likely to overpopulate the tiny island. So, in 1856, Queen Victoria gave them Norfolk Island, slightly larger and the site of an abandoned penal colony. The 193 Pitcairners sailed five weeks to their new home.

But for six families with 43 people, it was not good enough. In 1860 they returned and resettled Pitcairn. By the 1930s the population there had grown to 200. However, with changes in world shipping patterns in the 1960s, markets and opportunities slipped away. Soon, so did many Pitcairners, to homes in Today the population is 45 and, Ed Howard writes in the October National Geographic, "Pitcairn is dying.

If only a few more residents leave Pitcairn, says Howard, it may not be possible to man the diesel-power longboats that are the only way to reach the island or to make contact with the few remaining ships that

NORFOLK CHILDREN - Peter and Juliette Yager of Norfolk Island dress in the style of the first Pitcairn settlers to celebrate Bounty Day on June 8 commemorating the day in 1856 when their forbears settled the South Pacific island.

Pitcairn Island's population ebbs somewhat different. A little larger - three by five miles -- and supplied, it now receives some 20,000 visitors a year from Australia and New Zealand.

Nearly half of its population consists of Pitcairners, who, in turn, make up nearly half of the 1,500 Pitcairners worldwide. The rest include about 400 in Australia, mostly former Norfolk residents who left for better education and jobs; 160 in New Zealand, mostly former Pitcairn Island residents; and perhaps 150 or more on Tahiti and other islands of French Polynesia.

Norfolk has been something of a miniature economic miracle in recent years, Howard writes. It has had a balanced budget and no debt, despite the fact that it receives no foreign aid and has no taxes on either income or land.

Its revenue comes from vacationers from abroad and from worldwide sales of its postage

Modern conveniences have come to the islands, raising fears that their unique culture may be undermined. On Norfolk this includes the regular influx of visitors, motor vehicles (a lone traffic light blinks at an island intersection), the presence of video recorders, and the exchange of recorded programs from overseas On Pitcairn the conveniences are less elaborate but meaningful: bulldozed roads, motorbikes, a dusk-to-11 p.m. electricity system, and hand-cranked World War IIvintage telephones.

Residents of Pitcairn follow the Seventh Day Adventist religion, and have a proud heritage. Their 1838 constitution wa probably the first in English to give women the vote equally with men, and the islanders were among the first people to write compulsory education into their

But the key part of their heritage, of course, is the Bounty. In 1957 National Geographic writerphotographer Luis Marden found the remains of the ship at the bottom of the ocean. One of its anchors now stands in front of the Pitcairn Island courthouse.

The question remains as to how long residents will be there with the anchor. "I think Pitcairn is on her last leg," Howard was told by Andrew Young, a fifth-generation descendant of a Bounty midshipman and now an island patriarch in

If more residents leave, the practical choice of port would probably be New Zealand. But there is an alternative.

Perhaps, Howard writes, they will go to "the island their forebearers tried and and rejected than 100,000 bales, Richardson said. A bale weighs 500

Rain finally fell in West Texas earlier this month, but farmers say it only served to discolor the cotton they did have, decreasing its value and degenerating fiber quality. Healthy harvests nationwide, plus a large surplus will make up for the small West Texas crop, Bill Crockett, the Plains cotton market reporter for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, said.

Even so, Crockett said, he expects the price of cotton products to increase because of higher labor and production expenses. 'They always have,' he said.

Richardson said cotton prices have gone up across the country because of the drought and the PIK Crockett expects the nation's cotton harvest to be between 7 million and 7.5 million bales, compared with 12 million last year. The nation has a large surplus of cotton — about 8 million bales - that the federal government is trying to deplete through the PIK program, he said. The surplus cotton, easy to store because it does not deteriorate rapidly, is from from four or five harvests, Larry Shaw, a long-time farmer from Knott, said a strong U.S. dollar hasn't helped cotton farmers, either. In West Texas, about 75 percent of the crop is exported,

Because the dollar's value has gone up in the world market, foreign nations can't buy as much as they once did.

The poor harvest was the third consecutive bad crop for West Texas farmers, who faced drought and hail in 1981 and 1982. This year, the drought is forcing an even heavier toll on the crop. "A lot of our stuff, it got planted, but it never did come up," said Nestor Hernandez, director of U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service in Martin County. Shaw, who planted about 475 acres this year, said that with the snowfall last winter, he received only between 5 and 6 inches of rain. When the harvest is completed, he hopes to have between 200 and 250 bales of cotton from his non-irrigated fields compared with the almost 450 bales he harvested last year. Shaw expects to make between $250 and $300

Shaw said he set aside 35 percent of his land as part of the PIK program this year.

Shaw's story has been repeated throughout West Texas, though irrigated cotton farms south and west of Midland County haven't faced quite as severe problems, but they produce far less cotton.

Richardson said that even though the recent rain reduced the value of the cotton that was produced, in his county, "nobody's fussin' a bit." The water helped rebuild a depleted underground water supply, Richard said. "As poor as the crop is, the benefits of the rain offset the disadvantages," he said.

Senator: Defense firm overcharged

FORT WORTH (AP) — A U.S. senator has accused General Dynamics of tryng to overcharge the government by as much as 976 percent for tools to maintain F-16 fighter planes, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported Monday.

As an example, Sen. William V. Roth Jr., R-Del., said the company's Fort Worth division tried to sell a 12-cent wrench to the Air Force for $9,606, the Star-Telegram reported.

The newspaper said the accusations were contained in an Oct. 6 letter and accompanying report sent by Roth, chairman of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, to Deputy Secretary of Defense W. Paul

"I directed an investigation of several pieces of support equipment for F-16 aircraft maintenance which disclosed alarmingly high proposed prices for simple tools and other support equipment," Roth wrote.

The wrench was to be part of a $1.2 million contract General Dynamics has offered the Air Force to maintain the F-16s' radar.

DONALD REED ...master collector

The House of horror

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — In the aging house where he has lived since boyhood, Donald Reed sleeps amid images of creatures whose creeping, crawling ways would drive the less adventurous screaming into the

But the founder of the Academy of Science Fiction, Fantasy and Horror Films and the Count Dracula Society loves his rooms stuffed with bonechilling books, frightening film memorabilia and eerie images of the blood-sucking vampire. For Reed, Halloween lasts all year long.

"Like all kids, I loved Halloween. I never gave it up. I never wanted it to end. So I went to horror films, and I began collecting things," said Reed, 47, as he recently gave a visitor a tour of his home south of downtown Los Angeles.

"This house is simply a reflection of my great interests: history, Dracula and the Science Fiction, Fantasy and Horror Film academy.

Pictures of Dracula in nearly all his cinematic incarnations stare down from the walls in Reed's bedroom and other rooms: Bela Lugosi, Christopher Lee, George Hamilton and Jack Palance are just a few of the actors who have donned cape and fangs over the past 50 years.

There's also a half-torso statue and an oil portrait of Vlad the Impaler, the Magyar knight of Transylvania who provided the historical basis for Bram Stoker's 1897 "Dracula" novel, about the "undead count who rose from the grave each night. Vlad didn't survive by drinking blood, but he earned his title by skewering alive those who displeased him.

Elsewhere in the house are Dracula statues in the image of Lugosi and ceramic counts who hold their capes around red candles on the fireplace mantel. A plastic statue of Frankenstein's monster, arms outstretched, stands in stride atop the kitchen refrigerator. A life mask of Lugosi hangs in the hallway. In the bedroom, a costume jewelry ring worn by Lee in one of his vampire films nestles in a plastic box. The World Almanac's "Book of Buffs, Masters, Mavens and Uncommon Experts" calls Reed perhaps the most knowledgeable American expert on Dracula in truth and fiction."

The buoyant, scholarly Reed says that thanks to Hollywood, horror creatures like Dracula have become part of American mythology

"The ancient Egyptians said to speak of the dead is to make them live again," he said. "We have accepted these creatures as the youths of ancient Greece accepted their mythological gods. But Dracula and Frankenstein are part of our American mythology. They are part of our culture, and on Halloween, they are very much alive."

Reed, who prefers to be known as Dr. Donald Reed, in fact earned a doctor of laws degree at nearby University of Southern California

But rather than practicing law, he has written books on such diverse subjects as actor Robert Redford and "Admiral Leahy at Vichy France," a study of William Daniel Leahy's stint as the U.S. ambassador to France's Vichy government from 1940 to 1942.

Reed founded the Academy of Science Fiction, Horror and Fantasy in 1972 because he felt Hollywood was being unfair to the fanciful.

Only once has an Oscar for best actor been awarded for a role in a horror film: to Frederic March in 1932 for the title role in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Science fiction and horror films may draw big audiences, but none has ever won the best picture award.

Reed's organization patterns itself after the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. Its 2,700 members nominate films in categories devised by the organization, and its yearly awards show has been syndicated on television in recent years.

Grenada leader captured

ST. GEORGE'S — Grenada's citizens began restor-ing order to their battle-scarred island today as ders' guns were silent and the leader of the shortlived Marxist military regime was reported in

The American death toll in the Grenada campaign rose to 16, with 77 wounded and three missing.

A man who claimed to be Gen. Hudson Austin and was carrying Austin's identification papers was captured by U.S. paratroopers, the Pentagon said Sunday. Austin was chairman of the 16-member People's Revolutionary Council set up after the Oct. 19 killing of Prime Minister Maurice Bishop.

No further details of Austin's capture were immediately available. Austin had been reported on the run in various locations across the 133-square mile Caribbean island since the U.S.-led invasion last

Some reports said he had with one or more women hostages, and he reportedly made at least one abortive attempt to escape from the island on a yacht.

On Saturday, U.S. Marines in the suburbs of St. George's, the capital of Grenada, captured Bernard Coard, another architect of the bloody coup tht ousted Bishop. Coard, a Marxist economist and deputy prime minister, led a faction that believed Bishop's pro-Cuban regime was not radical enough.

Lebanon conference opens

 ${f GENEVA}$ — The Lebanese national reconciliation conference, opening today after weeks of tense negotiations, brings together a collection of men who in some cases have been feuding bitterly for decades. Their task is to try to end Lebanon's internal conflicts. and the pressure on them has increased since the Oct. 23 truck bombings in Beirut which killed at least 287 U.S. and French servicemen in the multinational peacekeeping force. The four nations comprising the force have hinted they might reassess their roles unless the reconciliation talks yield significant results.

One of the key participants is leftist Druse leader Walid Jumblatt, who over the weekend warned of a new civil war if Lebanon's Christians balk at making concessions to the Moslems at the conference.

Jumblatt said the outcome of the talks will hinge on the Christians' willingness to grant "to the majority of the population the concessions necessary to lead to a modern Lebanon.

Jumblatt's Druse militiamen and their leftist allies battled the Lebanese army and Christian militiamen in September's three-week civil war.

Showers were reported over Southeast Texas and the upper coast early today. Patchy fog developed over the lower coastal plains and the Rio Grande River. The National Weather Service said visibility was reported at only a quarter of a mile at Corpus Christi and at half a mile at McAllen. Skies were clear elsewhere.

A weak high pressure continued over the state, producing light variable winds across the state. However, breezes began to pick up over the Panhandle, ranging up to 10 miles an hour.

Temperatures early today ranged from the midto upper 50s over West Texas to the low 70s over the coastal plains. The 4 a.m. high temperature was a balmy 72 degrees reported by Corpus Christi. The low was a 52-degree reading in Amarillo.

Forecasters predicted partly cloudy skies over most of the state today, with scattered showers along the upper coast. High temperatures were expected to be in the 70s and 80s statewide.

Showers dampened the Pacific Northwest today with the most numerous storms extending down the California coast.

A few showers also touched the southern Atlantic and western Gulf coast region while others dotted Indiana and lower Michigan.

In the central United States, showers continued Sunday mainly over Illinois with drizzle and dense fog in neighboring states.

Rainfall was generally light, with Eureka, Calif.. measuring .67 inches for a six-hour period ending 1 a.m. EST.

Temperatures at 2 a.m. CST ranged from 20 at Bradford, Pa., and Concord, N.H., to 78 at Homestead, Fla.

American history Hollywood style

Are we wrong in seeking to maintain a clear distinction between fact and fiction?

It seems so, as the docu-dramas, mixing fact and fiction, continue to pour out of Hollywood and the television stations and, importantly, continue to attract attention and audiences and make money.

There was "Missing," which purported to tell the truth about U.S. involvement in the overthrow of Salvador Allende in Chile.

There was "Gandhi," the big Oscar winner this year, which the government of India helped finance, showing the saintly side of the father of Indian independence and the bad side of the British Raj.

There is "Daniel," which either assumes or doesn't assume that Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were innocent.

And now there is "The Right Stuff," adapted from the Wolfe book which was adapted from reality. After seeing it at the premiere in Washington, Walter Cronkite, who was as close to the astronauts as anybody, said he wasn't entertained. He said the movie savages the press, the bureaucracy, Lyndon Johnson and astronauts themselves "by making them appear to be inmates of an animal house.'

That's history, Hollywood style.

Around the Rim

By BOB CARPENTER

Soap box

Recently, I overheard two persons discussing the misfortune of a family they apparently knew quite

It seems a female family member had been impregnated by a rapist (actually her stepbrother), and the girl's father (who really wasn't her biological father) had just killed himself.

In time, of course, I realized the duo was discussing the latest happenings on one of the nighttime soap operas, but the "realness" of their conversation had at first led me to think these strange things actually had occurred.

Since that time, I have come to notice that the happenings of these shows (such as Dallas, Dynasty, and others) are trendy topics of discourse among fans. Find a Dynasty watcher and casually ask what Alexis (Joan Collins) is up to and subjects like child stealing, murder, hatred, adultry and jealousy will flow forth.

Even my normally rational wife has taken to flinging everything aside on Wednesday nights to watch the Carrington clan go through its incestuous, backstabbing paces.

I think the reason why people watch such shows is to see the ultrarich suffer. If we can't be rich then the next best thing is to watch rich persons suffer because of their enormous wealth.

And try as I might to resist such drivel, some of the show's plot structures have filtered through to me. So for those of you who have never seen Dynasty, I have compiled a synopsis of each show. One must remember all these things do not happen on every show every time, but any combination of the following events is possible on a given night.

• Dynasty is set in Denver. It has never snowed once during the duration of the show. It is always summer and persons are always playing tennis or going horseback riding. The last time I was in Denver it snowed a foot.

• The women, if they happen to be pregnant, are always pregnant by someone other than their husbands. It helps if the father-to-be is a relative.

• The women, for the most part, are buxom. This is a prerequisite actually, for it helps to take one's mind off their atrocious acting.

· All the men wear suits all the time no matter what the activity. Also their hair is perfect, even after getting up in the morning or stepping out of the shower.

• The families, no matter how much the individual family members dislike one another, all live together in the same house. One person on Dynasty divorced his wife, and remarried and moved down the hall from her.

• The shows are always structured with the villain family and the wimp family. The villain family is always tricking the wimp family and trying to steal their portion of Daddy's money. A lot of threats are voiced during these times. The conflict usually is resolved by the respective wives of the families getting in a fight and falling in a swimming pool or a pond.

· Spouses always return to one another for periodic flings no matter how many times they have been divorced. Men usually return to their ex-wives while their current wives are pregnant. And remember wives usually are not pregnant by Individual episodes end on any of the above scenarios. There are no happy endings for these folks, and we wouldn't have it any other way.

U.S. trade policies stalled

Among the more dangerous ideas percolating in the minds of Capitol Hill's minions these days is one that looks so harmless as to induce slumber: establishing a federal Department of International Trade and Industry. Our lawmakers are not happy with America's success in international trade, and they have discovered, to their great amazement, that the U.S. lacks a national trade policy. This is the first step toward creating one, and therein lies the danger

In one sense, the idea is harmless. The Commerce Department and the office of the U.S. Trade Representative, which now divide responsibility for trade policy, would be merged into the new department. This is supposed to make things more efficient, and maybe it would. More likely, the only change would be on the organizational charts.

No one who has paid any attention to the achievements of the Energy and Education departments can harbor much agencies and progrms that shouldn't have existed in the first place. By the summer of 1979. barely two years after it was formed, the Energy Department could boast of making it almost impossible to fill your gas tank. The Education Department only perpetuates the belief, which defies all experience, that the health of our schools depends on federal involvement.

Creating a Trade Department will likewise contribute to the myth that success in international trade comes from government activism. The purported model is Japan.

Even the full name of the new department comes from the Japanese Ministry of International Trade and Industry (MITI), which supposedly generated Japan's economic miracle. But MITI's role was actually unimportant. It opposed the expansion of the auto industry and neglected consmer electronics - two of Japan's greatest successes. Many of the industries which MITI singled out for help, on the other hand, have done poorly.

The lesson from Japan is that export markets are created by entrepreneurs offering better, cheaper products, industries. But the latter course is exactly where an American trade department will probably lead.

Why? One reason is that government agencies, once established usually end up doing something to justify their existence — regulating gasoline prices, demanding airbags in cars, protecting truckers from competition. The most powerful constituencies affected by particular policies usually end up getting their way. In the case of the Trade Department, that will probably be the industries hurt by competition from abroad, who will strive to turn it into a voice for protectionism.

Among those who pray for that outcome is Sen. Thomas Eagleton (D-Mo.), who has managed to attach some "industrial policy" measures onto the bill. They create an Office of Competitive Analysis to study the competitive vigor of specific industries. They also require the department to set up special committees (with the usual business, labor and government representatives) to figure out how to solve the problems of vulnerable

These measures have only one purpose: to push the federal government further into the business of saving companies besieged by foreign competition. Managers and workers can already get together to find ways to compete better with imports, but usually those methods require sacrifices that one or both parties find unappetizing. So in a lot of industires, both sides demand that Washington solve the problem by squelching the competition. Other industries, like agriculture and commerical aircraft don't want protection - just government subsidies, thank you, to make it easier for them to export.

Both policies hurt society as a whole more than they help: the first by preventing exchanges that would take place if buyers and sellers were operating freely, the second

In practice, a Department of International Trade and Industry will most likely be an institutional oxymoron, suppressing trade rather than facilitating it, and facilitating it only by subsidizing exchanges that economics can't justify. To suppress trade, the government can do all sorts of things. To facilitate the sort of trade that makes us better off, it only has to get out of the way. For that, it doesn't need a Trade Department.

Billy Graham

Do all religions lead to same god?

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Don't you believe that all religions eventually lead to the same God? After all, I think we ought to learn as much as we can from all religions and then we could have a clearer idea of what God was like. — J.E.

DEAR J.E.: I know that on the surface this sounds like an attractive idea. But I disagree with it for at least two reasons.

First, by what standard would you decide what was right or true? For example, some of the major religions of the world say that there are many gods — even tens of thousands of them. Others, including Christianity, affirm that there is only one God, who is sovereign over all creation. Now how are you going to decide which is right? The problem, you see, is that it easily becomes a matter of personal opinion or preference, rather than any definite knowledge or certain truth about God.

The main problem with your view, however, is this. You are assuming that we must guess about what God is like, because God is hidden from us and we have no certain knowledge about him. But that is not true! We can know what God is like - and furthermore, we can know God in a personal relationship. Why is this true? It is true because God has shown us what he is like. He has revealed himself. He has done this supremely by doing something that staggers the imagination: He has taken upon himself human form and come down on this earth in the person of his Son.

Therefore, if you want to know what God is like, look at Jesus Christ. "No one has ever seen God, but God the only Son, who is at the Father's side, has made him known" (John 1:18). Your letter indicates to me that you have a desire to know God, and this is good. But it is important that you look in the right place. God has shown himself to us, and you find out who he is and what he has done for you by reading the Bible, God's Word.

Then you will understand what I mean when I say you can know God personally, and not just know aboutg him. By committing your life to Jesus Christ you will come into a personal relationship with God - a relationship that begins now and extends throughout eternity. God loves you, and he wants you to discover the joy of being his child by faith in Christ.

From the Kremlin's point of view, deploying subs close to the U.S. coasts is a reasonable response to the deployment of sophisticated Pershing II nuclear missiles close to Soviet borders.

If the Soviets carry out Chervov's threat, it would keep much of the American strategic bomber force on high alert. That's what happened at least four times since 1975 when the Soviets sent their submarines closer than their normal patrol areas 1,300 to 1,600 miles offshore. The Soviets' Y-class submarines already present a formidable threat even more than 1,000 miles from their nearest targets. The Defense Intelligence Agency reports that normally there are two Y-class subs on patrol off each coast, with a third in transit to or from the home past port. Each sub carries 16 missiles, which can travel up to 3,000 kilometers and hit within 1,400 meters of their targets.

Sending the subs closer in, or fitting them with low-trajectory missiles, would be an intolerable threat to the United States. BOONDOGGLE OF THE WEEK:

- Provide youngsters with flashlights to prevent falls on sidewalks or porch steps. (Positively no lighted candles should be carried!)

- Decorate your child's costume and trick-or-treat bag with reflective tape to make them highly visible to

- Remind children that they should never enter the home of a stranger or accept rides.

- Adults can help by keeping their yards well-

- Parents should check all "treats" before allowing children to eat them.

Very young children should never be out after dark unless accompanied by an adult.

So, make it a safe Halloween, and come Thanksgiving, you'll have more to be thankful for.

very interested in radial keratotomy to correct my nearsightedness and let me do away with my eyeglasses. I would like to know what it involves, and since it is a new procedure, the chances of success. -

Radial keratotomy is a surgical procedure poineered by Russian doctors to improve nearsightedness without glasses. I seldom discuss medicines or procedures still in investigational stages of development because little is to be gained by doing so in a health information column of this kind. But the number of letters on the subject demands response. I'll try to explain this one. In radial keratotomy, an attempt is made to focus light rays onto the retina properly by altering the clear visual image, those

Miss Indian pageant looking for new home

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP) — The National Miss Indian America Pageant "has fallen on hard times." and is seeking a new sponsor and location after 30 years in this Wyoming city, a pageant official said

The pageant's board of directors has notified 160 American Indian tribes about the search, said board chairman Jack

"We really hope to find a place where Indian and non-Indian people can get together and do a smashing job," he said. "It's been really struggling for the past 10 years up here.

The pageant was canceled this summer because of failure to raise the money needed for scholarships, he said.

"There's a fresh community somewhere to elevate the pageant to the level it deserves to be, to carry it out in a professional way, comparable to the Miss America or Black Miss America pagents," he said.

Booth said Sheridan, a northern Wyoming city of 15,000, lacks the facilities needed by the pageant.

He said the board is looking for a location and sponsor that can provide good transportation, access to news media, adequate facilities for the pageant, living expenses and accommodations for the reigning Miss Indian America and scholarships for her and runners-up.

An evaluation committee will take applications from potential sponsors until Jan. 31 and the board hopes to announce a decision by next April, Booth said.

Already expressing an interest are the United National Indian Tribal Youth Council in Oklahoma; the Montana Indian Intertribal Council and the chambers of commerce in Cody, Wyo., and Hendersonville, Tenn.

New trial ordered in Craft case

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A federal judge ruled against former TV anchorwoman Christine Craft in her sex discrimination case today and granted a new trial on a $500,000 fraud verdict against her former employer.

White throws 5 TD passes in Cowboy victory

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — By his own standards, Danny White measured up as a quarterback.

'The measure of a quarterback is: Did he orchestrate the defense to the point where he could put points on the board?" said White.

The Dallas Cowboys quarterback orchestrated the New York Giants' defense so well Sunday that he tied a club record with a career-high five touchdown passes as the Cowboys improved upon the National Football League's best record with a

But White said his play "wasn't indicative of a record performance" because he felt he "made a few bad decisions.

"I made the plays we needed to win, but I like to play as close to perfect as I can," said White, an eight-year veteran who hit 15 of 33 passes for 304 yards, with two interceptions.

White's five touchdown throws - two to wide receiver Tony Hill and one each to Tony Dorsett, Doug Cosbie and Drew Pearson - put him alongside Eddie LeBaron, Don Meredith and Craig Morton in the Cowboys' record book. All of his touchdown passes capped long drives.

"There was a time when teams feared playing against the Giants' defense. It just seems to me a lot of teams have lost respect for us," said New York's inside linebacker Harry Carson, who returned to action Sunday after missing five games with a knee injury. "They're using us as a stepping stone."

The Cowboys' defense forced New York quarterback Jeff Rutledge into six turnovers - three fumbles in the first half and three interceptions in the fourth quarter.

Rutledge, who threw for 325 yards and had touchdown passes to rookie tight end Zeke Mowatt and fullback Rob Carpenter, left in the fourth quarter with a dislocated left knee cap and tissue damage, leaving the Giants with only one healthy quarterback in Scott Brunner. Rutledge, who was third-string until second-stringer Phil Simms went down with a knee injury three weeks ago, replaced Brunner as the starter last week.

'We've been pleased with the turnovers (we've forced) all year. Turnovers have gotten us where we are," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry, whose team bounced back from last week's 40-38 loss to the Los Angeles Raiders to boost its record to 8-1.

"We're better off won-loss wise than I thought we'd be. We still have to continue to improve if we're going to win the Super Bowl," Landry added. "Today in the NFL you have to score points. If you don't score the points, you're not going to win.

The Cowboys broke the game open after White's 7-yard pass to Pearson on the first play of the fourth quarter put the finishing touch on a 76-yard, 10-play

White, whose first touchdown pass was a 21-yarder to Hill to tie the score 7-7 in the first quarter, closed out the scoring with 6:02 to play on a 58-yard pass play to Hill, who had five receptions for 106 yards

In the first half, Rutledge was sacked four times and lost the ball three of those times on fumbles. The Cowbovs sacked Rutledge six times

"We're a very confident team," said Dorsett, who hauled in a 14-yard scoring pass from White to give Dallas a 14-7 lead in the second quarter. "We know we're capable of doing some things. As long as we have time on the clock, we can make things happen.

Pride was the motivator and the San Francisco 49ers

Playing a virtually mistake-free game, the struggling New York Jets knocked off the high-powered 49ers 27-13 in one of three major National Football League upsets that caught division leaders Sunday. In the others, the St. Louis Cardinals outscored the Minnesota Vikings 41-31 and the Seattle Seahawks whipped the Los Angeles Raiders 34-21.

"Our motivation was embarrassment and the fact that we are much better than a 3 and 5 football team, said New York defensive lineman Marty Lyons. "We put pressure on the quarterback and our defensive backs did a great job covering their receivers.'

Lyons' thoughts of "embarrassment" was a reference to last week's 27-21 loss to Atlanta after the Jets had built a 21-0 lead in the third quarter.

Meanwhile, comeback efforts by Pittsburgh and Cleveland continued the frustrations of the league's two winless teams, as the Steelers beat Tampa Bay 17-12 and the Browns tripped Houston 25-19 in

McCumber escapes with Pensacola win

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) - Mark Mc-Cumber became golf's eighth two-time winner this season in he Pensacola Open, but the fond hopes of three players were denied in the season-closing event on the PGA Tour. "I'm proud of the way I won," McCumber said after he solved a multiple-man scramble Sunday with a closing six-under-par 65 on the 7,093-yard Perdido Bay Country Club course.

He should have been. He came out of the pack with birdies on four of the last five holes, including the last three, to join Fuzzy Zoeller, Hal Sutton, Gil Morgan, Lanny Wadkins, Cal Peete, Seve Ballesteros and Jim Colbert as the game's double winners this season.

For the first time in tour history, there was not a three-time winner. (Two team events remain on the schedule. But they do not count on the official statistics.)

McCumber won his second of the year, and third of his career, with a 266 total, 18 under par. The victory was worth $45,000 from the total purse of $250,000 and boosted his seasons's earnings to a career-high $268,294. "I have mixed emotions," he said. "I'm glad it (the season) is over. It's been a long

"But I'm 35 under (par) for my last eight rounds. I've finished second and first. In a way, I wish there were a few more tournaments.

But the book was closed on the 1983 season. And it closed with Fuzzy Zoeller, Calvin Peete and Lyn Lott on the outside looking in.

"Disappointed? No," said Zoeller, who took his aching back into the final event of the season as the only man with a chance to overtake Player of the Year Hal Sutton - who did not play in Pensacola - as the season's leading money-winner.

Zoeller needed a finish of fourth or better to make it. He won $1,908 in a tie for 25th on a score of 71-280, and finished the year at $417,597. Sutton, the PGA champion, won the Arnold Palmer Trophy as the year's leading moey-winner at $426,668.

Peete, the defending champion at Pensacola, came in needing a total score of 269 to go past Ray Floyd in scoring average, which determines the Vardon Trophy. He missed. Just Barely. Peete required a score of 65 in the last round to win it. He shot 67. Floyd won the Vardon with a 70.61 average. Peete, after 6,144 strokes for the season, had a 70.62

Lott, finishing his 10th year on the tour, came into the last round needing a finish of third or better to be among the game's top 125 money-winners, the determining facor for an exemption for next year's tour. He was the third-round leader. But he couldn't hold it. Lott shot 72 and tied for fifth.

Ralph brings joy to Houston

HOUSTON (AP) - Ralph Sampson has helped bring laughter back to The Summit, where last season the woeful Houston Rockets were the National Basketball Association's saddest team, winning only 14 games.

The good times returned Saturday.

A man in the east bleachers was leading cheers while another selfappointed yell leader on the south side, wearing a shirt made from a British flag, was waving Rocket-colored pompons to the delight of some of the mirthful 14,116 fans.

The attendance figure broke the Rockets' record home-opening crowd of 13,643 set in 1969 that marked the pro debut of Lew Alcindor, now Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

The main event Saturday was Sampson, the highly touted, highly talented and highly paid rookie from the University of Virginia. He was ably assisted by another Rockets' newcomer, Lewis Lloyd. They led Houston to a 106-100 season-opening victory over the San Antonio Spurs.

While Sampson was the center of attention with 12 rebounds and 18 points, the unheralded Lloyd, signed as a free agent after playing last season with the Golden State Warriors, had 28 points, 11 rebounds and 10 assists.

"He played extremely well considering it was the first game of the season,' said San Antonio center Artis Gilmore, who had outplayed Sampson a week ago in an exhibition game.

Cleveland deals hapless Houston its 16th straight defeat

CLEVELAND (AP) - Boyce Green, a rookie running back for the Cleveland Browns, is doing his best to quickly answer two questions: Who is Boyce Green, and where is Carson Newman?

Green, who ran for 137 yards filling in for fullback Mike Pruitt against Pittsburgh two weeks ago, rushed for 107 yards Sunday, including the game-winning touchdown in overtime, as the Browns sent the Houston Oilers to their 16th straight defeat 25-19.

The loss, Houston's second straight in overtime, dropped the Oilers to 0-9 this year, including 0-3 under interim Coach Chuck Studley

The Browns tied Sunday's game at 19-19 on a lastminute field goal by Matt Bahr, his fourth of the day, then won it on the first play following an interception midway through the overtime period.

Green, an 11th-round draft choice from Tennessee's Carson Newman, collected all of his yardage Sunday in the second half. "I'm just happy to play and contribute, because anytime you can do that as a rookie, it's a good thing,"

On his game-winning run up the middle, he eluded several Houston tacklers and kicked his way into the

"I just ran into the hole and was kind of stalemated," Green said. "I just hit it inside and when I saw the goal line, I just kept going.'

Each loss become more difficult, more oppressing," said Studley, who replaced Ed Biles as Houston's head coach three games ago.

The Browns, who had tied the game at 10-10 on a faked field goal late in the first half, sent the game into overtime on Bahr's field goal, a 30-yarder with 49 seconds in the fourth quarter.

The teamstraded punts to start the overtime period, but Houston quarterback Gifford Nielsen, on a thirdand-eight play from his own 11, threw an interception to Browns' defensive back Mike Whitwell, who returned the ball to the 20-yard line.

Green, who finished with 107 yards on 14 carries, darted for the winning touchdown on the next play.

The Oilers, playing without injured running back Earl Campbell, led 19-13 entering the fourth period. But Bahr hit a 29-yard field goal midway through the period, and the Browns then drove 44 yards in 10 plays to set up his game-tying kick.

Cleveland, 5-4, led 3-0 early in the game, taking the opening kickoff and marching 53 yards to set up a 37-yard Bahr field goal.

But Houston linebacker Greg Bingham intercepted a pass by Cleveland's Paul McDonald - filling in for sore-armed Brian Sipe - at the Browns' 16-yard line on Cleveland's next series, and Nielson hit Mike Renfro with a 19-yard touchdown pass three plays later to make it 7-3 Houston.

The Oilers extended their lead to 10-3 when Florian Kempf made a 19-yard field goal midway through the Cleveland, however, tied it 10-10 with 25 seconds left in the first half on the faked field goal, with McDonald lobbing a 14-yard pass to tackle Doug Dieken, who lined up as a tight end on the play.

Referee's union may resume contract talks

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of the National Basketball Association referees' union say he will decide today on whether to resume stalled contract negotiations with the league on "The site, the terms and the format of the meeting are very important to me," Richie Phillips said from his home in Philadelphia.

NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien has called a Tuesday meeting between the league's Labor Relations Committee and the league's negotiators "so everyone knows in which direction we're going," said Alex Sachare, the NBA's director of information.

Sachare said Phillips and his negotiating team have been invited to resume negotiations after the NBA peo-

There have been no contract talks since Thursday. A Friday meeting, scheduled to be held just hours before the league opened its regular season with substitute referees, never was held.

Texas claims first place in SWC

By DENE H. FREEMAN

AP Sports Writer The Texas Longhorns finally have scaled the summit expected of them - first place in the Southwest Conference football chase.

Texas Coach Fred Akers said it has been a pinnacle achieved the old-fashioned way, through hard work on the road and against opponents playing over their head.

"We had three rugged road games and just didn't have the intensity against Texas Tech we should have," said Akers after the No. 2-ranked 'Horns finally subdued the scrappy Red Raiders 20-3 Saturday. "It's been a gutwringer for us this last month.'

The SWC finished its season against outside competition two games over .500.

• AUSTIN - Besides the come-frombehind victory over Texas Tech, Texas Coach Fred Akers got some more good news Saturday: Injured fullback Terry Orr and tailback

SWC Roundup

Edwin Simmons could possibly be ready to play the Houston Cougars on Saturday.

"We hope Edwin could be back and it's a possibility," said Akers of his freshman running back sensation, who has missed two weeks with a dislocated knee cap.

Asked if he enjoyed playing in the Astrodome, Akers said, "I like excitement. noise and action. I like noisy places.

 WACO — Baylor's disputed 24-18 victory over Tulane was the Bears' first sweep of nonconference foes since 1976 and gave the SWC a two-game bulge over .500 for the year against outside competition.

It didn't make Tulane Coach Wally English very happy

Tulane threw a touchdown pass that wasn't late in the game. Officials ruled the Green Wave was in motion, calling it back. Protests from the Tulane bench resulted in back-to-back unsportsmanlike conduct flags. • LITTLE ROCK — Arkansas finally got even with Rice.

The Rice Owls had led their all-time SWC series with the Razorbacks until Saturday night 28-27-1 but Brad Taylor took care of it.

The Razorback quarterback threw four touchdown passes in a 35-0 victory as scouts from the Liberty and Sun Bowls looked on. For the fourth straight game, the Rice offense went without scoring a touchdown.

 COLLEGE STATION — Although some SMU defenders thought Texas A&M quarterback Kevin Murray would go wide on fourthand-inches to the goal line, safety Russell

UPENDED — Rice running back Kevin Trigg (33) is surned upside down by Arkansas lineman Greg Berry in the Razorback

Carter said he could see in Murray's eyes that the play was going up the middle.

After two Jimmie Hawkins runs from the 1-yard-line failed to get the ball across the goal, Murray tried to squeeze over right guard but the officials marked it an inch short, and SMU held on for a 10-7 victory.

Murray, the freshman who completed 14 of 22 passes for 156 yards, said, "It was a quarterback sneak and I scored. I think the officials used horrible judgment. I was in.'

"It's not a very good thing for the officials to tell the players you've scored, and then have another one say you didn't. And that's what 35-0 victory over the Owls Saturday night. Rice has failed to score a touchdown in its last four games.

happened," said Sherrill.

FORT WORTH — It's quite possible that TCU Coach Jim Wacker could find a silver lining on his coffin, and Saturday he once again was up to the occasion.

"The kids played their hearts out. They gave us everything they had inside them," he said after the Horned Frogs dropped a 28-21 Southwest Conference decision to Houston.

"Our defense really played well in the second half, and our offense came back," he said. "We just made a couple of mistakes ... dropped a pass and had that fumble."

Porras remains in ICU

Robert Porras, wide receiver for the Big Spring Steers, underwent surgery Saturday at Malone-Hogan Hospital for an injury suffered Friday night in the game against Odessa Permian.

Porras, a senior, was reported to be steadily improving today by Steer athletic trainer Everett Blackburn.

Blackburn said Porras underwent surgery for "blunt trauma" to the abdomen which caused swelling within the abdominal cavity.

Dr. Donald Crockett and Dr. James Cowan performed the operation and, according to Blackburn, Cowan said that in his experience with athletic injuries, this is the first time he has seen this type of injurty in football.

Blackburn said Porras is still in the intensive care unit and cannot receive visitors

Raul Allegre's fifth field goal of the game, a 30-yarder with 2:07 left, carried Baltimore over Philadelphia. The Eagle1 had taken a 21-19 lead on an eight-play, 44-yard drive capped by quarterback Ron Jaworski's 6-yard scoring pass to wide receiver Harold Carmichael.

Lions 38, Bears 17

Eric Hipple passed for 216 yards and one touchdown and Leonard Thompson scored on a 40-yard reverse to lead Detroit over Chicago. Hipple hit Jeff Chadwick with a 21-yard touchdown pass in the first quarter and completed at least one long pass in each of Detroit's first four touchdown drives.

Bills 27, Saints 21

Joe Ferguson threw four touchdown passes, including two to Mike Mosley, and Buffalo survived a late New Orleans rally to beat the Saints. Ferguson ended the game with 13 completions in 25 attempts for 173 yards, while Saints starting quarterback Ken Stabler left the game at the end of the first quarter after taking a shot in the ribs.

DeBerg shredded the NFL's No. 1 pass defense for 350 yards and a touchdown, and fullback Nathan Poole added two short-yardage scores to lead Denver over

"I feel like our offense is improving each week," said DeBerg. "The thing we did well today was eliminate what Kansas City does well - rush the passer. They get an excellent pass rush from the ends, but (tackles) Dave Studdard and Ken Lanier did a great job of keeping them off me. Consequently, we were able to throw the ball effectively. Seahawks 34, Raiders 21

Linebacker Shelton Robinson ignited slow-starting Seattle with a 12-yard fumble return for a touchdown and the underdog Seahawks went on to beat Los Angeles for their second victory over the American Conference West leaders in three weeks.

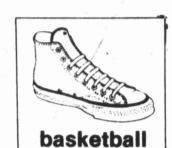

Robinson made his big play with 9:18 remaining in the second quarter and the Seahawks trailing 7-0. Linebacker Keith Butler shook the ball loose from running back Marcus Allen of the Raiders, Robinson scooped it up and lumbered into the end zone

Steelers 17, Bucs 12 Frank Pollard ran 2 yards for a touchdown with 31 seconds left as the Steelers overcame seven turnovers and an NFL record 42 carries by Tampa Bay's James Wilder to beat the 0-9 Buccaneers.

'All week long, we said we didn't want to be the first team to lose to them, that we couldn't make mistakes," said Pittsburgh quarterback Cliff Stoudt. 'Then, we went out and made them.

Wilder gained 126 yards with his performance, wiping out the previous record of 41 attempts set by the Steelers' Franco Harris in a 1976 game against

FORECAST FOR MONDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Except for the very early morning, which is good for thinking out long-range plans, you will find that you would be wise to organize your time and efforts for more effective results.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study every phase of your work and then plan just how best to handle it and without lose of time or exercise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do whatever will make you more charming and then you can impress others more favorably. Resist stubborn impulses.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Begin the week wisely by doing those errands you promised your family you would handle. Do some much-needed exercising.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Reflii the larder early and then get busy with correspondence and other communications which have been neglected.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Analyze well whatever has to do with finances and real estate, and then put them aside for a while. Socialize with friends tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have a feeling of discontent now that can be relieved by improving condidiscontent now that can be relieved by improving conditions around you. Concentrate on your home. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You feel bored with all the small tasks you have to handle, so change your attitude and they are soon done.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may go after some personal goal too obviously and forcefully and could lose out, so use more tact.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is not a good day to approach bigwigs for backing or other favors you may want, so await a more propitious time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find better ways of expanding and be sure yo have the right facts concerning them and that everything is on the up-and-up.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good day to put aside day-dreaming and get into practical affairs so you have a greater income for your needs.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Much conversation with other persons will not get you the results you want today, so try more practical methods.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those fascinating young persons who can easily find mistakes where others fall and should have the education slanted along trouble shooting lines for that reason.A career in diplomacy is indicated here.

BUBBLE, BUBBLE — Joe Edwards, a bar and restaurant owner in St. Louis, spoofs the making of his new beer he says could make Halloween more fun for adults. The brew is being distributed in seven Midwest and Southern states.

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Halloween is traditionally viewed as the children's night out, but a St. Louis bar owner and minor beer baron says he's developed a special brew that will help adults get more enjoyment out of the holiday.

"No, it's not orange," said Joe Edwards, anticipating the first question he usually gets about Witch's Brew beer "But it does come in a distinctive orange and black can which says right on the label that it is distributed by the Full Moon Distributing Co."

Edwards, 37, surprised a lot of people in the industry two years ago when Rock'n Roll beer, which he had brewed as just a house beer for his own establishment, became a hit across the country. But he said he views Witch's Brew as a once-ayear fun venture.

"I've only been working on it for 10 months, and to get a national program go-ing you need more lead time than that," he said. "However, the beer is being distributed in seven states in the Midwest and South this year, and so far the response has been great. I've had to turn down distributors in some states, unfortunately.

"In fact, we're projecting distribution in 49 states next year. This is kind of fun, spotting a hole in the market and filling

Edwards, who has his office above his 1950s-decor Blueberry Hill bar and restaurant in suburban University City, said industry literature has reported Halloween to be the third-best night for taverns across the country.

"I'm sure St. Patrick's Day and New Year's Eve would be way ahead," the ponytailed Edwards said, "but think about all the bar parties and home costume parties that are attended by adults every year on Halloween. There's bound to be a market for a good beer in an attractive can as a novelty item.
