4 B.S. men charged in drug traffic

ABILENE — Three Big Spring men pleaded guilty to federal drug charges today before Judge Halbert Woodward at the Federal Courthouse here.

Charges against a fourth Big Spring resident will be presented to the federal grand jury at a later date, Woodward said.

The charges resulted from a 14-month FBI and police investigation of drug traffic in Howard County.

Three persons pleaded guilty to use of the telephone to facilitate narcotics transactions. They are Joe David Fewell of 2524 Fairchild, Patrick Claude Gray, 32, of Derrick Road and Cooper Lee Proctor, 34, of 2601

Hunter.

Woodward said all four men had entered into a plea bargain agreement. Details of the agreement were not disclosed.

Three waived their right for a grand jury hearing and were charged before the judge by Assistant U.S. Attorney Richard Stephens of Dallas.

Roy Lee Ford, 46, of 1308 Princeton withdrew his plea bargain on one count of distribution of cocaine. Ford's case will be presented to federal grand jury by the U.S. Attorney's office.

Distribution of cocaine carries a maximum penalty of a $25,000 fine, 15 years imprisonment and a special parole term of at least three years in addition to any imprisonment.

Use of telephone to facilitate narcotics transactions is punishable by a maximum fine of $300 and four years imprisonment.

Gray, in making his plea, agreed to cooperate with the FBI in the ongoing investigation, Woodward said. In exchange for his cooperation, he was charged with only one count of use of the telephone to facilitate a narcotics transaction.

The text of the information filed against Gray said that on May 12, 1983 Gray had a telephone communication with Proctor about contacting Fewell for the purpose of obtaining cocaine.

Charges against Fewell said on May 12, 1983 he talked to Proctor and he delivered one-quarter ounce of cocaine to Proctor. Stephen said Fewell was charged with the lesser offense in the plea bargain agreement.

Charges against Proctor said on March 21, 1983 he discussed with a police informant plans for delivering one-quarter ounce of cocaine to the informant. Later that day he delivered it, the charge said. He pleaded

Insurance increase approved

From bureau and wire reports
AUSTIN — State Board of Insurance action Thursday on automobile insurance rates will increase the average annual premium in Howard County by 2.4 percent, from $584 to $598.

New rates adopted by the board will go into effect Feb. 1.

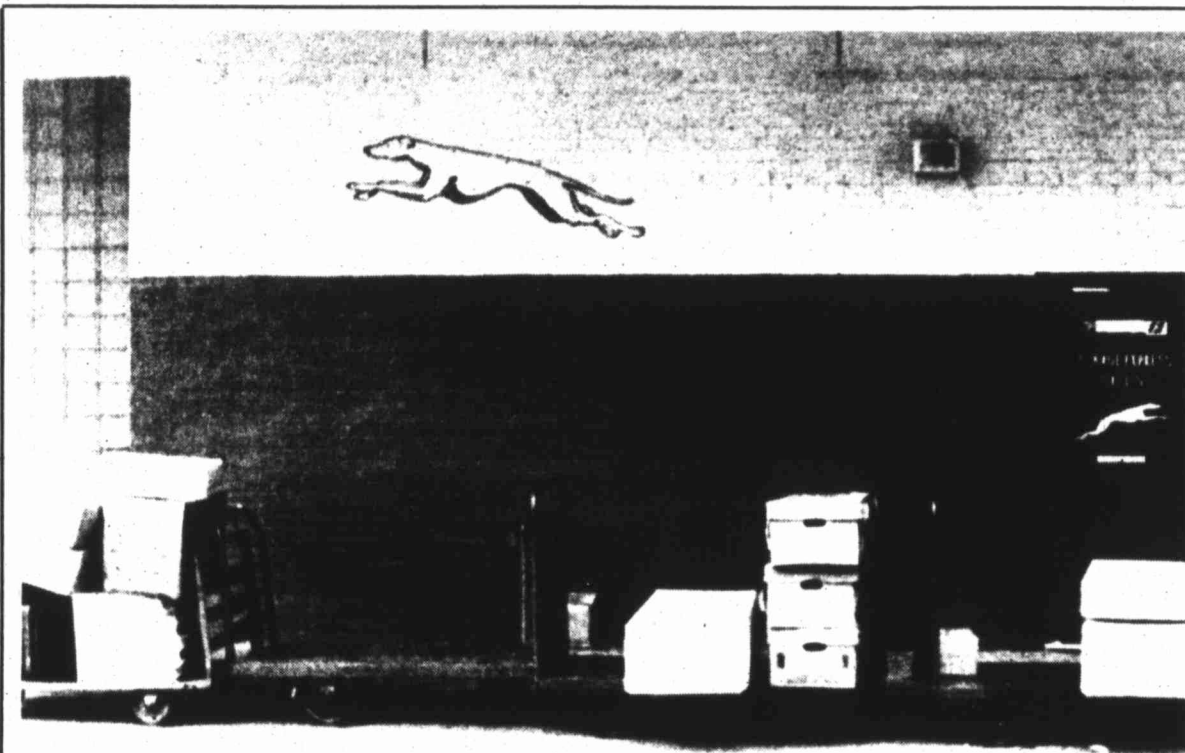

Rate increases proposed earlier by the insurance industry called for an 11.4 percent average statewide increase for minimum liability and comprehensive protection. That proposal would have boosted insurance premiums by about 9.2 percent, or $54 over the $584 now being paid by the average motorist in Howard County.

The rates quoted above assume a motorist uses a 1983 low-to-medium-priced Buick, Chevrolet, Ford, Honda, Mazda, Nissan, Oldsmobile, Plymouth, Renault or Volkswagen. They also assume the driver is a male at least 25 years old or a female at least 21 who does not use the car on the job but drives it to and from work.

Increased liability limits set by the 1983 Texas Legislature account for about $13 of the proposed premium increase in Howard County.

That minimum liability limit now is $10,000 maximum per person, $20,000 maximum per accident for bodily injury and $5,000 maximum for property damage.

The Legislature ordered those limits raised to $15,000/$30,000 for bodily injury and $15,000 for property damage. See INSURANCE, page 2A

DISRUPTED BY STRIKE — Unionized Greyhound employees began a nationwide strike at midnight. Because of the strike, service at the local Greyhound station has been disrupted. Some Greyhound employees say they are expecting a long strike.

Greyhound strike halts east, west service out of Big Spring

From staff and wire reports
Big Spring passengers were informed that all Greyhound bus trips had been canceled because of a strike today found that although east and west routes are halted, service north and south by the Kerrville Bus Co. and Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches continued.

These companies which honor Greyhound tickets were running at full speed today, according to a spokesman at the Big Spring bus terminal at 315

Runnels. Trailways Bus Lines also has indicated it will honor Greyhound tickets.

The walkout by 12,700 members of the Amalgamated Transit Union, which began at midnight, knocked out 60 percent of the nation's intercity bus service. No new talks were scheduled, and Greyhound officials said they did not know when service might resume.

The company is seeking 9.5 percent salary cuts. See GREYHOUND, page 2A

Ex-KKK leader recalls Grenada invasion plans

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

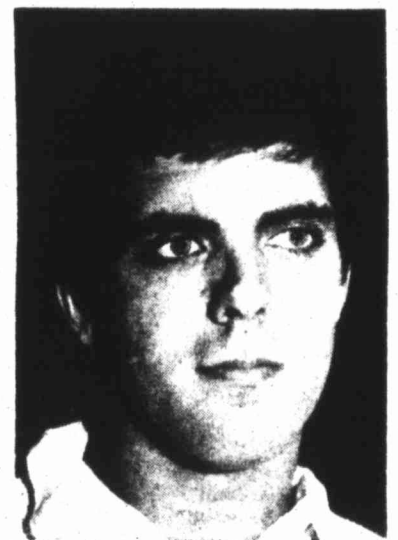

Big Spring Federal Prison inmate Donald Black, a former Ku Klux Klan leader, said yesterday that he was recruited into a band of mercenaries in 1981 whose mission was to first invade the island of Dominica and then Grenada to oust leftist governments there.

Black, who was arrested and convicted along with eight other persons for violating the Neutrality Act before the plan could be attempted, called the recent U.S. invasion of Grenada a "vindication of our mission."

News of the group's mission to invade Grenada was made public last week by former Klan member David Duke. He said the mercenaries had planned to restore control of the Dominican government to ousted right-wing officials, and then used to island as a staging area for an expedition into Grenada to eliminate Cuban and Soviet rule there.

Black confirmed Duke's statement saying that he had first heard of the operation in 1979 and finally joined the mission in 1981.

Black said the group was under contract of the Dominican army to return ousted right-wing leaders to power in exchange for the "rights to develop an anti-communist defense force upon the island and to be allowed to develop the economic resources of the island..."

However, Black and eight other were arrested and convicted of violating the Neutrality Act by U.S. attorneys who argued the band planned to exploit Dominica for personal profit.

Seven of the nine have been released on parole, while Black and See KKK, page 2A

alcohol abuse posed by a member of the audience attending the town meeting Wednesday night sponsored by the Chemical People program.

Capacity crowd assembles for drug prevention program

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

A large number of Big Spring citizens got involved in alcohol and drug abuse prevention last night at a town meeting sponsored by the Chemical People in the Big Spring High School Auditorium.

An estimated 1100 people filled the auditorium to near capacity to watch a public television special called "The Chemical Society" hosted by First Lady Nancy Reagan and sponsored by the Chemical People drug abuse program.

The television broadcast was designed to help concerned friends and parents identify the signs of drug and alcohol abuse.

Of those attending, 434 signed up to receive additional information on the Chemical People, steering committee member Johnnie Lou Avery said. Many on the list were teen-agers, she said.

Area radio stations KBYG and KBST broadcasted the one-hour question and answer period with experts on the subject of drug abuse which followed. About 500 listeners called in questions to the panel, Chemical People steering committee chairman Paul Shaffer said.

Members of the panel were Dr. Don Crockett, surgeon at Malone-Hogan Hospital; Big Spring Police Chief Rick Turner; Jim Campbell, counselor at the Big Spring State Hospital; Rev. Dale Daley, minister at the Evangelical Temple and formerly involved in the Teen Challenge drug rehabilitation program; Lynn Hise, Superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School District; Denver Goldman, a former drug abuser now interned at the Big Spring Federal Camp, and John Anderson, a member of the BSISD school board. Shaffer served as moderator for the panel.

The Chemical People have scheduled another town meeting for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 9 at the high school auditorium.

Prison inmate Denver Goldman said during the question and answer period that people get involved in drugs and alcohol for three reasons: for enjoyment, for peer approval, and because they have no commitment to anything else in life.

"That's the rock bottom," Goldman said. "Your actions reflect what you believe. Some people don't believe there is anything better in life other than immediate gratification."

San Marcos police investigated

SAN MARCOS (AP) — Allegations of drug use among San Marcos police officers and favoritism by the police chief are being investigated by the FBI, the Austin American-Statesman reported today.

FBI agent Pat Cowley of San Antonio confirmed a preliminary investigation "into matters surrounding" the department, but declined to discuss details Wednesday.

"Any information we obtain will be turned over to the U.S. attorney's office," Cowley said.

San Marcos Police Chief Myron Galchutt declined to comment on the investigation.

Acting City Attorney Charles Chapman told the American-Statesman the city has turned over information requested by the FBI, including polygraph tests of officers.

No citation to be issued

FORT WORTH (AP) — Officials have decided not to issue a citation against the owner of the Ramada Inn Central, where five people died in a June 14 blaze.

Deputy Fire Chief Don Peacock said Wednesday he decided not to cite motel owner Ernest Barker of Mount Carmel, Ill., because it would be difficult to prove Barker was responsible for storing six rolls of carpeting and 17 rolls of padding in front of an exit.

Motel manager Eugene F. Slape, 23, originally was cited for the fire code violation, which carries a maximum fine of $200. But Slape was acquitted by a jury Oct. 13.

Although Slape testified that Barker ordered employees to store the carpet in front of the exit, Peacock said, "I felt it would be difficult to prove that a man up in Illinois could be held responsible."

Barker, who has been sued by a relative of one fire victim, declined to comment.

Vietnam hampers search

HOUSTON — Vietnam insists that rescue workers must stay at least 23 miles off its shores in their search for 81 crewmen whose oil drilling ship sank in a typhoon last week, an official of the ship's owner told the Houston Chronicle.

Gary Kott, president of Global Marine Drilling Co., said his firm has been pressing the State Department to appeal to Vietnam for humanitarian reasons and is using other contacts to assist the rescue effort, the paper reported in today's editions.

But Kott said Vietnam has yet to grant permission to enter the 23-mile zone it claims as territorial waters. "It has not been smooth," he said. "But the State Department is cooperating. They're using avenues we're not even aware of."

The Glomar Java Sea sank Oct. 25 while drilling for oil about 200 miles east of Vietnam, officials said. A Chinese ship using sonar found the vessel under 300 feet of water Tuesday.

Vietnamese officials said two or three Vietnamese boats have been searching their coastal waters for survivors.

But Kott said the Vietnamese have refused to admit searchers from his company; from Atlantic Richfield Co., which was leasing the ship; the United States; or China, which had 35 workers on the boat.

another member of the group continue to serve three-year sentences. Black said he expects to be released in another year on good behavior.

"It's a very ironic situation and a very strange feeling," Black said of the U.S.'s invasion of Grenada. "I'm very surprised they (the U.S. government) would do it. It's a brazen action one wouldn't expect from the government. It's difficult for me, based on standards they have been using in the past, to justify — even though I agree with it — the claim that we're doing it for the citizens of Grenada."

Black contends that if the mercenary band has been allowed to complete their mission the U.S.

would have no problems with communist infiltration today.

"I think in many ways the invasion does vindicate us somewhat and points up the duplicity within the federal government," Black said.

On Oct. 3, three weeks before the Marines invasion of Grenada, Black said he filed a suit in a New Orleans federal court challenging the constitutionality of the Neutrality Act.

Black, with help from lawyers of the American Civil Liberties Union, contend the law — first used by President George Washington in 1793 — is "vague, overly broad and can be applied in a selective manner."

Black said he expects the court to rule on the motion in three or four months with the losing side appealing the matter immediately.

Black said he would not join the mission if he could do it over again; however, he said it was a decision he made, with no illusions to danger of death or incarceration, and he is prepared to accept the consequences.

Black also responded to a statement made by Duke which said: "Don Black should be given a medal of honor and not imprisonment."

"I like Mr. Duke's statement," he said. "I don't think that's going to happen nor do I think I'm going to get a presidential pardon."

guilty to the lesser charge in the plea bargain agreement for his cooperation in the ongoing investigation.

Ford, a native of Snyder and former Coke County attorney from 1971 to 1974, was defeated in 1970 in the Democratic primary election for state representative from Big Spring.

Gray is owner of Pat Gray Body Works at 700 North Owens, where Fewell is employed. Gray is also president of the Big Spring Model Aircraft Association.

Proctor was laid off in January from Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. where he worked as a boiler operator in the maintenance department, the company's public relations office said this morning.

An employee of the Big Spring Police Department who spoke on the condition he not be identified said the investigation was conducted primarily by two FBI agents who used at least three informants and a variety of modern surveillance methods to compile evidence.

Informants carried microphones while in contact with suspected cocaine dealers, he said. Suspects also were photographed from unmarked police cars, and suspect's vehicles were followed from above by FBI airplanes, he said.

Big Spring Police Chief Rick Turner said this morning he could neither confirm nor deny that further charges against other local residents will result from the investigation.

Pre-sentencing reports were ordered by the judge to determine if the men are eligible for probation.

The successful motion was made by commission member Carole McClellan, who said she thought both the insured and the insurers could live with the staff recommendation, despite industry protests it would make them lose their profits.

"I believe the industry can be well and healthy with the staff recommendation," she said.

The Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office, representing the industry, asked a statewide average 11.4 percent increase which would bring in $258 million in additional premiums.

for drivers and terminal, maintenance and office workers, saying the cuts are necessary for the bus division to remain competitive, said John W. Teets, chairman of the board of Phoenix-based Greyhound Corp.

Teets said operations would resume as soon as possible, using new employees if necessary, but he had no timetable "because we don't know yet what the response will be from our employees."

He said the company had offered to extend the current contract for as long as necessary to allow union members to vote on what he described as the company's final offer. But he said the leadership of the union's Greyhound council had "flatly refused."

proposal calls for insurance companies' overall profit to be dependent on their investment income.

"It's fair to weigh insurance policy incomes against investment income," said Gaylon Daniel, staff actuary. "It all goes probably to the same bank."

Harry Rosenblum, president of the 31-local council, said the company's offer would mean an actual cut in pay and benefits of 20 percent to 25 percent, adding that the union membership already had rejected the company's position when it authorized negotiators to call a strike by a vote of more than 98 percent.

Officials at Greyhound Lines Inc. have said that a strike would shut down service to the 11 major Texas cities for at least a week. Drivers and other employees struck the company at 1 a.m. CST today over proposed wage cutbacks.

Several people waiting to catch Greyhound's last bus from Houston — the 8 p.m. run to San Antonio — expressed support of the union, even if the strike inconvenienced them, the Houston Chronicle reported.

Gramm to visit Big Spring

U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm, R-College Station, a candidate for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by U.S. Sen. Tower, will be at a coffee at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Big Spring Chamber Area of Commerce.

Gramm served two terms — 1978 through 1982 — as a conservative Democrat and the leader of the "boll weevils," conservative southern and western Democrats who supported President Reagan's economics program. He joined the Republican party early this year after Democratic party leadership stripped Gramm of his seat on the House Budget Committee for breaking party lines on votes.

Gramm resigned his seat in early 1983 and ran for reelection as a Republican in an open election in which he defeated 10 other opponents.

Local youth bitten by snake

GARDEN CITY — Jack E. Hunt, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hunt of Garden City is reported in stable condition today at Shannon Hospital in San Angelo after suffering a snake bite Monday afternoon.

Hunt was first taken to the Sterling City Hospital and later transferred to San Angelo.

Infant back in hospital

FORT WORTH (AP) — Ashley Bailey, the 14-month-old infant who has sought a liver transplant for six months, is back in the hospital after living at home for fewer than five days.

The baby girl returned to Cook Children's Hospital in Fort Worth Wednesday afternoon for treatment of cholangitis, an inflammation of the bile ducts, which help in digestion.

Ashley was in stable condition today at the hospital's intensive care unit, said spokeswoman Janie Manning Harper.

"She has had this before. She is real sick. She needs a liver badly," Ms. Harper said, adding the child probably will be treated with antibiotics to fight the infection.

The baby girl was released from the hospital Friday and went to live with her parents in an apartment nearby. She suffers from biliary atresia, an incurable disease that hardens the liver.

The child has been in and out of hospitals since May, and despite a plea broadcast nationwide by President Reagan, no suitable liver donor has been found.

Woman of the Year

NEW YORK — Eileen Ford, known for finding more than just another pretty face, has been chosen "Woman of the Year" by the Advertising Club of New York.

The 61-year-old Mrs. Ford, who with her husband Jerry has promoted some of the world's most glamorous faces for the Ford Model Agency, was honored Wednesday for her "personality personification" campaigns. In advertising lingo, that means identifying one model so closely with a product that the model appears in all of the product's ads.

Cover Girl spokeswomen Cheryl Tiegs and Christie Brinkley are among the Ford fashion models. Other famous faces who have been associated with the Ford agency include: Karen Graham, Jean Shrimpton, Suzy Parker, Jane Fonda, Candice Bergen, Ali McGraw, Lauren Hutton, Brooke Shields and Christina Ferrare De Lorean.

The Fords launched their business from their Manhattan apartment in 1946 and now have more than 200 models.

Previous recipients of the Ad Club's award have been comedian Lucille Ball, actress Jaclyn Smith and Arlene Dahl, actress, author and columnist.

Prince joins auction

LONDON — As president of the appeal fund of the Royal College of Music, Prince Charles was right out in front at an auction the college conducted — and bought a tiny music box and a little champagne.

This was no ordinary champagne. It was Chateau Lafitte-Rothschild 1969, for which the prince paid a bargain 120 pounds, the equivalent of $180, for a double magnum. One magnum holds about two-fifths of a gallon.

The music box, enamelled and only about 2 1/2 inches square, cost him $270.

The 34-year-old heir to the British throne had been outbid on several other items.

The auction Wednesday night raised more than $86,000.

Fireman stand by

MEXICO CITY — Since no one can predict what might happen at a performance by Menudo, the frantically popular Puerto Rican rock group, even firefighters were standing by during a concert in this capital city's huge bullfight stadium.

A beefe-up contingent of police also stood guard while 40,000 rock enthusiasts went to the four-hour show.

But unlike last year, when three people were trampled to death when fans were leaving a Menudo concert in Puebla, about 80 miles east of here, police said the crowd at La Plaza de Mexico Wednesday was peaceful.

Abrams off the container

NEW YORK — New York Attorney General Robert Abrams is viewed by milk distributors as a man they don't want coming to breakfast.

The reason, explains Irving Wisch, head of a coalition of bottlers and distributors in New York, is that Abrams favors deregulating milk distribution laws.

"Mr. Abrams has jeopardized the future health of this state's largest industry and largest single employer," Wisch said Wednesday. "His actions go against the well-being of thousands of state residents and all milk consumers."

Mideast envoy named

WASHINGTON — President Reagan today named former Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld, a moderate Republican who heads a major pharmaceutical firm, to be his new special envoy to the Middle East.

Reagan said Rumsfeld would be his "point man" in the effort to remove foreign forces from Lebanon and to negotiate peace between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

"I cannot think of a better individual," the president said as he appeared with Rumsfeld before reporters at the White House.

"We intend to work and use the talents of our best minds to achieve a just and lasting peace in the Middle East," Reagan said.

At the same time, he appealed to the Lebanese groups meeting in Geneva, Switzerland, to put aside their differences and move toward a national consensus.

Reagan also reaffirmed his commitment to his September 1982 plan for settling the Arab-Israeli conflict. "No one has come up with a better proposal since," he said.

Israel, Jordan and the Palestine Liberation Organization all refused to participate in the negotiations proposed by Reagan.

But the president said a resolution of Lebanon's divisions could provide the momentum required to get the U.S. proposal going.

Rumsfeld succeeds Robert McFarlane, who is the president's new national security assistant. Richard Fairbanks will remain in his current post as a U.S. negotiator in the Middle East, the president said.

Cuba may slow efforts

WASHINGTON — Top U.S. officials believe Cuba now will begin scaling back on its efforts to pick up overseas allies, recognizing in the aftermath of its Grenada experience that the risks of pursuing such policies outweigh the potential rewards.

Beyond that, the officials say, there will be a far greater wariness among nations in the Caribbean and elsewhere about establishing close ties with Cuba based on what the invasion disclosed about the Soviet bloc military role there.

The officials, insisting on anonymity, offered these observations when asked whether gains from the intervention for the United States compensated for its costs. The invasion has produced charges from both friends and adversaries that the United States acted outside the bounds of international law.

Meanwhile, President Reagan said today that hostilities had ended in Grenada and that U.S. military commanders are being instructed to begin withdrawing their forces within a few days.

"Our objectives have been achieved, and as soon as logistics permit, American personnel will be leaving," the president said in a brief question-and-answer session with reporters.

He praised "the courage and the professionalism" of the U.S. troops sent to Grenada on Oct. 25, and said that the 18 Americans killed there "are heroes of freedom."

According to the president's spokesman, Larry Speakes, there are 5,980 soldiers on the island plus some air force personnel. He said that the Marines and Army Rangers who took part in the invasion have been withdrawn.

Discussing Cuba, one U.S. official said the only "rational" approach for Cuba now will be to retrench.

"If anything, the message should come through to them that there are certain thresholds beyond which the U.S. will use military force," the official said Wednesday. "In Grenada, they thought they had a situation in which they thought that force would not be used and it got away from them."

Jackson meets supporters

WASHINGTON — The Rev. Jesse Jackson, the black civil rights leader, announced today that he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination, saying if minorities join together they "can build a new majority."

"This candidacy is much more than just a man running for an office," Jackson told more than 1,000 supporters who crowded into a downtown convention center.

"This is a serious candidacy for the presidency. But a by-product of this candidacy is to inspire 10,000 people to run for office at every level," said Jackson.

Jackson, who has said that he does not expect to win the nomination, faces seven other Democrats who already are competing for a chance to unseat President Reagan, the probable Republican nominee.

Jackson, 42, has said his goal is to awaken blacks, Hispanics, other minorities, the poor and women, to their latent power. His campaign will be aimed at persuading them to register and vote and also to run for state, local and national office. He estimates that 2 million more blacks can be registered in time for the 1984 election.

"We want to cross the finish line first, but not with an empty wagon. We want our wagon to be full of other candidates as well," he said.

"If we come together around our common economic plight and a humane political agenda, we won't be poor and powerless anymore. Together, the old minorities constitute a new majority. Together we can build a new majority," he said.

Mental hospitals warned

WASHINGTON — Issuing a warning to mental hospitals around the nation, Justice Department officials today obtained indictments against nine present and former aides at a Pennsylvania state institution for the mentally retarded on charges of beating and abusing patients in their care.

The indictments were believed to be the first federal criminal civil rights prosecutions brought against employees of mental institutions for patient abuse, said Assistant Attorney General William Bradford Reynolds, head of the department's Civil Rights Division.

"This should give a clear message to employees of state mental hospitals and facilities for the mentally retarded across the country that abuse of patients will not be tolerated by the federal government," Reynolds said in a statement.

The indictments of three female and six male employees or former employees of the Pennhurst Center in Spring City, Pa., were returned by a federal grand jury in U.S. District Court in Philadelphia.

Reynolds said the charges resulted from a year-long investigation by the FBI and were based in part on the work of an undercover female Pennsylvania state police officer.

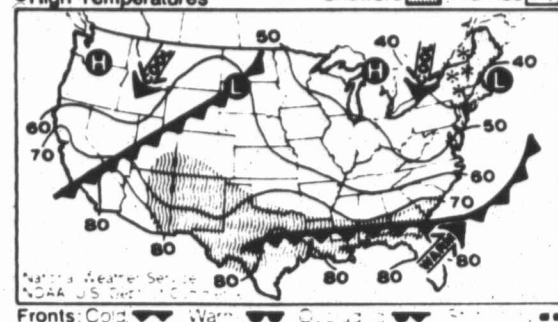

The nine defendants were charged with beating, kicking, slapping or punching patients in a series of incidents at Pennhurst during 1981 and 1982.

Reynolds said the investigation of the facility is continuing.

He noted that the department has been involved in a civil suit challenging patient conditions at the center since 1974. In 1978, a federal court ordered the institution closed, but the order was later amended to allow it to remain open to those patients for whom it represents the least restrictive treatment alternative.

Mrs. Dole wrecks new air bag laws

Once again a decision requiring air bags on new automobiles has been put off by the government.

It's an irresponsible act. Air bags are a proven safety device. They were sold as options on General Motors vehicles more than 10 years ago and demonstrated their reliability. If they were ordered installed in new vehicles, they could save as many as 10,000 lives and 100,000 disabling injuries a year.

The air bag has become a political football. In 1977 the Highway Safety Administration under President Carter ordered that new U.S.-made cars in the model year 1984 and thereafter be equipped with either the bags or automatic seat belts. The Reagan administration, in 1981, voided the order, only to be overruled in June by the Supreme Court, which called the revocation "arbitrary and capricious."

Now Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole is offering a list of alternatives ranging from no passive restraints to air bag tests on government vehicles. She has put off a final decision until next July.

The airbags are concealed devices that automatically inflate into an impact-cushioning pillow during a head-on crash, protecting front-seat occupants from flying into the dash and windshield. About 60 percent of the car crashes that result in death or serious injury are frontal crashes — the very type air bags protect against.

The government should not waver on the air bag, which is expected to add about $300 to the cost of a new car — and thus is opposed by Detroit. At least a portion of the added cost, however, could be regained in lower insurance payments.

Elizabeth Dole should mandate the air bag as standard auto equipment immediately. The sooner they are made available, the sooner the number of auto deaths will be reduced.

Why the U.S. invaded Grenada

At first glance, the American invasion of Grenada was the perfect exploitation of a perfect opportunity. The Reagan administration came up with several plausible reasons for its action — American medical students on Grenada were on danger, which they were, the new government was a band of "thugs" with ties to Castro, which it was, the island is in an area of legitimate American interest, which it is, and the U.S. had been invited to act by other Caribbean nations, which it had.

Nor could the invasion itself have gone much more smoothly. Only a handful of Marines were killed, the students were safely evacuated and the resistance was minimal — what little there was serving only to prove considerable Cuban involvement in the regime of Gen. Hudson Austin. A quick invasion, a quick triumph, the prospect of a quick exit — what better antidote to the post-Vietnam syndrome?

The action served other purposes as well. The victory in Grenada proves that American power, properly applied, can achieve its mission. More important is the warning sent to Cuba and the Soviet Union, who thus may be deterred from mischief in the Western Hemisphere, and possibly elsewhere too. The administration also will reap political dividends at home if it is right in assuming that Americans don't object to using military force, as long as it works.

All that said, it is still possible to harbor reservations. This may be an occasion for gloating, but it is hard to find reasons for pride. And the eventual damage to our better objectives in international relations may be greater than the gratification Americans feel now.

In the eyes of the rest of the world and by any standard of international law, the invasion makes us an aggressor. The Grenadan regime had done nothing to its neighbors, despite their (and our) fears that it might. We started the fight, with only trivial provocation.

The reason seems to lie in the old Monroe Doctrine — the idea that the U.S. has the right and responsibility to bar outside intervention in the Western Hemisphere. In this case, the alleged intervention was from the Soviet Union by way of Cuba. One problem is that President Reagan applies the doctrine only when it suits him. The administration had no objection to British intervention in our hemisphere to regain the Falkland Islands from Argentina — in fact it noisily endorsed it. Nor has it tried to stop Israel from providing military advisers to several Latin American dictatorships.

Another problem is that the Monroe Doctrine gives a hypocritical ring to our protests against the Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan and interference in Poland. Either we endorse the principle of non-intervention in such circumstances, or else we reject it for the U.S. If we claim a right to order the affairs of neighboring countries to suit our ideological preferences and military convenience, we can't very reasonably criticize the Soviets for doing likewise.

The argument that the administration acted out of idealism, to help in the "restoration of order and democracy" merely makes the hypocrisy more pronounced. It is hard to restore what did not exist. Grenadan democracy didn't die under the new regime, nor under that of Maurice Bishop. It occurred after Grenada won its independence from Britain in 1974, at the hands of a corrupt and repressive prime minister, Sir Eric Gairy.

The urgency of restoring order and democracy became pronounced only when Grenada got a government that was not only undemocratic but also uncommonly hostile to the United States. If the next one is friendly, you can safely assume that Reagan will find it in his heart to forgive any undemocratic flaws.

It may be argued that the sort of idealism on which this sort of criticism rests has no place on the brutal world of superpower competition. That argument may very well be correct. If we accept it, though, we should stop deceiving ourselves that the use of American power is animated by a regard for such ideals as democracy, individual rights and self-determination. We should admit, to ourselves if not the rest of the world, that we use our power purely for our own interests.

The rest of the world sees that the U.S. invaded Grenada because it wanted to and had the military might to get its way. That may or may not be the kind of foreign policy Americans want, but it is plainly the kind they have.

Nice people need God's truth, too

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I don't think I could ever ask for a husband who is more considerate and thoughtful than mine. My only problem, however, is that he has no use for religion. He won't go to church with me and the children, and he refuses to even talk with me about his beliefs. What can I do? — Mrs. T. R. W.

DEAR MRS. T. R. W.: First of all let's consider what you "can't" do. You can't force your husband to believe like you do. You can't argue him into being religious, and you probably can't persuade him that he ought to act interested in church activities even if he really has no interest. I mention this because sometimes wives (or husbands) argue endlessly about this — and get nowhere.

But what can you do? There are three things in particular you can do. First, you can pray for your husband. No, you can't persuade him of his need of God — but God can! One reason the Holy Spirit has been sent into our world is to "convict the world of guilt in regard to sin and righteousness and judgment" (John 16:8). Pray that God will touch his heart and show him his need of Christ. From what you say I suspect your husband thinks he is perfectly self-sufficient and does not need God. But he does, and you should pray that God will convict him of his need and help him overcome his pride.

Then you also can — and must — live as a witness for your faith. Does your life reflect Christ? Is the fruit of the Spirit evident in your life to him? "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control" (Galatians 5:22-23). The Bible declares, "Wives, in the same way be submissive to your husbands so that, if any of them do not believe the word, they may be won over without talk by the behaviour of their wives, when they see the purity and reverence of your lives" (1 Peter 3:1-2).

Finally, be a witness to your children and do all you can to encourage them to live for Christ. Ideally the husband should be the spiritual leader in the home, but if he refuses, then you have a responsibility to point them to Christ. It may not be easy for you to explain why their father does not now participate in church with the rest of you, but God can overcome that and use you to teach them about Christ.

When Harlan Smith spoke of the benefits of swimming with the Big Spring High team, he failed to mention any connection with the local fire department.

And so it was no wonder, as I splashed merrily along through my laps Wednesday morning, that I never suspected that the YMCA was burning down just beyond the shallow end of the pool.

But not to fear. Charlotte Becker and myself, two highly-trained fire fighters, calmly fought off a blaze in the facility's sauna room until our heroes in shiny black boots and yellow coats arrived to take care of business.

All this is part of my quest to conquer the unusual in life. You see, years from now, if I should do nothing more than occupy a desk and tap my pencil on its top, conversations with others would be absolutely boring. But should I have a few stories to tell, our talks should be quite animated.

And who says life in Big Spring is void of thrills. Since I've been here, I've chased the police and a robber at over 100 mph down Interstate 20, I've driven blindly into a West Texas duststorm and lost my car, I've talked a handgun-brandishing fellow out of suicide from 2-4 a.m. once and now I've fought a fire in my bathing suit.

When I call my mother occasionally and begin the call with "Guess what?," I can feel her cringe on the other end of the line. Either someone has run into my car — it happened for the third time last Friday — or I've been on one of my adventures.

Hey, I have to spice up the life of a sports writer any way I can.

Back to Wednesday. The swim team competed in Midland the night before and Smith, the coach, always gives the crew the morning off following a meet. Even without my companions, I went to the Y to swim. The whole pool to myself... wow! No one to embarrass me.

I swam briskly along but at lap No. 30, I smelled smoke. Hmmm, someone's barbecuing early today. I swam on.

At lap No. 35, the smoke was beginning to irritate me. I opened the two windows that would open but it didn't help. A mist was settling over the water. Oh well. I swam on.

At lap No. 40, I had had enough. I jumped out and ran into Charlotte who was carrying a hose. "What's on fire?" I asked. "The sauna," she deadpanned. How calmly we reacted in the face of a crisis.

We made our way to the sauna, going through the men's locker room. The looks from the guys soaping down as Charlotte wisked through carrying her hose were worth a million. I just grinned and told them we were going to a fire.

Smoke puffed out of the sauna. We couldn't turn on the faucet to spray water and so Charlotte fetched an extinguisher and somehow I got the thing to work. I took a time-out to call the fire department on a phone located right in the fire zone. The phone was getting bad. Then I saw flames.

I sprayed the chalky fire retardant on the flames and had to back off from the smoke. I jogged back into the men's locker room to catch my breath and made a return trip. I aimed and fired again and jogged back. What a great morning workout.

Rip Patterson advised not to inhale and later, not to go back in. "But Rip," I cried valiantly, "I can't let the Y burn down." And I was off into the blinding smoke.

What a hero, huh. After going through my second extinguisher, the firemen arrived. Gee, I wanted to get this thing out myself. Here we were, pool water everywhere, and none to splash on the fire. So I let them take care of the fire with their armada of hoses.

That's all there is to the story. I will say I learned a few things. One is how to operate a fire extinguisher. Two is just how awful inhaling smoke is. And three, a greater appreciation of the fire department.

You know, these guys are pretty invisible until there's a fire. Then you're really glad they are around. I may have been stupid for doing what I did but these guys do it for a living. They know exactly what to do and how to do it. They must; there isn't much time for error when a fire is burning.

Of course, for all the good we did, some people remained unappreciative. "Hey, Greg, why didn't you let the pool burn down so we could get a new one," they ribbed me. You know, if the fire had broken out on a rainy day, it never would have had a chance with the Y's leaky roofs.

One thing I couldn't figure out. After the fire was out and we were finished, where was the lady with the cold Budweiser. That's the way it goes on TV. "This one's for you..."

DeLorean publicity backfires

WASHINGTON — Like the ABCAM cases, the government's prosecution of auto-maker John DeLorean hinges on testimony by an informant of questionable reliability — who was paid by the government for his efforts.

DeLorean's trial on federal narcotics charges has already been postponed indefinitely and may never take place. When a government videotape of DeLorean's arrest was shown on nationwide television, the auto-maker's attorneys argued for dismissal on grounds that the pretrial publicity made it impossible for him to get a fair trial.

If the case eventually does proceed, DeLorean's lawyers will attempt to destroy the credibility of the chief government informant, James T. Hoffman. They claim that on at least two important points Hoffman lied to the grand jury that indicted their client.

The government's own documents indicate that Hoffman was indeed less than candid with the grand jury.

The first point was the number of phone conversations between Hoffman and DeLorean that were not recorded by the informant. This is crucial to DeLorean's claim of entrapment by the government. The unrecorded phone conversations could prove conclusively who first brought up the idea of a cocaine deal and under what circumstances.

Hoffman swore to the grand jury that he had recorded all the calls he made to DeLorean after July 11, 1982, the date the government contends the cocaine deal was initiated by DeLorean.

But government toll-call records obtained by my associates Tony Capaccio and Indy Badhwar show this is not true.

The records show 16 unrecorded calls by Hoffman to DeLorean, from Hoffman's initial call in late June 1982, until DeLorean's arrest four months later. Five of these calls, totaling about 20 minutes, were indeed made on or before July 11.

But the 11 other unrecorded calls, totaling about 36 minutes, were made after July 11, according to the records. One unrecorded call lasted nine minutes and occurred five days before Hoffman and DeLorean met in Washington, D.C., allegedly to discuss the cocaine deal.

Another unrecorded nine-minute call was made on the day that DeLorean sent undercover agents some phony stock certificates as part of the drug transaction. According to DeLorean, this was five days after Hoffman had threatened his daughter's life in order to keep DeLorean from pulling out of the dope deal. At that point, DeLorean told us, "I just made up my mind that I'd play the game."

The other significant point on which the grand jury was misled, DeLorean's lawyers will contend, involved questions about the government's payments to Hoffman during his 10 months as an informant.

A jury member asked whether he was compensated.

"My expenses are," replied Hoffman.

"But not other compensation?" the juror asked.

"My expenses of travel, incidents, airline tickets, hotel, things of that type," Hoffman said.

But the government vouchers and disbursement records show that before DeLorean's indictment, Hoffman had received $10,500 in "relocation and security payments." He also received $44,000 in "informant payments" from the FBI and the Drug Enforcement Administration.

And since his grand jury appearance, Hoffman has received $12,000 more in relocation and security payments and $35,000 in informant payments.

That adds up to $101,500 in payments to DeLorean's chief accuser — a total remuneration the grand jury might have liked to know about when it considered Hoffman's credibility as a witness.

CUBANS IN GRENADA: The spirited resistance to American invasion forces on Grenada by armed Cuban construction workers surprised a lot of people. But it shouldn't have.

Some weeks before the overthrow and murder of Grenada's Marxist prime minister, Maurice Bishop, my roving reporter Jon Lee Anderson visited the island. He found much evidence of the growing "Cubanization" of English-speaking Grenada. For example:

• Restaurants in the capital, St. George's, were frequented by parties of Cuban "advisers," who obviously felt right at home. They openly discussed the problems of their buddies serving with the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua.

• Cubans were clearly running things at the 10,000-foot Point Salines airstrip under construction. Several were younger carbon copies of Fidel Castro, sporting the same wispy, shovel-shaped beard and green combat cap favored by their leader.

The Cuban strangers were the hottest item in Grenada's thriving rumor mills. One naive young Grenadian, in a tone of moral outrage, explained that he didn't trust the Cubans because "it is said they are perverted" in their sexual preferences.

Though most Grenadians questioned did not seem to worry about the Cubans — they like "getting others to do their work for them," a diplomat explained — some suspected that the "volunteer workers" from Cuba were in Grenada for more than the completion of the airstrip. Their suspicions were right on the money, as the Cubans' armed resistance showed.

• A hand-lettered sign outside the Cuban workers' dormitory near the airport said in English: "The Cuban youth will undertake any mission commended it by the glorious Communist Party."

As things turned out, one such mission was to fight off Yankee invaders.

Most people think aching feet normal

CHICAGO (AP) — Most Americans believe their feet are beautiful even when they ache, and some folks think even the aching is normal, according to a poll released today which purports to be the first major survey of feelings towards feet.

The Gallup Poll was conducted for Dr. Scholl's Inc. and the American Podiatry Association by The American Institute of Public Opinion at Princeton, N.J.

The results reveal some "alarming misconceptions," the two sponsoring groups say.

For example, the study found that 73 percent of people over the age of 18 reported that their feet hurt, and 62 percent consider the condition normal. The younger the respondent, the more likely he or she was to believe that aching feet are a natural condition.

According to the poll, 75 percent of Americans spend more than four hours a day on their feet, and half of those who complained of foot problems attributed the pain to "being on their feet a lot."

One misconception pointed up by the survey is the belief that having sore feet is normal, said Dr. Charles Gudas, a podiatrist at the University of Chicago and a member of the National Foot Health Board.

"Tired, aching feet at the end of the day is not a normal condition. It means you have a functional imbalance or static deformities like fallen arches, ingrown toenails," Gudas said.

For 33 percent of those surveyed, the pain of standing for hours was worsened by uncomfortable — but fashionable — shoes. Nevertheless, 22 percent of women surveyed said they wouldn't give up their high heels even if they believed the shoes were damaging their feet.

Twenty percent of men and 45 percent of women said they would put up with uncomfortable shoes for the sake of looking good. Women between the ages of 18 and 24 were most likely to follow the dictates of fashion to the detriment of their toes.

Another common misconception is the belief that shoes are harmful. They actually are not, Gudas said, noting that most chronic problems are hereditary.

Dr. Donohue

Cluster headache and migraine similar

Dear Dr. Donohue: I need more on cluster headache. The ones I get are very severe. When I cannot control them I must get help, such as going to the emergency room and having them give me something so I can sleep.

I wonder sometimes if people who have never had these headaches could have just one whether they would be more tolerant and get help to the patient as quickly as possible. Instead, I'm left in the waiting room to listen to the TV or to someone else talk about his problems. I am 61 years old and in good health otherwise. Thank you for letting me sound off. Am I alone in this world? — Mrs. B.J.

You're definitely not alone. Many out there are now pacing about in near intolerable pain from a cluster headache, which is related to migraine only because of a common trigger cause — the sudden narrowing, then expansion, of a brain blood vessel followed by the throbbing pain. But, unlike migraine, the cluster headache is briefer, lasting 30 minutes to three hours. They also are distinguished by a cyclical appearance, occurring daily for weeks or months, then disappearing for several months or even years.

Although briefer than migraine attacks, the clusters can consist of several headaches a day. They also tend to appear two or three hours after going to bed or in the morning. And unlike the migraine sufferer who seeks quiet and darkness for relief, the cluster headache victim most often wants to get up and move around. Eye tearing and nasal congestion frequently accompany the cluster headache.

Have you been watching your diet? Aged cheeses, liver products (pate), sour cream, chocolate, and red wine sometimes detonate such headaches. And during cluster episodes you should stay clear of alcohol in all forms.

I am sure you have been the treatment route, but let me mention a few medicines, one of which may have been missed. They are ergotamine, methysergide, propranolol, lithium, even steroids. Ergotamine can be used to treat a headache in progress as can inhaled oxygen. I hope you are able to get relief through one of these tips.

Candy striper's kindness is someone's reward

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old girl working as a "candy striper" (volunteer) at a home for the aging in Cleveland. During my lunchtime an elderly lady came up to me and asked if I would walk her to the medical building next door to buy a pair of sunglasses.

I walked her over there and she tried to give me a dollar. I told her I couldn't accept it, and besides, it was such a beautiful day I really enjoyed the walk. She got very mad and threatened not to go back with me if I didn't take the dollar. She said, "Just take it, and don't tell anyone!" Then she stuck it in my pocket.

Abby, I don't know what to do with this money. I'd feel so guilty if I spent it. I feel like throwing it out, but there are people who could use it. I know it isn't much, but I'm sending it to you. Will you please send it to a worthy cause?

reads this sent a dollar to his or her own United Way, millions of disabled, sick, poor and elderly people would be better served.

DEAR ABBY: "Billy" and I dated for five years before we got married two months ago. We live in my house. I have a good job and it pays well.

The problem? Billy does not have a job, and he doesn't seem to care if he gets one or not. He never goes job hunting — he just does odd jobs whenever he feels like it, which is not very often.

I have tried to impress on him the importance of getting a steady job because I don't want to go on supporting us forever.

My parents will help us out if we need money, but it's not their place to support Billy and me. It's our place to support ourselves. Your advice would be greatly appreciated.

LOSING PATIENCE IN S.C.

DEAR M.K.: You are to be commended for (a) not wanting to keep the money and (b) asking that it go to a worthy cause.

I am sending your dollar to the United Way in Cleveland. It supports 175 separate agencies — among which are the American Cancer Society, the Heart Association, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, help for the hearing-impaired and the visually handicapped, crippled children, etc.

You say a dollar isn't much, but every dollar counts. If everyone who

DEAR LOSING: Give Billy an ultimatum. Let him know that if he does not seriously seek employment until he comes up with something, the honeymoon is over! And give him a time limit — unless you want to carry this freeloader indefinitely.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for your fine column on fire prevention during Fire Prevention Week.

You wrote: "The phone number of your fire department should be taped to every telephone." An excellent idea; but you should have added, "along with your address."

Dianne Jones elected to position by chapter

Dianne Jones was elected as liaison person between the Veterans Administration Volunteer Service and the American Red Cross Board during the Red Cross Board meeting at VA Hospital, Oct. 18.

Louise Nuckolls will be alternate liaison. Lists of Red Cross equipment and their serial numbers must be turned in to Clayton Hicks.

Back salary totalling $2,800 due to the late Sharon Nuckolls, executive secretary, will be paid to the Sharon Nuckolls estate.

A mail out campaign was discussed. It was advised that the campaign be started before Jan. 1, 1984 in order to take advantage of income tax exemptions of donors.

The Combined Federal Campaign includes the Red Cross Chapter, Hicks said. Dale Young reported on his activities as Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation training classes.

Mrs. Jones reported on her contacts with Red Cross chapters in the VAVS Catchment area, asking for help for birthdays and Christmas activities for the hospitalized here. Hicks reported on certificates awarded to Red Cross workers in 1947, which were found in old records. The certificates will be presented to the owners or relatives in a ceremony on Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Nov. 15 at Veterans Administration Medical Center.

'A Team' beats out competition for top spot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Those NBC soldiers of fortune, "The A-Team," established a beachhead on first place for the week ended Oct. 30, but CBS took a commanding lead in the Nielsen network ratings.

A special two-hour presentation of "The A-Team" was the highest rated program. It was closely followed by ABC's "Hotel" and CBS' "60 Minutes," which tied for second.

CBS, which placed six shows in the Top 10, handily took the week. ABC had three shows in the Top 10 and NBC had only "The A-Team."

CBS won the A.C. Nielsen Co. survey with an average of 17.9. ABC was second with 16.6 and NBC was third with 15.0. The networks say this means that in an average prime-time minute 17.9 percent of the nation's television households were tuned to CBS.

For the season so far, CBS had an average of 17.9, a slight lead over ABC, which had 17.6. NBC trailed with a 15.3 average. CBS has won four of the five weeks of the fall season, losing to ABC only during the week of the World Series.

Other shows in the Top 10: CBS' "Dallas" and "Simon & Simon," tied for fourth, CBS' "Magnum, P.I." sixth, ABC's "Dynasty" seventh, CBS' "AfterMASH" eighth, the ABC Theatre presentation "A Killer in the Family" ninth, and CBS' "Falcon Crest" tenth.

So far this season "AfterMASH" is the top-rated show, despite falling out of the Top 10 the week before.

The tightest race of the season, however, is the battle of the soap opera titans, pitting CBS' "Dallas" against ABC's "Dynasty." The two shows are tied for second for the season behind "AfterMASH."

Another contest between similar series is between NBC's "Knight Rider" and ABC's "Hardcastle & McCormick," which are scheduled head-to-head on Sunday. This past week "Knight Rider" was 26th, ahead of "McCormick & Hardcastle," tied for 27th, by a whisker. "Knight Rider" also beat CBS' "Alice" for the first half hour, but lost the second half hour to CBS' "One Day at a Time."

NBC's "Bay City Blues," a new series about the lives and loves of a minor league baseball team, made its debut in 53rd place. Emmy-rich "St. Elsewhere" returned for a second season in 49th place.

The lowest-rated show of the week was NBC's "For Love and Honor," which the network is temporarily taking off the air. The five lowest shows, all on NBC, were: "Jennifer Slept Here," "First Camera," "The Roustlers," "Mr. Smith" and "For Love and Honor."

CBS maintained its firm hold on first place among the evening news shows. CBS had a rating of 13.4, NBC 12.0 and ABC 11.0.

Here are the week's top 20 programs:

1. "The A-Team," NBC, a rating of 24.8 or 20.7 million households.
2. "Hotel," ABC, 24.1 or 20.2 million.
2. Tie—"60 Minutes," CBS, 24.1 or 20.2 million.
4. "Dallas," CBS, 24.0 or 20.1 million.
4. Tie—"Simon & Simon," CBS, 24.0 or 20.1 million.
6. "Magnum, P.I.," CBS, 23.6 or 19.7 million.
7. "Dynasty," ABC, 22.9 or 19.1 million.
8. "AfterMASH," CBS, 21.7 or 18.2 million.
9. Movie—"A Killer in the Family," ABC, 21.6 or 18.1 million.
10. "Falcon Crest," CBS, 21.3 or 17.8 million.
11. "Newhart," CBS, 20.1 or 16.8 million.
12. Movie—"First Affair," CBS, 19.8 or 16.6 million.
13. Movie—"The Haunting Passion," NBC, 19.7 or 16.5 million.
14. CBS NFL Football Post Special, CBS, 19.1 or 16.0 million.
15. "Scarecrow & Mrs. King," CBS, 18.9 or 15.8 million.
16. "Facts of Life," NBC, 18.7 or 15.7 million.
17. "The Fall Guy," ABC, 18.6 or 15.6 million.
17. Tie—"One Day at a Time," CBS, 18.6 or 15.6 million.
19. "Knots Landing," CBS, 18.5 or 15.5 million.
19. Tie—"Garfield" special, CBS, 18.5 or 15.5 million.

Ailing baby case heading to court

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge will hear arguments Friday on whether the Reagan administration has the right to review hospital records of "Baby Jane Doe," a severely handicapped infant whose treatment sparked a bitter legal battle.

The Justice Department filed suit Wednesday to force the state University Hospital in Stony Brook to release the records despite objections from doctors and the child's parents, who chose to forgo corrective surgery.

Assistant Attorney General William Bradford Reynolds, head of the department's civil rights division, said the legal action may give the 23-day-old child her "only realistic chance for survival." But a lawyer for the parents said the suit was motivated by "selfish political interests."

The suit marks the first time the federal government has gone to court to protect the civil rights of an infant with a birth defect. The suit alleged that the hospital, by supporting the parents' decision, may have violated Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

The section prohibits recipients of federal financial aid from denying benefits to handicapped people and from subjecting handicapped people to discrimination in federally funded programs.

Reynolds said the Department of Health and Human Services needs the child's records "in order to verify her current condition and prognosis."

"Only with this information can HHS determine whether or not reasonable medical judgment uncolored by discriminatory assessment of the value of the life of a severely handicapped child can justify what appears to be a continuing failure to provide this child with surgical treatment," Reynolds added.

"Intervention by federal authorities ... may represent the child's only realistic chance for survival."

Paul Gianelli, attorney for the unidentified baby's parents, said the couple will not consent to federal review of the records.

"This action best can be described as torture to the parents," Gianelli said. "Some bureaucrat in Washington who has no knowledge of the case is indicating that the doctors on Long Island are performing euthanasia when that's not the case."

Gianelli said he believes federal officials already have decided to seek a federal court order requiring surgery on the child, and simply are seeking something to support their position.

"I think they are pandering to selfish political interests," he said.

The infant was born Oct. 11 at St. Charles Hospital in Port Jefferson with spina bifida, a failure of the spinal cord to close properly. She also has an abnormally small head and excess fluid on the brain.

Doctors have said that without surgery she is likely to die within two years, and with surgery she could survive into her 20s but would be severely retarded and bedridden.

Thursday Notes

From all of us here at Thursday Notes Central, we wish Robert Porras a speedy recovery.

The Big Spring High wide receiver and defensive back was injured sometime during Friday night's game with Permian. He was hospitalized later and his injury was diagnosed as "acute trauma to the liver." The latest report from BSHS head trainer Everett Blackburn is that the Steers senior is doing much better and was even up and walking around Wednesday.

With the improvement, he will be allowed visitors by Friday. He's in room 425 but the doctors would like the visits to be as short as possible.

Porras stands No. 3 in the latest district stats in receiving. No telling how the voting will go later this year but he should be prime all-league material.

Continuing on football, four Big Spring area schools have a shot at the playoffs entering the final week of regular season play.

Greenwood, 7-2 overall and 6-0 in District 7-A South Zone play, is already guaranteed a playoff berth. The Rangers will meet the North Zone runner-up in their first game. Battling for that position Friday night are Sands and Klondike.

The Mustangs and Cougars normally battle it out in this spirited rivalry, but with a post-season opportunity on the line this year, the game should really be a fight.

Stanton bowed to Wall last week for its first District 8-AA loss but could still wind up in the playoffs should the defending league champs knock off McCamey. McCamey is also 3-1 in district play.

Colorado City is in a similar situation. The Wolves are 3-1 in district, losing only to No. 7 state-ranked Ballinger by a touchdown. C-City takes on Crane which comes in at 8-0-1 and 3-0-1 in district. The Golden Cranes fought to a 14-14 deadlock with the Bearcats last week. The winner of the Colorado City-Crane game goes to the playoffs; the loser stays home.

In the 4-5A, the race is this simple: If Permian wins, Mojo wins district and goes into the playoffs.

If Permian loses, Odessa enters the playoffs and Mojo stays home.

If Midland Lee defeats Midland High, the Rebels go into the playoffs regardless of the outcome of the Odessa-Permian game.

If Lee loses and Permian wins, the Rebels go.

If Lee loses and Odessa wins, both Odessa teams go.

That's the fun of the two-team playoff system. In the past two years, most district races have gone down to the final week before both playoff participants are determined.

Two events coming up this weekend...

● The Big Spring Jaycees are hosting a two-day, double-elimination flag football tournament at Blankenship Field.

Teams are still being accepted for the event but call Bo Strickland (263-7866) or Dave Trusty (267-4121) quickly. Fee is $80 per team and rosters limited to 20 players.

Coors and radio station KWKI are co-sponsoring the tournament along with the Jaycees.

● Also this weekend is the first church co-ed volleyball tournament at the First Baptist Church Family Life Center. The field is filled the Friday-Saturday event will determine the best volleyball team in Big Spring.

Remember, "the team that spikes together, stays together." Isn't that how it goes...

Permian remains the dominant team in the latest 4-5A stats.

Mojo, rated No. 6 this week in the state, has the top offense (378 yards a game) and top defense (189 yards a game). Quarterback Rex Lamberti has thrown for 1,243 and 17 touchdowns and could overtake leader James Welborn of Midland who has missed two games with an injury.

Charles Hunter of Odessa is the leading rusher with 1,530 yards and 18 TD's while Issac Garnett of Midland Lee has 1,260 yards and 16 scores. Cooper's Allen Gunter is a third 1,000 yard rusher.

Alan Foret of Midland is the top receiver with 38 catches and six TD's. BS's Robert Porras is No. 3 behind Todd Shiplet of Midland while Charlie Ragan (17 catches) and Dale Crenshaw (15 catches) are among the top 10.

Steer Jay Pirkle is No. 2 in punting with a 38.3 average behind Boyd Cowan of Odessa (43.3). — GREG JAKLEWICZ

McLennan muscles by Hawk Queens, 70-55

WACO — Trailing by 20 points at halftime, the Howard College Queens rallied to within 8 in the second half before falling 70-55 to McLennan in the McLennan Classic here Wednesday night.

The contest was the season-opener for the Queens who won this tournament last year. Howard tests Navarro at 6 p.m. this evening. South Plains topped Navarro 56-54 in its first tourney game while Temple fell 75-71 to Panola in a third game.

"I told them at halftime," coach Don Stevens said, "that we were going to play a pressure man defense full court and I didn't care if they scored 100 points, we were going to stay in it."

The Queens alternated players but went basically with the squad's shortest and quickest lineup in Janene Berry (5-4), Shelly Kay (5-4), Molley Early (5-6), Pat Carter (5-8) and Alex Provincio (5-11). The plan worked as Howard cut the score to 56-48 at one point.

McLennan, regarded by Stevens as the best junior college team in the state, pulled away on another scoring spurt and turned the eight-point game into a 15-point victory.

"They turned the ball over on the press more than I thought they would," said an obviously pleased Stevens. "The other coaches came out the stands and said they were very impressed with our potential. They had expected a rout with McLennan's talent. They thought we could develop into a good ballclub."

The Queens suffered through a poor first half. Ahead 6-5, McLennan put on a 10-0 spurt to take a 15-5 lead and rolled to a 41-21 halftime advantage. "We just couldn't score any point or play any defense against them," Stevens reported.

He was impressed with the play of 5-9 forward Debbie Hall who "finally asserted herself for the first time this fall. She did a good job hitting the boards and played an excellent game."

Hall finished the game with 15 points and five rebounds for the Queens while Carter had nine points and Provincio 11 rebounds. Carolyn Sneed led all scorers with 16 points while Kathy Byrd had 12 and Rita Martin 10 for the High Lassies.

Steers Stars

...honored twice

RICHARD HILARIO
...top defensive back

JAY PIRKLE
...draws praise

...gains first honor

Five Big Spring High football players have been honored by head coach Quinn Eudy and his staff this week.

The "Top Steer" award as the top defensive player in Friday night's 51-13 loss to Odessa Permian shared this week by senior Danny Arista and junior Jerry Anderson (not pictured). Arista, a noseguard, made his first start since being injured in the Odessa game and teamed with Anderson, a linebacker, is slowing Permian's running game.

Senior Richard Hilario won the "Hawk" award as the top performer in the secondary for the third straight week. Mojo quarterback Rex Lamberti entered the game with only two interceptions in eight games but Hilario picked off two of his throws in the first half for the Steers.

Junior Jay Pirkle and senior Robert Doporto grabbed the "Bullet" award for special teams play this week. Pirkle punted four times for a 40-yard average while Doporto provided solid downfield tackling.

No "Golden Spike" award as the game's top backfield performer made this week.

The "Conan" award, made to the game's outstanding lineman, went to Arista. The senior offensive lineman gave Big Spring quarterbacks time to throw against the Panthers for over 100 yards in the second half.

Senior Jimmy Brown was honored as Student Trainer-Manager of the Week by head trainer Everett Blackburn. The team's equipment manager has seen that things have been done "right" all season said Blackburn. He volunteered to travel with the junior varsity team to Odessa last week.

Big Spring meets San Angelo Friday night in its final game of the season in San Angelo.

ONLY THE POLICE MIGHT STOP 'THE KING OF THEFT'
...Steer safety Richard Hilario gets the word from Big Spring officer Steve Fleckenshtein

Hilario assumes the label as newest 'King of Theft'

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Quarterbacks around District 4-5A are learning one thing: don't throw in the direction of Richard Hilario.

While Everson Walls may be known as the top interception artist in the NFL, Hilario is gaining similar notoriety in the 4-5A. He's picked off four passes in the last three games and has won the team's defensive back award for the past three weeks.

"I'm really pretty excited about those," the soft-spoken senior grins. "I was on the junior varsity last year but worked real hard in spring training. Coach (Mike) Sharp really taught us a lot of things. I'm happy with what has happened."

When junior Jay Pirkle was moved to defensive end, Hilario was selected as his replacement as free safety. After learning the ropes since the Abilene High game, he's come on strong in his last three outings.

"I'm back-peddling more now and reading the receivers better," he explains his recent successes. "I've just been breaking for the ball. During practice last week, I was doing real good. The receivers were running Permian routes, and I was reacting to them."

His two interceptions of Panther quarterback Rex Lamberti not only stopped Permian drives but matched the season total of thefts against the PHS senior. For those efforts he gained the "Hawk" award for a third time. "I'm going to do my best to get me this one," he added, referring to this week's season finale against San Angelo.

He called the Permian game his best of the season and he wasn't totally awed by the mystery of Mojo. "They were ranked No. 7 in the state. They were good but they're not much different than we are. Like us, they have two feet and two hands. They're just known to be real good."

The Bobcats are known as a running team and don't throw the football often. That'll make Hilario's job tougher.

"Their running backs have a lot of speed and so I hope the defensive front line stops them. I'll be reading the option; if they cross the line of scrimmage, I'll go (for run support). In practices, I've been working on taking the proper angle."

Hilario says the Steers are ready for a win against the Bobcats, a team once rated among the state's top 10. "I'm mentally prepared. We've all worked real hard this week. We're ready to go out and give it our best shots."

The senior defensive back says Big Spring has had its "ups and downs" this season. "We've played hard all four quarters and that's what really counts," he said. "I hope, with this last game, we're setting some goals for next year. And we want to win this football game for Robert (Porras) since he's in the hospital."

Porras was injured in last Friday's game against Permian and was hospitalized Saturday.

Porras played both wide receiver and strong safety for the Steers but Hilario is confident that subs Tommy Rodriguez and Philip Koger will adequately fill his position on defense.

"I'm pretty sure this is going to be a close game," he predicted. "They have a good offense but going against our defense, it's going to be hard for them to score. We're prepared and we're ready."

In addition to playing football, Hilario also runs track for the Steers in the spring. Between the two seasons, he'll be looking for a job. Friday night, however, he'll be looking for a victory in San Angelo.

Ten Abilene football players dismissed

ABILENE — Ten members of the Abilene High varsity football team were dismissed from the squad Wednesday by coach Don Cumpton in a drug-related incident.

The names of the players — six defensive starters and one part-time starter — have not been released but Cumpton says the 10 players will miss the team's season-closing game against cross-town rival Cooper.

According to one of the dismissed players, the ten admitted to Cumpton to have "been taking pills." Abilene High officials have declined to say when the incident took place but rumors were the incident occurred either before or after last Friday night's game against Midland High in Midland.

Gilder beats Kapalua wind 4-A AAAA Picks

KAPALUA, Hawaii (AP)—A strong, blustering wind, not the soft, gentle breeze usually associated with waving palm trees in paradise, was the element to master going into today's second round of the $300,000 Kapalua International Championship of Golf.

A top prize of $100,000 awaits the golfer who most accurately compensates for the 25- to 30-mph winds that are forecast to plague the four days of the tournament.

Wednesday's first day leader, Bob Gilder, from Carmel Valley Ranch, Calif., said he was glad he had a 6:39 a.m. starting time before the heavy winds came up.

"I was lucky today, those winds were strong," he said. "I started on the back side and it wasn't too bad, but when I came around to the front nine holes the wind was something else."

He said he was unsure if the winds helped or hindered in his 5-under-par 66. "Tomorrow I start last, so we'll see how I do if the winds are as strong," he said.

One stroke back at 67 was Australian Greg Norman.

In a four-way tie with Irwin were John Cook of Rancho Mirage, Calif.; Calvin Peete, Cape Coral, Fla.; and Lanny Wadkins, of Dallas, Tex.

Mavericks' centers pace victory; Cavs contain Sampson for win

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Mavericks will be tough if and when they land a dominating center. At least, that's the way to Dallas coaches and front office have touted their team for the past two years.

But Wednesday night, the Mavericks got not one but two impressive performances at center as starter Pat Cummings and backup Kurt Nimphus combined for 38 points and 18 rebounds to lead Dallas, 3-1, to a 123-117 victory over the visiting Portland Trail Blazers.

NBA Roundup

Nimphus scored 16 points and grabbed nine rebounds Wednesday night in one of his best performances as a Maverick.

Dallas' Mark Aguirre led all scorers with 28 points while Portland got 23 from Jim Paxson and 21 from Mychal Thompson.

Cummings, scored 22 points, double his season's average, and had nine rebounds. He said the Dallas 1-2 punch at center demoralized Portland.

"It's discouraging to the other team when our starting center goes out and then Kurt comes in and plays the way he does. A lot of people think Kurt can't score, but he has good form."

Led by Cummings and Nimphus,

Dallas outbounded Portland 51-41 and held off a late rally that saw the Blazers pull to within 108-102 with four minutes left. But Dallas scored six straight points to stop the comeback.

Cavs 103, Rockets 94
RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Houston Rockets Coach Bill Fitch was willing to let the levelheaded Cavaliers collapse their defense on top of his heralded rookie center, Ralph Sampson. All the better for the rest of his team, Fitch figured.

He didn't figure on his team shooting 41 percent from the field.

Cleveland, behind World B. Free's 33 points, took advantage of the Rockets' poor shooting Wednesday night for a 103-94 National Basketball Association victory — the Cavaliers' first of the season after three losses.

"That defense will stop Sampson, but it won't usually stop the rest of the team," Fitch said. "They just laid off him and said to Phil Ford, 'We're not going to guard you,' and Phil went two for 12."

The Cavaliers, paced defensively by their own rookie center, Roy Hinson, held Sampson scoreless in the second and fourth quarters. Sampson collected 16 points and led both teams with 16 rebounds.

Lonnie Shelton had 17 points, Robinson 15 and Hubbard 14 for the Cavaliers. Reid finished with 14 for Houston, while Allen Leavell and Bailey each had 12.

Oilers eyeing quarterback

HOUSTON (AP)—A Canadian Football League quarterback who has sparked the interest of several National Football League teams has an advantage few stars in his league can claim — he was never drafted in the United States.

Warren Moon, who has played with the CFL-champion Edmonton Eskimos since 1978, has passed for more than 5,000 yards in the last two years.

No other pro quarterback can make that claim.

The Seattle Seahawks are given the inside track in landing Moon, since Moon owns a home there and went to school at Washington. He led the University of Washington to a Rose Bowl victory over Michigan in 1978.

Besides Seattle and Houston, other teams interested include the Los Angeles Raiders, the New Orleans Saints, and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, who, like the Oilers, are 0-9 this season.

Also vying for his services are Edmonton and Montreal of the CFL.

This winter, get your diesel off to a good start.

Gulf Auto Diesel fuel is specially formulated to meet the cold weather starting needs of diesel engines. A cold flow improver makes the fuel flow to your engine as easily in January as it does in June. And, because Gulf adds the cold flow improver before you pump fuel into your car, you don't need to add anything later on.

So, if you want to beat the cold weather starting grind, look for our red and yellow 'D'. And get off to a good start this winter with Gulf Auto Diesel.

Associates, former players laud Halas

CHICAGO (AP) — "George Halas did for football what Babe Ruth did for baseball and what Jack Dempsey did for boxing," Art Rooney said as the body of his old friend lay in a coffin only a few yards away.

Rooney should know. As the 82-year-old owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers, he and Halas were friends for 55 years and together they watched the National Football League grow into what it is today.

"Nobody did more for their sport than he did for his," Rooney said as he and other sports luminaries from across the nation gathered Wednesday night to pay their respects to the man known as "Papa Bear."

Crowds began collecting at 4 p.m. CST for five hours of visitation. By the time it was over, hundreds of friends and fans passed by his open coffin, which was draped with an American flag.

Funeral services were set for today at St. Ita's Church on the North Side. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and virtually all club owners were expected to attend.

"I knew him for 55 years," Rooney said of the man who owned, coached and played for the Chicago Bears over the past 62 years. "I thought he was a very compassionate man and a very loyal friend."

When asked what Halas, who died Monday at the age of 88, did for professional football, Rooney had a simple answer.

"George Halas WAS professional football," Rooney said. "He was on the running board when this league was formed."

Halas had been the last survivor of a dozen men who established the American Professional Football Association on Sept. 17, 1920, in a Canton, Ohio, automobile agency.

In a telephone interview from his Florida home, former Bear great Red Grange credited Halas with creating professional football.

"Without men like George Halas, we probably would never have had pro football."

Red Grange

"Without men like George Halas, we probably would never have had pro football," said Grange, who was signed by Halas in 1925. "I admired George tremendously. He would sell tickets and then go to the locker room to tape the players' ankles. After the game, he personally would go around to the Chicago papers to get a little story on the sports pages."

"He was Mr. Football," said former Bears head coach Abe Gibron, who attended the Wednesday night wake. "He taught me that personal pride was the most important thing, not money. He changed football from a 'passing-the-hat' game into a million-dollar industry."

George Allen, another former Bears coach and currently head coach of the Arizona Wranglers of the United States Football League, said he remembered Halas as someone who worked harder than anyone on his staff.

"I was the youngest one on the staff and he outworked all of us," Allen said. "He set the pace for the entire staff. I don't think I ever met anyone who worked as hard as he did."

Others who attended the visitation ceremony included former Bears Mike Pyle, Joe Osmanski and Gale Sayers along with Chicago baseball figures Bill Veck and Chuck Comiskey.

"There are very few people who invent a game and see it become national in scope," said Veck, a former owner of the Chicago White Sox baseball team. "He (Halas), along with a few others, invented the game and made it work. I don't think there's much more of tribute to him than every Sunday when 60 million people or so sit down and watch what he achieved."

Seaver signs one-year contract with Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — "As soon as I can master a curve, I'll hang them up," says Tom Seaver, who will pitch for the New York Mets in 1984 under the extension of a one-year contract.

Seaver's joke Wednesday was in answer to a question as to whether he contemplated learning a new pitch or pitches for his 18th major league season, his 13th plus with the Mets.

After being acquired Dec. 16, 1982, from the Cincinnati Reds to whom he had been traded during the 1977 season, Seaver signed a single-season contract with the Mets with options through 1986. His 1984 salary was not announced. An estimate is $800,000.

Seaver has won 198 of his 273 victories with the Mets. He has lost 170 games.

Seaver, who will be 39 Nov. 17, was 9-14 in 1983. He pitched 231 innings, posted a 3.55 earned run average, best among Mets' starters, and tied Mike Torrez for the club lead in starts with 34.

Seaver joined the Mets as a rookie in 1967 and posted five 20-victory seasons with them, including 25-7 in the club's World Series championship year of 1969, before going to Cincinnati in 1978.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to think in terms of those with whom you wish to be allied in the days ahead and just what you can do to please them and make them more anxious please you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try to get more co-operation from partners by supporting their projects enthusiastically. Their ideas are good.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan how to make amusements more pleasurable by adding new touches and ideas. Use your imagination.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Good day to take family out for amusement and show more thought for them. Someone close needs your attention.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Handle any correspondence early when you are thinking clearly and precisely so that you get good results with it.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Keep any monetary plans a secret, except with some expert who can be of assistance to you. Heed this advice.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Gain the assistance of others in a tactful manner instead of wanting your own way at all costs, even to the physical.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are charming today and will want to assist others who are not so fortunate as you. Your benevolence is at its peak.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can avoid an argument with a good pal by being more reasonable where money is concerned.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are naturally concerned about career matters but you still have time away from problems to see your friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) During spare time, consider those new plans of action you have in mind but concentrate on credit and outside affairs mostly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Although busy with practical matters during daytime, you can still do something to make your mate happy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to pursue a partner to improve relationship, but first you had better keep any promises made.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young persons who likes to analyze any condition that comes to his, or her attention and come up with the right answer. Mathematics, science and computer training would be most helpful.

9 to 5 changes format, producer

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't look for "9 to 5" at the usual time tonight on ABC. The show is drifting somewhere in the network-TV netherworld called "hiatus," and that makes the boast made by James Komack, the series' new executive producer — "Right now, I'm one of the hot ones" — sound a bit hollow.

Komack, who this season took control of "9 to 5" from Jane Fonda and Bruce Gilbert, changed both the content of the show and the cast, while ABC shifted the program to a new day and time. And things seem to have gone downhill from there.

Ms. Fonda, who developed the TV series with Gilbert from their successful movie of the same name, said this summer — after Komack had moved her and Gilbert aside — that she had intended a half-hour comedy with a message for the working woman: "Hey, you're worth something! Stand up for yourself!"

Rita Moreno, one of the co-stars, complained about the new thrust of the program in a recently published interview: "It's really not the same show. ... It's '9-to-5' without the issues. ... different in the sense that nobody's terribly worried about making statements. I'm not sure I'm thrilled about that, but I'm going to wait and see what happens."

ABC introduced the series April 1, 1982, as a midseason replacement for the faltering "Barney Miller."

The show finished the 1982-83 season ranked 16th among 99 programs broadcast in prime time, but failed miserably in its effort to carry that audience into the new TV year. The highest-rated episode this season was 51st in competition that included 60 shows. The series' last installment, before it was yanked from the lineup, was the lowest-rated program offered that week by ABC.

Let's be fair to Komack in this respect: he spoke about the series' "success," and his own standing in the business, in an article in the current edition of TV Guide magazine that undoubtedly was written several weeks ago, perhaps even before the new season began in mid-September. Indeed, the show could return to the ABC lineup, perhaps after the first of the year. That, in a sense, is what "hiatus" means.

Further, ABC is responsible for shifting "9 to 5" from Tuesday night last season, where it was nestled comfortably between "Three's Company" and "Hart to Hart," to a difficult Thursday timeslot against Top 10 "Simon & Simon," behind one new series, "Trauma Center," and just ahead of another, "It's Not Easy," which has been hung on the same hiatus hook.

But Komack's changes almost certainly contributed to the slide, though there is no easy way to measure that.

Neither ABC, nor the production company, 20th Century-Fox Television, fully explained why the backstage shift, or the alterations in the show itself, were ordered, and there didn't appear to be any bitterness among the principals, at least for public consumption, over the changes.

Ms. Fonda described her approach to the series this way:

"We're not taught, or we're not conditioned, any of us ... to think about anything in terms of work. There's our sex life, there's marriage and homelife, everything else. And work is kind of over there."

"No one thinks of work as being a source of comedy," she continued. "I'm convinced that it is. But I'm not a writer, so I don't know how to do it. ... And if you can't figure out how to make work funny, then you go to what you do know how to make funny. And we all know what some of those things are."

She didn't elaborate on that point, but acknowledged the difficulty in producing a high-standard show, week after week.

"Unless you are a writer, unless you can actually put down on paper what your vision is," she said, "it's best to stay away."

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with rules and orders of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of its intent to re-file evidence and appropriate tariff(s) in support of a request to establish rates for the use of certain complex inside telephone wiring in the amount of $54.5 million annually. This request was previously a part of the considerations in Docket 5141 and now has been re-docketed as Docket 5420. Customers who do not own the Complex Inside Wire associated with their Customer Premises Systems (such as PBX and Key Systems), and who utilize Southwestern Bell's wiring after January 1, 1984, could be affected by this request. On January 1, 1984, all of the Customer Premises Systems presently provided by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company will be transferred to a subsidiary of AT&T and that subsidiary of AT&T will be almost exclusively responsible for the charges pursuant to the proposed tariff on January 1, 1984. After January 1, 1984, customers who purchase their Complex Customer Premises Equipment and do not purchase, but continue to use, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's inside wire will be subject to the charges proposed in the tariff. The proposed effective date for these new rates is January 1, 1984. Persons interested in intervening in this matter should file a written motion expeditiously with the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78757, as the Hearing on the Merits in Docket 5420 is set for November 21, 1983.

New glasses make life easier

AUSTIN (AP) — As his instructor watched approvingly, John Hoffert gingerly threaded his way between three metal poles on an outdoor basketball court.

While the route would be a snap for most people, negotiating the simple obstacle course was a challenge for Hoffert, who is blind. Yet the 19-year-old worked his way around the obstacles.

Hoffert was using a Sonicguide, one of several new devices to make life easier for blind people. Such technological advances are helping students at the Texas School for the Blind walk safely past obstacles, read print and operate computers that make Braille printouts.

The Sonicguide is a pair of glasses with three dime-sized screened circles on the frame. The devices emit sound waves, which hit objects and bounce back through earphones to the wearer, said Gerry Shier, an instructor at the School for the Blind.

Variations in pitch and intensity help the wearer determine the location and size of the object, as well as some other characteristics. Hoffert, an El Paso native who has used the Sonicguide for several weeks, says he can distinguish between a tree, a wall and a person. A blind receptionist could use the device to tell when someone was approaching, Shier said.

SPECIAL GLASSES — John Hoffert adjusts a special pair of glasses. Hoffert, who is blind, uses the glasses, called Sonicguides, to guide him around obstacles. The glasses emit sound waves that the wearer can hear through a pair of earphones. Variations in pitch and intensity help the wearer determine location and size of possible obstacles.

Using the device is "a blast," Hoffert said. "It feels good to be able to use it to help me to know my environment."

But while the Sonicguide can detect high objects such as overhanging branches, Shier said, it normally is used with a cane or guide dog because it will not detect ground-level objects. Nor is it helpful in crowds with a variety of traffic and obstacles, Shier said.

While Shier teaches blind students to improve their mobility, Linda Baggett is teaching some students to read print on a ViewScan.

The computer, which magnifies print up to 64 times on a television-like screen, allows those with minimal sight to read newspapers and magazines, study spelling lists or take tests. A tape cassette lets the user record notes that can then be read on the screen.

On the job, the magnifying feature could enable workers to check bank balances and read reports, directions or reference materials in small print and perform other tasks where Braille previously was needed, Baggett said.

New technology also has resulted in computers that read, translate, copy and make computer printouts in Braille.

One such device is the VersaBraille, a "paperless Braille" system. The equivalent of a portable word processor, it allows blind people to read, write, change, store and retrieve information on cassette tapes quickly and conveniently. This machine could be used at work to record minutes of meetings, maintain purchase order files or write and edit reports.

One of its best features is the ability to store material compactly. Four hundred pages of Braille material can be stored on a 60-minute cassette tape, said Diane Nousanen, director of the learning resource center at the school.

One of the latest innovations is a program developed this year for the Apple II computer. The Braille-Edit program works with a voice module to give commands or instructions to users.

Similar names spell confusion for generals

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — One is Willard and the other Winfield, but both answer to the name "Gen. W. W. Scott Jr.," and they've been getting each other's mail and laundry for years.

Gen. Winfield W. Scott Jr. is academy superintendent at the Air Force Academy and Gen. Willard W. Scott Jr. academy superintendent at West Point, where both were cadets in 1946.

Both are three-star generals. They bumped into each other again at a pre-game ceremony at the Army-Air Force football game here last week.

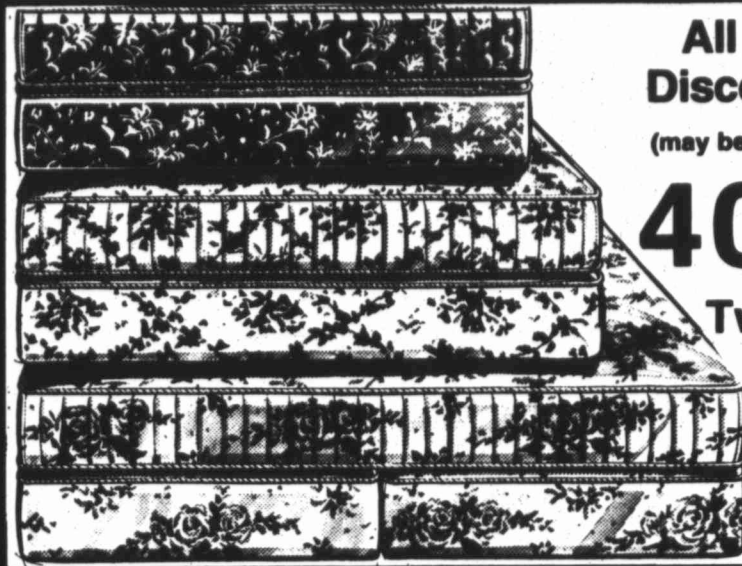

Recalling their days at West Point, Winfield Scott said, "Our letters would get crossed, even our laundry — which wasn't so great if you've seen how much bigger he is than I am."

He said he played second-string halfback on one of Army's greatest football teams, playing backup to Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard. And in the season's final game against Navy, he and other players got their pictures in the program.

But above his name was printed a picture of Willard. He says his mother hadn't seen him for a while, but did see the picture, and wrote: "Gee, Skip, I've never seen you look so good. The academy must be agreeing with you."
