REQUEST LICENSE BE CANCELED — Auditors from the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission have requested that Cactus Jack's Dance Hall and Saloon, located in the Big Spring Industrial Park, have its liquor license canceled.

Commission asks license be canceled

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer
Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission auditors have requested that the liquor license of Cactus Jack's Dance Hall and Saloon in the Big Spring Air Park be canceled. Sam Smelser, agent for the local TABC office, said auditors asked for the cancellation after they found what he called violations in the monthly reports the establishment sent to the state as required by law. Named on the Cactus Jack's license are Roger Terry, 538 Westover; E.L. Terry, 711 Tulane; and Louise Terry, 711 Tulane. They recently applied to transfer the license to a new location on Interstate Highway 20. Smelser said the request would See CACTUS, page 2A

Sentencing date not yet set for 3 in drug-related case

A sentencing date has not yet been scheduled for three Big Spring men who pleaded guilty Thursday in Abilene federal court to cocaine-related activities last spring in Big Spring. Admitting using the telephone to facilitate narcotics transactions were Joe David Fewell, 23, 2524 Fairchild; Patrick Claude Gray, 32, Derrick Road; and Cooper Lee Proctor, 34, 2601 Hunter. The sentencing date was set by Judge Hall Woodward of Lubbock. He released all three men on a See DRUGS, page 2A

Divers to investigate reasons ship sank

Officials with the company that owned a sunken drilling ship say they have little hope of discovering why the Glomar Java Sea went down in a typhoon near China Oct. 25 until divers can investigate the vessel.

The search continued today for crewmen, including a man whose parents live in Big Spring, missing since the drilling ship sank.

John Lawrence Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence of Big Spring, is among the 80 crewmen of the Glomar Java Sea still unaccounted for. The sunken ship was located by sonar 300 feet below sea level south of Heinan Island.

Dick Vermeer, a spokesman for Houston-based Global Marine Drilling Co., said the divers probably will begin examining the ship Saturday. "That is the key," Vermeer said of the pending undersea investigation. "We're dying to find out, as is everybody."

An investigation into the incident was opened today by the Coast Guard and the National Transportation Safety Board.

The board will review records of conversations between the ship and the company offices in Hong Kong before the vessel vanished. Board members also will review the vessel's operation during the storm to see whether there were any violations by crew members.

Capt. Walter W. McDougall, chairman of the investigation, said See SHIP, page 2A

Israeli soldiers killed

Suicide bomber attacks command post

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A suicide bomber attacked an Israeli command post in Tyre early today, and at least 14 Israeli soldiers and 25 Arab prisoners were reported killed. Israeli jets swiftly retaliated with two massive air strikes on Palestinian positions in the central mountains.

Beirut radio said waves of bombing, strafing jets blasted targets around Sofar and Bhamdoun at midday, then returned to pound the same area in midafternoon.

Private radio stations said the warplanes made at least 10 bombing sorties that reduced several artillery positions and tank concentrations in the Syrian-controlled central mountains to a smoking wreckage.

It was the first time the Israeli air force has attacked in Lebanon in 14 months. The Israeli command said the raids were a retaliation for the daybreak bombing near Tyre, 50 miles south of Beirut.

In addition to 14 dead, the command listed 21 Israelis wounded and 13 missing. Beirut radio said 25 Palestinian and Lebanese prisoners also were killed in the blast.

Responsibility for the bombing was claimed by Islamic Holy War, the same fanatical pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem group that claimed the suicide truck bombings of the Marine and French bases in Beirut Oct. 23 that killed 230 American and 58 French troops. Islamic Holy War telephoned its claim to the French news agency, Agence France-Press.

Meanwhile, Yasser Arafat and his beleaguered Palestine Liberation Organization loyalists continued battling Syrian-backed guerrilla mutineers in camps outside the northern port of Tripoli. Arafat's aides and Lebanese doctors said at least 112 people had been killed in two days of fighting.

It was just over two months ago that Israeli forces pulled out of the central mountains to what they believed would be safer positions in southern Lebanon. But today's truck bombing near Tyre showed how vulnerable the occupation forces were.

The Christian Voice of Lebanon radio said 16 Israeli jets took part in the retaliatory strike in the central mountains and destroyed at least three artillery positions in the hills overlooking Bhamdoun and Sofar, about 13 miles east of Beirut.

The Israeli command said all planes returned safely after scoring "direct hits" on command posts, tanks and 130mm cannons in retaliation for the terrorist bombing near Tyre.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Arens visited the bombing site after the 6 a.m. attack, called it "a very great loss for the people of Israel," and vowed, "We will hit back and we will hit back very hard."

Hours later the Israeli jets attacked, and the Tel Aviv command said they struck "following the escalation of terrorist activity against Israeli forces in Lebanon which climaxed this morning in the attack... in Tyre."

The Israeli command said the retaliatory air attacks were directed at targets of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command headed by former Syrian Capt. Ahmed Jibril, and Abu Moussa, leader of the Palestinian rebellion against PLO leader Yasser Arafat.

It was the first Israeli aerial action reported in Lebanon since August 1982, when Israeli planes attacked Syrian missile batteries in eastern Lebanon.

At the truck bombing scene near Tyre, Israeli Brig. Gen. Amos Yaron said there were about 60 Israeli soldiers, border patrolmen and civilian security officers in the army intelligence post when the attack occurred at daybreak.

Bruce Kashtan, spokesman for the Israeli Foreign Ministry near Beirut, said Israeli guards opened fire at the intruding pickup truck and "apparently hit it."

"It exploded before the building and not inside, where it could have caused even more damage," Kashtan said.

The force of the blast damaged a Lebanese army barracks and a post of the United Nations peacekeeping force across the street from the bombed Israeli compound.

Resurgent drama division plots future

Director, students prepare for Glass Menagerie

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer
This week in the Howard College student union gunshots rang out and eight persons were killed off just for a laugh.

Never fear, however; there was no homicidal gunman with a morbid sense of humor loose among the students. The gunshots and laughter were only part of the resurgent HC drama department's performance of "Lunchbox Theater," a once a week noontime production and the brainchild of director Tim Haynes.

Defunct for about five years, the school's drama and theater department's curtain has risen again since Haynes, a veteran of the Dallas Theatre Center, took over the program this fall. "Lunchbox Theater," an upcoming performance of The Glass Menagerie, interpretive readings and children's shows are just a few of the projects brewing at HC under Haynes' tutelage.

"We're trying to find our audience," Haynes said of his students' efforts. "We're trying to show we can do a variety of things and have something everyone will enjoy."

One might think getting a respectable drama department off the ground and generating an audience for its productions impossible in West Texas, a place not known for the arts. However, Haynes looks at the situation as a challenge.

"I might have been a bit apprehensive when I first came here, but since that time I have come to believe the area is conducive to something happening," he said. "People like to be entertained. Just because they're not accustomed to going to the ballet or other types of performances doesn't mean they can't start...I think the motivation and interest is there, and it's up to us to work with it."

HC DRAMA DEPARTMENT COMEBACK — After five years of dormancy the Howard College Drama Department is making a comeback under the direction of instructor Tim Haynes (inset). The department plans its first major production of the year Nov. 10, 11, 12 with The Glass Menagerie. Pictured in the frames above are students performing an

Haynes, a Roscoe native, began this year with 15 to 20 drama students, which is impressive considering there was no theater program at HC last year. Haynes said he plans to use various projects such as "Lunchbox Theater" as educational tools to keep learning exciting for students. Not only will they get classroom instruction, but also firsthand experience, he said.

"Of course, building a quality program takes time, and the students understand that," Haynes said. "However, they're excited, enthused and they have a lot of questions. How often do you have the opportunity to go in and start something new and say 'I was there at the beginning.' I saw that challenge, and I think the students see it."

The stagelights will come on for the department's first major play of the year Nov. 10 when The Glass Menagerie begins a three-day run on the HC campus.

The Tennessee Williams' play, about the negativity and ennu of an eroding Southern family, features several new twists by Haynes.

He has designed a stage which represents the memory of character Tom Wingfield. As is the case with everyone's memory, a person only remembers parts of his past. Accordingly, Haynes has engineered a set with walls con-

Child found at border identified

EL PASO (AP) — A private investigator says that a 7-month-old child found here has been identified as Cherie Ann Kennedy, who was kidnapped May 10 from a Fort Worth hospital.

Two children — a blonde 7-month-old girl and a dark-haired 3-month-old child — were taken to police headquarters in El Paso Thursday after a woman they were with was stopped crossing into the United States from Mexico, the El Paso Times reported today.

"Information has been given me ... that the suspect has already related her involvement in the case," the investigator, Bill Dear, said here today in Dallas.

Asked if the baby was Cherie Ann, Dear replied, "Yes, that's what I understand."

Cherie's mother, Penny Jo Kennedy, and Dear, the family's private investigator, were boarding a commercial flight for El Paso from Dallas Love Field about 7 a.m. today when a man, who identified himself as an FBI agent, told them the baby would be flown to Fort Worth this afternoon and asked them to stay there.

Dear later told reporters that he understood the baby was in good condition.

Investigators "are in El Paso currently interviewing the suspect, checking the conditions of Cherie Kennedy," he said. "I understand that it is in perfect health."

A FBI spokesman in

BABY RECOVERED — El Paso police officer David Cuevas Jr. holds onto a 7-month-old baby recovered at El Paso International Cordova Bridge. El Paso and Fort Worth detectives were questioning the woman who had the baby concerning the kidnapping of the child from a Fort Worth hospital in May. The baby was identified as Cheri Ann Kennedy, kidnapped from John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth.

Dallas this morning, Larry Hawes, declined to comment on the case, except to say that investigators had "been covering some leads" overnight.

El Paso police Sgt. Dennis Shelley said Fort Worth investigators, who flew to El Paso Thursday after the arrest, would release a statement sometime this morning.

Police arrested Linda Lee Ashmore Gomez, 32, of Fort Worth about 11:30 a.m. after she was stopped by U.S. Customs agents on a Rio Grande bridge.

El Paso police said they didn't think either child belonged to the woman, the Times reported.

Ms. Gomez was booked on charges of forgery and of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, both out of Las Cruces, N.M., and was being held in the El Paso County Jail under a $26,000 bond set by Municipal Court Judge Luis Labrado.

Officers from El Paso police department's youth services division took the children to El Paso's child crisis center Thursday night, the Times said.

According to reports filed with the El Paso police department, Detective Dwaine McElroy, working with personnel from the U.S. Consulate in Juarez, had been investigating Ms. Gomez's possible connection with a kidnapping of a child in Fort Worth about four months ago.

No one could be reached at the U.S. Consulate Thursday night.

"The baby is a little over 7 months, which matches with the Kennedy girl," Dear said. "She also has the scar over the right eye, but we're not saying at this time that this baby is the Kennedy baby. Five months is a long time."

Dear said Cherie Anne had dark brown hair, greenish blue eyes and a birth mark on her forehead when she was kidnapped. The girl at the child crisis center Thursday night has a mark above her eye.

"That's of interest to us," Dear said. After five months of growth, "it (the description) is very close, as far as I'm concerned."

Cherie Ann was abducted from John Peter Smith Hospital on May 10 by a woman posing as a hospital nurse. Mrs. Kennedy, 21, handed her daughter, who was at the hospital for a routine checkup and immunizations, to the woman, who then walked away, saying she would return momentarily. The woman said she wanted to show the baby to some nurses.

Burglaries, thefts reported

Grady Teague of Route 3 reported to police a burglary at 1711½ Scurry between noon and 12:15 p.m. yesterday in which unknown persons stole a microwave oven, assorted record albums and a cassette recorder. Reports also showed that a sheetrock wall had been kicked in.

Police reports also showed the following: ● Dian Richter of 1002 N. Main reported to police that someone known to her stole $100 in food stamps from her purse between 1 p.m. and 2:45 p.m. Thursday.

● Police said they arrested Winford D. Allen, 27, of 701 E. 13th for disorderly conduct and traffic warrants. Reports showed Allen was using abusive language.

● Wal-Mart District Manager William Eades reported to police that one of the store's employees had sold $448 worth of merchandise to someone for less than the merchandise's full worth. Eades said the sale occurred at noon Wednesday.

● Ronnie Linbaugh of 2521 Hunter reported to police that between 10 p.m. Wednesday and 4 p.m. Thursday someone stole a bicycle from a storage shed adjacent to his house.

For the record

In a story on federal drug charges which ran in Thursday's Herald, Pat Gray was identified as the president of the Big Spring Model Aircraft Association. Gray resigned as president of the group about two weeks ago, and Andy Arcand was elected to the post.

The story also said that the maximum penalty for use of a telephone to facilitate narcotics transactions is punishable by a maximum fine of $300 and four years imprisonment. The figure should have read $30,000.

3 arrested for bad checks

Three persons were arrested in connection with warrants for the issuance of bad checks, according to sheriff's office reports.

Reports showed Ina Jean (Jeannie) Warren, 32, of Kerrville, Texas, was arrested by the Midland sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant. She was released on $1,000 bond via the Midland sheriff's office, according to reports.

Rick Bowen of Fort Stockton was arrested by the Pecos County sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant for the issuance of bad checks. Reports show Bowen was released via the Pecos County office after paying $157.57 in fines and checks.

Also, Taleta Derington of Lamesa was arrested by the Dawson County sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant for the issuance of bad checks. She was released on $750 bond via the Dawson county sheriff's office, according to reports.

● Mitch Covington, 20, of 3704 Boulder was released on $1,000 bond yesterday after being arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin in connection with a peace bond.

Several alleys shut down

City officials said Thursday several alleys along Birdwell Lane and Kentucky Way have been closed as part of the city's capital improvements program.

Work started Wednesday morning on alleys from Purdue west to Birdwell along Kentucky Way, and from Kentucky Way north to Purdue. Officials said the alleys will be closed for about one week while grades are cut for the new gutter and curb.

Authorities request that residents place their trash on the same scheduled pick-up days at the curb where sanitation crews will work the streets in lieu of the alleys.

Officials also announced a change at the Big Spring Sanitary Landfill. The new entrance is located on the south service road of U.S. Interstate 20 just east of the Caldwell Electric Co.

unsecured $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

They could receive maximum penalties of $30,000 in fines and four years in prison. All signed plea bargain agreements, agreeing to cooperate with an ongoing drug investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation including testimony if needed. In return, the government agreed to file on one charge or a lesser charge against each of them, evidenced showed.

Big Spring and federal officials said the charges were the results of a 14-month police and FBI investigation.

A fourth man, Big Spring attorney Roy Lee Ford, appeared for arraignment on a charge of distribution of cocaine. But all the paperwork in the case was rejected by Judge Woodward after Ford objected to the wording of the plea bargain agreement with the U.S. Attorney's office. Documents returned by the judge to the attorneys included a grand jury waiver.

Gray admitted using the phone May 12 to discuss with Proctor the delivery of cocaine. U.S. Attorney Richard Stephens said the facts in the case showed Gray referred Proctor to Fewell for the purpose of purchasing cocaine.

Fewell admitted using the phone to discuss a cocaine sale with Proctor on May 12. Stephens said the facts show that Fewell delivered one-quarter ounce of cocaine to Proctor later the same day.

Proctor admitted using the phone on March 21 to discuss the distribution of cocaine with a police informant. The facts show that later that day Proctor sold one-quarter ounce of cocaine to the informant for $700, Stephens said.

After court recessed, Stephens refused to identify the informant.

Proctor was the only defendant without an attorney. On several occasions he told Judge Woodward that it was his choice to proceed without legal counsel.

Fewell was represented by Tim Evans of Fort Worth, Gray by Robert Bennett of Houston and Ford by Warren Heggie of Houston.

taining missing portions, picture frames with no pictures and other features that resemble a faded memory.

Haynes also has two students playing Wingfield. In the past it has been traditional for one actor to portray Wingfield as both a young and old man.

"We're looking to do some new and different things not only with this play but the entire department," Haynes said. "It's going to be an exciting department. I don't want to do it if it's not exciting."

Haynes received his master's in fine arts from Trinity University which has its program at the Dallas Theatre Center. He spent seven years working for the center and in conjunction with the Texas Commission for the Arts which produces shows throughout the state.

Using that experience as a springboard, Haynes said he gleans his ideas from impressions of plays, talking to people, movies and some television shows.

"I work through a creative process," he said. "I'll read a script or watch a show and write down impressions and elements that come through — rhythm, texture, sound, feeling — those things are what I look for."

"I never rush into an idea (for instance he sketched 50 sets for the upcoming play before finding one to his liking). I let the ideas grow as I explore them from all different areas."

the board would reconvene in four to six weeks. McDougall said he had no idea how long the investigation would take.

McDougall said he believed the Glomar Java Sea was the first U.S. drilling ship to sink because of bad weather. He said the board asked for permission from the Chinese government to travel to that nation and conduct interviews.

The divers will look for clues as to whether any of the crew got off the ship before it went down, Vermeer said. The divers also will count the life boats and life rafts and look for other evidence, he said.

Vermeer said the divers also will try to get evidence to indicate why the ship sank.

Meanwhile, the search for the 80 crewmen who had been aboard the ship continues, Vermeer said.

About 10 Chinese ships are involved, as were two or three U.S. Air Force planes and several fishing vessels, he said. But Vietnam insists the searchers stay at least 23 miles off its shores.

The ship sank while drilling for oil about 200 miles east of Vietnam, officials said. A Chinese ship using sonar found the vessel under 300 feet of water Tuesday.

Gary Kott, president of Global Marine, told the Houston Chronicle his firm has been pressing the State Department to appeal to Vietnam for humanitarian reasons to let the searchers look closer to its shores.

"It has not been smooth," he said. "But the State Department is cooperating. They're using avenues we're not even aware of."

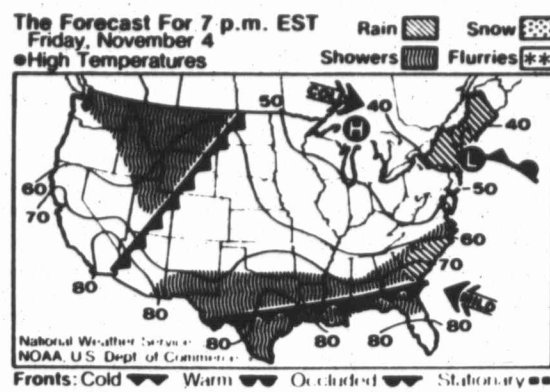

Officials said two or three Vietnamese boats have been searching their coastal waters for survivors.

Fog develops

Dense fog enveloped portions of the state and travelers advisories was posted on the High Plains and in Southeast Texas as visibility dropped to near zero at times.

Moisture-laden air remained entrenched over the state today. And scattered showers and light rain were falling this morning across parts of Southeast, South Central and West Texas.

Elsewhere, skies were partly cloudy to cloudy. Light easterly winds were reported along the Texas coast while a weak cool front pushed into the Panhandle, shifting winds to the northwest. The rest of the state had south to southeast winds at 5 to 15 mph.

Temperatures ranged from the low 50s across the Panhandle to the low 70s over South Central Texas and along the coast. At 4 a.m. it was 50 at Amarillo and 73 at Galveston.

Elsewhere, it was 67 at Abilene, 68 at Dallas, 71 at San Antonio, 60 at El Paso and 72 at Brownsville.

The forecast today called for cloudy skies with scattered showers and thunderstorms statewide. High temperatures were expected to range from the mid 70s to the mid 80s over most of the state with slight cooler reading expected across the West Texas mountains and the Panhandle.

Snow whitened the lower Great Lakes region today while rain washed the eastern states from the Gulf Coast to New England.

Thunderstorms erupted from southern Texas to Arkansas, where temperatures were in the lower 70s, and also spread over the Pacific Northwest.

Winter weather gripped western New York state. Temperatures were in the 30s as snow showers moved across Lake Ontario and Lake Erie. One inch of snow covered Buffalo, N.Y., early today.

A cold front spread rain and thunderstorms across the mid-Mississippi valley Thursday, and moved into the Ohio and Tennessee valleys. Golf-ball size hail drummed Joplin, Lebanon, and Liberal, Mo., and in central and southern Missouri, showers poured nearly 2 inches of rain at High Point, with more than an inch recorded at Springfield, Wasola and Pacific.

In Lawrence, Kan., a woman jogging along the Kansas River levee was struck and killed by lightning during a thunderstorm that dumped 1 inch of rain in that city in 20 minutes.

Rainfall of 1 inch was measured at Des Moines, Iowa, and Jackson, Tenn., and almost an inch at Blytheville, Ark.

Temperatures early today were in the 20s in the upper Midwest and parts of New England but were expected to rise into the 30s and 40s during the day.

West Texas - Continued above normal temperatures and mostly fair. Highs 70s except 80s Big Bend. Lows 40s north and far west to 50s south.

Nixon is good reader

PRINCETON, N.J. — Former President Richard M. Nixon is described as an "easy reader" who "stumbled very little" as he was preparing tape recordings for the blind of his new book, "Real Peace: A Strategy for the West."

Nixon, 70, was "extremely relaxed and businesslike" in the recording sessions, said Georgia Larsen, unit manager of Recording for the Blind, an organization based here that supplies free tapes to the sight impaired.

"He was ... an easy reader, stumbled very little, read very fluently," Ms. Larsen said Thursday.

She said the former president offered to record the 106-page book and it took three sessions of about two hours each ending Wednesday.

Nixon, wearing eye glasses, sat in a small booth to make the tape.

"It was just fascinating to hear him read," said Ms. Larsen, who noted that Nixon's association with Recording for the Blind began in 1969 when he presented scholastic achievement awards to three blind college seniors.

Fleming fights for home

LOS ANGELES — Erin Fleming, ordered to give up over $220,000 in gifts and cash she got while caring for Groucho Marx, has gone to court to try to keep her West Hollywood home.

Miss Fleming, 42, is "between the devil and the blue sea," says attorney David Sabih, who filed a Chapter 11 petition in federal bankruptcy court Thursday.

Sabih said Miss Fleming, companion to Marx in the five years before his death at 86 in 1977, can't make a $3,000 mortgage payment because Bank of America, which sued her as executor of Marx's estate, "has attached everything she has. She doesn't have the money."

"She has $100,000 that Marx left her, but they (Bank of America) blocked it," Sabih said.

Southern California Savings and Loan Association holds a $25,000 mortgage on Miss Fleming's $400,000 house and scheduled a foreclosure sale for this morning unless she made the payment, which is three months overdue. Sabih said he will ask a judge in bankruptcy court to order Bank of America to lift its freeze on Miss Fleming's assets.

In June, Bank of America agreed not to try to seize Miss Fleming's assets while the estate case is being appealed.

Conductor stepping down

LONDON — A different hand will be lifting the baton at the Royal Opera in Covent Garden. Dutch maestro Bernard Haitink has been named to succeed Sir Colin Davis.

Davis, 56, will be stepping down in July 1986 after 15 years as music director.

Haitink, 54, conductor of Amsterdam's Concertgebouw Orchestra, has been musical director of England's summer Glyndebourne Festival Opera since 1978.

Amsterdam-born Haitink, artistic director and permanent conductor of the Concertgebouw Orchestra since 1964, will retain his post in the Netherlands after he joins the Royal Opera.

He has been guest conductor of several American orchestras, including the Los Angeles Philharmonic, Boston Symphony, Cleveland Orchestra, Chicago Symphony and New York Philharmonic.

Queen Elizabeth II made him an honorary knight of the British Empire in 1977 for his contributions to the artistic life of Britain.

Haitink will conduct operas at Covent Garden for 12-week periods in the 1986 and 1987 seasons and assume his new post in September 1988.

Mass will be celebration

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., says the memorial Mass for former President John F. Kennedy on the 20th anniversary of his slaying will be a celebration of his late brother's "life and legacy." Most members of the Kennedy clan will attend.

The Mass, to be limited to family and friends, will be celebrated at Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church in the Georgetown section of Washington by the Rev. James A. Hickey, archbishop of Washington, the morning of Nov. 22.

"Holy Trinity was President Kennedy's parish in Washington when he was a senator and was the church where he attended Mass on the morning of his inauguration as president," a spokeswoman for Kennedy said Thursday.

Kennedy said in a prepared statement that the event is being viewed as "a joyful occasion, a celebration of his life and legacy."

Leaders handed over

ST. GEORGE'S, Grenada — U.S. officials say two leaders of a violent Marxist coup that prompted the American-led invasion soon will be handed over to the governor general, who wants their actions investigated.

The governor general, Sir Paul Scoon, also said he will appoint a non-political "government of technocrats" early next week to run Grenada until elections, which may not be held for a year.

A U.S. congressional delegation was leaving Washington today to begin a two-day fact-finding tour of this small Caribbean island nation, and expelled Soviet bloc and Libyan diplomats were headed back to their homelands.

Charles Gillespie, a State Department official based in Grenada, said Deputy Prime Minister Bernard Coard and Gen. Hudson Austin, leaders of the coup in which Prime Minister Maurice Bishop was killed on Oct. 19, would be turned over to Scoon in a day or two.

The coup precipitated the U.S.-led invasion of Grenada on Oct. 25. Supporters of Bishop, a leftist, said he was ousted by government factions who favored an even more hardline Marxist policy.

Campaign may be crusade

WASHINGTON — If opening day was any indication, Jesse Jackson's bid for the presidency is going to be more of a crusade than a campaign.

The black preacher and civil rights leader joined the fight for the Democratic nomination with a nearly four-hour announcement ceremony Thursday that was closer to an old-time church revival than to the political rallies of his seven white opponents.

The official kickoff of Jackson's campaign featured songs and prayer, preaching and testimonials, calls for contributions and quotes from the Bible.

"This is the day," intoned Bishop H.H. Brookins of the African Methodist Episcopal Church. "This is the day ... not of a campaign, but of a crusade for truth and righteousness."

The ceremonies were different as well in that Jackson spoke of what his candidacy would mean to others besides himself.

"I'm not talking about one man running for an office," he said. "It's about elevating the masses, the people."

Jackson talked of registering millions of blacks across America to vote. As one who has never held public office, he talked of electing thousands of others — blacks, women and other minorities — to office for the first time.

"If I got across the finish line first and my wagon was unhitched, I may have a gold medal but I would be a loser," he said. "If I got across the line last, but my wagon was full of registrars and tax assessors and legislators and school board members and sheriffs ... it's about lifting the boats that are stuck at the bottom."

He pledged to take his campaign to the Indian reservations, the barrios and the ghettos.

"We will bring the press and the American people right down to the boats stuck at the bottom," Jackson said.

Sub rescue in progress

WASHINGTON — A Soviet sub tender was headed north from Cuba today to aid a disabled Soviet nuclear-powered submarine that was bobbing helplessly in five-foot Atlantic Ocean swells 470 miles east of Charleston, S.C., Pentagon officials said.

The 341-foot attack sub hadn't sent out an "SOS" nor had it asked for help from Navy planes circling overhead, the Pentagon said Thursday. A Soviet trawler was in the area to provide any emergency help if needed.

The Victor-3 class boat was disabled by an unknown engineering failure early Wednesday and surfaced at that time, where it was spotted by a Navy P-3 Orion anti-submarine plane flying a routine mission out of Jacksonville, Fla.

There was no indication the sub was leaking radiation, the Navy said. It only had enough power to make about 2 knots, permitting the Soviet captain to keep the nose of the vessel turned into the wind.

The lack of radiation was detected by buoys dropped into the water near the submarine by the Orions, a standard tactic in U.S. anti-submarine operations. The buoys, which contain radios, monitor radiation, as well as engine and other noises coming from submarines. The radios transmit the information back to the P-3s, which have on-board computers.

While on patrol, neither U.S. nor Soviet submarines surface unless they are in trouble, so the incident affords U.S. forces a rare opportunity to gain intelligence about a Soviet submarine.

The sub was in international waters 282 miles west of Bermuda and 470 miles east of Charleston, the home of one of the U.S. Navy's three major sub bases on the East Coast.

Navy officials who spoke on condition they not be identified said a Soviet sub tender was enroute to the area from a base in Cienfuegos, Cuba, but it was not expected to reach the stricken sub until today.

Unemployment rate falls

WASHINGTON — America's civilian unemployment rate plummeted to 8.8 percent in October, the lowest in 20 months, as 320,000 people found work, the government reported today. The roster of the jobless fell below 10 million for the first time since March 1982.

Improvements were felt across the labor force. Some 101.9 million people had jobs.

Although 9.9 million people remained of the unemployed, the number out of work for 15 weeks or longer fell for the third straight month.

In all, the Labor Department's civilian jobless rate, adjusted for seasonal variations, was the lowest since the 8.8 percent of February 1982 and 0.5 percentage point under the September rate of 9.3 percent. Just last June, unemployment was 10.0 percent.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes, traveling with President Reagan to North Carolina, said aboard Air Force One that the new report amounted to "exceedingly good news that Americans are going back to work." He added that the administration had not expected the jobless rate to fall as quickly as it is.

'Strangler' cleared in case

LOS ANGELES — Jurors who cleared Angelo Buono in the slaying of a part-time waitress and prostitute were ordered to continue deliberations on eight other charges stemming from the string of deaths known as the "Hillside Strangler" murders.

The same jury, three days ago, convicted Buono of a college student's murder.

The finding Thursday that Buono was innocent of the slaying of 19-year-old Yolanda Washington thus far spared the defendant the possibility of a death sentence. If convicted of more than one murder, the 50-year-old auto upholsterer from Glendale would face the death penalty under special circumstances of multiple murder.

At the close of the five-minute court hearing for the verdict reading, Superior Court Judge Ronald M. George ordered the jury, sequestered at an undisclosed location, to continue deliberations that began Oct. 20.

The trial, which began on Nov. 16, 1981, is the longest criminal trial in California history, and some officials believe it also has set a national record.

Interior needs new direction

Surprising is the word for President Reagan's appointment of his national security adviser, William Clark, to be secretary of the interior.

Clark is a Californian who has been Mr. Reagan's troubleshooter ever since 1967, when he was appointed to head the staff in the governor's office.

Clark did a good job for Mr. Reagan then and throughout the remaining years of Mr. Reagan's governorship. Mr. Reagan appointed him to the California Supreme Court, where Clark did a better job than many people expected him to do. It has been the same story in Washington. Clark's qualifications to serve as assistant secretary of state under Alexander Haig and as national security adviser in the White House have been questioned. But, in retrospect, his performance has been hard to fault.

As secretary of the interior, he won't be like his predecessor, James Watt, who attracted attention to himself and diverted criticism from the president. Clark is Mr. Reagan's alter ego and his policies will be seen as Mr. Reagan's policies. The change of personalities is a good one, but we hope there is also a change of policy direction.

Around the Rim

By RICK BROWN

New activism

Read how a few people are trying to improve their lives:

- Big Spring citizens pack the city council chamber to protest the establishment of a bar in their neighborhood. A spokesman at the meeting says the bar would degrade the neighborhood.

- The Chairman of the Quality of Life Committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce organizes a town meeting so citizens can view a television program on drug and alcohol abuse. The chairman moderates the panel discussion that follows.

- More than 1,000 show up at the town meeting and about 500 of them ask to be sent additional information so they may be better informed on the problem.

- The President of the Big Spring Symphony Association envisions and is working toward an annual arts festival utilizing the public auditorium and the amphitheater.

I have reached the conclusion that these days people are more active in improving their immediate environments than before.

They are concerned in a real sense with what's happening next door and down the street: If there is something wrong happening, they want to change it. If there is something good happening, they want to be a part of it. If there is nothing happening, they want to make something happen.

When I think in terms of decades and their personalities — the Roaring Twenties, etc. — it seems to me that there is a new activism now in the Eighties that we have not seen before.

In the Sixties, if I may take us back to those painful days, activism was one of the hottest ideas around. We were demonstrating for civil rights, against the war, for women's liberation, etc., etc.

But there is a difference between that activism then and this now. We were working then to make a better life for masses of people: people, really, that we didn't know from Adam.

In the Seventies — the decade of the Me Generation — it was as if we decided as a mass that we all deserved something better. The number of business majors in universities increased. Self-improvement services proliferated. Sadly, responsible people turned to drugs as part of the trend toward self-gratification.

I see hopeful signs now in the Eighties that we are coming out of ourselves and returning to a spirit of activism.

We have had our successes of the past on the mass level: the war ended, women's positions have been improving, the most blatant insults of racial prejudice have been eradicated and Martin Luther King has his day.

People these days seem to be working on improvements close to home. Everywhere you hear talk about the quality of life and some people like those mentioned at the top of the story are doing something about it.

Of course, the trend has nightmare potential if individual rights are trampled for reasons of improving the lives of the majority, but much good can come from this new activism and I look forward to watching it develop.

Foreign policy weather report

Every time something happens, my relatives from around the country call me to find out what is going on. They do this on the false assumption that someone who lives in Washington must know more than they do.

Last week was a busy one. Cousin Ziggy, who is a nervous Nelly when it comes to the Caribbean said, "Why are we landing in Grenada?"

"Because of leftist Marxist thugs who overthrew the other leftist Marxist thugs running the government."

"But why would we care if one Marxist government overthrew another one?"

"Because the guys who took over made the Marxist thugs who were in power look like altar boys."

"Can I ask you a serious question?"

"Shoot."

"Does the Reagan administration have a foreign policy?"

"Of course it has a foreign policy. You can't be a super power without having a foreign policy."

"What does that mean?"

"If the other side knows that we have no foreign policy, then the Kremlin thugs have no idea what we'll do next. Up until recently when a president spelled out a foreign policy, the Soviets immediately worked out a policy to counteract it. But now they're as confused as the American people as to what our objectives are, and they're climbing the Kremlin walls."

"Under the 'no-foreign policy-foreign policy' of the U.S. are we getting closer to going to war with the USSR?" Ziggy asked.

"No, but they are getting much closer to going to war with us."

"What's the difference?"

"The Soviets will not sit down with us unless they know we are willing to fight."

"Are the Soviets willing to fight if they know we are?"

"That's the 64,000 megaton question. Until that moment comes we must do everything to make them understand that we will use every weapon in our arsenal, up to and including the big 'H', before we'll bow to blackmail."

"And that's our foreign policy?" Ziggy asked.

"That's our broad policy. We are also in the business of destabilizing governments favorable to Moscow's thugs, and supporting governments that Moscow is trying to destabilize."

"We'll give the job to a third party which will be financed and trained by the CIA. The Soviets use the KGB to find and train their third parties. If destabilization doesn't work through third parties then we are prepared to use American brute force, just as the Soviets do when one of their covert operations fail."

"What ever happened to diplomacy where nations talked things out first, before flexing their muscles?"

"Our foreign policy is to use diplomacy only as a last resort, when all else fails. The president can't endanger the lives of 220 million Americans, not to mention everyone else on the globe by using diplomacy, when the only thing the other side understands is armed might."

"It doesn't sound like a foreign policy that can last for a very long time. At some moment one side will test the other to see if it's bluffing or not."

"Reagan doesn't bluff," I said.

"That was the true message of Grenada."

"And Andropov?"

"He doesn't bluff either. That was the true message of Afghanistan."

"So what do we have to look forward to?"

"More of the same, with clearing skies and light parachuting on Thursday."

Billy Graham

Does God want us to be perfect?

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Must a person be perfect before God will reward him with eternal life? If not, just how good must we be to earn God's favor? — Mrs. K. J.

DEAR MRS. K. J.: I suspect many, many people feel that the only way a person can win God's favor and have eternal life is to do enough good deeds so that they somehow balance out our bad deeds. But this is a misunderstanding of both God's nature and our own human nature as well.

The Bible makes it clear that God is both completely holy and just, and also completely loving. Because he is just, he cannot excuse sin or act somehow as if it did not exist. Sin is an offense against God, and it must be punished. If it is not, then God is not just and would not be acting in accordance with his character. But because God is also loving, he does not want us to have to endure the punishment we deserve for our sins.

The central question is this: How can our sins be taken away? Sin is a reality, and if we are honest we know we have sinned against God in thought, word, and deed. "If we claim to be without sin, we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us" (1 John 1:8). We deserve nothing but God's judgment. Furthermore, no matter how many good deeds or religious acts we perform we still have sin in our lives. Only God can forgive us, but how can he both forgive us and also punish our sins — as his justice demands?

This is possible because of what God has done for us in Jesus Christ. We cannot save ourselves — but God can! And he has made it possible because Jesus Christ (who was God, and therefore completely free from sin) took upon himself our sin and our punishment. That is what a Christian means when he says, "Christ died for me." Christ did not deserve to die, but he willingly died in my place, taking upon himself my sin and the judgment I deserve.

Open your heart to Christ and trust him as your Savior. You cannot save yourself — but Christ can, and he will as you commit your life to him by faith. "God has given us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He who has the Son has life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have life" (1 John 5:11-12).

Open your heart to Christ and trust him as your Savior. You cannot save yourself — but Christ can, and he will as you commit your life to him by faith. "God has given us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He who has the Son has life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have life" (1 John 5:11-12).

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department may have used a doctored videotape to obtain the indictment and conviction of former Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., on ABSCAM charges. The crucial tape was shown to the grand jury and later at Williams' trial.

The evidence of tape tampering, provided by two acknowledged videotape experts, could win a new trial for Williams. He was sentenced to three years in prison for conspiring to use his political influence improperly on behalf of a supposed Arab sheik, who was actually an FBI agent.

The doctored videotape was made on Jan. 15, 1980. It recorded the first meeting between the senator and the phony sheik. The undercover agent discussed putting up money for a titanium mine in Virginia in exchange for Williams' help on an immigration matter. The Jan. 15 tape was repeatedly cited by the prosecution as evidence that Williams was corrupt.

But my associate Indy Badwar has obtained sworn affidavits from two experts who conducted a painstaking, frame-by-frame electronic analysis of the videotape. Williams' attorneys say that a key segment that could have exculpated the senator was edited out.

Stephen K. Spyker, chief engineer of Video 44, a New York-based division of Compu-Edit Inc., said in his sworn statement that the tape was altered "by using sophisticated video editing equipment designed specifically for the purpose of editing videotape."

Spyker, who has 10 years' experience in video engineering, added: "I examined this tape in the presence of other engineers employed by Video 44, all of whom came to the same conclusions as I have."

Perry Quarante, president of PQ Productions Inc. of New Jersey, also stated in an affidavit that his examination of a noticeable break in the videotape showed it was "caused by editing, and therefore had to have been tampered with to make a 'clean edit.'" In a telephone interview he explained: "Something was erased from the tape and then it was re-recorded to cover that up."

The experts' affidavits directly contradict sworn testimony by ABSCAM prosecutor Thomas Puccio.

There are two noticeable breaks in the Jan. 15 tape's continuity. Puccio, who was monitoring the meeting from an adjoining room, testified that the breaks were caused when the camera was "shut off a couple of times during the meeting." He added: "I saw the technician turn the recording equipment off."

In an interview, Puccio explained that constitutional safeguards forbid secret recording unless one participant in the action or conversation consents. So on two brief occasions when the FBI agent left Williams alone in the room, the videotape machine was turned off.

But Spyker and Quarante agree that, while the first break was caused by stopping and restarting the machine, the second was not.

The second break was "totally unlike the first one," Spyker said. He explained: "It was what we would call a 'clean' edit, meaning that there was no breakup or loss of any video associated with it. This edit could not have been performed by stopping the recorder and then restarting it....There is no question in my mind whatsoever that there had been intentional editing of this videotape by use of a re-recording type of editing equipment."

Footnote: Puccio's initial response to my associate's inquiry was: "I don't believe at this late date you're still going on with this business... What you should print, and I'm sure you won't, is that no ABSCAM subject ever claimed there was anything he said or did that was not taped."

RENEWING RELATIONS: The U.S. invasion of Grenada ended four years of virtual boycott of the island by Washington. Until the Marines and Rangers landed, the only official representation of the United States had in Grenada was an occasional visit by low-level political advisers from the U.S. Embassy in Barbados, 150 miles away.

British envoy John Kelly (he and the Venezuelan ambassador were the only Western diplomats on the island) was highly critical of the U.S. attitude.

"The United States would be better informed if it had some kind of diplomatic representation here," he told my associate Jon Lee Anderson in Grenada a few weeks ago. "I don't see how it can base its policy toward Grenada on satellite photos and third-hand information."

Although President Reagan refused to renew diplomatic relations through the Barbados embassy, the deliberate shunning of Grenada began under President Carter, when the Marxists came to power. Washington passed up a golden opportunity to have some control over events — and insulted the late Prime Minister Maurice Bishop in the process.

Bishop asked U.S. ambassador Frank Ortiz for financial aid to build a new jet airport. "He insultingly offered me $5,000 out of embassy contingency funds," Bishop recalled shortly before his death.

So the prime minister took Fidel Castro up on his "generous offer" to build the airport. That put Grenada ever more solidly in the Cuban-Soviet orbit.

Government sources, asked why the United States rebuffed Bishop's request for aid, cited the prime minister's "demanding and belligerent attitude."

Connie Francis in mental hospital

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A mental hospital administrator says a patient's $5,000 damage suit against singer Connie Francis did not influence his decision to keep her confined against her will.

"She will not be released for some time. I can't really give you a timetable," said Lake Worth Hospital Administrator Alan Penn on Thursday.

The suit, filed this week by another patient who alleged that Miss Francis barged into his room and beat him, is "a separate issue," Penn said.

Miss Francis was involuntarily committed to the private hospital several weeks ago by her father, George Franconero, who said she had become "totally self-destructive."

Penn said hospital officials had planned on Tuesday to release Miss Francis this week because a panel of doctors found she didn't meet the legal criteria for involuntary commitment.

"Let's just say that other things have come to light that complicate the decision," Penn said.

He cited "other issues... which caused me to reverse my decision," but refused to elaborate.

The singer's doctor will now decide when she will be released, Penn said. However, he noted there is a six-month limit on the court order under which the singer was involuntarily committed in late September.

Ronald Sales, one of Miss Francis' lawyers, said Thursday he would not comment on her case or on the lawsuit.

The alleged Oct. 26 attack on patient Reuben Wigdor followed another run-in with Miss Francis near a telephone, said Earl Maxwell, Wigdor's attorney.

According to the suit, Miss Francis walked up to Wigdor, who is said to be recovering from a nervous breakdown, snatched the telephone receiver from him as he was talking, hung it up and threatened him.

Miss Francis rose to stardom in "Where the Boys Are," a 1960s movie set on Florida's beaches. Her career began when she was 2 and she had sold more than $40 million worth of records by the time she was 26.

Miss Francis has been plagued by a series of tragedies since she was beaten and raped following a comeback concert in 1974 when she was 31. After that, she suffered a severe bout of depression. She rallied but then her brother was killed in front of his home in 1981.

She was admitted to the Coral Ridge Psychiatric Center in Fort Lauderdale in late September, Penn said. She was later transferred to the Lake Worth facility.

In an interview published Thursday in The New York Post, Franconero said his daughter had been spending hundreds of thousands of dollars and was totally "self-destructive."

Dr. Donohue

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have heard (on TV) of a drug that helps unplug blocked arteries to the heart. I don't know its name, but I'm sure you'll know. It is strep — something or other. Also, how is the seriousness of a heart attack measured? The drug I mentioned ap-

Public invited to discuss nursing issue

Registered nurses and concerned citizens are invited to review and dialog on the issue of nursing education at an open meeting hosted by the Texas Nurses Association District 24.

The meeting is scheduled for Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Cactus Room at Howard College.

Presented at the meeting will be a draft document titled: "Directions for Nursing Education in Texas — 1983-1995: An Operational Plan." The document proposes that the state of Texas eventually require a baccalaureate degree for practitioners of professional nursing and that associate degree nursing programs prepare individuals for the technical practice of nursing.

"A lot of interest, both in Texas and nationally, has been generated over the issue of what educational entry point should be required on an individual who practices as a professional nurse," said Mary Butler RN, TNA District 24 president. TNA District 24 is sponsoring the open meeting.

In Texas, the RN licensing exam is taken by nursing graduates prepared by one of three educational programs: the four-year baccalaureate degree program, a two-year junior college program or a hospital-based three-year diploma program. Many within health care services maintain that competencies vary among the three types of graduates.

"Each person attending the meeting will receive a copy of the proposal," Mrs. Butler said. "Everyone needs to understand that the proposal is a working draft. Dialog and recommendations are welcomed and needed so that the final document will reflect the best thinking of Texas nurses and consumers."

parently actually helps limit the damage from a heart attack. Anyway, I wish you'd give me the name. — P.E.

I am almost certain you are referring to the drug, streptokinase, and it has added new dimensions to treatment in heart attack. I'll answer your second question first.

When a heart muscle gets no nourishment its cells die. That's a heart attack. So quite obviously the seriousness is based on just how much of the heart muscle has died during an attack. If a massive amount dies, then the heart cannot pump and the person dies. If only a little of the muscle dies, the person recovers and in most cases the prospect of returning to normal activity is good.

Now to the streptokinase. The cause of a heart attack is a plugged artery serving the heart. There are many techniques for unplugging such a vessel, but one of the more exciting ones is use of this drug. It dissolves this clot, plugging the vessel. A small plastic tube is guided upward to the heart arteries from a large leg artery. When the blocked part of the artery is reached, the streptokinase is injected. The blocking clot is dissolved and blood flows freely to the heart muscle. This limits the amount of damage. The procedure is used within a few hours after the actual heart attack.

Many other techniques (more in experimental stages) include use of a special tube with a balloon on the end. It is placed in the artery and inflated at the clot site to break it up. Blood flow is restored. Use of lasers is also being studied to dissolve clots.

Only a few medical centers are using these techniques, and the laser beam procedure has not, as of this writing, been used on humans.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Donohue's Booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Abby

Ex-waitress's husband is serving her raw deal

DEAR ABBY: I am in a marriage that stinks. Freddy (not his real name) is a macho man who doesn't think a married woman should work outside the home. When he met me I was a waitress. (He owns a cattle ranch.) We've been married three months, and I feel like I'm in prison. He still goes out with the boys, stays out late and never tells me where he's been.

I wanted to take a course in flower arranging, but Freddy wouldn't let me. He knows that the man who teaches flower arranging is gay, but Freddy says you don't have to go to bed with a man to fall in love with him. He feels threatened by every man I say hello to. To make sure I didn't have a car of my own, right after we got married he sold his car and "borrowed" mine and never gave it back. Now he's begging me to get pregnant, so I'll really be tied down. I'm 22 and Freddy is 32. Please help me.

FREDDY'S PRISONER
DEAR PRISONER: You are your own "prisoner" — not Freddy's. Nobody owns anybody else, and if you allow Freddy to control you, it's a choice that you made. Tell him how you feel. Then ask yourself if you'd be better off with him or without him, and go with your feelings.

DEAR ABBY: My son was engaged for 16 months to a girl who lives in another state. She broke the engagement last night by telephone. She also said she was keeping the ring because Dear Abby said an engagement ring is a gift and belongs to the girl if the engagement ends.

Abby, did you really say that? My son spent a whole year paying for that ring. As a matter of fact, he still owes money on it. The girl broke his heart, and now she's breaking his pocketbook. Have the rules of etiquette changed?

NO CITY, PLEASE
DEAR NO CITY: The rules have not changed. An engagement ring symbolizes a promise to marry. If the engagement is broken — regardless of who breaks it — the ring should be returned.

DEAR ABBY: I have always taught my children never to eat anything unless they know exactly what it is. But my mother-in-law, normally a sensible woman, has a habit of sampling plants that grow wild to see how they taste and whether she would like to use them in cooking.

Recently our family and my husband's parents went on a camping trip. The third day, I came upon my mother-in-law urging my children to share some "wild dill seeds" she had found. Fortunately, neither of them had eaten any. The "wild dill" was actually water hemlock, one of the most poisonous plants in the United States!

My mother-in-law protested that the government wouldn't "allow" poisonous plants to grow in a federal park, but she agreed not to eat the seeds. Now she is angry with me for "undermining" her with her grandchildren. (Never mind that I probably saved their lives.)

I am a botanist. My specialty is field taxonomy; I am often called upon to identify "weed" plants. I know what I'm talking about, Abby.

Please tell your readers: Never, never eat any unidentified wild plant or berry because it looks good. Know for certain what you are putting into your mouth. If you don't it may cost you a serious illness, maybe even your life!

FORMER FARM GIRL

Chapter makes Thanksgiving plans

Plans about giving a Thanksgiving basket to a needy family were discussed at an Alpha Phi Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi meeting in the home of Karen Hayes Oct. 25.

Linda Bowersox and Tammy Worthan will discuss adopting a grandmother with women at a nursing home. Cindy Jones gave a program about friendship.

The chapter has four pledges. They are Barbara Harris, Wylene Payte, Starla Williams and Melodie Wright. Pledge ritual will be at the city-wide pledge ritual Nov. 17.

Club elects new officers

Year books were distributed to members of Modern Women's Forum at its last meeting in the home of Mrs. Bert Affleck.

New officers are Mrs. F. C. Tibbs, president; Mrs. H. M. Rowe, vice president; and Mrs. Allen Hull, secretary-reporter.

A program on "Trip Across America" was presented.

For the record

Kasi Welch and Tiffani Ward, both neices of the bride, were junior bridesmaids at the wedding of Vanessa Cooper and Bill Burchett, Oct. 21. Their names were not included in the wedding article in the Herald Oct. 21.

NBC rinses the suds from best-selling novel

NEW YORK (AP) — Who would have thought NBC could rinse the suds from Judith Krantz' best-selling novel?

Princess Daisy loses her mother in a car wreck. She watches her father die in a plane crash. Her half-brother rapes her twice. Her twin sister is retarded. Yet viewers won't shed any tears. Throughout all this adversity, Daisy never seems to suffer.

"Princess Daisy," NBC's four-hour miniseries on Sunday and Monday nights, is a victim of too stiff an upper lip. There's no trauma, no convincing anguish, no real deprivation and, what's deadly for this genre, no excitement. The story of the beautiful Daisy, forging an independent life after the tragedies of her past, is too much of a plain Jane.

If TV soap opera has any value, it's the chance to mindlessly wallow in other people's miseries and feel better about our own lots in life. Miss Krantz' "Princess Daisy," "Scrupes" and "Mistral's Daughter" obviously work as escapist entertainment — she's sold more than 7 million books.

But this NBC production, with Miss Krantz' husband, Steve, as executive producer, is emotionally distant, even though it is not as intellectually insulting as most prime-time soaps. Classy performances from Stacy Keach, Lindsay Wagner, Sada Thompson and Claudia Cardinale manage to rescue even the cheapest dialogue. One affirmation of acting ability is that Miss Cardinale can say, "The love of a good man can make the best moments live forever," without viewers grimacing too much.

Merete Van Kamp, who plays Daisy, is not in their class, but the acting novice — who won the role over 700 candidates, according to NBC — doesn't embarrass herself.

Although the Danish-born former model's delivery sounds the same in anger or delight, for a newcomer she's remarkably natural and open in front of the camera.

The miniseries keeps the eye interested with some foreign locales, including the medieval village of Honfleur, France, and several estates in England.

But the mind wanders because the story never rivets. At times, it is so lethargic that the characters even seem to be walking slowly. You could probably read a Krantz book while watching "Princess Daisy" and do justice to both.

Stash Valensky (Keach) is a Russian prince living in Switzerland who marries Francesca, an American film star (Miss Wagner). Five minutes into the miniseries, Francesca has twins — Daisy and Dani, who is brain-damaged. Stash, terrified by his family's history of insanity, tells Francesca that Dani died and hides her in a mental institution.

The Valensky's nurse (Miss Thompson) discovers the deception and informs Francesca, who moves both infant daughters to California, where they begin a new, less opulent life.

But Francesca, while traveling to an acting assignment, drives off a cliff. Daisy and Dani, young girls now, are returned to their father in Europe, and in the movie's most wrenching scene, Stash welcomes Daisy with a hug but ignores Dani. He sends her back to the mental institution.

Stash now lives with Anabel de Fournament (Miss Cardinale), a sweet woman who makes peace between Daisy, who cares deeply for her sister and visits her every week, and Stash. Daisy, Anabel and Stash live in harmony, except when Stash's son from another marriage, Ram (Rupert Everett), a sullen, European preppy, visits. He later falls in love with Daisy.

Ram's lust for Daisy, after the death of their father, serves as the central conflict in the movie's second part. Back in the United States, Daisy attempts to gain financial independence as a producer and, later, star of commercials.

Her love interests are played by Paul Michael Glaser as a commercials director and Robert Urich as a millionaire corporation president. Urich gets to utter the memorable line, "If you're glad to see me, whistle the 'Stars and Stripes Forever.'"

Friday's football forecast

McCamey (6-3) at Stanton (4-5)

Stanton faces a situation slightly different than last year but with basically the same opportunities. Last fall, the Buffaloes whipped Wall but still had to upend McCamey to assure themselves of a playoff berth. This time, the Buffs lost to Wall and must again defeat McCamey to gain post-season play. McCamey was 6-4 last year and has half that team back. QB Ray Zarate is excellent in backfield and works with FB Robert Day behind big offensive line. Buffs had been playing tough defense until Wall game but expect that unit to regroup this week. This one is for all the marbles. Buffs get the edge with the homefield advantage and toughest non-district schedule. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Stanton 19, McCamey 13

Ballinger (8-0-1) at Coahoma (4-5)

Coahoma snapped four-game losing streak with win over Ozona and has opportunity to go 5-5 on the year. Only problem is the opponent this week is No. 7 state-ranked Ballinger. Probably one of the better skill team around, Bearcats have tough defense and QB Aaron Keese leads multi-attacking offense. 'Dogs regained a lot of confidence with win last week but it'll take major upset to pin first loss on Ballinger. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Ballinger 30, Coahoma 18

Colorado City (6-3) at Crane (8-0-1)

This is another game for all the marbles. Colorado City has lost just once, by a touchdown to No. 7 Ballinger, while Crane has tied those same Bearcats 14-14. Golden Cranes are a big team if not spectacular on either offense or defense. Tackle Don Bishop (6-1, 190) is example of Crane's ballclub. Wolves have perhaps best QB in this 3-A area with Doug Chitsey. C-City plays as well on road as home so Crane's home field advantage won't mean much. The fact the Wolves need a win to get in playoff may be the incentive to carry C-City to big victory. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Colorado City 21, Crane 14

Fort Stockton (5-3) at Lamesa (2-6)

Lamesa won two games early in its season but is now hitting the brunt of its scheduled. Fort Stockton was the pre-season choice to win district but Lake View, Sweetwater and Monahans are the teams fighting it out now. Don't expect the Eagles to roll over for Tors. Lamesa hopes to get game off to better start than last week when Pecos scored a lot early and cruised to 38-point win. Lamesa is just not there yet. (Game time 8 p.m.) Fort Stockton 28, Lamesa 11

Greenwood (7-2) at G-City (4-5)

Garden City is out and Greenwood is in. These circumstances usually prove interesting if the underdog decides it wants to win badly enough. Bearcats were picked to finish higher but two straight one-point losses dropped them out of playoff picture. Rangers have won 7-straight and will substitute and preparing for playoffs in this game. Garden City is no pushover with its strong defense and QB Richard Bal'la but Greenwood has too much talent. (Game time is 7:30 p.m.) Greenwood 24, Garden City 20

Sands (6-3) at Klondike (4-5)

Klondike and Sands. A traditional rivalry with more than just pride on the line this year. Neither team is accustomed to fighting it out for a playoff spot but that's the case this year. Coogs have solid defense and RB Rolando Juntos. Mustangs have RB Robby Creswell. Home turf won't help KHS much since both towns will be present at game. This should be real shootout. Klondike, which has been improving with each game, may have too much defense for Sands. It'll be close but nod goes to Klondike to avenge last year's defeat. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Klondike 28, Sands 19

Forsan (2-6-1) at Loraine (1-8)

Forsan recorded its second win of the year by shutting out Roby and has great chance to make it two straight against Loraine. Loraine has won just once and missed last week's game with Sands because of injury problems. Mitch Hays, Forsan's talented RB, should have a big night against Bulldogs and Buffalo defense could get another shutout, all of which should help program rebound next fall. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Forsan 38, Loraine 6

Lueders Avoca (5-3) at Grady (4-4)

Grady has played 500 football this year which coach Richard Gibson probably had hoped his rebuilding program could do. The Wildcats close out the season against two of the better teams in the district. Lueders-Avoca was a pick for the runner-up slot but couldn't keep pace with Trent. Look for Grady to play one of its better games but LA has two quality offensive weapons. (Game time is 7 p.m.) Lueders Avoca 47, Grady 32

Steers take on spoiler role

Big Spring stands in way of faint Central playoff hopes

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

SAN ANGELO — Dang those Bobcats, they've done it again. Strolling through the early portions of the schedule and gaining a state top 5 ranking, coach Jimmy Keeling's crew again needs a series of "miracles" to get into post-season.

Central rumbled off to a 5-0 start before Permian claimed a 39-21 victory in the Concho City. Since then, the Bobcats have lost twice more and stand 3-3 in the District 4-5A standings.

Of course, that was the situation last year. San Angelo stood 3-3, nipped Big Spring 15-14 and then won a series of coinflips to gain the playoffs. Then it took three rounds for the 'Cats to bow out.

What has to happen tonight is this simple. San Angelo must again defeat Big Spring, hope Odessa and Lee both lose — dropping each of those teams to 4-3 — and then win a coinflip among second place teams to reach the playoffs.

Checking past records, it could happen. The Steers, occupying a spoiler role again, aren't so sure lightning can strike twice in the same place; one way to prevent that is winning tonight's ballgame.

"Central is a well-coached, highly-talented football ballclub," says Big Spring head football coach Quinn Eudy. "They play a lot of power football and their defense is big, physical and quick."

Eudy plans in part to copy an earlier strategy of Abilene High. With quarterback Greg Thomas out with an injury and the Eagles playing only the run, the Bobcats lost a crucial game 12-0 in Abilene. "Yes, we're going to play the run first and make them pass. If we can't stop the run, we don't have to worry about the pass," Eudy said.

Thomas, who has rushed for 198 yards, has passed only 41 times in eight games for 342 yards and has been intercepted five times.

The Bobcats are a run-oriented team, operating from the wing-T, full house and power-I backfield sets. Central leads the 4-5A in rushing offense with 2,581 yards and boasts two backs in the top league's top 10. Senior tailback Derrick Campbell, ranked No. 4, needs just 27 yards to top the 1,000-yard mark while junior fullback Bevans Hoffman, rated No. 8, has 589 yards and has scored a dozen touchdowns.

Defensively, the Bobcats set up in a 4-3 and give up just 218 yards a game, the third best performance among 4-5 A teams. The 'Cats have the No. 2 pass defense behind Abilene High.

Eudy will go with his same offensive plan and has confidence the Steer defense will do its job. "We are very capable of stopping them," he said. "Basically, we've played good defense all year with the exception of two games."

Senior Dale Crenshaw will start in Robert Porras' strong safety position. Porras was injured in last week's 51-13 loss to Permian and remains hospitalized with "acute trauma to the liver." The team's defensive secondary leader also stands No. 3 in the league in pass receptions and will be replaced by junior Tommy Rodriguez.

"They've reacted real positively," Eudy says of losing Porras. Counteracting the loss of Porras is the surprise return of senior linebacker Mike McKinley who will start along side junior Jerry Anderson tonight. McKinley injured a knee against Odessa and was thought to be lost for the season. "That's definitely a plus for us. He's looked good in practice and we're real excited about him playing tonight," Eudy said.

Tommy Gartman will start at quarterback while sophomore Carl Speck will see some action Eudy promised. Gartman (32 of 77, 448 yards) threw three interceptions in the first half against Permian but had over 100 yards in the second half and guided the Steers to one of their two touchdowns.

Part-time starter Mark Johnson is out with an aggravated knee injury. Eudy said Thursday he will undergo off-season surgery.

Junior fullback Jay Pirkle is the league's No. 9 rusher with 462 yards and five touchdowns. Tight end Charlie Ragan is No. 6 in receiving (17 catches) while Crenshaw stands No. 9 (15 catches). Pirkle is also the No. 2 punter in the district with a 38.3 average on 46 kicks.

In other games on the final night of regular season play, Permian battles crosstown rival Odessa High, Midland takes on Lee and Cooper tests Abilene High. Permians leads the district with an 8-1 overall mark and 5-1 district record.

Four area teams fight for playoffs

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

Four Big Spring area football teams have the chance to prolong their seasons with victories in the final games of the regular season tonight.

The biggest battle comes in the District 7-A North Zone where Sands (6-3 and 3-1) battles Klondike (4-5 and 3-1) for second place and the zone's second playoff berth. Roscoe, unbeaten at 4-0 in league play, has locked up the zone championship.

The Mustangs are coming off an unexpected open week after last Friday's game with Loraine was forfeited. Running back Robby Creswell leads all rushers in the league with 1,190 yards in eight games while backfield mate Santos Ybarra has contributed 745.

"We tried to rest and healed up," said coach Jim White. He's expecting a hard night, trying to move the football against Klondike's defense and stopping Cougar back Rolando Juntos.

"They have a real quick, hard-hitting, aggressive defense," he says. "We're going to have to block like crazed fools. Juntos runs real hard. We're going to have to be in a tackling mood."

Cougar coach Mickey Virdell has as much respect for Sands. "We're going to have to keep the ball away from Creswell. Ybarra is another threat back there. Creswell blocks real well for him. They have a balanced ballclub; it's not just all Creswell."

The schools are located 15 miles apart and the game always presents a traditional rivalry. "We've never played a 10th ballgame that had any meaning," White said. Virdell agreed this is big game. "Throw in the fact this game means so much and it's going to a hard-fought contest. Both teams will be completely fired up."

Sands, with Creswell rushing for 211 yards, won this game 29-8 last year.

Further south, Stanton takes on McCamey to select District 8-AA's No. 2 team. Both schools are 3-1 in league play; the winner advances into the playoffs.

The Buffaloes are 4-5 overall but lost to three top 10 rated team in non-district play. The defending district champs downed McCamey 25-6 last year.

Colorado City faces a similar situation. The Wolves are 3-1 in district play, losing by a touchdown to No. 7 state-ranked Ballinger. They travel to Crane to face the 8-0-1 Golden Cranes.

Crane tied Ballinger 14-14 last week but is technically second as the Bearcats had more first downs (20-7) after the teams tied on penetrations.

The winner of the game gains a playoff berth and could win the district title should Coahoma upset Ballinger. The Wolves won this game 21-14 last year.

Queens rope Navarro

WACO — Howard College used a pressure-man, full-court defense for the second straight night and the strategy paid off in a 74-58 victory over Navarro here Thursday night.

The win was the first of the season for the Hawks Queens who opened play in the McLennan Classic with a 15-point loss to the host High Lassies Wednesday night. Howard completes play at 4 p.m. this afternoon against Panola which dropped its first game to McLennan Thursday night.

Trailing McLennan by 20 points at halftime Wednesday, the Queens put on their pressure defense and cut the lead to eight points. Against Navarro, the Howard pressure-man boosted a six-point halftime spread into a 20-point advantage and allowed coach Don Stevens to clear his bench late in the game.

"I picked our five quickest, hardest-playing girls and put them in a pressure-man," he explained. The combination of Janene Berry, Molly Early, Debbie Hall, Kari Robinson and Pat Carter proved too much for Navarro which lost its second tournament game.

Early led all scorers in the game with 24 points, hitting 12 field goals from the outside range. "Molly was really bombing them in," Stevens said. "They weren't layups; they were way outside. I think at one time she hit about seven straight. She really blossomed for us and did just what I wanted her to do. She had been hesitant in our practices but last night she really was aggressive.

"Janene played absolutely great, both defensively and scoring-wise," he added. Berry contributed 17 points while Hall and Alex Provincio each had eight rebounds.

Howard fell behind 6-0 early in the game but assumed the lead for good at 8-6. That margin increased to a peak of 15 points in the first half before Navarro closed the margin to six at halftime.

In Panola, Howard faces a 6-3 post player who transferred from Stephen F. Austin. She scored 27 first half points against McLennan, Stevens reported.

The Queens return for a home game Tuesday night at 6 p.m., playing Ranger College in the first game of a "Nostalgia Night" doubleheader in the old gymnasium on campus.

Howard (74) — Shelly Kay 0-33; Alex Provincio 2-0-4; Pat Carter 1-2-4; Velda Dalphrey 2-0-4; Debbie Young 0-0-0; Kari Robinson 3-0-6; Molly Early 12-0-24; Janene Berry 8-1-17; Debbie Hall 4-0-8; Diane Dickson 1-1-3; Allison Dickson 0-1-1; Totals 33-8-74
Navarro (58) — Zena Pippins 0-22; Angles Coy 2-4-8; Lisa Carnes 4-0-8; Sharon Boldings 1-0-2; Lashone Ethridge 1-0-2; Kim Holman 0-1-1; Kim Williams 3-2-8; Tracy Reeves 4-0-8; Deborah Fields 2-0-4; Sonya Rice 2-2-6; Karen Spencer 3-3-9; Totals 22-14-58

THERE'S AN OLD FLAME BURNING...—Jimmy Connors looks over his shoulders and jokingly scolds doubles partner Chris Evert-Lloyd after she missed a shot during their World Mixed Doubles Championship Match. The two, who were engaged earlier in their careers, defeated Jimmy Brown and Zina Garrison Thursday night.

Jimmy and Chrissy back 'together'

HOUSTON (AP)—It has been nine years since Chris Evert Lloyd and Jimmy Connors teamed as partners and advanced to the finals in the mixed doubles division of the U.S. Open.

They were engaged at the time and although they have since gone separate ways, they still have a winning rapport on a tennis court.

"We're not playing with strangers," Connors said Thursday night after the Connors-Lloyd team joked and played its way to a 6-2, 6-3 victory over Zina Garrison and Jimmy Brown in a first round match of the $400,000 World Mixed Doubles Championships.

"We still felt comfortable playing together after nine years. It's good to talk back and forth and to be positive."

Mixed Doubles

There were few negatives in the easy victory. Connors-Lloyd broke Brown in the fifth game and Garrison in the seventh in the first set and still had time to entertain the crowd.

Connors tried unsuccessfully to return one of Garrison's lobs between his legs. On another occasion, he pointed a finger at Evert Lloyd after she set Brown up for an easy winner.

"I had a ball, but once a year is plenty for mixed doubles," Connors said. "If I'd hit some of those shots years ago, I'd have quit by now. This is fun time but I don't think we played too badly."

A major hurdle could occur for Lloyd on Sunday if she has to face her husband, John Lloyd, who, along with partner Wendy Turnbull, is top seeded in the tournament.

Two girls say Henderson threatened, assaulted them

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Former Dallas Cowboys linebacker Thomas Edward "Hollywood" Henderson was free on $6,000 bail Thursday night after being arrested when two teen-age girls told police he held them at gunpoint, demanded sex, assaulted them and then threatened to kill them.

Long Beach Detectives Jerry Gadbad and Sgt. Don Hesslink said Henderson, 30, was taken into custody at his Ocean Boulevard apartment Wednesday evening.

Officers said they found a .38-caliber revolver in the apartment, as well as narcotics paraphernalia, some rum and about $200.

Lt. Jim Reed, a night watch commander, said Henderson was booked for investigation of oral copulation, kidnapping, exhibition of a firearm in a threatening manner and use of a gun in the commission of a felony.

Gadbad and Hesslink said Henderson was apparently walking to a store several blocks from his apartment at about 8 p.m. Wednesday when he met the girls, who are 15 and 17 years old.

The 17-year-old, who is a paraplegic and confined to a wheelchair, told the Long Beach Press-Telegram that she and her friend were on their way to a bus stop to go to a birthday party when they saw Henderson "getting ready to light up a Kool."

She said Henderson was carrying a "half-pint of Bacardi (rum)."

"We asked him for a cigarette," said the girl, who is a student in Long Beach. "When he gave us a cigarette, he said, 'Do you know who I am?'"

"We said, 'No.'"

The girls, who were interviewed Thursday, said the man identified himself as "Hollywood Henderson."

"We'd never met a star before," the older girl said. "So we were thrilled to meet a star. So we asked him for a picture, to show our friends."

Henderson, the girls said, told them he had a plaque in his apartment that would verify who he was. They said they accompanied him there.

The girls alleged that for three hours Henderson wielded a gun and forced them to remove their clothes. They alleged he threw them about, kicked them and ordered the 15-year-old to perform a sexual act or be killed.

Henderson, reached at his home late Thursday, denied that he had threatened the girls' lives at gunpoint.

"I was solicited on the street," Henderson said. "And they stole some things from me. I retained those things."

He said the girls took $100, but "I got my money back."

He refused further comment.

THE LIGHT TOUCH

By Sherry Wegner

There are a few people remaining that have to pay income tax, and believe it or not, some of them are farmers! (It would be nice to be in this category again!) Anyway, here is a bit of info for you lucky farmers who are still paying.

"In the case of insurance proceeds or disaster payments as a result of destruction or damage to crops, a taxpayer reporting on the cash receipts & disbursements method of accounting may elect to include such income for the following taxable year, if he establishes that income from such crops would have been reported in the following taxable year."

Maybe this will come of you lucky farmers out there that has too much income!

If you're looking for a place to spend some of that "excess income" we will be glad to accommodate you at Big Spring Seed & Chemical, 602 N.E. 2nd, the leader in friendly service. Shop here for spray parts, feed & small grains. Consult Sherry about 1984 Crop Insurance. Back the Steers tonight for their last game.

Save energy with a heat pump.

If you're planning to install a new heating or cooling system, consider a high-efficiency heat pump. It's an energy-saving, year-round alternative.

The heat pump provides year-round heating and cooling, using only electricity. During the winter, it extracts heat from the outside air (even very cold air contains heat) and brings that heat inside where it's needed. In the summer, the heat pump is a regular air conditioner, removing unwanted heat from the inside air.

The heat pump is the most efficient combination heating and cooling system that can be installed in your home today.

To learn more about the heat pump, call your air conditioning contractor. And when you call, ask about the year-round heat pump that qualifies for a bonus check from Texas Electric.

Flag football tournament begins Saturday morning

The Big Spring Jaycees, in conjunction with Coors and radio station KWKI, are sponsoring a flag football tournament to benefit the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center beginning Saturday morning at Blankenship Field.

The double elimination tourney carries an $80 per team entry fee. Rosters are limited to 20 players. To enter, call Dave Trusty at 267-4121 or Bo Strickland at 263-7866 before 5 p.m. this afternoon.

Eleven teams are entered in the tournament at this time. Play begins at 7 a.m. Saturday and continues throughout the day. Final action is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. Sunday. Following the championship game, an awards ceremony is scheduled at the Coors hospitality room.

Proceeds from the event go partially to the Dora Roberts center.

Coed volleyball starts today

A coed church volleyball tournament sponsored by the First Baptist Church begins today and continues through Saturday at the FBC Family Life Center.

Trophies will be given to the top five teams with individual trophies going to the top three teams. The tournament ball will go to the team exhibiting the best sportsmanship.

Howard hosts Sul Ross JV Saturday night in DGC

The Howard College Hawks host the Sul Ross junior varsity in a non-league basketball game Saturday at 8 p.m. in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The Hawks are 1-0 in the season, opening play Tuesday night with an 80-66 victory over Wayland Baptist. Dwight Harris is scoring 24 points and Jerry Stroman 20 points a game for the Hawks.

Howard hosts the Lubbock Christian junior varsity at 8 p.m. Tuesday in a "Nostalgia Night" game in the old gymnasium on campus.

BSHS to swim in Seminole

The Big Spring High swim teams will be in Seminole Saturday for an invitational meet.

Both Steers and Lady Steers teams will be competing in the event which is scheduled to begin at 12 noon. Both squads continue District 4-5A dual meet action Tuesday with a swim in San Angelo.

Monahans trips BSHS twice

MONAHANS — Both Big Spring High ninth grade took tumbles in their season finales here Thursday night.

Stephen Young scored on a six-yard run in the fourth quarter but the Steers' two-point conversion pass was knocked down, allowing Monahans to hold on to a 7-6 victory over the Steer B team.

Coach John Velasquez praised offensive players Young, Albert Garza and John Renteria and defensive performers Danny Wise, Ricky Valencia, Heith Roby and Manuel Hilario for their play in the game.

The A team fell 42-0, although the Steers' performance was not indicative of the final score. Defensively, Todd Coker, Victor Pruitt, Sidney Parker, Raymond Ontiveros, Jerry Paradez and Charlie Ogle were cited for their play while Jimmy Casey, Marcus Ramos and John Hart were selected for offense.

The A team finished at 2-7 while the B team ended its season with a 3-4 record.

Langer, Simpson lead Kapalua after 2 rounds

KAPALUA, Hawaii (AP) — The key to leading after the second round of the $300,000 Kapalua Interational Championship of Golf, according to Bernard Langer and Scott Simpson who are tied for first place, was being able to read the greens and putt well.

Simpson, 28, from San Diego, collected six birdies in Thursday's second round for a course record 6-under-par 65 after his opening day 70. His most spectacular shot was a 20-foot uphill putt on the par-4, 475-yard 18th hole.

Langer, who went into the round with a 69, managed to card four birdies and an eagle, but had one bogey to give him a 5-under-par 66 for the day and a total 7-under-par 135 for the two rounds.

The West German's best shot was on the par-4, 356-yard 13th hole where on his second shot he stroked a 25-foot putt into the cup for the eagle. The advantage was lost on the next hole, however, when got a bogey after going into the bunker.

One stroke back at 136 going into Friday's third round were Bob Gilder and Aussie Greg Norman.

Langer, winner of this year's European Players Championship and the Italian Open, said he always tries to drive the green. "I figure if I can carry the bunkers, I will have a chance," he said.

He expects things will get rougher in the final two rounds. "Obviously, they will make the course harder, moving the tees back and putting the pins in tougher position," he said.

Gilder, the first-round leader with a 66, said he was reading the greens quite well and making his putts up until the par-4, 395-yard 11th hole. He was at 8-under when he lost his concentration and fired a shot into the bunker and ended with a bogey.

On the next hole, a 3-par, 198-yard 12th, he chipped to the back of the green and had to three-putt for another bogey.

"I was putting for the first nine holes like yesterday," Gilder said. "I hit the ball good, putted well then I just completely lost my concentration."

Norman, who is also one stroke back after the first round with a 67, said he knows he will play better in the remaining two days of the tournament because the amateurs will not be on the course.

"From a professional point of view, it is easier to play when there are no amateurs," said Norman. "My approach in the next two days is to be a little more aggressive."

"The greens will be smoother and you will see everyone making more putts. You have to be able to read the greens and make the putts if you want the $100,000 top prize," Norman said.

Phoenix blitzes Spurs, 142-120

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — With back-to-back losses in the first two games of the National Basketball Association season, Phoenix Suns Coach John MacLeod said "some people thought we were dead, but I never thought that."

Thursday night, the Suns came back to life thanks to a torrid second quarter and beat the San Antonio Spurs 142-120 for their first win of the year.

Alvan Adams scored 15 of his 21 points in the pivotal 43-point period as Phoenix, now 1-2, erased a 29-28 first-quarter deficit and took a 71-53 halftime lead. Rory White added 13 points in the second quarter and Paul Westphal eight with the Suns' substitutes outscoring San Antonio's reserves 40-10.

Phoenix led by as many as 30 points in the third quarter and took a 108-86 cushion into the final period en route to the rout.

"Everybody played hard and played unselfishly," said Suns guard Walter Davis, who scored 13 of his 19 points in the third period. "The first two games, we didn't play up to our potential and we didn't play well defensively. We gave up too many easy baskets. This time, we cranked up the fast break and got things going."

San Antonio, suffering its second straight loss, saw its record slip to 1-3 despite 21 points from Artis Gilmore. George Gervin added 20 for the Spurs and Keith Edmonson 18.

Luther recognized by church

Members of St. Paul Lutheran Church will celebrate the anniversary of the birth of Dr. Martin Luther, Nov. 6. Martin was born Nov. 10, 1483.

The Rev. Carroll C. Kohl, pastor, will speak on the theme "To God Be The Glory" during the 8:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. Sunday services. Hymns written by Luther will be sung.

Music by the Adult Choir will include "A Mighty Fortress is Our God", accompanied by Angela Kohl, organist, and Karen Crandall, Sherri Criswell, and Dwain Fox, trumpets. A meal will be served in the new Parish Hall. Members of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League are supervising.

A filmstrip presentation during the afternoon will conclude the day's festivities.

"The teaching of the Lutheran church is still basically the same as it was during the reformation," Kohl said.

THE REV. CARROLL KOHL
...pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church

"However, the practice and the method of worship, order of services, and social philosophy has changed a lot over the years in an attempt to meet the need in each new generation."

as other Christian churches, believes in salvation and eternal life through faith of Jesus Christ," Kohl said. "It differs somewhat from other Christian churches in that it is a little more formal in its worship and historical in its perspective. But it is very evangelical, evangelistic, gospel-centered church."

"The Lutheran church originally spread throughout Europe, then eventually made its way around the entire world. Today, the Lutheran Church is the largest Protestant church in the world. It is found in every country of the world, and in the U.S. the Lutheran Church is the fourth largest protestant church."

Lutherans have been in West Texas since late 1800's. The first service held in Big Spring was in 1887. "Since that time the church has continued to exist as a small church," Kohl said. It has 275 members now.

Budget planned at convention

AMARILLO, Texas — A proposed $55.7 million Cooperative Program budget for missions causes and the election of a new president topped the agenda for the annual Baptist General Convention of Texas in Amarillo Nov. 1-3. D.L. Lowrie, pastor of First Baptist Church, Lubbock, and current BGCT president, has served the maximum two one-year terms. The annual convention sermon was delivered by Paul Powell, pastor of Green Acres Baptist Church, Tyler.

Other key speakers included Lowrie, who gave the president's message during the opening session;

William M. Pinson Jr., executive director of the Baptist General Convention of Texas; Jose Riva, dean for academic affairs at Hispanic Baptist Theological Seminary, San Antonio.

Shaffer speaks at fellowship

Tim Winn gave a report of the Rainbow Project during a meeting of Howard County Ministerial Fellowship.

The license for the Rainbow Project has been applied for and house parents have been obtained. The United Fund said that if they provided funding for the project no other fund raising would be allowed. Two pastors will be rotated off the Rainbow Project board this year.

A report was given on the Bible Fund. More than $12,000 has been contributed. Bible classes are being provided at Big Spring, Forsan, and Coahoma High Schools.

Paul Shaffer of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce "Quality of Life" committee, was guest speaker. The scope of the committee's work is concerned with anything that affects the quality of life in Howard County. The group is sponsoring "The Chemical People", a nationally produced TV program dealing with war on drugs. The first part of the program shows what the drug problem is trying to break down, the area of denial. The second part tells how to combat the problems. A drug investigation has been funded by the city.

Riggins speaks church

Bethel Assembly Church of Flowergrove will have the Rev. Mike Riggins at its Sunday morning services, Nov. 6. The public is invited.

Riggins, pastor of Bethel Community Church of Grandberry, previously has been minister in the Flowergrove community. Riggins will be joined by his wife, Nadine, and sons, Chris, and Jeremy. Mrs. Riggins is a native of Flowergrove and daughter of Fred Beckmeyer of Flowergrove.

The church is located six miles west of Ackerly on FM 2002. Sunday school is at 10 a.m., with services at 11 a.m.

Organization says proposed bill unlawful

Washington, D.C. — The Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith recently warned that a proposed House Bill to permit prayer and other religious activities in the nation's public schools is unconstitutional because it violates the principle of separation of church and state.

Testifying before a House education subcommittee, Ruti G. Teitel, assistant director of ADL's Legal Affairs Department, said the proposed legislation — House Bill 2732 — advances religion and "will excessively entangle government in religion." Ms. Teitel testified the proposed bill incorrectly equates religious extracurricular activities with such secular pursuits as stamp collecting or hockey by seeking to provide student and faculty "equal access" to school facilities.

Bazaar held at church

The Church of God of Prophecy will have a sale of handmade Christmas crafts and homemade burritos. The bazaar will be in the Highland Park Mall from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday.

Board elects officers

Officers were elected during a meeting of Church Women United Board at the First Christian Church for a covered dish luncheon, Oct. 28.

Officers for 1984 are Mary Ernsting, president, Helen Braun, first vice president, Rielt Kionka, second vice president, Anna Smith, secretary, Jane Watson, treasurer, Madeline Boadle, task force chairman, and Louise Porter, publicity. World Community Day will be celebrated at 10 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Nov. 4.

Plans for a bake sale on April 14 were made. Cookbooks by the Church Women United will be ready for delivery around Dec. 1.

Church plans revival

Don Cowan of Plano will be guest speaker at the Lay Renewal Revival at First Church of the Nazarene, beginning at 7 p.m. tonight. Cowan's theme will be "You Make the Difference Through Jesus."

He will speak at 7 p.m., Saturday, and at 10:50 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday. Subjects that will be discussed are "Why Should I Be Different?", "When Should I Be Different?", "Who Makes the Difference?", and "What Makes the Difference?"

Cowan, formerly of Big Spring, is manager of Montgomery Ward and serves as a director of evangelism in Plano.

Church plans bazaar

The women of Wesley United Methodist Church will have a bazaar and chili lunch on Saturday. The bazaar will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The church is located at 12th and Owens St. The public is invited.

The chili lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to noon. Jack Price will make the chili. The cost of the lunch will be $3 for adults. Children can get a hot dog meal for $1.50.

Proceeds from the bazaar will be used for mission work, and local and community concerns.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now you have an excellent Saturday to plan and organize your daily and other duties in such a fashion that you will be able to have long-time beneficial results follow.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A fine day to converse with business people who can give you good ideas and advice you need for the future.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get together with partners and discuss the future so that more can be accomplished in the days ahead.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get into that work that is difficult to do during the busy work days and gain added income for yourself.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Get into amusements that will give you success from worries and have a good time. You deserve it.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Establish more harmony at home instead of stirring up trouble there, just for the fun of it. Stop being cantankerous.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get your shopping and marketing done early and first make out a list so that you forget nothing. The cupboard is bare!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study your current financial position and get into something that will give you added income. You need it right now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Concentrate on your own aims and how best to gain them. Seek out one who can be of assistance to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't criticize anyone and go after your personal aims and gain them easily. Try to be more patient.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Clarification of innate desires makes it easier for you to attain them. You need to establish a clear direction.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't offend a fellow worker and be more concerned with your career. Early see that influential person who can aid you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You get fine new ideas, but study them well before you utilize them since they will be in effect for a long time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of these delightful young persons with much self determination and not be easily thwarted once the mind is made up to do something, so make sure that only the finest types of individuals are around your progeny.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
