Center workers honored

By KEITH BRISCOE
City Editor

Members of the Northside Community Center Saturday night honored volunteer workers and heard from Big Spring's mayor that the city intends to renew the center's lease for another year.

At an awards banquet at the Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Clyde Angel said the City Council is expected to approve a one-year lease for the center, located on N.E. Eighth.

"I have no doubt it's going to be approved," Angel said. "I see nothing to prevent another 12 months' extension."

The center, which opened June 4, is completing a six-month lease on a building owned by the city. The center is operated by People and Community Development (PACD), a community group formed early this year to promote civic responsibility in the north side neighborhood.

"Some people thought it (the center) was impossible," said Marianne Brown, president of PACD. "But we're here tonight to honor these very special people for making it possible."

She said the center was enabled to remain open because of money raised by a recent walk-a-thon, and most of the certificates of appreciation were given to the center's VOLUNTEERS, page 2A

FORT WORTH CHAMBER ORCHESTRA
...to appear in Big Spring

Symphony season opener set

The Big Spring Symphony Association will begin its fourth season of concerts with the presentation of the Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra at 8 p.m. Friday at the Big Spring High School Auditorium.

Tickets from last season's cancelled third concert will be honored at the Nov. 11 presentation, Association President Sam Woodward said Tuesday.

The concert will open with the Rossini Overture to "La Cenerentola" (Cinderella), followed by the Mozart violin concerto in A Major. The concert will close with the "Italian" Symphony by Mendelssohn.

Featured soloist will be Concertmaster Robert Davidovici, performing the Mozart A-Major violin concerto on the "Davis" Stradivarius violin.

The Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra, under the leadership of Music Director John Giordano, has attained an international reputation for excellence. The orchestra has received rave reviews in locales ranging from New York's Carnegie Hall to the Peoples Republic of China. The orchestra has also toured Mexico and over 50 cities in Texas.

This season's opening concert is made possible in part by grants from the American Petrofina Foundation, the Texas Commission on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Single admission tickets will be sold in advance at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, the credit department at Dunlap's Department Store, and the Copper Kettle in the Big Spring Mall. Tickets are $7.50 for adults and $4.00 for students and senior citizens.

Officials give mixed reviews of PIK program

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Although cotton farmers were eligible for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Payments-In-Kind (PIK) program for one year, area agricultural officials gave the program mixed reviews.

About one-half of the eligible land in Howard County — about 50,000 acres — were set aside in 1983 for participation in the PIK program, according to Howard County agricultural extension agent Don Richardson.

Cotton cash marketings are up about eight to 10 cents this year from last year's prices, Howard County Farm Bureau President Paul Hopper of Knott said.

The average cash marketing for cotton Friday was 59 to 60 cents, Hopper said. However, the comparison may not be accurate since last year's cotton crop was generally of a poorer quality, he said.

The marketing is subject to fluctuation, and may drastically decrease because of the damage the current rain is doing to the cotton still in the fields, Hopper said. Cash sales this year in Howard County are light, he said.

"It's hard to say what the effects of the program are in Howard County," Richardson said. "This was a good year to participate in the program. There was such a terrible drought."

Farmers who put a lot of land into the PIK program were helped by the program, Richardson said.

"Those who went heavily into the program made something. The others didn't make anything," the county extension agent said.

Farmers had the option to put varying amounts of land in the PIK program, Richardson said. Some farmers put almost 100 percent of their land into the program; however, the average farmer in Howard County put 50 percent of his cotton fields into the program, he said.

The program is based on the previous cropping history of the acreage, Richardson said. In exchange for taking some land out of production, farmers were given the equivalent of what they produced last year on that same acreage.

"It (the PIK program) may have eliminated the surplus of cotton on the market. But the drought may have eliminated the surplus and raised prices as much as PIK. It's See PIK page 2A

Congressmen visit battle sites

ST. GEORGE'S, Grenada (AP) — U.S. congressmen visited battle sites and talked with the acting civilian leader of this Caribbean nation Saturday in an attempt to determine what led President Reagan to order the U.S. invasion.

When the 14 congressmen arrived Friday, the commander of U.S. forces on Grenada, Maj. Gen. Edward Trobaugh, said many of the Cubans on the island apparently were construction workers, and that the U.S. military had no hard evidence that American residents were in immediate danger before the invasion Oct. 25.

The chairman of the 14-member congressional delegation, Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., said Saturday it is possible American troops might be needed on Grenada "into the next year" to enable the government to establish full control over the island and move toward elections.

Rep. Dick Cheney, R-Wyo., said, "I think we'll have a (military) contingent here for at least a few months."

Also in Washington, the State Department on Friday released what it said were captured documents showing that Grenada's Prime Minister Maurice Bishop and other Marxist leaders on the island — including those who overthrew and killed him — had arranged treaties for nearly $38 million in military aid from the Soviet Union, Cuba and North Korea.

U.S. Army Major Douglas Frey said nearly 1,000 Grenadian army soldiers — out of a total force numbering about 1,200 — had surrendered or been captured. Most gave authorities their names and addresses and were released under a general amnesty. A few top officers have been detained, officials said.

Frey said army teams sweeping the island also found four new caches of weapons stockpiled by the overthrown junta, including 60mm mortar tubes, mortar rounds, anti-personnel mines and anti-aircraft ammunition.

Arafat loses ally in fighting

TRIPOLI, Lebanon (AP) — PLO chairman Yasser Arafat and his outgunned guerrillas fought off tank, rocket and artillery fire from Syrian-backed militiamen Saturday, and hospital sources reported 240 dead and 550 wounded in three days of fighting.

Among the dead were Arafat's ally Abu Mustafa, head of the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, his wife and five children who perished when a shell hit their house in the Nahr el-Bared camp, the camp commander said.

Outside the Islamic Hospital, Tripoli's biggest, a trailer truck was turned into a morgue and bodies were piled in layers on blocks of ice.

A doctor said the hospital morgue was full and that only the severely wounded were being treated in the facility.

"We are saturated and I don't know how we can cope," he said, asking to remain anonymous. "No medicines. No blood. No electricity. No fuel for generators. And no staff."

Artillery shells and rockets from multiple launchers in the Syrian-held mountains poured on the two Palestinian refugee camps on the outskirts of this northern Lebanese port, pressing a six-month-old rebel offensive to depose Arafat as chief of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

"They want to end the PLO," Arafat said of Syria. "They want to create an alternative PLO that will be a puppet in their hands. But I tell them, I will only bow to God and to the will of my people."

"I will fight and die here with my people but will never compromise on my peoples' dignity, independence or rights," Arafat told The Associated Press at the Baddawi camp.

Grim memory

Nation recalls Kennedy's assassination

(Editor's Note: President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas 20 years ago this month. The Associated Press has compiled several stories on the anniversary, including this one on the memories people have of the assassination.)

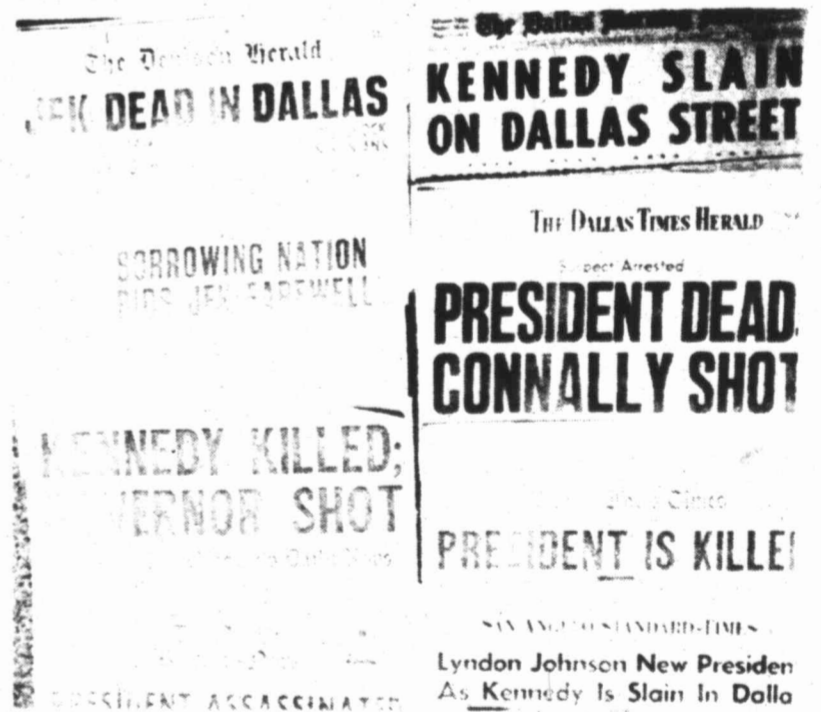

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first dreadful flash from Dallas clattered over bell-ringing teleprinters in newsrooms across the country at 1:34 p.m., Eastern time.

The news raced to car radios and street-corner transistors, then to television.

Hardly had the startled pigeons returned to their perches in Dealey Plaza than an entire nation was plunged into mourning. For four agonizing days in late November 1963, Americans wept, prayed, shook their fists and stared at their TV sets, numbed by the sights and sounds of the unthinkable.

Even now, 20 years later, people who have trouble remembering details of a wedding or the birth of a child can recall with remarkable clarity exactly where they were, and what they were doing, when they first heard that John F. Kennedy had been assassinated.

A man braked his car to a halt in the middle of a busy New York intersection and ran over to a sidewalk luncheonette. "Is it true?" he asked. Without looking up, the counterwoman replied, "Yes, he's dead." The motorist returned to his car, slumped behind the wheel and listened to the radio, oblivious to the impatient honking around him. "My God! My God! What are we coming to?" said Speaker

Police Beat

Man injured in wreck

A Big Spring man was injured about 9 p.m. Saturday when he lost control of his motorcycle at the intersection of Gregg and 17th Streets, police said.

James Christopher Reneau, 23, of 1504 A Sycamore was driving his Suzuki GS75ES south on Gregg when he tried to stop for a red light at the intersection of 17th, witnesses said.

"The bike went out of control and slid out from under him. Both were sliding and the bike ended up on top of him," Sue Villalendo of 405 Westover said.

Ms. Villalendo stopped to assist Reneau, who was unconscious for five minutes before the ambulance arrived.

Reneau, whom police said suffered a small head injury and a possible broken leg, was taken by Shaffer Ambulance to Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Police arrested two men Friday evening on suspicion of making alcohol available to a minor.

Arrested were: John Michael McMurray, 19, of Sterling City Route and Thomas Jasper Evans, 24, of 410 E. 18th. Both were later transferred to the county jail and released on bond.

McMurray was released on $1,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin. Evans was released on $1,500 bond set by Acting Municipal Judge John Stanley.

Also arrested at 5:27 p.m. Friday were two teenagers on suspicion of being a minor in possession of alcohol. Each was later released on $45 bond.

Rosetta Smith, 24, of 1002 N. Main was arrested at 4:01 p.m. Friday in the 300 block of N.W. Third on a warrant for suspicion of retaliation.

Elmer Arvin King, 65, of 609 E. 18th was arrested at 5:21 p.m. Friday after being involved in a two-car accident at the 1200 block of Nolan on suspicion of a felony offense of driving while intoxicated, failure to carry a Texas driver's license and failure to maintain financial responsibility.

Randy Isbell told police Saturday that someone had pulled seven stop signs and seven street signs out of the ground and threw them in the middle of the street at Rebecca and Central.

Tommy Lee Gartman of 2608 Alamesa told police at 1:23 a.m. Saturday that someone, between 4:30 p.m. Friday and 1:30 a.m. Saturday, stole $500 of stereo equipment from his parked car. The person also caused $150 damage to his vehicle, reports show.

Police reports show that someone, between 1 and 2 p.m. Saturday caused $50 damage to the J.C. Penneys' west store window and seven vehicles in the Big Spring Mall parking lot near Penneys by marking them with black shoe polish.

Ida Belle Johnson of 708 Pine told police Friday that someone, between 11:30 and 7 p.m. Friday stole a color and a black-and-white television set worth $485 and two pieces of yellow Samsonite luggage worth $400 from her residence.

Connie Kern of 2632 Langley told police at 7:59 p.m. Friday that while she was walking home in front of 2630 Langley, someone grabbed her from behind and choked her neck in an attempt to steal her purse.

Luis Ramos of 1408 Robin told police at 8:29 p.m. Friday that a white male pulled a handgun on him and threatened him with bodily harm while he was in the parking lot of the 7-11 store on W. Third and Willa.

Chain hoists stolen

Crimestoppers reported Friday that two orange one-ton Kito chain hoists were stolen on Oct. 12 from Broughton Implement at 910 Lamesa Highway.

Also reported was the breaking of 11 blue runway lights at the Big Spring Air Park between Oct. 21 and Oct. 24.

Anyone having information that may lead to the arrest and indictment of the person or persons responsible for these crimes is requested to contact Crimestoppers at 263-1151.

Crimestoppers will pay up to $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and indictment on any felony crime.

Sheriff's Log

Man arrested on two counts

Howard County sheriff's deputies Saturday arrested Larry Charles Peterson, 31, of 500 Young on suspicion of public intoxication and criminal trespass. He was released on $200 bond for the intoxication charge and $5,000 bond for the trespass charge.

Marcus Rice, 23, of 1503 E. Third Saturday was transferred to the county jail from the police department on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. He was released on $2,500 bond set by Acting Municipal Judge John Stanley.

Dickey Luther, 50, of Fort Worth remained in jail Saturday after being transferred Friday from the Tarrant County sheriff's office to the Howard County sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant for suspicion of revocation of probation. Bond has been denied.

Corliss Johnson Warren, 31, of 708 Pine also remained in jail Saturday after being transferred Friday from the Dallas County sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant on suspicion of theft by check. Bond was set at $5,000 by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Emeterio Lozano, 35, of 205 Runnels was arrested Friday on suspicion of theft. He was released later on $50,000 bond set by Heflin.

restaurant that he suddenly was next in line of succession to the presidency.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, flying with other Cabinet members to Tokyo for trade talks, read the flash aloud. Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges, seated nearby, began sagging to the floor. Rusk ordered the plane to turn around over the Pacific and head home.

Across the country, shoppers began weeping and praying together in the aisles of department stores. Traffic came to a halt. Courts closed in the middle of hearings. Racetracks shut down, bewildering bettors. The telephone system blacked out in Washington, D.C., under an avalanche of calls that swamped the entire area code.

Richard J. Daley, the tough mayor of Chicago, burst into tears at lunch with associates. NBC anchorman Chet Huntley went on television but was too stunned to speak.

Fourth-graders in a wealthy Dallas suburb cheered when their distraught teacher dismissed them for the day. A high school youth in Amarillo, Texas, ran into a restaurant and yelled, "Hey, great, JFK's croaked!"

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy picked up the poolside phone at his McLean, Va., home and heard the news from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. Freshman Sen. Edward M. Kennedy was presiding over the Senate when someone whispered in his ear. He quietly laid the gavel on its side and left the chamber. He called his mother, Rose, at Hyannis Port, Mass.

After a pause, she said, "We'll be all right," hung up, donned her coat and walked out for a stroll alone on the beach.

At Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas, after a Roman Catholic priest had performed the last rights for her husband in Trauma One, Jacqueline Kennedy brusquely rejected a suggestion that she wash the dried blood and brains from her pink wool skirt and stockings. "No," she said, "I want them to see what they have done."

In Chicago, a husky black construction worker on lunch break in a tavern knocked a glass of whiskey from the bar. "For God's sake," he said, and rushed out. A bartender in Harlem, pondering Lyndon B. Johnson as the new president, told a customer: "Let's see what your cracker president is going to do for you now."

"Not in Dallas!" cried Mayor Earle Cabell. Jack Ruby phoned the Dallas News to place an advertisement announcing he was closing his two small strip joints out of respect for the president, then headed for police headquarters posing as a reporter. In the bedlam there, he was never challenged.

Wall Street paid Kennedy its highest homage. A bell rang shortly after 2 p.m., ending a frenzied wave of selling and closing the New York Stock Exchange in mid-trading for the first time in 30 years. The bells at St. Patrick's Cathedral tolled somberly. "Where was his protection?" people shouted. "Damned Texans!"

Housewives came to the door sobbing when postman Fred Tracy of Greenwich, Conn., appeared with their mail. Misthopoulos Georges, a Greek-born barber in New York, said, "I feel he was a very good boy. I cry."

Colleges halted classes. Theaters, movie houses, dance halls and night clubs locked their doors. Cotillions, bingo games and football games were canceled. Thousands of people headed for churches. The lights in Manhattan's gaudy Times Square went off.

When The New York Times hit the streets that night, it contained 22 paid obituary notices lamenting the death of John F. Kennedy. More than 190 pages of retail advertising in the main section of the Times' Sunday editions were canceled.

As Air Force One flew back toward Washington, carrying the new president and the body of his predecessor, a few people gathered in the dusk at Dealey Plaza, below the Texas School Book Depository where Lee Harvey Oswald had fired his mail-order rifle. They jumped up and down on the asphalt pavement and yelled, "This is where he was shot."

In Madison, Wis., a man wearing a swastika marched around the state capitol announcing he was "celebrating" Kennedy's death as "a miracle for the white race." A youth in Birmingham, Ala., told an Atlanta radio station's call-in show that "any white man who did what he did for niggers should be shot." The announcer cut him off the air. A man shouting "They killed my man!" fired two pistol shots through the John Birch Society offices in Phoenix, Ariz. All New York City policemen were placed on alert to deal with "any unexpected reaction" to the assassination.

The office of Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, a conservative who had been highly critical of Kennedy, received a dozen threatening telephone calls. Tower sent his wife and three daughters to the Maryland suburbs to spend the night.

The Dallas police switchboard was jammed with calls, one from Sydney, Australia. Most of them, a spokesman said, "wanted to know why he killed President Kennedy." Said Mayor Cabell: "This was a maniac. It could have happened in Podunk as well as Dallas."

That night, while the autopsy was performed at Bethesda Naval Medical Center, Lyndon Johnson took a break from the hectic activity in his old vice presidential offices adjacent to the White House. He wrote brief, personal letters to the Kennedy children, Caroline and John Jr., in longhand. Afterward, he told his aides, "I wish that I could reach up and bring down a handful of stars and give them to that woman."

A thousand people gathered silently under the bare elms and beeches of Lafayette Park, facing the White House, where a bunch of chrysanthemums left by a young girl hung forlornly in the bars of the sidewalk fence.

At 4:34 a.m., John F. Kennedy returned to the White House in a coffin carried by six enlisted Marines and a junior officer. The official mourning was beginning.

While the mighty of the nation and the diplomatic community paid their respects in the White House East Room, 2,500 mourners wept in St. Patrick's in New York, and 1,100 Jews crowded a temple to recite the Kaddish, one of the most sacred of Jewish prayers. Annie Daniels, a young Harlem woman, said, "I cried so much yesterday, and now the water is coming to my eyes." A Manhattan cabbie peered out at the midday rain and told his fare, "Even the day looks sad."

Geraldine Coyle, a young South Boston woman in a white gown, sat in a limousine outside the church where she would be married in 10 minutes. "Oh, everything is gone from this wedding as far as I'm concerned," she said, sobbing.

All that Sunday night, 250,000 people trod silently past the coffin in the Capitol Rotunda. Jackie Kennedy returned with Robert Kennedy for a second time during the evening to kneel and kiss the coffin, and they went for a walk in the chilly night. The next morning, a million people lined the streets as the president's body was borne from the Capitol to St. Matthew's Cathedral to Arlington Cemetery.

"He was our man, and now he's dead," said an elderly mourner outside his Harlem church.

All trains, subways, buses and taxiing airliners came to a halt in New York at noon. Cable companies broke off most telegraphic communications between the United States and the rest of the world. Ships fired 21-gun salutes, and 4,000 people stood in cavernous Grand Central Station, watching the funeral on a giant TV screen.

A couple of Eagle Scouts blew "Taps" on bugles from atop the marquee of the Astor Hotel at Times Square. At Charlie Yee's hand laundry in Brooklyn, six Chinese ironed and watched the funeral on a portable TV set nestled among a pile of shirts. At a memorial service aboard the cruiser Oklahoma City, Ray Starkey, a member of the president's old PT-109 crew, said Kennedy was "more man than I have ever known, or ever hope to know."

On an Arlington hillside, Cardinal Richard Cushing of Boston stood at the grave overlooking the Lincoln Memorial and bade farewell to "this wonderful man, Jack Kennedy."

Texas buried two other men that day.

In Dallas, 4,000 relatives, friends and fellow police officers attended the funeral of Officer J.D. Tippitt, who was shot to death trying to arrest Oswald after the assassination.

Thirty miles away, in Rose Hill Memorial Park on the eastern fringe of Fort Worth, Oswald — shot dead by Jack Ruby as he was being transferred from the city jail to the county jail — was buried in a moleskin-covered pine box at a service arranged by the Secret Service. "We are not here to judge him, but to bury him. May God have mercy on his soul," said the preacher, a volunteer.

The service was attended by Oswald's widow, Marina, and their two young daughters, his mother Marguerite and brother Robert, 100 city policemen and 40 reporters. He had no friends.

The PIK program did what it was designed to do, Hopper said. American farmers had surpluses of every commodity, and PIK allowed the surpluses to decrease.

However, he said the program should continue another year because there will still be too high a surplus of cotton.

"When it first started, it (PIK) was an ideal thing," Hopper said. "But the longer they fiddled with it, and the longer the U.S.D.A. wrote rules and regulations for it, the worse it became. The U.S.D.A. made it more complicated than it needed to be."

"PIK was not designed for the government, or the implement dealers, or the gins and warehouses. It was designed for the farmers," he said.

As a result of the discontinuation of the PIK program for cotton, the prices for cotton in Howard County next year will be lower because few farmers will participate in the 25 percent reduction, and the crop will be larger, Hopper said.

More farmers are talking about supply management, in which the base is not the amount of acreage planted or crop produced, but the amount a farmer can sell, he said.

"There's a lot of cries from farmers for mandatory (crop or acreage) reductions (instead of voluntary reductions)," Hopper said. "But any time you say mandatory, you have a political boondoggle. The way they have gotten around it (the outcry associated with mandatory programs) in the past is by the different ways of saying it, such as deferred acres in the 60s," Hopper said.

'Gift of the Magi' to tour Big Spring

"The Gift of the Magi" is Spring City Theatre's touring Christmas play for the 1983 season according to David Justice, director of the play.

The play is available to any groups, clubs or organizations who would like to book it between Dec. 1 and Dec. 20, according to Cecelia McKenzie of Spring City Theatre. To reserve the play, Mrs. McKenzie can be contacted at 263-1451.

In addition to the performance, members of Spring City Theatre are presenting Christmas readings and carols. This is the fifth year that Spring City Theatre has prepared a Christmas play, Mrs. McKenzie said.

Members of the cast include Linda Davis, Kristen Worms, Larry Ray Bruns, Sharon Justice, Donnie Wheeler, Craig Shipman, and Elsa Garcia.

Expense paid trip set

STANTON — An all-expense paid trip to the nation's capital will be awarded the winner of an oratorical contest sponsored by Cap Rock Electric Cooperative.

The contest is open to any boy or girl who will be at least 14 on Sept. 1, 1983 but not yet 20. The winner will join winners from other electric cooperatives across Texas on the annual Texas Electric Cooperative's Government-in-Action Youth Tour to Washington, D. C. All expenses for the 12-day trip, beginning in early June, will be paid by Cap Rock Electric.

Each entrant will be required to give a 5 to 8 minute talk on a subject to be announced and answer one or more questions asked by the judges. The participants will be judged on the basis of knowledge of subject, 40 percent; speaking ability, 30 percent; poise, 10 percent; personality, 10 percent; and appearance, 10 percent.

Interested young people may obtain an official entry form from their local high school or the office of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc., Box 700, Stanton 79782. Entry forms must be received no later than Nov. 18, 1983.

The contest will be Dec. 12, 1983, in the Willie Wirehand Room of the Cooperative Building in Stanton.

Red Cross has emergency reporting service available

The Red Cross has an emergency reporting service for members of the armed forces and their families who are concerned about casualties resulting from recent military action.

In addition, family members who receive invitation travel orders from military authorities to make visits to hospitals at home or abroad can contact Red Cross offices for help. Help can include round-trip transportation to hospitals in the United States or to air embarkation points in the U.S. for those going overseas.

The number to call for the Big Spring chapter of the Red Cross is 267-5031.

The Police Department and the Alsa car club were cited for special recognition.

The City Council has allowed PACD to use the building rent-free for the first six months. The group must pay utilities and insurance which amount to about $250 a month.

Angel congratulated the center's membership on improving the city and instilling pride and responsibility among north side residents.

"It's not just dollars, it's the success of what you're putting into it," Angel said of the city's proposal to renew the center's lease. "It's not the building that's important, but what goes on inside the building."

Sinatra to be picketed

LONG BEACH, Calif. — A union official says he hopes to have busloads of pickets to greet Frank Sinatra and 14,000 fans when the singer performs Friday at the Long Beach Arena, where stagehands are on strike.

The strikers have asked Sinatra to honor their picket lines, Roy LaVoise, business representative of Local 33, International Alliance of Theater Stage Employees, said Friday.

But Convention Center manager George Matson said Sinatra's sold-out concert will go on as scheduled.

Local 33 went on strike May 4 to protest threatened cuts in pay and workers by Facility Management Inc. of Southern California. Matson said artists, including Sinatra, have been notified of the labor dispute before signing contracts to perform.

Sinatra's representatives agreed to go ahead, recognizing that "the strike is not between Mr. Sinatra and the stagehands," Matson said.

LaVoise said Sinatra's attorneys wrote him that the singer respects labor but he "will do what he has to do."

LaVoise said he is also seeking help from other artists to persuade Sinatra not to appear at the arena at all.

Those artists include Buddy Rich, whose orchestra accompanies Sinatra, and Sammy Davis Jr., who LaVoise said moved the site of one of his own concerts last summer at labor's request.

Two entertainers, Bob Hope and Rick Springfield, have deferred to the stagehands' request not to work at the arena, Matson said.

Divorce granted to Kaufman

NEW YORK — Elaine Kaufman, owner of a restaurant that is a gathering place for celebrities including Woody Allen, Peter Falk and George Plimpton, was granted a divorce after testifying that her estranged husband beat her and threatened to kill her.

The owner of Elaine's was divorced Friday from former maitre d' and wine expert Henry Ball.

Ms. Kaufman, 51, agreed in a hearing before Manhattan Supreme Court Justice Stanley Ostrau to give her ex-husband $10,000 in cash and temporary alimony payments of $5,000 as part of the settlement.

She testified that in November 1981, Ball "assaulted and threatened me," and one month later "he pushed and shoved me, punched me and pulled my hair."

In June 1982, she said, Ball "threatened to cut my throat, blow my brains out and throw me out the window" of the fashionable Park Avenue apartment she bought for them.

The couple was married on Christmas Eve 1980.

'Responsibility' recalled

CHEYNEY, Pa. — Air Force Lt. Col. Guion S. Bluford Jr., receiving a hero's welcome on his return to his native Pennsylvania, said he felt an "awesome responsibility" on being the first black American in space.

Bluford, who rode NASA's space shuttle Challenger into orbit Aug. 30 and circled the Earth 98 times, spoke Friday at the Founder's Day celebration at Cheyney State University.

He credited his "strong parents" and his teachers at Overbrook High School and at Penn State University with challenging him and forcing him to reach his potential.

Although Bluford said he saw himself first as an astronaut rather than a black astronaut, he realized he was a "pace-setter."

"I felt an awesome responsibility, and I took the responsibility very seriously, of being a role model and opening another door to black Americans."

Hostages in town

FARGO, N.D. — The fourth anniversary of the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Iran probably would have gone unnoticed in Fargo, N.D., if not for a coincidence: two of the former hostages were in town.

Bruce Laingen and William Keough were in the Fargo-Moorhead, Minn., area to speak to school groups. But they didn't know they were in the area at the same time, and eventually left without meeting.

"I haven't seen him in a long time," Laingen said of Keough. Laingen was in charge of the embassy where 52 Americans were held hostage for 444 days. Keough was superintendent of a school for children of Americans in Tehran.

Settlement expected

TWINSBURG, Ohio — United Auto Workers officials bargaining today said they expect a settlement "within hours" in the 5-day-old strike at a Chrysler Corp. stamping plant that has idled up to 20,000 workers nationwide.

Only final language of a proposed agreement remained to be worked out as a marathon bargaining session dragged on, said UAW Local 122 President Bob Weissman.

"From our view, it looks like we're moving towards a rapid conclusion of these negotiations, and a settlement seems imminent," said Paul Jeunette, financial secretary of the Twinsburg local.

An agreement was expected "within hours," he said at 5 a.m.

Weissman said a ratification meeting had been scheduled for 11 a.m. Sunday at Cuyahoga Falls, an Akron suburb near the Twinsburg stamping plant. The plant's 3,200 workers walked out Tuesday, complaining of forced overtime and poor working conditions.

Management and the union began exchanging proposals at 9 a.m. Friday and, with only a two-hour dinner break, talked into this morning.

Union officials had said Friday they were making progress toward a settlement that could put the striking Twinsburg workers back on their jobs at midnight Monday.

Members of the Chrysler bargaining team have declined comment on the status of the negotiations. In Detroit, company spokesman Doug Nicoll said early today, "The talks are going on. That's all we know."

Shuttle position moved

PALMDALE, Calif. — Discovery, the newest addition to the space shuttle fleet, was slowly hauled 33 miles Saturday from its assembly plant to Edwards Air Force Base in preparation for a piggyback flight to Kennedy Space Center.

Wearing its newest outfit, a patchwork quilt of thermal blankets replacing some of the thousands of heat-resistant tiles used to protect earlier craft on re-entry, Discovery rolled out of the Rockwell International plant on the route previously taken by Enterprise, Columbia and Challenger.

An estimated 8,000 people lined the streets to watch the 75,000-ton spacecraft as it was towed through Palmdale at speeds no greater than 5 mph, said Rockwell spokesman Richard E. Barton.

Barton said it was the largest crowd ever along the shuttle route, probably because it was the first weekend move.

At Edwards, site of previous shuttle landings, Discovery was to be put aboard a 747 jumbo jet for a Sunday flight 150 miles west to Vandenberg Air Force Base where it will be used in tests of ground handling equipment, Barton said.

The Air Force is building its own launch facility at the seaside missile test center for military shuttle flights. Discovery will be the first shuttle launched from Vandenberg in 1986. But first, it will make a series of flights in 1984 and 1985 from Kennedy Space Center.

On Tuesday, the new shuttle will begin a flight to the Florida space center with an overnight stop in Texas.

Prisoners return home

HAVANA — One hundred Cubans taken prisoner in the invasion of Grenada arrived in Havana early Saturday, welcomed as heroes as by Cuban President Fidel Castro, who said, "These are the soldiers who laughed at Reagan."

The 85 men and 15 women who stepped from two Cuban planes, looking disheveled but waving proudly, were the second group of uninjured Cubans to be returned home since the U.S.-led invasion Oct. 25. A group of wounded was returned Wednesday, and the first uninjured prisoners arrived from Grenada on Friday.

Meanwhile, a Cuban army officer who returned home Friday said his men didn't interfere with U.S. troops who landed at an airstrip on Grenada in the early hours of the invasion. That account conflicted with U.S. military reports that American troops met immediate and fierce resistance from Cuban and Grenadian forces on the island.

Maj. Nelson Guerra Rodriguez said he and his men saw the Americans parachute to an airstrip during the early morning invasion.

"We didn't interfere," Guerra said. "We thought they had come to get the American students" at a medical school on Grenada.

Two teachers who returned to Cuba on Saturday said they underwent superficial body searches by U.S. and other invading forces.

"It was really painful because we are not accustomed to such treatment," said one teacher, Noemi Ruano Anozedo, 24.

Another teacher, Amanda Calana Carbonell, 25, said, "They searched us many times with the intention of humiliating us."

Mrs. Ruano said they had been sent to Grenada two months before the invasion to teach Spanish and were to have stayed for two years.

More Cubans held prisoner on Grenada were to be flown here Sunday. There was no specific timetable, but the United States and Cuba agreed that Cuban aircraft would be used for the repatriation.

Castro greeted the latest group of returning Cubans with hugs and handshakes, as he had the plane-load of wounded that arrived Wednesday and the ex-prisoners who returned Friday.

Andropov fails to show

MOSCOW — Soviet President Yuri V. Andropov failed to attend a nationally televised Kremlin gathering Saturday at the start of the country's biggest holiday, increasing speculation about his health.

The 69-year-old Soviet leader has not made a public appearance since Aug. 18. He has been reported suffering from kidney, heart and other ailments, and is said to have given up plans to receive visitors in the Kremlin since then.

His absence from a meeting to inaugurate a three-day celebration honoring the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution to power was considered highly unusual. Attendance is traditional and expected.

Foreign diplomats said they assumed Andropov would have attended the speechmaking and concerts in the Kremlin's Palace of Congresses unless he was incapacitated.

Tug tows disabled sub

WASHINGTON — A Soviet salvage tug on Saturday began towing south toward Cuba a disabled nuclear attack submarine which had been stranded since Wednesday off the South Carolina coast, a Pentagon spokesman said.

The spokesman, Lt. Cmdr. Mark Newhart, said the oceangoing tug Aldan, based at Cienfuegos, Cuba, had reached the Soviet Victor-3 class sub Friday night.

"The submarine was taken in tow this morning by the Soviet salvage tug, and the ships are presently proceeding south," Newhart said.

He said Navy officials "can only speculate" on whether the 341-foot Soviet sub may have collided with a submarine-tracking sonar device that was lost by a U.S. frigate earlier this week.

The frigate McCloy returned on Tuesday to its homeport in Norfolk, Va., without the sonar buoy it had been towing.

"At the present time we can only speculate on what occurred with the McCloy," Newhart said.

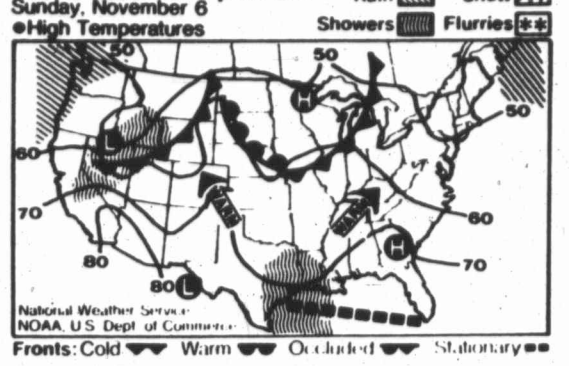

He confirmed that the frigate, while conducting "a routine ASW (anti-submarine warfare) mission" Oct. 31, had lost its sonar device, towed behind the ship, "in the general vicinity of where the Victor-3 later appeared."

The Washington Post reported Saturday that the submarine could have run into the cable towing the sophisticated underwater surveillance device, with the cable becoming tangled around the sub's propeller.

If this was what actually happened, it could give the Soviets a close look at secret U.S. equipment, the newspaper said.

The Forecast For 7 p.m. EST Sunday, November 6

By The Associated Press

Widespread showers

An upper-level low in southwestern New Mexico triggered widespread showers and thunderstorms across portions of West Texas, so a flash-flood watch was in effect for a wide area of the state.

Patches of dense fog covered sections of Southeast Texas and the southern High Plains, reducing visibility at Midland to under a mile.

Skies were mostly cloudy across nearly all of the state, except for the Panhandle and along the Red River where partly cloudy conditions prevailed.

A weak cool front that pushed into North Texas on Friday had moved into the southern part of the state during the morning and was nearly stationary.

Light southeasterly breezes continued south of the front while winds were northeasterly winds at 5 to 10 mph behind the front.

Temperatures varied from the low 50s across the High Plains and trans-Pecos region to the mid 70s over South Texas. At 4 a.m. it was 50 degrees at El Paso and 74 at Brownsville.

The forecast called for showers and thunderstorms with locally heavy rainfall expected in the area under the flash-flood watch. Skies should be mostly cloudy over the state with afternoon temperatures ranging from the mid 60s to the mid 70s.

Snow whitened western New York state and western Pennsylvania today, while rain scattered over the northern Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Fair skies and cold temperatures prevailed in the upper Great Lakes region, and the southwestern states enjoyed fair weather.

Heavy snowshowers left a three-inch accumulation at Elmira, N.Y. Many other areas of western New York were left sloppy as the snow turned to rain, while light snow reached southern Pennsylvania, the National Weather Service said.

A low pressure system brought heavy rain to the coast of New England, and showers also fell on the Pacific Northwest.

A cold front brought thunderstorms to the southern states. A few showers moved through the northern plateau region, while most of Texas felt showers or thundershowers.

Temperatures were forecast to be in the 30s and 40s across the northern and middle Atlantic Coast into the Ohio Valley, in the 50s from the upper Great Lakes through the upper Mississippi Valley and from the Dakotas across Washington. The thermometer was expected to reach the 80s in south Florida, southern Texas and the inland Southwest.

Temperatures at 3 a.m. EST ranged from 17 in Marquette, Mich., to 76 in McAllen, Texas.

Some other reports:
East: Atlanta 42 fair; Boston 42 rain; Buffalo 32 drizzle; Charleston, S.C. 53 foggy; Cincinnati 31 fair; Cleveland 38 cloudy; Detroit 40 fair; Miami 66 fair; New York 35 fair; Pittsburgh 32 foggy; Washington 41 fair.

West Texas — Partly cloudy and warmer through Monday. Highs Sunday 60s Panhandle to 70s elsewhere except mid 80s Big Bend. Lows Sunday mid 40s. Highs Monday 70s except near 80 south and far west and upper 80s Big Bend.

NEW SOCIAL SECURITY LAW

Almost everyone will be affected in some way by the 1983 Social Security Act Amendments, the much publicized change in the social security tax and benefit rules that has now become law.

In the past, social security benefits have not been subject to income tax. Starting in 1984, taxpayers with sizeable other income may have to pay taxes on some of their social security benefits. The calculation is complex, but in general, will be figured in the following manner. Add to your adjusted gross income (1) any interest income you receive from tax-exempt obligations and (2) 50% of the social security benefits you receive. If this figure exceeds $25,000 if you're single, $32,000 if you're married filing a joint return, or zero if you're married filing separately, up to half of your social security benefits may have to be reported as income.

Take this provision into consideration in your 1983 tax planning. If you are scheduled to receive private retirement benefits, consider whether a lump sum payment might not be better than periodic payments so that your income in years following the lump sum payment will be low enough to avoid income tax on any social security benefits you might also be receiving. Look at shifting income into 1983 and delaying deductible expenses until 1984 in order to keep benefits in 1984 from being taxed. Review the advisability of investing in tax exempt obligations if their inclusion in the calculation will result in having social security benefits taxed.

Another provision of the new law provides for more rapid increases in payroll tax rates than had previously been scheduled.

Also, all federal employees hired on or after January 1, 1984, will be covered under the social security provisions, and non-profit organizations who now can elect coverage will have mandatory coverage beginning in 1984.

Additional information on the new law and how it will affect you can be obtained from your local social security administration office.

We urge you to attend the town meeting Nov. 9, 7:30 p.m. Big Spring High School Auditorium.

The Soviet tiger hard to dismount

Only hours after U.S. troops landed on Grenada, there was an interesting development in Surinam, the former colony of Dutch Guiana, on the South American continent about 600 miles southeast of Grenada.

The military dictator, Lt. Col. Deysi Bouterse, abruptly suspended Surinam's cultural and economic agreements with Cuba. He gave the Cuban ambassador six days to leave the country.

This represented another major setback to the effort by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro to build alliances in the Caribbean. He had counted Bouterse as a friend. But Bouterse feared that he might face the same fate as the Grenadian dictator, Maurice Bishop, Castro friend who was assassinated by leftist military men.

It is clear that the heavily armed Cubans on Grenada were in effective control of events. The assassination of Bishop could not have happened without their knowledge and approval.

What should be clear now is that those who climb upon the back of the Cuban-Soviet tiger do so at their own risk. It soon becomes difficult to dismount.

The same process could be occurring in Nicaragua. There are thousands of Cubans in that country, many of them military men. The elections promised by the Sandinistas have never been held and may never be held.

In the wake of our invasion of Grenada, the Nicaraguans are worried about a U.S. invasion of Nicaragua. Instead, they should be worried about the invasion of Nicaragua which has already taken place and which is already depriving them of freedom. That is the invasion by the Cubans, Soviets and East Europeans.

Steve Chapman

1984 and 1984 are different dates

"There are books of the same chemical composition as dynamite," wrote the Russian novelist Eugene Zamiatin. "The difference lies only in the fact that one stick of dynamite explodes once, but one book explodes thousands of times." No book in this century has had louder reverberations than George Orwell's 1984. Unfortunately, the best of authors can't control what detonations he sets off in the minds of silly people.

We all know that 1984 is barely two months away, but does that mean the 1984 is almost here? It does if you believe some of the pronouncements inspired by the impending date.

A prime example is something called "The 1984 Calendar," the blame for which is claimed by Tim Keefe and Howard Levine. The calendar notes what its authors regard as dark dates on the road to the future depicted by Orwell. It is even endorsed in a foreword by Nat Hentoff, whose untiring defense of civil liberties has made him a national treasure, and who should know better than to get mixed up in nonsense like this.

Not that Keefe and Levine are not alone in this sort of thing. Both Right and Left invoke the image of Winston Smith's Oceania whenever almost anyone does almost anything they dislike. But this may be the most comprehensive misinterpretation yet. It is the judgment of the authors that though "our society is not exactly (!) the same as the society Orwell warned us of," still the "differences are in degree rather than in kind."

The events noted in the calendar, which are supposed to prove this conclusion, fall into three main categories: those that are irrelevant, those that rely purely on innuendo to suggest some danger, and those that were (or are) genuine infringements on liberty, though terribly short of what Orwell feared.

In the "irrelevant" category, there are too many entries to count.

For example, on March 16, 1902, we learn, the U.S. Military Academy was formed. Some of these odd notations betray the authors' political bias: on Jan. 26, 1963, they inform us, President Reagan questioned the wisdom of the corporate income tax. Other entries suggest a simple fear of technology, like the one noting that Time magazine named the computer as its 1983 "Man of the Year."

The authors display a talent for innuendo. For example, the note that on April 18, 1973 the office safe of Sen. Lowell Weicker, a member of the Watergate committee, was burglarized. The unspoken implication is that the Nixon White House was to blame — or else why mention it? The beauty of unspoken implications is that they require no evidence, which is exactly what Keefe and Levine provide. On Nov. 9, 1977, says the calendar, "William Sullivan is killed in a hunting accident" while writing a book about the FBI. "I guess we all know what that means."

The calendar does remind us of plenty of bona fide government infringements on personal freedom — from the World War I Espionage Act to the Watergate crimes to the Reagan administration's FBI guidelines for domestic surveillance. But the authors omit all information weakening their thesis. Nowhere do they mention, for instance, that many of these practices have been ruled unconstitutional, or that many of them were illegal when they took place and were duly punished. Those facts are of crucial importance in evaluating the growth of government power.

But the authors are interested in provoking hysteria, not portraying reality. You can't sell calendars which make the case that Orwell was wrong. To pretend that modern America fits his prediction, however, requires the profound trivialization of the message of 1984.

Not that Orwell was "wrong," since he wasn't in the business of prophesying, but of satirizing and warning. But, at least in the West, his nightmare has not come to pass.

What "The 1984 Calendar" ignores is that Orwell's vision was one of totalitarianism — not of computers, not of military academies, not of the abolition of the corporate income tax. It is about unlimited government power, as explained by Winston Smith's interrogator, O'Brien: "Power is in inflicting pain and humiliation. Power is in tearing human minds to pieces and putting them together in new shapes of your own choosing ... If you want a picture of the future, imagine a boot stamping on a human face — forever." Orwell merely took what the world already knew about Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union and speculated how far such governments might eventually go.

There are places on the globe where the state's ambitions and corruptions, if not its successes, equal those depicted in Orwell's vision. But they are not America, not on the eve of 1984.

Billy Graham

How much should ministers be paid?

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you have any guidelines on how much we should be paying our minister? Some of the people in our congregation feel he should be paid well, while others feel ministers shouldn't be paid very much or they will be too interested in material things. — C.A.

DEAR C.A.: I know this can be a difficult and divisive issue and those who have the direct responsibility for making this decision should make it a matter of sincere prayer. When it comes to money, I am afraid it is far too easy to be guided by our own ideas rather than God's will.

The Bible makes it clear that a minister is called of God, and his motive in serving a church should not be determined by the salary he gets. The Apostle Peter urged those who were pastors, "Be shepherds of God's flock that is under your care, serving as overseers ... not greedy for money, but eager to serve." (1 Peter 5:2).

At the same time, the Bible stresses that God's people should provide reasonable financial support for those God has called to serve in the ministry.

11 amendments will rob and loot

Editor: People of Big Spring and other towns, the eleven proposed amendments which we voters are to vote on, are eleven more ways to loot and rob more of the people's wealth.

What we need are laws which will take away the State and Cities power to loot and rob us. We don't need more to help them loot and rob from us, they have taken too much as it is!

Don't you people remember the amendment the people passed in Texas called the Peveto Bill, wrote up as "A Fair and Equal Tax." Think what has happened to your property taxes since this bill was passed; this was more looting of the people.

Of the eleven amendments the sixth states that anyone can garnish your pay check if he or she says you owe them. What would happen if a crook were to sell some older person some money stock? This same crook demands his money, hires a crooked lawyer, and has a Judge put a garnishment against this person's Social Security Check. The Judge would have to issue a garnishment even though he'd know it would be wrong. If this sixth amendment were passed it would be law and a Judge would have no choice.

If we people were to pass this amendment we will be giving up another one of our constitutional rights. In fact all eleven of these amendments are ways to loot and rob the people of the State of Texas.

We here in Texas have one of the best constitutions of any state. I can guarantee you this won't be for long if you listen to the old socialist's and glazy-eyed, spit drooling liberals screaming "for the common good." This means giving up your individual rights for the "common good" and for the good of society.

Remember people of Texas, our constitution was written to put a limitation on government, not on private individuals.

Whether it be Federal, State or City they will always want more money and more power. They will never bring it upon themselves to suggest a decrease in either area of power or money!

If the people of Texas would band together and repeal all of the amendments that have been added to our constitution (and vote against the upcoming eleven), we would have more freedom and wealth than you can imagine instead of a welfare state. These amendments are more ways the nonproducer can rob and loot the producer by phoney laws. Each one of these eleven amendments takes more of your rights as a Texas citizen away. If you vote for these amendments, you are voting for yourself to be enslaved. Vote no on the proposed eleven amendments for freedoms sake!

Turning 30

In two months, I shall turn 30. I am writing my epitaph now because I fear as that fateful date draws ever closer I will be reduced to increasing states of catatonia.

I look back now on three decades of life and sorrowfully realize that half of my sojourn is over. I am deeply shaken.

There is no going back, no chance to repeat. I'm midway through the season, and like the aging pitcher stumbling on the mound, I am forced to admit that my fastball has lost its fire.

I am a marked man. No one who knows me doubts that I teeter on the brink of thirtyness. I am balding — not so gracefully. My tautness has turned to tushiness. Wrinkles cross my once boyish face. And I have discovered that I spend more time reading Playboy's articles than studying its pictures.

Retirement income figures prominently in my financial plans. Literature has replaced sports as my past-time fancy. I have forsaken the beer stein for the martini glass. And I take sagely pride in telling my younger colleagues that I remember when Buddy Holly died.

Such ruminating is highly discouraging and very depressing. I lament that 10,950 days have passed since I entered this world and that only 12,000 or so remain (if I'm lucky) before I pass into the dark abyss of death.

When I was born American troops were returning from the Korean War, our first victory with honor. Among my first recollections is one of two neighbors plunging holes deep into the ground to build shelters from imminent nuclear holocaust.

I remember the Nixon-Kennedy debates and the Bay of Pigs Invasion and the Cuban Missile Crisis, Mantle and Maris and Musial, the Edsel and three-gear bicycles and turbo-prop commercial airliners, segregated schools and "black" and "white" water fountains and the Dallas County Courthouse when it had a "colored" restroom in the basement, the first man on the moon and the last GI killed in Vietnam.

Good heavens, I'm already a history book.

Cosmologist Carl Sagan tells me that when I have completed my tenure here, my body will disintegrate into energy which in turn will forge new matter. I am the stuff of stars, Carl says, and to the stars I will return. By this process my atoms are ensured eternity, but I am not comforted by the thought my stuff some day will follow an uncertain ellipse in the galaxy.

At this point in my discourse — at this point in my life — some people might expect me, after my confession of finiteness, to fall on my knees and beg for entry into a golden afterlife or embrace a mysticism to perfect my soul for its reincarnation.

With equal silliness, I could knock on Olympus' door or sacrifice myself on the field of battle to be carried off to Valhalla by a Teutonic tootsie sporting wings and riding a white steed.

I have no comic book expectations of life after death. I have with certainty grasped the hard truth that after life there is death. I behold a pale horse, and its rider is death, not a Valkyrie.

In two months, I become a Janus, at once looking distantly back and peering anxiously ahead. I am deeply shaken.

My wife, who endured these rights of passage last spring, tells me that turning 30 is really a healthy catharsis; or, as she explains, a kind of spiritual enema.

Once you've admitted you're no longer a kid (an admission I suppose you make at 30) you become comfortable with being an adult. All the muck that fettered you for long is purged. You come face to face with the powerful truth that you have only one life, that you are the only you that will ever exist, and that there is life, much life, after 30 — and its all yours.

Psychologists say that I, as a human male, will not reach my intellectual peak until age 40. That leaves me one decade for good idle philosophizing. I also have learned that most great men did not become "great" until about age 60. And my 20th Century hero, Bertrand Russell, became intellectually sharper as he approached his 90th year.

Stop! This sort of last-gasp rationalizing is merely manufactured consolation; it is cold comfort.

I would like to think my second 30 years holds some meaning, that my brief flicker of existence might illuminate some small spot of darkness.

But I cannot. Sartre would call my 30-year-old anxieties "existential nausea." He is quite right. I feel like throwing up.

Castro pledges Caribbean terrorism

WASHINGTON — Cuban leader Fidel Castro, enraged over the U.S. invasion of Grenada, has ordered terrorists under his discipline to "kill Americans." Castro directs an underground revolutionary network that is allied with leftist terrorist groups throughout Latin America.

The ominous words, "kill Americans," were used in a top-secret warning that was flashed last Saturday to U.S. embassies from Mexico to Chile.

An earlier, precautionary alert was sent out the morning of the Grenada invasion, warning that retribution against Americans was possible. But the second message was more explicit and urgent.

My intelligence sources say that Castro's secret instructions were intercepted by U.S. monitoring stations. Though there can be no question that he has ordered terrorist attacks on Americans, some sources do question how effectively the campaign will be implemented.

U.S. embassies and consulates, meanwhile, are taking no chances. They have tightened security and strengthened their guard forces. But U.S. businesses and individuals may also be in danger, my sources fear.

There is special concern about Americans in Mexico City. CIA sources told my associate Dale Van Atta that leftist terrorists from all over the world gathered in Mexico City on Oct. 21 for an underground convention. Castro, of course, sent his delegates.

In this subterranean world, Cuba is regarded as the principal proxy for Soviet subversion, terrorism and revolution. The Cubans get their financing, of course, from the Kremlin. Then they, in turn, subsidize and supply terrorist groups up and down the Western hemisphere, such as the radical M-19 group in Colombia.

Castro has also brought a new unity and cohesion to the terrorist movement. He has established liaison between terrorist groups and coordinated their activities. Under Cuban pressure, for example, four small Honduran bands have been united.

Castro's agents have infiltrated most countries in this hemisphere including the United States. A conservative count of his agents in Miami alone exceeds 200, intelligence sources say.

The Cuban leader reacted to the U.S. assault on Grenada as if it were a Cuban province. He sent a dramatic order to the Cubans on Grenada to resist to the death. This hardly squares with the communist line that the Cubans were merely construction workers who had been invited to Grenada to help its peaceful development. Visiting laborers do not normally fight to the death for their host countries.

Intelligence reports indicated in advance that trouble was coming to Grenada, so I sent my associate Jon Lee Anderson there a few weeks ago to look around. He found a strong Cuban presence on the island. One of the ministers even confided that Fidel Castro was expected in person for the opening of the new airport next March 13.

My reporter was probably the last American to visit the late Prime Minister Maurice Bishop before his assassination. Bishop denied that Castro ran his revolution. Grenada had its own "unique revolution," he said, and was not subordinate to Cuba.

FEUD OF THE WEEK: On the House floor, William Dannemeyer, R-Calif., tried to make the point the other day that an appropriations bill was not the best place to tack on an amendment cutting off federal funds for abortion.

The issue "does have fiscal consequences," Dannemeyer conceded jokingly, explaining: "If we are going to pay off this (national) debt, somebody has got to be born to pay it off ... The economic consequences of a moral issue should not be permitted to resolve the matter, but at the same time, to ignore them completely is not a correct discharge of our responsibility."

Report from Austin

By Rep. LARRY DON SHAW

Legislative spending

Due to the alarming growth in legislative spending for studies during the interim — the period between regular legislative sessions — house leaders at the Capitol have designed an "austerity program aimed at cutting the costs of spending for interim studies. As a part of this program, the idea of allowing special interests groups to help finance these studies has been proposed and has raised some concern.

Under this proposal, the 28 standing committees in the House would be allowed to accept financial contributions from outside sources such as associations, businesses, political actions committees and other lobby groups.

Personally, I am concerned that such a policy would definitely not be in the best interest of the State of Texas.

As you probably know, during the interim period, House standing committees are directed to study a variety of important issues affecting the state. Some of the current studies include: indigent medical care, nursing home care for the elderly, day care for children, prison construction, hazardous waste, laws banning open containers in automobiles, worker's compensation for farmworkers, protection for health spa customers, education, water, and many other topics. These studies play an important role in the legislative process, since legislation for the next session is often based upon the conclusions of these interim studies.

Unfortunately, the cost of interim studies has risen dramatically over the last decade, from $18,910 in 1971 to over $1.3 million in 1982. This growth has prompted House leaders to impose certain restrictions on the committees.

This year, the House interim committee budgets were limited to $65,000 each and the committees were instructed to investigate restricted, specific topics and to rely on existing staff.

Because of these restrictions, several House committee chairmen have asked permission to accept financial contributions from outside sources. These sources would be the same special interest groups that finance legislators' campaigns and lobby for or against new and existing legislation.

While I agree that reducing the costs of state government is an admirable goal, I do not believe this goal should be accomplished at the expense of the credibility of our interim studies. In fact, I believe it would be a serious mistake to allow special interest groups to contribute financially to our committees.

Such a policy could lead to questions regarding the conflict of interest as well as the possibility for distortion and favoritism. It would indeed be unfortunate if the objectivity of these studies is clouded by allowing interested parties to make contributions.

There are many of us who feel that special interest groups have already become too involved in the legislative process, and I'm afraid this proposal might only encourage more.

In the past, the Legislature has taken the responsibility for financing the study of important issues, and I believe we should continue to accept this responsibility for present and future studies.

At this time, this proposal has not been enacted and no committees have yet solicited funds from lobby groups. I have written to the Speaker of the House expressing my concern, and I sincerely hope that he and the other leaders in the House will recognize the potential problems with the proposal and search elsewhere for alternatives.

If you have any comments on this or any other issue, please do not hesitate to contact me. Please write: Rep. Larry Don Shaw, P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Tx. 78769 or feel free to call toll-free, 1-800-552-4731.

Price war is ongoing battle

WASHINGTON — It may be true that natural gas will never be renewed beneath those portions of the earth where oil companies are fortunate enough to find it.

But it seems that as long as there is a federal government, and as long as the government regulates gas production prices, the battle over natural gas price controls will resurface in Congress perennially.

This year's debate, which neared a climax this week in the Senate, has taken some of the more intricate and unexpected turns of any previous controversies.

Debate began with a unique concept for decontrol introduced by the Reagan administration early this year and billed as the consumer-oriented way to lift prices on all gas production, including so-called "old gas" produced before the spring of 1977. The Reagan decontrol plan has since been swept aside for different plans in both Senate and House committees, although portions of the plan went into the main Senate bill. All along, tightly-controlled old gas has been at the base of the natural gas fight. As an aide on the congressional Environmental and Energy Study Conference put it: "You're for old gas decontrol or you're against it. Where's the middle ground?"

Sen. John Melcher, D-Montana, tried this week to throw a tough wrench into the decontrol bill finally reported out of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. But the Senate voted 86 to 7 on Thursday to bring an end to Melcher's filibuster disallowing consideration of the bill on the Senate floor. That means little more than the fact that 86 senators apparently want a chance to make a recorded vote on the bill one way or the other.

Melcher aide Wayne Mehl said the senator was against bringing a natural gas bill to the floor that could be altered by dozens of amendments, possibly producing something again as complex and convoluted as the current Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978.

Under the Senate plan, all price controls on natural gas would be removed by 1987, whereas the original Reagan plan would have lifted those controls a year earlier. A decontrol bill passed by a House energy subcommittee would take another approach entirely by loosening controls on gas produced through expensive enhanced recovery techniques, a plan apparently winning little enthusiasm in the Senate. Another bill sponsored by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the full energy committee, would "recontrol" gas prices by pulling back current prices for new gas to levels set in September, 1982.

Buono linked to 2nd 'Strangler' case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Angelo Buono Jr. was convicted Saturday of a second murder in the 10 Hillside Strangler slayings, making him eligible for the death penalty.

The jurors' verdict in the death of 15-year-old Judith Lynn Miller was the third in a week after a trial lasting almost two years. Last week Buono was convicted in one other slaying and found innocent in another.

By being convicted of multiple murders, Buono, 50, a former auto upholsterer, becomes eligible for the gas chamber.

Buono was accused of killing 10 young women and girls in the Hillside Strangler slayings in the Los Angeles area during late 1977 and early 1978.

Buono sat impassively as the clerk read the verdict and polled the jury.

Deputy Attorney General Roger Boren said he was "very gratified that (the jury) agreed that Angelo Buono was one of the murderers of Judy Miller."

Evidence linking Miss Miller to Buono was "very, very strong," and included a fiber found on her eye and the location of the body, Boren said.

Q: If I wanted to know who bought a piece of real estate and when it was bought, where would I look?

A: Books (sometimes called by the Latin word, "liber") containing complete copies of all recorded, realty related documents are maintained for each county in the county recorder's office. When a document is recorded, it is assigned a liber (book) volume and page number. But, say you don't know the liber or page location for the document you wish to examine; that information is in the Grantors Grantees Index. (Loosely translated, "grantors" sell or give property... "grantees" buy or receive property.) Separate index books are made for grantors and grantees, so that a document can be found by searching either name.

For better, for worse

And so Big Spring High School will compete in 5-A athletics for two more years. By the just the hair of their chinny-chin-chin.

The official cut-off limit set by the University Interscholastic League was 1,305. BSHS came in at 1,309, four students above the minimum. Sixty miles away, Odessa Permian paid little attention to the announcement. With approximately 3,400 students in their system, their only concern might have been being reclassified into the Southwest Conference.

And so Big Spring High School will compete in 5-A athletics for two more years.

At first, football coach Quinn Eudy's spirits sunk with the announcement. The lure of 4-A competition had dangled before him like grapes above Tantalus in Greek mythology. It was almost within reach but like Tantalus, it evaded his grasp.

Not that moving into District 2-AAAA would have been an easy ride. Containing such teams as Andrews, Monahans, Lake View and Sweetwater, District 2-4A — the Steers probable new home — would have been no pushover for the new kid on the block.

But at least his team could have been competitive, Eudy figured. A challenger for once, and not the perennial underdog.

Those dreams evaporated with the UIL's realignments. Big Spring was to remain in 4-5A with Permian, San Angelo and the rest of the league bullies. It was the jury's decision; sentence, at least two more years.

"I hate to be hard-headed," Eudy said with a slightly resigned tone, "but we have to look forward to playing these people. It's no free lunch for sure. We're going to have to be competitive...or they'll fire me."

The last statement came as a typical Eudy-ism. The Steers have been highly competitive in the last two seasons, aside from this year's finish against three teams ranked among the state's top 20. BSHS has won seven games in two seasons under Eudy; not long ago, Big Spring went seven years without a district victory.

Eudy has been seen as a hero. He'll be fired the day after Tom Landry gets the axe in Dallas.

What the Steers need to compete, Eudy lists, are: 1) increased participation in football; 2) continued support and game attendance from the community; 3) stronger off-season program; and 4) improvements in the school's physical plant.

Great strides have taken place in junior high and sub-varsity football programs in the BSISD. "This is the first year we've made it through the season without having to cancel a sophomore football game. Last year, we had just one," Eudy reports.

"Our attendance has been way up," said Eudy of both home and away games. "We're highly appreciative of that. That makes a football program. High attendance was not the case three or four years ago."

"We need great work during the off-season," he continued. "We need to get bigger, stronger and faster. The players and coaches need to be dedicated to that. The kids also have to have the attitude to work through the summer and come back in tip-top condition."

Facilities? "We need better facilities," Eudy said flatly. "We're way behind in certain areas." Those include having 90 varsity and junior varsity football players use limited space in the school's gymnasium as a dressing room. Those include upgrading the junior high dressing facilities and expanding the high school weightroom.

Another step is boosting the team's non-district schedule. Levelland has been dropped as the Steers' third game, replaced with Lubbock Monterey from District 3-AAAAA. "We just have to work a little harder," Eudy has said in the past of fighting the uphill battle of 5-A. The next smallest school in the district (Abilene Cooper) has almost 1,000 more students than Big Spring. It doesn't seem very fair and athletic director Ron Logback predicts the UIL will form a new classification in 1985.

Should that happen, the "super" schools like Permian, San Angelo, Plano and such could play in the state's highest classification and Big Spring-size schools will form a new conference.

But that's two years away. Big Spring is in 5-A now, for athletics and academics and whatever else it tries. There is no choice for students other than give it their best shot. It may not be happy marriage but must survive.

For better or for worse.

HOLLAND ON HIGH WIRE — Howard College forward Al Holland (43) lays in a basket during first half action against the Sul Ross junior varsity Saturday night. Holland scored 10 points and pulled down 7 rebounds in the Hawks' 101-37 rout. Watching him work are Aubrey Kennedy (22), Carlos Rodriguez (25) and Kenny Denkins (42).

Hawks hammer hapless Sul Ross

By GREG JAKLEWICZ

Except for two slam dunks by Al Holland and the chuckles when Antoine Morris entered the game still wearing his warm-up top, Saturday night's Howard College-Sul Ross basketball game was nothing but a yawner for the hometown fans.

Dwight Harris scored 26 points and Jerry Stroman added 25 more and a game-high 12 rebounds as the Hawks swamped the Lobo junior varsity 101-37 in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The win was the second of the week for the Hawks who entertain the Lubbock Christian College JVs Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the old gymnasium on the HC campus.

Howard could have easily scored more points had not Sul Ross gone into a delayed offense with eight minutes to play. The Hawks were up 92-29 at the time but could score just nine more points the rest of the way.

For first-year coach Mike Mitchell, the game was an opportunity to get all his players into action and see if his squad could maintain intensity through the duration of the game.

There was no comparison in the two squads. Howard shot 58 per cent from the floor in both halves and out-rebounded the Lobos 45-13. After Kenny Denkins scored his team's first basket of the game at the 18:11 mark, Howard rolled off a 14-0 stretch to take command of the ballgame.

It wasn't even remotely close after that. The Hawks stretched their lead to 20 points, 28-8, at 9:38 when Stroman scored and the margin grew to 30 points when Michael Porter hit a turn-around jumper with 5:20 to go in the half.

Maurice Hoskin pushed in a lay-up with four seconds left in the half to boost the halftime score to 55-19.

Sul Ross hit the first bucket of the second half but the Hawks hit a 23-4 spurt to boost the score to 78-25 with 12:57 to go as Holland rammed home the first of his two slams.

Minutes later, the 6-8 sophomore from Roanoke, Va., stuffed a rebound in to make it 85-29.

Somewhere during this stretch, Mitchell pointed to Morris and told his sophomore guard to get in the game. He did, but wearing half his warm-up uniform. To complicate matters, he went in for Stroman who shooting a foul shot. That put six Hawks on the court and the Lobos were further exasperated.

Sul Ross went into its front-court stall and it took Howard until the 0:55 mark to finally get over the 100-point total. James Johnson hit a spinning lay-up from inside the lane to give HC its 101-37 advantage.

Joining Harris and Stroman in double figures were Porter and Joe Johnson with 13 points and Holland with 10. Holland added seven rebounds.

No Sul Ross player reached double figures; Aubrey Kennedy paced his team with nine points.

Area playoff announced

The Klondike Cougars and Greenwood Rangers will meet in a bi-district playoff game Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Stanton. The Cougars took second place in the 7-A North Zone, downing Sands 29-0 Friday night for the playoff berth. Greenwood clinched the 7-A South Zone championship last week and topped Garden City 35-15 Friday for its eighth straight victory.

No. 2 Texas survives Houston upset bid, 9-3

HOUSTON (AP) — Second-ranked Texas' offense had an off day in the Astrodome Saturday but the Longhorns' strong-armed defensive tactics and the steady kicking leg of freshman Jeff Ward were enough to subdue the Houston Cougars 9-3 in a Southwest Conference game.

The aroused Cougars, who lost to Texas 50-0 last season, almost matched the Longhorns' defensive effort, holding UT to 96 total yards.

But the Cougars couldn't stop Ward, whose field goals of 20, 51 and 47 yards were the only points Texas could muster. Houston's Mike Clendenen was not up to a kicking battle with Ward. Clendenen booted a 24-yarder for UH's only points but missed kicked of 29 and 39 yards that could have tied the game.

Ward, a freshman from Austin, didn't flinch under the pressure.

"Our offense started pressing and it came down to me," Ward said. "If you don't like to play in an atmosphere like this, you shouldn't be out there whether you are a freshman or whatever."

The Texas offense fizzled under quarterback Todd Dodge, who got his first start of the season since recovering from a shoulder injury.

"We got overconfident," Dodge said.

"But our defense came through. It's not fair to them. Maybe we were relying on them too much. Houston came out early and stuffed us and got their confidence up. When they are like that they are hard to handle."

Texas' defense, ranked first in the nation in total defense, came up with four Houston turnovers while the Longhorn offense struggled throughout the game, recording zero or minus yardage on seven of its first 12 drives prior to a late fourth quarter drive.

The Longhorns, 8-0, did not get a first down in the second half until 9:40 remained in the game. The Longhorns ended that drive with Ward's third field goal: a 47-yarder for a 9-3 lead.

Clendenen missed field goal attempts of 39 and 29 yards in the first and fourth quarters as the Cougars dropped to a 3-6 record.

Texas took a 6-0 halftime lead on Jeff Ward's field goals of 20 and 51 yards as the Cougars continued to hurt themselves with mistakes.

Mossy Cade's 56 yard interception return to the Houston four and a two-yard face mask penalty set up Ward's 20-yarder in the first quarter.

'83 Free Agents

Highest paid players not always worth price

NEW YORK (AP) — A year ago the list included Steve Garvey, Floyd Bannister, Don Baylor, Steve Kemp and Omar Moreno. This year, there are stars such as Rich Gossage, Kent Tekulve, Manny Trillo, Rod Carew and Dave Parker.

All are free agents, and they have become an integral part of many clubs' building plans. Even an increase in compensation for teams losing top quality free agents has not slowed their movement, and there is bound to be a flurry of activity Monday at this year's re-entry draft.

Some clubs consider the free-agent market a waste of money, "more often than not hurting you more than it helps," says Larel Prieb, a spokesman for the Minnesota Twins. "The first multimillion-dollar salaries went to free agents, and then they became the standard-setters for the other players."

The Twins are among those teams that have mainly avoided the free-agent market. But many more clubs still find the lure of all this footloose talent too much to resist.

It's called the quick fix. Draft 'em, sign 'em and — management hopes — win. These are players that can help right away, or so the clubs thought when they signed them.

It's not that simple, though. At best, it's a chance, and oftentimes it's the players with the smaller contracts who help most.

Last year, for example, 41 players went through the re-entry draft — 14 outfielders, 11 pitchers, 10 infielders and six catchers.

Of those signed, 12 won contracts worth $1 million or more over various lengths. They were Garvey with San Diego, Kemp, Baylor and Bob Shirley with the New York Yankees, Bannister with the Chicago White Sox, Moreno and Alan Ashby with Houston, Terry Forster with Atlanta, Hal McRae with Kansas City, Bob McClure with Milwaukee, Rick Manning with Cleveland and Al Cowens with Seattle.

Perhaps five — Garvey, Bannister, Baylor, McRae and Forster — had years equal to their salaries. The rest left their clubs with little to show for the investment.

Garvey, who had left Los Angeles, signed a five-year, $6 million contract with the Padres. Despite missing the last part of the season with a thumb injury, he drove in 59 runs, hit .294 average and had 14 home runs.

Bannister, who had been with Seattle, was a big part of the White Sox' drive to the American League West Division title after signing a five-year, $4.79 million deal with options for three more years. He started slowly, but finished with a 16-10 record, 3.35 earned run average and 193 strikeouts.

Baylor, formerly California's designated hitter, was a big hit with the Yankees this season. He signed a four-year deal worth more than $3.6 million and

No. 1 Nebraska 72, Iowa St. 29

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Mike Rozier ran for four touchdowns and set three school records while quarterback Turner Gill tossed a trio of scoring passes as top-ranked Nebraska beat Iowa State 72-29 in a Big Eight Conference football game Saturday.

Rozier scored on runs of 59 and 17 yards in the fourth period. He became Nebraska's all-time leader in scoring with 282 points, and the career leader in touchdowns with 47, including a season record of 24.

No. 3 Auburn 35, No. 7 Maryland 23

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Tommie Agee raced for 219 yards, including touchdown bursts of 61 and 44 yards, as No. 3 Auburn ground out a 35-23 victory over seventh-ranked Maryland in a top intersectional matchup Saturday.

And then Agee sprinted 44 yards for the clincher with five minutes left. Auburn defensive tackle Donnie Humphrey fell on an Esiason fumble in the end zone for Auburn's final score with 9 seconds remaining in the game.

Maryland quarterback Boomer Esiason threw three touchdown passes, scoring strikes of 10 yards to Sean Sullivan and 14 yards to Greg Hill in a third quarter rally and a 40-yard bomb to Russell Davis in the fourth quarter.

The victory raised Auburn's record to 8-1 as it heads into its final Southeastern Conference showdowns against No. 4 Georgia and No. 19 Alabama.

But Auburn's Bo Jackson bulldozed over from the 5 for one fourth quarter score, giving the lead back to the Tigers at 21-17.

Maryland, which upset then-No. 3 North Carolina in a critical Atlantic Coast Conference game last week, dropped to 7-2.

No. 4 Georgia 10, No. 9 Florida 9

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Barry Young scored on a 1-yard plunge early in the fourth quarter as fourth-ranked Georgia continued its mastery of Florida with a 10-9 Southeastern Conference victory over the ninth-ranked Gators Saturday.

Other two penetrations inside the 25 ended on interceptions of Wayne Peace passes, the first in the end zone by Charlie Dean and the second by Darryl Jones at the 1, from where Georgia started its scoring drive.

Young's scoring run with 13:18 to play capped a 99-yard drive for a sputtering Bulldog attack that had netted only 96 yards for almost three quarters.

The triumph was Georgia's 23rd in a row in the SEC and set up a championship battle with third-ranked Auburn in Athens, Ga., next week. Georgia is 8-0-1 overall and 5-0 in the conference. Auburn has a 4-0 SEC record with a later date with Alabama still remaining after the Georgia game.

The Gators, losing to Georgia for the sixth year in a row, had dominated the game until the winning drive.

Georgia's only other score came on Kevin Butler's 51-yard field goal following a 44-yard drive in the first period.

Florida drove inside the Georgia 25-yard line six times, but had to settle for a trio of field goals by Bobby Raymond that covered 21, 25 and 32 yards.

It was the second loss in a row for Florida, which fell to 6-2-1 and 3-2.

No. 5 Miami 12, East Carolina 7

MIAMI (AP) — Quarterback Bernie Kosar lunged in from the 1-yard line with 1:04 to play Saturday to lift No. 5 Miami to a 12-7 college football victory over upstart East Carolina.

Kosar set up his touchdown sneak with a 52-yard strike to wide receiver Ed Brown, giving the Hurricanes a first down at the Pirates' 13.

The winning 80-yard, nine-play drive consumed 3:48 of the fourth quarter, coming after East Carolina placekicker Jeff Heath was ride right on a 21-yard field goal attempt.

The touchdown, six plays later, gave the Hurricanes a school record ninth straight victory after an opening loss while East Carolina dropped to 6-3, all three losses to Florida teams.

No. 6 Illinois 50, Minnesota 23

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Illinois quarterback Jack Trudeau tossed three touchdowns as Illinois took another whiff of the roses by handing Minnesota its 15th straight Big Ten defeat, 50-23, Saturday night.

Minnesota, meanwhile, dropped its 16th of the last 17 games. But for most of the game, it was by no means a blowout.

The victory kept Illinois' Big Ten record unblemished at 7-0. If the Illini can beat Indiana and Northwestern the next two weeks, they'll be going to the Rose Bowl for the first time since 1964.

Minnesota freshman quarterback Brett Sadek stunned the 35,514 fans at the half-filled Metrodome by completing 17 of 24 passes, including three touchdowns. Midway through the fourth quarter, the former Rosemount, Minn., prep star suffered a separated shoulder.

Clemson 16, No. 10 North Carolina 3

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Bob Paulling kicked three field goals and Mike Eppley tossed a third-quarter touchdown pass to guide Clemson to a 16-3 victory over 10th-ranked North Carolina in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game Saturday.

Paulling's, who has hit 14 of 16 attempts this season, made kicks of 27, 29, and 28 yards Saturday.

Missouri 10, No. 11 Oklahoma 0

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Defensive coordinator Mark Heydorff was glad he didn't realize Missouri had held Oklahoma's vaunted rushing attack to minus-7 yards in the first half Saturday.

Sooners have only 84 yards rushing for the game, more than 200 yards below their average.

"Nobody told me that at halftime, or else I would probably have fainted," Heydorff said after the Tigers shut out the No. 11 Sooners 10-0. The defense, keyed by several big-play performers, let the

No. 13 Michigan 42, Purdue 10

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan quarterback Steve Smith set a school record with four touchdown passes and ran for another score Saturday as the 13th-ranked Wolverines romped to a 42-10 Big Ten college football victory over Purdue.

UT's Dawson among 12 Lombardi nominees

HOUSTON (AP) — Offensive guards Dean Steinkubler of top-ranked Nebraska and Doug Dawson of Texas were among 12 players nominated Saturday to receive the 1983 Lombardi Award as college football's lineman of the year.

The 12 players were selected by a 158-member committee of college coaches, sports writers and sportscasters.

The nominees included Rick Bryan, Oklahoma defensive tackle; Bill Fralic, Pittsburgh offensive tackle; William Fuller, defensive tackle from North Carolina; Gordon Hudson, tight end from Brigham Young, and Stefan Humphries, Michigan offensive guard.

Also on the list were Rick Hunley, inside linebacker from Arizona; Wilber Marshall, Florida outside linebacker; Ron Rivera, outside linebacker from California Berkeley; Tony Slaton, offensive center from Southern California; and Reggie White, defensive tackle from Tennessee.

All are seniors except Fralic, who is a junior.

The trophy, a 40-pound block of granite, is given annually in honor of Coach Vince Lombardi, who died of cancer in 1970. The award will be presented at a $135-a-plate dinner Dec. 8, with proceeds going to the American Cancer Society.

Lynn Swann, former wide receiver for the Pittsburgh Steelers, will be master of ceremonies for the event.

Bears stun Hogs; SMU survives Rice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Marty Jimmerson kicked a 24-yard field goal on the final play of the game to give Baylor a 24-21 Southwest Conference victory over Arkansas on Saturday.

quarters, intercepting SMU quarterback Lance McIlhenny four times.

Despite an all-out blitz Cody Carlson completed a 33-yard pass to Bruce Davis to set up Jimmerson's field goal.

Atkins, a freshman from Fort Worth, ran 56 yards down the right sideline and five plays later McIlhenny flipped a one-yard scoring pass to tight end Rickey Bolden for the go-ahead fourth period score.

Arkansas' freshman kicker Greg Horne had two chances in the fourth quarter but his 31-yard attempt was low and blocked and his 50-yard attempt with 40 seconds left never had a chance.

Dwayne Anderson's interception of a Phillip Money pass at the Rice 33 positioned Atkins for consecutive runs of 11 and 22 yards that finally put the Owls away with 6:45 to play.

After the second miss, Baylor started from its 33 and Carlson hit passes of 17 yards to Gerald McNeil and 13 yards to Broderick Sargent to get the drive going.

Atkins' total, fashioned on 20 carries, was the third best in SMU history and the most ever by a freshman.

Baylor took a 14-0 lead on drives of 99 yards in 14 plays and 89 yards in 16 plays. Carl Miller's 100-yard kickoff return and an 80-yard drive that ended nine seconds before the half made it 14-14 at the end of the second quarter.

SMU's other tailback, Reggie Dupard, carved out a career best 172 yards on 29 carries as the Mustangs finally wore down the depth-thin Owls.

Arkansas went 69 yards with its first possession of the third quarter and Baylor came right back with a 90-yard drive on 13 plays. Allen Rice, the fullback-quarterback, ended that on a 1-yard sneak with 5:40 left in the third quarter. The extra point was the 42nd point in less than 25 minutes of playing time.

The combined total of 390 yards by Atkins and Dupard surpassed a school record of 347 by Eric Dickerson and Craig James.

Baylor is 6-2-1 and Arkansas is 5-3.

SMU is 7-1 overall and 4-1 in SWC play, a game behind Texas. Rice is 1-9 and 0-7 in league play.

No. 8 SMU 20, Rice 6

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Jeff Atkins dashed 56 yards to set up a touchdown, scored two more and ground out 218 yards Saturday to carry the No. 8 ranked Southern Methodist Mustangs to a hard-earned 20-6 Southwest Conference homecoming victory over the Rice Owls.

The Owls took a 3-0 second quarter lead on the longest field goal in the school's history, a 55-yarder by sophomore James Hamrick that just cleared the crossbar.

With scouts from the Bluebonnet, Citrus, Sun and Liberty Bowls watching, Rice battled SMU to a 6-6 tie through three

It came with 1:38 left in the half and broke the school mark of 53 yards set last season by Joel Baxter.

The stung Mustangs surged 80 yards in just four plays to score 65 seconds later to take a 6-3 halftime lead.

Safety Rusty Roark broke through to spill alternate TCU quarterback Anthony Scaraffa on a third-down pass play and the Frogs had to settle for Ozee's field goal that turned out to be the tying points.

ACU, SFA claim wins in Lone Star contests

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Loyal Proffitt hit 20 of 37 passes for 189 yards and two touchdowns Saturday to lead Abilene Christian to a 27-20 victory over Sam Houston State in a Lone Star Conference game.

Tailback Lembia Kinsler's 56-yard touchdown run, Proffitt's 18-yard scoring pass to Robert Daffron and Boo Jones' 29-yard field goal gave Abilene Christian a 17-7 first-quarter lead, with Sam Houston scoring on Jon Meyers' 6-yard pass to Willie Lane.

Pat Delaney's field goals of 41 and 24 yards brought Sam Houston to within 17-13 in the third quarter, but Proffitt teamed with Kinsler for a 5-yard TD and Jones booted a 36-yard field goal to put the Wildcats out front 27-13 going into the final 15 minutes.

Pat O'Brien's 38-yard pass to Sam Moore brought Sam Houston to within 27-20 in the fourth quarter, but Abilene Christian made two first downs and ran out the clock.

The Sycamores improved their record to 7-3 overall and 3-2 in league play, while West Texas State dropped to 0-9-1 and 0-4-1.

NTSU 10, Lamar 0

DENTON, Texas (A) — Quarterback Scott Toman hit Nathan Williams with a 23-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter to lead the North Texas State Eagles to a 10-0 victory over the Lamar Cardinals Saturday in a Southland Conference football game.

SFA 17, Howard Payne 10

NACOGDOCHES, Texas (AP) — Ricky Claudell's 53-yard punt return for a second-quarter touchdown sparked Stephen F. Austin to a 17-10 victory over Howard Payne Saturday and kept the Lumberjacks in a first-place tie for the Lone Star Conference leadership.

Vikings wary of winless Bucs

By The Associated Press
Coach Bud Grant says he is preparing his first-place Minnesota Vikings to meet a team that is winless and ready to vent its anger. And Sunday's game against the Tampa Bay Buccaneers has Grant a little worried.

The Bucs bring an 0-9 record and the last-place standing in the National Football Conference's Central Division to Minneapolis. The Vikings lead the division with a 6-3 mark and have won three of their last four.

"There have been games they should have won," Grant says of the Buccaneers. "The players know that and it gets them mad. The best team to beat when you're mad is the team in first place."

The rest of the schedule Sunday has Dallas at Philadelphia, Miami at San Francisco, Buffalo at New England, San Diego at Pittsburgh, Denver at Seattle, the Los Angeles Raiders at Kansas City, Atlanta at New Orleans, Cincinnati at Houston, Cleveland vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, Chicago at the Los Angeles Rams, Baltimore at the New York Jets and St. Louis at Washington.

In Monday night's game, the New York Giants play at Detroit.

The Vikings have yet to lose to a Central Division opponent this season, and, since Steve Dils took over at quarterback four games into the season, Minnesota is 4-2.

Dils threw three touchdown passes but also had three intercepted in the Vikings' 41-31 loss to St. Louis last week. Dils has thrown 10 interceptions this season and has been working on that aspect of his game.

"I'm feeling more comfortable back there, and I think that has helped me reduce the number of interceptions," Dils says.

The Buccaneers led Pittsburgh 12-0 going into the fourth quarter last week before losing 17-12. It was a heartbreaker for the Bucs, whose bright spot was the play of running back James Wilder, who had 126 yards rushing. The Bills not only will be trying to break the tie with Miami when they meet New England, but they also will be out to avenge a 31-0 loss to the Patriots on Oct. 24. Bills quarterback Joe Ferguson threw four touchdown passes to beat New Orleans 27-21 last week.

The Steelers, who lead the AFC Central with a 7-2 record, will be going for their sixth straight victory when they meet the San Diego Chargers. And running back Franco Harris continues his assault on the career rushing record of Jim Brown. Harris has 647 yards rushing this year for 11,595 in his career, 718 short of Brown's all-time record of 12,312.

Denver, tied with the Raiders for the AFC West lead at 6-3, and Seattle both had to change quarterbacks in midstream, and it's paid off. The Broncos have won four straight under quarterback Steve DeBerg, while Seattle beat the Raiders 34-21 last week under Dave Krieg, making his first start in place of Jim Zorn.

The Raiders had five turnovers in their loss to the Seahawks and will be trying to improve that statistic against the Chiefs. The Raiders average 26.8 points per game, highest in the AFC. Los Angeles quarterback Marc Wilson, making his second start, will come up against the second best pass defense in the league in the Chiefs, who allow only 179.2 yards per game.

Roundup

"We have done a great number of things well enough to win," Coach John McKay said. "We have done everything but win."

Dallas quarterback Danny White tied a club record with five touchdown passes in Dallas' 38-20 victory over the New York Giants. The Cowboys have the best record in the NFL, 8-1, and lead Washington by one game in the NFC East, while Philadelphia has lost three straight to drop to 4-5.

The Miami-San Francisco matchup features two division leaders. The Dolphins, led by the league's top-rated passer, Dan Marino, are tied with Buffalo at 6-3 for the American Conference East lead, while the 49ers top the NFC West at

Eagles' defense must put pressure on White to slow Cowboys' offense

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Eagles coach Marion Campbell says the Eagles have to pressure quarterback Danny White if they hope to beat the Dallas Cowboys Sunday in a National Football League game.

"One thing about White," said Campbell, "in the last three games he's hardly been touched. People are just not getting to him. Either you have to go for the rush or try to defend. We'll start out normal (rush) and go from there."

White has been having a good season despite 15 interceptions. He's the key to the Cowboys ranking as the second-highest scoring team in the NFL with 291 points.

He has thrown for 19 touchdowns, including a club record-tying five last week against the New York Giants. White has completed 176 of 301 for 2,231 yards and a 56.8 percentage.

Campbell ticked off the names of Cowboys' receivers the Eagles have to defend against — Drew Pearson, Butch Johnson, Ron Springs, Tony Dorsett, Tony Hill and Doug Cosbie.

"They've got all those guns to go to," said the coach. "White will throw right at you and there is nothing you can do about it. He does not let interceptions affect him. He's got the confidence to go for it and throws into coverage. You can be aggressive when you've got receivers like that."

Campbell also is concerned with Dorsett's running and his ability to cut back for substantial gains. Dorsett, the ninth leading rusher in NFL history with 7,834 yards, has gained 819 yards, third in the National Conference this season.

The Eagles are 26th in the 28-team league against the run. Despite an 8-1 record, Dallas coach Tom Landry says the big play has hurt his team a lot. He concedes that Dallas has made a lot of its own big plays, but also has made too many errors.

"I've got to feel if you're going to go to the playoff and the Super Bowl, you're going to have to keep playing good defense and have a good kicking game and keep your errors down to a minimum," Landry said. "If you don't do that, your chances of walking through the playoffs and winning it are very slim. The only concern we have is to play more consistently."

The Eagles depend offensively on the passing of Ron Jaworski, who has completed 128 of 228 for 1,840 yards and nine touchdowns. He's completed 56.1 percent of his passes.

The running game has been non-productive most of the season. Hubie Oliver, with only 271 yards on 65 carries, is the leading ground gainer, followed by Mike Williams (52-195). Williams, who missed last week's game against Baltimore with a sore shoulder, will be back Sunday.

The Eagles' running game is 26th in the league, while the passing is 19th. The Cowboys' running is ranked eighth as is the passing attack. On defense, the Eagles are first against the pass and 26th against the run. Dallas is third stopping the run and 25th on pass defense.

NOT A ROMANTIC INTERLUDE — Jimmy Connors and Chris Evert-Lloyd talk between points during their first set against Carling Bassett and Vince Van Patten at the $400,000 World Mixed Doubles Championships in Houston. Connors-Lloyd, engaged once earlier in their careers, won the match to advance to the tournament semifinals.

Tanner-Jaeger get in doubles semis

HOUSTON (AP) — Roscoe Tanner and Andrea Jaeger traded jibes with Ilie Nastase through most of two sets, and then rallied for a 2-6, 7-5, 7-5 victory Saturday night over the Romanian and Czechoslovakia's Hana Mandlikova to gain the semifinals in the $400,000 World Mixed Doubles championships at Astroarena.

Third-seeded Chris Evert-Lloyd and Jimmy Connors met Betsy Nagelsen and Butch Walts in a late match for a berth in Sunday's finals, which will pay $100,000 to the winning team.

Nastase and Tanner exchanged gestures in the second set after Nastase slammed an overhead shot at Jaeger's feet. The banter continued throughout most of the second set with Nastase at least once aiming an obscene gesture in Tanner's direction.

Mixed Doubles World Championship

Tanner-Jaeger finally broke Mandlikova in the 12th game of the second set when Mandlikova hit a forehand net error.

The foursome settled down to playing tennis in the third set with Jaeger showing improved serve-and-volley play.

After Jaeger and Mandlikova were broken in the third and fourth games, respectively, the match went down to the 12th game once again before Mandlikova was broken at the first match point.

UT may host NCAA women's basketball championships

AUSTIN (AP) — The NCAA Division I-A basketball committee will recommend that the 1985 women's basketball championships be held at the University of Texas, the Austin American-Statesman reported Saturday.

The basketball committee made its decision after hearing presentations from Austin, Long Beach and Indianapolis, the newspaper said.

The recommendation now goes to the NCAA executive committee, which picks sites for championship contests.

Ft. Worth runner wins Omaha

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Omaha's Tim Dooling won the Omaha Riverfront Marathon over the weekend in his first effort ever over the 26-mile, 385-yard distance.

But don't try to convince Rob Kinnunen that he was beaten Saturday by a novice.

"If somebody hadn't told me, I never would have known," the defending champion said after Dooling pulled away from him at the 24-mile mark to win in 2 hours, 21 minutes and 45 seconds.

"I was hoping he would fall apart, but obviously he knew what he was doing. That's an awesome first-time marathon."

In winning Saturday, Dooling also upheld a tradition: 10 runnings of the Omaha marathon, 10 different male winners. Alison Unterreiner of Fort Worth, Texas, was the women's champion, timed in 2:52:48.

Some 950 runners from 19 states were entered in the race, run in 40-degree temperatures through northeast Omaha. But it was Dooling who came out on top among the 791 finishers, becoming only the third Omaha man to win the race.

"I can't believe I won — I couldn't figure out where everyone else was," said the 24-year-old Dooling, who ran alone for much of the race before Kinnunen came from far back to challenge in the 21st mile.

Kinnunen said he didn't even get a chance to see what he was up against until he finally caught up with Dooling six miles from the finish. He didn't like what he saw. "I knew then I was in trouble when I saw he wasn't wearing a shirt," Kinnunen said. "When you don't have a shirt in that cold, you've got to be a tough SOB."

The Road Runners Club of America sanctioned this year's Omaha marathon as a national championship.

Mrs. Unterreiner was feeling good about her first win ever in a marathon Saturday, despite falling short of her goal. She had come up from Fort Worth hoping Omaha's flat course and cooler weather would help her reach the Olympic marathon trials qualifying time of 2:51:16.

Resurgent Bengals visit 0-9 Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — Sunday's National Football League battle between Houston and Cincinnati could have been a good "misery loves company" meeting.

The Oilers could reminisce about their 16-game losing streak and 0-9 record this season while the Bengals could talk about losing six of their first seven games and their mistake-filled offense.

But going into the noon kickoff, the Oilers are the only team left with a sad story to tell.

Cincinnati's struggling offense finally started eliminating its mistakes and with a defense that ranks No. 1 in the National Football League, the Bengals have won two straight games for a 3-6 record.

"We haven't been turning the ball over and making mistakes," said quarterback Turk Schonert, engineer of the two victories. "Early in the season we were beating ourselves. Now we give ourselves a chance to win."

The Oilers have also given themselves chances to win the last two weeks but each time they lost in overtime because of breakdowns.

Kicker Florian Kempf has missed field goals the past two weeks and also missed an extra point last week that could have been the victory margin over Cleveland, which eventually won 25-19 in overtime.

The Oilers' defense, dotted with rookies and inexperienced performers, has shown steady improvement. It is still last in the American Football Conference against the rush but it has improved to sixth in pass defense with the development of its youth.

Strong safety Keith

Bostic missed an interception against Cleveland that could have preserved a Houston victory.

Oilers Coach Chuck Studley pointed out, however, "at least he had two hands on the ball. That means he's doing something right."

Rookie cornerback Steve Brown got his first pro interception against Cleveland for a boost to his confidence.

"I don't look at 0-9," Brown said. "Realistically, we're striving for the future. We're developing pride in each other, pride in ourselves. We're getting confidence playing with each other. We now have better friendships off the field than we did when we started out."

The Bengals have rallied around their defense all season, despite a series of injuries.

Gregg said replacements for injured starters have kept the defense together.

Glen Collins replaced defensive end Ross Browner while Browner was sitting out a four-game suspension for admitting he had purchased cocaine. Outside linebacker Tom Dinkle stepped in for Guy Frazier, who was sidelined with a broken hand.

"That's kept things stable," Gregg said. "We've had a lot of changes, but it has remained stable. The guys are playing, hard, team defense. That defense has kept us in the ball games all year."

The Oilers played the Browns without Earl Campbell or running back Stan Edwards last week.

TSD appeals realignment

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas School for the Deaf, complaining that the University Interscholastic League counted 35 multiple handicapped students, has appealed a UIL decision moving TSD from Class 2A to Class 3A.

The Rangers won only one football game from 1978 through 1981, when they competed at the 3A level. In 1982, after being dropped to 2A, TSD posted a 4-5 record. This year its record was 5-5.

School Athletic Director Walt Camenisch said the UIL appeals committee will listen to TSD's complaint on Thursday.

Mavs hold off Lakers; Kings crush Rockets

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Mavericks scored only two field goals in the final 7:43 but held on to defeat the Los Angeles Lakers 107-102 behind Mark Aguirre's 33 points Saturday night in a National Basketball Association game.

Aguirre scored the game's final points on a 20-foot jumper with 1:42 to play. Los Angeles could not take advantage of two Dallas turnovers in the final 1:10 as Jamaal Wilkes, Michael Cooper and Bob McAdoo all missed shots.

Rookie Dale Ellis, who scored 14 points,

The Mavericks surrendered only 16 fourth-quarter points to the Lakers, who average 114 points per game. Dallas scored 17 points in the final period.

Kings 123, Rockets 106

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — LaSalle Thompson established career highs of 22 points and 17 rebounds to power the Kansas City Kings to a 123-106 National Basketball Association victory over the Houston Rockets Saturday night.

There were seven ties and 13 lead changes in the first half before the Kings' Eddie Johnson hit a basket late in the second quarter to put Kansas City ahead for good at 54-52.

Leading the way for Houston was forward Caldwell Jones, who finished with 22 points. Rookie center Ralph Sampson added 20 points and 10 rebounds and James Bailey fired in 14 points.

Both teams are now 2-3.

Jazz 124, Spurs 118

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Guard Rickey Green's steal and basket and two free throws with under 4 seconds left sparked the Utah Jazz a 124-118 National Basketball Association victory over the San Antonio Spurs here Saturday.

Guard Darrell Griffith and forward Adrian Dantley scored 27 points apiece for the Jazz, which evened their season record at 2-2. San Antonio, led by guard George Gervin's 35 points, slipped to 1-4.

hit his second consecutive basket to give Dallas a 100-90 edge with 7:43 to play.

The Lakers pulled to within 102-96 on a hook by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who led the Lakers with 16 points.

Rolando Blackman had 17 points for the 4-2 Mavericks, who played without injured starting forward Jay Vincent.

Wilkes' 12 points gave him a career total of 13,005. James Worthy added 14 and substitute center Swen Nater had 13 for Los Angeles.

Dallas has won three of its last six games with the Lakers.

Aguirre scored 13 points in the second quarter and the Mavericks held Abdul-Jabbar to 8 first-half points and led at halftime 61-60.

Jabbar realizes revelations won't bolster public image

DALLAS (AP) — Los Angeles Lakers center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar expects some negative reaction to his forthcoming autobiography, which includes admissions of drug use, but says he wanted to be "completely candid" about his life.

Abdul-Jabbar, in Dallas to prepare for a National Basketball Association game with the Mavericks, told The Dallas Morning News he wanted "to set a few things straight about my life" in his book "Giant Steps."

The 34-year NBA star admits using heroin, cocaine and other drugs in the book.

"Once in college I snorted some heroin. I threw up all out the window, and the next day I was sick. That was the end of that," Abdul-Jabbar said in the book.

In other excerpts, Abdul-Jabbar said: "For a while there at UCLA I didn't want to hang out with anyone who didn't smoke weed, but that was as parochial a view of the world as any uptight antidoper's..."

"I got involved with cocaine between college and the pros, but not for long. What turned me off was a minor brush with death..."

"But after four or five trips, what I ultimately learned from acid was that I did not need to take acid."

"Through the years, I've had to deal with other people's opinions about me," Abdul-Jabbar told the News. "I wanted my say, to do it in my words ... and to be completely candid in saying how I got to be who I am."

Abdul-Jabbar wrote "Giant Steps" with Peter Knobler. The book is due in bookstores this week.

"I made the decision that if I was going to do a book, and open myself up, then I'd open up all the way," Abdul-Jabbar said. Abdul-Jabbar said stirring up controversy was not his intent with the book. "I dealt with all kinds of subjects, the toughest for me being my relationship with my parents," he said.

"But everything relates to what has happened to me in my life."

In the book, Abdul-Jabbar retraces his steps from Power Memorial High School in New York to UCLA and through his NBA years.

"Yes, I know there will be negative reactions," he said. "But it's a part of my life that I just couldn't conveniently ignore. There are people out there who know things I've done in the past, the mistakes I made. I couldn't leave them out and have those people know I wasn't honest. Then, it wouldn't be an honest book."

BSHS, Seminole split dual

SEMINOLE — Taking a weekend break from 4-5A competition, Big Spring High swim teams split a Saturday afternoon dual meet with Seminole.

Coach Harlan Smith mixed up the events for his boys' and girls' teams as they swam against a strong Seminole team. The Maidens scored a 48-18 victory over the Lady Steers but the Steers topped the Indians 41-38 in their division.

Big Spring took just three first place awards in the boys' division but scored enough points to win with superior depth. David Booth won the diving competition, Terry Bordofsky the 100 meter freestyle (1:04.31) and Scott Ferguson the 400 meter freestyle (5:22.38).

Smith shuffled his relay units around. Bordofsky, Robert Chase, Charles Morse and Cade Loftin swam the 200 medley relay in 2:13.60 to finish second behind the Seminole A team (2:11.54). The BSHS second team (Ferguson, Scott Boland, Don DeFlich and Kenny Stewart) was third (2:30.38).

The 400 meter freestyle team also was second in 6:34.28 and the second unit third.

The Steers trailed in the meet until the 100 meter butterfly event where Loftin and DeFlich took second and third. Big Spring swam without Brigham Martin who was attending a band contest.

It was the reverse story in the girls' division as Seminole swam more contestants the Lady Steers.

The only first place was won by Lisa Salazar in the diving competition. Rita Fleckenstein was second in the 200 individual medley (3:09.68), Hartley Newell second in the 50 meter freestyle (33.56) and 100 freestyle (1:16.48) and Salazar second in the 100 breaststroke (1:40.03).

The medley relay team was second in 2:37.36.

'Hollywood' asks for lie detector test

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former Dallas Cowboys linebacker Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson has asked to take a lie detector test following his arrest for investigation of kidnapping and sexual assault, police say.

Henderson, 30, was arrested Wednesday at his apartment after two girls, 15 and 17, told police that he held them at gunpoint, demanded sex, assaulted them and then threatened to kill them.

Long Beach police Detective Jerry Gadbow said Henderson is scheduled to take the polygraph test Wednesday.

Gadbow said officers interviewed the girls for several hours Friday and found them "very credible and able to articulate what happened to them."

"The statements they are making are consistent with the evidence found," he said.

Henderson said the girls solicited him, but Gadbow said neither has a record of prostitution.

Henderson was booked for investigation of kidnapping, oral copulation, exhibition of a firearm in a threatening manner and using a gun in the commission of a felony. He is free on $16,000 bail.

ERA REAL ESTATE
ANNOUNCES OPERATION OF ERA MORTGAGE CO., SOUTHWEST

Big Spring, Texas - ERA Real Estate brokers will be able to provide mortgage loan services and mortgage loan products at competitive rates on a four-state level with the opening this week of ERA Mortgage Co., Southwest said Lita Estes of ERA REEDER, REALTORS.

Each of the approximately 350 ERA offices in a four-state area has agents trained to originate mortgage and pre-process the loan application at the local real estate office. The paperwork is then forwarded to corporate headquarters in Irving where processing is completed and the credit package is submitted to lenders for approval.

"Our basic goal is not to be a competitor with the mortgage industry but to act as mortgage originator for the industry. Mortgage firms make their profit through loan servicing. Loan origination usually is a loss leader to achieve servicing volume," said Stan Benavides, Vice President, who will oversee ERA Mortgage Co., Southwest.

ERA's member brokers will provide a large number of originations and, in effect, will be like hundreds of branchices for all the mortgage industry," he said. "The homebuyer benefits because he has easy accessibility to the mortgage services through the local office and he is offered the competitive rates chosen from mortgage products offered in the four-state area.

Benavides said this could mean significantly lower rates made available to homebuyers in non-metropolitan areas.

"Often interest rates in small communities are 0.5 percent to 0.75 percent higher than metropolitan rates," he said.

"But through ERA Mortgage Co., Southwest, the rates we can provide will be as consistent as possible over the four-state area.

"We still want our Realtors to use local mortgage funds for housing bonds or when they are more competitive," he added.

Benavides believes ERA's innovative approach as originator liaison between the homebuyer and mortgage firms will "change the face of the mortgage industry." (Adv.)

This winter, get your diesel off to a good start.

Gulf Gulf Auto Diesel fuel is specially formulated to meet the cold weather starting needs of diesel engines. A cold flow improver makes the fuel flow to your engine as easily in January as it does in June. And, because Gulf adds the cold flow improver before you pump fuel into your car, you don't need to add anything later on. So, if you want to beat the cold weather starting grind, look for our red and yellow 'D'. And get off to a good start this winter with Gulf Auto Diesel.

Joy to the World

Remembering

By JOY CULWELL

When Jim Baum of KVMC-AM and KAUM-FM radio here in Colorado City was a boy he remembers that he went to an Abilene drugstore with a soda fountain and had a great treat called a "black cow." In conversation with local feed and seed store owner R.J. Hoback, he mentioned his memory.

Now, R.J. didn't remember a black cow at the drug store and he told Jim so. Well, Jim, in his desire to see R.J. better informed of the finer things of life, came on the "Joy to the World" radio show to enlist my help with his memory. He asked if anyone in the radio audience remembered the black cow and if so how to make it.

Well, Mrs. Lon (Ruthie) Robertson came to the rescue and told Jim she not only remembered the drink but knew how to make one. She had worked at the old Colorado Drug for years and made all kinds of fountain drinks. Ruthie went to the Country Corner where old Colorado Drug was and showed Bess Lamb, the new owner of the historic old fountain, how to make the black cow (root beer, ice cream and milk, blended on a milk shake machine) and other old time drinks.

That's where R.J. Hoback comes back into the picture. He went to "Country Corner" and charged two black cows to Jim Baum. So that's how it stands now. Well, Jim, I

You can go by Country Corner and pay your bill. That's not much to pay for fulfilling a memory and proving R.J. Hoback wrong about something in the same fell swoop! By the way, Bess Lamb has added the black cow to her menu and it is getting popular.

Ruthie shared some more memories with me of her soda jerking days. The job was called the "bees knees." A coke was called a "Dallas" because they came from there. A Dr. Pepper was called a "Waco." If two people came in and ordered a coke and a Dr. Pepper they ordered a Waxahachie because it is halfway between Dallas and Waco. Other slang for a fountain coke was "shoot one." "Stretch one" was a large coke. "Shoot a wild one" was a cherry coke. "Shoot one frowning" was a lime coke. "Shoot one blonde" was a vanilla coke and "Shanghi" was a glass of iced tea. Other terms that have survived to this very day was a "BLT" for a bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwich and a "bowl of red" was a bowl of chili.

Thanks for the memories, Ruthie!

Gold Honor Roll students listed

By LISA BRUNEAU

Runnels Junior High proudly presents the following students who have made all A's for the first nine weeks and are on the Gold Honor Roll. They are Maria Alviar, Lisa Bruneau, Tami Burnsed, Matt Burrow, Shamir Caplan, Mary Ann Guevara, Juli Hamby, Cindy Locke, Amber Logback, Kenda Madry, Lynn Malone, Laura Ogburn, Scott Oliver, Rusty Patrick, Jennifer Poe, Rebecca Read, Jennifer Spencer, Taff Wrennick, Stephen Whatley and Paul Williams.

These students have made more A's than B's for the first nine weeks and are on the Silver Honor Roll: Laura Ainsworth, Aaron Allen, Manuel Alvear, Dwayne Anderson, Nicole Bash, Kristi Butts, Lara Cunningham, Kathryn Dawes, Dede Durst, Malinda Elleson, Tonya Farmer, Virginia Flores, Chris Gibson, Arica Grant, Belynda Grisham, JoAnn Gutierrez, Brad Hodnett, Kim Howell, Eric Kinman, Kim Labbe, Kelly McCormick, Traci McCormick, Torbin McEwen, Robert Moran, Stacey Parks, Perry Prudhomme, Nikki Rodriguez, Katrina Thompson, Keith Tucker, Tiffany Turnbow, Stella Vidlak, Lisa Vigus, Aaron Volmer, Melissa Wilson, Dewayne Woodall and Cheri Wyrick. Names of students on the Bronze Honor Roll will appear in next weeks Megaphone.

This is the 34th year that Runnels students have sold magazines. Profits from this year's campaign which extends only from Oct. 28 to Nov. 7, will go to purchase an Apple III computer for the school. Daily prizes for salesmen include giant Slo-Poke suckers, bandannas, cash prizes and fishbowl drawings. Prize for the Grand Drawing is an AMFM stereo radiocassett recorder. The high salesman will receive $50.00 to $100.00, depending on the success of the campaign.

Favorites were presented during the pep rally Thursday at which time the girls were given long-stemmed red roses and pictures were made for the annual. Band favorites introduced were Lynn Malone and Craig Knocke. From girls athletics, the favorite was Kelly Myles, accompanied by Charles White, beau. Valinda Haggard, escorted by Matt Burrow, was the boys athletics sweetheart. Pep Club favorite and beau were Lisa Bruneau and Brian Mayfield. Kathryn Dawes and Michael Rubio were choir favorites.

The Runnels Yearlings played the Sweetwater Colts on Thursday. The A team tied with a score of 0 to 0. The B team also tied with a score of 6 to 6.

Last week's calendar clue category was a president of the United States. Winners were Bryan Boyd and Rocky Ramirez. Winning teacher was Mr. Victor. The answer was Theodore Roosevelt.

Honor Society induction slated

The new members of the National Honor Society will be inducted in a 7:00 ceremony on Tuesday, Nov. 8. New members are: Valerie Kellar, Mary Jane Salazar, Valerie Calaway, David Shaw, Tammy Goodin, John Swinney, Deanna Smith, and Roger Stafford.

On Tuesday, Nov. 1, the Big Red Band made a II rating in marching contest in Abilene. Good job band!

Wednesday, Nov. 9 will be a College information day for all juniors and seniors. This activity will take place at the high school and will begin at 8:30 a.m. and end at 11:30 a.m.

There will be a school assembly program on Tuesday, Nov. 8, in the high school auditorium at 1:00 p.m.

The varsity and junior varsity girls basketball teams will participate in a basketball scrimmage, along with Sands and Westbrook, on Thursday, Nov. 10, beginning at 5:30 p.m. in Coahoma.

Any sophomore, junior or senior boy interested in playing basketball needs to sign up in the high school office.

Blood tests should reveal source of hepatitis outbreak

LUBBOCK (AP) — Results from blood tests given to employees of the People's Restaurant here should explain the source of a hepatitis outbreak last month, a federal official says.

Dr. Frederic Shaw, an investigator for the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, said the epidemic was transmitted by an infected worker who handled lettuce and tomatoes in the restaurant's kitchen.

"In fact, persons eating a sandwich with lettuce and tomato were seven times more susceptible to getting sick than persons who did not eat that item," he said.

But a specific food handler has not yet been identified and it is not known whether the person who infected the food was an unwitting carrier of the disease or someone who had transferred the virus from a sewage leak in the restaurant to the kitchen, Shaw said.

Results of the test are expected next week, he said. Shaw said 86 of the approximately 100 restaurant employees had been tested.

The restaurant, closed since October 7, may reopen at the end of November, although a company spokesman said "no hard and fast" date yet

'Ugly man' winners chosen

Last week students paid ten cents to vote for the student or teacher they felt should be the "ugly man" of Big Spring High.

In the teacher division it was a close race between Coach Carlson and Mr. Loveless, but Mr. Loveless came through as the winner in the end. Phillip Koger, however, had little competition in the student division. Debbie Donelson and Vickie Halfmann presented them with prizes of ladies lingerie during the last pep rally.

On Tuesday, Nov. 8, there will be a choir concert held in the auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Everyone is reminded that Chemical People will be held again on Wednesday, Nov. 9, in the Big Spring High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

In the district cross country meet held in San Angelo on Saturday, Oct. 29, eighteen out of the thirty-two runners broke their personal times.

The varsity girls finished in 4th place, with Anita Flores leading the Steers.

In the junior varsity division, the Big Spring girls out ran San Angelo Central for 1st place. Cynthia Regalado finished in second place overall.

In the boys varsity division the Steers finished in seventh place, with Roland Montana leading the way. Montana also broke his personal best time and the Big Spring High sophomore record with an outstanding time of 16:43.

The junior varsity boys placed second place, with Larry Rodriguez finishing 4th and Jesse Bridges finishing 7th. Bridges also broke his own freshman record by 13 seconds.

Basketball season will begin with a scrimmage against Sweetwater on Saturday, Nov. 12. The boys' game will be held in Steer gym, and the girls will play in Sweetwater.

Everyone show your support for Steer basketball by buying a button that the players are selling for only one dollar. They say "I LOVE STEER BASKETBALL."

Junior high streak broken

During the week of Oct. 16 the junior high football team's winning streak was broken by a tough Forsan team. They finished the year with a very impressive 6-1 record. The varsity lost to Eden. During the week of Oct. 24, the junior varsity football team tied the Sands Mustangs 20-20 and the varsity lost a close game to Sterling City, 22-21.

The Bearkat band traveled to Klondike to attend the Klondike marching contest and clinic last Saturday. Although the band did not strike gold, they did receive an unanimous II rating, which is an "above average" rating. The Bearkat band traveled to Odessa yesterday for the Region marching contest held at Ratliff Stadium.

Friday, the varsity football team closed out it's regular season play against the Greenwood Rangers who are undefeated in district play.

Rick Turner

A cop, a man and a husband

By RHONDA WITT
Lifestyle Writer

Being a police chief holds much responsibility and can be negative. "The good things are few and far between, but when something positive happens it makes up for the negative," says Rick Turner, Big Spring's police chief.

"It's a job worth dedicating my life. I've been interested in law enforcement since I was a young adult." Turner's father, also a police officer, influenced his son in his decision on a law enforcement career. Turner has served as Big Spring's police chief since July 21, 1982.

Turner is responsible for every action any officer or employee does, and for the safety of the community. He oversees 51 officers and 19 civilians.

"I deal with everything from personal problems to personality conflict. I'm the man in the middle," he said.

He is in between city council, city manager, family, officers, and the community. City manager Don Davis is Turner's boss. "We have a good city council and city manager, which makes working in Big Spring easier than other cities," Turner said.

"You can't please everybody all the time. You have to try to please them, but also maintain your integrity and personal happiness. You have to respond to their demands."

TURNER BEGAN HIS police career in Nachogdoches on patrol. "I guess everybody that goes into an organization aspires themselves at the top. I applied myself and worked at it more than 8 hours a day."

In 1969, he attended the basic academy in Kilgore while working for the Nachogdoches police force. He attended the School of Police Supervision at the Southwestern Legal Foundation in Dallas, the FBI Academy in Quantico, Va., and Southern Police Institution in Louisville, Ky. Turner has a bachelor's degree in law enforcement from Sam Houston State University in Huntsville, and is a master candidate in law enforcement management there.

While working in Huntsville he was promoted to sergeant. Then he became a police chief for Richland Hills where he worked for 3½ years. Afterwards, he dropped out of law enforcement for a year and half.

"I became disillusioned with law enforcement," he said. "You find people want law enforcement as long as the law is not enforced on them. For the most part you receive complaints but never hear anything good. Over a period of time, it seems like there is a better way to live your life than have negative input. The negativeness is from people who usually fear the law and have done something wrong."

"In Big Spring, we are receiving more and more positive input and it is rewarding. It is slow, but positive and very encouraging. We are proud of what we are doing here with our police department."

TURNER CHOSE BIG SPRING to return to his law enforcement career. "Big Spring has a reputation throughout the state as being an open town. I felt like it would be a challenge and offered me the opportunity I needed at that time," he said.

Turner's job is frustrating at times. "It seems you do all you can do, all you know how, and people expect more. You are suppose to solve problems immediately, make no mistakes and be a perfect person, but nobody is perfect. Sometimes it feels like a ball in pinball machine."

The woman behind the clown

By RHONDA WITT
Lifestyle Writer

Judy Dobbs, the woman behind the famous rodeo clown Quail Dobbs, is more private and reserved than her husband, who enjoys the lime light.

The couple were schoolmates in Colorado City. Following graduation, Quail went off to rodeo and the former Judy McGuire went to college for a year and a half. During the winter of her sophomore year, the two began dating and were married. This February the Dobbs will celebrate their 20th anniversary.

"The main thing that attracted me was this was a boy I had known in high school, who had set a goal for himself and had starting working on it," Mrs. Dobbs said. "His independence kind of appealed to me. I admired him for his determination and independence."

AFTER MARRYING QUAIL, one of Mrs. Dobbs' major adjustments "was meeting so many people. I had always lived in one little town and gone to one school. I had to learn how to mix and make new friends."

"Several rodeo wives live around here. I talk to Wacey Cathey's wife (Leann) quite a bit. We are supportive of each other," she said. "Rodeo people are a pretty close knit bunch in that we care about each other."

Although Mrs. Dobbs wasn't use to meeting people, the rodeo wasn't anything new to her. "My father use to rodeo when he was young. He still team ropes as a hobby. My brother also is involved in it as a steer wrestler (as a hobby). I like the rodeo," she said.

"At first when we were married, it bothered me because there was no security in rodeo. There wasn't a paycheck every week," she said. "But it was so important to him that I couldn't go against him."

The Dobbs made their home in Coahoma 17 years ago. At that time, Quail was driving a truck for O.D. O'Daniel of Coahoma. He didn't have as many rodeo jobs then. "We liked it here and decided to stay."

Mrs. Dobbs is supportive of her husband's career. "He knows I'm behind him. I'm proud of his achievements. Sometimes he asks me for my opinion on one of his acts and I try to be honest, whether it is what he wants to hear or not."

"Quail is very optimistic. He is a people lover. He always has a pretty bright outlook. He clowns around a lot at home," she said.

Being a rodeo clown's wife can have good points and bad points. "Quail's work involves a lot of traveling, and I had to learn to be independent. While he is gone I keep things going here at home."

"I worry about him being hurt on the highway as well as in the arena, because he travels thousands of miles a year. I don't dote on it, but it is always a thought."

MRS. DOBBS HAS HAD several good experiences from Dobbs' career as a rodeo clown. "I've grown from it. I have no regrets about it, I can truly say that."

The Dobbs have two children, Coley, 11, and Stephanie, 16. "We do get to go in the summer," Mrs. Dobbs said. "We get to travel a lot and meet a lot of nice people. My kids have benefitted from it. They have gotten to travel nearly all over the U.S."

"It has been real good for the kids. They have met every kind of person, good or bad. They had to deal with some things that most people don't deal with until they are an adult," she said.

During the school year, the Dobbs will go places that are close enough to spend the weekend, such as Abilene.

When Coley started school, Mrs. Dobbs started substitute teaching. "With Coley in school and Quail traveling, I had a lot of spare time on my hands," Mrs. Dobbs said. Two years ago, she became a special education aide at Coahoma High School.

 family members afterward, and doing things at Big Spring Police Department that larger departments aren't doing.
 Law enforcement has changed since Turner began his career.
 "When I began in law enforcement they gave you a gun and uniform, put you in a patrol car, and told you to use good judgement. They didn't require any training. Fortunately my chief believed in training and sent me to school," he said.

'She becomes angry and frustrated when people publicly criticize the police department. She is my strongest supporter.'

"The type of personnel is different. They use to not question, now they do. We also see more and more restrictions put on us to do our job."

"Management also has changed drastically. Before all you had to be was a good old boy, now they expect productivity. Citizens are becoming more dollar conscious. Even technology has change."

As police chief, "I try to wear a uniform at least one day a week. When the police department is short-handed I might answer a call, but as a matter of rule, I don't answer calls," he said.
 Being on patrol "helps identify problems you are having. I believe an administrator must see what is happening to effectively correct any problems."

TURNER'S WIFE KATHY attends court reporting school in Plainview.
 Kathy accepted my work in law enforcement, he said. "She becomes angry and frustrated when people publicly criticize the police department. She is my strongest supporter."

"She learned this was my profession and I was going to do it. Somebody has to do it. All police officers' wives have the same worries my wife has," he said.

His being gone many times at night and on call 24 hours a day also makes her frustrated. "People look at it as an 8-to-5 job, but really it is an as-needed job."

The Turners enjoy Big Spring. "We like the community and want to stay here. It's a good place to live. I don't aspire to go to a larger department," he said.

Turner enjoys remodeling houses, working with wood and his hands, and cooking. He is a member of the Jaycees, Chamber of Commerce ambassadors, and works with Old Timer Rodeo Reunion.

Pruning tips for trees, shrubs

Pruning is perhaps the least understood and most abused of all the many chores the gardener may tackle. Proper pruning can turn a tree or shrub into a beautiful plant specimen. Improper pruning can result in poor growth, improper growth, unnatural plant forms, poor flowers and fruit production and occasionally even death of the plant.

You need only drive around any Texas town to note many hideous examples of unwise and improper pruning. Trees often get the brunt of the pruning ax, but many shrubs also are victims of unnecessary butchering. The gardener or homeowner means well but may not know where to start or when to stop his pruning saw.

Although pruning may not rank high on your list of "favorite gardening chores," it is necessary and knowing how to do it properly will make your job not only easier, but can save many heartaches and butchered plants as well.

We will soon be moving into the dormant season, the ideal time for pruning most landscape plants. Here are some important rules you'll want to remember when you get out the saw and shears:

Prune with a purpose. Trimming a plant back doesn't make it healthier in most cases, so if you have no other reason for your pruning, better just stay indoors.

Prune at the correct season. Spring flowering shrubs, such as pyracantha, flowers on old growth produced last year. Prune these after they've flowered or you'll lose their color for another year. In other words, winter is not the best time for these.

Use proper tools. For small pruning jobs you can use hand shears. For limbs more than one-half inch in diameter, you'd best use a pruning saw. For heavy jobs you'll probably want to use a chainsaw, while for tall jobs, pole saws and pruners are available.

Don't top your trees! Gardeners have the mistaken idea that topping their trees is a healthy practice. Not only does topping ruin a tree's natural shape and beauty, but it exposes the tree to insect and disease invasion

Happy birthday Kent Brown

KENT BROWN, service manager of Pollard Chevrolet, received a birthday surprised Thursday evening from his girlfriend, LINDA LICON. He was sitting in an annual meeting of the Chevrolet Certified Technicians Exam at the Holiday Inn Meeting Room when Linda came in dressed as a Playboy bunny and carrying a lighted Playboy bunny-shaped birthday cake. Kent turned 14 shades of red as all the rest of the men in the room, maybe about 25, whistled at Kent and the good-looking bunny who kissed him. Kent turned 37.

SKIPPER DRIVER and DON RICHARDSON recently made a trip to the King Ranch and South Texas. They were treated like royalty while they were there. The two decided to go in style to Alice by renting a Lincoln Continental at the airport. The airlines had some deal with the rent-a-car agency to rent Continentals. But they overbooked and Don and Skipper received a Mercury Zephyr. They were disappointed. Later Don's lawyer friend, John Burris of Alice, "rescued" them by driving the two to King Ranch in his Cadillac. People were tripping all over their feet trying to open the Cadillac doors as if Don and Skipper were big VIPs.

While in the area Skipper and Don went to a party and visited friends. Another friend of Don's flew him in a private plane to Bellville to judge a show. Don is a county extension agent. Skipper stayed behind.

Following the show, the mayor of Sealy got the police chief of Sealy to escort Don to Houston's Intercontinental Airport. Don missed the plane. So the mayor and police chief shuffled Don through the thoroughfares of Houston — dodging cars during rush hour traffic — to catch a flight at Houston's Hobby Airport. Don thought he was gonna die. He caught his flight, made his connection in Dallas where he met Skipper, and the two got home safely. "We had a funny time," Don says.

FLOYD AND GAIL EARLS returned recently from a vacation in Jamaica. Gail enjoyed the foliage and the water. Floyd, on the other hand, enjoyed the slow pace.

"Everybody is too slow there. Everything is free and easy," Gail said. It was too slow for her. She wanted to be busy and do things. This was the first time the Earls had taken a vacation trip in 28 years.

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

New Grapefruit 'Super Pill' Guarantees Fast Weight Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special) — An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

"Pill Does All the Work"

According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

Pill Contains ALL Daily Vitamins
 The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements.

Contains Japanese 'Glucomannan'
 Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfying feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public

You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14-day supply (or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply) cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. C37, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.) Visa and MasterCard OK. (Send card number, expiration date, and signature.) Copyright 1983.

Seminar scheduled

"Parents, Children and Money" is a seminar scheduled at 9:30 am - 12 noon Saturday, November 12, at the Fellowship Hall, First Presbyterian Church of Big Spring.

Parents will learn about teaching children how to manage money in three presentations:

- Making Ends Meet Now!
- Kids as Consumers
- Planning for the Future

There is no charge for the program and child care will be provided. For more information, call 267-8469.

The seminar is sponsored by First Presbyterian Church, Howard County Family Living Committee and Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In conjunction with the seminar, Extension Homemakers will hold an Achievement Day. Each Extension Homemaker Club will have an exhibit about an educational program held this year.

ALLOWANCE

Allowances and earnings are effective tools which can be used in positive ways.

Having an allowance, and living within it, is one of the best experiences children can have. Start as soon as they are capable. This may be as early as three or four. By the time children are six or seven they need an allowance to cover their needs, plus some for personal use, saving and sharing. When children help decide their allowances by listing needs and ranking them in importance they are learning that income first covers needs; that money is limited; and that the family's financial situation affects the amount each member can use. After guidelines for using allowances are set, children want to decide how they will spend.

Earning gives children a sense of freedom and recognition and leads to financial independence. Parents can help children establish excellence in work standards before they work away from home and help them find work suitable for their age and skills. (Stop a child's earning if it interferes with school or other things important to the child and family.)

Children grow in their ability to spend, save, share and borrow as they use money for each of these purposes. Children can learn about keeping money records, using savings and checking accounts, borrowing and using credit as they develop their money management skills.

Set limits on what children have to spend and make adjustments as they grow older, their needs change and as they earn.

Preteens and teens may ask to borrow against their allowances. Borrowing should be addressed in a business-like manner so that children deduct such advances from future allowances and pay interest on the amounts borrowed.

FAMILY FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

Parents can help children understand money matters by letting them take part in regular discussions about using family income.

A family money management council can help children realize:

- The difference in needs and wants,
- That resources, including money, are limited,
- That planning helps the family use money more effectively and
- That family members should agree on how income will be used; set financial goals and plan how to reach them; and work together as a team.

Children should understand that all members contribute to the economic well being of the family by:

- Working in and out of the home and
- Effectively using money for needs and wants.

Dr. Donohue

Nutrition for tennis: nothing special

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am concerned about the eating habits of my 16-year-old grandson, who as a member of his high school varsity tennis team plays many hours of vigorous tennis, interrupted only by necessary academic work at school. During tournaments he will play fiercely almost all day. There must be a desirable diet before and during such strenuous exercise to maximize competitiveness and reduce fatigue and exhaustion.

I am afraid his coach concentrates more on playing the game itself and not enough on how to maintain strength during the game. Do you have any recommendations for proper eating before playing and during strenuous competition? Are there any books or articles on this subject? — S.M.

I am certain you'll find books on this specific subject somewhere in your library, but I wonder if your grandson needs books. The most important meals for any athlete are those he eats day in and out, not just on the day of competition or even during weeks when he's especially active. His needs are the same as all the rest of us. These are the meals that provide balances of carbohydrates, fats and protein. I know you've heard that, but it's true. And the meals should contain all the famous food groups — meats, dairy products, vegetables, grains and fruits.

Now if you are talking about calories, then we can say that he does need more of those than an inactive person would require. And that means more food volume. Let's judge this by his weight. I'll assume he is 145 pounds. A tennis player burns 0.05 calories for each pound of his weight for each minute of tennis action. A 145-pounder, then, would burn six calories for every pound of weight for every minute played.

Now don't think that means he needs 360 calories for each hour of tennis. That's a bit too much. For in tennis, as in most other sports, every minute on the court is not spent in actual exercise. There's a lot of time spent waiting and watching. I'd cut that 360 calorie figure by a quarter or even half. That will give you a better idea of the extra calories he needs for an hour of competition.

The pre-match meal should be eaten three hours before the event and should be low in fat because fat causes food to remain in the stomach longer. A lot of fat in a pre-match meal might give him a leaden feeling.

And I have forgotten to mention fluids. He has to drink lots of fluid during practice. He shouldn't wait for thirst, our normal drink need indicator. It lags behind actual body needs for fluid during any vigorous exercise. Water is fine.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What is the cause of muscle soreness that develops during exercise? — Mrs. J.S.

The short answer is that muscle soreness and stiffness that develop during exercise is the result of muscle work outstripping muscle blood supply. I plan to discuss this in greater depth in a future sports medicine article.

On Turning Heads

by Gary Don

Wrinkles are the result of the cross-linkage of collagen and elastin cells which are the main supporting fibers of the skin. The result is brittle tissue. Every five to seven years, 50% of the collagen that supports the skin is replaced by a new supply. The new collagen is identical in chemical composition to that of a baby's. As a result, if your skin's exposure to ultraviolet light and other damaging factors is reduced, the new collagen will work to repair old damage and reduce cross-linkage. You can increase the amount of collagen produced by your body by eating foods such as fresh papaya and pineapple, which contain bromelain and papain enzymes.

Dear Abby

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., Nov. 6, 1983

3-C

Husband may understand too well

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for eight years. This is a second marriage for both of us. His job keeps him on the road for a week and sometimes two weeks at a time. I hold a full-time job, plus a part-time job because we're buying our own home.

The last time my husband was home he told me that he would "understand" if I had an affair or wanted to have one. Abby, he is all the man I want, and I have never thought of having an affair, so I was shocked by his statement.

Now that he's gone again, I keep thinking about what he said, and I have grown increasingly uneasy. I have an idea that he is either already involved in an affair or he's thinking about it.

Do you think he was trying to tell me something?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: He may have been testing the matrimonial waters. But before you head for the life raft, have a serious talk with him. Your marriage appears to be lacking in the most vital ingredient of a healthy relationship — communication. Tell him what's on your mind and ask him to tell you what's on his. And if you feel incompetent to handle it alone, a family counselor would be very helpful to both of you.

DEAR ABBY: After 37 years of marriage, my husband told me he has made reservations for a five-day vacation in Hawaii for himself — but I could go along if I wanted to. He knows I am unable to go because of health problems.

Don't you think it's a little unusual for a married man his age to take a vacation all by himself?

I am very unhappy about this. Should I demand that he not go? Or should I send him off with my blessings, and then have him followed?

DEAR LEFT OUT: Neither of the above. Tell him how you feel and why. Honesty usually begets honesty.

DEAR ABBY: I am a retired widower who enjoys taking lovely single ladies to dinners, concerts, etc.

Last evening my date and I were having a very nice time, and when it came time to take the lady home, she asked me to go a certain route. Then she pointed out a certain house where her ex-husband now lives, and all the way home she ranted about how terrible he had been to her, berating him and running him down. Needless to say, it spoiled what would have been a beautiful evening for me. I could tell that she felt good telling me about it, but I felt lousy having to listen to it.

Other women have done this, too. Abby, please tell your single readers not to air their dirty laundry to their dates. We want a nice evening with pleasant company. I'm certain that many single people wonder why they are not asked out a second time, and this could be the reason. Pass it on.

UTAH WIDOWER

DEAR WIDOWER: Many women (and men) in search of a sympathetic ear wind up with a cold shoulder. To bad-mouth an ex-spouse is very poor taste. But to do so on the first or second date is even worse. Your advice is well worth passing on.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Sterling flatware is made in varying weights. In the absence of a legal requirement governing weights, trade custom has evolved weights known as "trade medium," "Heavy" and "extra heavy." The difference between them on sterling spoons, for example, is about two ounces per dozen pieces. When choosing a sterling pattern, consider the "feel" as well as the pattern. Balance is important. The comparative weight of silver-plated flatware bears no relation to the silver content. The quality rating "A1" may indicate two ounces of silver plating per gross of teaspoons, while "XXXX" (quadruple) may indicate up to eight ounces per gross.

Engagements

COUPLE TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Newton, 2615 Ann, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Laurie, to Ken Awtry, son of Mrs. Howard Awtry, 1313 Settles. The couple will wed Nov. 26 in the chapel of First Baptist Church. The Rev. Guy White, pastor of East 4th Street Baptist Church will officiate.

DECEMBER PLANS — Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Smith, 1605 Lancaster, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Connie Dale, to Kurt James Cheatham, 1503-B Wood. Cheatham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Cheatham of Sulpher Springs. The couple will wed Dec. 3 at College Baptist Church. The Rev. Bobby Fuller, pastor, will officiate.

JANUARY RITE — Mrs. Thelma Carroll, Lamesa, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Phyllis Ringener, to Charles Tracy Hageman of Lamesa. Hageman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hageman of Prescott, Ariz. and Charles T. Hageman of Lamesa. Miss Ringener also is the daughter of the late Whit Carroll. The couple will wed Jan. 13, 1984 at Las Vegas, Nev.

Plans announced

Shirley Craver, 1805 Duquoin, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Sharon, to Harold Biddle, son of Glyndon and Betty Biddle, 2512

Central. Miss Craver also is the daughter of the late James Craver.

The couple will wed Dec. 17 at St. Paul Lutheran Church. The Rev. Carroll Kohl, pastor, will officiate.

"Food Waste Not" topic at City Extension meeting

Alta Lee Underwood and Mrs. Lillian Dawson presented a program "Food Waste Not" at a meeting of City Extension Homemakers Club, Oct. 14.

An identification quiz on cooking ingredients was given. Participants could see, but could not feel or smell the ingredients. "What and Who Do You Think You Are?," a survey, was filled out by members.

Midland County had its Achievement Day, Oct. 21. Members answered roll call with "Something Good About the Person on my Right."

Engagement policy

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald from anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks before the wedding.

We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form should be signed by the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or parents of either.

We will use a picture of the couple or the bride-elect. The picture must be of a quality that will reproduce well in the newspaper. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to our paper. If only grandparents live in our area, please, give their names and addresses.

The information may be brought by the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry, or mailed to the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720.

Call us at (915) 267-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

Draper shows flower arranging

Kelly Draper of Faye's Flowers presented a program "Flowering Fantasies" at a meeting of the 1985 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. Walter Wheat, Nov. 1.

Draper demonstrated what a person can do at home with the modern trend in flowers. He arranged several types of chrysanthemums in several pottery containers. He accented the flowers with dried wheat, fall leaves and salt cedar.

Draper talked about a lady's corsage, Mom's Mum, which will begin being used next fall. The corsage has a large mum accented with short ribbons. He also talked about the trend for mums in high school and harvest wreaths.

A donation was made to the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

The next meeting will be a Christmas Luncheon in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, 704 Highland Ave., Dec. 6.

You can rest assured it's the best!

Wedding

MRS. RONALD WAYNE PINKERTON
...formerly Judith Ann Yates

Yates-Pinkerton

Judith Ann Yates and Ronald Wayne Pinkerton were united in marriage during a Saturday evening ceremony at Belvue Church of Christ in Stanton. Max Leach, pastor of Tarzan Church of Christ, officiated at the rite before a double-heart candelabra centered by two spiral candelabra entwined with greenery and flowers. A unity candle completed the setting.

The bride is the daughter of Sammy and Nancy Yates of Tarzan. The bridegroom is the son of David and Keda Cross of Midland.

Shelly Tunnell of Tarzan and David McReynolds of Midland, vocalists, provided music for the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a pearl beaded Alencon lace and candlelight organza gown. The gown featured a high neckline with a sheer yoke and full balloon sleeves. The sleeves ended in cuffs below the elbow. The applied full skirt fell into a chapel-length train edged with scallops of Schiffler lace. The bride carried a cascade of gardenia, greenery and stephanotis.

Tana May of Gail served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were DeAnn Yates of Tarzan, sister-in-law of the bride, Kenda Hale of Lubbock, and Stacy Parker of Midland. Katie Jo Yates of Tarzan, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Mike Swinson of Stanton was best man. Jody Yates of Tarzan, brother of the bride, David Anderson of Stanton, and Homer Swinson of Stanton were groomsmen. Cody Yates of Seminole, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. Ushers were Davy Nutt and Randy Nutt of Gilmer, nephews of the bridegroom, Bill May of Gail, and Danny Hernandez of Stanton.

Following the ceremony, the couple was feted with a reception at Caprock Auditorium in Stanton. The bride's table featured a three-tiered wedding cake. The first tier was square and topped with gardenia, the second tier was round and the third tier was octagon shaped. The cake was topped with a bride and bridegroom figurine and flowers. The table was decorated with navy tapers and flowers. The bridegroom's table was decorated with a gold oil derrick and featured a chocolate cake.

The bride graduated from Grady High School in Lenora, South Plains College in Levelland, and is employed by Blair Energy in Midland. The bridegroom is a graduate of Stanton High School. He attended Howard College, Baylor University in Waco, and Midland College.

Following a wedding trip to Acapulco, the couple will make their home in Tarzan.

Different customs for different people! In Bermuda there are two cakes at a wedding. The groom's is a pound cake with a gold leaf on top to symbolize "wealth." The bride's is a fruit cake (may she be fruitful); the first tier of her cake will be kept until the christening of the first born child. Atop each cake is a seedling - to be planted and grow along with their love. Here at the ACCENT SHOPPE we suggest you save some wedding champagne, keep a wedding plant - as a happy memory!

Seasonal wardrobe updating can reacquaint sewers with machines

The usual wardrobe updating that accompanies the change of seasons gives sewers the opportunity to get reacquainted with their sewing machine.

New fashion trends make it all the more important that sewers realize the full potential of their sewing machines.

Every machine is different so it will be of great help to become familiar with sewing machine's idiosyncrasies. This is especially important if a sewer has a new sewing machine.

Fundamental advances have been made in today's sewing machines, so sewers shouldn't be overwhelmed by the broad variety of sewing techniques the new machines offer.

Since machines evolved from straight, to zigzag, to stretch stitches and other conveniences, home sewing has been made considerably easier and more enjoyable. Yet, experienced sewers with new sewing machines often overlook the new techniques they have at their fingertips and remain faithful to old methods which don't include these conveniences.

New sewing machine buyers can take advantage of after-purchase lessons most dealers offer. She noted that these are not sewing classes, but rather, mini-courses to show the owner of the new machine how to enjoy its full benefits.

The following suggestions can put more zest into a wardrobe.

Crepe de Chines are very popular for blouses and two-piece dresses. To achieve the desired effect with this fabric, as well as with organadies and voiles, a #8 or #10 needle should be used. The French seam or the interlock stitch provide effective options to the straight stitch. Again, it's most important that sewers know what their sewing machine offers in the way of choices.

Since many sewing machines have foot attachments for sewing on buttons, use this feature. If it's available because large buttons are fashionable this year. The two most important elements in a secure button are the knot and the shank.

The best button feet have adjustable shank-makers. When in place, a button can be zigzagged into place and a shank will be made automatically. All a sewer has to do is draw the thread through between the fabric and the button, wrap it around the shank, and knot it securely. Only buttons with holes can be sewn on by machine, however, so shank-type buttons must be hand-stitched.

If planning to make jogging shorts, follow these hints. When sewing on elastic, use extra care. To prevent elastic from 'growing,' the sewing performed directly on the elastic must be limited. Therefore, the best stitch to use is a stretch stitch called the 'seam and overcast' stitch. By placing the elastic so only the overcast stitches go through it, an effective seam can be sewn and the number of stitches through the elastic is limited.

In addition, the zigzag stitch is good for fastening bias tape, which is often used to trim the sides and edges of the shorts. Tiny stitches of this type will provide the flexibility needed when working with such stretchy binding.

Since blazers are popular, follow this suggestion for a crisp, professional finish. Interface the entire front of the blazer with fusible interfacing. It will make the difference between a home-made look and a hand-made tailored look.

Ms. Hunt describes trip to fashion headquarters

Naomi Hunt, extension agent, gave a program, "Home Sewing Fashion from the Big Apple", at a meeting of the City Extension Homemakers Club at the home of Mrs. Clyde Johnson, Oct. 28.

She told how patterns are made from start to finish. A slide presentation of different locations in New York City was given. Slides of workers at the pattern company also were shown.

She has made dresses from one pattern, showing what the variations that are listed on the suggestion section of the patterns, will look like.

The trip to New York consisted of mostly extension agents who were selected by authorities in extension work. Group members paid their own way.

Roll call was answered by "My First Best Friend". The Big Spring State Hospital needs help with ward parties and needs volunteers.

The Salvation Army needs volunteers to tend the Christmas Kettles. Young Homemakers Day and Achievement Day for all Extension Clubs was Nov. 2.

The next meeting will be a Thanksgiving dinner at 10:30 a.m., Nov. 11 in the home of Mrs. Alta Lee Underwood.

Wedding policy

Weddings are published in the Sunday Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. A wedding form, available at the Herald, should be filled out, signed by either the bride, bridegroom or a member of either family and in our office no later than noon the Wednesday before the wedding.

The information may be accompanied by a photograph either of the bride or the couple. A black and white glossy 5 x 7 inch print is preferred. The picture must be of sufficient quality to reproduce in the newspaper. Pictures may be picked up following publication.

If a wedding writeup is turned in after the wedding, the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.

Forms for wedding stories may be picked up at the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scutry. Writeups may be brought in to the department or mailed to Big Spring Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. Please call our office if you have problems or questions. Our number is (915) 263-7331.
