Two Navy jets vanish

SIGONELLA, Sicily (AP) — Two U.S. Navy planes with seven people aboard disappeared while on a routine flight from Spain to Sicily, a Navy spokesman said today.

Chief Petty Officer Joel Jacobs said the two C-1A "Trader" aircraft disappeared sometime after 4 p.m. Thursday (10 a.m. EST) after leaving Palma de Mallorca on the Spanish Mediterranean island of Majorca.

He said Italian, Spanish and American rescue squads searched the seas and air Friday for the missing twin-propeller planes, which are normally used to ferry passengers and supplies to aircraft carriers or over short distances.

Jacobs said the aircraft are attached to the Fleet Logistic Support Squadron 24 based at Sigonella, near Catania.

He said the names of the missing seven Navy personnel are being withheld pending notification of their families.

USSR to increase nuke arsenal

RONALD REAGAN

MOSCOW (AP) — President Yuri V. Andropov says the Soviet Union will enlarge its nuclear arsenal at home, in Eastern Europe and at sea in response to NATO's deployment of new U.S. missiles in Western Europe.

Most Western leaders said Andropov's statement, carried Thursday by the official Soviet news agency Tass, was little more than a confirmation of long-standing Soviet plans.

However, it was the first time Andropov publicly had disclosed new plans to bolster Soviet maritime nuclear forces. Navy sources in Washington have said several Soviet submarines armed with nuclear weapons are assigned to positions several hundred miles off the east and west U.S. coasts.

In Brussels, U.S. arms negotiator Paul Nitze today called the Kremlin's cutoff of talks a regrettable hardening of the Soviet position. But he said he regretted even more the Soviet decision to increase the numbers and bases of SS-20 nuclear missiles as a response to the new U.S. missiles.

In Bonn, West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and

French President Francois Mitterrand appealed to the Soviet Union to return to the Geneva talks. The leaders had just concluded a two-day summit in the West German capital.

East German Communist Party chief Erich Honecker called for continuation of the East-West "political dialogue" despite the breakdown of the Geneva talks. Speaking about the acceleration of missile deployment in his country, Honecker said, "As a matter of course, these measures do not cause joy in our country. But they were necessary to foil military supremacy by the United States."

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization plans to deploy 572 new medium-range U.S. cruise and Pershing 2 nuclear missiles in five Western European countries starting next month. Parts of some of the missiles already have arrived in Britain and West Germany.

Andropov indicated that, through an increased sea arsenal, he wanted to keep the direct threat to American soil at the same level as that the Kremlin

PLO rebels announce cease-fire agreement

TRIPOLI, Lebanon (AP) — PLO mutineers and loyalists reached agreement today on a plan to end their three-week-old battle and evacuate both forces from the Tripoli area within two weeks, the foreign ministers of Saudi Arabia and Syria announced.

There was no immediate confirmation by Palestine Liberation Organization chairman Yasser Arafat or his opponents of the announcement, which came shortly after loyalists and Syrian-backed guerrilla mutineers clashed with mortars, rocket-propelled grenades and machineguns in this northern Lebanese port.

The agreement was announced at a joint news conference in Damascus by Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Saud al-Faisal and his Syrian counterpart, Abdul-Halim Khaddam.

The accord, read to reporters by Khaddam, calls for a permanent cease-fire in and around Tripoli, a negotiated settlement of the PLO's internal differences and departure of all Palestinian fighters from the Tripoli area.

Prior to the announcement, there was a 90-minute exchange of mortar and machine gun fire between the rival forces in Tripoli which Arafat's aides described as "probing attacks" by the rebels to test loyalist defenses in the city.

YASSER ARAFAT ...peace treaty

Shells fell in a seaside shantytown and the Azmi commercial district during the exchanges. One or two shells landed in the city center and the harbor.

Arafat had been reported ready to bow to the rebels' demands and leave his last Middle East stronghold to avert a bloodbath, provided he got sufficient guarantees for the safety of loyalists and local militia allies he would leave behind.

In Beirut, 50 miles south of Tripoli, warplanes flew low runs over the city early today as Lebanese troops and Shiite Moslem militiamen battled near the U.S. Marine base at the international airport.

Marine spokesman Maj. Robert Jordan said three shots were fired into the Marine base but caused no casualties. He said the shooting stopped when Marines fired a few rounds in return.

Asked whether the incoming rounds were deliberately aimed at the Marines, Jordan said: "They were probably fired in their direction."

Arafat gained the release Thursday by Israel of 4,600 Palestinian and Lebanese prisoners in exchange for six Israeli soldiers captured by PLO fighters in September 1982. But his aides said the exchange was not directly linked to Arafat's predicament in Tripoli.

Tyler education study becomes a best seller

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Eighteen recent studies of education in the United States call for schools to narrow and clarify their purpose, says a report on the reports written by Tyler public school administrators.

The Tyler report has become a "best seller" in the academic world, winning fans throughout the country — including U.S. Education Secretary Terrel Bell.

The report — "An Analysis of Reports on the Status of Education in America: Findings, Recommendations, and Implications" — is a condensation and comparison of 18 studies on the condition of public education in the United States.

All of the studies, including the highly publicized "A Nation at Risk" report, call for schools to redefine their purpose and then do a better job fulfilling it, the 179-page Tyler report says.

"Virtually all the reports speak to the need to establish higher standards and higher expectations throughout the education system. The disagreement comes in the area of curriculum," said Tyler school superintendent Jack L. Davidson.

"There appears to be a pretty good consensus for the need to expand to three years of science and three years of mathematics for all high school students," he said. "There is also pretty uniform agreement on the need for computer literacy programs for all students."

After Davidson presented the analysis at a national conference of school superintendents in Washington last month, Bell asked for 3,000 copies to use at the National Forum on Excellence in Education Dec. 6 in Indianapolis.

"When we first started it, we really didn't have any idea it would attract national interest. We started it just to use within the Tyler School District," said Davidson.

"More than 100 additional requests for the report have come in, and we anticipate receiving many more

Reagan criticizes El Salvador

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is escalating its criticism of rightist terrorists in El Salvador, calling them "fascists who serve the communist cause" and threaten to destroy that country's democracy.

The administration has become increasingly concerned over an upsurge in death squad activity in recent months and that sentiment was being underscored today in a speech by the U.S. ambassador to El Salvador, Thomas Pickering, to the American Chamber of Commerce in San Salvador.

Prior to the release of the speech in San Salvador, a senior U.S. official provided excerpts to a reporter in Washington.

Pickering's speech, which was cleared by the White House, cites some hopeful signs in El Salvador's political, economic and military development but adds that "terror can undo all the progress that has been made. It can destroy democracy in El Salvador," according to the official.

Pickering, who assumed his duties in El Salvador during the summer, was described by the official as being especially frustrated by the inability of Salvadoran authorities to crack down on the death squads even though the identity of their membership is widely known.

"We are as certain that these individuals are as well known to the security forces as they are to those of us who have been in the country only a short time," Pickering's prepared remarks say.

More than 35,000 Salvadorans have been killed during four years of civil war and many are believed to be victims of death squads who operate in hitman style and have killed students, union leaders, university professors and others with philosophies they oppose.

Critics of U.S. policy in El Salvador have accused the administration of not being forceful enough in confronting the death squad problem, contending that efforts by lower level officials to address the issue were thwarted by the White House.

The Reagan administration is considering a series of actions against the Miami-based exiles, including revoking their visas and investigating their financial dealings. One official has even recommended "unleashing the CIA" against the death squads, according to one informant.

CONCENTRATION — Del Poss concentrates while painting a totem pole carved by Nat Shick more than 40 years ago. The totem pole, located in the yard of Mrs. Gloria Strom Ezell, had begun to deteriorate, and Poss volunteered to repaint it.

Totem pole painter performs a rare job

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Del Poss spent quite a few hours this week preserving a part of Big Spring's history by repainting a totem pole carved by the late Nat Shick.

Poss, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delnor Poss, has been restoring one of two totem poles which belong to Gloria Strom Ezell of 501 Westover. He volunteered when he heard the totem pole was deteriorating.

Because of the totem pole's history Mrs. Ezell "didn't want to let it go." Both totem poles in her yard were carved by Shick, who was at one time the postmaster in Big Spring.

The totem pole was "carved to hold a lamp made from a dinner bell which belonged to my great-grandmother in Oklahoma," she said. "My great-grandmother used the bell to call hired hands to dinner."

The bell was handed down to Mrs. Ezell's mother, Veve Smith Strom. "She and daddy built this house (at 501 Westover) in 1939."

Shortly after the home was built, Mrs. Ezell's mother and "Uncle Nat" talked about the old dinner bell, and Shick made the totem pole to showcase the bell. He also wired the pole, and it serves as a light for the yard.

Shick "loved to whittle," Mrs. Ezell remembers. "He loved to carve, and he carved everything. That was his hobby. He was always looking at a tree and seeing a bear in it. He'd cut it down and whittle claws on it and he had a bear."

Several examples of Shick's work still remain in Big Spring. He carved the totem pole which was placed in Comanche Trail Park as a gift to the Boy Scouts.

But most of his work is starting to show signs of wear, and some totem poles have already deteriorated past the point where they can be saved. Mrs. Ezell didn't want that to happen to the totem poles in her yard.

"This one was starting to fall apart," Poss said with a slight frown as he concentrated upon painting the outline of the face of an Indian on the totem pole. The brightly colored pole features several faces and figures carved with precision into wood cracked with age.

Mrs. Ezell's other, larger totem pole, set a few feet back of the deteriorating totem pole, has remained in good shape and didn't need any repairs. Mrs. Ezell and Poss agreed the totem pole which holds the dinner bell would decay if not refinished.

Poss has been working "about three to four hours a day for a week and a half" repainting the totem pole. Most of the time was spent outlining intricate details that Shick had painstakingly carved 40 years ago.

Poss needed two to three coats of paint on the totem pole to regain its original luster. He is using wet enamel in the hopes that the pole will last for another 40 years before another paint job is needed.

Before he could begin painting "I had to buy putty and fill in" several cracks and crevices in the wood.

The work "has been hard," Poss said. "I didn't figure it'd take this long."

Poss knows Nat Shick's daughter, Lillian Shick Dawson, and "I know she wants the totem poles to be taken care of. He (Nat Shick) used to be pretty well known for doing this."

THE CHEMICAL PEOPLE

Questions & Answers

Alcohol effects

The Chemical People town meetings sparked many questions from participants. Answers to those questions — provided by seven panelists — appear below. Chemical People Q & A continues tomorrow in the Herald.

Today's answers are by Jim Campbell, counselor at Big Spring State Hospital.

Q. How come so many kids are alcoholic?

A. Alcohol is readily available. It is legal and it is encouraged. The media makes drinking alcohol attractive. It is advertised as a cure-all for stress and is used in many social settings.

Q. If you are a drug abuser where would you seek help to keep your job from being endangered?

A. Call the Outpatient Clinic at Big Spring State Hospital for counseling and referral.

Q. Is it possible to become an alcoholic by drinking only beer?

A. Yes. The amount of alcohol in one beer is approximately equal to one ounce of alcohol. The only difference is the additional liquid which the body must process and eliminate.

Q. Are there more men or women alcoholics in this world?

A. In past years, statistics have indicated more men. However, in recent years the ratio is changing with a higher percentage of women becoming dependent on drugs.

Q. When you know somebody with an alcohol or drug problem, how does one get this person to open up? Many of these people won't admit their problem. Should we as friends come out and talk to them about it?

A. We should be very open and honest with our friends in relationship to any problem we feel they have. We risk rejection in trying to help, but if we really care, we will continue the effort without discouragement.

Author retaliates against probate attorneys, judges

NEW YORK (AP) — Norman Dacey, who outraged the legal establishment in 1966 with his best-selling "How To Avoid Probate!" is back again.

And he is still denouncing probate judges and lawyers, who he charges "rob widows and orphans of large shares of their inheritances."

Dacey, 75, has emerged from retirement in Ireland to peddle a newly revised edition of his book, updated to help readers take advantage of new tax laws.

"How To Avoid Probate!" advises readers to forgo writing a will and instead set up "living trusts," which Dacey says can spare their heirs the delays, publicity and legal fees associated with having a will processed through probate court after they die.

Probate is the process by which courts ensure validity of wills and settle disputes between claimants of assets not covered by the will. If someone dies without a will, a probate court divides the estate according to state law.

Dacey says probate remains an "utterly corrupt" system that lawyers and judges use to squeeze fees and court costs from an estate before passing on the inheritance. "Lawyers are the hidden heirs in every will," he contends.

"How To Avoid Probate!" is filled

with do-it-yourself forms that Dacey says "any literate person" can use to place possessions — including bank accounts, securities, cars, and copyrights — in "living trusts."

Using the forms, a person can put his possessions in trust for an heir, but remains in control of those possessions as the executor of the trust, he says. Upon the person's death, the trustee automatically becomes the executor of the trust, and since there is no will and no estate left to dispute, probate is avoided, Dacey says.

His book abounds with tirades against the probate system, including numerous horror stories about lawyers and judges milking inheritances for expensive fees before handing them over to the heirs.

He says lawyers have been opposed to living trusts since the 1930s, when Dacey quit his job as a newspaper reporter in Bridgeport, Conn., and became a private estate consultant.

He advised his clients to start living trusts, he says, but lawyers either had not heard of the trusts or "refused to cooperate."

In retirement, Dacey enjoys reading letters from people who say his book has helped them. "Of all 2 million books I've sold," he says, "only one trust has ever been challenged, and that one was upheld in the Texas Supreme Court. I'd say that's a pretty good record."

He says he gets "an occasional letter from some widow who says, 'We followed your advice and it worked perfectly.'"

"The 'God bless you' letters are even better than the royalties," he says.

says is posed by Western weapons to Soviet territory. "Since by deploying its missiles in Europe the United States increases the nuclear threat to the Soviet Union, the corresponding Soviet systems will be deployed with due account for this circumstance in ocean areas and seas," he said.

The Soviet Union on Wednesday broke off negotiations in Geneva on limiting medium-range nuclear missiles.

Andropov repeated the Soviet contention that, through the new NATO deployment, the United States "torpedoed" any chance for a Geneva agreement.

"The Soviet Union considers its further participation in these talks impossible," Andropov said.

President Reagan, in a response issued in Santa Barbara, Calif., said: "We can only be dismayed by this Soviet statement. It is at sharp variance with the stated wish of the Soviet Union that an agreement be negotiated."

Government spokesmen in West Germany and Britain said Andropov's statement was not a surprise.

"It does not meet our hopes, but also does not contradict our expectations," said West German spokesman Peter Boenisch.

He said the statement, "to our way of thinking," did not rule out a Soviet return to the medium-range arms talks.

The Soviet short-range missiles "have been ready for deployment for some time. The Soviet Union would probably have wanted to deploy them in Eastern Europe in any case," the British Foreign Office said.

But Prime Minister Andreas Papandreu of Greece, who is NATO's leading critic of new missile deployment, said the United States had miscalculated the Kremlin reaction.

"I warned that the Soviet response would be to increase its nuclear weapons in Europe, leave the talks and possibly take additional measures," Papandreu said during a visit to Brussels, Belgium.

The West contends the new deployment is needed to counter Soviet SS-20s aimed at Western Europe.

Andropov has not been seen in public since Aug. 18. His statement was read in full on the main Soviet television evening news. But as has been customary since he came to power a year ago, no pictures of Andropov were shown.

He made no mention of parallel talks in Geneva on limiting long-range nuclear arms, which suggests the Soviets would stay at the table in those negotiations.

He said the Soviet Union was ending a moratorium on deploying new SS-20s in Soviet Europe and accelerating preparations for short-range nuclear missiles in East Germany and Czechoslovakia. The actions had been threatened previously as the NATO deployment deadline approached.

"It goes without saying that other measures, too, will be taken to ensure the security of the U.S.S.R." and its allies," Andropov added without elaboration.

Tass said Warsaw Pact defense ministers would meet in Bulgaria in early December, and Western observers in Moscow speculated that further moves by the Soviet bloc would be discussed there.

The unilateral moratorium on new SS-20s was announced in May 1982 by the late Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev, but Western analysts say the Soviet Union broke the promise and has installed some 200 SS-20s since then.

Andropov said the Soviet Union would be willing in the future to return to the current arms levels and then resume negotiations.

The Soviet Union has contended there now is "rough" parity between East and West in the number of medium-range nuclear weapons.

after the Indianapolis conference," Davidson told The Dallas Morning News.

The reports generally call for more schooling — a longer school year and a longer school day. "Students are in school longer in the most other countries than they are in the United States," Davidson said.

The studies were virtually unanimous in seeking smaller classes, more rigid standards for teachers, higher pay for teachers in general and higher pay for the best teachers.

One of the sharpest areas of disagreement in the studies involves job training. The President's Task Force on Private Sector Initiatives found it "critical" that education and training be linked to jobs. But Mortimer J. Adler's Paideia Group said schools "should eliminate from the curriculum all training for specific jobs."

"While we're talking about seeking high goals, we want to make sure we don't return to some of the problems we used to have, such as high truancy and dropout rates," Davidson said.

He said he also is somewhat concerned by the studies' interest in science and math to the exclusion of the arts.

And he said he found one aspect of education missing in all the reports. "They talk about the need for longer school hours and higher pay for teachers, but no one talks about the cost of the system. Nobody has put a price tag on any of this," Davidson said.

Davidson said he does not expect any more money for education to come from the federal government, "and that's fine with me," he added.

"I'm more optimistic that specific local communities will see the need to bring about educational improvements at the local level," he said.

The Tyler report was written by Margaret Montgomery, director of research and development for Tyler schools.

Treaty

Thursday also was the first time PLO rebel delegates met with the Saudi mediators in Syria. The rebels earlier had rejected outside mediation.

Hundreds of people in Tripoli and in two nearby refugee camps have been killed in weeks of warfare between Arafat's forces and the rebels who want to oust him from leadership of the PLO.

In the Beirut fighting, the Lebanese army and Shiite irregulars clashed with mortars, rocket-propelled grenades and tank fire from late Thursday night until dawn today, police said. They had no casualty reports.

The army and militiamen have been battling almost daily in the Shiite-dominated southern neighborhoods of Beirut since Oct. 23 truck-bomb attacks that killed 239 U.S. and 58 French servicemen. Military jets flew low runs over Beirut throughout the night.

Police and Beirut radio stations said they were unable to determine whether the jets had come from Israel or scrambled off U.S. or French aircraft carriers based in Lebanese waters to support the multinational force.

Meanwhile, it was announced that President Amin Gemayel will hold talks with President Reagan in Washington on Dec. 1, two days after Reagan's scheduled meeting with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir and Defense Minister Moshe Arens.

Deputy White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said in Santa Barbara, Calif., that Gemayel would discuss with Reagan "alternate approaches toward making progress in withdrawing foreign forces from Lebanon."

A reconciliation conference of Lebanon's Moslem and Christian leaders instructed Gemayel to find a way to obtain withdrawal of Israeli troops from Lebanon, other than through an agreement signed by Gemayel and Israeli leaders on May 17.

Israel, which invaded Lebanon in the summer of 1982 to destroy PLO bases, agreed to withdraw if Syria did the same. Syria, in Lebanon since putting down the 1975-1976 civil war, refused, contending the May 17 pact would give Israel security privileges in southern Lebanon that threaten Syria's safety.

Mascot going back to bayou

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — Fed up with his constant fighting, biting and insubordination, the Army has discharged its meanest, most surly private — Pvt. Al E. Gator, mascot of the 3rd Squadron, 5th Cavalry.

Just to stay on his good side until he's gone, however, the Army presented the 4-foot-long reptile with the Army Commendation Medal — along with a one-way ticket to a Louisiana bayou.

Over beer and potato chips, the 3rd Squadron toasted the departure of Pvt. Gator Wednesday during a soggy field day party hosted by his superior officer, Maj. Henry Ruth, troop commander.

Al, no respecter of rank, has attempted to chew off the hand of the major on occasion. But Ruth harbors no ill feelings and says he's going to miss the critter.

Four years ago, the helicopter assault unit received the alligator as a present from the Louisiana National Guard, Ruth said.

Since then, the gator has found his way into every formal parade and inspection. Tucked beneath the arm of some brave soldier, Al's wagging leathery tail often caught the eye of unsuspecting generals.

For young soldiers away from home and seasoned veterans, short-tempered, pugnacious Al became more than a mascot.

Al has been given a personnel file, a promotion, an Article 15 disciplinary hearing for snapping at Ruth, a demotion and finally a commendation medal.

Orders were cut to send Private Al E. Gator to Jungle Training School in Panama. Al did the push-up requirements, but flunked the seven-mile run.

More orders were cut to send him to Army Underwater Demolition School. He was a qualified swimmer, but couldn't handle the complex instructions.

However, Al also has had his triumphs, heard the cheers of his comrades as he was honored as Field Sanitation NCO of the month, Senior Scout and Soldier of the Month.

Meanwhile, the Army has provided well for Al, noted Sgt. Timothy Culver. He's had a fresh supply of mice, chickens and rabbits. His off-duty hours have been spent in a special water container in the headquarters basement next to the boiler where heat lamps keep the temperature a constant 78 humid degrees.

But Al became too cantankerous for the Army, and soldiers called area zoos to see if they would accept a gator. No luck.

Finally, Ruth said, they called Louisiana Fish and Wildlife Department officials. They agreed to provide Al with some basic jungle survival training and turn him loose in his native habitat.

The unit passed the hat for a one-way plane ticket to Louisiana and built a special padded box for the trip.

The private was led off the parade ground on his leash one last time before he was returned to civilian life.

And as he passed, a few teary soldiers murmured: "See you later, Al E. Gator."

Man takes children; forces 8-hour standoff

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — A man sought in Texas since Oct. 29 for allegedly spiriting his two daughters away from their mother has been jailed following an eight-hour standoff with police who feared he might kill his 2½-year-old child.

The girl and her 11-year-old sister were reunited Thursday with their mother in Anaheim and returned to Texas Thursday morning, Sgt. Richard Zschoche said.

James Gordon Clark, 29, of the Dallas suburb of Garland, was booked in Anaheim in Orange County for assault with a deadly weapon, his pickup truck, on a police officer. He was also booked for resisting arrest and failing to yield to a police officer, Sgt. Jack Parra said.

"No one has inquired about him yet" to help post his $50,000 bail, Parra said late Thursday.

Clark was also held on a Texas warrant for investigation of child stealing, Parra said, adding that he believed the California charges would be handled before extradition proceedings would begin.

"He has threatened to kill the daughter and himself," Detective Dwain Briggs said during the incident, which began at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Anaheim near Disneyland. It ended at 3:40 a.m. Thursday about 60 miles to the east on Interstate 15 north of San Bernardino.

A .22-caliber pistol was found in the trailer behind the truck, but no weapon was found inside the truck, police said.

Natalie Clark, 2½, was unharmed and her sister Stephanie, 11, either escaped or was released by Clark when the truck stopped in traffic. She ran to waiting officers, Zschoche said.

Garland police Lt. Pat Martinkus said the Clarks have been divorced for about a month and Mrs. Clark has custody of the children. He said Clark failed to return the children to Mrs. Clark after a visit Oct. 29.

Clark called his former wife Wednesday and told her to meet him in front of Disneyland at noon Thursday, allegedly threatening to harm the children if she failed to show up, Martinkus said.

In the last five hours of the standoff, which backed up Thanksgiving traffic for miles as officers blocked the freeway, police sharpshooters ringed the area near Devore in the mountainous Cajon Pass. But officers did not rush the truck for fear Natalie would be harmed, Briggs said.

Producer marries at 96

NEW YORK — At age 96, Broadway producer George Abbott has married again — the third marriage for him and the first for his bride, 52-year-old Philadelphia businesswoman Joy Moana Valderrama. The couple tied the knot Monday in a ceremony in Abbott's Miami Beach home.

GEORGE ABBOTT

Miss Valderrama, president of a Philadelphia retail fur company, met Abbott 25 years ago while she was attending school and working as a Hawaiian dancer in a New Jersey nightclub. She was a championship tennis player and is a member of the Sports Hall of Fame at Temple University. Abbott has been associated with about 130 Broadway productions, including "Pal Joey," "Call Me Madame" and "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." These days he's preparing the musical "On Your Toes," which he first directed on Broadway in 1936, for a revival in London in May. Abbott's first wife, the former Ednah Levis, died in 1930. He was divorced from actress Mary Sinclair in 1951.

Astronaut heads parade

PHILADELPHIA — Space shuttle astronaut Guion Bluford Jr. made a down-to-earth appearance as the grand marshal for Philadelphia's 64th annual Thanksgiving Day parade.

Bluford, 41, a mission specialist who was on September's flight of the Challenger, escorted Santa Claus, 22 high school bands, and an assortment of marchers dressed up as ice cones, animals and clowns. The colorful extravaganza Thursday was called "A Child's Christmas Fantasy."

Many of the cast of characters in the march were employees of Gimbel's department store, the parade sponsor.

Bluford, born in the city, rode in a 1928 Packard convertible with Mayor William Green. About 50,000 people lined the streets.

"I never thought when I lived here that I'd be part of something like this, and I like it," the astronaut said.

Goodman has surgery

NEW YORK — Benny Goodman, "the king of swing," spent Thanksgiving in a hospital where he underwent intestinal surgery.

The renowned clarinetist and band leader was operated on Wednesday at New York University Medical Center. The hospital declined to disclose the reason for the surgery.

However, the 74-year-old Goodman felt well enough Thursday to receive telephone calls in his room, a spokesman said. His condition was listed as satisfactory.

Nun honored by England

NEW DELHI, India — Nobel laureate Mother Teresa, the 73-year-old Roman Catholic nun who founded the Missionaries of Charity in 1950, has been honored with one of Britain's highest awards, the Order of Merit.

Queen Elizabeth II, on a nine-day state visit to India, made the presentation Thursday during a ceremony at the presidential palace. Later she and Mother Teresa, whose diminutive figure was wrapped in a white sari, walked together into the palace.

Mother Teresa, winner of the 1979 Nobel Peace Prize, was cited by Britain for her humanitarian work in the slums of the world.

The news in brief

By the Associated Press

Winter grips northern U.S.

The second snowstorm of Thanksgiving week blocked roads through the mountains of the West with knee-deep snow today while the East got its first taste of icy weather this season.

The death toll rose to 27 in a week of snowy weather from the Rockies to the Great Lakes and up to 3 feet of new snow was expected in some mountain areas.

In Washington, D.C., roads and bridges were slick as up to 4 inches of snow fell across northern Virginia and Maryland and eastern Pennsylvania into the Catskills of New York today. Much of the East Coast was buffeted with 50-mph winds and heavy rains.

Beckley, W.Va., Bradford, Pa., and the New York towns of Binghamton and Utica all reported 2 inches of snow.

The second storm out of the Gulf of Alaska since last Sunday had deposited 19 inches of new snow on Highway 50 at the southern end of the Lake Tahoe Basin in Nevada by this morning.

In Utah, the Park City area had been hit with 16 inches of blowing and drifting snow by this morning and up to 2 more feet were expected in the higher mountains.

Heavy snow also was falling in the mountains of Arizona, where accumulations of up to a foot were expected.

Winter storm warnings were in effect for most of the plateau regions from southeastern Idaho to northern Arizona and across the Rockies of Montana and Colorado. Travelers advisories covered the Sierra Nevada, western Idaho and most of Wyoming.

Temperatures hovered around zero in parts of North Dakota and Minnesota.

About 130,000 people in western Washington — many with half-roasted Thanksgiving turkeys still in the oven — lost power Thursday morning as the new storm blew in and drenched the West as far inland as Idaho, where visibility was down to 100 feet in mixed rain and snow.

Electricity was restored within several hours to 63,000 people in the Seattle area, but 57,000 others were still without power early today.

While the new storm "doesn't have quite as big a windup" as the system that howled out of the Rockies last Sunday, "it's still a good strong cold front that will bring snow and wind to the Plateau and Rockies today," said meteorologist Nolan Duke at the National Weather Service's Severe Storm Center in Kansas City, Mo.

FBI arrests striking bus driver

SAN ANTONIO — The FBI says it has arrested a striking Greyhound bus driver suspected of shooting at a bus and its driver on an east San Antonio street.

The 53-year-old man was being held in the Bexar County Jail after his arrest Thursday, said Bill Dalseg, special agent in charge of the San Antonio FBI office. Federal authorities planned to file charges against the man today in a federal complaint alleging destruction of an interstate motor vehicle, Dalseg said.

Shots were fired at a Greyhound bus and its driver in San Antonio Wednesday evening, Dalseg said, but the driver was not injured.

Israel makes prisoner swap

TEL AVIV — Israeli officials reluctantly made concessions to free six of their soldiers in exchange for 4,600 Palestinian and Lebanese prisoners, but they say Israel and the PLO remain bitter enemies.

"There is no change in our approach toward the murderers whose only desire is to sow destruction and panic and killing," Deputy Prime Minister David Levy said.

Israel accepted the Palestine Liberation Organization's conditions for the prisoner swap after more than a year of deadlocked negotiations through intermediaries. Israeli officials said there was no direct contact between Israeli diplomats and the guerrilla organization.

"I don't see any change or improvement" in Israeli-PLO relations, Defense Minister Moshe Arens said Thursday. He also denied the exchange deal included guarantees for PLO leader Yasser Arafat's safe passage from his embattled headquarters in the north Lebanese city of Tripoli.

Ships collide on Elbe River

CUXHAVEN — A container ship loaded with New Year's fireworks plowed into a freighter today on the Elbe in West Germany and erupted in flames, killing one sailor and injuring five others, rescue officials said.

West German rescue ships and a naval helicopter plucked 17 crewmen from the burning ship, said Wolfgang Kiesel, a spokesman for the German Rescue Service.

The cause of the crash was not immediately known. The collision occurred in rain and light fog near the port of Cuxhaven.

White House beefs up security

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move that appeared to be designed to foil any Beirut-style bombing, the Secret Service tightened security around the White House during the Thanksgiving holiday by parking seven sand-laden dump trucks at five metal-gate entrances.

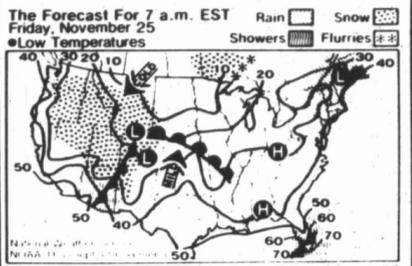

White House press secretary Larry Speakes said the move was "not in response to a specific threat," but security also was tightened at the State Department six blocks away, where spokeswoman Anita Stockman said authorities were reacting to "possible bomb threats."

President Reagan and his family were at Reagan's ranch in Santa Barbara, Calif., for a five-day Thanksgiving vacation, ending Sunday.

At the State Department, five entrances were blocked by cars or vans and police cars blocked part of a street that leads to a sixth. Ms. Stockman said "extra security has been taken and will be in effect until we can evaluate this possible or potential threat." The State Department security measures were implemented Wednesday, while the trucks were moved around the White House on Thursday.

The parked trucks at the entrances to the White House grounds were the latest episode in a series of increasingly stringent security measures prompted by a late-night bomb blast at the Capitol on Nov. 7 and the attack on the Marine headquarters in Beirut.

Modern explorers touch distant shores

In launching IRAS, the Infrared Astronomical Satellite, last January, American, British and Dutch scientists undertook nothing less than to map the universe. And they have been spectacularly successful. By the end of this month or next, when IRAS runs out of the liquid helium coolant on which its infrared sensing devices depend, the scientists expect to have located more than 250,000 objects in space, most of which no one on earth ever knew about before.

What IRAS has been able to "see" are objects in the universe too cool to radiate light and thus previously impossible to detect even with the highest-powered earthbound telescopes. IRAS discovered galaxies, comets, asteroids, and — perhaps most intriguing — massive "clouds" of dust in space, with temperatures barely warmer than absolute zero, where before scientists had thought there was only emptiness.

These dust clouds, the scientists say, are to them "a new component" of the universe, which it may take another 30 years of study to fully understand. But already the IRAS data suggest that many of these dust clouds are in the process of collapsing into stars the size of the sun — that new stars, in fact, are being formed at the rate of one a year in the Milky way galaxy, far faster than anyone had ever guessed before.

IRAS has sent back data about dark galaxies beyond the Milky Way, which (for reasons still unknown) put out vastly more infrared radiation than visible light, and about a previously unknown dense disk of matter orbiting the star Vega, which may teach us how solar systems are formed. It has discovered five new comets within our own solar system and three dust rings circling the sun (in the area of the solar asteroid belt) that may have been formed by a single cosmic collision thousands of years ago.

The scientists, in their latest progress report on the project, called their IRAS discoveries "astounding" and in sheer quantity "overwhelming." The explorers of our age, they have literally expanded our vistas, redefining the limits of the known universe and of the human capacity to understand it.

Top secret

Under the "No one is perfect" rule, the State Department sent over a file cabinet full of top-secret papers to the Lorton Reformatory in Virginia. Lorton has a contract with the department to repair Foggy Bottom's furniture, but the State Department rules say the files are supposed to be empty before they leave the building.

You can imagine the excitement at Lorton when one of the inmates opened up the cabinet and discovered it fully loaded with the innermost secrets of our government.

"Hey, guys, look here. There's a bunch of papers in this cabinet."

"I'll be damned. What kind of papers?"

"Don't know. This file says 'For Eyes Only.' What does that mean?"

"Guess it means you supposed to read it. What are your eyes for? Here, give me that. Man, this is hot stuff. It looks like a telegram from some State Department cat asking for $50 million to buy off some dude in Central America who wants to knock off another dude who's running the country."

"Here's another one. It's marked 'Top Secret, Return After Reading.' It's a letter from the Secretary of State to a dame named Margaret Thatcher telling her how to fuse a cruise missile. What's a cruise missile?"

"Beats me. Let me see what else they got in there. This one says they broke the diplomatic code of Bulgaria and they now know the order of battle of the Warsaw Pact nations."

"Boy, this stuff is boring. It don't have anything in there about how we can break out of here, does it?"

"Don't expect so. They got lots of maps of prisons in foreign countries showing how the prisoners can break out from there, but none for Lorton."

"What's in that confidential folder?"

"Just a bunch of stuff about death squads knocking off the peasants, and how to handle it if the press starts asking too many questions."

"You mean they're cooling it when it comes to death squads in other countries?"

"Sure looks like it."

"Then why am I doing 20 years for just shooting my wife's boyfriend?"

"State Department don't get involved with what we do in this country. They just supposed to protect criminals in other countries from going to jail."

"Hey, Jeeter, you used to work in the government before you heisted the credit union. You think this stuff got any value for us?"

"It sure does. When they find out their files are missing they're going to go ape until they get them back. What I suggest we do is divvy up the top-secret folders amongst ourselves and then deal with them."

"How do you mean deal?"

"Well, let's say I'll give them back their plans for supplying the rebels in Nicaragua, if they take five years off my sentence."

"Maybe they'll give us five years more for having the top-secret folders in our possession."

"They won't if we tell them we'll blow the whistle to '60 Minutes' on what the State Department really thinks of Pierre Trudeau."

"Is that in the files?"

"It's right here in this top-secret folder on psychiatric profiles of heads of state."

"Hey, man, give me a real good one. I got a parole hearing coming up soon, and if I give them back something they really need, the secretary of state might appear himself to recommend it."

"Sure, Shorty. Here's a game plan on how the State Department is going to shaft the secrecy of defense with the White House. They'll do anything to get that one back. Don't shove, there's enough to go around for everybody, but hide them good because they're going to tear this joint apart to find them."

"Hey, we forgot something. We're supposed to repair this cabinet."

"Don't give it no mind. No one at the State Department is ever going to want to see the outside of this cabinet again."

No thanks for food additives

WASHINGTON — Like most Americans, I sat down with my family yesterday for the annual Thanksgiving feast. But being a professional curmudgeon, while I counted our blessings I also counted the strange substances that have found their way into the food we eat — dangerous chemicals never dreamed of by the Pilgrim fathers.

The unnerving fact is that Americans have paid a price for the bounty that surrounds us. Our food is no longer produced on small family farms, but by huge agribusiness operations. They depend for their success on the constant use of pesticides that leave tiny residues in just about everything we eat.

The Food and Drug Administration conducts ongoing studies of food to identify the kinds and amounts of potentially harmful chemicals that find their way onto your dinner table. For these "market basket surveys," the FDA scientists shop at the supermarket just like any homemaker, cook the various items the way you would and then — unlike you — test the results for toxic chemicals.

My associate Vicki Warren obtained an unpublished computer printout for a recent market basket survey and checked the data for a typical Thanksgiving Day meal. Only a few of the quantities of chemicals were of questionable legality. So enjoy.

- The turkey roasted by the FDA scientist-chefs was found to contain a low level of pentachlorophenol, or PCP, a wood preservative which contains the carcinogen dioxin. What's a wood preservative doing in turkey meat? For one thing, the leftover matter from cattle whose hides had been treated with PCP was ground up and out in animal feed. Though the practice was stopped last summer, PCP is still showing up in meat, apparently because of its extensive use on farm structures.

The turkey meat also contained a low level of DDE, the poisonous substance that results when DDT-contaminated plants are ingested. Though DDT has long been banned in this country, it remains in the soil land in plants that grow in that soil — and thus in the food chain. DDE shows up in almost every animal product, including milk and eggs.

- If you use pork sausage in your stuffing, that also has a legal but relatively high level of DDE. The white bread you toast for the stuffing contains tiny amounts of the acutely toxic pesticide malathion as well as the phosphate diazinon.

- Risk the kids' displeasure and serve spinach if you will, but know that it contains both DDT and DDE and the insecticide dieldrin. Try to sneak broccoli in as a substitute, and you'll be feeding the little nippers minutes amounts of endrin, another insecticide. The use of both dieldrin and endrin has been restricted in the United States.

- Mashed potatoes contain diazinon.

- Squash contains Aroclor 1254, a PCB, the same kind of deadly compound that leaks out of electrical transformers.

- If you use canned brown gravy, you'll invite grandma's scorn. And you'll also be feeding the family tiny amounts of malathion.

- A glass of wine to aid digestion? It contains two more restricted insecticides, dimethoate and its first cousin, omethoate.

- Pumpkin pie has dieldrin and heptachlor epoxide. The latter is considered dangerous.

- Ice cream contains some of the same wood preservative found in the turkey (from the milk or cream), and traces of dieldrin, heptachlor epoxide and a banned but still lingering insecticide, BHC, a suspected carcinogen.

FOOTNOTE: A staff aide for a House Agriculture subcommittee, which has been trying for two years to tighten pesticide regulations, put the problem this way: "Scientifically, we can't prove that even low levels of exposure to pesticides are safe. There is clear evidence that exposure can contribute to cancer and birth defects." In other words, no one knows for sure how safe our food is.

SCHEMING STRONG MAN: When Suriname's military dictator, Lt. Col. Desi Bouterse, kicked the Cuban ambassador out after the U.S. invasion of nearby Grenada, it was hailed in some quarters as evidence that he was turning moderate in hopes of forestalling the fate of his Marxist buddies on Grenada.

Don't buy that one. A former top aide to Bouterse pointed out that the strong man is using the applause he got for downgrading relations with Cuba as a cover for moves to consolidate his power.

By the end of this month, Bouterse will have announced the formation of a one-party political system and government-controlled labor union for the former Dutch colony, to take effect Feb. 1.

He has also increased Suriname's isolation by breaking relations with KLM, the Dutch airline, and by losing Suriname's landing rights in nearby Venezuela. The only way to get in or out of Suriname by air now is through Miami or Brazil.

But Bouterse is still in a ticklish position. If he turns to the right, he's in trouble with his Marxist backers, who may have been responsible for a wave of arson since the trouble with Cuba. They are heavily armed with Cuban-supplied weapons. But if he goes far enough to the left to appease the radicals, Brazil may move in militarily.

Suriname is also suffering badly from the Dutch cutoff of $100 million a year in aid. One observer predicts Suriname will go broke in three months.

It's not easy being a dictator these days.

UNDER THE DOME: After more than two years in office, wheelchair-bound Sen. John East, R-N.C., has no complaints about the Capitol's provision for the handicapped. His wheelchair fits between the seats of the Senate subway and a freight elevator is handy. A wheelchair lift was installed at one end of the Senate chamber for East's convenience. And the marble floors — instead of carpeting — make it easier for him to get around.

Around the Rim

Buffet buff

Is there anything that embodies the principles of Americanism better than the buffet?

I think not. Be it breakfast, brunch, lunch, dinner or supper for a birthday, wedding, reunion, holiday or just a meal out, I am among those who believe freedom of assembly takes on new meaning when the assembly is in line for the buffet.

Where else is one confronted by such God-blessed plenty as in line deciding whether to have the smoked salmon or the pate, the creamed spinach or the duchess potatoes, the beef bourguignon or the veal cordon-bleu.

Like Walter Mondale, we take a little something from all the interest groups laid out on the table in front of us.

After all, what can match that purely American ecstasy of knowing it is your right to have it all, and come back for seconds, too.

Business theory tells us that democracy stimulates creativity. If that is the case, then the main salon at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dallas might be Independence Hall in Philadelphia, so laden are its tables with works of food-art during Sunday Buffet.

Have you ever seen this triumph of consumption?

A puree of salmon is molded into row upon row of pale, pink porpoises. A thousand deviled eggs are decorated with caviar stars, alternating red and black. Chafing dishes march in unison on tiered tables under swans carved of ice that slowly melt in the heat.

One expects to see DiVinci's "Last Supper" in pastry cuttings on the pate-en-croute and the Fall of Rome in an ensemble piece on the dessert table.

At first glance, the buffet has its communist aspects, too. A Moscovite would feel right at home waiting behind 50 some odd people for his food.

The similarity is only a surface one, however, since the communist would simply be overwhelmed by the choice of five omelets — chile, cheese, bacon, jelly or combination — that would confront him after his wait was over. He would probably shake his head over such bourgeois exuberance.

The Fascist would also feel out of place in the buffet line because there are no minorities to castigate. We are all the same. There is equality to grab for however much our Lennoxware can hold regardless of social standing, religion, race or sex.

There is no doubt that the buffet is a purely American institution: It displays Yankee ingenuity at its best with 25 beautiful ways to serve tuna salad. It symbolizes the pioneer spirit, for there is always another entree over the next chafing dish. It signifies freedom from want, so long as one has the $10 to $15 entrance fee.

I think back to that greatest of all buffets, the Pilgrims' first Thanksgiving dinner, and am thankful myself to be alive and able to take part in such a pinnacle of American culture as the buffet.

Billy Graham

God loves all his creatures

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I hate myself and feel like the whole world is against me. My parents are always comparing me to my older brother who is much smarter than I am, and I don't even feel like living sometimes. Even God doesn't love me — K.G.S.

DEAR K.G.S.: You are wrong — God does love you, far, far deeper than anything you can even begin to imagine. I know that may be hard for you to accept since you have grown up thinking you are worthless and unlovable, but what you need to do is let the fact of God's love overcome your feelings. Once you realize that God really loves you, it will make a great difference in the way you view not only yourself but also your parents and other people.

How do I know that God loves you? I know it because he has said in his Word, the Bible, that he loves each of us — and God does not lie. The Bible says, "I have loved you with an everlasting love" (Jeremiah 31:3). But I also know it because of what God has done to demonstrate his love for us. What did he do? He sent his only Son, Jesus Christ, into the world to die on the cross for our sins so that we could become his children.

Memorize John 3:16, and realize that it applies to you: "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life." Open your heart to him and invite Christ into your heart by faith, and then realize that he is with you every day. Come to him in prayer, and learn more about his love for you as you read the Bible. You also will discover other Christians who will help you and love you.

You also need to realize that your feelings about your parent's attitude toward you may well be wrong also. Yes, it might be better if they did not compare you so much to your brother. But that does not mean they do not love you — far from it. They undoubtedly want to encourage you to do better when they point you to your brother's example. They want you to do your best, and if they did not love you they would never bother to try to get you to do better. Discuss your feelings honestly with them, and ask God to help you demonstrate a sincere love toward them also.

CHRISTMAS IN NOVEMBER — It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas, and Thanksgiving is hardly over. An employee of Lozano Sign Co. in San Angelo hangs a Christmas tree decoration from a light pole in Southwest Plaza.

Hurt student getting better

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A Harvard student critically injured by a falling goal post during the 100th Harvard-Yale football game has been taken off a respirator and has regained some speech, officials said Thursday.

However, Margaret Cimino, 18, of North Tarrytown, N.Y. remained in serious condition in St. Raphael's Hospital, said hospital spokesman Kelly Anthony.

Dr. Donohue

Valve condition

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am only 23, female, and I get heart pains (stabbing) in my chest. The doctor said it was probably just muscular tension, but a friend said it could be angina. What should be done? — A.R.

The fact that you're only 23 and female makes angina a very unlikely cause of your chest pains. The pain may well be chest-muscle caused, as your doctor said. From this distance I would accept his word over that of a friend who has not examined you. However, the seed of doubt has been sown, so you should get a complete resolution of your anxiety. If angina has not been ruled out, it can be very easily, and very likely has been.

Another consideration is the very common problem of mitral valve prolapse. That usually benign condition sometimes leads to some chest pain during exertion. Do you get your pain during times when you are physically active? An EKG, if you have had that done, settles any question concerning poor circulation to the heart muscle, a calling card of angina. It's taken while you are exercising, as on a treadmill.

In all of this, both you and your friend, and I, too, are only speculating on the cause of your chest pain. The only one who probably isn't is the doctor who examined you. We are all only adding to your anxiety. So settle the matter once and for all. Let your doctor know of your concerns and doubts. He'll be anxious to allay them.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have noticed that when my youngster is very active his temperature shows a rise. It comes down in a short while, but I wonder if this is some kind of danger sign that should be checked out. — Mrs. R.L.

Sudden fluctuations in body temperature occur commonly in young children. Their temperature-regulation system is not quite as refined as it becomes later. Things like physical activity can cause a rise, as you have noted. That usually means little. The temperature to be wary of is the kind that elevates and stays that way for a prolonged period — a day or two, for example. That should be reported. An infection-caused temperature elevation is the kind that might have to be lowered with drugs.

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "You Can Control Angina." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.25.

Dear Abby

Daughter seeks deliverance

DEAR ABBY: In response to a letter in your column you said, "You don't need person's permission to pray for him." Well, that's my problem. My mother is praying for me, and I wish she wouldn't. Ever since she got herself "born again," she says she is praying that God will bring me to my knees so I will be born again, too.

Abby, I have my own religion, which doesn't happen to be the same as hers, but she keeps trying to talk me into being "saved." When I ask her to please leave me alone and quit praying for me, she says it's her duty as a parent to lead me down the "right" path.

Don't get me wrong. I also believe in prayer, but I don't want to get into a contest with my mother to see which one of us prays better.

GETTING GOOFY IN L.A.
DEAR GETTING: You didn't state your age, but if you're an adult you have the right to choose your own religion. And as well-meaning as your mother may be, she needs to be reminded that one of our most cherished rights is the right to be left alone.

DEAR ABBY: A close relative, age 77, recently went to Poland to visit his relatives. His wife was unable to accompany him because of poor health.

Two weeks after he arrived in Poland, his wife received a telegram from the American Consulate in Poland informing her that her husband had suffered a fatal heart attack and it would cost her $7,500 to have his body flown back to the United States for burial. The alternative was to have him buried in Poland for $300. His wife chose to have him buried in Poland because she couldn't afford to have his body shipped back here at those prices.

We were shocked at how much was asked to have his body shipped to the United States from Poland. It seems so grossly overpriced. Am I being ridiculous to question the whole thing? Why in the world is so much charged for such a humane service?

Now the poor widow will be deprived of being buried alongside her lifelong companion in the family plot with other family members.

I would like to hear your comment on this upsetting crisis in our family.

UPSET IN N.Y.
DEAR UPSET: I am informed that the cost of shipping a body by air is determined by the weight and mileage. The average weight (including the shipping crate) is approximately 350 to 400 pounds, which costs between $120 and $140 per each 100 pounds. Add to that the mortician's fee for embalming, plus the casket, and it should not total anywhere near the figure you were quoted. I think you have good reason to be upset.

(Getting married?) Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's booklet. Send $1 plus an long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to: Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

NICE WHILE IT LASTED — The sun of late fall sparkles on the waters of the Chattahoochee River near Atlanta as skiers take advantage of the 70 degree weather to make waves at least once more before winter returns.

Police department builds own office

SACHSE, Texas (AP) — Tired of being jammed in a back room of city hall, the officers of the Sachse Police Department took matters — as well as hammers and saws — into their own hands.

In September, the department asked city officials in this North Texas community for more space, but were told that the city could not afford to build a new station. The department volunteered its labor if the city would pay the necessary $13,000 for building materials.

The city agreed and construction began on the one-story, brick building in October.

"At first, I think, there was doubt by some that we could do it," Police Chief Johnny Holley said. "We had our ups and downs but overall we enjoyed it... It's been an experience. It will give us something to talk about for a long time."

Holley hopes the 1,600-square-foot building, which resembles a house more than a police station, will be finished Dec. 1.

The department's five full-time police officers and five reserve officers volunteered their weekend time and did the framing, sheetrock, walls, flooring, painting and roofing work. The slab, plumbing, brick and electrical work were hired out, Holley said.

"If something falls down or breaks, I guess it will be our fault," Holley said.

Rank may have some privileges in the field, but it had none at the construction site.

"I've driven nails, I've put in labor. I've picked up trash," the police chief said. "I've hit my thumbs. We were all pretty equal on this deal."

Garbage mailed back

HOUSTON (AP) — B.W. Mangrum of Durango, Colo., found some belongings of a Houston woman outside his Rocky Mountain area home, so he mailed it back.

At a cost to him of $1.83, Mangrum mailed a bag of garbage back to Texas, and included the woman's discarded library card.

The package was sent Wednesday to the city room of The Houston Chronicle and was addressed to the newspaper and "all Texans in general."

Restrictions eased on Coptic Orthodox pope

NEW YORK — A church delegation, back from Egypt, reports restrictions on Coptic Orthodox Pope Shenouda III are easing and the Egyptian government has begun to restore some of his authority. He has been confined in a monastery in Egypt's western desert since he was banished in 1981 by then-President Anwar Sadat, who withdrew his government's recognition of Shenouda as head of the Coptic Orthodox Church. The National Council of Churches delegation, led by the council's president, United Methodist Bishop James M. Armstrong, met with Shenouda and reported restrictions on him began easing about two weeks ago. There now seems to be "tacit recognition of Pope Shenouda's legitimacy" by the Egyptian government, Armstrong said. The delegation also met with President Hosni Mubarak, who succeeded the slain Sadat.

Church appoints new minister

By RHONDA WITT Lifestyle Writer
"It seems to be such a loving fellowship here," said Kenneth Seamans, pastor of Airport Baptist Church, who came here Oct. 29. "I want to keep that and get this church back on its feet."

THE REV. KENNETH SEAMANS ...pastor of Airport Baptist Church

"They just seem so loving," Seamans says about his congregation. "They are so on fire for the Lord. With a combination like that we can't go wrong."

Seamans came to Big Spring after leaving his church in Cove, Ark. "I talked with Logan (Peterson, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church,) quite a bit. And I told him I felt I was finished with my work there. He gave my resume to some people here and it just started from there," he said.

Seamans was director of music at a church, when he decided to become a minister. "I just felt the Lord was calling me into something different, and I was afraid it was the revival." After selling their home, the Seamans headed for Kerrville to live with his parents until he was accepted at Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth. Seamans graduated from the seminary in Fort Worth. He pastored at Cove, Ark., and started a mission church, where he was a music director, in Reedsburg, Wis.

"One thing I dislike, which comes with any job, is conflict. But with the loving people we have, it will be a minimal. It will be a refreshing change," he said. Seamans ministerial philosophy is "that of a servant, like Paul said. I don't think it could be an honest approach in any other way."

The minister enjoys playing golf and tennis, fishing and squirrel hunting. He and his wife Stella have two sons Matthew, 14, and Mark, 12.

School receives new students

By RHONDA WITT Church editor
Sand Springs Christian School was combined with Hillcrest Christian School, 2000 FM 700, Monday. "The two school boards met and drew up a proposal to bring the school here and it was approved by the vote of the church," said Dr. Phillip McClendon, pastor of Hillcrest Baptist Church. "It is a greater convenience for the Sand Springs students because most of them live here in town." Twenty students came to Hillcrest Christian School from Sand Springs. Before the new students came, 51 children were enrolled in the child development center, while the school had 75 students from kindergarten to fourth grade. With the increase in the enrollment, the staff gained three new members, increasing it from 16 to 19. "They have released their funds and students to our school. They felt it would be better to move to Big Spring. They wanted to see the school continue to be a success," McClendon said. "The merger will enable us to offer upward levels of Christian education, and puts us three years ahead of our original plans. Now, we can offer an education through the 12th grade. We are very positive about our future, and our growth has phenomenal." "We plan to continue with our A Beka Curriculum because we believe it to be one of the most successful curriculum in America. Our students excels in academics excellence." As the school grows, more space is needed. "We need space for our Sunday School as well as our Christian school, therefore, we are planning to expand. We feel we have enough space now until May, even though the facilities are at capacity. By the first of the year we will have formulated a plan for extra space and building."

In 1941, Congress adopted a joint resolution naming the fourth Thursday in November as Thanksgiving Day.

The next meeting will be Dec. 5 in the church's sanctuary.

1-ton cannon stolen from veterans

DALLAS (AP) — If Robert Austin ever meets the person who stole his group's 10-foot-long, 1-ton Mauer cannon from World War II, he'd like to ask a few questions.

"How did they lift it onto a truck?" Austin said Thursday after the cannon was discovered missing. "Did they use a winch? Did they attach it to a big tow truck and just roll it away? I mean, I can't believe somebody didn't see it."

The cannon, which is not functional, was on display at the Regular Veterans' Association building. Austin and other members of the group bought the cannon from the Army post at Fort Sill, Okla., as military surplus about two years ago.

The wheeled, gray steel gun was last seen by maintenance workers Tuesday night.

"I had been out of town until 3 o'clock Thursday morning, and the first thing my wife asked me when I got home was if I had moved the cannon," said Austin. "That's when we realized it was gone."

American Telephone and Telegraph Co.* and the Plan of Reorganization which was approved by the United States District Court on August 5, 1983, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., have jointly filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas an Application for and Notification of the Transfer of Facilities and Voting Stock.

This application affects the provision of interLATA service throughout the State of Texas. Effective with the implementation of this transfer of facilities, which is expected to be on January 1, 1984, Southwestern Bell will offer telephone service only within certain geographical areas defined as LATAs (intraLATA) in Texas. Concurrently, interLATA communication service presently provided by Southwestern Bell will be provided by AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc.

For purposes of this application, AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., has filed a Tariff with the PUC containing rates applicable to all of its services in Texas at the same level as Southwestern Bell's current Tariffs. Certain adjustments necessary to implement divestiture have been made to the structure of the Tariffs.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Cowboys' rush decks Cards

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Thanksgiving Day has become the Dallas Cowboys' favorite holiday, serving once again as a springboard into the National Football League playoffs.

The Cowboys rolled over the St. Louis Cardinals 35-17 Thursday and counted the following blessings:

—An 11-2 record, their fastest start since 1977.

—A 12-3-1 record on Thanksgiving Day.

—The return of the NFL's worst pass defense from the grave, including a season-high seven sacks of St. Louis quarterback Neil Lomax.

—Tony Dorsett's inspired running which placed him eighth on the all-time list. Dorsett had touchdown runs of 5 and 55 yards, and tallied 102 yards on 17 carries.

—It was Dorsett's 38th 100-yard game. Dallas has won 36 of them.

The Cowboys, who have already clinched a playoff berth, moved a half game ahead of Washington in the torrid National Conference Eastern Division race.

They don't play again for 10 days, traveling to Seattle Dec. 4. Dallas has won 14 of 15 games in its history the game AFTER Thanksgiving.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who has developed a hardline attitude toward his players this year, was most pleased.

"The players went about this game in a very businesslike manner, and because they did, I'm going to give them three days off," Landry said. "They've played well the last two games and the break will do them good."

Dallas gave up a 71-yard Lomax to Roy Green touchdown pass in the first period then built a 35-10 lead and coasted.

"We had a good game on defense and that's what we needed," said Landry. Lomax had a six-yard touchdown pass to Otis Anderson in the final seconds against a prevent defense as St. Louis dropped to 5-7-1.

Dorsett passed Larry Csonka on the all-time list with 8,153 yards.

Quarterback Danny White had an exceptional outing. He passed 15-yards to Butch Johnson for a touchdown, ran four yards for a score, and connected on 24 of 31 passes for 237 yards.

"We're in control of our own destiny now," said Dorsett. "The last two games we've come out and taken control and that's what we want going into the playoffs."

"It's just executing, simple blocking and tackling. When we do it right, we're as good or better than the rest. When we do it, we're awesome."

St. Louis Coach Jim Hanifan said, "Dorsett does a helluva job. He just pops out of there and goes 55 yards and that's the game."

Asked who he thought would win when Washington and Dallas tangle here Dec. 1k Hanifan said, "It's going to be a whale of a game. Right now I think the Redskins are the best team but I think Dallas has the necessary personnel to cause the Redskins a helluva lot of problems."

Lomax added, "Dallas is always good. They did a lot of things to keep me off balance. I think they have a pretty darn tough defensive team."

White said the short work week favored Dallas over St. Louis.

"We had a simple game plan," he said. "We didn't have time to outthink ourselves."

White's 24 completions gave him 270 for the season, breaking Roger Staubach's club record of 268 in 1979.

Youngster Frazier battles unbeaten Holmes tonight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Marvis Frazier, with only 10 pro fights to his credit, challenges Larry Holmes, who nearly 10 years ago was a sparring partner for Frazier's father, tonight in a 12-round bout.

Holmes says he bothered Smokin' Joe Frazier with his movement and left jab when he helped the former heavyweight champion prepare for his second fight with Muhammad Ali, which he lost Jan. 28, 1974, and he feels will be too much for Frazier's son.

"There are a lot of things I can do to you that you've never had done before," Holmes told Marvis Frazier at a pre-fight news conference. "You're going to see a lot of things coming at you that you never saw coming at you before."

"If he gets destroyed at this stage of his career it could be the end of his career, the end of his development," said Eddie Futch, Holmes' trainer who (See 'Frazier' on page 3-B)

LARRY HOLMES ...confident of win

Lions roar past Steelers, 45-3

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — As long as tailback Billy Sims continues to run like a man looking for a five-year contract, Coach Monte Clark feels his Detroit Lions have a reasonable shot at the National Football League playoffs.

"Billy is just playing like Billy Sims played for us a couple years ago," Clark said following the Lions 45-3 drubbing of the Pittsburgh Steelers on Thanksgiving. "It's super. I'm glad to see it, because he's the guy we need down the stretch."

Sims, going over 100 yards for the third successive game, gained 106 on 26 carries and scored two touchdowns as the Lions improved their record to 7-6, one-half game behind the first-place Minnesota Vikings in the NFC's Central Division.

The defeat left Pittsburgh 9-4 and narrowed the Steelers' lead to 1 1/2 games over the Cleveland Browns in the AFC Central.

Cliff Stoudt, who had taken every snap this season in the absence of Terry Bradshaw, completed only nine of 25 passes for 83 yards before being lifted for Mark Malone in the fourth quarter. He was intercepted four times.

The Steelers' defense sacked Detroit quarterback Eric Hipple four times, but Hipple still managed to complete 10 of 18 passes for 153 yards and two touchdowns without an interception.

field goal and Hipple found Ulysses Norris alone in the end zone for a 13-yard TD strike. Gary Anderson had a 38-yard field goal early in the second quarter for Pittsburgh, but Norris and Hipple teamed up on a 4-yard TD pass midway in the period and the Lions led 24-3 at the half.

Sims picked up another 2-yard TD in the third quarter and the Lions continued the rout in the fourth quarter on an 81-yard punt return for a score by Robbie Martin and a 5-yard touchdown pass from backup quarterback Gary Danielson to rookie wide receiver Jeff Chadwick.

Harris, pursuing Jim Brown's NFL career rushing record of 12,312 yards, carried the ball only five times, gaining 16 yards. He is 539 shy of the record.

In all, Detroit had 25 first downs to Pittsburgh's 10, gained 328 yards to Pittsburgh's 218 and controlled the ball for 38 minutes, 21 seconds to Pittsburgh's 21:19.

Haskell, McCamey meet in AA tilt

By STEVE BELVIN
 Staff Writer

Two district runner-ups, the Haskell Indians and the McCamey Badgers, fight for survival in round three of the state playoffs tonight in a Class AA quarterfinals game at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Big Spring's Memorial Stadium.

The contest between the schools figures to be a real "headknocker" as both squads have excellent defenses and high-powered rushing attacks.

McCamey competed in District 8-AA, finishing second behind Wall. The Hawks bowed out of the playoffs last week, however, losing in area play to Morton. The Badgers compiled a 4-1 district slate and 7-3 season record prior to a pair of playoff wins.

Coach Buster Leaf's squad run from the I-formation utilizing two underclassmen at the tailback spot.

Freshmen Rodney Terry and sophomore Adam Arana alternate at the position behind an experienced offensive line that averages just under 200 pounds per man.

The Terry-Arana combination has worked well for the Badgers in their 40-19 and 14-6 post-season victories over Marfa and Farwell. For the year, the duo has combined for over 1,300 yards with Terry gaining 835.

Ironically it was the rushing of senior fullback Robert Day that paved the way to victory last week over Farwell. While Terry and Arana were held to 81 yards, Day responded with 95 yards on 14 carries.

Cousins Kent and David Stephens anchor the Badger defense at their linebacker and end positions. Last week they combined on 20 tackles.

Haskell has its own version of the double back attack in the form of Carl Dever and Doug Lanier. The duo has combined for over 1,700 yards in leading the Indians to a second place finish in District 4-AA behind unbeaten Hamlin. Coach W.L. Holt's troops had a 3-2 district record and 7-3 season slate.

Dever, a junior, is the team's leading rusher with 930 yards, while Lanier, a senior, has gained 806 yards.

The Indians whipped Spur 27-8 in (See 'Indians' on page 2-B)

Permian, Lee battle tonight

Both District 4-5A playoff representatives face their toughest tasks yet when they take the field for Class 5-A quarterfinals games tonight.

Odessa Permian, 11-1 overall and ranked No. 5 in the state, travels to Wichita Falls to battle Wichita Falls Ryder in an 8 p.m. game. Permian plastered El Paso Eastwood 48-0 last week in its area game while Rider swamped Carrollton Newman-Smith 24-3.

Rider — 7-4-1 overall and finished second in District 5-A — tied Fort Worth Southwest 21-21 in its bi-district game but advanced on penetrations.

Permian downed Hereford 40-13.

Midland Lee, 10-2 and the second place team in 4-5A, takes on Trimble Tech in Fort Worth. Trimble Tech outscored Euless-Trinity 33-29 last week to advance in the playoffs.

The Rebels routed El Paso Irvin 48-14 in area play last week after rolling by Amarillo High 30-3 in bi-district.

Should both Permian and Lee win, they'll meet in the state quarterfinals next week.

Indians' style mirrors Badgers' the first round of the playoffs but had a much tougher time with Stratford last week as both teams battled to a 14-14 tie. Haskell advanced on penetrations 7-3. The Indians fought back in the contest after trailing 14-0 at the half. Five times in the second half, Haskell drove inside the opponent's 20 yard line, but came away with only two scores.

Linebacker Sam Tolliver leads the Indian defense averaging 12 tackles per game while noseguard Keith Reed averages eight tackles per contest.
Leaf says he figures the contest to be a defensive struggle. "Both teams have very good defenses, it going to be tough," said Leaf.
On the other hand, Holt says the key to the game is which team can control the ball offensively. "We want to take the ball and keep it out of their offense's hands, we don't want them to have the ball too long," said Holt.

The game is the beginning of a "football weekend" in Big Spring as class AAA teams Crane and Post battle in regional play Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium.

Golf's big 4 meet in 'the Skin Game'

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — They call it "the Skin Game," this unique meeting of four the greatest players golf has produced — Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Tom Watson.

It comes from a gambling term used in weekend matches common to country clubs and municipal courses all over the country.
A "skin" is a unit, a pre-established unit, maybe $5, maybe $10. The player who wins a hole wins a skin.

Linebacker Sam Tolliver leads the Indian defense averaging 12 tackles per game while noseguard Keith Reed averages eight tackles per contest.
Leaf says he figures the contest to be a defensive struggle. "Both teams have very good defenses, it going to be tough," said Leaf.
On the other hand, Holt says the key to the game is which team can control the ball offensively. "We want to take the ball and keep it out of their offense's hands, we don't want them to have the ball too long," said Holt.

In this case, in the 18 holes that will be played Saturday and Sunday, the skins are established at $10,000, $20,000 and $30,000 with a total of $360,000 to be distributed.
"Most people enjoy a good four-some on the weekend. This will be fun to play with my friends for some very good money," said Watson, at 33 the junior of the foursome by 10 years.

Nicklaus is 43, Player 48 and Palmer 54. The premier foursome in golf has accounted for 41 major professional titles — including 14 Masters, 7 United States Opens, 13 British Opens and 7 PGAs. They've won more than 320 tournaments around the world.

The prize money is broken down this way: $10,000 for the first six holes, $20,000 for the next six, $30,000 for the last six.
If no player wins a hole, the prize money is carried over to the next hole, with all four players eligible for the enriched prize on that hole. For example, suppose Nicklaus and Watson each make birdie-3 on the first hole, Palmer has a 4 and Player makes bogey-5. Nicklaus and Watson halve the hole. There is no winner. So the second hole is worth $20,000, with all four players eligible.

The site is the Nicklaus-designed Desert Highlands course, a new, 7,118-yard, par 72 layout about 15 miles north of Scottsdale.

Couples, Langer tied in Japan

IBUSUKI, Japan (AP) — West German Bernard Langer, winner of the Johnnie Walker Open early this month, shot a 4-under-par 68 and gained a second round tie for the top spot with American Fred Couples in the $292,000 Casio World Golf Tournament.

Langer and Couples, the 1983 Kemper Open champion, each finished with 36-hole scores of 2-under-par 142, giving them a 3-stroke edge over Japan's Tsutomu Irie.

En route to his share of first place with first-round leader Couples, Langer made five birdies against one bogey over the 6,979-yard, par-72 course of the Ibusuki Country Club. Couples scored two eagles and one birdie against four bogeys.

Frazier confident son can defeat champion trained Joe Frazier for most of his 37 fights and who has known the 23-year-old Marvis since he was 6.

But Joe, who is his son's manager and trainer, and Marvis Frazier think Marvis' time is at hand despite his paucity of pro fights, all of which he won.

"If I do what I'm told, there's no way I can lose," said Marvis.

"If I didn't think he would do it, we wouldn't make the fight," said Smokin' Joe. "Marvis can do anything he sets his mind to and he's set his mind to this. So have I."

"I think he'll win it for his father," said Joey Giardello, the former middleweight champion, who is a member of the Frazier camp. "He'd crawl into the ring for his father."

The 34-year-old Holmes is a 4½-1 favorite to win the fight, which he and most people who are involved in or follow boxing consider a title match even though the WBC refused to give it championship sanction.

Frazier cannot win the title, according to the WBC, but Holmes can lose it.

"I'm the world champion," said the unbeaten Holmes, who counts 16 WBC title defenses among his 44 victories. "I will, if Marvis Frazier beats me, consider Marvis Frazier as champion."

Jose Sulaiman, the WBC president, has said the fight isn't sanctioned because Frazier hasn't fought at least 15 fights or beaten two ranked opponents in order to be ranked among the top-10 contenders.

So, if Frazier wins, there will be no WBC champion. Sulaiman said there also is a rule that when a champion loses a fight within his class weight limit the title is declared vacant. There is no weight limit for the heavyweight division.

The fight, approved as a nontitle match by the Nevada State Athletic Commission, and billed as a "12-Round Heavyweight Superfight," will be held indoors at the 4,500-seat Caesars Palace Sports Pavilion.

It is scheduled to start at 7:03 p.m., PDT, and be televised by NBC during a telecast running from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Part of the telecast will be a 10-round nontitle fight between Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini, the World Boxing Association lightweight champion, and Johnny Torres, a junior welterweight from Homestead, Fla.

Frazier turned pro with a three-round knockout of Roger Troupe Sept. 12, 1980, just 20 days before Holmes stopped Muhammad Ali in the 11th round in what was his 36th pro fight. It was also his eighth defense of the title he won on a 15-round split decision over Ken Norton June 9, 1978.

One reason Frazier turned was that one of his two losses against 56 amateur victories came in the 1980 Olympic Trials when he was knocked out in 21 seconds by James Broad.

"I decided after the Olympic Trials I wanted to do something my dad had done," said Frazier, who, unable to match his father as an amateur — Joe won the Olympic heavyweight title in 1964 — decided to try to do so as a pro.

The quick loss to Broad was the result of a pinched nerve in Frazier's neck, and after his fourth pro fight he underwent surgery in 1981. His career was further set back by viral hepatitis, which kept him inactive in 1982.

This year, he has scored four victories, two by knockout to give him six KOs.

McCallum is bright spot for Army-Navy game

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Twenty years ago, All-American quarterback Roger Staubach became a Navy legend by leading the Midshipmen to their greatest football season in 60 years.

In the West Coast clash between Army and Navy in the Rose Bowl today, Napoleon McCallum had the chance to build on his own growing record as Navy's greatest running back.

McCallum, a 6-foot-2, 210-pound junior tailback, grew up in Milford, Ohio, on the outskirts of Staubach's home town of Cincinnati. McCallum is the nation's third leading rusher with 1,405 yards and leads all collegians in all-purpose yardage.

He would be one of the bright spots in a game matching teams with 2-8 records in the nationally televised 84th renewal of the Army-Navy rivalry.

With a year remaining, McCallum's 2,479 career rushing yards trails Navy's all-time ground gainer, Eddie Meyers, by less than 500 yards. Averaging 140.5 rushing yards per game, he trails only Mike Rozier of Nebraska and Shawn Faulkner of Western Michigan.

A 100-yard game today would be his eighth, a new school record, of which McCallum already holds 14.

McCallum gained 211 against Air Force, 172 against Pittsburgh, 125 against Washington and 92 against Notre Dame.

Howard Queens (9-4) vs. Cisco Western Texas Classic — Snyder

SNYDER — The Queens take a 9-4 season record and runner-up finish in the Hawk Queen Classic to the court against Cisco today.

The Queens play again at 4 p.m. Saturday against Blinn Junior College in this two-day event.

Debbie Hall is leading HC in scoring with 14.4 average while Alex Provencio is adding 12.1, Molly Early 12.0 points a game and Pat Carter 10.4 points each contest. Point guard Janene Berry is chipping in 9.5 points.

The Queens downed Cisco 91-64 in their tournament opener and the Lady Wranglers then swept through the loser's bracket undefeated to win the consolation honors.

Big Spring Steers (0-1) vs. Lee (0-0) Tall City Classic — Midland

MIDLAND — The Steers hope to bounce back from Tuesday's 51-point loss to another District 4-5A rival, Midland

SMU, Houston hold practice

TOKYO (AP) — Sixth-ranked Southern Methodist and Houston, shrugging off the previous day's 15-hour plane ride, held their first practices here Thursday in preparation for their college football clash Sunday in the Seventh Annual Mirage Bowl.

High. Only George Roman and Chris Roberts were able to reach double figures in the game, scoring 10 points each. The Steers turned the ball over 63 times in the game and coach Mike Randle said practices this week were geared towards slowing things down.

Lee was last in the district race last season, but returns a good nucleus of players. Several key players such as point guard Tyrone Thurman won't participate in the tournament since the Rebel football team is still alive in the state high school playoffs.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. at the Chaparral Center, located on the Midland College campus. Big Spring finished second last year, losing to El Paso Bel Air in the finals.

Big Spring Lady Steers (0-1) vs. Midland (0-1)

Andrews Tournament — Andrews

ANDREWS — The Lady Steers aim for win No. 1 on the 1983-84 season when they tackle Midland in the first game of the Andrews tournament.

Missouri tests No. 1 North Carolina

By The Associated Press

Missouri Coach Norm Stewart sent his assistant, Bob Sunvold, to watch North Carolina's exhibition game with the Yugoslavian national basketball team. Sunvold wasn't happy with what he saw.

"This is definitely not the team we want to open the season with," Sunvold said after the Tar Heels downed the Yugoslavs 75-65. But the Tigers will do exactly that Saturday against the team ranked No. 1 in the preseason college basketball poll.

Missouri lost three starters, including National Basketball Association first-round draftees Steve Stipanovich and Bob's brother Jon Sunvold, to graduation. The Tar Heels are without Jimmy Braddock, the graduated point guard.

The major question mark for Dean Smith's Tar Heels centered around Braddock's replacement. Smith gave the job to Steve Hale.

Meanwhile, defending national champion North Carolina State, fresh off an impressive 76-64 upset of 1983 NCAA runnerup Houston in the Tipoff Classic last Saturday, is part of a strong field in the Great Alaska Shootout.

The Shootout opened today in the glittering new $30 million, 8,000-seat George Sullivan Sports Arena in Anchorage. The previous five Shootouts were held in the dingy Buckner Fieldhouse at Fort Richardson, with about 3,000 seats. N.C. State, with two starters back — championship game hero Lorenzo Charles and Cozell McQueen — faced the host team, Division II Alaska-Anchorage.

No. 14 A-kansas, with three starters returning from last year's 26-4 team, played Fordham; 20th-ranked Oklahoma, led by All-American center Wayman Tisdale, went against Southern California, and Santa Clara took on New Mexico, which is coming off a three-year probation.

In other action tonight, ninth-ranked UCLA is at home to Idaho State; No. 13

Fresno State hosts the Sun Met Classic, facing North Dakota State. In the other opening round game, it's Northeastern against Purdue; Georgia, rated 16th, opposes Georgia State and Middle Tennessee plays host Western Kentucky at the Wendy's Classic, and No. 12 Michigan State entertains Central Michigan in the Spartan Cutlass Classic, with Western Michigan taking on Fairfield in the other first-round game.

In addition to the continuation of those tournaments on Saturday, No. 6 Louisville is at No. 2 Kentucky in the first regular season meeting between the schools since the 1921-22 season; Houston hosts No. 17 Kansas, with Larry Brown debuting as Jayhawks coach; No. 18 DePaul, with Ray Meyer beginning his last season as Blue Demons' coach, at Northern Illinois; No. 7 Iowa at home to Illinois Wesleyan; Johns Hopkins at eighth-ranked Maryland; Long Beach State at UCLA; Miami, Ohio at No. 19 Indiana, and North Texas State at fifth-ranked Memphis State.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Although there appear to be some limiting and restricting problems on the surface, your mind should be working overtime. You can see the overall aspects of doing something new and progressive.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Forget old troubles and make new plans so that you can become more successful and creative. Show you have will power.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find a better way of handling business affairs that are vital to your welfare and forget gnags of associates.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Talk over with new partners how best to gain your greatest ambitions. Don't let a co-worker burden you with obstacles.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) If you go out for amusement, you can lose out where it counts the most to you, so get busy building up projects.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Leave home early and get into creative work that can be lucrative and bring you more prestige as well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't take chances on the road with your car, otherwise you spoil the fine plans you have made for the day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be careful with investments and don't worry about the practical today, since you need amusement to relieve tensions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study your aims well and rely on a business person for assistance instead of trying to work all those angles.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your personal aims should be approached from a different angle now if you are to gain them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to extend your outlets, but don't confide your plans in one who does not understand you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A partner can help to break that deadlock with regard to certain aims you have. A good friend is also on your side.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Look to a higher-up for the aid you need and avoid one who opposes you and wants your confidence. Improve your surroundings.

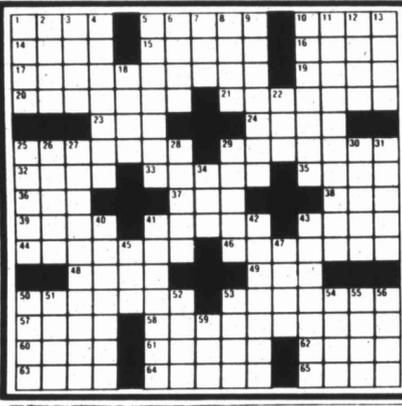

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will require much praise and encouragement in order to show his or her finest attributes and tenets. Your progeny needs a fine education and will even work for it, if necessary. There is definite genius here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Detroit faces possible shutdown of libraries

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit, still suffering from the ravages of recession, may be forced to absorb another blow — the possible closing of 14 of its 24 neighborhood libraries.

"My nights have been real sleepless of late," said Mike McKean, a leader in "Keep the Doors Open," a drive to raise more than $1 million to prevent the branches from locking their doors.

"I believe in libraries," the former elementary school principal said. "I'm almost embarrassed to say this, but without them, we're talking about a return to the Dark Ages."

So far, the "Keep the Doors Open" campaign has raised more than $113,000 and is facing a Dec. 31 deadline to meet its goal of erasing the library's budget deficit for the current year.

With donations from local companies, the committee has aired a series of radio and television spots and plastered its message on billboards.

One of the most effective ads is of a young boy trying to open the doors of knowledge — and finding them closed.

The campaign is aimed at keeping service at last year's levels, which Detroit Library Director Jane Hale Morgan calls abysmal. Twenty-two of the 24 branches in this city of 1.2 million are open only 2½ days a week, and the other two are open 40 hours a week.

A cost-cutting plan proposed by the Detroit Library Commission would have consolidated most of the branches and opened them full time, but neighborhood groups objected, saying that one in four Detroit households doesn't have a car.

Mrs. Morgan, while supporting the drive's goals, worries the library may be spreading its resources too thin.

"People may be able to get into the library and then find there's nothing there," Mrs. Morgan said, noting that the fiscal crunch has severely squeezed the purchasing budget.

"Keep the Doors Open" was launched last summer after the Library Commission, a six-member group appointed by the school board, announced it would close 14 branches because there was not enough money to operate them.

The proposed closures would represent one of the most drastic measures facing any library system in the country, said Peggy Barber, a spokeswoman for the American Library Association in Chicago.

An outpouring of community protest persuaded the commission to delay the action until Oct. 1, and "Keep the Doors Open" set up shop in Detroit's main library. Since then, the commission has extended the deadline twice.

McKean, the group's only paid staff member, said the key to the campaign's success is getting major corporations to back the effort, something it so far hasn't been able to do.

But Mrs. Morgan said that even if "Keep the Doors Open" raises enough to cover this year's $14.5 million budget, the library still won't have solved its financial problems.

"It would take us through June 30, and then we'll find ourselves in the same quandary, unless the good fairy drops money in our budget," Mrs. Morgan said. "It's just a stopgap measure."

The problem with the Detroit library system is that it has no steady source of funding. This year, the city of Detroit, with a seasonally unadjusted unemployment rate of 12.8 percent in September, provides for only about 10 percent of the budget. The state of Michigan provides about 50 percent. The rest of it comes from Wayne County and various grants. By comparison, most library systems are funded about 80 percent by local tax dollars, the American Library Association says.

"We deliver a public service for which there is no public responsibility," Mrs. Morgan said. "There's nobody at whom the finger can be pointed."

Both "Keep the Doors Open" and the library commission believe the solution is to seek approval of an assigned tax for the library. The library's woes have also attracted the attention of state Sen. Nelson W. Saunders, a Detroit Democrat who recently introduced legislation to boost funding for libraries throughout the state.

Detroit is not the only city in the state struggling to keep its library system afloat. Flint has closed its downtown library, Grand Rapids has reduced its staff from 107 to 69, and the Niles Public Library system has no funds to buy books. In the Upper Peninsula, the Ironwood-Carnegie Library in Ironwood has eliminated all building maintenance.

Elsewhere in the country, the situation is much the same, particularly in inner city systems of the Northeast and Midwest, Ms. Barber said.

"Libraries have to compete with sewer departments and other necessary services," she said.

"We're in danger of losing a whole generation of library users," Mrs. Morgan said. "If as young children they are not oriented toward libraries, then there's not much hope."

Ex-star of 'Maverick' elected town's mayor

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jack Kelly, who played Bart Maverick on the TV series that gave James Garner his big acting break as brother Bret, has been chosen mayor of this seaside resort.

Kelly, 56, was elected Monday by the Huntington Beach City Council, which he has been a member of since 1980.

Asked if he will make politics a career, as other actors have, Kelly replied, "Ask me that in a year." He was involved in the Democratic presidential campaigns of Adlai Stevenson and John F. Kennedy.

But he was born to show business. His father was a New York ticket broker and his mother a model. He began his career as a baby in soap ads.

His sister, Nancy, was a successful actress in Hollywood during the '30s and '40s — years later nominated for an Oscar for her role in "The Bad Seed" — so the family left New York to join her. Kelly won child acting roles in such films as "Young Mister Lincoln" and "Alexander Graham Bell."

After World War II, Kelly followed his sister back to Broadway but declined her offers of help and won a television job on the Fred Waring Show.

"My sister was a big star on Broadway," he said. "I was stupid enough to refuse her aid and abetment of my career. I was going to make it on my own."
