Get those letters mailed to Santa

A special reindeer-delivered letter to the Herald this morning asked for an unusual favor.
The letter, marked with a return address of Santa, North Pole, said the little man in red and white fur was worried about children's letters being delivered to the North Pole in time for all the requests to be filled.
By return reindeer, city editor Keith Briscoe told Santa the newspaper would be happy to print children's letters in the newspaper and forward the letters to the North Pole.
Letters to Santa should be addressed to SANTA CLAUS, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 1432, Big Spring, Texas, 79720.

The crash also took the lives of the plane's pilot and a passenger related to a KOSA crew member.

RELIGIOUS WARS

Crescent and cross

Religious strife breeds bloody conflict

By CHARLES J. HANLEY
Associated Press Writer
Marx called it "the opium of the people." But religion today is more stimulant than sedative in much of the strife troubling the world.
Moslem vs. Christian, Catholic against Protestant, Hindu vs. Buddhist — the cross and crescent fly once again among the emblems of battle. Sectarian conflict bloodies Belfast's alleyways, Beirut's streets, Sri Lanka's village lanes.
Many of these confrontations, such as those in Lebanon and Northern Ireland, may be better described as ideological, ethnic or class struggles, not religious. But religion helps shape and nurture them, long ago by creating an "us-against-them" social system, today by feeding the fears and prejudices against non-believers.
Moorhead Kennedy, executive director of New York's Council for International Understanding, says religion is an underlying — and underestimated — element behind much of the world's violence.
"We Americans just don't understand religion as a force in international affairs," he says.
Kennedy, a retired U.S. Foreign Service officer who is a longtime student of Islam, has first-hand knowledge of religion's political power. He was one of those held hostage for 44 days by Islamic militants at the Tehran embassy.
Even when religion is not on the front line, it can affect the conflict:
Because they believe in reincarnation, Lebanon's tough Druse militiamen are fearless in the face of death; Iran's Shiite Moslems embrace the idea of dying in battle, a martyrdom that guarantees entrance to heaven; India's Sikh terrorists are inheritors of a religion that glorifies the martial spirit, much as the Shinto creed inspired pre-World War II militarism in Japan.
The swift pace of modernization and Westernization in the late 20th century is stirring the soul of religious militancy, Kennedy said.
"In the Third World, one result of the penetration by the West is the likelihood of a religious reaction, because people won't take too much change," he said in an interview.
Edward Said, a Palestinian-born Columbia University professor and leading American interpreter of Mideast culture, finds such an anti-West reaction behind Lebanon's sectarian agonies.
"The Maronites in Lebanon see themselves as the representatives of Christianity, Europe, the West — as opposed to the others, who are Arab, Islamic," he said.
"We've never really gotten over the Crusades," added Kennedy.
That age-old religious divide occasionally shows through even the technocratic surface of a modern superpower.

182 die in crash of jumbo jetliner

MADRID (AP) — A Boeing 747 jetliner of Colombia's Avianca crashed and exploded in flames early Sunday as it approached the Madrid airport and officials said they feared at least 182 people were killed.
The airport officials said the jumbo jet was carrying 169 passengers and 20 crew members and it was believed there were only seven survivors. Police reported one survivor died of burns en route to the hospital.
Airport sources said many of the victims were French nationals who had boarded the plane in Paris. The flight originated in Frankfurt, West Germany, and had been scheduled to continue on from Madrid to Caracas, Venezuela, and then Bogota, the Colombian capital.
The plane crashed near the village of Mejordada del Campo, only five miles east of Madrid's Barajas airport and 12 miles east of the Spanish capital. Fire-fighting equipment and ambulances rushed to the scene from Barajas.
Officials said the bodies of the victims, including at least three children, were taken to the airport for identification. They said it appeared most of the people perished from the flames that swept through the broken craft.
The weather was clear at the time of the crash at 1:04 a.m. (7:04 p.m. EST Saturday).
Maria del Carmen Jimenez, a resident of Mejordada del Campo, said she saw the low-flying airliner approach and it appeared as if it would crash in the town of 12,000 people but it swerved and smashed to earth about 2 1/2 miles away.
A spokesman at the Avianca office in Bogota said he had no passenger list for the Paris-Madrid flight. He said his records indicated the pilot on the flight would have been Capt. Eduardo Moreno.

Cold front brings rain, gusty winds

From staff and wire reports
A surge of icy winter air surged into West Texas before dawn Saturday, dropping temperatures in the Big Spring area as much 10 degrees in one hour.
Holiday shoppers in Big Spring were hampered by slick roads and gusty winds during most of the day Saturday as a steady, misting rainfall blanketed the area.
Skies cleared by late evening and temperatures were expected to plunge to the low 30s early Sunday morning.
Ahead of the front, high-level clouds were noted across most of the South Plains and the Edwards Plateau. A veil of low clouds dominated the rest of the state's horizons as a mass of warm air from the Gulf of Mexico pushed in.
Temperatures were generally in the 50s. Readings ranged from the middle 60s to the lower 70s over South Texas and along the coast, while the mercury dipped into the 40s over the Panhandle and sections of West Texas.
Readings at 4 a.m. ranged from 40 at El Paso to 74 at Brownsville.
Winds were mostly from the south and southeast, while southwesterly winds raced across the Edwards Plateau and the South Plains. Winds had shifted to the north in far West Texas following the arrival of the cold front.
The forecast called for scattered showers and thunderstorms over West Texas as the cold front moved to the east. Partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures were expected over the rest of the state.

Kirk to lead Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS — Actor Kirk Douglas will reign over the Bacchus parade and ball at Mardi Gras, riding at the head of a 23-boat parade March 4.

August Perez, captain of the Carnival organization, said Douglas was chosen as Bacchus XVII because of his efforts representing the United States abroad, for which he was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom. Douglas has made 70 movies during his 25-year career.

Unlike traditional Mardi Gras parade clubs, known as krewes, Bacchus picks national celebrities to head its rites instead of local businessmen who ride masked and whose identities are often kept secret.

Nancy's Korean kids OK

ROSLYN — Two ailing Korean children who flew to the United States with President and Nancy Reagan are recovering from heart surgery and may be released by Christmas, their doctor says.

Though Lee Kil-woo, 4, and Ahn Gi-sook, 7, remained in critical condition at St. Francis Hospital here in New York, "their prognosis is good," said Dr. Filippo Balboni, director of pediatric cardiology.

Doctors operated Wednesday on Gi-sook, a girl, to repair a hole in her heart; and Thursday on Kil-woo, a boy, to repair his heart wall.

The children came here through Gift of Life Inc., a charitable organization that brings poor, young heart patients to the United States. The children flew from Korea on Nov. 14 aboard Air Force One with the Reagans, who were on an official visit to the country.

Walter stuck on his name

PASADENA — Retired CBS News anchorman Walter Cronkite took a copy of his newly published book, "South by Southeast," and autographed it for a fan during an appearance at a department store.

An hour later, the 67-year-old former newsman was still autographing copies of his book, which is about a sailboat trip from Chesapeake Bay to Key West.

He ended up signing books for two hours.

"If I had known earlier in life that I would be doing this, I would have picked a shorter name," he said.

Mom won't see son's film

HAMLIN — Susie Yeager says she would like to see the movie about her son's exploits as a test pilot, but probably won't.

"For one thing, I don't know whether I could sit through a three-hour movie," the 85-year-old widow said recently from her home in West Virginia. "For another, we don't have a movie theater in this town."

But she said she doesn't need to see "The Right Stuff" to know that retired Brig. Gen. Charles "Chuck" Yeager has what it takes.

Mrs. Yeager frequently sees her son on TV, pitching commercial products. He sells batteries and cars, among other things.

"I told him that he'd do anything for a dollar," she said. "He said, 'Mother, I need the money,' and I said, 'Yes, like a hole in the head.'"

Mrs. Yeager said her son, a test pilot during the time when America entered the space race, liked to go fast.

City officials in convention

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Nearly 5,000 mayors, city commissioners and other local officials are expected to attend the 60th annual National League of Cities convention here beginning Monday.

President Reagan and all of the announced Democratic candidates were invited to speak but, with the exception of civil rights leader Jesse Jackson, none has accepted, a league spokesman said.

Gunmen steal 3 tons of gold

LONDON — Six hooded gunmen stole an estimated 3 tons of pure gold from a warehouse near Heathrow Airport Saturday after threatening to burn the security guards alive, police said. Valued at $36 million, the haul was the richest in British history and one of the biggest of all time.

Insurers offered a reward of $3 million for information leading to the recovery of the loot, which also included a small quantity of diamonds.

Police said the gold bullion at the high-security warehouse was in 6,800 bars awaiting shipment to the Far East. The diamonds were a "small proportion" of the haul and police said they had no estimate of their value.

Police said six members of the security staff were in the warehouse at about 6:40 a.m. (1:40 a.m. EST) when the gunmen broke in, somehow averting detection by 24-hour surveillance cameras mounted outside the building.

The gunmen — wearing ski-mask hoods and armed with handguns — handcuffed the guards and then poured gasoline over them, police said.

PLO leaving; Syria firing

TRIPOLI — Yasser Arafat and the rebel PLO factions trying to oust him agreed Saturday to halt their bloody fighting around Tripoli and leave this northern Lebanese port city in the coming weeks.

Syria, whose forces backed the PLO rebels, claimed its troops had fired on U.S. F-14 jets flying reconnaissance missions over eastern Lebanon.

There was no confirmation of the claim from Pentagon spokesmen in Washington.

In Tripoli, Arafat, the embattled chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization, told reporters he had accepted an agreement mediated by Syria and Saudi Arabia that gives former Lebanese Prime Minister Rashid Karami a free hand to negotiate the details of a Palestinian pullout.

Under the plan, all Palestinian forces will leave the area within two weeks after Karami has worked out details of their departure.

The International Red Cross estimates that 442 people have died and 2,146 have been wounded in three weeks of warfare.

The two rebel groups initially balked at the plan because it provided for removal of their own troops from Tripoli and two nearby refugee camps, Baddawi and Nahr el-Bared, which they captured from Arafat.

Seaga's support for the Grenada invasion, which ousted a left-wing military regime, met with widespread approval among Jamaicans, according to opinion polls.

Shamir to visit Washington

TEL AVIV — Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, scheduled to visit Washington on Sunday, today ruled out any reduction in the pace of Jewish settlement of the occupied West Bank.

In an interview with Israel Radio, Shamir said he would seek in Washington a wide-ranging agreement on how the United States and Israeli could work together as strategic allies.

It will be his first U.S. visit since becoming premier Oct. 10.

Asked whether he would agree to suspend West Bank settlement construction as a gesture toward a Middle East peace, he replied: "This subject is not on the agenda at all. I think our friends in the United States know this, and so does King Hussein (of Jordan) ... Israel isn't even considering such a possibility."

Shamir claimed the Jordanian leader has been deterred from joining a U.S.-sponsored Mideast peace process not by the West Bank issue, but by fear of Syrian or Palestinian reprisals for negotiating with the Jewish state.

Asked what Israel was offering Jordan for a settlement, he replied: "what we offer every Arab country — peace."

GIs capture Grenadians

ST. GEORGE'S — U.S. troopers tipped by local residents raided a house where six armed Grenadian soldiers were hiding out and captured one but the others escaped in a van, a U.S. Army spokesman reported Friday.

Capt. George Wright said six rifles were found in the house near the Point Salines airstrip but no shots were fired during the Friday afternoon raid.

Most of the soldiers of Grenada's now-disbanded People's Revolutionary Army — PRA — surrendered within days after the Oct. 25 invasion by U.S. forces, and resistance in recent weeks has been limited to infrequent sniping attacks.

Wright gave this account: "Based on information provided by local Grenadian residents, U.S. soldiers in the Point Salines area found a PRA meeting going on inside a house.

All of the six Grenadian soldiers were armed, wearing pistols and ammunition belts, Wright added.

He also released the name of the American soldier killed Wednesday by another soldier in an accidental shooting. Wright said the victim was Pvt. Dinesh Rajbhandary of Lexington, Mass.

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — The head of Blivian operations for Lufthansa German Airlines has been freed, 12 days after he was kidnapped, sources at the Interior Ministry confirmed today.

Michael Wurche, 40, was freed on Friday, but details of the release were not immediately available, the Interior Ministry said.

Cold winds sweep Plains

Snow, strong winds and bitterly cold air swept eastward out of the Rockies toward the Plains states Saturday, the second snowstorm in a week to sock the West.

A blizzard warning was in effect for northwestern Kansas, with winter storm warnings over eastern Colorado and its mountains, southeastern Wyoming, parts of Oklahoma, the Texas Panhandle and northeastern New Mexico. Winter storm watches were posted for parts of South Dakota, Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Up to a foot of snow fell overnight in the central Rockies, and blowing snow closed highways in many areas. Other roads were slicked with ice, making travel hazardous, state police warned.

Winds gusting to 50 mph in Colorado Springs and temperatures in the teens meant a wind chill factor of around 20 degrees below zero. An overnight low of 5 degrees was reported in Havre, Mont.

The storm and the one that preceded it have been blamed for at least 38 deaths.

In the East, skies cleared as the remnants of the earlier storm moved out to sea. The storm brought snow and heavy rain to the Northeast on Friday, causing flooding in Bangor, Maine.

Elsewhere, it was raining over western Texas.

The storm was expected to bring snow across the central Plains into the upper and mid-Mississippi Valley on Sunday, with snow mixed with rain over the lower Missouri Valley. Thunderstorms were forecast from eastern Texas and in the lower Mississippi Valley.

Rain also was predicted for the Tennessee and Ohio valleys as well as much of the Great Lakes region, with cloudy skies along the East coast.

Highs were expected in the 30s and 40s over the Pacific Northwest and from the Great Basin through the southern Rockies, northern Texas and Oklahoma, the Great Lakes region and New England; in the 50s and 60s over central California and from central Texas across the lower Mississippi Valley, the Ohio Valley and along the mid-Atlantic coast; in the 70s over southern California, the southern Atlantic coast and along the Gulf Coast, and in the low 80s in Florida.

Temperatures around the nation at 2 p.m. EST ranged from 10 degrees at Cheyenne, Wyo., to 86 degrees at McAllen, Texas.

Report from Austin

By Rep. LARRY DON SHAW

New indigency care needed

Due to the rising costs of medical care for the extreme poor, often referred to as indigents, several legislative groups are studying the issue to develop solutions to this major problem facing our state.

The County Affairs Committee, of which I am a member, is one of the groups that has been asked to research this issue during the interim months in order to make recommendations to the 69th Legislature in 1985.

According to our state constitution, providing for the medical care of indigent persons in Texas at the local level is primarily the responsibility of the county commissioners court. County officials, however, are telling us they can no longer afford to bear the burden of indigent medical costs, and are asking the state for help.

Hospital administrators have also expressed concern about the seriousness of this problem and the possible implications to public hospitals. They have pointed out that rising indigent costs can affect a public hospital's ability to provide quality health care.

Since funding resources must be diverted to indigent care, some public hospitals are reducing or discontinuing some of their services.

A recent survey from the National Association of Public Hospitals revealed that 24 public hospitals across the nation spent approximately $435 million for indigent care in 1982. While the average expenditure per hospital was $18 million, the average spent in Texas was $28 million. Moreover, the study showed that 24 percent of the average annual budget for public hospitals was devoted to indigent care, but for Texas the figure nearly doubled to 42 percent. We can no longer ignore this situation.

Hospitals are being forced to pass on the costs for indigents to paying patients by charging higher fees for services. We as taxpayers also pay for indigent medical care through increased insurance premiums and higher property taxes.

Many of these rising costs in Texas can be attributed to the growing illegal alien population and an influx of unemployed workers from other states. One particular problem in Texas is that some areas having the greatest demand for services for the indigent are less able to provide those services, namely in South Texas and along the border.

It all boils down to who is going to pay for our state's indigents? The confusion as to who should foot the bill stems from the lack of a statewide, uniform definition of an indigent. The state definition is over a century old, and simply does not provide a clear determination for classifying a person as an indigent for public hospital purposes.

Presently, state law does allow public hospitals to bill counties for health care provided to their indigent residents, yet no mechanism exists for enforcing such payments.

Since these standards of indigency vary from county to county, some counties have refused to reimburse the hospitals because they disagreed with the criteria used to determine indigency.

A bill designed to address this issue was introduced this session, but it was highly criticized, and consequently, did not pass. The bill would have allowed hospital administrators of public hospitals to determine the indigency of out-of-county residents, and then bill the county where the person resides for medical costs incurred.

This proposal raised criticism from county officials who believed hospital administrators should not be allowed to determine who was indigent in another county.

The bill defined an indigent person as one whose income was equal to or less than 150 percent of the federal poverty guidelines. Critics claimed these standards would have created, in essence, a statewide free health care program at county taxpayer's expense since qualifying families under these guidelines were 40 percent of the state's population.

Another section of the bill would have allowed counties with medical facilities to sue other counties in order to recover the costs incurred by indigents.

Clearly, a uniform definition of what constitutes indigency needs to be put into law, and statewide criteria should be established. With the growing number of transients in Texas, the question of residency requirements also needs to be addressed. The main question facing us, however, is how we are going to finance an indigent medical program.

The seriousness of this problem has drawn our attention, and I am hopeful we will be able to find some viable solutions for the future.

Please feel free to comment on this or any other issue of concern to you. Write: Rep. Larry Don Shaw, P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Tx. 78769, or call toll-free 1-800-592-4731.

Dallas theater instructor found shot to death

DALLAS (AP) — A guest instructor at the Dallas Theater Center was found shot to death in a wooded area behind the theater, police said.

A theater employee found the partially clad body of Billy Jack Jones, 50, about 1:45 p.m. Friday. The body was found about 100 feet from the classrooms where he taught diction.

Police said they had no suspects in the slaying, but believed robbery may have been a motive since Jones' wallet was missing. His car was found 2 miles away in an alley.

Witnesses said Jones left the building about 12:50 p.m., appearing "upset and shaky."

They told police he walked downhill to his car, then walked back up the hill and into the woods with another man.

Q. A friend was transferred and needed to sell his house. He did it through a lease-purchase option. Please explain.

A. The prospective buyer leases a home with the option to purchase. Usually, the option will remain open for 12 to 18 months. A purchase agreement is executed with all terms of sale (including purchase price) outlined except the effective date. "Option money" which is usually applicable to the down payment is paid to the seller. Sometimes part of the monthly rents are also applied to the down payment. The buyer gets a home at today's prices, moves in with relatively little cash and has the time to acquire the money for purchase... a home locked in at today's prices, closing at a later date when the property has probably appreciated. The buyer receives the option money and lease payments while retaining the tax benefits of an owner until the option is exercised.

Rock band bumped from stage for name

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Alarm became concerned when it found itself scheduled to play in a bar with a band called Rash of Stabbings.

The Alarm "insisted to the club owner that he be taken off the bill because a name like Rash of Stabbings had a violent connotation," said Stabbings drummer Bob Giusti. "They thought that was contrary to their music and personal beliefs."

Giusti said it isn't the first time the local quartet has had groups complain about sharing a date with Rash of Stabbings. "But it's the first time it's happened with a national act."

Because of the Alarm's trepidation, the Living Room, a bar that specializes in "new music" acts, told Rash of Stabbings it was not welcome. It was the first time the bar had taken such a move against Stabbings. But it wasn't the first time Stabbings had been declared personae non gratae by other clubs, Giusti said.

"Some of the local clubs have been reluctant because the police department, politicians and neighbors call up when they see the name advertised," Giusti said. "A lot of Boston club owners and a lot of colleges have turned us down for the same reasons. People are reluctant to advertise the name."

The band is surprised at the cool reception it has gotten from an industry that spawned the Dead Kennedys and Spandau Ballet.

"Spandau was a concentration camp in Germany during World War II and a prison camp for Nazis after that," Giusti said. "The way I understand it, Spandau ballet was slang for suicide hangings in the prison."

Giusti insists the band's name has nothing to do with its outlook on life. "We're very non-violent, totally against violence in any form," he said.

Future Homemakers boost Mustang spirit

Sands Future Homemakers of America chapter extended to fellow students and their community an opportunity to share in their version of school spirit recently.

To boost the athletic teams vying for district honors this year, the FHA's designed and sold a spirit button aptly titled "Mustang Mania". According to FHA reporter Michelle Herm "the project was fun and a rewarding experience". She stated that the chapter extended their thanks and appreciation to everyone who helped support the project.

The money made from the sale of buttons, plus other projects this year, would go for members of the chapter to attend the state meeting in the spring.

President defends Watt's administration

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) - President Reagan on Saturday defended his former Interior secretary, James G. Watt, saying he straightened out the department and then had no choice but to resign.

Watt, whose tenure was clouded by controversy, resigned under fire on Oct. 9. He was replaced by Reagan's former national security adviser, William Clark.

In his weekly radio address, Reagan said that when Watt took the job as Interior secretary "he told me of the things that needed doing, the things that had to be set straight."

"He also told me that if and when he did them, he'd probably have to resign in 18 months," said the president, speaking from his ranch near here.

"Sometimes, the one who straightens out a situation uses up so many brownie points he or she is no longer the best one to carry out the duties of day to day management."

"Jim understood this. But he also realized what had to be done. And he did it for more than 30 months, not 18," said Reagan.

Watt resigned under fire on Oct. 9 after saying publicly that he had appointed a commission that included "a black ... a woman, two Jews and a cripple." Reagan praised Watt for "a billion dollar improvement and restoration program" of the national parks, which he contended were "a little frayed at the edges" when he took office.

"This five-year effort is the largest commitment to restoration and improvement of the park system that has ever been made," Reagan said.

In addition, Reagan said that under Watt the nation has "added substantial acreage to our parks and wildlife refuges and some 15,000 acres to our wilderness areas."

He also said that private investment in historic preservation is five times as great as in the four years before 1981, and said the approval and review of plans "to bring about recovery of endangered plant and animal species has nearly tripled in the 30 months of Secretary Jim Watt."

Reagan said Watt's efforts to sell "small tracts of isolated federal lands" was "distorted and led to protests that he was selling national parks and wilderness."

While Watt did sell, in 1983, 228 tracts totaling more than 10,000 acres, Reagan said, "None of it was park, wildlife refuge, wilderness or Indian trust lands. They are not for sale."

FROSTY DAYS - Frost crystals line the edges of a small leaf early in the morning, heralding colder weather to come for West Texas, which so far has enjoyed a warm autumn. Freezing rain and snow was forecast for the area Sunday and Monday.

Sex cult may have involved children in religious rituals

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) - George Feigley is a pudgy and soft-spoken former retail clerk. He's also an imprisoned sex offender, and authorities say he leads a small nomadic cult combining sex with religion that may have abused as many as seven children.

"Feigley definitely has some sort of power over these women to get them to do what he wants," says state trooper Herbert Paraska. "With something like this, I don't think you're going to exactly break it up."

The group has roamed Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Tennessee, following Feigley as a fugitive or as an inmate transferred from prison to prison, according to officials.

Four times they plotted to free him and twice they succeeded, officials say. In one attempt, two members died.

The cult numbers about 15 people, including five children now in foster homes and one or two men, authorities say. Feigley, 43, from Philadelphia, founded the Neo-American Church in 1971. In 1976, he began serving a 10- to 20-year sentence for statutory rape of two teen-age girls at his Neo-American School in Harrisburg, the cult's headquarters.

His women followers visit him weekly at the State Correctional Institution at Huntingdon, authorities say.

Feigley preaches a mixture of sex and Biblical teachings, said Wayne Punshon, assistant district attorney in Dauphin County, which includes Harrisburg.

"Some of the material we seized indicated the Neo-American Church was a religious organization that felt you were closest to God at the point of sexual climax," Punshon said.

Four children - a 4-year-old boy and three girls aged 4, 5 and 16 - were seized last month at the cult's 20-room brick Harrisburg headquarters after alleged abuse of the children in rituals.

Hundreds of pictures "showing sexual abuse" of children were found in Harrisburg, police said. "From the amount of pictures we found, (the rituals) were pretty regular," Paraska said.

Washington County District Attorney Herman Bigi said police haven't been able to determine where the alleged sexual abuse took place, but "if we can nail something down, we will promptly file charges."

Three adults believed to be cult members appeared in a Washington County courtroom earlier this month seeking to have the children returned. Authorities identified them as Sandra Good, 40, described as the cult's "priestess"; Feigley's wife Sandra, 37, and Mary Klinger, 36.

Juvenile Court Judge Thomas J. Terputac placed the children in foster homes Nov. 18 after reviewing 12 photos police say showed the youngsters being sexually abused.

The judge said police also showed him a 40-page manual written by Feigley. It outlines "what is expected of cult members sexually," police said.

A fifth child, who may be the daughter of the late cult member Laura Seligman, 26, was found in Westmoreland County with a couple with ties to the cult, police said. She also was placed in a foster home.

"There are still two children we have not found," said Terputac.

Ms. Seligman and James L. Gilbert, 27, drowned Aug. 1 in a storm sewer near the Pittsburgh prison in an apparent attempt to tunnel inside, according to authorities.

Detectives found digging tools and hundreds of feet of rope in the storm sewer after the two bodies were found in the Ohio River.

Feigley's followers helped him escape from the state prison at Rockview in 1976, according to authorities. He fled to West Virginia, and in 1978 escaped the Taylor County Jail there when Gilbert, a work-release inmate, held a gun on a guard.

He was recaptured in Tennessee. Three years ago, when Feigley was in Graterford prison near Philadelphia, cult members planned to use a home-made helicopter to "fly into the yard, pick up Feigley and fly out," according to Punshon.

After the drownings, Feigley was transferred to Huntingdon, where he will be eligible for parole in 1988, according to the Bureau of Corrections.

Infant dies from new liver

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - A 9-month-old boy who had received a liver transplant two weeks ago died early today, about 12 hours after doctors discovered he was rejecting the liver and might need a second transplant.

Joshua Brooks, the son of Rick and June Brooks of Laurinburg, N.C., died about 3:30 a.m. at the University of Minnesota Hospitals, said family spokesman Patty Bland. The infant had undergone the transplant Nov. 12 in one of only about 60 such operations performed in the United States.

Doctors said the child died of multiple organ failure.

4 killed, 23 injured in Long Island blast

Explosion rips fireworks warehouse

BELLPART, N.Y. (AP) — An explosion at the fireworks company that made President Reagan's inaugural display leveled a warehouse and damaged homes Saturday, killing four people and injuring 23 others, authorities said.

Fireworks went off in the sky when the Grucci Fireworks Co. warehouse blew up, knocking out power temporarily to about 7,000 suburban Long Island customers.

"They were red, blue, green and white. This was the biggest show ever," said Jim Lyons, 18, an employee of Walker Automotive a mile south of the site. "It's just incredible. I've never been terrified in my life until now."

Edward Thompson, director of the Nassau County Red Cross, said four bodies had been recovered and two other people were missing.

The warehouse of the company, owned by fifth-generation fireworks makers, blew up at 11:10 a.m., officials said. Several small fires were sparked but firefighters extinguished them.

Lyons said his parents, who live about three miles away in Brookhaven, felt their house shake.

Karen Herms, who lives across the street from the warehouse, said her house was "severely" damaged.

"There's nothing left and I've got to get out," she said by telephone. "The police are standing at my door yelling at me."

Ray Braun, manager of an insulating company a block away, said the explosion collapsed his 14,000-square-foot roof and blew out the doors and windows.

"My own employees were saying, 'That's it, that's the end,'" he said.

Braun said he rushed to the scene and found chaos. "There were people running out of their homes half-dressed. There were babies being thrown out of windows. It was a real mess," he said.

A spokesman at Brookhaven Memorial Hospital in Patchogue, who would not give his name, said 23 people were taken to the hospital. He would not elaborate on the nature of their injuries.

An emergency room employee at Brookhaven, who did not give her name, said "we have received a few" blast victims. She would not estimate the number nor describe their conditions.

Charles Salit, a Long Island Lighting Co. spokesman, said power was restored within 90 minutes to all but 300 of the 7,000 customers who lost power after the blast. Durham said several small fires from the explosion had been brought under control.

The warehouse that blew up was about one-half block long and there were several other concrete buildings nearby, Lyons said.

Police originally reported that 20 houses were destroyed, but later revised that estimate. They said a two-block area had been evacuated because of fireworks lying in the street.

The Grucci company, in addition to producing the fireworks display for President Reagan's inauguration, made the fireworks for the last Winter Olympics, the Brooklyn Bridge Centennial celebration in May and New York City's July 4 display.

Joe Caprioglio, who lives about a mile from the site, said he heard at least three explosions beginning at about 11:10 a.m. and continuing past noon.

Condemned murderer may have alibi

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A condemned murderer scheduled to be executed Tuesday might have an alibi in a Boston man who reportedly confessed that the two were together at a homosexual bar the night of the murder, says a Roman Catholic bishop.

Bishop John J. Snyder of St. Augustine said he was told the man had confessed to a priest that he was with Robert Sullivan, 36, in a homosexual bar in Miami on April 9, 1973, the night Donald Schmidt, an assistant restaurant manager in Homestead, was robbed and killed.

The man could not admit publicly to having frequented the now-defunct bar because his family does not know about his homosexuality, Snyder told the Florida Times-Union and Jacksonville Journal newspapers in a copyright story last week.

Snyder said the church could not confirm the confessional story and he could not divulge where he learned of it.

"We couldn't verify it because of the circumstances," the bishop said. "We have no idea who it might have been."

Confessional confidences cannot be betrayed under the pain of excommunication, so either the unidentified man must come forward or he must "live with it" on his conscience, Snyder said.

Sullivan, who claims he is innocent, is scheduled to be executed at 7 a.m. Tuesday at Florida State Prison near Starke. His lawyer Friday requested a stay from the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and a hearing is scheduled Monday morning.

Attorney Eric Freedman said there is considerable evidence pointing to Sullivan's innocence, and he wants a new hearing to consider that evidence. Freedman also contends that Sullivan's trial attorney didn't provide the necessary legal help to win the case.

Navy search looking for 2 missing planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rescue teams were searching the western Mediterranean Sea today for two Navy C-1 cargo planes that disappeared while en route from the Spanish island of Mallorca to Sicily, the Pentagon said today.

The two planes, carrying a total of seven U.S. Navy personnel, left Palma about 4 p.m. (10 p.m. EST) Thursday, said Major Don Bromley, a Pentagon spokesman.

The Navy was conducting a search with the help of Spanish and Italian authorities, Bromley said. Italian searchers found some aircraft debris but Navy officials had not examined it to determine if it was from the missing aircraft, Bromley said.

Best hoop in town

The college basketball season has arrived.

Personally, no other sport glues me to the television set like the college basketball game. The Cowboys come close, but put UCLA and Notre Dame or North Carolina and Kentucky on the court and I become spellbound.

The 1983-84 season promises to be a banner year in the NCAA. There are great teams, great coaches, great conference races, great players...it's enough to boggle one's sports mind.

Who's going to be No. 1 when it's all over? Certainly no one voted on North Carolina State at this time last year. But the Wolfpack Cinderella-ed its way through the tournament field, made it to Albuquerque and then shocked Houston with the slam dunk heard 'round the country.

The Sporting News votes for Kentucky. Playboy votes for Kentucky. Seems like the Wildcats, with 7-1 Sam Bowie back on the hardwood, are back in business. But few teams rated No. 1 in the beginning attain No. 1 status in the end. Sure UCLA did but that was back in the Stone Age of college basketball.

Interestingly enough, NC State is not listed among the News' top 40. What?!?! And PB's Anson Mount doesn't even include Jimmy Valvano's group in its "Possible Breakthroughs." What!?!?

The Pack is back, jack. With Spud Webb weaving the ball upcourt and Lorenzo Charles and Cozell McQueen downcourt to shoot it, Valvano will wind up in the NCAA's again. Look what State did last week to highly-regarded Phi Slama Jama...

North Carolina is loaded, giving that state the two best team s located within one state border in the nation. Ah, you say. What about U-Kentucky and Louisville. Close but no cigar.

The Tar Heels have all-Americans Michael Jordan and Sam Perkins on the court again and that combination will be tough to stop.

Houston, the nation's No. 1 team last winter, is down. Even with Akeem Olajuwon roaming the lanes, the loss of Clyde Drexler and Larry Michaux will hurt. Oh sure, UH will rip through the Southwest Conference but unless the team gels against a more rugged '83-84 schedule, Houston will be absent from the Final Four for the first time in three years.

This season could be the Year of the Individual. Ralph Sampson has followed the Yellowbrick to Houston but some great names are still banging around the college hoops. Jordan, Georgetown's Pat Ewing, Olajuwon, Memphis State's Keith Lee, Oklahoma's Wayman Tisdale, Perkins and Bowie are great players. Only Perkins and Bowie are seniors, too.

Texas is making a bigger name for itself in basketball. The University of Texas at El Paso, 19-10 a year ago, is No. 17 in the Sporting News poll while Playboy lists the Miners as a top 20 contender. Lamar is also highly touted and even SMU is gaining a raised eyebrow or two.

Houston's biggest competitor to national acclaim is again Arkansas. The Hogs are ranked No. 7 in PB but only No. 38 by the News. 6-11 center Joe Kleine, 6-3 guard Alvin Robertson and 6-6 forward Leroy Sutton headline Eddie Sutton's latest edition. Arkansas lost in a thriller to Louisville last year and the Cards were a member of the Final Four.

Kansas is coached by Larry Brown, the former New Jersey and Denver coach in the NBA and at college coach at UCLA, and making a return to the top 20 where it was a fixture in the days of Wilt Chamberlain and other legends.

Many of the faces in the top 20 are the same but new schools are emerging from the corners of the basketball world. Tennessee-Chattanooga, Cal-State Fullerton, Fresno State, Virginia Commonwealth, Santa Clara, Xavier and George Washington may be the surprise teams of the upcoming season.

That's the thing about basketball. With the tournament set up, any team can take on the national championship. And with just five players on the court, one stellar freshman or junior college transfer can make a team.

Look for this season to be a dandy. And if you can't find me on a Saturday afternoon, look for me in front of the tube.

'Horns gig A&M Texas bombs Aggies, 45-13

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

COLLEGE STATION — Using a brisk southerly wind like its twelfth man, the Texas Longhorns scored 31 third quarter points to pummel Texas A&M 45-13 here Saturday afternoon and head to the Cotton Bowl unbeaten in 11 games.

The No. 2 nationally ranked Longhorns, with the dreaded trip to Kyle Field behind them, now awaits Georgia and a Jan. 2 date in Dallas. The Bulldogs squeaked past Georgia Tech 27-24 Saturday to close their season at 9-1-1.

The Longhorns finished their regular season unbeaten for the first time since 1977. Texas lost 38-10 to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl that year; the last time UT finished an entire season with a perfect record was in 1969, which included a 21-17 Cotton Bowl victory over Notre Dame.

Saturday's victory was a show of strength of the Longhorns who had sputtered to recent Southwest Conference wins over Texas Tech, Houston, TCU and Baylor. Once the Longhorns got the wind in the second quarter and figured out what to do with it, all doubts of their recent inconsistency were blown away.

"I feel this tall right now," Coach Fred Akers told the press corps from atop a folding chair outside the Longhorn locker room. "You're going to have a tough time getting this smile off my face. This is the first time we showed we had a whole football team. Some people have said we had two teams. Thank goodness the players didn't listen to that. I'm very, very proud of them."

The big question ahead of Akers right now is which quarterback will start against Georgia next month. While Rob Moerschell and Todd Dodge have battled for the starting job the entire season, it was lost and forgotten: Rick McIvor who starred as Saturday's hero against the Aggies.

With his team trailing A&M 13-0, McIvor took over for Moerschell and passed for four touchdowns in less than 20 minutes of action. For the game, the former Fort Stockton standout completed eight of 12 passes for 170 yards and directed Texas to its biggest win since the defeat of No. 6 SMU.

"I had no doubt that I could do the job," McIvor said. "And I think the other guys had faith in me. The last four weeks I've been working with all these guys and I feel like I've been pretty sharp."

The turning point in the game was a blocked punt by UT linebacker Chris Duliban in the third quarter. Stopped cold on its first possession, A&M was forced to kick and the snap to punter Kyle Steward was low. Duliban raced in from the left side to smother the kick, and William Harris recovered at the Aggie one yard line.

Tailback John Walker did his springboard plunge for the touchdown on the next play to put Texas ahead by eight points. The touchdown was the snowball that got Texas' scoring avalanche started.

Roger Vick fumbled on A&M's next series and Mosey Cade arecovered for UT on the Aggie 34. McIvor, missing on the Longhorn series moments before, reentered the game and drove Texas to Jeff Ward's 31-yard field goal. With 10:38 to go in the quarter, the snowball was gaining speed.

A&M went nowhere against an inspired Texas defense and the stiff wind forcing steward, the former all-district player at Abilene Cooper, to punt again. The kick went only to the Aggie 33 and on the first play, McIvor found Kelvin Epps wide open in the A&M end zone for the touchdown.

Texas was pouring it on. After the Aggies punted once more, UT pulled a trick play that worked like a charm. McIvor handed off to Walker, who headed to his left. He slipped the ball to wide receiver Bill Boy Bryant going back to the right. Bryant ran the reverse until at the last second, he pulled up and fired a 41-yard pass to Brent Duhon for the touchdown.

Ward's fourth PAT made it 38-13 and 5:12 was still left in the period.

Bryant, by the way, was an all-state quarterback at Dublin High School. Unfortunately for the Aggies, the Longhorns weren't through with their scoring blizzard. A&M failed at a first down again and on the Longhorns' second play, McIvor went deep to Epps again and nailed his big-play man with a 60-yard scoring pass between the double coverage of Aggies Wayne Asberry and Jeff Holley.

Ward's final kick boosted the score to 45-13 and Texas had secured the perfect season Akers labeled improbable prior to the start of the season.

"We knew we wanted to throw the ball," Akers said of his strategy with the wind. "Rick's our best passer. They had the momentum and we really had to play some good offense. I thought about it (taking the wind in the third quarter) at half-time. I didn't know if I wanted to wait until the fourth quarter with that crowd and everything. And the winds might change... we decided to take it right then."

The wind definitely dictated the action in the game. In the first quarter the Aggies kept Texas pinned without a first down and scored the first 13 points of the game. Allen Smith booted field goals of 37 and 46 yards and in between, Vick dashed 24 yards down the east sideline for the only A&M touchdown.

Queens down Blinn, 81-50

Snyder—The Howard Hawk-Queens overcame a poor first half to defeat Blinn Junior College 80-51 in the Western Texas Classic Saturday afternoon.

It was the second consecutive victory for the Queens in the six team tournament. Last night they defeated Cisco 82-77. The win ups their record to 11-4 as they gear for conference play Thursday against Amarillo College.

Although Howard led 31-24 at the half coach Don Stevens was not pleased with their play. "The first half was sloppily played by both teams," said Stevens. "We missed a lot of easy shots and made some turnovers. We played good in the second half but we must be more consistent."

The Queens trailed from time to time in the first half, but with 2:00 remaining their fullcourt press forced Blinn into costly turnovers which turned into easy layups for the Queens.

The second Howard barrage was keyed by guard Molly Early who scored 15 of her game high 21 points in the half. Early got help in the scoring column from Alex Provencio (14) and Janene Berry (17).

Lobos down Steers

MIDLAND — Again it was a few bad minutes that led to the Steers' downfall in the second round of the Tall City Classic against Lovelland Saturday morning.

For the second time of the tournament the Steers had a breakdown, this time coming against a class AAAA opponent, as the Lobos defeated the Steers by a score of 62-46.

The breakdown came within an eight minute span in which the Lobos outscored Big Spring by a 21-11 count. If not for that period the contest was a very close one.

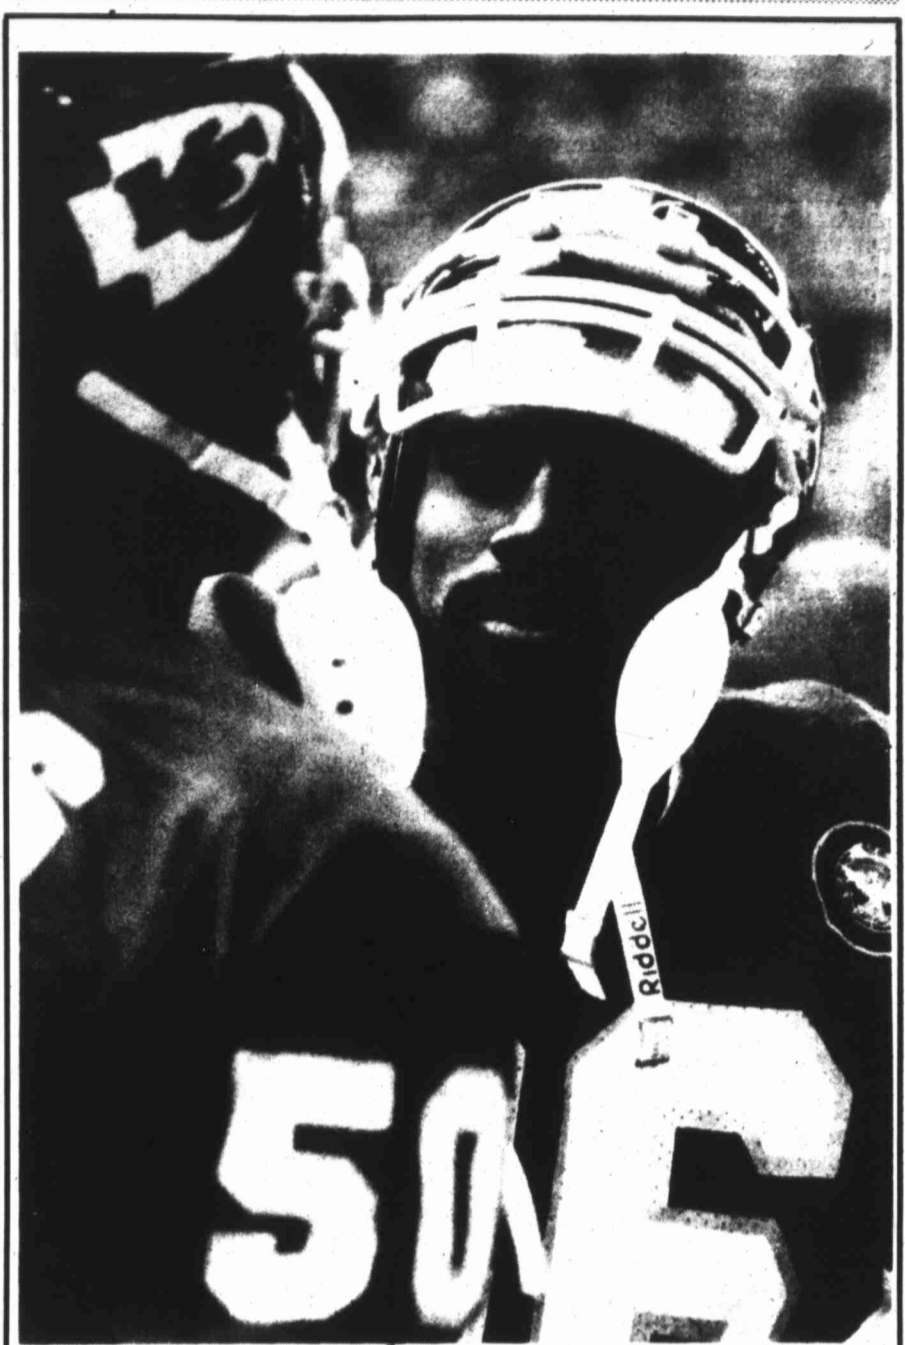

After the terrible second quarter the Steers trailed at halftime by a score of 31-19. But regrouped in the second half to play the Lobos on even terms.

Fred Cole led the Steers' scoring with 12 points. Guard Jimmy Brown added 10. It marked the second consecutive time in the tourney that Brown has scored in double figures, the only Steer player to do so.

Craig Belfield led Lovelland with 14 points, he got help from Jerry McCord and Jack Noles who scored 13 and 12 respectively.

With the loss the Steers' record falls to 0-3.

Lack of receiving duty causes
KC's Smith to study 'other areas'

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

DALLAS — He joined the Kansas City Chiefs as an obscure free agent from North Texas State in 1978. Six years later, his role with the Chiefs has become just as obscure.

J.T. Smith became a name player in NFL living rooms in 1979 when he earned All-Pro honors as a punt returner in the American Football Conference. Since then, however, the spotlight has dimmed and Smith is quickly reaching a crossroads in his career.

"I don't know what the future holds for me at Kansas City," Smith, the former Big Spring High standout, said last Sunday. He glanced around a quiet Chiefs locker-room under Texas Stadium and added, "I'm going to be patient. I'm looking into other areas."

Does "other areas" include the United States Football League or another NFL team? "I'd rather not say right now," Smith grinned.

Injuries and a change in the team's coaching staff have affected Smith's way of life. After leading the team in receptions for two years, a hamstring pull and bruised nerve hampered his 1982 season. His catches dropped from a career-high 62 in 1981 to just 10 across last fall's strike-shortened season.

He returned Kansas City's training camp with high hopes for 1983. After all, the Chiefs had hired John Mackovic away from the Dallas Cowboys and that was good news for the Chiefs' anemic passing game. As a wide receiver with impressive credentials, good times seemed just a touchdown pass or two away.

After an encouraging pre-season opener against Cincinnati, Smith return specialist J.T. Smith (86) loosens his hands before against Detroit. The in-taking a first half punt from Dallas Cowboys kicker Dan-jury knocked him out of White. Smith returned three punts, one for 19 yards, the receiving rotation at a against Dallas last Sunday in Texas Stadium. Another time when Kansas City time he was forced to tackle White as the Dallas punter was in need of pass-kept the ball on a fake kick. Despite Smith's successes, catchers, the Cowboys won the game, 41-21.

No. 1 Nebraska 28, Oklahoma 21

NOMAN, Okla. (AP) — Top-ranked Nebraska, led by record-breaking Mike Rozier's 205 yards rushing, stormed from behind with two touchdowns in the final 5½ minutes of the third period and completed a 12-0 regular season Saturday by defeating arch-rival Oklahoma 28-21.

A 62-yard gallop by Rozier, who became the second runner in NCAA history to rush for 2,000 yards in one season, set up Turner Gill's one-yard quarterback sneak that tied the score 21-21 with 5:29 left in the third period.

Fullback Mark Schellen scored the winning touchdown on a 17-yard burst around right end with 35 seconds left in the quarter, capping an eight-play, 41-yard drive following Jeff Smith's 11-yard punt return.

Schellen also scored Nebraska's first touchdown on a seven-yard run that capped the Cornhuskers' first possession, while Rozier, who carried 32 times and set an NCAA record with 929 yards in his last four games, tied the score 14-14 with a three-yard run 46 seconds before halftime.

Oklahoma reached the Nebraska 2-yard line in the final minute after a 72-yard drive. But an illegal procedure penalty set the Sooners back to the 7, defensive end Bill Weber nailed quarterback Danny Bradley for a three-yard loss and two passes fell incomplete in the end zone. The last one was batted away from split end Buster Rhymes by cornerback Neil Harris.

The victory, which extended the nation's longest winning streak to 22 games, sends Nebraska into the Orange Bowl against fifth-ranked Miami as Big Eight champions for the third straight year. The Cornhuskers' 21-game Big Eight winning streak marks the first time a team has posted three straight unbeaten seasons in conference play since Oklahoma's six straight from 1953-58.

The Sooners, who declined all bowl bids, are 7-4 and wind up their season next week at Hawaii. They finished in a second-place Big Eight tie with Missouri at 5-2.

No. 7 Georgia 27, Georgia Tech 24

ATLANTA (AP) — John Lastering accounted for two touchdowns as seventh-ranked Georgia twice overcame even-point deficits to trim Georgia Tech 27-24 in college football Saturday.

Lastering scored on a 6-yard keeper to cap an 84-yard drive in the first quarter and then broke a 17-17 deadlock late in the third period when he threw a 4-yard scoring pass to Kevin Harris.

Kevin Butler kicked a 36-yard field goal early in the final quarter to give the Cotton Bowl-bound Bulldogs a 10-point lead before Tech struck for another touchdown behind its two offensive stars of the day — a 30-yard pass from John Dewberry to Robert Lavette.

Tech had one last shot in the waning minutes, reaching the Georgia 36 before Tony Flack intercepted a Dewberry pass to allow Georgia to run out the clock.

The victory lifted Georgia to 9-1-1 for the year and it was their sixth victory in a row over Tech, which finished the season at 3-8.

Arkansas 16, Texas Tech 13

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — With time running out and trailing Texas Tech by four points, Phillip Boren, the only senior on the Arkansas offensive line, entered the huddle and said:

"I'm not going out a loser. We're going to score."

The Razorbacks, with quarterback Brad Taylor pulling the strings, drove 77 yards and sent fullback Carl Miller bulldozing in from the one to nip the Red Raiders, 16-13, in the season-ending contest for both Southwest Conference teams.

"The touchdown drive might have been our best of the season considering the circumstances," said Taylor.

"We had to make the drive and every player realized it. Our offensive line did a great job on that drive."

Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz said Taylor was hurt in the first quarter but "showed a lot of courage" in continuing to play.

"He made some big plays for us."

Tech quarterback Jim Hart noted that the Red Raiders had every opportunity to win the game "but we just didn't do it." Said he:

"It's just really frustrating to lead the whole game and end up losing like that."

The Raiders, once up by 10 points, never trailed until the climactic Razorback touchdown drive.

Grambling 24, Southern 10

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dwayne Jupiter's 85-yard punt return for a third-quarter touchdown ignited Grambling to a 24-10 victory over Southern University on Saturday for the 1983 Southwestern Athletic Conference football championship.

The Bayou Classic victory also etched Coach Eddie Robinson's name more indelibly in the record books. His 313th career win tied legendary Glenn "Pop" Warner for third on the list of most successful college coaches.

Black presidential candidate Jesse Jackson was among the 58,199 Louisiana Superdome spectators who saw Grambling finish its season at 8-1-2 overall and 6-0-1 in the SWAC.

It was Robinson's first win in three Bayou Classic tries against Coach Otis Washington, whose Southern University team finished at 7-4 and 5-2.

Grambling put 10 more points on the board after Jupiter's game-winning touchdown, which came with just 2:38 gone in the third quarter.

Reginald Pugh plunged one yard for Grambling's other third-quarter touchdown and Jorge Rosaes booted a 26-yard field goal in the fourth quarter.

It was a wild first half between the teams from Louisiana's biggest black universities.

Grambling struck first, when Hollis Brent connected with Patrick Scott on a 58-yard screen pass late in the first quarter.

But quarterback Herman Coleman brought Southern back on the next series with the help of a 50-yard play that featured turnovers by each team. One was the first of three interceptions by Grambling's Garrett Chase, who then fumbled the ball away to Southern's Tony Good at the GSU 23 late in the first quarter.

Six plays later, Good made a one-handed catch on a Coleman pass at the Grambling 2 and scored Southern's only touchdown. It came on the second play of the second quarter.

Roger Serrano got Southern's only other score — a 37-yard field goal midway through the second quarter.

Arizona 17, Arizona St. 15

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Max Zendejas kicked a 45-yard field goal on the game's final play Saturday to overshadow his record-setting older brother and give Arizona a stunning 17-15 victory over archrival Arizona State in the season finale for both football teams.

The Wildcats calmly engineered a nine-play drive from their own 37-yard line with 4:44 left down to the Arizona State 28 and called time out to set the field goal with three seconds to go.

GANG TACKLE— Nebraska quarterback Turner Gill is brought down by Oklahoma's Daryl Goodlow (46) and Tony Casillas, far right in first quarter football action.

Arizona 17, Arizona St. 15

The sophomore Zendejas' kick sailed through the uprights as time expired and Wildcat fans poured onto the field in a wild celebration.

Crawford, a sophomore tailback, made a leaping catch of Hons' roll-out pass at the back of the end zone with 13:18 remaining to erase a 14-9 Sun Devil deficit.

Hons tried to run in a two-point conversion, but was stopped at the 1-yard line by Wildcat nose guard Joe Drake — leaving Arizona State clinging to its precarious one-point lead.

The 5-foot-8 Zendejas finishes the 1983 schedule with 28 field goals — breaking the Pac-10 record of 25 set last season by Washington's Chuck Nelson and tying Woodside's year-old NCAA record of 28.

He also tied Woodside's NCAA record of most field goals made per game in one season (2.55).

Arizona led 14-6 at halftime after withstanding Zendejas' field goals from 33 yards out 3:01 into the second quarter and a 23-yarder 52 seconds before intermission.

Chris Brewer's 2-yard touchdown run 6:57 into the game capped a 69-yard drive in 11 plays and gave the Wildcats a 7-0 lead. The score came one play after the Sun Devils were penalized 13 yards for pass interference.

Wildcat quarterback Tom Tunncliffe found Vance Johnson all alone in the end zone for a 4-yard scoring strike and 14-3 lead with 6:16 remaining in the second quarter — capping a 10-play, 80-yard drive.

Arizona State closed the gap to 14-9 on Zendejas' 36-yard field goal with 3:33 left in the third quarter — setting the stage for the wild finish.

Lady Steers rally

Andrews— The Big Spring Lady Steers rallied with two victories Saturday at the Andrews Classic to nail down a consolation berth.

The Lady Steers lost their first game of the tournament to Midland 52-45, but rallied back for a consolation win over Odessa high by a score of 82-61.

The Lady Steers played a much better game, according to coan Annette Fowler. "We played well, especially on defense," said Fowler. "We barked out well and rebounded well."

Paula Spears led the Big Spring scoring attack against Odessa with 20 points. Monette Wise added 17 points and Adrienne Allen added 12.

In the consolation championship game the Lady Steers jumped out to a 42-9 halftime lead over Odessa Permain, and cruised to a convincing 69-30 win.

Guard Debra Rubio gunned in 20 points to lead the way while Spears scored 17 and Wise added 12.

For their efforts Spears, Rubio and Wise were named to the All Tournament Team.

The Lady Steers are currently 2-2 for the season.

S'west Texas upset

SAN MARCOS, Texas (AP) — Quarterback James Woody threw three touchdown passes as Central State of Ohio upset Southwest Texas State 24-16 in the quarterfinal round of the NCAA Division II football playoffs Saturday.

The Marauders will now meet the North Alabama-Virginia Union winner in next Saturday's semifinals.

Southwest Texas, winner of the last two NCAA II championships, was ranked second in the nation, while undefeated CSU, 33-0, was seventh.

Woody threw a 43-yard scoring pass to tight end George Scott with 1:31 left to assure the victory. SWT, which finished 9-2 on the season, had pulled to within one at 17-16 when Marauder punter Clarence Joseph had to fall on a bad center snap in his own end zone for a safety.

Joseph kicked all the Marauder extra points and booted a 42-yard field goal with 2:04 left in the first half to give CSU a 10-7 halftime lead.

SWT scored first when cornerback David Glaso intercepted a Woody pass on the fifth play of the game and raced 65 yards for a touchdown.

Woody's 37-yard touchdown pass to Darrell Smith tied the game with 3:47 left in the first quarter. Woody came into the game as the nation's TD pass leader with 30.

SWT, which saw a 16-game home winning streak come to an end, took the lead, 14-10, on Ron Gaskin's 1-yard run with 1:34 left in the third quarter.

UH bombs Kansas

HOUSTON (AP) — It took a blend of the old and the new for third-ranked Houston to sprint past Kansas 91-76 Saturday. Michael Young was the old and Greg Anderson was the new.

Young, a senior, scored 16 of his game-high 25 points in the second half to shake the Cougars from a sluggish start and Anderson, a freshman from Houston Worthing, stepped like a veteran in relief of foul-plagued Akeem Olajuwon.

"When Akeem got into foul trouble, I knew I'd have to go in," said Anderson, who scored eight points and pulled down nine rebounds. "Michael Young told me I had to block out, play defense and get the rebounds."

"When Coach (Guy) Lewis told me to go in I was a little nervous but I was all right as soon as I hit the floor."

It was the coaching debut at Kansas for Larry Brown, who said his team had much to learn.

"I knew we would not be a good team early in the year and that makes it tough going against a great team like Houston," Brown said. "Their zone bothered us. We didn't shoot well over the top of it."

The Cougars, evening their record at 1-1, bolted from a 37-29 halftime lead with four unanswered baskets without a miss to start the second half after struggling most of the opening half.

Olajuwon went to the sidelines with 17:05 to go in the game with four personal fouls. He returned later and finished with 19 points and 15 rebounds.

Carl Henry led the Jayhawks with 21 points and Kelly Knight added 18, including 10 in the second half.

Houston started sluggishly just as it did a week ago in a 76-64 season opening loss to NCAA defending champion North Carolina State.

Kansas, returning all five starters from last season's 13-16 team, held an 18-17 lead with seven minutes to play in the half on a goal-tending call against Olajuwon.

The Jayhawks, 0-1, got the early lead on the outside shooting of Henry, who had 12 points at the half, but Kansas then went cold trying to shoot over Houston's 2-3 zone defense.

The visitors shot only 32 percent from the field in the first half.

Olajuwon's basket put Houston ahead for good with 6:40 left in the half and Anderson came off the bench to help open the way to a 37-29 halftime Houston lead.

Kentucky 65, Louisville 44

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Second-ranked Kentucky, led by Jim Master and Melvin Turpin, routed sixth-ranked Louisville 65-44 Saturday night in the first regular-season meeting between the two schools since 1922.

Kentucky, kept from the Final Four by a loss to Louisville in last season's NCAA playoffs, hounded the Cardinals' guards and clogged up the middle as the Cardinals had only one player in double figures, freshman Mark McSwain, who scored 10 points, his last goal coming with seven seconds remaining.

Master, who finished with 19 points in the season opener for both teams, scored seven straight points early in the game to bring Kentucky from a 12-9 deficit to a 35-20 halftime lead. At one point during that period, the Wildcats outscored Louisville 26-4.

The Wildcats kept on rolling in the second half, running a 16-4 spree to take a 51-24 advantage by the midway mark. Then the Wildcats grabbed their biggest lead of the game — 59 points — 55-26 on two free throws by Master.

Turpin scored 16 points and helped dominate the boards over the smaller Cardinals, and sophomore Kenny Walker added 13.

The capacity crowd of 24,012 at Rupp Arena on the Kentucky campus loved almost every minute of the game. Louisville was allotted only 100 tickets in this first of a four-year contract between the two schools.

Sam Bowie, a 7-foot-1 senior, made his first appearance for the Wildcats since the 1981 season because of a stress shinbone fracture of his left leg. He scored only seven points, but was a key factor with his rebounding, passing and three blocked shots.

Queens face Amarillo

The Howard Hawk Queens will open up conference play Thursday, Dec. 1 when they do battle with Amarillo College in Amarillo at 6 p.m. in a key matchup.

The Queens are coming off a successful tournament in Snyder where they won two and upped their record to 11-4 for the season.

Amarillo College currently has a 8-3 record and it called by Queens' coach Don Stevens "one of the top teams in the conference".

Smith

"I feel pretty good," Smith said of his present health. "They've just been using me sparingly. There's nothing I can do about it."

With Marshall back on the team and four-year pro Carlos Carson having his best year to date, Smith has not had a chance to work his way back into the starting lineup. On Sunday's depth chart for Dallas, he was listed as the No. 3 wide receiver.

"All the receivers are playing good," he complimented his teammates. "We've got some good receivers and any one of us can get in there and do the job and do it well."

The Chiefs have succeeded with the pass this year as 5-year pro Bill Kenney has gained top rating in the NFL. "It's definitely a change from last year...for everyone," Smith admits. "It's good to have one quarterback. He can learn how receivers run their routes and they're going to break."

One of Mackovic's projects was settling on one quarterback. Kenney and Steve Fuller had split time in past seasons and the switching had done little for KC's consistency on offense.

Prior to the Dallas game, Smith has caught just five passes for 62 yards. Anthony Hancock, the all-American from Tennessee, handled punt returns in his absence but Smith now has his job back full-time. He also made an appearance on the kick-return team against the Cowboys.

"I worked on kick-offs last week," he said. "I'm just trying to help out in other areas, if not at wide receiver."

Even if his present situation is in limbo, Smith did enjoy his return to Texas Stadium. In his first appearance as a freshman at North Texas, he recovered a fumbled SMU punt return in the end zone for a touchdown. Unfortunately, the NTSU placekicker muffed the extra point and the Ponies edged the Mean Green 7-6.

"It feels good to be back," he said with a satisfied smile. "I went to college just down the street and got to play in this stadium against SMU and UTA. That fumbled punt return is where it all started for me."

Smith went on to star at safety for North Texas but barely caught on in the NFL. Noticed first by Washington, he was claimed by the Chiefs after the Redskins released him. At Kansas City, he's become the team's all-time punt returner.

With his receiving days shortened, Smith has gone back to making his living on the specialty teams. "I felt good today," he said of his performance last Sunday. "Maybe a couple of more returns and I'll break one. I was getting loose today."

The Chiefs are understandably disappointed with their 5-7 record. While the passing game has made drastic improvement, the running game has taken a tailspin. Kansas City rushed for 43 yards total against Dallas, forcing Kenney and rookie backup Todd Blackledge to throw the football 59 times.

The rushing deficiency is caused largely by the absence of all-Pro Joe Delaney. Delaney died in July while trying to rescue three drowning boys in a Monroe, La., park. His loss has shadowed the Chief's season.

"We really haven't recovered," Smith said, his mood suddenly turning sullen. "There's no way you can replace a guy like that. I mean, we have some good running backs but none like him. I talked with his wife this morning and they're doing fine. Me and Joe used to run around together. We're all missing him."

The trip to Dallas gave Smith a chance to see family and friends. "I'm moving back here," said the current resident of Blue Spring, Mo. "Kansas City is too cold for me. I've been staying in Dallas during the off-season anyway."

With four games left, the ex-Steer remains in positive spirits. "It doesn't make any difference what role I have, just as long as I get to play. Like I said, I don't know what the future holds but until then, I'll just keep on working."

UPENDED— Texas A&M receiver Jamie Williams (88) hangs on to a pass from quarterback Kevin Murry in the first period of their game with Texas. Moving in on the receiver are Texas players Jerry Gray (2) and Mossey Cade (3).

Texas

Texas turned the ball over twice in the second quarter on a pair of Moerschell interceptions but McIvor took the field with 5:14 left in the half. He marched the Longhorns 74 yards to their first touchdown, passing 12 yards to Bryant for the score.

The Longhorns held on defense and McIvor got a second chance with 46 seconds left at the Aggie 46. He passed 15 yards to Bryant and 18 to Duhan before going to Duhan again for 13 yards and the touchdown with 22 seconds remaining.

Ward's PAT was good and Texas was ahead for good.

"There is no question that the wind was a factor today," said Texas A&M Coach Jackie Sherrill, who has now lost to Texas twice by combined scores of 97-26. "The momentum certainly changed at the end of the first half. McIvor did a great job. He can throw the ball. Early in the game, we put pressure on Moerschell and made him scramble. We didn't put pressure on McIvor."

A&M had 122 yards total offense in the first half, but finished with just 248. Texas, after recording just 24 yards in the first quarter and no first downs, rolled to 445 total yards. Ronnie Robinson rushed for a game-high 83 yards, while Vick had 55 for the Aggies.

Incidentally, when Texas went 11-0 in 1969, the score of the A&M game was 49-12. Georgia might take note.

SMU defeats Coogs

in Mirage Bowl clash

TOKYO (AP) — Southern Methodist quarterback Lance McIlhenny threw two touchdown passes and the sixth-ranked Mustangs routed the mistake-prone Houston Cougars 34-12 Saturday in their Southwest Conference "Mirage Bowl" football game before 80,000 Japanese fans.

SMU finished its regular season 10-1 and was second in the SWC with a 7-1 record. The Mustangs play Alabama in the Sun Bowl Christmas Eve.

Houston was 4-7 and 3-4-1. SMU converted Houston mistakes into 27 points as McIlhenny rifled scoring passes of 10 yards to Ron Morris and 8 yards to tight end Rickey Bolden.

SMU jumped to a 7-0 lead in the first period on a gift when Cougar punter Robert Meyers bobbled the ball and was tackled on the Houston 2-yard line.

Two plays later Jeff Atkins scored from the 1-yard line.

Houston charged back to make it 7-6 on Donald Jordan's 1-yard scoring run but the extra point attempt was blocked by Reggie Phillips.

McIlhenny's 10-yard touchdown pass to Ron Morris after Michael Charles' 46-yard run upped the Mustang lead to 14-6.

Safety Russell Carter's interception of a Gerald Landry pass set up Jeff Harrell's 29-yard field goal.

The Mustangs scored again late in the half on another Houston miscue as end Anthony Beverley pounced on a fumble at the Cougar 15.

Reggie Dupard scored from a yard out as the Mustangs padded their lead to 24-6 at intermission.

McIlhenny threw his second scoring pass to Bolden in the third quarter after SMU was aided by a 45-yard pass interference penalty against the Cougars.

Memphis St. tops NTSU

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Fifth-ranked Memphis State, led by junior Keith Lee's 21 points, raced to an early first-half lead and never trailed Saturday as they defeated North Texas State 101-79 in the final game of the Mid-South Classic.

In an earlier game, Southern Mississippi dropped Tennessee State 65-61 in overtime.

Memphis State is now 2-0 for the year. North Texas is 0-2 after losing Friday to Southern Mississippi.

The victory was the 199th career win for Memphis State Coach Dana Kirk. He will have a chance to hit 200

Wednesday when the Tigers take on Middle Tennessee State.

Veterans ready for Skins Game

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — The Skins Game, a new-old concept he'll play with Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Tom Watson, could have a profound effect on the future of professional golf, Arnold Palmer said.

"This is a whole different approach. I think it's going to stimulate a great deal of interest outside the golf community," Palmer said. "In traveling around the country, in conversations in locker rooms, in phone calls, I've seen more interest in this than in anything else, ever."

"I think it's an experiment," Palmer said Friday before a practice round for the four-man, two-day, 18-hole shootout that is being televised both Saturday and Sunday by NBC.

"If they get the kind of (television) ratings I think they'll get, we very well could see a lot more of this kind of thing," said Palmer, at 54 the oldest of the four-some that will be competing for $360,000 in prize money.

"If this takes off like I think it will, they'll find other kinds of games for us to play."

And, Palmer said, it could, in the future, cut into the television schedule of the regular PGA Tour. "It's important to have new and different kinds of tournaments."

"There are, what, 25 tour events televised now. If this takes off, I wouldn't be surprised to see maybe five or six of these kind of events televised and the tour cut back to maybe 20. But," he said, "this also would put greater emphasis on tour events, too."

"You know, the Palmer-Player series, the Three Challenge Golf, ran, what, five years? The Big Three Golf was successful.

FEET TO FEET — Dallas Mavericks Mark Aquirre (24) picks his way through Golden State Warriors Mickey Johnson's feet after he came up with a rebound in first-half play at Reunion Arena in Dallas Saturday night.

Post shoots down Crane, 33-11

The Post Antelopes and Crane Golden Golden Cranes hooked up in a class AAA regional playoff game and the Antelopes came away with a 33-11 behind the running of scabbard Milton Williams who scored three touchdowns.

The contest was billed as a battle of the I-backs, Williams and Crane's Jim Vasquez plus two talented defenses, but it was Williams and Crew who won the war as the crafty runner burned the Crane defense for 131 yards in 22 carries.

Meanwhile Vasquez had a productive night of his own as he gained 109 yards in 26 carries and scored the only Crane touchdown.

But it was Williams who got Post on the board first as he completed a 47 yard drive with a 2 yard scoring run. In the drive he gained 32 yards on one carry and caught a pass for 14 yards.

Later on in the first quarter the Cranes came back as they marched from their own 13 down to the Post 14, but the drive stalled and Junior Bishop booted a 31 yard field goal.

In the second quarter the Antelopes had to drive only 17 yards for their second scoring drive, thanks to a 43 yard punt return by Felix Bustos. Williams scored from the 13.

Post padded their lead late in the half when linebacker Curt Greer intercepted a Todd Rodgers pass and rambled 50 yards for the score and Post led at halftime 20-3.

After a scoreless third quarter Post scored twice more in the final stanza when Williams scored from the one and running Michael Ollision scored from 38 yards out on his first and last carry of the contest.

Crane finally scored again on a 21 yard run by Vasquez. The pass to Vasquez worked for two points, but it was too little too late as Post advances to quarterfinals play with a 12-1 record.

Crane ends the season with a 11-1-1 record.

Greyhound bus stopped, searched for bomb

By The Associated Press
A fully loaded Greyhound bus was stopped, evacuated and searched in California by an Air Force explosives team Saturday after a caller told the Highway Patrol there was a bomb on board, officials said.

The incident was a reminder, on an otherwise quiet Saturday, of the violence that has marked the Amalgamated Transit Union's 3-week-old strike against Greyhound over demands for a wage cut.

The California bus, on a run from San Francisco to Sacramento, was stopped near Dixon and was still being searched four hours later, said Carolyn Smith, a communications operator for the Highway Patrol.

An explosives team from Travis Air Force Base brought in bomb-sniffing dogs, and the dogs indicated there was "something present," but no bomb was located immediately, Ms. Smith said.

The 43 passengers were loaded onto another coach and continued their trip, Greyhound reported.

The company has reported several bomb threats since the strike began.

"We've had a sprinkling of these," said Greyhound spokeswoman Dorothy Loran. "All of them have been false, thank God."

Tony Martinez, San Francisco shop steward for the driver's union, said he doubts any of his members is responsible. "I don't think any driver would go that far," he said.

On Friday a bus leaving the terminal in Philadelphia was attacked by four unidentified men with a crowbar, leaving the windows smashed and the driver injured.

Pickets marching in front of the depot denied their union was responsible.

Striking workers, meanwhile, continued to cast ballots on a proposed contract.

Key witness killed

NEW YORK (AP) — The body of a man found shot to death near a Bronx junkyard three weeks ago has been identified as that of a key witness in an investigation of a $100 million state-funded repair program at Co-op City, a large apartment development.

Bronx District Attorney Mario Merola's office said Friday the victim was Edward Monge, 30, a bricklayer and ex-convict.

Monge told the State Investigation Commission last December of alleged payroll padding, work slowdowns to inflate the costs of contracts and payoffs to two state inspectors, authorities said.

The investigation of the repair program at Co-op City from 1979 to last year is continuing, said Assistant District Attorney James Culletton. It has focused on alleged bid-rigging, bribery, kickbacks and money-laundering.

Twelve members of the Memphis Police Department's 23-man violent crimes detective squad have been assigned to the case along with 12 agents from the Memphis office of the FBI.

The project consists of filling approximately 100,000 linear feet of cracks on Runway 17-35 and approximately 4,000 linear feet of cracks on Taxiway 1. The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a Performance Bond and a Payment Bond, each in the amount of the contract, written by a responsible Surety Company, authorized to do business in the State of Texas, and satisfactory to the Owner, as required by Article 5160, V.A.T.C.S., as amended by H.B. 344, passed by the 50th Legislature, Regular Session, 1969.

Joy to the world!

By JOY CULWELL

I don't know how it happened, but here it is, after Thanksgiving! Between now and New Year's Day is the tempting time of the year, as far as food it concerned. Thank God I weigh less than I did last Christmas, but not that much less. What I need to make it through this season is a shot of will power. Does any medical man out there provide this service? If not, why not?

The country who put a man on the moon and then had the technology to show the world color TV pictures of it all could have developed something really important like that if they had really wanted to. What I need is a computer in my kitchen that has the ability to cook what I need in the way I need it cooked and would slap me on the wrist if I tried to eat something else. Now that would be an achievement for mankind!

I can rationalize things by saying "It's Christmas season and that just comes once a year, so eat up, kiddo." I hear this voice of common sense in the back of my mind say "Now, you know better than that! Didn't my doctor years ago tell me I could be overweight as long as I was "well proportioned." For years I was 36", 24", 36" and that was alright because my other arm was the same size!

I have something about me that causes people to take one look at me and they want to feed me. I wish I had a penny for each time a hostess told me "to try a little of this, a little can't hurt." If I added those "littles" up it would equal our national debt! Now I tell hostesses it is against my religion to eat sweets. I've had several of them to look at me and say "I didn't know Baptists couldn't eat sweets! I knew they couldn't dance or drink but that's a new one." I reply that this only applies to fat Baptists.

I ran across this prayer for dieter's by Ed Cunningham that is so appropriate to my life. Thought I'd share it with you and I hope it helps you as it has me.

Give me strength O Lord, I pray — Help me make it Through the day. Deliver me from snacks and sweets, Keep my mind off high-cal treats. Tempt me not with French cuisines. Bid me flee soft drink machines. Turn my eyes from ice cream bars. Stay my hand from cookie jars. Till I'm back in shape again, Hang in there with me. Amen!

Armored car holdup nets $6.5 million loot

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Police tripled — to $6.5 million — their estimate Saturday of how much two armed men got away with in the Thanksgiving morning holdup of an armored car company.

"They got $5.2 million in cash, about $750,000 in negotiable securities and checks and about $500,000 in bonds," said Capt. Clyde Keenan of the Memphis Police Department's violent crimes squad.

Earlier, authorities had estimated the robbers' haul from the Wells Fargo Armored Service Corp. offices at about $2 million.

The nation's largest cash robbery occurred on Dec. 12, 1982, when a Sentry Armored Car Courier Co. office in New York was robbed of $11 million. On Sept. 12 of this year, $7 million was taken from a Wells Fargo office in West Hartford, Conn.

Police and FBI agents working on the case said they had no witnesses who saw the robbers leave. The Wells Fargo offices are on only about three blocks east of downtown Memphis, but the area was virtually deserted Thursday morning.

Two men, wearing Halloween masks and what appeared to be Wells Fargo uniforms, grabbed an employee as she entered the company's offices near downtown Memphis and forced her to open the building's door.

Once inside, the robbers, who were armed with pistols, bound the woman and a male employee with tape and began carrying canvas sacks loaded with cash and securities from the vault and sorting area to a vehicle outside.

Keenan said the robbers were prepared for a large haul, since they had to have at least a pickup truck to carry it away.

Who's that man and what's he doing in our alley?

It could be Billy Ray Phipps from Energas' Big Spring office.

You are apt to find him in a lot of places. His job is to check out gas equipment and lines to assure you of a dependable, safe supply of natural gas. Like in your alley. Besides carefully reading your meter, he checks for leaks and for any needed repairs or replacement.

So, when you see an Energas man in your alley... or in the heart of town, you can be sure he is there for a good reason.

Energas people can do and want to.

Astronauts begin shuttle countdown

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Six astronauts ate and slept at topsy-turvy hours as the countdown began Saturday for the longest space shuttle flight yet — a nine-day international science mission set for liftoff Monday.

At midmorning, all six sat down together for a meal. Three ate breakfast, three had dinner.

After the meal, the three-man Red Team went to bed for eight hours. The Blue Team studied flight plans and attended flight briefings until their after-midnight bedtime.

The six, including the first foreigner named to a U.S. flight, have followed the unusual timetable for several days to prepare for the mission. Each team will work a 12-hour shift, concentrating on science and technology projects in a European-built science station mounted in the cargo bay of Columbia, which is returning to space for the first time in a year.

The countdown began at 4 a.m. EST, aiming for a launch at 11 a.m. Monday. The early hours of the count went to well that at midday the launch crew was finishing many chores about 30 minutes ahead of schedule, test conductor Bob Webster reported.

But bad weather approaching the Cape could pose problems for the flight, already delayed twice since September because of technical problems. Webster said a low pressure system heading to Florida from the Midwest could produce clouds and rain showers in the launch area on Monday.

"It depends on how fast that weather system moves in," he said.

NASA would not launch the shuttle during a storm, because rain could damage the ship's protective tiles, winds could throw it off course and clouds could obscure the crew's view if they had to make an emergency landing back at the Cape.

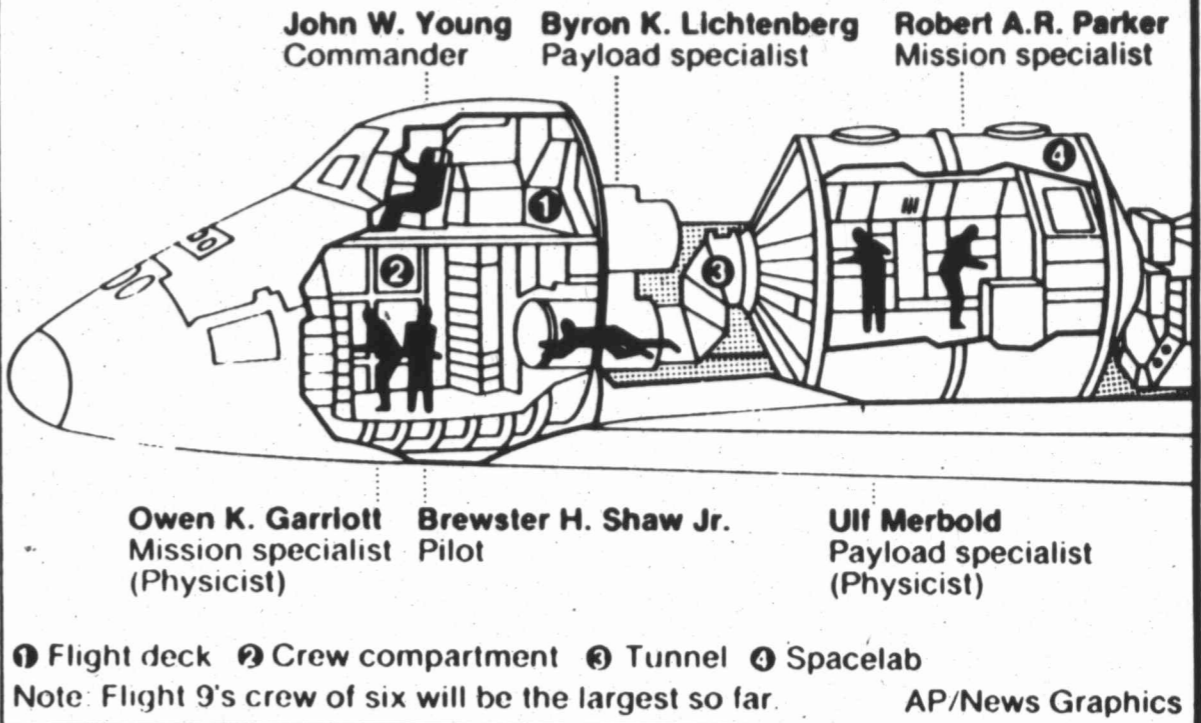

During 145 orbits of the globe, the astronauts are to conduct more than 70 experiments in five science and technology fields. It is the most intense space research project undertaken in such a short period.

The ninth shuttle mission is filled with firsts, besides its length:

- The largest crew ever assigned to a spaceship.
- The heaviest shuttle payload — the 16½-ton Spacelab built by the European Space Agency.
- A record sixth flight by commander John Young, who says this may be his last.
- The first flight on a U.S. ship by non-career astronauts, with two in the crew, including Ulf Merbold, a West German physicist.
- The first 24-hour work schedule aboard a spacecraft.
- The largest area of the world ever overflown by a manned spaceship.

The main task is to test Spacelab. Ten years in the making, the billion-dollar reusable laboratory is the most versatile research facility ever built for space. For the 10 European nations that designed, constructed and financed it, and for NASA, which is providing ground facilities and launch management, the flight is the culmination of the largest and most comprehensive multi-national space project. Experiments have been provided by scientists from 11 European nations, Canada, Japan and the United States. They cover life sciences; atmospheric physics and Earth observations; astronomy and solar physics; space plasma physics, and materials processing.

"If we can do nine days up there, 24 hours a day and prove out the Spacelab and get some really good science, it would be more than I could hope for..." said Young, who at 53 already has flown two Gemini missions; two Apollo flights, including a walk on the moon, and the maiden shuttle trip, also aboard Columbia, in 1981.

The other crew members are Air Force Maj. Brewster H. Shaw Jr., 38, the pilot; mission specialists Owen K. Garriott, 53, an electrical engineer, and Robert A. Parker, 46, an astronomer, and payload specialists Merbold, 42, and Byron K. Lichtenberg, 36, a biomedical engineer.

Merbold, a metals research specialist from Max Planck Institute in Stuttgart, and Lichtenberg, a biomedical engineer researcher at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, are the first of a new breed to fly the shuttle. They are not "rained" astronauts, but are scientists and engineers selected by their peers to conduct experiments on specific missions. They are not trained to pilot the ship as the other crew members are.

Garriott, although he has had only one previous space flight, has more time in orbit than the 23 total days logged by Young on five trips. Garriott spent 59 days aboard the Skylab space station in 1973 and he sees Spacelab as an extension of Skylab's research. "Skylab was a little more leisurely," he said. "We were up for one-, two- and three-month intervals, which gave us better opportunity to modify and adapt our work schedule. For Spacelab we've got to do more thinking and more planning so we can hit the ground running."

'If we can do nine days up there, 24 hours a day and prove out the Spacelab and get some really good science, it would be more than I could hope for...'

To get in as much scientific work as possible, the crew has been split into the two shifts. Young, Parker and Merbold are the Red Team and Shaw, Garriott and Lichtenberg are the Blue Team.

While Young and Shaw take turns piloting Columbia at 155 miles above the Earth, the others will work in Spacelab, which is 24 feet long and 13 feet in diameter and is connected to the shuttle cabin by a 19-foot-long tunnel, 3.3 feet in diameter. It has an observation window and an airlock to raise instruments into space and is crammed with computers, furnaces, medical equipment, telescopes and other experiment gear.

Behind the lab is a 13-foot, U-shaped aluminum pallet where 16 experiments will be exposed directly to space.

The scientist-astronauts will work in shirtsleeves in the pressurized laboratory, which will remain in the cargo bay throughout the flight.

Sexism charged in NAACP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Margaret Bush Wilson, chairwoman of the NAACP board, said Saturday the civil rights organization's efforts to combat social injustice would be crippled if the NAACP is "unable to rise above sexism in its own ranks."

Mrs. Wilson told reporters that although she hopes to win a re-election bid for one of eight at-large seats on the board, it is "unlikely" she will attempt to mount a direct leadership challenge to NAACP Executive Director Benjamin Hooks.

The NAACP board voted to take away most of Mrs. Wilson's powers as chairwoman in July, after she lost a power struggle with Hooks. Her duties were given to the board's vice chairman until a successor is chosen early next year.

Last spring, Mrs. Wilson had suspended Hooks — without consulting other board members — for alleged mismanagement of the organization.

Mrs. Wilson, a St. Louis attorney who has chaired the board since 1975, defended her record in a speech to a group of black women supporters at Howard University.

She asserted that the NAACP board's July action "offers very little hope to women who are aspiring to become members of major decision-making bodies."

At a news conference afterward, Mrs. Wilson said that over the past several months her criticism of Hooks has led to improvements in the NAACP's financial reports and other management practices.

White House blocked off after threats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sand-filled dump trucks block major entrances to the White House and police cars are parked in State Department driveways in response to "possible bomb threats."

Six dump trucks blocked gates to the White House grounds and the Old Executive Office Building on Friday and brown police cars were placed at four driveway entrances to the State Department.

The sand-laden trucks and patrol cars were the latest evidence of tightened security following the Nov. 7 bombing of a Senate corridor in the U.S. Capitol and the Oct. 23 terrorist attack on the Marine headquarters in Beirut that killed 239 servicemen. The Beirut bombing involved a motorist who drove a truck loaded with explosives past Marine guards into the barracks.

Seven dump trucks were moved into position outside the White House on Thursday, when vans and patrol cars blocked five entrances to the State Department. One truck, which had been parked at the northeast gate to the White House grounds, was removed from its position on Friday.

President Reagan and his wife, Nancy, were spending the long Thanksgiving weekend at their ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif.

Drug abusers learn to cope with addiction and lifestyle

CHARLIE VOIGHT
...Drug and Alcohol Abuse Unit counselor

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

"This is the end of the road as far as some go," says counselor Charlie Voight about patients at the Drug and Alcohol Abuse Unit at Big Spring State Hospital.

"They have been in other treatments, in trouble with probation officers, families or bosses. They have external pressures sending them. Some come in on a voluntary admissions. They realize they have hit bottom and need help.

"We get a person started on regular recovery and give them the tools to work with," he said. The person is admitted to a 60 day program. He is put through nursing, doctor's, psychological and social worker's assessments during his first six days at the hospital. The case manager looks at the assessments, defines problems and targets goals the patient and the unit need to work together on. The unit teaches the patient things related to his problems and a better way to handle.

"THERE HAS BEEN a trend since I've been here," says Voight. "There are much more mixed-substance abusers and younger patients who tend to be a little more rebellious and defiant." Most drug patients at the hospital are under 30 years old.

According to Voight, people get involved with chemicals because they want to experiment, there is peer pressure, they think it might be a way to try and solve problems, and/or they think it is a way to have fun — entertainment. "The risk is that it will develop into a problem, an addiction," Voight said.

Voight has found that most of his new patients lack information on drug and alcohol abuse recovery processes, how chemicals affect their feelings, the destructive uses of leisure time, and ineffective use of community resources like Alcoholics Anonymous or others.

Educational and therapy groups at the unit combat these problems. Case managers and patients set goals to achieve in the groups. At group meetings patients work on their goals.

In the groups, patients view films, hears lectures, discuss addiction and chemical dependency and problems associated with chemical usage. The patient's entire treatment is centered on helping him learn to live with addiction and lifestyle problems. "Once addicted, always addicted," Voight says.

VOIGHT LECTURES on the denial system and family stress. He also meets twice a day in staff meetings where each patient's problems and progress is reviewed every other week. The staff meetings are the "time to share relevant information about people and get feedback from the staff." The staff takes a team approach in working with patients. "I don't see how one person could do this," Voight said.

Voight leads three Reality Therapy groups. Reality Therapy is a method of helping people learn to live their lives more effectively. The therapy helps the person look at his behavior, make a value judgement of his behavior, and from that judgement and with the counselor, plan his action to correct his behavior.

Other groups patients participate in are: Alcoholics Anonymous's Big Book Study Group, AA's Twelve Steps Study Group, Drug Education, Dynamics of Chemical Dependency, Emotional Growth Group, Women for Sobriety Group, Bilingual Group, Get Well Again, Communications Group, Aftercare Group, and Follow up Groups.

Adult Basic Education, GED and English as a 2nd language, inactive and active recreation classes, and occupational therapy also is offered.

In the Aftercare Group, the patient meets with his social worker to plan for his discharge. In Follow Up Groups, the community's counselors talk to patients about what to do about follow-up. They inform the patients about available community resources and how to use them. Follow Up Groups work in conjunction with Aftercare in terms of discharge plans — what they are going to do and where they will go.

WEEKEND PASSES are part of the patient's treatment. "We look at these as therapeutic trial visits," Voight said. The passes give patients the opportunity to work on problems in natural surroundings.

For example, if a patient is having problems at home with his family the weekend pass is the time to do work on the problem by carrying out suggestions made in his treatment at the hospital. "This puts the responsibility on the patient to try to get them to change their lifestyle instead of believing they are victims of the world around them...take responsibility for their lifestyle," Voight said.

"The patients are in treatment 60 days, 24 hours a day and weekends too. They shouldn't miss a day because if they do they are hurting themselves, slackening themselves up," Voight said.

The Unit's Chronic Program is a 24-day program. This program is for the typical "revolving door" alcoholic who is in and out of treatment. It is for persons who have been admitted to a hospital in the last year or four times in the last five years.

The person admitted to this program is one who is dependant on institutions to get by and is not taking responsibility for himself. Most of these patients spend more time in the institution instead of on their own. The unit tries to get the patient to take more responsibility for himself by treating him in the short program.

The Chronic Program is intensive. It takes the patient through AA's Twelve Steps, places emphasis on breaking the dependency on the institutions, and makes the patient familiar with AA's Big Book. Myrtle Tatum, a certified alcoholism counselor, operates the program. Patients in the Chronic Program are not eligible for weekend passes.

Other members of the unit's staff include five counselors, Clyde Alsup, unit director, and a therapist.

Patients come to the drug and alcohol abuse unit through the outpatient clinic. All patients are screened before they are admitted.

FOLLOWING GRADUATION from Texas Tech University, Voight became a therapist at the hospital in 1973, and a counselor in 1975.

Counseling "can be very rewarding and at times very frustrating," he said. "It helps me grow personally. Emotionally, it helped me mature a lot more. Mentally, it has helped me to understand myself better and human behavior better."

Voight is a certified Alcohol and Drug Abuse counselor and Reality Therapist. He is president of the local chapter of Texas Association of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Counselors and interim chairman of the Hotline/Shelter committee of the "The Chemical People."

Voight and wife Robyn have two children Jimmy, 9, and Ferrol, 4.

Old Martin County Jail finds place in history

By RHONDA WITT
Lifestyle Writer

"If you are interested in the future, you have to be interested in the past," says Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders about the old Martin County Jail. County residents gathered Tuesday for the jail's dedication as a historical monument.

The jail houses Martin County Chamber of Commerce, which moved in Nov. 18 following a $77,000 restoration project conducted by the Martin County Historical Commission and the Chamber of Commerce. Mabee Petroleum Corporation donated $77,720 for the restoration.

"They did a dang good job on it," said Bob Deavenport, Martin County judge and Chamber of Commerce board member. "The rafters in the old jail were used lumber in 1908 and they are still in good shape today." No two windows in the building were the same size, so each window had to be made separately. The only things missing from the old jail house are the original wooden porch and iron fence.

"THE JAIL HAS REALLY been serving Martin County for 98 years. We are proud of that old building and that it can be of service for probably another 98 years," Saunders said.

'I loved that old building and couldn't see it get torn down, especially since it is one of the last historical buildings in Martin County.'

In the past, the jail has served as a library, county storeroom and a museum. After the Martin County Historical Society moved the museum to its present location, Saunders made the jail a personal museum. He kept artifacts there until plans were made for the restoration.

"The main thing I was trying to do was to keep the building activated," he said. "I loved that old building and couldn't see it get torn down, especially since it is one of the last historical buildings in Martin County."

Saunders is the only sheriff that hasn't lived in the jail since it was built in 1908. "At that time (1952, when he was elected sheriff), the old building was in such need of repairs that it was unlivable. The county was broke."

Although he was the first not to live in jail, Saunders wanted to live there. "It would have been so much better (to live in the jail.) You are there to feed the prisoners and to safeguard them. It keeps you from getting up at night and going down to the jail to put someone in or to release them. Had the county or I had the money to fix it up like it is now, I would still be living in it, but that is not the case," he said.

Martin County has had 15 sheriffs. Saunders knew several of the sheriffs who lived in the jail house. "The first sheriff I can remember was Milt Yater, who was then sheriff (from 1930-1936).

"However, the one I was around the most and who had the greatest influence on me when I was growing up was Morris Zimmerman," he said. Zimmerman was sheriff from 1936 to 1948. "I liked him, and he liked me."

"WHEN MORRIS ZIMMERMAN was sheriff, he used to let me ride around with him at night. Of course, they didn't have a radio in cars then, so when he would get a call at the jail, Mrs. Zimmerman would raise the window shade. He would stop and go back because he knew she needed him.

"Morris Zimmerman wore a white hat, drove a new Ford car and smoked a big cigar. I thought he was rich just because he was sheriff when I was little. But later on, I realize he was just like me," he said.

Saunders also knew sheriffs J.H. Zimmerman, who was Morris Zimmerman's father, V.Y. Sadler, J.R. "Uncle Dick" Arnett and Kyle Shoemaker.

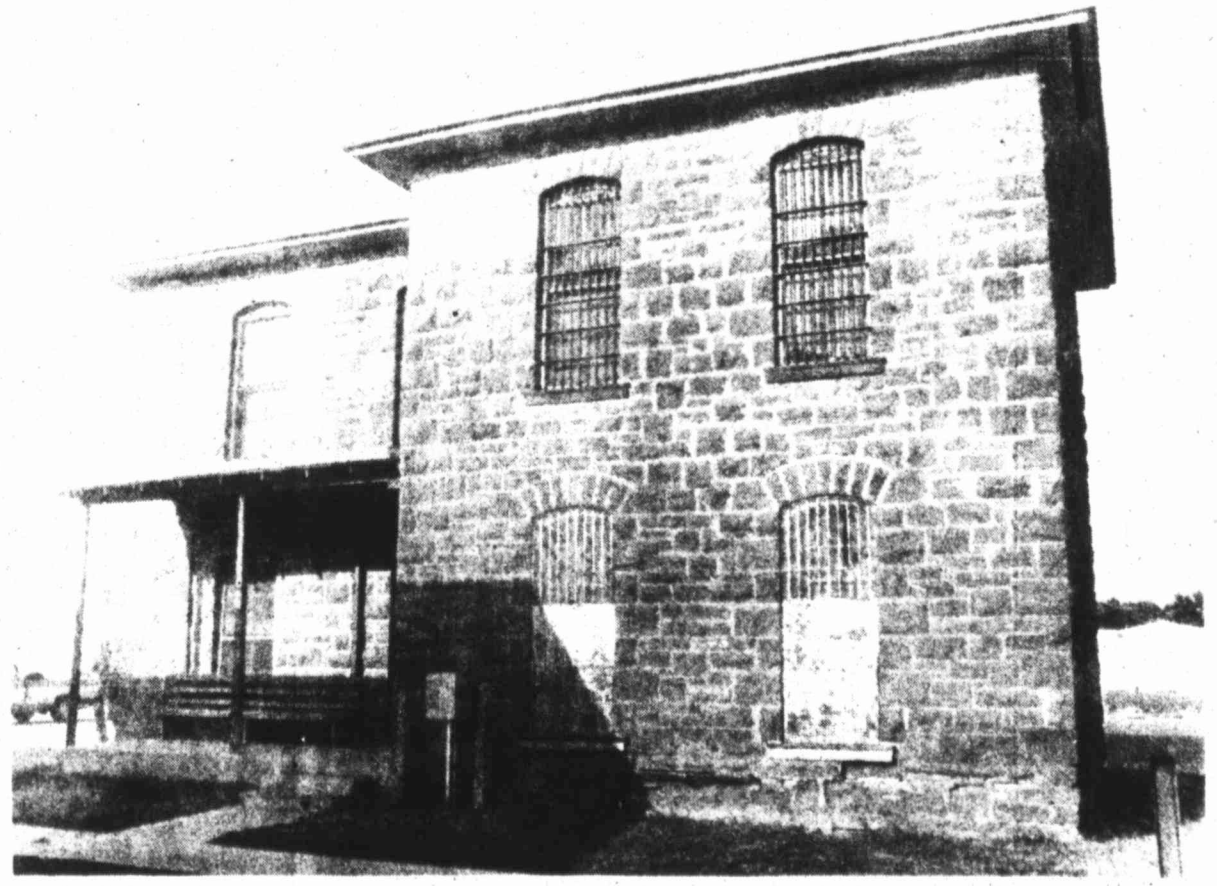

Saunders remembers visiting the jail on Sundays. "Mrs. Zimmerman would make ice cream on the front porch of the jail, and every kid who went by was invited to eat ice cream."

The Old Martin County Jail has withstood two, possibly three, jail breaks. In 1927, two farmers picked up three illegal aliens under the guise they were going to take them to the farm to work. The farmers took them in front of Home National Bank, which has since folded.

The farmers left the aliens there with some picks and hoes, telling them they would return for them. "This was early in the morning before people started getting up. The farmers went one block west of court house. They went over and sat the old Christian Church on fire. Everyone ran to the fire," Saunders said.

"They (the farmers) went back down to the bank and shot these three aliens in hopes of collecting $5,000 reward offered for bank robbers, dead or alive.

"They may have gotten by with it but one alien lived and told the story. The farmers were arrested by Sheriff Sadler and placed in the old jail. They were charged with murder, and bond was denied.

CHANGING TIMES — The Old Martin County Jail is pictured as it looked before it underwent a restoration project by the Martin County Historical Commission and the Martin County Chamber of Commerce. The jail was dedicated by Martin County residents as a historical monument, Tuesday. In the past, the jail has served as a library, museum and a county storeroom.

"After keeping them in this jail after a week, they were transferred to Midland County Jail because (the Sheriff's office was) afraid they would break out. But our jail was better than theirs. They broke out of Midland County jail."

THE FIRST JAIL BREAK was in 1968 when a prisoner broke out and came back. He broke into the sheriff's office and released "Duffy" Gonzales, an accused murderer from Mexico. The prisoner was caught a week later in Lamesa while Gonzales was apprehended in Midland.

The second escape occurred in 1975 when an illegal alien, Raymond Garcia, jiggled the old cell and opened the door using wire from a broom to pick the lock. He tore off a piece of the window frame and used it as a ramrod to push a hole in the west wall. He has never been caught.

The jail cells are in good shape and could be used today, Saunders said. "If anyone escaped it was through human error, not structural error."

"The cell blocks themselves were in the first court house (on the second floor) built in Stanton in 1885. When it was torn down in 1908, the cell blocks were taken out and incorporated in the red brick jail building, which still stands."

Dr. Donohue

Kelp fans are bound to yelp

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am 18, 5 feet, 9 inches, and weight 165 pounds. I am in good physical condition because I lift weights six times a week. I started taking kelp because it burns off excess body fat. The first week I took one tablet (.225 mg of iodine) per day. The second week, two tablets a day and now I am up to five tablets with each meal. I have read that too much iodine is dangerous. Is the amount I am taking too dangerous? —B.L.

I hate answering questions like this because they get me into disfavor. They put me in a no-win situation, but here goes. The kelp devotees will want to skin me alive.

Where in the world did you get the idea that kelp will burn body fat? Why should that be so? If you can give me a good sensible, well-tested proof of that I promise to submit it for publication. For the nonce, my skepticism and/or ignorance keep me from being a true believer. The recommended daily allowances for iodine is 150 micrograms. Please note that is "micrograms," not milligrams. A microgram is a thousandth of a milligram. Are you speaking of micrograms or milligrams?

Side effects? The potential toxic effects of high iodine doses in humans are not clear. Goiter from high iodine intake as been seen in Japan, where seaweeds rich in it are part of the diet of many. Iodine is needed by the body to make thyroid hormone. That's why it's added to salt, to satisfy needs in iodine-deficient areas of the world. For all I know, this is the rationale behind suggesting it as a great body fat burner. I don't know.

However, the 150 micrograms is quite enough iodine to make all the thyroid hormone you or I need daily. I don't recommend taking anymore than that unless it is by advice of a physician who sees the health-related need for it.

FOR B.K. You ask about tanning and sunburn. We've known about its potential harm for years. We know less about UV-A, the kind used in tanning booths.

UV-A does accentuate the damage to the skin from UV-B rays., UV-A can cause skin reactions in those taking certain drugs, like diuretics or tetracycline. Also they may cause skin blood vessel changes. Since the booths deliver very little if any UV-B rays they are not as dangerous as lying out in the sun. You do have to follow the suggested eye protection precautions, however.

There's an old saying — if you feet hurt, your hurt all over. Dr. Donohue's booklet, "Relief and Care of Your Feet," shows you how to avoid and take care of foot problems. To get your copy, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

FINGER CIRCLES.

The wearing of rings dates back to prehistoric times when men wore rings of woven grass. Historians believe that prehistoric man feared that his soul would leave his body unless it was physically bound inside him. As a result, he wore grass rings about his ankles, waist, toes and fingers to protect his soul. Later, the ancient Egyptians wore rings as symbols of eternity and regeneration. Rings were called "Finger Circles." Believing in an unending life for man's spirit, the Egyptians placed rings on the fingers of their dead to symbolize rebirth. Today, although meanings may differ, we continue to wear rings as symbols of love and eternity.

Finely crafted, quality jewelry of all types including rings, necklaces, bracelets, watches and more are just some of the many beautiful gift ideas you may choose when you shop with us at BLUM'S JEWELERS, 222 Main, 267-6335. Engagement policy

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald from anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks before the wedding.

We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form should be signed by the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or parents of either.

We will use a picture of the couple or the bride-elect. The picture must be of a quality that will reproduce well in the newspaper. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know who you are submitting your engagement to our paper. If only grandparents live in our area, please, give their names and addresses.

The information may be brought by the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry, or mailed to the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720.

Call us at (915) 267-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

Kitty litter can remove grease from driveway

To remove motor oil or grease from your driveway, take a tip. Sprinkle the greasy spots with kitty litter. Allow it to absorb as much as possible, then remove it with a small shovel.

Next, sprinkle again and scrub the litter into the driveway with a brick, thoroughly going over the entire stained area. Sweep away. If there's still a spot, repeat the second step.

Family reunion - pain or pleasure?

During the holiday season most adults and children yearn to touch base with home and homefolks. In today's mobile society however, a family reunion can be a strong support for reaching out to the family's past and gaining insights for the future, or it can be the beginning of disharmony.

Four generation families are now common in the U.S. Young parents and their children do not ordinarily live with the grandparents, but the various generations usually keep in touch. When total families get together in reunion — settings, large numbers are commonplace. The more people, the more expensive the event.

Mass kinfolk gatherings are fun but occasionally disappointing. To enjoy days of goodwill and personal growth, family reunions take planning. Food, lodging, special activities and events, entertainment items and time off from jobs are costly, especially if one family assumes an unequal share of the responsibilities.

Kin are very important in cultures where marriage is not mandated or the culture is accepting of singlehood. Kinfolks usually provide aid in situations of stress or deprivation. Belongingness and the sense of integrity are enhanced by kin gatherings, family history and symbols of family continuity.

Many psychologists today are looking at the effects the family of origin has on self-concept. Family therapists are encouraging families under stress to tackle unresolved emotional issues with the families in which they were raised. Reunions give stressed family members an opportunity to view family situations first-hand.

You can turn a family reunion into a positive experience by first accepting that you are a product of your family, even if you decide to be totally different from them. Using assertiveness, openness in communication and humor in responding to favorite and not-so-favorite kin are techniques most adults can use effectively.

Attend reunions with some detachment — allow time for privacy and pleasure for yourself. Most families love their relatives, but don't idolize them. An agenda-free, spontaneous family reunion facilitates goodwill and requires no one to move in a lock-step fashion.

Maintaining health discussed

A program about "Maintaining Your Own Health" was given at a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the LaPosada Inn, Nov. 22.

People's Medical Society, a national organization, is compiling the roll of doctors who follow a "Code of Practice" which includes a posted or printed schedule of fees for office visits, procedures, testing and surgery, and providing itemized bills to patients.

Costs for medical care have increased two and one-half times as much as the increase in other areas of inflation. Health insurance rates are being increased, and medical insurance policies are being revised to cause the patient to bear more medical care costs.

People must learn to help themselves to maintain their health by self-education and by becoming willing to discipline in diet to maintain good health. Therapeutic exercises can reverse many painful inflexible joints and other painful conditions.

The yoga system is excellent because it teaches concentration and slow movement into the exercise posture, proper exhalation and inhalation.

and awareness of which muscles and ligaments are being activated in order to avoid the injury of strain.

Yoga exercises can gently break accumulations of calcium from between joints to restore flexibility. Exercises to benefit the spine, shoulders and hips were demonstrated, along with instruction for deep breathing, while in the Yoga semi-erect, sitting and horizontal positions.

Selecting Christmas gift plants

With Thanksgiving just behind us Christmas will be upon us before we may realize it. One of the more thoughtful and certainly one of the more appreciative gifts available is a Christmas Plant.

Here's hoping you're among the happy group whose Christmas decor is graced by a beautiful flowering plant. Let's take a look at several of the more popular Christmas flowers and how you'll want to care for them to prolong their beauty.

 POINSETTIAS. Poinsettias outrank all other Christmas plants combined in popularity. They are well adapted to indoor temperatures so long as they are not allowed to sit in hot or cold drafts. Put them near a bright window and aim at keeping the soil evenly moist, but never soggy wet or overly dry. Poinsettias used to be pretty sensitive to changes from a green house environment to that of a home, with leaf and flower drop being a common problem. With the newer varieties available today, however, you can just about plan on your poinsettias looking nice on Valentine's Day, if you care to keep them around that long.

 KALANCHOES. Kalanchoes should be kept in a sunny window. This plant flowers when the days (daylight hours) are short; consequently, they are difficult to reflower in the home if carried over for another year. Lights used in the home provide long days and the plant will not set flower buds under such conditions.

They do make excellent foliage plants once the flowers are faded, however. Just remove the flower stalks and use as a foliage plant.

 CHRISTMAS CACTUS. Christmas Cactus isn't a typical cactus. It requires as much water as any other house plant, though it should not be overwatered. This is one plant that can be kept over to bloom again next Christmas with good success. Keep it in a sunny window until danger of frost is past, then place it in a shady spot out of doors during the summer. Bring it inside next fall, place in a cool room, and with reasonable luck, flowers should appear by Christmas.

 CYCLAMEN. Cyclamen or shooting stars, are old favorites. Their large showy flowers are red, pink, salmon, or white, and really do resemble falling stars. Unfortunately, though, the flowers fade and fall pretty fast, so cyclamen has a pretty short "shelf life" as a flowering plant inside the home. To prolong its beauty as long as possible, keep the plant as cool as possible. Avoid hot drafts and overwatering.

 AZALEAS. Azaleas should remain attractive 2-4 weeks in your home, particularly if you'll put them in a 60-65 degree spot each night. They just don't seem to prosper at normal room temperatures.

Be careful to avoid drafty locations when you select a spot for your azalea, and, again, be extremely careful of your watering practices. Most greenhouse azaleas are grown in virtually 100 percent peat moss, and it's fairly easy to goof on the watering.

Florist azaleas are not particularly well adapted to our area, so you may want to discard the plant once it has finished flowering.

 CHRISTMAS PEPPER. Christmas pepper is becoming more popular each year as a gift plant. The colorful, red, yellow, orange and green peppers make it a distinctive plant to give or to receive. Ornamental pepper plants will thrive inside the home for several weeks, and will make an interesting potted or container plant for the patio or porch after the holidays. Do not allow the plant to be subjected to temperatures below 35 degrees.

Plants brighten any holiday decor. With a little care, they can last long after the toys are broken and the bills are paid!

Don't hesitate to use the colorful poinsettia. Since 1919, stories unsubstantiated by medical and scientific fact have circulated about the poinsettia at Christmas time, when the plant is at the peak of its popularity.

According to one tale, the two-year-old child of an Army officer stationed in Hawaii died from eating a poinsettia leaf (bract). This unfortunate, unfounded story helped scare people into thinking that the poinsettia is poisonous. It has led to the belief that parts of the plant, if ingested by humans or pets, could be lethal.

To scientifically resolve the charges against the poinsettia, and to alleviate public fear, the floral industry launched an intensive investigation.

The Society of American Florists, floriculture's national trade association representing 50,000 industry men, collaborated with the Ohio State University on a poinsettia research project.

The objective was to determine whether there is any foundation to the allegation that Euphorbia pulcherrima (poinsettia) is a poisonous plant.

The study established that when rats were given unusually high doses of various portions in the poinsettia, no mortality, no symptoms of toxicity and no changes in dietary intake or general behavior were observed.

The university research has effectively debunked "old wives' tales" that the poinsettia is harmful to human and animal health if parts of the plant are ingested. There is a possibility that some people are allergic to the plant sap which can cause a rash on some skin types.

Dear Abby

Man, pet can be buried together

DEAR ABBY: The more I see of people, the more I love my dogs. I would like to be buried with them, but I can't find a cemetery where people and their pets can be buried together. Is there one? I am 83 and not crazy.

DOG LOVER IN HARRISBURG, PA.
DEAR DOG LOVER: To my knowledge, the only cemetery in the world where humans and their pets are buried side by side is Bonheur Memorial Park, located just outside Baltimore.

The owner, William A. Green, said there are currently about 8,000 pets and 100 humans buried there, with reservations in the hundreds for more.

Bonheur is the final resting place for dogs, cats, hamsters, rabbits, birds and monkeys. An elephant named Mary Ann who lived at the Baltimore Zoo for over 40 years is also buried there. Plans are being made to bury six racehorses—a difficult feat because after a horse dies, it's impossible to fold its legs.

Bonheur offers 24-hour pick-up service in a custom-built pet hearse from home or animal hospital. The pet is brought to Bonheur where it is bathed and groomed to give it a lovely "sleeping" appearance. The pet is then placed in a satin- or velvet-lined casket and placed in the "slumber" room for viewing. For those who want a religious service, a priest, minister or rabbi may be engaged.

For an extra fee, candles will be lighted at the grave of the loved one on the anniversary of his or her birth or death, and on Easter and Christmas. If your pet was Jewish, Hanukkah and Passover are remembered as well.

Some may think that being buried with a pet—or even giving it a "funeral"—is a foolish waste of money. But to many, a pet is a much-loved member of the family and it seems reasonable to me to give it a dignified and compassionate burial.

For more information about this unique cemetery, write to: Bonheur Memorial Park, 7239 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, Md. 21227.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl, and I just finished reading your booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Ought to Know."

As I read through it, I thought it was just an OK book, but when I started reading the chapter on drugs, I thought it was really great!

I have never taken any drugs. I have never even had a desire to try them, but after I read your booklet, it made me absolutely sure that I will never try drugs as long as I live. I never realized how serious just trying drugs out could be.

I hope other kids will read your booklet and learn what I did. Thanks, Abby. I am passing it around to my friends.

NO DRUGS FOR ME IN MAINE
DEAR NO DRUGS: Thanks for writing. Your letter made my day. For those who want the booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Ought to Know," send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I moved to another state, I had to find a new physician. Right off the bat, he started calling me by my first name, so I

Stopping antibiotics early poses dangers

If the doctor prescribes an antibiotic for a bacterial infection, follow his or her directions to finish the bottle or renew the prescription.

Don't stop taking the drug as soon as you feel better. With too little of an antibiotic in the system, the infection may not be totally eradicated and may reappear.

"Less than optimum blood levels of antibiotic are worse than no antibiotic at all," says Dr. Joseph H. Talley of University of North Carolina School of Medicine. Surviving bacteria often undergo a change that increases their resistance to antibiotics, making the drug ineffective. When drug-resistant bacteria multiply, they are passed along to other people and infections that were once easily treated become harder to cure.

Certain illnesses now require 40 times as much antibiotic as they did when first treated by the drug. Penicillin used to be a sure cure for gonorrhea organisms, but today the drug may not affect them at all. "Antibiotics are an international treasure that is losing its value," says Dr. Stuart B. Levy, professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston and president of the Alliance for Prudent Use of Antibiotics.

Early financial planning important for retirement

The "Golden Years." That's how most people view retirement — a time to relax and enjoy the fruits of life-long labor. But unless older adults plan their finances carefully, the dream of a secure, happy retirement may not work out as desired. Money management is a serious consideration for people facing retirement. A person is never too young to start thinking about financial planning for retirement. But many people don't begin giving serious consideration to retirement until they are in their late 30s or early 40s.

With careful early planning, they can make a comfortable financial transition to retirement. Several ways people in retirement or approaching retirement can make the most of their financial resources follows:

- Establish personal goals. Determine what's important to you. Do you want to take that long-planned trip to Europe? Should you save money for a new car? Use this information to set your financial priorities and set up a realistic budget.
- Make sure you receive a reasonable return on your savings and investments. Talk with a representative of your bank or credit union to be sure your savings, stocks, bonds and other investments are earning the most money possible within safety and liquidity considerations.
- Use direct deposit services available at your bank or credit union. Direct deposit of pension checks, Social Security and other regular payments is a safe, convenient way to receive funds.
- Shop carefully. Think twice before you buy and look for sales. To help avoid impulse shopping with a list and stick to it. If you are planning a vacation, take advantage of advance discounts.
- Use a budget to analyze and control spending. Review your monthly living expenses, including costs for utilities, food, transportation and personal expenses. Review your budget and look for ways to reduce expenses.
- Maintain a good credit rating. Before you apply for credit, be sure your budget can handle the monthly payments.

Christmas gift ideas for gardening folk

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

It's time again to wonder what to give as Christmas gifts. The choice is wide, ranging from plants to tools, as usual. There are gift certificates for ornamental shrubs and trees and fruit trees delivered in the spring if the ground is already where the recipient resides.

Take a look at the seed catalogs, and many suggestions. How about seeds? Are you a garden? Indoor plant lights and automatic watering, composting bin, a seed starter kit?

Garden aprons are available with lots of pockets, holding small hand tools and seed packets. They are hanging ivy baskets, with or without a planter for the house, and miniature roses.

Brass wind bells, or others made of tinkling glass, wood or stones will be pretty and tinkle near the garden. A delicate fern, like the one in the indoors and grows slowly in the shade. They are planted outdoors in the south is decorative. There are prepackaged Dutch amaryllis bulbs in different colors to watch unfold during the holiday season.

For the more precise gardener there are soil analyzers; plant computers that are read by light meters; hygrometers to measure humidity, and pH computers, indoor/outdoor thermometers, rain gauges and wind speed indicators.

How about a patio garden bell, and feeder for even squirrel proof — or a garden stool. A wooden frame would be welcomed by the avid gardener. If hoses, there are sprayers and soakers. Garden markers are nice, so are plant and new-potting mixers (for mulch) or a portable hothouse.

Less spectacular but more useful are tree trimmers, clippers, hoes, spade forks, rakes and bush cutters that scoop out holes. Why not knee cushions, especially for the older gardener? Also useful are a garden wheelbarrow; a self-attaching window shelf that holds plant pots; garden gloves; watering cans; self-connected root feeders for your trees and shrubs.

As for books, among some recent good garden books are: "Country Journal Book of Vegetable Gardening" by Nancy Bubel Norton, which ranges from planning a garden to harvest and storage.

"Field Guide to North American Edible Wild Plants," by Cary Arboretum's Thomas S. Elias and Peter A. Dykeman (Outdoor Life Book Club #227, Nostre and Reinhold). Season-by-season coverage of 200 common wild plants in nature's best store.

And there is the delightful "In and Out of the Garden" desk diary by Sara Middel. Workbooks are available in many book and stationery stores. Workman also offers a handsome rose calendar with photographs by Murray Alcosser.

Children enjoy parents reading aloud to them

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — Young children who beg their parents to read stories aloud are attracted more by the cadence of the voice than by the story line, a professor at Hobart and William Smith Colleges says.

"Kids come into tune with the music of the language well before they comprehend the plot," according to Charles Temple.

Although children don't grasp the plot until the age of 2 or 3, the simple act of reading aloud can create a "fantastic association" that can start a lifelong love of books, Temple says.

Practical, stylish clothes available for disabled

by MARI NODA
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) - For the physically disabled, buttoning up a shirt or putting on a sweatshirt, effortless movements for others, can be a source of frustration and embarrassment. That's why a woman who suffered a paralyzing stroke four years ago has persuaded 11 Japanese manufacturers to come out with a new line of comfortable, practical and fashionable clothes for the disabled.

Yukiko Kinoshita, 36, semiparalyzed by the stroke, said her condition had since improved through rehabilitation, but she still has to ask her family members to help her dress.

"Able people can't imagine how difficult it is to change clothes or wash your face when you have no control over parts of your body," Mrs. Kinoshita said in an interview.

"All the physically disabled people I met at the hospital had the same problem, and that's how I thought of this project," she said.

In December 1982, she talked to government officials and approached several apparel makers with her ideas on making clothes for the physically disabled.

Eleven firms, including several major makers, agreed to design and manufacture such clothes, with each concentrating on one type of wear, such as business shirts, casual wear, training wear, raincoats, pajamas or underwear.

Ten months later, a full line was completed for trial marketing and was shown to the public in a Tokyo department store.

Most look like ordinary fashionable garments, but with modifications suited to the needs of the disabled.

A business shirt had a zipper instead of buttons, and its cuff buttons were stitched on with elastic thread for easy maneuvering.

A rain suit, made of fully waterproof, cotton-lined light nylon, had a covered opening across its back for ventilation, a problem for people in wheelchairs. A clear plastic extension of the hood and covers for the feet provided more secure protection against rain.

A pair of kit pants, made of absorbent cotton, had no seams on its back or sides, making them more comfortable for those who have to spend hours every day in a wheelchair.

Most of the tops had large armholes for easy movement. Velcro adhesive fastening tapes were used liberally for closures. Pants and underwear had added seam openings.

Small loops stitched onto the waist of jackets and pants could be used to hold down the end with little effort when zipping.

Masayoshi Onobu, 27, who has been in a wheelchair since early childhood, said he liked the pocket just below the pants knee. "I can't hold things in my hands very well, and I've often lost train tickets trying to take them out of a regular pocket," he said.

The garments will be sold starting next spring at Seibu Department Store under a single brand name, "Jiritsu Establish," Mrs. Kinoshita said. Jiritsu means self-dependence in Japanese.

The trading firm Mitsui & Co. said it would export the line as soon as trial marketing in Japan was completed and the products met foreign regulations.

Retail prices will be about 30 percent higher than normal because of the complicated sewing processes, one of the makers said.

"Mrs. Kinoshita's ideas introduce fashion, the concept which has commonly been regarded a privilege for the disabled," said Eitaro Yashiro, a member of the Japanese Diet (parliament) who is confined to a wheelchair.

He said he was glad to see large makers cooperate with Mrs. Kinoshita in incorporating ideas, which "only disabled people could come up with from their own experiences."

Some 2 million physically disabled people in Japan will benefit from the ideas, Mrs. Kinoshita said, adding there is no reason they can't enrich the wardrobes of all Japanese.

You are invited to hear this important message to be presented at Hillcrest Baptist Church, 2000 FM 700.
Morning Worship Services 8:30 & 11:00 A.M.

DR. PHILLIP W. McCLENDON
Peter describes the destruction of the earth as he writes, "looking for and hastening the coming day of God, on account of which the heavens will be destroyed by burning, and the elements will melt with intense heat" (V. 12). The verb "to melt" is from the Greek "teko" which means "to render liquid." In liquid form creation as we know it will be no more.

Prior to Hiroshima, men of science laughed at the thought of the heavens and earth being destroyed. But no more! The temperature of the sun is 36,000,000° F. while the interior temperature of an H-Bomb is 90,000,000° F.

Button batteries a hazard to children

Progress is not without its hazards — especially to small children. The so-called "button" batteries, which power everything from wrist watches to hand calculators and toys, are being swallowed accidentally by an increasing number of small children, says Dr. Mary Ann Shirer.

Shirer is a health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System.

"Each year, between 500 and 800 button batteries are swallowed because of improper handling. In the case of toddlers, sheer fascination with something so small makes it a candidate for a taste test," she adds.

Many batteries make it non-stop though the body's digestive system and little harm results. But those which aren't passed and remain in the body are a threat to health and even life, Shirer says.

Leakage of alkaline electrolytes from a battery can cause chemical burns an internal bleeding. Young children can become very ill and some deaths have been recorded.

Shirer recommends treating button batteries like old medicine when it comes to disposal. Wrap and discard them where they are not likely to be found by little hands.

On Turning Heads

by Gary Don

Do not let advertising fool you into thinking that night creams and moisturizers will actually keep your skin from aging. These preparations do not turn back the clock. Aging of one's skin is inevitable. The tone, texture and natural coloration of your skin, however, depends on heredity, climate and exposure to the sun. What moisturizers do well is to make the skin look better by coating its surface and sealing in the skin's own moisture. To encourage the skin's water retention, it is best to apply a moisturizer just after a shower when the skin is damp.

Hair that is silky, shiny and manageable can be yours with the proper shampoo and conditioner. The fast paced and hectic schedule that most of us keep does not allow us the time each day for lengthy stays in front of the mirror fixing and fussing with our hair. Carefree, easy care styles are a must. LA CONTESSA is here to meet your demands. All facets of beautiful hair are serviced by this salon. You will find us located at 1508 Marcy. We are open Tues.-Sat. Tel. 267-2187.

Skin's reaction to cashews similar to poison ivy rash

If poison ivy makes a person itch, eating cashew might do the same. In Pennsylvania, about 25 percent of the people ate who cashews bought from a Little League organization developed a poison ivy-like rash. An investigation by the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta found that the victims developed the skin condition one to eight days after consuming the cashews; it persisted from five to 21 days.

The outbreak is due to the fact that the cashew tree is part of the same plant family as poison ivy, poison oak, and poison sumac. CDC investigators note that people sensitive to these plants may be equally sensitive to cashews or cashew nut oil.

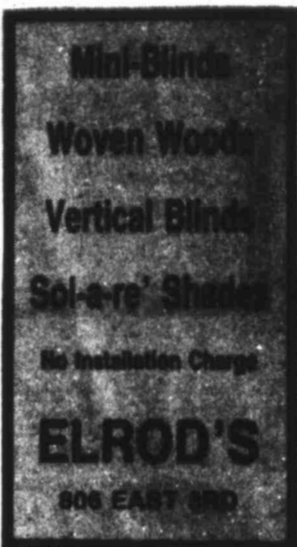

Tip aids in removing adhesive

Don't scrape and scrub to remove gummy residue from tape, stickers and holiday decorations on windows. Saturate a cotton ball with nailpolish remover and the sticky adhesive comes off like magic.

Retiring not hazardous to health

It is a common fear that retiring is stressful and harmful to one's health. Anecdotes abound about illnesses and deaths caused by retirement. According to Veterans Administration study on aging, no significant differences in the state-of-health of the retired group and of people of the same age who continued to work. Retiring under stressful conditions — such as forced retirement or falling back to a reduced standard of living doesn't seem hazardous to retirees' health.
