Tops on TV: Wonderful life

The all-time best movie ever made, according to its stars and director and most film critics, will show at 8 p.m. on channel 5 when James Stewart and Donna Reed star in the Christmas classic, "It's a Wonderful Life." Another acclaimed film, "Summer and Smoke," starring Lawrence Harvey and Geraldine Page, is on channel 8 at 11:40 p.m.

Outside: Warm

The weather forecast for today calls for slightly cooler temperatures with highs in the mid to upper 60s. Lows tonight will dip into the mid 30s. The humidity is expected to rise, but no rain is in the forecast. More unseasonably warm weather is expected for the first days of the week.

WTU to give refunds

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN — West Texas Utilities Co. customers will be seeing some refunds if the Public Utility Commission accepts a revised recommendation released Friday.

Commission hearings examiner Jesus Sifuentes recommended that the Abilene-based utility receive a $14 million increase in annual revenues rather than the $26.6 million requested by the company.

A week ago Sifuentes released a recommendation that the increase should be $19.9 million, but that was before several errors were discovered in commission staff calculations.

The corrected recommendation now goes before the three-member commission sometime Monday for a final decision. The commission can accept or alter any portion of the examiner's report.

West Texas Utilities Vice President Holman King said he preferred not to comment extensively on the recommendation because customers already are confused by all the changes and revisions.

He said the revised recommendation "is substantially less than what we asked for but we don't know what the commission is going to do Monday."

If accepted, however, King said refunds will be made. "We anticipated when we entered the temporary rates that we would probably be making refunds," he added.

Police 'out in force' this week

In cooperation with National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week this week, the Big Spring Police Department announced it will "be out in force" during the holidays and is asking the citizens of Big Spring to help out by reporting drunk and drugged drivers.

"I'll never get picked up" is a common feeling individuals have when they get behind the wheel after having drunk to excess," said Police Chief Rick Turner.

According to Department of Transportation statistics, they may be right. For every drunk driver arrested, as many as 2,000 others go undetected.

Those who drink then drive, however, are running much greater risks than this particular set of statistics reveals.

Other statistics reveal the following:

- One American life is lost every 20 minutes in alcohol-related auto crashes.
- Over 65 percent of all fatal single car crashes are alcohol-related.
- Over 50 percent of all fatal highway crashes involving two or more cars are alcohol-related.
- One out of every two Americans will be involved in an alcohol-related accident in his or her lifetime.

Police statistics released Thursday show that in the City of Big Spring, 429 arrests for driving while intoxicated were made in 1982.

Through November of 1983, the department has already tallied 366 such arrests, though the holiday season has hardly begun.

In addition to the extra patrolmen put on the street by city police, a spokeswoman for the Texas Department of Public Safety said Saturday a special holiday schedule will be in force for highway patrolmen.

'Tis the season

Parade tops holiday fare

By RICK BROWN Staff Writer

No one rained on the Big Spring Holiday Festival Parade yesterday as crisp, beautiful weather set the scene for the beauty queens, city officials, bands, floats and mounted, marching and motorized units that moved joyfully along spectator-lined streets from downtown to the Highland Mall.

A highlight of the parade was the appearance of Miss Texas USA, Traci Dawn Estes of Burleson, who said "from the looks of this parade, it's obvious that Big Spring does things in a big way."

"I really enjoy seeing all these people," said another out-of-town participant in the parade, Sharon Gray of Haskell. Miss Gray rode her horse, Bingo, as a member of the Six White Horses of Hardon-Simmons University, which carried the Six Flags of Texas in the parade.

Entries particularly well-liked by those watching were a flock of pastel-dressed angels with tinsel halos from Immaculate Heart of Mary Grade School, a 1951 blue Pontiac Catalina complete with windshield visor entered by the Sweet Shoppe in Highland Mall, and the Suez Shrine Temple Motor Patrol, which did tricks on motorcycles and in mini-sized fire trucks and hot rods.

Asked what he liked best about riding on a parade float, Doc Voorhies said, "I liked the children. They were very much into the Christmas spirit." Voorhies rode on a float covered with over-sized Christmas presents submitted by the NAACP.

The 195-member Big Spring High School Band marched in the parade, treating those lining the streets to "Rocky" theme-song "Eye of the Tiger" and the "Big Spring High School Fight Song." Band member and saxophone player Larry Garcia, 17, said after marching the mile-long parade route, "It's really great to perform for people, but my feet are killing me."

Tornadoes rip through E. Texas

By The Associated Press
Tornadoes slashed through East Texas Saturday afternoon, injuring a couple near Lufkin, causing extensive property damage at Nacogdoches and overturning barns and damaging houses near Marshall, officials said.

Jimmy Clevenger, 49, suffered a severe cut on his neck when a storm struck his mobile home about 18 miles east of Lufkin, said Julia Carswell, a nursing supervisor at Memorial Hospital. Ms. Carswell said Clevenger was in critical condition, but said, "The doctors have given the family an optimistic report."

His 36-year-old wife, Patricia, was treated for minor cuts and released, Ms. Carswell said. Ms. Carswell said the couple was outside the mobile home and Clevenger was struck by "a piece of flying debris."

A spokeswoman at the Angelina County sheriff's office said there were "several overturned mobile homes" on the west shore of Sam Rayburn Reservoir, where the couple lives.

A tornado tore through Hallsville, west of Marshall in Northeast Texas, about 3:30 p.m., causing extensive damage to three houses, the Bear Creek Smokehouse and several barns, officials said.

"It touched down for an extended period and left a half-mile wide path," said Frank Craig, chief of the Hallsville Volunteer Fire Department.

A tornado knocked over mobile homes southwest of Nacogdoches, then skipped across town to the northeast, causing extensive damage to many homes and businesses.

Eva Woods, who lives two miles west of Nacogdoches in far East Texas, said she opened her door just as a chinaberry tree fell across her car.

"You just don't know what a helpless feeling that is," she said. "The top of it's dented pretty good. It's just squatted down like an elephant sat on it."

She said three trees were blown down within 10 feet of her house.

Power was out at Stephen F. Austin University for about half an hour, but the university was spared

BILL SCHAFFNER...credit manager

Hertz used car sale cancelled

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

The manager of a Big Spring credit union said credit unions here were not sponsoring a controversial used car sale by the Hertz Corp. which was cancelled Saturday.

Bill Schaffner of the Big Spring Federal Credit Union said he offered only to finance purchases of the cars by his members. He said he did not know when the cars would be brought to Big Spring.

"I don't know right now," said Bill Schaffner of the Big Spring Federal Credit Union. "This is strictly a Hertz sale."

The Herald attempted to contact Jim Robuck of the Hertz Corp. in Dallas to see if the sale had been rescheduled, but he could not be reached for comment.

DeeDee Row, a Hertz employee in Odessa, would only confirm that Saturday's sale had been cancelled "because we couldn't find a place to have it."

Several used car dealers in the city were upset when they heard about the car sale and contacted Schaffner and the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce to complain about allowing Hertz to come to Big Spring to offer 75 used cars for sale.

Schaffner said "We are not the sponsor of this sale. We are not endorsing it. We told Hertz we would finance the cars if our members were interested. Hertz contacted us to see if we would finance the cars. We can't sponsor or endorse this."

Schaffner said he was upset by reports claiming he called Hertz and invited them to come to Big Spring.

Schaffner said he told LeRoy Tillery of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce that "I didn't appreciate" the credit union being blamed for the sale.

"We don't care where our members buy their cars," he said.

County asked to hike Driver Rd. speed limit

Howard County Commissioners will meet at 9 a.m. Monday to discuss increasing the speed limit on Driver Road from 40 miles an hour to 55 miles an hour.

H.F. Scharzenbach, who lives near Driver Road, will appear before the commissioners to make the request. Scharzenbach wants the increase because few people live near there or travel on the road, an employee of the county judge's office said.

County Attorney Bob Miller will ask commissioners to consider approving an agreement with the Texas Department of Human Resources that would provide the county with money for prosecutions of food stamp fraud-related cases.

The county would receive, depending on the availability of state and federal funds, $250 for every uncontested plea and $650 for every tried conviction in a fraud-related case filed by a department investigator. The money would go into the general fund.

The county auditor at 10 a.m. will present the bids received for the county janitorial service. Bids were received from Nu-Wa Janitorial Service and Carpet Cleaning at 1110 N. Aylford; Albert Ramirez, Ring Enterprises, Gilbert Franco, the custodian for the R-70 Theater; and Charles Cain.

POST TIME — Like boxers in a ring, C-City actors Carl Beery Moore and Sharon Nelms move to opposite corners during a martial bout in the C-City Playhouse production of "The Fourposter."

'Fourposter' big C-City success

By JOY CULWELL
Special Correspondent

COLORADO CITY — "The Fourposter," a comedy in three acts by Jan de Hartog and directed by Porter Richardson, opened for a six-day run Thursday evening at the Colorado City playhouse. The play is the 61st major production the playhouse has produced and can hold its own in a long run of successes.

The audience seemed to love "The Fourposter" because it is so true to life, especially as life was in the 1890's when the first act is opened. Thirty five years go by in the three acts, and everybody in the audience was entertained.

Carl Beery Moore, a playhouse veteran, was the unsure groom in the first scene and the overconfident writer portrayed later, and he played both to perfection.

Sharon Nelms was cast as his wife. Although she had never before had a major role in a play, she acted like a professional. She had been cast many times in musicals, but this was her first strictly dramatic role. The audience loved her from the first scene and really cheered when she stood up to her demanding husband in the second act.

Moore has been busy not only in "The Fourposter" production but has been involved in directing "I know I Saw Gypsies," a play about the problems of high school students that will be presented Dec. 12-13 at Colorado High School as a benefit for Manuel Molina, a young cancer victim. Moore is a speech and drama teacher at Colorado High School and Middle School.

Mrs. Nelms, 23, is the wife of Steve Nelms, Colorado City choir teacher for High School and Middle School. She is usually busy with cooking, fiddling with music, Bible reading and attending First Baptist Church activities.

Tickets for the production are $4 each and can be obtained by calling the Colorado City Playhouse between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. The dates for the production are Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at 8 p.m. each evening.

Twisters

The tornado tore off the front of a television store and collapsed the corner of a department store on the east side of town.

The wall of a restaurant was tossed into the street, blocking traffic for about an hour.

Detective Sgt. Neil Phillip, responding to a police call for all officers, said that as he tried to drive into town from the north, the sound of the twister was so loud, he could not make radio contact with police headquarters.

City officials set up a command center at the central fire station.

Nacogdoches sheriff's deputy John Ragland said despite the extensive property damage, no injuries were reported.

Dave Kava, a specialist with the National Weather Service, said a funnel cloud was sighted west of Port Arthur about 2:15 p.m. but did not touch down.

"We did have golf ball size hail reported just south of the Jefferson County Airport," he said.

Parade

Another band taking part in the parade was the Hardin-Simmons Cowboy Band from Hardin-Simmons University. The band marched in chaps and cowboy hats and walked with a special cowboy step that was popular among parade-watchers.

Bands from Rannels and Goliad Middle Schools moved in the parade atop 18-wheel, flat-bed trucks and played such Christmas tunes as "Silver Bells," "Joy to the World" and "Jingle Bells."

To the children's delight, Santa Claus brought up the rear of the parade in a green and red horse-drawn carriage.

The red-dressed Mr. Claus greeted children at the Highland Mall and talked with a Herald reporter before flying off in his helicopter to other area shopping centers.

"I want to remind all of the children to be real good, say their prayers and help Mama and Daddy around the house," said Claus.

The rotund white-beard said he would see if he could find some special things for the children of Big Spring this year.

"And I want to wish everyone a merry, merry Christmas," Claus added.

Black Demos endorse Mondale

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The Alabama black Democratic caucus reached a compromise Saturday and endorsed Walter Mondale for president and the Rev. Jesse Jackson for vice president, despite bitter opposition from some Jackson supporters.

The compromise was recommended on a 43-10 vote by the executive committee of the Alabama Democratic Conference. The full delegate assembly endorsed the Mondale-Jackson slate, 112-35.

The conference, the 200,000-member black wing of the state Democratic Party, was torn between its leaders' political ties to Mondale and a rising personal fervor for Jackson.

Jackson's Southern campaign director, Lamond Godwin of Atlanta, said the decision to give Mondale the top spot was "a highly orchestrated attempt on the part of the Mondale people to steamroll this group."

But he said he considered the recognition given Jackson by the conference "a victory."

George Dalley, deputy campaign manager for Mondale, said the former vice president was pleased with the endorsement, an early indication of how the Mondale and Jackson campaigns may fare among blacks in the Deep South. ADC officials compared the endorsement to "an Iowa caucus for blacks" — a first signal on how Southern blacks may vote.

Hot check warning issued to merchants

Local merchants should be careful when accepting checks before Christmas because persons traditionally write more bad checks during the holiday season, hot check department clerk Melba Soles said.

Mrs. Soles said she expected the office to receive more returned checks after Christmas this year partly because "the merchants are telling us the theft is worse this year."

Merchants should avoid accepting counter, or non-printed, checks, out-of-town checks and payroll checks, especially out-of-town payroll checks, Mrs. Soles said.

The office has been receiving a lot of returned checks from Midland and Odessa, Mrs. Soles said.

Mrs. Soles also said merchants should ask to see a driver's license even if the license number is printed on the check to verify the license number.

Deaths

Archie Segrest

Services for Archie Lee Segrest Sr., 55, who died Friday, will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Bob Roby, pastor of the Westside Baptist Church in Abilene, officiating. He will be assisted by the Rev. Eldon Cook, interim pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sands Springs. Burial will be at Coahoma Cemetery with Masonic rites by Coahome Lodge No. 992.

He was born Nov. 17, 1928 in Polk County, Texas. He had been a resident of Big Spring for 30 years. He married Helen Cassidy on March 17, 1954 in Big Spring. He worked as a painter and painting contractor most of his life. He was a former owner of Crown Decorating Center and was currently a representative for Davis Paint Co. of Kansas City, Mo.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Sand Springs, a member and past master of the Coahoma Masonic Lodge and the Coahoma Chapter No. 499 of the Order of the Eastern Star, a member of the Scottish Rite of Lubbock, the Suez Shrine Temple and the Big Spring Shrine Club.

Survivors include his wife; his mother, Linnie Segrest of Livingston, Texas; two sisters, Virginia Wilhelm of Houston and Evie Lois Word of Coahoma; one brother Milton Allen Segrest of Livingston.

He was preceded in death by one son, Archie Lee Segrest Jr. on July 19, 1971.

Pallbearers will be Arvin Henry, Lewis Hargrove, Kay Bartlett, Verlin Knous, Doc Tindol and John Wolf.

The family suggests any memorials be made to the building fund of the First Baptist Church of Sand Springs.

Jerry Broseh

Jerry H. Broseh, 65, of Odessa, died at 1 a.m. Friday at the Veteran's Administration Medical Center after a long illness. Services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Harrell Memorial Chapel in Dublin, Texas with John W. Broseh and Jesse T. Broseh, Church of Christ ministers, officiating.

Burial will be in the Upper Greens Creek Cemetery in Erath County. He was born Feb. 17, 1918 in Erath County. He had lived in Odessa since 1951 and had worked for the public schools there, retiring in 1980. He was a member of the Church of Christ and a veteran of World War II, serving as a member of the Army in the Pacific Theater.

He is survived by his wife, Estelle of Odessa; Jerry H. Broseh of Austin; one daughter, Shirley Bost of Weatherford; four brothers, Jesse Broseh of Big Spring, James Broseh of Electra, John Broseh of Thackerville, Okla., and Joel Broseh of Waco; four sisters, Ida Mary Corley and Minnie Heflers, both of Arlington, Donnie Kellum of Timpan, Texas, and Lou Etta McLain of Lufkin; and four grandchildren.

Freeze hits Plains states

Bitterly cold arctic air hovered over the northern Plains and upper Mississippi valley today, pushing temperatures down to the single digits or below zero.

Travelers' advisories were posted because of snow and gusty winds over northern Montana, the central High Plains, where up to half a foot of snow was expected, and the northern, central and western Rockies. Snow fell by early morning in the northern Sierra Nevada in California, the Lake Tahoe basin of Nevada, northern Idaho and northeastern Washington.

Showers and thunderstorms developed across eastern Texas, the lower Mississippi Valley and southern Florida.

A few snow showers were over the western Great Lakes region, while light rain and drizzle extended from the lower Great Lakes to the mid-Atlantic coast. The National Weather Service issued a travelers' advisory for parts of central Pennsylvania because of freezing drizzle and light snow.

Elsewhere, the weather service said flurries and rain would give way to midday drizzle over most of New York and New England.

Highs were expected to stay throughout the day at around 10 in northern Minnesota; in the teens and 20s in eastern Montana, the Dakotas and the northern Great Lakes; in the 30s or 40s across New England, the Middle Atlantic states and the Ohio Valley and from the central Rockies to the Pacific Northwest. Temperatures were mainly in the 50s from northern California to the southern Rockies, in the 60s across much of the Southwest and Southeast and in the 70s in Florida, with a few 80s in southern Texas.

Temperatures around the nation at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 12 below zero at International Falls, Minn., to 75 at Brownsville, Texas.

Some other reports:

— East: Atlanta 44 fair; Boston 38 cloudy; Buffalo 35 drizzle; Charleston, S.C. 43 fair; Cincinnati 36 cloudy; Cleveland 34 foggy; Detroit 30 hazy; Miami 68 fair; New York 47 cloudy; Philadelphia 40 showers; Washington 43 cloudy.

West Texas: Sunny today, a little colder most sections. Fair and cold tonight. Highs today mostly 50s except mid 40s panhandle and mid 70s big bend valleys. Lows tonight mid 20s north to upper 30s extreme south.

Shannon returns home

COOPERSVILLE — Singer Del Shannon was welcomed enthusiastically when he returned to his Michigan home town, where a principal once called him a student with "high nuisance value."

For the first time in 22 years, Shannon, whose 1961 hit "Runaway" catapulted him into rock 'n' roll music fame, returned to his hometown, serving as grand marshal in a Christmas parade Thursday and giving a concert in his old high school gym.

"I've had a lot of concerts, but this one's a killer," he told the 1,500 people in the concert crowd. "I'm just glad to be here."

Life was not always rosy for Shannon — whose real name is Charles Westover — in Coopersville, about 15 miles northwest of Grand Rapids.

Once a principal said he had a "high nuisance value." And beside his picture in his yearbook is written, "Mischievous and I are pals."

Shannon recalled that he once dated a girl from Allendale who "went to a dance one night with another guy."

"I chased them with my car," he said. "I wanted to beat that guy up because I'd given her teddy bears and stuff."

Years later, that incident became the basis for Shannon's hit tune "Little Town Flirt."

Blood pressure slows Rep.

WINCHESTER — Rep. J. Kenneth Robinson of Virginia says he has decided to retire because high blood pressure is sapping his "ability to speak, write or exercise any initiative."

"I'm relying too much on my staff and realize it's time to step down," he told a meeting of local Republicans Friday night.

"The daily frustrations and problems used to dissipate after a good night's sleep. Now they don't, and you find you don't even get a good night's sleep anymore," said Robinson, 67.

Robinson, a member of Congress for 13 years, said he will serve out his term, which expires Jan. 20, 1985.

He said he was announcing his retirement now to give prospective Republican candidates for his seat "time to get their act together and hold this seat."

"Nothing, nothing would cause me more anguish than to see this seat go to a Democrat," he said.

Oldest ain't the bestest

FRESNO — California's oldest optometrist says if you picked someone as likely to live long, it wouldn't have been him.

Dr. Niles Johnson Palmer says he has had ulcers, heart problems, a ruptured appendix, rheumatism, kidney problems and nosebleeds. But he keeps going — cooking all his meals and walking on his errands.

But Palmer celebrates his 100th birthday Sunday at a party with more than 100 relatives.

He has received congratulatory letters from President Reagan and the California Optometric Association, which lists him as its oldest member.

Defect doesn't bother girl

PORTERVILLE — A 5-year-old Ohio girl who was born without a hip joint, thighbones and knees laughs at people who stare at her rare birth defect.

Estella Quinones of Porterville is preparing to go to school next year and is beginning to encounter people unfamiliar with her condition.

"One day people were staring at her, and I said to Estella, 'They're staring at you. They must wonder what's wrong with you. But we won't tell them, will we?'" said her mother, Paula. "She started laughing so I started laughing with her, and they turned away and quit staring."

Estella is bright but shy, has a normal-sized body and can walk and sit, but her shortened legs cannot bend.

"I don't mind when people ask what's wrong," Mrs. Quinones said. "I'm happy to explain. But when they just stare and don't say anything, it really gets to me because Estella's very sensitive."

"She knows she doesn't have any knees. She knows what's wrong with her. I told her, and she understands," she said. "I talked to Stella about it a few weeks ago when they were staring and we laughed. I felt OK then."

Klansman guilty in murder of black

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A predominantly white jury convicted a 29-year-old Ku Klux Klan member on Saturday of capital murder in the 1981 slaying of a black teenager.

The jury of 11 whites and one black deliberated about 3½ hours before returning the verdict against Henry Francis Hays in the slaying of Michael Donald.

Walesa hears Nobel award

GDANSK — Despite communist radio jamming, Lech Walesa heard a broadcast of his wife accepting his Nobel Peace Prize in Norway Saturday and said the award honored the "unnamed heroes" of the Solidarity struggle.

He later told a crowd of 4,000 cheering supporters who attended a Mass in honor of Poland's Nobel laureates that the free trade union movement would eventually triumph.

"I ask you for further prayers to speed up our assured victory," the founder of the outlawed Solidarity labor federation told the crowd at St. Brygida's Roman Catholic church.

British Broadcasting Corp. signals were blocked, but Voice of America and Radio Free Europe overcame the jamming, and Walesa listened to a VOA broadcast in the study of his friend and confessor, the Rev. Henryk Jankowski.

Watched by a crowd of 50 reporters, Walesa occasionally brushed tears from his eyes as his wife, Danuta, 34, read his Nobel address.

He grinned broadly when the name of their eldest son, 13-year-old Bogdan, was read on the air. The boy accompanied his mother to Oslo and stood at her side during the award ceremony.

"We should use peaceful means to solve our problems," Walesa told reporters, echoing the speech read by his wife.

Israel boats shell PLO base

BEIRUT — The nation's latest cease-fire appeared to be holding Saturday following minor skirmishing that left two civilians wounded. The PLO claimed new Israeli gunboat attacks on its positions in Tripoli, but the Israeli command denied it.

In southern Lebanon, an Israeli soldier was killed by a roadside bomb near the port city of Sidon, the Israeli military command in Tel Aviv announced.

It said the 19-year-old soldier was killed when his patrol passed by the ambush site on the southern approach to Sidon. The patrols' members opened fire and then searched the area, the command said. It did not report any detentions.

The guns fell silent in most areas of Lebanon after a Syrian-sponsored truce took effect Friday evening. Lebanon's army and Druse militiamen traded artillery fire briefly Saturday in Souk el-Gharb and Kabr Chmoun southeast of the U.S. Marine base at Beirut airport.

Beirut radio reported that two civilians were wounded by sniper fire in the Beirut suburbs where Shiite Moslem militiamen face army troops and the right-wing Christian Phalangist militia.

In the northern port city of Tripoli, meanwhile, the Palestine Liberation Organization claimed that its positions came under fire from Israeli gunboats for the second time in two days.

Reputed mob leader escapes ambush

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The son of a slain mob leader narrowly escaped death Saturday when he was ambushed by members of a rival faction, only four days after a relative of another reputed underworld boss was slain in his mother's back yard, authorities said.

No injuries were reported in Saturday's incident.

Salvatore Testa, the 26-year-old son of Philip "Chicken Man" Testa, and three bodyguards were driving in a warehouse-residential area of south Philadelphia when their car was blocked by a second auto car carrying four men, police Sgt. Joseph Strausser said.

Gunshots erupted, but officers had not determined whether the two factions

Argentine president hailed

BUENOS AIRES — Vowing to "establish democracy once and for all in Argentina," Raul Alfonsin was inaugurated as president Saturday in festive ceremonies that ended nearly eight years of military dictatorship.

"There are many problems that cannot be solved immediately," Alfonsin said in his inaugural address, "but public immorality ends today. We are going to govern with decency."

Alfonsin, the 56-year-old leader of the Radical Civic Union, swore before a joint session of Congress "to respect the national constitution and ensure that it is respected" in this South American nation of 28 million people.

Ten heads of government and dozens of high-level delegations from around the world, including an American representation headed by Vice President George Bush, attended the emotional ceremonies in the copper-domed Congress building. The building was shuttered in March 1976 when the military ousted and imprisoned former President Isabel Peron.

Mrs. Peron, 52, widow of three-time president Gen. Juan Peron, returned from two years self-exile in Spain for the inauguration — at Alfonsin's invitation. Mrs. Peron succeeded her husband in office upon his death in 1974.

She joined former President Arturo Frondizi, the other living Argentine leader, in raising the blue and white national flag in the Congress chamber before Alfonsin took the oath.

NOW endorses Mondale

WASHINGTON — Walter Mondale added the National Organization for Women and a key group of Southern blacks to his lengthening list of supporters Saturday as his frontrunner's bid for the 1984 Democratic presidential nomination picked up new momentum.

First, the NOW board of directors voted overwhelmingly to issue the former vice president the first presidential endorsement ever made by the country's largest feminist group.

"The endorsement of NOW will send a message to the majority of the women of this nation that Walter Mondale is the candidate who will be best for women and who can defeat Ronald Reagan," said NOW president Judy Goldsmith at a news conference announcing the decision. "We are determined to help Mondale mobilize the gender gap."

Later Saturday, Mondale got the best part of a compromise and won the endorsement for the nation's top job from the Alabama Democratic Conference, the first major statewide black group in the South to jump into the presidential sweepstakes.

men escaped. Police at first said one of the fleeing gunmen may have been shot in the leg, but later discounted that.

Saturday's ambush and the slaying of Robert Riccobene Tuesday night indicated a possible resurgence of mob warfare that had left the younger Testa hospitalized for five weeks last year and claimed his father's life a year earlier.

One year later, Philip Testa was killed when a remote-control nail bomb exploded on the front porch of his house.

The sobering stats from drunk driving

Make no mistake, the killers of the road are speed and drugs, primarily alcohol. As holiday season approaches, it serves us all to be aware that the statistics are inarguable.

Take, for example, the most recent report from the Department of Public Safety summarizing accidents on Texas highways. In September, a month which includes a major weekend holiday, 4,300 persons were injured in 7,236 wrecks. Of those, 169 were killed. And of those fatalities, driving under the influence was a factor in 49; speed was cited in 36.

From the accident statistics, a profile of safety emerges. Far fewer accidents occur on interstate highways than on U.S., state or farm-to-market roads. Friday is the most dangerous day; Wednesday the safest. Younger drivers have more accidents — the 25 to 34 age group has the most, followed by the 20 to 24 group.

Defective tires was the most commonly reported vehicle defect. Somewhat surprisingly, daylight hours are much more hazardous than nighttime, perhaps due to volume of daytime traffic.

Road surfaces were usually dry; skies were usually clear. Drivers were often wet; heads unclear. Speeding over the limit or driving too slow were the most common violations; failure to yield right of way a grim second (which ties into the most common two vehicle accident — the head on collision).

The third most common cause of accidents was driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs. It was the No. 1 cause of fatal accidents for the month. It no doubt will be this month, too.

It's a sobering statistic.

Drunk rights

If there is a better way to start an argument than defending the rights of drunk drivers, I have yet to discover it. You can take either side of any number of emotional issues — abortion, the arms race, drug abuse — without evoking half so angry a response. Drunk drivers have acquired the status that Communists had in the 1950's: they are presumed to have no rights, and anyone who questions this presumption is regarded as soft-headed at best and positively malevolent at worst.

Why this should be so isn't hard to understand. Drunk drivers are a national scourge, killing thousands of innocent people every year and injuring even more. But that is no grounds for abandoning our best traditions of justice in the rush to lock them all away — any more than the conviction of Alger Hiss excused Joseph McCarthy.

Does that imply defending drunk drivers? Not at all: I'm all for giving them a taste behind bars — something judges and juries have been scandalously reluctant to do, even when the law allows it. But there is reason to defend the rights of drunk drivers, and the rights of other people erroneously suspected of driving while drunk.

These days, the most popular abridgement of rights comes in the form of those police roadblocks, which allow police to inspect drivers for signs of intoxication and the insides of their cars for liquor bottles. By any reasonable interpretation, that violates the constitutional guarantee against being stopped or searched without grounds for suspicion. But the roadblocks are popular nonetheless, and they have already cleared the way for new infringements on the liberties of drivers.

The latest dubious scheme was proposed by Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar, who owes his present office mainly to his skill in exploiting this issue. Edgar has announced he will revoke the license not just of anyone convicted of drunk driving, but of anyone merely arrested for causing a death or serious injury while driving drunk.

This came after a man charged with drunk driving in February in an accident that killed three people was arrested again after allegedly causing yet another fatal accident. If the national mood is any sign, this idea will probably spread quickly to other states.

Edgar's reasoning goes as follows:

"Those persons arrested for a serious offense, like drunk driving, should be taken off the street as soon as possible. They should not be allowed to drive for months and months, jeopardizing the lives of others during the time it takes to have the case come to court."

In this view, which blithely spurns centuries of Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence, the courts are not a forum for determining guilt or innocence, and thus of safeguarding both society and the accused. They are only a device for coddling criminals. Better to punish first, and let the courts convict (or acquit) later.

This measure manages the difficult feat of infringing people's rights unfairly without accomplishing anything in return. It discards the presumption of innocence, as if an accusation alone were proof of guilt. If it were, trials would be unnecessary — police could just mete out punishment upon arrest. But trials are needed, even for suspected drunk drivers, because the police are nearly as fallible as the Illinois secretary of state.

In any case, Edgar is naive to expect dangerous people to stop driving merely because their licenses have been revoked. Anyone who has been so reckless and lawless as to get drunk, climb behind the wheel of a car and then run someone down isn't likely to quail at the idea of driving without a valid license. If a driver will commit great crimes, he will certainly commit small ones.

The only people who can be expected to refrain from driving are the law-abiding suspects — the ones who were innocent to start with, and who are likely to be acquitted. Edgar's proposal will take the safe drivers off the streets without deterring the dangerous ones.

The only way to avoid this latter problem is to keep suspects in jail until they can be tried. Unfortunately, as even a public official can see, that would be flagrantly unconstitutional.

But it rests on the same premise as this proposal — that the formality of a trial should be no obstacle to the speedy punishment of suspected drunk drivers. That attitude offends American traditions, one of which is that even Communists and drunks have rights. Drunk drivers deserve to be tried and punished, not the other way around.

A page one story for all seasons

Why, you might wonder, is the newspaper making such a big deal in December about an election document decided in principle in July and sent for federal approval in August?

The answer is that the city of Big Spring did not make the document available for public inspection until Wednesday. And it did so only under questioning by a Herald reporter.

Final approval from the U.S. Department of Justice came Nov. 29. It was Dec. 7 when we got word — not from city hall, but from a concerned citizen — that the new election plan for Big Spring had been approved. And it was not until then that city officials gave us a chance to study the document and it became clear the mayor and two councilmen had written in additional lengths to their terms.

In July, the city council gave notice that council members and LULAC representatives would sit down in closed session to discuss settlement plans for the 1982 voting rights suit filed by LULAC. Richard Horn, city hall reporter at the time and now city hall reporter for the Abilene newspaper, filed an oral protest at the meeting. He contended it was an illegal closed meeting under the Texas Open Meetings Act. The provision for closed session to discuss "pending litigation" did not fit the particulars of this meeting.

It's one thing to hold a meeting between city council and the city's attorney to discuss battle plans for a lawsuit. It's quite another to sit at a general rap session with the very entity which filed the lawsuit in the first place and not subject those discussions to public scrutiny.

In August, when the city announced it had sent the plan to Judge Woodward, a press conference was called to brief the press and public on a plan that had already been decided. City officials told the people then what changes were in store: combination at-large and single member district representation, a change from two to three year terms, etc.

Yes, city officials at the time said the April 1984 elections would see two new places filled on the council — places which would bring the city to seven council members from five. The logical assumption was that the three council members whose terms were expiring would be up for re-election at that time, too. And still the city shielded the text of the agreement under the cloak of "pending litigation."

The press and public was never privy to a key paragraph in the agreement. It reads: "Current Mayor Clyde Angel shall remain in office as mayor until the April 1986 election and current Councilmember Larry Miller shall remain in office as a councilmember and shall represent District 2 until the April 1986 election. Current Councilmembers Jack Y. Smith, Robert Fuller and Russ McEwen shall serve as councilmembers at-large until the April, 1985, election." (The terms of Smith and McEwen normally expire in 1985.)

That paragraph would have drawn page one headlines in July, August or now. The reason it didn't draw page one headline until now is that the city did not make those details public until now.

Mailbag

Home rule twisted into dictator rule

To the editor:
An outspoken crusader a few years ago, I have attempted to not become personally involved in local politics. However, yesterday's headlines, "Lawsuit extends council terms," shocked me out of the self-imposed discipline of indifference.

Big Spring, as a home rule city, is governed by its charter, just as Texas and the United States are governed by Constitutions.

The basic rule to amend Constitutions and home rule charters is by an election only.

Suppose President Reagan, Governor White, or any other governing person or body arbitrarily extended their present elected terms of office by edict — without consent of the people through the election process? An outrage. We would be justly insulted.

Yet the Big Spring City Council, presumably on the advice (?) of the city attorney, intends to do just that — by extending the present terms of Mayor Angel and Councilmen Miller and Fuller.

The LULAC suit to enforce precinct voting, no matter how well taken, cannot be used to circumvent the laws relating to home rule charters. Whether the present Council can enlarge its number without a charter amendment election is doubtful; extending present terms of office without an election is unprecedented and illegal.

I have nothing personal against Angel, Miller or Fuller; but I believe they should run for office again if they wish to remain on the Council.

I believe in elections. We might have better local government if we could elect the City Manager, Chief of Police, City Attorney, etc. It could only make these people more responsive to the public they serve.

These actions are way out of line. Big Spring is attempting to become the first city ruled by benevolent dictators. Think about it...

Viewpoint

By JIMBOB HIRST

Let me speak for Keith Briscoe

(This letter to the editor is being published as a separate column and will substitute for Keith Briscoe's Around the Rim column.)

This letter is in response to Keith Briscoe's "In search of the real Messiah" and two interesting letters by David Taylor and Kim Martin. My purpose for writing this is basically two fold. To give a different perspective to other Christians and to let Keith Briscoe know that I am thrilled that he feels he is able to recognize something different in Jesus of Nazareth and identifies enough to be able to feel that celebrating this man's birthday holiday as Messiah Day, a very suitable name, which meaning is as diverse as people interpret it to be and alike as people want it to be.

It is my observation that Keith Briscoe has yet to answer his critics in the Herald, so, even though I have never met Mr. Briscoe and my analysis is solely from his comments in "Around the Rim" and even though I am probably exceeding socially acceptable ethics and certainly overstepping fair and just scholarship — I am going to attempt to answer the questions as if Mr. Briscoe were answering to see if I am understanding Keith well enough and to provide answers from a viewpoint so different from my own.

Question #1: Where does the enduring qualities of the Jewish culture originate?

Answer: From the traditions, study, caring, and much thought evolving over many generations — from man — though, just maybe, with a spark of some unfathomable God.

Question #2: Torah, a gift from God or a product of man's wisdom?

Answer: From man's wisdom — again perhaps, stimulated by some unknown source.

Question: How did Jesus of Nazareth come by his moral attributes?

Answer: From his observations, his own understanding, his feelings, his own wisdom, and from the environment (traditions, etc) in which he lived — as do we all — though who knows what spark of divinity lies within each of us.

Question #4: Who saved the Jews from Hitler and the superman doctrines? Self, goyim, God, or what?

Answer: God, circumstances, people — who has these answers. But what is known is that if it wasn't for the traditions of love, work, caring, helping, doing for others that our United States of America (goyim and Jews) have made available at great risk to other nations and stood and fought for freedom we would today be living a nightmare of world Nazism, if we lived at all. These traits (well known to be ancient Jewish traits) are our source of salvation in this world whether from God or from Man. But remember, though 6 million Jews were exterminated, so were millions of slaves, gypsies, sick, retarded, and even aryan political opponents were exterminated in the same camps. And as for mass murders, don't forget China from 1949 to May, 1965 between 32 and 62 million were killed (murdered). What about the Great Purge in U.S.S.R. 1936-38 — Stalin indicated to Churchill that about 10 million kulaks (farmers who owned land) had been liquidated; and don't forget the millions of Khmers in Cambodia murdered between Apr. 1975 and Jan. 1979. Jews don't have a monopoly on holocaust. Who saved the survivors of these atrocities?

Question #5: Will Jew or Christian be purged from false messiahs with dwelling safely and study of scripture?

Answer: No, unfortunately. These things will continue as long as one person desires power over another — as long as evil is within a person to the harm of another. This will probably be a problem until mankind is totally destroyed.

Question #6: Is Keith Briscoe an atheist?

Answer: Perhaps in some viewpoint, but a better term is a Jewish agnostic humanist. Deny God? No, not really. Just doubts. What about Jesus of Nazareth? Yes, a good, well meaning teacher who has brought much good to the world — but much evil has been done in his name.

Now, Keith, I hope I haven't offended you and I really hope that this is somewhere near your views. And now I must say how much I enjoyed your Messiah Day article and hope more of that type of article is published. I do have differences of opinion with parts of this article, especially "...this man who never claimed to be the Messiah..." and "he seems to have been an itinerant Pharasaic rabbi or Essene preacher..." Your references must be different from mine. Most of my

Report from Austin

By Rep. LARRY DON SHAW

Growth not seasonal

As the nation prepares for Christmas, retailers are reporting some of the best sales records in years. The increased buying this holiday season is a sure sign that our national economy is in much better shape this year than in previous years.

Texas shoppers are no different from the rest of the nation. On the Friday after Thanksgiving, usually one of the biggest shopping days of the year, retailers across Texas experienced dramatic increases in sales over those from the past five years.

While shopowners rejoice over increased profits, the rest of us should rejoice that Texas is finally on the road to recovery. Even the economists are predicting steadily improving economic conditions in Texas.

At a recent seminar in Houston, several economists painted an optimistic picture for Texas. Dr. Thomas Plaut, the chief economist for the University of Texas' Bureau of Business Research, predicted that by mid-1984, Texans will again be enjoying a strong economic growth.

According to Plaut, this optimistic outlook is largely due to the strong economic recovery on the national level as well as an expected increase in oil drilling activity.

Although the state's economic recovery has lagged behind that of the nation, Plaut said eventually this strong growth filters down to Texas.

Another key factor which should boost the state's economy is Plaut's prediction of a strong increase in drilling activity by early 1985. He said this belief was based on expectations of lower drilling costs, an increased demand for oil and gas and a positive adjustment to the declining oil prices in 1982.

Comptroller Bob Bullock has also predicted that the Texas economy will experience steadily improving conditions. In a recent report from his office, he said that the "worst of the state's economic slump is behind us."

Lawmakers are hoping that these predictions will hold true.

As you all know, we had to do some belt-tightening and sacrificing this session to adjust to the effects of our recent recession. For the first time in more than a decade, we did not have the usual surplus of revenue that we had grown accustomed to in the past. As a result, many agencies and departments' budget requests were cut back as legislators tried to fund programs without raising taxes.

This slow period of economic growth in Texas was influenced by three major issues: the drop in oil prices and production, a decrease in state sales tax collections due to the nationwide slump, and the peso devaluations along the Texas-Mexican border. These combined factors resulted in a decrease in state tax collections.

For the first time since its adoption in 1961, receipts from state sales tax, which is the biggest revenue producer for the state, decreased by 4.5 percent.

In addition, taxes from oil production also decreased, making the total tax collections 1.8 percent less than the previous fiscal year.

Despite this decreased revenue, I am pleased to report that Texas ended its fiscal year on Aug. 31 with a $630 million surplus. This is a far cry from the comptroller's initial estimate of $36,866 and significantly better than his later estimate of $15.1 million.

Another interesting fact is that Texas is only one of several states that had a surplus exceeding 5 percent of its general fund spending in fiscal year 1983. By comparison, California had a year-end of $855 million and Pennsylvania ended the year with a deficit of $235 million. I'd say Texas is doing pretty good.

Another aspect of our state budget that had state lawmakers concerned was the potential impact from Hurricane Alicia. Fortunately for the state, initial estimates from Alicia were drastically overestimated. I think every legislator breathed a sigh of relief when we learned what might have cost the state as much as $110 million in insurance tax credits under the Texas Catastrophe Property Pooling Act has been reduced to $27 million.

Although the revenue picture appears rosier than it has been in previous years, the economists and comptroller have warned us that our recovery will be slow, unlike the rapid growth period we experienced in the 1970's.

Drifter convicted in 2 deaths

HOUSTON (AP) — A drifter who prosecutors said fatally beat and stabbed a teen-ager, and then licked the blood from his hands and leather jacket has been convicted of capital murder and sentenced to death.

A state district court jury of eight women and four men took only 25 minutes Friday to return the guilty verdict against Robert N. Drew, 23, of West Pawlett, Vt., in the Feb. 21 slaying of Jeff Mays, 17, of Forestdale, Ala.

Jurors then decided that Drew deserved the death penalty instead of life in prison.

Assistant Harris County District Attorney Eric Hagstette said Mays and Bee Landrum, 19, both runaways, picked up Drew and a companion while driving through Lafayette, La.

Once in the car, Drew attacked the teen-agers, stabbing Mays several times and slashing his throat, Hagstette said. The young man's body was dumped along Interstate 10 near Baytown, he said.

Drew then licked the victim's blood off his hands and jacket and bragged about how much he enjoyed it, Hagstette said. "It was truly a cold blooded crime," the prosecutor said.

Landrum was forced to keep driving to Houston, where the car was stopped by police in the suburb of West University Place, Hagstette said. Police noticed blood in the car and Landrum told them about the crime, he said.

Defense attorneys claimed Landrum actually committed the crime.

Q. I have been saving for the last several years towards buying my own house. I found one and made a written offer. My offer was below what I could pay. The seller turned down my offer. Have I lost my chance to own the house of my dreams?

A. No. Consult a broker, explaining the whole situation. Your broker will probably request a counteroffer (all offers and counteroffers should be made in writing) from the seller. The seller may ask for the original selling price or he may come down a little. In any case, you can make another bid, accept the counteroffer or if you feel the price is still too high, look for another house. However, you may not be far out of the ball park and with a little negotiation by your broker you may get that house.

Daughter's death brings sentence

PAMPA (AP) — A 31-year-old Pampa woman has been sentenced 10 years in prison on a conviction of involuntary manslaughter in the beating death of her 13-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Valdez testified that the child, Lisa Marie Valdez, was beaten Sept. 12 while in custody of her landlord.

Mrs. Valdez, who is pregnant, has three other young children who have been placed in the custody of state welfare department officials.

Bible buyer looks for first owners

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A Texas woman who recently bought a 108-year-old Bible is looking for the Nebraska family it came from, because she thinks the book "should be with the original family who owned it."

Karen Forte of Carrollton, a suburb of Dallas, bought the 20-pound, gilt-edged Bible at an antique store for a Christmas gift.

In looking through the entries in the Bible, Mrs. Forte and her husband, Nick, discovered it once belonged to a Mr. and Mrs. James W. Berger, who were married in 1874 and may have lived near Murray, Neb.

"I think it should be with the original family who owned it," Mrs. Forte, 29, said in a recent telephone interview from her home. "It would be really nice if someone in Nebraska knows of their relatives."

She bought the Bible for $45 at a Dallas antique shop as a gift for her children's godparents.

"There were a few pressed flowers and leaves inside the pages," Mrs. Forte said. "There was a slip of paper from a Sunday school class dated April 2, 1899. The Sunday school was in Murray, Neb., but it doesn't say what church it was."

Inside was a section for listing marriages, weddings and deaths.

"There were eight different names and dates in that and a newspaper clipping on an obituary notice mentioning Nebraska City," Mrs. Forte said.

Under the marriage column, the following was written: "James W. Berger and Suzy C. Johnson. Married Nov. 26, 1874."

Under another column, their children's births were recorded: John William, Sept. 9, 1875; Fannie May, Jan. 12, 1878; George Enos; Feb. 28, 1881; Mary Elizabeth, Nov. 15, 1883.

Scribbled next to Fannie May's name was the name of her husband, "James H. Brown. March 18, 1872." Next to Mary Elizabeth's name was her husband's name, "Edward M. Steiner. Born 1874. Died 1929."

The 1942 clipping tucked into the Bible on Suzy Berger's obituary said that her three younger children were still living, including George Berger, who lived in Murray, and Mary Berger Steiner, who was said to live in "the city."

Mrs. Forte said that if no one claims the Bible, she will give it to the couple whom she originally bought it for.

She learned from the Dallas antique store that the Bible was purchased at an auction in Indiana. "My family has a lot of treasures. We sure wouldn't want to lose them," Mrs. Forte said.

Nuke protester jailed over $5 fee

SOUTH KINGSTOWN, R.I. (AP) — An angry judge ordered a protester jailed or refusing to pay $5 restitution for pouring blood on a sign outside the shipyard which makes Trident nuclear submarines.

Superior Court Judge Albert E. DeRobbio sent William H. Boston to jail Friday after saying that the 25-year-old house painter and carpenter had "upset me" no end.

"You have a right to go out and demonstrate, but when you break the law, you pay," the judge said. "You've come in here in a contemptuous manner, and therefore I'm sending you to prison."

DeRobbio set a hearing next Friday for Boston and said if he hasn't paid the $5 by then, he will stay in jail.

Boston pleaded no contest last Monday to blocking a road in front of the Electric Boat plant and throwing blood on a sign during an Aug. 9 demonstration to commemorate the World War II nuclear bombing of Nagasaki, Japan.

The two charges — disorderly conduct and willful and malicious injury to property — are misdemeanors. DeRobbio in effect dropped the charges in return for Boston's payment of $5 restitution and $27 court costs.

But on Friday, Boston said he would not pay the $5 "out of conscience."

"At this time of great evil, I cannot participate in building weapons. I think you must know by now where my heart is," Boston told the judge.

"I want to know where your brain is," responded DeRobbio, who for several weeks has been tied up in trials for anti-nuclear demonstrators.

"My heart is heavy to see people come into this courthouse and avail themselves of their rights under the Constitution of the United States and then right in its face, spit on it," DeRobbio told Boston. "That's what you've done in your silent and so-called non-violent manner."

Company to test new beer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Schmidt's beer plans to test-market a new low-alcohol brew, saying tough drunken driving laws are making such a product "the next major development in the beer industry."

"Break Special Lager," which has half the alcohol content of regular beer, will be test marketed soon in Austin, Texas, and Springfield, Mass., officials said.

Christian Schmidt Brewing Co. decided to introduce the beer because of concerns about tougher drunken driving laws in many states and the effects of alcohol on health, John Paul Jones, the Philadelphia company's vice president of marketing, said Friday.

"We see reduced-alcohol beer as the next major development in the beer industry," Jones said.

"Break Special Lager" will have an alcohol content of 1.74 percent by weight. Regular beer ranges from 3.6 percent to 4 percent in alcohol content, except in a few states that limit it to 3.2 percent. "Light" beers, which now account for about one-fifth of all U.S. beer consumption, contain 3.2 percent alcohol.

Jones said the beer would have the taste of regular beer and could generate a "very large market."

He said Springfield was chosen because of Massachusetts' strict drunken driving laws and because the state is one of the few that allow brewers to put the alcoholic content on the label.

Smoking suspected in fatal hotel fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — Careless smoking might have caused a fire in a three-story rowhouse that killed eight people and left three seriously injured, a fire official said Saturday.

Officials investigating the blaze early Friday morning "think it was smoking on the sofa on the first floor," Acting Deputy Fire Chief Charles Degges said. "That's just an opinion right now — careless smoking."

Investigators trying to determine the cause of the fire hope to interview some of the survivors, Degges said.

Two survivors — James Cook Jr., 10, and Patricia Pumphrey, 21 — remained in critical condition Saturday at Baltimore City Hospitals' Burn Unit. The condition of the third survivor, John Jackson, 48, improved to serious but stable, said Burn Unit nurse Jean McCadden.

The blaze, which fire officials said was the third deadliest dwelling fire in city history, broke out just before 1 a.m. in a poor, inner-city neighborhood Friday. The fire was declared under control about an hour later.

Four people jumped from second- and third-story windows, but only two of them survived. Among the dead were a 16-year-old girl who was seven months pregnant and five children less than 12 years old, including a 2-week-old baby girl.

NATO wants Soviets to negotiate again

LORD CARRINGTON
...new secretary general

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — With its controversial decision to deploy new nuclear missiles well on track, NATO is turning its focus to getting the Soviet Union back to the negotiating table. However, the immediate prospects do not appear bright.

The Soviets walked out of the medium-range missile talks on Nov. 23, and as NATO opened its annual year-end session Thursday, Soviet negotiators refused to set a date for resuming the strategic arms reduction talks, or START, on long-range missiles and bombers.

A communique issued by NATO foreign ministers Friday noted "with regret the unjustified Soviet decision" to leave the medium-range talks and said they should resume "as soon as possible."

The communique expressed regret for Thursday's action by the Soviets, which put the START talks in limbo, although NATO officials feel the door is not yet completely closed on those talks.

The appeal for a return to the negotiating table in Geneva was repeated in a separate Declaration of Brussels.

"The deployment of U.S. missiles can be halted or reversed by concrete results at the negotiating table," it said, while calling on the Soviet Union "to respect our legitimate security interests as we respect theirs."

The Soviet walkout from the medium-range talks appeared to have a finality, with Moscow suggesting it would not return unless the North Atlantic Treaty Organization reversed its five-year program to deploy 572 Tomahawk cruise and Pershing 2 missiles in five West European countries.

The first of the new medium-range missiles arrived in Britain Nov. 14, and further missile sitings have since begun in West Germany and Italy. Belgium and the Netherlands also are to get the U.S. missiles.

Soviet Defense Minister Dmitri F. Ustinov Friday accused NATO of "directly preparing for war" by deploying the missiles, a move he said "compelled" Moscow to increase its own nuclear arsenal. Moscow has said it will match the NATO deployment with its own new missiles on land and at sea.

500 protest nuke site in Germany

MUTLANGEN, West Germany (AP) — More than 500 anti-nuclear demonstrators gathered today outside the main entrance of the U.S. Army's Mutlangen Air Field, thought to be the site of the new NATO nuclear missiles, officials said.

Police said no arrests were reported, and added they set up checkpoints on the two main roads leading to Mutlangen at the village's request.

"Anyone not living in the town will not be allowed in today," said a police spokesman who asked not to be identified. "That is what the people here want."

Protest organizers, however, said police made little attempt to keep demonstrators from circumventing the roadblocks. Carrying anti-nuclear placards, the demonstrators marched through fields to get around the roadblocks and assembled before the main entrance to the base, protesters said.

"Most of our people have got through by now and are blocking the base's entrance," said protest spokeswoman Karin Moser. "They'll be staying there throughout the afternoon."

But police said they had prevented most of the demonstrators from reaching the base, about 1 1/2 miles from the checkpoints.

Protest organizers said dozens of police faced the demonstrators from the other side of barbed wire coils strung across the base entrance. The protesters sat down in front of the gate but made no effort to force their way onto the air field, they added.

Informed U.S. sources have said privately that Mutlangen is the first base slated to receive the controversial Pershing-2 nuclear missiles slated for stationing in West Germany under NATO's missile-deployment plan.

The U.S. Army has refused to confirm or deny press reports that some Pershing 2 rockets were delivered to the Mutlangen base on Nov. 26. Army spokesman says they do not comment on missile-deployment schedules as a matter of policy.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization plan calls for the deployment of 572 cruise and Pershing 2 missiles in five West European countries. West Germany is slated to receive 204 rockets, the largest contingent.

In October nearly one million West Germans turned out in the streets to protest the NATO scheme. But a month later only a handful of demonstrators were on hand when the first missiles were expected to arrive at Mutlangen.

Begin moves to new home

JERUSALEM (AP) — Former Prime Minister Menachem Begin moved out of the government leader's official residence Saturday and into a private apartment, one month after leaving office, a former Begin aide said.

As far as is known, it was the first time Begin had left the building in the old residential section of Rehavia in more than 100 days.

Yehiel Kadishai, Begin's long-time friend and former aide, said Begin moved shortly after the end of the Jewish Sabbath at nightfall and was driven directly to his new apartment in the Yefe Nof suburb. The apartment has a view of the Jerusalem forest.

For all the marbles

So this is it. The heavyweight championship of pro football.

The Cowboys and the Indians. The battle for all the marbles. Unless you have a season ticket, a Swiss bank account or plan on parachuting through the hole in Texas Stadium, you probably will park in front of the set this afternoon for the Dallas-Washington game. If you are fortunate to own a Trinitron or one of those wide-screen jobs, the whole neighborhood will undoubtedly invite itself into your living room.

Stock up on the refreshments; a quick trip to the convenience store is out of the question today. Use the bathroom at halftime; you don't want to miss a second of the second half. Remember?

Both the Cowboys and Redskins are 12-2, each proving the critics wrong through the autumn months. Could Dallas keep coming from behind to win? Was last year a fluke for Washington? Was the Cowboys' dynasty crumbling? Was John Riggins capable of equal heights in 1983?

Answer those questions yes, no, no and yes. These old rivals are the best of the best.

No game in recent memory has drawn the media's attention quite like this one. Regulars in the plush pressbox at Texas Stadium have been bumped by an overflow crowd from the national media and other interested parties throughout the NFL. The sidelines will be wall-to-wall cameras. Sports Illustrated, Sport, The Sporting News and other major publications are sending their top dogs.

The game should be the highlight of a rather ho-hum season in the NFL. Even as four teams fight it out in the NFC's Central division, the nation focuses its attention on two teams guaranteed another trip to the playoffs.

The rivalry has gone on for years, hardly losing intensity even with the normal change in personnel. Gone are Roger Staubach and Billy Kilmer. Gone are Leroy Jordan and Diron Talbert. Still, the future of both teams hinges on this game as it has so many times in Decembers past. Only the names have changed.

The Cowboys overcame a 23-3 halftime deficit to win 31-30 in Hogs' pen earlier this season. Dallas has lost two games since then, by a point to the LA Raiders and a point to the Chargers in San Diego. The 'Skins lost another time on Monday night in that wild shootout with the Green Bombers. Otherwise, it has been win, win, win. Seven straight times for the Redskins, in fact.

Washington is 34 points shy of the NFL season-scoring mark with 479 points; Dallas is a distant second with 452, two short of their 1980 club record. The end zones should be well-traveled territory today.

Other notes. Washington leads the league in takeaways with a whopping plus-40 (53-13 over turnovers); Dallas stands at plus 16 (46-30). Tony Dorsett could equal a club record with a fourth straight 100-yard game. Backfield mate Ron Springs already has 66 catches to break Frank Clarke's 1964 mark of 65.

"There's no fooling around anymore. We know what is in front of us. Either we do it or we don't. It's our opportunity," says Tom Landry, who will remain the only coach the Cowboys have ever had even if his team loses.

The distance between victory and defeat today is cavernous. The winner wins the division and the homefield advantage throughout the playoffs. The loser is relegated to wild card status, even with the second best record in the major leagues.

Dallas, NFC bridesmaids for the past three seasons, certainly doesn't want to travel to the nation's capital again trying to get into the Super Bowl. Should Washington lose, it would have to return to Big D where memories of Staubach's miracle rally and Clint Longley's bomb still haunt the house.

Fasten your seatbelts. Tell the preacher to delay Sunday night worship services. Let the cat out before the kickoff. This is it. For all the marbles.

Game of the Year Cowboys, Redskins play for it all

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Of all the big Redskin-Cowboy football wars, the one today could top them all.

That's the opinion of Tex Schramm, who has seen every Washington Redskin-Dallas Cowboy joust since 1960.

"I can't remember a (Washington-Dallas) game that has attracted as much national attention as this one has," said the Cowboys club president and general manager. "I don't remember when there were two teams so clearly ahead in the standings playing each other for what amounts to the division championship."

Dallas and Washington are tied with 12-2 records atop the National Conference Eastern Division of the National Football League.

A Cowboys victory would assure them the title, while Washington would have to beat the New York Giants the next week to clinch a Redskin pennant. Both have wild card berths clinched.

"The rivalry between the two teams always seems to catch the public imagination, not just the rivalry between the two cities," Schramm said.

It started long ago when owner Clint Murchison tried to get an NFL franchise. Washington owner George Preston Marshall opposed Dallas but finally relented if Murchison would give him back his "Hail to the Redskins" theme song.

Murchison had wheeled and dealt his way to rights for the Redskin song. "I remember Clint released some chickens on the field at halftime while the Redskin band was marching as a joke," Schramm said.

George Allen's arrival as Redskins coach 1971 through 1977 "brought the rivalry to a peak," Schramm said. "The Allen era is what brought it into a feverish area."

Allen gave the Redskins their first spotters to chart Dallas practices.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said this week: "I trust Joe Gibbs more than I did the other man."

Then he joked, "We saved a lot of money when Allen left."

After Allen departed in 1977, the Redskins began to nosedive under Jack Pardee.

Longley coming off the bench to win a Thanksgiving Day game.

"The Redskins have beaten us like that, including the tough loss we had last year in the NFC title games and the title game in 1972 under Allen."

Schramm said the rivalry was an emotionally draining one to those involved.

"I like big games," Schramm said. "You shouldn't be in the business if you don't like them."

Then he added with a wince: "I don't enjoy them, but I like them."

Billy Kilmer, former Redskin quarterback who makes his home in Dallas and, ironically, works for Murchison in banking, said, "It's going to be a great game."

"It'll be like the championship games we played ... as good as the ones I played in."

The Cowboys, who rallied for a 31-30 victory in September over Washington, were field goal favorites in Texas Stadium, where they've lost just once in 10 games against the 'Skins.

Dallas leads the overall series 28-17-2 and was the only team to beat the 'Skins during their Super Bowl championship season.

"This game has everything," said Gibbs. "This is the reason you coach and play."

"This is the great kind of game you work so hard for," said Landry. "You don't have to worry about anybody getting ready for this one."

NFC title in 30 years with a 26-3 victory over the Cowboys in 1972. Washington lost to Miami in Super Bowl VII.

Not only did Allen break up the Dallas NFC East monopoly, but he also did so in a manner that Cowboys officials found unsavory.

The Cowboys didn't like his finger-licking, cheerleading style and they became convinced he was spying on practices.

"Allen made the rivalry more personal," Schramm said.

The Cowboys used to rent the top floor of a nearby hotel so Allen couldn't slip in Gibbs, hired in 1981, brought them a long-cherished Super Bowl victory last year.

"NFL rivalries are generally based on the competition in the standings," Schramm said. "Then when you have the background like we do with the Redskins it becomes something special."

Schramm ticked off some memorable confrontations.

"We killed the Redskins in 1979 for the NFC title when Roger Staubach threw two touchdown passes in the last two minutes for a 35-34 victory," said Schramm. "Then there was Clint

Tom Landry

Despite changing with time, Cowboys' coach annually keeps his team at NFL's forefront

Cowboys' Tom Landry

By The Associated Press

The Dallas Cowboys' season began under a cocaine cloud and the stigma of three straight conference championship losses.

In a way, it was the kind of situation just made for Tom Landry, the coach of America's Team.

"I enjoy challenges more than being on top," said Landry, whose Cowboys have made it to the top — to a Super Bowl championship — twice, but not since the 1977 season.

"Once you win it," he said, "you want it back, but you've already accomplished it and a certain complacency sets in."

Complacency seemed to be at the heart of the Cowboys' most recent failing. That, at least, was how Landry viewed the situation a year ago.

They had beaten Washington 24-10 during the strike-torn season. But when it mattered most, with the National Conference championship at stake, the Redskins beat them 31-17 — just as San Francisco and Philadelphia had beaten them in the two previous conference title games.

Later, there were stories that the Cowboys had broken Landry's curfew the night before the championship. And in the offseason, the stain of drugs began to mar the sheen of the team with the bright silver star.

Defensive end Harvey Martin was asked by Landry to go to a drug rehabilitation clinic — for the purpose of evaluating the place, he said. Less than two months later, the names of Martin, running back Tony Dorsett and two teammates were mentioned in connection with a federal cocaine investigation.

"Obviously, he would like to win another Super Bowl. But I think it is more than that. What, exactly, I'm not sure I can tell you. But he knows."

Dick Nolan

The Cowboys, whose five trips to the Super Bowl are a record, were being mocked as "South America's Team." And they were beginning to wear the "can't win the big one" collar again.

It didn't leave Landry frustrated. It presented, he said, "more of a challenge." He decided to unbutton that collar by buttoning up the team.

When the Cowboys arrived this year at training camp, they found their days off cut back. They found themselves going through workouts more brutal than any since their last Super Bowl season. They found themselves bottled up in hotel rooms the night before home games. And to the chagrin of wide receiver Butch Johnson and the rest of the Cowboys' showboaters, they found their spiking, high-fiving and California Quaking a thing of the past.

Landry had re-established his philosophy — the Cowboys were a team, not a collection of individuals.

And he had re-established his goal — winning. They have done that. No team in the National Football League has a better record than Dallas', and only Washington's matches it.

"What a guy like Tom does is go out and achieve goals. Then, once they're achieved, he sets new ones," said Dick Nolan, now the Cowboys' receivers coach and, before that, a head coach with San Francisco and New Orleans. "We never talk about it, but you can be sure he has goals in mind."

"Obviously, he would like to win another Super Bowl. But I think it is more than that. What, exactly, I'm not sure I can tell you. But he knows. Believe me, he knows."

Jones rushes Lee towards state title

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — Midland Lee halfback Walter Jones exploded for fourth-quarter touchdown runs of 1, 72 and 61 yards Saturday to snap a 14-14 tie, lifting the Rebels to a 35-14 win over Plano in a Class 5A state football semifinal playoff contest.

The Rebels, now 13-2, will face Converse Judson — 29-19 winner of Houston Yates — in next week's 5A championship game. Plano finishes its season at 14-1.

Lee jumped out to a 6-0 lead on a 32-yard dash by halfback Tyrone Thurman. But the Wildcats stormed back on a 6-yard TD crash by fullback Scott Huckaby and a 26-yard scoring pass from quarterback Monty West to split end Tim Landrum to grab a 14-6 halftime lead.

A 45-yard TD jaunt by fullback Isaac Garnett and 2-point conversion run by Jones knotted the score at 14-14 midway through the third quarter. The tie stood until Jones crashed over from 1 yard out to give Lee a 21-14 advantage.

Jones then nailed the coffin shut on Plano with his 72 and 61-yard TD dashes, both coming on counter plays.

Lee, which ousted district rival Permian 20-0 last week, and Converse-Judson will play in the first televised football championship next week.

Estacado fights off Steers, 61-55

SNYDER — Lubbock Estacado built an 11-point halftime lead and fought off a Big Spring rally in the fourth quarter to claim a 61-55 victory in the Canyon Reef basketball tournament here Saturday afternoon.

The loss, the third of the tournament for Big Spring, dropped the Steers' overall record to 1-9. BSHS travels to Lamesa Tuesday for an 8 p.m. game with the Class AAAA powerhouse Golden Tornadoes.

Big Spring battled back to within three points, 58-55, in the final period and had a chance to cut the score to a single point. The Steers missed two tries under the basket downcourt and then had to foul in desperation. Estacado hit three of its six foul shots to secure the victory.

The Matadors led 13-8 after one quarter and increased its lead in the second period as hot-shooting guard Reggie Gibbs, who led all scorers with 23 points, hit five long-range jump shots.

The Steers outscored the Lubbock team 35-30 in the second half but couldn't make up its halftime deficit.

Sophomore Billy Cole played his best game as a Steers, scoring 16 points and grabbing 15 rebounds, including nine on the offensive boards. However, he missed four shots around the goal in the decisive fourth period.

Lady Steers win consolation

MIDLAND — The Lady Steers rallied from an opening round defeat to nab the consolation at the Midland tournament, topping Del Rio 76-57.

The Lady Steers defeated Pecos 61-58 in an overtime contest to gain their way in the consolation finals against Del Rio. Big Spring lost the tourney opener to Greenwood by a score of 57-50, a game which they had problems converting their free throws.

Coach Annette Fowler's troops had an easier time with Del Rio in the consolation tilt thanks to some hot outside shooting from guard Debra Rubio and forward Monette Wise who bombed the opposition's zone for 32 first half points.

Rubio hit 18 of her career-high 27 points in the period as the Lady Steers jumped out to a 41-29 halftime lead. Del Rio looked as if they were going to cause problems for Big Spring as the lead changed hands several times before the Lady Steers took a 20-18 first quarter lead.

"We got on the boards well," said Fowler. "Monette (Wise) did a good job of rebounding and getting the outlet pass for the fast break."

Wise scored all her points in the first half and Paula Spears added 19 points to the cause.

Sweetwater, Greenwood collect JV tourney titles

COAHOMA — The Sweetwater boys and the Greenwood girls came away with the championship trophies at the Coahoma junior varsity tournament here Saturday night.

Sweetwater earned the crown with a 62-31 drubbing over Coahoma's junior varsity entry. John Atkins led the winners with 21 points while Bobby Henry scored 10 for Coahoma.

Coahoma advanced to the championship game via a 52-36 win over the Coahoma freshmen team. Henry and Gary Vaughn scored 12 each for the winners while Chris Parker scored 14 for the freshmen.

In a consolation bracket semifinal game, Forsan nipped Colorado City 41-40 as Tim Cates scored 16 for Forsan and Albert Rivera scored 12 for Colorado City. In the consolation finals Forsan edged Stanton 40-39.

Greenwood claimed the girls' championship with a 34-30 win over the Coahoma freshmen. Kay Wallace scored 9 points for the winners while Shana Fowler scored 19 for Coahoma.

Coahoma advanced to the tilt with a 25-23 win over the Coahoma JV. Fowler again led the scoring with 9 and Lori Hardison, Shelly Dorn and Teri Tucker all scored 6 each for the JV.

In the loser's bracket, Forsan downed Colorado City 41-33 in a semifinal game. Dee Smith led Forsan with 18 while Yolanda Lee scored 15 for C-City.

In the consolation championship contest Forsan, stopped the Stanton freshmen 35-24. Smith again led the Forsan scoring with 22 points while Kay Laing scored 7 for Stanton.

Bufs win consolation title Irian Co. tops Queens,

MERTZON — David Lucas, Brad Jenkins and Mitch Hays combined for 51 points to lead Forsan to a 66-63 win over Rankin in the Irian Co. tournament here Saturday afternoon.

The victory gave the Buffaloes, now 4-5 overall, the tournament consolation championship.

Lucas scored 18, Hays 17 and Jenkins 16 points as Forsan built a 50-41 lead after three quarters and held on for the victory. Freshman Rob Shields tossed in a game-high 18 points for Rankin.

The unbeaten Irian Co. girls worked through Forsan's slow-down strategy to take a 29-27 victory in the championship game.

Buffalo Queens coach Johnny Shafer's plan to slow down the taller and fast-breaking hosts worked for a half as Forsan took a 10-6 lead into the dressing room. Irian Co., however, came out in the third quarter and outscored the visitors 20-3 as Tammy Martin scored all eight of her points for the game.

Forsan rallied back in the final period but came up two points short.

Kathy Thurman led all scorers with 15 points. Forsan is now 6-3 overall while Irian Co. improved to 8-0.

Forsan hosts Sands Monday night in its next outing.

Martina wins again; men play today

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Top-seeded Ivan Lendl and Sweden's Mats Wilander both will be chasing first place in the final of the Australia Open on Sunday.

The women's final was won by Martina Navratilova for the second time in three years Saturday when she beat Kathy Jordan 6-2, 7-6.

Navratilova and Pam Shriver will meet Anne Hobbs and Wendy Turnbull in the finals of the women's doubles on Sunday. Paul McNamee and Mark Edmonson defeated Sherwood Stewart and Steve Denton 6-3, 7-6 to win the men's doubles.

In addition to the $77,500 first prize for the Australian title, the winner of the men's singles title will receive $600,000 from the Volvo bonus plan. The runner-up in the rankings will get $400,000 from Volvo in addition to $38,500 from the tournament for second place.

The final also gives Lendl his fourth chance to earn a grand slam title, which he has yet to do. He lost the U.S. Open final to Jimmy Connors in 1982 and again this year. Bjorn Borg beat him in the French Open final in 1981.

Wilander became the youngest player in men's tennis to win a grand slam title when he beat Guillermo Vilas in the French Open final last year.

In the women's final, Navratilova dominated the first set, but Jordan improved her play in the second set and came back to pose a strong challenge to the tournament's No. 1 seed.

Jordan saved two match points to force a tiebreaker, and salvaged another four match points before Navratilova's brilliant serve-and-volley game gave the Czechoslovakian-born left-hander her second Australian Open in three years as she took the tiebreaker 7-5.

Australian Open

The ninth-seeded Jordan improved her game as she got a bigger percentage of the first serves into play. But she was never able to equal the serving of the world's top women's player, who has lost only one match this year.

"Overall, I played pretty well on my serve, but I didn't return as well as I would have liked," said Navratilova, who took just 78 minutes to add the Australian title to the U.S. Open and Wimbledon crowns she won earlier this year.

She now needs only the French Open title next year to win a $1 million bonus for winning all four grand slam tournaments in succession.

The victory was worth $75,000 to Navratilova, raising her tournament winnings so far this year to $1,443,030. Jordan, of King of Prussia, Pa., won her biggest prize of the year in picking up the $38,000 award as runner-up.

Wilander's advance to the final shocked Lendl. "I was very surprised and very impressed," Lendl said after Wilander beat John McEnroe in the semifinals Friday. "It never entered my head he could beat McEnroe on grass."

But after struggling against Ben Testerman in the second round, Wilander racked up impressive victories over grass-court specialists Roscoe Tanner, Paul McNamee, Johan Kriek and McEnroe.

Steer JVs, sophomores lose 2 of 3

MIDLAND — Big Spring junior varsity and sophomore teams lost two of three games in the Midland tournament here this weekend.

The JVS dropped a 61-58 decision to Odessa High in the first round and stumbled 77-65 to Midland Lee in its second game. BSHS closed with a forfeit victory over Midland Christian.

The sophomore team, meanwhile, fell 50-32 to Odessa High and 55-37 to Permian's junior varsity unit before salvaging a 56-44 win over Midland High.

Against Odessa, Big Spring JV squad sank only 14 of 34 free throws. Midland used accurate free throw shooting to down the Steers in the consolation round, dropping in 15 of 19 bonus shots including 11 of 12 in the final quarter.

Freshman Bernard Williams scored 25 points against Odessa and added 26 more against Lee for Big Spring, now 4-5 overall. Mark Sanders, who scored just 3 points against OHS, got 20 against the Rebels.

The junior varsity plays again at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday in Lamesa.

Lady Steers get trophy

Lady Steers JV tumbles twice in own tourney

The Big Spring High Lady Steers junior varsity had their problems at their own tournament this weekend, losing their first and second games of the season.

The Lady Steers came into the tournament, won by San Angelo with a 3-0 record, aiming for a championship trophy but poor free throw shooting and turnovers spelled defeat in both games.

The Lady Steers lost their opener to Sweetwater 48-43, a contest in which they committed 23 turnovers and made only 11 of 23 from the foul line. Sheri Myrick led the scoring with 15 points.

Big Spring turned the ball over 21 times and made 5 of 18 from the line in its 35-29 loss to Snyder. Monique Jones was the leading scorer with 8 points.

Big Spring coach Elaine Stone was displeased with her team's performance. "We did not play well under pressure," Stone commented. "Turnovers killed us, we did not hit our free throws and did not block out under the boards."

San Angelo defeated Odessa Permian 54-34 in the championship tilt. Andrews defeated Sweetwater 54-49 for third place

San Antonio smacks Bullets

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Spurs Coach Mo McHone said the Spurs first road win the night before was the fuel that powered San Antonio to an easy 125-102 home victory over the Washington Bullets Saturday night.

George Gervin scored 24 points, Mike Mitchell added 26 and Johnny Moore got 22 points and tied his own club-record 20 assists as San Antonio won its second straight.

NBA roundup

"I thought the effort we had last night in Las Vegas carried us over tonight, said McHone, whose Spurs beat Utah 126-117 Friday night. "After being on the road all day, this was a high win for us. I thought Washington came out a little flat."

"We felt we had to push the ball up the court. We forced a lot of turnovers, which really got our running game going," said Mitchell.

Washington Coach Gene Shue said, "Give credit to the Spurs, they just played fabulous."

"Lately they have been struggling, but it looks like they are going to turn it around," said Shue.

Jeff Ruland led the Bullets with 30 points and Ricky Sobers collected 20 for the losers.

Jazz 128, Rockets 121

HOUSTON (AP) — Utah forward Adrian Dantley, the leading scorer in the National Basketball Association, scored 10 of his 28 points in the fourth quarter Saturday night to lead the Jazz to their sixth win in seven games, a 128-121 victory over the Houston Rockets.

Ralph Sampson had a NBA career-high 34 points and 18 rebounds to lead Houston. After the Rockets built a 96-95 third-quarter lead, the teams traded points until Dantley's five-foot baseline jumper put the Jazz up for good, 119-117, with 2:46 remaining.

A layup and two free throws by John Drew, plus Rickey Green's two foul shots with 31 seconds left, put the game out of reach at 125-120.

A string of seven straight Jazz points in the first period capped by Darrell Griffith's 20-foot jump shot with 6:52 to play, gave Utah a 10-point margin 21-11.

Led by Dantley's 13 first-quarter points, the Jazz held a 39-31 first quarter lead.

Houston fought back in the second period, taking a 56-52 lead, but six straight Jazz points enabled Utah, second in the Western Conference's Midwest Division, to capture a 73-66 halftime margin.

Sampson scored 10 points and grabbed six boards in the third period as Houston went ahead 96-95.

What's the Gas man doing here?

That's D. D. Pittman, Energas' Big Spring district manager.

You are likely to find him at any activity that relates to the well-being of the community. He is in business here just like the grocer, the clothing or farm store operator. What happens in the civic life of the town affects him, his family and his livelihood. As an Energas manager, he has a lot of responsibilities... and one of them is to help make the town a good place to live.

So, when you see an Energas man at a civic meeting or in your alley, you can be sure he's there for a good reason.

Energas people can do and want to.

ENERGAS

"It's great to have the people of the Big Spring office represent Energas. I am proud of the job they are doing and the spirit in which they are doing it."

Landry's style adapts to nature of his teams

He knows, too, that the goals he used to set for others were placed too high.

"There was a time when I expected too much from people," Landry said. "I was looking for perfection, not willing to realize that there are human limitations in each of us. That was a mistake I made early in my coaching career."

"Now, though, I think I've learned to deal with individuals better. See, when I first became a head coach (1960), the general philosophy in this business was that you treated everyone on a team equally. In some situations, that's the way you still have to do it. But, as with everything in life, there are exceptions."

"Except, of course, for Landry's imperturbability. Let other coaches dress in windbreakers and baseball caps, weigh themselves down with headphones and clipboards and shriek and flail at adversity. Landry, in a business suit and fedora, pensively paces the sideline, his expression relatively unchanged in victory or defeat.

"I think people confuse concentration with emotion," he said. "I am concentrating on the sideline ... You have to have the ability to block out the scoreboard and the crowd. So that is the picture people get of me — that I never smile. And when I do smile, the whole image is shattered. But that's a misconception of what I am. I do like to smile. But don't expect to see me smiling on the sideline because that's when I'm concentrating."

Concentrating on winning. His team's 18 consecutive winning seasons are a record, as are its nine consecutive trips to the playoffs. His 218 victories lead the NFL's active coaches. If he chooses to retire after this year, next year or sometime after that, it almost certainly will be by his own choice, not anyone else's. He has nothing to prove to anybody.

"I've had tremendous backing from management over the years and we've been fortunate enough to win regularly," he said. "I can't really say I have a lot of personal goals I'm looking forward to. I just enjoy what I'm doing. As I've said so many times, I'll probably stay at it until it isn't enjoyable any longer."

"When I've lost the urge to bring a team into training camp or into competition, I'll quit. You never know when that will happen ... But I haven't reached that point."

Tar Heels get win, Arkansas tumbles

No. 1 N. Carolina 87, Syracuse 64

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Top-ranked North Carolina, with All-America Michael Jordan's 19 points leading the way, crushed Syracuse 87-64 Saturday night before a crowd of 32,235 at the Carrier Dome.

It was the fifth straight college basketball victory for the Tar Heels, while the Orangemen suffered their first loss in five games.

Other Tar Heels in double figures were Sam Perkins and Matt Doherty with 16 points apiece, Brad Daugherty with 12 and Kenny Smith with 11. Daugherty led in rebounds with 10.

Sophomore Rafael Addison was the only Syracuse player in double figures with 18, 12 in the first half.

No. 2 Kentucky 72, Kansas 50

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Melvin Turpin scored 25 points while Jim Master gunned in 23, many of them on shots from long range Saturday night, and second-ranked Kentucky cruised past Kansas 72-50 in an intersectional college basketball game.

Kentucky, 3-0, took control at the outset and fashioned a 35-20 halftime lead over the Jayhawks, 3-2.

Kansas outscored the Wildcats 8-2 and reduced the deficit to 37-30 three minutes into the second half.

Turpin and Master then went to work. Turpin, a 6-foot-11 senior, was too much for the Jayhawks to handle inside along with teammate Sam Bowie, the 7-foot senior who is coming back after a two-year layoff caused by a leg injury.

Calvin Thompson, who had only four points in the first half, led the Jayhawks with 18.

Mississippi St. 50, No. 4 Memphis St. 49

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mississippi State's Kelvin Hildreth sank two free throws with 12 seconds remaining to lift the Bulldogs to a 50-49 upset victory over fourth-ranked Memphis State Saturday night.

It was the Tigers' first loss in five games, while Mississippi State is now 3-2.

Hildreth led the Bulldogs with 16 points and Ken Harvey had 13. Phillip "Doom" Haynes led the Tigers with 12 points.

The Tigers were in foul trouble throughout the game, with All-American Keith Lee picking up his third personal with 11:38 left in the first half. He had two points at the time, and he finished with only 10 for the night.

No. 18 Oregon 53, No. 5 Iowa 48

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Darrin Hoppen and Ric Berry propelled Oregon State to a 13-point lead Saturday and the 18th-ranked Beavers held on for a 53-48 college basketball victory over No. 5 Iowa.

The loss was the second in a row for the 3-2 Hawkeyes, who were drubbed 79-58 Wednesday night in Louisville.

No. 6 Houston 71, St. Mary's 55

HOUSTON (AP) — Michael Young's 24 points paced the No. 6 Houston to a 71-55 win over St. Mary's of San Antonio in a non-conference college basketball game Saturday night.

It was the fifth straight win for the Cougars, 5-1.

Young also grabbed 10 rebounds.

Young was joined in double figures by 7-foot center Akeem Olajuwon, who finished with 11 points, 12 rebounds and five blocked shots.

Nebraska 67, No. 15 Arkansas 54

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Dave Hoppen scored 21 points and Stan Cloudy added 17 to lead Nebraska past No. 15-ranked Arkansas 67-54 in non-conference college basketball here Saturday night.

The game was close throughout the first half, with NU taking a 29-27 halftime lead. With Nebraska ahead 33-31, Arkansas' second-leading scorer Alvin Robertson picked up his third foul with 15:23 to go.

The Huskers responded with the next six points to take a 39-31 lead. Robertson returned to the lineup but Nebraska continued to expand its margin to 46-33 with about nine minutes to play.

During that stretch, Cloudy, who had 10 second-half points, connected on three baskets and Hoppen added four points.

Arkansas, now 5-2, capitalized on Nebraska's poor free throw shooting to pull within 52-46 with five minutes to play.

But guard David Ponce hit a pair of free throws and Eric Williams added a breakaway layup to blunt the Razorbacks' final threat.

Team USA rally overcomes USSR, 5-4

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., Dec. 11, 1983

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — As Team USA Coach Lou Vairo was leaving a news conference following his squad's stirring 5-4 victory over the Soviet Selects, he bumped into Phil Verchota, the game's hero.

"See ya later, Gretzky," Vairo said with a smile as wide as the rink at the Olympic Center here.

Verchota and Wayne Gretzky, the record-shattering center of the Edmonton Oilers, have very little in common. But they both have a flair for the dramatic and Verchota exhibited his Friday night.

The 26-year-old captain of Team USA, which will represent this country in the 1984 Olympics at Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, scored twice, including the game-winner on a breakaway with 1:18 remaining. And Verchota, the oldest player on Team USA, used a Gretzky tactic to lift the Americans to victory in the opener of a six-game series with the Selects, some of whom also will be in Sarajevo.

"I came from the left side and slipped behind their defense," Verchota explained. "I skated over to the right side and I guess they forgot about me."

"I was looking back for the puck and Chris (Chelios) made a heads-up play. His pass was right on my stick. I just didn't want the goalie to come out and get the puck. When I got in close, I just let it go."

Verchota's wrist shot zipped past Soviet goalie Aleksandr Tyzhnykh, and the Olympic Center erupted in wild cheers. Things hadn't been so wild here since 1980 when the Americans beat the Soviet Nationals, then handled the Finns to clinch the Olympic gold medal.

"I wasn't thinking back to 1980," said Verchota, who wasn't going to try out for the 1984 squad until he realized just before the National Sports Festival in June that he missed the competition too much to quit. "The emotions were unique to this team."

"This team has come together and we really needed that," he continued. "We played a good, solid Russian hockey team. It's not their No. 1 team, but that doesn't mean they're bad. I think they were tired from their trip but we were up for it, too, and playing so well. And then they got two quick ones and we could have folded. But we didn't and showed a lot of character."

They also showed lots of speed and stamina, two vital ingredients for international play.

"I think we were just as fast as them tonight," said Chelios, whose goal with 5:09 to play had given the Americans a 4-2 lead. Scott Bjugstad had broken a 2-2 deadlock only 29 seconds earlier.

"The pace really picked up the last 10 minutes and we stayed in the game," said Chelios. "Everyone is in good shape. And everyone is on an emotional high."

"It's the first time all season our guys have gotten this excited. We played the NHL teams and didn't get so fired up. I think the fans here had a lot to do with it."

The above-capacity crowd of 9,100 gave Team USA a rousing ovation when it skated onto the ice, chanting "U-S-A, U-S-A" and rekindling memories of 1980.

"We played very nervous and I'd hoped we'd settle down before it got to be 5-0," said Vairo, whose team had lost three in a row to fall 26-12-7 in its pre-Olympic tour. "We were too emotionally high. The same thing happened in the last five minutes."

After seemingly putting away the game at 4-2, the Americans got careless and the Selects tied it on goals by Anatoli Stapanishev and Mikhail Varnakov. Varnakov scored with 1:39 to play, and then Verchota performed his heroics.

PAINFULL TOUCHDOWN PASS — Pittsburgh Steelers' quarterback Terry Bradshaw extends a hurting right elbow after tossing a 10-yard scoring pass to Calvin Sweeney during the second quarter of Saturday's game against the New York Jets. Bradshaw guided his team into 14-0 lead and the Steelers went on to a 34-7 victory in the last game the Jets will play in Shea Stadium.

Strock guides Dolphins past Falcons

MIAMI (AP) — Don Strock, filling in for the injured Dan Marino, fired two touchdown passes Saturday to lead the playoff-bound Miami Dolphins to a 31-24 National Football League victory over the Atlanta Falcons.

Marino, his knee sprained in last weekend's 24-17 triumph at Houston, watched and cheered from the sidelines as Strock led the Dolphins to four touchdowns, completing 18 of 23 passes for 229 yards.

Miami, the AFC East champion, boosted its record to 11-4 and continued its quest for the home-field advantage for its first playoff game. Atlanta fell to 6-9 with its second straight loss.

Atlanta quarterback Steve Bartkowski, the NFL's second-rated passer, came off a two-game layoff with a knee injury to hit on 15 of 26 passes for 175 yards and a touchdown to Floyd Hodge.

But Strock was the winner in his 19th start of a 10-year career in which he has served mainly as Miami's "relief pitcher." He threw scoring passes of 7 yards to tight end Joe Rose and 15 yards to halfback Tony Nathan.

The Falcons, trailing 17-3 at the half, pulled within a touchdown with Gerald Riggs' 2-yard run 4:27 into the second half.

But scoring runs of 1 yard by fullback Andra Franklin and 13 yards by halfback David Overstreet put the game out of reach.

Strock set up Franklin's TD with a 22-yard strike to Duriel Harris on third-and-8, then hit wide receiver Mark Duper for 47 yards on the play before Overstreet's scoring run.

Miami's Uwe von Schamann answered Mick Luckhurst's 35-yard field goal with an 18-yarder later in the second quarter.

William Andrews, who scored on a 24-yard run with 7:34 to play, ran for 161 yards on 21 carries, bringing his season total to a Falcons' record of 1,409, breaking his own 1980 mark of 1,308.

Steelers power past NY Jets, 34-7

NEW YORK (AP) — Terry Bradshaw, in his first appearance of the season, threw two touchdown passes before re-injuring his elbow in the second quarter and the Pittsburgh Steelers clinched a National Football League playoff berth with a 34-7 victory Saturday in the New York Jets' last game at Shea Stadium.

Bradshaw hit scoring passes of 17 yards to rookie Gregg Garrity late in the first quarter and 10 yards to Calvin Sweeney 44 seconds into the second period. On the second one, he suffered bruises to his right forearm and the elbow which was operated on last March.

Bradshaw finished with completions on 5 of 8 passes for 77 yards. Cliff Stoudt, who had started Pittsburgh's first 14 games, took over and threw TD passes of 13 yards to Bennie Cunningham in the third quarter and 18 yards to Sweeney in the fourth.

The victory snapped the Steelers' three-game losing streak, gave them a 10-5 record and assured them of no less than a wild-card playoff berth. They will clinch the American Conference's Central Division title if Cleveland loses Sunday in Houston or if they beat the Browns next Sunday.

The loss, in the Jets' farewell game in New York before next season's move to Giants Stadium in New Jersey, dropped them out of playoff contention with a 7-8 record and one game to play. Their TD came on reserve quarterback Pat Ryan's 27-yard pass to Johnny "Lam" Jones in the third period.

Lions eye divisional title; others looking towards wild card

By The Associated Press

Billy Sims, who has notched four straight 100-yard rushing games, will lead Detroit in search of the NFC Central title today in the second to the last week of action in the NFL. A victory against Cincinnati Sunday or Tampa Bay the following weekend would give the Lions their first division championship since 1957.

Sims has posed a big problem for opposing defenses in recent weeks, while keying consecutive victories over Green Bay, Pittsburgh and Minnesota. When he hasn't been blazing through defenses, he's been cheering his teammates from the sideline.

"He's been the one guy who's really sparked everything with the leadership," Lions Coach Monte Clark said. "You don't have to be a speechmaker to be a leader."

"He does it with the tremendous ability that he has, and not being too sophisticated to show some enthusiasm. That's contagious. When people see him do well and then show some emotion, it keys the intensity that's been important to us."

In other NFL action Sunday, it's Cleveland, 8-6, at the Houston Oilers, 1-13; the Detroit Lions, 8-6, at the Cincinnati Bengals, 6-8; the Chicago Bears, 6-8, at the Minnesota Vikings, 7-7; the San Francisco

NFL Roundup

49ers, 8-6, at the Buffalo Bills, 8-6; the Baltimore Colts, 6-8, at the Denver Broncos, 8-6; the New England Patriots, 7-7, at the Los Angeles Rams, 8-6; the New Orleans Saints, 7-7, at the Philadelphia Eagles, 5-9; the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-7-1, at the Los Angeles Raiders, 11-3; the Kansas City Chiefs, 5-9, at the San Diego Padres, 5-9; and the Seattle Seahawks, 7-7, at the New York Giants, 3-10-1.

The Cleveland Browns can clinch a wild-card berth by beating Houston and Pittsburgh in their last two games. The Oilers have been in a spoiler's role all season.

Chicago and Minnesota both are fighting for wild-card spots, and the Vikings still have an outside chance at winning the NFC Central Division. San Francisco will try to at least remain tied with the Los Angeles Rams for the NFC West lead. Buffalo, runnerup to Miami in the American Conference East Division, still is in the hunt for a wild-card spot.

San Francisco Coach Bill Walsh said the Bills scare him.

"They play especially good defense and I think they have excellent balance in their defense and it's extremely well conceived," he said. "We're spending much of our practice week accounting for how they move their defensive lineman and blitz their (line) backers on the inside."

Denver, with rookie quarterback John Elway coming off a big game in the defeat of Cleveland last week in place of injured Steve DeBerg, can clinch a wild-card spot against Baltimore if Buffalo and Seattle lose.

The Rams will try to come back from an upset loss to Philadelphia against New England and at least keep pace with San Francisco. A victory would clinch a wild-card berth for Los Angeles. The Patriots need to win to stay in playoff contention.

New Orleans will try to remain in the playoff picture by snapping a string of five straight losses to Philadelphia, which will try for a second straight home victory after losing six straight games there this season. The Raiders, already champion of the AFC West, can maintain the conference's best record by beating St. Louis, which still has a chance at a wild-card spot.

North Dakota rips Central for NCAA Division II title

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — Jeff Bentrim directed a 21-point first quarter and conquered gusty 30 mph winds Saturday to lead North Dakota State to a 41-21 victory over Central State of Ohio in the Palm Bowl and capture the NCAA Division II national football championship.

Bentrim, a freshman quarterback, directed North Dakota State's option offense flawlessly as the Bison won their first NCAA Division II national title after appearing in the playoffs four previous years.

The victory ended Central State's unbeaten string of 13 consecutive games, including a 12-0 record this year, and spoiled the Marauders' first appearance in the playoffs.

Bentrim, playing with the poise of a veteran, guided the Bison to a 28-14 halftime lead and Central State never recovered from the 21-point first-quarter explosion.

The Dakotans scored the first three times they got the ball.

Bentrim passed 10 yards to Stacy Robinson for the first score, ran 35 yards for a touchdown and then handed off to freshman running back Chad Stark, who leaped one yard for a touchdown with 53 seconds left in the first quarter.

Central State quarterback James Woody rallied the Marauders with the wind at his back in the second quarter, directing scoring drives to set up Kevin Cummings' one-yard dive and a two-yard run by Mark Corbin.

Bentrim took the Bison 80 yards against the wind to set up Jeff Willis' one-yard run with 57 seconds left in the half.

North Dakota State chose to fight into the wind to start the third quarter and blew to a 38-14 lead on a 31-yard field goal by Ken Kubisz and a five-yard run by James Molstre.

Central State rallied with a 26-yard run by Corbin for his second score of the day but North Dakota State got the final points on Kubisz's 27-yard field goal with 4:14 to play.

Air Force tops Ole Miss, 9-3

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Air Force quarterback Marty Louthan directed a ball-control Wishbone offense that set up three Sean Pavlich field goals and the 16th-ranked Falcons defeated Mississippi 9-3 under monsoon conditions in the eighth annual Independence Bowl Saturday night.

Independence Bowl

The victory was Air Force's eighth in a row and enabled the Falcons to finish the year at 10-2, becoming the first team in academy history to win 10 games in a season. Ole Miss had its five-game winning streak snapped and wound up 6-6.

Up to five inches of rain fell on Shreveport prior to kickoff, reducing the grass field to a quagmire in places. During the game, rain fell intermittently, often accompanied by lightning and gusty winds.

Air Force scored on its first possession, moving from its own 10 to the Ole Miss 26, where Pavlich kicked a 44-yard field goal. Louthan's 22-yard pass to tight end Jerry Rose was a key play on the drive.

The Falcons made it 6-0 early in the second quarter. Mike Kirby returned a punt 35 yards to the Rebel 34-yard line, and Pavlich converted from 39 yards away six plays later.

Ole Miss capitalized on an errant Louthan pitchout just before the half to get a 39-yard field goal from Neil Teevan.

Air Force took the second-half kickoff and consumed 7:01 on the clock, marching to the Mississippi 10, where Pavlich hit again, from 27 yards.

Coahoma

By JENNA BROWN

November student chosen

Donald Ewing has been selected to be the November Student of the Month at Coahoma High School. Donald is a member of the Big Red Band and participates in Bulldog athletics. A senior, Donald was chosen because of his academic excellence, his outstanding athletic efforts, and his cheerful and pleasant personality.

School jackets are being sold by the National Honor Society until Tuesday, Dec. 13. The jackets, which are red with a white bulldog emblem printed on them, can be purchased in different sizes ranging from children's sizes to adults sizes. Unprinted jackets are also available in several different colors, and a company or team logo can be printed on the jackets with an order of at least 15 jackets. There are four different styles of these jackets, which may be purchased from and National Honor Society member.

At 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 11, the school bands will present their annual Christmas concert in the high school auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

The FHA Christmas Party will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 12, in the student lounge. A scavenger hunt will be conducted to collect food for the needy families. All attending members are asked to bring something to eat.

The Coahoma annual staff will continue to well the Coahoma 1983-84 yearbooks until Dec. 16. Price for these annuals is $15.

A Christmas party will be held by the National Honor Society on Wednesday, Dec. 14, at 8:30 p.m. at their sponsors house.

The Office Education Association will sponsor a bake sale at school on Tuesday, Dec. 13, and Wednesday, Dec. 14. Cookies, cupcakes, candy, brownies, popcorn balls, and caramel apples will be sold with all proceeds being divided between the Bruce Walker Fund and the Student Lounge Fund. Donations will also be accepted for the Bruce Walker Fund.

At 6:00 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 12, in Greenwood, the freshman girls' and boys' basketball teams will play the Rangers and Rangerettes.

Tuesday, Dec. 13, the varsity and junior varsity basketball teams will play Greenwood in Coahoma beginning at 5:00 p.m.

A varsity girls' and boys' tournament has been scheduled for Dec. 15, 16, and 17 in Greenwood. Both Coahoma varsity teams will compete in this tournament.

Semester exams will be given on Thursday, Dec. 15, and Friday, Dec. 16. On Thursday at the high school, students will take their first period test from 8:30 a.m.—10:00 a.m., third period test from 10:30 a.m.—12:00 noon, and fifth period test from 1:00 p.m.—2:30 p.m. On Friday, the second period tests will be taken from 8:30 a.m.—10:00 a.m., fourth period tests from 10:30 a.m.—12:00 noon, and sixth period tests from 1:00 p.m.—2:30 p.m.

All schools will be dismissed at 2:30 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 16, for the Christmas holidays.

Politician marries constituent

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Rep. Mark Siljander, R-Mich., married Nancy Ellen Claire, a 26-year-old nurse, Saturday at an Episcopal church ceremony conducted by five ministers.

"This is my newest constituent," the Three Rivers Republican joked as he introduced his new wife after their marriage at Christ Church in this suburban Washington community.

Siljander's traditional wedding ceremony was attended by about 350 friends and relatives, most of them from Michigan and many of whom came east on chartered buses. Among those officiating at the ceremony were ministers from Michigan who had known the bride and groom.

"I feel pretty good," Siljander, 32, said after the ceremony. "You're always glad to get the whole thing over with and get on with the marriage."

Students to begin exams

Before Big Spring High School students break for the Christmas holidays they will have to show whether they've been naughty or nice in class by taking the fall semester exams.

Semester exams will be held on Thursday, Dec. 15 and Friday, Dec. 16. Exams in 2nd, 4th, and 6th period will be on Thursday, and exams in 1st, 3rd, and 5th will be on Friday.

Winners of the door decoration contest and canned food drive will be announced in the Christmas assembly Wednesday, Dec. 14.

School will be dismissed at 2:45 p.m. on Friday for the holidays. Classes will resume on Jan. 2, 1984.

The swim team will participate in a meet in Monahans on Tuesday, Dec. 13.

The girl's junior varsity basketball team will participate in the Midland Tournament Dec. 16-17.

The boy's junior varsity basketball team will play in a tournament here Dec. 16-17.

The girl's varsity basketball team will play in Midland on Monday, Dec. 12. Over the Christmas holidays they will take on Permian here on Dec. 19, play in San Angelo on Dec. 22 and play Abilene here on Jan. 2.

The boy's varsity basketball team will take on Lamesa here on Tuesday, Dec. 13, and participate in the El Paso Tournament on Dec. 16-17. During the holidays they will play in Lamesa on Dec. 20, in Snyder Dec. 22, and in Andrews Dec. 30.

German cuts short trip to give brother marrow

BRYAN, Texas (AP) — A traveling West German who was tracked down by newspapers in Texas and Germany said Saturday he would cut his trip to the United States short so his bone marrow can be used in a transplant for his leukemia-stricken brother.

Frank Engel, a 23-year-old photographer, was traveling randomly across the United States, not knowing his parents were desperately searching for him.

His 16-year-old brother, Raphael, suffers from leukemia, a malignancy of the blood and bone marrow. Frank is the only compatible candidate for giving Raphael a transplant, West German doctors said.

Engel's parents contacted the newspaper Westfale's Rundschau in their home town of Dortmund last week, hoping it could help find their older son.

The family knew from canceled checks that Frank had been at a bank in this southeastern Texas town. The West German newspaper asked its New York correspondent, Brizette Lebens, to contact the Bryan-College Station Eagle.

Card of Thanks 115

The Pain and Heartache we are feeling for the loss of our loved one, has been made easier and more bearable by you - the special people God created called FRIENDS.

You came with your love, a hug, a handshake, kind words, a smile, food, flowers, cards, donations. But most of all you were there when we needed you most.

To say "Thank-You" seems like such a small thing, but you know what is in our hearts - words cannot express.

To those wonderful men - our friends and neighbors that stripped our cotton to those who ginned it. Thank You - You are very Special.

To the ladies that prepared the Food and took it to the field and served it, Thank You.

May God's Blessings overflow in your life always.

One of our best and greatest blessings is you our friends. God bless You all.

Your diesel deserves the best.

Your diesel automobile is a big investment. So be sure to give it the special treatment it deserves. Gulf Auto Diesel fuel is specially filtered to remove water and other contaminants before they can damage your engine. Gulf also offers you a choice of two motor oils specifically designed for diesel engines. With our single-weight SAE 30 grade or our multi-weight 10W/30 grade and a Gulf Auto Diesel oil filter, you can be sure you're getting the superior protection Gulfpride is famous for. So give your diesel what it deserves. Look for the Gulf Auto Diesel sign nearest you. We're the ones with the red and yellow 'D'.

Joy to the world!

By JOY CULWELL

We are in the midst of a season known to all hunters as "deer season." My hunter, Billy Joe Culwell, has always gone and I don't mind. I certainly knew he was a deer hunter when we were going together back in 1947-48. And when we married Billy began to plan for me to enjoy his sport with him.

I was naive about it all and went along with his plans. I bought boots, long underwear and a warm coat. As the season drew nearer, we arranged for a tent. We even borrowed a rifle for me to use. We left on what I thought would be a lark. I never dreamed I would come home a confirmed non-hunter.

I liked the camping out in the tent in the hill country. I liked cooking on the Coleman stove. I didn't like getting up before dawn the next morning and putting on all my warm clothes and walking silently into what Billy called a "deer stand."

It turned out to be a high perch on a windy hill where we sat down. I was ready to sit down because we had walked several miles to it and I was ready for a rest. We sat like statues for several hours. Once I raised my rifle to see what it would feel like to fire and Billy whispered, "don't shoot." I made two or three attempts at conversation and he shushed me. There I sat on the cold ground.

Finally Billy rose and led the way back to our camp where we hurriedly ate our lunch. Then we walked several miles back to our previous spot. About 3 p.m. the wind shifted to the north and I felt a drop of rain every little bit. I prayed that it wouldn't rain hard, but it started to rain steadily and I looked over toward my husband, lover and friend and said, "shouldn't we go?"

Billy said, "No, this is increasing our chance of killing deer. I mumbled something about it increasing our chances at taking a terminal cold! Billy shushed me. Finally, just before dark, Billy looked over at me and said "aren't we having fun?"

I rose on my frozen knees and we walked and hobbled down to our camp. I fell into bed fully dressed and tried to get warm. At 3 a.m. I quit shivering and started shaking, and later sometime I got warm and drifted off to sleep. Next thing I knew, Billy was saying "get up, we're going to go hunting again."

I sat up on my cot and said "no, no, no. A thousand times no!"

I asked Billy if our marriage depended on my hunting with him and I was relieved when he said that I didn't have to hunt if I didn't want to. Well, that was a relief because I had planned to go back by the preacher's house and untie the knot that we had lovingly tied a few months earlier.

For 35 years, Billy has gone hunting and I help him pack. I love for him to go. I just am so grateful that I don't have to.

Apartment rents down in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Apartment rents have fallen 30 to 35 percent in Houston since April 1982, the Houston Apartment Association reports.

"It means a very difficult year for the industry in 1984 and into 1985," said Paul Nichols, president-elect of the organization. He predicted the occupancy rate of Houston apartments would climb throughout the year, but said he expects rents to remain the same.

The association reported that 81 percent of Houston's apartments are occupied now, up 5 percent from the all-time low in April. The group's figures show that 85,000 apartments are vacant in Houston.

In Big Spring, seven people out of 1,000 will be treated for skin cancer in one year.

TREATMENT — Dr. Thomas Long treats a patient's finger for squamous cell skin cancer by using cryosurgery. In cryosurgery, the cancerous tissue is destroyed by the application of extreme cold from a probe or spray that contains liquid nitrogen. As the liquid nitrogen is sprayed on the patient's finger, the skin cancer lesion freezes and turns white.

A KILLER — The above is a sample of malignant melanoma, a type of skin cancer that kills thousands every year. If detected and treated in time, it can almost always be cured. New moles or changes in existing ones should be examined by a doctor. Changes in size, color or shape are symptoms for the disease. In addition to melanoma, two other forms of skin cancer are basal cell carcinoma and squamous cell. All three are described below along with prevention tips.

Skin cancer in Big Spring

Disease's high percentage rate is influenced by local factors

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

The incidence of skin cancer in Big Spring is 2.5 times the national average, says Dr. Thomas Long, a dermatologist at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

An average of 2.8 persons out of 1,000 in the United States will be treated for skin cancer in one year. In Big Spring, 7 people out of 1,000 will be treated for skin cancer in one year, he said.

Long, who has been in Big Spring five months, attributes the rate partially to the "tremendous amount of sunlight," the altitude, occupational and hobby factors.

Big Spring is about 2,600 feet above sea level and closer to the equator than Boston. Therefore, more direct ultraviolet light rays hit the earth here for a longer period of time each day, and ultraviolet (UV) light has less air to pass through and is deflected.

People working in outdoor occupations — farmers, ranchers, oilfield and construction workers — are likely candidates for leathery complexions and solar keratoses. Solar keratoses are scaly growths that can become cancerous. Other people who are found spending several leisure hours in the sun get great amounts of exposure "in one dose," Long said. "There are a lot of golfers here." These people are subject to skin cancer as well. Most people are exposed to UV rays, and overexposure to these rays is the principal cause of skin cancer. The majority of all skin cancers develop on unprotected parts of the face, neck, ears, forearms and hands.

People who face a higher risk of developing the cancer are those with fair skin, light hair and eyes, and who are more likely to burn than tan. Blacks are rarely affected by the disease. They appear to be protected from sun damage by large amounts of melanin, a pigment which filters out most harmful sunlight.

IN SOUTHERN STATES, the intensity of the sunlight is 1½ times that of the northern states. The amount of UV light is highest near the equator where sun is directly overhead for more hours each day.

Skin cancer comes from cumulative sun exposure over a person's lifetime. Overexposure to UV rays can leave the skin with mottled brown spots and yellowish areas.

Less common causes of skin cancer include repeated medical and industrial X-ray exposure, scarring from disease or burns, and occupational exposure to such compounds as coal tar and arsenic.

The changes in the skin start taking place in the person's early years whether it is noticeable or not. It takes decades for the problem to show up.

Over time, UV light causes a loss of skin layers, skin thinning, and wrinkling. Afterwards, the skin's pigmentation changes.

A person begins to get keratoses or red scaly patches, which they can feel sometimes before they can see. These are pre-cancerous lesions. People with keratoses have a 20 to 25 percent chance of developing skin cancer, Long said.

About 600,000 cases of skin cancer are treated each year, more than any other form of cancer. So skin cancer is quite common, Long said. From the 600,000, 4,000 to 5,000 cases result in death. Of those, most are from malignant melanoma skin cancer.

Basal cell carcinoma is the most common form of skin cancer. It is a small, shiny, fleshy nodule on the head, neck and hands, and it does not spread to other parts of the body. Basal cell can extend below the skin to the underlying bone and cause destruction. If not treated, it will bleed, crust over and repeat its cycle.

Squamous cell cancer lesions may appear as red, scaly, plate-like patches or as nodules. It is the second most common form of skin cancer. Squamous develops on the ear's rim, the face, the lips and mouth. On rare occasions it will appear on the legs and abdomen of dark-skinned persons. Squamous cell cancer will increase in size, and will frequently develop into large fungoid masses. It can spread to other parts of the body, such as lymph nodes and lungs.

The cure rate for Basal cell and Squamous cell cancers is 95 percent. Long usually treats both with cryosurgery in his office, a technique explained later.

'Plan outdoor activities (for) eight or nine in the morning. You will get a quarter or a fifth of the ultraviolet light exposure.'

MELANOMA CANCER IS uncommon but serious. It appears as dark brown or black mole-like growths with irregular borders and pigmentation. The lesions can turn shades of red, blue and white. It is most frequently found on the upper back in both sexes, the anterior torso in men and the lower legs of women. This form of cancer can be fatal.

Long has treated three cases of melanoma since he arrived in Big Spring. "I'm happy to have picked these up," he said. "Unless they are treated early they can lead to death."

Computer programs strive to improve students' education

By RHONDA WITT
Lifestyle Writer

After entering the classroom quietly and quickly, students take their seats at "Blue Max" computer terminals at Goliad Middle School. They begin working diligently on individual reading programs.

Computer students' attitudes at Goliad, Bauer Magnet Elementary School, Runnels Junior High School and Big Spring High School are that the computers are fun and help them learn.

Hilliary Oliver, a second grader at Bauer, was working at a micro-computer on the difference between "who" and "what". A question would appear on the screen, and Hilliary would be given a choice of "what" or "who". She slowly typed in her answer, then checked it to see if it was right.

She likes learning at her own speed, because "if it goes too fast I might miss it," Hilliary said. Hilliary wants to learn how a computer works, because she wants one at home so she can learn more.

The students have to take care of the machines, so they don't mess up. Hilliary explains there are certain buttons they are not allowed to touch.

COMPUTERS ARE A growing trend in the educational field. Several years ago, computers were purchased for Runnels and Goliad's Chapter One program. Goliad's computer room can handle 24 students at a time, while Runnels can have only 12 students. Each day, 18 classes are held in the "Blue Max" classroom in which 360 Goliad students use the computers. At Runnels, about 150 students visit the XLR8 computer room twice a day.

This year, some computers from Runnels were moved to Bauer. Nearly 300 Bauer students use the 12 computers every other day.

Big Spring High School began its computer class this year. During the day, 65 students will learn something about computers. The school got its computers four years ago but was unable to start the class. However, it did have a computer club.

Goliad, Runnels and Bauer are using the Computer Curriculum Corporation in their programs. Goliad is the main station, while Bauer and Runnels are remote stations.

THE COMPUTER PROGRAM at Runnels and Goliad is Chapter One, a ten minute program designed to help students who are below their grade level in math and language arts.

"These are the beginning of the computer kids," said Shirley McNallen, Runnels computer instructor. "These are the children reaping the benefits (of the program). The program is strictly for education, not games."

The students are chosen based on CAT scores. Sixth graders who are four points below their grade level, and seventh graders who are five points below are put into the program.

Reports on the students are run every week and at the end of the month. "These reports show teachers what areas the students need help in," said Debbie Eppersole, Goliad computer instructor.

"The computer levels them off after their first 10 placement sessions. It either lowers the level or raises the level according to how well they are doing," she said.

To call up their individual computer program, a student only has to put their assigned number in. "The computer knows who they are and what level they are at."

At the end of each CCC program, the student's scores come up. The computer will show how many problems were attempted, how many were answered right, and what the percentage of correct answers was. When a student answers a question correctly, the computer encourages the students by saying things like "That's correct, Mary" or "Good, Johnnie".

If a student misses a question, the question will reappear on other programs until he gets it right, Mrs. McNallen said. The question will not leave the program until the student understands it.

"IN THIS CLASSROOM everyone wins. There's no pressure, and they (the students) appreciate it. If a student comprehends what he is doing, he is a winner," Mrs. McNallen said.

How to buy the best pecans

With this year's large pecan crop in Texas, consumers have an excellent opportunity to make some good (or bad) buys. Here's what to look for when buying pecans.

When buying inshell pecans remember that you are purchasing kernels. A 10 pound bag of nuts could contain as high or as low as three pounds of kernels. Different varieties of pecans have different percent kernels. Look for the high percent kernel. They may run 60 percent. Cheyenne, Desirable Kiowa, Burkett, Western and Mohawk should have 56 to 59 percent kernel while natives, Delmas and Stuarts will usually shell out as less than 50 percent. Do not be surprised if some nuts have no kernels at all and do not pay premium prices for nuts with poorly filled or shriveled kernels.

Big pecans are great if they have good kernels. Varieties and orchard management can affect nut size. One pound of inshell pecans could have good kernels. Mohawk, Choctaw and Desirable are large pecans. Wichita, Western and Cheyenne are medium sized and Sioux, Caddo and Natives are small. Remember that well-filled small pecans such as Sioux, or Caddo are always better than poorly filled large pecans.

Insects, diseased, poor storage conditions and drought can influence pecan quality. Stink bugs can cause bitter black spots on kernels. Pecan weevil grubs inside the nut can eat the entire kernel. Diseases can cause poor percent of shriveled kernels. Late season droughts can reduce the percent kernel significantly. Dark kernels are common for some varieties. Check the kernels before you buy. For the best buy, purchase large pecans which have a high percent kernel and are free of blemishes. Kernel flavor is an individual thing. Some people have definite preferences about pecan nut-meat flavor. Don't sacrifice a wise purchase of quality nuts for strict varietal loyalty.

NUTRITION — Pecans are not only delicious, they're nutritious. These delicate nuts are an excellent source of protein, fat and carbohydrates — energy-producing nutrients. However, their reputation as fattening is misleading because 10 large halves contain 65 calories. The calories come mainly from the fat, but the fat is mostly polyunsaturated and contains no cholesterol. These tasty nuts also contain iron, calcium, phosphorus, potassium, and vitamins A, B, and C.

STORAGE — To preserve freshness at home, store pecans in clean, dry, air-tight containers in a cool place, free from odors. Because of their fat content, pecans readily absorb odors and can become rancid.

Stored at room temperature, shelled pecans will last two or three months. Refrigerated, they'll keep to twelve months. If frozen, they'll keep at least two years, often longer. Under the same conditions, unshelled pecans will generally keep twice as long as shelled ones. Frozen pecans need not be thawed to use in cooking. Also, the low moisture content allows them to be frozen many times without losing quality.

USES — a traditional dessert favorite, pecans are also great with vegetables, meats, breads and cheeses. They add a tasty flair to almost any recipe; for example try them in your turkey or hen dressing.

Also, pecans make attractive, practical gifts. Wrap them decorative tins or glass jars with colorful trim.

Dr. Donohue

Compartment syndrome

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been running for approximately a year and a half now, and have just recently developed considerable pain in the calf muscle. It starts with a tingling sensation and then feels like the legs lose their strength — as though they were going to sleep. I used to run about six miles non-stop, but now am able to run only about a mile and a half. This pain starts after I've run a quarter of a mile. I have charley horses in my legs at night. I've tried different ways of running and different exercises, but nothing seems to help. Is there anything you could suggest as to the cause or cure for this? — J.O.

There are many possible causes for each of your symptoms — the tingling, the loss of strength, the cramping — but having all these together brings to mind a condition called compartmental syndrome.

Muscles, nerves and blood vessels of the legs are neatly packaged in separate compartments. These compartments are located at the sides and at the back of the legs. If something happens to cause even the slightest swelling within one of the compartments, the muscles, nerves and blood vessels therein become compressed, with predictable results.

If the compression becomes great, then blood flow in an artery can be slowed or stopped entirely. You would have pain when you tried to run any distance. Nerve compression would cause tingling sensations, and there would be muscle weakness. Are your legs cold to the touch or is there a bluish cast to them? Those are other tip-offs to compartmental syndrome.

Even if my guess is wrong, the cure for whatever is ailing you should start with a visit to your doctor. He can confirm or disprove compartmental syndrome. If it is this problem, perhaps only rest and leg elevation will be required to relieve the swelling responsible for the symptoms. If the compression is great there may be need to relieve it by surgically enlarging the compartment covering. Your symptoms are not ones to be left to serious consequences. And you should forgo running until you get an evaluation.

FOR B.L. — Years of stress on the thumb from golf can lead to osteoarthritis of that joint. If you could find a way to alter your grip, even a little, it might diminish the force against the thumb. Meanwhile, rest and warm soaks are in order. If a tendon is involved, you may need a steroid injection to bring relief.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Donohue, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611 for a copy of the booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Furr's pianist Gail Sutphen weds

Congratulations to GAIL SUTPHEN and LONNIE D. LEGG on their marriage, Dec. 6. The couple exchanged vows at First Christian Church with the REV. VICTOR SEDINGER officiating. Lonnie is from Dennison. Gail is the woman who has brought music to many people's ears at Furr's Cafeteria. MR. AND MRS. JAMES L. JOHNSON were honor attendants. Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, Gail and Lonnie will make their home in Big Spring.

KENDA-LEE HURT of Carrollton, granddaughter of dance instructor ORA BURSON, appeared in the Christmas Parade Saturday morning. Kenda-Lee won the talent award in last summer's Starlight Special and received a scholarship to Howard College. She and her mother RENE HURT visited Mrs. Burson for the weekend.

An announcement of SANDRA SUE KUYKENDALL and STEVEN SHANNON THOMAS' wedding appeared in this month's issue of Ultra magazine. The magazine also showed a photograph of them going down the aisle. The couple was married at First Presbyterian Church, June 10. Sandra is the daughter of DR. AND MRS. JAMES WAYNE KUYKENDALL, 2608 Rebecca. Steven is the son of MR. AND MRS. FLOYD R. THOMAS of El Paso. The couple has made their home in El Paso.

JUDY GRAY just returned from a vacation in Bakersfield, Calif. where she visited her parents. She says it was a very low key, quiet vacation. Sounds like she got lots of needed rest.

MARY KENNY is back on her feet again and looking good. She had surgery on her feet in October. She had to take it easy and stay off her feet for about a month. I saw her at the Blue Blazer's meeting, Tuesday. And if you didn't know, Mary began a freelance photography business recently.

Tax & financial planning

TAX TRIMMING

If you haven't talked to your accountant lately about how you might cut your taxes for 1983, don't delay any longer.

Review the following list with him as a starting point to find what will work for you. Those ideas that turn out to be too late for this year may be advisable for 1984. Tax planning is a year-round activity; it's never too early for it.

- * Bad debts — What deduction is available?
- * Dependency exemptions — Will any be lost? Working college students, elderly parents, divorce situations need review.
- * Inventory donated to charity — What tax break exists?
- * Bunching deductions every other year — Is it better than taking the standard deduction?
- * Option to sell on installment sale — Better than a cash sale?
- * Tax shelters — Should you invest before year-end?
- * Equipment purchases — Should they be done before year-end for 1983 depreciation and investment credit?
- * Year-end bonuses — Good idea? Will the changes in social security taxes affect income tax savings?
- * Postponing income and accelerating expenses — What are the options?
- * Tax credits — Which will apply? Energy, R&D, targeted jobs, political and charitable contributions, earned income, elderly, child and dependent care, etc.
- * Deductible expenses that could be overlooked: job hunting, moving, adoption, casualties.
- * Residence sales — What's required to defer the taxes?

A tax planning session with your advisor will be time and money well spent.

Dear Abby

Christmas presents

DEAR ABBY: Last year you devoted an entire column on what to give — and not to give — for Christmas. It was wonderful. Please give it another run.

SENIOR CITIZEN IN SAN DIEGO
DEAR READERS: Can you believe it's time to prepare for the holidays again? Well, it is, so do yourself a favor and do your Christmas shopping early.

If you're wondering what to give Aunt Jennie or Grandpa, who don't get out much, let me tell you what not to give them:

No dusting powder, after-shave or cologne. (They probably have several unopened boxes gathering dust on their closet shelves.)

Grandpa doesn't need another necktie, and Aunt Bertha doesn't really want any more brooches, necklaces or bracelets.

With the price of groceries so high, folks who live on a fixed income probably would be delighted to receive a basket of goodies. Include small cans of salmon, chicken, ham, tuna, vegetables, fruit, instant coffee, tea bags, crackers, cookies and instant soup mixes.

Older people who live in confined quarters do not need more "things" that are ornamental only. Don't send music boxes, statuettes or other bric-a-brac.

A truly thoughtful gift: postcards and some lined stationery with envelopes and a generous supply of postage stamps. (Enclose some felt-tip pens, too.)

The homebound will appreciate a box of greeting cards for all occasions so that they too can send birthday, anniversary, graduation, get-well and condolence cards to others. (Be a sport! Stamp some envelopes.)

Don't give anyone a gift of clothing unless you're absolutely sure the size is right. That goes for the color and style, too.

If you're tempted to pass along a scarf, purse, wallet—or some useless little doodad you received three Christmases ago—please don't; the recipient will probably find it just as useless as you did. (Besides, you might get it back the year after next.)

If someone on your gift list is living on a pension, a check for any amount would be much more appreciated than a frivolous little trinket. Or give someone who's counting pennies a year's subscription to a newspaper or magazine you know he or she will enjoy.

If you buy a gift on sale, be sure it's appropriate, since if the recipient tries to take it back he will be told, "Sorry, sale merchandise is not returnable."

Don't give anyone a pet unless you're absolutely sure it's wanted and will be properly cared for. And if you want to delight someone who considers his pet a "member of the family," include a tin of cat or dog food for the pet.

Don't give wine or liquor unless you're sure the recipients imbibe. Candy, nuts and fruitcake make wonderful gifts for those who aren't counting calories, but please have compassion for those who are, and lead them not into temptation.

Resist giving toddlers stuffed animals and dolls that are bigger than they are. And parents will thank you for not sending their children horns, drums, sirens or whistles. If you give a child a game or book, be sure it's in the appropriate age range.

Instead of giving someone a gift with permission to "exchange it if it's not what you want," save yourself (and him) much time and effort and give him a gift certificate in the first place.

Holiday time can be very depressing for people who are alone, so if you know someone who might be alone and lonely, give him (or her) the best gift of all—an invitation to spend the holidays with you and your family. Loneliness is the ultimate poverty. Love, ABBY

(If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Skin cancer

"As a dermatologist, I see warts, dermatosis, acne, and psoriasis, but it is also nice to deal with serious problems and prevent them. They are really important."

Skin cancer is treated by electro-surgery, cryosurgery or surgery. In cryosurgery, the cancerous tissue is destroyed by the application of extreme cold from a probe or spray that contains liquid nitrogen. It is used to treat the more common forms of skin cancer. In electro-surgery, cancerous tissue is dried with a high frequency current applied through a pointed needle electrode. Surgery may be used to remove surface lesions or lesions that have invaded tissue under the skin's surface.

It's often used to treat melanoma. Precancerous lesions may be treated with topical chemotherapy anti-cancer creams and lotions.

"PLAN SUN EXPOSURE carefully," Long advises, his first tip for preventing skin cancer. "Wear appropriate clothing. For men, that means a hat that shades the tops of the ears and nose, and long sleeve cotton shirts."

Long also suggested using sun protective agents. "When buying a sun protective agent, the most important factor to look for is the Sun Protection Factor (SPF) value. Fifteen is the highest." That means it takes 15 times as much sun exposure to get the same effect as it would if a person was not wearing the protective agent at all. The lower the number the less protective the agent. Cocoa butter and similar products have no protective value, Long said.

A third suggestion, "Plan outdoor activities (for) eight or nine in the morning. You will get a quarter or a fifth of the ultraviolet light exposure," Long said. When scientists looked at UV light coming into the earth's atmosphere at different times, they found that from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. 75 percent of the sun's UV rays come through the atmosphere, making it a more dangerous time for sun exposure.

Computers

"The priority in here is to get them to learn. Every ten minutes spent at the computer is equal to an hour in the classroom. I feel it is to get them ready for high school," McNallen said. Some students have done more than 200 computer programs.

At Bauer, all students are required to attend a 10 minute computer program every other day. "It is intense and requires concentration. The program is all reinforcement. It reinforces what the teacher teaches in the classroom," Mrs. Saxton said.

"I think it is meant to give our kids something extra. Computers are going to be a part of our lives from now on, and the earlier they become involved with computers the better acquainted they'll be with them," said Toni Saxton, Bauer computer instructor.

"I think they (computers) help in that they can individualize work for each student at the student's own level. Enthusiasm for learning tends to stay high, and they enjoy learning more," Ms. Saxton said.

"It exposes them to new things. The program helps them learn what a terminal is, so it isn't a foreign object to them," said Debbie Bingham, second grade teacher at Bauer. "Some of them pick it up (computer learning) so much faster than I do, because their little minds are open to new concepts."

"The computer helps me individualize each student and teach them things that we wouldn't normally cover in class," she said. "It's a fun way to teach them things that they would otherwise think was boring." In Bauer's extended day program, computer students use micro-computers. Mrs. Saxton teaches two-45 minutes program, which she says "it's more of a game and fun-type program."

THE HIGH SCHOOL'S computer course is different from the other schools' computer programs. The course is half computer literacy and half computer application. Computer literacy includes the history of computing and computers, and computer lingo. The three most popular forms of applications are text editing, data based management and Visicalc. "The course is to teach people how to use computers, and how to operate and program them. Students learn how a computer can be useful in a variety of situations," said Joseph Dawes, BSHS computer instructor.

Computers give students a new way of problem solving, which makes them better thinkers, he said. "Anyone who goes to college should be ready to work with computers."

"The main thing is that I'm proud of what we've got. I think there are few places in the states that are as well equipped for handling students," he said.

Visions of Christmas past

When Ebenezer Scrooge was visited by the Ghost of Christmas Past, he was reminded of the happiness he found in those long-ago days.

Today, we can find that same sort of happiness when we remember our favorite Christmas. Christmas stories from our past can spread the spirit of the holiday by sharing them with others.

This year, The Big Spring Herald is asking readers to send in their stories about "My Most Memorable Christmas." Herald staff members will select the best stories and publish them in the Lifestyle section on Christmas.

Your story doesn't have to be about the "perfect" holiday that was plentifully supplied with food and gifts. It may be a story of when money and gifts were scarce but love was abundant. Or when something major happened that makes that Christmas stand out in your mind. Maybe the Christmas tree caught fire, or Santa brought a brand new baby to the family.

We would love to read your stories. Please send them to "My Most Memorable Christmas," Lifestyle Department, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. All letters become the property of The Big Spring Herald and cannot be returned.

Men and women alike, suffer from a condition known as telangiectasia. It occurs when capillaries near the skin's surface swell with blood. The result is a network of red blood vessels on the cheeks and sides of the nose. The chief cause of this fairly common condition is damage from overexposure to the sun's ultraviolet rays. Blustery winds and extreme heat or cold may temporarily dilate the capillaries. Spicy foods and alcohol can have the same effect. Fair or thin-skinned people may inherit a tendency toward telangiectasia. Combat this condition by using a sunscreen in the winter and a moisturizer in the summer.

At LA CONTESSA, we keep on top of all the latest in perming techniques, cuts, coloring and chemical hair relaxing, etc. If you are looking for a change, new image etc., we'll be happy to assist you in making the right selection. Serving your beauty and hair care needs is our prime consideration. Look for us at our convenient location at 1508 Marcy. We are open to serve you Tues.-Sat. Call 267-2187 for an appointment.

MR. and MRS. DOM BONURA
...celebrate 25th anniversary

Mr., Mrs. Dom Bonura

Dominick and Helene Bonura were given a surprise party in honor of their 25th anniversary Nov. 30 at their home at 1304 E. 18th.

The party was hosted by Delores Erlandson and Wilma Evans. Friends and members of their family brought various foods for a pot luck dinner. Mrs. Evans and her husband, Larry, performed a skit about the Bonura's engagement written by Steve Baldwin.

Bonura was born in Albion, Michigan. Mrs. Bonura, the former Helene Bibla, was born in St. Albans, Long Island, New York.

Bonura is dean of students at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf. Mrs. Bonura is coordinator of the Paraprofessional Program for the Hearing Impaired at SWCID. Prior to coming to Big Spring, Bonura was assistant dean at the New Hampshire Vocational Technical College and Mrs. Bonura was the New Hampshire state coordinator of special services.

The couple's children, Anthony, Alexander, and Nancy Anne, all reside in Big Spring.

MR. AND MRS. JACKIE RINARD
...celebrate 25th anniversary

The Jackie Rinards

Jackie and Charlene Rinard, Rt. 3, will be honored for their 25th anniversary at an open house at the couple's home today. The event will be from 2 to 5 p.m. and will be hosted by the couple's children.

Rinard, formerly of Dundee, met the former Linda Charlene Chambers, originally of Semoure, during the summer of 1958. He ate at a restaurant in Olney where she was a waitress. They were married at her parent's home Dec. 6, 1958 with the Rev. Curtis Brown officiating at the ceremony.

The Rinards have three children: Ray Rinard, Rt. 3; Brenda McCutcheon, East 18th; and Jim Rinard, Rt. 3. They also have two grandchildren.

Following their wedding the Rinards lived in Olney for about three years. Rinard was a roughneck and Mrs. Rinard was a homemaker. They moved to Big Spring in 1961 when Rinard went to work for Cosden Refinery. They have lived at their home on Route 3 for 22 years. Mrs. Rinard worked at Al's Bar-B-Q for two years prior to becoming its owner. She has owned the business for three years. Their children graduated from Coahoma High School.

The couple belong to Midway Baptist Church. They enjoy camping, fishing and sports. The Rinards believe their years of marriage have all been good ones. "We have lots to be thankful for," the Rinard said.

The R.W. Dolans

Rudolph and Exibea Dolan, Sterling City Rt., will celebrate their 60th anniversary with a reception at Berea Baptist Church Fellowship Hall from 2 to 4 p.m., Dec. 17. The reception will be hosted by the couple's children.

The couple married Dec. 20, 1923 in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Burt. The Rev. Lum Autry officiated. Dolan was born in Cowlington, Okla. Mrs. Dolan is the former Mary Exibea Burt of Logan County, Ark.

The couple has lived in Cowlington, Tucker and Nowata, all in Oklahoma, Eunice, N.M., and Big Spring. Dolan, who is retired, has farmed, worked for Forrest Oil Co. and Shell Pipeline Co. Mrs. Dolan is a homemaker.

The couple has nine children: LeRoy Dolan, Sterling City Rt.; Doyle Dolan of McCamey; Dema Thieme of San Leandro, Calif.; R.D. Dolan of Sonora, Calif.; Mary Ellen Lamb of Red River, N.M.; Betty Gisch of Lubbock; Rudy Dolan of San Leandro, Calif.; Sue Ann Riddle of Coahoma and Judy Nichols of Coahoma. The couple has 27 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Dolan is a member of the Church of Christ. Mrs. Dolan is a member of the Berea Baptist Church, Elbow Home Extension Club and Golden Age Sunday School Class.

The couple enjoys spending time with their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Jewels & Gems
by Ralph and Lynette Brooks

THE SCAIF

At the end of the fifteenth century, a diamond cutter, from Antwerp invented a machine that could change the shape of diamonds. The "scaif" was a polishing wheel that was impregnated with a mixture of diamond dust and olive oil and revolutionized the art of diamond cutting. By holding the rough diamond against the whirling disc, the diamond could be ground away to the desired angle. With the scaif, it became possible to symmetrically polish all the facets of a diamond at angles that reflected the maximum amount of light. By applying the laws of optics to this new technique, sparkling gems became possible.

Whether you are shopping for diamonds for an Anniversary, Engagement, or Holiday gift we invite you to make your first stop at BLUM'S JEWELERS, 222 Main, 267-6335. Offering you over 22 years of experience and expertise in the field of fine jewelry and gift items including: Waterford crystal, Reed & Barton, fine china and much more. For one stop shopping convenience, selection and personal service visit with us anytime Mon.-Sat. 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. MasterCard & Visa accepted.

— HINT —
Before the scaif, diamond cutting was a crude process limited to cleaving and "bruting."

West Texas is a good choice for raising pecan trees

It wasn't so many years ago that horticulturists claimed Pecan trees could not be grown in West Texas but they evidently underestimated the determination and ingenuity of West Texans. Today, the West Texas area is well known for its quality and quantity of its Pecan production.

Pecan breeders, most notably those located at the USDA experiment station in Brownwood, began back in the early fifties and sixties releasing varieties they had developed suited for the adverse conditions in West Texas. Many of these varieties now grown in West Texas include Wichita, Mohawk, Comanche, Apache, Sioux, Shoshoni and Cheyenne.

A Wichita entry, owned by Joe Mack Gaskins of Knott, in Howard County's recent Pecan Show was the Champion In-Shell variety of pecan. The In-Shell varieties are those larger pecans that generally are marketed in the shell and require fewer nuts to make a pound than those smaller varieties more generally and to commercial interests such as the candy market.

Some of the more common older, more familiar varieties that also do quite well in West Texas include the Burkett, a fairly large, round nut easily identified by its speckling on its kernels and has a high quality flavor. It is one of the all-time favorites. Another hardy West Texas "old-timer" is the Stuart. It is rather hard-shelled pecan but a constant high yielder. Lee Freeze of Big Spring had the State Winning Stuart in 1981.

One of the first varieties grown successfully in West Texas was the Western Schley, a hard adaptation from the old Eastern Schley. Today it is sold under the name of simply, Western. It is known particularly for its drought tolerance.

Another popular pecan is the Mahan. It makes a particularly attractive yard tree, with its large dark green, heavy foliage. It makes a large, thin, "paper-shell" pecan, but has a rather bad reputation of its kernels not filling out well. Extra heavy watering at crucial developmental periods help with this problem some.

Several other good varieties of pecans are grown in West Texas. Some of these include the Elliot (J.E. Peugh of Knott has excellent trees at their home) Success, Cape Fear, and Texas Giant.

There are some excellent Natives, which are from trees originally growing along Texas river banks and creeks for centuries and were a mainstay in the Indian and early settler's diets.

Pecans reproduce sexually, that is, the blooms of the trees must be pollinated, either from the same tree or some other tree. Pecan pollen can travel quite a distance sometimes. This is the reason that pecans produced from nut planted from an excellent variety most often are disappointing to the grower. Such trees may be grafted later on to a more desirable variety, however.

Pecans are very interesting trees and offer much to the home owner or the commercial producer. For additional planting and management of pecan trees in West Texas, we encourage your visit to the Howard County Extension Office located in the basement of the Howard County Courthouse in Big Spring.

Edwina Reagan elected as VAVS representative

Edwina Reagan was elected Veteran's Administration Volunteer Services representative of the Howard Glasscock Chapter of the American Red Cross during its meeting Nov. 22. The meeting was held at VA Hospital. The chapter's treasurer will pay the estate of Sharon Nuckolls the amount due her. The county judge in Glasscock County will send in names of potential board members. Charlene Voorhies was elected to serve as treasurer upon the resignation of Dan Wise. The chapter board requests the chapter be reclassified as a Group IV chapter. Chairman Hicks will meet with Dave Clark and the Midland Chapter to look into the possibility of merging into the Midland chapter. No meeting will be held in December. The January 1984 meeting will be announced.

Safety tip protects toddlers

Lights are a big part of Christmas decorating. But if you have a toddler, avoid using extension cords to light your decorations, advises Susan Brooke, pediatric nurse practitioner at University of Rochester Medical Center.

If the cord is plugged in, a crawling child attracted by the light may suffer a disfiguring burn if he puts the opposite end, where there are several outlets, in his mouth.

If an extension cord must be used, plug any of its outlets not in use with the special safety caps available at grocery, drug and hardware stores.

Engagement policy

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald from anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks before the wedding.

We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form should be signed by the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or parents of either.

We will use a picture of the couple or the bride-elect. The picture must be of a quality that will reproduce well in the newspaper. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to our paper. If only grandparents live in our area, please, give their names and addresses.

The information may be brought by the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry, or mailed to the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720.

Call us at (915) 267-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

Engagement Storkclub

COUPLE TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. Glen D. Welch, 2702 Ann Dr., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Connie Lynn, to Scott McGraw of Midland. McGraw is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. McGraw of Midland. The couple will wed March 3, 1984 at 14th and Main Church of Christ with Royce Clay, pastor, officiating.

Wedding policy

Weddings are published in the Sunday Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. A wedding form, available at the Herald, should be filled out, signed by either the bride, bridegroom or a member of either family and in our office no later than noon the Wednesday before the wedding.

The information may be accompanied by a photograph either of the bride or the couple. A black and white glossy 5 x 7 inch print is preferred. The picture must be of sufficient quality to reproduce in the newspaper. Pictures may be picked up following publication.

If a wedding writeup is turned in after the wedding, the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.

Forms for wedding stories may be picked up at the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry. Writeups may be brought in to the department or mailed to Big Spring Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. Please call our office if you have problems or questions. Our number is (915) 263-7331.
