Arsenic test results to be ready Monday

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Knott residents will have to wait until Monday to find out the results of tests taken by state agencies to determine the arsenic concentration in farmers' wells.

Results of tests on well water samples conducted by the state Department of Public Health and the Department of Agriculture will be available Monday afternoon, Linda White, an official with the Department of Public Health office in Lubbock, said Friday.

Meanwhile, public health officials are continuing to take samples of well water from the area, Knott residents said.

The health department did have results on the tests of the well water from the Bud Hughes farm, Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders said.

Both samples, one taken directly from the well and one taken from the water supply in the house, had .1 parts per million of arsenic, Saunders said. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has set the tolerance level for arsenic in water at .05 parts per million.

However, Saunders said health department officials told him that EPA officials were considering raising the maximum constituent level for arsenic to .1 instead of .05 parts per million.

Mrs. Joe Hughes said the recent results indicate that the arsenic level in their well water is "going down gradually." The level of arsenic contained in the water, when first tested, was .14 parts per million, Mrs. Hughes said.

"I don't know what's happening. I think the water's carrying it down the stream," she said. Mrs. Hughes also said a sample of her blood tested for arsenic level contained .7 parts per million. "about like if I was a heavy smoker, they told me. Of course, I don't smoke. It was really good, they said."

Results from tests of her husband's blood sample and that of another neighbor whose well was found to contain arsenic in the water are not yet available, Mrs. Hughes said Friday.

Health officials remain uncertain where the arsenic is coming from, but Saunders said he thinks the arsenic in the well water originally came from defoliants used to kill cotton before stripping the plants.

The arsenic leaked into the ground through deep cracks and fissures in the ground created by the drought, and the arsenic acid from the defoliants was washed into the ground during heavy rains, he said.

Big Spring veterinarian Joe Neff agreed with Saunders, saying that "there is a possibility (the arsenic acid in the defoliants) leaked down in there."

Except for the Hughes' cattle that died, Neff said he has not had any complaints that residents' livestock may be suffering from arsenic poisoning.

However, the Hughes' cattle, which were found to contain high levels of arsenic in their livers, were "about the only cattle in the area," Neff said.

He said there was one horse, a Shetland pony, that also was drinking from the same water as the cattle, but said the horse must have "drank very little of the water."

"It hasn't had any effect on him so far," Neff said.

The veterinarian said farmers in the area had pro-

State gets $100 million in Mobil suit

AUSTIN (AP) — The Mobil Oil Corp. suit was settled Friday with Texas and South Texas rancher Clinton Manges taking more than $500 million in an out-of-court agreement of their original claim of $1.7 billion.

"The settlement was arranged to avoid continuing costly litigation," said a statement issued shortly after noon by Attorney General Jim Mattox, Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, Manges, and Mobil.

Under the agreement, which has been the subject of intense negotiations for almost two weeks, the state will get "well in excess" of $100 million, while Manges' Duval County Ranch Co. will get "well in excess of $400 million."

The figures were furnished by a reliable source, who asked not to be identified.

"We could not have reached such an historic agreement without a true spirit of cooperation on everyone's part," said Mauro. "These negotiations were so stormy that every party just packed up and walked out at one time or another," said Mattox.

Mauro praised Mattox's "tenacious bargaining," and Mattox said "the dedication and energy of Land Commissioner Mauro spent in pursuing the negotiations were critical to reaching this tentative agreement."

Mattox said the agreement was signed Friday by all parties but would not become final until confirmed in court, probably in Laredo state district court early next week. A pretrial hearing scheduled in that court Thursday was postponed so settlement negotiations could continue.

The court fight started when Manges filed suit against Mobil. He contended that the oil company had violated its mineral leases on his Duval County land by failing to start a new well within 90 days after completing a well several times during the more than half-century the company and its predecessors held the leases.

The state joined Manges in the suit, contending it lost royalties on the oil leases, and together Manges and the state sought approximately $1.7 billion from Mobil.

The source who reported the settlement said it involved a "conservative estimate" of $500 million. The actual amount paid Manges and the state will be determined by royalties and production requirements.

Mobil will give the state an $8 million down payment on Jan. 5, according to the source, who also gave these details:

— The state will get $70 million over 10 years, ending with a $50 million payment on Jan. 7, 1994.

— Manges' company will get $390 million over 10 years, with a $42 million down payment due on Jan. 5.

Mobil said the agreement calls for Mobil Production Texas & New Mexico Inc. to assign all its interest in 14,000 acres of state-owned minerals and 50,000 acres of minerals owned by Manges plus company production facilities to a third party approved by the state and Manges, reserving 1-64th share of all future production.

The source said the third party was represented by Shearson-American Express, which has put up $220 million in guarantees in case it defaults on its bonus payments or royalties.

The third party will pay a bonus of about $3,100 an acre and agree to drill on a new site somewhere on the lease once every 90 days for the next 10 years.

Refunds due WTU customers

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN — Typical residential customers of West Texas Utilities Co. can expect about a $5 refund on their February bills, a company spokesman estimated Friday.

Although final rates have yet to be submitted for Public Utility Commission approval, company spokesman Sherwin McNair said the refunds are likely to be made during the February billing cycle.

The commission granted a $12 million increase in annual revenues for the company on Monday, but exact residential rates are not expected to be approved until late this month.

Refunds with interest are required because the company started charging higher bonded rates on Oct. 22. Those temporary rates are based on an annual increase of $18.8 million. The company wanted $26.6 million.

Utilities with pending rate hikes are allowed by state law to set their own rates subject to refund, if after three months the utility commission has not ruled on the company's request.

McNair also noted that because of the higher bonded rates the company has been charging in all but 30 West Texas cities, a residential customer using 600 kilowatt hours of electricity in January can expect to see a 5.7 percent decrease in the monthly bill from $49.56 to $46.85.

In those cities still paying the old lower rate, that same customer can expect a 6.1 percent increase from $44.16 to $46.85.

Exact rates, McNair said, will be filed with the commission early next week.

Explosion rips oil facility; 3 injured

ARANSAS PASS, Texas (AP) — Five oil storage tanks erupted into a giant fireball Friday during a series of explosions that injured three workers — one critically — and spewed black smoke and flames into the air for several hours, authorities said.

The initial explosion of three tanks rocked the Redfish Bay Terminal, just south of Aransas Pass, at about 9:30 a.m. and burned out of control for more than three hours.

While firefighters from several towns battled the flames, two more tanks at the eight-tank facility became caught in the inferno, said Aransas Pass police dispatcher Donna Stephens.

"It looked like a small atomic shell going off," — refinery employee

Two of the injured men were taken to Coastal Bend Hospital in Aransas Pass and were reported in fair condition with burns to their faces and extremities.

The third man, rushed about 20 miles to Memorial Medical Center in Corpus Christi, was listed in critical condition with extensive burns to the upper part of his body, officials said.

Officials with Redfish Bay Terminal Inc. declined comment on any possible cause behind the explosions. The terminal manager said, "I want to wait until I can get my employees accounted for before I make a statement."

The tanks contained crude oil and naphtha, an industrial solvent and thinner, officials said. The fifth tank exploded at about 10:45 a.m., 75 minutes after the first explosion.

"It looked like a small atomic shell going off," said Don Owen, a gatekeeper at the shipyard division of Lloyd Richardson Construction. Owen was about a mile from the fire.

"Everything out there is just black, with flames shooting everywhere," Owen said.

Robert Mitchell, who works at a marina across Redfish Bay from the storage facility, said he "saw a big ball of fire go up.... It's a pretty good-sized fire. It's a pretty bad situation."

Texas Department of Public Safety Sgt. Frank Hall said some crude oil spilled into Redfish Bay following the explosion. Hall said a backhoe was called in to construct a small dam in order to contain the small spill.

Dr. Del Edwardson of the Coastal Bend Hospital in Aransas Pass identified two of the injured men as Thomas Martinez, 22, and Walter Meza, age unknown. Both men are Aransas Pass residents, he said.

The pair suffered first- and second-degree burns and were listed in fair condition.

The third man, who arrived at Memorial Medical Center at about 11:20 a.m., had not yet been identified by authorities. He was listed in critical condition.

The Redfish Bay Terminal is a 165-acre bulk storage facility that services offshore oil production off the Texas coast.

Patty Hearst buys house

WESTPORT, Conn. — This wealthy community 40 miles north of New York is getting crowded with celebrities. Paul Newman, Rodney Dangerfield and Neil Sadaka have been joined by Patricia Hearst Shaw, who was kidnapped by revolutionaries in 1974.

Mrs. Shaw, daughter of publishing magnate Randolph Hearst, and her husband Bernard bought a two-story home in the town's Greens Farms section, and have been living there with their 2-year-old daughter.

Shaw, in an interview with The Telegram of Bridgeport on Thursday, asked that the home's address not be publicized. They have built a reinforced fence around the house and a dog patrols the grounds.

"I think she enjoys her privacy," said a neighbor. Police Chief William Stefan said the Shaws informed the department when they moved into town.

Sly Stone pleads guilty

FORT MYERS, Fla. — Rock singer Sly Stone pleaded no contest Friday to charges of possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia and was allowed to remain free on bond until sentencing Jan. 9.

Judge Thomas Reese said the 39-year-old musician need not remain in Florida while awaiting sentencing. Both charges, stemming from Stone's June arrest at a Fort Myers motel, carry maximum penalties of five years in prison.

But Allan Parvey, Stone's attorney, said his client would be sentenced under Florida's new guidelines, which call for one year in jail, probation, a fine, or some combination of all three. Reese said sentences on both charges would run concurrently.

Stone, lead singer of Sly & The Family Stone, a rock group popular in the 1970s, was jailed for several hours Thursday after he was late for his scheduled trial before Reese.

Parvey said his client had been delayed on the way from Miami because rain backed up traffic.

Choreographer honored

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — Choreographer Katherine Dunham has been honored at the Haitian National Institute of Culture and Arts.

Ms. Dunham played a major role in arranging dance routines for "Cabin in the Sky," an American musical featuring an all-black cast. She also has maintained a home here for years.

Among the invited guests Thursday were Haiti's President-for-Life, Jean Claude Duvalier, and actor Richard Burton, who recently purchased a home in Petitionville near Port-au-Prince.

Man wins $7.1 million

PORT JERVIS, N.Y. — A sheet metal worker who won the largest jackpot ever awarded to one person in New York state's lottery says he hasn't thought about what he'll do with the $7.1 million.

However, "It should certainly take care of our needs," said Vincent Coda, 60. He and his wife Amy have two sons.

When he saw the winning numbers, Coda said Thursday, he thought he would have to share the jackpot with "40 or 50" people. "It's hard to imagine I'm the only winner. It hasn't penetrated yet," he said.

Coda said lottery officials asked him to go to Albany to discuss arrangements for payment, but he declined because he can't stand the "public fuss."

And besides, he had furnaces to clean. "A lady called me today. She really had one full of soot," he said.

New York's biggest Lotto jackpot to date was $8.5 million on Nov. 2, but that was divided among four winners. The previous record amount won by one person in the game was $5 million.

Mayor does witness duty

BALTIMORE — His testimony helped convict a man accused of pulling a false fire alarm, but Mayor William Donald Schaefer isn't sure if he wants to repeat the performance.

"It isn't easy to be a witness," Schaefer said after 20 minutes on the stand Thursday. "It seems to me at some times the witness can almost become the defendant."

The four-term mayor testified that he saw a young defendant pull a fire alarm near City Hall on Sept. 24.

"I looked up into his face as he touched the fire alarm," he said. "I saw his face. I saw him touch the box."

Schaefer and defense attorney Bert Mazaroff had a brief agitated exchange after the mayor's testimony was interrupted several times by the lawyer's objections.

"Mr. Mazaroff," Schaefer said in an exasperated voice, "I am positive I saw him pull the alarm."

Judge denies starvation wish

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — A judge on Friday denied a cerebral palsy victim's request to starve herself to death in a county hospital, saying that to grant her death-wish "would have a devastating effect on other patients and other handicapped people in the nation."

Superior Court Judge John H. Hews said that since Elizabeth Bouvia, 26, was not terminally ill, society's interest in preserving life and the medical profession's obligation to do so outweighed her right to self-determination.

"Our society values life," he said. "The plaintiff is not terminal and her life will be preserved by this decision."

"The court has determined the issue is whether or not a severely handicapped, mentally healthy person who is not terminally ill has the right to end her life with the assistance of society," Hews said.

"The court concludes she does not," he said. "The plaintiff in this instance does have a fundamental right to terminate her own life, but this right has been overcome by the strong state interests in this case."

Ms. Bouvia, a wheelchair-bound quadriplegic with almost no motor control, testified during a seven-day hearing that she suffered from painful arthritis and did not want to live "trapped in a useless body" and dependent on others.

Opponents of Ms. Bouvia's starvation wish, including handicapped groups such as Advocacy for the Developmentally Disabled, argued that permitting her death would send a message to other handicapped people that their lives were not worth living.

FBI asks public for help

FORT WORTH — The FBI is asking the public to help catch a "modern-day Bonnie and Clyde" who have robbed small-town North Texas banks of $1 million since 1970, pulling off about one heist a year.

"We're dealing with suspects who are very professional," said FBI Agent Darrell W. Shaver. "They're a thorn in our side; they have been for 13 years."

Shaver said the two usually wear ski masks, cowboy hats, gloves and bulletproof vests for their jobs. They carry portable radio scanners to monitor police activity during the robbery.

The man — described as "good-looking" and possessing a "forceful voice" — is armed with an automatic rifle and the woman totes a shotgun, Shaver said.

He said the couple appear to be more sophisticated than most robbers, most recently protecting their escape with a metal bullet-proof shield.

"These are different from your run-of-the-mill bank robbers," Shaver said. He likened them to the notorious bank-robbing couple, Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, of the 1930s.

The couple is believed to be responsible for 14 bank robberies over 13 years, the last on Nov. 4 at the Fannin Bank in Windom. All of the robberies occur in towns of less than 1,000 population with no local police force, officials said.

Shaver said witnesses saw the man before he put on a ski mask in the Windom robbery, and described him as 40 to 45 years old, 5-foot-10 to 6-feet tall and 195 pounds.

"They described him as well-groomed and said he was good-looking," Shaver said. "They were very insistent about that."

The woman has been described by witnesses as 30 to 40 years old, 5-foot-3 to 5-foot-5 and 170 pounds.

The man is believed to have robbed four banks by himself from 1970 to 1973. Then, police believe, he was joined by the woman in 10 more robberies since 1975.

The five-year federal statute of limitations has elapsed for the first seven robberies. But the North Central Texas Bankers Security Committee is offering a $50,000 reward for information leading to indictments in the seven most recent heists.

The FBI has had at least 15 suspects in the case, Shaver said. "We really don't have anyone right now we feel is the right one," he told the Dallas Morning News.

Solidarity call draws few

GDANSK — Faced with massive numbers of police deployed in Solidarity strongholds, few Poles responded Friday to the union's call for nationwide demonstrations in honor of workers killed in food riots 13 years ago.

It was the smallest response to a Solidarity call in two years.

About 40 people gathered briefly on a street corner near Gdansk's Lenin shipyard, shouted "Solidarity!" several times, and dispersed before police intervened.

Lech Walesa's wife, Danuta, passed through a cordon of police at the shipyard and quietly laid a wreath at a monument to the workers. She was standing in for her husband who decided against appearing for fear of losing his job at the shipyard.

Communist authorities barred him from delivering a speech but said he could lay a wreath. Walesa, granted a six-day sick leave by doctors who diagnosed the flu, was quoted by his wife this morning as saying the shipyard management might view his laying of flowers as "a breach of sick-leave rules and fire me from work."

In his prepared speech, made available Thursday, the 40-year-old Solidarity leader called for the government to restore his outlawed union, but did not endorse the underground's call for demonstrations Friday.

Hundreds of police blocked an attempted demonstration by Solidarity supporters in Warsaw and in the western city of Poznan. Massive police presence was also reported in Krakow and Szczecin on the Baltic coast.

All have been scenes of anti-government demonstrations repeatedly called by Solidarity since the Dec. 13, 1981 declaration of martial law.

Riots and protests broke out frequently in 1982, but the scale of the unrest has been diminishing steadily since November of that year, when a Solidarity strike call was widely ignored.

About 2,000 people bundled against frigid temperatures in the early evening marched silently in Warsaw along the main downtown street, Marszalkowska, where the underground asked its supporters to demonstrate.

Scores of regular police moved with the crowd, randomly checking the documents of young people. The marchers dispersed when police warned over loudspeakers that they were authorized to detain people.

Communist authorities claim the political situation is "normalizing" after three years of upheaval, but are moving cautiously toward price hikes which they say will raise the cost of living by as much as 7 percent early next year.

No date has been set for the increases, which Polish officials now say will be delayed until February at the earliest.

Group wants Bell rate request thrown out

AUSTIN (AP) — Three groups contesting Southwestern Bell's $1.3 billion rate hike case said Friday the request should be thrown out.

Consumers Union, the League of United Latin-American Citizens and Texas ACORN contend the company has yet to prove it needs more money.

Southwestern Bell says much of the added revenue is needed to make up profits that will be lost Jan. 1 when the company becomes independent.

The request filed by the groups on Friday said the company's entire case is based on "wholly speculative and unsubstantiated numbers." PUC members are not allowed the "authority to hazard a guess as to the appropriateness of the company's speculation," the groups said.

Phillip McClendon

This is the age of widespread fear and anxiety, aggravated by war abroad and violence at home. A similar phenomenon occurred in Europe in the seventeenth century; the continent was hit by an epidemic of plagues, and men reacted by turning to cults and superstitions, soothing and stargazing, hoping to find a palliative.

We live in a time of confusion and disintegration, when traditional mores of behavior are being discarded. In a climate of permissiveness, man has been deprived of a sense of security and stability; he is adrift without an anchor. In his confusion and bewilderment, he turns like the ancient Roman during the decline of his empire to astrology and sorcery, hoping to find a panacea.

Snow, ice plague south

An unusual Dixie snowstorm spread up to half a foot of snow Friday from Texas to Alabama, closing highways and schools and causing hundreds of accidents in cities poorly equipped to handle such weather.

Traffic deaths on icy Deep South roads brought the number of weather-related fatalities this week to 18, including a half-dozen drownings in floods in the Northeast and exposure deaths in subzero cold in the upper Midwest.

Meanwhile, a lingering storm in the Great Lakes area kept pouring on the snow, with a foot and a half falling since Thursday at Marquette, Mich. A warning for an additional half-foot was issued for upper Michigan.

The upper Midwest remained locked in a deep freeze with the wind chill factor more than 40 degrees below zero in places. The thermometer read minus 24 on Friday morning at Bismarck, N.D., minus 21 at International Falls, Minn., minus 20 at Pickstown, S.D., and minus 11 at Mason City, Iowa. The reading of one below zero at Amarillo, Texas, was a record.

The National Weather Service offered no respite. In its 30-day forecast issued Friday, it predicted below-normal temperatures through mid-January in the area from Montana east to Michigan and south to Oklahoma and Arkansas. Warmer than usual weather is possible at the southern tip of California and along the Atlantic coast from Long Island north.

Snow fell Friday from Dallas to northern Alabama, with accumulations ranging up to 6 inches across southern Oklahoma and northern Texas to about 4 inches across northwestern Louisiana and up to 7 1/2 inches in southwestern Arkansas. About 1 inch had fallen by noon in Clarksdale, in the Mississippi Delta, with about the same amount in Waterloo in northwestern Alabama.

In Texas, Interstate 35 was impassable in the Denton area, where some schools closed. Many accidents also were reported in Dallas, which had 3 inches of snow by the morning rush hour.

Authorities in Amarillo said the snow had caused 185 accidents since Thursday morning. Three separate accidents involving tractor-trailer trucks blocked all lanes on U.S. 87 on Thursday.

Other People's Properties Mean Profits

Licensing Is Big Business

Ewoks from "Return of the Jedi" are big licensed hits this season. The three "Star Wars" movies have made millions of dollars in license royalties for Lucasfilm, the company that produced the "Star Wars" movies.

Character Licenses: Strawberry Shortcake® is a popular "cute" little character that was introduced in 1980. Her name was picked because research showed that people love strawberries. Books, greeting cards and TV specials have helped to make her well-known to little girls and their mothers.

A license gives you permission to do something. For example, a driver's license gives you permission to drive. When you go Christmas shopping or see the ads on Saturday morning television, you will see many examples of another kind of licensing. This type of licensing is big business and getting even bigger.

In this kind of licensing, a company producing a product gets permission to use such things as characters, trademarks, pictures or art that do not belong to it. These are often called "properties" because they are someone else's property. The company hopes these licenses will help boost its sales. Garfield is an example of a very "hot" licensing property. In just five years, over 2,000 different items have been produced using the Garfield license.

Snoopy, Garfield, Ronald McDonald, Smurfs, E.T. and Cathy are just a few of the "hot" licenses this season. Chris Evert's name also boosts tennis racket sales. Superman, Pac-Man and Dungeons and Dragons are also popular.

Designer Licenses: Ralph Lauren is famous for his Polo trademark. The Ralph Lauren name has appeared on everything from perfume to luggage to the boys' clothing pictured here.

How Licensing Works

1983 STICKER SALES: WE CAN DO EVER BETTER.

HELLO, I NEED YOUR STARS. SOUNDS INTERESTING.

6 PERCENT OF THE WHOLESALE PRICE IS THE USUAL.

SEND THIS TO THE MOVIE MAKERS.

MY STICKER STORE: MY FAVORITE STARS. I'LL TAKE 25 OF EACH.

Let's say that the sales manager for a sticker company is looking for a way to increase his sales. He hears that a movie that is bound to be a hit is coming out soon. He contacts the people who are making the film. The sales manager gets a license and signs a contract that says he has the right to use the movie stars' pictures on his stickers. As a part of the contract, he agrees to pay the movie maker a fee (called a royalty) for the license to use the stars' pictures. The sales manager hopes that the stars' stickers will be so familiar and loved that fans will choose them over all others.

Licensing is very risky business. If the movie is not a big success, the sticker company could lose a lot of money and be "stuck" with a lot of unsold stickers.

Main idea: to inform children of how licensing works. Also discussed are copyrights and trademarks. The following is a list of activities to be used with this issue. They are listed in order of difficulty, with the easier pre-reader assignments listed first. Ask the children to do the following:

1. Are there pictures or drawings of people or characters you are familiar with? Identify those you have seen before. Where have you seen them?
2. What products do you have at home or see in your school or class that you believe are licensed? See how many licensed products you can count in your class.
3. Design an ad for a licensed product you have created.
4. Look on a product or book for a copyright symbol.
5. Discuss celebrity licenses. Where do you see them? Which ones do you see? Does seeing a celebrity promote a product make you want to buy it?
6. Look in your paper for advertisements for licensed products.
7. Pretend you have a product you want licensed. Act out the steps in the story "How Licensing Works."
8. Discuss why you think licensing is important to manufacturers.
9. Underline the following words in this issue: permission, profit, trademark, royalty, copyright. Make up a sentence for each word.
10. Discuss the graph on licensed products. Change the figures to a bar graph.

State promoting sale of surplus dairy cows

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas may be able to sell as many as 30,000 surplus dairy cows to Mexico, state Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said Friday. Some may even go to South Korea, Hightower told a Capitol news conference.

Hightower said the marketing proposal with Mexico results from recent federal legislation that encourages milk producers to cut back on production by as much as 30 percent.

"Mexico has been interested for some time in buying cows to build up their dairy business but they have been unable to pay the going price of about $1,200 a head or more for bred heifers, settling instead for heifer calves," Hightower said.

stead of sending them to the domestic beef market. Hightower said Mexico should be able to purchase quality dairy cows at about $200 above the beef slaughter market price of $350 to $450.

"That way, you've got three happy faces — U.S. dairy producers get a better price for milk, our cattle raisers don't have all the surplus dumped on the domestic market, and Mexico gets good quality milk cows at affordable price," he said.

Hightower said four top Mexican dairy officials, accompanied by TDA specialists, made an inspection tour of Texas dairy farms this week, including stops in Dallas, Stephenville, San Antonio, Austin and Sulphur Springs.

He estimated the federal program would become effective about the middle of January and TDA would know by early February how many cattle are available.

...death ends long struggle

Former NY Giants back dies of cancer in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Doug Kotar, a former running back for the New York Giants who had battled brain cancer since mid-1982, died today at Montefiore Hospital, a hospital spokeswoman said. He was 32.

Rose Ann Kotar, Kotar's sister-in-law, said none of his relatives was with him when he died at 7:25 a.m. Funeral arrangements were incomplete, she said.

Only weeks after his retirement from the National Football League team, Kotar underwent eight hours of surgery in August 1982 for a golf ball-sized tumor in his brain. But doctors at the University Hospital of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey determined that the risks were too great to try and remove the tumor.

After several weeks of chemotherapy in the hospital at Newark, N.J., Kotar, his left side partially paralyzed, was moved to Montefiore Hospital so he could be closer to his family and his home in the Pittsburgh-area community of Canonsburg.

Earlier this year, Kotar's wife, Donna, 30, said her husband struggled to live so he could see his children, Doug Jr., 10, and Christie, 7, grow up.

"He wants to fight to watch his kids grow up," Mrs. Kotar said. "His father died when Doug was 14. He didn't get to see Doug growing up or being big in sports."

Rose Ann Kotar said Mrs. Kotar visited her husband daily, but the phone call reporting his death came before she could arrive for Friday's visit.

"Doug Kotar was a valued member of the New York Giants and a valued friend of those of us with the Giants," said George Young, the Giants' general manager. "His courage in fighting the disease that took his life was in every way consistent with the toughness that made him the player and the person he was."

Kotar's former coaches at Canon-McMillan High School called him "the finest athlete in the school's history," and said he strived to become better than people thought he could.

Kotar had a steady but unspectacular career as a running back at the University of Kentucky, where he gained 1,167 yards in four seasons. He signed as a free agent with the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1974.

At 5-foot-10½ and 205 pounds, Kotar was given little chance to make the team and was traded to the Giants four days later.

He became a starter for the Giants and often carried the ball in key situations. Kotar ran for 3,380 yards in eight seasons, making him fourth on the team's all-time rushing list.

Kotar retired in July 1982 because of injuries. He missed the 1980 season with torn ligaments and the last nine games of 1981 with a separated shoulder.

Mrs. Kotar, who began dating him when she was a high school sophomore, said Kotar's sports career hadn't changed his personality.

"It didn't affect him as a family person. He was into football, but he was into family, too," she said this year.

Midland Lee plays for 5-A state title

IRVING — Midland Lee and Converse-Judson meet this afternoon in Texas Stadium in the first-even televised Class 5-A state championship football game.

The Rebels bring a 13-2 season record and six-game winning streak into the game while Judson, formerly ranked No. 1 in the state by The Associated Press, is 14-1. The only loss for the District 27-5A champs came in league play to San Antonio Roosevelt by a 35-24 score.

Lee finished second in District 4-5A behind Odessa Permian although the Rebels downed the Panthers 20-7 in their league meeting. The teams met again in the quarterfinals with Lee again winning, this time 20-0.

Fullback Issac Garnett is the team's offensive leader with 1,922 yards rushing while halfbacks Tyrone Thurman and Walter Jones have combined for another 1,700 yards. Jones scored three fourth quarter touchdowns in last week's 35-14 semifinals victory over Plano.

The defensive-minded Rebels are lead by tackles Pat Stevens and Carlos Ortega and linebacker Michael Johnson.

Converse-Judson is paced on offense by Chris Pryor who has piled up 2,600 yards and scored 32 touchdowns. Receivers Alton Martin and Chip Grammar have caught 44 and 39 passes respectively.

Lee has advanced to the state title game with a 30-3 win over Amarillo in bi-district play, 48-14 over El Paso Irvin in area, 23-6 over Fort Worth Trimble Tech in regionals and the two recent victories over Permian and Plano.

Judson nipped San Antonio Clark 24-21 in bi-district, downed Dulles 20-7, defeated Alice 25-6, shut out San Antonio Churchill 39-0 and eliminated Houston Yates 29-19 last week.

The Rebels will play without standout defensive back Andre Mayfield who has undergone knee surgery.

The game will be shown locally on cable channel 7. In other playoff games today, Lubbock Estacado takes on Bay City for the Class 4-A title at 1 p.m. at Memorial Stadium in Austin; Sweeny and Daingerfield play for the Class 3-A championship at 7 p.m. in Baylor Stadium in Waco; and Groveton and Boyd tangle for Class 2-A honors at 2 p.m. in Baylor Stadium.

In the Class A championship game played last night in Weatherford, Knox City won its 14th straight game with a 27-20 upset of top-ranked and previously unbeaten Bremond.

FIRST TOUCHDOWN OF THE NIGHT — Miami Dolphins wide receiver Mark Duper (85) takes a 20-yard scoring pass from quarterback Don Strock for a touchdown during the first quarter of Friday's game against the New York Jets in the Orange Bowl. Miami won the game, 34-14.

Miami tops Jets, 34-14

MIAMI (AP) — Miami safety Mike Kozlowski returned two Richard Todd interceptions for touchdowns within a 61-second span of the fourth quarter Friday as the AFC East champion Dolphins rolled to a 34-14 victory over the New York Jets.

The triumph was the ninth in 10 games for the 12-4 Dolphins clinching the homefield advantage in their first playoff game.

The Jets, who lost to Miami in the AFC title game a year ago, closed out a disappointing season with a 7-9 record and lost the fifth straight game to Miami.

Kozlowski became the 14th player in NFL history to return two interceptions for touchdowns, taking the thefts 38 and 35 yards to set off a wild Dolphin celebration in the end zone with 8:38 left. The two interceptions brought to 12 the number of Todd passes intercepted by Miami in their last three meetings.

The touchdowns broke open a tight game the Dolphins led 21-14 on the strength of two Uwe von Schamann field goals.

Von Schamann's 49-yard field goal with 1:12 left in third quarter snapped a 14-14 tie, and his 20-yarder made it 20-14 with 10:44 remaining.

Less than a minute later, Kozlowski picked off a Todd pass intended for Jerome Barkum and carried it 38 yards down the right sideline to give Dolphins a 27-14 lead.

Two plays and 1:01 later, the fourth year pro intercepted another Todd pass this time coming across the middle of the field and then taking the same sideline route to score from 35 yards out.

Knox City shocks Bremond

WEATHERFORD, Texas (AP) — Otis Lockhart scored two touchdowns to propel Knox City to a 27-20 come-from-behind upset over top-ranked Bremond to capture the Class A high school football championship Friday night.

The Greyhounds, 14-1, trailed 20-0 in the first period, but a fumble-plagued Tiger offense and an injury to starting quarterback Brad Vann aided in the win.

Greyhound quarterback Wayne Hutchinson made a pitchback to Lockhart following a four-play drive. Lockhart ran it in 18 yards for the TD with 9:28 remaining in the game.

The Greyhounds had tied it 20-20 on a Hutchinson hand-off to Lockhart, who ran it in one yard to score with 3:37 left in the third quarter.

The Greyhounds had entered the second half with renewed spirit, as Hutchinson engineered a 16-yard scoring pass to fullback Jerry Gutierrez. Hutchinson's kick was good to bring Knox City closer to 20-12.

Vann, who was felled twice on the field, was taken out of the game early in the second half, but returned with less than nine minutes remaining in the game.

The Tigers rolled to an early lead with two first-quarter touchdowns.

The first drive, an 11-play, 83-yard effort, culminated in a 36-yard TD pass from Vann to split end Andy Taylor with 8:11 remaining in the first quarter.

Vann pitched out to tailback Van Taylor four times during the drive.

Sophomore Mickey Greensage kicked the extra point.

Less than seven minutes later, Vann led a six-play, 73-yard drive as the Tigers scored again.

Vann made an inside roll to Van Taylor, a college prospect. He dashed six yards to score with 1:17 left in the quarter.

The TD was preceded by a 39-yard keeper by Vann from the Greyhound 47.

Vann then pitched to Van Taylor for two, before making a quarterback sneak for six yards to put the Tigers at first and goal.

In the second quarter, Van Taylor scored from four yards out with 6:48 remaining in the period. The kick failed.

The Greyhounds first got on the scoreboard with a 68-yard run by Hutchinson from four yards out in the first half, following a five-play drive.

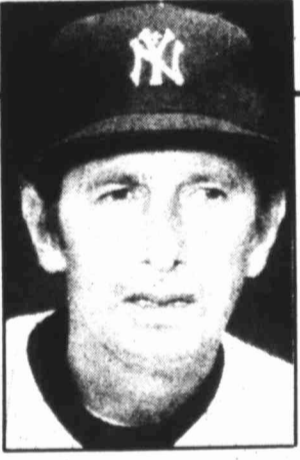

Hutchinson faked inside, then kept for the run.

GEORGE STEINBRENNER
...fires 11th manager

3 strikes, yer out

Steinbrenner's axe falls again, Martin canned for third time

...again unemployed

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Martin's third tenure as manager of the New York Yankees ended Friday when he was fired by owner George Steinbrenner, who named first base coach Yogi Berra the new pilot.

Martin, who has four years left on a five-year, $2 million contract, will remain as an adviser.

The dismissal marked the sixth time Martin has been fired as a major league manager. He resigned from the Yankees under pressure in 1978.

The long-expected announcement came at a jammed press conference at Yankee Stadium and marked the 11th managerial change Steinbrenner has made since heading the group of partners who purchased the team in 1973.

It is the second time Berra, the 58-year-old Hall of Fame catcher, has been named manager of the team. He led the Yankees to the American League pennant in 1964 but after New York lost the seventh game of the World Series to St. Louis, Berra was fired.

He later managed the New York Mets from 1972 through 1975, taking that team to the National League pennant in 1973. He is one of only three major league managers to have won pennants in both leagues. The others are Joe McCarthy and Alvin Dark.

The Martin-Berra announcement came a few hours after Steinbrenner met with Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who is investigating the owner's comments and behavior during the pine-tar bat incident last summer which cost the Yankees a victory over the Kansas City Royals.

That was only one of a series of stormy episodes that marked Martin's year as manager. He was suspended twice during the season by then-American League President Lee MacPhail, first for three days in April for kicking dirt on umpire Drew Coble and then for two games in August after calling umpire Dale Ford, "a stone liar."

He used a bat to destroy a toilet commode in a fury after the Yankees lost a game in Cleveland and became embroiled in a dispute with a researcher from the New York Times in the team's clubhouse.

Steinbrenner came close to firing him after the researcher charged that Martin had used abusive language to her but then changed his mind after a number of witnesses defended the manager.

Martin, 55, survived that crisis and completed the season as the Yankees finished third in the American League East behind the World Champion Baltimore Orioles.

When Steinbrenner brought Martin back last Jan. 11, he called the manager "a winner, who puts fans in the park." The team won 91 games, 12 more than they had in a dismal fifth place finish the year before, and attendance improved by more than 200,000 fans.

But a number of key players bridled under Martin's abrasive style. Late in the season, outfielder Steve Kemp, first baseman Ken Griffey and relief ace Rich Gossage all said they did not want to play for him again. Gossage is a free agent and although his agent, Jerry Kapstein, has denied that the Yankee managerial situation would be a factor, it was thought that Martin's firing might give Steinbrenner an edge in signing the pitcher.

In 1978, Martin resigned under fire from Steinbrenner after saying the owner and slugger Reggie Jackson were made for each other.

"One's a born liar; The other's convicted," Martin said, referring to Steinbrenner's $15,000 fine for Watergate-related political activities.

Martin's stormy managerial career began at Minnesota in 1969. He was fired after one year, despite winning the American League West title. From 1971-1973, he managed at Detroit. Fired by the Tigers on Sept. 1, 1973, he was hired one week later by the Texas Rangers. He lasted in Texas until July 20, 1975 and after being fired there, was hired for the first time by Steinbrenner on Aug. 1.

Martin's Yankees won American League pennants in 1976 and 1977. Then came the "liars" remark and his resignation July 25, 1978. A week later, Steinbrenner stunned the baseball community, promising that Martin would be back as field manager in 1980. That timetable was speeded up and Martin returned June 18, 1979. The following October, he got into a fight in a Minnesota hotel with a marshmallow salesman and Steinbrenner fired him.

Martin was out of work only until the following February, when he was named manager of the Oakland A's. He took the team to the AL West title in 1981 but lost to the Yankees in the League Championship Series. A year later, he was fired by the A's and then hired, for the third time by Steinbrenner for the Yankees.

The switch to Berra had been rumored for some time and was expected to be announced formally at the winter baseball meetings in Nashville last week. But again, Steinbrenner delayed the move.

Steinbrenner's other managers have been Ralph Houk, Bill Virdon, Bob Lemon (twice), Dick Howser, Gene Michael (twice), and Clyde King. Houk, Virdon and Howser are now managing other major league teams. Lemon, Michael and King remain on the Yankee payroll in other capacities.

Parkland powers past Big Spring

EL PASO — El Paso Parkland advanced into the consolation finals of the Jefferson High invitational basketball tournament with a 61-44 victory over Big Spring here Friday afternoon.

The loss was the sixth straight for the Steers who fell to 1-12 overall. Big Spring tests the loser of the Riverside-El Paso High game today at 2:30 p.m. Parkland plays the winner of that same game for consolation honors.

Alex Darley, a 5-10 guard, scored a game-high 31 points for the Matadors. When the pin-point shooter didn't hit from outside, he followed his shots and scored on second and third efforts, Steer coaches said.

Big Spring coach Mike Randle went with a new lineup, starting Jimmy Brown and Dale Crenshaw at the guard positions and Billy Cole, Mike Leuschner and sophomore Mike Howie around the basket.

The Steers fell behind by eight points after the first quarter and trailed 36-24 after three quarters. Big Spring surged to within seven points with six minutes to play but the Matadors scored on three quick baskets to put the game away.

Jimmy Brown scored 17 points, hitting 8 of 18 shots, to lead the Steers. Chris Roberts and John Howie added 10 points each while Leuschner and Mike Howie combined for 10 of their team's 21 rebounds.

Big Spring hit 18 of 47 shots for 38 per cent and committed 27 turnovers in the loss. Parkland sank only 11 of 29 free shots for 39 per cent.

The Steers return to Big Spring for their final home game before Christmas Tuesday night against Lamesa.

Heston offended by 'Nazi' remark

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Charlton Heston claims Screen Actors Guild president Ed Asner characterized him as a "Nazi," but a guild official says Heston misunderstood the remarks in a speech about a proposed merger of two actors' unions.

Heston, himself a former president of the SAG, demanded an apology from Asner and said Thursday he supports a call for Asner's ouster as head of the 54,000-member guild.

The two actors have clashed on whether the Screen Extras Guild should merge with the SAG. Heston opposes the move.

Asner told a SAG meeting Sunday that a 1982 vote on the proposal was defeated in part by "a spirit of chauvinism, a perception, fostered by merger opponents, that actors were a 'master race' among performers and therefore the only ones entitled to the protection of a union contract."

Heston charged Thursday that Asner "characterized those who disagreed as adhering to a master-race philosophy. I take that to mean that he called me a Nazi — not only me but the considerable thousands, including seven past presidents of the Screen Actors Guild, who disagree with him in the extras merger."

SAG headquarters referred a request for Asner comment Thursday to guild spokeswoman Kim

Fellner, who termed Heston's remarks "ridiculous."

"The whole brouhaha about the remark in the speech is entirely unwarranted given the remarks that were actually made, in the context in which they were made," Ms. Fellner said. "We're sorry they misunderstood, but we're not sorry for the remarks. There will be no apology forthcoming; none is required; we think this whole thing is ridiculous."

Heston, 60, said he supports a separate demand for Asner's resignation by Actors Working for an Actors Guild, a dissident group that called for a boycott of a recent SAG election.

Asner, 54, star of the old "Lou Grant" TV show, is in his second two-year term as the SAG's president.

Heston said merging the SAG and the SEG's 2,500 members "provides no conceivable advantage for actors."

NBC hopeful despite poor ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — The failure of all of NBC's new prime-time shows and the network's continued low ratings have been major disappointments to an advertising community expecting improvement. But most commercial buyers feel NBC is in better shape than its Nielsen numbers suggest.

The disagreement on Madison Avenue and Sixth Avenue's network row may stem from the fact that NBC, whether by design or desperation, is taking an unconventional approach to television success. NBC, with more Emmy awards than ABC and CBS combined, is going for big-city, wealthier and more discerning viewers.

You won't hear the CBS and ABC brass say, as Grant Tinker, NBC's chairman, did: "We're out not to be No. 3." Yet Tinker, after 2½ years on the job, is frustrated that NBC hasn't made more strides against second-rated ABC.

One of NBC's achievements is programs that appeal to advertisers' most coveted viewers, adults aged 18-49. The A.C. Nielsen Co., measuring the period from Sept. 26 to Nov. 20, rates ABC No. 1 with an average of 11.7 percent of the viewers in that age group watching TV. NBC is second, with 10.4 percent and CBS is third with 10.3 percent.

Despite NBC's more competitive position with certain audiences, NBC has failed to improve its 15.1 percent average prime-time rating from last season. With CBS drawing 18.3 percent of the nation's TV homes and ABC 17.5 percent after 11 weeks of the new season.

NBC's faith has been rewarded in renewing low-rated but critically acclaimed programs from last season. "Cheers," "Remington Steele," "Family Ties" and "St. Elsewhere" have gained popularity. Of NBC's 11 returning shows, eight have increased ratings.

But, while NBC's new shows from last season are doing better now, NBC's new shows from this season are all failed or failing.

Recently, the network canceled "Bay City Blues," "Boone," "For Love and Honor," "Manimal," and "Mr. Smith." "Jennifer Slept Here" and "The Roustlers" are "in hiatus" with slim prospects, while the other two new shows, "The Yellow Rose" and "We Got It Made," the only new NBC series to break the top 50, are drooping in the national ratings.

WARM IDEA — A passing pedestrian admires George Morris' winter headgear as he waits for a bus as the temperature fell to the low 30s Friday. Morris purchased a piece of carpet to keep his feet warm on his bathroom floor, but put it to work immediately to keep his ears from becoming frostbitten.

Police badge shirt leads to arrest

DENVER (AP) — A T-shirt emblazoned with a replica of a Denver police badge has landed a 20-year-old man in court on charges of impersonating an officer.

The defendant, John Hathaway, on Thursday described the case as "sort of ridiculous."

And Police Chief Thomas Coogan says the case has caused him to crack down on the sale of such items.

Police acknowledge that for years, the Protective Association and individual officers have sold T-shirts, gym shorts, and baseball-style caps with badges and the words, "Denver Police" printed on them.

Hathaway said he bought his shirt last July from a friend who had bought it from a police officer for $5. Hathaway said he wore it several times before Sept. 17, when he ran afoul of Patrolman David Roberts.

On that day, Hathaway was wearing the T-shirt, a pair of blue jeans, and boots when he drove his tow truck to the site of a traffic accident to see if anyone needed a tow.

No one needed a tow, but Roberts issued him a summons for impersonating an officer. He also forced Hathaway to take off the shirt and confiscated it as evidence.

Government holds weird auction

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (AP) — Petite combat boots, firetruck sirens, outboard motors and body bags are going on the block next week when federal officials hold a pre-Christmas auction of surplus government equipment valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The goods were seized in 1967 from the Randolph County farm of Woodrow Yokum, a state Highway Department official in the 1960s who was convicted of acquiring the equipment fraudulently and was sentenced to four years in prison.

Prospective buyers may inspect the goods Monday in preparation for the sale Tuesday, which will be conducted at the U.S. Army Depot in Point Pleasant by U.S. Marshal Ron Donnell, who says sales will be on a cash-and-carry basis.

"Oh, we have just about everything that you might imagine," Donnell said from his Elkins office. "There are a number of fairly expensive 12-gauge shotguns that could bring $500 to $800 each, and the binoculars are in excellent shape. There is a big aircraft fire extinguisher carried on a dolly and a crate of unused 35mm film, even TV TelePrompTers."

He said ham operators who have old sets might be able to find parts at the sale. And for puttering around the house, Donnell said he'll be auctioning off pneumatic tools, including a jackhammer, plus some generators, welders, carpenter and plumbing tools, and gasoline engines.

"We even have a semi-trailer and a bulldozer," Donnell said. "There's also a 1963 Imperial car and outboard motors. We have surveying equipment, woodworking machines and enough electronic and TV equipment for a station. If some people want to do their Christmas shopping we can offer tape recorders, slide and film projectors ..."

"Hunters could have a field day with the shotguns and binoculars and there's also several hundred pairs of military fatigues — but they're only in the small size. We have a lot of combat boots — only in size 8½. A small guy who hunts can find what he wants."

Yokum claimed that he paid for most of the goods and that federal prosecutors never proved the items were obtained illegally. Yokum, who now operates a grocery store at Beverly, began federal court action in 1973 to obtain control of the items that were not involved in his prosecution.

Contacted at his store Thursday, Yokum said he preferred not to comment about the auction.

Battleship duty lures former sailors

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — One was bored with his job, another just got tired of fishing and another was lured back into uniform by the prospect of finishing an interrupted Navy career aboard a battleship.

Whatever their reasons, 135 retired sailors and reservists, some as old as 55, are back on active duty and undergoing training to serve aboard the reactivated battleship Iowa.

Don Johnson, 54, was working for an air-conditioning business in Phoenix, Ariz., when a veterans publication that men with battleship experience were needed for the Iowa. He had been in the Navy from 1946 to 1952 and served in the Korean War.

"My wife supported me all the way until I received my notice and she couldn't believe it," said Johnson, a burly chief engineer with tattooed arms. "She thought I was too old."

Johnson, who served aboard the battleships Missouri and Wisconsin in his first Navy hitch, saw serving aboard the Iowa as "an absolutely perfect way to end my career, on a battleship, the way I began it."

Johnson was among more than 4,000 reservists and retired sailors who volunteered to serve aboard the Iowa, due to be recommissioned next July. The average age of those applying was 46.

The reservists and retirees, the largest group to return voluntarily to duty aboard one ship since Korea, will be part of the ship's crew of 1,500 enlisted men and 67 officers.

Johnson and others training at the Norfolk Naval Base said they were drawn back by the "sailor's dream" of serving on a battleship.

The crewmen range in age from 17 to 55, said Cmdr. John Chernesky, the ship's executive officer who is supervising the training.

Chernesky, a youthful-looking 39, admitted he was pessimistic about the retired sailors and reservists, who were called back for their skills and to avoid depleting active duty forces.

"My initial impression based on the numbers was that we could have done without them," Chernesky said. "If they were poor sailors, we could have put them aside and it wouldn't have been a problem. But exactly the opposite has been the case. They've been front-runners in almost every case."

The older sailors are eager to learn and "set a real positive example" for young crew members, Chernesky said.

There's no special treatment for the retirees and reservists in training. They had to pass a physical fitness test that included a 1½-mile run, 40 to 80 situps and toe-touching exercises.

The retired sailors and reservists are filling more than two dozen specialties, from navigators to boiler technicians to electronic warfare specialists.

Petty Officer 1st Class Ronald Schultz, 33, said he was "frustrated and bored" working in a bank near Pittsburgh when he heard navigators were needed aboard the Iowa.

Schultz, a reservist who served a two-year hitch in the 1970s, saw a way not only to satisfy "a little itch in the bottom of my foot," but to increase his salary about $250 to $300 a month and possibly make the Navy a career.

Storekeeper 2nd Class Thomas Debick, 40, left his job with an air-conditioning installer in Phoenix, sold his home and brought his wife and two children with him to Norfolk.

Debick, a reservist whose Navy stint from 1962 to 1970 included combat in Vietnam, said he simply missed the military.

Master Chief Boiler Technician Wayne Ashmore, 48, of Fresno, Calif., retired three years ago after 27 years in the Navy and had been spending most of his time fishing. The lure was battleship service and the chance to make a 30-year

CRMWD deliveries decline

Colorado River Municipal Water District water deliveries to area cities in November dropped below the billion-gallon level for the first time in a year because of decreases in deliveries to Odessa and Midland, CRMWD general manager Owen Ivie said.

Water deliveries from the district for November totaled 1,059.195 million gallons, 167 million gallons, or 13.63 percent, less than the total delivered in November 1982.

The district shipped 945.932 million gallons to cities in November, down 11.61 percent from last year, when the district delivered 124.225 million gallons. Mining and industrial deliveries were down 43 million gallons, or 27.54 percent, from last year.

Deliveries to both Midland and Odessa were down 15.98 percent, Ivie said. Odessa received 363.897 million gallons this month, down 78.5 million gallons from last November.
