How's that? DWI
Q. Does the new DWI law affect penalties for juvenile convictions?

A. Yes. The law provides automatic license suspension of 90 days to one year for first offenders. The juvenile's license may be suspended for one year or until he or she reaches legal drinking age, whichever is longer, on subsequent offenses.

Calendar: Retirees

TODAY
• The American Association of Retired Persons Chapter 1645 will meet at 10 a.m. at the Kentwood Center.

• Overeaters Anonymous will meet at 7 p.m. at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

WEDNESDAY

• The Beauecants will have a practice session for the installation of new officers at 5:30 p.m. at the Masonic Hall.

• The Spring City Dance Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Eagle's Lodge. Jim and his band will play. Guests are welcome.

Tops on TV: Rooney

Andy Rooney gives his own special perspective on what America looks like from a helicopter in "Andy Rooney Takes Off" at 7 p.m. on channel 7. At 8 p.m. on channel 7 Pam Dawber and James Naughton star in "Last of the Great Survivors." A social worker fights to save a group of senior citizens who are being evicted from their apartment building which is marked for demolition.

At the movies: Scarface

Outside: Rain

The forecast calls for a 20 percent chance of continued rain this afternoon. Highs should reach the mid 50s. Winds will be southerly at 5 to 10 miles per hour. Tonight should see a low in the mid 30s with southerly winds, 10 to 15 miles per hour. Wednesday should see partly cloudy skies with a high near 60.

Off the wall: Dim bulbs

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Mensa, the high-IQ club whose members rank in the upper 2 percent in intelligence tests, can afford to be particular about who belongs.

But members of Densa in four cities are engaged in a battle of wits over who really founded their club, which parodies Mensa and represents the underachieving side of the population.

Jack Canaan of San Diego says he was threatened with a lawsuit by a man in Hoboken, N.J., over rights to the club's name. Canaan, however, continues to sell his memberships to potential Densa members in San Diego for $30 for one year, $10 for life.

Meanwhile, J.D. Stewart of Rochester, who proudly carries the title CDP (Certified Dull Person), accused Steve Price of Houston's Densa of trying to gain "exclusive rights" to the name.

The debate has prompted a suggestion that the clubs settled the squabble by awarding the Densa rights to the chapter scoring lowest on a Densa quiz drawn up by Price. Sample question: "Define the universe. Give two examples."

Syria frees captured U.S. flier

LT. ROBERT GOODMAN ...released today

DAJLASCUS (AP) — Syria today freed U.S. Navy Lt. Robert O. Goodman Jr., a day after Jesse Jackson met President Hafez Assad and appealed for the the airman's release.

Goodman, who had been held since his attack jet was shot down over central Lebanon a month ago, was brought to the Syrian Foreign Ministry shortly before noon in a civilian car and, as he went up the steps, told reporters, "I'm very happy."

He and Jackson, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination and a leader of the black civil rights movement, emerged together moments later. They raised their hands in the V-for-victory sign and were driven in a limousine to the Sheraton Hotel where Jackson had been staying.

The White House said an Air Force plane was to take Jackson and Goodman from Damascus to Rhine-Main Air Force Base near Frankfurt, West Germany, and then on to Washington.

Jackson said a stop en route would allow Goodman to "go through the necessary medical examination and the necessary debriefing."

Goodman changed into a well-tailored suit following his release and appeared at a news conference with Jackson.

"It's unfortunate that people are killed," Goodman said, when asked how he felt to be free. He declined to consider himself in the "political arena," saying, "I'm a naval officer and the fact that I'm sitting here is just fate."

Goodman, 27, of Virginia Beach, Va., was navigator-bombardier on a A-6E Intruder jet that was shot down Dec. 4 during the only American air strike against Syrian anti-aircraft positions in Lebanon. The plane's pilot was killed in the raid, which was in retaliation for attacks on U.S. reconnaissance flights.

Asked why he thought the Syrians granted Jackson's appeal for his release, Goodman said: "I think he was able to come from a different point of view" than the Reagan administration.

Earlier, Goodman refused to speculate if efforts other than Jackson's could have succeeded. "I don't know. I'm just happy to be going home."

Area death toll takes a holiday

From staff and wire reports
State highway patrolmen say they fear that a final rush of motorists returning home from the three-day New Year's weekend will push the holiday slaughter to earlier predictions of 39 deaths.

"We're not optimistic at all," said Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman Larry Todd on Monday. At least 35 people had died in Texas prior to the end of Operation Motorcade, which recorded traffic deaths between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday.

However, no accident fatalities were reported during the weekend in the Midland-Odessa area, which includes Big Spring, a DPS spokesman from the Midland office said Tuesday morning.

At least four deaths were reported in the region, the spokesman said. One person died in an accident in Pecos County, one in Crane County and two persons died in a crash in El Paso, the spokesman said.

The statewide death toll was pushed upwards by a four-fatality accident in Southeast Texas and three two-fatality accidents reported Monday. State troopers and local police have been encouraging motorists to avoid speeding and drunken driving.

The DPS said the latest reported fatalities resulted from a wreck just west of Austin. Todd said a 58-year-old man and a 40-year-old woman were killed shortly after noon Monday.

A Monday morning accident in Williamson County killed a husband and wife from Copperas Cove, he said.

And a three-vehicle wreck near Bay City early Monday killed four people.

Authorities identified the dead as Brian Gregory Simons, 24, of Bay City; Traci Teutsch, 19, of Bay City; Manuel DeLeon, 56, of Rosenberg; and David DeLeon about 24, of Richmond.

The DPS said Simons and Teutsch were riding a pickup truck, while the DeLeons were the occupants of a van that was involved in a crash with another van.

The accident, which took place about 1:10 a.m. on Texas Highway 60 about nine miles north of Bay City, injured five other people.

Todd said a one-vehicle rollover accident on Loop 375 in El Paso killed Patrick T. Nelson and D. Morton. He said no other information was available on the victims of the accident, which was discovered at 7:28 a.m. Monday.

Two people were killed Monday morning in an accident on Farm to Market 195 in Williamson County, while another wreck just west of Austin resulted in two additional deaths shortly after noon Monday, Todd said. He said other details were not immediately available.

The DPS said Billy Coleman, 43, of Dallas, was killed when he was struck by a car in Dallas at 8:20 p.m. Saturday.

Mamie McBride, 44, of Seagoville, died when her car struck a truck parked on the side of U.S. Highway 175 in Dallas Monday morning.

Todd said an unidentified man was killed while attempting to cross South Central Expressway in Dallas Sunday evening, Todd said.

He said a 36-year-old Liberty man, identified as Joseph Leo Paul Jr., was killed in a hit-and-run accident as he walked along Farm to Market 160 in near Ames about 7:10 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen battle 2 blazes

Arson suspected; one man injured
By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer
Big Spring firemen battled two fires Monday afternoon, one of which remains under investigation for arson. In the other fire, a Big Spring man narrowly escaped injury, investigator and Assistant Fire Marshall Burr Lea Settles said Tuesday.

The first fire was reported at 3:03 p.m. Monday. According to reports, approximately six juveniles may have been involved in setting the fire at the old Big Spring City Swimming Pool in the 1000 block of N.W. Sixth.

The juveniles were playing in the pool's building with flares believed to have been stolen and may have started the fire, which damaged the roof and walls of the building and the walls of the pool, reports stated.

Three units of the Big Spring Fire Department, two from Central Fire Station and one from Northside Fire Station, answered the call, Settles said.

In the second fire, reported at 4:06 p.m. Monday, Jerry Wrightwell refused all medical help after a fire destroyed a mobile home at 1319 Lindbergh in which he lived, Settles said.

Three units of the Big Spring Fire Department, two from Central and one from the Wasson Road Fire Station, answered the call, Settles said.

The fire began as a result of an electrical area heater that was put too close to a bed in the mobile home, Settles said.

The mobile home was totally destroyed by the fire, Settles said.

Pranksters strike: Rose Bowl scoreboard reads 'Cal Tech'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A California Institute of Technology prankster will get academic credit for electronically peppering the Rose Bowl scoreboard with Caltech messages during the UCLA-Illinois football game, a fellow joker says.

The Tournament of Roses finally shut down the scoreboard in the fourth quarter Monday with the score showing Caltech leading rival Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 38-9. Neither school is known as an athletic powerhouse.

"We were planning to end the game, 'Thank you for coming to the 1984 Beaver Bowl' but they turned off the scoreboards before we could do that," said Caltech senior Ted Williams, 21, of Anaheim. The beaver is Caltech's mascot.

Williams and senior Dan Kegel, 20, of Seattle, said they dreamed up the computer-assisted practical joke, undeterred by guards stationed inside the bowl for days in advance expressly to counter Caltech's ingenuity.

Williams said Kegel would get academic credit for the prank in a class called EE 91, which Williams said is an independent project in the electrical engineering department.

For the University of Illinois, it was almost a relief to let MIT share the short end of the score.
See Prank page 2-A

"The highlight of the game for me came when the scoreboard went out," Illini coach Mike White said. Final score was UCLA 45, Illinois 9.

The Rose Bowl game has been a favorite target of Caltech, nearly as well known over the years for its pranksters as its Nobel laureates.

Perhaps the best-remembered stunt came in 1961 when, before a TV audience of 30 million, the University of Washington cheering section held up cards at halftime that spelled out C-A-L-T-E-C-H. More recently, pranksters got a huge Caltech balloon to pop out of the turf and inflate by remote control during a Rose Bowl game.

Other pranks have been compiled in a book entitled "Legends of Caltech," recalling incidents from 1920 to 1983.

On Monday, the scoreboard first flashed Caltech messages in the second quarter, but apparently few people noticed.

"In the second quarter we put DEI, which is a symbol for Caltech, on the message board," Williams said. "We also put a picture of a beaver, the Caltech mascot, on the message board during the second quarter. We left them up for only 30 seconds. But when it appeared no one noticed, we decided to leave our messages up."

'1984' becomes best seller

By the Associated Press
Thirty-six years after penning "Nineteen Eighty-Four," George Orwell is again a best seller. Bookstores across the nation are reporting that the arrival of the ominous year has brought a huge demand for the darkly prophetic novel.

Four of five stores surveyed in Dallas on Monday said they were sold out of the book, which details a future society in which citizens' individual freedoms are subordinated completely to the state.

"Sales are right up there with the latest romance novel," said Peggy Ogden, a salesclerk at B. Dalton in Livingston, N.J. "Every time we get it in, it sells out."

"All the high schools have assigned it as required reading, even more than the average number, and other folks are reading it as well," said a spokeswoman for Century Book Stores in Dallas, which had no more copies of the book on hand.

In Chicago, Barbara's Bookstore is running a special Orwell promotion, said Laurie Haight. Any customer who buys $19.84 or more in merchandise receives a free paperback copy of "Nineteen Eighty-Four."

"The amount that we're selling is phenomenal," she added. The shop has recently special-ordered three hardback copies, a request "almost unheard of," she said.

But while the buyers are eager, it appears not all are well-acquainted with the history of the book that coined the slogan "Big Brother is watching."

One customer last week asked a clerk at a B. Dalton store in West Hartford, Conn., if the book was out yet in paperback, said senior sales clerk Audrey Davenport.

"She said, 'Yes, it has been for 35 years,'" Ms. Davenport said.

At the B. Dalton branch in New York City's Greenwich Village, operations store manager Valerie Lentz said sales had begun to pick up in September, and peaked in December with many people purchasing copies as Christmas gifts.

In Anchorage, Alaska, B. Dalton reported selling its last copy of "Nineteen Eighty-Four" on the last day of 1983. Waldenbooks sold out last week, and the Book Cache sold out even earlier.

"We're completely sold out of every edition, including the Monarch (study guide) notes — even the anniversary edition," said Irene Dutcher, a saleswoman at Tower Books in Seattle. "We had to send to the East Coast for another shipment. Hopefully it will be here in another week."

2 arrested for auto burglary

Albert Gonzales, 21, of 404 N.E. Tenth and Domingo Galaviz, 22, of 301 N.E. Seventh were arrested at 3:15 a.m. Tuesday on suspicion of auto burglary after they were brought to Big Spring Police headquarters by Paul Roy of Harper Security Inc. police reports said.

Roy told police he caught the two males breaking into two 1983 Fords at Bob Brock Ford at 500 W. Fourth. The cars suffered an unknown amount of damage to vent glass windows and dash fronts, police reports said.

Galaviz was also arrested on a warrant for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon, police reports said.

Floyd Brownfield of 2204 Morrison told police at 2:02 p.m. Sunday that someone stole between 1:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Sunday $2,000 in tools and electrical testing equipment from his pick-up, police reports said. The 1981 Chevrolet Silverado was parked at 910 E. Third during the night with a damaged transmission, police reports said.

Steve Ayers of 1605 Tucson told police at 12:46 a.m. Monday that someone between 6:30 p.m. and 9:15 p.m. Sunday entered his residence and stole a Marlin 22 semi-automatic rifle worth $70, police reports said.

Paul Roy, an employee of Harper Security Inc., told police at 9:34 p.m. Monday that someone damaged two taillights on a red Cadillac and one taillight on a white Oldsmobile at Bob Brock Ford at 500 W. Fourth, police reports said. Roy told police he was checking the business area of the car dealership when he saw two males, one of them swinging what looked like a 3-foot wood club, police reports said.

Manual Molina Garcia, 24, of Lamesa was arrested at 6:07 p.m. Sunday on suspicion of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon, police reports said.

Miguel Angel Reyes, 25, of Gail Route was arrested at 12:58 a.m. Monday on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, police reports said.

Theft suspect arrested

Howard County sheriff's deputies Monday arrested a Big Spring man on suspicion of theft.

John Griffin Jr., 21, of 2402 S. Main was released Monday on $5,000 bond for suspicion of theft and a $1,000 peace bond.

Margie Munoz, 37, of 1002 N. Main was transferred to county jail from the police department on suspicion of failure to maintain liability insurance and failure to appear in court. Munoz was released on $137 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Deputies Monday also arrested Jerry Edmondson, 27, of 608 Goliad on suspicion of criminal mischief. He was released on $1,000 bond set by Heflin.

Store thanks customers by giving out free coats

MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — A surplus store that is going out of business after more than 50 years thanked its customers by giving away more than 7,500 free winter coats.

The coats were military issue and hardly stylish, but that didn't daunt the thousands of men, women and children who lined up in the snow Monday to receive them.

The giveaway was conducted by A.D. Harris Co., which is closing Saturday, and no questions were asked — the government-surplus coats were handed out to anyone who requested one.

"We're not checking for income eligibility, but rather letting each individual's conscience be his guide," said Al Tunick, executor of the estate of the late George Harris, one of the store's founders. "If they take a coat and really don't need to, they'll have to live with that."

Several recipients who asked not to be named said they were grateful for the warm clothing. Some said they were unemployed and had been unable to afford new coats for themselves and their families.

"While there may be one, or 10, or 100 or 200 who take advantage of it, those that do benefit by it make it all worthwhile," Tunick said.

He added the giveaway was meant as a way of thanking residents of what is known as the Quad City — Moline, East Moline and Rock Island in Illinois and Davenport in Iowa — for their patronage.

Tunick said the store opened its doors at 8 a.m. Monday, about 30 minutes earlier than planned, because of the large number of people who lined up for coats.

The toughest blow

Death of a spouse is life's worst tragedy

BOSTON (AP) — Of all life's tragedies, the death of a spouse is perhaps the most harrowing. A major study of how people deal with this pain reaches a surprising conclusion: Those with unhappy marriages grieve far longer for their lost mates than do the survivors of loving partnerships.

Anguish is also more likely to linger for years if a spouse dies unexpectedly or if the mate left behind had been intensely dependent upon the deceased.

The findings are part of the final report of the Harvard Bereavement Study. This summary, written by Drs. Robert S. Weiss of Harvard Medical School and the University of Massachusetts and Colin Murray Parkes of London Hospital Medical College, was recently published as a book called "Recovery from Bereavement."

The study was based on interviews with 68 widows and widowers, all under age 45. It is changing many ideas about how people pull their shattered lives together again.

"The first thing that surprised us is how long it takes to recover from loss," Weiss said. "When we started, everybody thought that crises were dealt with in six weeks or so. We discovered that in fact you never get over it fully. But the time required to re-establish a way of life that has some integrity takes about a year, and there is still a lot of distress at that point."

"The second surprise was the ubiquity of grief. The death of a spouse almost uniformly gives rise to intense grief, irrespective of the quality of the marriage."

The depth of despair after a bad marriage was another paradox. People seemed to get helplessly stuck in grief when death ended a relationship that was marred by bickering and turmoil.

When the spouse was alive, they argued over money, the in-laws, disciplining children, alcoholism and other antagonisms. Yet many survivors still yearned for their dead mates during follow-up interviews two to four years after their passing.

The researchers are not sure why this happens, but they have theories. For one thing, there is plenty of opportunity for regret and self-reproach.

"As long as the marriage continues, there is hope that things might get better, but once a person is dead, it is too late to say, 'I'm sorry,' they wrote. "The survivor mourns not only for the marriage that was, but also for the marriage that could have been and was not."

COPING WITH TRAGEDY — Robert S. Weiss, professor of sociology at the University of Massachusetts, speaks at his home recently about "Recovery From Bereavement," a book he co-authored about coping with the death of a spouse.

Ambivalent feelings that mix love and hate also get in the way of recovery. On one hand, they are relieved to be free of their troublesome mate. But on the other, they feel terrible about the loss.

An unexpected death, sudden and senseless, is especially difficult to cope with, no matter how good or bad the marriage.

"Where there has been no anticipation," they wrote, "there is bewilderment as well as loss, an inability to grasp the event, refusal to accept a world in which tragedy occurs so arbitrarily, an insistence on protest: 'It makes no sense.'"

Instantly their world is changed. All the plans, routines and hopes that involved another person are ended. Where once there was security, there is only empty space. Again and again, they found, the widow or widower forgets that the dead partner is gone forever.

When a spouse dies from a lingering illness, the grief of the remaining mate is just as intense. But at least they have had time to prepare, to learn to live with the prospect of their loss and to think about a future alone.

Extreme dependence on a mate also complicates recovery from his or her death. Sometimes one spouse dominates the other. One may rely on the other for keeping the house, paying the bills or making outside friends. Or couples may simply be intensely close and sharing.

"They often have trouble functioning autonomously without the marriage," said Weiss. "They are hopeless about their future."

Like Queen Victoria, who spent the last 40 years of her life yearning for Prince Albert, they never recover.

Recovering from bereavement does not mean going back to the life they led before the death. Instead, it means successfully passing through changes — accepting the death both intellectually and emotionally and building a new identity.

"When there is a good recovery," Weiss says, "there's a change that permits them to function as well as they had before, even though they are now different people."

for longer periods. That's what we did during the third quarter.

"We were really disappointed when it appeared no one noticed, when it didn't get on television and we didn't hear them say anything about it on the radio," Williams said. "That's why we decided to change the names of the teams to Caltech and MIT."

And after Caltech's fictitious score remained frozen on the board with 9:22 left in the game, the bowl's scoreboard operators decided to shut the electronic board down for the remainder of the game.

Williams said he and Kegel installed a radio-controlled box in the scoreboards that responded to commands they sent to it. They had a portable television and radio to monitor reaction to the stunt.

"We were sitting outside the stadium where we could see what happened on the scoreboard," Williams said.

Release

Jackson, an ordained minister, has denied that he made the mission because of race reasons. Goodman is black.

"I think this is time for us to rise above our basic conflicts of race and religion, sex and politics," Jackson told NBC News in Damascus today. "A lot of people deserve the credit" for Goodman's release, he said.

President Reagan said in a statement today: "... the government of Syria has told our ambassador that they have agreed to release Lt. Goodman as a result of the efforts of the Rev. Jesse Jackson."

All Americans "are delighted that this brave young man will soon be united with his family and that his ordeal is over," Reagan said in his statement.

The Reagan administration had refused to endorse Jackson's mission, saying it might disrupt official negotiations.

Jackson told CBS-TV today that Goodman's release is a "miraculous income that hopefully is a giant step toward new options in the Middle East."

He added: "I must say that ... Sen. (Barry) Goldwater (R-Ariz.), ... and former Vice President (Walter) Mondale, along with the former CIA director saying that we should come out of Lebanon, that had its impact."

Goldwater and Mondale, also running for the Democratic presidential nomination, have urged Reagan to withdraw American troops from Lebanon. Three former directors of the CIA said Sunday said similarly.

The Syrian Foreign Ministry issued a statement saying it was releasing Goodman as a step to "facilitate the withdrawal of American troops from Lebanon."

The statement said Syria "hopes that the U.S. government will take measures to end its military involvement in Lebanon, such involvement which has contributed pain and suffering to Lebanon, to the area, and to American people..."

At one of his news conferences in Damascus, Goodman said the first thing he planned to do upon arriving in the United States was "hug my wife."

Goodman said he learned he was being released only minutes before he was freed. "I was told I would be released on several other occasions," but had waited

Hospital holds Tech medical seminar here

Two Malone and Hogan Clinic specialists will lead off the 1984 Wednesday seminar program of the area's Texas Tech University-accredited continuing medical education series.

Dr. Bernard Zilberg, chairman of the series for Malone-Hogan Hospital, has announced the following January schedule.

DR. BERNARD ZILBERG

Jan. 4 — "Radiological Aspects of Stridor in Infants and Children" by Dr. Max Wolf, Malone and Hogan Clinic radiologist.

Stridor is a type of respiratory distress seen frequently in children with croup or certain congenital malformations of the upper airways.

Jan. 11 — "Disease Modifying Agents in Rheumatoid Arthritis" by Dr. William A. Riley, Malone and Hogan Clinic internist and rheumatologist.

Jan. 18 — "Progress Towards Cure of Childhood Leukemia" by Dr. W. Paul Bowman, co-director of the Division of Hematology-Oncology, Cook Children's Hospital, Fort Worth, Tex.

Jan. 25 — "Cutaneous Manifestations of Infectious Disease" by Dr. Edgar O. Ledbetter, chairman of the department of pediatrics at Texas Tech University School of Medicine.

"Local physicians have been instrumental in the success of Malone and Hogan's on-going continuing medical education program," said Zilberg.

Also making presentations at the seminar will be clinic physicians Dr. R. K. Reddy, orthopedic surgeon; Dr. Robert Rember, pathologist; Dr. Buerk Williams, radiologist; Dr. Douglas Park, internist; Dr. Thomas Long, dermatologist; Dr. Gordon Golden, internist; Zilberg, pediatrician; Dr. Harvey DuBiner, ophthalmologist; Dr. R. R. Patel, internist; and Dr. F. Javier del Castillo, obstetrician/gynecologist.

The Wednesday seminars, which begin at 12:30 p.m. in Malone-Hogan Hospital's first floor classroom, are open to all area health care professionals. Texas Tech University's Health Sciences Center grants physicians one hour of continuing medical education credit for each seminar they attend.

For reservations to the lunch that precedes each seminar, persons should call Robbi Crow at 263-1211 ext. 195 by 4:30 p.m. the day prior to the seminar.

Weekly Reader to poll students

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP) — Weekly Reader could become the George Gallup of the grade-school set.

With twice-yearly polls, the publication read by about one-third of the nation's elementary school students plans to keep its finger on the pulse of young America — beginning with a survey on citizenship.

"The question of what the perception of our future voters is of our government is very important," Lynell Johnson, editorial director of Weekly Reader, said in a recent interview.

"That can tell us what is happening in our country," he said. "After all, they're the future."

Polls are not new to Weekly Reader, but they have never before been a regular feature.

Every presidential election year, the publication runs a poll and has found that "the kids have predicted the winner every year since this process started about 20 years ago," except when they chose Robert F. Kennedy in 1968, shortly before he was killed, Johnson said.

Last spring, the newspaper surveyed fourth-, fifth- and sixth-grade readers while its affiliate publications polled junior high school students on their attitudes and knowledge of drug and alcohol abuse. The 500,000 responses have helped educators and others develop alcohol and drug programs for students, he said.

The citizenship survey will run the last week in January in editions read by students in second through sixth grade and in the junior high school publications, he said. Teachers will tally the results, which are expected to be released in late March.

Students will be asked a range of questions on their feelings about patriotism and the country's leadership and handling of problems like crime, pollution and protection of rights, Johnson said.

Since 1984 is a presidential election year, the fall survey will be on the election. In the following three years, two polls each year will be conducted, sampling students' opinions on different topics. Then the topics will be repeated, to see how students' opinions have changed over the years.

"If we were to find in 1987 that kids' attitudes have changed on drug abuse, that would be very interesting to know," Johnson said. "The implications are really very great."

Weekly Reader, published by Xerox Education Publications, reaches about 7 million elementary school students. Secondary school periodicals — Read, Current Science, Know Your World Extra and Current Events — reach about 2 million, Johnson said.

Xerox Education Publications, with headquarters in Middletown, is a division of Xerox Corp.

Queen reprimands press

LONDON — Queen Elizabeth II has fired off new volley in the royal battle with the press, demanding that she had other members of her family be left alone at their holiday retreat. The latest palace-press imbroglio came as 15-20 reporters and photographers — mostly free-lance cameramen — were camped near Sandringham, a mansion in Norfolk about 100 miles northeast of London. Some were using telescopic lenses and walkie-talkies to keep tabs on the queen and her family. Michael Shea, the queen's press secretary, accused the press of intruding on the family's privacy both at Windsor Castle, where they spent Christmas, and Sandringham, where they celebrated the New Year. In a rare rebuke from the 57-year-old monarch, newspaper editors were asked Monday to call off their reporters at Sandringham. Editors of two national newspapers agreed to bring their reporters and photographers home, but several newspapers turned down the palace request to ban photographs and stories from free-lance journalists. "The press have been continuing to harass the queen and her family," said press spokesman John Haslam.

Fosse shys away from drug

NEW YORK — Director-choreographer Bob Fosse, famed for such hits as "Cabaret" and "All That Jazz," says he has to stay away from people who offer him drugs. "I have an addictive personality and have lived most of my life in excess," the 56-year-old Fosse said in an interview. "I see so many cokeheads in the industry," said Fosse who admitted to still feeling "very childish and immature inside." Fosse, who has survived a heart attack and said he has all but given up smoking and has quit drugs, also said his dancer's life is not what it used to be. "It's painful for me to go into my studio," Fosse said in the interview for the Jan. 19 issue of Rolling Stone magazine. "You look in the mirrors and your spirit is in the air, but your body is on the ground like a little toad with broken legs."

Plimpton's show lauded

PARIS — French critics are hailing an international avant-garde extravaganza titled "Good Morning, Mr. Orwell" and hosted by author George Plimpton as "an amusing and optimistic" response to Orwell's "frightening view of reality." In the show, American and French avant-garde artists picked up on the themes contained in Orwell's "Nineteen Eighty-Four." The one-hour program was beamed live by satellite to the United States, France and Germany over the New Year's weekend. It contained frequent references to "Big Brother," the silent, ever-present symbol of repression. Besides the 56-year-old Plimpton, other Americans who appeared included a futuristic rock group "Oingo Boingo" performing live from San Francisco and poet Allen Ginsberg singing an urgent plea to the superpowers to "meditate" on the threat of nuclear holocaust.

Fire damages new hotel

BOSTON — The city's newest luxury hotel was closed today as investigators sought the cause of a smoky electrical blaze that cut power, caused $500,000 damage and sent at least 66 people to hospitals for treatment of smoke inhalation. Guests at the 36-story, $80 million Hotel Westin groped for exits through darkened corridors Monday after an explosion — prompted by a transformer short-circuit in the basement — damaged the emergency power system at noon, said Ken Bruynell, a Fire Department spokesman. "There were no lights in the stairwells," said Sharon Walker, a United Airlines flight attendant who led 10 people from the 11th floor to the street. "It was pitch black. Flight attendants are trained to handle emergencies, but it's still scary when it happens — especially in the dark and when there are people panicking," she said. UAL Inc., parent company of the airline, owns the 804-room hotel, which opened in August complete with two-story waterfalls in its elegant marble lobby. It is the first operating building in the still-incomplete Copley Place shopping complex. Officials said the hotel would be closed for at least two days. Only 58 rooms had been occupied at the time of the fire. The hotel's automatic sprinkler system came on when the fire broke out, extinguishing flames in the electrical vault and confining the fire to the transformer area, Bruynell said. Most of the 114 guests were evacuated, although some remained in their rooms. One elevator remained stuck on the 31st floor, but the others descended slowly to the ground floor when power failed. Twenty-six firefighters were among the 66 people treated at three hospitals for smoke inhalation. Bruynell said about 13 firefighters were hospitalized overnight for observation.

Citrus embargo begins

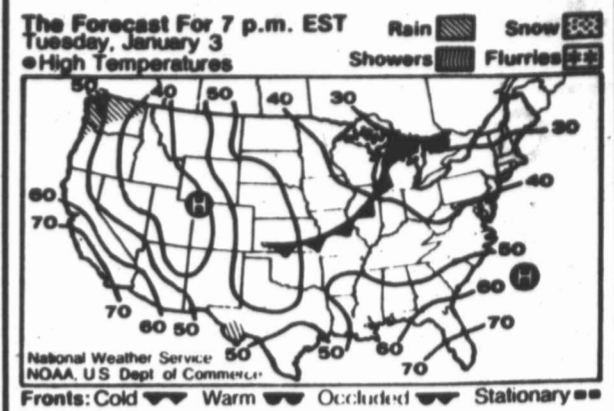

LAKELAND, Fla. — A seven-day embargo on shipment of Florida citrus won't have an immediate effect on supermarket supplies, but some shoppers could see empty shelves towards the end of the week, an official says. The embargo, which began at 7 a.m. Monday, was put into effect by the Florida Citrus Commission after recent sub-freezing temperatures damaged orange, grapefruit, tangerine and tangelo crops. In its 11-0 vote Thursday, the commission expressed concern about protecting the image of its money-making but frost-damaged crops in Central Florida. Lemons and limes were not included in the order. The embargo follows similar action in Texas, which began a 10-day embargo Friday on all citrus fruit shipped out of the southern part of the state. The Florida embargo ends Jan. 9 at 7 a.m. Although an official damage estimate for Florida isn't expected until Jan. 11, a growers' group, Florida Citrus Mutual, has estimated a potential loss of orange juice production at 54 million gallons. Projected fruit losses stand at about $250 million. "Some (stores) will start to get low on supplies by the end of the week," said W. Bernard "Bernie" Lester, director of Florida's Department of Citrus. Lester said it often takes several days for fruit to show the effects of freeze damage. Halting shipments for one week will allow time for damage to surface and fruit to be sorted, he said. "It's better to just stop everything until you get in a position where you can separate the good from the bad," Lester said. Halting shipments could mean an additional financial blow to Florida's already-damaged citrus industry, and could be especially hard on South Florida growers, whose crops escaped damage from temperatures that dropped into the teens and low 20s elsewhere in the state, he said. But the commission opted for the embargo to avoid "hurting the image of the product," Lester said.

3 slain in small Texas town

LOMETA, Texas — The small-town quiet was shattered and the 600 residents of Lometa suddenly found themselves living in fear after a gun collector, his wife and 5-year-old daughter were executed with numerous gunshots to the head, the mayor says. The bodies of Noah Haydon, 60, his 49-year-old wife Edna and their daughter Amanda were found Monday. The three were the victims of numerous "execution-style" gunshots to the head, apparently motivated by robbery, Lampasas County Sheriff Gordon Morris said. Eight long guns, either rifles or shotguns, one pistol and two hunting bows were taken from Haydon's collection, said Texas Ranger Fred Cummings. Mayor Mary E. McAnelly said the Haydon's were well-liked and well-respected in the West Central Texas community. "It had been very quiet in this little town before now," said Mrs. McAnelly, 67. "Everyone here is very concerned and shocked about this. But I don't know what we can do about it, except leave it up to the authorities." Authorities said they had no suspects, but Cummings said the best lead police have is an indication that at least one gunman was wounded. Area hospitals were placed on alert. "But we don't know any more now than we did when this was all discovered," Morris said. Justice of the Peace Martin Adams, who ordered the bodies sent to Dallas for autopsies, said his preliminary investigation placed the time of death at approximately 10 p.m. New Year's Day. Haydon's son, James, found the bodies at about 11 a.m. Monday. Adams said Haydon's weapons collection had been burglarized "a few months ago," and added that "at one time, he had a right nice collection." "It initially appears that the motive behind the murders is robbery," said Morris. "Numerous guns belonging to Noah Haydon are missing from the house."

He said that all three victims were found shot numerous times about the head "in an execution-type manner" inside their one-story frame house, northwest of Killeen. Mrs. McAnelly, the mayor, said that the Haydons had at least one neighbor near their one-story frame house, but that no one had seen or heard anything unusual at the residence over the weekend. "Their little girl had played with one of her friends yesterday afternoon, and because of that, we presume that they were shot last night," she said Monday. Tim Angermann, a sheriff's investigator, said all of the victims were found lying face-up. Officials said Mrs. Haydon's body was discovered in a dining room, Haydon was found beside a bed in a bedroom, and the daughter was found lying in the bed. Mrs. McAnelly said the family had lived in Lometa for at least 10 years, and that Haydon was well-known in the community. "He was a very fine man, and was active in the Masonic Lodge," the mayor said. Adams said the couple had three older children, including James. Adams said Haydon was a television repair and electronics technician.

By the Associated Press West Texas: Sunny north but generally cloudy elsewhere today. Scattered rain south and southwest today, mixed with snow southwest mountains this morning. A little warmer today most sections. Fair north and mostly cloudy elsewhere tonight. Decreasing cloudiness and warmer all sections Wednesday. Highs today in the 50s except 40s west. Lows tonight in the 30s. Highs Wednesday 55 to 65.

Front brings moisture

Cloudy skies and seasonably cool temperatures dominated the state this morning as moist air overran a mass of polar air, bringing showers and some snow to much of West Texas. The moisture was pumped into the state by an upper air disturbance west of Baja California and resulted in widespread showers from the Trans-Pecos region eastward through the Permian Basin, Edwards Plateau and western Hill Country. Rainfall totals were not large, although Marfa, El Paso and Sanderson each had about two-tenths of an inch. Snow fell in higher elevations and about 2 inches accumulated in the Guadalupe Pass. Low clouds hung over all of Southwest Texas and from the upper Gulf coast into East Texas, where dense fog lowered visibility to a quarter mile at Lufkin.

Taking stock of oil reserve

Jack Anderson

Congress' annual raid on the Treasury

Just 10 years ago, Americans were learning to wait in line to buy gasoline. The Arabs had slapped an embargo on oil sales to the United States in the aftermath of the Yom Kippur war that began on Oct. 6, 1973. The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries doubled the price of oil in October and doubled it again in December.

When the embargo was lifted in March of 1974, oil began flowing at a new price of more than $11 a barrel, which seemed high until the collapse of the government of the shah of Iran in 1979. There were more shortages and waiting lines, and the price of oil soon peaked at an official price of $34 and up to $40 or more on the spot market.

All this is brought to mind by an announcement by the Department of Energy that we have reached the midpoint in filling the nation's Strategic Petroleum Reserve. Among the many lessons of the energy shocks of the 1970s was that the United States should put some crude oil away for a rainy day.

The DOE says the recent arrival of a tanker full of North Sea oil to go into a salt dome storage site at West Hackberry, La., provided the 375-millionth barrel of oil to go into the strategic reserve. The SPR was established in 1977 with a target of putting 750 million barrels of oil into storage to form a cushion in case of another interruption in supplies from overseas.

What is not significant is that 375 million barrels of oil today will go as far in covering our import needs as 750 million barrels would have gone in 1977. In that year, the United States was importing 8.6 million barrels of oil a day. Today, we are importing only 4.2 million barrels. So the amount of oil now in storage represents the amount of insurance we once hoped to obtain from twice as much — that is, enough to cover our import needs for 90 days.

The administration should continue to add crude oil to the reserve. Economic recovery is expected to increase energy consumption to some degree, and with that increase may come a renewal of demand for imported oil. As imports rise, so will the amount of stored petroleum needed to provide 90 days of replacement.

WASHINGTON — Congress just finished its favorite holiday task: stuffing the turkey with extravagant, unnecessary construction projects that will cost the taxpayers billions.

My associates Corky Johnson and Donald Goldberg have compiled a list of the more outrageous suspects in this annual raid on the Treasury. They're enough to give any taxpayer a New Year's headache:

- The Narrow Unit, a dam and irrigation project on the South Platte River, is my nominee for the boondoggle of the year. At a cost of just under $400 million, it is supposed to supply water to a few farmers in northeastern Colorado. Critics both in and out of government say the Narrows is bad news economically and environmentally.

- The Interior Department's Bureau of Reclamation claims the project's cost-benefit ratio beats the break-even mark. But the Office of Management and Budget disagrees. Some critics say the Narrows would return less than 50 cents in benefits for every dollar it costs.

Environmentalists predict that construction will be a disaster for several rare species of birds that use the area's wetlands on their migratory flights each year. "It is our biological opinion that the Narrows Unit is likely to jeopardize the continued existence of the whooping crane," a Fish and Wildlife Service memo warns. The whooping crane is already an endangered species.

In addition, the Environmental Protection Agency has warned that waste runoff caused by the Narrows project will cause serious water problems. EPA sources say the Reclamation Bureau refuses to cooperate in any attempt to solve this problem.

Finally, engineers found flaws in the original design that will cost a bundle to correct. Congressional investigators are checking the blueprints to make sure the dam will be safe if it's built.

- Another Reclamation Bureau boondoggle has drawn fire from the EPA. The Animas-La Plata irrigation project is intended to provide water to farmers in Colorado and New Mexico, at a cost of about $550 million. But the EPA points out that one-fourth of the farmland is out of production under the government's PIK subsidy program. The plan also calls for pumping irrigation water from a site near uranium wastes.

- Rep. Gene Snyder, R-Ky., a veteran member of the Public Works Committee, is trying desperately to snare a $200 million dam for his constituents. Kentucky doesn't want the Falmouth Dam, south of Cincinnati, and refuses to pay its share of the cost. So Snyder is trying to have the federal government pay it all.

The dam is justified as a flood-control measure, but critics say a floodwall would do a better job at one-tenth the price. Army engineers' figures show the Falmouth Dam would destroy up to 9,000 acres of prime farmland, part of a state park and two wildlife refuges, and would displace as many as 500 families.

- Reps. Tom Bevill, D-Ala., and Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., powerhouses on the Appropriations Committee, tacked $9.4 million for the Appalachian Regional Commission's highway program onto the supplemental funding bill. The money will be spent on roads in — where else? — Alabama and Mississippi.

CITIZEN'S WATCH: Thousands of Americans have joined my Citizen's Watch to help spot incidents that should be reported. Here's a dispatch from one of them, James Franklin of Los Angeles:

"My work takes me into some of the impoverished areas of Los Angeles, where I see the poor as they really are. Sad to say, Ed Meese was absolutely right when he said a lot of people go to soup kitchens 'because the food is free' and 'that's easier than paying for it.'"

"The media seems to have the romantic idea (you included) that all the poor are noble but neglected victims of society. Some of them are, but some of them are not."

"I can tell you from years of observation that the lower class is populated with people of all kinds.

Some are long-suffering souls who deserve a better break. Some have psychological problems; they are the chronic misfits you find on the streets. But some are unwilling to improve themselves, unwilling to work for a living.

"They go around with their hands out, because it's easier than paying their own way. Yes, I have seen people line up for a free meal because it beats paying for it. The same people have turned down offers to go to work or to learn skills."

"But in the spirit of the Christmas season, I still think we should give to the poor and allow them the benefit of the doubt."

Footnote: Readers who wish to participate in my Citizen's Watch can sign up by dropping me a note at P.O. Box 2300, Washington, D.C., 20013.

TAGGING UP: During the years of peace, all the armed services, identification tags, known sentimentally as "dog tags," were produced by Federal Prison Industries Inc., located in the federal reformatory at El Reno, Okla. But the Reagan administration's defense beef-up caused a demand for more tags than the prisoners could supply. So Keyes-Davis Co. of Battle Creek, Mich., the world's largest maker of genuine, canine dog tags, was given a contract for 2 million GI tags. It just made the final delivery.

Around The Rim

By CAROL HART BALDWIN

Fleeting fame

About this time every year people take inventory of the year which just passed into history. Magazines publish lists of what happened and who made history.

There are lists of entertainers and people in the public eye who have died. Unfortunately, every year these lists contain the names of people who died seemingly before their time. People who performed well in the public eye but who really didn't cope very well with their private lives.

Life magazine's January issue focuses on 1983 and has a list of the "Dear Departed." Reading about these performers, writers and artists makes one wonder if the price of fame is too high for some people.

One death which really saddened me this year was singer Karen Carpenter. Karen died of complications from a lengthy bout with anorexia nervosa. In other words she spent months starving herself and her body finally gave out. Karen and her brother Richard spent years writing and performing songs and entertaining millions of people. Yet she must not have been very happy off stage.

Beach Boy Dennis Wilson drowned just before the year closed. Wilson was painted as a rebel who was on a variety of drugs, was a heavy drinker and who didn't always do what was expected of him. Yet Wilson and his group sang songs for 20 years which have made history and will live on for years. Sometimes the artist's work will outshine what will be remembered about the person.

Another star who burned out before her time was anchorwoman Jessica Savitch. This Emmy-award winning news woman died tragically when her car fell into a shallow canal. And anchorman Frank Reynolds died after a battle with a lengthy illness. Both of these people seemed to cope with their fame just fine but both deaths were sad marks on the television news field.

Then there are the people whose lives will be remembered as bright spots in history, people who contributed a lot to society, who lived happy lives or lives filled with dedication to their work.

Among these were "Miss Lillian" Carter who worked in the Peace Corps, was a nurse, and raised a president of the United States. And David Niven, the English actor who brought so much to the screen. Niven died after a bout with a muscle disease but in one interview I remember him saying how he loved life and how he would have to be taken away "kicking and screaming."

The list goes on with people like pianist Eubie Blake, who lived to be 100 and performed up until his death; R. Buckminster Fuller, who designed geodesic domes and had a signed philosophy on life; and "Bear" Bryant, a coach who was a legend before he died.

Breaking up over Ma Bell

"Hello, Operator, I'm having trouble with my telephone."
 "Just a minute. I'll turn you over to our repair department."
 "Repair department. What can I do for you?"
 "My phone is broken. Can you send someone over to fix it?"
 "Is it our phone or one of theirs?"
 "Did you buy it from us or somebody else?"
 "I bought it from an electronics store."
 "Did you notice where it was made?"
 "I think it said Japan on the box. At least the instructions that came with it were in Japanese."

"It sounds like one of theirs. We don't fix any phones except our own."
 "What do I do?"
 "Call the store and find out where they service them."
 "Hello, is this Crazy Charlie's? I bought a phone from you last week and it doesn't work. Can you send someone over to service it?"
 "Are you off your rocker, lady? We don't make house calls."
 "Well, can I bring it in to you to have it fixed?"
 "You can if you want to, but we have to send it to San Juan, Puerto Rico, to check it out."
 "Isn't there any place in the city that can repair the phones?"
 "There isn't any place in the city that can even read the instructions."
 "But you gave me a 90-day warranty with the phone."
 "Of course we did. We never sell a phone without a warranty. Did you read it?"
 "How could I read it? It's in Japanese."

"Well, it says the warranty is good for 90 days except for parts, labor and it going on the blink."
 "That's not much of a warranty."
 "Why don't you call Tokyo and tell them?"
 "Is there anybody you know who can fix my phone?"
 "There's a Toyota salesman in Baltimore who moonlights fixing phones that are imported from Japan. His address is 109 Maple Drive. His name is Mr. Ikki."
 "Thank you."
 "Mr. Ikki, I was told you could fix my phone. All the way from Washington. Can you help me?"
 "What is wrong with it?"
 "I can't get a dial tone to call out. And it doesn't ring when someone is trying to call in."
 "Then you must have bought it at Crazy Charlie's."
 "How did you know?"
 "All their phones do that. Madam, just by looking at it I can tell you have a very sick telephone."
 "I wouldn't be here if I didn't. I thought the Japanese made very good electronic equipment."

 "They do, but your phone wasn't made in Japan. It was made in Taiwan and stamped Japan. The Taiwanese are notorious for stamping anything they want to on their goods."
 "But can you fix it?"
 "I would have to replace the ear and mouthpiece, the dial tone, and put in a new bell."
 "How much would that cost?"
 "One hundred and forty dollars."
 "But I only paid $79 for the phone."
 "Crazy Charlie gives good prices when it comes to telephones."
 "I'd just as soon buy a new telephone."
 "That's what I was going to suggest."
 "Who do I buy it from?"
 "I would suggest your local telephone company."
 "If I buy one from them, how much will they charge me to install and service it?"
 "Probably $140."

Billy Graham

Preaching not only way to serve God

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I would like to serve God but I think I am too old to go back to school and learn to be a preacher. How can I discover if I should do this or not? — J.J.

DEAR J.J.: If God is truly calling you to be a preacher, he will help you do whatever is necessary to reach that goal within your own denomination, no matter how old you are or whatever other barriers there may seem to be. When God calls you to do something, he also provides the means to accomplish it.

But you need to realize that there are many ways to serve God besides being a preacher. We sometimes make the mistake of thinking that preachers are the only ones that are to do God's work, but that is not true. Every Christian should seek to serve God, and God wants to use every Christian. That is why God has given each of us at least one very specific spiritual gift which is to be used to serve Christ. Yes, some have been given the gift of preaching or evangelism — but there are many other gifts as well. The Bible says, "We have different gifts, according to the grace given to us. If a man's gift ... is serving, let him serve; if it is teaching, let him teach; if it is encouraging, let him encourage; if it is contributing to the needs of others, let him give generously; if it is leadership, let him govern diligently; if it is showing mercy, let him do it cheerfully" (Romans 12:6-8).

Ask God to show you what spiritual gift he has given you, and then determine to use it for his glory. Ask him also to show you specifically where you can be used as he gives you opportunities.

We often make the mistake of comparing ourselves with other people, and saying to ourselves, "I can't be used of God, because I am not able to speak like that person or give generously like this person." But God does not ask you to do another person's task. God's will is for you — whether they seem important from human point of view or not.

Above all, make sure you are seeking God's will and honestly are willing to do it, whatever it may be. Then be faithful in doing the tasks he gives you to do.

Dear Abby

Sex-change inquiry horrifies readers

DEAR ABBY: I am furious, angry and boiling mad! The letter signed "No More Girls" from British Columbia stopped me cold. It was from a man whose wife was expecting their third child. The first two (ages 3 and 2) were girls, and he wanted to know where they could get a sex-change operation for the next baby if it was another girl.

My God! I thought I didn't read it right! The man surely was off his rocker. He doesn't deserve kids, nor does his wife, who must also be a nut to consider such an idiotic thing. I hope no surgeon would ever perform such an operation. I can't wait to see what other readers had to say about this crazy request.

HORRIFIED IN PHILLIPSBURG, N.J. DEAR HORRIFIED: Other readers were equally horrified. Many offered to adopt the expected child if it was a girl. Some offered to take the 2- and 3-year-old girls off the couple's hands if they weren't happy with female children.

Be assured, no surgeon would consider performing a sex-change operation on a healthy, normal child.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 44 and have been a widow for four years. I have a nice home and three wonderful children—all college graduates with good jobs. The two older ones are married and the youngest has her own apartment. I have always been there for them when they called or came by for a visit.

Now, I have met a man that I care about very much. He is a widower with three grown children. We are very compatible. But he lives 200 miles away, with his farm and business there, which means I have to go there if I want to be with him.

I love my children so much, I feel guilty when I leave them. After a week they call, wanting me to come home. And I always do. My friend says I should cut the apron strings. When I am with him, I think about my children, and when I'm home, I think about him.

Abby, please don't tell me my children come first. I don't want to live the rest of my life alone, but I don't want my children to be unhappy. How can I have peace of mind? What do you say?

PULLED APART

DEAR PULLED: Children come first when they're young. But your children are grown with lives of their own. At 44 you have many good years ahead of you, so please don't feel that you have to "be there" for your grown children. This is your chance to catch the brass ring (or the gold one), so go for it. And don't feel guilty.

Rosacea problem has two elements

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My husband has rosacea and has had it for about two years now. He used to take antibiotics for it, but now has been told he cannot use that because of his cirrhosis of the liver. His face and nose are so bad sometimes that he gets depressed. I watch his diet carefully, but it really doesn't help. Is there anything else for him? — S.S.

 There are two elements to the rosacea (roe-ZAY-shuh) problem: one, the expansion of skin blood vessels, which causes the red flush; the other the pimples similar to those of adolescent acne. Both usually occur in the bluish area of the face — upper cheeks, nose and chin.

The acne component is treated much as is teenage acne, with antibiotics and lotions. Since your husband's cirrhosis prevents further use of oral antibiotics, he might now ask his doctor if skin lotions containing antibiotics are all right for him to use. Many therapies have been tried for the redness aspect of rosacea — cryotherapy to freeze the skin (which then peels), all solutions containing sulfur and kaolin (applied as an overnight mask). The role of diet in this is not clear, although alcohol, spices and hot beverages may cause aggravated facial flush. Your husband should temper use of those substances. A dermatologist can help him find the most suitable approach to the problem.

Acne is a terrible problem for anyone growing up. If you are afflicted with it, or have children who are, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Who's No. 1?

•Miami over Nebraska in thriller

MIAMI (AP) — Top-ranked Nebraska went for all the marbles in the Orange Bowl and came up short in one of the great games and great gambles in college football history — one that ended with a decision that is certain to have Coach Tom Osborne second-guessed for trying to win.

Osborne's momentous call to go for a two-point conversion pass and a victory rather than one point kick and a tie came with 48 seconds to play and fifth-ranked Miami in front 31-30 — the way the game was to end.

The Hurricanes, an 11-point underdog, had lost an early 17-0 lead, but moved in front again on third-period touchdown runs by freshman Alonzo Highsmith and senior Albert Bentley.

A 24-yard touchdown run by reserve Jeff Smith had brought the Cornhuskers to within one point, and Osborne made his decision.

"We were trying to win the game," said Osborne, who disdained an almost automatic chip-shot conversion and ordered the fatal two-point pass from Turner Gill that caromed off Smith's hands.

"I don't think our players would have been satisfied to back into it (the national championship) by kicking a point-after-touchdown. You can't go for a tie. We wanted an undefeated season."

Nebraska probably could have assured itself a final No. 1 ranking with a simple extra point since a tie would have given the Cornhuskers an 11-0-1 record and left them as the only unbeaten team in the nation.

Instead, Miami was put in position for its first national championship.

Miami Coach Howard Schnellenberger, who immediately claimed the national title for his gutsy team, said he wasn't surprised at Osborne's last-gasp gamble.

"He knew he was going for two, I knew he was going for two and everybody in Nebraska knew he was going for two," Schnellenberger said. "He's a champion, he's a players' man, he's a winner and he did what those kind of people would do."

On the subject of the national championship, Schnellenberger added, "Surely we should be ranked No. 1. Is there any question about it?"

Said Osborne, "We'll just have to leave it up to the pollsters."

The Associated Press will announce the national champion at 6:30 p.m. EST Tuesday.

Cheered on by a hometown crowd of 72,549, about 60,000 of them Miami supporters, the Hurricanes scored on each of their three first-period possessions and then overcame one Nebraska rally that tied the score early in the third quarter and another in the final 8½ minutes.

•Texas drops Cotton to Georgia

DALLAS (AP) — Georgia quarterback John Lastinger ran 17 yards for a touchdown late in the fourth quarter and Kevin Butler kicked the final extra point Monday to lift the underdog seventh-ranked Bulldogs to a stunning 10-9 Cotton Bowl Classic upset of the previously unbeaten and second-rated Texas Longhorns.

Georgia's shocking touchdown, which came with 3:22 to play, came after safety Craig Curry bobbled a Bulldog punt and Gary Moss recovered the ball at the Texas 23-yard line.

Lastinger, facing a third down from the 17, kept the ball on the option and ran uncontested until he was hit at the Longhorn 1-yard line, where he dove across at the right corner of the goal line.

Texas, seeking its first perfect season in 14 years and a solid touchdown favorite, had apparently put the game away with two Jeff Ward field goals in the third quarter because of a smothering defense which had given the Bulldogs only 10 first downs to that point.

The Longhorns, who had used two time outs in the third period, futilely tried to rally, but the inspired Bulldogs shut them down.

Georgia finished the season with a 10-1-1 record. Texas, which wrapped up the year with an 11-1 mark, saw its hopes for a national title shattered.

The game was tied 3-3 at halftime, but Ward kicked field goals of 40 and 27 yards in the third quarter as Texas took a 9-3 lead.

Texas had to punt with less than three minutes to play and Georgia ran out the clock. The key play came with fourth and one at the Texas 36 when Georgia fullback Barry Young plunged across for the first down and the Longhorns had no time out left to stop the clock.

The 48th Cotton Bowl started slowly on a 38-degree day with defenses dominating. Texas had a surprise starter at quarterback in Rick McIvor and it paid dividends on the Longhorns' first drive.

McIvor, starting his first game since 1981, completed a 37-yard pass to Bobby Micho and ran 16 yards to set up Ward's 22-yard field goal.

The Bulldogs, playing Texas for the first time in 25 years, tied the game 3-3 in the second period on Butler's 43-yard field goal, which was set up by Moss' 29-yard punt return.

Georgia now has a 2-1 record in Cotton Bowl games and has its first victory over Texas in four tries.

Lastinger could complete only six of 18 passes for 66 yards while McIvor hit only one eight of 26 for 168 yards.

•UCLA pounds Illinois in Rose

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — There was a lot more to the 1984 Rose Bowl game, as UCLA Coach Terry Donahue pointed out, than running, passing blocking and tackling.

"I felt we had a tremendous psychological advantage coming into the game," said Donahue with a grin. "I thought the chemistry was perfect for an upset. Obviously, I didn't expect an upset of this magnitude."

No doubt few others did, either. The unranked Bruins, called by many a team unworthy of playing in a major bowl game because of their 6-4-1 record, established their superiority early in rolling to a 45-9 triumph over fourth-ranked Illinois. The victory came before a capacity crowd of 103,217 at the Rose Bowl, which also happens to be where UCLA plays its home games.

UCLA, 0-3-1 at one stage of the season, won six of its last seven games to win the Pacific-10 Conference title and earn the Rose Bowl berth.

"Maybe if we're lucky we'll break into the rankings," said senior tight end Paul Bergmann, whose three-yard touchdown reception from Rick Neuheisel after 5:07 of play put the Bruins ahead to stay. "We had a lot to prove today. This shows what the schedule means."

"People just looked at our numbers. They didn't look at our team."

UCLA's three early season losses came at the hands of top-ranked Nebraska, seventh-ranked Georgia and ninth-ranked Brigham Young.

"You have to be surprised by the score," said free safety Don Rogers, who intercepted two passes, the second of which set up UCLA's third touchdown. "This was more fun than the Michigan game last year because it was my last game. It was a great team effort."

Rogers referred to the Bruins' 24-14 triumph over Michigan in the 1983 Rose Bowl. He was the co-MVP of that game, sharing top honors with quarterback Tom Ramsey.

This time, it was Ramsey's successor, Rick Neuheisel, who earned MVP honors. Neuheisel, also playing in his final collegiate game, hit on 22 of 31 passes for 298 yards and a Rose Bowl record-tying four touchdowns.

"The first thing you have to wonder is who wrote this story," he said, referring to a saga that began when he came to UCLA without a scholarship in the fall of 1979. "I'd like to thank him very much."

"I have a beautiful family. They never let me give up on myself. I just kept trying and trying."

So did the Bruins after their miserable start. "There were a lot of people who wrote us off," said Neuheisel. "We turned it around. We never gave up. I'm proud to be a part of this team."

Donahue said the score wasn't a true measure of Illinois.

"I don't think we saw the Illinois team that beat Ohio State, Iowa and Michigan today," he said. "On a different day, I'm sure it would have been a different game."

•Auburn squeaks by Michigan

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It was the narrowest of victories, but still wide enough that Auburn Coach Pat Dye felt justified in staking his claim for college football's national championship.

Third-ranked Auburn, 11-1, downed eighth-ranked Michigan 9-7 in the Sugar Bowl Monday night. The victory came as top-ranked Nebraska was falling to Miami in the Orange Bowl and after No. 2 Texas lost to Georgia in the Cotton Bowl.

Dye said that Auburn deserved the national title for two reasons: it's the highest ranked surviving team, and it played the nation's toughest schedule during the regular season.

"It's cut and dried," he said. "If they are going to have a No. 1 football team in America, and it's going to have any credibility — if there's any credibility in scheduling — if Nebraska loses tonight, there's no way that Auburn shouldn't be No. 1."

The Associated Press releases its poll at 6:30 p.m. EST.

Kicker Al Del Greco accounted for all of Auburn's points with three second-half field goals, chipping away at the 7-0 lead Michigan established in the first quarter on a 4-yard run by Steve Smith.

Del Greco's field goals were from 31 yards out with 6:17 left in the third quarter, from 32 yards with 8:51 left in the fourth quarter, and from 19 yards with 23 seconds remaining.

"That's the first time I ever kicked one in the final minute," the senior kicker said after the game. "I have no words to describe how happy I am."

He said he went through the game-winning scenario over and over in his mind at practice during Sugar Bowl preparations and dreamed of booting the winning kick as he sat alone in his room.

"A kicker always sits back at night and dreams about something like that," he said.

When it came, it was almost an anticlimax, he said.

"All I did was go in and kick. Everybody expected me to make it, and I should, because it was a close field goal," he said.

"The only thing that worried me was out of the corner of my eye, I saw this guy rushing from the left," he said.

"I said, 'Please, don't block it.' It missed his hand about 6 inches."

"I saw it hit the net, and then all hell broke loose."

Auburn halfback Bo Jackson, who rushed for 131 yards on 22 carries, was named the game's most valuable player, but he said the trophy went to the wrong man.

"I would like to present it to Lionel James," he said. James, Auburn's other starting halfback, got 94 yards on 18 carries. "He's my hero," Jackson said of the 170-pounder.

Jackson said that when he went on to the field and saw that Michigan was noticeably smaller than teams Auburn played through the year, he thought he was in for an easy night.

DIVE SHORT — University of Texas tailback John Walker (5) tries to dive for a first down on a third and one play, but the University of Georgia defense held the Horns on the 22-yard line. Texas lost 10-9.

Ohio St. nips Pitt in Fiesta

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — For Thad Jemison, his winning, final-minute touchdown reception in Ohio State's 28-23 Fiesta Bowl victory over Pittsburgh was a bit-sweet ending to his college football career.

"I do have bad feelings and it would take all day to talk about it," the Buckeyes' senior split end said Monday after his 39-yard scoring catch beat the Panthers with 39 seconds left.

"This was my post-season all-star game," said Jemison, who has six teammates playing in all-star games this season. He, of course, is not appearing in one.

Mike Tomczak, 14th-ranked Ohio State's quarterback, said of Jemison, "Thad has been in the shadow of Gary Williams for so long. It's a great way to end his career."

The 6-foot-2, 195-pound Jemison, from Cincinnati, equaled a Fiesta record with eight receptions, more than he totaled in his first two college seasons combined. Bill Wallace, Pittsburgh's split end, also tied the Fiesta reception record.

Jemison started only one game in his first three seasons, sitting on the bench and watching Williams become the school's all-time leading receiver with 154 catches.

The victory gave Ohio State its fourth straight 9-3 season and marked the third straight bowl triumph for the Buckeyes. Pittsburgh, No. 15 nationally, wound up 8-3-1.

Ohio State survived Fiesta Bowl records of 361 total yards and 31 completions by Pittsburgh quarterback John Congemi. The old marks were 352 yards by Arizona State's Dennis Sproul in 1977 and 25 completions by Gary Huff of Florida State in 1971.

Roland Tatum, Ohio State's senior inside linebacker, was selected by the media as the game's top defensive player. "He played exceptional," Buckeye Coach Earle Bruce said. "He was all over the field making plays. He played one of his best games."

Bruce had predicted it would take 28 points to win the game. "But I would have liked to have gotten the 28 points earlier. It's nice to win a close game for a change."

Ohio State had not posted a narrow victory since trimming UCLA 17-13 in the fourth game in 1979. The Buckeyes' three Big Ten losses came by a combined 13 points this season.

After Ohio State built a 14-7 halftime lead on runs of 3 and 1 yards by Tomczak and tailback Keith Byars respectively, Pittsburgh pulled even at 14-14 on the second play of the fourth quarter.

Demise of Dallas

It's been eight days since I had my Christmas ruined. It occurred Dec. 26 around 6 p.m. The final verdict was staring at me from the TV in big bold letters; Los Angeles 24, Dallas 17. The Dallas Cowboys were out of the playoffs.

My team — the team I grew up with that had gotten in the playoffs 17 of the last 18 seasons and usually stuck around until close to the end. But on this given day Dallas got punched out in the opening round.

It just seemed impossible that the Cowboys would let a cream puff team like LA come into Texas Stadium — where Dallas has lost just six games in the last three years — and use them for mops. But it happened.

This was very unusual season for the Cowboys. The team started out like gangbusters and ended up getting busted — three times in a row, all by playoff teams, much of which can be attributed to Pete Rozelle's party parade.

How does a team go from a 12-2 powerhouse to easy pickins, from being totally confident on every Sunday to being as unorganized and unprepared as you can get?

That's right, the heat is on. After riding high on their horses for all these years and suddenly they've been knocked off, now they're down and everybody is going to try to kick them around.

Why, the disrespect is already showing. Heard the latest on why do the Cowboys win a dozen game and then lay eggs? Because they are the Dallas Chickens — or did you hear the one about Dallas being sold to the Philippines? They are going to rename them the Manila Folders.

What are the answers to the reasons for Dallas' sudden about-face? Some experts say the Redskins ripped the heart right out of Cowboys' body with their convincing win at Texas Stadium. Others think that Dallas simply peaked too soon.

Others place the blame on Tom Landry saying that he pampers Danny White and that his play calling is something less to be desired.

But in case of criticism all Landry has to do is stand on his record. Which means he can stand tall. But the good thing about Landry no matter how good or bad the times are, he never climbs on his band wagon and boasts about his record.

Landry makes it clear that some changes will have to be made, but a total dissection is not in store, although Butch Johnson and Dennis Thurman feel that way.

"I don't see a general house cleaning," Landry said. "I hope to see improvement." The first step toward improvement has to be in the offensive line and secondary.

Dallas must somehow get the line back up to par so they can establish a strong running attack and not have to pass 40 times a game. Tony Dorsett is one of the most elusive and explosive running backs to ever play this game and there is no explanation why a team can hold him to under 30 yards.

The offensive line averages just four years in the NFL so that are not old. I think they need to do some soul-searching as well as the secondary. The same secondary that made all the big plays last season couldn't come with them this time.

The Cowboys' secondary gave up a lot of yards last season also, but they ball-hawked to kill drives. A lot of times this season they weren't close enough to touch the receiver, much less the ball.

The secondary placed a lot of the blame on the extra blitzing used by the defense, which means the pass rush slacked off a little. Randy White and Ed Jones played super, John Dutton was steady and Harvey Martin is at the close of a brilliant career. Larry Bethea's signing with the USFL was a blessing in disguise as he never lived up to his laurels.

The defense needs an anchor and it isn't Bob Bruening. The middle linebacker has never been the tower of strength and has gained much of his publicity for following in the footsteps of greats like Chuck Howley, Lee Roy Jordan and Dave Edwards.

Danny White suffered through a rough year at quarterback and has yet to lead Dallas to the Super Bowl, this year Landry will toss the quarterback job in the air and give pistol-armed Gary Hogeboom a chance.

At the skill positions Billy Joe Dupree and Mr. Clutch Drew Pearson are nearing their careers but Dallas has plenty of fire power in players like Butch Johnson, Doug Donely, Timmy Newsome and Doug Cosbie.

So now the cards are on the table — it just depends how Dallas wishes to deal them.

2 women win Olympic trials

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Sue Long of Manchester, Vt., and Dan Simoneau of Eugene, Ore., won Olympic trials Monday in cross country skiing.

Long finished first in the women's 5-kilometer race in a time of 16:43.4, 2.3 seconds ahead of Patty Ross. Simoneau won the men's 15-kilometer race by more than 10 seconds in a time of 42:17.6.

KC's Aikens begins sentence

FORT WORTH (AP) — Federal prison officials say they expect former Kansas City Royals' first baseman Willie Aikens to surrender to them today and begin serving a 90-day sentence for cocaine-related charges.

Three former teammates of Aikens are already serving time at the Federal Correctional Institute here.

They include former Royals' pitcher Vida Blue, who was both the Cy Young Award winner and the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1971. Blue began serving a three-month sentence on a drug possession charge after his arrival here Sunday night.

Last month, Aikens' other ex-Kansas City teammates, Willie Wilson and Jerry Martin, began serving 90-day sentences at the minimum security prison.

Blue pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing cocaine. He was caught up in a federal investigation of the drug traffic in the Kansas City area, along with Wilson, Martin and Aikens.

Martin was released by the Royals at the end of the season. He, Wilson and Aikens pleaded guilty to charges of attempting to possess cocaine.

Aikens, who is involved in a drug rehabilitation program, was traded to the Toronto Blue Jays after the season. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn suspended Aikens, Wilson and Martin for one year without pay.

Each player will have his case reviewed in mid-May for possible reinstatement, officials said.

Kuhn said action against Blue has been delayed pending completion of the federal investigation.

Blue received the distinction of winning the league's top two awards in 1971, when he tallied a 24-8 record with the Oakland A's that year.

The Royals released the 34-year-old Blue last August after posting an 0-5 record and 6.01 earned run average.

Perfect timing

Matthews clocks in for Lady Steers win

By STEVE BELVIN Staff Writer

After viewing the Lady Steers' 69-66 win over Abilene Monday night at Steer Gym, one might come to the assumption that Jana Matthews has perfect timing.

In fact her timing was so perfect that her five points and one rebound in the final two minutes pulled Big Spring from the grips of the upset-minded Abilene Eagles.

The 5-8 post player had come off the bench for Trish Clemons who fouled out with 2:52 remaining following Monette Wise who fouled out with five minutes to go.

Matthews started her heroics with the scored tied 58-58 with two minutes remaining. The lefty took a pass from Debra Rubio and swished a 7-footer to give Big Spring the lead. Then with 1:10 on the clock she took a missed Paula Spears' shot and put it back in with Abilene's Carla Munson on her back. Next she calmly hit the charity shot to complete the three point play to give the Lady Steers a 67-62 lead to ice the victory.

The Eagles gave BSHS all they wanted in the emotion — packed contest. So intense was the action that the normally quiet Lady Steer coach Annette Fowler was assessed with two technicals, as well as Abilene player.

The contest was up-and-down one for Big Spring. At times they looked great and sometimes they bore little resemblance to the Lady Steers — it was not one of their better games.

The contest did make Big Spring test its bench, which passed with flying colors as Matthews, Tina Smith, Alice Lopez and Debbie Donelson stood the test.

The Lady Steers found themselves playing "catch up" most of the night as the Eagles led by forwards Trina Jackson, Lisa Williams and guard Jennifer Wolfe led 15-10 after the first quarter and 34-26 at the half.

Wise and Spears kept the Lady Steers close, combining for 18 first-half points. The Big Spring press was awesome at times collecting steal after steal but going back downcourt to either have the ball stolen away or thrown away. Rubio had a super defensive game collecting 10 of the 18 steals.

Big Spring made their move midway through the third quarter when Wise tied the contest at 36 on a free throw. After exchanging baskets BSHS rallied on two baskets by Rubio and one by Spears and would never lose the lead again.

Spears continued her dominance over district foes by scoring 28 points and hauling down 15 rebounds. Wolfe keyed the last minute surge by Abilene with three steals and 11 of her 17 points in the final quarter. Jackson and Williams led the Eagles with 21 points each.

The Lady Steers had one of their better shooting performances from the field hitting 30 of 57 shots for 53 percent, including a blistering 59 percent in the second half. Free throws again hampered BSHS. It connected on 47 percent while Abilene shot 49 percent from the floor and sunk 20-30 free throws.

The win ups the Lady Steers district mark to 2-1 and season mark to 9-7.

In the junior varsity contest the Lady Steers got 19 points from Monique Jones, 11 from Tabitha Green and 10 from Monica Lockridge to down the Eagles 48-39. The Lady Steers' record is 4-6 for the season.

Big Spring next game will be Thursday versus Midland. The JV contest starts at 6:15 p.m.

Man saves neighbors from blaze

DALLAS (AP) — A man who called the fire department on his cordless telephone as he fled his apartment and pounded on his neighbors' doors was credited with saving lives in an early morning five-alarm blaze.

The fire Sunday at the Montfort Place apartment complex caused an estimated $500,000 in damages. Dallas Fire Chief J.J. Franklin said authorities have the name of a man they want to question in connection with the blaze.

Franklin said the fire apparently had a "suspicious origin."

One resident, Mike Darnell, said he began warning neighbors after he discovered the fire had engulfed the apartment building next to his.

Darnell, 26, said he had decided to stay home instead of attending a New Year's party, and was reading a magazine on model airplanes when the fire broke out. "I'm just glad I was awake," he said. "I just didn't feel like partying this weekend. If it hadn't been me, someone else could have done the same thing."

Kathy Thompson, 25, said Darnell pounded on her door just before 7 a.m. Sunday, and his actions saved the occupants of six studio apartments.

"He saved our lives," Ms. Thompson said. "We probably wouldn't have seen 1984 if it hadn't been for his pounding and yelling."

Darnell said he heard yelling and fighting from an apartment unit across the street from him about 6:30 a.m. and about 30 minutes later saw smoke and flames pouring from the roofs of the adjacent apartment building.

"All I could think about were all those people asleep and not knowing what's going on," said Darnell.

Call Golden Gate Before Mercury Plummet Again

When the temperature dipped to 2° in Big Spring recently, it jolted residents into assessing their homes for energy efficiency. Probably more of us than care to admit felt an icy draft from every window and door. There's no time like the present to contact Golden Gate Siding and Golden Gate Storm Window, Glass & Mirror Company to learn how they can make your home cozier (and save you money on utilities to boot.)

Golden Gate Siding offers 8 different colors in USS all-steel siding for residential or commercial use. For whole-house installation Golden Gate applies insulation between walls and siding. The siding has a lifetime non-prorated guarantee against fading, rust and peeling; and a 50-year guarantee against hail.

Golden Gate makes custom storm doors and windows, and will install them or deliver to customers who wish to install their own. They are available in three colors of frames and in three different kinds of glass. Installation should save 20% to 30% on heating and cooling bills.

Golden Gate also offers Coronado rock trim — this is real stone — for exteriors or for fireplaces. For commercial and residential installation, Golden Gate has decorative mirrors or will install mirrored walls.

Golden Gate gives free estimates and will work within customers' budget perimeters. Most installations require no money down. No job is too large or too small.

Golden Gate RV Service Center has just opened its new 7,500 sq. ft. building which will enable them to offer more complete service facilities and a large RV sales showroom.

The RV Service Center handles a complete line of new vehicles, and has parts and accessories in stock. They offer a complete service department — everything from welding to engine overhaul. Golden Gate is a Christian company, locally owned and operated. Mike and Carol Arnett, owners, say that all materials and service are guaranteed, and every customer must be satisfied. The staff includes Robert Rivera, Owen Johnson, Leon Prescott, Curtis Fry, Edwin Taylor, Lori Taylor, Randy Deubler, Dolores Rich, Daniel Val Verde and Roy Spivey. Golden Gate is located 8 miles east of Big Spring on I-20. Phone them at 394-4812 or 394-4844. They now have expanded with sales offices for siding and storm doors/windows in Snyder and Sweetwater.

Expert Auto Repair At Pat Gray Body Works

It's the beginning of a new generation of automobiles and therefore a new generation of repair options.

Today's automobile is highly sophisticated in design and construction. However, it can be repaired, aligned and painted to like-new condition, provided your repair shop has the necessary equipment and training to do the job properly.

That's where Pat Gray Body Works comes to the rescue. Pat Gray's repairmen are certified in unibody repair as well as alignment and suspension work. When you take your car to Pat Gray, you can be assured of competent repairs.

Equipment designed specifically for the "frameless" car and computerized 4-wheel alignment give Pat Gray Body Works the tools needed to do alignment jobs right.

Pat Gray stocks a complete line of lacquer and enamel tinting colors, and each job is custom-mixed and matched twice for a perfect match to your car's color.

Next time you need an estimate for collision or alignment on your car, call Pat Gray Body Works at 263-0582.

Owner Pat Gray has been in business in Big Spring seven years. The firm is located in a roomy building at 700 N. Owens which houses the most modern shop in this area for frame, suspension repair, front end alignment, body work and painting for cars, trucks, boats and motor homes.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTEER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Do not become embroiled in any agreements within your vocational interests. Concern yourself with aspects of your every day job and do it without resentment.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Forget about arguing with others because your ideas are different. Keep your promises. Do nothing to upset your position of security.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Complete the work at hand before going into a new interest which could take more time than you anticipated. Be conscientious.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use your good judgment; your hunches could be unreliable today. Steer clear of arguments, and avoid being social tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Don't permit household matters to deter you from making progress possible. Don't light into your mate over something trivial.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Concentrate on important routines now and handle communications tomorrow. Think very constructively and logically.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Try to meet the wishes of family as much as possible and avoid any new financial commitments. Don't argue with someone in business.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you don't get into a family argument, you can carry through very nicely with affairs at hand. Don't overspend for pleasure. Be sensible.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get busy at being constructive and stop worrying over something you can do little about. Don't light into family over something small.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Contact experts and find out how to add income. Take care while driving. Relax tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Exercise care in the handling of finances now, or you could make expensive errors. Be more concerned with personal matters.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Collect as much data confidentially as you can in order to formulate a plan. Avoid a group affair where arguments could start.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) This is a good day for communicating and improving conditions around you. Don't irritate a co-worker. Forget your worries.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be someone who has to be taught to do things in accepted ways and to be co-operative if success in life is to be realized. Temper must be curbed. This is a born organizer with many fine talents.

STENCIL DECORATING.
Here's an easy way to transform any room from cold to cozy! Stenciling is easy to master, requires no artistic ability, and costs next to nothing. You can stencil just about anything - walls, pillows, curtains, tablecloths - even the floor. Plans include stencil designs and complete instructions for stenciling a wall, pillow, and quilted tablecloth. No. 1229-2 $3.95
FABRIC PAINTED WORK-SHIRTS.
Even a beginner can turn ordinary workshirts into boutique originals. They're colored with acrylic paints and are machine washable. Plans include full-size, iron-on patterns for button-downs, daisies, a sun, Raggedy Ann, and a fruit-and-flower arrangement. No. 1211-2 $3.95
TOOTH FAIRY PILLOW.
Give the Tooth Fairy a helping hand with this stuffed fabric pillow. The 10-inch-tall pillow has a cross-stitched face and tooth pocket to hold lost teeth in safekeeping, and it helps remind a child to brush regularly. Plans include cross-stitch graphs and full-size patterns. No. 1342-2 $3.95

Iron Butterfly makes 102nd movie

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — With her delicate features and porcelain skin, she seems like a fragile doll. But at 88, Lillian Gish retains the same indomitable spirit that has sustained her acting career for an astounding 83 years.

She remains as firm of voice and opinion as when she was a silent star at MGM, where she was dubbed the Iron Butterfly. The memories of those years, and especially her beginnings as D.W. Griffith's favorite heroine, remain evergreen. Yet she doesn't live in the past.

Miss Gish was in California to star in her 102nd movie, "Hambone and Hillie," a Sandy Howard Production with O.J. Simpson, Timothy Bottoms, Jack Carter and Candy Clark. After completing her work, she submitted to a series of interviews in her suite at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

Interviewers were cautioned to restrict their time to 45 minutes so Miss Gish could rest 15 minutes between sessions. It hardly seemed necessary. She talked almost non-stop, ranging from memories of 80 years ago to observations of today's show business.

"Hambone and Hillie" is a dog story, and that brought to mind the many dogs Miss Gish and her late sister, Dorothy, owned over the years. The first was a gift when they were 7 and 8 and appearing in melodramas in Boston that cost 10-30 cents admission.

"We rode the train from Boston to New York, and it was the first Pullman we had ever taken," Miss Gish related. "Always before we had slept in chair cars as we traveled from town to town. That night Dorothy and I climbed into the upper berth with the puppy, and we took turns staying awake to make sure it wouldn't fall out."

Lillian and Dorothy Gish were born a year apart in Springfield, Ohio. After their father drifted away, Mrs. Gish moved the girls to New York, took acting jobs in the theater out of desperation, and the daughters followed.

"Of course, Mother disgraced the family by going into acting," Miss Gish said. "It simply would not have been proper back in Ohio. She used another name, and Dorothy and I never used our own names when we were small. We were always listed as 'Baby Dorothy' or 'Baby Lillian.' Even when we went to work for Mr. Griffith, our names weren't used. He didn't believe in billing the actors."

D.W. Griffith recurs in Miss Gish's conversation, always as "Mr. Griffith." Their careers were intertwined, and when she wrote her 1969 autobiography, it was titled "The Movies, Mr. Griffith, and Me."

Mary Pickford, who had known the Gish girls on the stage, persuaded Griffith to cast them in his one-reelers. Miss Gish's virginal innocence made her the perfect Griffith heroine, and she later starred in his classics, "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance." She went on to MGM, then returned to the stage after the advent of sound.

Her scorn for "talkies" remains intense. "The movies lost 95 percent of their audience when they started to use words instead of music," she said. "Even the nickelodeons in the earliest years had a piano to accompany silent films, and music is an international language."

NOT LETTING UP — At 87, actress Lillian Gish is not about to retire from acting and a career that has encompassed an astounding 82 years and recently, she has completed her 102nd movie.

Dinner theater shuts down

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A dinner theater owned by actor Earl Holliman and a San Antonio businessman has closed its doors because of money troubles.

Holliman and businessman Patrik Baldauff announced in September that the Fiesta Dinner Playhouse would close Jan. 1 because "our costs have consistently outstripped our income."

"We thought we'd be here forever," Holliman said Monday. "It was a heartbreaking decision to close, to put the property up for sale."

"The decision was made for us," he said. "The Fiesta made money one year, 1979, and we took that money and funneled it right back into the theater. We lost money on every show. I will miss being a part of San Antonio."

The theater, which seats more than 500 people, opened more than six years ago.

Texas feed store owner claims gains from grain

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Visitors to Betty Fowler's feed store are reminded of America's heritage when the earthy smell of grain wafts into their nostrils, and they glimpse the sacks of feed for livestock and pets stacked in dark corners.

Mrs. Fowler, owner of the Watsonville Feed & Supply Store, stocks feed for horses, cattle, pigs, goats, rabbits, birds, dog, catfish and other creatures. And she sells about 35 to 40 tones of feed every week.

"Just a lot of hard work and poor pay," says Mrs. Fowler of her job. But she hints that she gets satisfaction out of advising customers on the right type of feed to buy.

Mrs. Fowler, formerly an Arlington hairdresser, opened the store with her husband 18 years ago. Her husband died five years ago.

She said she possessed about the same understanding of the feed store business as that of any average city dweller. "But the first thing I knew, we were in the feed business," she told the Dallas Times Herald.

"For quite a while there, I spent a lot of time studying it. If you're going to recommend anything to a customer, you've got to know what you're doing."

Most of her grain is sold in 50-pound bags, constructed of layers of heavy paper and sewn shut at the top.

"This was my husband's brainstorm," she said. "He had been a builder in Arlington for many years, but his health broke and he couldn't fight the construction business anymore, so he decided we'd open a feed store."

"I didn't think he was serious at first," she said. Mrs. Fowler said many of her customers, who have city jobs, have moved into the area in the past few years to bring a little country flavor into their home life.

Many own a house on several acres, with a garden and some animals, she said.

"Just everybody has horses, it seems," she said, adding that the store sells more bags of horse feed than anything else.

Feed bags are stacked neatly in the store's cavernous back room. The front area is the "Supply" portion of Watsonville Feed & Supply. Racks of tack — bridles, halters, rope leads, pads — occupy one corner.

On a wall hangs several silver-colored galvanized metal tubs. Shelves and display counters are filled with dispensers for feed and water, various oils, ointments, salves, medications, saddle soap and other supplies.

Sales increased during the recent freeze and unseasonably cold weather in the area, she said, because animals burned more calories to survive.
