Spring City battles board line breaks Crews plug water mains

By RICK BROWN Staff Writer

Of an estimated 90 water line breaks that plagued Big Spring after sub-freezing weather struck Dec. 21, 14 remain unrepaired, Public Works Director Tom Decell said Tuesday.

City crews also are scrambling to repair an estimated 100 service connection problems that residents have called in since warmer weather returned to the city, Decell

"We hope by the end of the week to have all major problems corrected," Decell said.

"Our first priority is to get service restored to everybody," he

During the period since Dec. 21, the city has pumped approximately 107 million gallons of water, he said. The figure is about 45 million gallons "in excess of what we normally pump in a similar period," he Worst hit by the city's water line crisis was the neighborhood around North and South Montecello streets. This area alone suffered 16 breaks, Decell said.

The public works director cited one case of water line breakage near Beil's Creek where city crews had to haul in 650 cubic meters of dirt to build a road so they could get to the leak. Building the road alone took one day, Decell said.

The director praised the department's employees, saying they 'worked far beyond what was expected."

"They worked long hours in terri-ble conditions, and they worked cheerfully," he said.

The department has not yet been able to prepare an estimate of total damages for water line replacement, street repairs, overtime and water loss brought on by the winter situation closely. "We agree that tests show there is some level in some finished grain products, but we don't know how much it affects people," Bernstein said.

'When we find out for sure how this affects people we will do something

There is no need to flog ourselves for no good reason," Bernstein said.

Hightower said his demand for action from the Texas Department of Health and the federal Environmental Protection Agency was based on preliminary tests of grain-based products in Texas following a testing program in Florida.

After the tests, the Florida Department of Agriculture removed 64 products from supermarket shelves and set a state standard of one part-per-billion of EDB as unacceptable for human consumption.

Bernstein said Florida was the only state to set a standard and other states had refused to set limits until there was more scientific proof of harmful contamination.

One Texas food manufacturer, Ben Wichter, president of Old Tyme Foods in Dallas, said his firm and others have already taken steps to prevent traces of the cancer-causing chemical from appearing in their

U.S. rejoices over aviator's freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy Lt. Robert O. Goodman Jr., exclaiming "God Bless America," returned to U.S. soil at dawn today after a month in Syrian captivity to a rousing welcome from his family, his friends and his president.

Accompanied by Jesse Jackson, the Democratic presidential hopeful who negotiated his release, Goodman, his wife, children and parents met with President Reagan in the Oval Office after the allnight flight to freedom. 'I would like once again to thank all the people involved...for their diligent work and ability to get me home a little bit earlier than I had envisioned," the 27-year-old black aviator from Virginia Beach, Va., said in a Rose Garden meeting with reporters. 'Thank you very much and I appreciate all the support.

Reagan said, "Today is a homecoming celebration and all of us are delighted to see Lt. Robert Goodman free, safe and reunited with his family,' The president added: "We're all proud of him."

Praising Jackson's "personal mission of mercy," Reagan said the civil rights leader has "earned our gratitude and our admiration." Last week, Reagan had discouraged Jackson from going to Syria, but he had not blocked the trip.

The president also said he is willing to meet Syrian President Hafez Assad to work toward a solution to end fighting in Lebanon, where Syria and Israel have troops.

"We have opened communications with him (Assad) and we hope it will lead to that," Reagan said in response to a question. "Lt. Goodman's release affords us a unique opportunity to - well, I took advantage of the opportunity - (to) write to the president of Syria and call for Syrian cooperation in securing peace in Lebanon.

In turn, Jackson thanked Reagan, saying, "President Reagan had the option to stop our mission, he had the option to interfere, to intervene. He did

Jackson also thanked the Syrians for releasing

Goodman, who was on a bombing mission over Syrian-controlled portions of Lebanon when his plane was shot down Dec. 4. The "Syrians had a right to kill him, but they did not." Jackson said.

Goodman and Jackson arrived at nearby Andrews Air Force Base at 6:35 a.m. EST on a military transport jet that Reagan had sent to fetch them. They had flown from Damascus, Syria, to Rhein Main Air Base in West Germany, and then on As the men left the blue and white plane, they raised their clasped hands amid cheers from more than 200 well-wishers and the rousing sounds of a local high school band. Goodman, dressed in his crisp Navy uniform, hugged his wife and family, and then said he had 'received 60,000 pieces of mail and to me that's awesome, and to me that shows what kind of country this is. "I thought daily about the POW experience that I had been trained to withstand, and the type of POW experience the guys had to experience in Vietnam,' said Goodman, a bombardier-navigator whose attack jet was shot down by the Syrians on Dec. 4.

"I would like to take from that experience and say one quote which one man said when he came back from Vietnam - and that was 'God Bless

Speaking to reporters while en route to Frankfurt. Goodman said his captors had interrogated him immediately after he was taken to Damascus from the

"They tried to scare me," he said. Asked if the Syrians had shouted and waved guns, he replied: "It was more than just shouting. (But) they weren't trying to hurt me, just trying to scare me.

He said he would save details of the interrogation "for the debriefing" that begins today by U.S. military officers. But the Washington Post quoted Goodman as saying, "I got hit a couple of times. Face and body, with fists."

By RICK BROWN Staff Writer

Officials at Big Spring Air Park tenant Oilfield Industrial Lines Inc. (O.I.L.) said this morning the company is still open, and they said they now are "not sure" when the plant here will close its doors.

O.I.L. officials told employees Dec. 9 the company would cease operations at the Air Park plant "in about three weeks" because of a major divestiture by O.I.L. parent company Kidde Corp. of Saddlebrook, N.J.

Big Spring derives about 45 percent of its Air Park income from a $400,000 yearly lease with O.I.L, Air Park Manager Hal Boyd said. The lease expires Dec. 31, 1997, Boyd said.

The city sold over $1 million in revenue bonds approved by the City Council in March 1982 based on rent expected from the O.I.L. plant, said City Manager Don port terminal and hangars in Air Park.

A spokeswoman at Air Park said Wednesday that O.I.L. remains a "valid tenant" and is up to date in its rent payments.

"I'm sure we will discharge properly any obligations we have," O.I.L Industrial Relations Director John Rowe said this morning.

The beleaguered oil rig manufacturing company began operations in Big Spring in 1979, reaching a peak of nearly 700 employees during the boom days of 1981. Lay-offs became a common occurrence at the company throughout 1982 and 1983.

The company had managed to intermittantly call back some workers, but by late last year the work force had shrunk to about 20.

The biggest single layoff came one year ago when 160 were fired, reducing the staff to 300.

A 10-year-old Big Spring boy remains in Malone-Hogan Hospital after being hit by a car yesterday afternoon near the intersection of 11th and Birdwell, police reports said.

Billy Ray Miears of 1507 Sycamore ran onto Birdwell Lane from between two stopped vehicles and into the path of a rented 1983 Pontiac 6000 driven by Betty Ruth Thurman of 1708 Laurie, reports said.

Miears was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Shaffer Ambulance and treated for a broken leg, a hospital spokeswoman said. The boy remained in the hospital this morning for observation, she said.

• In another major accident, on-duty Big Spring police officer Oskar Lee Everett was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital, where he was treated and released following a two-car accident Tuesday night at the intersection of N.W. 11th and Lamesa, reports said.

Everett's patrol car was north-bound on Lamesa when a 1975 Ford LTD driven by Luis Hernandez, 18, of 311 N. Aylford failed to yield right of way. As a result, Everett's patrol car hit Hernandez's LTD, reports

Hernandez was arrested later at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital in connection with driving while intoxicated, police reports said.

 Rosa E. Silva of 400 N. Gregg told police at 8:34
 a.m. Tuesday that someone stole between 6:30 p.m. Monday and 8:40 a.m. Monday a gold 1975 Ford valued at $2,000, reports said. Silva told police the car was locked with the keys in the ignition.

Macario Cedillo also of 400 N. Gregg told police upon recovery of the vehicle that a television, assorted tools, a cassette player and earphones, a picture and a suit-case and contents worth a total of $800 had been stolen from the vehicle, police reports said.

• John Flores, 29, address unknown, was arrested at 8:40 a.m. Tuesday at the Mid-Continent Inn on Interstate 20 on suspicion of credit card abuse and possession of a controlled substance, police reports

• James Hoffman of 1200 Ridgeroad told police at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday that someone between 5:30 p.m. Monday and 5 p.m. Tuesday broke into a white 1978 GMC pickup parked at 421 E. Third, police reports said. The burglar stole a stereo, equalizer and speakers of unknown value from the pickup which belongs to Eddie Word of 1511 Scurry, reports said.

 Charles Dungan of Arapaho, Okla., was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Shaffer Ambulance with lacerations over his right and left eyes and middle forehead after he was attacked by three persons with an unknown object, police reports said. The assault occurred inside the Lamplighter Club on W. I-20, reports

DALLAS (AP) - The czar, another Southern Methodist University success story, was in conference, so his assistant momentarily stood in. He guided his guest toward a training restroom in the back of the office. Somebody had taped a sign to the door: Out of

"OK," Therrel Lawler began, pulling out a pamphlet that illustrated in clean, blue lines the Fikes Chemical three-step formula to safe, sanitized restrooms.

He pointed a meaningful finger to a pie graph sliced several ways, each slice representing one of those steps. "We clean. Sanitize. And deodorize fixtures," he explained, his finger eventually circling the whole pie before it stopped at a commode drawn with a wide smile. "By fixtures," he went on, "I mean commodes, urinals and some wash spaces. A lot of people say, 'OK, you clean restrooms.' We don't. We service

'We do not," he then emphasized, his dry tone widening, as though wiping up a common misconcep-tion before it had a chance to run, "mop floors or put in

Then the Czar walked in. Leo Fikes, self-proclaimed Czar. King of Commodes. Baron of the Bowl. For the guest, the possibilities blurred. Lord of the Ring.

Fikes sat in a chair behind a long desk. "Next May 1," he said proudly, "I'll be a 30-year man.

He picked up a glass toilet seat in which two snakes were encased on a gravel bed. "I went to it like a Fikes, who at 55 runs one of the most successful toilet are all conscious of obnoxious odors. So when we walk into a restroom, we think if it smells nice, it's safe. But that's only part of it. There are different problems with each restroom." Fikes might seem an unlikely commode baron. Raised in Dallas' affluent Park Cities, educated at Highland Park High School and SMU, where he graduated with a degree in business administration, he did indeed head for a career in restroom maintenance. After receiving his degree, Fikes immediately went to work for an uncle who ran a service in San Antonio.

"My uncle had done an excellent job," Fikes explained. "I always admired him."

Mostly, Fikes worked at the sales end of his uncle's business. But on days when a serviceman didn't show up, he says, "we grabbed a kit and did the work." He describes his feelings during those early days spent in restrooms as "comfortable." But he says the feeling was not always shared.

"I can only relate it to my Daddy," he explained. "I had just finished college, and he came to visit me in San Antonio. At midnight I was in a restroom mopping floors. He walked out and cried.'

Then Fikes said, "My early philosophy was to be the biggest and best in my field. Of course, I have a narrow little field. In fact, you can hardly see it."

Fikes returned to Dallas seven years later. He says he operated a franchise for another restroom maintenance company for the next 12 years before deciding he wanted a larger share of the pot. With two other "potty cleaners," he opened his own company. A week later, one of his cleaners quit. That left him and the other guy. But Fikes persevered — "I like it" — and soon his business took off.

But soon, Fikes says, "I experienced the illusions of grandeur." He expanded. He overextended. He placed two toilets outside his Arlington office building where others place stone lions. Then, he says, "I began wondering where all the money is that I was supposed to be wading through.'

Finally, he says, he got smart. "A wise man once told me, 'You don't go deer hunting without a rifle.""
With those words as his guide, Fikes got things under control. He eventually franchised his business across the country and into Canada. In the Metroplex alone, Fikes' men clean about 10,000 commercial toilets a

He reflected. "It's a hard business, and it's not romantic. Here I am, a big businessman, and at one time I thought it wasn't very dignified. I tried to get away from it. Sometimes I tried to talk about it in third person, like it was somebody else. I ventured out of it a few times - real estate, retail, building. But I found what my limits are. So a few years ago I started calling myself the Potty Czar. It draws the right type of positive attitude to it."

He paused. "Looking back, if I had sat down with a counselor at school and planned my life, I couldn't have planned it better. I have used everything I Dorland brought to court today. At issue in the trial is the division of the couple's substantial real estate and financial holdings. Boxes of financial records previously submitted as exhibits by Dorland line the far side of the district courtroom.

So far, testimony has centered on the multimillionaire couple's finances. Dorland, an oilman who owns several oil leases and companies, including an oil production company, reportedly earned $5 million or $6 million in 1982, according to the testimony Tuesday of another Dorland accountant. Charles Elliott Johnson of Hobbs, N.M.

Johnson, who has been Dorland's accountant for about 30 years, also testified that Dorland has been involved in several drilling partnerships, including one established for tax purposes with Exxon and Big Spring resident Gary Turner.

The couple, who first divorced in 1979 and subsequently remarried, has lived in Big Spring and still owns real estate in the city. Dorland now lives in Midland, and Mrs. Dorland lives in Pilot Point.

Under the previous divorce settlement, Mrs. Dorland receives approximately $300,000 a year in oil and gas royalties, Johnson testified.

In addition, Mrs. Dorland testified that she owns a townhouse and a house on Lincoln Street in Big Spring, 104 acres and a house in Montague County, and five acres near San Angelo. The land located in Montague County and near San Angelo were acquired after her previous divorce from Dorland.

Mrs. Dorland also testified that she and her husband also own a condominium in Andrews and in Ruidoso,

Settlement expected in Mobil Oil lawsuit

LAREDO (AP) — Land Commissioner Garry Mauro says he expects a long-awaited settlement of a $1.7 billion lawsuit against Mobil Oil Corp. to be finalized in court today.

"We worked all weekend," he said Tuesday. "It's basically the same deal" worked out last month, a deal that fell through when Exxon intervened just as it was about to be approved in court here Dec. 20.

Mauro said lawyers for Exxon have since agreed to let the accord be approved today. The suit was filed in 1982 when Duval County rancher

Clinton Manges alleged that Mobil had not adhered strictly to a drilling schedule required by a lease on Manges' ranch dating back to 1932. Manges claimed all the oil drilled by Mobil since then. The state later joined Manges because it owns some of the mineral rights

Exxon also owns some of the mineral rights, but until last month, Exxon had not entered the dispute.

Then, on Dec. 20, Exxon filed a surprise cross-claim. and visiting Judge George Miller postponed the approval and set a hearing in the case for 9 a.m. today.

Mauro said in the meantime, Exxon has agreed to allow the original settlement to be finalized as long as all parties formally recognize Exxon's right to sue for part of the settlement.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The district attorney has vowed to seek the death penalty for a man charged with murdering a San Antonio patrolman, promising to do "anything and everything" he can to deter such attacks on the city's police officers.

Bexar County District Attorney Sam Millsap said grand jurors took less than 30 minutes Tuesday to indict Gustavo Pimental, 42, on a capital murder charge. Patrolman Gilbert Ramirez, 34, was shot in the face and neck late Dec. 23 after answering a disturbance

The officer died at an area hospital the next day, the first San Antonio policeman to be killed in the line of duty in more than five years. Pimental, a garbage collector, has been jailed on $150,000 bond since being taken into custody near the scene of the shooting incident. "The police officer is the first line of defense against crime in our community," Millsap said. "We want to see anything and everything done to see that they are protected from unwarranted attacks. The district attorney said his desire to seek the death penalty was strengthened by a brief conversation with Ramirez' grief-stricken family at a rosary service last

Nancy thanks hospital

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. - First lady Nancy Reagan, accepting a plaque at a new hospital suite named in honor of her mother and her late father, said it was a "strange feeling" to be among the people with whom he spent his last Mrs. Reagan attended the dedication Tuesday of the Edith and Loyal Davis Surgical Suite at the $24 million Scottsdale Memorial Hospital-North, and accepted the plaque on behalf of her ailing mother.

During the ceremony, NANCY REAGAN Mrs. Reagan thanked the Scottsdale Memorial Hospital staff for the care her father, a Phoenix resident, received before he died at age 86 in August 1982.

Davis served more than 30 years as chairman of surgery and neurosurgery at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. The plaque noted the contributions of both of Mrs.

Reagan's parents to medical excellence. "Nothing would have pleased my father more than having your wonderful surgical suite named after him and my mother," she said.

Hollywood to stand trial

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Former Dallas Cowboys linebacker Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson has been ordered to stand trial on charges of sexually abusing two teen-age girls, one of them a paraplegic, at gunpoint.

Henderson, 30, who played for the Cowboys and the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League, pleaded innocent in November and is free

Municipal Court Judge Thomas R. Simpson ordered on Tuesday that the 6-foot-3, 240-pound Henderson be arraigned in Long Beach on Jan. 23. The judge heard more than two hours of testimony before deciding that Henderson should be tried on one count of forced oral copulation, one count of sexual battery and two counts of false imprisonment. A 15-year-old girl, one of the alleged victims, testified at the preliminary hearing. The other girl, a 17-year-old confined to a wheelchair, did not Henderson was arrested after the girls told police he held them at gunpoint and assaulted them in his Long Beach apartment Nov. 2. After his 1979 release from the Cowboys, Henderson admitted he had a cocaine habit. In November, he voluntarily checked into a drug treatment center for what his lawyer, Arnold Barry Gold, termed "a relapse of a chemical dependency."

Kelly rents new house

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) - Song-anddance man Gene Kelly has rented a house while he decides whether to buy another place or rebuild the farmhouse-style residence destroyed by fire Dec. 22. The dollar loss from the fire in Kelly's home of 40 years, ignited by lights on a Christmas tree, has yet to be determined, said publicist Dale Olson on Tuesday.

"I'm sure it's in excess of $1 million," he said. Kelly, 71, is waiting for the insurance to be settled before making up his mind about whether to

GENE KELLY rebuild, Olson said. Meanwhile, he's moved into a rental house in Beverly Hills. Kelly's 21-year-old son, Tim, and their two dogs are living with the entertainer, Olson said. His daughter Bridget, 19, was in town when the fire broke out, but has since returned to school in Paris. Barry must pay $500,000

NEW YORK - Actor Gene Barry, starring in the Broadway smash

"La Cage Aux Folles," and a business partner have been ordered to pay a former partner over $500,000.

Barry, 61, Michael Rafton, a San Francisco area lawyer and banker, and Harold Taines, described in court papers as a millionaire investor who lives in Beverly Hills, set up a photo-processing business in December

But Taines was forced out by Barry and Rafton in August 1981, according to Taines's lawyer, Jay F. Gordon.

Israeli jets bomb guerrillas

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli jets blasted pro-Iranian guerrilla strongholds in eastern Lebanon's

Bekaa Valley today, and a prominent Moslem militia leader said at least 73 people were killedinthe devastating air strike. The state radio said several nonmilitary buildings were hit and about 300 people wounded in the hour-long raid on targets around the ancient city of Baalbek. Civil defense squads were dispatched to search wrecked buildings for victims:

Nabih Berri, whose Amal militia is a powerful force among Lebanon's 1 million Shiite Moslems, said the death toll was likely to climb past 73 as search operations continued in the Syrian-controlled valley.

He appealed from his Beirut command post for blood donations to help those wounded in what he called a 'monstrous massacre" and vowed to escalate guerrilla warfare against Israel in occupied southern lebanon.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said, as it had after previous raids, that the targets served as guerrilla training camps and launching sites for anti-Israeli attacks. The command said the planes' pilots reported direct hits on the targets, about 31 miles east of Beirut, but its communique did not mention casualties.

Lebanon's state radio reported more than 60 people were killed and 300 wounded in the air raid, which was Israel's second in two days.

Lebanese civil defense officials said rescue teams in some of the target areas found 30 bodies and 40 injured

The Syrian communique charged that the raiding jets dropped delayed-action time bombs to inflict heavy casualties east and south of Baalebek, about 7.5 miles from the Syrian border.

The state radio said a vocational training school, a Lebanese police station, a restaurant and a gas stations were "obliterated" in the town of Taibe, about five miles south of Baalbek.

The government had warned citizens they would MOHAMED MZALI be shot if they refused to obey the curfew and tried to flee police.

Tanks and armored cars were stationed at key crossroads and along the Avenue Habib Bourguiba, the capital's main artery, as normal traffic resumed. But witnesses said they were less numerous than

Tuesday, when the violence that erupted last week in the south over a 115 percent increase in bread prices spread to Tunisia's two largest cities, Tunis and Sfax. Shops reopened, their broken windows the only evidence of the violence. Charred cars and smoking tires had been removed from the streets during the Unofficial sources said put the death toll across the country at 25 with hundreds injured. The government acknowledged only four deaths and an unspecified number of injured. Tunisia's ailing 80-year-old president, Habib Bourguiba, rushed back to Tunis from his private retreat southwest of the capital to sign the emergency decrees after holding an urgent Cabinet meeting. The decrees closed all schools and universities until Satur-

Reagan undecided on taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan, finishing work on another red ink budget he will send to Capitol Hill this month, is still undecided on whether to embrace new taxes to trim deficits, according to Republican legislators who have talked with the president and his budget director.

While the decision on taxes is pending, the legislators say it is clear the Pentagon's original request for a 22 percent hike in military spending will be

The issue of taxes is the last major issue to be resolved before the president sends his new budget to Congress, probably on Jan. 30.

Administration officials and congressional sources say decisions made to date on the budget plan for the 1985 fiscal year that begins Oct. 1 would mean spending roughly in the range of $920 billion to $930 billion. The deficit is projected at about $185 billion.

The Congressional Budget Office has estimated that government spending in the current fiscal year will be about $859 billion with a deficit of about $180 billion. House Republican Leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois joined other GOP House members in meeting Tuesday with budget director David A. Stockman on Capitol Hill. Michel said he expects no surprises or quick deficit

"They're (the administration) just going to pretty much face the facts. I don't think it'll (the budget) be all phonied up and ballooned up," Michel said.

Suspect sought in slaving

LOMETA, Texas - There's little, if any, law enforcement in this West Central Texas town of 670, and, despite, a triple murder, no one's screaming for the police.

Lampasas County Sheriff Gordon Morris said Tuesday he had a suspect in the deaths of a father, mother and daughter found shot to death in their highway-side home on Monday

The bodies of Noah Haydon, a 60-year-old repairman, his wife Edna, 49, and 5-year-old daughter Amanda were found by James Haydon, a son, according to Morris. The sheriff said several guns were missing from the home, and robbery was a possible motive.

Lometa Mayor Mary McAnelly said her constituents "have never had to have" a police department here. The Lampasas County Sheriff's Department patrols the area, and there's not much major crime, she said. "Periodically, we've had a deputy. We have a constable, but he's old," she said.

"We're pretty strong people around here," the mayor added. Aaron Murphy, a Haydon neighbor, said he heard no

West Texas: Considerable early morning cloudiness and fog central and southeast, otherwise fair north and partly cloudy south today. Mostly fair north and continued partly cloudy south tonight and Thursday. A little warmer south today and most sections Thursday. Highs today 55 to 65. Lows tonight 32 to 42. Highs Thursday 59 to 70.

Fog, drizzle cover state

Dense fog reduced visibilities to near zero over the Permian Basin this morning and a light drizzle persisted in the Rio Grande Valley, but skies were partly cloudy over most of the state. Patchy light fog was also reported over much of South Texas and around Beaumont. Skies were clear over the Panhandle Winds over the eastern half of the state were light and variable and westerly or southwesterly at 10 to 15 mph over the western half.

Temperatures were seasonably cool with readings in the 30s and 40s, except for the southern tip of the state the mercury was in the 50s. Pre-dawn temperatures ranged from 30 at Amarillo to 56 at Brownsville. Elsewhere, it was 36 at Lubbock, 41 at Wichita Falls, 40 at Dallas, 38 at pus Christi, 42 at San Angelo and 35 at El Paso. Today's forecast called for light rain and clouds over South Texas with variable cloudiness over the remainder of the state, except for the panhandle where sunny skies were expected. Afternoon highs were expected to reach into the 50s and 60s.

The mercury continued tolinger below the freezing mark in the northeast today, while the southern half of the nation enjoyed fair skies.

The northwest, meanwhile, was dampened by a few showers The forecast for today called for showers to continue across the Nnrthwest, with snowstorms in the higher elevations of the northern Rockies. A mixture of showers and snow showers was expected from the Great Lakes into New England. The prediction was for temperatures in the 20s and 30s in Utah and Nevada; mainly 30s in the Northeast; 40s and 50s across the northern and central Plains; 50s in the Mid-Atlantic region and the Southeast; and 70s in southern Texas, Florida, the Southwest and Southern California.

Award students for scholarship

Awarding school letters to students for their achievements in the classroom may never give hitting the books the same status on high school campuses as hitting the baseball or the defensive line.

But extending to scholars recognition previously reserved for athletes can help shift the prep focus to an arena far more critical to students' success as adults than the playing field or court.

Awarding academic letters is a growing nationwide trend. At one school which was the subject of a recent article in the media, students voted to bestow letters on seniors passing a rigorous set of academic standards.

Some may argue that students should need no further encouragement to diligently pursue their studies than the certainty that if they don't, it will come back to haunt their future aspirations.

But if letters work in encouraging academic excellence where report cards, other scholastic honors and college entrance requirements have failed, that would be something for rally squads to cheer about.

Let's meet

Howard County residents are

Coahoma citizens are upset because the city is operating in the red and because they don't want a city trash pick-up, especially if it costs $7.50 a month.

Some Big Spring citizens are upset because city council members had their terms extended without an election.

Members of the local chapter of the League of United Latin American Citizens are upset at the Big Spring Independent School District Board because they feel they are discriminated against in at-large elections for board positions

Residents of the Coronado Hills subdivision are upset with the city for sanctioning a developer's request of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Board to sell tax free bonds to construct a luxury omplex.

imber of people who

Crub, others are upset because they don't feel the county does enough for youth groups.

Or they don't like the county attorney or the county judge or well, you fill in the blank. It seems as if you like the personnel in one county office, you feel the employees in another office aren't doing their job. I could be the only person who gets along with most factions in the courthouse.

And that's fine. Without taking sides in any of the above disputes. I do have some advice to offer the persons who feel local government is not following their best interests: Attend meetings. Be there to protest at the time of the governmental body's actions.

Sure, meetings can be dull and boring. I know some meetings when I have to grit my teeth, steel my nerves and take long, deep breaths before I can walk in the meeting

But meetings don't have to be boring. Get placed on the agenda to discuss or propose a solution to a particular problem. Take action and take responsibility for your government

I have sat through several meetings of the Coahoma city council where aldermen listened to citizens' complaints for half an hour before the council went to the agenda. Once members started on the agenda, the council's biggest critics went home

What did the city's critics accomplish? Very little. They walked out at the very point they should have been listening the hardest.

One of the biggest critics of the council in Coahoma spends lots of time determining what the council has done wrong, which is highly commendable. But if he were present during decisions, he could pro-test the council's actions much more effectively.

He might even prevent the council from taking a particular action instead of waiting a couple of meetings and then telling councilmen what they've done wrong after the fact.

I'm not picking on the Coahoma City Council. I observe much the same thing happening at any government meeting. No one attends Howard County Consolidated Tax District Board meetings; sometimes not even the members.

At the one school board meeting I went to, no one was present besides members and the media except for the parties petitioning the school contract to co camp commissioners meetings for a specific issue. But often the only persons present in their courtroom besides the commissioners are the county auditor, the county clerk, the county engineer and me.

The press is supposed to serve as a watchdog. We are supposed to monitor government's actions. But I can really only protest an action if it seems illegal, such as closed sessions in violation of the open meetings law or laws requiring bidding on government contracts. I can raise questions about the effects of a decision, but once a board makes a decision, it usually sticks by it.

Once the city council or any governmental body takes any action, I can only write about it. But if someone else shows up, they can disagree with an action or lobby for Congressmen are swayed by their constituents' feelings. When banks and citizens lobbied against the 10 percent tax on interest earned, representatives changed their stances. The House and the Senate voted to delay implementing the tax, and probably will never in-

The same is true of local elected officials. They count on little public attention being paid to their decisions. The less attention they receive, the fewer consequences they will have to face. Increased public pressure on elected officials usually makes them more

It's a theory that could at least be tried at the local level. After all, if you don't protest, who will?

The world convention of terrorists

WASHINGTON — Terrorists from around the world quietly assembled in Mexico City on Oct. 21 for an underground convention. Many had studied Marxist ideology and "revolutionary" tactics together in training camps behind the Iron Curtain.

Out of this bizarre conference came instructions to intensify the terrorist campaign against the West. U.S. intelligence began intercepting sinister messages calling for attacks upon American installations. One message from Cuban leader Fidel Castro urged terrorists to "kill Americans." Other messages from Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini had a similar theme.

So far as I can learn, Castro sent a delegation to the terrorists' convention, but Khomeini did not. Yet in the murky netherworld of terrorists, the lines sometimes get tangled. For example, the Palestine Liberation Organization, which has ties to Tehran, was represented in Mexico City.

U.S. security experts, meanwhile, are searching desperately for ways to deal with the deadly threat. Their task is complicated by the suicide tactics of Khomeini's terrorists. As a State Department official acknowledged to my associate Lucette Lahnado, "Most security precautions have been based on the idea that terrorists did not want to

But Shiite Moslem fanatics have been indoctrinated by Khomeini with the idea that dying for their faith will guarantee them glory in paradise. As a result, Khomeini apparently has had little difficulty recruiting kamikaze drivers for bomb-rigged cars or trucks. After the bombing of our embassy in Kuwait, State Department security officers met with political experts in the Near East Bureau to identify the most likely — and most vulnerable - American targets in the region. Sources say three U.S. embassies were at the top of the list: in Bahrain, Oman and the United Arab Emirates.

These three countries, like Kuwait, are located just across the Persian Gulf from Iran. They also have Shiite communities from which Khomeini can draw recruits willing to die for the cause.

Two of the embassies are locations extremely difficult to protect. The embassy buildings in Manama. Bahrain, and Muscat, Oman, sit right on the street instead of inside a walled or fenced compound.

The embassy in Damascus, ironically, is not high on the endangered list, though the United States is close to war with Syria. In fact, the Syrians are building a fence around the embassy, as an added precaution to avoid a provocative incident.

The three shiekdoms at the top of the list not only have to worry about the Shiites but the Palestinians as well. As oil-producing countries, some have been obliged to retrench and lay off Palestinian workers. Those discontented Palestinians may be ripe for terrorist recruitment.

A special report prepared for Sen.

John Warner, R-Va., warns that "use of car-vehicle bombs is expected to grow in number in the Middle East and other geographic areas as well." The fear is that other terrorist groups will attempt similar suicide attacks.

"More imaginative terrorists could apply the general technique to other venues," the report states, explaining that "witting (or even unwitting) suicide bombing attacks" could be made using light planes, helicopters or speed boats. Warner, a former secretary of the Navy, is expected to lead the Senate response to the findings of the Pentagon commission on the Beirut bombing in which 240 Marines died. While publicly expressing his confidence in the Pentagon commission, Warner has been pursuing his own informal investigation into the tragedy.

One of Warner's most significant preliminary findings involved antiterrorist training in the armed services. He found that while considerable funds have been spent on this specialized training, the Pentagon somehow has failed to match its anti-terrorist experts with the areas most in need of them like

According to a report prepared for the senator, the available antiterrorist training "has not been used to a significant degree" by the Marine Corps, presumably bacause the Marines' traditional all-out combat role had little need for such training. Of some 7,000 military people who took the Army's antiterrorist courses since 1980, only 57 were Marines. An Air Force course trained 1,300 since 1982 — but only 119 were Marines.

JUNKET OF THE WEEK: When a congressional critic starts poking around far away places, nervous State Department officials try to detooth him by skillful, gentle pampering.

Detailed internal cables sent out from Foggy Bottom to embassies in Latin America, for example, give instructions for the proper care and feeding of Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., a Foreign Affairs Committee member who assaulted the Reagan administration's policies there. The much traveled Solarz will spend most of January in the region. Here are some of the cabled instructions for handling the peripatetic pol from Brooklyn:

• "The Congressman prefers first class accommodations. Tennis courts are an important plus... Solarz would like to play tennis every day if possible. Post's assistance in arranging court and securing high quality tennis op-ponents will be appreciated."

 "On a typical day, he prefers three meetings (with foreign of-ficials) in both the morning and the afternoon. The meetings should be one hour long, excluding travel time... Solarz prefers to work at each meal, including breakfast."

• "Where possible, Solarz would like to meet with the Israeli or other knowledgeable foreign

Serious omission in belated story

In response to your much belated article on the Hernandez "miracle baby," (Monday) we feel there was one very serious omission. Doesn't the pilot of the helicopter - Ron Bulber — who in fact risked his life deserve some recognition? It is our understanding weather conditions were quite risky with ice/snow forecasted, yet he was willing to take a chance since the baby wouldn't have survived otherwise. It's true Jack Cathey did donate the helicopter, but without Ron that wouldn't have meant much.

Peace on earth cannot be bought

The spirit of commerce prevailed over the spirit of peace this Christmas as rarely before. For recovery fostered a buying spree.

But the stress on good living leaves the pursuit of public goals to the drift of events. In the Middle East, and in dealing with Russia, mere drift promotes conflict.

The sheer volume of holiday giving this year comes as a jolt. According to one professional estimate, the total for this country is $50 billion. That equals the amount of wealth produced by many, relatively prosperous, middle-sized countries - say Argentina - in Demand pent up by three stringent years accounts for much of the buying. With inflation way down and unemployment fa!ling fast, Americans have been dipping into savings and using credit cards with a vengeance. Hence the big gap, last month, between spending and personal income.

The message from the top also counts in shaping the national mood. "Get rich" is the signal flashed around the country by the administration. In case there was any doubt, President Reagan underlined the point in his press conference last week. "I'm delighted to see Americans giving each other the best Christmas present possible - a strong economy," he said in an opening statement notably bare of any feeling except for getting and spending. Extravagance, in keeping with the tone set at the White House, is particularly in vogue. You don't have to shop on Fifth Avenue or Rodeo Drive to find pricey items of ostentatious luxury. Here, in pokey old Washington, a local florist reports he has provided the boughs of holly, orchids and other garlands for the following presents: - Fourteen tins of Beluga caviar, two cases of Dom Perignon champagne and a set of Baccarat glasses. A sable and mink ski jacket from Fendi necklace from Harry Winston. But mink, champagne and caviar are items of personal comfort, not public virtue. They eclipse collective aims and common hopes. They break up fellowship and promote invidious rivalry. One test of that proposition is the so-called "fairness issue." Democratic candidates, and some pollsters, lay great stress upon it as a factor in public opinion. No doubt egregious statements against "cripples" or "hunger" do not go down well. But is the country allergic to inequality these days? Does unbought ease excite wrath?

The evidence says No. On the contracy, the economic downturn of the past few years has so shaken public confidence that the country is prepared to equate talent with money, and money with honor. Nobody complains about the huge rewards doled out to the little bit of extra luck, looks or talent that make for stardom in show biz or sports. Highly skilled workers accept the principle that effective managers are entitled to 20 times more pay. These days in America even inherited wealth commands respect.

The leader who exalts those qualities, the prophet of the acquisitive instinct, finds it difficult to articulate larger purposes and impossible to ask for sacrifice. President Reagan has said that as a Christmas present he would most like to have peace. No doubt he is

But peace doesn't come from Tiffany's, and the president doesn't care enough to assert over people land events the kind of mastery required to limit conflict. He follows mindlessly behind advisers who have made their own commitments in the Middle East. By going along, he makes this country the plaything of the Syrians, the Lebanese and the Israelis. They, for their own purposes, give steady increase to an American military commitment that should be winding down. Similarly in dealing with Russia. President Reagan does not control his own instinct to assert moralistic judgments that deny legitimacy to the Soviet Union. He does not dominate the hawks who seek a wider and wider and wider American lead over Russia in military power. So the Russians — having started to divide the world into opposing camps and lacking the leadership to turn around — now advance relentlessly toward a test of strength.

Thus the joy of Christmas, 1983, was strangely tempered. In our private lives, 'tis truly the season to be jolly. But a dark premonition clouds the future of the country. Good will among men, it is clear, does not suffice for peace on earth.

Home cooks can create tasty treats with rice

By RHONDA WITT Lifestyle Writer

Rice, at less than four cents per serving, can help with the budget at home. Rice is a gently-flavored food which does not need expensive toppings to add to its appeal. But a judicious seasoning or two added during or after cooking can make a meal a special one.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am the divorced mother of two small children. When I married eight years ago, my parents gave me a large, expensive wedding. I am being married again and refuse to let my parents give me another wedding.

My fiance has built a nice little home for us. He is not wealthy, just conservative. We're getting married in my parents' home with only immediate family members and six couoples who are very close friends. After the ceremony we will all go to a small neighborhood restaurant for dinner.

I invited the guests by phone and told them all that they would be paying for their own meals. Everyone seemed to think it was OK.

I am enclosing this letter I just received from one of our "close" friends:

"Dear (): We regret to inform you that we cannot accept your ill-mannered invitation. To invite people to a wedding and expect them to pay for their own meals

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 69. I went to my doctor 10 months ago because I was always hungry no matter how much I ate. He took a blood test for diabetes and it was normal (84). He told me I should go on a diet.

When I went back some months later and reported a terrible thirst, he did more testing. It showed that I did have diabetes (blood sugar 290). He put me on Tolinase

Since then, I have gone back to him and had two other tests. Each one showed sugar still high, but down slightly. The last test showed sugar at 200. Now I am taking the maximum dose of the medicine and am to return for more tests. (I'm wearing out the equipment the doctor says.) Does diabetes come on this way? Shouldn't it have been detected earlier? Is he on the Abby, were we wrong to ask our guests to pay for their own meals? And waht should we do now?

SECOND-TIME BRIDE DEAR BRIDE: I think you went overboard trying to conserve when you asked your guests to pay for their own meals.

If it's not too late, please pay for your guests' dinner and economize somewhere else. The "close" friends who wrote that letter were cruel. A simple "no" would have sufficed.

DEAR ABBY: You have often dealt with the problem of guests who arrive late, but please say something about the boorishness of guests who arrive in the 50th Orange Bowl game.

"He is greater than I thought," said Bobby Bowden, coach at Florida State. "What he accomplished in the Orange Bowl might just be the crowning gem of the last 50 years.'

Schnellenberger's and Miami's rise to the college football championship began in 1979, when the newly hired coach promised skeptical Miamians a team of national prominence and tradition. At the time, the Hurricanes had been winners only twice in the preceding 10 years. He was the sixth coach in a decade.

But Schnellenberger, a former assistant under Paul "Bear" Bryant and Don Shula, rode a wave of upsets over powers such as Notre Dame and Penn State and and Florida State to respectability and the Orange Bowl berth that made the title possible.

Last week, he upstaged Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne with the helicopter, rented to make his many Orange Bowl engagements without worrying about As Osborne and Mike Rozier, his Heisman Trophy-winning running back, gave interviews at the stadium, Schnellenberger descended in the chopper, hopped out and strode over with a horde of reporters to shake hands and exchange compliments with both startled

Tuesday morning, Schnellenberger and wife Beverlee uncorked their second bottle of champagne, delivered along with a bouquet of orange and green balloons to their victory press conference by a man in top hat and black tie.

Later, the couple dropped in on Vice President George Bush, in town for an anti-crime speech, and gave him a Miami cap.

Everyone else was calling it a miracle, but not the Miami coach

"I look at this as the University of Miami success story of 1983," Schnellenberger said. "Our team was a opener by a score of 89-44.

Steer coach Mike Randle not wanting to get into a run-and-gun contest with the high-scoring Eagles had his team slow the tempo down against their opponents. It worked—for four minutes.

After the first four minutes of play Abilene led only 10-7, but then the dam broke as AHS went on to take a 15-7 first quarter lead, which would continute to grow. The Eagles blew things wide open in the early part of the third stanza by scoring 15 unanswered points to take a commanding 51-17 lead. Aiding the Eagles were polls, I would rather be ranked No.1. Five, 10, 15 years from now, that's what people will remember -that you were the top team in the country.' Osborne, coach of unbeaten and top-ranked

Nebraska, had his team go for two points after it scored with 48 seconds left to come to within one point of Miami in Monday night's Orange Bowl. Had Nebraska kicked the extra point, it would have finished as the nation's only unbeaten team at 12-0-1, instead of the 12-1 which dropped it to second behind 11-1 Miami in the final Associated Press poll. Parseghian, whose team indeed won the national championship after its tie game, maintains that the circumstances of his decision were entirely different.

It was Nov. 19, 1966 when unbeaten Notre Dame met unbeaten Michigan State in East Lansing, Mich. in what was billed as the Game of the Decade. Michigan State took an early 10-0 lead, but Notre Dame, playing without injured quarterback Terry Hanratty, came its own 30 with 90 seconds left in the game. Six times the Irish snapped the ball, six times backup quarterback Coley O'Brien handed to a running back as the

Oilers hire new coach Campbell in 'hot seat

HOUSTON (AP) — Hugh Campbell admits his new job as head coach of the Houston Oilers, who have won only three games in two seasons, is scary like jumping out of a parachute for the first time.

He hopes the landing will be soft. "It is the challenge and a bit of the unknown but it is a challenge I look forward to accepting," Campbell said Tues day after agreeing to become the 12th Oiler coach in the franchise's 25-year history. "We are all nuts to be in coaching in the first place. We are all looking for a challenge.

Campbell, 42, who directed the Edmonton Eskimos to five Canadian Football League championships, has definitely found a challenge.

The Oilers suffered through a disastrous 2-14 season in 1983 that included the resignations of two head coaches, Ed Biles and Chuck Studley, to tie Tampa Bay for the worst record in the National Football League.

Houston Oiler General Manger Ladd Herzeg made the announcement in a statement Tuesday and then departed for San Francisco without further comment.

"I am very confident that this important step will be very instrumental in returning the Houston Oilers to a contending position in the NFL," Herzeg said in the statement.

Campbell, 42, spent last season with the Los Angeles Express of the United States Football League. Prior to that, he led the Edmonton Eskimos of the CFL to five straight Grey Cup titles.

"I think it's a great opportunity, the players have shown they want to be successful," Campbell said in a telephone interview with Mark Berman of Houston Radio Station KIKK. "They are well coached, so it's not like I'm coming to a team that is as disastrous as you might expect from the record.'

Campbell said he planned to talk with disgruntled Oiler running back Earl Campbell, who has asked to be traded.

"I'll sit down and talk to Campbell and I want to talk with all the players to get their ideas and tell them mine," Campbell said.

Campbell said he also would like to be reunited with free agent quarterback Warren Moon, who earned most valuable player honors in the CFL last season.

"I think that would be a good step," Campbell said. "If we could sign him, it was be saving a draft choice and we could bolster some other area of the team."

Attorney Leigh Steinberg, who represents both Hugh Campbell and Moon, said Moon is not automatically signed with the Oilers just because his former coach is coming here.

"Their fates are not inextricably intertwined," Steinberg said. "They both have decisions to make. "But in terms of their ability to sign Warren, it was a great move for the Oilers."

Herzeg said in his statement that Campbell was one of several applicants for the job but was always the leading candidate.

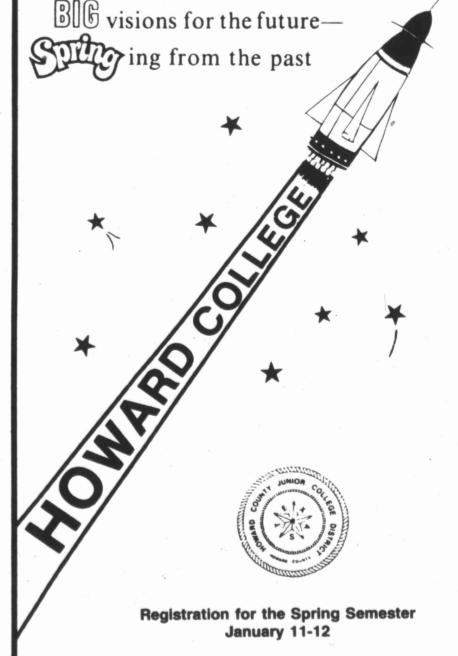

"His impeccable coaching record establishes him as one of the most productive coaches ever and his dynamic personality will be a tremendous plus for the organization," Herzeg said.

Campbell succeeds Chuck Studley, who took over on an interim basis Oct. 10. Biles quit after an 0-6 start and Studley went 2-8, winning games against Detroit and Cleveland, but announced his departure a day after the season ended when it appeared he would not be hired on a permanent basis. Studley last week was hired as defensive coordinator of the Miami Dolphins.

Campbell is viewed as an offensiveminded coach whose six-year mark at Edmonton, 81-22-5 for a .773 percentage exceeded the .647 mark achieved by Bud Grant, now coach of the NFL's Minnesota Vikings. Grant set the standard for the CFL in a ten-year coaching tenure at Winnipeg in the 1960s.

The Oilers, then under coach Bum Phillips, were in contention for the American Football Conference title in 1978, 1979 and 1980. They bowed to Pittsburgh in the AFC championship games in 1978 and 1979 and lost a wild-card playoff game in 1980 to Oakland.

Teen-ager recalls killing of co-worker

FOR YOUR Cambridge Diet Products, phone Jean King, Independent Cambridge Counsier, 263-1171. (This weeks special— All soup, $12.50 per can). HOUSTON (AP) - A teen-ager told detectives he stabbed a former coworker "something like 10 times," then surveyed the carnage in a restroom where two of his friends had slashed three other young men to death.

Richard James Wilkerson's statement to police can be used as evidence in his capital murder trial. state District Judge I.D. McMaster ruled Tuesday.

Wilkerson, 19, is accused in the July 1 slayings of four men at an arcade and miniature car race track. He is on trial in connection with the death of 18-yearold Anil Varughese of Missouri City. Testimony was expected to begin TRACTOR, LOADER

Scardino Jr. argued that Wilkerson's statement was taken without proper warnings, but prosecutor Mary Milloy supplied witnesses who said Wilkerson had been read his legal warnings repeatedly. McMaster ordered the jurors sequestered during the trial, expected to last a week, to prevent their reading or listening to news accounts of it. The jury was selected before Christmas but the trial was delayed until now.

Wilkerson had been fired from the Malibu Grand Prix about two weeks before the killings, officials

Wilkerson told detectives he had pulled a knife on Varughese and ordered him to open the safe, when two other men indicted in the killings — Kenneth Ray Ransom, 19, and James Edward Randall, 16 knocked on the office door to say they were through killing the other three victims. 'Then I started stabbing him (Varughese)," Wilkerson's statement says. "He started falling down and (I) kept stabbing him. I stabbed him something like 10 times.'

The autopsy report said Varughese was stabbed 42 times. Wilkerson said he knife blade broke off in his victim's body.

Wilkerson said he didn't believe what his friends said, "so I went to the men's bathroom to look. I opened the door and saw a lot of blood. I saw the three bodies on the floor. I could see arms and legs hanging out of different places and a lot of blood."

Wilkerson is the first defendant to be tried in the deaths of Varughese; Ar-nold Pequeno, 18, and his brother, Joerene, 19; and Roddy Dane Harris, 22.

Wilkerson said the group went to the race track after it was closed, but got in because the workers recognized him. He said he used the pretext of picking up his final paycheck.

Center seeks help for residents

By CAROL BALDWIN

Staff Writer 1983 saw a dream come true for Chestnut and Marianne Brown, directors of the Northside Community Center located on North 8th. But if more people don't become involved in the center, there could be trouble in 1984, the couple said.

The Browns and the Rev. Israel Cooper founded the Northside Community Center in June. The idea was to open a center which would serve "a lot of different needs in the community," Mrs. Brown said. Organizers wanted "a neutral place where people can get together for meetings, a place not affiliated with a church or a United Way

The center was located in the city's northside so people with no transportation could get to it easily. The Browns said the center was established to provide educational programs and help for people all over Big Spring, not just one area of

The center serves as a gobetween for city officials and people in the community. It is also a place "where people can just come down and talk about their problems,' Mrs. Brown said.

heating unit, fire department officials said.

Bertha Harwell, a Big Spring native, was pronounced dead at 1:20 p.m. by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin. Mrs. Harwell's body was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital for an autopsy. Cause of death was identified as smoke inhalation, Heflin said.

Heflin said Mrs. Harwell was found in her kitchen by a door leading to the outside. She apparently was trying to escape the flames when she was overcome by smoke before she could unlock the door, he said. Assistant Fire Marshal Burr Settles said the fire began in the basement in an area where a new heating unit was recently installed.

"The burns look like (the fire) came from the furnace area," he said. He added that piping to the furnace may have separated accidently.

The brick and tile roof structure of the home intensified the heat and smoke in the structure, Fire Chief Jim Ryals said. The fire collapsed the floor into the basement and destroyed the rest of the home's interior, he said. Mrs. Harwell's brother, Roger Miller of Big Spring, said she had lived in the house for 45 years. She was married to the late Mark Harwell, former owner of

The fire was reported by a neighbor, Rick Dyer, who said another neighborhood resident, Gene Hoffman, drove up and said "The house with red tiles was on Dyer said he called the fire department and then went to investigate the fire. He said he checked the door and then kicked out a window to the bedroom. "I went into the building thinking she might be in there," Dyer said. "Gene went in one bedroom just far enough to look, but it was too smoky.'

Settles said the house's doors and windows were locked when firemen arrived.

Dyer said County Engineer Bill Sims stopped by to help before three fire trucks arrived at the scene

Ryals said firemen had to punch a hole in the roof of the house to attack the fire. Despite water pressure problems caused by recent breaks in water mains, firemen had no difficulty pumping hydrant water onto the flames, Ryals said.

Settles said Public Works Director Tom Decell diverted water to that area to ensure adequate MarLou Dyer, another neighbor, described Mrs.

Harwell as a "beautiful, very capable person. I would come by and see her with her tractor out mowing." According to her brother, Mrs. Harwell owned all the property on the block at the corner of 16th Street and Bell Street.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Harwell are pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Other survivors include two sisters of Big Spring, Mrs. M.A. Thomas and Eva Miller; two other brothers, Claude Miller of Big Spring and Cecil Miller of Demming, N.M.; and a son, Mark Harwell Jr. of Lubbock.

Rainbow Project-

First months of operation reviewed

By TINA STEFFEN Lifestyle Editor

The Department of Human Resources usually has an increased incidence in child abuse cases during the holiday season; however, it's difficult to know what is a normal incidence and what is different at the Rainbow Project Emergency Shelter, says Lee Henry, shelter case worker.

The Rainbow Project opened Nov. 1 to provide up to 30 days of emergency shelter for victims of child abuse until more permanant arrangements can be made. It has not been open long enough to determine a normal case load, Henry said. "The bulk of our referrals have been since Thanksgiving.'

In the two-month period the emergency shelter has been opened it has cared for 12 children. Presently, four children are in the shelter. A two-month old infant was the youngest inhabitant, and a 16-year-old was the oldest. The average age of children staying at the shelter is six. The shortest stay was overnight. The longest stay to date has been two weeks.

"THE PRESENCE OF the shelter has not diminished the needs of foster homes," Henry said.

'I'm convinced that the cases that are reported are the tip of the iceberg...

they are a small percentage of the cases in the community.'

Two foster homes became available in Big Spring about the time the shelter opened. "We've had several children from the shelter that were placed in these foster homes," Henry said. "They are still in those homes. I would anticipate a lengthy placement."

Most of the children at the shelter have been abused children referred by the DHR. Two referrals were from Juvenile Probation. Both were status offenders

The Rainbow Project has had one private referral since it opened. A family in a crisis situation needed the child out of the home during the crisis, so the child was brought to the shelter. The party placing the private referral was concerned about losing custody of the child if it was placed in the shelter.

When DHR takes a child from its parents, it takes legal custody of a child. Parents must take legal action to regain custody.

When private individuals place a child in the shelter, the individuals retain custody of the child. The shelter cares for the child until the crisis passes, and the child can be picked up at anytime. The individuals pay for the child's care on a sliding scale basis, which makes it easier for poor families to obtain the shelter's services when needed.

BUT WHY IS THERE an increase in DHR child abuse cases during the holidays?

The holidays are a time when people are supposed to be happy, caring, loving and cheerful, said Henry, formerly a social worker with the DHR. But at this time of the year many people are reminded of the jobs they don't have, marital problems, alcohol and drug abuse, financial problems, poor family relationships or other problems

To children, the holidays remind them that Santa Claus will bring many goodies and they think of the things they want. The reminders of problems produce tremendous stress, which families are often unable to cope with, Henry said. Usually the child doesn't know or understand the problems the parent is facing, and some action by the child can trigger a parent's anger. The parent reacts to the child with pent-up anger and frustration. Before the parent realizes what he is doing, he goes overboard and the child is abused.

During the year, the stress sometimes can be handled without too many problems. But during the holidays the stress seems worse and often is unbearable.

THE FOLLOWING IS a composite of a typical case: There is a family of four — mother, father and two children. the parents are having marital problems. During the holidays, the father drinks more heavily than usual. He and his wife have a fight and he leaves home for several days taking all their money with him.

Mother is unskilled and even if she could work, she would have to pay for a babysitter. Even if she were skilled, it wouldn't pay for her to work and pay

One evening after a particularly stressful day, the children are crying. They are sick, hungry and dirty. She begins to scream at them wanting them to hush their crying. The more she screams, the more they

She strikes them with her hand and that makes things worse. The blows become more frequent and severe until one of the children becomes injured. She is scared. She takes the child to the hospital and it ends up that the child is removed from the home. She is charged with child abuse.

"SO MANY OF THE CASES are never reported and parents successfully keep the community from finding out about abuse," Henry said. "I'm convinced that the cases that are reported are the tip of the iceberg...they are a small percentage of the cases in the

The Rainbow Project doesn't get involved with the child's family unless the family has placed the child in the shelter. DHR handles usually family situations. The Rainbow Project's purpose is to care for the

"We have seen dramatic changes in the children physically," Henry said. "It's not unusual to see a pound a day gained by a malnourished, abused child. Any stress in the family affects the child, and they aren't going to develop as well as they should. In a stable, warm and loving environment the children change." Shelter employees also have seen children with behavioral problems moderate their behavior while under the shelter's care.

"Children know when they are safe and they react accordingly," Henry said.

Call Golden Gate Before Mercury Plummets Again

When the temperature dipped to 2° in Big Spring recently, it jolted residents into assessing their homes for energy efficiency. Probably more of us than care to admit felt an icy draft from every window and door. There's no time like the present to contact Golden Gate Siding and Golden Gate Storm Window, Glass & Mirror Company to learn how they can make your home cozier (and save you money on utilities to boot.)

Golden Gate Siding offers 8 different colors in USS all-steel siding for residential or commercial use. For whole-house installation Golden Gate applies insulation between walls and siding. The siding has a lifetime nonprorated guarantee against fading, rust and peeling; and a 50-year guarantee against hail.

Golden Gate makes custom storm doors and windows, and will install them or deliver to customers who wish to install their own. They are available in three colors of frames and in three different kinds of glass. Installation should save 20% to 30% on heating and cooling Golden Gate also offers Coronado rock trim this is real stone — for exteriors or for fireplaces.

For commercial and residential installation. Golden Gate has decorative mirrors or will install mirrored walls.
