How's that? Friday the 13th

Q. Do you know why Friday the 13th is viewed as an unlucky day?

A. We found several explanations. Many religions view Friday as the day of Christ's crucifixion. Because he was crucified on a Friday, coupled with the fact that there were 13 people at the Last Supper, Friday the 13th came to be viewed as a dark day on the calendar. This explanation comes from the World Book Encyclopedia. The Encyclopedia Americana adds that Fridays have long been considered unlucky by the superstitious because criminals were once sentenced on Fridays.

City in debt

Coahoma battles money woes

COAHOMA — Aldermen last night tabled action on the city's troubled financial condition until an emergency meeting next Thursday when Mayor Jim Rackley will report on his negotiations with local bank officials over financing the city's debt.

Rackley is to meet with Coahoma State Bank officials today to discuss the city's current financial problems. The city's general fund owed more than $14,000 Dec. 31 and more than $12,000 Jan. 12, according to copies of financial statements the council distributed at the meeting.

The waterworks revenue fund, which had been stable, also went into debt this month because of repairs required after the December cold spell caused pipes and meters to freeze and break, aldermen said. The waterworks fund was more than $13,000 in debt Jan. 12, according to the statement.

City employees have cut expenses to only those that are absolutely necessary, Rackley said.

"We're gaining on what we owe, but we're not gaining on the money in the bank because of our bills. The last terrible month destroyed us. We're not the only ones in this condition. The City of Big Spring and other cities, even Dallas and Fort Worth, are in the same condition (because of the damage caused by the freeze)," Rackley said.

Part of the city's financial problems were caused "by poor management," aldermen said, when the city failed to pass along to residents an increase in the cost of water bought from Big Spring. Big Spring in February doubled its charges for water to Coahoma, officials said.

Alderman Ronnie Dodson said he tried to increase the billing to residents then, but council members then were not listening, he said.

"Robert (Helm, the water department director) and I mentioned it several times, but we were in the middle of changing mayors," Dodson said.

Rackley said he was not too worried about the city's financial situation because he believes the city eventually will solve the problems. At the meeting, councilmen discussed ways to increase revenue and ensure city residents were paying for all services they were provided.

To combat the city's financial problems, members decided not to

Crime rate down in Big Spring

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

Crime in Big Spring increased at a lower rate in 1983 than in the previous year, according to statistics released this week by the Big Spring Police Department.

The 7 percent increase in crime for 1983 is substantially lower than the 22 percent increase the city saw during 1982, Police Chief Rick Turner said this morning.

In addition, crimes reported in the city during the last quarter of 1983 were a 21 percent below the same period for 1982, according to the statistics.

Crimes covered by the report were theft, burglary, assault, robbery, motor vehicle theft and criminal homicide.

Turner said the decrease is mainly the result of three new programs instituted by the city police department during 1983:

• The Directed Patrol program, in which officers are assigned to patrol a specific area of the city and are evaluated on the basis of crime in that area.

• The Vehicle Take-Home program, in which patrol officers are allowed to keep their patrol cars on a 24-hour basis. The program, which began last year and is being phased in over a three-year period, has increased police visibility in Big Spring.

• The Crime Prevention program, which according to Turner has brought greater citizen involvement and crime awareness in the city through neighborhood watch programs and presentations to students and civic groups, among other activities.

The police chief also said that citizen's complaints about officer performance decreased 75 percent during 1983. He attributed the drop to the department's policy of having trainees ride with "field training officers" for a four-month period before they are allowed to patrol on their own.

JP West tosses hat into ring

Four more persons declared their candidacy today for Howard County posts, crowding the field of Democratic nominees who have filed for county commissioner Precinct 3 and justice of the peace Precinct 1, Place 1.

Incumbent Bobby West was the latest person to file for the justice of the peace seat. West has held that post since Oct. 1, 1975 when he was appointed by county commissioners to fill the unexpired term vacated by Walter Price.

West first ran for election in 1976 against A.G. Mitchell. He is running for his third term in office this year. West also served as a part-time municipal judge for the City of Big Spring from 1980 to 1982.

Also filing for the post is Paul G. Silva. Silva currently works as a bail bondsman with B&M Bail Bond Service at 304 Scurry. Before joining Bonnie Bennet's bail bond company, he worked 12 years as a sheriff's deputy in the civil section. He resigned last fall to enter private practice, Sheriff A.N. Standard said.

Doyle L. Lamb, a plumber and former restaurateur, and Robert Stapp, a retired police sergeant, already have filed for the justice position.

A former contestant for county commissioner entered the Precinct 3 race Thursday. Oliver B. (Bud) Nichols, who ran for commissioner in 1976, became the third candidate to file for the Democratic primary. Nichols, who lives near Elbow, is a farmer. His brother, Dick Nichols, ran for the post in 1980.

Another entrant, Garner Thixton of Sterling City Route, filed this

Unemployment hits Valley

McALLEN (AP) — Unemployment among farmworkers may cause the jobless rate in Hidalgo County to rise from 18.4 percent to 40 percent in the next two months as a result of the freeze which destroyed fruit and vegetable crops, officials say.

And citrus growers predict the high jobless rate may be a fact of Rio Grande Valley life for the next few years.

Thousands of laid off workers began lining up at 5 a.m. Thursday outside the Texas Employment Commission office in McAllen, hoping for special unemployment benefits that became available after President Reagan declared four Valley counties a disaster area Saturday.

Based on the number of people applying for benefits this week, Molly Ramirez, a district supervisor for unemployment insurance who is overseeing the federal program, predicted the high jobless rate.

"We've never had anything like this happen before, so it's hard to say. We had about 19 percent unemployment in McAllen before the freeze. That may now go as high as 40 percent."

"It's about the same in Weslaco and throughout Hidalgo County," she said.

Prior to the disaster declaration, only 50 percent of the unemployed farmworkers in Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr and Willacy counties were eligible for unemployment benefits. Those previously employed by growers who did not contribute to the state unemployment fund did not qualify for aid.

"A lot of these people who are considered by the law to be self-employed are living day-to-day and hand-to-mouth," Ramirez said.

"Many of them are very desperate because they have been out of work and out of money for going on three weeks," she said.

Notes may explain Ownby's death

...suicide suspected

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Federal investigators who initially were baffled by a terse note saying a two-star general had been executed for crimes "against the people of the world," now say the man might have committed suicide.

The FBI said Thursday that Army Reserve Maj. Gen. Robert G. Ownby could have looped a noose around his neck and stepped into a second-story stairwell after tying his own hands behind him.

Two notes were found at the headquarters building at Fort Sam Houston, including a typewritten message pinned to the general's sweater that read: "Captured, tried, convicted of crimes by the U.S. Army against the people of the world. Sentenced and executed."

The body of Ownby, 48, head of the 90th U.S. Army Reserve Command, was discovered about 6:40 a.m. Wednesday.

His glasses, jacket and wallet were found in a neat stack near the body and there was no sign of violence or foul play, the FBI said.

Pentagon officials said the note could have been "a diversion" and that Ownby could have committed suicide or been murdered.

"The possibility of the victim having placed the belt around his own wrists has not been ruled out," an FBI statement said.

A close friend, however, said Ownby never would have taken his own life, and a Pentagon spokesman in Washington said senior reserve officers were being advised to take precautions.

The FBI said Ownby had left a handwritten note in his second-floor office saying that he had "started" some intruders in the building and was going to investigate.

Blood was found on the general's body, but the FBI quoted Bexar County Medical Examiner Vincent DiMaio as saying the blood could have dripped from Ownby's nose and mouth during the hanging.

DiMaio ruled asphyxiation by hanging as the cause of death and said the general had no "preliminary marks or bruises indicating a struggle."

The FBI released the contents of the handwritten note found on Ownby's desk, which said it was written "about 1145 hours."

"I started out of the building and caught a glimpse of some people in the building who moved toward the back of the building," the note said.

"I don't know who they are or what they are doing. They were apparently startled. I came back here to call the MPs (military police), however, I can not get any of the telephones to work. Just as a precaution I am placing my office keys in my shoe. I will call the MPs as soon as I can get to a phone."

Base spokesman Capt. Rudy Purificato said Ownby often worked late and probably would have been alone in the brick building late Tuesday.

Parents of teen-agers discussed at meeting

"Parents are people too" was the topic of a speech given by James Walton, alcohol and education coordinator for the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, Thursday night at Goliad Middle School.

The program was sponsored by the Quality of Life Committee of the Chemical People Project.

Walton outlined several problem areas for parents, such as alcohol, driving, dating, drugs, academic pressures and parties.

Other problem areas are peer pressures, moral values, social acceptance, and leisure activities.

He supported the idea of parents helping other parents in coping with the problems.

Wreck injures three

A one-car rollover south of Coahoma Thursday night injured three Coahoma residents, according to Department of Public Safety records.

Jimmy Carruthers, 18, a passenger, remains in stable condition at Malone-Hogan Hospital after being admitted for injuries sustained in the accident, a hospital spokeswoman said.

The driver of the pickup, Martin Alfonso Benjarano, 16, and his 15-year-old sister (name unknown), also a passenger, were treated and released from the hospital Thursday night, the spokeswoman said.

The accident occurred at 6:15 p.m. Thursday 3 miles south of Coahoma at the intersection of County Road 20 and County Road 45, DPS reports said.

Benjarano was driving north on County Road 20 when he lost control in the curve, skidded across County Road 45, rolled over and struck a cattle guard in a private drive.

The damaged cattle guard was owned by W. A. York of Coahoma.

Excessive speed was a contributing factor to the accident, according to the report.

Howard County sheriff's deputies Thursday arrested Curtis Larry Sandridge of 1509 Vines on a warrant for suspicion of driving while intoxicated. He was released on personal recognizance bond on the authority of the county attorney and the sheriff's office.

Ricardo Molina Morales, 28, of 703 W. Sixth was released Thursday from the Howard County Jail to Dawson County sheriff's deputies on a Dawson County warrant for revocation of probation.

Klaus G. Schulze, 26, of Austin was released Thursday from the jail to El Paso County sheriff's deputies on an El Paso County warrant for revocation of probation.

Kayla L. Blake, 23, of Midland was transferred Thursday to the county jail after being arrested by the DPS on suspicion of DWI. She was released on $1,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Ernest Guzman Jr., 17, of 1401 Mesa remains in county jail today after being transferred Thursday from the police department on suspicion of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

John F. Flores, 30, of Midland remains in county jail today after being transferred Thursday from the police department to the county jail on suspicion of credit card abuse and possession of a controlled substance. Bond was set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt at $10,000 for each charge.

ELDERLY AUTHOR — Helen Santmyer, shown autographing a copy of her 1,344-page novel about life in small town Ohio, began writing the book more than 50 years ago. The book has become a main selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club. Miss Santmyer, 88, lives in a nursing home near Xenia, Ohio.

88-year-old writes bestseller

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — At 88 years of age, author Helen Santmyer couldn't really be called an overnight success. But the $110,000 advance on her voluminous novel, "And Ladies of the Club," may ease the pain of a long, long wait.

The 1,344-page novel, which she began in the 1920s, has been chosen by the Book-of-the-Month Club as a main selection for September or October. Originally published in 1982 by the Ohio State University Press, the story is set in a fictional southwestern Ohio town — which resembles Mrs. Santmyer's native Xenia — and follows a group of women through several generations from 1868 to 1932.

"The great Middle American novel," says Al Silverman, president and chief operating officer of the Book-of-the-Month Club.

Selection by the Book-of-the-Month Club can assure an author a wide reading audience and a hefty advance against royalties.

"The standard advance is $85,000," Silverman said, "but in this case we're paying $110,000."

For Mrs. Santmyer, who in 1983 won the Ohioana Library Award for the novel, "It feels like we're in the middle of a snowball and still rolling."

The Book-of-the-Month Club board of judges is composed of writers, critics and literary scholars: Clifton Fadiman, Wilfred Sheed, Mordecai Richler, John Hutchins and David McCullough.

Mrs. Santmyer began the novel in the 1920s and intensified her efforts on it after the publication of "Ohio Town," a collection of essays. From 1976 on, Mrs. Santmyer, who suffers from emphysema and lives in a nursing home, worked steadily on revisions of the book, despite repeated stays in the hospital and nursing home.

G.P. Putnam & Sons Inc. has contracted for rights to re-publish the novel in hard cover in August.

fill a vacancy in an outside employee position, and they placed items on next week's agenda that could bring in more money or prevent the city from losing money on services provided to residents.

Members will consider raising sewer deposits and sewer tap rates that, according to Helm are lower than cost. They also will ask the city's attorney, Glenna Mouton, to be present to discuss possible city actions against persons who have not paid their trash-collection bill since the service began.

Aldermen also will try to return the city's new computer to the company they bought it from. The computer has been useless, city employees said, because of a lack of software that can be used for billing and other purposes.

Aldermen, however, did raise water and sewer department employee Shorty Hernandez' salary $100 a month because he completed two state courses on water and wastewater management. City policy grants a $50 a month raise whenever an employee completes courses leading to state certification in his city duties.

Also tabled until next week is consideration of annexation of a section of land behind the Coahoma High School. Members said they were not against the annexation, but said there were questions on whether the city could provide necessary services to any new residents.

Extending sewer service to residents of the McMillian Addition could pose a problem because the sewer line in the area is only 6 inches wide and already has problems handling waste from the high school, Helm said.

Aldermen next week will discuss a "relatively new problem" that has developed with its sewage treatment plant. Freshwater has begun entering the plant groundwater streams where the water table has risen because of the dry weather, Helm said.

A Texas Department of Water Resources official from the Midland-Odessa office inspected the plant at Helm's request last Friday and should send the city a letter spelling out alternatives, Helm said.

"It (freshwater running into a treatment plant) is completely against the law," Rackley said.

Also on next week's agenda is discussion of extending cable service to additional residents.

Ramirez said additional staff was hired to process federal disaster unemployment claims. Offices began processing claims Monday in Weslaco, Edinburg, Rio Grande City and McAllen, and the average wait between filing a claim and receiving a check has been cut from three weeks to 10 days.

About 30,000 families are expected to apply for benefits, which will last about 14 weeks. Costs to the unemployment assistance program could run as high as $10 million, according to White House estimates.

The freeze of '83 is expected to affect unemployment figures in Hidalgo County for the next several years.

Hutchins wins execution stay

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A federal judge in an impromptu hotel-room conference blocked today's execution of convicted police killer James Hutchins, and the case went to the U.S. Supreme Court for a decision on whether the state can proceed with the lethal injection.

Chief Justice Warren Burger, refusing to rule on an early-morning appeal by North Carolina officials, referred the case to a full-court conference today, said Supreme Court spokeswoman Toni House. The justices had voted 7-2 to reject an appeal by Hutchins' lawyers on Wednesday.

Judge J. Dickson Phillips of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals stayed the execution at 12:05 a.m. today, less than six hours before it was due to be carried out.

If the Supreme Court removes the stay, Hutchins could still be executed today, prosecutors said, adding that they believed Phillips didn't have jurisdiction in the case. State law requires a condemned prisoner to be executed between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m.

But Hutchins' lawyers say state law requires a new execution date to be set, between 60 and 90 days from when the stay was granted.

"State law is clear on that, there is no question that the clock stops this time, that a new date must be set," defense attorney Joseph Cheshire V said.

Hutchins, 54, was sentenced to death in 1979 for the rifle slayings of two sheriff's deputies who were investigating a report that he had beaten his teen-age daughter, and that of a state trooper who later pursued him.

For the record

An article in yesterday's Herald mistakenly quoted Janie Scholer, animal control supervisor at the Big Spring Police Department, as saying the city pound maintains a voucher program for spaying and neutering of animals, as well as for vaccinating them. The voucher program is actually only for vaccinations and does not involve spaying or neutering.

Four memberships were also sold Wednesday, and Fraser was again the $25 winner.

The leading team as of Tuesday was led by Bill Nehls and Gail Earls. Second place was led by John Freeman and Nancy Graves. Third place is being led by Tito Arencibia and Venita Blessingame.

Although the membership drive will end Friday, members of the Ambassadors and Blue Blazers will have until the end of the month to collect money from the drive and present their final tallies. Goal for the drive is 200 new members.

Wonder puts career on hold

WASHINGTON — Singer-songwriter Stevie Wonder says Motown Records executives are eager for him to get back into the recording studio now that his dream of establishing a national holiday honoring Martin Luther King Jr. has become a reality.

"They call me every day to tell me how many records Michael (Jackson) sold," said the 33-year-old Wonder, who put his recording career on hold for most of the last three years while promoting the honor for the slain civil rights leader.

But music "is not as important to me as this," he added.

Miss America gets threats

NEW YORK — Miss America Vanessa Williams says she's received "lots of threats" because of her color, but she has not let them cut into her schedule of appearances.

Miss Williams, the first black woman to wear the crown, said being black has not limited her bookings.

"I have had more calls for appearances than any other Miss America," the 20-year-old said in an interview in Redbook's February issue. "I've done 100 percent more. But it's not as glamorous as people think."

Miss Williams was asked if having a white boyfriend has posed a problem for her with black men.

"No," she replied. "Most of my boyfriends before ... were black. I've never had a problem."

Kermit the Frog honored

WASHINGTON — Appropriately, a non-human has been chosen as honorary chairman of the National Wildlife Federation's annual National Wildlife Week.

The distinction of being the first of his kind to be so honored goes to Kermit the Frog, one of Jim Henson's most popular Muppets, who will appear in public service announcements promoting the federation's theme: "Water — We Can't Live Without It."

Hair said more than 20 million students, teachers and conservationists are expected to participate in the observances March 18-24.

The news in brief

Leftists admit downing copter

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — The leftist Sandinista government admits its troops shot down a U.S. Army helicopter but denies they killed the pilot after he landed on the Honduran side of the border.

"We cannot accept the version that the pilot was fired at on land," Daniel Ortega, coordinator of the junta, said Thursday night.

He said Sandinista troops fired at the helicopter when it was in Nicaraguan airspace, without knowing it was an American aircraft.

The Reagan administration lodged a formal protest and said it was holding the Sandinistas responsible for the pilot's death. U.S. officials contended that the pilot was killed by Nicaraguan soldiers after he got out of the downed helicopter.

Ortega said Nicaragua hoped the United States will not view the incident as a "provocation" but will realize it was a mistake. His comments reinforced a statement issued by the governing junta which said: "The government of Nicaragua ... deplors this incident and expresses its condolences to the family of the dead pilot."

The U.S. Embassy in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, said the pilot, Chief Warrant Officer II Jeffrey C. Schwab, 27, of Joliet, Ill., was killed by "hostile fire" from Nicaragua after his helicopter made a forced landing about 200 yards inside Honduras.

Chrysler goes to court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chrysler Corp. is going to court in its crusade to block the proposed joint carmaking venture between two of the world's largest automakers, with Chrysler hoping the judiciary will do what the Federal Trade Commission has not.

"In a democracy, when you are foreclosed by the executive branch, you have the option of going to the judiciary to get the law enforced," Chrysler general counsel Richard Goodyear said Thursday in announcing a lawsuit meant to head off the joint venture between General Motors Corp. and Toyota Motor Corp.

Chrysler filed its antitrust lawsuit against the two automakers in U.S. District Court in Washington in the wake of the FTC's decision last month to give the project tentative approval. Final FTC approval is expected after a 60-day public comment period ends next month.

GM and Toyota hope to annually produce up to 250,000 cars in a front-wheel-drive version of the Toyota Corolla called the Sprinter at an idle GM plant in Fremont, Calif. The cars would be sold under the Chevrolet nameplate.

Chrysler's lawsuit claims the carmaking deal and the coordination that it would foster between the largest and third-largest automakers "is the antithesis of the robust competition that the antitrust laws are designed to foster."

It adds that GM's "Japanese strategy is designed to and will enhance GM's stranglehold on the entire automobile market."

Stephen Guittard, vice president and general counsel for American Motors Corp., said the Chrysler lawsuit "will flush out details of the GM-Toyota joint venture that have been kept secret by the FTC."

When asked to comment on the lawsuit, Ford Motor Co. spokesman Tom Foote in Detroit said the company's officials "just haven't made any decision yet."

Goodyear said the lawsuit may take months to settle, but that a favorable court ruling still could be issued before GM and Toyota could start producing cars late this year.

"This is a clear and unambiguous violation of the antitrust law," Goodyear said. "Any judge who studies the matter carefully ... will understand that, and having understood it, will stop it."

Report may show violations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, even while it hopes for a thaw in chilly U.S.-Soviet relations, is preparing a new indictment charging the Soviets with at least three violations of existing arms control treaties.

The classified report will be sent to Congress, possibly by the end of next week, according to administration officials who discussed it Thursday on condition they not be identified. They said an unclassified version will be made public.

The analysis says the Soviets are constructing a new missile, a major new radar station, and are encoding almost all technical data from missiles being tested, said the officials.

All those actions are prohibited by the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaties. SALT I, including an antiballistic missile treaty, was negotiated in 1972 and SALT II was signed in 1979. Although the U.S. Senate has never ratified SALT II, both superpowers say they are abiding by its provisions.

Ex-congressman sentenced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Rep. Richard B. Kelly, R-Fla., sentenced to six to 18 months in prison for his Abscam bribery conviction, says he's sorry "that I was not able to protect myself better than I did."

The judge who sentenced him said he was reluctant not to be throwing the conviction out again. U.S. District Judge William B. Bryant had earlier overturned the verdict, but he was overruled by an appeals court that reinstated Kelly's conviction.

Bryant had opposed the government's investigation and prosecution of Kelly, but in issuing the sentence did not explain why he imposed a prison term in the light of all his objections.

Convicted in 1981 of bribery, conspiracy and interstate travel in aid of bribery, Kelly could have been sentenced to 15 years in prison and fined $30,000.

Kelly's unscheduled sentencing was the last for the seven congressional defendants in the FBI's massive case that used a phony Arab sheik offering bribes for help on an immigration problem. Kelly was the lightest of the seven.

Supporting Iraq could stop Iran

The U.S. shift from its neutral position in the Iraq-Iran war toward a policy favoring Iraq is not surprising in view of the murderous terrorist attacks being made by Iranians and others with ties to the government of Ayatollah Khomeini.

Iran also has threatened to block the Persian Gulf to oil shipments if Iraq carries out its threat to bomb Iranian ships in the gulf and attack key installations in the gulf area. Khomeini's regime further has hinted at direct military strikes against Arab oil kingdoms that are allied with Iraq, including Saudi Arabia and Kuwait.

However, there seems little doubt that the most important element in the policy change was information indicating that the Iranian government is supporting and directing suicide terror attacks. Such attacks have caused heavy loss of life in Beirut at the U.S. Embassy, the Marine headquarters, and the French compound, and at Israeli headquarters in Lebanon, key installations in Kuwait and at other locations in the Middle East.

It is reported that the Khomeini government is backing up to 1,000 terrorists in its attempt to drive the United States and its allies out of the Middle East and to intimidate moderate Arab states.

Iran also is reported to be the nation which turned down a recent U.N. Security Council effort to mediate the war with Iraq. Clearly the Khomeini regime wants to keep the war going and is taking actions that could cause it to spread to other areas of the Middle East.

The United States surely is not going to permit the Iranian government to continue sponsoring and directing suicide terrorist attacks against American troops and civilian employees in Lebanon and other parts of the Middle East without taking strong reprisal action.

The shift toward Iraq may be only the first in a series of moves designed to apply increasing pressure on the fanatics running the Iranian government.

Hoover's man who would be King

WASHINGTON — As the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. approaches, President Reagan's re-election team is trying to figure out a way to convince the country's blacks that the administration is really dedicated to civil rights.

In their desperation the Republicans will consider any suggestion — even the bizarre one offered by Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga. He has advised the president to "invent new black leaders" who will support administration policies.

Crazy as that may sound, the idea was actually tried 20 years ago, not by a political party, but by the autocratic director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover. He tried to "invent" a black leader to replace King, whom he was determined to destroy. Here's the strong story:

Hoover considered King a dangerous radical, a subversive influence who would tear apart the fabric of American society if he weren't stopped. He detested the black leader more than he loathed any other national figure of that era, with the possible exception of the late Robert Kennedy.

Hoover set out to ruin King. He ordered his agents to tap King's phones, had him kept under constant surveillance and compiled a voluminous file of gossip and half-baked accusations against King.

In his delusion, Hoover was confident not only that he could destroy King, but that he would even choose his successor. He made his selection and ordered his No. 3 man, William Sullivan, to conduct a secret investigation of Hoover's candidate.

Sullivan told my associate Les Whitten about his weird assignment not long before he died in a 1977 hunting accident. Over steaming bowls of homemade soup at his home in Sugar Hill, N.H., Sullivan still expressed wonderment that Hoover thought he had enough power to pick King's successor once the back leader had been disgraced.

The man Hoover picked was a former prosecutor and judge who at the time was with a prestigious New York law firm. He had graduated with honors and earned his law degree at Cornell, done advance studies at Yale and gotten a master's degree in tax law at New York University.

Hoover's candidate had been a tough assistant district attorney and a capable assistant U.S. attorney for the southern district of New York. A law school professor, he had done stints with the Labor Department and a House Judiciary subcommittee. An important point: He had done enough civil rights work to earn the respect at least of moderate blacks.

Hoover, Sullivan recalled, was "bowed over" by the happy results of the investigation. But the old man was canny enough not to approach his choice, knowing it would taint him in the eyes of civil rights leaders.

Instead, using the same undercover techniques with which he hoped to destroy King, Hoover planned to use FBI contacts in and outside the civil rights movement to build support for his candidate without the FBI's hand showing, Sullivan said.

Hoover died without ever telling his nominee what he had been plotting in the man's behalf. It was only when President Reagan named him secretary of Housing and Urban Development that Samuel Riley Pierce learned of his peculiar "honor."

The supreme irony occurred a few days ago. King's widow, Coretta, notified Pierce that he had been chosen by the Martin Luther King Center for Non-Violent Social Change to receive a genuine honor. The man J. Edgar Hoover wanted to "invent" as a black leader will get the Martin Luther King Award this year as the person who best fulfills King's zeal for social justice.

KREMLIN COMPUTER RAID — The recent interception of sophisticated American computers headed for the Soviet Union demonstrates the Kremlin's continuing efforts to acquire sophisticated Western technology.

As secret Pentagon report states the problem bluntly: "The highly coordinated Soviet effort is essentially a raid on our technology base. The Soviets gain access to Western technology through a variety of channels, both legal and illegal. Under the guise of purchases for benign civilian uses, the Soviets have obtained a wide range of equipment and technological know-how critical to their military program."

The Kremlin's illegal means include espionage; the legal methods include simply reading the reams of publicly available literature in U.S. magazines and technical journals.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE — Syria has a long history of making its neighbors nervous. The Syrians' operations in Lebanon have roused misgivings not only in Israel, but among Arab states as well: Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Egypt. All but overlooked is Syria's neighbor to the north, Turkey. But the Turks are reportedly upset at the speed and extent of the Syrians' rearmament by the Soviet Union. Syria now has more tanks than Turkey does, for example.

• The use of car bombs against American installations in the Middle East came as a shock to the American public — but it shouldn't have. A special report prepared for Sen. John Warner, R-Va., points out that car bombs are "not a new tactic." It gives some lugubrious figures: Since 1977, there have been 55 car-bomb incidents in the region, 31 of them in Lebanon. And 37 have occurred since 1980, indicating that it is a technique that is on the rise.

Around The Rim

By RICK BROWN

It's not my day

"That's my life," is what humorist James Thurber used to say when he was beset by unexpected, niggling set-backs.

It's also what I said earlier today after I came to work early, spent a good hour writing today's edition of "Around the Rim," and promptly cleared it from my computer screen without putting it into memory.

It disappeared without a trace. It was lost and there was no possible way of retrieving it.

Well, that's my life. Friends in the Herald newsroom have been consoling but have in no way been able to make up for the feeling of loss that hit me after my carefully prepared article about my oldest friend, my trombone, was lost to the foibles of a machine.

Perhaps another time I will be able to put into words the dear feelings I have for my instrument, but I doubt it will be any time soon. I am left with a feeling of outrage, a feeling that I have been singled out by the gods above for reasons unknown.

I, a mere mortal, have been sacrificed for a good I can't possibly understand.

I search for reasons why I've been picked out for this punishment. I check my horoscope. I don't profess any real belief in these things. Still, I've noticed days like today have been predicted by the stars before.

It reads: LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show your capabilities to a powerful person and gain support from them. Be happy.

What supreme irony! Capabilities? Lord knows what my editor will think once he reads this column. He'll know beyond all doubt that I indeed can't even write a simple story on the computer and push the right buttons to place the story into memory.

What capabilities? And then the final blow. "Be happy," the stars tell me. There's no solace for me today. I search with resentment for an explanation for my troubles.

Finally, a hint at the top of the horoscope column. Of course, the stars have gone mad. It's the devil's day and his sly and obscene hoodoo are things we all have to watch out for.

Of course. It's Friday the 13th. Friday, also called Hangman's Day in Medieval Europe, and 13, the number signifying demons in ancient numerology, have banded together to ruin my day.

I'll be extra careful from here on out. I won't step on cracks or walk under ladders.

Still, there is very little that could make my day any worse than losing that column.

There are no cold people in the U.S.

Because of all the publicity concerning the hunger problem in the United States, little attention has been paid to the freezing temperatures that have engulfed the nation.

The Safety Net Task Force on Cold Weather has just issued its report on this year's winter. The commission was set up because there was no statistical information as to how many needy cold people there were in America, and whether present administration policies were adequate to take care of those who were really freezing, as opposed to freeloaders who could afford to stay out of the cold.

Commission members, all from Southern California, said that the cold weather problem in the United States has been "exaggerated by the media, and that television in particular had played a role in making this year's winter much colder than it really is."

"There are cold pockets in the United States," the report said, "but there is no evidence to conclude that it is nationwide and that freezing temperatures are affecting the poor. Most people suffering from frigid weather are those who can't afford to pay their fuel bills or are homeless. The Reagan administration cuts have not affected them, and the majority of these people are warmer today than they were in 1980."

The task force report went on to say, "There has been a constant drumbeat in the press and on television pointing out that temperatures in this country have been the lowest since 1872. Most of the reports on television have shown people suffering in Montana, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Duluth, to the exclusion of those in Key West, Fla., and San Diego, Calif., where the weather has been glorious. By only reporting where the weather is bad, and not where it is good, the impression left in the TV viewers' minds is that the entire country is suffering from an extraordinarily harsh winter."

In a chapter devoted to wind chill figures, the report states that "When Mr. Reagan took over from President Carter the wind chill factor in the United States was plus 18 degrees. The Reagan administration has reduced it to minus one, and in some parts of the country minus 25, the lowest in almost a century."

"By lowering the wind chill rate, the president has provided more jobs for everyone. Anybody who wants to shovel snow can now get work. Auto body repair shops are hiring people once again, gas companies report their best season ever, road salt sales have quadrupled, and people slipping on ice have pushed medical and hospital profits to record levels. The trickle-down effect from the cold weather will give the economy the best boost it has had in years. Every segment of the population stands to gain by freezing temperatures."

The task force report went on to say, "We found in our investigation that most complaints about the winter were politically motivated by people opposed to President Reagan's weather policies, or whose pipes had burst because of the freeze. There is no hard and fast evidence that the extreme cold weather has any relation to mass shivering in the United States. Government programs now in place are sufficient to provide every person who really needs it with heat.

"Therefore we are making the following proposals to see that the heat cheaters are taken off the government rolls.

"Applicants for supplemental fuel must prove they have burned all the furniture in their house before becoming eligible for federal fuel allowances.

"People sleeping on grates who are getting their heat for free from subway systems will no longer be admitted to government temporary shelters.

"Workfare programs should be set up for those people who apply for free outerwear and gloves to get them through the winter.

"A surcharge should be placed on soup kitchens, and the revenues from them should be used to pay for research on why poor people are colder in the winter than they are at any other time of the year."

The task force concluded that "freezing weather is not a serious problem in the United States and there are a lot less icicles in peoples' homes than the American people were led to believe."

Billy Graham

Broken marriage disrupts church

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A few months ago a man who always attended our church regularly left his wife and family and started to live with another woman. The problem is, he now has started coming to church again along with his new girl friend. He apparently sees nothing wrong with it, but it is an embarrassment to his family and also a bad example to our young people. Can anything be done? — Mrs. W.H.G.

DEAR MRS. W.H.G.: I do not know all the facts of the case, of course, but from what you say it is clear this man has done wrong in the eyes of God. By his refusal to repent he is not only being a bad example to the young people in your church, but it also brings the testimony of the church into disrepute in the eyes of those outside the church.

Paul faced a somewhat similar case in the church at Corinth. One of the men in the church was guilty of committing incest, a sin which even pagans in the Roman Empire disapproved of. The church, however, tolerated his sin and did nothing to encourage him to repent. Paul's advice was clear: if he continued to refuse to repent and turn from his sin, there was no other alternative eventually but to cast him out of the church (1 Corinthians 5:1-13). Now I know this can be taken to non-biblical extremes, but it is wrong for your pastor and the leaders of the church — the elders, or deacons, or whatever group has responsibility for your church's spiritual life — to act as if nothing had happened.

You and others should talk with your pastor and encourage him to confront this man privately — lovingly and yet firmly — with his sin, and urge him to repent and seek God's forgiveness. Perhaps this man has never actually faced his own spiritual need of forgiveness, and his church-going is just a habit or custom. But he needs Christ, and he needs to face the seriousness of what he is doing and turn from it.

At the same time, be careful that a harsh, proud, judgmental spirit does not take over in a situation like this. The purpose should be to help the person face his sin and return to Christ (as did, in fact happen in Corinth). "Brothers, if someone is caught in a sin, you who are spiritual should restore him gently. But watch yourself, or you also may be tempted" (Galatians 6:1).

Dear Abby

Disrupting a life sometimes saves it

DEAR ABBY: Recently a problem occurred that I hope never occurs again, but in case it does, I want to know how to handle it.

A friend who lives 300 miles away started writing letters containing threats of suicide. She is divorced with a 6-year-old daughter. I became concerned, so I telephoned her. At first she seemed normal, then she became hysterical and started shouting things that made no sense at all. Among other things she threatened to kill her daughter and then commit suicide. Then she hung up.

I was terribly worried, so I called her back. She went into a rage again, vowing to kill her child and herself. Then she hung up again.

I tried frantically to reach her mother, her brothers and her ex-husband, who live near her, but I could reach no one. Finally I called my neighbor over who urged me to notify the police in my friend's town, so that's what I did.

The police picked her up and she was subsequently hospitalized. She's better now, but she has never forgiven me for "disrupting her life."

My husband says I was wrong to have called the police, but what were my alternatives? I couldn't take a chance on her carrying out her threat. How would you have handled it?

GOOD INTENTIONS

DEAR GOOD: Just as you did. It's sometimes necessary to "disrupt" a life in order to save it. I hope your friend comes to realize that you acted in her best interest. In the meantime, don't judge her too harshly. She could still be far from well.

(Every teen-ager should know the truth about drugs, sex and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Sister Keating helps others through teaching

By RHONDA WITT
Church Editor

"The greatest gift you can give people to help better themselves is a good education," says Sister Kevin Keating, principal of Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School.

Sister Keating enjoys helping others learn. "I always wanted to teach. Every summer I would teach my two younger sisters what would be coming up for them in the coming school year," she said. "Their teachers were amazed at what they knew. They loved it, because I made it fun."

Sister Keating also was influenced to become a teacher by her 6th grade teacher who was a nun. "I really admired her and respected her."

Coming to Immaculate Heart of Mary, five months ago, Sister Keating set some goals for the school. She would "like to increase school enrollment. The school has never had a high enrollment compared to other schools this size," she said. The school serves children from kindergarten through 7th grade.

The school plans to add a preschool next year, she said. The school "would eventually like to add an 8th grade so students can go directly from here to high school. Since there is no high school in this diocese this would also be a good central place to have a high school," she said.

Besides wanting to be a teacher, (Sister Keating also desired to serve the Lord. "The idea came more from what was going on in my own heart (than anything else). Since I was real young I have thought about what life meant and that I only had one life to live. I wanted to do something special with it. I realized ultimately we are traveling through life on a journey to the Lord. So I wanted to invest in something that would be directly related to that," she said.

SISTER KEVIN KEATING
...principal of Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic School

Sister Keating is a member of the Mother House, a religious community with its headquarters in Houston. "When I had looked into different religious communities this is the one that really appealed to me and it meant moving to Houston." She was raised in Ireland. Her parents didn't influence Sister Keating's decision to go to Houston. "In fact they were concerned that I wanted to enter religious life because I would be so far away. I think it was difficult for my parents. My brother and sister felt like they were losing me.

"But the one thing I recall clearly was that they told me they wanted for me whatever would make me happy and they would support me in it." After Sister Keating moved to Houston, she said her family realized they could visit her often.

Four nuns live at the Immaculate Heart of Mary's convent. Three of them work at the school, and the other is a nurse.

Sister Keating moved here from Salt Lake City where she was a school principal. She has taught at schools in Houston, Texas City and Corsicana.

Sister Keating attended Dominican College in Houston, the University of Houston, the University of San Francisco, and Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif. Her hobbies include snow skiing, boating and horseback riding. She also enjoys walking around Scenic Mountain.

NAACP month declared
Governor Mark White has declared January as National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Month. The Howard County Chapter will celebrate this proclamation in conjunction with Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday, Sunday, by emphasizing voter registration day at all minority churches.

Deputized NAACP members will be available at morning worship services to register all qualified citizens.

Effective Jan. 15, 1986, Dr. King's birthday will become a federal holiday. A Baptist minister from Georgia, Dr. King became nationally known in 1956 as the man who led the first fight for desegregation of buses in Montgomery, Ala.

As the founder of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, he and others worked to get legal rights for blacks — the right to vote and freely use public places, such as restaurants and movie theaters. Best known for his "I Have a Dream" speech, Dr. King became the 14th American, the 3rd black and the youngest man in history to win the Nobel Prize in 1964.

MRS. GLADYS HALL
...receives award

The three-hour seminar will be located in Wilkerson Hall, room 113. Fee for the course is $15 and participants may pre-register in continuing education office in Deaderick Hall, room 110. For more information, contact the continuing education office, 335-6583.

CORRIE TEN BOOM
...film shown

The film, "Jesus is Victor", will be shown at the First Church of the Nazarene at 6 p.m., Sunday. "Jesus is Victor" is a personal portrait of Corrie ten Boom, who died at age 86. She was a Dutch Christian who traveled to 65 countries telling of her experiences as she and her family saved the lives of hundreds of Jews through their work with the underground. The public is invited.

Gladys Hall honored by church, Sunday

The First Church of the Nazarene will give special recognition to Gladys Hall, Sunday. The celebration will begin with Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. and continue with a worship service at 10:50 a.m. During the worship service she will be awarded the Distinguished Service Award in appreciation for a dedicated service to the church.

Dr. Carl Powers, pastor, will deliver a sermon in her honor. Jerry McGuire, church music director, will present music for the occasion. Following the service, a basket dinner will be held in the Family Life Center with Mrs. Hall as honoree.

Mrs. Hall, who will celebrate her 80th birthday, has served the church by teaching Sunday School classes, being Home Department director, Junior director and Director of Nursing Home Ministries.

Writing church bulletins and newsletters and getting local information published in national and religious publications also will be discussed.

Dr. Donohue

Surgery may correct hearing loss

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please write something on otosclerosis. My first doctor diagnosed this, but a second opinion disagreed. How is one tested for this? Does hearing testing show otosclerosis? The first doctor, at a teaching hospital, wanted me to have surgery. What's the chance of a hearing aid helping? Should I get a third opinion? — S.R.

First, let me explain what otosclerosis is. There are three small bones in the middle ear, the part of the ear beginning inside the eardrum. Those bones form a bridge between the eardrum and the inner ear. Their purpose is to conduct sound waves from the ear drum into the inner ear, where the hearing nerves are located. Do you have that picture?

Otosclerosis (oto is a reference to the ear) is an overgrowth of deposits on these bones. The bone bridge becomes rigid and unable to conduct the sound waves properly, leading to loss of hearing.

Now, to your present status. I am very sorry about the difference of opinion that you are getting. It's never comforting to be the patient at the center of a such difference. I think it would be worthwhile for you to get another opinion if there is continuing doubt about the cause of your hearing loss.

Let me say, however, that otosclerosis is a form of deafness that can be successfully treated by surgery. In it, the overgrowth of bone is removed. The bone bridge again becomes an effective conductor of the sound waves. I think it would be worthwhile to get another opinion and settle the matter of possible surgery.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for his booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Extension Council officers installed

New officers of the Howard County Extension Homemakers Council were installed by Naomi Hunt, county extension agent, during its meeting, Jan. 9, at First Methodist Church.

New officers are: Myrl Soles, chairman; Frances Mason, vice chairman; I'Neil Smauley, secretary; and Irene Phiebe, treasurer. A brief outline of the year's upcoming programs and items of interest to members were discussed.

"Home Foundation of America" is the theme of an Extension workshop at Stanton, Jan. 18 at 9 a.m. at Caprock Electric. Ms. Hunt's programs for the year will deal with personal happiness and adjusting to everyday living.

Leader training sessions will be held at the film room at Howard County Library the 4th Monday of the month at 2 p.m. The Extension Homemakers will sell food at the Howard County Stock Show, Jan. 27-28.

LITTLE MAN HOLDS HIS OWN—Howard's 5-11 guard Mo Haskin drives in for two of his four points in second half action against Lubbock Christian College.

Hawks fly high over LCC

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

The Howard Hawks didn't play well in their first basketball game since the Christmas break; according to coach Mike Mitchell, but you would have a hard time convincing Lubbock Christian College; especially after Howard walloped the Chaps 97-79.

Mitchell was displeased with his squad's defensive effort, but he couldn't complain about the field goal shooting and rebounding as the Hawks hit 54 percent of their shots from the floor and outrebounded their opponents 39-25.

"It was a sluggish performance," said Mitchell. "We never did do a good job defensively. We shot well and it a good thing; the way we played defense. We had a lot of times when we didn't take advantage of our three-on-two and two-on-one chances."

A lot of the Hawks lack of defense can be credited to a fine shooting performance by their opponenets. The Chaps shot a blistering 69 percent from the floor as compared to 54 percent for Howard.

For the first eight minutes of the contest Lubbock Christian gave Howard all they could handle as the visitors kept a 2-3 point lead throughout the opening minutes.

The Chaps came out smoking when forward Mark Peters, who led all LCC scorers with 20 points completed a three-point-play the first time they touched the ball.

His teammates followed suit by hitting six of their first seven attempts as LCC took a 13-8 lead.

Howard edged back and stay within striking distance thanks to some costly baskets by James Johnson who led the Hawks' board domination with 9 rebounds and 14 points.

The Hawks tied the contest a 20 when Johnson scored on an offensive rebound. A few minutes later they took the lead for good when Michael Porter who finished the game with 18 points hit his fourth consecutive shot to push the score to 30-28 with 8:12 remaining in the half.

For the rest of the period Howard dominated by scoring six consecutive baskets, three by Jerry Stroman who scored 19 for the night.

Stroman's long jumper at the buzzer gave Howard a commanding 52-36 halftime lead.

The Hawks' lead stretched to 20 when Al Holland and Dwight Harris, who ended the contest with 20 points scored unanswered baskets.

LCC roared right back as David Ridgforth and Eddie Bonner hit two baskets and Peters completed another three-point-play and Howard's lead had dwindled to 60-51. Stroman stifled the Chaps' barrage with two baskets and a nifty assist to Holland who turned it into a three-point-play and up the lead to 67-53 with 11:32 remaining in the contest.

The Hawks built the lead back up to 20 on a James Johnson basket; putting the score at 77-57. From then on the Chaps played a game called "foul the Hawks" and Howard played LCC's strategy to perfection by missing five front ends of one- and-one charity shots.

In fact Howard shot worse from the free throw line than they did from the floor connecting on only 11-22 attempts. The win moves the Hawks' season record to 13-1.

In the game played earlier Midland College defeated Angelo State junior varsity 91-62. Ex-Big Spring star Jerald Wrightsil scored 15 points for Midland.

Tonight the Hawks battle Angelo JV at 8 p.m. while Midland goes against LCC at 6 p.m.

Howard (97) — Jerry Stroman 8 2 19; Dwight Harris 9 2 20; Michael Porter 8 2 18; James Johnson 7 0 14; Joe Johnson 3 3 9; Al Holland 6 1 13; Mo Haskin 2 0 4; totals 43 11 97.

Lubbock Christian (79) — David Ridgforth 6 0 13; Eddie Bonner 6 2 14; Gary Hodges 4 3 11; Mark Peters 7 6 20; Colby Beckner 6 0 12; Xavier Miranda 6 0 12; totals 34 11 79.

Lady Steers drop third road contest

ABILENE — The Big Spring Lady Steers came up against their old nemesis again— winning basketball games on the road; and again BSHS held true to form as they were defeated by Abilene Cooper 64-50.

The loss evened the Lady Steers' district slate to 3-3 while the Cougars raised their record to 3-3 in 45-A action. Both teams are tied with Odessa Permian for fourth place behind frontrunner San Angelo 6-0, Midland 5-1 and Midland Lee 4-2.

The Lady Steers' performance was not on of their better ones according to Lady Steer coach Annette Fowler. "We didn't play well at all," said Fowler. "They outmuscled us underneath; and we lost the ball trying to force it inside against their zone," said Fowler.

The loss marked the third time the Lady Steers had lost a district game on the road, while winning all of their home tilts.

The Cougars had a balanced scoring attack with four players in double figures; led by post player's Angela Riggins' 16 points. Melinda Finley followed with 13, Tracy Scott 12 and Rhonda Hays had 10.

Big Spring led only twice in the contest, 2-0 and 4-2 in the opening minutes. From then on the 'Coogs ran the show as they took a 16-10 first quarter lead.

The lead stretched to 22-12 with 6:15 remaining in the first half as Hays got a steal which turned into a layup. But the Lady Steers battled back behind the scoring of Debra Rubio and Paula Spears who led the BSHS scoring with 13 and 15 respectively.

The lead was narrowed to 28-26 with 40 seconds remaining in the half, but Cooper answered with two quick baskets to take a 32-26 halftime lead.

Cooper built the lead up to 10 points early in the third quarter and kept a double-digit lead the remainder of the game.

The Lady Steers' next district contest will be Monday versus Midland Lee at 8 p.m. in Steer Gym.

Queens overcome 'Chaps

LUBBOCK — The Howard Hawk-Queens had trouble getting started in the first half against Lubbock Christian College in women's basketball action, but they hit high gear in the second period to take a 80-62 victory in the opening game after the Christmas break.

Unlike the first contest between the two teams which Howard won handily 102-59, the Queens had a hard time putting the game away. It was not until midway through the last half that Howard opened up a 10 point lead and started to pull away.

"We made a lot of mental mistakes in the first half," said Queens coach Don Stevens. "We had breakdowns on our press and wasn't exciting our offense. We regrouped at halftime and came out and played much better." Stevens noted that LCC was much improved from the last time the two faced each other.

The game marked the debut of Baylor transfer Terri Moore; who was a smashing success as the 6-1 center added another dimension to the Queens' inside game. Playing just over half the contest Moore led the scoring and rebounding with 26 and 7 respectively.

Howard guard Molly Early helped key the second half charge by scoring 16 of her 18 points in the half. While Early and Moore was putting them in — guard Janene Berry was dishing them out; on her way to a season-high 12 assists. In the meantime Berry also scored 10 points and collected seven steals.

The win ups the Queens' record to 14-6 for the season. They resume conference play Monday in Levelland against South Plains.

Simons takes lead in Hope Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Jim Simons cited two factors — a return to his teacher and an exercise program — that helped produce what he called a "once in a blue moon" round.

Simons, a three-time winner in 12 previous seasons on the PGA Tour, scattered nine birdies across his card in a spectacular 63 that provided him with a three-stroke lead Thursday in the second round of the five-round, $400,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

"I've gone back to Jimmy Ballard (a well-known teaching pro) and that's helped," Simons said. "I'd worked with him before I won the Memorial five years ago. Since then, I've kind of gotten sidetracked."

And, he said, dedication to an exercise program has provided him with added length.

"I'm all the way up to average," said Simons, who now combines his Tour play with a concurrent career as an investment executive for a national financial firm. "I've never been that long before."

"It seemed like the courses were all getting longer and old Jim was getting shorter."

"It's given me a good feeling about this year."

Simons, in a mild slump most of last season, did not make a bogey in his solid effort, missed only one green at Indian Wells and played a fine third shot to within five feet to save par there.

He rolled in five birdie putts from the 8-12 foot range, made a long one of about 30 feet, came within 4 inches of holing a 6-iron shot for an ace and capped his effort with a 4-wood second shot over water that set up a 2-putt birdie-4 on the final hole.

He completed two rounds of this five-day, 90-hole event with a 132 total, 12 under par.
