Off the wall: Blackout

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Workers at an elementary school wanted to turn out the lights on the graffiti artists, but their decision to paint the windows black wasn't viewed as such a bright idea by teachers and administrators.

The school district ended up shelling out $12,000 to replace the blackened windows because it was just too depressing for the 75 kindergarten students using the first-floor classrooms, principal Lynne Zoss said Wednesday.

"Most of the teachers covered the inside with posters and art work of the students so it wouldn't be so depressing," Ms. Zoss said. "It was depressing, especially from their viewpoint. They don't even come up to the bottom of the windows."

Ms. Zoss said that when she first saw the blackened windows in September, she thought workmen had boarded up broken panes.

DRIVER UNINJURED — The driver of this 18-wheeler escaped serious injury in an accident Wednesday morning on South 87 a few miles south of Big Spring. According to accident reports, the driver had to brake to avoid hitting a four-wheel drive vehicle which swerved into his lane as the two were headed south. The truck's brakes locked and the vehicle skidded off the road and overturned. Driver Ted Kimble, 32, of Missouri City, Texas, received a bump on the head.

Collision sends local man to intensive care

By CAROL BALDWIN

A Big Spring man is in critical condition in the intensive care unit of Odessa Medical Center following a two-car collision Wednesday in the 1600 block of Wasson Road.

Ronald Smith, 48, of Box 2708, received severe head injuries in the accident. His wife, Judy, is in good condition in Malone-Hogan Hospital with fractures of the pelvis and legs, according to the hospital's spokesmen. Police reports show that a vehicle driven by Smith was westbound on Wasson Road about 12:52 p.m. Wednesday when an eastbound vehicle, driven by Johnnie Lee Scott of 3709 Hamilton, apparently hit a patch of ice and spun into the westbound lane of traffic. Scott's vehicle went off the road into the dirt.

Reports show that Smith "apparently panicked and swerved to miss (Scott's vehicle) although there was great distance" between the two vehicles.

A car driven by Roland King, 22, of Sterling City Route, was eastbound on Wasson Road. When Smith

Firemen meet with Davis

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

Although City Manager Don Davis said he is "not dealing" with a new union of city firemen, the city manager met with union officials last week to discuss grievances filed by union members, Davis said Tuesday.

Davis said the apparent contradiction stems from a "vagueness as to what constitutes a bargaining agent." Davis said the union must by law get formal recognition from the electorate in the form of a referendum to act as a bargaining agent. Yet, also by law, an employee is entitled to representation by a person of his choice when his grievances are heard, Davis said.

"If union officials are representing an employee and not bargaining, I don't know what they're doing," Davis said.

Union president John Branham said this morning

Christmas freeze costs city big money

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

More than $100,000 is what the Christmas holiday blast of arctic air cost the city of Big Spring, according to figures released by the city Public Works Department.

The frigid holiday weather brought record low temperatures to the Big Spring area and had city and private crews working around the clock to repair cold-related water line and street damage.

City Public Works Manager Tom Decell

said this morning the figure was not unexpected, considering the extent of the water line crisis that faced the city.

During the period between Dec. 21, 1983, and Jan. 6, the city suffered more than 130 water line breaks and replaced 155 meters that froze as a result of the polar weather.

"We tried to be as conservative as we could," Decell said, "but our main concern was to maintain fire protection in the city."

Decell said the $101,500 bill for personnel costs, parts and supplies, contract services and loss of treated water because of the breaks would be paid from a contingency fund set up several years ago by the city council to cover such emergencies.

During the cold snap, city crews logged more than 1,600 hours of overtime at a total cost to the city of about $16,000.

Crews often worked knee-deep in freezing mud to dig out and fix the broken water lines, Decell said.

Also included in the $100,000 figure is $42,000 for contract services from the city's water line contractor, Permian Utilities Inc. of Odessa, $34,000 in lost water that "ran down the streets" after mains broke and $8,600 in parts and supplies for replacement of the water lines.

Decell noted that none of the approximate 14 miles of new water lines laid under the city's capital improvements program were involved in the failures.

Chamber plans annual banquet

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Tickets for the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce annual banquet were priced at $12.50 during a board of directors meeting Wednesday at the chamber offices.

The Feb. 25 banquet will feature Robert Miller, president of Getty Oil, as keynote speaker. The theme for the banquet is "From These Roots."

Tickets will go on sale Feb. 1 through Feb. 18. They will be available from the Ambassadors, Blue Blazers or the chamber office.

Chamber directors voted to allow the Big Spring Jaycees to make their "Young Man of the Year" presentation during the chamber banquet.

LeRoy Tillery, executive vice president of the chamber, told directors that Johnnie Lou Avery had been selected as the small businesswoman advocate of the year for the Lubbock district of the Small Business Association and that Mrs. Avery would advance for regional consideration.

Chamber directors will hold a retreat Jan. 26 at the Big Spring Country Club, beginning at 7 p.m. with supper and continuing with a workshop.

Paul Shaffer, president of the board of directors, urged board members not to miss meetings and said "there is no excuse for not attending chamber board meetings. We would appreciate it if you would keep in mind that the chamber meets the third Wednesday of each month."

Board member Maxwell Green told the directors that the chamber had $66,077.18 in its budget as of Dec. 31, 1983. Green said that the chamber noted a $3,702 increase in assets in December and "we're making progress" in chamber finances.

LeRoy Tillery, executive vice president of the chamber, explained to the board that $15,406 of the chamber budget had been reappropriated because a grant requested through the state had not been received. Tillery explained that $8,016 of the money will go toward a part-time salary for cultural affairs consultant Sam Woodward "so we can keep Sam on staff," Tillery said.

Directors agreed to do business with a Big Spring firm, Sky-Vue Theaters, doing business as Sky-Vue Signs, in relation to two signs advertising Big Spring along the Interstate near Sweetwater and near Penwell. Tillery told the board members that the chamber had been doing business with an out-of-town firm but "we would like to change companies."

Directors approved a plan to pay Sky-Vue Signs $200 a month each for two signs. Previously, the chamber had been paying $250 each for two signs.

Directors also approved a plan to set up a sign on Highway 87 north of Big Spring. The sign will cost $187 a month until the builder, Guy V. Speck, regains the cost of building the sign. After that, Speck has agreed to rent the sign for $1 a year.

A Past Presidents Council was established during Wednesday's board meeting. No program of action was set.

Crooker files for office

Incumbent Precinct 3 County Commissioner W.B. "Bill" Crooker filed for re-election Wednesday afternoon, becoming the first candidate in Howard County to file for the Republican primary.

Also, another Democratic candidate for the same post entered the race Wednesday. Bob E. Wilson of the Silver Heels Addition, a life insurance salesman, joins four other candidates in the primary.

Wilson, who co-owned the former Toyland store on Gregg with his wife for 12 years, joins Elbow farmer Oliver B. "Bud" Nichols, a former candidate for the same position; Lomax farmer Neil Fryar; retired Howard County resident Garner Thixton of Sterling City Route; and Joneil Smallwood.

Ambulance service may be probed

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Violation of a contract between the city and county and Shaffer Ambulance Service has triggered concern among members of a committee charged with overseeing the ambulance service, although City Manager Don Davis said the committee is unsure how to proceed.

Shaffer Ambulance is in violation of a contract provision which states that the ambulance service should have purchased two new emergency vehicles by October 1983.

The contract, in which the city pays $4,000 a month and the county $2,000 a month for ambulance service, is effective from Oct. 1, 1982 to Sept. 30, 1985.

It states, "Contractor (Shaffer Ambulance) agrees to acquire by lease or by purchase two (2) new ambulance vehicles. One such vehicle shall be put into service within the first six (6) months of the term of this agreement, and the other such vehicle shall be placed into service during the second six (6) months of the term thereof."

John Korell, president of Shaffer Ambulance, said he purchased one new vehicle during the first six months of the contract but has not purchased the second emergency vehicle. When asked why, he said, "I'd sooner not say anything about it."

Shaffer Ambulance has five ambulances at their headquarters at 2406 Main, including two 1981 models, a 1978, a 1976 and a 1974 model.

Davis said Shaffer Ambulance "is in breach of the contract" with the city and the county and "there are a lot of different things we can do."

Davis is one of four members of a committee formed in 1982 to work with Shaffer Ambulance. Other members are Dr. Bruce Cox, Hall-Bennett Hospital administrator Charles Weeg and County Commissioner Louis Brown. A fifth member, Jean Connolly, is no longer serving with the committee but has yet to be replaced, Davis said.

Davis said he and other members of the committee interviewed Shaffer and recommended the company be awarded the contract with the city and county in 1982.

"We have been working with the committee this fall," Davis said. "We are very much aware that the contractor has not fulfilled the

Glasscock, Martin ready stock shows

Two neighboring counties are preparing for their junior livestock shows to be conducted in the next two weeks.

Both Glasscock and Martin Counties will begin their stock shows on Thursday, when entries will be weighed and entered.

Judging for the Glasscock County Junior Livestock Show begins at 9 a.m. Friday in the School Bus Barn, when Howard County Agricultural Extension Agent Don Richardson will judge the steer show.

Stanley Young of Tahoka will judge the swine show, which begins at noon Friday. At 8 a.m. Saturday, John Kearny, an agriculture teacher from Sterling City will judge the lamb show.

About 150 entries in all are expected in the livestock show, Glasscock County Extension Agent Eugene Jost said. About 200 hogs, 20 steers and 50 lambs will be entered, he said.

The Glasscock show at 10:30 a.m. Saturday also features a pig scramble, in which young contestants in three age categories — 4 years and under, 5- and 6-year olds, and 7- and 8-year olds — try to catch a pig.

"When the kids catch (the pigs), the pigs usually let out a squeal. And most of the kids get scared and drop the pig. A lot of our buyers get a charge out of watching the little bitty kids try to catch a pig," Glasscock County Extension Agent Eugene Jost said.

Following the pig scramble is a sack-a-pig contest for 7- and 8-year-olds.

A barbecue will follow the contests at 11 a.m. in the school cafeteria. Tickets will be $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children.

The awards presentation will be at 1 p.m., and will be followed by a premium sale. In a premium sale, the animals are not actually sold. Instead, buyers give the owners of the livestock donations, since the animals generally are entered in larger area or regional stock shows, Jost said.

The Martin County show begins at the county barn with weigh-in from 2 to 6 p.m. Thursday. The lamb show at 9 a.m. Friday is the first of the stock show's judging events. Crockett County Extension Agent Billy Reagor will judge.

The swine show begins at 1 p.m. Friday. Judge will be Jeff Peterson, an agriculture teacher at Ropesville. At 3 p.m., adults and children can participate in a livestock-judging contest.

Ector County Agriculture Extension Agent Jim Mazurkiewicz will judge the steer and heifer show at 9 a.m. Saturday. The final event, the Championship Club Banquet where awards are distributed, is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

Airhart shows top steer

LAMESA — Dawson County resident Brent Airhart took both grand champion and reserve champion steer prizes at the Dawson County stock show recently.

Airhart also won the all-round showmanship award. Other showmanship winners are: Kayla Gentry, for swine; Chris Staudt, for lambs; and Brandon Harris, for steers.

Lamb show winners include: fine wool champion, Shelby Airhart; fine wool reserve champion, Cody Vogler; fine wool crossbreed champion and reserve champion, Staudt; medium wool champion, Greg Hogg; medium wool reserve champion, Jacqua Nance; South Down and South Down crossbreed champion, Misty Franklin; South Down and South Down crossbreed reserve champion, Vogler.

The grand champion swine was a Berkshire shown by Wayne Holt, and the reserve grand champion was shown by Matt Besaire. Other swine show winners include: champion Berkshire, Chip Seago; reserve champion Berkshire, Kevin Williams; champion Chester White, Dan Besaire; reserve champion Chester White, Mindy Davis; champion Duroc, Dan Besaire; reserve champion Duroc, Sherry Norton, champion Hampshire, Michael Roney; and reserve champion Hampshire, Chris Williams.

More swine show awards include: champion Poland China, Shawn Holliday; reserve champion Poland China, Roney; champion Spotted Poland China, Brad Snellgrove; reserve champion Spotted Poland China, Jimmy Davis; champion Yorkshire, Matt Besaire; reserve champion Yorkshire, Brad Ingelberger; and champion crossbreed swine, Wayne Hogg, and reserve champion crossbreed swine, Shelby Airhart.

The champion heifer was shown by Vogler.

15 persons plead guilty

Fifteen of 65 persons whose cases were presented in Howard County Court pre-trial hearings Tuesday pleaded guilty.

One person pleaded guilty to criminal trespass, two to separate charges of criminal mischief, one to possession of less than two ounces of marijuana, and 11 persons pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated. The DWI charges stemmed from incidents that occurred before the new DWI law went into effect Jan. 1.

Larry Austin Parker, 33, of 1002 N. Main remains in county jail today after being transferred Wednesday from the police department on suspicion of driving while license suspended. Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt set bond at $1,000.

swerved, he hit a curb and bounced into the path of King's vehicle, police reported. Impact was recorded on the right passenger side of Smith's car.

Firemen in the Wesson Road fire station heard the impact and ran outside to see what happened, Donald Atkinson, a Big Spring fireman, said.

When he saw the damage, Atkinson made a call to the Central Fire Station and requested a van bring the "Jaws of Life," a device used to pry open metal. Atkinson also called Shaffer Ambulance.

Witnesses said it took about five minutes to free the Smiths from the vehicle. Aiding in the rescue were Firemen Tony Castillo and Paul Brown.

Two other accidents caused heavy damage to vehicles Wednesday.

About 8:14 a.m., cars driven by Joel Perez of 1803 Alabama and Ruth Quisenberry of 1804 Donley collided in the 1000 block of F.M. 700.

According to police reports, Perez was eastbound in the right lane of F.M. 700 when another car tried to pass him. He pulled his vehicle into the left lane, colliding with the Quisenberry vehicle.

Perez received minor injuries in the incident. About 9:58 a.m. police were called to the scene of an accident in the 2000 block of Marcy in which a car driven by William Melton of Box 2070 collided with a parked vehicle. Reports show that Donnie Hale was standing beside the vehicle and received injuries when the two cars collided. He was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital where he remains today in stable condition.

Melton received minor injuries in the incident. Icy roads and a light snowfall Tuesday night were blamed for more than 28 minor accidents, abandoned vehicles and motorists in need of assistance calls Wednesday, according to police reports.

Big Spring saw a high of only 18 degrees Wednesday, the Big Spring Field Experiment Station reported. Low was 8 degrees. These figures compare to a record high of 78 set in 1982, and a record low of 2 degrees set in 1930.

Although icy street conditions improved by Wednesday afternoon, a slight chance of more snow and freezing rain remains in the forecast today.

that he and union vice president Robert Muller attended last week's meeting in their capacity as union officials.

"We have the right to represent any employee that asks us to represent them," Branham said.

Both Davis and Branham termed the meeting held Jan. 10 "good."

According to Branham, discussion during the meeting included the reasons why the union was organized and communications problems that exist within the city fire department.

Davis and union officials came down to specifics in discussions centering on a lack of enough usable air masks at fire stations around the city, Branham said.

Branham said Davis agreed to have four of the departments masks sent for reconditioning, bringing the total number of usable masks up to 16.

Branham said Davis also agreed in principle that the city owed firemen at least two years in back pay stemming from the substitution of lower ranking firemen into supervisory positions.

Branham said another meeting is scheduled next week to discuss details of how firemen would receive compensation for the higher paying work.

obligations of the contract."

Another section of the contract states "contractor agrees to provide ambulance service on a continuous basis and to have no fewer than two (2) ambulance units available for immediate call at any time excepting only those times when one or both of such ambulance units are responding to ambulance calls."

In an incident reported in the Herald Monday, Korell said one of three Shaffer units was en route to Lubbock, and another was making a transfer when an emergency call was received Saturday. Korell, who was at home at the time of the call, left his home to make the ambulance run.

Although Korell had to be contacted at home to make the emergency run, he said the company had not violated the agreement by using an emergency on-call ambulance to make a transfer.

Making transfers "is part of the contract," Korell said.

Davis said "we're obviously concerned" about the terms of the contract and added that the committee had been investigating the situation prior to the article in Monday's Herald.

Although Davis said he was not sure about the "inventory" of equipment owned by Shaffer Ambulance, he said he was aware "that there has been some concern expressed within the medical community about some of the equipment of the ambulance service."

Korell said he was not aware of any problem with the equipment on the ambulances. He said the equipment was up to standards "as far as I know. We are inspected by the state once a year and by the city

Grant has 80th birthday

BEVERLY HILLS — Hollywood legend Cary Grant, whose last picture was "Walk, Don't Run" in 1966, was doing just that on his 80th birthday.

The actor had earlier said his 80th would be "a nice happening, and I'm glad I've got there. But I'm trying to keep it as low-key as possible."

He was at home with his wife, Barbara, on the big day Wednesday, but his many friends around the world didn't forget the occasion.

"It's quiet only in that we are at home alone," Mrs. Grant said. "People are being very dear and calling and sending around things."

She said Grant had received dozens of calls and gift deliveries.

Frazier up on gun charges

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP, N.J. — Former heavyweight champion Joe Frazier waived his right to an arraignment hearing, and now a grand jury will decide whether to return an indictment against him for carrying a gun without a New Jersey permit.

Frazier, 40, of Lafayette Hill, Pa., was arrested last week while en route to Atlantic City.

His lawyer, Sharon Hatch, says Frazier pulled over his car to check his cigarette lighter, and a state trooper stopped to offer help. As the boxer reached for a gym bag containing identification, he told the officer he had a handgun inside, Mrs. Hatch said.

Frazier carries the gun for protection and has a Pennsylvania permit, but his application for a New Jersey permit was pending, the lawyer said. He had not intended to take the gun with him from Pennsylvania, but had inadvertently left it in the car, she said.

At an arraignment hearing, formal charges are read to a defendant. The grand jury will meet in the next six weeks, according to Gloucester County Prosecutor Alvin Shepen. A conviction could lead to an 18-month jail term, but usually results in a non-custodial sentence, he said.

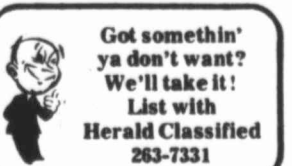

Frazier, who won the heavyweight title from Jimmy Ellis in 1970, remains free on his own recognizance.

Cats not allowed on island

LONDON — Sorry, no cats, the BBC told royal feline fancier Princess Michael, who chose a kitty companion as the one "luxury" she'd want if she were stranded on a desert island.

The princess was participating in the popular radio program Desert Island Discs, in which celebrities are asked to name the eight records and one luxury they would want if marooned. But host Roy Plomley laid down the law Wednesday, explaining that the rules prohibit selection of humans, animals or anything of practical use.

Princess Michael — wife of Prince Michael of Kent, first cousin of Queen Elizabeth II — made headlines in August when she offered a reward after losing her favorite siamese cat, Kitty, which often accompanied her on shopping trips around London.

Japanese miners rescued

TAKADA, Japan — Rescue workers today recovered the bodies of the last three miners trapped 700 feet under the ocean floor by a fire that killed 83 workers after filling one of Japan's largest coal mines with carbon monoxide.

Throughout the night, hundreds of relatives waited in snow at the Mitsui Mining Company's Miike mine site to learn the fate of those below, shouting and converging every time rescue workers brought a blanket-covered body to the surface.

Company spokesman Shosuke Ueda said the three bodies found this morning brought the final death toll to 83. He said 13 of the 96 miners initially trapped by the fire were rescued from the mine, on Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu.

The death toll makes it Japan's fourth worst postwar coal mine disaster. The worst disaster occurred at the same complex in 1963, when 458 workers died in an explosion.

Ueda said the company waited about five hours after the outbreak of the fire Wednesday afternoon before contacting local police, but he declined to comment on charges that rescue operations were insufficient in the early stages. He said the delay was because the company initially felt it could handle the situation with its own rescue team.

Officials said a 23-man company rescue team was sent down to the fire immediately, but Kyodo News Service quoted a labor union leader as saying a larger rescue effort should have been launched.

Wednesday's blaze broke out as 707 miners were working in the Ariake shaft, which cuts under the Ariake Sea, 560 miles southwest of Tokyo, company officials said.

The fire died down Wednesday night, and early today rescue workers sealed off the section around the fire.

Schools mourn Kerr's death

BEIRUT — In a rare display of unity, schools and universities closed down in both the Moslem and Christian sectors of the capital today to mourn the slain president of the American University of Beirut.

Malcolm H. Kerr, a 52-year-old American native of the city, was shot in the head outside his campus office Wednesday.

Educational institutions and various factions of Christian, Druse, Sunni and Shiite Moslems called for suspension of classes in tribute to Kerr, who specialized in the study of Middle Eastern politics and sought to keep his university free of political strife.

Shortly after the assassination, the university, located in predominantly Moslem west Beirut, canceled its classes until Monday.

A university spokesman, Radwan Mawlawi, said today no funeral arrangements have been made yet. He also said he had no word on the progress of the police investigation of the assassination.

Police said no arrests have been made, but they otherwise refused to comment on the investigation.

Likewise, they declined comment on their search for gunmen who kidnapped Saudi Arabia's consul, Hussein Abdullah Farrash, in west Beirut on Tuesday.

An anonymous telephone caller Wednesday said a pro-Iranian group calling itself Islamic Holy War killed Kerr and abducted Farrash.

The caller warned that Farrash would be executed and demanded that U.S. and French troops in the multinational force leave Lebanon "or we will shake the earth under their feet."

Callers claiming to represent Islamic Holy War have claimed responsibility for several other attacks, including the Oct. 23 suicide truck-bombings at the U.S. and French military bases in Beirut. But proof of the group's existence has yet to emerge.

Williams heads for prison

BEDMINSTER, N.J. — Former Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., ordered to start serving three years in prison today for his Abscam conviction, has been putting in long hours on his court case and still gets mail from voters who think he is in office, his wife says.

The New Jersey Democrat likes to receive the letters because they keep him in touch with what people are concerned about, Jeanette Williams said.

The first U.S. senator in 59 years to be convicted of crimes in office, Williams was granted permission to serve his bribery-conspiracy sentence at the Federal Prison Camp in Allenwood, Pa. He said that facility was the most convenient for his family.

Williams was convicted in May 1981 of nine counts of conspiracy and bribery. He was charged with accepting a hidden interest in a Virginia titanium mine, to be financed by an Arab sheik, in return for help in finding military contracts for the venture.

The Arab sheik was actually an FBI agent. Williams has steadfastly maintained his innocence, insisting he was a victim of entrapment by the FBI.

Shultz makes no headway

OSLO, Norway — Secretary of State George P. Shultz today said he made no headway in trying to persuade Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to resume nuclear arms control talks.

But Shultz, in a news conference while flying from Stockholm, Sweden, to Oslo, left open the possibility that the Soviets would end their suspension of East-West negotiations to reduce conventional forces in Central Europe.

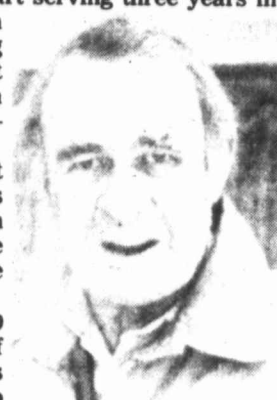

NATO sources in Stockholm said Gromyko has signaled Moscow's willingness to resume the talks on conventional arms as early as March.

Another possible policy shift from Gromyko, the sources said, involved combining and renaming the two presently suspended nuclear weapons negotiations in Geneva. "They have not made up their minds on the continuation of START (long-range weapons talks), but they might consider combining them with INF (medium-range weapons talks) under a new name, Forward-Based Systems," one source said.

In addition, they said, Gromyko has indicated the Soviets would not stand in the way of the worldwide ban on chemical weapons Shultz proposed in a speech this week to the European Disarmament Conference.

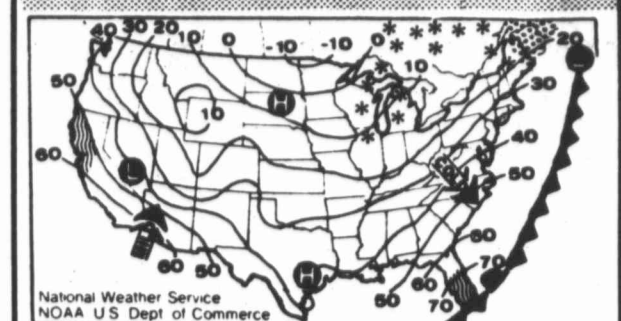

The sources, who refused to be identified even by nationality, said the indications came in meetings Gromyko held Wednesday with Shultz and West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher.

Shultz indicated his five-hour meeting with Gromyko on Wednesday at the Soviet Embassy in Stockholm laid the groundwork for a continuing U.S.-Soviet dialogue despite the impasse on nuclear weapons.

Slower speed limit saving lives

What started out as a short-term conservation measure to save fuel a decade ago has proven a long-range success in saving lives.

On the 10th anniversary of the nationwide 55 mph speed limit, even conservative estimates place the number of lives saved on highways in excess of 60,000 for the decade.

Legislation setting the maximum standards was signed into law shortly after 1974 began by then-President Richard M. Nixon. The measure, which denies federal highway funds to states that fail to enforce the 55 mph maximum speed limit, was passed as a temporary conservation measure during a major fuel shortage.

The Federal Highway Administration and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration jointly monitor each state's compliance with the national speed limit and allocate highway funds based on their review.

The figures on the number of lives saved were provided by the Department of Transportation. The DOT estimated the number of lives saved at 4,500 per year, while an official of the FHA indicated that this could be low, saying that the figure of 60,000 could be a conservative estimate.

Whatever the actual numbers, it marks considerable progress on the road to better highway safety. Although some people feel the 55 mph speed limit is too slow, staying alive at 55 is worth a little inconvenience.

Around The Rim

By BILLY NABOURS

The new kid

As a new kid in the Big Spring neighborhood, it was brought to my attention that a small piece about myself should be written and edited (carefully) for the Rim, which is a much looked for part of the Big Spring Herald.

Being one to shirk no duty (maybe a little duty now and then), I still could not decide where to start. In the beginning sounded like the logical place, but even a 20-page newspaper could not tell this boy's life story.

Anyway we'll pick up a few years later. If you were one of the brave many that dared read your paper after seeing the mug of yours truly on the front earlier this week, then some of the forthcoming rethoric will be a simple rehash. Some will not.

Born of humble parents in Temple, this Central Texas native figured the last place he would be is Big Spring.

After attending a tiny Class AA school known as Rogers, the Nabours' oldest son attended Temple Junior College before departing for sunny San Marcos and the University of Party (a mistaken label since this boy did very little). After one semester of dorm life and cafeteria food, I decided I needed a roommate of the opposite sex, hence Laurie Foshee became Laurie Nabours. There are two smaller members of the clan known as Jennifer, 5, mostly girl with some tomboy thrown in, and Christopher, age 3 and definitely all boy.

Geared for a sporting life (pardon the pun), graduation from SWT took me to the Golden Gulf Coast and Angleton where I covered the Wildcats for two years before getting back to Central Texas and the land of the Taylor Ducks. After two years and approximately 23,000 miles on the old car (it was a 33-mile drive from our residence to Taylor), a change based on economics was needed. Hence a news editorship at Belton which is a short spit from the old homestead.

Feeling, however, that my real calling is in the sports area, I contacted the Herald. And the rest is history.

As a sports specialist, it is the aim of myself, along with a fine assistant in Steve Belvin, to provide the folks of Big Spring and the Howard County area with the best in local sports coverage because that is what the locale is accustomed to. The Herald already had a fine sports department, and it is the intent of the new kid in town to uphold that quality.

Before too long, I hope to meet the folks with whom I will be in constant contact, and if everyone is as friendly and courteous as the ones I have met, Big Spring is definitely the "in" place to be.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Ambulance story alarmed reader

To the editor: I was shocked to say the least to read the article in Monday's paper about the ambulance response. I can not believe that anyone could attack the people who do their utmost best to serve our community.

In my opinion the whole article was totally ridiculous; after all what purpose did it serve... it placed doubt in the minds of all the other people in this town, and it caused the family of Mr. Hopper more grief.

It also seems you left out a few very important facts, for example when you told how the officers, who were on the scene, began CPR, why was it not also stated that at least one of those officers was a well trained, and highly qualified EMT?

And what about the distance between the 2 attendants (who were called out) home and the ambulance office and the distance between the ambulance office and 406 Valley? From what I understand everything humanly possible was being done before either ambulance even arrived (Thanks to some well trained officers)!

In this article you have told of one very tragic call, but what about all the calls in which a life has been saved because of their knowledge, speed and concern for others. So lets don't give these people the short end of the stick!

So lets all encourage our ambulance crews to be the best they can be by giving our trust, understanding and support.

I hope this article can be laid to rest without any more unneeded damage. May God bless the family of Mr. Hopper in their time of grief.

Thayer's record should have been warning

WASHINGTON — Deputy Defense Secretary Paul Thayer's abrupt resignation in the face of a securities investigation was an embarrassment President Reagan might have avoided if he had only checked the man's record.

Thayer is charged with providing illegal "insider" information about securities while director of LTV Corp. of Dallas. He maintains he is completely innocent. He may well be.

But court records and Securities and Exchange Commission files examined by my associate Jock Hatfield show the LTV under Thayer's management was repeatedly charged with fraud, mismanagement, deception and securities law violations after he became the company's executive director in 1970.

Members of the Senate Armed Services Committee never learned about all the skeletons in Thayer's corporate closet because the White House never told them. Associate presidential counsel David Waller said the White House accepted Thayer's own version of his background without checking.

Ronald Reagan's loyalty to his appointees is legendary, but it has gotten him into trouble from Richard Allen to James Watt. Here's what he should have been told about Thayer:

● In 1973, Thayer was accused by a stockholder of dumping 2,400 shares of LTV stock in violation of a written agreement. But the court found that Thayer had sold his stock prematurely to pay off pressing debts, not to cash in on inside information.

● In 1979, the SEC charged LTV and its directors with overvaluing the inventories of its Jones & Laughlin subsidiary by a total of $26 million from 1974 to 1978. The court ordered the practice stopped.

The overvaluation artificially raised the price of LTV stock. Purchasers of the overpriced stock filed a class-action suit and won a settlement of $7.75 million. An SEC investigation concluded that LTV management had failed to enforce "the standards of ethics that a properly managed company should maintain in its accounting practices."

● In 1978, an LTV subsidiary was found guilty on 48 charges of conspiracy and fraud in its operation of a business school chain from 1968 to 1973. The corporation illegally collected money from the federally insured student loan program — for students who did not attend the schools.

LTV was fined $500,000, and the Justice Department is preparing a suit to recover the student loan money.

● In 1980, suits filed in Pennsylvania and in federal court accused LTV, Thayer and other directors of fraudulently depressing the value of Jones & Laughlin preferred stock, then buying it at a bargain price.

According to the complaints in the suits, Thayer and other directors lowered the steel company's stock price by $20 a share, through a complicated scheme involving transfer of funds from partly owned to wholly owned subsidiaries.

The suits also accuse LTV's directors of illegally voting a large block of preferred shares to take over the company, in violation of federal securities law. The state case is still pending and the federal case was dismissed on the grounds that it was a state matter.

Footnote: The Senate might have approved Thayer's nomination even if it had learned of his past legal troubles. "But we would certainly have looked closely at any incidents which might have reflected on Paul Thayer's suitability for office," an Armed Services Committee spokesman said.

MAN BITES DOG: In the strange world of military contracts, it's news when a defense contractor is actually ahead of schedule, instead of months or years behind. An internal Pentagon report indicates that production of the B-1B bomber is more than 2 percent ahead of schedule.

In fact, an inside source said that Rockwell International is even ahead of its own internal schedule for its share of the B-1B contract — and the internal schedule is set more than two months ahead of the Pentagon's.

Unfortunately, this almost unprecedented efficiency involves a weapons program that may be unnecessary. As I reported in an earlier column, there is growing sentiment in the Pentagon that the B-1B's primary mission — to penetrate Soviet air space and deliver bombs — can be handled adequately by our existing B-52's. This was demonstrated by the Soviet's inability to find and destroy the sitting-duck Korean airliner for more than two hours last September.

BOONDOGGLE OF THE WEEK: The Postal Service claims it needs a 3-cent increase in first-class postage to cover expenses. But congressional critics who happen to be football fans noted a strange outlay of funds by the Postal Service on New Year's Monday: a float in the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena displaying a selection of commemorative stamps. Sources say the float cost $90,000.

COMPLAINT DEPT: Names and addresses of hundreds of manufacturers' consumer representatives and local officials of federal agencies are listed in the third edition of the Consumer's Resource Handbook, put out by the Office of Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

Foreign policy and the individual

In the wake of Jesse Jackson's successful mission to Damascus, there is grumbling on the Right about how nice it would be to let him feel the lash of the Logan Act. Conservative columnist George Will fumed on ABC's "Nightline" that "what Mr. Jackson did is illegal" and demanded "some kind of restraint" on this "self-promotion." His columnist colleague, James Kilpatrick, seconds the motion. If you can't put Jackson in jail for being pompous, windy and liberal, why not persecute him for violating an obscure and heretofore meaningless statute?

For those readers who don't spend their spare time searching out unexploited ways to put their fellow citizens behind bars, I should note that this law prohibits unauthorized private citizens from discussing disputes involving the U.S. government with foreign governments. It was enacted in 1799, after the Quaker George Logan helped to avert a full-scale war with France by meeting with Foreign Minister Talleyrand. He won the praise of Jefferson's Republicans but the opprobrium of President Adams' Federalists, who, like our own conservatives, were hankering for a good war.

It is gratifying to hear conservatives, who grow frothy at the outrage of an OSHA inspector setting foot in a textile mill uninvited, urging that the full weight of the U.S. government be slammed down on Jesse Jackson for the treasonous act of gaining the release of a captured American airman. No law that stimulates the Right to expose its selective attachment to individual liberty is totally without merit. But the defects of the Logan Act outstrip that virtue.

The law's history does nothing to redeem it. Its enactment reflected the same Federalist intolerance that spawned the notorious Alien and Sedition Acts and threatened to block the peaceful accession of Jefferson to the White House in 1800. But while those laws were allowed to expire and the potential constitutional crisis involving the presidency was averted, the Logan Act remains on the books, an embarrassing anachronism.

Not that it's ever amounted to much. No one has ever been prosecuted under the law. Its disuse may be due, as in Jackson's case, to the difficulty of sustaining a prosecution in a democracy.

The law may also be unconstitutional. Read literally, it would outlaw an American Jew from writing to Israeli Prime Minister Shamir about his opposition to the Reagan plan for Mideast peace. Nor is its logic persuasive. The ostensible point is to prevent ordinary people from disrupting diplomatic negotiations. But where does the danger lie? Lacking official sanction, no private citizen can persuade a foreign state that he may offer anything from the U.S. government. If another government chooses to negotiate with an American who can't commit the rest of us to anything, why should Washington object? A disruption of official diplomacy would occur only if the foreign government is exceedingly ignorant or if the State Department implicitly endorses the enterprise.

The law springs less from any concern about safeguarding the security interests of the United States than from an atavistic urge to discipline unfavored people. It isn't dangerous for this country for Jesse Jackson to persuade Syria to free Robert Goodman, though it may be embarrassing for the Reagan administration.

After decades of neglect, any prosecution under the Logan Act would be, to put it mildly, highly discriminatory. (And you thought conservatives believed in the rule of law.) Of course it's safe to assume that establishment figures like David Rockefeller and Armand Hammer, who negotiate with America's enemies as if they were heads of state, will be exempt.

There is good reason to leave Americans free to pursue whatever ventures they want when their government has a quarrel with another country. In many cases, it may be more agreeable for the adversary to grant favors to an unofficial representative, thus avoiding connotations of supine compromise.

The Jackson affair is a perfect illustration of how everyone can win: The United States got its pilot back without giving up anything in exchange, and Syria rid itself of a nuisance without losing face. Negotiations between governments, by contrast, are a zero-sum game.

Scrapping the law would cost nothing and gain something, namely a measure of protection against outbreaks of right-wing hysteria. It makes a little sense to have this law and not use it, and none at all to dust it off for service. If American foreign policy can survive the advice of conservatives, it can survive the repeal of the Logan Act.

Billy Graham

Our problems stem from human heart

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: If Christianity is really true, why hasn't it made the world a better place? I mean, it would seem like we wouldn't have wars and things if it is really true. — H.B.

DEAR H.B.: In the first place the Christian faith has made the world a better place. The elimination of such evils as slavery and child labor were brought about by the leadership of men and women who were committed to Christ and knew these were not God's will. Some years ago a leader in Great Britain told me he knew of no significant movement for social betterment there that did not trace its roots back to committed Christians. Countless hospitals across the world were started by dedicated Christian missionaries; the Red Cross owes its origins to Christians. The list could go on and on.

Have you ever thought about the real reason why there is so much strife and warfare in our world? Yes, on the surface there seem to be many causes — economic injustice, racial prejudice, even religious bigotry. But underneath those there is one fundamental problem: the problem of the human heart. Jesus declared, "For from within, out of men's hearts, come evil thoughts, sexual immorality, theft, murder, adultery, greed, malice, deceit, lewdness, envy, slander, arrogance and folly. All these evils come from inside" (Mark 7:21-23). The Bible also says, "What causes fights and quarrels among you? Don't they come from your desires that battle within you?" (James 4:1).

Christ came to change the human heart — and he alone can do this in any lasting and complete way, because he is God. Our greatest problem is sin, and only Christ can forgive us. If more people would turn to Christ as Savior and Lord, and submit themselves to his will, our world would be a better place. Some day, the Bible teaches, he will return as ruler over all, and the hatred and strife we see every day will be conquered.

You need Christ in your life. You need his forgiveness, and you need his strength to live as you should every day. Open your heart to him right now by faith, and then you can do your part to make this world a better place.

Bullock wants funding reform

DALLAS (AP) — State Comptroller Bob Bullock on Wednesday proposed streamlining Texas' complicated school funding system and revising allotments so that rural districts draw more money and richer areas, such as Dallas and Houston, draw less.

Bullock presented his plan to the Select Committee on Public Education, chaired by Dallas businessman H. Ross Perot.

Gov. Mark White, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Perot all agreed during a morning committee meeting that the reforms currently under consideration will require more money than the current $8.3 billion spent by the state on education.

"Realistically, with the system we have in place, we have to spend more money to get more out of it and I think we need to get that card on the table," said Perot.

Bullock told Perot that revenues coming in to state coffers are running ahead of expectations because of strong Christmas sales and the resulting increase in sales tax collected, and a pick up in the oil and gas industry.

But the comptroller added that new taxes will, most likely, be needed to fund improvements in education. "Just about any number of your recommendations right now is more than we can handle (financially). Any program that costs more money is going to require new income," Bullock said.

Perot has advocated cutting back on extracurricular activities such as football, band and drill team in favor of more classroom instruction time and homework. He said some money can be saved by trimming expensive non-classroom programs.

"There is a growing concern in the state that at least a few things need to be done (on education). I think you're right on target with recovering the school day for learning," White told Perot. "I think the people are willing to pay extra money for a better product."

Perot will present his report to White, who returned from a trip to the Middle East Tuesday night, on March 1.

Bullock presented his proposal for reorganizing the school funding system to a finance subcommittee of the blue-ribbon panel. He said the system would be adjusted for local property wealth and would take into account special circumstances, such as large non-English speaking student populations.

"I like what you're talking about, Bob, trying to simplify what is a very complex funding system," White told Bullock.

Under the current system, state money is allocated to school districts through more than a dozen different categories, including driver education and teacher sick leave.

Bullock said his new system would simplify funding formulas, make local school districts responsible for determining how best to spend their money, channel more state funds to teachers and guarantee that state funds be directed to the districts with the greatest need.

He said if the new program had been in place last year, Brownsville would have received $4 million more in aid and El Paso would have gotten an additional $8 million from the state.

Dallas and Houston would have lost a combined $30 million under the plan.

Ronco creditors ask for bankruptcy

CHICAGO (AP) — Three creditors of Ronco Inc., known for television merchandising of novel gadgets such as the Veg-O-Matic, have filed suit asking to have the company declared bankrupt.

Claiming Ronco owes them more than $2 million, Altra Corp. and El-Mar Plastics Inc. of Elk Grove Village, Ill., and I.V. Hill Corp. of New York filed suit in U.S. Bankruptcy Court on Tuesday. They asked that Ronco be declared in involuntary bankruptcy.

Ronco, a subsidiary of Ronco Teleproducts Inc. of Elk Grove Village, said last week several of its creditors had demanded prompt payment of outstanding bills. The company said it was not in a position to comply with the demands and was considering "various options," including voluntary filing for creditor protection under federal bankruptcy laws.

A Ronco spokesman, who declined to be identified, said the company had no comment on the suit. "We have 20 days to respond," he said.

Ronco, a publicly held corporation traded on the American Stock Exchange, is best known for gadgets such as Mr. Microphone and a device that mixes eggs inside the shell. It was formed in 1964 by Ron Popeil, whose father, Sam, ran the now-defunct Popeil Bros., known for the Veg-O-Matic kitchen device.

PUBLIC NOTICE

In proceedings pending before the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC), local exchange telephone companies are requesting authority to charge AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., for use of their facilities. These proposed charges are higher than AT&T Communications can pay at current Texas long distance rate levels. To position itself to be able to implement rates that are sufficient to produce revenues that will recover the costs facing the company, AT&T Communications must now file for rate relief to be able to implement rates that reflect the costs of access that are ultimately imposed on the company.

While AT&T Communications does not want to increase its Texas rates, an increase would be required to recover the increased access charges AT&T Communications will have to pay to the local exchange telephone companies under several proposals pending before the Commission. These access charges at the proposed increased levels represent more than 80 percent of AT&T Communications' operating expense in Texas.

Accordingly, AT&T Communications, in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the rules of the PUC, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of rates for long distance calls within Texas. The proposed rates will be effective January 28, 1984, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. All customers and classes of customers would be affected by AT&T Communications' proposed rates.

If higher access charges are ordered, AT&T Communications has no recourse but to pay these charges and recover the costs from its customers as a cost of providing long distance service within Texas. AT&T Communications has filed rates which would mean a maximum overall increase in adjusted test period revenues of $301.4 million, or 27.85 percent. This amount would help recover cost increases due to the proposed level of access charges now pending before the PUC.

A complete copy of all tariffs and rate schedules is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with every municipality in Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Dr. Donohue

Report easy bruising

Dear Dr. Donohue: What could cause excessive bruising? I am a 23-year-old female and lately I have noticed bruises all over my body, some of them fairly large and dark. Should I be concerned about the bruises? One day I counted 28, some very small, others large. I should tell you also that I have of late been fatigued. — G.M.W.

You should be concerned to the point that you ask your doctor to check you over. Fatigue in itself is a symptom that all may not be well. What about this bruising? Multiple bruises don't always signify that something serious is going on. They can occur as part of a benign disorder that occurs in otherwise healthy young women.

However, they can also indicate serious problems with either the small blood vessels (capillaries) or with blood components — platelets or clotting factors. When you add your fatigue to your bruised appearance, you have two very good reasons for getting an appointment. Do so.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: How does bronchitis differ from emphysema? — P.P.

Both are breathing problems, the difference lying in the breathing structures involved.

In bronchitis, the large branches of the pulmonary tree, those that permit air to enter the lung surface are affected. Call them breathing tubes.

In emphysema, the problem lies deeper, at the very ends of the branches. You might compare them to the leaves of the breathing tree. They are little sacs called alveoli. When those sacs lose their flexibility, emphysema results. However, most often the two problems occur together. They are discussed jointly in the new booklet, "Emphysema — Bronchitis: The Twin Problems." Other readers may order a copy by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Headaches — you can beat them! Write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

Dear Abby

'Doctored' invitations fill bride's prescription

DEAR ABBY: I have a question about wedding invitations. My husband is a physician, as are our daughter and her fiancé.

Should we mention all the doctors? (I would think so.) Do we use our daughter's last name, or do we use her first name, only, preceded by "Doctor"? Or does she have to forego her title? (My husband doesn't think it's fair to use the man's title and not the woman's. I agree.)

If we were to use the following, would it look like a medical convention?

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Cutwell requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter

Dr. Elizabeth Jane Cutwell and Dr. Paul Eric Pillpusher MOTHER OF THE BRIDE DEAR MOTHER: All the doctors are entitled to use their titles. And I think they should. However, the decision should be left to your daughter.

DEAR ABBY: I'm another longtime reader who never thought I'd see the day when I'd be writing a Dear Abby letter, but here I am because I am in desperate need of your advice.

I'll try to make this short: I have met and fallen in love with a man who has every quality I've ever wanted in a man. I am 35 and he is 42, so we both have been around a while.

The problem is, he doesn't know how to kiss. How can I tell him without hurting his feelings? We have so much in common and I know we could have a wonderful relationship. We are both attractive, sensitive and affectionate, but when he kisses me, so help me, it's like kissing a board!

Please answer soon. He is a terrific man in every other way, and if he knew how to kiss, he'd be perfect.

KISSING A BOARD

DEAR KISSING: Don't worry about hurting his feelings. He will forgive you after he becomes an expert. He is obviously keeping his lips stiff, so tell him to relax and kiss you softly, gently and tenderly. Better yet, reverse roles and give him a demonstration.

Nobody is a great kisser naturally — everyone had to learn from someone. So teach him!

Headache research reported

Carmen Phillips, director of nursing at Malone-Hogan Hospital, spoke about headaches at the American Association of University Women meeting at Clowie Shirey's home Jan. 16.

Mrs. Phillips explained the two types of headaches: migraine and cluster. Studies and monitoring are being done to find the cause of headaches. Extensive research also is being conducted in the area of foods that may cause headaches.

The club will give a $200 scholarship to Howard College. The next meeting will be Feb. 20 in the home of Lota Wiley.

Bell raps computer learning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Education Secretary H. Bell criticized computer learning programs in schools as "electronic page-turning," and said Wednesday he will finance research on new ways to teach children algebra and how to write.

Bell said computers, if used properly, can serve as "a slave mechanism" to relieve English teachers of burdensome tasks and to help keep students with average IQ's from "bombing out" on algebra.

Bell, in an interview with correspondents for The Associated Press, United Press International and Reuters news agency, also said school discipline "is better than it was" a few years ago, but denied allegations that the Reagan administration had exaggerated the problem.

Bell said he expects "a mighty struggle" in statehouses over the issue of rewarding teachers for outstanding performance, but predicted that 10 or 15 states will enact some type of performance-based pay. He said the Education Department will finance experiments in each state offering career advancement incentives and peer review systems for teachers.

He said President Reagan's proposed fiscal 1985 budget will include "a modest increase" in the $479 million block grant program for states and local school districts, and would boost college work-study funds to pay for college students to tutor adult illiterates.

Bell said computer buying was "almost a fad" among schools, and that computerized educational programs on the market "leave a great deal to be desired."

"Most of the computer software we have now is electronic page-turning. It hasn't been designed to do a good job of interacting with the mind of the student," said Bell.

He said schools need programs that can analyze pupil responses, provide remedial tutoring or move the pupil on to the next level, and then give the teacher a printout showing how the pupil performed.

The education secretary said some high school English teachers have the "horrendous burden" of trying to teach 150 pupils a day, and it is "sort of self-inflicted punishment" to give a writing assignment.

Much of the hard work of checking for grammar, spelling, punctuation and structure "could be done by the computer as a slave mechanism," leaving the teacher free to critique style and content, he said.

But, Bell said, "I don't think we're ever going to get to where we can teach writing and have it all automated."

Bell said he also would target research money on developing electronic programs for pre-algebra and algebra courses. He said most pupils with IQ's of 85 to 105 "bomb out when they hit algebra and they leave math never to come back again."

Bell, who has played a pivotal role in stirring the national debate about raising school standards, said he expects unions to keep fighting state efforts to adopt performance-based pay for teachers.

"There's going to be a mighty struggle in the statehouses," he said, but predicted that 10 or 15 states would succeed in enacting pay and other school reforms.

Bell said he is soliciting proposals from school districts to experiment with performance-based pay and career-advancement systems for teachers. He said he hopes to award $25,000 to $50,000 to at least one or two districts in each state, working with universities.

The National Education Association has accused the Reagan administration of creating the false impression that public schools are "a blackboard jungle" with a recent report on school violence.

Actor sues financial consultant

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Actor Jan-Michael Vincent, who played the youthful naval officer Byron Henry in last season's television miniseries "Winds of War," has filed a $1.6 million suit against his financial adviser.

The lawsuit filed in U.S. District Court alleges that Craig L. Wald "systematically defrauded and deceived" the actor. It said Vincent entered into an oral contract in July 1979 to have Wald give advice on investments for a fee of 5 percent of the profits.

The suit contended that Wald co-mingled funds from Vincent and co-plaintiffs with money from other clients and charged fees exceeding 5 percent, charged for "completely fictitious" expenses and kept fees on business transactions that began and ended before his contract with Vincent.

Efforts to contact Wald were unsuccessful Wednesday; directory assistance had no telephone listing for his company in the Los Angeles area.

Besides "Winds of War," Vincent has performed in such motion pictures as "White Line Fever," "Big Wednesday," "Bite the Bullet," and "Damnation Alley."

Thursday Notes

Well it's time for Thursday Notes and again we have basketball news starting things off.

Big Spring High School track coach Anna Ezell switched professions Monday night — Ezell, who is more attuned to planning workouts for sprinters and distance people was called upon to coach the Lady Steers freshmen basketball squad.

Ezell was subbing for coach Susan Sharp who was ill. The Lady Steers traveled to Lamesa and lost a hard fought contest 37-33, dropping their record to 7-5 for the season and spoling Ezell's basketball coaching debut.

Shelia Chatman led the scoring with eight points. She was followed by Connie Swinney and Lisa Hale with six each.

Rumor has it that at the contest, coach Ezell was instructing her troops to get up and down the court in five seconds flat — sounds just like a track coach — right?

Coach John Velasquez's freshmen boys also lost a close game to Lamesa by a score of 58-53, dropping their record to 5-5 for the season. Charles Young led the scoring with 15 points. Paul Deckernd John Olson tallied 11 and 10 respectively.

Hats off to Forsan boys basketball coach Roger Hudgins.

At the first of the season the Buffalos weren't given much of a chance of contending in District 16-A. They started off the season slowly by losing six of their first eight games.

Then Hudgins started his magic, regrouping his team and getting them primed for district. The turnaround began earlier this month when the Buffalos finished second in the Sterling City Tournament.

Now in district play Forsan stands at 2-1 and 9-10 for the season, including a 47-46 victory over district favorite Robert Lee Tuesday.

Now the Buffalos are truly a team to be reckoned with in 16-A action.

The Runnels "A" and "B" team boys have been hooping it up this season. But Monday the "A" team met its match with a tough crew from Lamesa.

They lost only their third game of the season in 10 tries by a 38-37 count. Michael Rubio led the scoring with 14 points, followed by Brian Mayfield's 11. Charles White who is credited with being the most consistent player on the team this year led the rebounding department with 10.

The "B" team evened the score with a 40-33 win over Lamesa. Kevin Ward and Jerry Smith scored 14 and 12 points respectively as the Yearlings improved their record to 5-5.

Congratulations are in store for the Runnels girls for winning their own tournament this past weekend. They nipped Snyder 26-24 in the championship game. Trina Thompson paced the champs, averaging 11 points in three tournament games.

Staying on the junior high level, the Goliad girls split wins with Lamesa Monday.

The "B" team got five points from Tara Jones in taking a 13-6 victory for its first win of the season. Aretha Isaiyah and Erin Kelly were credited by coach Kim Watson as having an excellent defensive game.

Lamesa downed the "A" team by a count of 17-6 as Melissa Martinez led the scoring with four points. The loss drops their record to 4-7 for the season.

Got a chance to see former Big Spring High School hoop star Jerald Wrightsil, now at Midland College, play last week at the Howard Hawks doubleheader.

He looks just as smooth as ever, and a little bit stronger. In the two games Jerald tallied 15 and 12 points. He and his teammates are in the thick of the Western Junior College Athletic Conference race with a 4-1 slate.

Now switching to the boxing scene. The Howard County Boxing Club, which has been winning tournaments at a regular pace, is gearing up for the Golden Gloves Tournament next week.

Coaches JV Martinez, Juan Baldwin and Ed Garza admit that the key to the team's success is their wives.

These unsung heroines Helen, Mary and Patti are the ones that make the team go. They have the jobs like fixing the boxers lunches, mending their bumps and bruises and sometimes providing transportation.

Thanks ladies — the boxing club couldn't make it without you!

Riggins voices Super Bowl opinion

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — It was a day depicting one of the interesting sideshow dramas of next Sunday's Super Bowl XVIII, an event which paralyzes a nation. There was Lyle Alzado, the big, bearded linebacker of the Los Angeles Raiders, almost smothered by newsmen, standing on the lush Tampa Stadium turf and regaling his audience with his lion's roar and raunchy humor.

Minutes earlier, less than 30 yards away in the end-zone, had stood John Riggins, ball-carrying demon of the Washington Redskins, in full football regalia and cowboy boots, arms folded, frozen like an abandoned Greek statue.

"No interviews," said the hulking line smasher. "This is picture day. Tomorrow is the day for talking." Thus opening salvos were fired earlier this week in the "Media War" — the in-fighting for newspaper, radio and TV space.

Alzado and Riggins are both "flakes," or odd-balls, with a flair for the theatrical and a lust for public attention. They have dominated — in picture, story and electronic exposure — the period leading up to the big game.

With Riggins refusing to throw a punch in the first public appearance of the Super Bowl rivals, Alzado got in the first licks with his wild blither and bombast. Riggins, who even created a furor with his statue act, plunged into the fray Wednesday when he appeared on stage attired in the uniform of a paratrooper.

"Hi, fellows, what's going on?" he asked when the buzzing had subsided. "Last year the Redskins marched on Miami," he added. "This year we will fly over L.A."

Laughter. The uniform, he said, represented Air National Guard of Washington, D. C. He wore a patch which said "Commander, Riggo's Rangers."

"Be careful what you say to me or you may be attacked by an F4 Phantom fighter," he warned.

Loud laughter. One newsmen fell out of his chair. The question-answer session turned into a burlesque. Somebody asked if he cared what people thought of him.

"Let's not get too cerebral, OK?" he said. Asked why he maintained a stolid silence Tuesday while Alzado was getting all the attention, Riggins replied:

"I wanted a soft space for my head to fall when he knocked my block off, as he said he was going to do. I hoped he's be enough of a gentleman to pick it up and hand it back to me."

More raucous laughter. Riggins had his audience in the palm of his hand, and he was loving every minute of it.

On another question, he said, "Give me something I can sink my teeth into," and, when somebody asked about all the pileups, bangs and bruises he receives on his plunges into the line, he quipped:

"That's intimidation."

In a serious vein, somebody asked him if he had dreams — as he said a year ago — of smashing through the opposing lines to victory, he soberly responded:

"I'm always as good as my offensive line or as good as their defensive line allows. I'm only as good as their dreams."

Riggins is a pleasant, personable man of 34 out of the University of Kansas, now completing his 12th pro season.

He always has had a penchant for the unusual. With the New York Jets in the 1970s, he came to camp with one of those Mr. T. Mohawk hairstyles and wore it all year. He would roll up his white shorts in practice so he would look like a diapered Mahatma Gandhi.

Miller feels Phoenix is right spot to fix putting troubles

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Johnny Miller has a mental battle to fight this week in the $400,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

"Everybody is talking to me about my putting," Miller said before teeing off today in the first round on the 6,726-yard, par-71 Phoenix Country Club course.

It was his putting, or lack of it, that deprived him of the title last week in the Bob Hope Classic. After leading through the third and fourth rounds, Miller is coming up and talking about my putting. Now, I know I didn't putt very well last week, but people are coming up to me now like I've got an injury, like I contracted a disease.

"It's starting to get in my head. I'm starting to think, 'Hey, maybe I can't putt a lick.'"

"Maybe if I can get off to a good start here in the first couple of rounds, make a couple of putts, everything will be OK."

BASKETBALL

New Mexico Military Institute (4-12, 0-5) at Howard College Hawks (15-1, 5-0)

The Hawks are looking to keep their conference slate perfect after coming off a convincing 87-74 victory over South Plains Monday night.

Guard Dwight Harris and forward Jerry Stroman continue to lead the team in scoring, averaging 23 and 19 points respectively.

NMMI is led in scoring by forward Billy Rodriguez who averages 21 points and guard Ralph Raby with a 16 point average. Post player Chatard Dease averages 13 points and nine rebounds per contest.

Game time is set for 8 p.m.

Big Spring Lady Steers (3-4, 10-10) at Odessa Permian (4-3)

The Lady Steers begin the second round of district action and need a win to get back into playoff contention.

Big Spring was drummed in its last contest by Midland Lee 74-57, a game in which the Lady Steers had problems with the Lee press.

The last time Permian and Big Spring met, the Lady Steers came away with a 59-51 victory. Paula Spears had a good game with 28 points.

Permian is coming off a narrow 51-49 win over Abilene Cooper. In that contest Laura Bartlett led the Panthers with 17 points. Varsity game time is 8 p.m. with the JV contest getting underway at 6:15 p.m.

Slain officer's son will attend Super contest with help

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 10-year-old son of a slain police officer will be going to the Super Bowl as his father had promised.

A police spokesman says that Maj. Richard Beavers had promised his son, Joseph Richard, a trip to Tampa if the Washington Redskins went to the Super Bowl. But Beavers, a veteran of more than 20 years on the Prince George's County police force was shot and killed during a robbery attempt last October.

When word of that promise reached Prince George's Police Chief Michael Flaherty, he called Tampa police. Tampa's assistant chief, Don Newberger, then contacted NFL security guards who managed to dig up two 50-yard-line tickets. The Tampa Fraternal Order of Police paid for the tickets.

The youth and his grandfather, Harry Miller, will drive to Tampa for the game Sunday against the Los Angeles Raiders.

New faces sprinkled among ranks of 1984 Oilers coaching staff

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers head coach Hugh Campbell announced on Wednesday the hiring of three new coaches and retention of two current assistants for the National Football League team.

Joining the team's staff are special teams coach Gene Gaines, receivers coach Bruce Lemmerman and running backs coach Al Roberts. All three assisted Campbell with the United States Football League's Los Angeles Express.

Assistant coaches Ken Houston and Bill Walsh will remain on the Oilers staff. Houston, a former Oilers player, will remain secondary coach and Walsh will remain offensive line coach.

Campbell said the new assistants will start work by the beginning of next week.

Midland swim will start BSHS Spring schedule

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

The Big Spring High School swimming team will begin its Spring schedule Friday, Jan. 20 when coach Harlan Smith takes his crew to Midland to compete in the Midland Invitational.

BSHS swimmers will hit the water at Midland's

Mabee Swim Center at noon Friday and Saturday in the two day event that will include all District 4-AAAA teams plus Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Seminole, Fort Stockton, Monohans, Hobbs, New Mexico and "a couple of El Paso schools," according to Smith.

The team's last competition was during the second week of December, but Smith said "We may be a little faster now. We've been working hard and from all indications we should do pretty well."

Smith said his group of boys is a little stronger and that freshmen Cade Lofton and Scott Ferguson and senior Terry Bordefski are the leaders of the pack.

Juniors Lisa Salazar and Hartley Newell are expected to do well in the breaststroke and butterfly respectively while freshman Laura Johnson is another possibility for the Lady Steers.

"We have a good chance at finishing in the top six," said Smith. "This meet will give us a good chance to gauge ourselves before district. Doing well at district is our number one goal," he said.

The District 4-AAAA meet will be held Feb. 17-18 in Midland also.

Sports Briefs

Walker interested in Cowboys

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys say United States Football League star runner Herschel Walker has expressed an interest in playing for them but that they won't go after him until he becomes eligible in 1985 for the National Football League draft.

Walker signed with the USFL's New Jersey Generals a year ago, while still an underclassman at the University of Georgia, one year before he would have been eligible for the NFL player draft. Under NFL rules, by giving up his final season of college eligibility, his draft-eligible date was pushed back by one year — until the NFL's 1985 draft.

Grades claim UT footballers

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Longhorns have lost two football players because of bad grades but have regained defensive tackle Ralph Darnell.

The academic casualties are junior running back Don Holloway of Port Arthur Jefferson and freshman tight end Robert Studdard of Pearsall.

Darnell, a 6-foot-4 250-pound senior from Mesquite, missed this past season with grade problems and attended Eastfield College at Mesquite. He was Texas' No. 1 right tackle as a junior in 1982.

Loraine seeks football games

LORAIN — Class A school Loraine is in need of a game to complete its 1984 football schedule.

Head coach B.D. Trice said he is willing to play any Class A or Class AA or AAA junior varsity on either Thursday, Oct. 4 or Friday, Oct. 5. Contact Trice at 915-737-2225.

Two Mustangs sign with USFL

DALLAS (AP) — Two Southern Methodist University defensive backs have signed with a team in the United States Football League, the Dallas Morning News reported.

Cornerback Fred Nichols and strong safety Dwayne Anderson each signed a one-year free agent contract with the Tampa Bay Bandits, the newspaper said.

The contracts are unguaranteed, the newspaper said.

"It's a chance," Anderson said. "That's all we were looking for."

The pair is to leave Monday for Tampa Bay, where they will join SMU teammate Russ Washington.

Meanwhile, SMU All-American free safety Russell Carter is contemplating his future with the USFL. Carter was the Denver Gold's first-round draft pick. However, the Denver team is talking about trading the rights to Carter to the Philadelphia Stars, the newspaper said.

Tellez retains flyweight championship in three

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Candido Tellez has retained his American Boxing Federation flyweight championship by knocking out challenger Ian Clyde with a left in the third round.

"Once you hit victory, it changes your way of thinking," said Tellez, 23, as he raised his record to 34-6-2. He stopped Clyde with 2:22 left in the round Wednesday.

Clyde, who weighed in at 114 pounds, tried three times during the fight to use his quickness to get inside and exchange flurries with the 115-pound Tellez. But he was knocked down each time.

Clyde connected the last time with a hard right to Tellez's head. But the Mexican fighter responded with the devastating left to Clyde's upper right cheek that sent the Canadian hard down on the mat, his head bouncing off the apron. Tellez had been silent during the week leading up to the title fight. But he was smiling broadly after the bout.

The fight was the 30th knockout for the champion from Hidalgo, Mexico. The win also could result in a world title shot against either Japan's Koji Kobayashi or Mexico's Gabriel Pernal.

"I can't remember anything," said Clyde, 27.

OUT OF CONTROL — Texas A&M guard Darnell Williams (20) and center Jimmie Gilbert (30) give chase for a loose ball as Southern Methodist University guard

Butch Moore looks on in the first half of Southwest Conference basketball game Wednesday night in Dallas. SMU won the game 83-56.

McQueen's struggle detailed in biography

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The final, losing fight of Steve McQueen's tumultuous life — his struggle against cancer — has been disclosed for the first time in a new biography, "McQueen," by William F. Nolan. Nolan first became acquainted with the star when he was a script writer for the television series "Wanted — Dead or Alive." After a 1970 article about McQueen's motorcycle racing, the pair became good friends. During the last 10 years of his career, McQueen granted no interviews — except to Nolan, with whom he planned to record his life story.

The result of their conversations is a rare, close-up view of an elusive star, his troubled beginnings, turbulent career, three marriages and his agonizing death.

McQueen was born in Indianapolis March 24, 1930, the son of a barnstorming stunt pilot who disappeared six months later. The boy's California childhood was marked by stolen-car arrests and beatings by his stepfather.

At 14, McQueen was placed in the California Junior Boys Republic, an institution for troubled boys. After years as a seaman, logger and Marine, he drifted to New York and tried his hand at acting.

He found his life's work and became one of the movies' highest paid actors. But he was never comfortable in the role of film star, preferring life at the motor tracks. McQueen's marriages to Neile Adams and Ali MacGraw both ended in divorce, and in his later years he withdrew further and further from the spotlight.

McQueen started flying biplanes, largely, he explained, in search of his lost father.

"Maybe if I had known him I'd be able to forget he ever existed," the actor told Nolan. "It's the mystery of the thing that keeps bringing you back... you want to solve it... Here I am, doin' what he did, flyin' these ole biplanes, the same kind he barnstormed in the '20s and '30s. Leather helmet and goggles. Open cockpit. Wind in your face... Yeah, I know now why he was a pilot."

Although he could earn $3 million per picture, McQueen in 1977 chose to prove himself as an actor in a low-budget film of Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People." He was devastated when the film failed.

"What happened with 'Enemy of the People' hurt me more than almost anything I can remember," he said. "I put my heart and guts into that film and when it got the reaction it did, I was wiped out."

McQueen sought to restore his luster with a more commercial film, "Tom Horn." The western bombed, and he undertook a film that looked back to his beginnings as a bounty hunter on "Wanted — Dead or Alive." It was while working on "The Hunter" that McQueen's nagging cough, which he attributed to racetrack dust, became persistent.

He did his own stunts, but by the time filming ended, he felt "really beat." In December 1979, he collapsed at his Santa Paula, Calif., ranch. After tests in a Los Angeles hospital, he told concerned friends, "I had a little touch of pneumonia."

In truth, the tests had found a malignant tumor in his right lung. It was terminal.

McQueen married Barbara Minty, on Jan. 16, 1980, two months before his 50th birthday. Further tests indicated he had only a 5 percent chance of living out the year. "Researchers are working all the time on cancer cures," he told his wife. "Maybe, if I can last long enough, they might find one for what I've got."
