11-year-old saves lady from burning home

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., (AP) - An 11-year-old boy doesn't feel "real heroic" even though he crawled into a burning apartment to rescue the trapped elderly neighbor his family calls "Grandma," his mother says.

Tim, his parents and his brother, Dion, had been watching television when Mrs. Sherman's great-grandchildren banged on the wall next door just before 10 p.m. Saturday.

School district, college meeting over LULAC suit

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

Big Spring Independent School District and Howard County Junior College District trustees are meeting this week to discuss possible action on class action suits filed against the districts by the League of United Latin American Citizens.

The Big Spring City Council late in 1983 reached an out-of-court agreement with LULAC in which current terms of the mayor and two city councilmen were extended.

According to the agreement, Mayor Clyde Angel and Council members Larry Miller and Robert Fuller, whose terms expire in 1984, will remain in office beyond the mandate given them by voters.

Dr. Donohue

Brain controls cough mechanism

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have often wondered why we cough. What is the process of a cough from start to finish? Can a cough be suppressed? Should it be suppressed? — M.H.

A cough is a reflex, the body's automatic response to rid itself of secretions, foreign bodies, or other harmful substances. It begins with stimulation of one of the many reflex receptors — in the nose, throat, sinuses or diaphragm. These stimuli send an impulse to the cough center of the brain, which in turn activates the breathing muscles, causing us to take a gulp, then suddenly close the voice box and contract the breathing muscles of the chest and abdomen. The muscle contraction causes pressure to build up inside the chest leading to the eventual explosion — the cough.

A cough can be voluntarily suppressed, and it should be when it is so strong that it produces serious consequences, like bleeding or fainting. And a cough can be suppressed with medicine when it becomes chronic and leads to irritation and further coughing. A cough that is helping rid the body of secretions and noxious substances should not be suppressed.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What is the story on fish food and its effects on acne? — K.K.

There is some evidence that iodide may play a role in acne flare-up, so foods high in that substance should be avoided or used sparingly. One authority notes that when kelp was a popular diet fad greater numbers of acne cases were appearing. Kelp is rich in iodides.

Otherwise, the general rule with regard diet and acne holds. It is that, even though diet has not been shown to play a definitive role, the person who notices flares after using any particular food would do well to avoid that food. See the booklet "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples," which other readers may obtain by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a question about the burning I am experiencing in both of my feet. The pain and burning wakes me at night and continues during the day. I am a diabetic and take insulin. Could this burning and pain be from lack of circulation? — M.A.C.

It might be related to insufficient blood supply. In a diabetic, though, it might also be from damage to the nerves. Why this happens is not too clear. This is the only speculation I can allow myself for your symptoms. I don't know the answer. I do know that a diabetic, or anyone with constant burning sensations for that matter, should see a doctor.

Dear Abby

Love notes belong with dead letters

DEAR ABBY: I've been thinking about the letter you published recently from a woman signed "Crushed." She thought she had an ideal marriage, but after her husband died, his secretary delivered his personal belongings and among them were some "love letters" from two women. These letters nearly destroyed her and consumed her with hate due to her husband's deceit.

Having been a secretary for many years, I wonder how necessary it was for the secretary to have included those "love letters" with the rest of his belongings? Why didn't the secretary do the decent thing and destroy them?

I wonder how other secretaries feel.
PAT IN KEARNY, ARIZ.

DEAR ABBY: While reading the letter from "Crushed," who was presented with love letters from other women after her husband died, a little bell rang in my mind. I was reminded of a confidence trick whereby the con artist sends hard-core pornography to a man he knows to have recently died. (The obituary column provides this information). The widow, profoundly shocked and desperate to avoid scandal, pays the bill — usually huge and supposedly representing several months of a long-standing account.

Although no monetary gain would be involved in the case of "Crushed," anyone with malice toward the dead man or his wife could manufacture these "love letters."

"Crushed" should examine the postmarks, if any, on the envelopes, and if they postdate her husband's death, she should be, like me....

SUSPICIOUS IN CANADA

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for "Crushed": I, too, have been married to a wonderful, honorable man (for almost 38 years) and I have never questioned his faithfulness. If he should die before I do, and someone would bring me evidence of his unfaithfulness, I would be suspicious of the bringer.

Has it occurred to you that the secretary could have cared for your husband and been jealous of his devotion to you? What better way to hurt you than to bring you "evidence" that would break your heart and desecrate his memory?

Are you absolutely certain that these letters are legitimate? I do not believe they are. And you should not believe it either.

A FRIEND IN ILLINOIS

DEAR ABBY: Here are my thoughts about the widow signed "Crushed":

You were right to tell her that if she "thought" she had a good marriage, she had one — regardless of what she learned later.

And now I have a message for all secretaries: Should your boss die suddenly, if you have never been snoopy before, now is the time to be snoopy. Look through his "personal things" and conveniently throw away anything that would cause undue grief to his widow. If the wife was not aware that her husband had been playing around while he was alive, what good would it do her to know after he is dead?

I have been married for 40 years. Sign me...
LOVING WIFE, COLUMBIA, S.C.

(If you put off writing your thank-you notes because you don't know how to phrase them, get "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Woman hopes for clemency

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Rosemary Cox is blind in one eye, has a heart condition, degenerative arthritis in her hip and high blood pressure. At 67, she also has a murder conviction and may spend the next 20 years in prison.

A Will County jury in 1982 convicted Mrs. Cox of the 1980 love-triangle murder of her former boyfriend, Willie Hatten.

Her first appeal has been denied, and now the Illinois Supreme Court and Gov. James Thompson are all that stand between her and prison, where she fears she would die.

"The eternal triangle, not unlike the ageless ballad of Frankie and Johnny, appears to have claimed yet another victim," the 3rd District Appellate Court said in its recent decision.

Lawyers are preparing an appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court, and a request for clemency was sent to Thompson last summer. The man who prosecuted her doesn't object to clemency, saying Mrs. Cox "shouldn't die in prison."

Thompson spokesman Dave Fields said the petition was before the governor, but he said no action had been taken.

"I wouldn't live long" after being sent to prison, Mrs. Cox said in a telephone interview. "I hope and pray" that the governor will grant clemency, she said.

Trial Judge Robert Bucher, forced by law to hand down at least a 20-year sentence, said it was "unfortunate that ... now at the twilight of her lifetime that she must stand convicted as a murderess and must be imprisoned."

Mrs. Cox, who didn't testify at her trial, has never admitted killing Hatten. The murder weapon, a small-caliber revolver, was never recovered. Neighbors testified that they saw Mrs. Cox leave the murder scene with a gun in her hand.

Mrs. Cox and Hatten had been companions for several years and had separated shortly before the shooting. Another woman was at Hatten's home when the shooting occurred.

Jean Herigodt, the assistant state appellate defender now representing Mrs. Cox, said she argued before the appellate court that Mrs.

SHE FEARS MURDER SENTENCE — Rosemary Cox, 67, stand inside her Joliet, Ill., home Friday where she awaits word on her request for clemency on a murder conviction.

Cox had not been proved guilty of murder beyond a reasonable doubt, and that there was a "deficiency" in the instructions to the jury.

Free on an appeal bond since her conviction, Mrs. Cox lives alone, often confined to bed. She passes the time by listening to the radio, and she goes to church when she feels up to it.

"She's very old," Ms. Herigodt said. "She worked at menial jobs. ... She never violated the law. She was well-liked by her neighbors and church and employers." Mrs. Cox is not a threat to society, she said.

Joseph R. Mazzone, the assistant state's attorney who prosecuted the case, agreed. "The problem," he said, "is that the law looks at every defendant the same."

Mazzone, now in private practice and a candidate for Will County State's Attorney, said the "facts constituted a charge of murder."

Woman's new business really takes off

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Five years ago Marilyn Larson ended a 20-year career as an executive secretary to get married, but found she was bored without her job — so she learned to fly a helicopter and now runs a fleet of three, all pink and white.

She says her new occupation was "never in my wildest dreams."

She moved from Phoenix about five years ago to marry hotel executive Mel Larson, who flew a helicopter.

"I flew with Mel but never really had an interest in learning how to fly," she recalls. "He wanted me to learn how to put the helicopter down and take it off in case he was unable to fly, in case something should happen to him while we were flying."

Then she decided she might as well "learn it all."

They started their Action Jetranger Helicopters in August 1980.

"I was bored," she said. "I had been a busy professional person and missed the lack of a challenge."

Mrs. Larson, 44, spends most of her time running the company with three full-time and two part-time pilots.

North Carolina still tops in college roundball

The North Carolina Tar Heels matched their perfect on-court record with unanimous selection as the No. 1 college basketball team in the nation for the second straight week.

North Carolina, 14-0, collected every first-place vote in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll, released Monday. A nationwide panel of 60 sports writers and broadcasters placed the Tar Heels first on every ballot. DePaul, also 14-0, was second again and Kentucky, 14-2, was third.

After beating Atlantic Coast Conference rivals Duke and Virginia, the Tar Heels received a perfect 1,260 points. DePaul collected 1,130 points and Kentucky, which lost to Florida but beat seventh-ranked Houston, amassed 1,053.

The points system is based on 20 points for each first place vote, 19 for second, etc.

Georgetown, Maryland and Nevada-Las Vegas all advanced two places to rank at Nos. 4, 5 and 6, respectively. Texas-El Paso, which lost its first game of the year to Colorado State, slipped to No. 8. After thrashing Big Ten rival Purdue 76-52, Illinois moved up to No. 9, while Louisiana State is No. 10.

Five teams dropped out of the rankings: Oregon State, St. John's, Boston College, Fresno State and Purdue. Louisville jumped back into the Top 20 at No. 14 after beating UCLA, which dropped six spots to No. 15. Arkansas (16th), Georgia (18), Virginia (19) and Syracuse (20) also moved back into the rankings.

The biggest casualty of the week was Oregon State, previously the 11th-ranked team. The Beavers, 9-4, lost to Washington State and Washington, and saw their place taken by Oklahoma.

Previously undefeated Tulsa, which lost to Illinois State this week, is No. 12, while Memphis State advanced five places to become No. 13.

And Wake Forest, which was soundly beaten by unranked ACC rivals Duke and North Carolina State, fell five places to No. 17.

CBS' 'Lost Honor' examines abuse of power

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Lost Honor of Kathryn Beck," tonight on CBS, tells an ugly, sobering story about abuse of power and breach of trust. In the end, it's difficult to say who performs more ignominiously, the police or the press.

The cops, in an effort to salvage a bungled investigation, make Kathryn Beck their scapegoat. Donald Catton, similarly determined to save his failing newspaper, becomes their willing, though unwitting, accomplice.

Marlo Thomas plays Kathryn Beck, whose chance one-night affair with Ben Cole (Kris Kristofferson), a man sought by police as a suspected terrorist, leads ultimately to destruction of her simple, inoffensive existence.

Miss Thomas, a versatile performer generally associated with more light-hearted fare, was executive producer of the two-hour, made-for-TV movie. An earlier film adaptation of the story, Volker Schlöndorff's "The Lost Honor of Katharina Blum," was acclaimed by the critics when it was released in 1975.

The story by Nobel Prize-winner Heinrich Boll that inspired Schlöndorff's film and the CBS movie was set in West Germany in a period of anti-terrorist fervor in the 1970s. The TV movie is set in present-day small-town America, and the behavior of the police and the press seems out of place and exaggerated.

Boll's novel was widely criticized, at home and abroad. A 1981 article by the Manchester Guardian in Britain characterized the book as an attack on "the Streicher-like violence of parts of the German tabloid press," referring to Julius Streicher, a sadistic Nazi propagandist. But the parallel character in the TV movie, newspaper editor Catton, is motivated not by ideology but by desire to save his foundering rag.

In West Germany, Boll's story was attacked by conservatives. One politician described "The Lost Honor of Katharina Blum" as "a book justifying violence." That's absurd, though the CBS movie leaves no margin for doubt: Kathryn Beck is innocent, though perhaps slightly indiscreet in her haste to fall into Cole's arms; the cops are unrestrained brutes, and the newspaperman is an unprincipled opportunist eager "to wake up this country ... bring some life in."

Kathryn Beck, divorced, is struggling to make her small catering business profitable. She's shy, and presumably lonely, and friends encourage her to come to a party. Ben shows up, too, invited by a woman he had met in a bar.

The two pick one another out, dance and chat the night away, and end up in Kathryn's bed. The next morning, Ben slips away unnoticed by the police who have surrounded the apartment building.

Big Spring Employment Puts Right Person In Job

Bringing the right job and the right applicant together is the specialty of Sue Brown and Ruby Taroni — the experienced personnel counselors at Big Spring Employment Agency in Coronado Plaza.

They bring a high degree of success to the applicant looking for a rewarding job and to the employer hoping to find the most qualified applicant.

Sue and Ruby have many contacts in the job market, carefully cultivated over the years. But perhaps even more important are the sincerity and genuine concern with which they approach each quest.

Big Spring Employment carefully evaluates each applicant so employers do not waste time interviewing persons not qualified for the job opening. The agency refers only those who measure up to the job's requirements.

This assures a smaller personnel turnover, and the efficiency of employees tends to rise once on the job.

Many highly qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency, thus protecting their own identity.

Big Spring Employment carries on an extensive testing program in the area of office skills, exposing applicants to personnel tests in business and industrial situations.

All services are handled on a confidential basis.

From the minimum-wage clerk to the highly-paid executive, job applicants come to Big Spring Employment because they know private agencies are specialists in job-hunting.

Because of experience and contacts, the company can place applicants in jobs sooner than the applicant can find a job himself.

Applicants desiring employment in other parts of the state or country can be referred for interviews through associated agencies.

Sue Warren Offers Tax Time Help

If putting your business or personal tax information in order seems like an insurmountable task, Sue Warren Bookkeeping & Tax Service can lend you a hand. Phone her at 267-1264 or 267-5611 and she'll mail you a booklet of tax tips plus forms which will help you organize your expenses and deductions.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JAN. 25, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until midafternoon, you have many opportunities to look into all phases of surrounding conditions in your life and to come to some additional awareness of situations.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study all practical affairs and know how to handle them ideally in the days ahead. Show that you are proficient.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Come to a better understanding with associates who are opposing you a good deal. Be willing to compromise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Set a goal for yourself and then you can get much work done. Accomplish a good deal. Take needed health treatments.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) After your work is done, get into recreations that really appeal to you, but don't overindulge.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Forget that feeling of resentment at home and find the right way to have greater accord there. Learn to control your temper.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Communicating with those with whom you want to do business in the future is wise, so set things up now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Concentrating on finances is wise so that you can manage money better now and in the future. Find new sources of income.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You want your own way and the benefits that can accrue, so get busy and work until the sun goes down.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have many worries, but be patient and solve them one by one during the day. Don't lose your temper tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A dynamic friend can help you during the day in gaining a cherished wish. Don't make important decisions at night.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Important you safeguard your reputation both today and tonight, so don't do anything erratic.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Before you get into some new venture, be sure you have the right information about it. Avoid a new contact who is suspicious.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be able to get right to the core of any situation and solve the matter wise. Provide a good education, slanted toward the law, medicine or teaching. Teach not to be too demanding with others or opinionated.
