Q. Is there a law requiring persons selling cars to report odometer readings?

A. The Texas Legislature passed a law in the last session requiring all transactions involving transfers of motor vehicles to include the odometer reading on the transfer signed by the seller. The law was to go into effect in January, but because few persons have been aware of the change, the law will not be effective for individual transactions until March 1. However, the grace period does not apply to licensed dealers, said Howard County Tax Assessor-Collector Dorothy Moore.

Demos say America is distressed

WASHINGTON (AP) Democrats interviewed a laid-off steelworker, a hard-pressed farmer and each other in a televised response saying America is entangled abroad and distressed at home despite President Reagan's optimistic report on the State of the Union.

In a 30-minute program that mingled pre-taped interviews with ordinary Americans and live remarks by elected officials, the opposition party charged that administration policies are leading the nation closer to war and recession.

The $80,000 production was the Democrats' most ambitious effort yet to reply to a televised address by the president, to whom they concede the title of "Great Communicator."

ADDRESSES CONGRESS - President Reagan is shown giving his State of the Union message to a joint session of Congress Wednesday night on Capitol Hill.

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan's appeal to Congress to join him in a down payment on trimming deficits is being met by skepticism from Democrats and praise by Republicans, but leaders of both parties agreed his electionyear address offers few specifics for stemming the flow of government red ink.

One, Speaker of the House Thomas P. O'Neill, noted Reagan's renewed objection to defense spending cuts and tax increases and asked rhetorically, "What's left?" Nonetheless, the commission was expected to meet by midday Friday and White House spokesman Larry Speakes said today that Reagan hopes for "rapid agreement" on cuts totaling $100 billion over three years without getting into such controversial areas as defense or social spending.

Reagan, delivering his third State of the Union address to Congress Wednesday night, outlined his goals for 1984 and took general credit for the nation's economic recovery, claiming "we can report and be proud of one of the best recoveries in decades.

"America is back, standing tall," Reagan declared in a speech laden with patriotic broad strokes and appeals to traditional U.S. values that could set the stage for his expected Sunday announcement of reelection candidacy.

In a proposal that prompted sharp partisan reaction, Reagan called for establishment of a bipartisan White House-Congress group to find ways to start trimming federal deficits soaring toward $200 billion.

Representing congressional Democrats on the commission will be House Majority Leader James C. Wright of Texas and Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, chairman of the Senate Democratic Conference.

Congressional Republicans will designate their members on the commission later today while White House Chief of Staff James A. Baker will represent the White House, Speakes said.

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan said today that he envisioned cuts of $10 billion-$20 billion in fiscal 1985 and $50 billion-$60 billion in the following year, with the projected $100 billion "down payment" - as the president called it - in reducing the federal deficit coming in the third year.

Sophomore legislator Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, this morning pledged his support to environmental and educational issues in announcing he will seek a third term as state representative.

"As I announce for a third term, I ask you for your support, your advice and your help, Shaw said.

Shaw thanked about 30 supporters present at the Howard County Courthouse for "holding down the base for me" during past campaigns. Having an active support group in Howard County allowed him to campaign in other areas in the 69th District, he said.

Shaw said he felt two key issues in the state are environmental protection because "the environment is always in danger," and education. "because education will affect our future in both business and the economy."

Shaw said, "It is imperative that we educate all people and offer the best education we can afford.

Education is an issue in the state which has been pushed into the background too long, Shaw said. "Now it's catch-up time,' he said.

Concerning the environment, Shaw said he plans to introduce legislation asking for the monitoring of well water in response to recent arsenic contamination in the Knott area.

Shaw also talked about a proposed low-level nuclear waste site which has not yet found a home in the state. Among counties under consideration are Howard and Borden.

Shaw said the state must take responsibility for it's own nuclear waste by 1987, and nuclear waste "is a serious question, whether or not (the plant) comes here. It involves all of us," he said.

Although he has built up his House seniority by serving two consecutive terms, Shaw said, "A person should never be reelected simply because they've been there."

DWI suspects will be evaluated

By KEELY COGHLAN

ANTHONY ANTONE

Staff Writer Offenders of new driving while intoxicated laws could find changes in more than just the law and its penalties.

The 118th District adult probation office, required to evaluate all-first time offenders of the new DWI law for treatment, is trying to begin presentencing evaluation of alcoholrelated offenses, Executive Probation Officer Frank Martinez said.

Probation officers are asking the courts to postpone sentencing until after the department has screened the individual for alcohol-related problems and treatment, Martinez said.

"I'm sure the courts will weigh and evaluate our recommendations to them. We've always had their backing. They're as concerned about trying to get help for these people as we are," Martinez said. Under the new program, a defen-dant could plead guilty but would not be sentenced until after he or she undergoes an evaluation by the probation department and it submits its recommendations to the court.

But County Attorney Bob Miller said he was not sure of the benefits of waiting to sentence persons who plead guilty to DWI. "They can enforce their (recommendations for probation) without waiting to sentence (offenders)," Miller said. The convicted DWI offender would take the Mortimer-Filkins test as part of the office's evaluation into what alcohol-related problems might need treatment, Martinez said. The test has demonstrated high reliability in identifying problem drinkers and alcoholics from social and occasional drinkers, he said.

"However, our recommendations would not be based entirely on (the Mortimer-Filkins test)," Martinez said. Other factors the office would consider in recommending alcohol information classes or treatment include a person's history and past record of offenses, including alcohol-related offenses, he said.

About 95 percent of the misdemeanor probationers handled by the 118th District probation office have been put on probation for alcohol-related offenses, Martinez said.

Once a person has been screened by the probation department, officers will recommend whether the person should attend treatment or information classes as part of the probation.

Under the new law, the courts can stipulate that a person participate in a program or be considered in violation of probation, a change that Martinez says is good. Before the new DWI law went into effect, he said many DWI probationers would decide not to participate in programs and the probation office could not enforce their See DWI page 2-A

TV addiction Average TV viewing tops 7 hours a day

NEW YORK (AP) - TV viewers sank a bit deeper into their easy chairs last year. Their eyes may have glazed over more. Maybe the pets got fewer walks. All because daily television viewing hit an all-time high in 1983 — an average seven hours, two minutes per household.

Today's topic

Except for children between ages 2 and 11, viewing increased in every age group in 1983, said the A.C. Nielsen survey of viewing trends which reported the record.

Think about it. A typical day for an American household now divides into three nearly equal parts: eight hours of sleep, seven hours of TV and nine hours of work or school, including getting there and back.

But viewing and seeing may be two different things, said Steven A. Holt, general manager of Television Audience Assessment Inc.

"Viewers are watching TV in a buzzing environment, with all sorts of distractions," Holt said Tuesday. "The number of hours may have increased, the sets are surely on, but people can't possibly be sit-ting in front of the TV all those hours and getting the dishes washed, fixing the meals and cleaning the house, too."

Holt's company did an April survey saying that audience attentiveness had diminished; the networks countered that the report was biased and unscientific.

In the record-breaking year, cable reached 40 percent penetration and made inroads into the nation's viewing habits, while independent stations continued growing with their network reruns and the networks, which stopped losing viewers for the first time in several years, did a more effective job of first-run programming.

In breaking the 1982 record by 14 minutes of TV per day, 1983 now ranks with other TV-addiction milestones. The five-hour barrier was broken in 1956, the six-hour viewing fixation came in 1971.

Viewing in 1983 was up in 11 months. January and February, the months when TV-watching becomes a warm alternative to the outdoors, had respective consumption levels of 7 hours, 38 minutes and 7 hours, 33 minutes. The lowest level was 6 hours, 23 minutes of TV per day, in both June and July.

"No one factor accounts for the tremendous jump," said Jeremy Handelman, a CBS researcher. "In general, this additional viewing is likely to come from a variety of groups, watching a variety of programs. All the bits and pieces add up.

One major reason cited by industry observers was cable's greater exposure, providing rows and rows of new channels. Cable not only enlarges the choices, it clears the reception on hazier channels, particularly PBS stations on the UHF band.

Besides more channels, there were more sets in 1983, often two or more in the same home. Figures

Texas coal pipeline under consideration

By JAY ROSSER

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau AUSTIN — The railroad industry in Texas, facing the prospect of losing a share of the lucrative coal-hauling market, hinted Wednesday that a proposed coal slurry pipeline may not be as competitive as its proponents claim.

Those arguments surfaced during a preliminary hearing on a proposal by the Houston-based partnership Energy Transportation Systems, Inc., to build a $3 billion, 1,800-mile pipeline to bring a coal-water mix from Montana and Wyoming to Texas power plants.

The preliminary hearing was called by Texas Railroad Commission hearing examiners to determine major issues in the case and establish the format for what is expected to become a lengthy and bitter showdown between the pipeline and railroad industries

ETSI, to win Texas Railroad Commission approval of the project, must show the pipeline will be more economical and efficient than coal-hauling railroads, the environment won't be threatened and rates will be fair,

Such approval would give ETSI the right of condemnation against property owners unwilling to sell right of ways.

The railroad industry, which now hauls the major supply of coal to coal-fired power plants, sees the pipeline as a threat to its economic welfare.

Joe Crawford, an attorney representing the Missouri-Kansas-Texas and Oklahoma-Kansas-Texas railroads, claims ETSI's boast of lower rates than offered by the railroad industry is double-talk.

Originally, he said, ETSI planned to direct the coal slurry pipeline to Arkansas to serve Arkansas Power & Light

They were undercut, Crawford said, by a new longterm contract the utility firm signed with the Missouri-Pacific and Chicago-Northwest railroads.

"They talk about adding competition to the market." Crawford said. "That's not what they want to do. They want to eliminate competition."

He claimed ETSI has been hesitant to reveal proposed charges for the pipeline's use.

released this week by the Electronic Industries Association showed a 23 percent rise in sales of color TV sets, pushing the total of all TV sales for 1983 to a record 19.7 million sets.

And these sets lured more discriminating viewers. "Programs like the 'M-A-S-H' finale (CBS), 'The Day After' (ABC), 'Thorn Birds' (ABC) 'Winds of War' (ABC) and 'Kennedy' (NBC) attracted the non-habitual TV viewer," said John Sisk, senior vice president for network broadcasting at the J. Walter Thompson advertising agency.

Joei Segal, executive vice president for the Ted Bates ad agency, said the increase in Nielsen's sampling size, from 1,200 test homes to 1,700 in 1983, picked up more hard-core TV fans, meaning more heavy viewers were measured last year than in 1982

Coahoma High School principal Ronnie Bourland, junior high principal Ron Ethridge and elementary school principal Tom Spell were given one year extensions of their contracts when the Coahoma school trustees met recently.

In other business, a bid of $9.49 per square yard of carpet was accepted from Curtis Smith. Trustees purchased the carpet to replace 1,556 square yards of carpet damaged at the junior high. The carpet there received water damage when pipes broke during the Christmas holidays. District representatives said they expect to receive about two-thirds of the replacement cost from their insurance company

The board offered Coach Billy Kidd of Cedar Hill a contract as coach and teacher for the 1984-85 term. The board also agreed to order a new 71-passenger school bus for fall delivery. A textbook committee was approved.

The next regular board meeting is Monday, Feb. 20.

Dreyfuss sits in on class

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. - Academy Awardwinning actor Richard Dreyfuss, whose pictures in-clude "Jaws" and "Close

a paratat at a table

Encounters of the Third Kind," briefly stepped back into a role he cast off some time ago — that of a student.

Dreyfuss, 36, who won an Oscar as best actor for "The Good-bye Girl" in 1977, spent about an hour Wednesday in a class on constitutional law at Housatonic Regional Community College. The course is taught by fighter. "I was talking with Dreyfuss and he said he'd like to sit in on a class," Conway said. "At first I thought he was kidding. He was perfectly serious. We scheduled a day for him to sit in on a class and he showed up.'

RICHARD DREYFUSS professor of criminal justice, who is appearing with Dreyfuss in "Requiem for A Heavyweight" at New Haven's Long Wharf Theater. In the play, Dreyfuss plays the part of manager of an aging

Dreyfuss told the students that he never got a degree because he dropped out of San Fernando Valley State College in California and went to Hollywood. "I went to school for a year in '67, but I started making money and I left." He added, however, that he is thinking of taking some courses, although he did not say where. "I'm interested in history," said the actor. "I'd like to study it and possibly someday teach it."

McCartney speaks out

LONDON - Former Beatle Paul McCartney, recently fined $100 for marijuana possession in Barbados, is arguing that pot should be decriminalized. "It seems the main problem is the legality," said the 41-year-old McCartney in an article published Wednesday.

Saying that Britain's marijuana laws are causing overcrowding in prisons and probably creating criminals, Mc-Cartney argued that decriminalization rather than legality is the answer "There really are many

PAUL MCCARTNEY good people living and learning the prison mentality for indulging in something they consider to be no more harmful than a glass of scotch," he told the London magazine Time Out.

McCartney and his wife, Linda, were fined $100 apiece in Barbados for possessing marijuana at their vacation villa.

Mrs. McCartney, 41, was also arrested at Heathrow Airport Jan. 17 on their return and fined $105 Tuesday after pleading guilty to smuggling marijuana through the airport.

President plans campaign

WASHINGTON - With Wall Street jittery over a rumor that he may not seek a second term, President Reagan was kicking off his '84 campaign today at a star-spangled forum in Atlanta, the first in a series of events building to Sunday's appeal for four more

With the State of the Union message behind him, the president's Georgia trip is his first official political outing of the campaign season.

But for all those doubting Thomases who won't believe it until they hear Reagan himself say he is running for a second term, the main event occurs at 10:55 p.m. EST Sunday in a five-minute paid broadcast from the Oval Office.

"The major thing he's going to say is that he's going to run again," Edward J. Rollins, the director of Reagan-Bush '84, said in a recent interview. On this point, Rollins was adamant.

"I don't think he in any way, shape or form, if he had chosen months ago not to run for re-election, would have let the charade go on this long. This committee is set up. We've gone out and raised over $4 million. No other candidate can (legally) have this money. No other candidate can have this campaign.'

Isn't there one chance in a million that the 72-yearold president, soon to be 73, will back out at the last moment to retire to the splendor and solitude of his mountaintop ranch in California?

"No, not one in a million," Rollins replied evenly. "We'd just have such utter chaos that you'd almost be handing the presidency to the Democrats."

French warplane shot down

PARIS - Pinning apparent blame on Libya, France said today an armored unit from rebel-controlled northern Chad shot down a French warplane after raiding government positions.

Libya claimed rebels shot down two French fighter jets in the clash on Tuesday and warned against intervention by "foreign parties," its official news agency, JANA, said.

French military sources said two French military planes — a Jaguar and a Mirage F-1 escort — were hit by ground missiles. The Mirage returned to base safely but the Jaguar was shot down and its pilot died after bailing out, they said. His body has not been recovered, the sources said.

Three French planes - the Mirage F-1 and two Jaguars - had attacked the raiding rebel column, the French Foreign Ministry said.

There was no word on rebel casualties.

A Belgian doctor, a Belgian nurse and 12 Chadians were captured in the raid, the French Foreign Ministry said. On Wednesday, Belgium said it had lodged a protest with Libya.

The Belgian captives were identified as Dr. Christian Delzenne and nurse-midwife Marie-Chantal Rouckens, both workers for Doctors without Borders.

The French Foreign Ministry said today that "Libya seems to bear the responsibility" for Tuesday's clash. France "cannot hide the seriousness of the events which have taken place in Chad," said a ministry spokesman, who, according to procedure, spoke on the condition that he not be identified.

Actor gets death threats

Wednesday he told star Gary Busey to cancel a trip to

The scene called for Busey, playing Bryant in the final months of his life, to walk "a certain area of the campus that we felt he was very responsible for in the growth of the university, and have him reflect on his life through a montage.

Shamir meets with Kohl

JERUSALEM - Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, bruised but unruffled by a traffic accident, met today with West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and urged him to cancel an arms sale to Saudi Arabia.

Earlier, Kohl met with opposition Labor Party leader Shimon Peres, who quoted the chancellor as saying he would work to bring Israel and Jordan together for peace talks.

Kohl and Shamir met for 90 minutes in Shamir's office and emerged smiling from their third meeting since Kohl arrived for a six-day visit Tuesday.

YITZHAK SHAMIR Shamir's spokesman, Avi Pazner, said the prime minister had expressed Israel's strong moral and strategic objections to the weapons

"The public in Israel would not understand the moral aspect that German weapons would be supplied to an enemy," Pazner quoted Shamir as telling Kohl. "It would be inconceivable to us that German arms would again be turned against Jews."

Pazner said Shamir told Kohl that Saudi Arabia was the main source of funds to the Palestine Liberation Organization and supplied arms to guerrilla groups.

West German press reports have said the deal with Saudi Arabia involves mobile anti-aircraft artillery, armored personnel cariers and small arms.

In public statements in Israel, Kohl has stressed that he wants to deepen ties with Israel while retaining what he called "Germany's traditional friendship" with the Arab world.

Kohl and Shamir had planned to meet Wednesday night, but the session was canceled because of a lengthy Parliament debate over Shamir's economic policies. The bitter debate ended with Shamir's backers defeating no-confidence motions on a 62-56 vote.

Shamir, 68, was bruised in a traffic accident this morning on the way to Jerusalem but was released from the hospital after an hour. He told reporters, "I was not hurt. They did some tests and the results were positive and I am returning to work.'

Pathologist gives testimony

GEORGETOWN, Texas - A pathologist, whose initial autopsy report was a potential roadblock for prosecutors, testified in the murder trial of nurse Genene Jones that she now believes a 15-month-old girl died from a drug and not from natural causes.

Chelsea McClellan died on Sept. 17, 1982, after receiving two injections that were supposed to be routine immunizations. Ms. Jones, a nurse in a Kerrville pediatrician's office, gave the shots.

Although the murder indictment says Ms. Jones injected a powerful muscle relaxant that killed the girl, the initial autopsy report said the girl probably was a victim of Sudden Infant Beath Syndrome.

Dr. Kathleen Kagan-Hallet of San Antonio, a neuropathologist, issued that initial decision. But on

Clear skies across state

Mostly sunny skies greeted Texans today as an upper level disturbance responsible for rainy weather moved off into the Gulf of Mexico.

Clear skies were the rule across most of the state before dawn. Cloudy conditions lingered in far South Texas, where thunderstorms dumped more than two inches of rain Tuesday and Wednesday.

Early morning temperatures were seasonably cool, with readings ranging from the upper 20s to the upper 30s over most of the state. The cloud cover over South Texas held temperatures in the 40s to lower 50s.

A developing trough of low pressure near the Rockies brought southwesterly winds at 10 to 20 mph to the northwestern third of Texas. Weak high pressure was responsible for light and variable winds over the rest of the state, the National Weather Service said.

The forecast called for fair to partly cloudy skies through Friday. Another cold front was expected to enter the Panhandle and move through the state by Friday afternoon. However, no rain was expected to develop, according to forecasters.

The extended forecast for West Texas looks like this: Fair with a slow warming trend. Lows Saturday middle 20s Panhandle and mountains to 40s south warming to low 30s Panhandle to 40s south Monday. Highs Saturday middle 50s Panhandle to near 70 extreme south warming to near 60 Panhandle to upper 70s Big Bend Monday.

Temperatures on left indicate previous day's high and overnight low to a.m. EST. Temperatures on right indicate outlook for tomorrow.

Tuscaloosa after the threats. A scene to be filmed on the University of Alabama campus was being shelved, he said. According to Spangler, Busey received two telephone calls within 30 minutes of each other Tuesday saying, "If you come to Tuscaloosa the week of Coach Bryant's death dressed like Coach Bryant, you will be killed." Bryant, who died of a heart attack at age 69, won more games than any other college coach -323 in all,

and 232 in 25 years at Alabama. Spangler told The Associated Press from Atlanta that Busey and others in the film were preparing to fly to Tuscaloosa when the actor received the calls at his room in Atlanta

At the airport, Spangler said Busey "began getting nervous and was a complete wreck."

"I take that stuff seriously," the producer said. "I don't write any of that off. I told Gary, 'Look, you don't have to go there.

"A person's got to be sick to make a call like that, even if it is a prank call, even if he's not going to do anything.

Spangler said he might shoot the footage at the school later.

Wednesday she told jurors she was wrong, and the mistake was due to an incomplete look at Chelsea's medical history.

"In my opinion," she testified, "the cause of death is respiratory arrest which then led to cardiac arrest and the death of the child due to succinylcholine."

The indictment names succinylcholine as the drug allegedly used by Ms. Jones. Toxicologists have testified here that the drug was found in tissue samples taken from the girl's body

Ms. Kagan-Hallet said the medical history given her did not show that Chelsea had an eight-day hospital stay a few weeks before her death.

"The history we were given was so plausible for SIDS," she testified, adding that it seemed so routine that she didn't give Chelsea's death a second thought until she heard that prosecutors were suspicious of wrongdoing.

Defense lawyer Jim Brookshire opened his crossexamination of Ms. Kagan-Hallet by getting her to acknowledge that a child as old as 15 months could be a SIDS victim, especially if the infant had been premature, as Chelsea was.

Let the people have a say in suit

A vitally important meeting of the Big Spring school board takes place this evening at 5:15 p.m. at Big Spring High School. People will want to be there.

The board may take action which could reshape its future: its size and the means and the manner of electing its officers. The board of education is of premier importance to anyone who has children in school or who has an interest in local education. It is the ruling body for Big School schools.

On the agenda is possible action on an agreement with the League of United Latin American Citizens to restructure the board in a configuration which LULAC believes will enhance the prospects for minority representation.

We say "may" because Supt. Lynn Hise said Wednesday afternoon there "is no plan" which can be presented for consideration. But, he said, attorneys for the district continue negotiations with LULAC in the expectation that an agreed settlement will be available this afternoon.

If a settlement is in hand, the board is prepared to take immediate action on it. This time frame doesn't give people much chance to offer their views on whether the plan is palatable to them or not. It would be preferable, it seems to us, to present a plan today and defer action awhile, until people can absorb what could be a radical change in school government.

We've seen the consequence of a negotiated settlement with LULAC in one other instance. The city's negotiated plan calls for enlarging the council, establishing three geographical districts, changing length of terms, and extending council members' terms of office beyond the mandate given them by the voters. The latter provision has been a source of deep controversy in the city and yet may be the subject of continuing litigation.

In the city settlement, negotiations were outside the public realm. After the fact, the public was informed of what was decided. Thus far, the same has been true in the school-LULAC negotiations. For this reason, we can offer no insight into what may be in the works for change in the school board.

But the school board at least is offering the public a look at the future a few minutes before that future is decided. It's our guess that the compressed time frame between announcing a proposed settlement and voting on that proposal is influenced by the upcoming April election of school board members. If the school board is to be restructured, the elections would be the first opportunity. And LULAC, we presume, will be interested in effecting changes as quickly as possible.

If a plan is ready for action today, action will be taken today. In between, citizens will have a chance to speak up. We urge people to take this opportunity, to give their views before it becomes etched into final action.

Around The Rim

Jack Anderson

Weinberger goes shopping for bases

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger has secretly earmarked several billion dollars to secure bases for the Rapid Deployment Forced throughout the Middle East. He has sought - not always successfully - to work out solid agreements with the countries the Pentagon is pouring money into in hopes of guaranteeing U.S. access to the naval and air facilities.

Weinberger rates the Persian Gulf area as the United States' No. 3 defense priority, after North America and the NATO allies. From inside sources and several secret and top-secret documents, my associates Dale Van Atta and Donald Goldberg have uncovered the details of Weinberger's quiet preparations for the defense of the volatile, oil-rich region:

• Egypt: Negotiations for a three-year construction program already underway at a secret air base collapsed last spring when Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak refused to go along with the deal. The base is Ras Banas on the Red Sea, and the United States had planned to spend more than $500 million upgrading it, even though U.S. forces could not be stationed there

 Jordan: As I first reported, Weinberger planned to help the Jordanians form their own rapid deployment force to police the area. After the publicity, however, Congress refused to put up the money.

• Kenya: U.S. forces will be allowed access to the air and naval facilities at Mombasa on the Indian Ocean. "In return," Weinberger noted in one secret report, "we have agreed to upgrade the airfield to support operations by maritime patrol and fleet support aircraft, and to dredge the harbor channel to provide access for our aircraft carriers." He authorized $75 million through 1985 for this work.

· Pakistan: President Zia ul-Haq has promised to allow U.S. planes to use airfields in Pakistan should Soviet bombers threaten the Persian Gulf from Afghanistan. He has also agreed to let American weapons be sent to Afghan rebels through Zia's special forces. In return, the United States is already giving Pakistan $3.2 billion in aid over five years, providing special intelligence information to Zia and training presidential bodyguards.

 Bahrain: This tiny island in the Persian Gulf has agreed to conduct mine-sweeping operations in return for U.S. aid in developing its air defenses - including $200 million worth of surface-to-air missiles

 Diego Garcia: This British-owned flyspeck in the Indian Ocean is the principal air and naval base for U.S. forces in the region, and Weinberger has allotted $575 million for rent and construction improvements, including airfield expansion and facilities for mooring Marine and ammunition ships.

• Orman: Weinberger plans to spend more than $300 million to upgrade military bases U.S. forces may use in an emergency. Omani facilities would be vital for naval forces in the Arabian Sea and for land-based planes and minelayers to protect the Strait of Hormuz.

· Saudi Arabia: In addition to the AWAC planes operated by U.S. crews, the United States has its own supply depots at Saudi air-fields. More than $1 billion is being spent to stock enough equipment and ammunition to sustain American forces for 90 days of combat.

Somalia: Weinberger needs $30 million for Somalia, which has agreed to give U.S. forces access to air and naval bases on the Indian Ocean and near the southern entrance to the Red Sea

• United Arab Emirates: Weinberger is giving and selling this strategically placed Persian Gulf federation surface-to-air missiles and more than $1 billion in sophisticated intelligence-gathering equipment and electronic weaponry

 Portugal: Weinberger was willing to pay $155 million in military aid to improve Lejes air base in the Azores, a vital refueling way-station for U.S. forces en route to the Middle East.

MONEY MANIPULATION: Mr. Dooley observed that the Supreme Court reads the election returns. So, apparently, does the Federal Reserve Board.

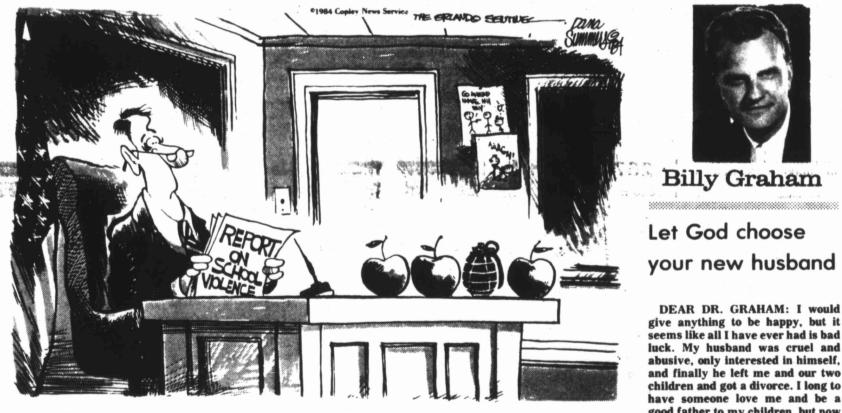

Although the Fed vehemently denies any political motivation, a chart kept by administration economists shows that the growth of the money supply, which is controlled by the Fed, undergoes an uncanny increase in election years. These spurts in the money supply encourage economic growth, and in an election year this can be a plus for the party in power. Another manipulative advantage enjoyed by an incumbent administration is the timing of budgeted expenditures to stimuate economic activity

These political maneuvers are documented by tracing the gross national product. In election years, the GNP invariably shows impressive gains, and not just from all the money spent on political campaigning.

SYNFUELS SYBARITE: The accountants at the U.S. Synthetic Fuels Corp. are used to some pretty outlandish expense vouchers, but they balked at one submitted by Howard Wilkins, a Synfuels director, for a trip to Washington in January 1982. Scrawled on his expense claim are two testy questions: "First class air? Dinner includes a date and is over $30.00 per person?"

The taxpayer-funded corporation knocked out $30.84 for Wilkins' date's dinner, but let the first-class air travel stand. On another trip, Wilkins stayed at perhaps Washington's plushest hotel, the Four Seasons. But because other hotels were called, this was the only thing available," the corporation paid the bill for the single night's stay: $336.82.

ometimes little brothers can be real pains, and at other times they can be the sweetest people in the world. My younger brother Dewayne is no exception. I can't call him little any more because at age 13 and a height of 5 feet 7 inches he towers over me.

Dewayne reminds a person of Tom Sawyer. He is freckled face and always conniving some scheme. At an early age, he was doing things my sister Karen and I would have never even thought of As a preschooler, Dewayne hid under my father's van, which is expected from a small child. However, children usually don't do what he did.

When my sister and I called him to come in the house, he didn't answer. A quick search at the neighbors' homes didn't produce him, so our mother and several neighbors joined in on the search to find my brother. We spent two hours, walking several blocks in all directions, looking for him. Our mother stayed at home in case Dewayne showed up.

We had looked everywhere and were fixing to give up, when a neighbor had an idea. She bent down and looked between her knees to see Dewayne lying under the van. He was giggling at the worried searchers. What a brat!

One time, when our mother was sick, Dewayne, Karen and I were cooking toast for breakfast. Dewayne genuinely thought the toast would cook faster if the oven door was closed, so he closed it with my arm in it. I couldn't be mad at him. However, Dewayne's biggest trick happened on his second day as a first grader. My parents lived one block from the school Dewayne went to, and he had talked my mother into letting him walk to school by himself. About fifteen minutes after he left the house, a neighbor called my mother. She wanted to know why

Addresses

In Washington:

RONALD REAGAN, President of the United States, White House, Washington, D.C. 20500.

CHARLES STENHOLM, Congressman, 17th Texas District, 1232 Longworth Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

LLOYD BENTSEN, U.S. Senator, 703 Hart Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Dewayne was sitting on our front porch. When my mother went to look, Dewayne ran to the side of the house to hide.

My mother caught my brother and sent him off to school again. She kept an eye on Dewayne until he had reached the end of the block. However, my brother is not a quitter. He circled back through the school yard to our house again. However, my mother caught him and marched him right up to the school. Later, my dad had a talk with Dewayne, and he hasn't skipped school since. Dewayne's reason for playing hooky from school was the teacher was teaching the things he already knew, and he didn't know why he had to go to school to learn that.

Dewayne had planned his absenteeism well. Later, he told my mother he had planned to hide in one of our trees until school let out at lunch. Then he was going to come in and tell her he had gone to school. He also added that the next day he had planned to tell the teacher he was sick. Now, you tell that doesn't take some ingenuity from a six year old?

Dewayne's not always a brat though. He can be thoughtful and considerate. Dewayne, the leader of the neighborhood kids, always looks out for the younger children. He entertains the little kids by playing Star Wars with them.

Dewayne cares about what is happening around him. When our mother is ill, he worries about her. He loves animals, especially dogs. He stays active in school, always striving to do his best.

Although we pick on each other, Dewayne and I are good friends. We are both interested in writing and like to talk about things. He gives me his opinions on my friends and they are usually kind. I tell him what classes he needs to take in school.

All and all, I like my little brother.

Let officials pay for auto damage

To the editor:

I would like to suggest that Big Spring drivers save all of their Auto or Truck receipts for such things as front-end alignments, new tires, axle straightenings, wash jobs and repaintings that have been caused by the condition of our streets these last six months

Since our Big Spring City Officials have elected to contract for or do street work in such a way as to permit such deplorable and unsafe road conditions, it is obvious that they expect to pay for all such uncalled and needless damage.

Whenever the Officials of the City show such little regard for the Citizens who employ them, it is high time to do something. Three years ago we passed a big bond issue to fix our City's water mains. Today, the water still runs gushingly down our streets. Perhaps a few small sections have been corrected, nothing more. Now we are told of lengthy delays on the work on Birdwell because of weather. Yes, but for how long? Maybe seven days at the most. Let us hear the wording of the contract for this work that protects the citizens against undue road conditions and delays. How are the Penalty Clauses worded?

What about the new paved part of Goliad which has already developed potholes. It will never be right unless entirely redone with quality workmanship. Has the contractor been so informed, with dollar conditions?

Now the taxpayers of Big Spring should not expect these Auto and Truck costs to be paid out of City Treasury Funds. Certainly not. These unnecessary costs should be paid for personally by the Officials who caused such deplorable conditions all over town.

Freedom to vote

was taken away To the editor:

How much is too much??? Thanks to our city dads we dummies don't have to vote anymore. The great leaders have decided to extend their terms another two years. This means we now have a totalitarian city government better known as a dictatorship and if you dummies don't like it, you may be taken behind the wall. You must learn never to judge when anyone is evil, or good, never ask questions, never speak out, when something is evil. You must produce wealth so our great leaders may boot you at their own time.

They keep telling you to trust me brothers, for I will show you how you must be sacrificed and to whom whether it be to LULAC, NAACP, or the women lib, Black Panthers, or what ever.

Our city dads have now given up our right to vote. They stand higher than the Texas constitution which says we shall have a Republican form of government. Also the right to our individual life. The concept of a right pertains only to action specifically to freedom of action. (It means freedom from physical compulsion, coercion or interference by other men or groups of men). What has happened you no longer have any rights here in Big Spring you have been replaced by a dictatorship. How in the world can you people of Big Spring let a body of men strip you of your only right, that stands between you and a Nazi government. Must they come into your homes with guns and beat your heads in, throw you behind the wall to get you awake. Are you going to give up your constitution so easy? Can't you see where this will lead? Did you lose all your guts along with your rights? Once you lose your only right to life (which is your life) then what is left?

The constitution was written to protect man from the government. The Bill of Rights was not directed against private citizens, but against the government, as an explicit declaration that individual rights supersede any public or social power.

A collectivist tryanny (city dads) dare not enslave a city by an outright confiscation of its values, material or morals, it as to be done by a process of internal corruption. But this is the most flagrant display of violations of the people rights, that has ever happened in America.

Just think people here in Big Spr-ing they have taken away your right to vote. What is so sad is only a few people have raised their voices in protest. This is a sad day for the American people, especially for the people of Big Spring. C. G. GILSTRAP give anything to be happy, but it seems like all I have ever had is bad luck. My husband was cruel and abusive, only interested in himself, and finally he left me and our two children and got a divorce. I long to have someone love me and be a good father to my children, but now I am afraid of getting married or ever trusting again. - Mrs. T.R.Y.

DEAR MRS. T.R.Y.: It is understandable that you feel this way - but God can make a difference in your attitudes and in your life, if you will let him. God loves you and he wants what is best for you.

You may feel like you can never trust anyone again - but you can trust God. You can trust him with every detail of your life and your future, because he created you and he knows what is best for you. The Bible says, "Because of the Lord's great love we are not consumed, for his compassions never fail. They are new every morning; great is your faithfulness ... The Lord is good to those whose hope is in him" (Lamentations 3:22-23, 25). No matter what our problems may be, we can commit them to God because he can be trusted to guide us if we are truly seeking his will.

How do I know God loves us and we can trust him? I know it because God loved us so much he sent his only Son into the world to die on the cross for our sins. The Bible says, "This is how we know what love is: Jesus Christ laid down his life for us" (1 John 3:16). If God was willing to do that for you, don't you think you can trust your life to him? Of course you can - and you should, without delay.

DEAR ABBY: Ordinarily I find your advice to be right on target, but I must disagree with your reply to "Concerned Daughter," whose mother had a lot in assets, was getting on in years and didn't have a will. The mother had asked her attorney son-in-law repeatedly to please get together with her to draft a will, but he kept telling her there was no hurry, he was too busy right now, etc., while the mother grew right? - Miss P.I. You both need enough sleep to keep you feeling alert all day. For most young adults seven and a half hours a day is the average amount of sleep, but remember that it is only an average. There is one report on record of a person who functioned well with only three hours of sleep. Others may need nine hours.

But for most of us, getting just five hours a day makes us feel sleepy in the daytime. And this sleepiness is cumulative, increasing with each passing day.

If your roommate requires her nine hours a day, you should respect that fact. Get yourself a desk lamp and a pair of earphones for your radio --or make a switch to another room with a room mate whose sleep habits more closely match your

PUBLIC NOTICE

In proceedings pending before the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC), local exchange telephone companies are requesting authority to charge AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., for use of their facilities. These proposed charges are higher than AT&T Communications can pay at current Texas long distance rate levels. To position itself to be able to implement rates that are sufficient to produce revenues that will recover the costs facing the company, AT&T Communications must now file for rate relief to be able to implement rates that reflect the costs of access that are ultimately imposed on the company.

While AT&T Communications does not want to increase its Texas rates, an increase would be required to recover the increased access charges AT&T Communications will have to pay to the local exchange telephone companies under several proposals pending before the Commission. These access charges at the proposed increased levels represent more than 80 percent of AT&T Communications' operating expense in Texas.

Accordingly, AT&T Communications, in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the rules of the PUC, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of rates for long distance calls within Texas. The proposed rates will be effective January 28, 1984, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. All customers and classes of customers would be affected by AT&T Communications' proposed rates.

If higher access charges are ordered, AT&T Communications has no recourse but to pay these charges and recover the costs from its customers as a cost of providing long distance service within Texas. AT&T Communications has filed rates which would mean a maximum overall increase in adjusted test period revenues of $301.4 million, or 27.85 percent. This amount would help recover cost increases due to the proposed level of access charges now pending before the PUC.

A complete copy of all tariffs and rate schedules is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with every municipality in Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

BIG SPRING (TEXAS) THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1984

So much has crossed the sports desk during the past few days that it was tough deciding what to use in the notes and what not to use.

The Fourth Annual 11 Mile Marathon Walk sponsored by Big Spring's Im-maculate Heart of Mary Catholic School will be held Sunday, Jan. 29. The starting point is Highland Mall and starting time is 2 p.m. but all entrants are urged to show up an hour before. The event is being held in conjunction with National Catholic Education Week, Jan. 29-Feb. 4. For more information call 263-7375 or 267-4124.

Other events on the Big Spring sports calendar deal with gymnastics and bowling.

A gymnastics meet, sponsored by the YMCA "Sidewinders" will be held Saturday, Feb. 18 at the Big Spring YMCA. Teams from Abilene, San Angelo, Midland and Big Spring will take part in the competition for class III and IV gymnasts. The public is invited to attend. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

On the subject of gymnastics, the "Sidewinders" are coached by Russ McEwen and assisted by Hamid Haghjoo and Terri Leheigh.

Team members are Kasandra Keyes, Nikki Anderson, Kisa McEwen, Belinda Grisham, Cheri Wyrick, Sherry Marlow, Paula Morris, Pam Pearson, Erin Roberts, Kristy Coots, Sunny Frazier, Tina Atkins, Chyenne Swafford, Monica Martin, Peaches Clark, Karen Osborn, Beckie Tedesco, Kendra Carey and Kim Middleton.

Two of February's weekends will be taken up with bowling in Big Spring as the Big Spring Women's Bowling Association will hold its annual championship tournament at the Big Spring Bowl-A-Rama. Dates are Feb. 11-12 and Feb. 18-19. Entry fee is $7 per person, but entry deadline is Monday. Jan. 30 for any among the readership that might be interested.

And baseball is right around the corner as

Sims will testify in contract trial

DETROIT (AP) — The attorney for All-Pro running back Billy Sims plans to put his client on the stand in a U.S. District Court trial that ultimately will determine which of two professional football contracts Sims must honor

Elbert Hatchett said he probably would have Sims testify today after Jerry Argovitz, co-owner of the Houston Gamblers of the United States Football League, finishes testifying. Argovitz spent virtually the entire day on the stand Wednesday - the first day of the trial before Judge Robert E. DeMascio.

Sims has signed contracts with both the Gamblers and with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

Muddying the waters is the fact that Argovitz was acting as Sims' agent in negotiations well after he became a partner in the Gamblers' ownership group. Sims signed a five-year contract July 1 with the Gamblers worth $3.5 million. He signed a similar contract - this one undated - on Nov. 12. Then, on Dec. 16, Sims signed a five-year deal with the Lions calling for $5 million. Sims and the Lions originally filed a joint suit in Oakland County Circuit Court last year, but that was transferred to federal court. The suit charges Argovitz with fraud and misrepresentation while representing Sims in contract talks with Detroit.

Currently, the only question being decided is which contract is valid

"The contract's validity is not in question," Hatchett told reporters. "But, we feel they are voidable."

Hatchett spent the first day trying to show that Argovitz did a sloppy job on Sims' behalf, failing to keep the 1978 Heisman Trophy winner informed and failing to keep accurate written records of dealings. "Sims had blind loyalty and confidence in you," Hat-chett said "Yes sir, I know that," Argovitz replied. "Totally and completely.

Despite the long day on the stand and the fact that there had yet to be any cross examination, attorneys for the Gamblers expressed satisfaction.

"My client has been waiting some time to tell his story," attorney Steve Susman said. "He hasn't had much chance today. Hatchett's doing all the talking. Maybe tomorrow

Sims said it felt odd to see his former friend and agent on the stand.

"I hate to have it come to this," he said outside the courtroom. "But, I feel I'm right. I have something to prove.

Testimony also revealed that Argovitz frequently made tape recordings of telephone calls without letting the other parties know they were being recorded. Among those he taped were Sims, his wife Brenda, and Hatchett.

"If I'm dealing with someone being devious and I know what their story is beforehand, I tape record them," Argovitz replied to a question from Hatchett.

White figures Dallas will be hungry in '84

HONOLULU (AP) - "America's Team" has been conspicuously absent from the Super Bowl in recent years, and Dallas All-Pro Randy White says the Cowboys should be a hungry team next season. "We made the playoffs this season, but for the Cowboys, that's not enough," White, a defensive tackle who is considered one of the game's most dominating linemen, said during a break in practice for Sunday's Pro Bowl game.

"When you're the Cowboys, you're supposed to win the Super Bowl ever year. People expect it.

"We have all the incentive to come back. I believe

Kite wants to fly higher this year

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Last season he won a very prestigious tournament, the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, finished in the top 10 in seven others and collected $257,066.

"It was not a very good year," Tom Kite said. And, by his standards, perhaps it was not. While it was a season that other players strive for, it was, by far, Kite's poorest in three years. "I played very well up through April. Then nothing," Kite said. "I thought about it over the off-season. You always do. And I think I was pressing too much, got too anxious.

"I'm looking forward to 1984. I'm very excited about it, even though it's getten off to a mediocre start," Kite said before teeing off today in the first round of the $400,000 Isuzu-Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament

"I think this is going to be my best year ever. I think I'm a better player than I've ever been." said the little man who led the PGA Tour in stroke average for two seasons and in 1981 was leading money-winner and Player of the Year. It was that season that he recorded an incredible 21 top-10 finishes in 26 starts.

we're going to get to the Super Bowl next season. Of course, when we start out, we have to work on some other goals in order to get there, considering the way we finished up this year.

"It's not like we were down to the last play of the championship game for a trip to the Super Bowl. We finished up just a bit slower than that this year," said White, who'll be making his seventh Pro Bowl appearance for the NFC against the AFC all-stars.

After a fine start in 1983, the Cowboys stumbled at the end, losing their final two regular season games, then falling to the underdog Los Angeles Rams 24-17 in a playoff opener.

Dallas, which made its last Super Bowl appearance in 1979, thus wound up the campaign 12-5.

White traced the beginning of the end for the Cowboys back to the next-to-last game of the regular season, a loss to Washington in the emotion-charged rematch of an earlier game won by Dallas.

"Our team was down after the loss to Washington, but that's part of football," he said. "You have to come back. We didn't.

'We just didn't seem the same. We went downhill and never seemed to be able to get back on track.

Hoyt among those going arbitration

NEW YORK (AP) - Seven members of the Ameican League West champion Chicago White Sox, including Cy Young Award winner LaMarr Hoyt, are among at least 73 players who filed for baseball salary arbitration before the midnight deadline.

Don Fehr, acting executive director of the Players Association, said Wednesday night that more players could be added to the list today if they filed before the deadline

Hoyt joined Kevin Hickey, Steve Mura, Rudy Law, Rich Dotson, Jerry Dybzinski and Salome Barojas as members of the White Sox filing for arbitration. Under the binding system, both a player and his team submit a salary figure and present their cases before an arbitrator who picks either number, with no compromise

The Big Spring Red Sox semi-pro team will begin making plans for the 1984 season with a meeting planned for 2 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 29 at 2603 S. Chanute. All players are asked to attend. For more information contact Bill Diaz at 263-1376.

The Howard College Hawks, brought back to the diamond last year after 30 seasons of inactivity, will crank up their 1984 act for real when they travel to Lubbock Wednesday. Feb. 8 to play the Texas Tech JV. Howard will scrimmage the University of Texas at El Paso, however in four games during the weekend of Feb. 4-5.

For the present, however basketball is the main game in town and the Runnels Junior High White team ran its record to 8-3 with a 43-31 win over Sweetwater Tuesday. Briuan Mayfield scored 19 and Charles White added nine while Edward Roberts was singled out for good defense by coach David Drake.

The Runnels Red team was not as fortunate, losing to Sweetwater, 27-21 and dropping to 5-6 for the year. Kenneth Banks and Tyronne Foster gave good effort in the loss.

Howard's Dwight Harris continues to lead the Western Junior College Athletic Confernce in scoring with his 24.4 average. Jerry Stroman is close by with a 20 point average. Teammate Michael Porter is among the top 25 with his 11.7 mark. Joe Johnson and Al Holland show up among the leaders in rebounding and the Hawks as a team are second in offense and first in defense, averaging 86.5 points per contest while allowing only 62.6 points per game.

Among the women Hawk Queens, Debbie Hall (15.0), Molly Early (13.7) and Alex Provencio (11.8) give Howard three players among the league's top 15 scorers. Provencio is also ranked high in rebounds with an average of 7.1 a game. The Hawk Queens travel to Odessa tonight to face one of the nation's top junior college teams in Odessa College's Lady Wranglers. Game time is 6 p.m. followed by the men's contest.

A story of sorts will probably be forthcoming about this next item, but in the notes we thought it would be nice to mention Rose Majors, sister of Linda Majors of Big Spring, is prepping for this summer and the Olympics. Rose is a member of the U.S. olympic volleyball team and is flying in from California to visit her sister. Rose played three years at the University of Houston and one at Louisiana State University.

The only flaw was his relative lack of victories, only three in the last three years.

"I'm not going to let it eat on me," he said. "I'm not going to worry about it. I'm going to try to not even think about winning. I just want to start playing well again, get that consistency back, and let winning take care of itself.

Kite, who finished second by a stroke in this event a year ago, was one of the chief challengers in the 156-man field chasing a $72,000 first prize.

Expos followed the White Sox with six players each filing for arbitration.

The Expos had Tim Raines, Gary Lucas, Charlie Lea, Tim Wallach, Jeff Reardon and Bill Gullickson. Seattle had Mike Stanton, Pat Putnam, Dave Beard, Roy Thomas, Ed Vande Berg and Ron Roenicke, while Boston had AL batting champion Wade Boggs, Glenn Hoffman, Gary Allenson, Luis Aponte, Bruce Hurst and Steve Crawford.

Big Spring Lady Steers (3-6, 10-12) at Abilene High (2-7) The Lady Steers will be trying to snap a four game losing streak, which has left them little chance of gaining post-season play. Paula Spears leads Big Spring in scoring; averaging 20.9 points. Debro Rubio and Monette Wise also average in double figures. Forward Tris Clemons had a good outing in the last contest against San Angelo by contributing 17 points and seven rebounds.
