State star

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Some states feature the state flower, others the state bird — but Indiana legislators just couldn't get hip to a license plate featuring the state rock star.

In a tongue-in-cheek amendment answering complaints about the new rainbow-colored "Wander Indiana" plates, Rep. Charlie Brown suggested a replacement on Monday featuring supersinger Michael Jackson, who hails from Gary.

W. Texas Amtrak line studied

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

The age of the passenger train has returned to Big Spring — at least for one day.

As part of a trial run of a new route Amtrak is considering, a three-car train will stop overnight Friday on a three-day trip from Houston to El Paso, an Amtrak spokesman said.

The train will leave Houston Thursday morning, stop overnight in Dallas, and arrive in Big Spring Friday evening. The train will continue to El Paso Friday morning, Amtrak officials said.

Exact times of the train's departures and arrivals are unknown because it is a test run, said Debbie Marciniak, manager of corporate communications for Amtrak's Midwest region.

"There's no particular (time) schedule," Ms. Marciniak said. "So we can slow down and stop it if we need to."

The last passenger train left Big Spring more than a decade ago, and predated Amtrak's creation, Marciniak said. The Westerner stopped traveling through Big Spring sometime around 1968.

'There's no doubt that Texas is interested in (train service)... The section trip is a trial run.'

The Texas and Pacific railroad lines that the trains used to travel have now merged with another railroad line to become the Missouri Pacific Railroad, Ms. Marciniak said.

Community response to the test run has been strongly in favor of Amtrak service to the area, Ms. Marciniak said. "There's no doubt that Texas is interested in (train service)," she said.

According to the National Association of Railroad Passengers, an independent non-government agency, Amtrak is considering adding train service from West Texas to Houston and New Orleans during the upcoming World's Fair in New Orleans.

The test run of the proposed Texas route is part of an effort by Amtrak officials to examine adding routes in other parts of the country, Ms. Marciniak said.

"The section trip is a trial run. Amtrak is constantly looking at ways to improve and extend service," Ms. Marciniak said.

Critics of the federally-subsidized passenger train corporation have charged that Amtrak service is concentrated in the "Northeast Corridor," the heavily populated metropolitan section of the country along the Atlantic seaboard. They have called for Amtrak to extend its service to other areas of the country.

According to the NARP, if certain investments are made in the national system, the national routes could generate more money than the routes along the Northeast Corridor. The longer hauls in the west would have a larger ratio of revenue per passenger miles, which the NARP says is more important in determining revenue than the large number of riders on short trips in the Northeast.

Even if the trial run is successful, service to West Texas would not begin for some time, Ms. Marciniak said.

"There's no time table (for starting service to West Texas)," Ms. Marciniak said. "This is very preliminary."

Corpse found in county

Local law enforcement agencies Tuesday are continuing to investigate the possible homicide of a man whose bullet-ridden body was found Monday afternoon near Gail Road about two miles from the Snyder Highway, Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard said.

Howard County sheriff's deputies, Texas Ranger Charles Brune and other law enforcement agency officers about 4:30 p.m. Monday found a body of a man in his early 20s lying near the road. The man had suffered gunshot wounds to his body, Standard said.

The body probably had been lying near the road "for a day or two," Standard said. Justice of the Peace Willie Grant, who also was present when the body was discovered, said she will not determine time or cause of death until Dr. Robert Rember completes an autopsy.

The body has not been positively identified. Officials are waiting for the outcome of fingerprint classification and other forensic tests, Standard said. The results of those tests could be completed later today, he said.

The sheriff's office learned of the body from a Gail Road motorist who told deputies of an object near the road that appeared to be a body, Standard said.

Brackeen to oppose Crooker

Republican voters in Howard County will have a choice in the upcoming May primary for County Commissioner for Precinct 3.

Travis E. Brackeen, an electrical contractor, has filed as a Republican challenger to the seat currently filled by W.B. "Bill" Crooker.

Brackeen is the president of Boss-Linam Electric Inc. at 604 Industrial Park and is also listed in the city directory as vice president of Brackeen Acoustic Co. Inc. of the same address.

He has listed himself as his own campaign chairman, as have all the other county candidates who have already filed.

Crooker, Brackeen's only opponent in the only Republican primary race, is the owner of Mr. G's Garden Center.

Democratic candidates for the same post include: Bob E. Wilson, a life insurance salesman; Elbow farmer Oliver B. "Bud" Nichols; Lomax farmer Neil Fryar; Jonell Smallwood, owner of Smallwood's Western Wear; and retired Howard County resident Garner Thixton of Sterling City Route.

Man gets 8 years for pot

A Dallas man who pleaded guilty Monday in 118th District Court to possession of more than 300 pounds of marijuana faced the same maximum sentence as someone charged with possession of as little as four ounces of the drug, Assistant District Attorney Don Richard said.

Although law enforcement officials said Mark James Smith, 37, of Dallas was arrested with more than 330 pounds of marijuana in his possession, he pleaded guilty to a third-degree felony.

District Judge Jim Gregg sentenced Smith to eight years in prison and a $5,000 fine. Smith also forfeited his van as a result of the charges, Richard said.

Smith had been indicted by a Howard County Grand Jury for possession of more than 200 pounds of marijuana but less than 2,000 pounds, Richard said, which carries a stiffer penalty range than the one under which Smith eventually was sentenced.

The lesser charge was applied because, while Smith was under indictment, courts declared invalid the portion of the Texas statute that contained aggravated penalties for persons found to possess large

Bell breakup confuses Texans

Texas Poll Director
Third of five parts

A statewide poll indicates people are still largely confused about changes in their telephone service, suggesting that there are tremendous problems involved in communicating the effects of an important change that is national in scope.

A survey of Texas residents in December by the Texas Poll shows that 20 percent of them had not even heard of any changes in the telephone system scheduled for Jan. 1 this year.

This comes nearly two years after the U.S. Justice Department and American Telephone & Telegraph announced the historic agreement that essentially called for the deregulation of the telephone industry by 1984.

Although people with more education tended to have heard more about the changes, these findings indicate there is still great confusion on the matter:

• 54 percent said they were not aware that they would be asked to make a decision about which long distance company to use in 1984.

• 78 percent said they did not have enough information to make a choice.

• 85 percent said they were at least somewhat interested in receiving information about the changes in long distance services.

Economic barometer shows fair weather

By The Associated Press
The government's main economic barometer, the Index of Leading Indicators, resumed climbing in December following a slight dip in November, the Commerce Department said today.

The index rose 0.6 percent in the final month of 1983 following a 0.2 percent decline the previous month, marking the 15th increase in the past 16 months. November's decline was revised from an earlier report of a 0.4 percent drop.

The biggest contributor to the rise in December was a pickup in business and consumer borrowing, the Commerce Department said.

Meanwhile, a study commissioned by nine major companies said the traditional role of the United States in the world economy had become "much diminished" by the early 1980s as American manufacturers lost ground to foreign competition.

The report, released today by Data Resources Inc., a private consulting firm, said manufacturers have been handicapped by a dollar that is overvalued on world exchanges and by an economy that has been swinging from expansion to recession every three or four years.

Among its recommendations were calls for national policies to reduce interest rates, cut federal budget deficits and tailor tax laws to encourage more domestic investment.

A government report released

Monday said worker efficiency improved last year by the biggest margin since 1976, while companies' labor costs rose by the smallest amount since 1965.

The gain in productivity and the drop in labor costs are key reasons that corporate profits are on the rise.

Among companies reporting fourth-quarter results Monday, Phillips Petroleum Co. posted a 59 percent increase, Amerada Hess

GARDEN CITY — Severe weather spotters training will be conducted by the National Weather Service in Midland in the high school auditorium here at 2 p.m. on Thursday.

Training will cover these topics: the workings of the NWS warning system, identifying tornadoes and other forms of severe weather, reporting procedures, safety tips and a question and answer period.

The training, offered in cooperation with Civil Defense offices, is open to the public without charge. It will be offered in other area towns later in the spring.

Police Beat

Man arrested after rampage

A Big Spring man was arrested on a number of charges yesterday afternoon following a half-hour rampage that began when the man was refused entry into a local tavern, police said.

Arrested in connection with simple assault, resisting arrest, criminal mischief and traffic citations was Brian Keith Copeland, 23, of 1803 1/2 Lancaster. The arrest took place after the offenses were committed in the parking lot of the Crazy Horse Saloon at 3204 W. Hwy. 80 and at Copeland's residence, according to police.

Crazy Horse manager Kenneth Scott Ellis told police at 5:44 p.m. Monday that Copeland rammed a large metal sign worth $1,400 with his 1982 Ford Bronco, police said. Ellis also told police that Copeland tried to run him over in the parking lot of the tavern, police said.

Copeland and his vehicle were also involved in a hit and run accident in the tavern's parking lot, according to reports. The accident involved a 1971 Datsun belonging to Ira Hart Bingham of 1212 Mobile.

In another report, Donnie Franklin Tubb II of 306 W. 18th told police at 6:15 p.m. that Copeland struck him in the face with his fist, according to police.

Copeland was arrested at his residence at 1803 S. Lancaster, reports said.

Randall Robertson of 1109 Runnels told police at 11:50 a.m. Monday that someone between 8:30 p.m. Sunday and 6:30 a.m. Monday stole a Remington rifle and scope worth a total of $250 from his unlocked 1977 Ford pick-up truck, police reports said.

Corina Puentes of 3308 Auburn told police at 1:35 p.m. Monday that someone between 8 p.m. Saturday and 7 p.m. Sunday broke two glass window panes worth a total of $75 at her residence, police reports said. No entry was gained into the residence, reports said.

Rick Jones of 2903 Hunters Glen told police at 4:23 p.m. Monday that someone at about 3:50 p.m. Monday drove a large truck into a fence at the First Assembly of God Church at Fourth and Lancaster, police reports said. Damage was estimated to be $400, reports said.

Edward Garcia, 23, of 4204 Parkway was arrested at the intersection of 11th and Main in connection with driving while intoxicated and traffic citations, police reports said.

Manuel Cantu, 32, of 805 Johnson was arrested at 8:35 p.m. Monday in connection with forgery and possession of a controlled substance, police reports said.

Cake mixes recalled

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Procter & Gamble Co. will clear California store shelves of three muffin mixes containing residues of the cancer-causing pesticide EDB because the state "gave us no choice," a spokeswoman says.

But the Duncan Hines brand mixes will continue to be sold in other states "because absolutely, these products are safe," company spokeswoman Marjorie Bradford told a news conference Monday.

About 1,000 cases of Duncan Hines spicy apple, wild blueberry and bran muffin mixes will be removed from store shelves, she said.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency has asked all 50 states to conduct such tests before it sets national standards for acceptable levels of EDB.

Florida has banned the pesticide from citrus groves and has banned several products containing more than one part of EDB per billion, although the three muffin mixes are not on the state's list of banned products.

California officials found traces of EDB or ethylene dibromide, which is known to cause cancer in laboratory animals, in levels varying from 372 to 1,863 parts per billion in Duncan Hines packages on sale in grocery stores in Berkeley.

When the EDB report was released last week, Procter & Gamble refused to withdraw the mixes, although some stores did so on their own.

LEMON PROTESTERS — Peter and Diane Halferty pose with their 1979 Cadillac Eldorado diesel, a car they say is a lemon — just like it reads on the car's license plate. They belong to an organization that protests against General Motors cars.

Lemon losers

Groups form to protest diesel automobiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alan Foss was sold on the advantages of a diesel when he paid nearly $20,000 for a new Cadillac Seville three years ago.

He was willing to spend extra for an engine that would free him from long gasoline lines. Now Foss says "it's been a disaster."

The car has been in for repairs more than 70 times in three years, beginning only 20 miles out of the showroom. Even worse, now that GM has provided a new engine and the car seems to be running well, nobody wants to buy it.

"I've taken my car into the dealer I bought it from. The salesman looked at me very pleasantly, put his arm around my back and said, 'Look Al, why don't you take it somewhere else and sell it. We really don't want it here,'" recalls Foss, a Chicago-area general contractor.

More than a million people bought General Motors diesel cars between 1977 and 1981, expecting a hedge on skyrocketing gas prices and durability. Instead, thousands of them complain about one headache after another. Some have gone through two and three engines.

Problems hit the cars almost as soon as they hit the highways — fuel injection systems failed, head gaskets blew, crankshafts broke and engine blocks cracked. According to one survey in 1979 of owners of early model diesels, three out of four cars encountered engine trouble.

Peter Lopes of New York says his Oldsmobile diesel was towed so often that his insurance company — which picked up the cost — canceled his policy. "They said, you're not maintaining your car," Lopes recalled.

The 1979 Cadillac Seville diesel owned by Peter and Diane Halferty of Seattle has gone through three engines — the first failure coming after only 3,000 miles. Halferty estimates he has spent more than $18,000 to keep the $20,000 car on the road.

After the third engine, he put an ad in the Seattle newspapers — "Has your GM diesel auto engine failed? Ours has, let's take action." — and gave his phone number. There were more than 200 calls, and "Consumers Against General Motors" was born.

Today, said Mrs. Halferty, she has been in touch with an estimated 25,000 people from across the country who are having problems with GM diesels. The group still has a lawsuit pending against GM, and other suits abound.

Around the country other groups have sprung up, taking such names as "Lemon on Wheels" (New York), "General Motors Diesel Users Demanding Satisfaction — GM-DUDS" (Chicago) and "Disgruntled Diesel Owners Group — D-DOG" (Virginia).

Although the automaker declines to discuss settlements, leaders of various owner groups say GM has replaced engines, done other work beyond the warranty period and, in some cases, agreed to cash settlements, although the compensation varies widely.

Auto industry trade publications have estimated that GM already has paid more than $4 million in compensation stemming from the diesel problem. Halferty estimates the figure to be much higher, but GM would not confirm any figures.

But GM does not deny trouble with many of the V-8 diesel engines built by Oldsmobile but also found in 1978 through 1981 Cadillacs, Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Buicks and small GMC trucks.

"We'd be less than candid if we said we haven't had some complaints ... from owners of the earlier (diesel) models," acknowledged Dave Huggens, a GM spokesman in Detroit.

But GM's critics have accused the automaker of haphazardly rushing the cars into production to take advantage of the strong demand at the time for diesels and to meet fleet-wide government fuel economy requirements.

"These cars never should have been sold," declares Clarence Dittow, director of the consumer group Center for Auto Safety, which charges that the failures stem from GM converting a V-8 gasoline engine into a diesel instead of designing a diesel from ground up.

Key parts of the system such as the crankshaft, fuel injection pumps, and filtration mechanism couldn't stand up to the increased strength requirements and higher operating temperatures of the diesel, the critics argue.

"The engine went through the normal engine development process," said GM spokesman Huggens. "On a new product sometimes when it's the first one ... sometimes things go wrong. We do continually improve our products ... trying to make them better."

Although many of the car owners have received or appear to be close to winning settlements that compensate them for past repairs and even cost of rental cars, GM so far has balked at demands being made that it also reimburse for loss in the cars' resale value.

quantities of drugs, Richard said. Smith was arrested inside the city limits of Big Spring by 13 law enforcement officials from the Howard County sheriff's office, the Big Spring police, the Department of Public Safety and the Texas Rangers.

State courts invalidated the portion of the drug statute containing penalties for possession of large amounts of drugs because the caption for the bill listing the subjects it contained did not mention the aggravated penalties, Richard said.

The problem has been corrected and the law reinstated, Richard said. The law's caption is now two pages long, he said.

But because the portion of the law in effect at the time of Smith's arrest and indictment was ruled invalid, he faced the same maximum penalty as a person charged with possession of more than four ounces — two to 10 years imprisonment and a maximum fine of $5,000, Richard said.

The ruling is unusual, Richard said. "They (the courts) expect the public to know the law, but they're saying the legislators can't know what's in a bill if it's not in the caption," he said.

Also arrested the same day in Ector County on similar charges was Jorge Manuel Pariente, 55, of Denton. Texas Rangers Capt. Maurice Cook of Midland and Charles Brune of Big Spring said Pariente was arrested while driving a pick-up truck that they said contained "about 250 pounds" of marijuana.

Pariente was charged with possession of more than 50 pounds of marijuana under the aggravated portion of the state drug laws that was determined to be invalid, according to a spokesperson in the Ector County District Attorney's office.

He later waived trial by jury and was tried by a state district judge in Ector County for a third-degree felony, and sentenced to 10 years probation and a $5,000 fine, the spokesperson said.

The arrests were made on the basis of information Texas Rangers received from a former law enforcement officer who said he saw a plane land at Horsehead Crossing, near the Crane County border, and saw the two vehicles at the plane's landing site.

According to Cook, Horsehead Crossing "is known as a customary spot" for narcotics traffic.

Corp. reported a 31 percent gain, Boeing Co. was up 8 percent, Dow Jones & Co. Inc. rose 37 percent, Time Inc. was up 27 percent and United Technologies Corp. rose 22 percent.

The Labor Department said its measure of U.S. worker productivity rose 3.1 percent last year, the biggest yearly improvement since a 3.2 percent gain in 1976. Unit labor costs, which account for about two-thirds of the value of a company's output, rose only 2.4 percent last year, the smallest increase since 1965.

In the final three months of last year, productivity increased at a 1 percent annual rate. Last year's improvement reflected a 4.4 percent rise in production and a 1.2 percent increase in hours worked. When farming was included, overall U.S. private business productivity rose 2.6 percent last year, compared to a 0.1 percent decline in 1982.

Productivity typically improves after a recession because businesses step up production in reaction to improved sales prospects, while they delay any large-scale hiring.

In other economic developments Monday:

—The Labor Department said women who held full-time jobs last year received two-thirds the average weekly earnings of their male counterparts. It said the average weekly earnings reported by men totaled $393, compared with $260 for women.

—Energy Secretary Donald Hodel, citing the conflict between Iran and Iraq that threatens Persian Gulf oil supplies, warned of a possible disruption in U.S. oil imports sometime this year. Hodel added, however, that a disruption could be minor and offset by unused oil production capacity elsewhere in the world.

—Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) said it will trim its work force by about 3,000 employees this year through attrition, terminations and voluntary early retirement to improve earnings.

—Volkswagen of America Inc. said it is abandoning its Rabbit model.

Pesticide detected in W. Texas wildlife

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — High levels of DDE, a byproduct of the pesticide DDT which was banned 12 years ago in the United States, have been detected in some species of wildlife in the trans-Pecos region of West Texas, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Though DDE levels have not risen significantly in the area's waterfowl, they have increased in lizards and western kingbirds, said Tom Smylie, a spokesman for the southwestern district of the Fish and Wildlife Service in Albuquerque.

Results have not been tabulated yet for fish and crayfish in the area and these results could determine the source of the chemical, he said. A study on DDE levels should be completed by the Fish and Wildlife Service in late March.

"There has been absolutely no evidence that indicates that DDT is a public health or environmental threat in Texas," Ralph Meacham, a spokesman for the Environmental Protection Agency in Dallas, said Monday.

"There is not much of a possibility" that any DDT found in Texas has been smuggled in through Mexico since state health and agriculture officials, along with officials from the U.S. Customs Service, have been monitoring it closely, Meacham said. Furthermore, DDT is no longer economical for farmers since better pesticides have come on the market, he said.

"Finding DDE is positive in the sense that it indicates that the DDT used in the past is breaking down and could be disappearing," Meacham said. He explained that findings of DDT could come from old levels of the pesticide trapped in sediments along tributaries of the Rio Grande River. He said DDT takes several years to break down and that the chemical could just now be rising up after disintegrating in the lower sedimentary levels.

The Fish and Wildlife Service's national monitoring program detected high levels of DDT in the trans-Pecos region, and in the Rio Grande area of New Mexico. The federal study so far has focused only on those two areas, Smylie said.

Big Spring Cable taps new general manager

Randy Rogers has been named general manager of Big Spring Cable TV and will officially take the title Feb. 1.

Rogers is replacing James A. Lancaster, who has been manager of Big Spring Cable TV since 1962, when 105 cable subscribers were served. Big Spring Cable TV now serves more than 9,500 subscribers.

Lancaster's wife, Jean, will retire with her husband. She began working for Big Spring Cable TV in 1965 and served as office manager. The Lancasters plan to remain in Big Spring.

Rogers and his wife, Brenda, are moving to Big Spring from Conroe, where

Stray Cat to marry Ekland

LONDON — Swedish actress Britt Ekland, 41, is saying she'll marry her 22-year-old drummer boyfriend — Jim McDonnell of the pop group Stray Cats — "whenever we find the time," a magazine reports.

Ms. Ekland also said she considers her relationship with McDonnell "the best I've ever had."

The actress, once married to the late Peter Sellers, was quoted by Women's Own magazine as saying: "It has nothing to do with age whatever. He's a very intellectual person. We're right for each other mentally and emotionally."

"He has taught me a lot of things — in many ways he's a lot more mature than I am."

Miss Ekland said part of "the excitement" of being her age is that she has "all this knowledge and experience — and has finally learned how to use it."

Connery, Rivers 'honored'

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Joan Rivers and Sean Connery are traveling to Harvard at the invitation of a group of young admirers — the Hasty Pudding Theatricals.

The undergraduate musical comedy troupe Monday announced that its annual award will be shared by the 53-year-old Connery, famed for his suave movie portrayal of James Bond, and Miss Rivers, 46, the comic known for her catty barbs at such celebrities as Elizabeth Taylor.

Connery will pick up his award Feb. 22 and Miss Rivers will receive hers Feb. 15, according to Hasty Pudding, which describes itself as the oldest dramatic organization in the nation.

Past winners include Steven Spielberg, Robert Redford, Alan Alda, Johnny Carson, Julie Andrews, Meryl Streep, Elizabeth Taylor and Katharine Hepburn.

Each year Hasty Pudding puts on a satirical musical comedy in which all roles are played by men. This year's presentation, the 136th, is billed as "Jungle Belles — An Amazon Extravaganza."

Cagney mourns son's death

STANFORDVILLE, N.Y. — James Cagney, who recently filmed a movie about a family reunion, is mourning the death of his adopted son, James Jr., his secretary says.

The younger Cagney died Friday of a heart attack in Washington, D.C., the secretary, Marge Zimmermann, said Monday from Cagney's farm in rural Dutchess County.

The son, about 42, last lived in Virginia, she said. He was a "Jack of all trades, master of none," Mrs. Zimmermann added.

"There was an estrangement," she said. "He was given too much. He was given the ... property in Martha's Vineyard, and that was the last we heard from him. That was two years ago."

She described the actor as very upset over the death. Cagney, 84, has just completed a CBS television film called "Terrible Joe Moran," about the reunion of an aged ex-heavyweight champ with his long-lost granddaughter.

Cagney also has an adopted daughter, Casey Thomas, who lives in California.

Soap character to be killed

NEW YORK — Actress Denise Alexander says she's not happy with the way her character will leave the popular ABC soap opera "General Hospital" — by dying in an auto accident.

Miss Alexander, who plays Dr. Lesley Webber, bade farewell to about 75 fans who attended a goodbye breakfast at a Manhattan hotel Monday.

The actress and ABC could not come to terms on a contract. As a result, Lesley will die off-screen in a car accident that viewers will learn about in the show's March 9 episode.

After the breakfast, the fans marched across the street to picket the network studios with signs reading "Let Lesley Live!"

Wonder Woman marries

LOS ANGELES — Television's "Wonder Woman" Lynda Carter got married in a star-studded ceremony attended by about 250 guests including entertainers Loni Anderson, Barbara Mandrell, actress Valerie Harper, and TV hosts Ed McMahon and Mike Douglas.

The groom was Robert A. Altman, 36, a partner in the Washington law firm of Clifford and Warnke. He also is president of First American Corp.

Cease-fire ordered in Beirut

BEIRUT — Shiite Moslem militia leaders today ordered their fighters to observe a cease-fire and described as "accidental" the series of battles Monday that killed one U.S. Marine and three Lebanese civilians.

Three other Marines were wounded in the day-long clashes, and spokesmen for the Shiite militia group Amal and at south Beirut hospitals said the Marines' fire killed a 9-year-old girl and two other civilians, and wounded 22 people.

An Amal spokesman said militiamen in Shiite neighborhoods near the Marine base at Beirut's airport were told to "strictly adhere to the ceasefire and refrain from any form of attacks on the Marines."

"Yesterday's collision was accidental, not the result of a particular animosity by either side," said the spokesman at Amal headquarters. "Our men said the Marines fired first and they (the Marines) said they fired because they were shelled."

"Things have been straightened out mainly through direct communication between the Amal command and the Marine command," said the spokesman, who asked to remain anonymous. The cease-fire took effect Monday night.

Lebanon's state radio said U.S. jets from warships offshore staged reconnaissance runs at dawn today over the city and the surrounding hills. Residents said the planes released scarlet heat balloons to deflect ground-to-air missiles, but radio stations said the jets drew no ground fire.

The Marine who died Monday was the 259th member of the peacekeeping force killed in Lebanon since the Marines were deployed in Beirut in September 1982. His name has been withheld until his family is notified. Four other U.S. servicemen not in the peacekeeping force were killed when the U.S. Embassy was bombed last April.

Shultz heads for El Salvador

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State George P. Shultz today headed for El Salvador, where he is expected to again tell leaders that American military support could be jeopardized if rightist death squad activities are not curbed.

El Salvador is Shultz's first stop of a tour that also includes Venezuela, Brazil, Grenada and Barbados.

All are in varying stages of democratic development but none is in more precarious condition than El Salvador, where officials acknowledge there is little prospect that presidential elections set for March 25 will end four years of civil war. Leftist insurgent groups are boycotting the elections.

Shultz's visit to El Salvador comes at a time when the administration is gearing up for a request to Congress for some $300 million in additional assistance, about equally divided between economic and military aid.

Shultz was to have visited El Salvador last October but postponed the trip because of the bombing of the U.S. Marine headquarters in Beirut. After a stay of about nine hours in El Salvador, Shultz will fly to Venezuela to attend the inauguration of President-elect Jaime Lusinchi on Thursday.

U.S. bargains for arms talks

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration, seeking an election-year breakthrough in stalled arms control talks, is telling the Soviet Union that it might trade some U.S. strategic advantages to limit other Soviet nuclear weapons.

The United States will also consider merging two separate sets of talks involving long-range nuclear missiles and nuclear weapons in Europe, chief U.S. arms control negotiator Edward Rowny said Monday.

"We believe our advantages in bombers and cruise missiles can be traded off for their advantages in (land-based) ballistic missiles," Rowny said, suggesting one proposal.

A day after President Reagan formally announced that he is a candidate for re-election, Rowny met with Reagan at the White House and then sounded the conciliatory note toward the Soviets.

Rowny denied there was a political motive in the timing of the meeting, but polls have consistently shown that one of Reagan's weakest areas is foreign relations and arms control.

"The president has always had a deep commitment to arms control," Rowny said. "He's not going to make arms control a political issue."

Rowny said that if the Soviets agree to resume the talks, the United States is willing to offer "trade-offs."

"We are now in a position, when we return to the table, to make a breakthrough," Rowny said. "It's in their interest to come back."

Rowny heads the U.S. team that was negotiating to try to limit long-range nuclear arms in the START talks. A separate effort was aimed at cutting nuclear weapons in Europe, but the Soviets ended both negotiations when new U.S. nuclear-tipped Pershing 2 and cruise missiles were deployed in Western Europe last month.

Billy Graham hospitalized

ROCHESTER, Minn. — The Rev. Billy Graham, hospitalized for treatment of high fever and acute sinus and ear infections, has canceled all engagements for the next two weeks on the advice of doctors, an aide says.

The 65-year-old evangelist's condition was described Monday as "satisfactory and improving."

Graham, who recently completed a three-week visit to England to prepare for a British crusade this spring, checked into Rochester Methodist Hospital on Sunday, officials said. The hospital is affiliated with the Mayo Clinic.

The aide, T.W. Wilson said Graham and his wife, Ruth, have been forced to turn down an invitation from President Reagan and first lady Nancy Reagan for an overnight stay at the White House this week.

Graham will be hospitalized until about the end of the week, doctors said.

Doctor testifies in Jones trial

GEORGETOWN, Texas — Dr. Kathleen Holland says she had no reason to believe Chelsea McClellan was killed by anything other than the seizure nurse Genevieve Jones' reported the girl had in the pediatrician's office.

But on Monday, at the nurse's murder trial, her former boss said she later found out otherwise. The 15-month-old girl might have had a seizure-like attack, but it was caused by the injection of a powerful drug, Hs. Holland testified.

"In retrospect, the movements I saw are consistent with the administration of succinylcholine," she told jurors.

Ms. Jones, 33, is charged with killing Chelsea on Sept. 17, 1982, by injecting succinylcholine at Ms. Holland's Kerrville office. The doctor had ordered two routine immunizations for the girl. Prosecutors say Ms. Jones instead injected the muscle relaxant.

Ms. Holland, who has been sued for $7 million by Chelsea's family, spent all of Monday on the witness stand facing cross-examination by defense lawyer Burt Carnes. The lawyers completed their questioning of her late Monday. Prosecutors expect to wrap up their case this week.

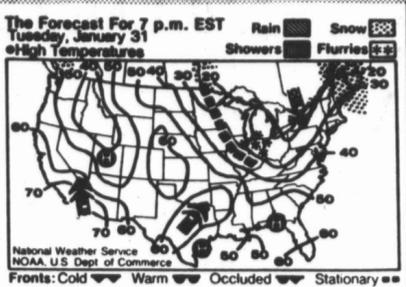

Throughout the trial, the defense has tried to show that Chelsea could have died of natural causes. Ms. Holland acknowledged that the girl faced a series of health problems in her short life. Chelsea was born two months early and weighed just over two pounds. She suffered from a membrane disease known as "Respiratory Distress Syndrome," common in premature infants.

The girl twice suffered seizure-like attacks in Ms. Holland's office. Both times she was with Ms. Jones. On Aug. 24, 1982 — the second day Ms. Holland's office was opened — Ms. Jones called for the doctor and said the girl had gone limp while playing on the office floor.

Ten days in a Kerrville hospital showed no serious problems.

On Sept. 17, 1982, Chelsea had a similar attack after getting two shots from the nurse. She died later that day while being taken to a San Antonio hospital.

Weather

By the Associated Press

West Texas — Fair to partly cloudy tonight with slight chance of rain southeast. Mostly cloudy south and mostly fair elsewhere Wednesday. Lows 25 Panhandle and mountains to 32 southeast and Big Bend valleys. Highs Wednesday near 60 mountains and far west to 65 most sections and 72 Big Bend valleys.

Showers pelt South Texas

A steady rain pelted wide areas of South Texas before dawn today, but the rest of the state relished fair skies and seasonably mild temperatures.

A thick blanket of clouds that produced showers extended from northern Mexico into the Hill Country and eastward to off the middle and upper coasts. The heaviest rain was noted south of a line from Corpus Christi to Laredo, the National Weather Service said.

The mercury settled into the 20s and 30s during the pre-dawn hours over North and West Texas, while southern sections reported readings in the 40s. Temperatures at 4 a.m. ranged from 27 at Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock to 48 at McAllen.

Light northerly winds were the rule over the eastern half of Texas, while southerly and southwesterly breezes dominated the west.

The coastal marine forecast called for northerly and northeasterly breezes at 10 to 15 mph. Scattered areas of light rain were possible along and off the coast through Wednesday.

The forecast called for rain and cool temperatures through tonight across much of South Texas. High clouds were expected to increase over the rest of the state.

Elsewhere in the nation, a winter storm that swept through the Midwest with blizzard-like force lost some of its punch when it reached the Atlantic Coast, but regained enough strength today to drop half a foot of snow across eastern New York and New England.

As it howled through the Ohio Valley on Monday, the storm was blamed for minor injuries to 13 children and one adult on a Pittsburgh bus that skidded on ice and slid into a tree.

A 23-year-old Nebraska woman died when her car skidded into another vehicle on icy Nebraska Highway 77.

The storm dumped 12 inches of snow at Rensselaer, Ind., and forced the closings of parts of interstate highways in Illinois, Minnesota and Indiana before it weakened slightly over Pennsylvania, only to pick up more moisture as it swerved northward today.

"It dropped about all the snow it had; now it's just regenerated," forecaster Harry Gordon at the national Severe Storms Center in Kansas City, Mo., said this morning.

Winter storm warnings for locally heavy snow remained in effect this morning over the interior of southern New England and the northern coast of New England.

Snow was falling over many areas from Michigan across New York and New Jersey to New England, as well as in parts of Minnesota.

In New England, up to 7 inches of snow had fallen in the Merrimack Valley and central Massachusetts Rhode Island had up to 5 inches.

Northern New Jersey also had 5 inches of snow by early today and New York's Catskill Mountains had 6 inches with more falling.

Temperatures on left indicate previous day's high and overnight low to 8 a.m. EST. Temperatures on right indicate outlook for tomorrow.

Video ruling aids the public

The Supreme Court acted wisely recently in ruling that more than five million Americans do not violate copyright laws by videotaping television programs for personal use.

In overturning an appellate court that outlawed all unauthorized video recording of copyrighted material, the court said, in effect, that manufacturers of video recorders don't have to pay royalties to television producers and performers. Had the Supreme Court's decision been otherwise, a new financial burden would have fallen on consumers, who would have paid the royalties through higher prices for video equipment or would have lost the right to tape their favorite shows for viewing at their leisure.

So dramatic has been the denunciation of the Supreme Court decision by television and movie moguls one would think they were vying for Academy Awards. Television industry spokesmen are protesting that Hollywood's profit-making abilities are so crippled that actors' children will soon be starving in the streets. That's malarkey and all Hollywood knows it.

To the contrary, because most home video recording is done merely to permit viewers to decide when they will watch shows, television quite likely profits from the practice. The television industry and its advertisers gain any and every time viewers watch a show, regardless of whether it is the networks or the viewers themselves who determine when the program is seen.

Hollywood has a legitimate concern over video pirates who sell contraband copies of movies, sometimes before they have reached the nation's theaters. These illegal profiteers indeed are robbing the movie industry of millions of dollars each year. The Supreme Court, however, made it clear that its ruling applies only to video tapes made at home for personal use.

Video recorders, like tape recorders and photocopiers before them, represent advanced technology that has forced the courts and Congress to take a new look at some old ideas about copyrighted material. Videotaping television programs and tape recording music from radios are the electronic equivalents of photocopying published material. The courts have held that photocopying, when done for private, non-commercial use, is not illegal. Nor should it be.

It is one thing to provide copyright protection for television artists and producers to prevent commercial exploitation of their work by video pirates; it's something else to prohibit any videotaping of copyrighted works by ordinary citizens. Fortunately, the Supreme Court majority had the good sense to recognize the distinction.

Toothless fear

Do you have abnormal fears about silly little things like cavities, root canals and novacaine shots? If so, I can relate. I'm afraid of the word "dentist," much less what happens to you once you enter his office.

I recently visited a dentist after a very long period of hiding out. What encouraged me to call was an effective promo on television featuring a glass of water. Suddenly a pair of dentures splashed down into the glass, and the announcer made some stirring remark about taking good care of your teeth.

That convinced me to turn myself in for a check-up. I was about as excited about it as a jail sentence.

I have nothing against dentists. In fact, every dentist I've known has been a terrific person. They do their best to try and put you at ease, even if you're gripping the chair so hard the arm rests come off in your hands.

There's just something about walking into an office, sitting down in a big chair, propping your feet up, staring up at the ceiling and waiting to hear footsteps behind you that shakes me up.

When I was escorted to the chair, I remembered why I had waited so long between visits. I thought about telling the hygienist that something had come up and I was going to have to leave, but once I sat down I figured she'd see right through me. So instead I sat there trembling, waiting for the dentist to come in, pick up one of those shiny, sharp little instruments and begin searching around inside my mouth.

It was because of this fear of shiny, sharp little instruments that I put off calling for an appointment. Once, I practically had my fingers on the dial when I was talking to a friend who grew up in Germany. She described in detail a bit of dentistry done on her without the aid of novacaine. She could remember the dentist beginning to drill a tooth, then saying something like "scream if I hit a nerve, and I'll stop for a minute."

Needless to say, I put off the call a week or so after that.

When I was getting up my courage to make the call again I was talking to another friend. She said, "You know, I'm allergic to novacaine. After one session in the dentist's chair, my mouth was swollen and numb for DAYS. My gums began bleeding and my face broke out."

I put off the call again. Of course, once in the chair, things weren't quite as bad as I had made them out to be. The only pain I felt was caused by cramps I got in my fingers from gripping the chair so hard.

The sin of saving taxpayers money

WASHINGTON — Robert Reilly was a top official at the U.S. Information Agency until he committed an unpardonable sin: He tried to save the taxpayers some money.

This seemed to offend a congressional aide who handles the USIA's budget. Reilly's superior, Charles Wick, feared that antagonizing the aide might imperil the budget that provides USIA with daily manna. To placate the aide, Wick banished poor Reilly to a lowly outpost. Discouraged, the taxpayers' hero left.

The whole byzantine affair centered on a junket to Australia; such things are important in Washington. Here are the dreary details:

The man who wanted to go to Australia was Spencer Oliver, who earned a footnote in history as the politico whose phone at the Democratic Party headquarters was tapped by the Watergate burglars.

Oliver also had a telephone set up at the American Council of Young Political Leaders, a bipartisan educational outfit he founded in 1970, which gets about $400,000 a year from USIA.

He has now moved his phone to the Helsinki Commission where he is the staff director. But he continues to serve on ACYPL's board.

Oliver is an inveterate traveler at the taxpayers' expense. He not only toured the United States as an ACYPL official, but from 1970 to 1981 he went on 32 trips abroad — to Western Europe, the Soviet Union, Japan, China, Latin America and Africa.

When contacted, Oliver contended that his travels were important to promote ACYPL's objectives and were strictly business. His critics call them "junkets" and charge that he also gave his political cronies trips at USIA's expense. In 1982, Oliver asked USIA to pay for his 33rd overseas trip — this one to Australia with a group of ACYPL delegates. The travel request was channeled to Reilly who saw no need for an escort to accompany the delegates and so notified ACYPL.

If the delegates had needed a translator and Oliver could have fulfilled that function, Reilly indicated, USIA might have approved the expense. But Reilly solemnly noted that English is spoken in Australia.

Since Oliver was a Democrat, his travel wishes should have been of small consequence to the Reagan administration. But Washington is a city of interlocking connections. Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., is chairman of the Helsinki Commission, where Oliver works. He is also chairman of the subcommittee that oversees USIA's budget.

Fascell was the model of propriety in this whole sideshow. But a busy congressman doesn't always know what is done in his name.

The subcommittee aide who handles USIA matters for Fascell is Virginia Schlundt. She placed a call to the deputy director of USIA and, according to one account, "chewed him out for half an hour." The substance of her complaint was that Reilly had made a serious mistake, that Oliver should go to Australia and that Reilly should be fired.

In the end, Oliver went to Australia but used ACYPL's funds. Wick groused that Reilly had used bad judgment when he rejected Oliver's trip request. "I need Dante Fascell," the USIA director later confessed to a group of congressional aides. "He's too important to our budget."

After a brief period in the USIA's doghouse, Reilly left the agency. But the final chapter was written in a highly sensitive USIA memo, which my associate Dale Van Atta has obtained. The memo charges that most of the Democrats sent abroad by ACYPL from 1978 to 1982 were from "a definable clique that was active in Democratic Party affairs in the 1960s (who) served as the core of the Young Democrats."

Oliver isn't mentioned by name. But he was head of the Young Democrats in the 1960s. Later he founded ACYPL and became its foremost junketeer.

The memo also notes that "an inordinate number of representatives of particular states" were included among ACYPL's globe-trotting travelers. Specifically cited was Florida — Fascell's home state.

Footnote: Virginia Schlundt did not respond to several telephone calls. HUMBUNG OF THE WEEK: Shortly before the holidays, Postmaster General William Bolger gave the customary warning to Postal Service employees against accepting gifts from the people they serve. Postal workers are paid adequately, officials explained.

But with Bolger, it's a case of "Do as I say, not as I do." The postmaster-general is paid $80,000 a year — adequate by most standards. Yet he recently accepted appointment to the board of directors of a major optical firm — a sinecure that will net him $12,000 an year, plus $650 for every board meeting he attends.

Good Samaritans help with car fire

To the editor:
Mr. Mitchell and LaVara Mitchell, his wife, wish to express their thanks and appreciation to the good people who helped put out the fire when our car caught on fire this past Tuesday, January 24th.

Mr. Mitchell was travelling North down South Gregg, and near the Newsom's Store, when the car caught on fire. A filling station attendant, a man from a 16-wheeler and the man who poured his drinking water helped put the fire out before the fire department got there.

This incident reminds us of the story of the Good Samaritan, in the Bible. It is refreshing to know that there are some good people in Big Spring, Texas that will accommodate you, regardless of race.

Choosing Jesus instead of Darwin

To the Editor:
After reading your column in the paper Sunday, that Briscoe wrote, I feel it necessary to write my feelings and I'm sure the feelings of many Americans today. I am tired of sitting by while these "Humanists" try to change our laws and our way of life.

I have always believed there was a God or some superior being that put this highly complex life, as we know it today, together but it was just 5 years ago that I accepted the Lord in my life. I am now 35. I have known what it is like to live in this world without "Jesus Christ" in my life. People are searching for something that works and they're not going to find it in "Darwin Drugs" or alcohol but in our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

Through the Lord I am finding a love and success in my life that I have never known and never found in the world and for once in my life I truly love something worth fighting for.

I do not intend to have my kids pressured into believing that there is no "God" not by our public schools or our government or any other source.

If our Constitution and Freedom is taken away from us by the "likes of these" then we have no rights and nothing worth fighting for. In 60 or 70 years we will all know whether or not there is a God, and if he does truly exist as the Bible, "The Holy Word of God," says that he does, then where does that leave us if we had not accepted him.

If our lives on this earth were permanent then I might have believed in Darwin's Theory but as it is, I have accepted the Lord as my Savior and am looking forward to meeting him in Heaven, for an eternal life that will be perfect and without sin.

Tell me, what is Keith Briscoe looking forward to?

Resident wants cable service

To the editor:
For many years, the residents on the North Service Road of I-20 from just west of Cosden down to Jack Cathey Co., have asked for the Big Spring Cable TV company to install cable to them. I have lived in this area, I know this is a fact. There are approximately 11 businesses, 63 mobile homes, and 10 houses in this area.

It has been the standard reply of the cable company that installing lines to this area is "too expensive." If they can try to accommodate 17 residences in the Coahoma area, why is that not more expensive than trying to accommodate 84 residences and businesses, that are closer to Big Spring?

I think they ought to try to accommodate Big Spring and the local area before they tackle Coahoma's cable problem.

Volunteers recognized at luncheon

...named outstanding volunteer

Joy Henning was awarded the 11th annual Jack Y. Smith Award for being an outstanding Big Spring State Hospital volunteer at the hospital's Volunteer Service Council luncheon, Jan. 26.

Mrs. Henning became a member of the BSSH's Public Responsibility committee in 1977. She made weekly visits to patients in the Admission Unit. In 1979, she became chairman of the committee. She also has served on the Patient Abuse committee. Mrs. Henning currently serves on a committee to develop plans for recreational, exercise, and visiting areas proposed for the back of BSSH's campus. This is a project of the Volunteer Service Council.

Awards were presented to certified volunteers who served a certain amount of hours by August 31, 1983. 100-hour pins were given to Royce Clay, Vanessa Cooper, Ruth Eubanks and Madeleine Maehl. 500-hour bars were given to Mrs. Henning, Wanda Mohr, Nita Saylor, James Weaver and Covie Williams. Hazel Duggan and Gene Puckett were given 1,000-hour bars. Juanita Cullins, Laurel Parker and Ruth Ryan were given 1,500-hour bars.

Receiving 2,000-hour bars were Martha Callaway and Hattie Mae Graham. Faye Wallace and Murlene Williams received 3,000-hour bars. Mari Tidmore received her 4,500-hour bars. Doris Day received her 5,500-hour bars.

Della Fox received her 8,000-hour bars. Minnie Howell was given her 10,500-hour bars. Dona Reed received her 13,500-hour bars. Tup Ferguson received her 15,000-hour and 15,500-hour bars.

It was announced that Clara Richey is the first Nursing Scholarship recipient.

The Volunteer Office is in need of sponsors for subscriptions to the Big Spring Herald for the patients. The Volunteer Council provided 13 subscriptions at a cost of $48 each to the hospital.

A.J. Prager has loaned the Volunteer Council the use of the former Prager Men's and Boys' Wear building at 112 E. 3rd for a rummage sale. A tentative date for late March is being planned. The proceeds from the sale will help defray volunteers' expenses going to the State Volunteer Meeting.

Following the luncheon, a meeting was held to discuss the proposed Volunteer Resale Shop.

Easter Seal plans projects

The Easter Seal Society For Crippled Children and Adults of Howard County distributed plans for their fundraising campaign for 1984 during a meeting, Jan. 10.

The first event the Society had was a benefit dance, Jan. 27, sponsored by the Eagles Lodge on Third St. All proceeds went to Easter Seals.

Pat Highley and Naomi Coleman were appointed to head the dance committee. Jim Wilson volunteered to do advertising. Other committee chairmen appointed were Melinda McCann, fundraising and egg hunt; Delores Albert, neighbor-to-neighbor and chili supper; Bill Laster and O.L. Brown, coffee day; Edwina Reagan and Blackie Reagan, canisters; Margaret Barnett, lily day; Cindy Coleman and Cindy Ehart, hold-up; Ann Weaver, special events, and Fannie Clark, mail outs.

A thank-you was received from Jesus Viera's family. Viera, who suffered a stroke that left him with paralysis, was referred to the Easter Seals by Wayne Carrol, head of Malone-Hogan Physical Therapy Department. He received a leg brace from a Midland company through Easter Seals, which will help him continue his therapy.

Service organizations and community groups interested in learning about the services of the Easter Seal Society can contact Gertrude McCann at 267-6476 or 263-0562. Speakers are available for presentations upon request.

Dear Abby

Woman seeks shelter from wetness

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old woman with a terrible problem I've had ever since I was very young. I am embarrassed by underarm perspiration rings that reach down to my waist. This problem persists regardless of the season, temperature or humidity. Anti-perspirants are not effective for me. My clothes are literally destroyed.

I once heard that there is a surgical procedure to correct this problem. Can you tell me anything about it?

DEAR DRIPPING: Before considering surgery, I urge you to see an endocrinologist. Read on: DEAR ABBY: A reader recently asked you what an endocrinologist was. He said he had asked his doctor and his doctor didn't know.

Instead of answering his question, you told him to buy two dictionaries, one for himself and one for his doctor, then find another doctor.

Abby, you missed a good opportunity to educate your readers. Being an endocrinologist myself, I am frequently asked that question, and this is my reply:

Endocrinology is the study of hormones and the effects of deficiencies and excesses of these hormones. The endocrinologist specializes in a wide range of problems, such as calcium and bone problems, menstrual disorders, pituitary abnormalities, excessive hair growth in women and undersized children, to name a few. But the most common endocrine disorders are diabetes and thyroid disease.

ENDOCRINOLOGIST, RICHMOND, VA.

DEAR ABBY: I do not like to be touched — meaning grabbed or clutched or jabbed — even in a playful or nonthreatening manner.

My reaction (I naturally draw away) is taken as a rejection by some people, but I can't help it — that's just the way I am.

Dr. Donohue

Heart, heart arteries popular subjects

Dear Dr. Donohue: What is your most frequently asked medical question? — F.J.

I've been asked the one you ask on several occasions, but no, that's not the most frequently requested bit of information. I cannot give you that, but now, thanks to the wonders of the computer age and the diligence of my editors in California, I can give you a rough breakdown of subjects discussed most often last year, which, of course, reflects those of concern to most readers.

I answer more than a thousand letters each year in this space, and the variety of individual concerns is broad. But of reader questions addressed, more than 60 related directly to the heart, with another 20 concerning angina pectoris. So the heart and the heart arteries win my computer poll.

The next most popular subject of reader mail is drugs — medicines, their uses and their side effects. I answered more than 50 questions on that subject in the year just past.

Of the specific diseases, arthritis was No. 1. I answered 25 questions on that. There were also 25 responses to questions on herpes, a subject obviously moving up fast in my computer readout poll. Of the huge volume of letters received, one was on the subject of dimples, which I have to conclude is of least concern to readers, except, of course, to that writer of that particular letter.

My mail comes in all sizes and forms, from 32-page (double-sided) case histories to a few words scrawled across a postcard. I select questions to answer based on how informationally helpful I can be, both to the writer and to my readers. You asked a simple question and you got a complex answer, a sin of which I have probably been guilty of on more than one occasion in the past. But there it is.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What is the incubation period for Herpes I and Herpes II — the time from contact to breaking out? Gratefully. — T.A.

The incubation period for Herpes I is from two to 12 days, with the average being six or seven days. For Herpes II, it's shorter, from two to seven days. For other readers, Herpes I is sometimes referred to as the cold sore virus, and Herpes II the genital infection virus. The booklet "Herpes: Don't Panic" is available and readers may request a copy by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.00.

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "You Can Control Angina." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.25.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Chapter makes Ball plans

Plans for the Valentine's Ball was discussed at a meeting of Alpha Phi Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority in the home of Beckie Baker, Jan. 24.

A cocktail party to be held before the ball at the home of Cindy Jones was discussed. Members worked on the Valentine's Ball decorations, which will be completed at the next meeting.

Members voted on the charity to which the International Endowment Fund will send money for support. Pledge training was held before the meeting.

The next meeting will be Feb. 7 at Beckie Baker's home.

U.S. roads plagued by detours

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's roads and highways may be a lot less bumpy for car drivers this year, but they'll find their routes much more filled with twists and turns, reports an agency that monitors the condition of U.S. roads.

Despite the best of planning and use of the latest road maps, many drivers will find their travel routes altered by arrows and signs reading "detour," warns Donald S. Knight, executive director of TRIP, a non-profit highway research and information agency.

The detour signs already are being posted with increasing frequency because many states have finally begun allocating additional funds to long-postponed road repair and maintenance projects, Knight says.

The detour signs already are being posted with increasing frequency because many states have finally begun allocating additional funds to long-postponed road repair and maintenance projects.

In addition to the detours, Knight says, motorists also face bridge closings and lane restrictions as construction activity temporarily turns four-lane highways into two-lane roads.

TRIP attributes this stepped-up construction activity to recent federal and state increases in the amount of funds being allocated for road and bridge maintenance. Last April 1, the federal government began levying an additional 5-cent gasoline tax. The states, in turn, must provide their own local matching funds to be eligible to receive the federal dollars. As a result since Jan. 1, more than half of the states have raised their own state gas taxes.

"However, we need to realize that this is just the beginning," Knight says. "Right now, better than 68 percent of the nation's paved roads are in need of either resurfacing or reconstruction. In addition, more than 44 percent of the nation's bridges are classified as either 'structurally deficient' or 'functionally obsolete'.

"This backlog alone already carries a price tag of more than $320 billion," he notes. "And that does not consider the additional miles of roads and even more bridges that are continuing to fall into disrepair. These deteriorating facilities are being added to the list of deficiencies even as we try to work on reducing the existing list that we have already compiled."

Knight adds, "It is becoming ever more painfully obvious that we must finally come to grips with this continually increasing road and bridge deterioration before the problem becomes too enormous to handle."

"The end result is that motorists may often find the road over the river and through the woods may also mean over a detour and through some slower, reduced-lane roadways. Convenience will temporarily give way to road crews and pavement trucks working to improve the safety and efficiency of the nation's road network for all of us."

Garner, first bass, Chris Harwood, second bass and Jim Cowan, first bass. The group will sing in the All-State choir concert Feb. 4 in the Fort Worth Convention Center. Majorie Dodson is director of the Meistersingers.

Continental sues union

HOUSTON (AP) — Continental Airlines filed a $250 million suit against the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers Monday, claiming the union stuffed a strike vote ballot box in order to call a strike against the airline last August. Continental said the strike contributed significantly to forcing the airline to file Chapter 11 reorganization under the federal bankruptcy code one month later.

The suit, filed in federal district court in Los Angeles, alleges that Washington-based representatives of the international union illegally certified that the members had voted by an 87 percent margin to strike the airline.

Continental alleged, however, that the actual strike vote was below the required two-thirds majority.

The airline said the suit was based on information received from Gerald L. Smith, Roy Alford, John Showman and Phillip Herod, all elected union members of the IAM negotiating committee.

The suit also says that union officials illegally voted for members on vacation and sick leave and that some members attempting to vote were told they already had cast ballots.

In the final week of negotiations prior to the strike, the suit said, international officers of the IAM took over negotiations and refused to allow the fully designated eight-member negotiating committee to meet with the company.

Continental says it is seeking $250 million as damages for significant negative impact of the IAM strike on the airline.

Retail vegetable price hike seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The freezing weather that riddled crops in Florida and Texas last Christmas will help boost retail vegetable prices 5 to 8 percent this year, overall, compared to a 4 percent average increase in 1983, the Agriculture Department said Monday.

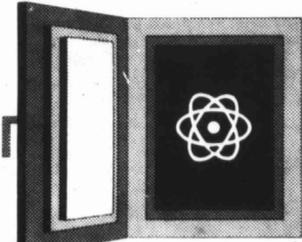

"Grower and retail prices for most vegetables will post moderate gains through mid-1984," the department's Economic Research Service said in a new outlook report.

As a result of the freeze, domestic supplies of tomatoes, peppers, cabbage and squash will be reduced through early March, the report said.

"Partially offsetting the freeze damage is a considerably larger Mexican crop of winter vegetables," the report said. "Acreage estimates show Mexican plantings of tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers and eggplant to be 19 to 35 percent more than a year ago. Nevertheless, squash plantings are only slightly higher. Depending on their timing and quality, Mexican supplies could ameliorate price hikes this winter."

TV turnoff backers hope lesson sticks

FARMINGTON, Conn. (AP) — Sponsors of a townwide resolution to turn off TV for a month are hoping residents will resist old viewing habits when the campaign officially ends at midnight Tuesday.

Promoters of the January "TV Turnoff" campaign, sponsored by the library directors in this affluent Hartford suburb of 16,000 people, will know in a few weeks how many people were more selective in their viewing and used their time more productively.

School children who plotted their families' viewing patterns since the beginning of January will turn in data this week, with results to be announced by Feb. 9. "I think we'll have some quantitative review of the success of the program," William Streich, superintendent of schools, said Monday.

But Betty Kelly, librarian at the Wallace Elementary School, said that "as far as the general reaction goes we've achieved what we wanted to do, which is raise consciousness."

The Farmington Library Council launched the campaign Jan. 3 with word spread by the town's 2,600 school children. Many who went along with the blackout said they made an exception for the National Football League playoff and Super Bowl games.

HC nursing program gets accreditation

The National League for Nursing granted full accreditation to the Howard College Associate Degree Nursing Programs at the board of review meeting in New York Jan. 24. Dr. Charles Hays, president of the Howard County Junior College District, said.

NLN on-site visitors came to Howard College in October. They toured the Big Spring campus and the extended campuses of the associate degree program in Del Rio and Snyder. Full accreditation is applicable to the extended campuses as well as the Big Spring campus, Hays said. Full accreditation is granted for a period of eight years.

Barbara Holdampf, Director of Allied Health, said, "The NLN accreditation program is founded on the belief that specialized accreditation provides for the maintenance and enhancement of educational quality and contributes to the improvement of nursing practice."

Mrs. Holdampf said that 131 students have graduated from the Howard College ADN program. More than 65 percent are employed as registered nurses in Big Spring. Several more are employed as registered nurses in the rural communities in the Big Spring area.

Applications are now being accepted for August admission into the ADN program. Interested applicants should contact the Director of Allied Health, 267-6311, ext. 216.

LVNs pass state board examination

Seventeen graduates of Howard College's 1983 licensed vocational nursing programs passed their state board examinations recently, Barbara Holdampf, director of allied health, said.

That represented a 100 percent pass rate, Mrs. Holdampf said.

Passing the exams were Barbara Adamson, Shirley Barlow, Shirley Brown, Belva Burzine, Bertie Cataldo, Elizabeth Duenez, Barbara Garrison and Ann Hays.

Also Elizabeth Hodges, Vinda Huff, Nancy Hughes, Denettie Marquez, Kathy Mault, Cathi Richardson, Gwen Smith, Vickie Smith and Lupe Suniga.

Applications for the 1984-85 LVN class are now being accepted.

MAYAN GODDESS OF WEAVING HANDMADE IN GUATEMALA

A great deal has changed since Bernal Diaz del Castillo (a soldier serving with Cortes) first wrote his chronicle of pre-Spanish crafts. Many of the crafts are no longer practiced. One, however, that has changed little with the centuries is hand looming of the native cotton. The only major change being the introduction of a frame standing loom to replace the hip loom. This innovation enabled the Indians to produce a wider and longer piece of fabric. The designs are still produced by a method known as finger weaving or loom embroidery. The weaver has separate hanks of colored threads and inserts them by hand across a limited number of warp threads to make a design. This produces a fabric that looks very much like a needle embroidery.

Panel examines 9-hour school day

AUSTIN (AP) — A special subcommittee on public education raised the possibility Monday of keeping students in class more and for full periods.

Suggestions included eliminating such approved days off as State Fair Day in Dallas and "Rodeo Day" in Fort Worth and prohibiting athletic and other events for two weeks a year while students cram for final exams.

"The thing we're up against is the American appetite for entertainment — if it's not fun, don't do it," said Dr. John Fleming, Fort Worth, chairman of the Subcommittee on Educating the Child.

Later, Fleming introduced his son Rob, who was in the audience, and was asked by a subcommittee member why Rob wasn't in school. The father admitted it was a holiday for his son's private school because of the rodeo and fat stock show.

The subcommittee reports to the Select Committee on Public Education, which is considering dramatic changes in the public school system.

One recommendation already proposed to the full committee is a nine-hour school day.

On Monday, subcommittee member Tony Bonilla, Corpus Christi, interrupted testimony from the Texas Education Agency to say, "We're getting the message that when you're a (high school) senior, education stops in the state of Texas."

On that same topic, Susan Hopkins, a member of the subcommittee and Corpus Christi school board, said, "It's ludicrous for taxpayers to pay the ongoing costs of children to go to school two periods a day."

Thomas Anderson, deputy education commissioner, said the TEA had recommended that high school students be required to take "five solid courses" through grade 12, and Fleming asked it that recommendation had "a good chance to pass?"

Anderson nodded "Yes."

Fleming suggested it would be save class time to rotate teachers to a room rather than have students changing rooms each period.

Ms. Hopkins referred to the buying of class rings and class pictures "and all that other garbage" as taking away class time.

Fleming such extracurricular activities might be taken care of on Saturday.

Dr. Victoria Bergin, associate education commissioner, said the TEA was recommending that students not be allowed to miss more than five classes a year, or three a semester, for extracurricular activities.

Not counting in that five-day limit would be competition, such as athletic playoff games, beyond the district level.

"This (recommendation) has created a great deal of controversy," she said.

"Could there be waivers?" she was asked.

"Possibly," Ms. Bergin replied.

Fleming said Sunday afternoon competition — and he emphasized afternoon — "would solve the (weekend) tennis problem."

Ms. Hopkins asked about forcing the University Interscholastic League to recognize "dead week" — when there would be no outside school activities — twice a year for final exams.

"The UIL has met with us and is very anxious to work with us," said Ms. Bergin. "The doors are open for both sides to talk."

Local junior high students selected for all-region band

Junior High School students from Runnels, Goliad, Stanton, Forsan and Garden City were named to the All-Region Junior High School band during try-outs recently at Big Spring High School.

Flutes: Debbie Lee, Runnels; Jody Brandenberger, Stanton; Erin Kelly, Goliad; Elsie Nieto, Runnels; Amy Carroll, Goliad; Dana Davis, Stanton; Michelle Walls, Runnels; Belinda Quintero, Runnels and Yvette Garcia, Runnels.

Hawks come back over Clarendon

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

The Howard Hawks used a stingy man-man defense and some balanced scoring to down the Clarendon Bulldogs 77-65 in Western Athletic Conference play Monday night at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

ly giving their opponents room to breathe. In fact, two minutes passed before the Bulldogs even got a shot off, and the Hawks held a 6-0 lead.

Post player Al Holland got the Hawks off on the right foot as he hit two jumpers, aided by a steal by Mo Haskin. Next Howard's other post player Anthony Snooks, who ended with a game-high 12 rebounds, hit a basket.

Clarendon finally took its first shot, which was promptly rejected by Snooks, to set the tone for the night.

The Bulldogs' defense had its moments against Howard, however. With the Hawks holding a 12-2 lead with 15 minutes left in the half, the Bulldogs held the Hawks scoreless for four minutes and pulled to within 12-7.

But the the Hawks went on a spree, outscoring their opponents 14-6 to take a 16-13 lead with 5:59 left in the half. Howard held the ball for the final minute of the period, and Dwight Harris' 17-footer gave Howard a 32-17 halftime lead.

In the second half it looked like Howard was going to blow the contest wide open as Jerry Stroman, who finished the night with 14 points, gunned in three baskets, followed by buckets by Michael Porter, who scored 15 points, and Hoskin.

Howard quickly opened up its biggest lead of the contest, 53-35 with 11:05 remaining.

But the Bulldogs rallied behind Dean Jackson, who had a game-high 18 points.

Jackson connected on four consecutive baskets. With seven minutes remaining, the Hawks' lead was cut to 56-45.

Harris ended Clarendon's rally by hitting three long range baskets in a row. From then on most of Howard's points came from the charity line.

James Johnson played a strong inside game for Howard with his 13 points and seven rebounds, four at the offensive end. Stroman added four steals as the Hawks forced 17

Bulldog turnovers. Clarendon's record falls to 14-6 for the season and 4-5 in conference.

Both the Hawks and Hawk Queens travel to Hobbs, New Mexico Thursday for a conference game with New Mexico Junior College.

Basketball was exciting while Gridders played boring game

Last Sunday, ABC and CBS networks gave American sports fans two gala events featuring the best of the best; in the NBA All-Star game and NFL Pro Bowl.

It marks the first time I can remember the two games being played on the same day. It was supposed to supply enough action and excitement to last the average fan for the next month.

After all, these are the best football and basketball players in the world, getting them together to showcase their talents would surely be too much for one person to take, not to mention the excellent time scheduling for the games.

It worked out so that when the NBA All-Star classic was signing off in Denver, it was kickoff time in sunny Honolulu. To be truthful, the NBA game lasted a little longer because of an overtime period, but it was worth missing a little of the clash on the gridiron. The timely scheduling sure makes it a lot easier on one, if one does not have a remote control TV.

As I said earlier, the two contests were supposed to drain the spectator dry with the excitement level. But those who viewed both contests, know that after watching the East down the West 154-145 on CBS, reading a book or raiding the refrigerator, which I did, might I have been more enjoyable than viewing the massacre in Honolulu.

The NBA All-Star game was a sight to behold. It had all the artistry, emotion and teamwork one could ask for. While on the other hand, the 1984 Pro Bowl will be remembered as the Comedy Bowl, because of the comedy of errors the American Conference Squad committed in their 45-3 blowout.

It seemed as if the NBA clash had more enthusiasm than its following act, as if the players really were thrilled to be out there in front of 17,000 fans. While the Pro Bowl started out like a rout while ending that way.

It's really hard to tell if the AFC played that great of ball, or if it just looked that way because the AFC played so bad. But even in their rout, it was evident that the AFC's spirit on the field had little comparison to the spark supplied by the Isiah Thomas, Magic Johnson or Dr. J.

These players, along with their peers went out and played the sport of basketball to its fullest. Running up and down the court, blocking shots, making unbelievable goals and passes.

It was just a much better game to watch on that particular day. You had the old veterans like "The Doctor", Kareem, "The Bird Man" and "The Ice Man", along with youngsters such as Mark Aguirre, Ralph Sampson, Bill Lambeier and Andrew Toney, all hustling and scuffling on the hardwood trying to get the much needed edge.

Yes it was fun and games, but each player wanted to win, and proved it by the way they played. It was one of the better all-star clashes because each squad played more team ball, instead of the one-on-one matchups NBA games are known for.

A little flavor was added to the contest by pre-game festivities which featured a slam-dunk contest between NBA stars and a Old-Timers game.

I was a little downcast when Phoenix's Larry Nance edged out "The Doctor" in the dunking contest. But it brightened my day to see the stars of old like Jerry West, Earl Monroe, John Havelick, Lou Hudson and Oscar Robertson go up and down the court again, only a lot slower this time around.

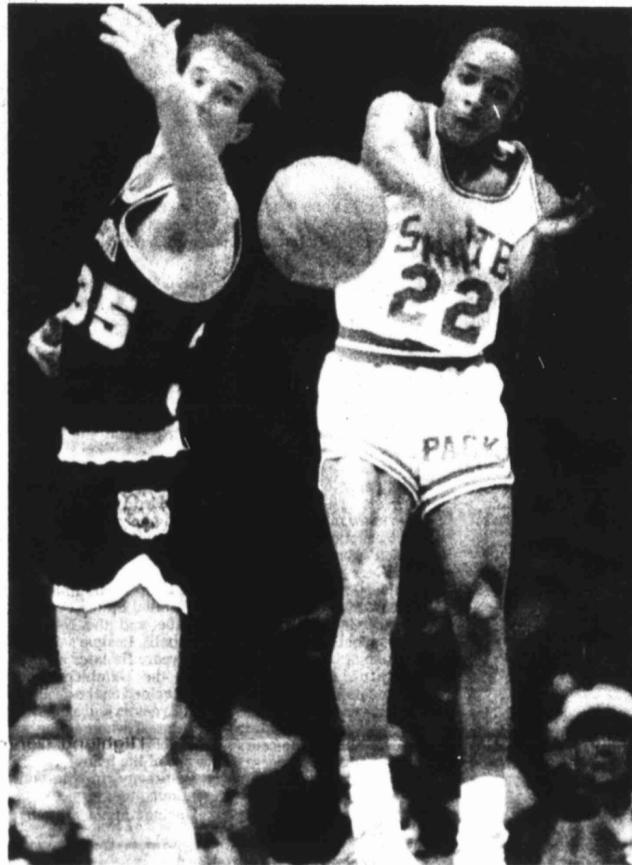

Personally, the most exciting thing I viewed during the Pro Bowl was the scantily-clad ladies at Aloha Stadium and Jack Lambert and Jackie Slater going toe-to-toe in the final quarter when tempers flared.

Murphy's law held true to form for the AFC All-Stars because just about everything went wrong for them. Not only did they have numerous turnovers, they dropped passes, got beat all day in the secondary and had their offensive line ripped to pieces.

After a while everybody was just standing around waiting for another AFC foul-up. Near the end, even the NFC got tired of beating up on their rivals.

Maybe the NBA contest had so much competitiveness because they are midway through the season and the race for the playoffs is just heating up while all the gridiron warriors were burned out after a long season.

But whatever the reason, thanks to the Pro Bowl I was left wanting more excitement in my Sunday afternoon.

Moore means less for Lady Bulldogs, 84-69

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

The Howard Hawk Queens' style of play certainly did not imitate a team that had only won one conference game, as they drubbed the Clarendon Lady Bulldogs 84-69 in Western Athletic Conference play Monday night at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The Queens went into the contest with a 1-4 record, but they played like champs led by 6-1 post player Terri Moore's game-high 32 points and eight rebounds.

The transfer from Baylor did anything she wanted against the Lady Bulldogs as time and time again she would hit her patented turn-around jumper or beat the opposition on a drive to the basket.

Moore sat out nearly 10 minutes of the contest and still managed to connect on 14 of 22 shots from the floor. Moore, along with Diane Dickson and Alex Provenico helped control the boards against Clarendon, now 3-4 in conference and 11-6 for the season.

The Queens simply outclassed their opponents, blowing the contest wide open midway through the first half, as Moore continued to pour in the points, and steals by Molly Early and Janene Berry turned into more points.

The only time Clarendon led in the contest was in the early going as the Lady Bulldogs hit their first three of four shots to take an 8-6 lead.

The turning point in the contest came with 10 minutes remaining in the half and the score tied 14-14. Six minutes later the scoreboard would read Howard 33, Clarendon 16 as the Queens outscored their opposition 19-2 in the span.

Debbie Hall, who finished the night with 18 points, started things off with a basket. Following Early's steal Hall completed a three point play, and the Queens' barrage was on.

Next, Moore, Dickson and Berry scored baskets and Howards' lead was 25-16. The Lady Bulldogs made a rally of their own right before halftime as they outscored Howard 9-2, to cut the lead to 43-32 at the half.

In the second half Howard's lead was never in challenged as Queens' coach Don Stevens emptied his bench. Every time Clarendon would make a run at the Queens, Berry would make a steal or Hall or Moore would connect on baskets.

Howard built its biggest margin of the contest, 63-44 with 9:09 remaining on Pat Carter's basket. From then on it was just a matter of time until the Queens gained their second conference win.

Howard's overall record is now 15-8.

Steers trekking to Midland

MIDLAND — The Big Spring High School Steers will be out trying to halt a frustrating season when they travel here today to battle the Midland High Bulldogs in a boy's 4-A A A A A basketball contest. Jimmy Brown has led the Steers in scoring the past two contests while the team has received steady showings from Mike Leuschner.

Security is tight at Winter event

SARJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — Tanks and soldiers toting automatic weapons patrolled the streets as security tightened this week in preparation for the Winter Olympic Games.

Since the massacre at the Munich Games in 1972, the Olympic movement has become more and more security conscious.

Yugoslavia is determined to guarantee safety for the athletes, Olympic officials, media and thousands of visitors, and has mounted a display of military presence.

Members of civilian defense units, roughly the equivalent of the National Guard in the United States, regularly stand guard at all Olympic venues, major hotels, press centers and office buildings.

The presence of the soldiers might seem threatening to Americans not used to heavy military presence on a city street. But there are no clear signs of interference, and the guards are generally cooperative with those carrying proper credentials for admission to a secured area.

And the show of force is partially just that. "The cartridges are empty," confided a man connected with the security system who asked that his name not be used. He quickly added: "But there are live shells in the barrels."

So the troops do not want to cause trouble, just prevent it.

Sports writer Mike Clark of the Associated Press had a gun jabbed in his back by an officer when he was in a group of reporters which wandered too close to International Olympic Committee headquarters. The officer said nothing, but Clark said there was no need for words. "He was speaking the universal language."

"They are not here to frighten you out of your wits," said an official who also requested his name not be used. "We don't want a repetition of Munich's Olympics."

At the 1972 Winter Games, 13 Israeli team members were killed by a squad of terrorists.

The display of available security here has included strings of riot-control vehicles with water cannons riding through the downtown area, groups of soldiers at seemingly isolated spots late at night and the civilian police.

There are metal detectors to walk through and airport-style luggage conveyors to check bags at the entrance to every major entrance at an Olympic facility.

Night patrols routinely stop cars after certain hours.

There is a high wire fence around the Olympic Village, where the more than 1,500 athletes will be housed. And the guards at the gates do not let go of their Kalashnikov automatic weapons.

Officials here are reluctant to discuss the details of the security system and no figures are available for the number of people involved in guarding the Games.

Dupree drops USM grid plans

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Former Oklahoma running back Marcus Dupree has dropped off the University of Southern Mississippi football team and withdrawn from the Hattiesburg school, Coach Jim Carmody said today.

"Marcus has had difficulty coping with the fact he cannot play college football until 1985 and has talked of the possibility of playing professional football," Carmody said in a statement. "He is not sure of his plans at this time but it is obvious he will not be playing football at USM."

Dupree, a standout at Philadelphia, Miss., High School, had left Oklahoma following the Sooners' game with Texas on Oct. 8. He returned to his Philadelphia home for several days, then enrolled at Southern Mississippi on Oct. 19.

USM officials had hoped Dupree would be able to play for the Golden Eagles next season but the NCAA had told the school that he would be ineligible until 1985.

Kenneth Fairley of Hattiesburg, a longtime friend of Dupree, said he had talked with the athlete earlier in the day and was surprised by Carmody's statement that Dupree was considering professional football.

"He has not discussed professional ball," Fairley said. "He is dropping out for financial ... personal reasons. He wants to get a job for this semester and try to work through these personal problems."

Fairley said Dupree was not depressed and his decision to drop out of USM "is nothing like what happened at Oklahoma. This is something that he thought out."

"He is considering many possibilities, including looking into the NCAA ruling from a possible legal standpoint," Fairley said. "All I can say is that he is weighing all options."

Fairley said Dupree had not attempted to contact professional teams and "you should not rule out his returning to school because college ball is still an option."

Midland mauls Lady Steers

Turnovers, poor shooting and a failure to convert on easy shots led the Big Spring Lady Steers down a path that resulted in a 54-39 defeat at the hands of Midland High Monday night at Steer Gymnasium.

Head coach Annette Fowler said the game "is the worst we've played this year."

The mainstay of Big Spring's problems lay in the fact the Lady Steers forced several steals with their pressing defense only to blow several easy shots that resulted from the thefts. Big Spring's poor shooting multiplied in the second half after hanging close to Midland at halftime, 25-24. In the second half the Lady Steers were outscored 16-7 in the third period and 13-8 in the fourth.

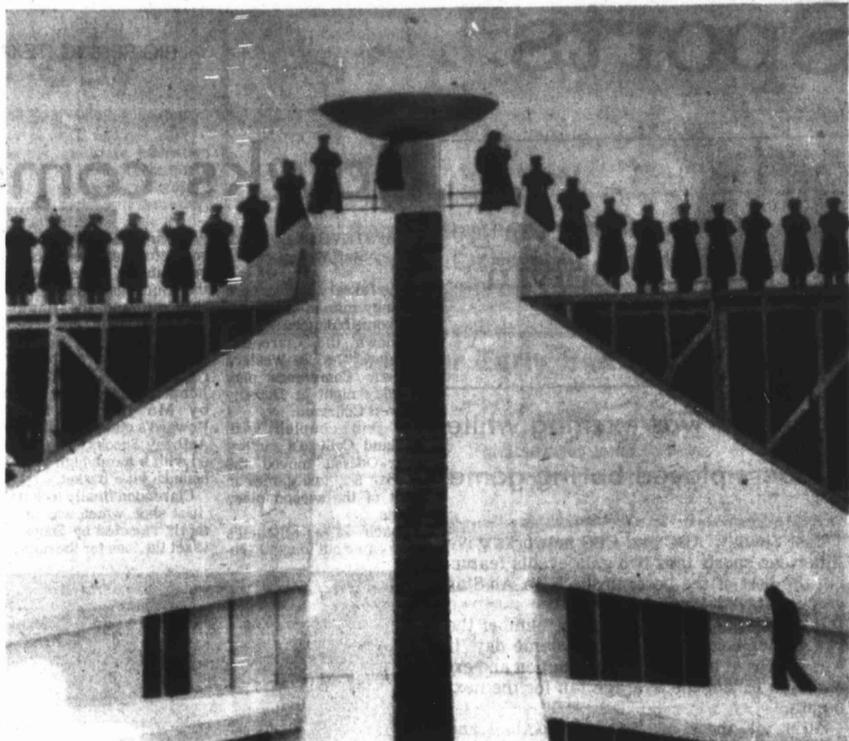

Trel Clemons led Big Spring with 13 points and Debra Rubio added 12 to give the Black and Gold a pair of players in double figures. The loss makes Big Spring 11-14 for the year and 4-7 in District 4-AAAAA action.

Big Spring gained a measure of respect in the junior varsity contest by downing Midland, 36-22 behind 20 points from Monique Jones.

Big Spring (39) — Trel Clemons 6 1 13; Spears 2 1 5; Debra Rubio 6 0 12; Smith 1 0 2; Wise 3 0 6; Truitt 0 1 1; Totals 18 3 39.

Midland (54) — Hiaes 4 0 8; Johnson 5 1 11; Lanz 5 2 12; Napp 7 2 16; Robinson 3 1 7; Totals 24 6 54. Halftime: Midland 25, Big Spring 24.

Gamblers' attorney figures Sims knew about inking pacts

DETROIT (AP) — Attorney Steve Susman says he hopes to prove through questioning of Billy Sims that the All-Pro running back knew more about contract negotiations with the Detroit Lions and Houston Gamblers than he now admits.

Susman, lawyer for the Houston Gamblers football team, spent all of Monday questioning Sims in U.S. District Court from documents that the lawyer claims were given to Sims by his then-agent Jerry Argovitz during the course of the contract talks.

During testimony, Sims admitted that he "might have" seen some of the documents, but he can't recall seeing some of them. He added that he often signed papers given to him by Argovitz without seeing them.

Sims signed contracts with both the Gamblers of the United States Football League and the National Football League's Lions last year. He later sued to have the Gamblers' contract voided on the grounds that Argovitz had a conflict of interest while acting as both his agent and part owner of the team.

Testimony in the suit continued today.

Sims admitted that he wanted to help Argovitz build the Houston franchise, but added that the only reason he signed a contract with the USFL team was that Argovitz lied to him. When asked by Susman whether he believed that Argovitz "intentionally lied to you to get you to sign a contract with the Houston Gamblers," Sims replied, "Intentionally, yes."

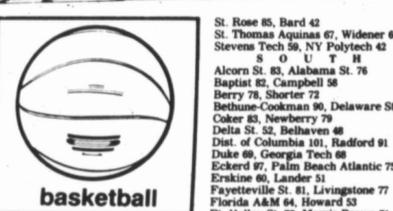

Asked to elaborate on his charge, Sims said he believed Argovitz lied to him "due to the fact that he knew ongoing negotiations were going on with the Lions when I signed (with Houston)."

He added that he felt Argovitz had "frankly not been fair with me from the beginning ... with the Lions negotiations."

Questioning Sims about his relationship with Argovitz, Susman asked whether "you ever considered yourself like his son," and the running back responded, "Yes, I did."

When pressed further, Sims admitted "at the time" he signed the Houston contract he wanted to help Argovitz, but added that the agent had led him to believe that negotiations with the Lions were over.

BACK IN COURT — Detroit Lions' or Houston Gamblers' running back Billy Sims arrives at U.S. District Court in Detroit during a trial that will decide whether Sims plays with the Lions or Gamblers. He signed contracts with both.

Turnbull sweeps up in Houston tennis action

HOUSTON (AP) — Wendy Turnbull has bought a new home in Florida and likes to spend her spare time on the women's pro tennis tour reading up on ideas for decorating.

A check for $30,000 would help her decorative touch and Turnbull moved a step closer to that prize Monday night with a 6-2, 6-2 victory over Great Britain's Amanda Brown in a first round match of the $150,000 Virginia Slims Tournament of Houston.

Turnbull, 31, who also maintains a home in Sandgate, took care of house cleaning quickly against Brown, needing only one hour to move into the second round despite an inconsistent serve.

"I am famous for three-set matches but I'm happy with a two-setter for the first round," Turnbull said. "I'd never played her before and I have trouble with people I've never played."

Turnbull struggled with her serve but made up for it with the quickness that earned her the nickname of "Rabbit."

"It's definitely a challenge to get to those drop shots," she said, "and I'm still getting to them."

Turnbull made a low percentage of her first serves although she was broken only once in the match — in the sixth game of the first set. In that game, Turnbull served an ace and double faulted on successive points.

Brown, ranked 86th in the world, fought off two backhand errors by Brown, the second sailing into the net on a return of service.

In earlier first round matches, Manuela Maleeva, Bulgaria, defeated Catarina Lindqvist, Sweden, 7-5, 6-3; Pam Casale, United States, defeated Beth Herr, United States, 6-1, 7-6 (7-2).

Kathy Rinaldi, United States, defeated Alycia Moulton, United States, 6-7 (7-4), 7-6 (10-8), 3-0 retired; Laura Arraya, Peru, defeated Iva Bjadarova, Czechoslovakia, 6-3, 7-6 (7-2).

Barbara Potter, United States, defeated Kim Sands, United States, 6-1, 6-4 and Eva Pfaff, West Germany, defeated Anne White, United States, 6-2, 6-4.

Top-seeded Andrea Jaeger meets Cathrine Tanvier of France and second-seeded Pam Shriver will play Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia in their first round matches today.

Martina Navratilova, the defending champion, is not playing here and three other players, including No. 10 world ranked Sylvia Hanika, No. 11 Tracy Austin and No. 14 Kathy Jordan, have withdrawn.

The finals are Sunday.

Let's talk.

'Master of Ballantrae' is rousing adventure

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Master of Ballantrae," tonight on CBS, is a lustrous, visually appealing adaptation of Robert Louis Stevenson's classic novel of sibling rivalry run amok.

Producers of the three-hour, made-for-TV movie rewrote Stevenson to give the story a happy, albeit slightly ominous, ending. Otherwise, they did all their work in England, Scotland and Wales, and the effect is an air of period authenticity sullied only by Richard Thomas' dismal effort to sound like a Scotsman.

The movie, another impressive "Hallmark Hall of Fame" production, is set in 1745.

Thomas, a silly sight in pigtail and tricorne hat, plays Henry Durie, who becomes master of Ballantrae by default when his elder brother, James (Michael York), leaves home to join Bonnie Prince Charles' fight to reclaim Scotland for his father, the deposed King James II, and is killed in the battle of Culloden.

Or so it appears. James, of course, survives his seemingly mortal wounds and lives to hound and haunt his hapless brother for years.

After Culloden, he escapes from England with his Irish companion, Burke (Timothy Dalton), on a pirate ship, and eventually they conspire to subvert and then kill Captain Edward Teach, the infamous Blackbeard. They cart off Teach's treasure, and bury the loot in America.

Ultimately, James decides to return to Scotland and recover what he considers his own. "He shall pay for this," James vows to Burke. "He sits in my place. He courts my intended. He claims my name."

It's not really Henry's fault, but he's such a bloodless hero that it's difficult to feel for his plight, even when Alison Graeme (Finola Hughes), James' "intended," tells him:

"If you want me now, Henry, you can have me. I'll offer you no love, but you deserve better than you've had."

Not much of a commitment, but Henry is willing to marry the dark beauty ... and take her fortune.

Stevenson undoubtedly did not intend his novel to be read at a single sitting, and compressing a sweeping and melodramatic tale told on three continents into one evening is risky business. The movie jumps from Scotland to frontier America to India without preamble, and that kind of globe-trotting can be unsettling.

In contrast, the pace is quick and ultimately satisfying.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, FEB. 1, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can start the day on a constructive note by being very direct in letting those about you be more aware of what can be done to enhance your mutual, expansive activities.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try to complete some new venture you started recently, but don't get nervous and argue with others. Drive carefully.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Early talk over those plans of a constructive nature with your mate, but take care not to argue later. Pay off debts.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Talk over your plans with key persons in business early. Analyze the position you desire carefully and take steps toward it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Early complete jobs that have been started. Later, a fellow worker may want to start an argument. Avoid it.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Get into activities that you like in the morning. Later, you can bring harmony where it does not exist. Do some shopping.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A good midday to get shopping done after a hard morning's work. Be most precise at work to please higher-ups.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning is the best time for communicating with others. Be appreciative for the blessings you now have.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study present interests and income and know how to improve them. Make any property you have more valuable via repairs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can make big headway in gaining personal aims, so get busy at this. Avoid arguments with a good friend.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Quietly rid yourself of any obstacles in the path of your progress. Gain the cooperation of an associate who understands you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Early call your friends and plan to see them soon. Avoid altercations in the evening. Go after your aims quietly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Good day to get into civic and community work at which you are very adept and get fine results. Improve career work.

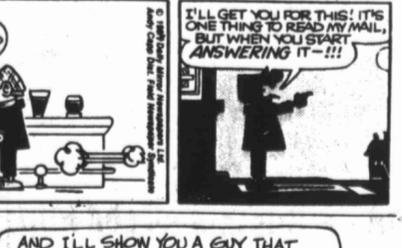

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will literally roam the universe and should have as comprehensive an education as possible, including political training. Teach early to be more cooperative with others since there is the tendency to be overly independent.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
