USSR begins search for leader

MOSCOW (AP) — A successor to Yuri V. Andropov is almost certain to be one of 12 senior members of the ruling Politburo. Unless a transition leadership emerges, Mikhail S. Gorbachev and Grigory V. Romanov as younger members are seen as strong candidates to head the Communist Party.

Senior Politburo member Konstantin U. Chernenko, 72, was appointed to head the funeral commission, however, and in the past the person given that responsibility emerged as the party's new general secretary. His selection would leave the Soviet Union again with an elderly man in the top job and no certainty of long-term continuity.

Many Western observers believe Chernenko's main role will be to help pick the new leader, and some said his appointment to head the funeral commission could mean no decision has been made.

They said that if the selection has not been made, Chernenko would be the logical man as a veteran party ideologist to lead the mourning rites as a symbol of unity. Gorbachev, 52, and Romanov, 61, are among the youngest of the full, or voting, members of the Politburo, and many Western analysts and diplomats expect the Soviets to pick a younger man this time. In addition to the 12 voting members of the Politburo, there are six alternates who do not vote.

Gorbachev, Romanov and Chernenko are the three Politburo members who belong to the Communist Party Secretariat, and the last three party leaders — Andropov, Leonid I. Brezhnev and Nikita S. Khrushchev — were party secretaries before they assumed the leadership.

Past history also shows the importance of being the director of the commission for the funeral of a party leader. Josef Stalin made the arrangements on the death of V. I. Lenin; Khrushchev served in that capacity when Stalin died, but subsequently was forced out as party chief, and Andropov was the director for the

Soviets mourn Andropov's death

MOSCOW (AP) — People gathered forlornly in small groups along the streets around the Kremlin on Friday. They watched as Soviet workers placed black-trimmed flags on public buildings, and talked sadly about the death of Yuri V. Andropov.

Only 15 months ago Soviets lost another leader, Leonid I. Brezhnev. "Just a little more than one year had passed and already he had done so much to instill order in our production and our services," said one man, huddling against the bitter winter wind and pulling his fur "shapka" tighter on his head.

"The announcement was very bad news for me because Andropov was such a businesslike man and a strong-willed person," he said outside the huge Detski Mir toy store that sits across Dzerzhinsky Square from the KGB headquarters, where Andropov spent 15 years as head of the secret police.

YURI ANDROPOV

Andropov was perceived by many in the West as a shadowy figure who had led a feared secret police and intelligence organization, but many Soviets apparently thought of him as a dedicated, efficient public servant.

People spoke of Andropov in reverential, hushed tones after the government officially announced Friday afternoon that he had died

Thursday. They also expressed shock that he had died only 15 months after being named general secretary of the Communist Party.

"His death is a pity and I regret it very much," one man said solemnly as he watched workers place the flags on the Communist Party Central Committee building not far from Red Square.

"The Soviet people need a leader like Andropov because his deeds didn't contradict his words and he worked to bring us together and make the country better," the man added.

One young woman said she would go to the tomb of V. I. Lenin on Red Square on Friday night to mourn Andropov.

"He worked too hard and did too much. He should have saved himself, but he had much he wanted to accomplish and sacrificed himself for the motherland," she said. See Soviets page 2-A

Japanese cyclist circles U.S. on adventure

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

Stories have been pedaled in past years about Americans traveling across the United States on bicycles, motorcycles or foot. But Hisayuki Hayashi is different.

Hayashi, 25, of Kumamoto, Japan, took a year's leave of absence from his job as a bicycle designer to travel 12,500 miles across the United States on a bike he designed. He is visiting America's National Parks and getting to know what American people are like. He already has traveled 9,700 miles across the country, and he spent Thursday night at Big Spring's Central Fire Station.

In October 1982, Hayashi saw a photograph of the Grand Canyon National Park. He decided he had to see it and the United States in person and make American friends. "The Grand Canyon is not enough for me," he said.

Hayashi's family was worried about his trip and thought he would get killed. "In Japan, we hear lots of bad news about America. They say if I camp in America, I die," he said. "Japanese think America is a very dangerous place. But I thought America may be beautiful. I like beautiful places, so I came to America to see the beautiful (places)."

Hayashi flew to the United States June 17, 1983 and began his bike trek in Los Angeles. At the time, he knew only three phrases in English, "Thank you very much," "How are you," and "Goodbye." While traveling, he has learned to speak and understand English fluently. He spent eight months on the road so far. He's met 3,000 to 4,000 people, and of those made more than 220 close friends in 31 states. He has been reported on in 46 newspapers and has worn out 10 tires and changed 13 flats. His trip has cost him between $1,000 to $2,000, and he has taken 750 photographs.

Yosemite National Park is the best thing he's seen yet, he says. "That is gorgeous so far. Very different. This country has many national parks — big," he said.

Ads brew steaming debate over health

NEW YORK — A $20 million campaign to reheat the demand for coffee has also brewed controversy, catching "coffee achievers" such as David Bowie and Kurt Vonnegut in a debate over advertising ethics and public health.

Bowie, a rock singer, and Vonnegut, the author, are among nine celebrities retained by the National Coffee Association to appear in three TV ads aimed at perking up sales to young adults.

The ads show stars such as actresses Jane Curtin and Cicely Tyson and football quarterback Ken Anderson sipping from steaming mugs. "Coffee lets you calm yourself down, and picks you up," an announcer advises. "Join the coffee achievers."

While the ads link coffee with success, say officials of the Center for Science in the Public Interest, some studies link it with cancer of the bladder and pancreas, heart and breast disease, birth defects, anxiety and sleep disorders. "We think it is unfair to young people to use youth figures to try to convince them that coffee drinking is part of a successful life," said Bruce Sliverglade, legal director of the consumer health group.

The Washington-based center, founded by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, has petitioned the Federal Trade Commission to halt the campaign as false and misleading. By claiming coffee drinking is calming, "It tries to cover up the reputation of coffee as a stimulant," Sliverglade said.

William Brooks, spokesman for the coffee association, cited health studies countering those used by the consumer group. He said that the commercials say coffee "lets you" calm down, not that coffee itself is calming. "We're saying that normal coffee consumption is not injurious to human health," he said.

Soviets mourn Andropov's death

MOSCOW (AP) — People gathered forlornly in small groups along the streets around the Kremlin on Friday. They watched as Soviet workers placed black-trimmed flags on public buildings, and talked sadly about the death of Yuri V. Andropov.

Only 15 months ago Soviets lost another leader, Leonid I. Brezhnev. "Just a little more than one year had passed and already he had done so much to instill order in our production and our services," said one man, huddling against the bitter winter wind and pulling his fur "shapka" tighter on his head.

"The announcement was very bad news for me because Andropov was such a businesslike man and a strong-willed person," he said outside the huge Detski Mir toy store that sits across Dzerzhinsky Square from the KGB headquarters, where Andropov spent 15 years as head of the secret police.

YURI ANDROPOV

Andropov was perceived by many in the West as a shadowy figure who had led a feared secret police and intelligence organization, but many Soviets apparently thought of him as a dedicated, efficient public servant.

People spoke of Andropov in reverential, hushed tones after the government officially announced Friday afternoon that he had died

Thursday. They also expressed shock that he had died only 15 months after being named general secretary of the Communist Party.

"His death is a pity and I regret it very much," one man said solemnly as he watched workers place the flags on the Communist Party Central Committee building not far from Red Square.

"The Soviet people need a leader like Andropov because his deeds didn't contradict his words and he worked to bring us together and make the country better," the man added.

One young woman said she would go to the tomb of V. I. Lenin on Red Square on Friday night to mourn Andropov.

"He worked too hard and did too much. He should have saved himself, but he had much he wanted to accomplish and sacrificed himself for the motherland," she said.

Japanese cyclist circles U.S. on adventure

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

Stories have been pedaled in past years about Americans traveling across the United States on bicycles, motorcycles or foot. But Hisayuki Hayashi is different.

Hayashi, 25, of Kumamoto, Japan, took a year's leave of absence from his job as a bicycle designer to travel 12,500 miles across the United States on a bike he designed. He is visiting America's National Parks and getting to know what American people are like. He already has traveled 9,700 miles across the country, and he spent Thursday night at Big Spring's Central Fire Station.

In October 1982, Hayashi saw a photograph of the Grand Canyon National Park. He decided he had to see it and the United States in person and make American friends. "The Grand Canyon is not enough for me," he said.

Hayashi's family was worried about his trip and thought he would get killed. "In Japan, we hear lots of bad news about America. They say if I camp in America, I die," he said. "Japanese think America is a very dangerous place. But I thought America may be beautiful. I like beautiful places, so I came to America to see the beautiful (places)."

Hayashi flew to the United States June 17, 1983 and began his bike trek in Los Angeles. At the time, he knew only three phrases in English, "Thank you very much," "How are you," and "Goodbye." While traveling, he has learned to speak and understand English fluently. He spent eight months on the road so far. He's met 3,000 to 4,000 people, and of those made more than 220 close friends in 31 states. He has been reported on in 46 newspapers and has worn out 10 tires and changed 13 flats. His trip has cost him between $1,000 to $2,000, and he has taken 750 photographs.

Yosemite National Park is the best thing he's seen yet, he says. "That is gorgeous so far. Very different. This country has many national parks — big," he said.

Sheriff's Log

Two released on bond

William Aubrey King, 32, of 1510 Sycamore was transferred at 8:30 a.m. Friday from the police department to the county jail after being charged with unauthorized carrying of a weapon, reports said. King was subsequently released on $1,500 bond, reports said.

Ira Lee Lenard, 31, of Midland was transferred at 9 a.m. Friday from the police department to the county jail after having been arrested by the Texas Highway Patrol on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, reports said. Lenard was subsequently released on $1,000 bond, reports said.

Police Beat

Woman reports robbery

Viola Burchett, 90, of 1304 Nolan told police someone Friday distracted her, entered her residence without consent and stole $160 in currency and a red purse worth $10, police reports said.

Police warn merchants about bogus $10 bills

Bogus $10 bills have been passed over the past two days at the 7-Eleven at 2301 Wasson and the Pizza Hut at the Highland Shopping Center, according to police reports.

Several other area businesses have also accepted the altered currency over the past few days, Police Lt. Jerry Edwards said Friday afternoon.

The passed currency has been altered by cutting the numbered ends off $1 bills and taping the numbered ends of $10 bills on their place, Edwards said.

The result looks like a $10 bill, only it has a picture of George Washington on it, he said.

Such altering is considered tampering with U.S. currency and carries a felony charge, Edwards said.

Local banks have redeemed the mutilated $10 bills for new ones, he said.

Edwards warned local businesses to inspect carefully the bills they accept.

"George Washington is not on the $10 or the $20 bill," Edwards said.

Heart campaign kicks off

February has been designated American Heart Association Month in Big Spring and across the nation, and Carmen Salazar, president of the organization, is urging area residents to support the 1984 campaign.

Clyde Angel signed a proclamation designating February as American Heart Association Month saying, "These diseases accounted for nearly 1,000,000 of the nation's deaths last year and more area residents to support the 1984 campaign."

Volunteers from the Big Spring area will join the effort to distribute the heart information and collect contributions to support research, education and community service projects. These programs are aimed at reducing early death and disability from heart disease and stroke, Ms. Salazar said.

Evidence indicates that some heart diseases can be traced to an early age and that the disease may be prevented if bad habits such as poor nutrition, lack of exercise and smoking are avoided in the first 20 years of life.

Because of this, the Texas Affiliate is emphasizing a healthy lifestyle for youth.

Blind comedy

Handicapped man looks on the bright side

AUSTIN (AP) — Alex Valdez says even blind people have to look at the bright side.

"I've been blind since I was 7 years old," he said. "It's OK. So's justice. There's no car payments. And I can shave in the dark."

A 29-year-old Californian who bills himself as the only blind stand-up comedian in the nation, Valdez made a special appearance recently before an audience of 100 students of the Texas State School for the Blind.

The students seemed delighted with his offbeat sense of humor. They howled and applauded at every line. And, when he was through, they crowded around to shake his hand.

"Being Chicano helps," he said. "I learned to spray paint when I was a kid. In high school, I even got a job as a proofreader for the National Enquirer."

But the story that drew the loudest laughter was Valdez's recollection of the night he was playing a club date in Cincinnati and he accidentally fell off the stage.

"Let me explain," he said. "I used to throw sunglasses into the crowd. I'd say, 'It's time to get blind with Alex.' I tossed one last pair out, pivoted and lost the stage. I landed on a table in the front row. Later, I picked up the couple's tab because I spilled their drinks and everything. They were surprised. They said, 'We thought it was part of the act.'"

Not everybody takes Valdez's humor humorously.

"It's been a struggle, frankly," he told the students. "The first few years were very tough. I was banned from a couple of clubs in Los Angeles because the owner was uncomfortable with my handicap and my making fun of it. But the industry's changing. Doors are opening to us."

In seven years of professional work, he said, he's worked with comedian Robin Williams, been on NBC-TV's "Real People" and had a bit part in the Cheech & Chong movie "Nice Dreams."

He said he also has learned — with sighted help, of course — to fly an airplane and to drive a car.

"Ninety-five percent of the freeways built today," he said, "are set up especially for blind people. It's true. Those little strips on the road are Braille markers. All you have to do is drag your hand out the window."

But Valdez drew his longest applause with his closing remark.

"Remember," he said, "with strength, determination and dedication, there isn't anything in this world we can't do."

"Yellowstone is not gorgeous, but it has clean air."

His journey hasn't been without trouble. His biggest problem has been with "crazy drivers." Twice automobiles would change into the opposite lane on a highway and pretend to intentionally hit him. In the large cities he learned to be careful in protecting himself from vandalism and theft of his belongings. He asked one person in a large city if he could camp on her lawn overnight because the city was dangerous. The person said that her lawn was not even safe and told Hayashi to go to the fire station. She said the firemen could help him. The firemen told him if he had trouble anywhere to go to a fire station. Since that time, he has spent many nights in fire and police stations.

Hayashi is considering writing a book about his trip. In Japan, the people only know about the Grand Canyon, he said. They don't know about other parks. "Japan's parks are beautiful, but not big. Parks here are very big.

"Book is not important to me," he says. "My travel is very important. People are very different, mostly nice people. I thought before I left Japan I can get friends, but not many good friends — maybe 50. But now I have 220 good friends.

change in policies or behavior for a long time to come."

Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger noted on ABC's "Good Morning America" that most of the Politburo members are in the 75-year age group. "If they pick another 75-year-old, then they have by definition another interim arrangement. But if they pick a younger one, the octogenarians know that they're not going to last long in office, ..." he said.

Although both Romanov and Gorbachev have been involved in foreign affairs, Gorbachev has been given a more prominent role in internal party matters.

He supervised the start of the 1983-84 party elections, presided over the Leningrad Party meeting that picked Romanov's successor and nominated Vitaly I. Vorotnikov to become premier of the Russian Federation last year.

Many Western diplomats say Defense Minister Dmitri F. Ustinov is the most powerful man on the Politburo. He is said to have been instrumental in Andropov's succession, and to have run the Politburo day-to-day when Andropov's health was at its worst.

But Ustinov is 75, and some reports say his health is not good. Still, along with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, 74, Ustinov is one of the veteran Politburo members expected to play a key role in choosing a successor.

Chernenko, as party ideologist, is certain to have influence, but he is aging and took a lesser role under Andropov. It was believed Chernenko was the leader of a faction loyal to Brezhnev and that he was pushed into the background by Andropov's supporters.

Mikhail S. Solomentsev, 70, the former Russian Federation premier who now heads the powerful party discipline body, was elevated to full membership on the Politburo at the December 1983, party meeting.

HC exes gather for homecoming

By CAROL BALDWIN
 Staff Writer

When Howard College exes convene on the college campus for homecoming this Sunday and Monday, they will be reviving a tradition which has not been observed on the campus for many years.

The college once had an active Exes Association, said Cheri Sparks, vice president for student life. However, the homecoming celebration was discarded for years to make time for other activities.

Dr. Charles Hays, president of the Howard County Junior College District, is responsible this year's homecoming.

Mrs. Sparks said Troy Brown, captain of the first Hawk basketball team and now a farmer from Hale Center, offered to give the college his varsity jacket to display on campus. He will make the presentation during a basketball game Monday night.

Howard County Junior College opened its doors Sept. 30, 1946 to 146 students. The school was located in the old Air Force bombardier school in what had been the hospital area. The first eight students graduated from that campus in 1947.

In 1951 the college moved to its present location on Birdwell Lane and has seen steady growth ever since. The college today has more than 1,100 students and has registered more than 77,000 students since that first class in 1946, Mrs. Sparks said. Of that number, 5,000 have received degrees. However, the homecoming is open to all former students.

"Anyone who has attended Howard College is an ex," Mrs. Sparks said.

Once the idea for a homecoming was established, Mrs. Sparks and Linda Woodley began pouring through old annuals, newspapers and files. The women began with the latest classes and went back from there.

With the help of several assistants, the women began typing letters to more than 2,500 exes. Their research took them back to 1975.

"We've not completed all our research, but we wanted to get started," Mrs. Sparks said. Howard College officials are hoping through advertisements and word of mouth that other exes will find out about the event, she said.

The two-day celebration will kick off Sunday at 1 p.m. with registration in the Coliseum East Room. The Hawks' baseball team will meet Bee County College at 2 p.m. From 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. there will be a barbecue in the East Room, and at 8 p.m. a bonfire will be lit and the Homecoming Queen crowned.

Monday will feature campus tours beginning at 10 a.m. and a brunch. The Hawk baseball team will again meet Bee County at 1 p.m., and the Queens will take on Western Texas in basketball at 6 p.m. in the coliseum. The basketball games are free to all exes.

During the Queens' game, a plaque listing all former editors of the campus annual and newspaper will be donated to be displayed on the campus.

The Howard College Hawks will meet Western Texas at 8 p.m., and a country and western dance is slated for 10 p.m. in the coliseum East Room.

Mrs. Sparks said "We're doing what we can to present a positive image for Howard County. We feel like the county is a great place to live in, and the county has supported Howard College. We just want to do our part to present a united effort to make the county grow."

John Weeks named new chamber tourist manager

John Weeks was named manager of the Convention and Visitors Bureau with the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce this week.

JOHN WEEKS
 ...new manager

Weeks was formerly the director of special services at Howard College. In that capacity he was manager of the coliseum, and was head of purchasing, director of inventory control and assistant coach to the Howard College Hawks baseball team.

He and his wife, Cynthia, are both from Big Spring. They have one daughter, Tatum, 4.

Weeks said, "I am looking forward to working with the Chamber and Big Spring in this new capacity. Big Spring is alive and well and I want to help promote the town and its people. Big Spring has a lot to be thankful for, and I hope to help bring new people, new industry and positive attitudes to the city and surrounding area."

Carson's contract renewed

BURBANK — NBC is crowning the "king of late-night television," Johnny Carson, with a new contract seven months before his old agreement expires, the network says.

JOHNNY CARSON

Carson, 58, who celebrated his 21st anniversary as host of "The Tonight Show" in October, has turned back all challengers in his time slot. The latest is the syndicated Thicke of the Night show, starring Alan Thicke.

Details of the new contract were not disclosed, said Gene Walsh, an NBC spokesman.

"I just talked to Johnny and he's very happy," said Jim Mahoney, Carson's spokesman. "He's entered into a new agreement that will run indefinitely and there're no changes from his previous contract."

"Johnny has always said when people stop watching, that's the time to step down," Mahoney said. "He has survived everything they've put up against him and is still out there."

Asked if the new pact included more money, Mahoney replied, "I didn't discuss salary with Johnny, but I'm sure the network wanted to keep him." The show earns an estimated $30 million a year, and Carson reportedly is paid more than $3 million.

NBC chairman Grant Tinker said in a statement Thursday, "The record Johnny Carson has established in broadcasting is nothing less than incredible. For 22 years he has turned back the best efforts of the competition as the 'king of late-night television.' We are delighted Johnny has agreed to continue doing the 'Tonight Show.'"

Director gets acting role

LOS ANGELES — Director Martin Ritt, who was an all-around athlete in high school and went to college on an athletic scholarship, has made it to the big leagues in "The Slugger's Wife."

Ritt will be in front of the camera this time, playing the manager of the Atlanta Braves in this new comedy from Neil Simon and Rastar Productions. It's the first role in a while for Ritt, 63, who got his start with a bit part in "Golden Boy" on Broadway.

"I think this will be a lot of fun and I won't have the pressure of directing," he said. "I know my way around sports, but what I don't know I'll learn."

Ritt said he doesn't see his role as an athlete's dream come true, saying, "I was never an extraordinary player. Just good enough to play small college ball."

He has directed such movies as "The Long Hot Summer," "Hombre," "The Great White Hope," "Sounder," "Hud," "Casey's Shadow" and "Norma Rae."

Man paid for seeing Beatles

NEW YORK — Phil Collins, vocalist-drummer for the hit pop group, Genesis, may be one of the few people in the world ever paid for seeing a Beatles concert.

When he was a London teen-ager in the early '60s, his mother was a theatrical agent. She had to book "an audience" to watch a mock-Beatles concert in their movie, "A Hard Day's Night."

"Somewhere amongst all those faces is me," Collins said in a recent interview. "They made such an impression on my early life. ... The biggest influence in Genesis has been the Beatles."

Collins and Genesis, whose single, "That's All," is in the Top 10, finish their U.S. tour Feb. 20. Then it's back to England where they'll perform for Prince Charles and Princess Diana.

The versatile musician will also produce Eric Clapton's next album. This summer, he plans to get married and then he'll start writing some songs.

Americans evacuate Beirut

BEIRUT — Israeli jets struck at targets in Syrian-controlled central Lebanon Friday, and Lebanese soldiers traded fire with Moslem militiamen in Beirut. More than 850 American and other foreign civilians evacuated the war-scarred city in helicopters.

Lebanese sources said President Amin Gemayel was moving to cancel the May 17 troop-withdrawal agreement with Israel in an effort to satisfy his Syrian-backed opponents and end an eight-day old civil war flareup that police say has killed more than 400 people.

The Israeli jets struck near Bhamdoun, 14 miles east of Beirut. Military sources in Israel said the targets were bases of Syrian-backed Palestinian guerrillas, and that two buildings and several pieces of artillery were destroyed.

The Israeli air raids were mounted a day after three Katyusha rockets were fired into northern Israel from southern Lebanon.

The "Voice of the Mountain" radio station of leftist Druse leader Walid Jumblatt said Druse insurgents fired ground-to-air missiles at the attacking aircraft. Israel said all its planes returned safely.

Israel radio said Israeli tanks and armored personnel carriers moved to within about eight miles of Beirut, the closest Israeli forces have come to the capital since they pulled back to the Awali River in south Lebanon Sept. 4.

Sniping and rocket exchanges continued along the "green line" dividing Christian east and predominantly Moslem west Beirut, which Moslem militias captured from the Lebanese army early in the week. The fighting, along with shelling attacks south of the city, continued to isolate west Beirut and exacerbated shortages of fuel and electricity.

As the helicopter evacuation of civilians got under way at west Beirut's seaford, many Americans and Europeans waiting in line said that fear was driving them from Lebanon. Many also said they planned to return when conditions calmed.

Flu sweeps U.S. schools

Widespread outbreaks of flu or flu-like diseases have been reported from Washington, D.C., to Washington state, causing more than a dozen school closings and prompting one exasperated principal to declare she was "fighting a losing battle" against absenteeism.

The outbreaks were reported in 14 states and the District of Columbia for the week ending Wednesday, Karl Kappus, an epidemiologist at the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, said in a telephone interview Friday.

Health officials said eight states reported widespread outbreaks in the previous week, and they said the outbreaks probably would spread in the coming weeks.

Strains of type A influenza have been confirmed in 13 of the 14 states, while Minnesota said it had also isolated cases of type B flu, Kappus said.

Both strains cause the same symptoms, such as fever, head and muscle aches, sore throat, coughs and chills, but type A is generally more contagious and B can lead to a rare, often-fatal disease called Reyes syndrome, whose prime targets are children younger than 12.

Senior citizens and people with chronic illnesses like heart or kidney diseases are more susceptible to infections, pneumonia or other complications from either strain. Kappus recommended that those people get flu inoculations.

Schools in Texas, Oklahoma, Maryland, Ohio and Kentucky were closed during the past 10 days because of flu outbreaks, officials in those states reported.

Kentucky, Maryland and Ohio are not on the CDC's official list of 14 states with widespread outbreaks, but Texas and Oklahoma are. So are Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Iowa, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Carolina, South Carolina, Washington and Wisconsin, in addition to Washington, D.C.

Wholesale prices rise

WASHINGTON — Skyrocketing food costs sent wholesale prices soaring 0.6 percent in January, the biggest gain in 14 months, the government reported Friday.

But the Reagan administration and economists shrugged off the results as a temporary surge caused by the harsh winter weather and not the start of another round of high inflation.

Higher costs for pork, beef and vegetables contributed to the stunning 2.7 percent jump in food prices last month, the sharpest one-month rise since August 1980.

Energy prices tumbled 1.2 percent, the sixth decline in seven months and the biggest drop since last April, the Labor Department said in its new report on the Producer Price Index for finished goods. Those prices, though, reflected December activity, and analysts predicted higher home heating oil costs would reverse that trend in the coming months.

Donald Ratajczak, economic forecaster at Georgia State University, warned that consumers would have "a couple of months of difficulty at the grocery store and (with their) utility bills."

Still, he, like other analysts, expected the sharp price pickup to last only a few months before moderating.

"It's nothing to get upset about. It's a one- to two-month blip," said Edward Yardeni, chief economist for Prudential-Bache Securities Inc. in New York.

In Santa Barbara, Calif., where President Reagan was vacationing, his spokesman, Larry Speakes, attributed the increase mainly to the effect of bad weather on food supplies and said "the underlying causes of inflation are still under control."

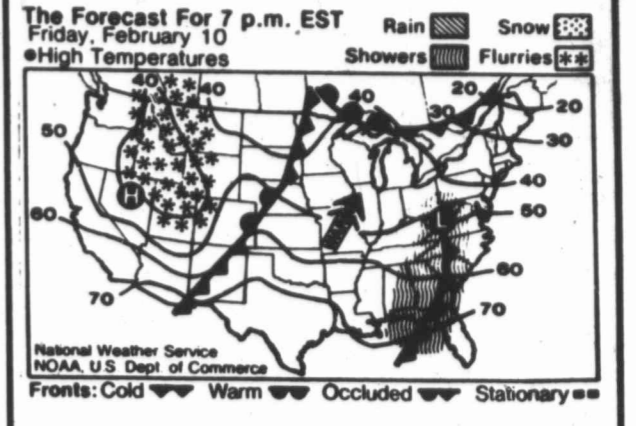

The increase, he said, "comes on the heels of 12 to 14 months in which we made enormous gains in controlling inflation. ... We believe these weather-related increases in January will not dampen the over-all progress made last year."

Even so, analysts predicted that overall wholesale prices could rise as much as 4 percent this year, well ahead of the tiny 0.6 percent gain of 1983, the best showing in two decades.

January's 0.6 percent increase in the wholesale price index, after seasonal adjustment, compared with a 0.1 percent gain in December and a 0.2 percent decline in November.

It was the biggest advance since the 0.6 percent of November 1982.

Snowstorm hits Rockies

A blustery storm dropped more than a foot of snow in parts of the Rockies on Friday while blinding fog enveloped the middle of America from Minnesota to Louisiana, disrupting travel on land and in the air.

Winds gusting to 67 mph knocked out the power to thousands of homes in Las Vegas, Nev., and snow accumulated as fast as 2 inches an hour in parts of Utah.

As thunderstorms boomed through Dixie, hail the size of golfballs clattered on rooftops in northern Louisiana and southern Arizona.

The dense fog in Minnesota forced schools to open late, temporarily closed the Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport and caused smashups on the highways.

Three semi-trailer trucks and four cars were involved in one chain-reaction pileup on Interstate 94 near Monticello, Minn. Two people suffered minor injuries. Part of the freeway had to be closed for a time while the wreckage was cleared.

The Minneapolis airport was shut down for about 1 1/2 hours when visibility dropped to zero and flight delays continued throughout the morning, according to Dorothy Schaefer, airport manager.

The National Weather Service said the fog covered most of Minnesota.

"It'll stay somewhat foggy all day, then settle back in again tonight," said a spokesman for the weather service.

A storm developing in the central Rocky Mountains produced up to 14 inches of snow in northern and western Nevada and it was coming down at the rate of 2 inches an hour at the Alta ski resort in Utah where a foot or more was expected in places.

The snowfall prompted travelers advisories for northern and western Utah, southeast Idaho, western Wyoming and the northern and central Colorado.

Missing minister's body found

DUBLIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Rangers were called in Friday to investigate the slaying of a Methodist minister, who had been missing for four days after leaving for a meeting of pastors in Dallas, authorities say. The body of the Rev. John H. Basham, a 55-year-old father of three, was found by a Palo Pinto County constable Thursday night in his Volkswagen van along Interstate 20, authorities said. An autopsy was scheduled Friday in Dallas, Palo Pinto County sheriff's dispatcher Susan Mills said.

Ford to modernize

CHICAGO (AP) — Ford Motor Co. says it plans to spend $336 million through next year to modernize its large-car auto assembly plants in Chicago and Atlanta.

In a related development, General Motors Corp. said it plans to enter the growing minivan market with the first all-new van design from its Chevrolet Division in 20 years.

GM's Astro, slated for unveiling Friday at the Chicago Auto Show, is scheduled to go into production at GM's Baltimore plant this summer for a late-fall debut as a 1985 model.

Ford said Thursday its retooling in Chicago and Atlanta will allow it to put out Ford LTD and Mercury Marquis models that will be new from "roof to road" for the 1986 model year.

The cars will have front-wheel drive and will be smaller than the current models. But they will seat six passengers as do the present rear-wheel drive models and keep those nameplates in the larger-car market, where sales have been rising.

Home sales soar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sales of existing homes soared by 37.2 percent last year with all states but Arizona enjoying the improved real estate market, a trade association reported.

For all of 1983, sales of previously owned homes, condominiums and cooperative apartments hit 2.91 million units, compared to 2.12 million in 1982, the National Association of Realtors said Thursday. It was the best showing since 3.16 million units were sold in 1980.

Thirty-seven states and the District of Columbia recorded sales jumps of 30 percent or more. Only Arizona had sales drop-off in 1983, posting a decline of 0.5 percent.

New Hampshire led with the biggest percentage increase for the year, 112.7 percent, followed by Hawaii, which had a 90.2 percent gain.

'Major miracle' needed

CINCINNATI (AP) — The chairman of Baldwin-United Corp. says it would take "a major miracle" for the company's creditors and shareholders to recover all their investment.

Victor H. Palmieri, the crisis management specialist hired by Baldwin-United in May 1983 to rescue the company, said it was too soon to tell how much creditors and shareholders would recover.

Baldwin-United is in bankruptcy court proceedings to formulate a plan for settling its debt obligations.

Palmieri commented at a meeting Thursday of Baldwin-United shareholders and creditors. About 200 people attended the meeting, which was called by the company to explain its reorganization efforts and the consequences to investors.

Asked whether he was aware of the financial community's doubts about his mission, Palmieri said, "I'm not only cognizant of it, I have doubts myself. Anyone who undertakes a job like this has to either have doubts or be asleep."

Company criticized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige accused Bethlehem Steel Corp. of putting the entire steel industry "at risk" by its efforts to limit steel imports into the United States.

Baldrige attacked the Bethlehem's decision to file a petition last month with the U.S. International Trade Commission asking that steel imports be limited to 15 percent of the market. Foreign steelmakers currently hold a 22 percent share of the U.S. market.

Baldrige said Thursday the action jeopardized a 1982 agreement worked out with the 10 nations of the European Economic Community by which they voluntarily agreed to limit steel shipments to the United States as long as no trade complaints were filed against those countries before 1985.

DO-IT CENTER MANAGERS — Colton Wright, Mark Sheedy and Tom Bretell are managers for the Spring City Do-It Center. The center opened Monday in Big Spring.

Two new members were elected to the board of directors of Malone and Hogan Clinic. They are Dr. Rudy Haddad and Dr. Ray Owen. The men will serve five-year terms and replace retiring board members Dr. Bradford Glass and Dr. Buerk Williams.

Dr. Haddad came to Malone and Hogan Clinic in 1980 from urology residencies at New York's Columbia University, Presbyterian Medical Center and Pennsylvania's Geisinger Medical Center. He serves as urology consultant for the Big Spring Veteran's hospital.

Dr. Owen, a pediatrician, joined Malone and Hogan in 1972. He is a fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics and trained at the University of Kansas Medical School and the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

Other board members are Dr. Robert S. Griffin, Dr. Brian J. Caplan, Dr. Bernard Zilberg, Dr. J.W. Kuykendall, and Dr. William A. Riley. Griffin will serve as board president.

Dr. Brian Caplan of Malone and Hogan Clinic recently was named president of the Permian Basin Medical Society. Dr. Rudy Haddad was named new secretary-treasurer.

American Petrofina Inc. reported a net income for the year ended Dec. 31, 1983, of $55,260,000, or $5.10 per share, as compared with $54,401,000, or $5.03 per share in 1982.

Fourth quarter net income in 1983 increased to $23,362,000, or $2.16 per share, from $14,635,000, or $1.37 per share, during the fourth quarter of 1982.

Gross revenues in 1983 of $504,983,000 in the fourth quarter and $2,088,526,000 for the year were down from $530,350,000 and $2,253,678,000 respectively, for the same periods in 1982.

Paul D. Meek, president and chief executive officer, said operating income for the petrochemicals and plastics segment continued to improve with the strengthening of the economy. In the production and exploration segment, operating income was substantially improved compared to last year, mainly because drilling expenses were reduced. Profitability of the refining and marketing segment declined.

Opal Jones, regional leader from Coahoma, held a monthly Tri-Chem meeting at the Bonanza Steakhouse Jan. 31. She introduced Marilyn Hoge, vice president of Tri-Chem Inc., from New Jersey; and Dottie Liska, district manager from Denver, Colo.

The women discussed coming events, new ideas and new items for customers.

Spring City Do-It Center open for business

Although its official grand opening is slated for mid-April, the Spring City Do-It Center opened its doors to customers this week with 15,000 items of merchandise, said store manager Mark Sheedy.

"Spring City Do-It Center is for both the contractor and the do-it-yourselfer," Sheedy said. "It is a new concept in home centers."

The store is located across the street from the Big Spring Mall on FM 700 and employs 20 people. Stan Partee is the owner. Other managers include Tom Bretell, general manager, and Colton Wright, yard operations manager.

Partee, Sheedy and Wright are Howard County natives. Bretell joined the staff from Arizona.

Although the store is locally owned, it is affiliated with the Hardware Wholesalers Inc., a co-op consisting of about 2,500 stores in South and East Texas and in the Eastern part of the United States.

Because the center is a member of the co-op, "we are privileged to the buying power" of a larger corporation. This is the best way to combat the largest (hardware and lumber) chains," Sheedy said.

Sheedy said the center represented a $1.5 million investment. The retail area of the facility covers 20,000 square feet and is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Behind the retail area is an enclosed lumber yard and warehouse which covers 17,800 square feet. The lumber yard is open from 7:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

Bretell said the lumber yard was enclosed to keep materials cleaner and designed to route traffic away from the West Texas wind. The facility was constructed so contractors or do-it-yourselfers can drive into the lumber yard area and load whatever materials they need without stepping outside the protective shelter.

Market Days scheduled

More than 10,000 lines of furniture, floorcovering, gifts and accessories, lighting, wall fabrics and other merchandise will be seen by retailers across the country when they shop hundreds of showrooms at the Dallas Market Center's Spring Market Days May 6 and 7.

Permanent showrooms in the World Trade Center, Homefurnishings Mart and Trade Mart will open Sunday, May 6, and Monday, May 7.

Newspaper editors make switch to television

NEW YORK (AP) — They once sweated over front-page stories, Dear Abby and comic strips. Now they're bringing their ink-stained hands and experience in the newspaper trenches to another medium — television.

After years as top-line newspaper editors, Jonathan Katz, Stephen Isaacs and James Bellows find themselves in the glorified world of live newscasts, satellite transmissions and three-minute interviews.

Katz, formerly managing editor of The Dallas Times Herald and, before that, editor of The Baltimore News-American, is senior producer of the "CBS Morning News."

"My only job is to worry about stories, look for stories and get them told," Katz said.

Isaacs, who was senior vice president and editor of The Minneapolis Star, began his TV career as manager of news planning for the "CBS Morning News" and now produces pieces for CBS' "Sunday Morning."

Bellows, who ran The Washington Star and The Los Angeles Herald Examiner, started his TV career as executive producer of "Entertainment Tonight." ABC News hired him last summer to develop a newsmagazine show.

Van Gordon Sauter, vice president of the CBS Broadcast Group, hired Katz and Isaacs in early 1983. "On an on-going basis I think we should salt the organization with new perspectives," he said. "Print people come in with an entirely different mind-set. They don't think in two-minute bursts and 22-minute lengths.

"One of their biggest assets is that they didn't know what couldn't be done on TV."

For Katz, however, that was an initial liability. "I was making all sorts of birdbrain suggestions," he said. "I never watched TV news and knew nothing about it. If a great story popped in Iceland, I'd want to cover it, even though we had no correspondent there. I would suggest elaborate world-wide packages at a cost of zillions of dollars.

"At a newspaper, I could assign a story and the next day it would be in the paper. Here, there's no solo flying. It's more of a collegial atmosphere with the anchor, producer and correspondent also involved in the assigning process. It forces you to listen more."

As a managing editor who concerned himself with hard news, horoscopes and Heloise, Katz' ideology was compatible with the restructuring of the "CBS Morning News," which Sauter and executive producer Bob Ferrante saw as an electronic newspaper with the softer sections in the back.

With two morning hours, there's greater opportunity and inclination for entertainment, weather and sports than on the "CBS Evening News." The audiences for the 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. broadcasts also differ, with more women watching the morning shows, particularly the last hour.

Major criticisms against TV news are that its judgment depends on what pictures are available, and that its reporting is superficial and pretty. Analysis and follow-ups are left to newspapers.

Not anymore, said Katz.

"We're very conscious of how things look," he said. "But we're no longer slaves to pictures. If you add pictures to important stories, they're just being told better."

Bellows said his background in newspaper layout is still useful. "TV is motion, and our job is to put the pictures together with the words to make the story," he said.

"Newspapers can't have the emotional impact that TV does," said Isaacs. "But TV can't do the same job as newspapers for depth and analysis. They're different animals. To compare TV and newspapers do both a disservice."

More news broadcasts, all-news radio and Ted Turner's 24-hour Cable News Network have provoked the networks to find fresh information and new story angles. Then there's the intense competition for ratings.

"Newspapers take 20-30 years to die," said Katz. "If we're sinking here for 10-12 weeks, there will be changes. In TV, you have to do well."

With surveys showing that TV is the primary source of news for more than half the public, the networks finally seem to be looking for news in non-photogenic places.

"Before I came here I had the standard biases about TV, that they only took pictures of things," said Katz. "To me, a good story is a good story. More and more, we're setting our own agenda. A lot of stories we're telling now, we weren't telling before."

Cabbage Patch doll line expanded

NEW YORK (AP) — The cuddly Cabbage Patch Kids, whose birth last year barely met consumer demand, will get baby brothers and sisters and pets of their own next week as Coleco Industries Inc. introduces a new set of dolls to the public, the company announced Thursday.

The new additions — infant dolls called Preemies and pouty-faced imaginary animals called Koosas — were unveiled at a private party in Manhattan.

The new Cabbage Patch world also includes a wide assortment of apparel for the Preemies and Koosas, as well as home furnishings and baby necessities such as a folding pram, musical swing, baby chair and an infant's soft travel bag.

The growing Cabbage Patch family will be officially unveiled next Monday at the opening of the Toy Fair here.

Like the Cabbage Patch Kids, Preemies come with a double name, personality trait, birth certificate and adoption papers.

They are outfitted in diapers and lace-embroidered infant clothing.

The new line also includes decorative wall hangings dubbed Cabbage Patch Kids Pin-Ups, and soft-sculptured, framed play environments in six different settings: the Club House, Sweet Shoppe, Barn, Bedroom, Greenhouse and Toy Store.

The Site of the Winter Olympics

Let's Visit Yugoslavia

The symbol of the Winter Olympics is a snowflake with the five Olympic rings.

Sarajevo 84

Sarajevo (sar-e-YE-vo), Yugoslavia, will be the host for the upcoming Olympics. The Winter Olympics are held near snowy, mountainous towns. Sarajevo, with about 400,000 people, is larger than most Winter Olympic sites. The city is known for its 500 handicraft shops. A river flows through the city.

The flag of Yugoslavia

(YU-go-SLAV-e-ah) is a country in Europe about the size of the state of Oregon. Its population of 23 million people is about the same as California's. The country is made up of six provinces or regions.

Yugoslavia is two-thirds mountains and one-third hills and plains. The country's inland is cold in the winter and warm in the summer. The coast is hot in the summer and rainy and mild in winter.

The people of Yugoslavia come from many different backgrounds or ethnic groups. The country has several languages, three religions and two alphabets.

The Olympic Games, or contests, started at Olympia, in ancient Greece, thousands of years ago. As is the custom, the torch will be lighted there and carried by relay runners to Sarajevo. It will arrive in time to light the Olympic torch that will burn during the Games.

Yugoslavia is a "developing country." It is trying to raise its standard of living by developing modern factories that make items people both at home and around the world want to buy.

Yugoslavia believes in a kind of communism, but it is friendly with both the Soviet Union and the United States. It has an independent policy and prefers to be on good terms with all countries.

Voochko is crossing his fingers in hopes that the Games will go well and help his country's tourist trade. The money tourists spend is very important to Yugoslavia.

1984 is an Olympic year. The Olympic Games are contests between the world's best athletes. Every four years, a winter and a summer Olympics are held the same year.

Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, will be the host for the Winter Olympic Games to be held Feb. 7 through 19.

Voochko the wolf is the mascot. He is the first mascot ever picked by a vote of the people of the host country.

There are many brave wolves in Yugoslavian folk tales.

ADDIE COOK'S RECIPE

Cevapcici

These popular meatballs from Yugoslavia are usually grilled, but you can cook them in the oven. (The word is pronounced cheh-vahp-chee-chee.)

You'll need:

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 2 large onions, finely chopped

What to do:

1. Sprinkle salt and pepper over beef. Use your hands to knead them in.
2. Make the meatballs by rolling bits of beef between your palms until they are about one-half the size of a golf ball.
3. Ask an adult to help you broil the meatballs in the oven. Turn them several times to cook on all sides. Cooking takes about 15 minutes. Makes about 60 meatballs. Serve with chopped onions.

PUZZLE & LE-DO

This puzzle is about winter. Use the drawings to give you the word clues.

Answers: Across: 1. snowman, 2. sled, 3. skate. Down: 1. shovel, 4. boots, 5. mittens, 6. coat.

Schools

A Yugoslavian school.

The children in Yugoslavia start school at the age of 7. Most schools have classes in shifts because of the large number of pupils. One shift goes in the morning and another in the afternoon. Most children learn to write using two alphabets that are very much alike and have 30 characters each.

About 80 percent of the students are taught in a language called Serbo-Croatian. Other children are taught in their native language, but also study Serbo-Croatian.

From the fifth grade up, most students study a foreign language. English is the most popular.

Sports

Snow skiing is a popular sport in this mountainous country.

The most popular sport for boys is soccer. Girls like swimming. Volleyball is played by many. Basketball is also big. The men's team from Yugoslavia won a gold medal in that sport in the 1980 Summer Olympics.

American football and baseball are not popular.

Entertainment

The Disney movie "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" is well-known in Yugoslavia, too.

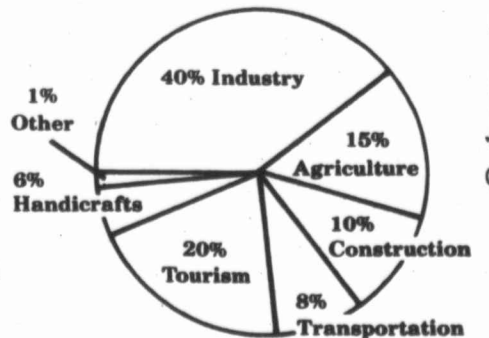

Yugoslavian children see movies from all parts of the world. The American movies are the ones they like the best on TV and in the theaters.

Mark Twain is an American author the children enjoy.

Yugoslavia's Economy

The gross national product of a country is the total amount of money taken in from goods and services each year.

The graph below will show you what percent of Yugoslavia's gross national product comes from what area.

You can tell by studying this graph how important tourism is to the country.

The United States ranks fourth on the list of countries that Yugoslavia trades with. (The Soviet Union, West Germany and Italy do more business with Yugoslavia.)

The U.S. exports, or sells, to Yugoslavia such items as soybeans, machinery, trucks, tractors, planes, chemicals and coal.

The U.S. imports, or buys, from Yugoslavia such items as canned meats, wood products, footwear, clothing, tobacco and metals.

Lee gets by Big Spring

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

It was their most inspiring effort in District 4-AAAAA, but unfortunately it had the usual ending — a loss — as Midland Lee left Steer Gym on top of the Big Spring Steers by a score of 49-43 Friday night in boys' basketball action.

The loss continues the Steers' misery in district action. Big Spring is 0-12 in league games and 2-24 overall. The Rebels are 17-12 and 7-4.

And while neither team shot the bottom end out of the basket it was the Steers' defense that kept them close all game long instead of half the contest which was fast becoming Big Spring's forte.

The first quarter ended with Lee nursing an 8-7 lead. Lee led throughout the first period with the exception of one deadlock.

In the second quarter Big Spring continued to shoot poorly (two of 10) and play good defense. Jimmy Brown, Dale Crenshaw and George Roman spearheaded a defense that limited Lee to only a four of 13 showing in the second half. Big Spring knotted things up on three occasions and led, 12-10 when Crenshaw connected for two of his for points. Brown and John Howie paced the Steers with 11 points apiece.

After trailing at halftime, 21-16, the Steers came out firing in the third quarter. Chris Roberts, Howie and Brown pulled Big Spring within two, 25-23 and Howie tied things for the fifth time at 25-25 with 2:59 in the third quarter. Derek Westbrook, who led Lee and both teams with 18 points, scored a field goal and Anthony Dickens added a two pointer and a pair of free throws as Lee assumed a 31-25 lead going into the final period.

Brown, Roberts and Howie brought Big Spring back, however to a 31-31 tie with 5:52 left in the game. Lee answered with six straight and scored eight of the game's next 10 points to lead, 39-33 with 3:58. At that point it was the Steers' turn to streak as Mike Lueschner, Brown, Fred Cole and Howie scored baskets that put Big Spring in front for only the second time, 41-39 with 1:58 to play.

Fouls began taking their toll after that. Lee did not sink a single field goal in the final 1:28, but the Rebels did make nine of 12 charity tries while Big Spring's only offense came from Howie's first try on a one and one situation.

For the game Big Spring shot 41 percent (21 of 51) and Lee managed 17 of 48 for 35 percent.

Big Spring will be searching for its first district win in its final two games against Permian in Odessa Feb. 14 and against San Angelo Feb. 17 at Steer Gym.

Big Spring (43) — Jimmy Brown 5 3 11; F. Cole 0 1 2; John Howie 1 5 11; Roman 0 1 2; Roberts 0 3 6; Sanders 1 1 3; Lueschner 0 2 2; B. Cole 0 1 2; Crenshaw 2 1 4; Totals 21 31 42.

GARDEN CITY — It was an all-out try, but the Garden City Bearcats failed in their upset bid over playoff-minded Bronte by a score of 63-61 in boys District 16-A basketball.

Garden City, which has lost a host of close games this season, fell short again in the overtime-contest despite a superb performance by senior post player Scott Halfmann.

Halfmann closed out his high school hoop career in style with a 24 point, 13-rebound performance. He connected on 10 of 14 attempts from the floor.

Not to be outdone was Bronte's junior forward Dave Phillips who connected on 14 of 24 shots from the floor for a game-high 32 points. He also led all rebounders with 15 caroms.

The Longhorns, 15-9 and 4-4, needed the win to have a chance at the playoffs, depending on the outcome of the Forsan-Sterling City contest.

The contest was nip-and-tuck all the way with the largest lead by either team being six points. Garden City went on a tear midway through the second quarter by outscoring Bronte 13-6 to gain a 38-32 halftime lead.

Halfmann was the main weapon, hitting five consecutive baskets. Phillips pumped in 18-first half points for the Longhorns.

The lead changed hands several times during the third quarter with Bronte taking a 46-44 lead going into the fourth quarter. The game came down to the final two seconds with Halfmann at the free throw line with one technical shot. He sank it to send the 57-57 contest into overtime.

G-City drew first blood in the extra period when Halfmann banked in a jumper. Phillips tied it up at 59-59, and G-City's Richard Batla, who scored 14 points, scored inside to give Garden City a 61-59 lead.

But Phillips and Rusty Corley scored baskets give Bronte the win.

Garden City ends the season with a 11-14 record and 1-7 district slate.

U.S. skaters barely miss medals

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — Two U.S. skaters just missed winning the first medals for the American team, and East German women on Friday swept the top two places for the second consecutive day in Olympic speed skating competition.

Allis, Wis., and Nick Thometz of Minnetonka, Minn., looked like medal winners in the men's 500-meter sprint behind Soviet winner Sergei Fokichev until Yoshihiro Kitazawa of Japan and Gaetan Boucher of Canada turned in their laps on the Sarajevo oval.

When the Japanese and the Canadian were done, Jansen and Thometz were in fourth and fifth place, a fraction of a second short of the bronze medal.

East Germany's speed-skating superstar Karin Enke saw her hopes of becoming the female equivalent of Eric Heiden shattered when teammate Christina Rothenburger snatched the gold medal in the women's sprint. The bronze went to Natalya Chive of the Soviet Union.

Enke won the 1,500 meters on Thursday and vowed to try for golds in all four women's event.

Winter Games: week one looked at in review

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — A week that began with an eligibility uproar in the hockey tournament ended with the first gold medals, disappointment for Americans and the irony of a snowstorm forcing postponement of two glamour races at the Winter Olympics.

The opening days of the 14th Winter Games saw the medal hopes of the United States hockey team all but destroyed with losses to Czechoslovakia and the men's downhill race, one of the feature events, postponed twice when mild weather turned suddenly snowy. The women's downhill also was postponed, from Saturday until Monday.

Officials called off the men's downhill on Thursday because of 80 mph winds and poor visibility, then had to postpone it again Friday when a Baltic storm dropped at least a foot of snow on the city. That put the medal hopes of American Bill Johnson of Van Nuys, Calif., on hold. Johnson won one of the four training runs and finished second twice.

With the hockey team not winning and Johnson waiting, the Americans were struggling.

Bill Koch of Eugene,

Ore., a silver medalist in 1976 in 30-kilometer cross-country skiing, was a distant 21st in Sarajevo. Through Friday, the best American performance was fourth in the men's 500-meter speed skating by Dan Jansen of West Allis, Wis.

The first medals of the Games went to Karin Enke of East Germany, who set a world record of 2 minutes, 3.42 seconds in the women's 1,500-meter race, and Finland's Marja-Liisa Hamalainen, who took the 10-kilometer cross country skiing in 31 minutes, 44.2 seconds.

Nikolay Zimiatov won the Soviet Union's first gold Friday, when he was timed in 1:28:56.3 for the 30-kilometer cross country race. Later, countryman Serguey Fokichev took the 500-meter speedskating event in 38.19 seconds and Christina Rothenburger of East Germany set an Olympic record of 41.02 seconds capturing the women's 500-meter race.

Enke was followed across the finish line in the 1,500 by another East German, Andrea Schoene, who was timed in 2:05.29 to take the silver. The bronze went to Natalya Petrusheva of the Soviet Union, who held the old world record of 2:04.04.

Petruseva was timed in 2:05.78.

The top American finisher was Mary Docter of Madison, Wis., who finished 14th in 2:12.14. Janet Goldman of Glenview, Ill., was 17th in 2:12.94, followed by Nancy Swisher of East Ridge, Ill., in 2:13.74.

Enke became the first double medalist of the Games when she took the silver in the 500-meter race, timed in 41.28 behind Rothenburger. The bronze went to Natalya Chive of the Soviet Union in 41.50. Bonnie Blair of Champaign, Ill., finished eighth in 42.53 with Kathryn Class of St. Paul, Minn., 10th in 42.97, and Connie Paraskevin of Detroit 13th in 43.05.

Japan's Yoshihiro Kitazawa followed Fokichev across the line in 38.30 and Gaetan Boucher of Canada took the 500-meter bronze in 38.39. Jansen was fourth in 38.55 and teammate Nick Thometz of Minnetonka, Minn., was fifth in 38.56. Erik Henriksen of Champaign, Ill., finished 21st in 39.45.

Cross-country skiers were able to compete Friday on the fields at Igman, despite a heavy snowfall.

Behind Hamalainen in the 10-kilometer race were Raissa Smetanina of the Soviet Union, timed in 32:02.9, and Brit Pettersen of Norway, 32:12.7. Judy Rabinowitz of Fairbanks, Alaska, led the American finishers with 34:35.1 for 25th place. Susan Long of Somers, Conn., finished 31st in 34:58.9, and Patti Ross of Cornwall, Vt., was 38th in 35:41.3.

Zimiatov's countryman, Alexandre Zavalov of the Soviet Union, took the 30-kilometer silver in 1:29:23.3 and the bronze went to Gundeanders Swan of Sweden in 1:29:35.7.

Koch was almost five minutes behind, finishing in 1:33:44.4. The other United States finishers were Dan Simoneau, also of Eugene, 29th in 1:35:50.7; Jim Galanes of Brattleboro, Vt., 36th in 1:37:21.2; and Kevin Brochman of Stillwater, Minn., 48th in 1:39:44.6.

Luge racers completed their first two of four runs.

Among the women, Steffi Martin led an East German sweep of the top three spots. She was timed in 1:23:50.2, followed by Bettina Schmidt, 1:23:59.1, and Ute Weiss, 1:23:55.3. Tony Warner of Mt. Baldy, Calif., led the Americans, in eighth place after the two runs with 1:25:27.9. Theresa Riedl of Lake Placid, N.Y., was 20th in 1:27:51.5, and Tony Damigella, also of Lake Placid, was 22nd in 1:28:35.7.

East Germans also held two of the top three spots in the men's luge with Torsten Guerlitzer leading with a time of 1:32:38.2 and Michael Walter third with 1:32:50.1. Paul Hildgartner of Italy was second with 1:32:45.3. Frank Masley of Newark, Del., who carried the flag for the United States in the opening ceremonies, was 14th in 1:33.963, and David Gilman of Berkeley, Calif., was 19th in 1:35:51.9.

After two runs in the two-man bobsled competition, a pair of East German sleds were running 1-2. Wolfgang Hoppe's sled had the lead at 1:43.44 followed by Bernhard Lehmann at 1:43:53. The Soviet Union sled steered by Zintis Ekmanis was third at 1:43:66. The top United States sled was driven by Brent Rushlaw of Saranac Lake, N.Y., who was 15th in 1:46:00. The second USA sled, steered by Frederick Fritsch of Virginia Beach, Va., was 21st in 1:46:79.

Five hockey players were thumbed out of the tournament before it started because they had signed contracts and played for National Hockey League teams. However, others whose eligibility had been questioned were allowed to play.

Canada lost two players in the dispute but still beat the United States 4-2 in the opener. When the Americans lost 4-1 to Czechoslovakia in their second game, it all but ended any chance for a medal for the team that had stunned the world by winning the gold at Lake Placid.

Canada, meanwhile, defeated Austria 8-1 in its second game and was one of six teams — three in each division — to win their first two games. The Czechs and Finland were also undefeated in Canada's pool, while Sweden, the Soviet Union and West Germany led their division. The top two teams in each division after five preliminary games advance to the medal round, which starts Friday.

The men's downhill now is scheduled for Sunday, starting a busy final week of action. Figure skating gets rolling, with world champions Scott Hamilton of Denver and Rosalyn Summers of Edmonds, Wash., among the favorites.

Weather permitting, action also picks up on the slopes with the United States hoping for medal performances by skiers like World Cup champions Phil Mahre of Yakima, Wash., and Tamara McKinney of Lexington, Ky. Championships also will be decided in bobsled, luge, hockey and speed-skating competitions.

Coahoma teams seeking playoffs

COAHOMA — Both Coahoma High School basketball teams placed themselves in possible playoff situations by sweeping Ballinger in District 6-AAA action here Friday night.

The Bulldogettes whipped Ballinger, 74-50 and ended the second round of loop play 4-1. Coupled with Crane's 49-46 win over Sonora the win allows Coahoma at least one more game.

Coahoma and Sonora finished tied for second in the district with 7-3 marks. The teams will face off in a one game playoff Tuesday night at 7:30 at Ballinger to decide second place and further advancement into the playoffs.

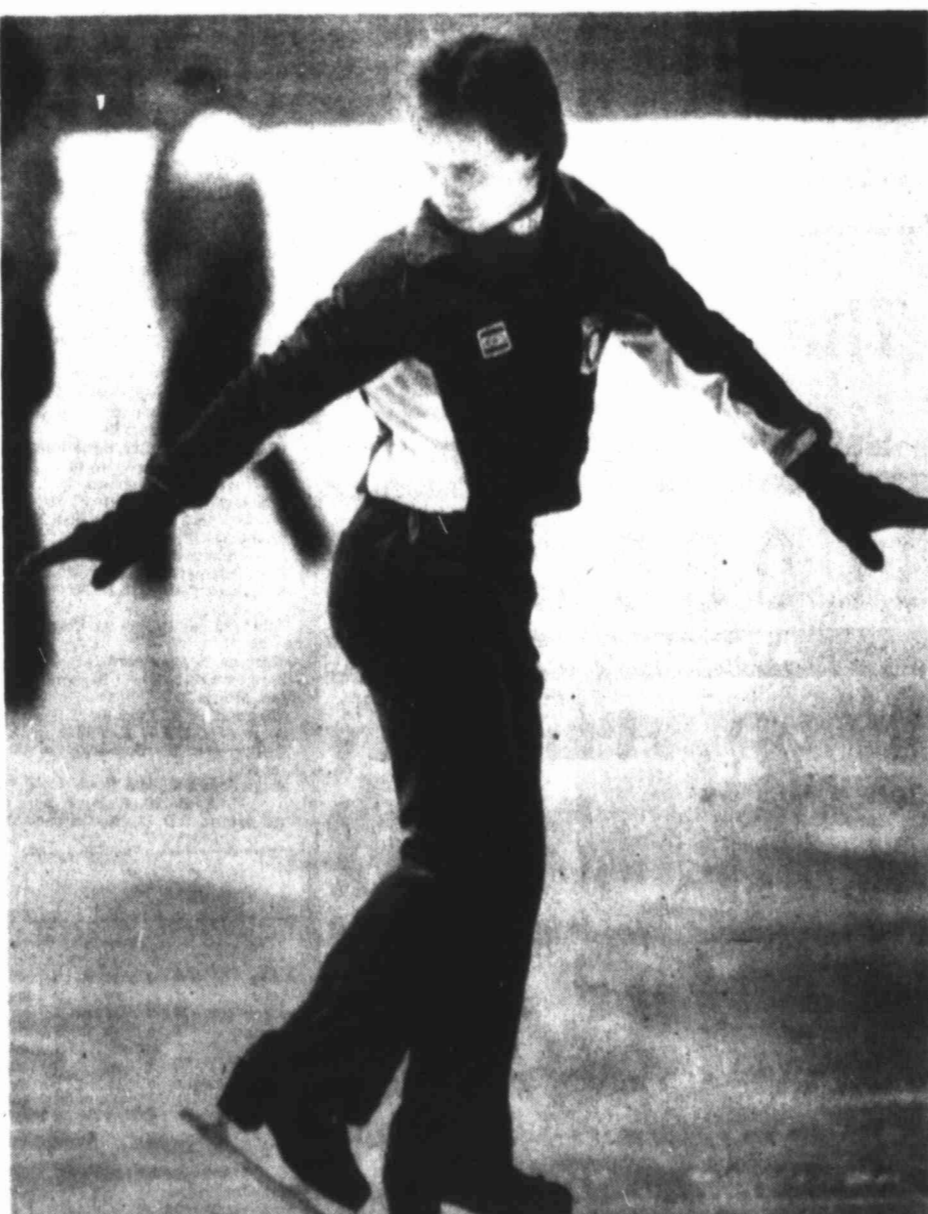

Tobie Henry and Melissa Paige paced Coahoma with 16 points apiece while Shanna Fowler added 14 and Janna Griffin chipped in 12.

Coahoma's Bulldogs meanwhile have some chances of post season action dancing in their heads with a 2-1 record and two games left after beating Ballinger's boys, 69-67 in double overtime.

Coahoma led 32-26 at halftime only to have Ballinger tie things at 59-59 in regulation. The first extra period ended at 63-63. Donald Ewing then sank two free throws in the final eight seconds of the second overtime to ice the win for the Bulldogs.

Also singled out for a starring role was James Sanders who limited Ballinger's district leading scorer 17 points below his average of 27 per game.

John Swinney led the Bulldogs with 16 points. Sanders and Robbie Phernetton added 15 each and Donald Ewing had 10. Coahoma takes on Crane and Sonora in its final two regular season outings.

GOING THROUGH THE PACES — U.S. Olympic skater Scott Hamilton, Denver, goes through the paces of his routine for the upcoming men's compulsory in Olympic figure skating Friday at Skenderija Arena in Sarajevo. Hamilton, who is the men's world champion in figure skating, is America's best bet for a gold medal in the event.

Bufs split with Eagles

STERLING CITY — The Forsan Buffalo Queens officially laid claim to number one with their 72-55 win over Sterling City in girls' District 16-A basketball action last night.

The Queens, under the direction of coach Rich Schafer advance into bi-district action next week against the second place squad in District 17-A.

Forsan got a balanced scoring attack led by Kristy Evans' 20 points. Evans tallied 10 points in each half. Senior forward Cathy Thurman scored 12 of her 18 points in the fourth quarter.

Thurman was a force on the boards in leading the Queens to a 45-25 rebounding edge. Thurman led all rebounders with 17. Tracy Painter followed with nine caroms.

Other Queens in double figures were Lorri Roman with 13 and Tina Sterner with 11 — 10 coming in the second half.

Forsan ends regular season play with a 7-1 district slate and 18-8 season record.

The Forsan boys did not fare so well as S-City pulled away in the second half to take a 54-41 win.

Sterling City outscored the Buffalos 30-18 to gain the victory.

Forsan closes the season out at 10-15 and 3-5 in district play.

GARDEN CITY — For a little over two quarters the outmanned Garden City girls led their own with the playoff-bound Bronte Longhorn Honeys, but then the Honeys' strong front line took charge in leading them to a 57-32 victory in District 16-A basketball action here Friday night.

Garden City fielded only five players on their first squad, because other members were dismissed from the squad four games ago for disciplinary reasons. The four sophomores and one junior played the much taller Honeys to a near-even draw in the first half, with Bronte leading 18-12.

Garden City stayed close behind the shooting of junior guard Debbie Bendar who tossed in seven points by halftime, and finished the night with 12 points.

Bronte, getting a cold shooting performance from leading scorer Beverly Johnson, who had only two at intermission, relied on the scoring punch of reserve Lisa Dyess who tallied 10 points in the contest.

In the second half, Bronte's front wall of Johnson, Becky Morrow and Connie Badgett took charge as Bronte continually got three and four shots at the basket.

The trio combined for 45 of Bronte's 64 rebounds, with Johnson's 21 leading the way. Johnson also found her scoring touch in the second half, scoring 12 points. Morrow, who led all scorers with 18, also scored 12 in the second half.

Garden City forward Jana Hunter played well, scoring 13 points and and nine rebounds. Carol Hoelscher hauled down eight rebounds.

Garden City finishes the season with a 3-17 record and 0-8 in district. Bronte advances to the playoffs with a 16-9 slate, and 6-2 district record.

Court rules Sims to stay in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A federal judge ruled Friday that running back Billy Sims must play with the National Football League's Detroit Lions, rather than the Houston Gamblers of the United States Football League.

The ruling by U.S. District Judge Robert E. DeMascio came a week after final arguments in a lawsuit filed by Sims against the Gamblers.

"We're delighted Judge DeMascio has ruled in favor of Billy Sims and the Lions. We are especially happy for the local football fans," said Lions General Manager Russ Thomas.

"It is also heartening to see a legal ruling address itself to the responsibility of a player's agent in football. With Billy we are looking forward to an outstanding 1984 season."

The Lions star and 1978 Heisman Trophy winner signed contracts with both teams last year.

However, Sims argued in the suit that his former agent and co-owner of the Gamblers, Jerry Argovitz, had misrepresented him in negotiations with the Lions and withheld information, prompting him to sign with Houston.

An unidentified spokesman at the Gamblers' offices in Houston said Argovitz was in a meeting with club owners and not immediately available for comment.

In the decision DeMascio said: "The careless fashion in which Argovitz went about ascertaining the highest price for Sims' service convinces us of the wisdom of the maxim, 'No man can faithfully serve two masters,' whose interests are in conflict."

"There was significant financial differences between the USFL and the NFL not only in terms of the relative financial stability of the leagues, but also in terms of the fringe benefits available to Sims," DeMascio added in the 20-page opinion.

The judge also said, "Argovitz was not encouraging a bidding war that could have advantageous results for Sims."

Sims signed a five-year, $3.5 million contract with the Gamblers on July 1 and an undated agreement with the USFL expansion team in November. But on Dec. 16, he signed a five-year pact worth $4.5 million with the Lions.

The Gamblers argued during the trial, which ended Feb. 3, that their contract is valid and that they fairly won the right to Sims' services.

But Sims' attorney, Elbert Hatchett, accused Argovitz of misrepresentation, claiming the agent continued to represent the star running back even after Argovitz became a co-owner of the Gamblers in May.

Hatchett also claimed Argovitz had a conflict of interest, since Sims paid the former agent $175,000 for handling the Houston contract.

After the verdict was announced, Hatchett said of Sims: "Maybe he can get back to the business of playing football." He added that Sims, "has matured immensely" and "will not be as trusting as he has been in the past."

"I don't think he will sign things as readily as before," Hatchett said. In a phone call to Sims at his home in Hooks, Texas, Hatchett told the running back that "the opinion is beautiful. It's certainly vindicates you."

A spokesman for the NFL declined to comment on any aspects of DeMascio's ruling. But Jim Heffernan said: "We're pleased to learn that Billy Sims will continue to play in the National Football League for the Detroit Lions."

According to testimony, Sims was about to enter the option year of his three-year contract with Detroit when Argovitz told him last June 22 that the Lions were dragging their feet in negotiations. Hatchett claimed Argovitz knew at the time that a $3.5 million offer was coming from the Lions and failed to inform Sims.

Suits filed in various Michigan and Texas courts were consolidated in DeMascio's court because of the geographical diversity of the principals.

The judge ruled before the start of the trial that the Lions had no status in the case, although they also had filed suit against the Gamblers.

American skaters are good bets for medals

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — Jayne Torvill and Christopher Dean, Britain's magic ice dancers, turned in three perfect scores, while two American couples positioned themselves for medal shots in the dance and pairs' skating at the Winter Olympics Friday.

Torvill and Dean, heavily favored to win their event, made figure skating history by registering three perfect scores of 6.0 on the final of their three compulsory dance routines. No other couple ever has received a perfect score in international ice-dance compulsories.

"Obviously, they're thrilled to bits," said Betty Callaway, who coaches Torvill and Dean. "They should be. They're the first ever to get 6.0s" for compulsory dance.

An American couple, Judy Blumberg and Michael Seibert, was in third place in the dance.

Then, at night in the Zetra arena, Kitty and Peter Carruthers, brother and sister from Wilmington, Del., drew roars from the crowd and points enough from the judges to tie for second place after the pairs short program.

The short program requires seven movements, including two lifts, a death spiral, double loop jumps and spins.

The couple skated each element with near flawless precision although Valova appeared to have caught her blade in a rut going into the ending death spiral.

Their marks, save for one 5.7, were all 5.8s and 5.9s of a possible 6.0.

Kitty Carruthers, 22, who has been nursing tendinitis in her right ankle, threw her arms around her 24-year-old brother and flashed a grin when their two minutes were up.

U.S. flags waved, several fans tossed carnations on the ice and the audience erupted in cheers for the pair.

Their marks ranged from 5.4 to 5.8. Their spins

The compulsory dances count 30 percent of the total score, while the short program in pairs is worth 20 percent of the total.

First place in the pairs belonged to Elena Valova and Oleg Vasiliev, the Soviet world champions, who skated a short program of lifts and spins to music.

The Carruthers' were tied for second with another Soviet team, Larissa Selezneva and Oleg Makarov.

The other two U.S. pairs finished in the top 10 — Jill Watson and Burt Lancon of Los Angeles were eighth and Lea Ann Miller and Bill Fauver of Wilmington, Del., were 10th.

Valova and Vasiliev, who are also European champions, left no doubt what country they were representing when they took the ice at the Zetra Arena.

They skated at a breakneck clip to a Russian folk song called Kalinka and wore Russian-style costumes.

The short program requires seven movements, including two lifts, a death spiral, double loop jumps and spins.

The couple skated each element with near flawless precision although Valova appeared to have caught her blade in a rut going into the ending death spiral.

Their marks, save for one 5.7, were all 5.8s and 5.9s of a possible 6.0.

Kitty Carruthers, 22, who has been nursing tendinitis in her right ankle, threw her arms around her 24-year-old brother and flashed a grin when their two minutes were up.

U.S. flags waved, several fans tossed carnations on the ice and the audience erupted in cheers for the pair.

Their marks ranged from 5.4 to 5.8. Their spins were a little off and Peter appeared to bobble the double loop jump. But they solidly landed all the other required moves.

They said afterward they would not include a special "throw quad" move in their freestyle program because their Coach Ron Ludington said it wasn't worth the risk. The move has never been performed in competition.

The Soviet team tied with the Carruthers, finished fourth at the recent European championships in Budapest. They sold the audience — and apparently the judges, too, on their jazzy, high-kicking program — one that was quite different from Valova-Vasiliev's.

The 15 pairs will skate for medals Sunday night.

The other two U.S. dance couples placed in the top 10. Carol Fox and Richard Dalley were sixth and Elisa Spitz and Scott Gregory were 10th.

Torvill and Dean, the world and European champions, received three marks of 6.0 for their dance to the Westminster Waltz — the third of three numbers the 19 competing couples were required to perform. The other two dances were the Paso Doble, which is a Spanish rhythm, and the Rhumba.

The three perfect marks were awarded by the Hungarian, British and Japanese judges. Torvill and Dean's lowest mark was a 5.7 from the Czechoslovakian judge in the Paso.

Perfect scores are nothing new for this couple from Nottingham. Last year at the World Championships in Helsinki the scoreboard lit up with a full row of nine perfect scores after they skated their "Barnum" free-dance program.

The compulsories count for 30 percent of the overall ice dance score.

TCU linebacker declared ineligible
FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Texas Christian linebacker Gary Spann has been suspended this semester for academic reasons and the defensive star may not return in the fall unless he can make up 17 hours of classes this summer, TCU coach Jim Wacker says.
"He can give it a try in the summer, but it's going to be the most difficult challenge he has ever accepted in his life, because he has got to pass 17 hours in summer school," Wacker said Thursday.
