Mondale: 'A good day'

By The Associated Press
Walter F. Mondale swept past Sen. Gary Hart for caucus victories in the union heartland of Michigan and the hills of Arkansas and held a decisive lead over him in Mississippi on the most delegate-rich Saturday of the drive for the Democratic presidential nomination.
The only weak spots for Mondale in the five caucus states voting Saturday were South Carolina and three counties in Kentucky, where uncommitted slates carried the day.
"It's been a good day, and I could use one," the former vice president said in Illinois.
Hart, a dark-horse candidate only three weeks ago, played down the significance of the results, particularly from Michigan, saying he was happy to get "40 percent of the vote in a process that was stacked against us from the beginning."
And the Colorado senator said he expected a long fight for the nomination. "I never anticipated winning this nomination in March," he said.
Mondale's performance Saturday was another step on the road back from a string of early defeats by Hart. After fighting Hart to a 3-2 split in the Super Tuesday primaries, Mondale was looking for a better showing Saturday to give him momentum going into Tuesday's crucial primary in Illinois.

And he got it.
"This has been a good national win for me," he said at a campaign stop in Illinois as well. "We did well on 'Super Tuesday.' We did better tonight. We're fighting back."
Mondale was the victor in Arkansas, winning 20 national convention delegates to only 9 for Hart.
He won Michigan, where strong support from the United Auto Workers and other unions were the key to his winning the lion's share of the state's 136 delegates to his column. One party official said Mondale might win as many as 80 of the delegates.
Returns from 227 of Michigan's 397 caucuses gave Mondale 53 percent; Hart, 34 percent; Jackson, 10 percent. The rest went to uncommitted slates.
Hart spent only one day campaigning in Michigan, but his campaign lost to Mondale page 2-A back up on the saddle and headed for a barrel set up inside an arena on the Garden City highway.

EMCEE — Kenneth Williams, vice president of the Howard County Youth Horsemen Club, calls out events and keeps time during Horsemen events. Williams and several others founded the club in 1962.

Later, when the child came up to complain about his ride, Williams corrected him and said, "You're a winner." He pointed to a box of ribbons and told the youngster that after the activities were over, he could take one of the ribbons home.
Williams, Garland Conway and Clinton Harrison founded the Howard County Youth Horsemen Club in 1962. "We're one of the oldest clubs around," Williams said.
Williams said the club was founded to teach youngsters how to participate in various events and how to tend, groom and ride horses.
There was another reason, too.
"We hope that this will keep them from down in town, on the streets. We want them to stay out of mischief."
The club sponsors training clinics, such as how to saddle a horse. Children who participate in the Youth Horsemen also learn what to look for in a horse should they want to purchase their own someday.
David Henry is club president. Williams is vice president. President of the youth organization within the club is Kim Henry.
From March through December every year, children and adults gather at the club's arena on the Garden City Highway to participate in a variety of events such as barrel racing, pole bending, flag racing and the potato race.
Harrison said he and the other organizers began the club "to give kids a place to participate and to show their horses. We eventually added the adults."
The Youth Horsemen Club "is open to age age, from one to 102 if they want to participate," Harrison said.
Events sponsored by the group are also up for a vote, Harrison said. "We'll sponsor anything they want to try."
Williams said points for members are tallied during playdays held throughout the season. At an end of the year banquet, scheduled Oct. 20, awards will be distributed.
Participating in the Youth Horsemen is often a family event, as evidenced by 15-year-old Toni Roberts. Toni has participated in the Youth Horsemen for about

Two convicted in barroom rape

Verdict draws crowd outrage

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — Two men were convicted Saturday of gang raping a young woman on a barroom pool table while onlookers joked and cheered, a verdict that sparked cries of outrage from courtroom spectators and angry charges of racism from crowds outside.
Cries and screams from the defendant's relatives echoed through the century-old courtroom. A man leaped to his feet screaming in Portuguese and was dragged away by court officers.
Outside the courthouse, an angry crowd jeered jurors as "racists," while the victim, a 22-year-old mother of two, gave a statement through her attorney: "Justice has been done."
But the district attorney said he advised the woman to leave her home for the night because of the ugly emotion generated by the verdicts.
Daniel Silva, 27, and Joseph Vieira, 28, were convicted of aggravated rape, which could bring a life sentence and deportation for the men, both Portuguese immigrants.
Bristol Superior Court Judge William Young scheduled sentencing for Friday.
A jury of eight men and four women returned the verdict after 5½ hours of deliberation following a 16-day trial.
Four other men are being tried separately in a trial that is expected to go to the jury later this week.
The defendants heard the verdict read over headphones by a translator. They showed no emotion, but Vieira's brother leaped to his feet, screaming in Portuguese, before he was dragged from the courtroom.
A man identified as Joseph Vieira Sr., 58, was arrested outside the court for disorderly conduct, said Officer Thomas Silva. He said it was not clear whether the man was the defendant's father, but Peter Cordieiro, chief court officer, confirmed that Vieira is the defendant's father.
As the jurors were taken to their bus, a crowd of about 100 people

Midland group buys insolvent Seminole bank

SEMINOLE (AP) — A West Texas bank that collapsed under a combination of agriculture and energy problems will reopen Monday under a newly chartered bank holding company, officials say.
The U.S. Comptroller of the Currency's office declared the Seminole State National Bank insolvent Friday evening and placed it in receivership with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., said Dean DeBuck, spokesman for the comptroller's office.
The bank will reopen Monday as Seminole National Bank under a bank holding company charter granted to four Midland businessmen and a Plainview man, FDIC spokesman Alan Whitney said.
The Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas announced late Friday the approval of the holding company application for First West Texas Bancshares Inc. of Midland.
"Quite obviously, energy loans and farm loans and the state of the economy caused the closure of the bank," former Seminole Mayor Bob Clark told the Odessa American.
Clark said the Seminole area was beset with agriculture woes dating back about 10 years. Farming has been "going downhill since 1973," he said.
"On top of that came the energy bust," Clark said. "This bank had both farm and energy loans."
The bank had deposits of $43 million and assets of $19.7 million, DeBuck said.
"Over the past year, the bank experienced substantial deterioration in the quality of its loan portfolio. The bank, unable to remedy its problems and losses, finally exhausted the bank's capital, resulting in its insolvency," senior deputy comptroller H. Joe Selby said.
Olen Brock, a former First National Bank of Midland loan officer, is a member of the newly chartered holding company, along with J.L. Davis, David Davis and Keith Moore, all of Midland, and Houston Hamby of Plainview.

SEEKING SANCTUARY - Five Guatemalan youngsters depart from a Markham, Ill., church service as religious activists shuffle them to a sanctuary in Vermont.

Underground railroad

Religious families shepherd illegal refugees

CHICAGO (AP) - Fifty religious activists, vowing they will "not be intimidated" by arrest threats, departed in a 12-car "underground railroad" caravan today to shepherd a family of illegal Guatemalan refugees to sanctuary in Vermont.

After singing "Be Not Afraid" in a southern church, the travelers embarked on their eight-day trip in cars that bore signs reading "Hands off the Freedom Train" and "Resist Death - Give Sanctuary."

Mike McConnell, an organizer of the group, had warned the travelers that going public makes them possible targets of arrest for harboring illegal aliens.

The Guatemalans are a mother, father and five children, Mayan Indians who said they had to flee for their lives when soldiers were sent to kill the father for teaching other villagers to read.

The refugees and other members of the caravan said they will sleep in church basements and on living room floors in several cities where they plan to stop and hold church services. Eventually, the family will be delivered to a group of monks waiting for them in Vermont, they said.

McConnell said the trip was an act of civil disobedience designed to show the government the strength of the 2-year-old "sanctuary program" in which 110 churches have given food, clothing, shelter and transportation to up to 350 illegal aliens from Central America.

"This is in direct response to the arrests of two church workers and three Salvadoran refugees in Texas and the arrest of two church workers and four Salvadoran refugees in Arizona," McConnell said at a prayer service on the eve of the scheduled departure. "We will not be intimidated by the arrests."

five years and said, "I get a lot of fun out of it." Toni has ridden in a few rodeos and said the Youth Horsemen helped her learn by "watching everybody" work with their horses.

Toni's sister, Debbie Green, said participants "learn sportsmanship. They learn how to lose" with grace. Mrs. Green's daughter, Tracey, 7, is an avid member of the club. "She wants to come out here every time she hears about a playday," Mrs. Green said.

Tracey nodded in agreement when her mother said, "She likes to ride horses. That's her favorite pastime. She'd ride if it was raining, or snowing, or whatever." Mrs. Green's husband, Toby, "never did mess with horses much. This got him involved with them." The Green's other two children, Kimberly, 4, and T.J., 3, were also at the arena, watching their relatives ride in several events.

Rape

boomed and jeered. Shouts of "Racists" were heard.

The victim also is Portuguese, as is District Attorney Ronald Pina, who rejected charges of bias.

"I am proud to be a Portuguese American. That has nothing to do with this case at all," Pina said. "How people feel in a city, their bigotry, I have no control over. I just do a job."

"I'm just glad it's over," said juror Joseph Saraiva of Acushnet.

The case has generated strong emotion and national attention for over a year since police reported the woman was raped and sexually abused while others cheered them on at Big Dan's, a New Bedford tavern, on March 6, 1983.

News reports of a crowd of men cheering as a woman lay pinned to the table provoked an outcry among women's rights advocates. A week later, some 2,500 people staged a candlelight march to New Bedford city hall to protest the incident.

Scott Charnas, attorney for the victim, said he spoke to the woman after the verdict was returned. "She feels that justice has been done," he said. "She feels bad for the families of the defendants, but she said her family has suffered,

No charges have been filed against the church workers arrested in Arizona last month, but the two in Texas have been indicted by a federal grand jury. The charges carry a maximum sentence of a $5,000 fine and two years in jail for each refugee.

McConnell is a staff member for the Chicago Religious Task Force on Central America, which organized a network of temporary homes for Central American refugees in church rectories and other buildings in more than 60 cities across the United States.

Lee Holstein, another task force staff member, said more than 1,000 volunteers across the country have opened their homes to refugees and driven them across country in relays.

The caravan plans to pass through Indianapolis and Cincinnati on Saturday; Columbus, Ohio, Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, Pa., on Sunday; Washington, D.C., for a series of rallies on Monday and Tuesday; Philadelphia on Wednesday; Albany, N.Y., on Thursday; and Cambridge, Mass., on Friday.

The caravan hopes to end Saturday at the Weston (Vt.) Priory, where a group of Benedictine monks have offered sanctuary for the Guatemalan family.

Duke Austin, a spokesman for the Immigration and Naturalization Service in Washington, said authorities know about the caravan. "There is no authority in U.S. law for sanctuary, be it for harboring a criminal or an illegal alien," he said.

However, he said, INS policy is to arrest people in the sanctuary movement only in the course of pursuing higher priorities: turning back illegal aliens at the border, deporting them from workplaces and arresting smugglers who bring them in to work on farms and in factories.

After the scheduled events were over, Williams turned away from his microphone and said "We're just going to let them play, now."

Riders entered the arena to show off their skills and to prepare themselves for future competition.

paid on radio and television ads in Michigan in the last two days, urging his supporters to turn out.

Given Mondale's advantage with union support there, Hart said, "We just had no choice but not to put a lot of effort in there."

In Mississippi, the former vice president was winning just over 30 percent of the vote, slightly ahead of the uncommitted slates in returns from 1,325 of 2,070 precinct caucuses. Twenty-eight percent backed Jackson, and 12 percent Hart.

Party officials in Mississippi stopped counting late Saturday night, saying they would resume Monday. No estimates of national convention delegates based on the incomplete returns were available. Latin American Democrats also met in Panama on Saturday to parcel out their three pledged delegate votes to the San Francisco convention in July. Mondale's momentum from his Saturday victories will get another boost Sunday when he expects to win Puerto Rico's primary on Sunday, where Hart made no effort for its 48 pledged delegates. Uncommitted slates were leading in South Carolina and Kentucky on Saturday - where party leaders had called for such support.

Clerk threatened; 5 men questioned in Furr's robbery

A clerk at Furr's Supermarket at 901 E. 11th Place was threatened at knifepoint Saturday afternoon by a man attempting to leave the store without paying for two packages of beer.

Sgt. Jerry Edwards said "we received a call reporting a theft at Furr's Supermarket about 2:34 p.m. Saturday. Officer Covington responded and upon investigation at the scene determined an aggravated robbery had occurred."

Reports show a Hispanic male subject "had taken property from the store and threatened a clerk at knifepoint," Edwards said.

The assailant and a male companion fled the scene in a metallic brown 1969 Cadillac, Edwards said. The vehicle was later located by Russell in the vicinity of the Northcrest Apartments at 1000 N. Main.

"He attempted to stop the vehicle," Edwards said. The two passengers attempted to evade the officer and fled to a driveway at Northeast 11th and North Nolan. They pulled up into the driveway and were arrested there, Edwards said.

Russell called for assistance at the scene. "Five people were taken into custody" at the scene, Edwards said.

The men did not offer resistance, Edwards said. No charges had been filed in the incident Saturday afternoon, and Edwards said no action may be taken until Monday.

Police did not release the names of the five men or the clerk.

Snow was scattered over northern Maine and along the lower Great Lakes and from the Dakotas across southern Minnesota.

Rain fell over northern Missouri and parts of Illinois, western Kentucky, western Tennessee and from northern Mississippi through the northern half of Georgia. Light rain fell over central Texas.

For Sunday, snow was forecast from the central Rockies across the central Plains as well as over the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles.

Freezing rain was predicted across southern Iowa and west central Illinois. Freezing rain mixed with snow was forecast for parts of New England, New York and northern Pennsylvania.

Northern New England was to get rain, as was the area from southern Illinois across Missouri, Arkansas, the southeast quarter of Kansas, Oklahoma and northern Texas. And rain was predicted for the Pacific Northwest.

Temperatures were to reach the 30s from New England through the Great Lakes, the upper Mississippi Valley and the northern half of the Plains; near 80 over the inland Southwest; low 80s across Florida; and mid-80s through southern Texas.

Christina takes the fourth

PARIS — Greek shipping heiress Christina Onassis was married Saturday for the fourth time, this time to a 31-year-old French businessman, in a 20-minute civil ceremony.

The marriage of Miss Onassis, 33, and Thierry Roussel was attended by about 20 people at the mayor's office in the fashionable 7th District.

The bride, one of the richest women in the world, wore a white suit and blouse.

It was the first marriage for Roussel, who runs a Parisian modeling agency and also has construction and import-export interests.

Miss Onassis is the only surviving child of Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, who died in 1975, leaving behind a $1 billion empire. Miss Onassis' only brother, Alexander, died in a plane crash in 1975.

Freddy wants some cash

HOUSTON — Country singer Freddy Fender and a music company have filed a lawsuit against a Beverly Hills, Calif., lawyer they claim owes them about $5,500.

The lawsuit was filed Friday by Fender and Huey P. Meaux, president of Houston-based Music Enterprises Inc.

It claims that Leonard Korobkin, a Beverly Hills entertainment lawyer, owes the plaintiffs $3,928 plus interest from a 1977 loan and has a car valued at $1,600 that belongs to the music company.

According to the lawsuit, Korobkin has served notice that he intends to sue Fender and the music company for $15,542 in unpaid legal fees.

Gandhi studies racism

JACKSON — Arun Gandhi, grandson of Mohandas Gandhi, visited some sites of civil rights activity in the early 1960s as part of a trip to compare racial discrimination in the United States and discrimination in India against "untouchables."

Gandhi, 49, said last week here in Mississippi he was making a "cursory study" and hoped to find money to continue "a serious study of this topic."

Gandhi and his wife Sunanda have worked to help the "untouchables" — those born at the bottom of the Indian caste system — elevate their economic status.

The bluest eyes in Seattle

SEATTLE — The King of Sweden and a delegation of Swedish technological leaders took a one-day high-tech tour of the Seattle area, with an emphasis on aircraft manufacturing and timber.

"It's sad it was so short," Carl XVI Gustaf said of his one-day visit just before leaving Seattle-Tacoma International Airport late Friday.

The king visited Seattle in November 1982 with his wife, Queen Silvia, and met many third-generation Swedish-Americans.

This time, the king visited the Boeing Co. and timber giant Weyerhaeuser Co. Like Washington, Sweden has vast forests and an airline industry, he said.

Art for dinner's sake

GREENVILLE — Artist Andrew Wyeth mingled with about 275 guests, including North Carolina Gov. Dick Riley, at a dinner-dance that raised about $40,000 for the Greenville County Museum of Art.

The Friday night event came exactly 10 years after an exhibit of work by Wyeth's father, N.C. Wyeth, opened the contemporary structure.

Earlier, Wyeth talked about the exhibit marking the museum's anniversary called "Andrew Wyeth: A Trojan Horse Modernist."

"I don't know yet who makes out the best," he joked, referring to the show that presents his work alongside that of his contemporaries. "The question is 'Do they accept me?' or 'Do I accept them?'"

Lebanese cease-fire broken

BEIRUT — Front-line clashes and renewed bombardment of residential neighborhoods strained Lebanon's four-day-old cease-fire on Saturday, and the U.S. Embassy reported no word on kidnapped American diplomat William Buckley.

Embassy officials said they had received no claims of responsibility, ransom or other demands a day after three gunmen in civilian clothes abducted the 55-year-old Buckley in front of his home in west Beirut.

Police said at least 13 people were killed and 35 wounded in battles between Christian and Moslem militias along the "green line" between Christian east and Moslem west Beirut, at the city's southern outskirts and in the hills east of the capital in the 24 hours ending at sundown Saturday.

The Gaza hospital in the Palestinian refugee camp of Sabra, south of Beirut, reported seven people were killed and five were wounded when the camp and surrounding area were shelled Saturday evening. The casualties included both refugees and Lebanese residents, hospital officials said.

Lebanon nears peace plan

LAUSANNE — Leaders of Lebanon's rival factions met for five hours Saturday and aides to President Amin Gemayel reported significant progress on a new power-sharing formula and peace plan for the war-torn nation.

The closed-door conference was scheduled to resume Sunday at 10 a.m. (3 a.m. CST).

Aides and advisers, who attended previous full sessions, were asked to leave the conference hall 15 minutes after the meeting got under way Saturday, one conference source said.

Saturday's session followed 48 hours of informal bargaining and then a seven-hour delay to give Syrian and Saudi Arabian mediators more time to narrow the gaps between pro- and anti-government delegations.

The first to emerge from the meeting hall were the oldest participants — former presidents Suleiman Franjeh, a Christian opposition leader, and Camille Chamoun, head of the pro-government "Lebanese Front".

Several conference sources said the Lausanne negotiators remained divided over the extent to which the distribution of key government posts would be divorced from religion.

Moslems and Druse, believed to be a majority of Lebanon's 3 million people, are fighting the current system that reserves most political power for Christians.

Cuba may quit Angola

Cuba, after being forced out of Grenada last fall and voluntarily withdrawing some troops from Ethiopia, has begun to prepare Cuban public opinion for the possibility that its forces in Angola will be brought home as well, U.S. officials say.

In each of the countries, Cuba's presence dates back to the mid-to late 1970s. But officials said the retrenchment is the product of events unique to each situation rather than part of a conscious pattern.

The possible departure of 25,000 Cuban troops from Angola reflects the progress in American-led negotiations to achieve independence and black majority rule in Namibia, a South African colony.

The United States and South Africa's anti-communist government have insisted that progress in the independence process be conditioned on a firm commitment by Angola to end the Cuban troop presence.

Cuba initially sent forces to the southwest African nation in 1975 to protect the Marxist government there from South African attacks. Traditionally, Havana has said little to the Cuban people about the diplomatic and military situation in Angola, a former Portuguese colony.

No information, for example, is reported on Cuban casualties, on where the dead are buried or on troop rotations.

Thus, some diplomats were surprised by an article late last month in Granma, the Cuban Communist Party daily, on the status of the Namibian negotiations and on the demands that the Cubans leave Angola as part of an overall settlement.

Miami quiet after riots

MIAMI — Police barricades around troubled black communities were removed Saturday and merchants promised to rebuild following two nights of violence sparked by the acquittal of a policeman in the fatal shooting of a young black man.

Isolated burglaries were reported early Saturday. Riot-trained police squads were told to be ready for another night of duty just in case violence flared again.

But police said they expected the city to remain calm. The fatal shooting of Nevell Johnson Jr. in December 1982 at a slum video arcade sparked three days of racial violence in the predominantly black Overtown neighborhood where Johnson lived. Alvarez said Johnson was reaching for a concealed pistol when he shot him.

Father kills kidnap suspect

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Jeffery Paul Doucet, the karate instructor who was shot by the father of a 12-year-old boy he allegedly kidnapped, died of his wounds Saturday and charges against his assailant were changed to murder, authorities said.

A spokeswoman at New Orleans' Charity Hospital, where Doucet was transferred earlier Saturday, said he died at noon from a single gunshot wound in the head.

The charges against Gary Plauche, 39, who had been held for attempted second degree murder since the Friday night incident, were changed to second degree murder, said Sgt. Roy Forbes of the East Baton Rouge Parish Sheriff's Department.

Witnesses to the Friday night shooting said Plauche told deputies immediately after the shooting, "If it were your son, you would have done the same thing."

Sanders refused to elaborate on what Plauche believes happened to his son during the abduction. Authorities said the child was released unharmed.

The hassle-free safety belt age

It's the age of the no-hassle seat belt. When the safety devices were first introduced, they came in a practical style. They were adjustable, and wearers simply custom-fit them to their anatomy.

But the belts didn't look good, hanging off the seats in a disorderly fashion. Besides, they had to be readjusted for different riders, and it was easy to ignore them on the grounds of inconvenience.

It's never taken much justification for American automobile riders to say seat belts aren't worth the hassle.

Designers upgraded the safety belts. They installed them in the sides of cars, and all riders had to do was pull them from a casing and snap them in place. There were drawbacks to this system, too, though. The ratcheted holding devices locked in place at the lowest point. So unless a wearer was able to ride without moving, it became unbearable tight.

Advancements brought the combination shoulder harness and seat belt, infinitely safer, but subject to the same limitations as earlier models — no good at all unless fastened. And there was the problem of the belt inhibiting access to the back seat.

Finally, we've arrived at the modern-day, no-excuses seat belt/harness system. It's comfortable, easy to use, offers minimal obstruction and — let's not overlook this — saves lives just as well as the earlier versions. It employs a system that "gives" with small movements, but freezes upon sudden impact.

So why don't more people wear safety belts? Why doesn't everybody? Statistics should frighten us into wearing them: Texas' 3,850 traffic deaths last year could have been half that amount if everyone wore seat belts. But they don't. Everyone suffers the "not me" syndrome.

Warning buzzers and engines that wouldn't start unless the belt was buckled met with such outcry that the "reminders" now have been reduced to faintly tinkling bells.

Safety belts have been refined to the nth degree. They only thing they don't do is buckle automatically. Yet optimum highway safety remains a goal out of reach. We can urge, cajole, and intimidate in this space. But we can't buckle up for people. Only people can buckle up for people.

College football

When a strapping college junior named Herschel Walker gave up his academic aspirations last year to play professional football for the New Jersey Generals of the United States Football League, he struck anxiety in the heart of every major college football coach in the country. The Bo Schembechlers and Joe Paternos wept at the thought of having to bid a premature adieu to scholars who had grown to manhood, not to mention gridiron prowess, under their tutelage.

Not that these coaches are hopeless sentimentalists. It's just that the departure of a few students especially adept at the rugged arts of football could mean the onset of mediocrity in some well-financed football programs, which in turn could mean — well, coaches don't like to think what that could mean.

Now they have more to worry about, because a federal judge has ruled that the USFL violated antitrust laws by prohibiting the signing of undergraduates (even though it made exceptions when convenient). The National Football League has a similar regulation, whose legality is now in doubt. The ruling makes for bad law, say the alarmists, and worse football.

But there really isn't a dark cloud hanging over every autumn Saturday. The law aside, scrapping the rule against the signing of undergraduates would benefit not only the professional leagues, but also college athletes — yes, even college athletes.

The practice of the NFL and the USFL (some of the time, anyway) is to refrain from signing or negotiating with college players who haven't graduated or used up their four years of college eligibility or waited five years since their class entered school. Undergraduates aren't included in the annual player draft. So those who would rather get paid for their trouble — or, as the case may be, paid better — are prevented from doing so.

The usual excuse for the rule is that it encourages athletes to get an education. Change the rule, warns one, and "you keep a kid from getting his degree." (And, he notes, "You ruin a pretty good football team if you lose an O.J. Simpson.")

But notice that players don't have to finish school to qualify for the NFL draft — they only have to use up their athletic eligibility, which is another thing. Two-thirds of all NFL players never got a degree. The colleges' interest in the education of football players is obviously limited by other concerns. If a player gives up football to concentrate on anthropology, he loses his scholarship. Even if he sticks with his sport, his financial aid normally ends after four years, whether he has graduated or not.

The other rationale is to protect players from poor decisions. Suppose a player quits school, signs a pro contract and then gets badly hurt. There he is, with no future in pro ball and no degree. That's unfortunate, but there's another possibility, just as bad, under the status quo: the kid who stays in school just so he can play in the pros, and then gets hurt before he makes it. He's in even worse shape, with no future in pro ball, no degree and no money from signing a pro contract.

Everyone knows that a lot of players don't belong in college anyway; they're only there to win ball games. Pretending otherwise demeans both academics and athletics: the former by forcing schools to lower their academic standards for the sake of a winning football team, the latter by pretending that sport is noble only when played by people pretending to be amateurs.

Better to let State U. be represented on the gridiron by real students, and let the players who are now merely disguised semi-professional athletes be genuine pros. Then the NFL and USFL might establish their own farm teams, as major league baseball teams have, instead of letting institutions of higher learning do the job for them.

Momentum is beginning to build for Texas' 150th birthday party. Among the special attractions in 1986 for the sesquicentennial will be a portfolio of 150 photographs representing a cross-section of this great state. Big Spring could be represented in that collection.

Houston photographer Ned Bosnick is taking the next two years to conduct a photographic expedition through Texas. And he's looking for picture ideas for "150 Texas Towns."

Bosnick says the subject can be anything or anybody or any creature within Texas' borders, on public or private property, from the smallest town to the largest city.

"It could be historical, cultural, educational, religious, business, ranching, manufacturing, farming, oil, people.... It could be an old falling down barn, a new space age building, a dynamic factory, a quiet river, a bridge, a general store or a wonderful face," he said.

If you have a photo idea from Big Spring and the surrounding area for Bosnick's considera-

Something of an historic event is scheduled in Midland Thursday. It's a sobering occasion, but I think there's a glimmer of optimism to be pared from it.

An auctioneering firm will conduct a massive sale of merchandise — all fallout from the oil bust of the last two years.

According to a press release from a firm advertising the event, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is delivering to the auctioneers hundreds of items involved in the failure and closure of three West Texas banks.

Cars, trucks, mobile homes, office furnishings, equipment and business inventories will be going on the block. The auction site is T&T Auto Salvage, 1.5 miles south of Interstate 20 on Texas 349.

There's no pleasure to be taken in bidding on the material losses of another person's life. But the auction should be a bargain hunter's adventure, and it should be interesting to witness. More than that, it symbolizes the disposal of a depressing episode in the history of West Texas. In one sense, it clears the past to make way for the optimism of a brighter future.

QUIGMANS UPDATE: Two weeks ago I asked your opinion of a new cartoon panel just now going into syndication. The balloting was light — about what I expected — and there was no clear-cut response. Those who weren't taken by the unusual style of Buddy Hickerson, Quigmans creator, were blunt in their rejection of the work. But those who liked it were equally lavish in their praise of the offbeat Quigmans humor.

I'm considering a trial run of the cartoon, which I hope will help brighten the daily editorial page, to give a truer picture of its reception by our readers.

Around The Rim

By KEITH BRISCOE

The people's choice: Them or me

Mom would be proud of me. I'm up for election. I don't remember entering a democratic contest, but now I find my record is under public scrutiny.

And in the early polling, I'm losing. You see, this paper asked its readers if they would like to see a new cartoon, the Quigmans, on the editorial page. Several persons answered that they didn't really like the cartoon, but they'd say okay if the commandants around here disposed of me in return.

"We'll take the Quigmans if you get rid of Briscoe," a couple of the responses said.

I've had a petition asking for my removal. I've had people call my publisher demanding I be sent to cover the war in Lebanon. I even had one guy write threatening to kill my children. (And I don't have any children.)

And now I'm on a ballot with some stupid cartoon. I didn't know what the Quigmans were until someone said, "Hey Briscoe. Someone said they'd take the Quigmans if we got rid of you."

"Who the hell are the Quigmans?" I asked.

"It's some funny-looking cartoon the editor wants to put on the opinion page."

"We have an editor?"

"Yea. You know, the tall, skinny guy with the big glasses who opens the mail and always says 'How we doing, guys?'"

"Are you talking about the cartoon or the editor?"

And then, if that wasn't enough, this editor, whom I don't even know for sure, went and put another one of those silly cartoons on the editorial page along with another one of those stupid letters saying they'd take the Quigmans in return for seeing me go.

So I went to this editor, whom I don't even know for sure, and I said, "What's this? Are you asking the readers to choose between me and this silly cartoon, or what?"

And he said, "In terms of readability measurement, this management has concluded that the viability of the proposed cartoon sustains support equal to the negative impact which might occur with its adoption. Also, we are of the opinion that a direct correlation exists between reader acceptability of the cartoon and reader reactivity of current city editor."

Editors talk like that. What he was trying to say was that he was really anxious to get this stupid cartoon in the paper and that the votes so far were divided equally between yes and no and that he'd do anything to get the stupid cartoon in the paper, even trading me for it. "So why fudge?" I asked him. "Ask the readers straight out what they want — Quigmans or Briscoe." "You do it," he said. "Put it in your column. It may be your last one, anyway."

So here it is. Make your choice.

Keep Quigmans. Trash Briscoe.

Billy Graham

You can be happy and religious, too

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Are you supposed to be happy if you are religious? If so, my uncle seems to have missed the boat. He is very religious, but he also is one of the groughest and most negative people I ever met. — B.G.K.

DEAR B.G.K.: I am sorry your uncle is this way — both for your sake and for his sake as well. God's Word, the Bible, makes it clear that joy should be one of the marks of a true Christian; in fact, "The fruit of the Spirit is ... joy" (Galatians 5:22). The Bible commands, "Rejoice in the Lord always. I will say it again: Rejoice!" (Philippians 4:4).

Perhaps your uncle has grown up with the idea that Christians are always supposed to be serious-minded. There is, of course, an element of truth in that; of all people, the Christian knows that life is serious, and eternal issues are at stake. Jesus was called "a man of sorrows" (Isaiah 53:3), and we read that he was deeply touched by the sufferings and struggles of those around him. At the same time, however, Christ had a deep-seated peace and joy — a joy that was not dependent on circumstances. Jesus also showed flashes of humor on occasion; can you imagine the smiles that must have come to his hearers when he talked about a camel going through the eye of a needle, for example? Pray for your uncle, that he will discover the real joy that comes from keeping our eyes on Christ every day.

But I also said that I was sorry not only for your uncle, but for you. Your letter (which I have not quoted in its entirety) suggests that you are letting your uncle's attitude keep you from committing your own life to Christ. I can understand why you feel that way; after all, why should anyone want to become a Christian if it just makes you miserable? But it doesn't! Don't let your uncle's bad example distort your thinking. You need Christ. You need his forgiveness, and you need the new life that he alone can give you.

Jesus declared, "I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full" (John 10:10). There is no greater joy than knowing your sins are forgiven, and that you belong to God and will some day go to Heaven. Open your heart to Christ — and then let your joy in Christ be an example to your uncle.

Tainted money

CROSBY — Eight churches northeast of Houston have refused to accept a $500 donation from an American Legion post because they say the money, which was earned in bingo games, is tainted. Ministers from the Churches United in Caring hold that bingo is gambling. "I feel like it would be a compromise of our beliefs — that gambling was wrong and dangerous," said the Rev. Rodney Weatherly, pastor of Community Baptist Church in Crosby. "Though it's a mild form of gambling, it can hurt somebody just as much as social drinking can lead to alcoholism."

The board of directors voted 15-2 against accepting bingo donations from American Legion Post No. 658.

The Legion post's Wednesday night games are the backbone of its charitable contributions, which amounted to $90,000 last year, Commander Larry Stasney said.

Stasney said he views the turn-down as "a slap in the face." He said the churches will "have to go begging" if they find they need money again.

Sewage in one

AUSTIN (AP) — City officials have closed a public golf course here so they can dump more treated wastewater on it.

Routinely, the Jimmy Clay Golf Course in Southeast Austin is irrigated with a daily flow of 1.2 million gallons of treated effluent from the Williamson Creek treatment plant. Because the overburdened plant's holding ponds are at capacity, the city will increase the release onto the golf course.

The closing will allow the city to increase the effluent flow to the 190-acre course, he said.

Cop cops plea

TYLER — A former East Texas police chief admitted lying to investigators and pleaded guilty to charges that he violated the civil rights of a man he fatally shot in the back three years ago.

Roger Stell, former police chief in Clarksville, said in entered his plea Friday that he participated in a cover-up of the unwarranted Jan. 5, 1981, shooting of Tommy Ray Posey.

"I shot Posey," Stell testified. "I said he was trying to harm another person and he was not, in fact, trying to harm another person."

Stell was charged in a two-count criminal information. U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice accepted the plea, but postponed sentencing for at least 30 days.

Stell, 44, resigned as Clarksville police chief in April 1981. He was subsequently hired as police chief in Cooper, but resigned that post a month ago.

Suit moved

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge Friday transferred to Dallas the Securities and Exchange Commission's insider trading suit against former Deputy Defense Secretary Paul Thayer and eight others.

The SEC opposed moving the case from New York to U.S. District Court in Dallas, but Judge Charles E. Stewart, Jr., granted the defendants' request for a transfer.

"The underlying events in this lawsuit have next to no connection at all with New York," the judge said, noting that eight of the nine defendants are Texans.

The SEC filed suit here Jan. 5 charging that Thayer helped others to $1.9 million in stock-trading profits by passing on inside information he received while chairman of LTV Corp. and a director of Allied Corp. and Anheuser-Busch Co.

The defendants said a trial in New York would be difficult for them because all nine plan to testify. The SEC argued that the Dallas courthouse would be inconvenient for the government.

Fire baby dies

FORT WORTH — A man who lost his wife, 3-year-old son and a baby daughter delivered as her fatally burned mother lay dying says he "wouldn't be able to make it" if his third child hadn't survived the fire that destroyed the family's apartment.

Six-week-old Brenda Renee Smith, whose birth after the fire Jan. 30 had been described as a miracle by her doctor, died Friday of heart failure in John Peter Smith Hospital.

She had been delivered by emergency Caesarean section 12 hours before her 24-year-old mother died of her burns.

Firefighters said the mother showed no vital signs when they pulled her from the burning apartment, but oxygen-filled blood was pumped through her body as she was taken to the hospital.

The father, Vernon Smith Jr., was only able to rescue his 16-month-old daughter, Darla, from the fire.

Mom on trial

DENTON — A 25-year-old Marshall woman will go on trial Monday for the beating death of her infant daughter.

The case was moved to Denton after two mistrials in Marion County, where the case was moved from Marshall on a change of venue.

Sherry Ellen Allman is charged with the Nov. 9, 1982, slaying of her 3-month-old daughter, Sherry Lynn.

Harrison County District Attorney Sam Baxter, who is prosecuting the case, said testimony should begin following jury selection, which is scheduled to start Monday morning.

The first mistrial was ordered in November 1983 after Mrs. Allman was brought handcuffed into the courtroom in the presence of prospective jurors.

The latest mistrial was declared Feb. 1 after Mrs. Allman's court-appointed attorney, James V. Wedding, announced he had a conflict of interest with the proposed testimony of a state witness, 20-year-old Janet Norma Bailey.

Doctors want ban on some abortions

AUSTIN (AP) — The president of a group of Texas physicians against abortion on Saturday called on the State Board of Medical Examiners to ban abortions of "viable unborn children" whose mothers' health is not threatened.

Dr. Steven Hotze of Houston said the 1973 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that legalized abortion leaves states free to protect "fetal life after viability."

"Although there exists a great controversy concerning the practice of abortion in America, there is a large consensus among the lay public as well as in the medical profession that abortions should be prohibited in the latter stages of pregnancy when the unborn child is viable, except when necessary to protect the life and health of the mother," said Hotze, president of the Texas Doctors for Life.

The 250-member organization met in Austin on Saturday.

In a petition Hotze said was filed with the Board of Medical Examiners, which regulates physicians, the decision on what constitutes a "viable unborn child" is left to individual physicians.

The proposed rule defines viable unborn child as, "An unborn child who, in the reasonable judgment of the attending physician, possesses the capacity to live, on a sustained basis, after any birth or removal from the body of the affected female ... whether that capacity exists with or without artificial support."

The doctor would be instructed by the rule to consider the gestational age, the estimated weight, the mother's health and the "quality of the medical facilities which are available."

Hotze said Texas law now allows abortions anytime during pregnancy, although he said few doctors perform abortions during the latter stages of pregnancy.

"Most physicians oppose abortion when you have an unborn viable child and the mother is not in danger, as does most of society," he said.

Cops corner kids in computer crime

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (AP) — Joy Kelly was flabbergasted when police told her they were arresting her son as part of a band of gifted high school students who had drifted into a "fantasy" crime spree to equip their own computer lab.

"I didn't raise my son to be a thief," she said. "Michael had never been in any trouble whatsoever. None of these boys had been in any difficulties."

Michael and six other boys were sentenced last week in connection with the thefts of $100,000 worth of computers, vans, telephone equipment, office machines and building supplies, allegedly taken to construct a computer lab in the woods.

"It made me feel terrible," said Mrs. Kelly. "I examined the way we raised him, and tried to decide what I had done wrong. I decided it was not me. We had not done anything to make him this way."

Her son, too, reflected on the thefts. "A year ago, none of us would have taken anything from anybody," Michael said. "Somewhere in there we changed somehow."

"It started with someone saying, 'Wouldn't it be neat if ...' — that type of thing. I'm not sure how it actually got moving."

"We were all in the advanced classes and it was easy," he said. "If it would have been tougher in school, we all would have been different people."

Southern Oregon's Josephine County has had its share of juvenile crime. Over the past five years, the crime rate has hovered between first and fourth highest in Oregon, said juvenile officer Terry Soeteber.

"The thing that makes this unusual for a first incident was the enormity and repetitiveness of their crimes before they got caught," he said.

The first in the string of burglaries came before the start of the school year, when some of the boys obtained a copy of "The Anarchist's Cookbook" and broke into the high school chemistry lab to take the ingredients for nitroglycerin.

Over the Veterans Day weekend, some of them broke into the school library and made off with computers and typewriters. Word of the escapades spread and more boys joined in. Later they hit a computer store; stole two vans, including one loaded with telephone equipment, and cleaned out farm & home supply store.

Storms stall plane search

DENVER (AP) — Inclement weather kept search planes on the ground Friday, but Colorado Civil Air Patrol officials said the effort to find a twin-engine aircraft with three Texans aboard would resume when weather permitted.

THE CATACOMBS

Phillip McClendon

During the years of the martyrs Christians fled into the underground caverns outside Rome in almost 600 miles of molelike tunnels. Ten generations of Christians were buried in the catacombs during approximately 300 years of suppression. No one knows the exact number, but archaeologists estimate between 1,750,000 and 4,000,000 Christians were interred in the dark tunnels.

Inscriptions of Scripture can still be seen on the catacomb walls. One of the most frequent inscriptions is the sign of the fish. But the inscription which best describes their faith says: "The Word of God is not bound."

Playing the name game

I've been inspired to write this latest effort because of a little ribbing about the mascot of one of the schools I have covered in this business during the past four years.

Graciously it was only a little ribbing, because when I was at Taylor, 30 miles north of Austin, there was A LOT of ribbing. I mean, it's really embarrassing when your mascot is a Duck and fans from opposing schools play their hearts out on duck calls throughout a game. And it's worse when the logo is a Donald Duck looking type of fowl.

Yep, you've gotta be only one thing when you play for a team named the Ducks — Bad with a capital 'B'. Unfortunately most Taylor teams did not perform to today's connotation of the word. They usually displayed our parents' thoughts on what the word entails.

Because Taylor has one of only two known Duck mascots in the country (Oregon State the other), some research was in order for today's column — what is the most popular and least popular mascot used in Texas high schools?

Just suppose all the mascots from all the high schools in the state showed up under one roof for a Texas High School Mascots Convention. The number of schools using a certain mascot is in parentheses by the mascot.

Based on the numbers game the get together would go something like this:

The call to order is made by the (85) Eagles, who barely win the speakership from the (81) Bulldogs in the audience.

Delegations come from all over the state. The largest seems to include various members of the cat family. There are (69) Tigers, (55) Panthers, and (49) Wildcats. In the minority are (37) lions, (29) Bobcats, (21) Cougars, (13) Bearcats, (8) Leopards, (3) Jaguars, (2) Black Cats, and (1 of each) Blue Cat, Wampus Cat, and Lynx.

Making things a little rowdier are (37) Indians and (13) Cowboys.

Matters aren't helped when these Indians call on (8) Warriors, (3) Chiefs, (3) Apaches, (2) Braves and (1 each) Blackhawk, Comanche, Kiowa, and Cherokee to side with them.

At this moment everything goes chaos.

A call has to be sent out for the army and its (2) Generals and (1) Colonel with their (2) Volunteers and (1 each) Troopers, Cadets, and Minutemen.

(1) Sparks really start flying when (3) Roughnecks join the fray simply because they are (3) Texans who enjoy a good free-for-all.

An appeal will go up from the religious mascots for a halt to the bickering and near war conditions.

The (16) Cardinals and (1 each) Saint and Friar will win over the rough (1) Westerners and (2) Buckaroos, but the (2) Redskins will prove indignant and ride off in search of (11) Buffalos and (2) Bisons.

A breakdown on their mounts will show (5) Broncos, (2) Mules and (1 each) Stallion, Warhorse, Zebra and Unicorn.

After order is restored, an awards presentation will be the next order of business.

Pre-show entertainment is provided by the (1) Masons who demonstrate some (1) Rock Crushers.

Winters High School is named runnerup in the name contest. The (1) Blizzards are stiff competition, but the Frost (1) polar Bears leave the Blizzards out in the cold. For their namesake the Polar Bears are named winners of the (1) Aggie trophy.

The significance as to the trophy's name is not known, except that everyone knows what an Aggie is (or isn't). Most folks don't know what a (1) Cantam is, which is what the trophy was to originally be called.

More entertainment is provided by a group called the (1) Cotton Pickers.

They are said to be almost as bad as the (1 each) Gorillas and Vandals who played for the aquatic mascots' private party.

The (1 each) Redfish, Sandcrabs and Marlins agreed with the (1 each again) Tarpons, Sharks, Gators, Beavers and (2) Stingarees that both bands sounded like (1) Bullfrogs.

After presentations, a mixer is held so all the mascots can get to know one another better.

There is plenty of talk about the birds and (2) Bees.

The birds are led in some fowl play by (12) wise Owls and (11) Falcons (crest). There are also (2) Blue Jays and (1 each) Thunderbird, Gobbler, Ricebird, Jaybird, Warhawk, Ro-Hawk, Seahawk, Duck (a daffy one), Swift, Gander, Quail and (5) Hawks.

This mixing of birds and bees will be indirectly responsible for the condition of the (2) Foxes who get (8) Badger(ed) by the (5) Wolves. Evidently they get more than just badgered.

FRUSTRATING RELAY — Big Spring's Latresa Cork prepares to give the baton to Pam Palmer during their final exchange of the 800 meter relay during the prelims of the ABC Relays. Unfortunately the exchange was made out of the exchange zone, thus disqualifying the Lady Steers from the finals.

BSHS fieldmen do well

Bobcat boys take title again

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

The San Angelo Central boys semi-defended the championship they won last year at the ABC Relays, as the Bobcats and Lubbock Estacado tied for first place with 105 points.

The Matadors needed a third place finish in the final event, the 1600 meter relay to tie the Bobcats. If Central hadn't finished fourth in the 1600 relay, then Estacado would have won the championship.

It fact it was a come-from-behind victory of sorts for the Bobcats as they trailed Estacado 83-79 going into the 1600 meter run, the event before the 1600 relay.

San Angelo got a first and second finish from Thomas Emmons and Richard Lomas in the 1600, while Ricky White finished third for Estacado, giving the Bobcats a 97-93 edge going into the relay.

It was another dismal showing for the Steers as they garnered in just 18 points. Ten of those points came from the arms of discus throwers Jimmy Cearley and Randy Lamb, who finished third and fourth respectively in their event.

REBOUND BATTLE — Houston's Akeem Olajuwon (34) and Michael Young (42) fight for a rebound with Louisiana Tech's Bennie Bailey (20) Saturday during the second round of the NCAA Midwest Regional Tournament in Memphis.

Cougars dump La. Tech, 77-69

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — All-American Akeem Olajuwon scored 16 points, grabbed 12 rebounds and blocked four shots Saturday in helping No. 5 Houston gain the NCAA Midwest Regional semifinals.

The Cougars knocked off Louisiana Tech 77-69 and will meet the No. 10 Purdue-Memphis State winner in the next round Friday in St. Louis.

"It was hard for us to get it inside today because of Olajuwon," said Tech coach Andy Russo. "He took it away from us. He asserted himself defensively but not offensively. He altered our shots."

"Olajuwon and (Alvin) Franklin made the difference. Franklin hurt us by breaking our press and hitting his free throws toward the end of the game."

Franklin, a sophomore point guard, led Houston with 21 points, including 11 of 12 from the free throw line. "It did not hurt getting the ball in Franklin's hands," said Houston coach Guy Lewis. "He's our best free-throw shooter."

Houston, winner of 13 of its last 14 games and gunning for its third straight Final Four appearance, also got 16 points from Michael Young and 14 from freshman Ricky Winslow.

dy Lamb, who finished third and fourth respectively in their event.

Cearley, a senior, tossed a career best of 149-5 on his second throw of the prelims. "I was pumped up today," said Cearley. "Throwing at home made a difference. I was worried because I had been throwing bad in practice this week. I hope I can hit about 155 by district," said Cearley.

Lamb, also a senior, unleashed a season best of 140 feet. "I had a good wind and got my steps down," said Lamb. "It felt good not choking out there, I usually throw good in practice and bad in the meets."

Midland junior Darrell Davis stole the show in the field event when he heaved the shot 58-1. Davis scratched on his final throw of 60 feet.

Big Spring fared well in the junior varsity division finishing third with 55 points. Big Spring got seconds from Roland Montana in the 3200 meters, Brain Reed in the 300 hurdles and Paul Sotelo in the discus.

Steer coach Randy Britton said his all-sophomore squad did well. "I'm proud of all of them," said Britton.

Mitchell rumored leaving HC

More than just some hard winds are blowing in off the South Plains.

Reports from the Amrillo and Canyon area indicate Howard College head basketball coach Mike Mitchell could be leaving HC after only one year for his alma mater, West Texas State.

Mitchell, who guided the Hawks to a 27-4 record, their first WJCAC title in 10 years and within one game of a trip to nationals this past season, was rumored being considered for the post during action at the Region V Men's Tournament in Midland.

Mitchell neither confirmed or denied the reports, only saying he had heard

Sweetwater takes title while Lady Steers sixth

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

Sweetwater girls track coach Joel Nelson calls it "putting all his eggs in one pot".

In sports terms it is known as an upset, but whatever you want to call it, Sweetwater came from a large deficit to win the ABC Relays championship in the last event of the evening — the 1600 meter relay.

The Mustangs scored 48 points in three relays on three second place finishes, and scored well in the distance races thanks to Rachelle Mulanax and Ruth Lopez to overtake San Angelo Central, 84-71.

Going into the 1600 meters the Mustangs trailed Central 71-68. To make things even better from a fan's point of view, both teams were in the first heat of the relay. The Sweetwater foursome of Debra McCain, Alice Smith, Carol Weaver and Mulanax ran away from Central, finishing second behind Lubbock Estacado.

Nelson was happy with his team's come-from-behind win. "We competed well," said Nelson. "I put my best kids on the relays, we didn't want to go for points in the sprints. With our best kids in the relays we knew we had to place high. Our distance people came through for us also."

While Sweetwater was upsetting Central and Odessa Permian, the Big Spring Lady Steers weren't having one of their better days. Coach Anna Ezzell's troops finished sixth with 45 points.

One key to their low output was the fact that the 800 meter relay squad was disqualified when it ran out of the exchange zone in the prelims, after outdistancing the opposition by 40 meters.

The disqualification came on the last exchange between Latresa Cork and Pam Palmer. It was a tough loss for BSHS since part of the foul could be blamed on a mixup in lane assignments.

The Lady Steers originally were assigned to lane four, but were switched to lane three before the race started. When they found out it was too late to practice on their steps, thus throwing their timing off.

Ezzell took the blame for the incident. "It was my fault, I should have taken another look at the lane assignments before the race started," said a downcast Ezzell.

Big Spring did come back to win the 400 relay in a time of 49.93 as Palmer held off a fast-closing McCain of Sweetwater, who finished in 49.95.

Big Spring's other first place finish came in the 200 meters when sophomore Pam Palmer took the event in 25.93, edging out Sonja McIntire of Permian and Anita Allgood of Central.

It was sweet revenge for Palmer who was nipped earlier at the tape by McIntire and Allgood in the 100 meters. But the 200 was Palmer's, as she came off the final turn and overtook her two main competitors.

After the 100 meters Palmer had told Ezzell she was going to win the 200. "I wanted the 200 real bad," she said. "I knew I was going to win when I came off the curve and pulled even with them."

The Lady Steers 1600 relay team of Monette Wise, Tina Smith, Teresa Pruitt and Paula Spears finished fourth thanks to a strong anchor leg by Spears, who nearly overtook Sweetwater's McCain.

San Angelo's Allgood was the only triple winner of the day, winning the triple jump, high jump and 100. Teresa Johnson of Hobbs, New Mexico took a double, winning the shot put and discus.

CLEARING THE HURDLE — Big Spring Steer hurdler Mike McKinley goes over a hurdle in the prelims of the 110 meter high hurdles Saturday at the ABC Relays. McKinley finished fourth in his heat, but did not make the finals. Lubbock Estacado and San Angelo Central tied for team championship honors with 105 points each.

Coahoma girls run well in first meet

BIG LAKE — The Coahoma Bulldogettes got their track and field season started later than most other area squads, but the Bulldogettes didn't look like slow starters here Saturday as they took third place behind Class AA powerhouses Wall and Stanton in the girl's division of the Reagan County Relays.

Coahoma was paced by the efforts of Tobie Henry who picked up three solo firsts in the 400 meters (61.33), long jump (17-3½) and the high jump where the senior set a new meet standard of 5-3. Henry then teamed with Gina Hudson, Stephanie Dobbs and Leslie Kirkpatrick for a first place medal in the 1600 meter relay with a time of 4:22.63.

Also helping the Bulldogettes tally their 88 points were Denise McCulley with a third place in the 3200; Janna Griffin who was second in the 800 meters; and Lisa Riley who ran third in the same event.

Coahoma places in the Reagan County Relays held Saturday in Big Lake:
400 Relay: 4th (56.06)
3200: 3rd, McCulley (13:48.22)
800: 2nd, Griffin (2:37.96); 3rd, Riley (2:38.80); 5th, Kloss (2:44.36)
400: 1st, Henry (61.33)
1600: 5th, McCulley (6:31.34)
Long jump: 1st, Henry (17-3½)
High jump: 1st, Henry (5-3, new meet record)
800 Relay: 4th, (1:56.86)
1600 Relay: 1st, (4:22.63)

Denver Gold seeking silver lining on offense

By The Associated Press

The Denver Gold are coming down to earth for Sunday's United States Football League home game against the unbeaten Tampa Bay Bandits.

After watching his punless Gold suffer an embarrassing 28-0 loss to the Michigan Panthers last weekend, Denver Coach Craig Morton decided to scrap the Airborne '84 offensive slogan with which the team opened the season and was supposed to feature a wide-open passing game.

"I don't know if we're capable of doing it," Morton said of the passing philosophy.

Instead, he would prefer to see the Gold have an effective passing attack complemented by a power running game.

"One of the things we've got to do is take advantage of the blocking of our offensive line, which is a team strength," Morton said. "That doesn't mean we're going to a slam-bang type of football. We'll still open things up and throw the ball, but we want to be able to pound the ball effectively on the ground, too."

"We have to become more of a power team and use more play action passes. There's no point in our trying to be something we aren't."

"We're happy to be 3-0," said Tampa Bay Coach Steve Spurrier, noting that the Bandits rank only 10th in the 18-team league in offense and 11th in defense.

Each of the Bandits' victories has been by three points.

Despite last week's loss, the Gold are 2-1 and tied for the Pacific Division lead with the Arizona Wranglers.

The Wranglers, 2-1, play their first road game of the season Sunday, against the Michigan Panthers, 3-0, the league's defending champions and the undisputed leaders of the Central Division.

In other USFL games Sunday, the New Jersey Generals, 3-0, and atop the Atlantic Division, visit the Houston Gamblers, 2-1; the Washington Federals, 0-3, entertain the Pittsburgh Maulers, 0-3, and the Oakland Invaders, 0-3, are on the road against the Philadelphia Stars, 2-1.

Monday night, it will be the New Orleans Breakers, 3-0, and tied for first place

'Dogs stop Steers' rally to take 6-2 loop victory

By BILLY NABOURS Sports Editor

Midland High scratched and scraped for what it got and when Big Spring had the Bulldogs right where they wanted them, the Steers misfired. It all added up to a frustrating 6-2 loss in District 4-AAAAA baseball action Saturday afternoon at Steer Field.

The 2-0 (district wise) Bulldogs built a 2-0 lead through three innings although Steers starter Tommy Gartman allowed only two hits. A double in the fourth made the score 3-0 before Big Spring struck back in the bottom of the fifth with one run. That was only the beginning of the frustration for the Steers, however.

In the fifth Big Spring pieced together a walk and three singles to have the bases loaded and only one out. A double play ended the threat after Sammy Watson batted in Robert Porras. Watson had two of Big Spring's five hits and drove in both runs.

Gartman, meanwhile scattered six hits himself and struck out seven while walking three. The junior was nicked for three in the sixth to put Midland up 6-1 and put Big Spring almost out of sight.

But the Steers, like they have done in most of their 16 games, battled back and were never out of the contest until it was completely over.

With a little help from erratic Midland pitching in the bottom of the seventh, the Steers loaded the bases on three straight walks. Watson singled in Mike Dodd to make the score 6-2 with the bases still full and no outs.

And then the unthinkable happened. The Steers had not been fanned all game long, but three stright whiffs to Danny Arista, Jerry Anderson and Jay Pirkle ended the rally.

Head coach Roland Atkins said the loss, "was very disappointing," and at the same time he was not totally negative about the whole thing.

He said his young starting nine (four juniors, two sophomores, one freshman and only two seniors) had the chance to win, but let some calls shake them up. The Steers were also guilty of six errors, but Atkins reiterated his philosophy that some good things are going to happen for the Steers before the season is done. Big Spring is 6-10 for the season and 0-2 in loop action.

Big Spring's next district game will be Tuesday, Mar. 20 in Odessa against the Bronchos

Hawks game rescheduled

WACO — It may not be raining in West Texas, but "too much rain," according to Howard College baseball coach Bill Griffin, put a damper on the Hawks series opener here Saturday with defending Region V champion McClennan Community College.

The delay is only one day, however. There will be a single game Sunday at 2 p.m. and a 1 p.m. pitch in Monday's doubleheader.

The Hawks left Big Spring at 4 p.m. Saturday and will carry a record of 14-8 compared to MCC's 10-9. MCC leads Region V though with a 3-0 slate while the Hawks are 2-1.

The New Jersey-Houston game will mark the Gambler's home debut in the Astrodome. Houston, the Western Conference leader in passing and total offense, and

The Generals have built their undefeated record around the running of high-priced Herschel Walker and unheralded Maurice Carthon, plus a stingy defense.

Juanita Faulks of Gregory's Fifth Season in Highland Mall is glad she made the change! Juanita and her husband, Avery came to Big Spring in 1942. They were with the second bunch to arrive at the bombadeer school. Even with housing hard to find and the newness of the barely completed facility, they loved the people they met. Juanita and Avery are both from Hawley. It's just North of Abilene so they already knew they liked West Texas. When the war was over, Juanita had an established position with White's Auto and Big Spring was on a "Boom" so they decided to stay here and settle down. 30 years later, Avery has retired from Cosden and they have more time to spend working with their church. Juanita says the folks at Hillcrest Baptist know how to keep Avery busy! Most of all, they enjoy their 9-year-old grandson, Jeremy. He's the son of their only child, Mary and her husband, Buster Edens.

Juanita decided to get into the world of fashion after 15 years in auto parts and soon joined Garth Gregory and started managing the Fifth Season. That was 17 years ago. Since that time the store has more than doubled in size. Mr. Gregory has two Abilene locations and one in Brownwood. Juanita is very proud of the new Personal Sportswear and Campus Casuals that emphasize the natural fabrics and high quality merchandise she likes to sell. Fem Form Separates and Zena jeans join Gloria Vanderbilt and Calvin Klein in offering something special for the ladies that like junior styling but love the missy fit! Dresses by Henry Lee are due to arrive any day and Juanita says her Guatemala dresses are already here. She has accessories and a large variety of natural stone twist beads. Jewelry is a big part of their business and they carry costume pieces as well as Karat Gold designs.

You'll enjoy visiting with Juanita and her staff at Gregory's Fifth Season. She's our featured merchant this month at Highland...the home of high quality shopping!

Gulf Universal Tractor Fluid does more than one job. Just like you.

Lubricating everything from a hydraulic pump to a large differential places tough demands on a fluid. Gulf Universal Tractor Fluid performs.

It is a superior fluid for most modern tractors requiring a "common fluid" in the hydraulic, transmission, final drive, wet brake and power steering systems. It combines a long list of exceptional properties to work in hot or cold weather, and deliver long trouble-free service.

Come to us for Gulf Universal Tractor Fluid. Like all Gulf products, it's the kind of help you can use around the farm.

'It use to be all camping, but now it's not. There's some camping, but Scouts now focuses on careers.'

Girl Scouts celebrate 72nd birthday

By RHONDA WITT
Lifestyle Writer

Local Girl Scouts using the theme, "We Found a New World," celebrated Girl Scout Week, last week. Since the beginning of Girl Scouting, March 12, 1912, Girl Scouting has opened new worlds of thought and action to more than 45 million members.

Savannah, Ga. was the founding site of Girl Scouting in the United States. Juliette Gordon Low, founder, began the first troop with 18 girls. In the 72nd year, efforts focus in the same directions as they did in Juliette Low's time.

Girl Scouting is important to girls "because of the friends they make, the places they go and the things they participate in," said Dolly Melendez, West Texas Council Girl Scouts field executive. "For some girls, if it wasn't for Scouts, they wouldn't get to go anywhere."

"Girls join it for fun, and they learn from it," says assistant troop leader Becky Greenhill.

"I think it is important to help the girls develop morals, respect for our country and learn about outdoor life," said Evelyn Chrisman of Stanton, troop leader for troops #191, #163 and #174.

GIRL SCOUTS STRIVE to address the constantly changing needs of girls. "It use to be all camping, but now it's not. There's some camping, but Scouts now focuses on careers," Ms. Melendez said. Girls learn self-awareness and self-acceptance.

Girl Scout work centers around Five Worlds: the World of Arts, World of Well-Being, World of People, World of Outdoors and World of Today and Tomorrow.

The World of Arts deals with dancing, acting, singing, interior decorating, fashion designing and painting. The World of Well-Being teaches the girls about themselves, nutrition, physical fitness and fashion. Through the World of People, Girl Scouts learn about their heritage, citizenship, the government, needs of others, friendship, the community and international Scouting.

The World of Outdoors teaches girls about camping, horseback riding, nature, animal care, use of natural resources, the environment and the weather. Girl Scouts also learn about plant care, star gazing, compass and map reading, safety, swimming and bicycling. "In the World of Outdoors, there is an opportunity for every child," said Mrs. Chrisman.

"The World of Today and Tomorrow is the smallest part," Ms. Melendez said. "It's the exploring of things," including cooking, computers, communications and technology.

Besides the Five Worlds of Girl Scouting, girls also learn respect for the United States flag. "A vital part of Girl Scouts is the United States flag," Ms. Melendez said. Each meeting is suppose to open and close with a flag ceremony.

Junior Scout Eva Chrisman of Stanton joined Girl Scouts "because you get to do a bunch of activities, and you get to go to places." Senior Scout Delia Ortiz enjoys Scouting because it allows her to meet many girls from many places.

LOCAL GIRL SCOUTS are working on several projects. Their cookie sales began March 9 and will end March 28. "Right now everything is going real smooth," said Ms. Melendez about the sales. Brownies will have a chance to find out what Camp Boothe Oaks is all about on Brownie Day, March 31, at the camp near Sweetwater.

Girl Scouts will have a chance to earn two badges at Junior event #1, April 6-8, and Junior event #2, April 13-15. By learning double dutch jump roping, girls can earn a group sports badge. They also can earn a prints and graphics badge by learning different types of printing methods. During the Junior events, girls will camp out and cook their own meals over a campfire. An annual track meet will be held in Lamesa, April 28. Plans for a family picnic and a Volunteer Appreciation Dinner are in the works. First and second grade Brownies will participate in Brownie-Dad weekend at Camp Boothe Oaks, May 18-19. A Girl Scout Day Camp in Big Spring is set for July 23-27.

Girl Scouts travel many places. Miss Ortiz, Joanna Hamilton, Ruth Oliver and Kim Hepner of Stanton, with Tammy Marshall as first alternate, will attend the International Girl Scout Center "Our Cabana" in Cuernavaca, Mexico in late July as a part of "Wider Opportunities."

"The trip is really an honor," said Ms. Melendez. "Out of 32 applicants (in the West Texas Girl Scout Council), 12 girls were chosen to go." To go on this trip, the girls had to apply and be interviewed. Then the girls spend a year planning the trip.

Shadowboxes preserve sentimental keepsakes

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

A local woman has some small antique beaded purses, which were used in the 1800s. She is having them put into a shadowbox frame so she can preserve her sentimental keepsakes, and use them to decorate and add charm to her home.

Framing keepsakes in shadowboxes is not a new thing, but it has increased in popularity through the years. Earl Lusk, a local framer, often has requests to prepare shadowboxes for items such as arrowheads, pocketknives, pipes, spurs, baby christening dresses, jewelry, and various collections.

"This enables you to hang it on the wall and enjoy it. People stick stuff in drawers and take them out to look at occasionally," he said. "This enables you to look at it all the time."

"Anything of value, things that mean something to you, make a shadowbox for it," he says.

To make a shadowbox, Lusk gathers the things together that will be put in the box. Then he selects the material to be used for a background, such as black velvet. The box is made by cutting and joining the frame sides and shadowbox sides together. Then, he cuts the glass and makes a backing to fit the frame.

The back and shadowbox portion of the frame is covered in the background fabric. The glass is put inside the frame before putting the shadowbox sides inside the frame. The item to be displayed is attached to the covered back with a special glue. For heavy items, he uses fishing line. When the glue dries, the back is stapled to the frame and made ready for hanging.

"It's not hard to do, it's just a lot of work involved," Lusk said. The shadowboxes can be hung in any part of the home as part of the home's interior decoration.

Injuries can be a threat to recreational runners

NEW YORK (AP) — America's 36 million recreational runners will soon be back on the roadways and tracks trying to shed those extra pounds and get back into shape for summer.

But, doing so may lead to some aches and pains and possible serious injuries if proper precautions are not taken, says an expert in helping youth compete in sports.

Fred Thompson, who is now in his 25th year of training young girls and women in track and field, says that most recreational runners injure themselves for simple reasons that could easily be avoided.

Thompson is the meet director of the Colgate Women's Games, the largest track and field meet in the world. Under Thompson's direction, the Games have provided the opportunity for nearly 200,000 girls and young women to compete in its 10-year existence.

Among the reasons runners, both expert and novice, sustain injuries, he says, are these:

— Weak feet: The foot strikes the ground 1,000 times during every 7-to-10-minute mile. The force of the impact is about three times your body weight. If your feet are weak, the force at footstrike strains the supporting tendons and muscles of the foot and leg. This often causes injury in those areas.

— Unequal leg length: Fifteen percent of all runners have this problem. The result may be a series of hip, foot, leg or back injuries. Heel lifts or inserts to balance the leg may help. Exercises to stretch and strengthen the affected areas are also beneficial.

— Poor flexibility: Tight or shortened muscles are easily injured. Stretching both before and after running is essential to running injury-free.

— Weak anti-gravity muscles: The back and leg muscles become overdeveloped with running. Strengthening exercises for the opposite group of muscles — abdominals, quadriceps, shins, are important.

— Stress and tension: This is a cause of lower back pain and injury related to tense muscles forced into action. Relaxation exercises before and after running ease this problem.

— Overuse syndrome: Overtraining, increasing your mileage by too much too soon, may cause injury. Overexertion symptoms include fatigue, chills, insomnia. Ease back on your schedule. The beginner should run every other day. After three or four weeks you can run five to six days a week.

— Improper training habits: Sudden changes in intensity, duration or frequency of your runs should be avoided. So should sudden changes from dirt or grass to hard pavement.

— Environmental factors: Good running shoes are essential. Treat yourself. Be sure to check for good arch support and look for a proper fit with socks. Dress properly for weather conditions.

— Injury rehabilitation: Allow any injury to heal before returning to full workouts. Take time for recovery.

— Poor advice: Be wary of fellow runners who, after a few miles a week, become "experts" in the field.

However, if you do get injured, Thompson says, first seek advice from a physician with a sports medical background.

Horse Club plans local show

MR. AND MRS. CLINTON HARRISON and MR. AND MRS. KENNETH WILLIAMS attended a barbecue and board of directors meeting of the Permian Basin Painted Horse Club in Gardendale, March 10. At the meeting, they gave away a saddle and discussed upcoming Permian Basin Painted Horse Show in Big Spring May 26-27. Kenneth is the show's manager.

JOYCE CHELETTE of Big Spring and CAROL NELSON of Austin are pleased as punch and jumping for joy about the arrival of their first grandchild, JENNIFER MICHELLE ADAMS. Jennifer was born at 3:35 p.m., March 10, at Malone-Hogan Hospital weighing 8 pounds 7 ounces. The proud parents are MIKE AND SHERRY ADAMS, also of Big Spring.

Jennifer is the fifth generation of both her mother's and her father's families. Her maternal great-grandparents are MR. AND MRS. R.J. SHORTESS of Big Spring and MR. AND MRS. R.D. CHELETTE of Lake Wales, Fla. Her paternal great-grandparents are MR. AND MRS. JOHN JONES of Houston. And she has three great great-grandmothers.

Upsilon chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta at the University of Oklahoma recently initiated PATRICIA JONES, daughter of MR. AND MRS. DAVID JONES. Patricia is a freshman majoring in finance. She is a member of the university's golf team, President's Honor Roll, Alpha Lambda Delta Honor Society and College Republicans. She was pledge class treasurer and received the scholarship award for the pledge class. She also was chosen Outstanding Pledge for the fall of 1983.

Herald city reporter Rick Brown performed at the Midland College Jazz Ensemble's concert at the campus Thursday evening. Rick has been rehearsing every Sunday evening for months in preparation for the concert. He is a trombonist and really enjoys jazz.

Herald publisher TOM WATSON and JOHNNIE LOU AVERY were in Austin earlier this week to meet with other members of the state advisory committee for the Texans War On Drugs. These two are part of a 26-member volunteer citizen advisory group from all parts of the state who help serve and plan for activities within various communities.

AGNES CURRIE was chosen Big Spring's Woman of the Year for her unselfish "giving and doing" to her community. Another sterling example of this service is that she recently gave several year's Herald newspaper subscriptions to Big Spring State Hospital so the patients can have newspapers in their wards.

BOB VON ROSENBERG was master of ceremonies at BSSH's annual employee award program, recently. POLLY MAYS is membership chairman of the Heritage Museum. She is please with the new memberships coming in. It looks like a record year.

Until next week...

Dr. Donohue

Test tells how 'ponderous' you are

Dear Dr. Donohue: Our coach has a new way of finding out how well we stand up as far as our height and weight are concerned. He uses a slide rule and formula. Have you heard of the ponderal index? He has a whole chart for the team. I come out in about the middle of the group. I am 12.28. I wondered if you'd heard of this? — P.K.

I wonder if your coach is reading the same magazines I do? An article in the National Strength and Conditioning Journal discusses this concept — the ponderal index. The article is by Gary B. Wilkerson, trainer at Centre College, Danville, Ky. Here's the way it goes.

The ponderal index of an athlete (how ponderous he is) is determined by dividing the person's height (in total inches) by the cube root of his weight (in pounds). Thus, if my arithmetic is correct, a 6-foot-2-inch (74-inch) athlete who weighs 230 pounds has a ponderal index of 12.08. Most athletes fall between 12.00 and 13.00 on this scale.

According to Wilkerson, if an athlete registers below 12.00 he is relatively high for his weight (more ponderous) and if he registers above 13.00 he is relatively slight for his height. The trainer can use this index to establish training norms. Wilkerson uses it to establish individual time norms for his athletes in completing a 1.5-mile run in training. He expects less time for those with higher ponderal indices than for those with lower readings.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I enjoy your Body Action articles. Being a jogger/runner I am interested in weight gain. Can you tell me how to do it? Will barbells help me gain muscle weight? — B.U.

You can gain weight with barbells and dumbbells if you increase your calorie intake at the same time. For every pound of muscle (not fat) you put on you need 2,500 more calories. A sensible goal is one to two pounds a week. You can reach that goal by eating 750 calories more every day. And if you are faithful to the exercises, both your jogging/running and lifting, those calories will become muscle tissue not fat.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My legs have varicose veins. Is bicycling beneficial or harmful for this? — V.R. Beneficial. The muscle contractions of your legs while pedaling stop blood from pooling in your veins and prevent them from stretching. It does that by encouraging good circulation. So if you have a doctor's OK, pedaling would be fine for you.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Deal with Varicose Veins." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Abby

A pecan pie that's as good as gold

DEAR ABBY: I was born in England, wed an American, and came to the United States in 1919. I've been a widow for 39 years. I'm nearly 92, and I still take my daily walks and feed the pigeons, who know me and come in a bunch to meet me.

I'll get to the point, Abby. About 15 years ago you sent me your recipe for pecan pie. At the bottom of the recipe it says, "Please let me know how yours came out." I have a guilty conscience because I have made literally dozens of your pecan pies and not once have I written to let you know that I now have the reputation of being the world's best pecan pie maker. It's easy to make, and all who taste it say it's the best pecan pie they've ever had.

I sent the recipe to my niece in Sussex, and she has had as much success with it as I. The only problem is that pecans are available in England only around Christmas-time, so she used walnuts and said they are just as good as pecans! Her neighbors (all very well-to-do) think the pie is tip-top. So I'm writing to thank you, and let you know that soon Dear Abby's pecan (or walnut) pie will be the rage of Sussex!

ELIZABETH IN N.Y.
DEAR ELIZABETH: Your letter made my day. And it anyone out there wants the recipe, here it is:

ABBY'S PECAN (OR WALNUT) PIE

- 1 cup white corn syrup
- 1 cup dark brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup melted butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 whole eggs
- 1 heaping cup shelled pecans (or walnuts)

Mix syrup, sugar, salt, butter, vanilla. Add slightly beaten eggs. Pour into a 9-inch unbaked pie shell. Sprinkle pecans over filling. Bake in 350-degree oven for approximately 45 minutes.

You can top it with a bit of whipped cream or ice cream, but even plain, nothing tops this! And please let me know how yours turns out.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ENGAGED IN OMAHA: When people ask you how many carats your diamond is, they probably want to know how much lettuce was involved.

(Lonely? Get Abby's updated, revised and expanded booklet, "How to Be Popular"—for people of all ages. Send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Mac Robinson of Beeville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clemont Jones of Big Spring.

The couple was wed before an altar decorated with five candelabra centered with greenery and peach bows. Palms and an arrangement of peach gladiolus and white and blue carnations completed the setting.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal-length gown of silk organza. The dress was enhanced with a Queen Anne neckline. The bodice was accented by seed pearls and Chantilly lace. The dress featured an empire waistline. Layers of ruffles and lace enhanced the skirt and was gathered for a bustle-effect in the back. To complete her ensemble, the bride wore derby hat of seed pearls and lace.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses and carnations. Karen Powell of Marshall was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Gail Perry of Waco, Pam Robinson of Beeville, sister of the bride, Kenda Robinson of Beeville, sister of the bride, and Amy Robinson of Beeville, sister of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Seagoville High School and Baylor University. She is employed by Forsan Independent School District. The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor. He is employed by Getty Oil.

Q. Considering the present market, are there any benefits in buying a two-family house?

A. A two-family house might be considered another form of "creative financing" in which someone else helps pay your mortgage. Buying a double and renting out half is an excellent way for young couples to get into the home market for the first time. Doubles are usually good income properties since they are desirable rentals and, of course, the rent will offset a major part of the mortgage payment. Rental income is taxable, but everything you do to improve, maintain, repair and rent the apartment is deductible. Many two-story homes can easily be converted to a double. Your real estate broker can help you find such a property and can be of assistance in the laws and ordinances governing conversions.

Caroline Harrison was the president's wife who started the China collection, and first lady when electric lights were installed. Lucy Rutherford was the first president's wife to attend college, and she started the egg rolling on the White House lawn. The first president's daughter to get married in the White House was Marie Monroe.

MONTGOMERY WARD OWES YOU ONE

We owe you an apology and a great price on a VCR.

In January and February we offered a special price on our front loading, 7 day, 1 event VCR and our 7 day, 5 event VCR.

You recognized the exceptional value and fine quality of our products and surprised us by buying virtually every Montgomery Ward brand video cassette recorder we had in stock.

Our advertising sections are printed weeks in advance, so we had no way of knowing that VCRs #10528 and #10529 (which appear in March and April ads) would be unavailable. We sincerely apologize for the inconvenience.

We've ordered more VCRs and they'll be in our stores by May 19th.

If you can wait until then, we'll be happy to order one for you now through April 14th at today's advertised sale price.

Thank you for making Montgomery Ward your favorite store.

Engagement policy

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald from anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks before the wedding.

We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form should be signed by the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or parents of either.

We will use a picture of the couple or the bride-elect. The picture must be of a quality that will reproduce well in the newspaper. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to our paper. If only grandparents live in our area, please, give their names and addresses.

The information may be brought by the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry, or mailed to the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720.

Call us at (915) 267-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

If a wedding writeup is turned in after the wedding, the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.

Forms for wedding stories may be picked up at the Lifestyle Department of the Big Spring Herald, 710 Scurry. Writeups may be brought in to the department or mailed to Big Spring Herald, Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. Please call our office if you have problems or questions. Blum's Jewels & Gems

One beautiful place.

by Ralph and Lynette Brooks

As the birthstone of March, aquamarine embodies the deep-blue to greenish-blue color of the ocean. Its name is a combination of the words "aqua" and "mare," or "seawater." This combination of the transparent sea and once the special talisman of ocean travelers. It was supposed to assure its wearer of a successful voyage and safe return. Long associated with the purity of the ocean, it was also believed to keep its wearers clean in body and spirit. The aquamarine is the blue variety of beryl, the same mineral as an emerald. Its lovely color is caused by a minute amount iron compound.

Regardless what your favorite precious gemstone may be you are sure to find a complete selection of precious gems and finely crafted jewelry and gift ideas at BLUM'S JEWELERS, 222 Main, 267-6335. Enjoy personal service and satisfaction as well as the convenience of one stop shopping for that perfect gift for every occasion. MasterCard & Visa accept. Hours: Mon-Sat., 9:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m.

—HINT—
The aquamarine is said to be able to renew love for your marriage partner.

Allow your stylist to bring out the natural beauty of your hair with a cut that features your best assets.

Here at LA CONTESSA, we can cut your hair so that it is easy to control, stylish and flattering to your features. From a casual hairstyle to an elaborate hairdo, LA CONTESSA can meet your needs.
