Election notice

Candidates in contested races for the May 5 primary elections in Howard County are invited to schedule interviews at the Big Spring Herald this week.

Managing editor John Rice today asked candidates to contact him or staff writer Keely Coghlan by Friday to schedule interviews for Monday through Thursday between 2 and 5 p.m.

There are 19 candidates in contested races for district attorney; county commissioner, precinct 1; county commissioner, precinct 3 (both Republican and Democratic primaries); and justice of the peace, precinct 1, place 1.

Stories based on the interviews will be published Saturday, April 28 and Sunday, April 29, in an effort to better inform voters on the candidates for office, Rice said.

Lamesa elects 1st black trustee

By JIM BROWN
Staff Writer

LAMESA — A recount of Saturday's school board election results confirmed that voters here have elected their first black trustee.

Cora Brown, a Lamesa city policewoman, was certified after a vote recount Tuesday afternoon by the school board as the winner of one of two positions contested in Saturday's election.

The results were questioned by incumbents Jerry Harris and Ronnie Culp, who each received one less vote than Ms. Brown.

In the recount, Ms. Brown gained one more vote while Harris and Culp lost one each to remain tied for the remaining board seat.

Saturday's count showed Brown winning by one vote or a total of 523 votes. Culp and Harris were tied with 522 votes each.

After the recount, Brown was declared a winner in the election with 524 votes, or a margin of three votes. Harris and Culp tied for the remaining position with 521 votes each.

Brown was elected by an at-large voting system that has been challenged by the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) in the Federal District Court for North Texas. LULAC claims the at-large system dilutes minority voting strength.

Ms. Brown joins Hispanic board member Tony Reyes on the board.

The city of Lamesa recently settled a similar suit filed by LULAC that challenged the municipal at-large election format. The settlement instituted a combination multi-district, at-large system, expanding the council from six to seven members.

In elections for three newly created single-member districts Saturday, Henry Johnson, a black minister, garnered enough votes to force a run-off election for District B, which has a minority population of 60 percent.

School district business manager Claude Estes conducted the recounting of ballots Tuesday afternoon.

Hart demolished in Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Walter F. Mondale easily won the Pennsylvania primary Tuesday, defeating a fading Gary Hart and rolling past the halfway mark in his quest for the delegates needed to capture the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mondale called it a "major step forward" and said he had established new momentum. Hart, putting forth an optimistic face as he arrived in his hometown of Denver, told supporters, "We are headed into our territory, folks."

With 90 percent of the vote in, Mondale had 46 percent of the vote to 35 percent for Hart.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson was winning Philadelphia — "with a poor campaign and a rich message," he said — and had 17 percent statewide. He sought a strong third-place finish statewide to impress the party's establishment with his ability to register thousands of black voters and then win their votes.

Hart's remarkable winter surge thus ended with a springtime thud: after sweeping New England and claiming several victories elsewhere, he has lost Illinois, New York and now Pennsylvania — key states in the Democratic industrial belt. Tuesday, Mondale even cut into Hart's previously solid support among yuppies — Young, Urban Professionals.

A total 172 Pennsylvania delegates was being apportioned. Mondale led for 125, Hart 17. Jackson had none, but the Philadelphia count was put off to Wednesday. Four were uncommitted and John Glenn supporters claimed one spot.

Mondale thus passed the half-way point in his quest for the 1,967 delegates needed for nomination in July. He claimed or led for 1,036.8 delegates, compared with 575 for Hart and 151.2 for Jackson.

Mondale claimed victory and said, "I'm encouraged to believe that what I have been saying about where I want to take the country, See Mondale page 2-A

Scenes from Broadway

Nothing routine about song and dance

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

"Just About Broadway" is a musical interpretation of what goes on behind the scenes of a Broadway musical. Filled with show tunes and dancing, the production is fun and the right length at an hour and a half.

The show opens at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday in the Municipal Auditorium. Tickets are $1.75 for children and $3.50 for adults.

The story line was written by members of Spring City Theatre. Donnie Wheeler directed the production and the music.

As the show unfolds, a cast and crew of about 45 persons weave their way through last minute rehearsals and technical preparations before a Broadway opening. The musical opens with the full cast singing "Another Opening, Another Show."

In review

Wheeler at the piano and Keith McGuire on the bass guitar provide background music for the show.

Ora Burson choreographed the show.

Wheeler utilizes the starkness of the stage at the Municipal Auditorium to give the audience the feeling of watching actors in a rehearsal hall. Various sets are brought on and off stage as the rehearsals progress.

Several story lines weave together to make up the plot of the production. Early in the show an understudy, played by Stacy Wood, sees her chance on stage when one of the actresses, played by Linda Davis, hits her head, loses her memory and walks off the set.

There is a triangle in which a young starlet loves one of the other actors, only to be ignored by him.

FROG KISSING — Ronnie Wheeler, who plays Jeff in "Just About Broadway," sings "Frog Kissing" during a scene from the musical.

The starlet is in turn admired by a stage hand. These parts are aptly handled by Debbie Hall, Rick Brown and Glen Carrigan.

One of the standouts of the production is Sharon Justice, who portrays an eccentric hairdresser. Mrs. Justice takes on a new look, complete with a new hairstyle, each time she comes on stage.

David Justice is convincing as he deals with the frustrations of being a director.

Shelly Choate shines with the song "Blind Date." Complete with a Yiddish accent, Miss Choate shares with the audience her fears of a blind date.

Among notable duets in the production are "Till There Was You," with Rick Brown and Shelly Choate, and "You Brought A New Kind of Love to Me," with Ronnie

Council takes steps toward new trash collection program

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

The Big Spring City Council took a giant step toward putting its new $1.4 million garbage collection program into effect last night when it approved on first reading a $1.50 increase in collection rates and accepted a bid of about $740,000 for four new garbage trucks and 3,600 new garbage containers.

The council tabled until its next meeting a decision to convert — at an estimated cost of about $650,000 — the current city landfill to a "balefill," where trash will be baled before it is buried.

"The council asked us to do a little more homework before they approve the balefill," Public Works Director Tom Decell said after the meeting.

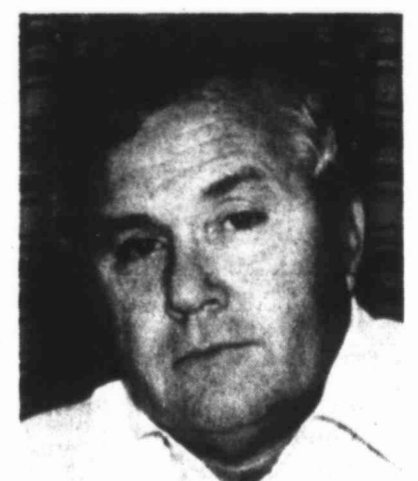

However, the council authorized Crim Engineering of Big Spring to obtain a state permit for the baling operation.

With its acceptance of the bid for containers and trucks from Emco Co., delivery of the new trash cans will begin tomorrow, according to Decell.

Delivery of all containers should be completed by June 1, and the 3,600 cans should be in place around the city 90 days thereafter, Decell said.

The city has ordered cans of three varieties: 1,300 118-gallon "roll-out" cans, for its customers who do not have alleyways behind their homes, 1,600 1.5-cubic yard containers and 700 3-cubic yard containers, both for businesses and residences.

According to the public works director, the rate increase for trash collection, if passed on second reading at the council's next meeting, will take effect May 1. The new fees call for a $5 monthly charge for single-family units and for each unit in a multi-family dwelling.

Commercial collections will be charged according to the size of the container in use at the business. For twice-weekly collection, charges will be $25 for a 1.5-cubic yard container, $35 for a 3-cubic yard container and $50 for a 4-cubic yard container. For trash pick-up four times weekly, the charges will be $45, $75 and $100 for the three different containers.

The new rates are expected to generate approximately $273,000 in revenue over a year's period.

This money, according to City Manager Don Davis, along with $945,000 currently in the city's capital projects fund, $130,000 in the city's revenue sharing fund and $44,000 in interest earnings on invested city money, will pay for the lion's share of the new program's $1.4 million price tag.

Officials estimate that their financing scheme will cover all but about $7,700 of the total cost.

Awards to honor area youth

The deadline for nominations in the 1984 Youth Achievement Awards is Friday, April 13.

The awards are sponsored by the Big Spring Herald, Zales Jewelers and the Big Spring Rotary Club.

Each year the awards honor one senior from each of the area high schools — Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands — who has shown outstanding traits in school work, extracurricular activities, church and volunteer-citizenship projects.

Students can be nominated through an entry blank located on page 2B of today's Herald. Teachers, parents or other interested parties can enter a student in the competition.

The top senior at each school will then be picked by a panel of judges, and the students will be honored at a May 16 banquet at the Big Spring Country Club.

Persons wishing to nominate a student are asked to send entries to the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431 no later than Friday, April 13.

Pictures of nominees should be included with the entry blank.

Council promises to help youth corps on summer cleanup

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

A local youth corps committee received a promise of help from the Big Spring City Council last night for a cleanup and beautification campaign scheduled for this summer.

The committee, operating under the acronym, C.L.E.A.N., will hire about 30 young people, aged 16 and up, and contract with area businesses and individuals to clean up store fronts and empty lots, committee organizer Johnny Rutherford told the council.

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the campaign and will handle salary and insurance paperwork for the committee, Rutherford said.

City officials promised to give the committee access to city records to help identify owners of empty lots around the city and give the committee some of the city's mowing work.

In other action last night, the council:

- Administered the oath of office to new council member Henry Sanchez and scheduled a special council meeting for 11 a.m. Friday to set a date for a run-off election between council candidates Harold Hall and Danny Heckler.
- Adjourned into a closed meeting to discuss pending litigation. Officials said after the meeting they had reached no decision concerning the litigation and had no announcements.
- Awarded a bid of $21,000 for three new signs at Big Spring Airport to Johnston Construction Co.
- Approved specifications and granted permission for city officials to advertise for bids for the city depository.
- Passed on first reading a resolution authorizing the construction of a fishing dock at Comanche Trail Lake by a local veterans and prisoner-of-war organization.
- Authorized the continuance of agreements with local Little League and softball organizations for use of city facilities.
- Granted permission for use of the park land surrounding the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for a "Summerfest" on July 4.

- Passed on first reading ordinances designating a no-parking zone on the northeast corner of Rannels and Fifth streets; setting stop signs at the intersections of Abilene and Mesquite streets, Ninth and Creighton streets, Fifth and Young streets, Locust and Wood streets, Sycamore and Wood streets, Arizona and Vines streets, Circle and Vines streets, Rutgers and Baylor streets and Dartmouth and Baylor streets; and a yield sign at the intersection of Sycamore and Victory streets.

Ackerly boy stable after auto accident

A 13-year-old Ackerly boy remains in stable condition at Malone-Hogan Hospital, where he is being treated for injuries suffered in an accident about noon Tuesday.

Danny Lafer is "doing well," a nursing supervisor at the hospital said. Lafer broke his nose, his left thighbone and an arm and suffered a concussion in the accident, according to hospital spokeswomen.

Lafer's mother, Paula Yingst Lafer, 33, of Ackerly was treated and released Tuesday from the hospital. Both mother and son were taken to the hospital by Shaffer Ambulance.

According to the Department of Public Safety accident report, Mrs. Lafer was driving eastbound on Interstate 20 when she fell asleep during a sandstorm. While she was near the Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. plant off I-20, her brown 1973 Pontiac Bonneville drifted to the right side of the roadway and struck the guardrail and a highway sign before coming to a stop 500 feet east of exit 182.

The "Jaws of Life" were used to free the Lafers from the wreckage.

Local spelling bee champ takes a break from words

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Sashikala Rajagopalan is taking a break from the dictionary after competing in the Regional Spelling Bee in Lubbock last weekend.

The Goliad Middle School student is better known as Sashi to her classmates and teachers. She is a two-time winner of the Howard County Spelling Bee. She first competed when she was a fifth grader winning the runner-up spot.

She has competed in the Lubbock regional bee twice. This year she placed fifth.

The 12-year-old said the Lubbock bee was "a difficult challenge." Competitors at the bee are serious spellers who have studied extensively to prepare themselves for the regional competition.

Sashi misspelled "salve" in the regional bee and says now, "I wish I could have done better." But Sashi didn't let the competition get her down.

Born in Toronto, Canada, Sashi is the daughter of Dr. R. and Saraswathy Rajagopalan. The family moved to Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, shortly after Sashi was born. While in Hamilton, her father worked in McMaster Hospital.

"We lived in Hamilton for five or six years," Sashi said. "I started school there. We moved to Big Spring when I was in the second grade." The family has lived here since that time.

Her father is a doctor with the Veteran's Administration Medical Center. Sashi has a five-year-old sister, Sangeetha, who is nicknamed Geethma. Because of her background, Sashi is familiar with several cultures. Her parents were born in India but came to Canada and later to the United States "for better opportunities, and to start a new life," Sashi said.

Although she has never lived in India, Sashi said, "I've been to India five times. I like to visit my relatives there. My grandparents, all my relatives, live there, except a cousin who is studying in the United States."

She is familiar with the school system in India and said she is impressed because "they stress education in India."

However, India "has lots of people, especially around Mandras," which is where her mother was born.

Sashi prefers the wide-open spaces of Texas. "I like less people," she said with a smile.

English is the only language Sashi speaks, although "I can understand Indian. It is a completely different language. My parents speak it."

Sashi remembers kids in Big Spring "thought I was different" when she first moved here, but today

WORDSMITH — Sashikala Rajagopalan, daughter of Dr. R. and Saraswathy Rajagopalan, recently competed in the Regional Spelling Bee in Lubbock after winning the Howard County bee for the second year. "Sashi," as she is known to her friends, is now taking a break from all those words.

"there are a lot more Indians moving to Big Spring," Sashi considers Big Spring her home now.

Sashi is an "A" student in school and enjoys reading and drawing in her spare time.

She's already thinking about her future and says she would like to be a doctor, like her dad, or a lawyer.

But in the more immediate future, Sashi is unsure whether she will compete in next year's spelling bee.

"I want to enjoy the summer. Next year I'll decide if I want to compete," she said.

Mondale

the differences as the public perceives them, is helping me gain momentum toward the nomination" and victory over President Reagan in November.

"Something powerful is happening," Mondale said. "The feeling that is beginning to spread across the country is that we need a change in Washington. We came from behind and today we won big and I feel good about it."

Hart said he would do better as the election calendar turns west, and before the sun set Tuesday he was testing a new voter appeal in Ohio.

Hart said where Mondale had strong labor support in the industrial states, the union connection would prove a disadvantage in the Western states to come. "Those states are much more favorable to us," said Hart, citing Texas, Oregon and California among others.

"Tonight, we may not have won in Pennsylvania, but we are going to win the nomination of this party — and we are going to win the presidency," he said.

The returns, from 87 percent of the state's precincts, were:

- Mondale, 636,596 or 46 percent.
- Hart, 477,507, 35 percent.
- Jackson, 237,873, 19 percent.

Minor candidates shared the remainder of the vote with several Democratic dropouts. President Reagan ran unopposed in the Republican primary.

In Democratic congressional races, first-term Rep. Frank Harrison of Wilkes-Barre was losing to challenger Paul Kanjorski. Rep. Tom Foglietta scored a narrow victory over former Philadelphia councilman James Tayoun.

According to the network exit polls, Mondale expanded his traditional Democratic labor and blue-collar constituency and began for the first time to cut into the young urban professional "yuppie" support that had carried Hart to earlier primary victories.

And while Hart had been emphasizing in campaign speeches that he was the more likely candidate to defeat President Reagan in November, respondents in the NBC News poll picked Mondale as the stronger candidate against Reagan by a 2-1 ratio.

With no primary elections and just four caucuses coming up in the next three weeks, the former vice president looked back at the first half of the primary season and said, before the polls closed here, "I win some; he wins some. We have a long fight ahead of us."

The 172 Pennsylvania delegates included 117 elected in contests separate from the presidential preference balloting. The other 55 were being allocated in proportion to the delegate election results.

Mondale had an advantage, with a full slate of 117 delegates on the ballot. Hart had only 47 delegates, but he worked for the election of another 70 who had been pledged to candidates who dropped out of the race.

Mondale's victory punctuates the end to the Hart surge that began February 28 in New Hampshire.

Hart won the Connecticut primary two weeks ago, but he has been falling further behind Mondale in delegates with each passing week, and has failed to sustain the momentum he had generated behind his "new ideas" candidacy.

Sheriff's Log

Fondling incidents reported

Parents of three children in Sand Springs Tuesday night reported three separate incidents of indecency with a child to the Howard County sheriff's deputies.

Parents told the deputies that a 9-year-old girl and two boys, aged 8 and 11, were fondled by a 50-year-old man in Sand Springs. The fondlings occurred in the afternoons between Saturday and Tuesday, the sheriff's report stated.

The children were taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital to be examined by a doctor, the report also stated. Deputies have taken statements from the boys in the case and will take a statement from the girl today, Sheriff A.N. Standard said.

Deputies have identified a suspect in the case, Standard said. He said deputies will meet with the district attorney to file charges. An arrest would be made after charges are filed, he said.

Deputies said a truck reported stolen Monday from Howard County resident Bobby Cathey was recovered Tuesday in Snyder by the Scurry County sheriff's office.

The Scurry County sheriff's office has a suspect in custody, Standard said.

revoked Galaviz' probation for burglary and sentenced him to another seven years in prison, to be served concurrently. Galaviz was given credit for serving 90 days in jail.

Deputies Tuesday also arrested Brian Lee Meikle, 24, of 2624 Fairchild on suspicion of driving while license suspended. He was released on $500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Helga Agnarstottir, also known as Helga Bobcock, 36, of 1206 Austin was transferred Tuesday from the police department to the sheriff's office on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. She was released on $1,000 bond set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

The Department of Public Safety transferred two men to the sheriff's office today on suspicion of separate incidents of DWI. Eddie Rex McLain, 52, of Colorado City and Louis Alan Weaver, 33, of Odessa both were released on $1,000 bond each. Bond was set by County Court Judge Milton Kirby.

Stephen Bruce Robison, 33, of Abilene also was transferred today to the sheriff's office by DPS officers on suspicion traffic violations. He was released on two $200 bonds set by Heflin.

Marcus Aguilar, 24, of 1201 Lamar was transferred Tuesday to the sheriff's office by DPS officers on suspicion of DWLS. He was released on a $500 bond for DWLS and on two $200 bonds for traffic warrants.

Antique items stolen

Ann Weaver, neighbor of Francis Einsel of 1700 Virginia, told police someone between 6 p.m. Monday and 5:45 p.m. Tuesday kicked in the front door of the Einsel residence and stole a number of antiques worth $7,280, police reports said.

Among the items stolen were an ivory statue lamp worth $3,000, an oak frame mirror worth $1,400, a wood chest with a marble top worth $300, china dishes worth $200 and a clock worth $150, reports said.

Two area men were admitted for observation to Malone-Hogan Hospital with abrasions and bruises yesterday evening after a major accident near the intersection of Highway 176 and Interstate 20, a hospital spokeswoman and police reports said.

Jimmy Hogue, 50, and Lester Peterson Jr., 37, both of Gail Route, were towing a Hobbs trailer with a 1979 GMC tractor when the wind turned over both trailer and tractor as they were turning on a curve, police reports said.

According to police reports, the trailer was top heavy.

Billy Joe Henkel, owner of the Super Save convenience store at 1610 Gregg, told police someone between 12:30 a.m. and 4:30 a.m. Wednesday entered the store by breaking in its northside drive-in window and stole $1,517 in currency and change, police reports said. Among items listed as stolen were $400 in food stamps and $400 in returned checks, reports said.

Jimmy Carrillo, 22, of 1014 Bluebonnet was arrested at 9:17 a.m. Tuesday in connection with a capias warrant, police reports said.

Ray Lynn Stoaks of 1407 1/2 Settles told police at 2:01 p.m. Tuesday that someone sometime in March stole a payroll check worth $164 from his mailbox, police reports said.

Carol Ann Scaggs, 36, of 1216 Wright was arrested at 3:46 p.m. Tuesday in connection with a theft warrant and a revocation of probation warrant, police reports said.

Louis Alan Weaver, 33, of Odessa was arrested at 6:29 p.m. Tuesday on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, police reports said.

Eddie Rex McLain, 52, of Colorado City was arrested at 11:16 p.m. Tuesday on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, police reports said.

Maria Gonzales of 404 N.E. 10th told police at 7:20 p.m. Tuesday that four men pulled up beside her while she was driving in the 100 block of N.E. Eighth and one of them pointed a hand gun at her, police reports said.

Namath debuts in dress

ATLANTIC CITY — Joe Namath used to be at home on the football field wearing shoulder pads.

JOE NAMATH

But these days he is prancing around a casino stage wearing a pastel blue dress with dark blue ruffles, earrings, stockings and size-12 pumps.

The 40-year-old ex-New York Jet is headlining the play "Sugar" which opened Tuesday at a Boardwalk gaming hotel in Atlantic City.

The musical is an adaptation of the 1959 film "Some Like It Hot," which starred Marilyn Monroe, Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis.

Josephine, played by Namath, and her "girlfriend," Daphne, performed by Buddy Powell, are two down-on-their-luck musicians who witness the St. Valentine's Day Massacre and dress up in drag to hide out from the mob with an all-girl band en route to a gig in Miami Beach.

"I think it went very well for the first night and that was because of the company we've got," said Namath.

"This was the first time we've worked in front of an audience and our timing wasn't exactly as tight as we'd like it. It'll get better and better."

Namath, who left pro football because of knee problems and has been working as an actor since 1979, said the high heels made his joints ache again.

Welty to celebrate birthday

JACKSON, Miss. — Pulitzer-prize winning fiction writer Eudora Welty, who celebrates her 75th birthday Friday, will be honored with a special theater series at the city's New Stage Theatre.

EUDORA WELTY

The Eudora Welty New Playwrights Series endowment is built on seed money from a production of Miss Welty's "The Ponder Heart," said Jane Reid-Petty, executive producer of New Stage.

The play, adapted from Miss Welty's novel, attracted enough private contributions to fund the series at the non-profit repertory theater.

"This is almost like the best thing we could have dreamed of having," Miss Welty, a Jackson native who won the Pulitzer Prize in fiction in 1973 for "The Optimist's Daughter," said Tuesday.

The series will open next season and will feature plays by American writers, beginning with Reynolds Price's "Private Contentment."

Price, a Duke University professor, is "an old friend," she said.

"Right now," she added, "this is my private contentment."

Miss Welty's recently published autobiographical work, "One Writer's Beginnings," has been on best-seller lists for weeks.

Man uses fake grenades to rob bank

RED OAK, Texas (AP) — A man carrying a pistol and two inactive hand grenades robbed a bank, abducted a loan officer and stole a pickup before being arrested and jailed, authorities said.

Jesus Valenzuela, 40, is in the Ellis County Jail in Waxahachie on bonds totalling $600,000 on charges of aggravated robbery and aggravated kidnapping.

Ellis County Sheriff Barney Boyd said $40,000 taken from Red Oak State Bank was recovered after a chase that ended in South Dallas County.

Senate furious over mining

WASHINGTON — The Republican-controlled Senate is overwhelmingly on record against use of CIA funds to mine Nicaraguan harbors, a compromise Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is confident will stop the mining.

The Reagan administration agreed to the non-binding measure Tuesday in return for Kennedy's agreement to defer a proposal condemning a State Department move to keep U.S. Central American policies out of the World Court for two years.

The compromise passed the Senate 84-12, with the backing of 42 Democrats and 42 Republicans, including Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee.

An aide said Baker proposed the compromise to the White House, which "sent word it would have no problem if this passed." Baker then outlined it at a meeting of Republican senators.

Sen. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., said, "I think they (the administration) are trying to liquidate the political damage. The thing is not working so they want to get over with it...."

Further evidence of congressional displeasure came from Republican Senator Barry Goldwater, even though he voted against the anti-mining resolution. He accused the White House of neglecting its duty to inform Congress on such a crucial foreign policy action, thereby undercutting Reagan's allies in Capitol Hill.

In a "Dear Bill" letter to CIA Director William Casey, Goldwater charged that the Senate Intelligence Committee, which he heads, was never told about the mining.

Goldwater wrote: "The president has asked us to back his foreign policy. Bill, how can we back his foreign policy when we don't know what the hell he is doing?"

"In the future, if anything like this happens, I'm going to raise one hell of a lot of fuss about it in public," Goldwater said in the private letter, which was obtained from Senate sources.

Wilder seen in California

TORRANCE, Calif. — A race car driver on the FBI's Ten Most Wanted List because he is suspected in six abductions and one murder was sighted here on the same day that a teen-age girl vanished on her way to a job interview, authorities said.

Christopher Bernard Wilder, 39, an Australian native who is the object of a nationwide manhunt, was seen at a motel in this Los Angeles suburb on April 3 and 4, FBI agent John Hoos said Tuesday in Los Angeles.

The 16-year-old Torrance girl, whose name was not immediately released, has been missing since April 4, police Lt. Robert Armstrong said.

"As soon as I saw that flier (with the missing girl's picture), I got a terrible sinking feeling," Armstrong said. "I hope I'm wrong."

FBI agents have tracked Wilder from Florida through Texas, Colorado and Arizona to Las Vegas, Nev., and now to this town 15 miles south of downtown Los Angeles.

In several cities, young women have disappeared the same day Wilder was seen, and he has been charged in the abduction of a Florida State University student and in the murder of an Oklahoma City woman whose body was found in Kansas, authorities said.

House debates tax increase

WASHINGTON — The House is about to decide whether voting for a $49 billion tax increase is more troublesome than ignoring record government red ink in this election year.

On the other side of the Capitol, senators are plodding through their own deficit-reduction plan containing $48 billion in tax increases and $15 billion in spending cuts over the next three years. In two days of debate, the most significant action has been rejection of an amendment delaying for three years the automatic annual tax increases scheduled to start next Jan. 1.

The 57-38 vote against that amendment Tuesday night came after Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker cautioned that delaying the automatic cuts "would destroy any chance we have to try to hold the (deficit-reduction) package together."

President Reagan has said he would veto any bill that tampered with the "indexing" provision, which was enacted in 1981 to keep workers from constantly being pushed into ever-higher tax brackets when they receive cost-of-living pay raises.

Under indexing, the $1,000-per-person exemption, the standard deduction ($2,300 for a single person and $3,400 for a couple filing a joint return) would be increased each year by the same percentage as prices rose the previous year. The various tax brackets would be widened to prevent extra dollars earned from being taxed at increasing rates.

The bill heading toward final action in the House would put a relatively modest tax bite on a variety of goods and services — ranging from cigarettes and liquor to telephone service — to reduce the federal deficit. Most provisions in the bill are also in the Senate measure, and virtually all have the endorsement of the Reagan administration.

Fighting spreads in Beirut

BEIRUT — Fighting between Christian and Moslem militiamen spread today from Beirut's southern suburbs to the city's "green line," and radio stations reported artillery shells crashed into several neighborhoods.

The battles began at 11 a.m., after a lull that followed overnight fighting along the green line that divides the Lebanese capital into Moslem and Christian sectors.

Police said six people were killed and 45 wounded in overnight fighting. On Tuesday, two people died and 20 were wounded, police and hospital officials reported. There was no updated casualty report for the morning battles today.

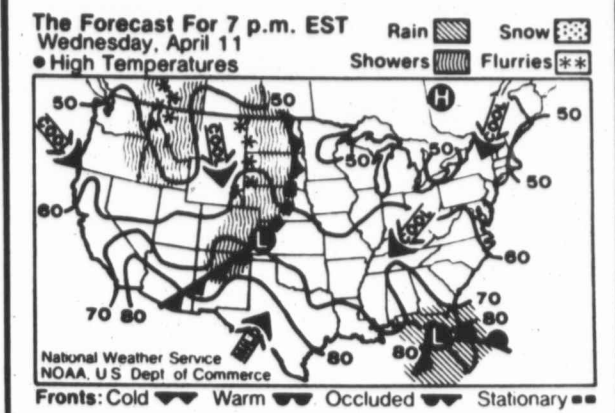

The rightist Christian Voice of Lebanon radio station said several salvos of artillery shells fell this morning on the Christian neighborhoods of Ashrafieh, Furn el-Shebbak and Hazmieh.

Overnight, the fighting forced a three-hour closure of the museum crossing, the only open gateway between Moslem west Beirut and Christian east Beirut. Both Christian and Moslem combatants on opposite sides of the demarcation line accused each other of starting the fighting and of shelling the museum crossing.

As the skies lit up overnight with artillery, mortar and rocket-propelled grenade explosions, residents along the green line scrambled to bomb shelters.

The explosions mixed with thunder and lightning while buildings and cars went up in flames. Ambulances raced through the deserted streets.

West Texas — Mostly fair through Thursday. Lows 35 Panhandle to 52 Lower Pecos Valley and Big Bend. Highs 65 Panhandle to near 80 Concho Valley and far west to near 90 Big Bend valleys.

Fair skies prevail over state

Fair skies prevailed over Texas today after a line of showers and thunderstorms packing hail and high winds moved eastward out of the state — but not before sending a tornado dancing through a residential section of Port Arthur.

The twister, which came down about 11:55 p.m. Tuesday, cut a swath of damage in the Port Acres area, an older residential section in the northwestern area of the city, police said.

No injuries were reported, but at least two houses were "extensively damaged" and a service station was "torn up," said Officer Philip Lusignan, whose residence was among at least a dozen damaged by the tornado.

The twister accompanied a severe thunderstorm that dropped .9 inch of rain in less than an hour at the Jefferson County Airport, the National Weather Service said.

Other heavy showers and some hail rocked portions of Northeast Texas. Although some wind damage was noted near Marshall and at Jonesville, near the Louisiana border, no injuries were reported, authorities said.

Dense fog formed before dawn over the lower coastal plains, prompting travel advisories. Otherwise, a few high clouds hovered over the Panhandle and South Plains.

Pre-dawn temperatures were generally in the 40s and 50s. Readings at 4 a.m. ranged from 43 at Amarillo to 70 at Brownsville.

Winds were light and variable over most of Texas.

The forecast called for mostly fair skies through Thursday. Warmer temperatures were on tap for most of the state Thursday.

Temperatures on left indicate previous day's high and overnight low to 8 a.m. EST. Temperatures on right indicate outlook for tomorrow.

Let's take lead in acid rain fight

The Worldwatch Institute, which keeps an eye on social and environmental issues that transcend national boundaries, is out with a new report on the extent to which air pollution and acid rain are damaging the world's forests. The Institute identifies vast areas of forest in Europe, Canada and the United States that show an alarming increase in the number of sick and dying trees.

Germany's famous Black Forest is in jeopardy. Europeans fear serious economic repercussions when a decline in the harvest of trees begins to affect the price of lumber. Worldwatch says a similar decline in the growth of trees in the eastern United States eventually will cause increases in the price of lumber and housing in the United States.

Worldwatch sees the problem in global terms, and that is only fitting because air pollution does not respect national borders. Still, solutions will have to be implemented by individual nations. Representatives from Canada and nine European governments recently agreed at a meeting in Ottawa to try to reduce sulfur emissions from various sources by at least 30 percent in the next 10 years, and they are impatient for the United States to go along.

Neither the Reagan administration nor the U.S. Congress has been eager to make promises about getting rid of acid rain, and for good reason. Politically, it is easy to be against acid rain, but not so easy to be for the steps that might clean it up, especially when scientists are not sure what the steps ought to be.

Acid rain had a brief run as a campaign issue when the Democratic presidential candidates were stumping through New England. There, and in eastern Canada, airborne pollutants are causing measurable damage to lakes and forests. When the campaign shifted to the South and Midwest, where power plants burning coal are candidates for expensive retrofits of scrubbers to reduce their sulfur dioxide emissions. In those states, the wise candidate avoids the subject. Furthermore, Eastern states producing high-sulfur coal and Western states producing low-sulfur coal take differing views of regulations setting smoke-stack emission standards.

The regional implications of the acid rain issue have made it a difficult subject for Congress to deal with in an election year, which may assure a favorable reception for the Reagan administration's proposal to give scientists more time to examine the problem before trying to legislate new controls. The Reagan budget calls for doubling the funds for acid rain research in fiscal 1985 while holding off on new pollution controls.

It is still not clear how the emissions from industrial plants fit into the natural process that produces the phenomenon called acid rain. Another year for research may be appropriate, but the alarming deterioration of forests reported by the Worldwatch Institute tells us that time is running out.

A fright at the Oscars

The Academy Awards, to put it bluntly, are a waste of prime-time television.

In an awards ceremony notable for its usual hyperbole and hype, not to mention technical flaws, there were perhaps three or four memorable speakers. Boil it down to half an hour, and put the rest on a TV news show.

Those wonderful memories started with the first shot of the celebrities milling around before the program — upside down. The classic "stand-the-celebrities-on-their-heads" shot brought the cameraman all kinds of job opportunities — all as an employee of Dick Clark's series, and we aren't talking "American Bandstand."

My favorite recurring technical goof might have been intentional. The backstage had an air conditioner that came whirring on whenever a minor celebrity tended to stretch his speech more than just a mite too long.

The air conditioner actually wasn't a bad idea as a warning. I think the Academy should adopt a new rule limiting honorees to 50 words or less in their acceptance speeches. They could enforce it by cutting off the sound system at the 51st word.

And the Academy really should be more selective in its presenters. There are lots of good actresses in Hollywood, folks, but Joan Collins is not one of them, unless you're into sequin sleaze. Can you even name one of the movies she's been in?

By the same token, what is Christie Brinkley of Sports Illustrated fame doing on an acting awards show? The only award she should get near is skimpiest costume; after all, that was the extent of her performance in "Vacation."

Another waste of time was pudgy, middle-age Shirley Temple, who has graduated from the cloying saccharine child star to bouffant hairdos and gushing sentimentality.

If the Academy really wanted a classy act, it would pair Cary Grant and Katharine Hepburn as a team of announcers. And you thought "Bringing Up Baby" was fun.

Or how about the ensemble actors and actresses from "The Big Chill" who weren't nominated? At least Mary Kay Place and company are competent actresses.

Monday night's show had three saving graces: Johnny Carson's cutting-edge personal humor, Clarence "Ducky" Nash and Linda Hunt.

Both Nash and Ms. Hunt had personality, and something more. "Ducky" had a style and a voice all his own as Walt Disney's Donald Duck. No special sound effects required for that squawker.

The guy was classy, fun and not overlong, overbearing, or overbearing. Just like Donald. In fact, I'd vote for him as Academy president — the opening speech might even be exciting.

The show's high point came when the academy finally awarded the most deserving nominee. I'm not talking about Shirley MacLaine, but about Ms. Hunt.

The best supporting actress would be thrown out of modeling agencies because of her lack of height, but she gave a performance that knocked me off my feet. I didn't even know the character of Billy Quan, the midjet Indonesian photographer in "The Year of Living Dangerously." Was a woman until the credits rolled at the end.

Her award and her performance were truly "water from the moon," a thing of rare quality usually unattainable. Certainly they seemed out of place with the rest of the circus.

Ford loses power, now D.C. cad

WASHINGTON — It has been seven years since Gerald Ford moved out of the White House and disappeared into the corporate woodwork. The long absence from Washington has so eroded his influence that he can't even arrange a small favor for his son-in-law.

The son-in-law is Charles F. Vance, a former Secret Service agent, who used to guard the first family. He met Susan Ford, later married her, and they now live in the Washington area. He operates a protective service, MVM International Security Inc.

Vance has trained some crack bodyguards, but they need guns to protect their clients. This violates a District of Columbia police regulation, which forbids the issuance of firearms licenses to private bodyguards.

As the political hub of the nation, Washington attracts more crackpots and terrorists with murder on their minds than any other American city. Yet it is the only jurisdiction in the country that won't let bodyguards carry guns. City officials feel that lifting the ban would undermine Washington's tough gun-control law.

Their uncompromising attitude has been bad for Vance's business. Last November, for example, the State Department contracted with Vance to protect visiting Queen Aishwarya from Nepal. But Vance was told that the bodyguards — and possibly the queen herself — would be subject to arrest if her entourage were armed. Result: The contract was cancelled.

As "a last resort," Vance told my associate Tony Capaccio, he asked his father-in-law for help. The former president agreed that the Nepalese episode was "ridiculous." So last January, he wrote to an old political sidekick, Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa.

Ford hasn't forgotten the art of political persuasion; he chose his intermediary shrewdly. Specter is chairman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee that decides how much federal money the D.C. government will get.

Ford's "Dear Arlen" letter asked the senator to "help me resolve an unjustified problem." He reminded Specter of the trouble encountered by the Reagan Inaugural Committee's security force when it sought protection for entertainers during the festivities.

Not only did the Washington police refuse to provide bodyguards for the celebrities, Ford recalled, but they wouldn't let the Inaugural Committee hire off-duty D.C. cops for the job. Indeed, the committee was told that any off-duty officers from other jurisdictions would be arrested if they showed up in the city with guns.

Responding to Ford's letter, Specter had the staff director of the Appropriations subcommittee call D.C. officials and ask for "clarification" of the policy against armed bodyguards. The officials were unimpressed and unmoved.

Footnote: Where political clout has failed, economic self-interest may eventually succeed. Security expert John Nolan recently wrote to the editor of Successful Meetings magazine to offer "a word of caution" to your readers who plan meetings in the District, which involve corporate dignitaries or high-profile speakers. Nolan warned that the city's anti-bodyguard policy makes Washington "an unattractive site."

The big stake with the Big Two for larger European efforts in conventional defense.

Far different is the posture of this country's closest allies. Helmut Kohl of West Germany, having begun deployment of Euro-missiles, is wary of further steps that might compromise his blossoming relations with East Germany. Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Great Britain still nurses grudges against the Reagan administration for misleading her about the invasion of Grenada. So the most important allies have been cool to American suggestions about strengthening the alliance.

Their cold shoulder has already occasioned angry comments from prominent Americans usually known for their devotion to NATO. Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger published an article in Time magazine asserting that if the Europeans did not improve conventional defenses, the U.S. should consider withdrawing a large number of American troops. Under Secretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger has made two speeches suggesting that, given the "parochialism" of Europe, the U.S. would increasingly stress ties across the Pacific.

Those comments are not wrong. The fact is that the Europeans are prepared to live with an inadequate conventional defense even as the credibility of nuclear deterrence declines. But it is pointless to complain out loud, and threats to turn elsewhere ring hollow. Europe remains the big stake in the Big Two rivalry. Talk of withdrawal only deals cards to European neutralists. The more so as there is no security structure with which the U.S. can work in the Pacific.

Cooperation in economic policy seems not much more promising at first glance. Protectionism, fueled by a record trade deficit, is on the rise in this country. The American trade representative, William Brock, has scheduled a series of meetings with counterparts in Europe and Japan during the coming month. But his highest hope is to check the move for generalized restrictions in this country.

Once that limitation is accepted, though, there is room for more active coordination of economic policy. American interest rates are very high. They aggravate the Third World debt problem, as the case of Argentina indicates. They also threaten prosperity in this country and recovery in Europe. A condition of bringing down the rates is closing the American budgetary deficit, and later this year action to reduce the deficit will get underway.

At that point, complementary action by other governments in the industrialized world becomes useful. It would help if Japan, West Germany and Britain eased up on public spending to offset U.S. tightening. Joint intervention could usefully work against violent fluctuations in currency cross-rates. Similarly, the industrialized countries could pool efforts to increase credits to the developing countries.

All those subjects are bound to come up when the leaders of the seven industrialized countries meet at the London summit in June. Success there will help everybody. A bonus is that attention to economic cooperation can relieve the destructive itch to scratch at each other on security issues.

An appeal to help kidney disorders

To the editor: One day as I was working with my mother, I began to wonder just how many people in the Big Spring area that suffer from end stages of renal disease or chronic renal (kidney) disease.

Many of these people are confronted with problems, questions, and damage to their self-esteem that is accompanied with the loss of renal (kidney) function.

Among the many problems facing these people is determining the kind of treatment he should choose, which include: hemodialysis, peritoneal dialysis (either in the home or hospital), continuous ambulatory peritoneal dialysis, even transplantation if organs can be found.

Many of these people has to make these choices at a time when they are tired, uncomfortable and probably discouraged.

If the chronic renal patients in the city could call 263-6067 or write to me 710 Cherry Street, Big Spring, Tex. 79720. I feel that as they speak of their problem and success it would help those who are just starting out, and to know they are not alone and there are others in the city with the same condition could make the world of difference.

Thanks for votes; do more of same

To the editor: I would like to extend my gratitude to all my neighbors who stood beside me during my candidacy for city council. I deeply appreciate the trust you all placed in my care. Also, I wish to thank all my fellow citizens who participated in all the elections. The process will falter without your support. And to those of you who missed out; Stop, Look, Listen, VOTE. Go ahead, it's your voice, make it sing.

Today in History

By The Associated Press Today is Wednesday, April 11, the 102nd day of 1984. There are 264 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On April 11, 1947, Jackie Robinson played his first major-league baseball game — an exhibition between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees.

On this date: In 1814, Napoleon Bonaparte abdicated unconditionally as emperor of France and was banished to the island of Elba.

In 1899, the Philippine Islands were transferred from Spain to the United States as part of the settlement of the Spanish-American War.

In 1951, President Harry Truman relieved Gen. Douglas MacArthur of his command in the Far East.

In 1968, President Lyndon Johnson signed a civil rights act to remove racial barriers from most of the nation's housing.

In 1978, Israeli forces began pulling out of a part of southern Lebanon in the first move toward compliance with a U.N. call for complete withdrawal.

And in 1981, President Reagan returned to the White House, 12 days after being shot by a would-be assassin.

Ten years ago: The House Judiciary Committee issued a subpoena ordering President Richard Nixon to turn over all Watergate material previously requested by the panel.

Five years ago: President Jimmy Carter named a commission to investigate the accident at the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant and make recommendations for preventing such accidents in the future.

ABWA chapter hosts seminar

Jack White and Jackie Lindsey presented programs at Scenic Chapter of American Business Women's Association's 3rd annual Women's Seminar and Style Show at Homestead Inn, Saturday.

A Texas Highway patrolman, White spoke about "Traffic Safety and Laws." Recent changes in the driving while intoxicated law and driver's license law were explained. Reasons for a driver's license being suspended were discussed. To drive a motorcycle, a special license is needed.

White explained how to check a speedometer for accuracy. The size of the car's tires can throw the speedometer off. To check the accuracy of a car's speedometer, it takes 65 seconds to drive one mile at 55 miles per hour, he said.

The first traffic law was passed in 1907. The law provided for a speed limit of eight miles per hour and required vehicle registration, warning systems such as a horn on a vehicle, and vehicles had to stop for horses.

Ms. Lindsey, former district vice president of ABWA, spoke about "Investments for Women." Women need to know what they can do with their money and how to handle their financial funds, she said. A person doesn't have to have a lot of money to make investments. When making an investment, a person can choose from over 139 ways.

Before investing money, a person should know what she wants her money to do for her. Even though the market place can be a risk, certain steps can be taken for safety. A person needs to look at investing her money in tax-free products.

Municipal bonds are promissory notes issued by a city government. A bond is 10 percent tax free, because the federal government wants people to invest in the country's cities.

Another way to invest money is to buy stock. A person who owns company stock has part ownership in that company.

A person can invest in zero coupon bonds, which pays no interest until maturity is reached. A person buying zero coupon bonds will want to get them tax-free, because she will still be taxed for the interest, even though she receives none.

Ms. Lindsey also explained how stock brokers get their information and how they receive their commissions.

EASTER FASHION — Kim Porter models a silk mauve and gray camisole and full skirt with a matching jacket at Scenic Chapter of the American Business Women Association's annual styleshow and luncheon at the Homestead Inn, Saturday.

Following the seminar, a style show of Easter fashions was presented during a salad luncheon. Proceeds raised from the seminar and style show will go towards the organization's scholarship fund.

Area Junior Miss Pageant slated

The Permian Basin Junior Miss competition will be at Odessa College's Main Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. June 9.

The competition is part of a state and national program to honor and reward the country's leading high school girls for achievement in scholastics, creative talents, self-development and community betterment. Permian Basin area girls may enter by coming to the orientation meeting at University of Texas at Permian Basin in the Devonian Room, 2 to 4 p.m., Sunday. To enter, a girl must be a junior in high school, who will be a graduating senior in 1985. There is no entry fee. All interested parents also may attend the meeting. For additional information, call Barbara Whitehead at (915) 367-0625.

THE BOTTOM LINE
BY TONYA (SHORTES) SCHUMPERT

The deadline for signing up for Multi-Peril cotton crop insurance is the 30th of April. Maize is the 15th of April. Not long off when you consider that agents must have a copy of your certified yields (19A) form from the A.S.C.S. office — This takes time. Then the agent needs additional time to prepare you an in-depth computer study (We call it The Bottom Line, because it tells it like it is). Then you need all the time you can get to study the various options (while you are watching the clouds) before deciding on a level, price election or whether to insure or not. When the deadline gets here — be prepared — call the A.S.C.S. office NOW in the county where you farm and ask them to send a copy of your yield certification to (me) Tonya Shortes Schumpert (Jean Fields) office, 710 East 4th St., Big Spring, Texas 79720. I'm representing The Lowell Shortes Agency in Lamesa, with a sub office and computer systems here. I'm probably not as experienced as some of the other agents — yet! But my daddy Lowell says "Tonya we will give your customers the same SPECIAL SERVICE that we give our own. We will watch you like a chicken hawk after a cotton tail, until we know that everything you do or say is absolutely right that's the only way to do it." Grampa L.G. says "If he don't, I will." — Now REALLY I can handle it without any help but it's nice to know that they are behind me. Dear Abby

Abused daughter fears her father's revenge

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old mother of three. My father started to abuse me sexually when I was 8, and he kept on until I was 14. I finally couldn't take it anymore, so I went to the police and my father was sent to prison for five years.

Now that he's out, he wants to see me. He wrote a letter saying that everything that happened was my fault, but now he's changed. I wrote back and told him that everything that happened was not my fault, it was his fault because an 8-year-old girl doesn't know enough about life to throw herself at a man — especially her own father. I also told him he was not welcome here and I never wanted to see him again.

Abby, he knows where I live and I'm afraid he will come after me for revenge. I have no phone, and if he ever came here and broke into my house, I'd be helpless. He's a mean and violent man.

I went to the district attorney and told him my story, and he said there was nothing he could do unless my father made the first move.

What should I do?

SCARED STIFF

DEAR SCARED: Unfortunately, the district attorney is correct. You may feel threatened, but unless your father actually threatens you, there is nothing you can do.

You may be overreacting. If your father really wanted to get revenge, he wouldn't have written to say that he wanted to see you; he would have visited by now.

If you can possibly afford a telephone, get one so that you can call for help in case of an emergency. If you live alone with your children, consider getting a boarder. A dog would also offer protection. You might want to take a course in self-defense.

If there's a women's group in your area, or a family crisis-intervention group, appeal to it for help.

DEAR ABBY: I am an inmate in a federal prison, presently serving two life sentences for bank robbery and murder (two unrelated crimes).

I am an artist, I write poetry and prose, and I'm also an "A" student in college correspondence courses.

I have no family to write to. Could you please tell me how to get pen pals?

NO. 23536

DEAR NO. 23536: Your prison chaplain can give you the names of organizations that provide that service. Ask him.

(If you put off writing your thank-you notes because you don't know how to phrase them, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $2 and a Long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 389923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Dr. Donohue

Aneurysms

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My husband, age 68, has had an X-ray, CAT scan and an ultrasound test. What has been determined is that he has an aneurysm on his aorta, size 3.5 centimeters large. He has been told that nothing will be done at this time, but that if it gets larger they will operate. Does he have to curb his activities now? Do you know of any medicine to help prevent an operation. He has been told to have tests every few months. Your comments will be appreciated. — Mrs. C.S.

An aneurysm, to update other readers, is a ballooning of a vessel — in your husband's case of the aorta, the body's important largest artery. I will restrict my comments to that vessel. And, incidentally, such aneurysms occur from fat and calcium deposits adhering to the vessel and weakening it. That permits the bulging. Even with normal pressure of blood in the artery, many such aneurysms will grow larger with time. Surgery guidelines are only that, guidelines, and they're not set in concrete. If an aneurysm is larger than 6 centimeters (about 2.5 inches wide) or if a smaller one causes symptoms, like pain, then there is no argument; it should be removed immediately and patched with a synthetic graft. For aneurysms between 4 and 6 cms., the decision is

Faye's Flowers wins award

Faye's Flowers achieved a significant honor recently when it was presented a plaque for being in the top 500 florists nationwide in outgoing FTD sales. Faye's has been in the top 1,000 since 1977. Just think, out of all the florists in America handling FTD floral services, one of our local florists is among the top 500. The awarding FTD official commented that what made the honor unique was that it went to a florist located in a relatively small population area and that it is the only one in the top 500 in this area.

Faye's Flowers was opened in 1937 — 45 years ago. Kelly Draper bought the florist-gift shop from his parents last year and is continuing and improving on its tradition.

C.L.E.A.N. stands for City Litter Eliminators Are Near.

You are going to be hearing a lot about this in the days ahead as the Youth Corps, officially tabbed C.L.E.A.N., gets kicked off. This will be a business made up of young people, aged 16-18, supervised by adults available with equipment to clean up our city this summer. The students will earn a wage, learn how to work and increase their civic pride by participating in this endeavor. Watch for information on how to contact CLEAN to come to your home or business and give you a bid to clean and/or maintain your property through the summer.

This is the brainchild of local businessman Johnny Rutherford, owner of Dolphin Pools. It will solve two community problems with one solution: clean-up of the community and jobs for young people.

The Business and Professional Women (B&PW) are hosting the annual Public Library Tea and Open House in conjunction with the Friends of the Library book sale Saturday. All this coincides with National Library Week April 9-14.

Essie Persons is convention chairperson of the 34th annual District Convention for the Stokes-Parker Texas Association of Women's Clubs. It will be held in Big Spring Friday and Saturday at Homestead Inn.

C-City adopts budget; taxes up, pay raised

COLORADO CITY — City Council members approved a $1.2 million budget last night, and three council members elected Saturday were sworn in.

The $1,217,350 budget is up from $1,183,606 last year and includes employee raises of 5-10 percent. Department heads will receive 5 percent raises, and other city employees will receive 8-10 percent increases.

The budget additions will call for a 3 percent tax hike and an increase in the cost of city services.

Monthly water fees will go from $8.50 to $8.75, sewer charges will increase from $6.50 to $6.75, and garbage collection rates will be up from $6 to $7.50.

Incumbent councilmen Robert Hoback and Jesse Munoz, as well as newly elected council member Brenda Tarter, were sworn in.

Coahoma to bail out police fund

By JIM BROWN
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — Mayor Jim Rackley said last night the city will have to bail out its police fund, depleted last December when the Coahoma State Bank asked for payment on several municipal notes.

Rackley said money from other budget areas will have to be transferred to the police fund, which has only $365 remaining.

"The city's general fund and water fund are in excellent condition," Rackley said.

He said the water fund, which showed a $14,000 deficit in January, now counts a balance of $6,226.

The general fund showed a $21,041 balance on April 10, and the revenue sharing fund has a surplus of $10,463, he said.

"The city is in a financially sound position, and I don't foresee a return to deficit spending this year," Rackley said.

The council, which seated four newly elected members Monday night, went slowly through the agenda, paying bills and setting a new council procedure.

A special committee was formed to evaluate storage needs at City Hall and determine the cost for fireproof facilities for the city.

City Secretary Cindy Langston told the council current storage facilities are inadequate and that city records need to be stored in fireproof files.

NOTICE

I am Garner Thixton, a lifetime resident of Howard County and I am asking for your support to be your FULL TIME Commissioner of precinct 3. I am fully aware of the assets and problems of our community. The assets are too numerous to mention. The few problems we have can be solved if we can get county and city to cooperate on this issue in question.

One of these issues is rural fire protection and my plan will increase the average response time to a rural fire by at least 15 minutes for the first truck on the scene.

Another issue is something that all citizens of Howard County can use. We have a small lake on the south edge of town that with close cooperation between governing bodies, could provide our young people with a place to meet for recreation and give our senior citizens, whether handicapped or not, an accessible place for picnics or fishing by erecting a pier into the lake with lighted ramps and guard rails.

None of this can be accomplished without close cooperation between the county and city governments. I believe that with God's help I can get the two governing bodies to cooperate on these and other things for the benefit of the community.

When elected, the only thing I can promise you is to prosecute those who dump trash on our streets and roads when they can be identified, and most trash can be traced to the original owners.

Remember, Garner Thixton will be YOUR FULL TIME Commissioner. Thanks for your support.

Orioles finally find victory; Tigers keep record perfect

By The Associated Press
Now, the Baltimore Orioles can get on with the business of defending their World Series championship.

Notorious for their slow starts, the Orioles parlayed a pair of Cal Ripken home runs into a 6-3 victory Tuesday night over the Kansas City Royals, their first of 1984 following four losses.

"The first win is not as big a thing as everybody made of it," said Ripken, last year's Most Valuable Player in the American League.

"We know we have a good ballclub. It's not like this was a hump we had to get over."

In other AL games, Detroit tripped Texas 5-1, New York beat Minnesota 4-1, Chicago stopped Cleveland 7-3, Milwaukee hammered California 10-1, Seattle downed Boston 5-1 and Toronto blanked Oakland 3-0.

The Orioles, after being outscored 29-11 while losing three games in Minnesota during the weekend, went to work early against Kansas City's Paul Splittorff, 0-2.

Swinging bunt singles by Dan Ford and Eddie Murray, sandwiched around a walk to Ripken, loaded the bases in the first inning for Gary Roenicke, who promptly delivered a two-run single.

A two-out error by Royals third baseman Greg Pryor on Ford's grounder preceded Ripken's three-run homer in the second.

"It was one of those games early on when you knew things weren't going our way," said Kansas City Manager Dick Howser.

Pat Sheridan rapped a two-run homer off Scott McGregor, 1-1, in the third and Don Slaught singled home a run in the fourth to pull Kansas City within 5-3.

Ripken's leadoff homer in the fifth, his third of the season, and 3 2-3 scoreless innings of relief by Storm Davis nailed down the victory.

American League

TIGERS 5, RANGERS 1

Detroit, the only unbeaten team left in the major leagues, wasted no time running its record to 6-0 — the Tigers' fastest start since they won six straight to open the 1911 season.

Lou Whitaker and Alan Trammell led off first inning with walks and Darrell Evans then thrilled the home-opening crowd of 51,238 with a three-run homer, his second of the season.

Dan Petry pitched a four-hitter in winning his second game of the season while Dave Stewart, 0-2, took the loss.

Mets believing they can win

By The Associated Press
National League teams don't have the New York Mets to kick around anymore.

Once the doormats of their division, the Mets are off to the best start in their 23-year history with a 5-1 record.

"We're doing what we believed we can do," New York outfielder Darryl Strawberry said Tuesday night after the Mets gained their fifth straight victory with a 4-2 decision over the Atlanta Braves.

National League

"When we lost the first game, everybody said we'd be the same old ballclub," Strawberry said after his third home run of the season helped the Mets stretch their winning streak. "But we're not the same team. It's a long season and I can't predict what will happen, but this team believes it can win... and I believe."

In other NL action, it was Philadelphia 3, Houston 1; Cincinnati 8, Montreal 6; San Diego 7, St. Louis 3, and San Francisco 4, Pittsburgh 3.

Home runs by Strawberry in the second inning and Hubie Brooks in the fifth gave the Mets a 2-0 lead. Atlanta got its first run in the bottom of the fifth on consecutive singles by Bob Horner, Chris Chambliss and Glenn Hubbard against Ron Darling, then tied it the next inning on Claudell Washington's homer.

Watson confident for Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Tom Watson isn't forecasting victory, but he is approaching the 48th Masters golf tournament with confidence.

"I think I have a chance to do well here," Watson said Tuesday. "I think I have a chance to win."

"It's a little bit different feeling than I had a month and a half ago."

Watson will be seeking his third Masters title when an international field of 88, including 11 amateurs, begins play Thursday on the 6,905-yard, par 72 Augusta National Golf Club course in the season's first major championship.

Watson's confidence, to some degree, could stem from there being no clear-cut favorite this year and because he believes a persistent slump that has lasted for 18 months is about to end.

"The last three weeks I've played, I've had stretches of good golf," he said. "I'm playing well. I played well today. I think I'm coming out of my slump."

Watson hasn't won a medal play event in the United States since he captured the 1962 U.S. Open. He has claimed the last two British Open titles and this season's opening event, a match play tournament at Tucson, Ariz., since realizing his burning desire to win a U.S. Open.

Seve Ballesteros, the dashing Spaniard, returns in quest of his third Masters title as the defending champion and Jack Nicklaus, regarded as one of the top players in golf history, will be trying to end a victory drought that has lasted since the 1962 Colonial National Invitation.

"My confidence is growing every day," Ballesteros said. "I am beginning to play very well."

"I wouldn't be playing here if I didn't think I could win," Nicklaus, the only five-time Masters champion, said.

Steady rain early in the week could put an even greater premium on the long hitters, helping such players as Raymond Floyd, Hal Sutton, Australian Greg Norman, Andy Bean and Craig Stadler.

Floyd won this event in 1976 with a record-tying 271, taking advantage of the long par 5's. Stadler won the 1982 Masters and Bean is coming into the tournament full of confidence after winning the Greater Greensboro Open last Sunday.

Two-time U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin has had six top ten finishes in his Masters career.

The field also includes Fred Couples, who used his $144,000 victory in the Tournament Players Championship two weeks ago to move into the No. 1 spot on the money list with $237,523.

Johnny Miller, a three-time Masters runnerup, arrived Tuesday for a practice round, less than a week after suffering bruises and lacerations when his Jeep overturned in an accident in Utah last Wednesday.

WARM UP FOR MASTERS? — Tom Watson, left checks the course as J.C. Snead blows on his hands to warm them during a Tuesday practice session at the Augusta National Golf Club in Augusta, Ga. Cool windy weather hit the area as practice rounds continued with first round play of the 84 Masters scheduled.

Tom Kite and Ben Crenshaw historically play well at Augusta, and could move into a contending position, and Gary Koch is this season's only two-time winner with victories at San Diego and Bay Hill.

Lee Trevino, who for years claimed the Augusta National course wasn't suited to his game, is back for his 13th Masters, having finished second in the TPC two weeks ago.

Two longtime favorites, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, will compete, but another, Sam Snead, announced his retirement from Masters competition last year and will serve as an honorary starter.

Pearson plans on 1984 season

Campaign will be dedicated to brother

DALLAS (AP) — He was 20 pounds underweight and looked gaunt. He was winded by a mere two block walk.

Drew Pearson, the greatest receiver in Dallas Cowboy history, was back Tuesday from his tragic ordeal, but he was far from being healed physically or mentally.

"In two or three months I should be fully healed, but there is no time limit on how I overcome my mental anguish," said Pearson.

Doctors gave Pearson, an 11-year veteran, the OK to play in 1984 and he announced he will give it his best shot.

Pearson suffered liver damage March 22 in an automobile accident that killed his brother, Carey. Drew was released from a hospital late last week.

"I have lacerations to my liver but the doctors said it should be fully healed in two or three months. The liver is an amazing organ that has the ability regenerate," Pearson said. "My doctor said I'm capable of playing football."

Pearson, tired from a long trip to Oklahoma by the Dallas Basketball Hoopster team, fell asleep at the wheel of a car that slammed into the back of a tractor-trailer rig late at night.

"I remember getting on the freeway but I don't remember much until the impact of the crash," Pearson said.

Pearson said he would dedicate the season to his brother.

"I have a personal commitment to carry on for my brothers' (Carey) name," he said. "I believe I can overcome the physical problems by late September. I have to work things out contractually with the club."

Pearson is in the option year of his contract.

He said he was so thin right now "that I'd hate to have to get onto a pair of scales. I've got a birdcage chest to go with my bird legs."

Pearson said he was still going through mental anguish.

"I had tough nights in intensive care and couldn't sleep," Pearson said. "When I did sleep I had nightmares. I've been going through a lot."

"My faith in God and my mother's strength and her faith in God have pulled me through. I survived the wreck for a purpose. It was God's will."

Pearson said he had other injuries which includes cuts and bruises "I wouldn't even report to the trainer if it happened during the season."

Pearson said he talked to Coach Tom Landry and told him he wanted to come back.

"I feel I have an obligation to play," Pearson said. "If I have to retire it would leave a void in my life. When you are 33 you need reasons to take those licks. This (the accident) gives me new meaning."

Pearson has a long way to go before Dallas' first game Sept. 4 against Los Angeles.

"We have a tough schedule and I might not make it by the opener," Pearson said. "Right now I've got to get my rest and heal. It will take several months before I can start running and lift weights."

"I know myself. I have a body that heals fast."

Nets not in awe of playoffs

By The Associated Press
The New Jersey Nets have little fear of their likely first-round opponent in the National Basketball Association playoffs, although it happens to be the defending champion Philadelphia 76ers.

The Nets defeated the 76ers 106-102 Tuesday night to even the regular-season series between the two teams, but Albert King, who scored 10 of his 19 points in the fourth quarter, said, "Once the playoffs start you can throw all that out the window. Still, finishing with a 3-3 record against them gives us confidence."

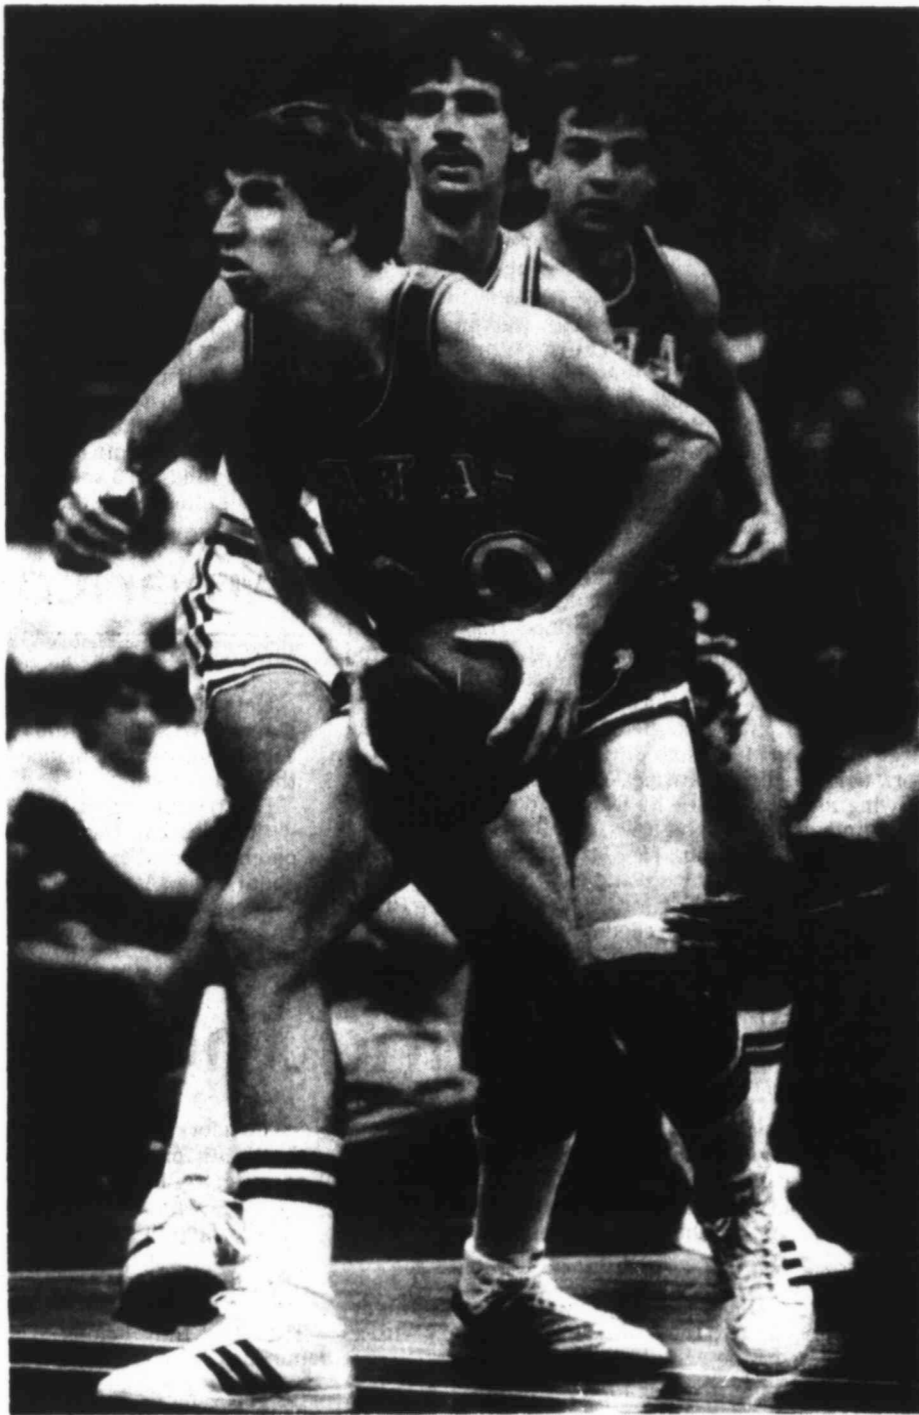

Micheal Ray Richardson, who had a brilliant all-around game with 13 points, 14 assists and eight steals, said Tuesday's triumph meant a lot to the Nets.

"It will have an affect on (the 76ers) them because in the back of their minds they know we beat them three times," Richardson said. "It was a great win psychologically. It's always great to win, especially if you have to play that team in the playoffs."

The Nets will open the playoffs next Tuesday against Philadelphia unless they catch the New York Knicks or the second-place finisher in the Central Division, Milwaukee or Detroit. New Jersey currently trails the Knicks by two games and the Pistons and Bucks by three.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Seattle 125, Kansas City 113; Detroit 100, Indiana 98; Boston 96, Milwaukee 95; San Antonio 121, Houston 111; Phoenix 100, Portland 88; Utah 135; Denver 120; Dallas 116, San Diego 114 and Golden State 117. Los Angeles 115. The Suns clinched a Western Conference playoff berth.

Otis Birdsong joined King with 19 points as the Nets posted the 18th victory in their last 24 games to overshadow the performance of Philadelphia center Moses Malone,

GOING IN CIRCLES — Dallas McDowell during first quarter action Mavericks' Bill Garnett works his way Tuesday night in San Diego, around San Diego Clippers' Hank who equalled his season high with 38 points and grabbed 16 rebounds.

"We've beaten everyone in the league. It doesn't matter who we play. They (the 76ers) realize we're capable of beating them," said Nets forward Buck Williams, who had 13 points and 12 rebounds and blocked a potential tying shot by Andrew Toney with five seconds left.

The Nets saw a five-point lead disappear early in the fourth quarter as Malone led a 76ers comeback with 14 points in the final period.

Philadelphia took a 96-95 lead with 2:55 to play when Toney sank a technical foul shot and made one of two free throws. Toney finished with 24 points as the 76ers played without starters Julius Erving and Maurice Cheeks.

Erving had a chest cold, while Cheeks a sore right knee.

Williams and King hit consecutive baskets after Toney put Philadelphia ahead as New Jersey regained the lead and hit it.

HIT BY PITCH — Houston Astros Dickie Thon, an All-Star shortstop, rolls on the ground in pain after being hit in the head by New York Mets pitcher Mike Torrez during the third inning Sunday night in the Astrodome.

Thon afraid of not playing again after being hit by pitch to head

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros shortstop Dickie Thon says he saw an entire spring training of work — and possibly his career — flash before him when he was struck in the head by a pitch from New York Mets pitcher Mike Torrez.

"I was afraid I wouldn't play again," Thon told Dale Robertson of the Houston Post. "That's all I could think about. I thought I was hurt bad."

Thon was scheduled to undergo minor surgery today to "facilitate his recovery."

Doctors earlier had said surgery would not be necessary after tests showed Thon suffered a broken bone above his left eye in Sunday's game against the Mets.

"I hope the good Lord will help me recover quickly," Thon to the Post Tuesday. "It's tough to work hard in spring training to get ready, then have something like this happen. But I'll be back."

Thon said he recalled that prior to the pitch "I wanted him to pitch me inside, but not that inside. The ball sailed in on me. When I saw I was going to be hit, it was too late to get out of the way."

Torrez telephoned the Astros shortstop Tuesday, Thon said.

"He told me he was real sorry," Thon said. "I believe him. It's one of those things. It's part of the game."

The Astros placed their 1983 All-Star infielder on the team's 15-day disabled list on Monday but team physician Dr. Bill Bryan said Thon could be sidelined for three weeks.

Tests conducted by Dr. Richard Harper on Monday revealed no brain damage from the blow to Thon's head but Bryan said he was concerned about decreased vision in Thon's left eye resulting from tissue swelling in the back of the eye.

Craig Reynolds replaced Thon in the starting lineup for a two-game road trip to Philadelphia.

Islanders take series in OT

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — It was just the first step along the road to history. It came oh so close to being the last.

The New York Islanders just might be destiny's darlings. That's what the New York Rangers and a lot of other people were thinking Tuesday night after the four-time National Hockey League champions kept their dynasty alive — barely — with a 3-2 overtime victory over the spunky Rangers.

Still, as they always seem to, the Islanders found a way to win, on Ken Morrow's slapshot through goalie Glen Hanlon's legs at 8:56 of overtime. It was the fifth straight OT triumph for the Islanders against the Rangers, whom they've knocked out of the playoffs four consecutive years.

In the other Stanley Cup series which went a full five games, Minnesota beat Chicago 4-1.

In the division finals which start Thursday, the Islanders host Washington, St. Louis is at Minnesota, Calgary visits Edmonton and Montreal invades Quebec.

"This must mean it's meant to be," whispered a teary-eyed Don Maloney, whose goal with 39 seconds left in regulation time had forced the extra session. "But they got the last bounce and that's what people are going to remember. It's really frustrating, tough to swallow."

"Last year, they were so much better than us, but this year I think we outplayed them."

"It doesn't matter if they outplayed us by 10-1," noted Islanders goalie Billy Smith, who has backstopped the team to all four championships. If the Islanders win the fifth, they will equal the record of the 1956-60 Montreal Canadiens. "We're the ones going on."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have the chance to get everything about you in good working shape and condition. But then some upsets you had not expected require a change in your plans.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Persevere at the work ahead of you and don't permit some outside matter or person to take you away from it.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make that appointment early for some entertainment that is appealing, but later you may find it is too costly so make different plans.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be sensible in handling home affairs and plan to do work later, if there is a complaint. You have to show more devotion for kin.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Get busy at communications early since later something crops up that has to be handled quickly. Take care of errands.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Financial matters should come first today. Later be more careful not to over-spend where pleasure is concerned.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are anxious to gain your own aims, but don't neglect matters at home. Make your life more as you want it to be.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get routine work done and look to a good friend for any financial assistance you may need. Take no risks while driving.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Go after personal aims, but if some important financial affair comes up, be sure to handle it well. Enjoy the company of an old friend.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study new interests, and don't let a complaining person bother you. Your intuition is quite good today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can speed up plans for that trip you want to take, even though a friend interferes with some job. Be very social tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Talk your affairs over with those who are practical. Later be with your mate and have more happiness together.

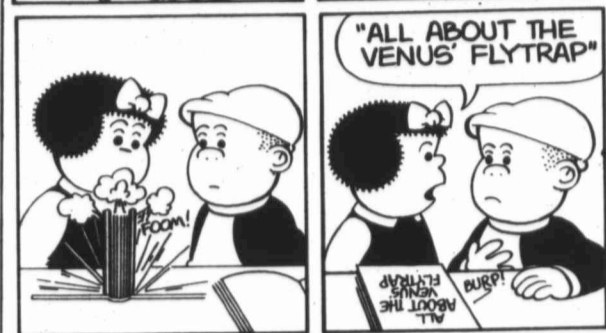

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Long talks with partners can clarify the picture. Handle a wordy matter later in the day. Be alert to what is happening around you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can make excellent blueprints, brochures, etc. that require neat touch, fine finish and artistic detail. Give a well-rounded education that will be broader in scope and then there can be a very successful life here.

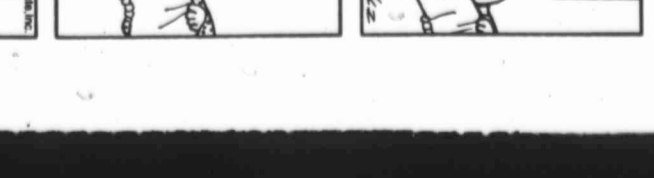

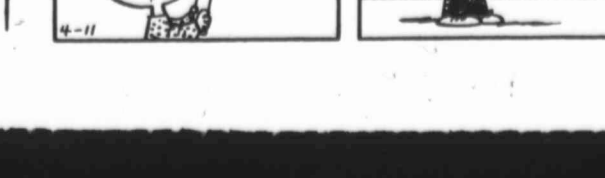

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Fresh strawberries can be prepared several ways

It's fabulous fresh strawberry time! Red, ripe and luscious, America's favorite fruit is back in abundance to be enjoyed in countless ways.

For an easy treat serve the juicy berries sliced, topped with a dollop of whipped topping with real cream. Or make a quick shortcake with fresh baked refrigerated biscuits. Tuck strawberries, nestled in whipped topping between warm biscuit halves, then heap another layer of berries and whipped topping atop each serving.

When the occasion calls for something more traditional, serve Strawberry Pie. It's a classic and showy pie made easily with a baked 9-inch crust filled with layers of strawberries topped with a sweetened glaze and decorated with a cloud of whipped topping.

Plump juicy strawberries, in season from mid-April through the early months of summer, also make a wonderful low calorie dessert. One cup fresh strawberries has only 55 calories.

If you have recipes to share, or are looking for some, let us know by writing to Herald Recipe Exchange, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring Texas 79720.

FROZEN PUDDING TREATS

- 1 3 3/4-ounce package vanilla instant pudding and pie filling mix
- 1 8-ounce container (3 cups) whipped topping with real cream, thawed
- 1 pint strawberries, mashed
- 1 cup mashed banana

Prepare mix as directed on package for pie filling, except using one cup of milk; fold in whipped topping and fruit. Spoon into fifteen five-ounce paper drinking cups; insert wooden sticks. Freeze until firm. Remove from freezer; peel off cups. Makes 15 servings.

For a variation, substitute 4 1/2-ounce package chocolate instant pudding and pie filling for vanilla pudding mix.

STRAWBERRY PIE

- 2 pints strawberries
 - 3 Tbsps. cornstarch
 - 1 cup sugar
 - Pastry for 1-crust 9-inch pie, baked
 - 2 cups thawed whipped topping with real cream
- Mash one pint strawberries. Combine cornstarch and sugar in saucepan; gradually add mashed strawberries. Cook stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened. Cool. Place remaining strawberries in crust; cover with strawberry mixture. Chill until set. Top with whipped topping. Makes six to eight servings.

STRAWBERRY BELGIAN WAFFLES

- 4 frozen waffles
 - 1 pint strawberries, hulled and halved
 - 2 Tbsps. confectioners sugar
 - 2 Tbsps. orange juice (optional)
 - 1/2 tsp. grated orange rind (optional)
 - 1 cup thawed non-dairy whipped topping
- Toast waffles as directed on package and place on dessert dishes. Combine strawberries, sugar, orange juice and rind. Stir until sugar dissolves. Spoon onto waffles and top with whipped topping. Makes four servings.

STRAWBERRY SQUARES

- 1 1/2 cups vanilla wafers crumbs
 - 1/2 cup margarine, melted
 - 1 3-ounce pkg. strawberry-flavored gelatin
 - 1 1/2 cups boiling water
 - 2 cups strawberry slices
 - 2 cups miniature marshmallows
 - 1 container (3 cups) whipped topping with real cream, thawed
- Combine crumbs and margarine; press onto bottom of 9-inch square pan. Chill. Dissolve gelatin in water; chill until thickened but not set. Fold in strawberries, marshmallows and one cup of whipped topping. Pour over crust, chill until firm. Top with remaining whipped topping before serving. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

STRAWBERRY PARTY CAKE

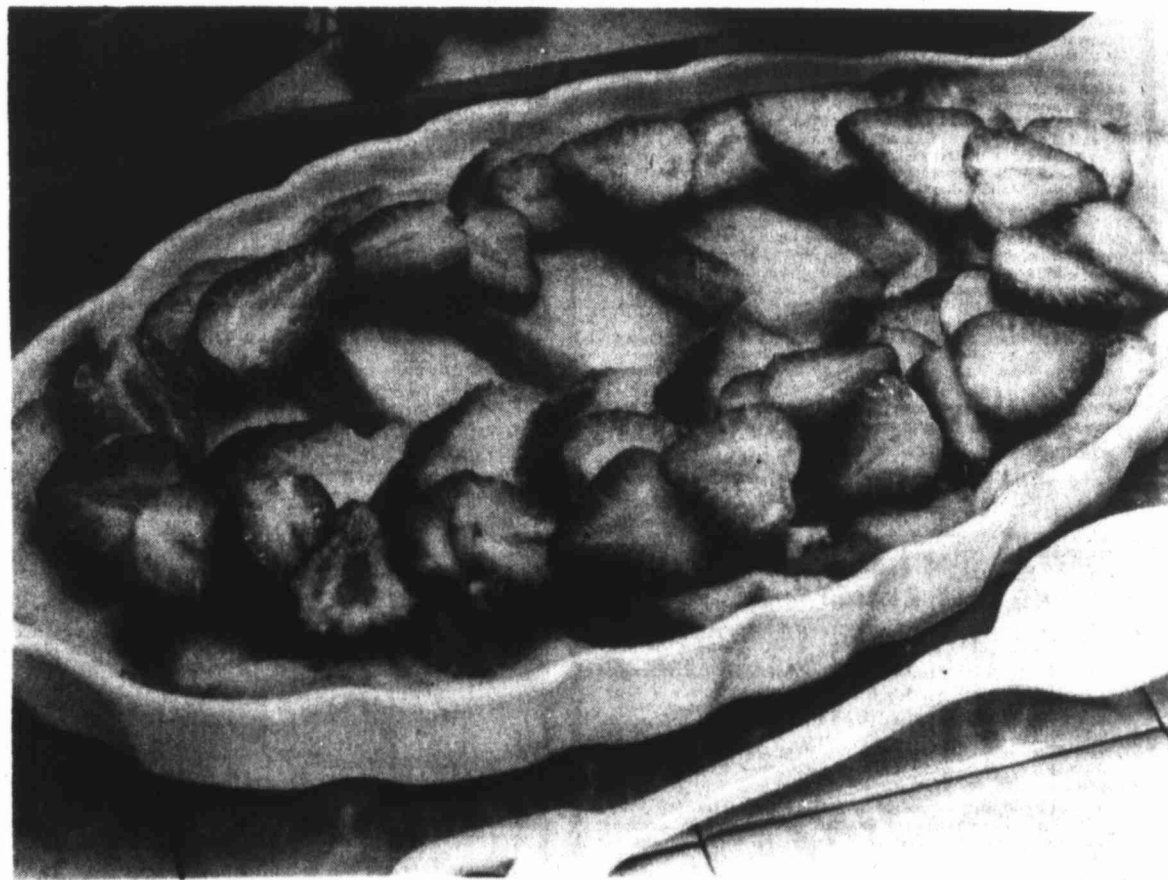

- 1 frozen pound cake, thawed
 - 1 pint strawberries, hulled
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 package (8 ounce) cream cheese, softened
 - 1 1/2 cups thawed non-dairy whipped topping
- Cut pound cake horizontally into three layers. Crush 1 1/2 cups of the strawberries, reserving remaining berries for garnish. Add sugar to cream cheese, beating until smooth. Fold in whipped topping, then fold in crushed berries. Fill and frost cake with cream cheese mixture. Garnish with reserved berries and chill.

STRAWBERRY ANGEL CAKE

- 1 3-ounce package strawberry-flavored gelatin
 - 1 cup boiling water
 - 1/2 cup cold water
 - 1 pint strawberries, sliced
 - 1 container (3 cups) whipped topping with real cream, thawed
 - 1 8-inch tube angel food cake
- Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, add cold water. Chill until thickened but not set; fold in strawberries and one cup whipped topping. Split cake into three layers. Spread two layers with gelatin mixture; stack. Top with remaining layer. Frost with remaining whipped topping. Makes eight to ten servings.

LUSCIOUS BAVARIAN DESSERT

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1 cup milk
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1/4 cup sugar

STRAWBERRIES — Fresh strawberries, now in season, can be prepared several ways including the recipe for Strawberry Rum Bread Pudding.

2 cups thawed whipped topping with real cream

- 1 pint strawberries, sliced
- Softened gelatin in water; stir over low heat until dissolved. Stir in milk, beaten egg yolks and two tablespoons sugar. Cook, stirring constantly, over low heat until thickened. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add remaining sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold egg white and whipped topping into gelatin mixture. Pour into lightly oiled one-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serve with strawberries. Makes four to six servings.

STRAWBERRY PARFAIT

- 1 3-ounce strawberry-flavored gelatin
 - 1 cup boiling water
 - 1 cup cold water
 - 1/2 cup strawberry slices
 - 1/2 cup peach slices
 - Whipped topping with real cream, thawed
- Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add cold water. Chill until thickened but not set; fold in fruit. Layer gelatin mixture and whipped topping in individual parfait glasses or dessert dishes; repeat layers. Makes six to eight servings.

STRAWBERRY MAPLE BUTTER

- 1 pint strawberries
- 3 cups peeled, cored, sliced tart apples
- 1/4 cup maple syrup
- 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1/4 to 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon, if desired

FRESH STRAWBERRY DESSERT

- 1 cup graham cracker crumbs
 - 1/4 cup margarine, melted
 - 4 egg whites
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1 1/2 cups mashed strawberries
 - 1 Tbsp. sugar
 - 1 1/2 cups whipped topping with real cream
- Combine crumbs and margarine; press onto bottom of 8-inch square pan. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Spread over crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 17 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool. Combine strawberries and sugar; let stand 15 minutes. Spread half the strawberry mixture over meringue. Top with whipped topping. Spoon remaining strawberry mixture evenly over whipped topping. Chill. Makes nine servings.

Hull and slice strawberries. In a non-corrosive medium saucepan bring strawberries, apples and maple syrup to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, stirring often, until very soft, about 15 minutes.

In an electric blender whirl half the mixture at a time until pureed; return puree to saucepan. Stir in brown sugar and, if used, the cinnamon. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, stirring often until thickened, about 20 minutes. Immediately pour into hot 1/2-pint canning jars, leaving 1/4-inch head space. Seal according to jar manufacturer's directions. Place jars on a rack in a large saucepot of boiling water. Water should cover jars by one or two inches. Cover saucepot; bring water to boil; boil for 10 minutes. Remove jars to a towel to cool. Store in a cool dry place.

If you do not wish to process the jars, pour mixture into hot jars; cover and refrigerate up to four weeks. Makes two 1/2-pint jars.

CREAMY STRAWBERRY SANDWICH BARS

- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
 - 2 cups thawed whipped topping with real cream
 - 7 graham crackers, quartered
 - 1/2 cup strawberry preserves
- Combine cream cheese and 1/2 cup whipped topping, mixing with electric mixer until well blended. Fold in remaining whipped topping. Layer half of crackers and whipped topping mixture in 10 by 6-inch baking dish. Top with preserves, remaining topping mixture and crackers; freeze until firm. Cut into bars. Makes 14 servings.

FRESH STRAWBERRY SPUMONE

- 2 pints strawberries
- 3/4 cup sugar, divided
- 1/2 cup water
- 3 egg yolks
- 1 1/2 cups heavy cream, whipped
- 2 Tbsps. fresh lemon juice
- 1 tsp. rum extract, divided

Hull and slice strawberries (makes four cups). Place two cups in the container of an electric blender. Blend until smooth (makes 1 1/2 cups); set aside. In a small saucepan combine 1/2 cup of the sugar and water. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer covered for five minutes.

In a medium bowl beat egg yolks with an electric mixer at high speed for two minutes. Add the boiling syrup very slowly, beating constantly. Place egg mixture in the top of a double boiler over two inches of simmering water. Cook and stir until thickened, about 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Place top of double boiler in a pan or bowl of ice water. Beat with a wire whisk, hand mixer or portable electric mixer, until mixture thickens, about 15 minutes.

Fold in cream, lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon of the rum extract and reserved pureed strawberries. (Spumone can be served chilled from a bowl, not frozen in a mold.) Pour into a six-cup mold and cover with plastic wrap. Freeze until firm. Serve with Strawberry Sauce. Makes eight portions.

To make Strawberry Sauce mix remaining strawberries, 1/4 cup sugar and 1/2 teaspoon of rum extract. Place one cup of the strawberries in the container of an electric blender; cover and whirl until pureed. Mix with remaining sliced strawberries. To serve, dip mold into hot water; place on a serving on a platter.

STRAWBERRY RUM BREAD PUDDING

- 1 pint strawberries
- Sugar
- 6 eggs, beaten
- 1 quart milk
- 2 Tbsps. rum
- 1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 1 1/2 tsp. salt

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease a 2 1/2-quart shallow casserole; set aside. Hull and slice strawberries (makes two cups). Mix 1/2 cup of the strawberries with one tablespoon sugar; set aside. In a medium bowl combine eggs, milk, 3/4 cup sugar, rum, nutmeg and salt. Arrange half of the bread slices over the bottom of prepared pan.

Pour half of the milk mixture on top. Arrange unsugared sliced strawberries over bread. Top with remaining bread slices. Pour remaining milk mixture on top; set aside until bread has softened, about 10 minutes.

Place casserole in a roasting pan in the center of the oven. Fill roasting pan with boiling water to within 1/2-inch of the top of casserole. Bake until a knife inserted into center comes out clean, about 1 1/2 hours. Carefully remove from water bath. Serve warm topped with reserved sugared strawberries and garnish with whipped cream, if desired. Makes four to six portions.

SMOKY SALMON SPREAD

- 1 can (7 1/2 oz.) Honey Boy Salmon
- 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
- 3 drops liquid smoke flavoring
- 3 tablespoons sliced green onion
- Crackers or split, toasted, buttered bagels

Drain salmon, reserving 2 teaspoons salmon liquid; flake. Combine cream cheese, liquid smoke flavoring and salmon liquid; blend thoroughly. Stir in green onion, then fold in salmon. Refrigerate at least 2 hours or overnight to blend flavors. Serve as a spread with crackers or bagels. Makes about 1 1/2 cups spread.

Note: Recipe may be doubled using 2 cans (7 1/2 oz. each) salmon or 1 can (15 1/2 oz.) salmon. If desired, chill 2 to 3 hours or until firm. Shape into a ball and roll in 1/4 cup chopped parsley.

Beil nominated for Rotary post

Charles Beil has been nominated as a District Governor for Rotary International and anticipates being elected to the position at the Rotary International Convention in Birmingham, England, in June.

CHARLES BEIL

Beil is the president of First Federal Savings & Loan and recently completed a term on the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees. He served on the board as president.

Each Rotary club within a district is encouraged to nominate someone for the district governor's position, Beil said. A committee of past District Governors evaluates the nominees and selects one to attend the international convention. Nominations are confirmed at the convention.

Once the nomination is confirmed Beil will begin a year-long term scheduled from July 1984 to July 1985. He is scheduled to attend an eight-day training session in Boca Raton, Fla., beginning May 22 before proceeding to the Rotary International Convention in England.

Beil will serve as district governor to 49 Rotary clubs in an area ranging from Sweetwater on the east to Pecos on the west and north to the Oklahoma line. More than 2,800 Rotarians are included in the district.

Beil said someone from this 49-club area is chosen each year to serve as district governor. District governors are automatically officers for Rotary International, which encompasses 157 countries, 20,000 clubs and almost one million members.

Beil said as district governor he will receive training, correspondence and dictates from Rotary offices in Evanston, Ill., and Geneva, Switzerland. He will be in charge of directing advice and assistance to all clubs in his district.

He will also be required to visit all 49 clubs within his district during a period between mid-July and mid-October.

Beil said he will preside at a district convention in May of 1985, scheduled at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. Between 400 and 500 delegates are expected to attend the event.

Beil is a member of the Big Spring Rotary Club, which was established in Big Spring on Feb. 23, 1928. Big Spring also is home to the Greater Big Spring Rotary Club.

Bruce Webb sings in European concert tour

Bruce Webb of Big Spring is one of 51 members of the Southwest Texas State University Chorale who is singing in the group's European concert tour presently. The group will be in Europe from April 1-16.

Webb sings second tenor and is a soloist in the University Chorale. A graduate of Big Spring High School, he is a National Association of Teachers of Singing finalist and an honors student at SWTSU. He also has been named to the all-state choir of the Texas Music Educators Association. The University Chorale, the oldest and most prestigious choral ensemble on the campus, is touring England, France and West Germany. It is performing sacred works by William Walton, J.S. Bach, Johannes Brahms, Ralph V. Williams, Robert Page, Jan P. Sweelinck and Claude Debussy.

The chorale is conducted by Dr. Kenneth Fulton, associate professor and director of choral activities at SWTSU. Fulton holds a bachelor of music degree from North Texas State University in Denton and a master of music education and doctor of philosophy degrees from Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Following the tour, the Chorale will perform its entire tour concert program at 8:15 p.m. April 26 at Evans Auditorium on the SWTSU campus.

Pack 29 wins blue ribbon

Cub Scout Pack 29 of Elbow scored 96 1/2 points out of a possible 100 to win a blue ribbon at Scoutorama, March 24.

With the theme "Cub Scout Games," the pack's games included ring-toss, go-fishing, bowling, basketball and pocket games.

Den 1 members include Jason Sims, Mike Martin, Johnny Dalan, Jon Dobb, and leader Eve Martin. Webelos are Micah Epley, Curtis Foster, Kevan Sampson, Greg Morris, Cory Long, and leader Kathleen Epley. Janice Sampson is Cubmaster.

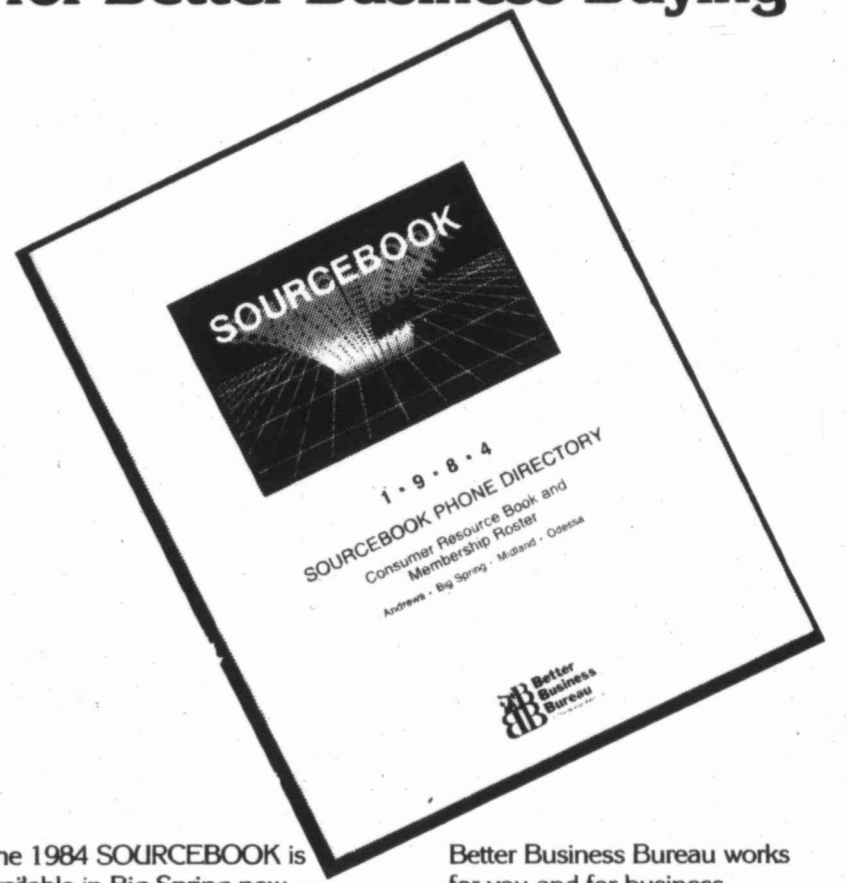

Curtis Foster won first at the pinewood derby race held March 29. Micah Epley was second, and Greg Morris was third.

"I take the same care with animals that Block takes with taxes."

"I know I'm in good hands when Block prepares my tax return. My preparer goes to school every year to get special training. And she does taxes hundreds of times. Training and experience — that's what makes you good at your job. I'll care for the animals and let Block take care of my taxes."

All-Weld Carports can be designed to fit any site and to accommodate any vehicle, including RV's.

Protect Your Vehicles With All Weld Carports

West Texas is hard on cars. The wind and hail and dust and sun can ruin your car's finish and lessen its value and attractiveness. For many West Texans carports are the answer.

Gary Gaulkner's All Weld Carports can custom build a carport to suit your property - and to accommodate your cars, trailers, trucks, recreation vehicles and boats.

The carports Gary builds are made entirely of pre-painted all-metal, available in various colors. The finish is guaranteed for 20 years.

Faulkner has about ten years experience at building carports, and former worked for years in the construction of metal buildings.

Your custom carport can be enclosed on one or more sides, or can be enclosed entirely to provide a garage at much less cost than conventional construction.

All Weld Carports provides free estimates and can suggest size and design for every situation. In most cases construction can begin immediately.

To get your carport underway before the summer sun begins to take its toll, call Gary at 267-5378.

Southwest Computer Offers Many Services

Call Southwest Computer Service and let them update your business office operation.

They have served Big Spring and surrounding areas since 1976, providing computer service for accounts receivable, general ledger with financial reports and complete payroll systems.

Southwest provides computer programming and consultation, and they will program data on their computers or on a customer's computer.

The firm has word processing capabilities. In addition to computer service, they also offer datapoint computers for sale.

Southwest Computer Service is owned and operated by Wayne and Velda Bristow. They have recently moved into new offices in the State National Bank Building at 901 Main Street. For a no-obligation consultation to find out how computer service can help you, call them at 267-9427.
