Farm bill won't help W. Texas

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

The 1985 farm bill signed Wednesday by President Reagan is "far from perfect," U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, said Wednesday.

Area agricultural officials agreed, saying the new farm package won't affect local West Texas cotton farmers very much.

"It was not a farm bill that offered a great light of hope for the farmers, but it was the best we could do (because of the need to lower the federal budget and deficit)," Stenholm, who voted for the bill, said Wednesday. "By and large, it's really not going to affect Howard County cotton farmers this much," said Tim Hall, manager of the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (A.S.C.S.) office.

The bill is aimed primarily at correcting the "still tremendous" national surplus of wheat, Stenholm said. Howard County, whose primary crop is cotton, had about 40 farmers who grew some wheat last year, Hall said.

For cotton farmers, the bill offers little new. The law freezes the 1985 target price for cotton at 81 cents, the 1984 level; the target price was scheduled to increase to 86 cents.

The legislation sets "trigger levels" for surpluses of corn, cotton and rice, a measure Stenholm said he would like to see become a permanent part of all farm programs.

Under the trigger program, cotton farmers would receive an additional land diversion payment if the national cotton inventory falls below 3.7 million bales, and they make an additional decrease in acreage at that time, Hall said.

"When the set-asides are larger, it will have a reduction effect on the surpluses," Stenholm said.

The U.S. Secretary of Agriculture would not be required to make diversion payments if the inventory

Democracy's banner unfurls in South American countries

EDITOR'S NOTE — One by one in the 1960s and 1970s, South American governments fell under military control. Now the soldiers are in retreat. The following report on Latin America's changing political face is based on a tour of regional capitals.

By CHARLES J. HANLEY
Associated Press Writer

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Democracy has a new Latin beat, one echoing up and down a continent.

You can hear it in the clangor of pots and pans in Chile, in the samba drums of young Brazilian marchers, in the chants of election crowds in Argentina and demonstrators in Uruguay.

Across South America, the military lockstep is breaking down.

Where only two elected civilian governments existed five years ago, a half-dozen now debate and decide their nations' future in the open light of parliaments and the press. And pressure is mounting on four remaining military governments to hasten their withdrawal to the barracks.

"Civilianization" is contagious. Last October's elections in Argentina inspired democrats in nearby Uruguay and Chile. And those movements now encourage others, even raising faint hopes in Paraguay, ironclad domain of strongman Gen. Alfredo Stroessner.

"We have to unite all the opposition around a single, peaceful action plan, just as the Chileans are doing now," Paraguayan opposition leader Juan Manuel Benitez Florentin told a reporter visiting Asuncion.

South America's new democracies may operate in the shadow of a military that reserves a "right" to intervene again. But South American politicians, academics and others say growing public awareness, international condemnation of military repression, and the armed forces' own weariness of grappling with society's ills may slow the historic cycle of military coups.

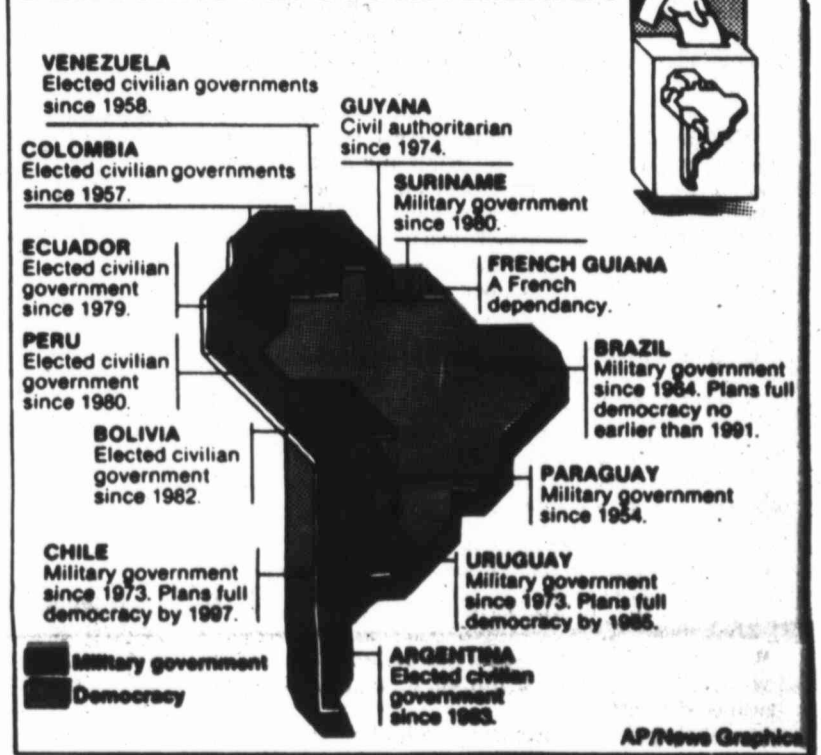

The most bitter showdown is here in Chile, the beautiful land of 11 million people strung slenderly along the continent's Pacific coast.

Democratic roots may run deepest here — Chileans claim a 130-year electoral tradition. But the military ruler — the glowering Gen. Augusto Pinochet — may also be the most immovable.

The Chile story shows the forces at work as South

HC salaries lower than study reported

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

The average salary for a nine-month academic contract at Howard College is about $23,426, not $26,354 as reported in a study by the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System in January.

The Herald ran a story in January which quoted the report. Two Howard College instructors, Gary Grant and Bill Sprinkle, said they went to Dr. Charles Hays, president of the Howard County Junior College District, to confirm salary averages and came up with the lower figure.

Grant and Sprinkle said they believe Howard College instructors rank fairly low in a statewide comparison of salaries on the junior college level. The January report said the average salary statewide for full-time faculty in general academic programs in community colleges is $26,870.

Hays said Wednesday the figure for Howard College given to the Coordinating Board was in error.

He said the error was made because "the report asked for general academic courses only. We have a number of people in both (general academic and vocational) areas. We have instructors who serve dual functions."

The report also was based solely on Howard College instructors and did not include instructors from the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, he said.

Several instructors who work on a 12-month contract were included in the original figure. The $23,426 figure was reached by going back and using only 9-month employees and their salaries, he said.

Hays said he believes many of the averages shown for 47 junior colleges may have been in error.

Also, the Midland College figures may also have been high, he said, because it listed the highest salary at $42,529.

"Midland College may have figured in a 12-month person or a coach," Hays said.

The salary figures sent to the Coordinating Board "are up to the perogative of the person filling out the report," Hays said.

The report also is affected "by how many people have Ph.D.s and experience," Hays said.

He said it would be more accurate to "compare salary schedule to salary schedule."

Each college follows a schedule established by its board. At Howard College, beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree and no experience start with a salary of $17,100 for a nine-month contract.

Mondale, Hart bring fight to Texas

HART IN HAPPIER DAYS — Gary Hart will be bringing his ailing campaign to Texas to try to derail

Walter Mondale's campaign which is picking up steam once again.

AUSTIN (AP) — Gary Hart says he's happy the fight for the Democratic presidential nomination is moving west to "our territory." But in Texas, Walter Mondale's state manager says his side is ready.

"I think we're going to do quite well," said Dwayne Holman, Mondale's Texas campaign manager. "I can't put a number on it, but it will be more than a majority."

Texas Democrats hold caucuses May 5 to allocate 169 of the state's 200 delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Holman said Mondale's big win over Hart and the Rev. Jesse Jackson in Pennsylvania on Tuesday means that "with a significant number of the delegates here, Texas could conceivably be the knockout blow to Hart."

Hart's Texas handlers hope a victory in the caucuses could revive his nomination hopes, although some voiced concern after Pennsylvania, the third big industrial state Hart lost to Mondale.

"It's a big loss, a bad loss," John Poulard, Hart's Southwest organizer, said of Pennsylvania. "We'll try to recoup in Arizona and Utah, but we won't come into Texas with the momentum we would like."

Hart's Texas chairman, Democratic Rep. Martin Frost of Dallas, says Hart will do well on May 5.

"Texas is not Pennsylvania. See Hart page 2-A

Fiberflex battle slated for 118th District Court

Fiberflex stockholders and directors will square off May 14 in 118th District Court for control of the Big Spring-based oilfield-related industry.

Retired 118th District Judge Ralph Caton, now of Waco, will hear the case, which originally entered court when minority stockholders sought to block an attempt by company management to expand the board of directors, changing the board's majority.

A hearing in the case was scheduled for Tuesday, but Caton granted a continuance on April 4 to company management.

The continuance was granted over the opposition of former O.I.L. chief executive officer Chris Christopher, who recently announced he has control of more than 50 percent of the company's stock.

However, Fiberflex President Tommy Rutledge denied Christopher's group has majority control. He says Christopher does not own the swing stock controlled by the company's patent attorney, Guy Matthews of Houston.

Matthews filed suit as an intervenor in the case, claiming Christopher used fraud and misrepresentation to gain control of his stock. Christopher claims he repurchased the stock at a foreclosure sale at a Hobbs, N.M., bank, where the stock was used to secure a loan. Christopher has asked the judge to sever the litigation over the Matthews stock from the original suit.

18 trained for hotline service

A total of 18 persons received their initial training last night at a meeting of the hotline committee of the Chemical People anti-drug abuse organization.

"It was a good response for this city," committee chairman Kay Hepner said this morning.

The volunteers were instructed by local psychologist Jake Glickman for the hotline, which is scheduled to begin operations in the first week of May, Mrs. Hepner said.

Volunteers will receive a total of eight hours training before they are permitted to take part in the hotline, she said.

According to Mrs. Hepner, the hotline will operate out of Malone-Hogan Hospital with two phones donated by Roundup Tank, Inc.

Persons interested in further training sessions are requested to attend the committee's next meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. next Wednesday at the Canterbury Retirement Home, she said.

Animal wardens search for dog

Big Spring animal wardens are still searching for a large brown and black dog that bit a child on the cheek Sunday at about 6:30 p.m. in the 4200 block of Owens.

The child's mother, Barbara Figueroa, said yesterday the dog is about 3 1/2 feet tall with short to medium length hair. The dog is mostly brown with black markings around its muzzle, she said.

The child will have to begin a series of rabies shots next week if the dog is not found, she said.

Persons with information about the dog should call Police at 263-8311.

RUNNING AGAIN — Hugh Wilson, 70, looks at a newspaper in the library of the state Capitol in Austin. Wilson can't recall just how many political races he's run and lost, but after 40 years of trying, he's at it again.

Running as an independent, Wilson recently announced he wants to be the next U.S. senator from Texas.

Beaumont man is the perennial also ran

AUSTIN (AP) — In 1944, a Camp Swift drill sergeant, Hugh Wilson, plunked down an $11 filing fee and entered the race for U.S. Congress.

Now, at 70, Wilson can't recall just how many political races he's run and lost. But after 40 years of trying, he's at it again.

Wilson recently announced he wants to be the next U.S. senator from Texas, replacing the retiring Sen. John Tower. Running as an independent, his platform contains just one plank — a guaranteed job for every American.

Does a quiet old man of little means stand a chance in the multimillion-dollar world of state politics?

"There's no use in guessing," Wilson said. "If I get on the ballot and the newspaper prints my platform and the voters accept it, that's all I need."

More than 100,000 voters chose Wilson in the 1972 and 1976 U.S. Senate races, but the tally fell far short of the number needed for election. His four decades of campaigning have left him "short on successes and long on frustrations."

Wilson's political philosophy grew out of his experience during the Depression.

He grew up in Beaumont where the economic crisis of the 1930s came down hard on his family. As a teen-ager, Wilson hitchhiked to College Station in search of work but found none. The pain and frustration of those years convinced Wilson of the need for a guaranteed job program.

When he saw no politician supporting the program, Wilson picked up the torch. He's run for everything from state representative to U.S. senator, all with the same goal in mind. For 36 years Hugh Wilson's was a common name on Beaumont-area ballots.

Hart

Gary Hart is right on the issues that matter to Texas. We're in as good a position in Texas as any state in the nation," Frost said.

The Texas delegate selection begins at more than 6,600 precinct conventions. Those attending the conventions must have voted in the Democratic primary for statewide and local offices earlier in the day.

In analyzing the Texas race, Mondale organizers say they have an advantage because Hart's campaign organized late. Hart chairmen in the 31 state Senate districts weren't named until March. Mondale workers have been busy for months.

Als, Mondale has the backing of many of the state's top

Democrats, including state party chairman Bob Slagle, House Majority Leader Jim Wright, long-time Democratic power Robert Strauss and former Democratic National Committee chairman John C. White.

The precinct convention system places a premium on organization, and Mondale also is counting on help from the Texas AFL-CIO, women, teachers and Mexican-American groups.

But while Mondale has the big names, Hart backers say having the rank-and-file Democrats in each precinct is what counts.

"We have the ground troops," said Frost, Hart's manager. "Mondale's campaign has some high-profile names at the top ... but these aren't the people who necessarily get down to the precincts. I don't know that Bob Strauss or Jim Wright even go to their precinct conventions."

They also say Hart has taken the right positions on issues important to Texas — particularly his opposition to the windfall profits tax on oil, a popular stance in oil-rich Texas.

"Mondale's backing of the windfall profits tax may have been the right position in Massachusetts, but not in Texas. He's trying to pit one region of the country against another," Frost said.

Al Edwards, Jackson's state chairman, said he hopes Hart and Mondale continue butting heads.

"As long as Mondale and Hart keep cutting each other up, we keep moving on up," Edwards said.

Farm

is more than that figure. Cotton farmers nationwide are expected to produce between 3.5 and 4 million bales this year, Hall said.

"It's not going to be that much money (involved in the triggered diversion payments)," Hall said. "Sometimes, participation (of Howard County farmers) in land diversion programs are less than 1 percent."

One provision that should aid area cotton farmers is the additional allocation of $2 billion in subsidized credits to help foreign countries buy American farm goods, officials said.

Almost $1 billion will be spent in 1984, and $1.1 billion in 1985, on agricultural export credits, Stenholm said.

"It should have a positive effect on cotton farmers," he said.

The agricultural export credits would "sure help because a lot of cotton from here is exported," Hall said.

One particular provision of the bill Stenholm said he favored would permit year-round grazing and production of hay by farmers and ranchers on land set aside to meet government acreage reduction programs.

The bill also would reopen sign-ups for federal acreage reduction programs on Monday through May 4, Stenholm said.

And it would provide an additional $250 million in Farmers Home Administration emergency funds for direct loans to farmers with financial problems, providing "salvation in the short-run," he said.

"You know the plight of the farmers. I don't have to tell anyone in Big Spring about their (economic) plight," Stenholm said.

Hall said the increase in FHMA loans would help, but most farmers in the area are not involved with FHMA. And the $250 million must be spread nationwide.

"It's not a cure-all, and it's not intended to be," he said.

The bill also provides a 15-year term for repayment of FHMA loans that have been reamortized, an increase of the current eight-year term, Stenholm said.

The new farm bill does not provide as much financial aid as in the past because congressmen were trying to reduce the budget. The bill should trim between $3.2 to $2.6 billion from the budget, Stenholm said, although some persons have estimated the savings to be as low as $1 billion.

"It's far from perfect," Stenholm said. "(The bill) represents compromises that had to be made. At the same time, it attempted to have a positive effect on the farmers."

Salary

Teachers with a doctorate and up to 22 years experience make $28,800 for a nine-month contract.

Additional money can be earned for added duties such as coaching, coordinating various productions, heading divisions, sponsoring campus projects, or supervising the dorms.

According to a separate survey tallied by the Texas Junior College Teachers Association, beginning instructors at Howard College rank about 26th out of 42 categories on a salary rating scale.

The beginning salary of $17,100 at Howard College compares to a high of $21,256 in the San Jacinto Junior College District and a low of $13,200 at Vernon Regional Junior College. The Texas Junior College Teachers Association report only goes as high as a doctorate with 10 years of experience. The scale showed Howard College ranking 34 out of 44 colleges surveyed in that category. HC instructors made $24,900 for nine months on the scale, compared to a high of $32,913 in the Dallas County Community College District and a low of $22,910 at Hill Junior College.

Academic and vocational instructors in the Howard County Junior College District will receive an average 8 percent raise as they begin the 1984-85 year, Hays said.

said one state education official. "If they could rest assured that this monkey-man would never be taught as fact, they would be happy, I guess."

Gene Karpinski of People for the American Way, a national anti-evolution group, said the Texas evolution rule has set back science education in the United States farther than any other single factor in the past decade. Steven Schafersman of the Hays said the raise was approved because the college board's philosophy is to "try to stay somewhere in the middle" of statewide averages.

"I told the board we had fallen behind in the last couple of years," Hays said. "We want to remain in the middle so we can keep good, competitive people."

Texas Council for Science Education said, "The post-Sputnik increase in quality of (U.S.) biology textbooks was halted and reversed in 1974."

Michael Hudson, Texas coordinator of American Way, announced this week that 26 organizations support repeal of the board policy on evolution. If the board fails to act, American Way will sue, he said.

Sheriff's Log

Man arrested for fondling

A 66-year-old Coahoma man remains in jail today in connection with charges of indecency with a child.

Fecundo Rodriguez was arrested Wednesday by Howard County sheriff's deputies on a county warrant for suspicion of two counts of indecency with a child. Bond has been set at $15,000 for each count, according to sheriff's records.

Rodriguez was arrested in connection with charges he fondled three Sand Springs children in the afternoons between Saturday and Monday.

The children, a 9-year-old girl and two brothers, aged 8 and 11, made statements to the sheriff's office, Sheriff A.N. Standard said.

Sheriff's deputies are looking for the owners of a stray horse, who has been missing for about three months. County residents report they finally started feeding the horse because he did not have food or water.

The horse is described as a brown gelding with a white star on its face and a black tail and mane. Anyone knowing the owner of the horse is asked to call the sheriff's office at 263-7654.

Three county jail inmates were transferred Wednesday to the Texas prison system at Huntsville. Transferred were Ray Galaviz, 20, of 503 Bell, who was sentenced to two seven-year concurrent sentences for robbery and revocation of probation; Antonio P. Flores, 22, an inmate of the Pack II unit of the prison in Navasota; and his older brother, Raul Flores, 27, sentenced to six years for aggravated assault.

Kenneth R. Hagins, 25, of 1110 Nolan was arrested today to serve one day of a two-day county court sentence for driving while license suspended.

Deputies Wednesday arrested Paul Allen O'Brien, 36, of 1406 Main on a writ of attachment; he was released from county jail later Wednesday on the authority of 118th District Court Judge Jim Gregg.

Police close mall during bomb scare

Police and officials of the Big Spring Mall closed the shopping center late yesterday afternoon after a telephone caller warned that a bomb had been placed in the Emphasis clothing store.

During a search of the store, which is located on the north side of the mall near the west entrance, police found "nothing suspicious," according to Lt. Jerry Edwards.

The store received the threat around 4:30 p.m. yesterday and then called police, Edwards said.

An employee of the store this morning declined to comment on the incident.

Mall secretary Betty Nelson said police "recommended (the closing) so they could search properly without people going in and out, and we went along with their recommendation."

For the record

An article in yesterday's Herald about the City Council's new garbage collection program erroneously stated the council tabled a decision to convert the city landfill to a "balefill," but authorized Crim Engineering to obtain a state permit for the operation.

According to Public Works Director Tom Decell, by approving the permitting process, the council approved the actual balefill.

The council still must go through the process of advertising for and awarding bids for the $650,000 baling operation.

Bardot photo creates flap

LONDON — A tabloid's use of a long-distance photograph of Brigitte Bardot, showing her topless beside her swimming pool, was denounced today by The Press Council.

The photo of the 49-year-old French film actress in the south of France appeared in the London Sun.

The council appointed by newspapers to monitor complaints from readers said papers should, in some circumstances, stop taking and publishing long-range pictures of unsuspecting subjects. The Bardot picture, it said, represented a "gross intrusion into her privacy."

But Kelvin MacKenzie, editor of the Sun, said Miss Bardot has had a lifelong love affair with cameras and the press and has rarely attempted to hide from public view.

Sun managing editor Kenneth Donlan said use of long-range lenses is widespread, and that they cannot be un-invented.

MILWAUKEE — After Vice President George Bush fell down across the foul line while bowling, he hastened to remind reporters that he still managed to knock down nine of the 10 pins.

Bush bowled four frames during a Republican rally at a bowling hall during a campaign visit Wednesday to Milwaukee, which bills itself as the nation's bowling capital.

But while rolling his first ball, he slipped and fell spread-eagle over the foul line as a phalanx of television cameras caught the action.

Bush picked himself up unassisted and admonished reporters to tell the full story — that only one pin was left standing.

Bergman gets news last

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Swedish director Ingmar Bergman says he is so immersed in a new play that he was among the last people to learn that his film "Fanny & Alexander" won four Academy Awards.

"Maybe you won't believe this, but I knew nothing, as I had my phone unplugged," Bergman, 65, is quoted as telling the Swedish newspaper Svenska Dagbladet.

The awards were announced in Hollywood on Monday night, and Bergman said he didn't get the news until he arrived at a theater in Munich on Tuesday.

"The play I'm directing is opening on May 4, and I have to shut out everything else," Bergman explained.

He's conducting rehearsals for "From the Life of the Earthworms," by Swedish writer Per Olof Enqvist.

Asked how he would celebrate the awards, which include best foreign film of 1983, Bergman replied: "By rehearsing as usual."

Beer abstinence is cruel

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. — Gov. Anthony Earl, who has given up beer for Lent, put in a tough day — at the Wisconsin Wholesale Beer Distributors convention.

"This is truly a cruel occasion," said the governor at the convention in Lake Geneva on Wednesday.

"As a beer fancier, I have been looking forward to visiting with you for some time," he said.

"But today falls within my Lenten period of beer abstinence. I hope I am piling up some rewards in heaven, because the temptation around me here is powerful indeed."

Jury to resume deliberations

SAN ANGELO — Confronted by a "unique" case, a jury of eight women and four men resume deliberations today in the capital murder trial of self-styled mass killer Henry Lee Lucas.

The panel, which got the case Wednesday night, must determine if Lucas raped and killed an unidentified hitchhiker in October 1979 and if so, was he sane or insane.

"I expect the death penalty," Lucas, 47, told author Hugh Aynesworth after the month-long trial reached the jury stage. "What else can I say?"

If convicted, Lucas, who claims to have killed 360 people, could be condemned to die by lethal injection.

The panel of eight women and four men got the case at 7:20 p.m. Wednesday. Shortly before 10:30 p.m., State District Judge John Carter sent the sequestered jury to their hotel for the night.

Deliberations were to resume at 9 a.m. today.

Lucas previously received a life sentence in Denton County for the slaying of his 15-year-old girlfriend and was assessed a 75-year prison term after pleading guilty to the murder of an elderly Ringgold woman.

In an unusual courtroom twist, the defense in closing arguments portrayed Lucas as a mentally ill, sexually deranged liar whose professions of guilt should be disregarded by jurors.

"This is a very unique case," said defense lawyer Don Higginbotham. "This is the first time I've ever had to stand before a jury and try to save my client by saying he's a liar."

The defense contended that without Lucas' confession, the state would have no case at all and that the Virginia-born drifter "told the sheriff what the sheriff wanted to hear."

Harbor mining angers House

WASHINGTON — The Democrat-led House is expected to follow the Republican-controlled Senate in overwhelmingly condemning the CIA-directed mining of Nicaraguan harbors, and lawmakers of both parties say the House will probably vote to end aid to Nicaraguan rebels altogether.

The House scheduled action late today on a non-binding resolution, approved 31-3 by its Foreign Affairs Committee on Wednesday, expressing "the sense of Congress that no additional funds be used to mine the ports or territorial waters of Nicaragua."

A resolution saying the same thing was approved 84-12 by the Senate on Tuesday.

Rep. William S. Broomfield of Michigan, the senior Republican on the Foreign Affairs panel, supported the resolution and predicted the House would pass it "by an overwhelming margin."

Expressing the complaints of many in Congress that the administration kept them in the dark, Broomfield said, "I was not informed of what was going on and I have been indignant about it ever since I found out about it."

During a sometimes acrimonious session with Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Dam that preceded the committee vote, Broomfield told the State Department's No. 2 official:

"I can't help but believe that covert aid is down the drain."

Rep. Stephen J. Solarz, D-N.Y., agreed, saying, "As a practical matter, I think we've seen the end of this."

The Senate voted last week, before the CIA role in the mining became generally known, to grant the administration's request for $21 million to continue covert assistance to guerrillas fighting Nicaragua's leftist regime.

Soviets criticize deployment

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union sharply criticized the United States today for "upsetting the military-strategic balance" by deploying new missiles in Western Europe, and said any resulting Soviet arms build-up is "a natural reply."

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Tikhonov, speaking to the 1,500-member Soviet Parliament shortly before it ended its two-day session, said Washington "has created obstacles to talks not only on medium-range nuclear systems but on strategic nuclear weapons as well."

"If the U.S. side removes the obstacles put by it in this matter and restores the previous state of affairs, an opportunity will then open up for the resumption of the talks," he said.

The Parliament was meeting for the first time under the chairmanship of Konstantin U. Chernenko, who on Wednesday became the Soviet Union's 10th president.

Chernenko, 72, has been Communist Party secretary general, the most powerful position in the Soviet Union, since after the Feb. 9 death of leader Yuri V. Andropov. He also took over as chairman of the Defense Council.

CHERNENKO

Tikhonov said any arms build-up by the Soviet Union is "a natural reply to the reckless attempts by the militarist circles of the U.S.A. and other NATO countries at upsetting the military-strategic balance."

"We are stating that it will be kept under all conditions," he said. "Security — both our own and that of our friends and allies — will remain reliably ensured."

Solar Max returns to duty

CAPE CANAVERAL — Challenger's astronauts returned a healthy Solar Max satellite to space as an orbiting sun watcher today, and the shuttle's skipper declared: "Satellite servicing is something that's here to stay."

"We pick up, repair and deliver," said commander Robert Crippen, obviously pleased with the historic first retrieval and repair of a satellite in space.

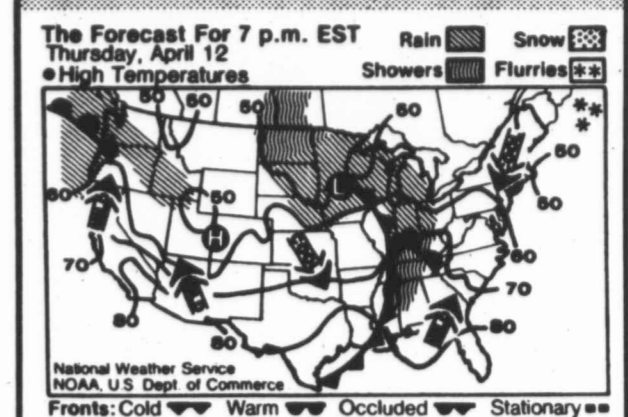

The satellite was dropped off at 4:26 a.m. EST by the shuttle's 50-foot mechanical arm, which had plucked it from space on Tuesday for in-orbit repairs. Two of Challenger's crew replaced defective parts during a record space walk on Wednesday.

"Solar Max is dead on the sun," said Mission Control in reporting the satellite had a firm lock on its target after a television picture showed it drifting slowly away from the shuttle.

"Good news," said Crippen. "It looks pretty out there."

After more than three years of circling the globe as dead weight, Solar Max was back to provide valuable information on giant solar flares that pour torrents of radiation into interplanetary space. What scientists learn from the satellite may help them better understand the sun and how it affects weather, radio communications and other conditions on Earth.

Cold front crosses Plains

A cold front crossing the Great Plains dumped rain over Minnesota, North Dakota, eastern South Dakota, northwestern Iowa and northeastern Nebraska today.

Showers and thunderstorms also extended over western Missouri, extreme eastern Kansas and northeastern Oklahoma while a thunderstorm in north central Oklahoma produced large hail.

Cloudy skies covered much of the Great Plains region, the mid and upper Mississippi Valley and New England. Lingering showers dampened extreme southern Florida.

Rain and gale force winds whipped along the northern Pacific Coast and travelers' advisories were issued for the Cascade Mountains of Oregon where heavy snow was possible.

Temperatures were in the 60s across the southern Plains and lower Mississippi Valley, with 70s over parts of central Texas. Readings were also in the 60s over southern Florida and were as warm as the 60s and low 70s in the deserts of California and Arizona.

Readings in the 30s covered much of the Great Lakes region and parts of the Northeast. A frost warning was issued early today for the northern half of South Carolina.

Today's forecast called for rain and scattered thunderstorms across the northern two thirds of the Mississippi Valley, eastern Nebraska and the Dakotas. Showers also were expected from western Montana, Idaho and Utah across the northern half of the Pacific Coast.

Highs in the 40's were expected over the Dakotas and upper Mississippi Valley with highs in the low 90's across southern Texas. Low to mid 80's over southern Florida and the inland Southwest. Highs through much of New England and the Pacific Northwest will be in the 50's.

Temperatures at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 20 degrees in Butte, Mont., to 78 degrees in Laredo, Texas.

Judge denies stay for convicted killer

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — April 27.

A state district judge has denied a convicted killer's request for a stay of execution.

Judge Roy Barrera Jr.'s ruling Wednesday sent Jesse De La Rosa back to Death Row to await his April 27 scheduled execution.

De La Rosa was convicted of capital murder in 1981 for killing a San Antonio convenience store clerk for a six-pack of beer.

Bexar County District Attorney Sam Millsap predicted De La Rosa would be executed in 1984, but said the execution probably would not occur on he would file additional motions next week with the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Give D.C. credit for surcharge ban

The issue of whether merchants should charge extra for credit card sales has been bouncing between the House and Senate since last year. We had hoped one of the players would knock it out of the court, but the lawmakers insist on keeping the game alive.

Recently the House passed a bill extending for another year the federal law that prohibits merchants from charging credit card customers more for goods and services than they charge cash customers. The 355-34 vote shows how eagerly members of Congress will respond to what looks like a hot consumer issue.

Actually, it is not clear whether the House bill is a plus or a minus for the average consumer. The federal ban on credit card surcharges imposed 10 years ago expired on Feb. 25, an event that would have let retail merchants make the kind of price decisions they are accustomed to making when they are competing for customers.

Credit card companies like the ban; retail merchants generally oppose it. The argument turns on whether the costs incurred in credit card transactions should be passed on directly to the credit card customers, or absorbed into the overhead of the store and thus shared by cash customers as well.

We would not presume to tell a merchant how to price his goods to cover the cost of doing business, and it is remarkable, on retrospect, that the federal government has been trying to do just that for the last 10 years.

Passage of the House bill promises some relief — not for the merchants, but from a deadlock between the House and Senate. Senators who have a different view of the legislation are said to be ready to accept the extension of controls to May 31, 1985. In the interim, the Federal Trade Commission and the General Accounting Office will be directed to study the subject of credit cards and prices, and recommend whether the surcharge ban should be extended permanently. There's always a chance the FTC and GAO will advise the government to get OUT.

Take time for a book

TV puts pictures in your eyes, but books put the pictures right inside your mind!

—Bill Keane

More and more people are giving up reading to watch television. I'm guilty of the crime, myself.

As a child I was an avid reader. My parents used to have a horrible time trying to get me to clean my room because I was too busy reading. After the first five pages, I would become so involved in the book I was reading that I would complete that book within a day.

After I mastered reading, my main interest turned to history. I read all the biographies and historical books that were in my elementary school's library. Since I had read all of the school's history books, I had to find a new subject to become interested in. I chose the Hardy Boys mysteries. As I read the book I helped the Hardy Boys solve several mysteries. Part of the fun of reading is to imagine you are right there in the midst of things.

From mysteries, I moved on to science fiction books, then romantic novels. In the last three months I've read six books on my own, which means books I wasn't required to read in school. That's six more than I had in the last two years.

Sometimes when I read a book I make it half way through before turning to the last three pages to see how it ends. Then I put the book aside. Since I know how the story ends, I see no reason to finish it.

Not every book is read with the same amount of vigor. Some books I have flown through in one day, while others have taken weeks of wading through before I finally gave up.

If a story is serious and filled with statistics, most people will find it boring and ignore it. However if the story has lots of pictures and has a feature appeal they will read it. Some people even look at the size of type the story is printed in. If it's too small they don't even try to read it.

Everyone should read at least one book a year. Most people say they don't have time to read, but they've got time to watch television. Maybe they don't have much time, but if they would put aside 20 minutes every evening to read they would find a new world of excitement. Remember in a book there aren't any commercials and you aren't going to miss anything by going to the kitchen to fix a snack. It will still be there when you get back.

McDonald: The congressman who saw Red

WASHINGTON — Throughout his public career, the late Rep. Larry McDonald lived in a world of deep, dark conspiracies supposedly aimed at him by the evil forces of world communism. Among his fervid disciples, indeed, there lurks the nagging suspicion that the Soviets shot down the Korean airliner last September just to get rid of McDonald.

McDonald's conspiratorial nature is revealed in more than 100 pages of internal FBI files, obtained by my associate Tony Capaccio. The late congressman was suspicious of anyone who criticized him. On at least two occasions, he felt endangered by critical mail and told the FBI that his life had been threatened.

The files show that on Sept. 26, 1976, McDonald sent the FBI a post card he had received which he considered threatening. The FBI records don't include the text of the post card that alarmed McDonald, but a memo addressed to then-FBI Director Clarence Kelley said "the threat consists of innocuous comments."

Given McDonald's congressional status, however, "the bureau has instructed that this matter must receive vigorous and continuous attention until fully resolved," states the memo.

The G-men pursued the matter with their customary thoroughness. They dusted the post card for fingerprints, but found none to match them in the criminal files.

Then they ran a laborious check of the signature on the card. Lo and behold, it matched that on a letter to then-Director J. Edgar Hoover in 1970. Using the address on the old letter, FBI agents tracked the writer down and paid him a visit.

The citizen was indignant over the investigation his post card had precipitated and wrote another letter — this one a complaint to his congressman, Ed Koch. Koch, now mayor of New York City, asked Kelley why his constituent was being harassed.

Koch wrote to Kelley that the only reason this irate but obscure citizen found the FBI at his door was because McDonald was involved. Koch added that the man "denied his note was of a threatening nature and was disturbed that his 'critical' note could have produced such a response."

In reply, Kelley assured Koch that standard procedure had been followed. An FBI memo on the matter said the New Yorker "is a chronic letter-writer and has written numerous letters to FBI headquarters since 1946." The Justice Department declined to pursue the case.

Six months later, McDonald, irate after hanging up on a caller, passed the person's name to the FBI's Washington office. The FBI ran a check of the caller's name, but came up empty.

Interestingly, McDonald himself was the subject of a brief FBI investigation for an alleged threat he made to an unspecified person in January 1974, before he was elected to Congress.

The Detroit FBI office sent the information to Washington "in view of subject's ambition for national political office and in view of his leadership in the John Birch Society." But the U.S. attorney in Detroit said McDonald had not violated the federal extortion statute because "it appears that a direct threat has not been made."

On one occasion, McDonald's flamboyant anti-communist rhetoric seems to have misled an admirer, who wrote and asked the congressman to "assign several of your most trustworthy, dependable and efficient operatives to make a few hits" to discourage support for communism. McDonald turned the note over to the FBI as "apparently encouraging acts of political terrorism."

DRESS UP THE BAND: Last September the Marine corps OK'd the expenditure of $200,000 to buy new uniforms for the 140-member Marine Band. A corps spokesman said the outlay was justified because the old uniforms — four different combinations — are more than 8 years old on the average.

But some critics struck a sour note. One told my reporter Judy Packer that many band members had been fitted with new uniforms within the last two or three years, and the manufacturer estimates a useful life of four to six years.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has put his waste-watchers on the band's trail, but so far they haven't decided whether the $200,000 was an extravagance or not.

The best magazine in America

What's the best-written, best-edited magazine published in the United States? Ask a few literary types and you'll get several opinions — the New Yorker, Saturday Review, the Atlantic. Sorry, but it's none of those relentlessly highbrow publications. Nor is it the New Republic, which once had the distinction of employing me, or Inquiry, on whose masthead I now impose. The best magazine in America is Sports Illustrated.

Surprised? Of course you are. Skeptical? No doubt. You think it's one of those rags for juvenile males and macho beer-swillers, suitable only for barber shops and hunting lodges, right next to Field and Stream, Playboy and Motor Trend. No way. In fact, I'd bet Sports Illustrated does poorly among the pubescent or muscle-brained. Like the "Bullwinkle" cartoon show, it transcends its genre.

SI's range of interest exceeds that of any other sports magazine, not to mention most magazines, period. In fact, when the Washington Post Co., started a competing publication (since sold), it vowed to cover only important sports — a slap at SI's choice of topics, which run to the esoteric.

Bizarre might be a better word. An index of SI topics reads like a one-lesson course in how to go broke in the magazine business. I have read articles there about chess, about falconing, about archery, about bridge, about lacrosse, about bowling — none of which is my idea of sport. I have read 5,000 words about a high school hockey tournament in Minnesota, and I was sober at the time.

Once or twice, I've even read about basketball, a game in which tall men in short pants try to — well, you probably know about basketball, but for us Texans it's an acquired taste. I've never finished one of those odd pieces without being pleased that someone had the imagination to write it and that SI had the nerve to publish it. Gratifying, too, is that the magazine has been a preposterous financial success.

But the real triumph is SI's glittering, rambunctious prose. It's a rare reader, however indifferent to boxing, who could resist an account of a match that begins, "The toughest fight for Gerrie Coetzee has always been against self-doubt. And so, for a single frantic moment at the end of the 10th round in the Richfield Coliseum outside Cleveland, Coetzee, blood streaming from a nasty slash over his right eye, panicked."

Who could fail to finish an article on collegiate women's softball — you heard me — that opens on this innocuous note: "It's an annual spring offering at UCLA, like Thetas in shorts and tank tops, Zetes in Hawaiian shirts and thongs and surfboards strapped to the back of Daddy's Mercedes. It's called Cruising for Guys 101, and it meets every weekday afternoon about 2:30 near the athletic complex."

You don't get writing like that most places. Nor do you get SI's uncanny evocations of place and character, as in a piece on Texas A&M's experiment in using real students on its football team. Noting the gleeful whoops that greeted the showing of an old film about A&M called "We've Never Been Licked," Douglas Looney wrote: "Aggies whoop a great deal. It's what A&M is all about — integrity, loyalty, tradition." That "We've Never Been Licked" is awful doesn't matter. Cotton candy is awful, but we keep buying it. Aggies buy tradition, always have, always will.

But what SI does best is get athletes to talk, putting poets to shame. Like the irrepressible figure skater Elaine Zayak, she of the eye-popping jumps and "Ziegfeld Follies" voice: "Well, like, I mean, I've always been a good jumper, you know (giggle). I mean, I get up to speed and then I swing it like this (a saucy little bodymove here to show how she swings it), and then, like, I just sort of yank myself up off the ice. And suddenly I'm spinning around in midair (giggle). Listen, I gotta shut my eyes to keep from gettin' dizzy (giggle). And I can hear everybody going oooooohhhhhhh."

Like the Aggie student-player: "All of us have our dreams, one dream, and it's all of us going down the field, making the hit, the ball coming loose and all of us jumping on it. Then we will take the ball and get it bronzed." And like ex-roundballer Rick Barry, detested by most teammates and fans, who dreams wistfully of winning a game with a last-second shot and hearing the cheers: "And the best thing is that they're not cheering for me because I won the game. They're cheering for me because they like me."

Well, if you think these are merely sports stories, then you'd probably dismiss "Anna Karenina" as just another soap opera. SI is not about athletics but about the human spirit. A century from now, when scholars want to learn how Americans lived in our time, they'll turn to Sports Illustrated. Anyone who wants to know now should do likewise.

How to overcome rebellious impulse

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Recently I saw the film that you appeared in called "The Prodigal". I realized when I saw it how rebellious I have been toward my parents and toward God, and how it has harmed me. How can I overcome this rebellious impulse I seem to have? — P.W.

DEAR P.W.: Yes, this film is a modern day re-telling of Jesus' familiar parable of the prodigal son, which you can read in Luke 15:11-32. The film tells the story of a young man from an affluent family who leaves home, seeking happiness in drugs, sex, and all the other ways that are so common today. Like the young man in Jesus' parable, he discovers that true happiness can never be found in these things. Eventually he discovers there is only one answer to life's problems, and that is Jesus Christ.

And Christ is the answer to your problem as well. From what you say, I gather that much of your life you have been trying to live your own independent way, wanting to free yourself from the restraints of God and other people. The Bible says the reason for this is that we all want to run our own lives, and we do this because we are sinners in rebellion against God. The first sin was an act of rebellion, when Adam and Eve deliberately disobeyed God and chose instead to live the way they wanted to live. Satan had promised them they would know joy and happiness, but his promise was a lie and death came upon them and their descendants as a result.

Submit yourself to Christ and ask him to come into your life. That may not be easy — but you have already taken the first step by admitting your attitude and wanting to change. But when you come to Christ, you are not only accepting certain things as true — e.g. that he died on the cross for your sins, that he rose from the dead, that he will save you if you trust him — but you also are accepting a new master of your own life. So far you have been ruler of your own life. Now Christ wants to come into your life and be lord, ruling and guiding you.

Then submit yourself to God's Word, the Bible, every day. I can't stress enough the importance of studying God's Word and obeying it. You may also need to take steps to be reconciled to people you have hurt, such as your parents. The key is turning your whole life over to Christ.

South America turning democratic

 America transforms itself.
 A protest movement to topple the authoritarian president sprang to life a year ago in the dusty slums and on the stately boulevards of this Old World-style capital. Developments in 1984 may determine whether the Marxist left or capitalist center leads the opposition, and whether strikes and demonstrations can force the army to abandon the general.

The battle lines are clearly drawn.
 "We will never have a dialogue with Pinochet," Gabriel Valdes, leader of the centrist Democratic Alliance coalition, said in a recent interview.

"The public keeps saying, 'Enough! Enough!'" A Pinochet spokesman, Alfonso Marquez de la Plata, government secretary general, said the regime is willing to discuss changes in Pinochet's long-established plan for a slow return to democracy.

"But the opposition says, 'We are the only ones who have the truth, everything we say is right,'" Marquez de la Plata said. "This is the antithesis of dialogue."
 Not all the opposition is free to protest or make dialogue, however.

From his 17th-floor office suite, Marquez de la Plata can see the grimy city prison where one key anti-Pinochet figure — Marxist opposition front leader Manuel Almeyda — has been jailed since Feb. 15 for calling publicly for Pinochet's ouster.

The 68-year-old president mixes repression with concession as he maneuvers to maintain the power the Chilean military seized in a bloody coup Sept. 11, 1973, when they brought down the elected government of President Salvador Allende, a Marxist who was pulling Chile sharply leftward. Allende and as many as 10,000 other Chileans died in the coup and its aftermath.

The Pinochet decade has lurched from boom to bust. As the economy soared in 1982, "El General" went to the people with a referendum on his plan for returning Chile to democracy — over a 17-year period. Chileans approved it two to one.

Within a year Chile slipped into a disastrous depression — unemployment reached 25 percent — and many Chileans' apathy gave way to anger, finally overflowing into "National Protest Days" of strikes and rallies staged monthly beginning last May, protests orchestrated to the rhythmic banging of household pots and pans in the smoggy Santiago evenings.

The demonstrations were costly — 62 people were killed in 1983, most shot by police in clashes with protesters. But Pinochet ended some harsher authoritarian measures and opened indirect talks with the Democratic Alliance, comprising Valdes' Christian Democrats and four other centrist parties.

Those talks collapsed. The Alliance demands Pinochet's resignation and full democracy within 18 months. The general, for most Chileans just a distant, white-uniformed figure on television, counters with a vague scheme for future plebiscites to endorse the Pinochet way to democracy.

But the demonstrations continue and so do the president's concessions. After protests March 27, Pinochet dismissed his economic team and pledged to relieve unemployment.

The opposition is weakened by distrust — legacy of the Allende years — between its two political blocs, the Democratic Alliance and Almeyda's Democratic Popular Movement, a coalition of Communists and other Marxists.

Popular young labor leader Rodolfo Seguel, a key anti-Pinochet organizer, has sought to draw the two factions closer together, but he sounds exasperated.

"The political differences are very deep," he said in an interview. "It's not for labor leaders to try to resolve them."

The divisions keep the multi-party opposition from offering their countrymen a coherent view of a post-Pinochet Chile.

Jaime Insunza, an intense, 38-year-old Communist who is secretary-general of the Marxist bloc, says it is ready to discuss its program with the Democratic Alliance, "but always with the conviction that our program corresponds with the needs of the country."

Would a post-Pinochet Chile revert to Allende-style Marxism?

The leftists are well-organized in the squatter camps and shantytowns that ring this 443-year-old city. And the unemployed slum-dwellers are bitter, complaining about Chile's $21-billion debt to U.S. and other banks, and claiming their country has been "stolen" from them.

$45 million allocated to fix state highways

AUSTIN (AP) — State highway officials on Wednesday allocated $45 million to fix more than 2,300 miles of roads damaged by the record winter cold.

The Highway and Public Transportation Commission ordered the money to be used for protective coatings "for roadways almost certain to disintegrate completely under another winter's stress," according to a department release.

"The unusually severe damage wrought by last winter's storms forced the commission to allocate money for the preservation project, an action it had hoped to forego this year, since funds are sparse," the department said.

To save money last year, the commission skipped a safety and rehabilitation program that would have cost up to $150 million. That program included repairs of winter damage.

Texans want prisons rather than parole

DALLAS (AP) — Approximately two-thirds of the people questioned in a recent Texas poll said they would rather pay more taxes to build prisons than parole prisoners early to relieve overcrowding, according to Associated Press.

Only 12.3 percent of the Texans surveyed said they approve of early parole as a means of reducing the prison population, the anti-crime organization said.

"Geographically, in only one area of the state — Beaumont-Port Arthur — did the people favor early parole," the organization said. "However, the overall consensus among Texans of all socio-economic levels and races was against early parole."

The organization said the poll of 605 adult Texans was done by Arthur Finkelstein and Associates and the 66.9 percent favoring prisons over parole is within plus or minus 4 percent at the 95 percent confidence level.

Dear Abby

Results sometimes caused by error

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from a senior citizen who was horrified and embarrassed to learn that her premarital blood tests came back "positive" for syphilis. She stated that there was absolutely no way she could have had the disease. You pointed out that there could have been many factors other than VD that would cause a positive result.

I was rather disturbed because you didn't even mention the most common reason, namely, the lab technicians mixing up the blood samples. This happened to me once, many years ago when I was a young, 100-percent virgin. It was during a compulsory medical exam for employment. I'll never forget how humiliated I was.

Of course it was later discovered that there had been a mix-up at the lab. This happens much more often than most people suspect — not only with blood samples but with all body fluids.

Many women have had their wits scared out of them by false-positive Pap tests.

ONE WHO KNOWS

DEAR ONE: Speaking of human error, read on: DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old son is taking Tegretol for seizures. While filling his weekly medicine container, I noticed that some of the pills looked different.

I took the pills back to the drugstore and found out that half of them were penicillin!

The pharmacist said she had used a machine to count the pills, and while filling my prescription for Tegretol she had some penicillin pills sitting next to it, and she got the penicillin by mistake and mixed those pills up with the Tegretol. (They looked very much alike.)

She told me I wasn't the first person that happened to. After that, the drugstore got rid of the counting machine. Fortunately no harm was done to my son.

What I'm saying, Abby, is this: While most pharmacists are very careful, they are only human and sometimes make mistakes, so warn your readers to watch their pills!

Dr. Donohue

Congestive heart failure

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have what the doctors call congestive heart failure. I have been fighting it for the past two years. I have learned that there is no cure for it. But recently, I heard that there is a cure, but no one I talk to seems to know what it is. Can you comment? — J.H.

There are more ways to treat congestive heart failure than I can list for you here. The problem underlying congestive heart failure is its failure to act as an efficient pumper of blood. Something has happened to weaken it. Thus blood backs up in its pumping chambers and backward into veins, where the fluid portion oozes out into body tissue and, importantly, into the lungs. That is the congestive part of congestive heart failure.

Finding the reason for the failure leads to proper treatment. If a valve is defective, the repair of that corrects the problem. Sometimes defective blood circulation to the heart muscle causes the weakening. The coronary arteries may be clogged with waxy deposits. Again, many approaches are available for correcting that defect. Drugs offer other avenues of treatment. Digitalis drugs make the heart muscle beat more forcefully. And diuretics can be used to get rid of the fluid that is oozing out of the veins.

Even diet plays a treatment role, for example, watching the amount of salt you consume because sodium encourages fluid retention. In this regard, diuretics (water pills) assist in controlling such fluid buildup. But in answer to your essential question, no, I know of no new astounding "breakthrough" in controlling, treating or curing congestive heart failure. If you find a reference to one, send it along and I'll gladly comment.

There's an old saying — if your feet hurt, you hurt all over. Dr. Donohue's booklet, "Relief and Care of Your Feet," shows you how to avoid and take care of foot problems. To get your copy, write to Dr. Donohue in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

NOTICE

I am Garner Thixton, a lifetime resident of Howard County and I am asking for your support to be your FULL TIME Commissioner of precinct 3. I am fully aware of the assets and problems of our community. The assets are too numerous to mention. The few problems we have can be solved if we can get county and city to cooperate on this issue in question.

One of these issues is rural fire protection and my plan will increase the average response time to a rural fire by at least 15 minutes for the first truck on the scene.

Another issue is something that all citizens of Howard County can use. We have a small lake on the south edge of town that with close cooperation between governing bodies, could provide our young people with a place to meet for recreation and give our senior citizens, whether handicapped or not, an accessible place for picnics or fishing by erecting a pier into the lake with lighted ramps and guard rails.

None of this can be accomplished without close cooperation between the county and city governments. I believe that with God's help I can get the two governing bodies to cooperate on these and other things for the benefit of the community.

When elected, the only thing I can promise you is to prosecute those who dump trash on our streets and roads when they can be identified, and most trash can be traced to the original owners.

Remember, Garner Thixton will be YOUR FULL TIME Commissioner. Thanks for your support.

Elks install Rocky Vieira as exalted ruler, April 3

Big Spring Elks Lodge installed Rocky Vieira as new exalted ruler in ceremonies April 3. A team of past exalted rulers, headed by W.A. Fitzgerald, conducted the installation.

Other new officers include: Paul Girvan, leading knight; Mike Tolson, loyal knight; John Porter, leading knight; and Oliver Cofer, secretary; Bill Davis, treasurer; Andre Arcand, esquire; Q.T. Coats, tiler; Ron Enger, chaplain; Walter Gleason, inner guard; and C.E. Milam, 5-year trustee. The new officers will serve until April 1, 1985.

The interlude committee raised $3,000 for the Elks Foundation for Handicapped Children.

The local lodge hosted a district clinic Saturday and Sunday for members from El Paso, Pecos, Odessa and Midland. A steak dinner and dance highlighted Saturday night's activities. A business session was held Sunday morning with a noon barbecue concluding the meeting.

Stokes-Parker session slated

The 34th annual session of the Stokes-Parker district will convene at the Homestead Inn, Friday through Sunday. The public is invited to attend.

The district consists of 600 members from Lubbock, San Angelo, Midland, Abilene, Odessa, Big Lake, McCamey, Sweetwater and Big Spring.

The session will begin with a program at 8 p.m., Friday. Following the program, an executive board dinner and meeting will be held.

The session will continue at 9 a.m., Saturday. A fashion review will be featured at a noon luncheon. Tickets for the luncheon are $7.

A debutante talent hour will be held at 1:30 p.m. Fourteen senior girls will compete in talent competition for the debutante title and crown to be awarded at an evening banquet at 7:30 p.m. Big Spring debutante will be Eva Baucham.

Club presidents throughout the district will compete in the Narcisse Stokes March at the banquet. The president who raises the highest sum will be crowned Narcisse Stokes. Tickets for the banquet are $10.

Every year, the district gives two scholarships of $600 each to a deserving senior girl and boy.

A mini-workshop will be held at 2:30 p.m., Saturday. Programs will be "Sickle-Cell Anemia" by Dr. Jean-Louis Hubert; "The Hidden You" by Dock Voorhies, and "The Business of Changing Lives" by Charlene Voorhies. Lynn Green, Big Spring High School coach, will demonstrate self-defense for women.

Following the mini-workshop, installation of officers and the president's report about state and national will follow.

Women will be attending a "Western Hoe Down" breakfast at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. W.J. Peterson, 811 Pine St., Sunday. The lady with the most unique western style will be awarded a gift.

Man convicted in taxi scam sentenced to nine years

Stones want out of contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Saying "enough was enough," the Rolling Stones asked a judge to dissolve their contracts with a recording executive whose companies hold rights to the rock group's pre-1970 songs.

Attorney L. Peter Parcher said Wednesday the band wants "a commercial divorce" that would end more than a dozen years' squabbles over royalties and film rights.

Parcher described a litany of legal and personal disputes between lead singer Mick Jagger and Allen B. Klein, whose two recording companies hold rights to songs the band issued before 1970.

At one point, Parcher told U.S. District Judge Thomas Griesa, Klein refused to deal with Jagger and would pay the Stones' royalties only through lead guitarist Keith Richards.

NEW YORK (AP) — A man who authorities said posed as a taxi driver and regularly bilked and terrorized foreigners arriving in New York, once charging a Japanese visitor $500 for a $25 trip, has been sentenced to up to nine years in jail.

Konstinos Tzertzelas, 40, of Lawrence, was sentenced Wednesday to two to six years for bribery, one to three years for grand larceny and six months for unlawful imprisonment. He must serve at least two years before becoming eligible for parole.

The charges resulted from a May 15, 1983, complaint by Hiroshi Imamura, an electrical engineer from Japan who said Tzertzelas agreed to take him from Kennedy International Airport into Manhattan for $30 plus tolls and tip. When they arrived, Imamura charged, Tzertzelas threatened him, threw his luggage in the street and demanded $500 before settling for a $300 payment.

Imamura flagged down a police car which chased the bogus cab. When officers approached Tzertzelas, he offered one officer $300, gave him $188 and was immediately charged with bribery.

The Manhattan district attorney's office said Tzertzelas, who was convicted in a non-jury state court trial March 8, had received a relatively stiff sentence because he had been cited for unlawful solicitation at least 11 separate times at Kennedy. Tzertzelas had no hack license and is a resident alien from Greece, the office said.

Texas Hispanics may boycott Coors

EL PASO (AP) — A group of Texas Hispanics say they will vote Saturday on whether to reaffirm a boycott of Coors beer because of recent comments the brewery's president, William Coors, allegedly made about blacks.

Patricia Roybal-Sutton, a board member of Mexican-American Democrats, said the Hispanic organization was upset by comments Coors allegedly made in a speech to black business leaders in Denver.

A news article about the speech appeared in the Denver Rocky Mountain News with a headline that said: "Coors calls blacks intellectually inferior."

Coors has said the Rocky Mountain News' article and headline were not accurate and his attorney, Leo Bradley of Denver, said Tuesday Coors "didn't make any statement remotely close" to the newspaper's account.

Bradley said the only reference Coors made in his speech to blacks' intelligence came when the brewery executive referred to Rhodesia's economy.

Coors said the country's economy flourished under white rule and noted that now that blacks are in control, the economy is in trouble because blacks in the African nation "didn't have the intellectual capacity to rule," Bradley said, quoting the text of Coors' speech.

Bradley also said Coors has sued the Denver newspaper over its story.

Ms. Sutton said Tuesday she was unaware of Coors' lawsuit, but said MAD leaders probably still would vote to continue a seven-year boycott of Coors beer.

The vote is to take place Saturday in Austin at a meeting of the MAD state executive committee.

All MAD chapters in Texas will be asked again to honor the boycott and will be told "not to allow themselves to be bought off by Coors or to be infiltrated by Coors," Ms. Sutton said.

She said Coors often tries to underwrite Hispanic activities with a condition that only Coors beer be sold "and that's literally buying us off."

Thursday Notes

It must be that time of year for hole-in-ones. For the second consecutive week a Big Springer has pulled off the feat.

At the Big Spring County Club Mike Weaver added his name to the elite list, when he aced the 360-yard nine hole using a driver.

Witnesses were Van Tom Whatley, John Arrick, Ernie Swart and Donnie Buchanan.

The Howard County Boxing Club is busily preparing for the Junior Olympic Regional Tournament May 11-12 in Colorado City.

The club is planning on taking eight boxers to the tourney, according to coach Juan Baldwin Sr. The winners will advance to the Junior Olympic State Tournament in Corpus Christi.

Baldwin admits that winning the tournament won't be easy, since everyone will be gunning for the HCBC, who has lost only one tournament all year.

Baldwin along with fellow coaches Ed Garza and J.V. Martinez will be working overtime to make sure the squad isn't caught with its dukes down.

*****

Area fishing is picking up at Lakes J.B. Thomas and E.V. Spence, according to reports from the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Crappie fishing at Lake Thomas is excellent, and black bass fishing is not far behind. Catfishing results are also good. At Lake Spence, the hottest species is striped bass with most catches in the intermediate range. There are also reports of small-mouth bass.

Jim Perry of Ackerly had the big catch for area anglers this past week. At Lake Thomas he landed a string of eight crappie ranging in the two pound range.

Ex-Lady Steers tracksters Carla Jackson and Shell Rutledge are making some noise on the Abilene Christian University track team.

Jackson, a sophomore, recently qualified for the Olympic Trials by jumping 20-8 in the long jump. Jackson currently has the best two jumps in the Lone Star Conference with her second best jump being 20-2. She has tripled jumped 38-7 and has one of the conference's top times in the 100 (12.1) and 200 meters (25.10).

Rutledge, a freshman, has the third best conference time in the 400 with a clocking of 58.2.

Rutledge and Jackson also run third and anchor legs for the Wildcats' 400 relay team which leads the conference with a 46.60.

*****

Talk about dominating the relays — that's what the Sands Junior High girls tracksters did at their own meet recently.

The foursome of Stefani Shortes, Deanna Herm, Kelly Ramey and Becky Webb won the gold in the 400, 800 and 1600 relays with timers of 56.32, 2:05.00 and 4:42.00 respectively.

Maybe a future trip to the state track meet is in store for these young ladies.

*****

The final stats were released for the Western Junior College Athletic Conference and Howard forward and league MVP Jerry Stroman was the third leading scorer (20.0) and one of the leaders in rebounds (7).

Guards Michael Porter and Dwight Harris finished among the conference's scoring leaders averaging 12 and 14 points respectively. Post player Al Holland ranked fifth in field goal percentage at .579. The Hawks set a conference record for team defense, allowing 62 points per game.

Hawk-Queens post player Teri Moore ended up as the conference's second leading scorer with a 22.7 average. Showing the Queens' balance was Debbie Halls' 13.1 average, Molly Early with a 13.0 average, Alex Provencio at 10.5 and Pat Carter at 8.4. All ended up in the league's scoring leaders.

Needless to say the Queens were at the top in team offense averaging 77 points per contest.

Another area athlete has signed a scholarship, this time in basketball. Kay Wallace, a standout post player for Greenwood High School has signed to play for none other than my alma mater, Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

The Zias, under the direction of Wayne Moore have been in the NAIA playoffs one of the past three years. Moore says he intends to play Wallace at the low post and stated that the six-footer should step in and help out the program immediately.

Mariners' reliever douses Red Sox rally

By The Associated Press
The red-hot Seattle Mariners played with fire and the Boston Red Sox got burned.

When reliever Dave Beard struck out Boston slugger Jim Rice with the bases loaded to end the eighth inning and preserve a 5-1 lead, the Mariners never dreamed they would face the same situation an inning later.

The Red Sox had pushed across three runs and had the bases loaded once more, again with two out. And who should step to the plate but the man who led the American League in 1983 with 39 home runs.

This time, the Mariners brought in Roy Thomas, the fourth pitcher of the inning.

All Rice could do was hit a fly ball to left field and the Mariners had dodged another bullet to win 5-4.

In other AL games, the California Angels thumped the Milwaukee Brewers 9-5, the Chicago White Sox trimmed the Cleveland Indians 6-1 and the Kansas City Royals beat the Baltimore Orioles 5-2.

Rookie Alvin Davis and veteran Al Cowens belted home runs and Cowens doubled home the decisive run in the eighth inning as the Mariners won their fifth straight game and sixth in seven starts.

American League

Winner Matt Young allowed one run and six hits in 7 1-3 innings and had a career-high nine strikeouts.

ANGELS 9, BREWERS 5

Rookie right-hander Ron Romanick scattered nine hits for his first major-league victory before needing last-out help. Romanick, who held the Brewers to one run until the ninth, was supported by California's biggest offensive outburst of the season, including three RBI by Reggie Jackson. Rob Wilfong homered for the winners.

WHITE SOX 6, INDIANS 1

Scott Fletcher drove in one run and scored another and Greg Walker hit a three-run homer to back the four-hit pitching of Richard Dotson. Fletcher tripled a run home against Bert Blyleven in the first inning and scored on Ron Kittle's sacrifice fly while Walker's wrapped it up against George Frazier in the eighth.

ROYALS 5, ORIOLES 2

Jorge Orta singled for the only hit in Kansas City's four-run fourth inning and the Royals went on to hand the defending world champions their fifth loss in six games this season.

OUT AT HOME — Boston's Gary Allenson tags out Seattle's Bob Kearney out at home as he attempted to score on a fly ball in the third inning of Wednesday's game in Seattle.

Snooks, Berry ink pacts

Two Howard College basketball players will continue their playing careers after signing with major universities on Wednesday.

Anthony Snooks, a 6-8 forward from Columbia, South Carolina has inked with Southern Illinois of the Missouri Valley Conference. SI was 17-13 during the current season just recently ended. HC coach Mike Mitchell said SI's plans call for making Snooks into a power forward.

Although Snooks did not become eligible until after the Christmas break, he quickly became a force, especially on defense, for the 28-4 and WJCAC champion Hawks. He averaged eight points and five rebounds per game during the Region V Tournament — stats good enough to be named to the Region V All-Tournament team.

Janene Berry, a 5-4

ANTHONY SNOOKS

guard for the Hawk Queens, will stay in-state to finish her education and playing days. The personable athlete will wear the colors of Texas Tech after signing with the Red Raiders.

Berry was the Queens assist leader and averaged 10 points per game for the 24-9 Queens. She set a WJCAC record in a game against Amarillo College when she dished out 21 assists.

Among Berry's honors were being named to the second team All-WJCAC team, honorable mention All-Region V team and the All-Region V Tournament team.

Nettles hits first NL homer in win

By The Associated Press
Things haven't changed for Graig Nettles and Goose Gossage now that they're playing in the National League — Nettles is still hitting home runs and Gossage is still giving them up.

Both former New York Yankee players who came over to San Diego this year continued to do their thing as the Padres defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-5 Wednesday night.

National League

Nettles, who hit 333 home runs in the American League, slugged his first one in the National with a man on base in the second inning. Gossage, who had a penchant for gopher balls despite being the No. 1 relief pitcher for many years with the Yankees, nailed down Wednesday's win after giving up a two-run shot to Tommy Herr in the ninth.

Tim Lollar, another former Yankee, pitched six strong innings and slugged a three-run homer himself.

In other NL games, Montreal beat Cincinnati 9-3; San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 2-1 in 10 innings; New York defeated Atlanta 6-1; Philadelphia nipped Houston 7-6 and Los Angeles turned back Chicago 2-1.

Permian is favored in 4-5A track meet

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

ODESSA — The District 4-5A boys track meet will be held Friday at Odessa's Ratliff Stadium and the Permian Panthers will be the favorites while the Steers will be hard pressed to get in the scoring column.

Big Spring's best chance to produce points is in the discus where seniors Jimmy Cearley and Mike McKinley have been throwing well of late, especially Cearley who finished second at the Tall City Relays in Midland last week.

Cearley is right at the 150-foot mark while McKinley is throwing in the neighborhood of 140-feet.

Steers coach Randy Britton feels that Cearley has a fair chance at a shot at the regional meet, where the first two finishers qualify.

"Jimmy has a pretty good chance of finishing high," said Britton. He has been very consistent. "There are about eight people throwing in the 140-150 feet range. It all depends on who chokes or not."

Other Steer hopefuls include 300 hurdler Dewayne Sherman, Dale Crenshaw and Brian Reid. All have run in the low 41's. Dax McCracken could score points in the 800 with his time of 2:02.40.

Top performers in the meet include Permian sprinter Jason Leach in the 100 (10.15) and 200 (20.89), Midland Lee sprinter Walter Jones, Odessa 110 hurdler Reggie Jones and shot putters Isaac Garnett of Lee, Britt Hager of Permian and Darrell Davis of Midland. All have thrown over 58 feet.

The meet starts at noon beginning with the field events. The prelims start at 2:30 p.m. and the finals begin at 6 p.m.

HC splits with Paris

Howard College gained a split with Paris Junior College in non-conference doubleheader baseball action at Hawks Field Wednesday, dropping the first game 17-9 before coming back to wallop Paris 15-1 in game two.

HC and Paris were scheduled for a nine inning game this afternoon. Game time was set at 1 p.m.

In their first game loss the Hawks jumped in front, 1-0 in the first as Stephen Hodge sacrificed in Steve Carrasco. The highlights stopped there.

Paris batters ripped six HC pitchers for 14 hits that included four doubles and 15 earned runs.

"Our pitchers really stunk the place up," said Howard coach Bill Griffin.

Doug Myers (1-2) started and took the loss. He lasted two and two thirds innings and was racked for seven hits and seven runs. He walked two and struck out one.

Bruce Hollander, Brian Robbins, Mo Rubio, Kevin Kolodzie and David Rodriguez were also put on the mound in an effort to stem Paris' barrage — all proving ineffective.

In the second game the Hawks continued their hitting prowess with another 13 hits, but the pitching was there in the form of Steve Carrasco and John Wilson who scattered six Paris hits and struck out eight. Carrasco struckout five in a row at one time and picked up his fifth win against one loss in going thr first five innings.

The pitching duo was backed by homeruns from Doug Hatch, Bobby Behnsch, Kenny Spears and Blake Rosson. Behnsch had a shot in the first game also, giving him 17 for the year.

Hatch scored three times for the Hawks who lifted their record to 22-14.

Class 6-A

tourney held

A host of area athletes will be competing in Class A regional tennis action, by virtue of their finishes at the District 6-A tennis tournament held recently at Figure Seven Tennis center in Big Spring.

Belinda Duke of Greenwood took the girls singles championship with a 6-0, 6-2 win over Missy Dulin of Highland. Becky Massingill of Borden County defeated Klondike's Lori Lobstein 6-2, 4-6, 6-2 for third place.

It was all Borden County in girls doubles competition as BC's Tammy Miller and Kelli Williams defeated teammates Kim Wills and Shana Bradshaw in the finals.

Greenwood's Deona Dean and Krissy Wallace beat Tammy Snell and Michelle Hogg of Klondike 6-0, 6-3 for third place.

Borden County's Keith Martin defeated Sands' Leland Bearden 6-7, 7-6, 7-5 in the third place match.

In doubles action the Klondike duo of Mitch Mitchell and Lane Turner defeated Greenwood's Darrel Stratton and Pat Milligan 6-2, 6-4 to claim first place.

Greenwood's Troy and Kenny Wallace defeated Grady's Fred Garza and Dennis Sawyer for third place.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with rules and orders promulgated by the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of a public hearing to begin at 10 a.m. on Monday, May 14, 1984, in the offices of the Public Utility Commission, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Austin, Texas, concerning proposals made by the company to add three optional services and delete two services from the list of local exchange services available to its Texas customers.

Proposed additions to the local exchange tariffs include an optional Local Measured Service under which all residence customers and single-line business customers could pay monthly rates less than flat rate for one-party service, with an additional charge for each completed outgoing call to be determined by the time of day, distance and duration of each call; and a subsidized LIFELINE local service to be made available to qualified individuals, as determined by the Public Utility Commission. The monthly rate for LIFELINE service would include an allowance of 25 outgoing calls per month, plus a charge for each additional call.

Proposed for deletion from the local exchange tariffs are one-element measured service offerings for residence customers and single-line business customers, but current customers would not be affected.

The company does not anticipate that these additional services will result in an increase in revenue to Southwestern Bell Telephone.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Aviso al Publico

Por medio del presente aviso y en conformidad con las reglas y dictámenes de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas, la compañía Southwestern Bell Telephone anuncia la audiencia pública que se llevará a cabo a partir de las 10 de la mañana del día lunes 14 de mayo de 1984 en las oficinas de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Austin, Texas, con respecto a la propuesta de la compañía, que consiste en agregar tres servicios opcionales y suprimir dos servicios de la lista de servicios telefónicos locales a disposición del usuario en Texas.

Las adiciones propuestas al arancel del servicio telefónico local incluyen un Servicio Medido Local opcional según el cual todos los clientes residenciales y los clientes comerciales con línea única pagarían tarifas mensuales menores que la tarifa fija para servicios de línea única, con un cargo adicional por cada llamada completa efectuada desde ese teléfono, establecido según la hora, la distancia y la duración de cada llamada, así como un servicio local subvencionado de LIFELINE que estaría disponible para determinadas personas, según lo establezca la Comisión de Servicios Públicos. La tarifa mensual para el servicio de LIFELINE incluiría 25 llamadas mensuales con un cargo adicional por cada llamada en exceso de 25.

Se propone suprimir del arancel del servicio telefónico local las opciones de servicio medido de un elemento para clientes residenciales y clientes comerciales con línea única, pero esto no afectaría a los clientes actuales.

La compañía no espera que estos servicios adicionales produzcan un aumento de ingresos para Southwestern Bell Telephone.

Toda persona que desee intervenir o participar en el proceso debe notificar a la Comisión lo antes posible. Las solicitudes de intervención, participación o información deben dirigirse a: Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Para obtener mayor información debe llamar a Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division, (512) 458-0223 o (512) 458-0227, o al (512) 458-0221 si requiere teletipo para sordos.

Homers not enough in Steers 8-4 loss

MIDLAND — Back to back home runs in the top of the sixth inning were not enough here Wednesday afternoon as the Big Spring Steers suffered their 10th loss without a win in District 4-5A baseball action with Midland High, 8-4.

The Steers avoided a shutout, however with the blasts from Jerry Anderson and Jay Pirkle. Until both players hit their shots Midland held the upper hand, 8-0.

Anderson's was a three run shot that also brought home John Hart who had singled and Danny Arista who made first via a walk.

All total Big Spring collected six hits, led by two from Anderson.

Midland banged out nine hits against the combined arms of starter Tommy Gartman and reliever David Renteria.

Gartman lasted until the fourth. He left behind five hits, five strikeouts, two hit batters and five walks. Renteria struckout one.

Big Spring will be searching for its first district win when the Steers play host to Odessa High School Saturday, Apr. 14 at 2 p.m.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This Friday the thirteenth has no jinx attached to it. Later in the evening, you and those about you are apt to complain and see the drab and dark side of things.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A good day to keep busy at whatever work is ahead of you and get much accomplished, no matter where.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Improve your appearance whether at home or in professional hands. Set up appointments for entertainment during the weekend.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Give more attention to home matters and plan to do some interesting entertaining of the right people during the daytime.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Fine day for shopping and running errands. Later you can visit with good friends. Go over any statements or reports.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Handle financial affairs well and then set up a more workable budget. Avoid one who likes to waste your valuable time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good day to get your health and appearance improved and become more dynamic. During spare hours, visit good friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have many small duties to perform and should get at them early. Come to a better understanding with your closest tie.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study your relationship with friends and how to improve them, and plan how to return social favors.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Analyze how well you have handled career duties and decide how to accomplish more in the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study into more modern methods and plan how to get them in operation so that you can get ahead faster.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can do much now to improve the situation with your mate and be happier in the days ahead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study into business and civic affairs during the daytime and see how they can be of greater help to you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can get conditions so organized that they will run very smoothly and not encounter any hitches. Give as fine a technological education as you can and a great deal of money can be made during the lifetime.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Public Notice NOTICE OF INTENTION OF THE COUNTY JUDGE, GLASSCOCK COUNTY, TEXAS To Sell A 14-Acre Tract of Abandoned Highway Land Described Below TO: All Whom It May Concern:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the County Judge of Glasscock County, Texas, will sell to Edith Cook Books, as her separate property, as the abutting and adjoining landowner at the fair market price less the fair market price of certain exchanged easements and fence work, the following described 14-acre tract of abandoned highway land situated in Glasscock County, Texas, to-wit:

BEGINNING at the Northwest corner of Section 11, Block 24, Township 3 South, T&P Ry. Co. Survey, Glasscock County, Texas; Thence in an Easterly direction 140 yards; Thence in a Southerly direction 490 yards; Thence in a Westerly direction 140 yards; and Thence in a Northerly direction 490 yards to the Place of Beginning and containing 14 acres, more or less. Said Purchaser shall pay the cost of appraisals and notice of publication.

The Commissioners Court of Glasscock County, Texas will meet at 9:00 A.M. on the 14th day of May, 1984 to consider such appraisals and will cause said tract to be conveyed to Edith Cook Books, as her separate property; provided, however, that if, in the opinion of said Commissioners Court, the appraisals submitted do not represent the fair market value of (a) said 14-acre tract and (b) said exchanged easements and fence work, then said Commissioners Court may, in its discretion, reject said offer of sale.

WITNESS MY HAND this 9th day of April, 1984. SIGNED: JOHN E. ROBINSON County Judge of Glasscock County, Texas ATTEST: BETTY PATE County Clerk 1748, April 12, 19 & 26, 1984

Judge, sheriff meet over child custody case

STANTON — A state district judge and the Martin County sheriff were to meet today to discuss the controversial handling of a child custody case involving a Stanton girl who is now missing along with her parents.

The child was placed in a foster home by the Texas

Department of Human Resources in August 1982 after she suffered severe injuries.

Her 19-year-old mother, Juana Martinez, was convicted of felony injury to a child, then 3 months old, and sentenced to three years in prison by 118th District Court Judge

James Gregg.

Mrs. Martinez served 13 months in a Gainesville prison before returning Dec. 23, 1983 to Stanton and her 59-year-old husband Jesus, according to Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders.

return it to its foster parents."

Gregg said this morning he planned to meet with Saunders today at 1 p.m. in the district judge's office.

officer in charge of the case was no longer with the agency and that the file on the case had been closed and that TDHR did not intend to take any further action.

"The result of the inaction is to pass custody of the child back to the parents (the mother having been paroled) without any investigation, counseling, or supervision. The responsibility for any legal action to retain the child has fallen back to the Loyas..." Morris wrote.

Tea, book sale help library in celebration

The Howard County Library is holding two events to celebrate National Library Week.

The Silver Tea, slated from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Saturday, is held annually to encourage awareness of the library's function in the community, said librarian Judith Gray.

The event began in 1917, when those attending donated silver coins. This year, people who attend will be encouraged but not required to donate to the library. Money will be set aside for future building plans.

Donna Gray, children's librarian, said, "Overcrowding is a serious problem in our library. The answer is not to stop buying books. The situation has progressed to the stage where renovation, once considered a solution, will no longer be the answer. A new building will be required to adequately house the collection and meet the needs of the community."

Individuals or groups interested in a tour of the library may contact Ms. Gray for an appointment. The book sale, a semi-annual event sponsored by the Friends of the Library, will be held Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Among books available are biographies, religious texts, books on travel, art and science, the Reader's Digest Condensed Books, magazines, westerns, mysteries, science fiction and general fiction.

A large number of National Geographic magazines, dating from the 1960s, will be available. Issues of Look and Life from the 1960s have been donated and will be sold for 25 cents each.

Texas companies want global network

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Three companies have proposed a sophisticated telecommunications center called Texas Teleport, which would give San Antonio an exclusive window on satellite communications to Asia and Europe.

A teleport is a telecommunications network that allows users to transmit and receive voice, data and video modes of communication — usually satellite, microwave or optical fiber.

San Antonio's geographic location makes it ideal for a major global communications center, said Andy Lagueruela, chairman of Satelco, a long-distance telephone company involved in the project.

Earth stations here could reach satellites in stationary orbit that connect Europe with the eastern U.S. and Asia with the western U.S., he said.

"That's unique among the nation's largest cities," Langueruela said, noting that Dallas is too far east to bounce signals off satellites 22,000 above the Pacific Ocean.

Currently, only London, Tokyo and Hong Kong have operational teleports, Lagueruela said.

The other two companies organizing the Texas Teleport each plan to set up a port in San Antonio, which would be linked together by satellite.

In addition to Satelco, the project involves Ray Ellison Industries of San Antonio and Notre Dame Development of Phoenix.

Ellison Development Co. President John Crone has asked the City Council to rezone the land that would be used for its teleport, but said later Tuesday that it would be "premature" to discuss the proposal further.

"It might hurt San Antonio's chances of pulling this off," Crone said. "It's kind of like Thomas Edison with a lightbulb, but no patent. Somebody else may steal a good idea."

Hispanic voter registration up

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Although a drive to register 3,500 Mexican-American voters in Corpus Christi ended 1,200 voters short of the mark, officials said Hispanic voter registration statewide is on target.

Armando Villareal, field operation staff member of the San Antonio-based Southwest Voter Registration Education Project, said midway through the voter registration effort, "We're on target and every voter we've registered so far will be significant in elections at the local level."

In 27 campaigns around the state, the project has registered 90,000 voters. Statewide, a goal of 200,000 new voters has been set, part of an effort to register one million new Hispanic voters nationwide before the presidential elections in November.

Villareal said the first phase of the campaign ended last week, 30 days before the state primary. The registration campaign will resume in August and conclude in October, 30 days before the national elections.

"After the national political conventions this summer there will be more interest focused on voter registration and it should be easy to reach and surpass our goal," Villareal said.

In Corpus Christi, 2,300 new voters were registered toward a goal of 3,500, said Homero Villareal, co-chairman of the Voter Registration Education Project.

The Corpus Christi group operated under a contract with the Southwest Voter Registration Education Project and received $3,683 from the San Antonio group to fund the drive.

Registration organizers said the Corpus Christi drive might have been more successful by mid-point if it had started earlier.

Willie Velasquez, executive director of the San Antonio group, said Corpus Christi already had one of the highest voter registration rates in Texas. About 67 percent of eligible Hispanics were registered in the Corpus Christi area last August.

Velasquez predicted the nationwide campaign would meet the one million voter goal or surpass it by 50,000

Apartments fill with nudes

HOUSTON (AP) — A southwest Houston apartment complex that went "clothing optional" April 1 is not lacking for tenants, the manager says.

Veal Johnson, vice president of Corsun Financial Corp., which manages the Club Fieldstone complex, refused to disclose the number of tenants but said business is good.

Johnson said he has a waiting list of single men who want to move in but said he wants to keep a balance of single men, single women and family tenants.

Linda, a 33-year-old tenant who asked that her last name not be used, said the complex "is starting out to be a family-type situation. More people are getting together more and having a great time."

"Since we converted, we've been horded with people," said Linda, who has chosen to keep her clothes on.

But Joyce Reynolds, another tenant, said she's seen "quite a few vacant apartments, and there are not many cars in the parking lot on week days."

Ms. Reynolds said she's spotted several people driving by the apartments hoping to see unclothed residents.

The Bottom Line by Tonya

Pop called, to remind me to tell you that the deadline for signing up for GRAIN SORGHUM is the 15th of April. Seems like they didn't move the Grain Sorghum deadline up like they did Cotton.

Sure wish I could convince Pop that I'm capable of handling things like that on my own. Besides producers in this area keep up with things like that. Especially when they effect their farming operation. Oh Well! I'll always be just a kid to him, that has got to be watched like a "chicken hawk chasing a cottontail."
