Run-off election set for District 3

A run-off election between Big Spring City Council District 3 candidates Harold Hall and Danny Heckler has been set for Saturday, April 28.

The council meet in special session for about five minutes this morning to pass the emergency election ordinance naming the date.

Under the ordinance, Hall's name will appear first on the ballot. Polling places were set for the Wasson Road and 18th and Main fire stations. Voters in Precinct 202-W3 and Precinct 302-W3 will vote at 18th and Main, and voters in Precinct 303-W3 will vote at Wasson Road.

During city balloting April 7, Hall was unable to tally a majority, throwing the District 3 race into a run-off. Hall finished with 43.8 percent of the ballots cast, while Heckler received 23.5 percent.

Spring Price of fish ups inflation rate

Wholesale prices spurted 0.5 percent in March, the second-biggest jump in 16 months, as a huge increase in prices for fresh fish pushed overall food costs upward, the government reported today.

The 0.8 percent jump in food costs outweighed a 1.2 percent decline in March energy prices, which drop-ped for the seventh time in nine months, according to the Labor Department's Producer Price Index for finished goods

Food prices actually would have declined slightly except for a 30.2 percent increase in fish prices, which Labor Department officials said rose because bad weather drastically slowed fishing off the Northeast coast in March.

The overall 0.5 percent increase in the index followed rises of 0.6 percent in January and 0.4 percent in February.

Prices so far this year are rising at an annual rate of 6.1 percent, a level well above the rates of 0.6 percent for all of 1983 and 3.7 percent

Economists and government officials are now forecasting an inflation rate of about 4 percent for all of

For the first three months of the year, food prices have surged at an annual rate of 17.8 percent. Officials say bad weather in the South is partly to blame.

Other details of the report said: -Auto prices rose 0.7 percent after jumping 1.4 percent in -Capital equipment climbed 0.3

percent following a 0.5 percent rise the previous month.

-Clothing costs rose 0.5 percent after increasing 0.6 percent in

Within the overall food category, prices rose for fish, vegetables, oultry, beef and veal while declining for fresh fruits, pork, dairy products and eggs.

In the energy category, prices declined 2.3 percent for natural gas and 1.5 percent for gasoline. Heating oil costs rose 1.4 percent, but that was well down from February's 8.2 percent.

If March's overall price increase of 0.5 percent were to be repeated 12 straight months, the yearly advance would be 5.9 percent. That annual rate computed by Labor Department economists is based on more precise calculations of monthly prices than the figures made

In all, the Producer Price Index for finished goods stood at 291.7 in March, meaning that goods costing $10 in the base year of 1967 would have cost $29.17.

Today's report measures monthto-month changes in prices paid to producers for food, energy products and other items. The prices American consumers actually pay — often to retailers — are measured by the Consumer Price index, but the Producer Price Index often gives a good idea where consumer prices are heading.

The figures are adjusted to discount for normal seasonal variations in weather and production

SAN ANGELO - The jurors who convicted Henry Lee Lucas of capital murder return to court today to determine if the self-styled mass killer deserves death or life in prison. Prosecutors indicated they would hear evidence of four LUCAS other alleged Lucas slayings during the punishment phase Lucas, who admits to 360 murders, has now been convicted of three Texas murders, and is charged with 17 others in Texas and five other states, including one 1982 murder in Big Spring. He and his sometime travelling companion, Ottis Elwood Toole, are charged with capital murder in the April 25, 1982 death in Big Spring of

Odessan Happy Howry

According to the 118th District Attorney's office, Lucas and Toole killed Howry, the manager of the J.C. Penneys' shoe department in Odessa, by striking him on the head with a tire tool during the course of a robbery. Toole also is charged with murder in the Big Spring shooting death on June 1, 1982 of a Meridian, Miss., hitchiker, 22-year-old William Boyd

The panel of eight women and eight men ruled Thursday Lucas strangled, raped and robbed a young unidentified hitchhiker in October 1979 and dumped her body in a culvert near Georgetown.

Jurors faced their final decision today and they had but two options: assess Lucas life in prison or death by lethal injection.

Missing girl to be returned

By JIM BROWN Staff Writer

STANTON - The Martin County sheriff said this morning a 2-yearold Stanton girl, a victim of child abuse two years ago who has been missing with her parents since Saturday, will be returned to her foster home today.

The girl, daughter of Juana and Jesus Martinez, was placed with foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alberto Loya of Midland, after the child suffered serious injuries in August

Mrs. Martinez later was convicted of felony injury to a child and served 13 months at a state prison in Gainesville.

The girl's father took the child from the Loya's last week after the Texas Department of Human Resources relinquished supervision of the case 118th District Judge Jim Gregg Saturday issued a writ of attachment to keep the baby from its parents, but the order was not served and the Martinez family could not be contacted.

Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders said today, however, that he is "negotiating terms with the Martinezes for the return of the baby to the Loyas . There are aspects of this case that I can't discuss. The baby is absolutly all

Fraser chosen school board president

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

Big Spring school trustees reorganized their board and updated local policies during their meeting Thursday. Second-term trustee Dewayne Fraser, who ran unopposed from District 3 in the April 7 elections, was chosen president of the board.

District employees now may accumulate up to 50 days of local leave. Prior to Thursday's meeting employees could accumulate only 20 days of local leave. At a rate of five days of sick leave per year, new employees would need 10 years to accumulate the 50 days local leave

Auxiliary personnel may accumulate 60 local leave days. They had been receiving a total accumulation of 30 days prior to Thursday's meeting.

Trustees extended compensation for perfect attendance. Professional employees who attain perfect attendance during a school year will receive a bonus of $350. Other full-time employees receive $175. Trustees approved a policy in which all purchasing for the district will be done through the central business office. Superintendent Lynn Hise said this policy was initiated so equipment purchased for the district would be standardized.

Hise explained that several local groups had expressed interest in purchasing computers for the system. Because the district assumes responsibility for maintenance and purchase of software, the new policy allows the district to purchase computers which fit the needs of the course of study in particular areas.

Other officers named for the board are Al Valdes, vice president, and Dan Wise, secretary. Billy Pineda was seated as a new member Assistant Superintendent Harold Bentley told trustees there are 254 less students in school now than at the same time last year. Bentley said there were 196 fewer students in elementary schools and 60 less in secondary schools.

Trustees were told that $81,726.12 in delinquent taxes had been collected in March.

RED OAK, Texas (AP) - This North Texas community has no police protection of its own after the City Council Thursday fired Police Chief Maurice Lowrey and 12 officers resigned a few minutes later.

Council member Leon Long, who recommended Lowrey be fired, said that the police chief had not "met the expectations of the City of Red Oak" and had failed to carry out his duties effectively.

Until a new force can be assembled, the city will be by the Ellis County Sheriff's Dep Mayor Dan Bevans.

Citizens attending the emergency meeting seemed to suppport Lowrey, who was given a standing ovation after emerging from a closed door session with the

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) - Until recently, the ride down Mount Pleasant's main drag hasn't been anything out of the ordinary. There's always been hamburger joints, car washes, real estate offices and the square. On the square, the Titus County courthouse is surrounded by a variety of businesses. The town's main banks are in the immediate

It wasn't any different than in a hundred other small Texas towns.

Until now Traffic going through downtown has slowed somewhat in recent weeks, people driving past usually take a few extra seconds to take in the Panda and Dragon on the corner of 2nd and Madison.

The Panda and Dragon aren't real, just images painted in a mural on the side of a business announcing that the Mount Pleasant High School Choir is going to The People's Republic of China. Or at least, they are trying to get there.

Back in November, Choir Director Mike Templeton appeared before the school board to ask if his group could make its annual trip to a more exotic land than might be usual. Last year it was St. Louis, the year before Tennessee. Now, they wanted to visit the Middle Kingdom.

"It (the invitation) was a very shocking thing," Templeton said. "But I feel like we deserved it. We've earned it."

Templeton's group is probably more well known outside of the Mount Pleasant area, where they've performed to rave reviews by top music educators around the state. At the Texas Music Educators Convention in Fort Worth recently, the MPHS Choir was among the elite of the state chosen to perform.

Templeton believes in his choir and points to other values the singers bring to the community other than those of entertainment.

"Our recording from the TMEC shows the educational value of what we do," he said. "We sing in German, Latin and Italian. Many people in the state feel we are leaders in performing music from the 16th century. I believe the invitation (to China) came because of our educational abilities.

Things began in October, 1983 when Templeton received a letter from Dr. Joseph H. Bellamah, president of International Music Tours. The letter said the selection of the group was predicated on a strong recommendation by Dr. Gary Ebensberger, director of Choral Activities at the University of Texas at Arlington.

Templeton took time to consider the invitation, then began discussing the matter with the directors of the Choir Boosters, a parents organization. Finally the matter was brought to the school board.

"By the time we got to the school board, people were talking about it all over town. I didn't have any negative feelings about what the board would decide, but I wasn't totally confident.

The board, after some discussion, did agree that the choir could go to China, but said no funds would be forthcoming from the Mount Pleasant Independent School District for the adventure.

Though some weren't thrilled with the school board's attitude, townspeople set about the awesome task of trying to find $114,000 that would be needed. They turned for help to Nancy Chambers, who immediately got the ball rolling.
"It sounded like a lot of money," she said. "But I felt like we could raise a big part of it. Then we could find someone to help make up the difference."

Chambers corresponded with the Westlake Symphonic band of Austin, also making a China trip in June. The Austin group had been faced with raising $190,000 for its trip, but had the added advantage of more time ... 12 months more time.

Still, with only a few projects such as car washes, valentine promotions and other events, the MPHS Choir's China Fund has grown to almost $70,000 in just four months.

"That was beyond my expectations," Chambers said. "When we started, I truly felt that the people of Mount Pleasant would produce. This trip is a once in a lifetime opportunity for those kids that we just couldn't afford to pass up.'

The community began donating money just after the school board approved the trip. Titus County that collected several thousand dollars. Area banks got on the bandwagon and chipped in cash, while citizens and businesses sponsored choir members with cash donations.

"I am overwhelmed by the response from the people that have supported us," Templeton said. "To raise that much money is phenomenal."

Now with $40,000 left to raise, Chambers said she can see the light at the end of the tunnel, and is planning to expand the fundraising throughout the "This is bigger than Mount Pleasant," she said.

Wilder hunt moves to NY

PENN YAN, N.Y. (AP) - The nationwide hunt for murder-kidnap suspect Christopher Wilder focused on upstate New York today, where the former racing driver is suspected of killing a 33-year-old woman and stabbing an teen-ager before pushing her out of his car. A state police spokesman in Albany said troopers were on "maximum alert" and local police were checking motels for signs of the man named in warrants for three murders, four disappearances and one kidnapping on a trail that leads from the East Coast to California and back.

Beauty pageant operators nationwide meanwhile were warned at the FBI's request to be alert for the 39-year-old Wilder, whom agents say preys on attractive young women with promises of modeling for photographs.

Wilder, who is from Australia, allegedly abducted 16-year-old Dawnette Sue Wilt of Dyer, Ind., at gunpoint from an Indiana shopping mall earlier this week, the FBI said Thursday.

A motorist found Miss Wilt walking in central New York State along a rural road near Penn Yan on Thursday, the Yates County sheriff's department said. She had surgery for several stab wounds and was in guard-ed condition at Soldiers and Sailors Hospital. A young woman with Wilder when Miss Wilt was kidnapped was believed to be a California teen-ager last seen April 4 in a shopping center.

Three hours after Miss Wilt was found, a deliveryman 20 miles away found the body of Beth S. Dodge, 33, behind a hill in the town of Victor. The Monroe County medical examiner said she had been killed at about noon with one shot in the back the head. 'There was no sign of violence,' said state Trooper

Michael Poisson. "There was no sign of a struggle."
A maroon Mercury Cougar that Wilder had been driving was found three miles away Thursday night. Wilder is now believed to be driving Ms. Dodge's car, a 1982 gold-colored Pontiac Trans-Am, state police said. State police across western New York were looking for the car, bearing New York license plate number

The FBI considers the latest development in Wilder's flight across the United States "solid enough so we're very concerned," FBI agent Philip D. Smith told a news conference in Buffalo on Thursday. "It's a very good chance this could be Christopher Wilder."

Smith said Wilder had been "definitely and positively identified as the individual that abducted a young lady and was responsible for her being placed in Penn In Atlantic City, N.J., the executive director of the

AT&T threatens long distance rate request

AUSTIN (AP) — An AT&T Communications executive threatened today to push for a long distance rate increase of up to 30 percent if the Public Utility Commission approves a recommended increase for Southwestern Bell.

PUC examiners have proposed an $855 million hike for Bell, with most of it coming from long distance companies such as AT&T, and only an average of 36 cents a month coming from residential ratepayers. Tom Jones, AT&T vice president for external affairs, told a news conference that the increased distance rates. "They are attempting to persuade local telephone customers that they are only going to pay 36 cents a month more to defray Southwestern Bell's alleged increased cost of providing service," said Jones. "That's simply untrue. In fact, people here in Texas would ultimately pay more for the same service they receive

He called for a local rate increase of about $3 a month, which, he said would not "create a hardship for Jones said approval of the examiners' report in the

Bell case would mean AT&T would need the nation's highest long distance rates in order to cover its payments to Bell. Earlier this year, AT&T filed for a $300 million long distance rate increase. However, the company on March 13 asked the commission to withdraw the case. Jones said the casae might be reactivated if the Bell case report is approved.

The PUC is scheduled to rule in the Bell case on April

C. America plans under fire

WASHINGTON - Congress is firmly on record against CIA-backed mining of Nicaraguan harbors, a group of House Democrats is demanding an investigation of U.S. policy in Central America, and President Reagan must wait for a decision on emergency military aid to El Salvador.

This was the situation today as the House started an 11-day recess and the Senate also prepared to take time off for Easter after a week in which Reagan's program to stem communism in Central America suffered unprecedented reverses.

Earlier Thursday, Nicaraguan Army Chief of RONALD REAGAN Staff Joaquin Cuadra Lacayo said in Managua that it appeared the U.S.-directed mining operation had been halted since no port traffic has been disrupted for two The Democrat-led House passed, 281-111 Thursday night, a non-binding resolution calling for an end to the spending of U.S. funds to help rebels against Nicaragua's leftist government lay mines in the seaports of the Central American country.

The Republican-dominated Senate approved a resolution to the same effect by a vote of 84-12 Tuesday. Administration officials say privately that the mining had already been stopped and will probably not

Meanwhile, Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and 12 committee Democrats wrote Attorney General William French Smith asking for appointment of a special prosecutor to see whether the administration is violating the Neutrality Act by helping Nicaraguan guerrillas.

Their letter suggested the prosecutor should "investigate and, if necessary, prosecute" the president and other officials including Secretary of State George P. Shultz and CIA Director William Casey. A spokesman for Smith, who has 30 days to respond to the letter, said the attorney general would have no immediate comment.

The letter said the CIA, at Reagan's request, had outlined "a plan to covertly aid, fund and participate in a military expedition and enterprise utilizing Nicaraguan exiles for the purpose of attacking and overthrowing the government of Nicaragua."

The Neutrality Act, passed in 1794, forbids U.S. citizens from supporting or taking part in a military action against a foreign country with whom the United States is not at war.

Shuttle in routine landing

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE - Challenger's astronauts, diverted from a Florida landing by bad weather, swooped out of orbit and glided to Earth today on a California desert lakebed after a weeklong mission that saved a derelict satellite and opened an era of spacecraft servicing.

Commander Robert Crippen and pilot Dick Scobee guided the 98-ton shuttle to a centerline touchdown at 16 minutes after sunrise, 5:38 a.m. PST, and rolled to a stop on the hard-packed sand. Only a few spectators were on hand because of the late decision to shift the landing to Edwards, where eight of the first 10 shuttle missions also ended.

"Welcome back on Friday the 41-Charlie," Mission The current flight was originally designated STS-13, but NASA changed its name to 41-C, and the astronauts took to calling any number 13 "41-Charlie."

Skies were bright blue at Edwards, in contrast to pouring rain at the Cape. The shuttle was over the Indian Ocean in its 107th orbit when Crippen and Scobee triggered its orbital engines for four minutes. That slowed the speed by 313 mph, enough to start its hourlong plunge on a supersonic glide over the Pacific Ocean and into Edwards in the Mojave Desert.

Challenger's five crewmen - who dubbed themselves the "Ace Satellite Repair Co." for their fix of the Solar Max spacecraft — had planned to land at their home port of Cape Canaveral after a 3-millionmile journey. They were just 10 minutes from firing the braking rockets when a weather plane reported low clouds and rain moving over the Kennedy Space Center runway there.

NASA, which brought the shuttle down in Florida for the first time last February, prefers landing there because of the time and money it saves preparing for

But after realizing that the Florida weather was only going to get worse, Mission Control waved the astronauts off.

"KSC is getting worse, with rain shower ... So we'll be going to Edwards."

Israelis free hijacked bus

DIR AL BALAH, Gaza Strip — Israeli troops with assault rifles and stun grenades today stormed a hijacked bus, killing four bomb-wielding Arab terrorists and freeing about two dozen passengers held hostage for 10 hours. A 19-year-old woman passenger also was killed in a fierce pre-dawn assault on the bus that lasted only seconds, the military said. It identified her as an Israeli soldier, Corp. Irit Portugez. Seven other passengers were wounded, military officials said. The soldiers rushed the bus from bushes alongside the road, firing rifles and tossing stun grenades as they scaled the sides of the vehicle and entered through the

"Well done, well done," shouted a white-haired passenger as he emerged from the bus when the siege ended.

The military today confirmed reports by army radio and Israel radio that all four hijackers were killed. Earlier in the day, a military communique said two hijackers were killed and two were captured.

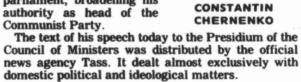

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a Marxist wing of the Palestine Liberation Organization, issued a statement in Damascus, Syria, claiming responsibility for the attack. "The forthcoming days will see a number of spectacular operations in the occupied territories," it added.

Chernenko stresses caring

MOSCOW — Soviet President Konstantin Chernenko told top government officials today that authorities should be more more responsive to citizen concerns.

He stressed the importance of local government officials assuring that social needs such as housing, transportation and medical care are met so that "the Soviet person would feel the constant care of the people's authorities everywhere.

Chernenko was elected president Wednesday by the Supreme Soviet, or the parliament, broadening his authority as head of the Communist Party.

Chernenko said the Supreme Soviet, which meets twice a year for a day or two, should become more involved in discussing questions of national interest.

"It is necessary to insistently perfect our democratic forms of work, to fill them with concrete political content, to use broader publicity in activities of the Supreme Soviet," he said. He specifically called for more extensive coverage of government activities in the state-run press

"The rights of the Soviets (governing bodies) are extensive," Chernenko said. "Only it is necessary to use them properly, to eradicate formalism, to get rid of passivity and to take up active and creative attitudes in all matters.

Weather -The Forecast For 7 p.m. EST Rain Snow Friday, April 13 •High Temperatures Showers Flurries **

West Texas: Sunny days and clear at night through Saturday. No important temperature changes with highs today and Saturday mid 60s Panhandle to near 30 Concho Valley and far west to mid 90s Big Bend valleys. Lows mid 30s Panhandle to mid 40s Concho Valley and far west to mid 50s Big Bend.

Clear skies prevail in state

A weak, stationary cold front brought dense fog and occasional light drizzle t parts of Southeast Texas today, prompting a travelers' advisory, and forecasters predicted cooler temperatures later.

The front stretched from Southeast Texas along the coastal plains and southward across the Rio Grande into Central Mexico. Patchy areas of low clouds and light fog dotted the lower coastal plains and the lower Rio Grande valley with high thin clouds spreading across the Panhandle.

A high-pressure system elsewhere in the state brought clear skies. Winds were west to northwest at 5 to 15 mph across the Panhandle and the northern South Plains, and light northerly over parts of Southeast Texas and along the Gulf Coast.

Temperatures ranged from the 40s and 50s with readings in the 60s over much of South Texas and the coastal plains. Extreme readings were 40 degrees at Marfa and 70 degrees at McAllen.

It should be mostly fair and cooler statewide tonight and Saturday, except for mostly cloudy skies over the coast and extreme South Texas tonight. High temperatures Friday were expected in the mid 60s over the Panhandle to the 70s and 80s elsewhere, except the mid 90s over the desert

Rain and now fell over the northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley today as a storm system that spawned tornadoes and heavy thunderstorms in Illinois moved east.

A travelers' advisory was in effect this morning for north central North Dakota, where forecasters said up to 4 inches of snow could fall. More than 2 inches was already on the ground in Bismarck, N.D., early today.

Rain showers also extended from eastern lower Michigan through central Ohio and eastern Kentucky into northeastern Mississippi.

Severe thunderstorms spawned high winds and at least five tornadoes in central Illinois on Thursday evening, and several injuries were reported, the National Weather Service reported.

Several homes and farm buildings were destroyed or damaged from twisters that struck Toledo, Ill., north of Paxton and northeast of Newton, Ill. Strong thunderstorm winds overturned a trailer and damaged several others near Danville, Ill., and caused extensive damage to a couple of homes at Montrose, Ill., the weather service said. Strong northerly winds were ushering cold air into Nebraska and the Dakotas early today with temperatures generally in the 30s across the northern and central Plains

Today's forecast called for rain showers across the Great Lakes, Ohio Valley, upper Mississippi Valley, middle Missouri Valley and North Dakota.

High temperatures were expected to reach only the 40s in northern New England, Minnesota and much of the Dakotas. South Florida, southern Texas and the inland Southwest were expected to reach

Generation gap growing old now

The election year has already produced a surfeit of polls, but for those who take their comfort wherever they can find it, a recent report from the National Association of Secondary School Principals may be of interest.

The association's annual poll of 1,000 youngsters 13 to 18 years old reveals that "the generation gap is now only a hairline fracture," in the words of one principal.

Youngsters were found to be more satisfied with their lives, more interested in their families and more respectful of parents and other adults.

And despite an increasing fear of nuclear war, they are more optimistic about their personal and economic futures. Unlike their 1960s counterparts, they are not turned off by the "establishment." In fact, they are looking forward to being

If the reception home builders gave Ronald Reagan in Dallas yesterday is any indication, the economy will be no bread-andbutter issue for the president in this fall's election.

And it's a domestic issue that will spill over into wider questions of foreign policy

To say that the builders' greeting to Reagan was chilly would be an understatement.

Repeatedly, as the president tried to chalk up points for his economic program, the builders voiced their fears that high interest rates would choke the expansion of which the Reagan team is so proud.

His trip to Dallas, along with a stop-over Wednesday at a Missouri Ford plant, had been touted as a journey to highlight the economic recovery Indeed, to the undiscerning eye, Reagan has much to be proud of. Inflation stands at its lowest ebb in a decade. Unemployment, though still high by anyone's standards, has been edging down for months, giving some credence to the much maligned "trickle down effect" so ballyhooed early in the president's term of office.

It was with a tone of confidence that the president told automobile workers Wednesday, "We were determined to find a real economic cure, not just a resort, as they had so often in the past, to another political quick fix.

"There have been eight recessions since World War II and sever of those were the political quick fix There's no compassion in snake oil cures. We weathered the storm together and now the sun is shining on a strong economy and an American automobile industry that's moving forward again."

However automobile workers received the president Wednesday Dallas home builders Thursday were not in line with the president's optimism.

Eleven of 12 builders at a rounc table discussion said they are afraic interest rates will kill the recession before it ever takes off, and their are some grounds for their fears.

It is a generally accepted tenet of economics that high government spending drives up interest rates through a combination of forces involving the Federal Reserve Bank (the Fed, as it's called) and the law of supply and demand. This is really not as complicated as some economists would have you believe: The Fed controls the spigo that pumps money into the economy. As a regulatory agency, i is independent of both the Congress and the president. It can let go a flood of money or cut back to a trickle, depending on its policy o. the moment.

All borrowers are in competition for the money, and probably the largest single borrower is the federal government

This is the point at which the size of the federal deficit has its most acute effect on the economy. With so much competition for a finite number of dollars in circulation, the cost for using those dollars - that is, interest rates - is bound to increase with demand.

So why doesn't the Fed simply open all the stops and let go a flood? Inflation!

If too much money circulates in the economy, it seems only natural for sellers to try to gobble it all up with higher prices. Would you miss out on a bigger share of the pie?

Since the time that double-digit inflation racked the economy four years ago, the Fed has been a virtual tightwad about putting money into the economy, and most businessmen give Fed chief Paul Volker the lion's share of the credit for bringing inflation down to its current level

Did you get that? They give the lion's share of the credit to Paul Volker, not Ronald Reagan.

What kind of credit are they giving Reagan? Well, if the Dallas homebuilders are any indication, they're blaming Reagan for the recent rise in interest rates.

And Reagan's only real control on the rates is in how large or small a deficit he runs up (There is, of course, no question that there will be a deficit).

It should be mentioned here that Congress shares control of the deficit with the president, and in their sharing lies the seeds of a great, brawling, quintessentially American political campaign.

In the coming months we can look for a lot of finger-pointing.

A case can be made that Reagan has replaced the Democrat's unbridled social spending of the 60s and 70s with unbridled defense spending for the 80s and beyond. We are told again and again the age of "Star Wars" is upon us.

Is the president doing his part? Will congressional policies return us to recession? These are really only side questions.

The question that will cut deepest in this campaign, the question that is only now emerging in the papers and in the national consciousness, is whether Americans are willing to pay such a high price for maintaining a superpower's pre-eminence.

Bending the rules for a boon-doggle

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration is bending the rules to promote a $233 million boon-doggle in Southern California. It rises in the mountains east of Los Angeles, runs through fertile valleys of avocado groves, and reaches the Pacific near the Marine Corps' Camp Pendleton

Damming the Santa Margarita would supposedly provide water for the avocado groves and the nearby community, as well as flood control for the Marine base. These benefits are cited to justify the cost of the project

What proponents don't mention is the enormous benefit that could accrue to land developers and speculators from the lake the dams will create. Eager salesmen are already offering lots on the future lakefront.

In addition, avocado groves are notorious tax shelters — hardly the kind of irrigation beneficiaries that should be funded by the

The Pentagon is enthusiastic about the project and included it in a secret budget report sent to the Navy. Interior Secretary William Clark has given the Santa Margarita dams a high priority, and has said he plans to brief President Reagan on them personally.

Presidential counselor and Attorney General-Edwin Meese is another administration insider who has taken an interest in the project. After meeting the manager of the Fallbrook Public Utility District, the local utility that has been pushing for the dams, Meese wrote him a letter on Oct. 27, 1982. This was long before the administration publicly supported Santa Margarita. My associates Donald Goldberg and Corky Johnson obtained a copy of the letter.

Meese wrote: "Although it is too early to predict the final outcome. ... I want to assure you that we will be giving very serious consideration to Santa Margarita as a possible new construction start ...

The Fallbrook Public Utility District's public relations consultant for the dams project is Robert Garrick, a retired admiral and old Reagan hand. He served as Meese's deputy in the White House until September 1981, when he returned to his avocado grove in Bonsail, next door to Fallbrook.

Garrick denied he lobbied for Meese's support on Santa Margarita. He said Meese and other Californians in the administration are simply concerned about the growing water shortage in the area.

Environmentalists and other critics of the proposed dams say the project would have unpredictable effects on four endangered species and on beaches that depend on sand carried to the ocean by the river. The critics contend that the project would provide only 79 cents worth of benefits for each dollar of cost. But the administration has recently decided, in effect, to do away with such guidelines as justification for water projects.

The administration, meanwhile, has shown an unseemly haste to nudge the Santa Margarita project along by approving it before many of the economic and environmental impact studies have been completed. And they note that the White House has requested funds for the dams before they have been authorized by Congress - an unprecedented reversal of standard operating procedure.

Footnote: Interior Department officials defend the project as a "model program." But at $9,660 an acre for irrigation, it will be the most expensive such project ever undertaken by the Bureau of Reclamation.

JUSTICE RECANTS: I reported recently how the Environmental Protection Agency knuckled under to the Energy Department, agreeing to respect DOE's claim of immunity from EPA rules on hazardous waste disposal.

The Justice Department supported EPA. But one day after the EPA-DOE agreement, Justice attorneys were arguing on the other side of the

In a Tennessee suit brought against DOE by environmentalists, Justice attorneys representing DOE filed a brief for dismissal, citing the EPA-DOE agreement the day before.

The two agencies "agreed that ... DOE facilities are not subject to" the waste-disposal law, Justice's brief stated.

Questioned on the matter by Rep. Albert Gore Jr., D-Tenn., EPA administrator William Ruckelshaus quickly denied that the agreement had said any such thing. It was all a "misunderstanding," he said

Justice then wiped the egg off its face with a retraction in the Tennessee case.

WORRY OF THE WEEK: I have warned in the past, citing secret intelligence reports, that the Iran-Iraq war could close the narrow Hormuz Strait and stop the flow of oil from the Persian Gulf. At best, this would send the price of oil spiraling into the stratosphere. At worst, it would inflame the Middle East into a larger war that everyone would lose.

The United States has strengthened the rapid deployment force guarding the Hormuz Strait. But I have seen a secret military assessment, which warns that either Iran or Iraq could block this crucial gateway. My sources say both countries want the outlet to remain open for the sake of their own future oil shipments. But the desperation of Iraq's Saddam Hussein or the fanaticism of Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini could close the Persian Gulf.

Not enough bang for our bucks

I am not one of those taxpayers who is always complaining about the defense budget. I believe the people in the Pentagon know what they're doing, and if they make a billion-dollar mistake here and a billion-dollar mistake there, I think I'm still getting an awful good buy for my dollar.

But every once in a while, even my patience is tested. I lost my cool the other day when a Soviet attack submarine managed to get right underneath the U.S. carrier Kitty Hawk, causing damage to both vessels. It wasn't the cost of the accident that bothered me, but the fact that the carrier didn't know the Russian submarine was there.

"How could this be?" I asked myself quizzically, as I filled out my 1983 tax return. To get an answer, I called a friend at the Pentagon and said, "Look, I've been footing the bill for all sorts of fancy anti-submarine doodads for our ships and planes, and I've taken your word for it that an American aircraft carrier is invulnerable from attack at sea. So how could a Russian submarine get underneath one without our captain knowing about it?'

"That's top secret information," he told me. "Don't give me that," I said. "What happened to all the support ships that I was charged for to protect the flattop?

"They weren't near the carrier when it happened." "Why not?" I asked.

"They were out looking for the Russian submarine. You see, we knew there was a sub in the area, but we lost contact with her. Since we didn't know where she was, we decided to take the carrier out of harm's way. Unfortunately, no one knew the submarine was right under the carrier. "Doesn't the carrier have sonar on board to detect when there is a submarine underneath her?" "It does and it doesn't. It has airplanes on board that have the ability to spot a submarine underwater."

"So where were the airplanes?" "They were on the deck of the carrier. It's not the job of a carrier to protect itself. We have cruisers, destroyers and attack submarines with billions of dollars' worth of sensitive equipment to make sure that an enemy sub doesn't get within attacking distance of the carrier.' "But they missed this one."

"It's our belief the Soviet submarine was lost and didn't even know it was underneath the carrier. It proves their equipment doesn't work any better than

"Are your Navy people rethinking the vulnerability of a carrier in wartime after this incident? After all, they cost me $3.5 billion apiece.'

"On the contrary, we're going full speed ahead with our carrier program. The only thing we may have to do is ask for more money to build extra ships to protect them. Also we're going to design better anti-submarine helicopters and more sophisticated aircraft to detect

"How much is that going to cost me?" "If you have to ask, you can't afford it."

"Look, I went along with you people when you took the U.S.S. New Jersey out of mothballs for $1 billion. You said with its firepower it would become the dreadnought of the seas. When it was stationed off Lebanon the only thing it did was flatten two Druze villages and kill 500 sheep. I don't think I'm getting enough bang for my buck."

"You sound as if you're on THEIR side." "I'm not on the Soviets' side," I said angrily.

"I'm not talking about the Soviets - I'm talking about the U.S. Air Force. They'd love to whittle down our budget so they could get more land-based airplanes for themselves, and people like you are giving them aid and comfort."

'I don't want to take sides between the Navy and the Air Force, but I have budgeted just so many tax dollars to spend on defense, and I don't believe it's too much to ask that when you spend $17 billion to protect one $3.5 billion carrier, that you people know when a Soviet submarine is floating under it.

Bad kids don't mean bad mother

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My children have all turned out to be disasters — drugs, illegitimate children, in trouble with the law, no ambition, etc. It is all my fault, I guess, because I must not have raised them right, and now it just seems like life is not worth living because I am such a failure. - Mrs. T.G.V.

DEAR MRS. T.G.V.: There are many things I wish I could say to you in this brief space, but let me concentrate on several important

First, even if you were not a perfect parent - and none of us is your children (and not you) must bear the ultimate responsibility for their own actions. Yes, there were probably things you could have done to help them more. But we need to remember each individual is accountable in the eyes of God for his or her actions. We can blame our parents, or society, or our environment, or anything else we want to, but while each of these may be a factor, we each are responsible for our own decisions when we do wrong. "The soul who sins is the one who will die ... the wickedness of the wicked will be charged against him" (Ezekiel 18:20).

Second, God loves you, and he wants to forgive you for all your sins — including those you may have committed as a mother and parent. Christ died on the cross to take away your sins, and by faith you can turn to him and ask him to forgive you and cleanse you. "Do I take any pleasure in the death of the wicked? declares the Sovereign Lord. Rather, am I not pleased when they turn from their ways and live?" (Ezekiel 18:23). You are very valuable to God, and you need to turn to Christ and let him take away the failures and sins of the

Then I want you to know that God wants to use you to touch your family for Christ. I don't know your exact situation, but God wants you to pray for your family and wherever possible point them to Christ. They need him, and he is able not only to forgive them but to guide them back on the right path. Perhaps you need to begin by admitting to them that you were not the mother you could have been — but now with Christ's help you want to make up for the past and share his love.

ON THE JOB — President Reagan visits with builder H.L. Martin at a construction site in Grand Prairie,

Hungry thief strikes store

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - A thief who said he was "just hungry" robbed a city councilman's grocery store of $80, an enchilada dinner and an onion, police said. "All the guy wanted was something to eat." said robbery detective Larry Keyes. "He took the money as a Councilman Joe Webb said the robber entered the store about 10:20 a.m. Thursday, picked up the food and then drew a gun.

'He got a gun out and before he said anything, I headed for the cash register," Webb said. "He said, Webb, 48, said it was the first time that his store, the Eastlawn Food Center, had been robbed

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — President Reagan came prepared to take credit for a boom in housing, a bellwether of the economy that is at its healthiest in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

But as soon as he finished his opening remarks Thursday to a panel of representatives from the housing industry, the president found that prosperity has produced pessimism.

Of the 12 panelists who met with Reagan, 11 expressed concern about rising interest rates. Many linked the increases to the federal deficit and many predicted a downturn in their industry by the end of this year. One predicted the downtown could result in a turndown for Reagan at the November polls.

"I think 1985 is a year of risk," said Jack Carlson, executive vice president of the National Association of Realtors, at a panel session before the president

"We've had 18 good months," said James A. Rankin, representing the National Council of Housing Industry. "The question facing us is, will the housing recovery be aborted by high interest rates brought on by the "President Carter didn't listen to us before the 1980 election that without a good, strong housing industry, the president could not be re-elected," he said.

"This uppick in interest rates is something of a real threat that makes my knees tremble even more than appearing before the president of the United States." said Paul Prior, president of the National League of Savings Institutions.

When Reagan arrived, he took credit for the

"The strength surging through your industry and the rest of the economy is no accident," Reagan said in his opening remarks before the panel.

He said that when the Carter administration took over, the prime rate was 7 percent. Four years later, it was 211/2 percent, he said.

The decline of the prime rate from 18 percent down to 13½ percent during his administration meant a $225 a month savings for homebuyers, Reagan said.

One of the strangest things to me is listening to people suggest that we should be frightened because the economy is growing too fast, that too many people are finding jobs and this will push up interest rates," Reagan said. "No one will ever convince me that economic growth is bad. It's good for everybody, especially the homebuilding industry."

David Smith, vice president and secretary of National Home Builders, told Reagan that housing starts in 1983 were up 60 percent over the previous year and were expected to increase even more in 1984.

Dear Abby

Will neutered dog lose spark along with bite?

DEAR ABBY: Regarding your St. Valentine's Day column: You wrote, "Be a sweetheart - spay your dog, neuter your cat, etc.

I realize that you are all for spaying and neutering dogs and cats because there are too many starving animals in the world, but I hate to do this to our dog, "Rocky." He's a 2-year-old male, and we've heard if we neuter him he'll get fat and lose his playful personality. Also, isn't it cruel to deprive a dog of sex after he's already experienced it?

Will it ruin Rocky as a watchdog? Rocky isn't vicious — he just barks at strange noises and people he doesn't know. We like that because we feel safe when he barks. Rocky also has a very playful personality, and we don't want him turned into a fat, lazy, eating and sleeping machine.

Are we right or wrong about these fears?

UNSURE ABOUT ROCKY DEAR UNSURE: My chief veterinarian consultant, Dr. James J. Isaacs of Encino, Calif., says: "It's not true that dogs will become fat as a result of having been neutered or spayed. Animals, like humans, need proper diet and exercise to stay lean and healthy. (Incidentally, spaying a female reduces her chances of uterine infections or breast cancer.) "Because a spayed or neutered guard dog will have fewer distractions, it will be a better guard dog. (A male dog that doesn't have sex on his mind will not be roaming around seeking females 'in season' nor will he get into fights with competitive males over females.) "Does it change a dog's personality? Only for the better."

Dr. Donohue

Guidelines offered for IUD removal

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have some questions about the I.U.D. form of contraception. I have been told that this is a very effective method. If you are using an I.U.D. (loop-type) and are having no problem do you need to have it taken out and a new one put in from time to time? What signs are you looking for to have one removed? — B.C.

IUDs (intrauterine devices) are pretty effective in contraception, but not as effective as the birth control pill. You have to have the loop removed if you are bleeding abnormally, if there is an infection present inside the uterus, or if you are having pain. Otherwise, the plastic loops can be left in place.

Sometimes calcium may form on such a loop and the jagged edges of it can irritate the uterus, causing bleeding or pain. Then it has to be removed. But if you have no symptoms, the loop can be left alone.

There are other IUDs for which this does not apply, and they have to be removed at regular intervals. Those made of copper lose their effectiveness in time and have to be replaced every three to five years.

FOR R.M. — bright red rectal bleeding means trouble in the lower intestinal tract, from the colon (large bowel) down. If bleeding is from a source higher up, then the blood becomes partially digested and turns stools black. So I urge you to have your daughter's lower digestive tract examined. The doctor can tell if the source of bleeding is in the rectal area (caused by hemorrhoid or fissure) or elsewhere. If no such source is found, then the lower part of the colon can be examined with a scope or X-ray. An answer has to be found; delay is unwise.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please explain the difference between endometriosis and pelvic inflammatory disease and how each is diagnosed? —— D.L.

Endometriosis is the finding of uterine lining tissue (endometrium) in places where it shouldn't be. It might be on the ovaries, in the pelvis, even in the rectal region. Wherever it is, it acts as if it were still in the uterus, responding the same way the uterine tissue proper does to monthly changes in hormone levels and bringing on pain because of its aberrant location. Reported symptoms and the viewing of the misplaced tissue itself, for example with a scope device, identify Pelvic inflammatory disease (PID) means an infection of the female reproductive organs, which are located in the pelvic cavity. Listening to the woman's complaints and performing a physical examination of the pelvis, which often reveals the presence of purulent material, confirms PID.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever

Treaty's aftermath discussed at DAR meeting

Dr. Mary Bailey presented a program on the 1783 Treaty of Paris Aftermath at the Captain Daughters of American Revolution meeting April

Bailey gave each person a map of the area included in the treaty and discussed the ten points the United States had set forth. The area was bound by the Atlantic Ocean on the east, the British on the north, the French on the west and Spain on the south. Vast areas of unsettled land and questionable boundries were caused by many skirmishes between the United States and three nations. The boundries were not fully settled until the War of What was known as the American Revolutionary War was in reality a world war involving not only England, the United States and its ally France, but also Spain and the Netherlands. On the same day as the Treaty of Paris was signed between England and United States, treaties also were signed between England and the other beligerants. The whole group of treaties formed the Peace of Paris of 1783.

Mrs. Jack Alexander reported on the state conference in San Antonio in March. A change in the scheduled meetings for November, December and January will be a luncheon on the second Saturday of each month.

The chapter will give the DAR National Library in Washington D.C. a copy of the History of Howard County. The next meeting will be at La Posada Restaurant, May 5.

Of all the jobs Cecil Garner has ever had, he finds his present job as music minister at College Baptist Church the most exciting one.

Garner has been a builder, general contractor and a salesman in the past. "I've had lots of different jobs, and I've tried lots of different things," he says. "But the place where I'm at right now - singing and teaching God's music - is without a doubt the most exciting thing I have ever done.

Music has always been a part of Garner's life. "I've always liked to sing and be part of the choir."

Becoming a music minister was "kind of decided for me. From the time I was a teenager, the Lord has tried to show me that he wanted me doing what I'm doing now. There's nothing I would rather be doing today that what I'm doing now," he said. "I've always liked the church, the people and the music, but it was only at a certain time in my life that I realized the church's music and its meaning was important in my life. In order to share that with people the Lord had to put me where I am today.

During his youth, Garner didn't think about becoming a music minister. "Most people would have been surprised if I had told them early in my life that I was going into church work. It's something that the Lord has had to work out of me in a matter of some 30-odd years. Even I, myself, couldn't have predicted to you that this is where I would be today."

Garner was asked to serve College Baptist Church as its interim music director two years ago. After six months, he was asked to become part-time. In October 1983, he became full-time.

Garner enjoys his work at College Baptist Church. "I didn't choose the church or town but if I was going to choose I couldn't do better. I love the church, the people of the church, and the city of Big Spring."

Although the church has an excellent adult choir

Garner says, he has come up with some goals he would like to accomplish with the choir. "As the church grows I would like to be involved in every phase of music." He wants to see the choir growing spiritually, numerically, and in their basic knowledge of music.

Garner wants each part of the church's music program "to be an outreach to the community and city. Prior to coming to Big Spring, Garner served First Baptist Church of Andrews as interim music minister. Garner graduated from North Texas State University in Denton. He has attended choral workshops at Tarrant County Junior College in Fort Worth and Midland College. His hobbies include fishing, sports and music. Garner and wife Becky have three children, twins

Appeal made to students

WACO, Texas (AP) - After recinding an outright ban of such displays, Baylor University's president has appealed to men students to remove from their dormitory rooms any lewd posters of women or promoting drugs or alcoholic beverages.

"I am now appealing to your basic goodness and your desire, I believe, to always take the high road in life, and to not adorn your walls with unseemly posters of this sort," Herbert H. Reynolds said in requests sent to men's dormitories.

Earlier this year, Reynolds had revoked a ban imposed without his knowledge by Baylor's dean. He says the Southern Baptist institution has consistent ly opposed drinking and photographs demeaning women, but that requesting adherence to that policy is "more effective than an unenforceable edict."

"We can't search ever dorm room every day," he

Perry certified as professional chaplain

MIKE PERRY

The Rev. Thomas Michael Perry, Big Spring State Hospital chaplain, was certified as a professional chaplain by the College of Chaplains at its 38th Annual Convention in Kansas City, Mo., March 25-28.

Certification by the College of Chaplains is granted only to people who meet the high professional stan-dards. The qualifications include college and theological seminary degrees or the equivalent of one year of experience as a chaplain and a minimum of one year of special clinical pastoral education under supervision.

In addition to those qualifications, the applicant submits a series of written essays which reflect an understanding of the role and function of a chaplain, philosophical and theological concepts of ministry in an institution and an intergration of the theories of

McGovern to host 'Saturday Night Live'

NEW YORK (AP) - "Saturday Night Live" has a great tradition of political satire, from Chevy Chase as President Gerald Ford to Eddie Murphy as the Rev. Jesse Jackson. Now, George McGovern will play George McGovern.

"Anybody who's arrogant enough to run for president shouldn't fear 'Saturday Night Live," said McGovern, who stopped running for the White House last month after losing the Massachusetts primary.

Does his stint this Saturday as host of NBC's late-night comedy institution suggest he's now running for the nut house?

"I have to admit I couldn't find any of my advisers who thought it was a good idea," said the former Democratic senator from South Dakota.

But that didn't stop McGovern from throwing his top hat into the ring. If an actor can become president, then a could-have-been president certainly deserves a chance to become a song-and-dance man.

"It's an opportunity to express my humorous side," said McGovern. "Political appearances tend to be somewhat constrained and serious. Here, if I want to I can play the piano, dance, yell, spoof, act out my fantasies and get paid for it."

Plans call for him to play piano in a happy-hour bar and do a little singing, "if that doesn't turn off the audience," he said. One number will be "Brother Can You Spore a Dime?" You Spare a Dime?'

McGovern said he's being paid $5,000, which is the same as his lecture fee. Will this drum up business? "I just hope it doesn't destroy me," he said.
"He's the only host to do the show for the money," cracked Executive Producer Dick Ebersol, referring to McGovern's campaign debt, which will be one subject the ex-candidate plans to address in his opening

NOTICE

I am Garner Thixton, a lifeti resident of Howard County and I am asking for your support to be your FULL TIME Commissioner of precinct 3. I am fully ware of the assets and problems of our community. The assets are too numerous to mention. The few problems we have can be solved if we can get county and city to cooperate on this issue in

One of these issues is rural fire protection and my plan will increase the average response time to a rural fire by at least 15 minutes for the first truck on the scene.

Another issue is something that all citizens of Howard County can use. We have a small lake on the south edge of town that with close cooperation between governing bodies, could provide our young people with a place to meet for recreation and give our senior citizens, whether handicapped or not, an accessible place for picnics or fishing by erecting a pier into the lake with lighted ramps

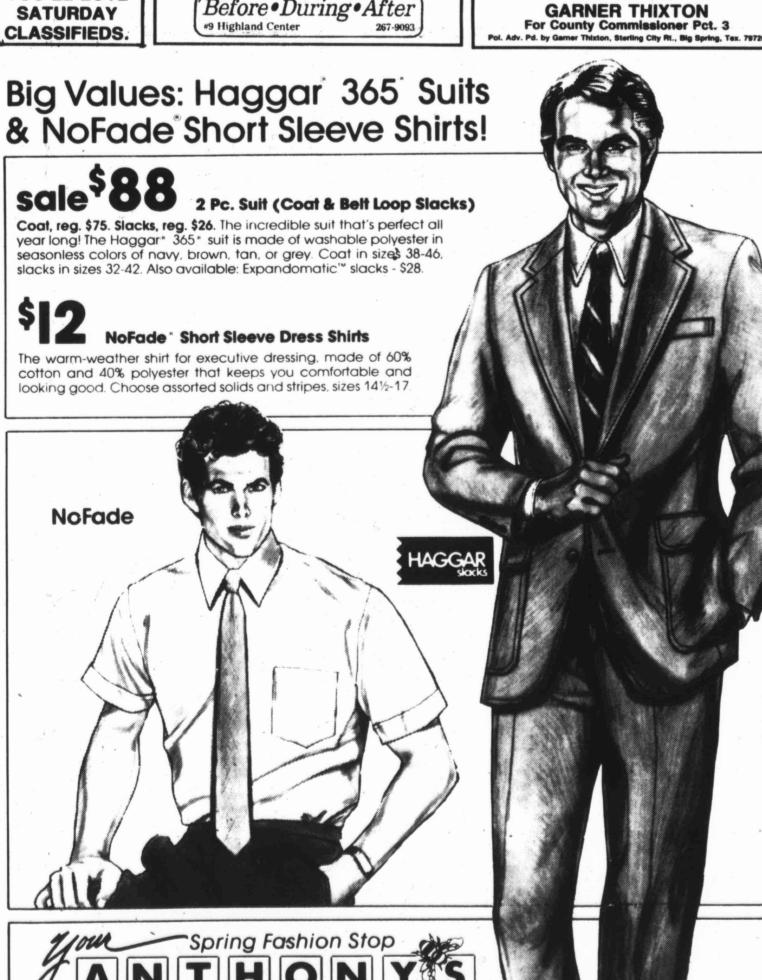

None of this can be accomplished without close cooperation between the county and city governments. I beleive that with God's help I can get the two governing bodies to cooperate on these and other things for the benefit of the community.

When elected, the only thing I can promise you is to pro-secute those who dump trash on our streets and roads when they can be identified, and most trash can be traced to the original owners.

Remember, Garner Thixton will be YOUR FULL TIME loner. Thanks for your support.

AUSTIN (AP) - A University of Texas cardiologist, who is training for a space flight in 1986 or 1987, says research done in outer space could affect medical care on Earth - particularly for the elderly and bedridden

"The adaptions that the body makes to zero gravity in space are similar to spending two or three weeks in bed," said Dr. Drew Gaffney, 37, who works at the UT

Health Sciences Center in Dallas. "The gradual loss of calcium in the bones of astronauts also is similar to the normal calcium loss in the elderly," he said.

Gaffney has been dividing his time between university work and training in Houston, where the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is preparing him to be a payload specialist on an upcoming space

Gaffney's flight will be devoted to 24 experiments on zero gravity using his own body and other crew

The studies of biology and physiology that have been done so far generally were secondary goals of the mis-

"Ours will be the first flight dedicated to physiology, seeking believable data versus the anecdotal material the space program has relied on so far," Gaffney said. UT scientists have found ways to simulate the effects of zero gravity on the body.

One is by tilting test subjects upside down for 24 hours. Gaffney said UT borrowed the idea from the Soviet space program, tested it and found that the resulting shift of body fluids to the upper body was the same as in zero gravity.

That shift of fluids in astronauts is similar to problems faced by bedridden patients, he said.

"It's the fluid shift, not the inactivity, that gets to them. In some people it also causes the blood pressure to rise. That's why many of the early astronauts held press conferences when they came back sitting down, even when they'd been in space for as little as six

Heat wave means crime wave

HOUSTON (AP) - Your chances of being murderedor raped increase as the temperature increases, a Rice University researcher says. "People - just because they're hot - just don't go out and kill somebody. There's typically an instigation," says Craig A. Anderson, an assistant professor of psychology. "But given everything else is right, a hot temperature is going to increase the possibility." Anderson's findings, based on studies in Houston from 1980-82, were published recently in the "Journal of Personality and Social Psychology."

His statistics determined that the number of murders and rapes reported on hot days in Houston were 24 percent greater than on cool days. The Houston results were similar to findings gathered in a similar 1977 study he did of aggressive crime in the summer in Chicago.

"The data isn't clean enough to allow a specific prediction," Anderson said. "But if you plot it on a graph, the shape is fairly consistent. Highly aggressive crimes tend to increase as temperatures

Anderson cautions, however, that the effect is "fairly small, relative to other causes of aggression."

Anderson, who moved to Houston from Indiana four years ago, said his research about crime is 'something I do because I find it fun,' His main research area is what's known as attribution theory — a branch of social psychology that deals with how people explain events and how the explanations influence their behavior. Anderson said the crime study is important to a psychologist because it relates to a theory about the relationship between negative affect — more commonly known as bad mood — and aggressive tendencies. "There are a lot of different variables that one can manipulate," he said. "Temperature is one of these variables. And temperature influences tendencies.'

Sleuths seek bug invaders

WASHINGTON (AP) -Government bug sleuths are searching along the Mexican border for signs of a tiny invader, exotic mites that can bore holes in honey bees and drain their body fluids.

The Agriculture Department said Thursday that state and federal inspectors are looking for acarine mites in a 50-mile-wide strip along the border from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific Ocean.

"We know there is a real possibility of a harmful infestation," said Bert W. Hawkins, administrator of the department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

"The acarine mite, which is known to exist in Mexico, was found as close as 150 miles from the U.S. border in a Mexican survey two years ago," he said.

The mites are minute parasites that pierce bees and suck their body fluids, he said. The mites also lay eggs in the bees, which hatch into larvae that feed from within their hosts.

Although bee mites are found in the United States, they do not cause serious harm, Hawkins said. The damage done by acarine mites, however, seriously interferes with the bees' ability to fly.

"In temperate climates, otherwise healthy hives can handle stress from an acarine mite infestation,' he said. "However, in our Northern states, the stress from an infestation added to the stress from winter weather would cause serious problems.

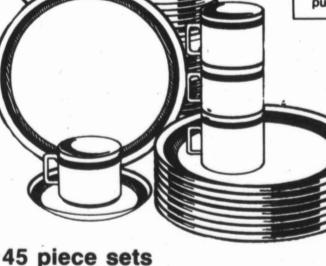

Bees in the United States are frequently moved back and forth, north and south. Thus, Hawkins said, 'American beekeepers can't live with the acarine mite, and any infestation in this country would have to be eradicated."

Tigers roll lucky seven, 9-4

By The Associated Press

No-hitter or not, the Detroit Tigers are on a roll. Alan Trammell, Chet Lemon and Lou Whitaker belted home runs, Jack Morris again pitched well and the end result was a 9-4 triumph Thursday over the Texas Rangers.

The Tigers, now 7-0, are the only undefeated team in the major leagues and are off to the best start in their

"The record speaks for itself, we're hot," Morris said. "We want eight now. We're playing again Friday.

We want to win that one, too.' In the only other AL games, California got past Oakland 3-2 and Minnesota downed New York 3-0.

Morris, making his first start since no-hitting Chicago on Saturday, breezed to his third victory of the season. The right-hander went seven innings, yielding no earned runs and seven hits, including a single by Mickey Rivers to lead off the game.

"I was pretty sure he wasn't going to get another nohitter," Rivers said. Said Morris: "I didn't have the greatest stuff today.

But, I'm a crafty son of a gun with six runs out there. Detroit went to work in the first inning as Trammell walked and went to third on a single by Barbaro Garbey. Larry Herndon and Rod Allen then delivered run-scoring singles to send the Tigers on their way against Frank Tanana, 0-1.

In the fourth, Trammell singled and later scored on Lance Parrish's single. Trammell smacked a solo homer in the sixth and later that inning, Lemon unloaded a three-run shot to make it 7-1.

Trammell's performance, which included three runs scored and a stolen base, raised his batting average to .423. He has already scored nine runs and stolen five

"It's too early," the shortstop said, downplaying his early effort. "I'm not a cold weather player."

Whitaker cracked a solo homer in the seventh, while Bobby Jones drilled a two-run homer for the visiting

"Every time we get an inning going, we just can't seem to bunch 'em up," lamented Texas Manager Doug Rader. "When you're playing a good ball club, they don't fall. That's part of life."

Angels 3, A's 2 Gary Pettis, who began the day with an .067 average, led off the game with a bloop double and later scored on Fred Lynn's sacrifice fly, putting California ahead

American League

The visiting Angels added two runs in the third off Oakland starter Mike Warren, 0-2. A double-play grounder by Lynn produced the first run and a single by Doug DCinces, who has hit in all eight California games this year, drove in Pettis, who had walked.

Geoff Zahn, making his first start of the season after spending two weeks on the disabled list with a pulled thigh muscle, went 6 2-3 innings for the victory.

Twins 3, Yankees 0 Six-foot-8 Mike Smithson, the tallest player in the majors, won his second start for Minnesota with some late relief help from Ron Davis.

Smithson took a five-hitter into the ninth, but departed with one out after an error and a single put runners at first and third. Davis earned his second save by inducing Butch Wynegar to bounce into a game-ending double play in New York.

One of those occasions arose Thursday night when the San Diego manager sent righthander Ed Whitson to the mound to face the Atlanta Braves. Whitson allowed only five hits in seven innings as the Padres dumped the Braves 6-1 in the only National League game of the night.

"This is the first time he's ever beaten the Braves (in five decisions), but I didn't want to tell him that," Williams said. "Last year, they hit .350-something against him and I didn't want to tell him that, either."

Whitson, 1-0, and Atlanta starter Pete Falcone, 0-2, hooked up in a pitcher's duel for seven innings before the Padres broke

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) - First-round leader Ben Crenshaw had the last starting time of the day as an international field of 88 began second round action in the 48th Masters Golf Tournament today in ideal weather

The temperature was 60 degrees when amateurs William H. Tuten and William A. Hoffer began the round at 8:30 a.m. EST.

The forecast called for sunny skies, with the temperature reaching the high 70s later in the day. Crenshaw, twice a runnerup in this event he desperately wants to win, fashioned a five-under-par 67 in Thursday's opening round and held a one-shot

A gallery expected to reach 30,000 before the end of the day began arriving early, taking advantage of the perfect weather to seek the ideal viewing spots on the 6,905-yard, par 72 Augusta National Golf Club course.

The field was to be cut to the low 44 scores and ties and anyone else within 10 shots of the lead at the conclusion of today's round. Twenty-two players toured the demanding layout under par Thursday and eight others posted par 72s. It was an unusual number of low scores for the Masters, and was attributed to ideal conditions, little wind and slightly slower greens. The greens had been icy slick during practice rounds, prompting five-time champion Jack Nicklaus to say it could lead to "goony golf" if the greens became faster once the tournament began.

Several pros said Thursday they thought tournament officials had not cut the greens as low as usual because they remained soft from rain earlier in the week. Nicklaus and defending champion Seve Ballesteros of Spain were well back in the pack at 73 and two-time champion Tom Watson had an opening 74. Trailing Crenshaw and Trevino at 69 were Japan's Isao Aoki, Australia's David Graham, Tom Purtzer and Mark Lye.

All players at par or better had starting times after

CAN'T BEAT IT — "Weird Al" Yankovic's parody of Michael Jackson's Grammy Award winning

good timing and better luck.

single "Beat It," called "Eat It," is an example of

Weird Al hits the jackpot

LOS ANGELES (AP) - In a business where timing can be everything, Al Yankovic - make that 'Weird Al" - hit the jackpot with "Eat It," his parody of Michael Jackson's superhit, "Beat It."

No sooner had "Beat It" won the Grammy Award for record of the year than "Eat It" — a musical twin in which Jackson's get-tough lyrics are replaced with a parental-sounding lecture to a picky eater seemed to be on radio stations everywhere.

'It was all luck, to tell you the truth," Yankovic said in an interview with the Associated Press at CBS Records, which has just released his second album and is also Jackson's label.

"I was pretty concerned for a while, because I had the basic idea for the song pretty much when 'Beat It' first came out," Yankovic said. "But by the time it went through all the legalities of getting permission, plus recording and the mechanics of putting out a record, it was several months down the

"But as it turns out, Michael Jackson obviously hasn't lost any steam, and it just so happened that about the time the record came out, all the awards shows were happening, so it actually timed out perfectly.

Also benefitting from the Jackson coattail effect is Yankovic's "Eat It" video, which also spoofs the $150,000 original.

Directed by Yankovic's manager, Jay Levey, it features Yankovic - spectacles intact, but hair coaxed into moist curls and face scrunched into a funny scowl — leading a troupe of cutlery-clutching street warriors and then curling up with a glass of Does Jackson mind? Not at all. In fact, he shares songwriting credit for the tune - after all, he did write the music.

"It's pretty funny — on the label it says 'written by Michael Jackson and Al Yankovic.' It's as if the two of us were sitting in a room like this somewhere and I was saying 'Well, Michael, what do you think about this line?

What actually happened was a bit more mundane. As he does with all his parodies, Yankovic approached Jackson through lawyers and business people with the idea. "I first like to see if the artist has a sense of humor," he said.

Once he gets the nod, then he submits the lyrics

In the end it was video that made a full-time show business career possible last year. Yankovic had tranformed Toni Basil's "Mickey" into "Ricky," a sendoff on the 1950s "I Love Lucy" show, and with a $4,000 investment, he put together a clip complete with Yankovic as Ricky Ricardo being pestered by actress Tress MacNeille as a whiny Lucy.

Played on Music Television, the cable music video channel, "Ricky" soon appeared on the record charts. His first album followed.

In the new collection, "Weird Al' Yankovic in 3-D," Yankovic has all but abandoned the accordion in favor of more traditional instrumentation on parodies of Greg Kihn's "Jeopardy," the Police hit 'King of Pain' and other selections including some

Actress had to prove she was a wimp

LOS ANGELES (AP) -Kathleen Turner, the seductive and treacherous Matty Walker of "Body Heat," had to make a screen test to convince the producers of "Romancing the Stone" that she could play the early, wimpy Joan

She met with Michael Douglas, the producer and star, and director Robert Zemeckis, and assured them she could play the role of the woman, who is timid and insecure at the beginning of the picture.

'Bob felt we really needed to see it," she said. "So I was hurt in a way, that they wouldn't take my word for it. But when it came to doing it, no, I didn't mind doing that. I mean, I think it's my job.

"I have more confidence now," she said. "I'm not afraid of portraying a woman who's alone every night and lonely and unsure about herself. It was time to do that character.

Black columnist says newsmen broke trust

A USA Today columnist us do." says that a Washington Post newsman "violated a professional trust" in against Jews. But columnist Jay T. Harris says that newsman is not "a traitor or a Judas as some have suggested." Harris told the Washington Association of Black Journalists on Thursday that Post reporter Milton Coleman broke the ground rules set for his conversation with the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

He said that Jackson's use of the term "Hymie" to refer to Jews and 'Hymietown' to refer to New York was reprehensible.

But Harris added: 'Coleman apparently violated a professional trust. He had been talking to Jackson on background. He agreed to do so according to his personal story in the Post last Sunday. The 'Hymie' remark was made in a background conversation, but it appeared as a direct quote, attributed to Mr. Jackson.

Coleman defined 'background' interviews as the sort where "sources want or are willing to tell something to a reported but don't want to be identified." Both Harris and Coleman are black.

Harris also repudiated threats made against Coleman by a Jackson supporter, Muslim Minister Louis Farrakhan, saying, "I reject all of that. I think there is no place for that in public life."

Harris complained that the context of Jackson's remark was not reported. "The way the Hymie remark was reported, in very stark isolation, left the impression with many that Jackson reserves this type of unintentionally offensive language for Jewish Americans. That is simply not the case. He uses loads of slang

SAN ANTONIO (AP) -Some West Side residents have organized a cleanup campaign that includes volunteer "spotters" who cruise the neighborhood looking for junk cars or trash and which could lead to $1,000 municipal fines for violators.

"It's not a vendetta," said campaign leader Kay Brown. "It's just a way to get the neighborhood cleaned up so the properties hold their value."

The cleanup drive is sponsored by Volunteers Organized in Community Effort, which already has turned in a batch of complaints about supposed environmental code violations.

The complaints single out neighborhood residents for offenses such as leaving junk cars on their property; having campers, boats or motor homes parked improperly; and allowing trash to pile up in yards, Ms. Brown said.

Ms. Brown refused to reveal the names of the volunteer "spotters," saying she feared possible retaliation from irate neighbors who might be cited.

"In some places, people who did the spotting were so close to the offenders they were worried," she said Wednesday, "so we're not using names.
