Knott water not OK

By JIM BROWN
Staff Writer

KNOTT — State officials said yesterday that arsenic contaminated well water here is safe for cattle to drink, but humans probably will be better off drinking bottled water.

At a community meeting called by State Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, residents heard representatives from several agencies explain their investigations of continuing high levels of arsenic first discovered in well water and soil samples last December.

"I think we need to look at the problem that we face here as a very serious problem," Shaw said. "I am very conservative when it comes to drinking water with a high content of arsenic."

"To be honest with you, I don't know when we will find out the answers as to where the contamination is coming from or what the solution will be," Shaw said. "And at this point, I don't think that any one can."

Arsenic has been tested here as exceeding in many cases the Environmental Protection Agency's minimum safety level of .05 parts per million.

Texas Department of Agriculture field inspector Bill Rogers said the contamination is limited to the Knott area. The highest concentrations are located three and seven miles west of the community's center.

Further well water testing will be concentrated in a seven-square mile area, he said.

"We're interested in trying to locate some possible area of contamination," said Natural Resource Director David Davis. "One of the things we suspect is gin trash, but as time goes on we will gather new information."

All the gins in Knott are located in the area of the Bud Hughes farm, where the highest level of contamination has been found.

"Let me point out that we're not at this point blaming the gins," said

Campaign spending

Hamby outspends Miller

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

Campaign warchests of more than $1,500 each have been amassed by 118th District Attorney candidates Rick Hamby and Robert Miller, according to statements they filed earlier this month with the Secretary of State's office in Austin.

With total contributions of $2,107 for the period between Jan. 1 and March 26, Miller, currently the county attorney, leads Hamby, the incumbent district attorney, in the amount of money so far collected for the Democratic primary campaign. Hamby during the same period collected contributions of $1,627.

Both candidates are acting as their own treasurers for the election, which is scheduled for May 5.

Included in Miller's contributions were $2,007 in donations of less than $50 and one $100 donation from KBST radio station manager David Wrinkle, according to his statement.

Hamby's $1,627 total included a $1,000 contribution from Christine Hamby Kauffman of Midland and a

Krueger, Hance take out new $500,000 loans

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — U.S. Senate candidates Bob Krueger and Kent Hance each borrowed $500,000 last month to help finance their final push for the May 5 Texas Democratic primary, according to campaign finance statements filed this week with the Federal Election Commission.

Krueger, a former U.S. representative from New Braunfels, made a $500,000 personal loan to his campaign March 28, according to the FEC records. Hance, a congressman from Lubbock, took out a $500,000 loan on March 30 from the American State Bank in Lubbock.

A spokesman for State Sen. Lloyd Doggett, an Austin Democrat who also is a contender in the Senate race, charged that the loans demonstrate that Krueger and Hance are having trouble raising money. But spokesmen for Krueger and Hance said their candidates are willing to do what is necessary to win.

"It's going to be an extremely expensive media campaign and we're ready," said Ken Vest, Hance's press secretary.

Polls have shown Krueger in the lead with Doggett and Hance running second and third in the six-man race which also includes Bob Sullivan of Waco, Harley Schlanger of Houston and David Young of Richardson.

Doggett has raised $1.1 million to date and had $540,483 left at the end of March, according to the records. Krueger has raised approximately $1.2 million and had $424,956 left. Hance has raised approximately $1.4 million and had $1.1 million to spend before the May 5 contest.

In the GOP Senate contest, Rep. Phil Gramm, R-College Station, has raised $1.9 million to date and had $1.1 million left at the end of March, according to the FEC records. Gramm spent approximately $1.5 million in the first three months of the year.

Houston oilman Rob Mosbacher has raised $618,183 so far and had $111,140 left on March 31. Mosbacher, who spent $1.1 million in the first three months of the year, took out a $950,000 loan on January 17 from the Texas Commerce Bank National Association in Houston.

Campaign reports for the two other GOP Senate candidates, Rep. Ron Paul, R-Lake Jackson, and former State Sen. Henry Grover, have not been filed with the FEC as of Tuesday.

"I'd much rather be in our position," said Rich Paul, a Doggett

Burglary suspect waives hearing, returns to prison

A 21-year-old Big Spring man suspected by police of committing a string of burglaries here earlier this year while on parole from a previous burglary conviction has waived his right to a hearing and will return to state prison.

Mart Dwayne Smith of 1402 S. Main told parole officers at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday he would waive his right to a hearing on revocation of his parole, according to sheriff's records and his parole officer.

Smith was charged with traveling beyond the geographic limits of his parole without permission, according to David Harman, Smith's parole officer.

The Board of Pardons and Paroles now will determine whether to revoke Smith's parole, Harman said. Smith remains in jail pending transfer to the state prison system, according to his arrest card in the sheriff's office.

Smith was originally sentenced to three years in prison for burglary in Midland County, and has served one year of that sentence in prison, according to Harman.

"He owes the state two years," Harman said. If Smith's parole is revoked, he would not be eligible for parole on the Midland County conviction for another year, Harman said.

However, Smith's eligibility for parole would be postponed if he received an additional prison sentence on new convictions, Harman said.

Smith is suspected in a local rash of burglaries that occurred between November 1983 and Feb. 21, 1984, according to the district attorney's office.

Smith was arrested by the police department Feb. 20 for suspicion of burglary of a habitation, according to Police Chief Rick Turner.

The district attorney's office will present charges of burglary of a habitation against Smith at the next grand jury, Assistant District Attorney Don Richard said.

Jury sentences 2 for DWI violations

Howard County juries sentenced one man to six months in the county jail Tuesday for driving while intoxicated and another to three days in jail today in another DWI case.

Donald Earl Hauser, 40, of 706 Willa was sentenced Tuesday to a $500 fine, $106 court costs and six months in jail for driving while intoxicated Dec. 26, 1983. His license also was automatically suspended for one year. Hauser's conviction, because he was arrested last year, fell under former DWI laws, in effect until Jan. 1 this year.

Today, jurors took five minutes to find Charles Everett Armstrong, 47, of Gail Route guilty of driving while intoxicated on Feb. 25, 1984. They were deliberating punishment at 11:20 a.m., according to County Attorney Bob Miller.

Armstrong was sentenced to three days in jail, a $500 fine and a 365-day suspension of his license.

Two persons, Melba Abila and Sondra Bell, served on both juries.

Miller called the shorter sentence "a long way from six months in jail."

He said he hoped the longer sentence would act as a deterrent.

"I hope it would have the effect that they would think (before driving while intoxicated)," Miller said.

"Justice has been served (in the six-month sentence)," County Court Judge Milton Kirby said. "I think the general public is getting tired of people driving intoxicated."

This is Hauser's first conviction. However, he has been arrested three times previously for DWI, according to a clerk in the county attorney's office.

Two of the charges were reduced to public intoxication, the clerk said.

Miller said he obtained a conviction of Hauser, who was represented by attorney Roy Lee Ford, with just one witness, Department of Public Safety trooper Bill Jennings.

Hauser had refused to take both breath and blood tests, Miller said.

Kirby and Miller said they did not think the jury was affected by a recent one-year Midland County sentence for a first-time DWI offender.

WRITER'S KIN — Norman Hemingway, cousin of the famed author, Ernest Hemingway, sits at the controls of his motor van during a recent visit to Del Rio.

Bearing a striking resemblance to his famous cousin, Norman says that the thing they most had in common was drinking.

Cousin recalls famous writer's exploits

DEL RIO (AP) — Ernest Hemingway expressed his feelings best on paper. His cousin, Norman Hemingway, does his story-telling vocally.

Bearing a striking likeness to his famous cousin, Norman Hemingway says that the thing they had most in common was drinking. They enjoyed getting together to "toss a few."

Norman, a bearded and robust man, first met the famous author in Havana, Cuba, in 1948. Norman was a pilot in the Air Force at the time and was subsequently sent to the Navy in an exchange program. He found himself working on a submarine that docked in Cuba.

"My Air Force buddy said, 'Why don't we go to Cuba?'" Norman agreed. They radioed the admiral. Permission was granted. The submarine went to Cuba.

"You never get anything if you don't ask," Norman said. What he did get was a meeting with his long-lost cousin.

Because of a split in the family during the Civil War, Norman didn't realize his connections. He also knew very little about the famous writer.

Norman found Ernest at the Florida Bar, one of the writer's favorite hangouts. There he learned from Ernest that the two were cousins. He also found out about one of Ernest's famous drinks — a mixture of gin and green coconut juice.

"It's a very good cooler drink and Cuba's pretty warm."

Later Norman, while with the Air Force, had contact with Ernest in Spain a few times and again they met to talk and drink.

"Ernest was a great admirer of the military," Norman said. "He flew with the Royal Air Force since the U.S. wouldn't allow him."

Norman is a retired colonel and misses military life.

"I miss flying as much as I miss the arguments. I really have a great respect for the Air Force. We're not as bad some people think."

When Norman first joined the service, he was in the infantry, but he decided he wanted to be a second lieutenant so he could drive a jeep.

Not long after he received his commission the brass decided that second lieutenants should walk with the troops.

"There went my damn jeep," he grinned.

Norman is driving plenty now, though. Each winter he packs up his dog Benson, a traveling companion Stanley and heads off into the wild, blue yonder. He even has his trailer controls set up to look like a jet instrument panel.

"I've got an instrument for everything," he said. Norman's quick wit proves a personality of his own rather than an extension of his cousin's. He also seems a man to make friends quickly — unlike Ernest.

"I don't think Ernest considered many people his friend. He used to say I can count my friends on one hand. His main friends were his fishing and drinking partners."

"Ernest didn't care for the publicity. I don't think he even liked going to his publisher." Norman doesn't believe his famous name has affected him, although the name "got to the press" recently when he entered a national chicken-cooking contest.

Not long before Ernest's death by suicide, Norman spoke to him on the telephone.

"He said he was burned out, wasn't good for anything. Little did I know he probably had it (suicide) in mind."

"I thought it was a total waste myself, but you'd have to understand his life. I don't think he had any fear of death."

Norman attended the funeral in 1961 and claims that no grass has ever grown on the grave. He says tourists pocket the dirt from the writer's grave as souvenirs.

Norman's opposite and positive attitude towards life is shown in his battle with cancer. Norman won the war, but cancer claimed a leg.

"I'm very much aware a leg is missing," he said. "I had a little cancer bug."

While patting his belly, Norman said, "You might not realize by looking at my size now, but a year ago I weighed about 110 pounds."

After his battle with cancer, he said he was "totally changed; you need some good coaching."

And Norman found it. He left his wife to attend to business in their home in Nebraska and now wanders the winters away. Just Hemingway, Stanley and the dog.

$200 contribution from Ransom Galloway of Lubbock. The balance of Hamby's total came from $470 in contributions of $50 or less, according to his statement.

Although Miller has amassed more contributions, Hamby so far has outspent Miller $1,627 to $1,399.

Included in Hamby's list of campaign expenditures is $321 to Superior Match Co. of Chicago, Ill., for matches, $385 to Laughlin and

Co. of Kansas City, Mo., for bumper stickers and 6-inch rulers, $200 to Howard County Tax Collector Dorothy Moore for a mailing list of registered voters and $120 to McMillan Printing of Big Spring for candidate cards.

Miller's expenditures include $300 to the Big Spring Herald for a political calendar and advertisements, $320 to McMillan Printing for candidate cards and $125 to KBST radio station for commercials.

Both candidates recorded an expenditure of $600 to the state Democratic Party for their filing fees.

The figures come from the first statements of contributions and expenditures the candidates must file by law with the Secretary of State's Office in Austin. According to County Clerk Margaret Ray, the candidates also must file such statements seven days prior to the election and 30 days after the election.

spokesman. "If (Krueger) didn't make the loan, he wouldn't have any money left."

Alan Schoenbaum, a Krueger spokesman, acknowledged the loan was needed to keep the campaign in cash. He said Krueger plans to spend between $1.8 million and $2 million for the race.

"He (Krueger) has always said he would spend what it takes (to win)," said Schoenbaum, refusing to rule out the possibility of another personal loan.

He noted that Krueger raised more money than Doggett or Hance in the first three months of the year.

Krueger raised $488,140 and spent $797,503 from January to March, according to the FEC records. Doggett raised $389,074 in the first quarter and spent $652,308. Hance raised $431,135 and spent $634,197.

Davis. Richard Beauchamp of the Department of Health said, "I've studied the available reports of arsenic contamination found in public water supplies, and to date the general impression that I'm getting from these reports is that the EPA in setting their standards have built in an 8-to-10 fold safety factor." He said the contamination would have to reach a level of 400 to 500 parts per billion to cause a health risk, "and the highest that I've seen from Knott is 444 parts per billion. It's my general impression that there doesn't seem to be any imminent health threat from the levels that you are experiencing at this point." Beauchamp said residents with contaminated water, however, should consume bottled water. The well water is safe, he said, for cleaning, bathing and agriculture use. Shaw said he will introduce new legislation in 1985 to deal with rural water problems.

Police Beat

Two gold rings stolen

Randy Reavis of the Country Club Trailer Park told police someone between 8 a.m. and 11 a.m. Tuesday stole two men's gold rings worth a total of $2,000 from a business on FM 700, police reports said.

Reports described one ring as a gold nugget cluster wedding band and the other as having a derrick design on it. Reavis told police the rings were stolen, possibly by someone he knows, from an office at Trico Inc. at 3406 W. FM 700, police reports said.

• Tele Fierro of 107 N.W. Eighth told police someone between 9 p.m. Monday and 9:30 a.m. Tuesday stole a tire and wheel worth a total of $300 from his pickup while it was parked in front of his residence, police reports said. The items were unsecured in the bed of the pickup, reports said.

• Emmett Tyler of 605 E. Second told police someone between 3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. Tuesday stole $301.42 in cash from an unlocked 1981 Chevrolet pickup after it was parked by an employee of West Texas Welding on the east side of the business at 1005 E. Second, police reports said.

• Frank Ginzle, a rancher from Colorado City, told police someone between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Tuesday stole a felt Stetson hat with a rattlesnake band worth a total of $110 from the lobby of the federal building, police reports said.

• Choy Pittman of 1311 E. 17th told police someone between 7:50 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Tuesday entered his residence and stole at color television worth $300, police reports said.

Burglary suspect arrested

The Howard County sheriff's office around noon Tuesday arrested a 32-year-old Big Spring man in connection with the three separate burglaries of a local restaurant and dance hall.

Doyle Wayne Perdue of 3018 Wood was released Tuesday on three $10,000 bonds set by County Court Judge Milton Kirby.

Perdue is a suspect in the March 29 and April 9 burglaries of the Branding Iron restaurant on the San Angelo Highway, Sheriff A.N. Standard said.

He also is a suspect in a city burglary, Standard said. Big Spring Police Lt. Jerry Edwards confirmed Perdue is a suspect in the March 18 burglary of Players Club. About $215 in cash, $1,500 in liquor and cigarettes from a machine in the case.

• Delores Dale Johnson, 32, of 203 N.W. Third remains in jail today on a warrant for revocation of probation on forgery and passing. Bond has been denied.

• William Paul Darrow, 38, of 609 W. 17th also is in county jail today to serve a county court judgement for driving while license suspended.

• Juana Nunes, 24, of Odessa also remains in county jail after being transferred from the Ector County sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant for revocation of probation for theft.

• Carlos Marquez, 23, of 610 N.W. Eighth was released from county jail Tuesday after being arrested for suspicion of violation of a peace bond. Bond was set at $1,000.

• Raymond Fierro, 20, of 1201 W. 12th entered county jail today to serve two days of a 10-day jail sentence for DWI, according to sheriff's records.

Runnels Jr. High mixed choir wins sweepstakes

ODESSA — The Runnels Junior High mixed choir, under the direction of Jeanine Fishback, won the sweepstakes award yesterday at UIL competition in Odessa.

The choir was the only one to win sweepstakes, according to Mrs. Fishback.

Also turning in a sparkling performance was the school's "first" girls choir which garnered a I in performance and sight reading.

The boys choir made a II in performance and a I in sight reading, while the girls "second" choir had a II in performance in a III in sight reading.

For the record

An article in yesterday's Herald identified Precinct 1 Justice of the Peace candidate China Long as former news director at KBST radio station.

According to KBST station manager David Wrinkle, Mrs. Long is still news director at the station, but has taken a leave of absence for the duration of her campaign.

Actor hurt during dispute

HONOLULU — Actor Jan-Michael Vincent received a small cut on his jaw when a fellow guest at a resort hotel on the Island of Kauai engaged him in a dispute, police say.

The man, identified as Lawner Knox, 36, of Houston, recognized Vincent at the Waiohai Hotel on Sunday and went to the actor's room, began asking him about acting and became belligerent, police said.

Knox asked the 38-year-old Vincent to punch him. Vincent refused, but an acquaintance staying with the actor, Craig A. Colich, 30, struck Knox, who later left, police said. Later, Vincent encountered Knox by the hotel pool and Knox struck the actor, apparently cutting his jaw with a ring, police said.

Knox was arrested and charged with third-degree assault, and Colich was arrested on the same charge later in the day after Knox filed a complaint against him, police said.

Vincent, of Malibu, Calif., has appeared in nearly 20 films, including "Hard Country" and "The World's Greatest Athlete."

White House life examined

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — Three former first ladies, plus various daughters and a granddaughter of five former presidents, are coming to Grand Rapids this week for a conference on White House life, says hostess Betty Ford.

Titled "Modern First Ladies: Private Lives and Public Duties," the gathering Thursday and Friday at the Gerald R. Ford Museum will be the first of its kind, Mrs. Ford said in a telephone interview from her office in Rancho Mirage, Calif.

Former first ladies Rosalynn Carter and Lady Bird Johnson accepted invitations, Mrs. Ford said, but Pat Nixon and Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis were not coming. Also expected to attend were Eleanor Seagraves, granddaughter of Franklin D. Roosevelt; Margaret Truman Daniel, daughter of Harry Truman; Caroline Kennedy, daughter of John F. Kennedy; Lynda Bird Johnson Robb and Lucie Baines Johnson Turpin, daughters of Lyndon Johnson; and Mrs. Ford's daughter, Susan Ford Vance.

Edwards subject of lawsuit

LOS ANGELES — MGM-UA studios, sued last year by producer Blake Edwards over alleged mishandling of his film "Curse of the Pink Panther," has lashed back with its own $340 million lawsuit.

The suit, filed in Los Angeles Superior Court, claims Edwards and his line producer, Tony Adams, "caused lavish, extravagant and unnecessary sums of money to be spent on production" of three films Edwards produced for MGM-UA. The film were "Trail of the Pink Panther," "Victor-Victoria" and "Curse of the Pink Panther."

Edwards was said to be filming on location Tuesday and could not be reached. But Jonathan Krane, president of Blake Edwards Entertainment, said Edwards had not seen the suit and would not comment.

"Trail of the Pink Panther" made up of clips from previous Pink Panther movies after star Peter Sellers died, was a box office failure.

Police surround embassy

LONDON — Police sharpshooters ringed the Libyan Embassy today and British officials negotiated with its occupants a day after a burst of submachine gun fire from the mission killed a policewoman and wounded 11 demonstrators.

In Libya, Ambassador Oliver Miles was escorted from the British Embassy by as many as 60 uniformed policemen to the Foreign Ministry, his wife, Julia, said in a telephone interview. She did not specify why Miles had been summoned.

A retaliatory siege of the British Embassy in Tripoli also continued today, but Foreign Office undersecretary Richard Luce said he did not think the embassy staff or the estimated 8,000 other Britons in Libya were "in any danger at the present time."

The Foreign Office said three British citizens had been detained in Libya since the London attack.

A Foreign Office spokesman said 25 people, including 11 women and two children, were trapped in the British Embassy in Tripoli, surrounded by "revolutionary guards." Another seven British women and 11 children remained in staff homes around the city, surrounded by "small crowds."

"There is no suggestion at the moment of any attempt to storm our embassy, but it's a minute-to-minute situation," added the spokesman, who asked not to be identified.

Khadafy's government, suggesting on Tuesday that British officers were preparing to storm the five-story Libyan mission, declared that "an act of this magnitude will not go unanswered by the Libyan people."

Luce said in a British Broadcasting Corp. radio interview today: "We remain in the position that we ask them to come out peacefully and thus enable us to go in and search for weapons and explosives. We are doing our utmost to resolve this problem sensibly and peacefully."

De Lorean trial opens today

LOS ANGELES — The public may be billed for John De Lorean's defense in a cocaine-trafficking trial opening today because legal fights have tied up his millions, said one judge as another court denied the automaker's claim to $975,000 from his failed company.

De Lorean's latest loss of a potential life raft came Tuesday when a federal bankruptcy court in Detroit ruled in favor of unsecured creditors in the bankrupt De Lorean Motor Co.

The bankruptcy judge said De Lorean had no legitimate claim to the $975,000 because he had fraudulently mingled money invested in his car company with personal funds he used to buy a Utah firm that makes equipment for maintaining ski slopes.

Still another creditors' suit has kept the 59-year-old De Lorean from using his last available asset — a San Diego ranch — as collateral for a $2 million loan.

Opening statements were to begin today in De Lorean's long-delayed trial on a charge of conspiring to distribute $24 million worth of cocaine to save his ailing sports car company.

Chrysler earnings skyrocket

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — Chrysler Corp. said today it earned $705.8 million in the first quarter of 1984, exceeding the No. 3 U.S. automaker's performance for all of 1983.

The earnings, equivalent to $5.64 per share of common stock, came on a 58 percent increase in sales, from $3.1 billion to a record $4.9 billion, Chrysler said in a statement.

Chrysler said its market share for the first quarter was 10.9 percent, up from 9.9 percent in the year-ago quarter.

Jury selection took five weeks, and the proceedings were postponed for several months following a leak to the press of videotapes of De Lorean's Oct. 19, 1982, arrest in a government "sting" operation.

White plans tax package

AUSTIN — Texans seem willing to pay higher sales and gasoline taxes to fund a revamped public school system, according to Gov. Mark White.

The governor, who said he will announce his tax package proposal within 10 days, also said Tuesday that "luxury taxes" might have to go up.

White is expected to call a May or June special session of the Legislature to deal with education. The Select Committee on Public Education meets Thursday in Dallas to approve its final recommendations for reform.

The governor told reporters that other officials' predictions of a $1.6 billion price tag for the reforms is "approximately" right. Raising the five cent a gallon gasoline tax and the 4 percent state sales tax "are the two that seem to have the greatest support at this time," he said.

"There's some reason to believe there will be some luxury taxes involved," White added, referring to the so-called "sin taxes" on alcohol and cigarettes. "Hopefully, there won't be any need for much more after that."

Comptroller Bob Bullock has said the reform package, including teacher pay raises, could cost up to $19 billion. But White on Tuesday dismissed that figure as the price of a system of "Cadillacs with the fins on them."

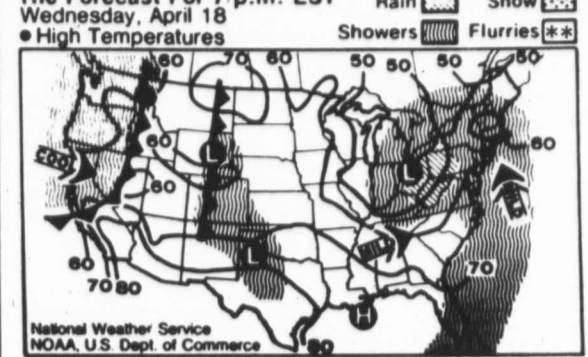

White said his ambitions are more modest. "We're looking at what we consider the essentials in this education program. We're unable to buy everything we want," he said.

The governor said he will continue to push for a 24 percent teacher pay raise over two years.

High Temperatures

Fronts: Cold Warm Occluded Stationary

By the Associated Press
West Texas — Partly cloudy and mild tonight with isolated showers and thunderstorms east of the mountains. Mostly fair and warm Thursday. Lows 40s mountains and extreme north to 50s elsewhere. Highs 70s extreme north to 95 Big Bend valleys.

Thunderstorms in forecast

Clouds began to creep back into the Texas weather picture early today as forecasters looked for widely scattered showers and thunderstorms to develop in West Texas.

Dense fog also developed before dawn along the upper Texas coast, prompting travel advisories for the area.

Pre-dawn temperatures were mostly in the 50s and 60s. Over the Panhandle and far North Texas, readings hovered in the 40s, while the mercury was near the 70-degree mark in sections of South and Southwest Texas.

Temperatures at 4 a.m. ranged from 44 at Amarillo to 70 at Brownsville, El Paso and Junction.

Southerly winds at 10 to 20 mph were reported across the southern tip of the state, while southeasterly and easterly breezes at 5 to 10 mph were noted over central and northern sections. In far Southwest Texas, westerly and northwesterly winds at 5 to 10 mph were the rule.

Temperatures on left indicate previous day's high and overnight low to 8 a.m. EST. Temperatures on right indicate outlook for tomorrow.

Human frailty is always a target

The case of Richard Craig Smith calls to mind Rebecca West's warning that this is the century of treason.

The 40-year-old native of Bellevue, Wash., was arrested by the FBI recently and charged with selling to the Soviet Union classified information concerning a U.S. Army operation responsible for infiltrating the Soviets' KGB spy network. Smith, a former counter-intelligence agent during the late 1970s, handled several double agents, which is to say U.S. operatives who were ostensibly working for the Soviets.

Two years after leaving the army, Smith made his way to Tokyo where he allegedly met with KGB officer Victor Okunev on at least two occasions and supplied the Soviets with sufficient information to identify at least one U.S. double agent in exchange for $11,000 cash.

The extent of the damage done by Smith's treachery is not known publicly at this time. It is reasonable to assume, however, that the agent he exposed is either dead or suffering the painful ordeal of protracted Soviet interrogation. And because Smith's top-secret security clearance provided him access to sensitive operations of the U.S. Army Intelligence and Security Command, it seems probable that several other American agents have also been sacrificed as a result of his actions.

His motive was presumably pure greed. By the summer of 1982, Smith found himself heavily in debt as a result of several failed business ventures. Shortly thereafter, he apparently decided to sell his information to the highest bidder. And, ever alert to exploit human frailty, Soviet secret agents found Smith to be an easy mark.

Granted, Smith's $11,000 payoff exceeded Judas Iscariot's 30 pieces of silver. But given the inflation factor of two millennia, it can be said that Smith sold his soul for a pittance.

Around The Rim

By KEELY COGHLAN

Baseball follies

We're going to have to wear a lot of dirty socks for luck this spring.

Especially if we expect to win any softball games.

Our illustrious sports editor thinks we're fit enough to beat the Big Spring Steers on a regulation field.

He forgot, when he was setting up this battle of the bats, that some of our players, all employees or friends of employees and semi-ringers, are more than 10 years older than the Steers. He also forgot to get the high school athletes to agree to tie their hands behind their backs.

Right now, I'm collecting funds to send our illustrious sports editor on a special tour of the State Hospital. He's new to the town, and he's obviously overlooked one of the important tourist meccas here.

Billy tends to think our team is invincible. Billy comes from Taylor, which has as its fearsome mascot the dreaded duck. His defense of our May 6 match is that he's done this elsewhere, and only lost by small margins. What he doesn't realize is that as bad as the Steers' record is, they aren't quacks.

Folks, we are talking massacre. The people in our outfield (I play there occasionally) are so low-key, we just wave at the ball as it rolls past us.

And we're the active ones. We dumped an outfielder on waivers to the Steers, hoping they'll pick her up. She's a high school student who told us she planned to change sides halfway through the game anyway since she wanted to be on the winning team.

That wasn't so bad, but then she told us she planned to start on our side.

Our morale fell even further when we heard the new rumors about our jerseys. We haven't bought them yet, but I'm holding onto my cash until I see our "flying colors."

Rumors winging around the newsroom say that our illustrious sports editor wants pink jerseys. He thinks they'd match the team name, "Herald Angels." We're driven by divine inspiration, he says. So is Notre Dame and their colors are green and gold.

He also wants to play "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" during the seventh-inning stretch. That wouldn't play at Baltimore, let me tell you.

Now if we only had a George Steinbrenner to fire Billy.

But nothing stops the sports section's enthusiasm, not even a pitcher who doesn't know what "arcing the ball" means. But I notice they've moved me out of the catcher's slot.

Personally, I think the Slaughterhouse Lambs would be more appropriate.

We do have bright spots on the team. One of them is Steve "I play better when I'm dancing" Belvin at first base and outfield. Steve is the only object on the field that falls under Newton's law that an object in motion tends to remain in motion. Everyone else falls into the second category, objects at rest tend to stay at rest.

And then, of course, we have "Our Bob" Carpenter, who was almost a write-in candidate for city council, covering third, shortstop, second and beyond. Brooks Robinson only cleaned up the third baseline; Our Bob scoops up anything within 90 feet — as long as it's not near the pitcher's mound.

That falls under the jurisdiction of Terrible Tim Appel (no, it's not pronounced like the computer). At least when Tim's pitching, he can't fight over jurisdiction of the ball with his wife, Cindy. Her goal is to direct the whole event while preserving it on film, whenever she's not telling Tim he should have caught that one.

What can I say about myself? The only record of Mays and Mantle I'll ever approach is number of times fouled out.

All I want to know is when the Old Timers are playing this year. Maybe if we tell them the wrong time, they'll have to forfeit....

Sweden and KGB play spy vs. spy

WASHINGTON — The KGB and Swedish counterintelligence are engaged in a secret war over Western high-technology items. The Soviets keep trying to steal them, using Sweden as a transit point.

The major battlefield in this underground war is Goteborg, an industrial center and seaport on Sweden's west coast — equally handy to Soviet-bloc countries and Western sources of high-tech equipment.

Possibly in an effort to keep the Swedes' feet to the fire, the U.S. government earlier this month filed criminal charges against a Swedish company for the 1978 sale to the Soviets of a radar system containing U.S. parts. It was the first time charges of U.S. export law violations have been filed against a foreign company. In this case the firm, Datasab, was half-owned by the Swedish government at the time of the disputed sale.

Ironically, Sweden — determined to maintain its 170-year-old tradition of neutrality — has been far better about preventing illegal high-tech diversions to the Soviets than perhaps half a dozen other countries. The 1978 sale was something of an aberration for the Swedes.

CIA and State Department sources have given my associates Dale Van Atta and Michael Binstein top-secret details of increased Swedish efforts to foil the KGB's high-tech thieves.

The sources pointed out that the 1978 radar sale to the Soviets by Datasab was a serious matter. The TERCAS radar system - Terminal and End Route Control System — was supposedly for civilian use at the Moscow airport. But U.S. intelligence believes the Soviets have now integrated it into their military defense network to track incoming bombers and fighters.

But the sources emphasized that Sweden, unlike such other neutral countries as Austria and Switzerland, has shown a clear inclination to keep sensitive military technology out of Soviet hands. Last fall, for example, Sweden seized seven containers of U.S. computer equipment on their way to Leningrad and returned them to the American manufacturer.

And in January, the Swedes delivered a confidential aide-memoir to the State Department that read: "The Swedish government has declared its determination not to let Swedish territory become a transitional area for illegally obtained restricted technology."

As far as the CIA has been able to determine, Sweden has not contributed significantly to the Warsaw Pact nations' military capability. The Soviet bloc has been able to buy laser range finders and fire-control systems from Sweden, but not some of the sophisticated air-defense radar and anti-aircraft guns they want.

One yardstick of the Swedes' determination is the number of Soviet spies they've kicked out — 12 in little over a year. In fact, the last Soviet consul in Goteborg was sent packing for espionage activities, as was the Goteborg-based representative of the Soviet register of shipping.

Swedish intelligence is keeping a close watch on Soviet diplomats, who are believed to include about a dozen KGB agents, and possibly twice that number. The Swedes believe these agents' primary mission is industrial espionage.

This is especially true, the Swedes feel, of the Soviet consular staff in Goteborg. Of the nearly 30 Soviets attached to the consulate, several have been classified by the Swedes as suspected KGB agents specializing in science and technology.

The Soviets have two main targets in Goteborg: L.M. Ericsson, the giant electronics firm that took over Datasab, and Saab Scania, which makes Sweden's combat aircraft and has a marine electronics division in Goteborg. Among the advanced naval equipment the Soviets lost after is Saab Scania's automatic system for piloting ships without personnel on the bridge.

HART BEAT: When Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., withdrew his campaign funds from the Arab-controlled First American Bank of Washington about 10 days before the New York primary, critics charged that he was pandering to the Jewish vote. Though the bank's Arab connection had been public knowledge for years, Ken Guido, special counsel to the Hart campaign, issued a statement saying he got Hart out of the bank as soon as he learned of the Arab control.

But when the campaign's general counsel, Jack Quinn, was questioned, he said, "The reason the account was removed was because a better deal was offered to us by another bank."

WATCH ON WASTE: The Grace Commission on government waste decried extravagant water projects — the pork-barrel spending that brings federal megabucks into legislators' home districts. President Reagan came up with a plan that would save billions. He wanted local jurisdictions to share the costs with the federal government.

Joseph Kraft

Let Jackson movement play out

WASHINGTON — The "hypocrisy of civility" is a phrase to bear in mind when thinking about the problems presented by the campaign of the Rev. Jesse Jackson. For the Jackson presidential drive has brought ugly prejudices out of the closet.

Racist assertion — by both blacks and whites — now threatens accommodation at several critical points of American society. But is harmony best served by a full-court press on the bigotry in the Jackson campaign? Or is there a better — if hypocritical — way to tame the fury?

Invidious prejudices are worked by Jackson and his associates in a systematic way. The starting point is the "I am somebody" routine which has been widely celebrated. It is not, in fact, a piece of innocuous ego massage, or cheerleading boosterism. It is a call to self-assertion by blacks.

Closely tied to that appeal is the Nation of Islam, led by Jackson's associate and backer, Louis Farrakhan. Farrakhan, and to a large extent Jackson, sets up the black community as a militant entity, a nation defining its impulses as overriding claims on American society.

The first targets of the self-assertion inevitably are those groups which have in the past been most active in advancing black causes. Jews obviously fit into that category, and Jackson's various slurs on "Hymies" and "Hymietown" are not sloppy colloquialisms, but a put-down based on racial stereotypes. Witness the explanation given by Jackson to Newsweek of the "Hymie" reference. "The first time I heard it was when I got to Chicago about 20 years ago. There's a place down off Maxwell Street called 'Jewtown.' Understand? Jewtown is where Hymie gets you if you can't negotiate them suits down...."

The media, also very helpful in fostering good race relations, are a second target. Jackson has charged the media with discrimination in failing to open good jobs in the press and television to blacks. He blames what he calls the "cloistered" media for "putting a dash between the so-called major candidates and the Jackson candidacy."

The hardest shots are directed at blacks who work with whites. Milton Coleman — the black reporter for the Washington Post responsible for the disclosure of the "Hymie" remarks — was threatened by Farrakhan with reprisals ranging from "death" to "excommunication." More subtle, but equally harsh pressures have been mounted against moderate black leaders who do the regular business of political trading with white leaders. For the aim of the Jackson campaign is to set up Jackson himself as the top black in America — the man with whom Whitey has to deal.

The damage done by that approach is not small. Some working relations have already been strained. Customary inhibitions are in danger of breaking down. For many Americans do harbor explosive racial feelings. Good manners work to keep those resentments below the surface. But if Jackson is going to say all whites are bigots anyhow, he strips away an incentive for self-discipline. The bigots have nothing to lose by coming out of the closet. So a genuine social danger has been raised. And there is a question of the right tactics for dealing with it. Obviously, some people have to come forward and tell it as it is. Jackson's rivals in the Democratic presidential race — Fritz Mondale and Gary Hart — have to spell out their views. Milton Coleman behaved in the only professional way he could behave.

But nobody can go for that kind of confrontation with relish and gusto. It only plays into Jackson's hands, and builds his strength among blacks. There is something highly political and out of character about Vice President George Bush's call for harsher Democratic condemnation of Jackson.

A much better tactic, moreover, is available. The controlling fact is that Jackson is not going anywhere in the Democratic contest. He may be able to cut a deal at the end. Even then, the deal can probably be made with various Jackson delegates, rather than Jackson himself.

In any case, it is best to avoid confrontation and let the Jackson movement play itself out through the endless procedural wrangles of a contest over rules. That tactic, to be sure, mobilizes hypocrisy in behalf of civility. But there are worse things, and one of them is an explosion of race hatred.

Joseph Kraft's reports on Washington, national affairs and trends are distributed nationally by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate.

Billy Graham

3-year-old is old enough to learn

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Our little girl is three years old. Do you think it is too early for us to try to talk with her about God and teach her to pray? — J.C.V.

DEAR J.C.V.: No, not at all. That does not mean she will understand everything you say to her — even if you make every effort to be as simple as possible — but sometimes we can be surprised at just how much young children can grasp. It is also important for another reason. We teach our children not only by what we say, but especially by what we do — and if she grows up realizing that God is important to you every day, it will make an important impact on her. The Bible says, concerning God's commandments to his people, "Impress them on your children. Talk about them when you sit at home and when you walk along the road, when you lie down and when you get up" (Deuteronomy 6:7).

There are several things you can do to help your child. First, I hope you are active in a good church which has some type of program for children that age. She needs to know that the church is important, and she can learn much from an enjoyable program that also teaches her about Christ.

Then your local Christian bookstore may have some suggestions about Bible story books that will be good for someone her age. The stories shouldn't be too long, but they should be faithful to the Bible and make clear some of the central spiritual truths of the Bible. Set aside a time each day for reading these to her. As you read these, questions about God will come up naturally, giving you an opportunity to stress God's love for her and how he wants her to love him also.

Pray with your daughter as well. Perhaps a simple prayer she can memorize will be good at first, but encourage her also to talk with God about things that concern her. Encourage her also to pray not only for her own concerns, but for other people as well.

But the most important thing you can do for your child is to pray for her, and to ask God also to help you be an example to her. Will she see Christ's love in you? Will she realize that you trust Christ, even when things are difficult? Make your own commitment to Christ sure, and then ask God to help you teach your daughter to love and trust Christ also.

Dear Abby

Seventh-day Adventist set record straight

DEAR ABBY: If you had to print that letter from "Nancy B." with her off-the-wall list of no-nos for Seventh-day Adventists, why didn't you follow it with some facts?

I always thought you did your homework, Abby. Now I'm beginning to wonder about your literary professionalism. If you're going to throw church ideologies and personal theories into your column, you should become knowledgeable in the doctrines of all churches and not accept as gospel any old thing some reader happens to send to stir up things and cause your readers to come to wrong conclusions.

Seventh-day Adventists are Christians who worship in church on Saturday, await the second coming of Christ, believe in the virgin birth, the Trinity and baptism by immersion. They discourage divorce and do not drink alcoholic beverages or use tobacco. They are discouraged from drinking coffee and tea (notice I said discouraged, not thrown out if they do). They are interested in medical and welfare works of all kinds around the world and so many other caring involvements with our society.

Back to Nancy B. and her "list" of taboos: For the most part she was on target, but I'm an S.D.A. and I wear a wedding ring and a touch of makeup.

However, that last no-forbidding marital relations on the Sabbath because "it is considered a sin to seek pleasure on the day set aside to worship the Lord" is totally false. Please set the record straight.

MAGGIE B. IN BARSTOW
DEAR MAGGIE: My apologies. I shall attempt to set the record straight by publishing this letter:

DEAR ABBY: Sex six times a week is enough. We rest on the Sabbath.

The Bottom Line by Tonya

Pop called again, and said "Tonya better tell the Cotton farmers in your area that it's getting pretty close to the deadline. If they haven't turned in their request to A.S.C.S. to get their yields figured, they need to do it pretty quick." I told him "Pop producers in this area are pretty darn smart. They don't need you and me to tell them what to do. They'll take care of their own business." He didn't have a whole lot to say after that. Makes me mad enough to just say "drat." He still treats me like a brat, thinks that he's got to watch me like chicken hawk chasing a rabbit does he. Well I got news for him I know blamed near as much about Crop Insurance as he does — it sure is nice though to be able to pick up the phone and call him when I do need a pointer occasionally.

Women demonstrate foot reflexology

Rozelle Dohoney and Laverne Green presented MONEY-SAVING COUPONS Every Wednesday in the Herald Recipe Exchange of Big Spring Herald

the program, "Better Health with Foot Reflexology," at a meeting of the City Home Extension Club at Emmanuel Baptist Church, April 13.

A chart was displayed showing the different areas of the feet. A demonstration emphasizing the beneficial results of pressure and massage on the feet was given.

The pressure and massage on the feet has a definite effect in bringing about normal physiological functioning in all parts of the area treated, no matter how remote this area may be from the part where the treatment was given, they said.

The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., April 27 in the home of Lois Johnston.

Dr. Donohue

Alzheimer's disease

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My uncle was recently diagnosed as being in the early stages of Alzheimer's disease. He is 80 years old and has been in good health for his age. My question is: How is a diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease made? A textbook on senility that I read recently stated that a true diagnosis could be made only by post-mortem examination of the brain. I heard about my uncle's condition through the family grapevine, as I live 400 miles from my hometown. His symptoms seem to be forgetfulness, like forgetting that he's already been to the bank or already gotten his daily mail.

I just hope that a hasty diagnosis wasn't being made. As a nurse, I realize that things like poor circulation, medication, etc. can cause the same symptoms. I hope that the information you supply may be useful in advising my family to get a definite diagnosis. — Mrs. E.R.

I do receive much mail these days on the subject of Alzheimer's disease, and much of it touches on the subject of diagnosis. Unfortunately, we have no reliable medical procedure to diagnose the illness, like the ones we have for diabetes or gout, for examples.

This leaves doctors with only an assessment of the person's behavior and, from that, exclusion of other diseases that produce similar symptoms — memory loss, confusion, irritability, restlessness and agitation — that are part of Alzheimer's disease. But once all the illnesses known to cause such personality changes have been searched for and not found then the diagnosis can be made.

Alzheimer's affects as many as 1.5 million people by some estimates. We don't know the cause, but suspect a disruption in the way brain chemicals are made. And your text was correct. On postmortem examination of the brain, certain changes are seen in brain cells suggestive of a pattern in Alzheimer's. You can get valuable information on this illness by writing to the following address: Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders, 360 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 601, Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Open For Business

By Johnnie Lou Avery

A Lana Turner-type star discovery may be in the making involving native Big Springer Dr. Mark Peters, currently a dentist in Conroe. About one month ago, he was at the Montgomery County Barbecue when two men approached him with a request to walk around the grounds taking pictures all day with a Polaroid camera. At first he said no, but the men persisted, explaining that Polaroid wanted to depart from their standard advertising with "known stars" and use "everyday people."

The worst he could do was receive a free camera and film. The best is to become a commercial star with residuals.

They explained that he would be "wired" for sound and followed around by a camera crew. The finished ads were tested at prime time: during the Academy Awards, CBS Monday Night Movie, and last Friday night's "Dallas" and "Falcon Crest" shows.

We will know soon what the public's reaction was to these ads. If you saw these ads, call me with your opinions and we'll compile them to be sent to Polaroid.

It's countdown time to the Signal Peak Pro-Am Golf Tournament May 23-25. Among the 50 professional athletes and national entertainment personalities coming to Big Spring are: Bum Phillips, Darrell Royal, Russell Erxleben, Joe Montana, Guido Merkins, Carl Mock, Jacky Sherrill, Charlie Johnson, Joe Higgins, Sam Elliott, T.O. Stanley, Charlie Walker, Pat Summerall, Bob Talmon.

There will be 50 six-man teams each consisting of one professional, one celebrity, and four amateurs. Only 20 amateur spots remain open. Call Don Cook or the Chamber today to register to play in this tournament.

The pro-purse is $15,000, the amateur purse is $7,500. The celebrity purse is a trip to Hawaii.

This column is written by Johnnie Lou Avery, president of Avery and Associates, West Texas Program Bureau, Property Management Systems, and Professional Services Bureau. Her offices are located at 210 Permian Building and her phone number is 263-1451. She welcomes your comments about this column.

Marie likes sweet image

NEW YORK (AP) — Marie Osmond says she's proud to be considered a "goody-goody." She says she didn't always feel that way, but eventually realized that her image represented happiness and success.

"In the past, when I'd see people make fun of me and laugh at me, it disturbed me," she says in the May issue of McCall's magazine.

"But then I realized that if being a goody-goody means you're happy and like who you are, and you're successful at what you do, then I'm proud to be a goody-goody."

The singer-dancer-actress wore black leather pants when she was interviewed and was asked if some of her fans might be offended by that.

"Some people do remember me the way I was at 15. What they don't realize is that I'm now 25 and need a more glamorous, chic image," she said.

Rangers place second in 6-A

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

ACKERLY — It took the Highland Hornets 12 events to overtake the Greenwood Rangers — when they did catch Greenwood, the Hornets held on in the final three events to capture the boys District 6-A track title.

After the field events, it was no doubt that the meet would turn into a two-team affair. Greenwood got a first from high jumper Keith Dove and a second by discus thrower John Ellis to take a narrow 43-42 lead going into the running events.

Meanwhile Highland junior Courtney Gothard was keeping his team close with first in the long jump and third in the high jump. His leap of 21-10 was one of seven district records broken. Gothard was named the meet's top individual by scoring 41 points.

He ran on the Hornets' winning 400 relay team, (45.18). Highland set the record in the prelims with a 44.80. Gothard also set a record in the 110 hurdles (15.27) and won the 300 hurdles.

Ellis uncorked a career best in his second prelim throw in the discus, but it was not enough to overtake Roscoe's Nathan Richburg who set records in both the shot and discus. The 6-3, 260-pound junior showed his versatility by running the third leg on the Roscoe 400 relay team.

Ellis' throw of 144-6 was 12-feet better than his previous best. "In the prelims the wind was perfect for a right-handed thrower," said the first-year discus thrower. "It (wind) really picked up in the finals."

Sands' senior shot-putter Chris Wigington placed second behind Richburg in the shot, earning a trip to regional. His throw of 45-8 left him somewhat displeased. "I'm happy to be going to regional, but I know I can throw farther," said Wigington.

Greenwood gamely stayed in front of Highland until the 300 hurdles. At the time Greenwood led 90-82. But things quickly changed when Gothard and Royce Petty went 1-2, giving Highland a lead they would never lose.

Greenwood coach Joe Longley said they Highland comeback was inevitable. "They just have too much talent," said Longley of Highland. "Our kids held them off as long as they could. We have some kids that competed well and some that did not."

Highland coach Lane Jackson was on pins and needles throughout most of the meet as his team struggled to catch Greenwood. In fact it was not until after his sprinter Ron Swaringen won the 200 that Jackson started to relax a little.

"I figured it would go down to the 1600 relay," said Jackson. I felt a lot better after our finishes in the 300 hurdles and 200," he admitted.

While Greenwood and Highland were battling for the team championship, the race for third was between Roscoe, Sands and Klondike was just as intense.

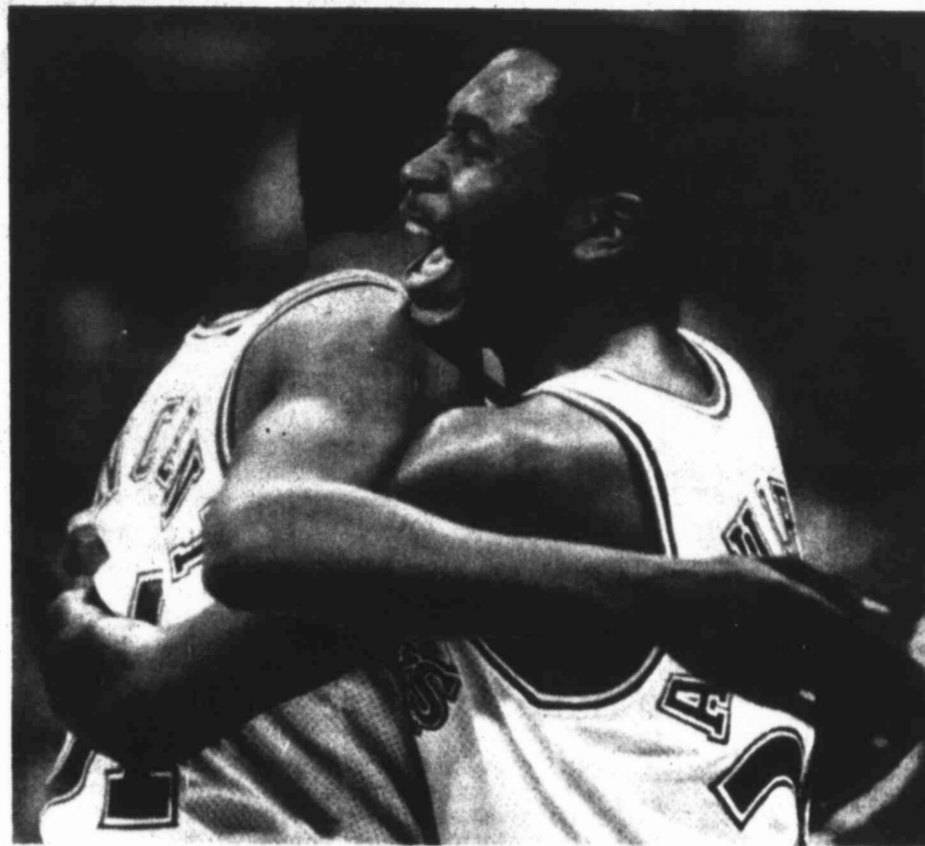

It all boiled down to the 1600 relay, Roscoe, who didn't have a relay team in the finals had 69 points, Sands followed with 63 and Klondike was in fifth with 58 points.

That when disaster called on Klondike. The Cougars' foursome of Brent Airtart, Tim Cope, Ricky Webb and Scott Runge finished second in the race behind Highland's record breaking time while Sands finished fourth.

But the Cougars were disqualified for running out of the exchange zone, taking away their trip to regional and moving Sands into third. Instead of nipping Sands for third place, 74-71, Klondike ended up in fifth place behind Roscoe.

Other top performances were Highland pole vaulter Gary Light's record-breaking vault (13-6), Sands freshman Arnold Velasco's lunge at the tape to nip Grady's Jim Minor in the 800 and a first by Greenwood's Len Lester in the 100.

Others earning a trip to regional with second place finishes were Greenwood's Martin Waggoner in the 3200 and Troy Wallace in the 110 hurdles, Klondike's Scott Runge in the 400 and Grady's Jay Billingsley in the 200.

FIRST ROUND WIN — Mark Aguirre (right), of the Dallas Mavericks hugs teammate Jay Vincent as he leaves the court at the end of Tuesday's night game against the Seattle SuperSonics. Dallas beat Seattle 88-86 in the first game of the first round of the NBA play-off series. Aguirre watched the final minutes of the game from the bench after fouling out in the fourth period.

Mavericks notch first playoff win in history

By The Associated Press

No matter how far the New York Knicks go in the National Basketball Association playoffs, their first victory may be the one they remember the longest.

The Knicks, down 14 points in the final minute of the third quarter and still trailing 93-87 with only 1:16 left, rallied to beat the Detroit Pistons 94-93 Tuesday night in the opener of their best-of-five first-round playoff series.

"This one was a miracle, but we made it happen and created it," said Knicks forward Bernard King, who led all scorers with 36 points, including nine in the fourth quarter when New York outscored the Pistons 30-17. "We had so many turnovers down the stretch that the game was there for them to take and we still came back and won it."

made three costly turnovers at the end and it cost us the game."

Detroit led virtually the entire game, including 53-40 at halftime and 76-64 after three quarters.

Kelly Tripucka led Detroit in scoring with 26 points, while Bill Cartwright finished with 21 points for the Knicks. Benson had 18 points and 14 rebounds for the Pistons.

Boston, the Atlantic Division champion seeking its 15th NBA title, put together streaks of 22-8 and 12-2 to stifle rallies by visiting Washington.

Ricky Sobers, who led the Bullets with 24 points, gave Washington its last lead, 37-36, in the second quarter. The Celtics, who got 23 points from Larry Bird, then took charge by scoring 22 of the next 30 points for a 58-45 advantage with 5:56 remaining in the third quarter.

The Bullets cut the deficit to three before Boston retaliated with the 12-2 run that gave the Celtics a 72-59 advantage early in the final period.

NBA Roundup

"I will let you know after Thursday's game if we can come back," said all-star guard Isiah Thomas, who was held to 10 points. "You lose a ballgame, you lose it. We should have won the game. There's no way we should have lost it."

In other playoff openers, division winners Boston, Milwaukee and Utah each won. The Celtics beat Washington 91-83, the Bucks defeated Atlanta 105-89 and the Jazz outlasted Denver 123-121, while Dallas stopped Seattle 88-86. It was the first playoff game ever for both the Mavericks and Jazz, who spent their first five years of existence in New Orleans.

Tonight, Philadelphia entertains New Jersey, Kansas City is at Los Angeles and Phoenix at Portland.

The Pistons, making their first playoff appearance in seven years, seemed to have the game well under control before a series of bad passes down the stretch.

"It was an inspirational win because we played a lackluster game," said Knicks Coach Hubie Brown, who was ejected with two technical fouls with 8:44 remaining and had to watch the wild finish from a television monitor in the dressing room.

King cut the deficit to four when hit a pair of free throws with 1:08 remaining, then Rory Sparrow hit a jumper to narrow the margin to 93-91.

The Pistons still appeared to have the game wrapped up with 20 seconds remaining when they grabbed a rebound under the New York boards following a free throw by Darrell Walker that made the score 93-92.

However, a pass from Kent Benson to John Long was mishandled and Benson was called for a foul on Sparrow, who stepped to the line and canned a pair of shots to win the game. A last-ditch shot by Bill Laimbeer at the buzzer was batted away by Walker, who was credited with seven steals for the Knicks.

"You have to give them credit," said first-year Detroit Coach Chuck Daly. "We

JAZZ 123, NUGGETS 121

Adrian Dantley scored 30 points, 13 of them in a 41-point third quarter, and Utah held off a furious Nuggets rally to win at home against Denver.

The Jazz shot 72 percent in the third quarter and outscored Denver 20-10 in the final minutes of the period to take a 98-93 advantage into the fourth period.

But the lead evaporated swiftly as Kiki Vandeweghe scored 13 of his game-high 33 points and guard Rob Williams hit two three-point goals in the final quarter to help Denver back from a 17-point deficit.

But three free throws by Dantley and two by Rickey Green kept the Nuggets at bay.

BUCKS 105, HAWKS 89

At Milwaukee, Sidney Moncrief scored 19 points and Marques Johnson added 18 as the Bucks built a lead of 28 points en route to victory over Atlanta.

Milwaukee held a 55-40 halftime advantage as Johnson poured in 16 points in the first two periods. After the Hawks cut the margin to 13, Moncrief triggered a 17-6 spurt with 10 points as the Bucks opened a 78-54 lead with 3:38 left in the third quarter.

Dominique Wilkins and Dan Roundfield had 21 points apiece for Atlanta.

MAVERICKS 88, SONICS 86

Rolando Blackman rebounded his own missed shot and hit a short jumper with 10 seconds to play, giving Dallas a one-point lead over Seattle, which lost despite a spectacular performance by Gus Williams.

The Sonics still had a chance to win in the final seconds, but Jack Sikma missed a short jump shot with one second left. Blackman, who scored 19 points, hit a technical free throw for the final margin.

Williams had a playoff career high of 37 points, including an NBA record of 23 points in the first quarter. The previous mark of 22 was held by Elgin Baylor.

Mark Aguirre was high for Dallas with 20 points.

Lamesa pitching traps Lobos in 2-4A action

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

LAMESA — Johnny Gonzales trapped the Monahans Lobos on three hits here Tuesday, helping the Lamesa Golden Tors snap a four game losing skid in a 2-4A, 7-0 victory.

Lamesa is 9-12 overall and 2-4 in district while the Lobos went to 1-5.

Monahans managed only a double and two singles off Gonzales while Gonzales' teammates rang up eight hits of their own, including homeruns by Chris Mason and Gilbert Arredondo. Gonzales added a triple and Richard Diaz added two hits to the total. Gonzales' three bagger in the first gave Lamesa all the runs it really needed when Diaz, Mason and Arredondo crossed home plate. Gonzales scored later in the innings on a sacrifice by Joe Hernandez.

The Tors went on to score in every odd numbered inning. Mason's homer came in the third followed by Arredondo's round tripper in the fifth. Jimmy Scott singled in Kenneth Williams with an insurance run in the sixth, however.

Lamesa will be off until Tuesday, Apr. 24 when Fort Stockton comes calling. Game time is 4 p.m.

Coahoma, C-City stars are returning to state meet

ODESSA — Coahoma's Tobie Henry and Colorado City's Sandra Williams will be making a return trip to the state track meet in Austin, by virtue of their winning performances at the Region I-AAA girls track and field meet that finished up two days of competition here Tuesday at Ratliff Stadium.

Henry, a senior 400 meter runner, finished seventh at the state meet last year in the event. At Ratliff Stadium she ran away from the field, winning in a time of 59.37, a full second ahead of the second place finisher.

Henry also anchored the Coahoma 1600 relay team to a second place finish (4:10.83), thus earning a berth in Austin. Others making up the relay are Gina Hudson, Janna Griffin and Leslie Kirpatrick. Williams finished third in the 100 meters last year at the state meet as a freshman. She nipped Dalhart's Sharon Hudson at the finish line to win the event in a season-best 11.95.

She also anchored the Lady Wolves 400 relay team composed of Staci Free, Lin Scott and Sherry Fite to a second place finish with a time of 50.2.

The state meet will be held at University of Texas' Memorial Stadium May 4-5.

Three team battle seen in 6-3A in boys district track meet

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — The Ozona Lions will be defending their District 6-3A track title while the Colorado City Wolves and Crane Golden Cranes try to dethrone them at the boys district meet to be held in Coahoma Thursday.

Ozona handily won the meet last year while finishing second at the regional meet. This year the Lions don't appear quite as strong, but still seem to have enough quality athletes to win the meet.

The Lions have two of the best times in the 400 (44.3) and 1600 meter relays (3:25.0). Ozona has top performers in sprinter Robert Flores and weightman Rowdy Holmsley.

Colorado City should make a strong challenge for the title. The Wolves have run a 44.3 in the 400 relay and a 3:31.50 in the 1600 relay. Sprinters Kevin Norman and Joey Ritchey should challenge Flores while shot putter Fred Dakan will be in the thick of the competition.

Colorado City distance runner Jay Claxton is one of the top runners in the 1600 and 3200 races while hurdler Dennis Rivera and 800 runner Don Randle will score high.

Crane has the top time in the 400 relay (44.10) and will score points in the 110 hurdles where Joe Vasquez is the class of the field (14.36). Kenny Walker is a threat in the high jump while brother Gus is one of the favorites in the long jump.

Coahoma's hopes rides with shot putters Jeff Dever and James Sanders and miler Donald Ewing. Pole vaulter Tony Burnett (12-3) is one of the favorites in the event.

Field events get started at noon with running prelims starting at 3 p.m. Finals get underway at 6:30 p.m.

Cooper closes door on Steers

ABILENE — For three and one half innings the Big Spring Steers had the District 4-5A leading Abilene Cooper Cougars on the ropes.

But the rope wasn't long enough for the Cougars to hang themselves as they erupted for 10 runs in the bottom of the fourth to claim a 10-6 victory that kept the Steers from claiming their first loop win. Big Spring is 0-11 while Cooper maintained its lead by going to 9-2.

The Steers held a 4-0 advantage until Cooper's fourth inning barrage.

Big Spring received a pair of doubles from Jay Pirkle plus two baggers from Jerry Anderson and Danny Arista. Pirkle batted across three runs and Arista and Chris Lamb added solo runs.

Pirkle took the loss. The Steers outhit Cooper 12-8, but walked six and committed four errors.

Gamblers lose leading rusher

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Gamblers running back Sam Harrell, the United States Football League's leading rusher, will be out of action four to six weeks because of a broken leg.

Gamblers orthopedic surgeon Dr. Eddie Matsui said Tuesday that X rays indicated several cracks below Harrell's knee.

Harrell said the injury occurred during a play late in Monday's 35-27 Houston victory at Oakland.

"I stopped to go forward but from behind, my leg felt like it got stuck and I heard a pop. I just went down in pain," Harrell said.

Harrell picked up 154 yards rushing and scored two touchdowns in the Monday game, giving him a league-leading 642 yards rushing and 13 touchdowns.

"We'll miss Sam in terms of yardage and points," General Manager Gene Burrough said.

Reserve running back Todd Fowler is expected to replace Harrell in the Gamblers starting backfield, Burrough said.

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"I'm grounded. I said one more word to my mother."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTEA INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, APRIL 18, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day and evening to make changes in your plans so that you will be able to expand in different directions than you have been considering, especially where taking a trip is concerned.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study whatever will help you to advance and be practical. Contact as many friends as you can who can be of assistance to you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are able to act speedily in any business or personal affairs and get good results. Show your mate you are truly devoted.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to get your partners to understand your idealistic concepts and come to a fine understanding with them.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You can get your regular work done more effectively today and are very alert. Gain the cooperation you want.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Early plan your social engagements for the days ahead, and then make phone calls. Show that you are charming.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make those changes at home that will improve its appearance and comfort and please the family. Make a good impression on others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) State to partners how you think operations can be improved and get their OK. Be careful of one who has an eye on your assets.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be more direct where monetary matters are concerned, especially with advisors and benefactors. Improve your property.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Look for more information from the right sources and be more aware of your true potentials. Get closer to the one you love.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Consider which friends can be of the greatest help to you now and contact them. Be willing to accept their assistance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get your duties handled more efficiently and gain approval of the public in general. Enjoy the social side of life.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A day for new ideas and goals that can help to advance you rapidly in your career. Your hunches are very good, so use them.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who will take a direct approach at whatever problematical affairs come up and handle them wisely. Give a fine education that will be helpful with this ability. Add foreign languages to the curriculum.

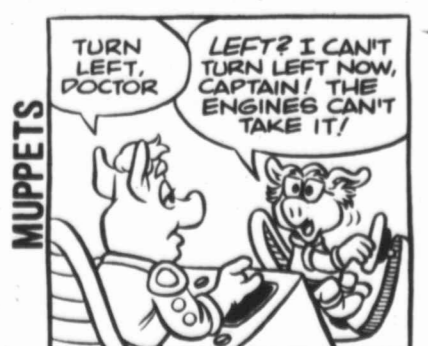

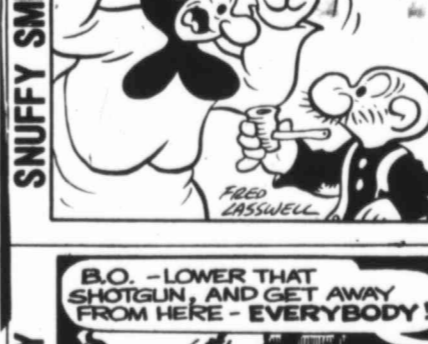

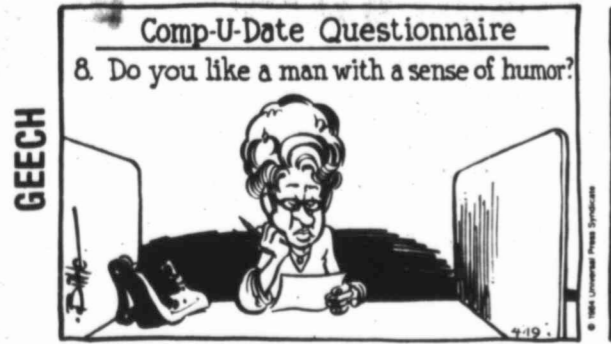

"The Stars impel; they do not compel!" What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Celebrate the day with an Easter feast

By RHONDA WITT
Lifestyle Writer
Welcome Easter with springtime flair by creating a fabulous feast for your family. Your special dinner can be elegant yet easy when you fix time-saving dishes in advance. Recipes for Easter treats follow.

EASTER BRUNCH
BRAID
½ cup butter or margarine, melted
¼ cup milk
¼ cup water
2½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour

2 Tbsps. sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 package active dry yeast
1 egg, room temperature
Chocolate Filling
Vanilla Glaze
Stir butter into milk and water; heat to very warm (120 to 130 degrees). Combine one cup flour, sugar, salt and yeast in large mixer bowl. Add liquid; beat two minutes at medium speed. Add egg and ½ cup flour; beat at high speed for two minutes. Stir in remaining four to make a stiff dough (additional flour may be needed).

Carefully transfer to greased baking sheet. Shape into ring (stretching slightly); pinch ends together. Cover loosely with waxed paper brushed with vegetable oil; cover tightly with plastic wrap.

Cover bowl with towel; set aside for 20 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare Chocolate Filling. Turn dough onto heavily floured board; roll into 10 to 18-inch rectangle. Spread filling in a three-inch wide strip lengthwise down center of dough. Cut strips, exactly one inch wide, diagonally along both sides of filling to within ¼-inch of filling. Alternately fold strips of dough across fillings.

Refrigerate for two to 24 hours. Remove from refrigerator just before baking. Uncover carefully; let stand at room temperature for 15 minutes. Bake in 375 degrees oven for 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from baking sheet; cool on wire rack. Glaze with Vanilla Glaze, if desired, or brush with butter. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

CHOCOLATE FILLING

3 Tbsps. butter, melted
¼ cup cocoa
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup evaporated milk
1 tsp. vanilla
¼ cup finely chopped nuts
¼ tsp. ground cinnamon or
¾ tsp. almond extract
Combine butter and cocoa; add sugar and evaporated milk. Cook and stir over medium heat, until smooth and thickened. Remove from heat; cool. Add vanilla, nuts and cinnamon or almond extract. Makes about one cup of filling.

VANILLA GLAZE

Combine one cup confectioners' sugar, one tablespoon softened butter, ½ teaspoon vanilla and one to two tablespoons milk until smooth, spreading consistency. Makes ¾ cup.

MINT GLAZED HAM

7 to 10-pound boneless "fully-cooked" smoked ham
¾ cup pear syrup
½ cup light corn syrup
¼ tsp. ground cinnamon
2 tps. each cornstarch, water and snipped mint leaves

Place ham on rack in open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb is centered in thickest part. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven at 325 degrees until the meat thermometer registers at 130 to 140 degrees. (Allow approximately 15 to 18 minutes per pound.) Combine pear syrup with corn syrup and cinnamon, cook slowly 10 to 12 minutes. Reduce heat, stir in mint and continue cooking for two to three minutes. Brush glaze over ham 20 minutes before end of cooking time.

ing and ending with dry ingredients. Pour into well-greased and floured 9 by 6-inch egg-shaped pans (or 13 by 9 by 2-inch pan). Bake on lowest rack in 350 degree oven for 60 to 65 minutes for egg-shaped pans, 40 to 45 minutes for oblong pan, or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool. Trim base so cake sits level; trim layers to fit together evenly. Frost;

CHOCOLATE FROSTING
Combine 2½ cups confectioners' sugar, ½ cup unsweetened cocoa, 6 tablespoons softened butter or margarine, 3 to 4 tablespoons milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Blend until spreading consistency.

GOURMET COOK — Jean Killner Durkee, author of three gourmet cookbooks, will present a microwave gourmet cooking school at First United Methodist Church at 7 p.m. May 17, and 9 a.m. May 18. The event is sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Women's Club.

Club to sponsor cooking school

Jean Killner Durkee, a home economics graduate of University of Texas at Austin and author and publisher of three cookbooks, will present a gourmet microwave cooking school at Garrett Hall of First United Methodist Church, May 17 and 18. The event is sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Women's Club.

Mrs. Durkee will cook recipes from her second cookbook, Tout de Suite a la Microwave II, which features Italian, Mexican and French foods. The two-hour lesson will be presented at 7 p.m. May 17 and again at 9 a.m. May 18. Tickets are $15, which will include a copy of her $10 book and a chance to taste samples. Babysitting will be provided. Tickets can be purchased from any Junior Women's Club member or by calling Cheryl Harris at 267-1313.

Mrs. Durkee wrote and published Tout de Suite a la Microwave I, a gourmet cookbook of French, Acadian and Creole recipes. It was published in 1977. At present, 400,000 copies have been sold and distributed by Mrs. Durkee and her company, Tout de Suite, Inc. As equally successful, Tout de Suite a la Microwave II was published in November, 1980. More than 100,000 copies have been sold totalling the number of books sold to more than 500,000.

As an alumna of Mrs. Connett's Chateau Country Cooking School in Chinon, France, Le Cordon Bleu and LaVarene Ecole de Cuisine in Paris, and the Culinary Arts with Julie Dannenbaum at the Greenbrier Cooking School in West Virginia, Mrs. Durkee continues to widen her cooking appreciation.

Mrs. Durkee has appeared on television programs in Houston, San Antonio and Tyler, all in Texas, New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Shreveport, Lafayette, Lake Charles, all in Louisiana, Memphis, Tenn., Louisville, Ky., El Dorado, Panama City and for P.M. Magazine.

Her radio talk shows include Louisville, New Orleans, San Antonio, Fort Walton, Fla. and Galveston. She conducts cooking schools nationwide and has personally taught more than 15,000 people to cook successfully in their microwave ovens. Jolene M. Levermann assists Mrs. Durkee in these classes.

As part of the celebration of the Lafayette, La. Centennial, the Centennial Commission selected Mrs. Durkee to create and produce the Voila! Lafayette Centennial Cookbook, 1884-1984. The book was published December 1983. Recipes are presented in the book with both conventional and microwave directions.

Along with being a wife and mother of three sons, Mrs. Durkee is active in her community of Lafayette, La. She is past president of the Junior League of Lafayette, Chapter Y-P.E.O. and Chez Amis Women's Club. Her professional affiliations include American Home Economics Association, Home Economists in Business, International Microwave Power Institute and International Association of Cooking Schools.

Williams named HC's top student

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

Rusty Williams was presented the Presidential Award for outstanding student of the year at Howard College during an awards ceremony Tuesday.

Williams also was recognized as a member of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges, an outstanding student in journalism, and an outstanding member of the Student Government Association.

RUSTY WILLIAMS...Presidential award

SISSY DOSS...American Legion award

MICHAEL PORTER...American Legion award

Receiving the American Legion Award were Sissy Doss, a Big Spring sophomore, and Michael Porter, a freshman from Hattiesburg, Miss.

Denise Green was honored as outstanding business student and was presented with the Wall Street Journal Award.

Awards for academic excellence were presented to Yolanda Lybarger and Glenda Wright in the Associate Degree of Nursing program; Nicky Dahlberg in agriculture; Rhonda Camp and Jacquelyn McElroy in art; David Thacker in automotive technology and Rick Monteleone, automotive body repair.

Other academic excellence awards were presented to Barbara Burchett, Rickie Long and Mary Sinclair, biology; Eden Chau, business; Sissy Doss, chemistry; Jeri Farmer, dental hygiene; and David Anguiano, drafting.

Others were John Lelek and Sandra Moyers, economics; Debra Day and Deborah Newman, freshman English; Marilyn Clark and Aubrey Weaver, sophomore English; Molly Early, health education; Jamie Phillips, mathematics; and Beth Patterson, medical lab technology.

Also Diana Justice, mid-management; Felecia Ford and Jay Purser, music; Brett Sterling, physical education; Sharon West, psychology; Marilyn Fuller, sociology; and Monica Dominguez and Ruth Salazar, Spanish.

Outstanding members of various organizations were Jeri Farmer, Phi Theta Kappa; Bill Taylor, Writer's Club; Thistles; Bill Brooks, T.A.C.A.E.; David Conklin, Rodeo Club; Pam Riddle and Jacquelyn McElroy, Fine Arts; Rose Dunn, O.E.A.; and Susan Jordan, T.N.S.A.

Taking a first place award for short stories in the Writer's Club contest was William Taylor. Jacquelyn McElroy took second place.

Mrs. McElroy took both first and second places in essay writing.

First place poetry winner was Johnnie Brent Cook. Steve Davis won second place.

Doris Vieregge won best of show in the art division.

Students from the Fall 1983 honors list and members of Who's Who were presented certificates of achievement.

Special recognition was given to Howard College

Pyramid reopened after mystery gas dissipates

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - A mysterious gas that had bothered tourists and forced officials to close the 4,600-year-old pyramid of Pharaoh Chephren has vanished and the monuments will be reopened to visitors on Thursday, an official said today.

"The pyramid has been declared safe," said Ahmed Moussa, director for the pyramids area. "We have decided to reopen it to visitors at 8 a.m. tomorrow."

He said experts used chemical sprays to remove all traces of the gas, which was detected on Monday. Even before Wednesday's cleanup, Moussa said, most of the gas had dissipated.

Moussa said laboratory tests of samples of the gas have been made but an official report on the results has not been released.

On Monday, 15 tourists who were looking at the pyramid's burial chamber complained of eye irritation, and difficulty in breathing.

The pyramid, the second of three towering structures considered among the "seven wonders" of the ancient world, was immediately put off limits to visitors as authorities opened an investigation.

Ritchie Priddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Priddy of 2515 Ann, is a runner-up for a Congressional internship according to the office of Charles Stenholm. Lauren Keathley of Abilene, Lori Givens of Irving, Becky Seawright of Meridan and Susan Stafford of Hamlin were chosen for the Omar Burleson and Lyndon Baines Johnson Congressional internships. Priddy is a graduate student at Texas Tech.

Lt. Mark Madigan, a senior at Texas A&M University, Sgt. Major Mathew Taylor, a junior, and Cpl. Johnny Hatch, a sophomore, all participated in the annual March to the Brazos on April 1. The march began many years ago because A&M cadets would play pranks on the University. To punish the cadets, the administration submitted them to a forced march to the Brazos river, a trek of seven miles.

Inland Port 213: It's Fun To Hunt In Wide Selection

When was the last time you went on a good old fashioned Easter hunt? Shopping at Inland Port 213 brings back the thrill of the hunt and the satisfaction of finding a basketfull of goodies. Here's a store with an endless array of pretty gifts and accessories for the home. Roy Peet has gathered treasures from around the world — including Germany, Italy, India, Portugal, Switzerland, Romania, Japan, China, Austria, France and the U.S. Every counter, shelf and wall is utilized to display the 1001 wonders of this unusual shop. There are new things arriving every week; for example, the new imported silk butterfly wall hangings in many sizes and colors. Roy also has a new selection of decoratives brass and copper decorative and table accessories, including mugs, trays, relish dishes, candelabra and animal figures. There are cuckoo clocks in all sizes and prices, unusual canister sets and cookie jars, exquisite crystal wine sets, crystal punch bowl sets, crystal and 24-kt. gold mobiles. For collectors, Inland Port 213 has one of the largest selections of Hummel Figurines in the Southwest. There are Anri wood sculptures from Italy and precious cloisonne from China. And chess sets from exotic woods. Inland Port's fine jewelry department always has a wide selection of diamonds, emeralds, lapis, rubies, pearls and more in rings, earrings, watches and pins. Part of the fun of shopping at Inland Port 213 — is the thrill of the hunt.

Al's Barbecue Offers Catering and Take-Out

Al's Barbecue has been a Big Spring landmark for about 19 years. The man for whom the restaurant was named, operated it for 14 years and developed a following from many other towns and states. He retired several years ago and now it's owned by Charlene Rinard. Charlene is quick to point out that Al's original barbecue technique and his sauce are still served. They serve barbecue beef, ham, sausage, ribs and chopped beef. The plate comes with choice of salad (macaroni or potato), slaw, beans, onion, pickle, pepper and bread. The combination plate (two or more meats) at $4.25 and the regular plate at $3.75 also come with cherry cobbler. There's also a small plate, a child's plate and barbecue sandwiches. Al's also provides catering, take-out service, and will service private parties at the restaurant in the evenings. Located at 411 West 4th, Al's is open from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday thru Saturday. The staff includes Daniel Garcia, manager, and Frances Garcia.

CARLA CARLTON LATHAM

Carla Latham named Outstanding Young Woman

Carla Carlton Latham, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.O. Shortes, 1724 Yale, was named among Outstanding Young Women of America, and was selected by the board of advisors for personal achievements and contributions to her community.

She is the wife of the Rev. Ted M. Latham, pastor of First Baptist Church in Grandfield, Okla. Together, they have strived to demonstrate real love and fellowship in a rewarding career.

Tulia, Texas natives, the Lathams are the parents of daughters Laurie, 8, and Callie, 3. Mrs. Latham is the daughter of Ray and Doris Carlton of Tulia.

A graduate of Tulia High School, Mrs. Latham received the Outstanding Music Student Award and went on to study under scholarship to Wayland Baptist University and University of Texas at Arlington.

Throughout, she maintained an active interest in Christian school betterment through music. The Lathams participated in home missions work in Spokane, Wash. While in Arlington, Mrs. Latham did volunteer work with the Tarrant County Mental Retardation Center. She has been active in E.S.A. and study clubs.

Academia

(Continued from page 1) 1983, the Corps of Cadets collected $30,000 and was given the honor of being the single largest contributor to the March of Dimes in Texas. There are 1,800 people in the Corps.

Marine Military Academy Cadet Samuel Joseph Ross, son of Thomas Ross of Big Spring, has been promoted to Cadet Lance Corporal at the Marine Military Academy in Harlingen.

He was promoted in recognition of his performance in academics, military leadership and athletics.

The Marine Military Academy is a private, military college preparatory boarding school for boys in grades 8 through 12. Post-high school specialized instruction is offered.

Students from Coahoma High School will compete in a Social Science contest at Western Texas College in Snyder Thursday, Dr. Franklin Pruitt, contest director, said.

Participants will register from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. in the student center. Competition is set for 11 a.m. with individual contests in U.S. history and government and Texas history and government, as well as current events.

Awards will be presented at 1:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre.

John Sterling Williams, 14, son of MSgt. and Mrs. David M. Williams, won first place in the Red River Regional History Fair at Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls.

He will now advance to state level competition in Austin May 4 and 5.

His presentation is titled "Sterling F. Tucker, American Soldier." It is based on his great uncle, a Big Spring native who was killed in action in World War II. Sterling was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Tucker, pioneer Big Spring residents.

John is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bill R. Davis, 3233 Cornell. He is an 8th grader at City View Independent School District.

Michael Wood, a junior majoring in music, is a member of the Concordia Repertory Band at Concordia College in Moorhead, Minn.

Concordia is owned by the congregations of the American Lutheran Church in North Dakota, Montana and northern Minnesota.

Wood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Wood of 3606 Boulder Drive.
