Patricia Neal wants to work

LOS ANGELES — Oscar-winning actress Patricia Neal says she's afraid that with publicity about her medical problems, some people may think her acting days are over.

"I want desperately to work," she says. "I want a good film. It would do so much for my self-esteem."

Miss Neal, 58, who visits Los Angeles rarely, now makes her home in Martha's Vineyard, Mass., after her divorce last year from British author Ronald Dahl, with whom she lived for 30 years. Dahl helped nurse her back from a series of crippling strokes she suffered in 1965.

"My problem is convincing people that I'm well again and able to work," she said on a recent visit here. "Of course, the right side of my body has been a bit of a mess since my strokes, but otherwise I'm fine."

She conceded that living so far away from Hollywood may have contributed to the slump in her career. Nonetheless the actress, who won her Academy Award for "Hud," has roles in an ABC-TV pilot, "Glitter," and a Walt Disney cable-TV movie, "Love Leads the Way."

"It would be easier if I lived here, perhaps," she said. "But I can't drive now. My right leg doesn't work properly, and I have trouble seeing out of the corner of one eye, so I can't get a license.... Some people would probably say that's a good thing. I was always a rotten driver."

Rose Kennedy collapses

PALM BEACH, Fla. — Rose Kennedy needed oxygen after fainting over her dinner, but responded well to the treatment, her doctor says.

The mother of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., remains at her home and was feeling "quite well" Sunday, said a woman who answered the telephone at Mrs. Kennedy's residence but refused to give her name.

However, the woman said, Mrs. Kennedy was unable to go out for Easter Mass, and a service was celebrated at her home.

Mrs. Kennedy, 93, fainted Friday night having dinner with her family, said Bob Schrum, an aide to Kennedy.

"She got a little bit faint, a little weak," said her physician, Dr. Robert Gerard. "Her nurse took her upstairs and gave a little oxygen. She responded fairly well."

Kennedy preferred that his mother be treated at home rather than at a hospital, Gerard said.

"There's nothing we can provide her in the hospital that can't be provided here," the physician said.

Actress takes a tumble

LANA TURNER

But in the best show-must-go-on tradition, the 64-year-old Miss Turner was described as determined to continue a trip to Cairo, Egypt, to finish a film segment for the show.

Miss Turner was met at the plane Saturday by Robin Leach, who had filmed her at her home in California for his show, "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous." He planned to complete the episode in Egypt.

Despite Miss Turner's determination, Leach was reported uncertain whether the segment could be finished.

"I've already spent a fortune," he was quoted Sunday in the New York Daily News. "She's in great pain. I don't know what's going to happen."

Prince feels responsibility

LONDON — Prince Charles says he thinks that a person blessed by the "accident of birth or wealth" has a duty to return something to the public.

But the 35-year-old heir to the British throne said that if he "sold up" and gave up everything he has, "it would be a three or four day wonder."

"There would be headlines about it for a bit and a lot of people would think I was quite dotty," he said. "I'm not sure how much I could achieve after that."

Charles was speaking on a British Broadcasting Corp. radio interview about the Royal Jubilee Trusts, which sponsor inner-city projects.

The news in brief

By the Associated Press

Congress goes back to work

WASHINGTON — While the administration scrambles for ways to salvage its policies in Central America, Congress returns to work on Tuesday to face the necessity of raising the government's borrowing authority by hundreds of billions of dollars to pay the bills for another year.

Despite general congressional agreement on tax and spending cuts designed to shrink federal deficits by up to $182 billion over the next three years, the Treasury is just days away from bumping up against the current national debt ceiling of $1.49 trillion.

So the Senate, back from a 10-day Easter recess, must act soon on the administration's request to lift the debt limit to just under $1.6 trillion over the next five months and to $1.83 trillion through Sept. 30, 1985, the end of the next fiscal year. The new levels already have cleared the House.

Regardless of how the debate over current spending and taxes evolves, the bureaucracy could grind to a halt early next month without the new line of credit.

Meanwhile, the White House is searching for new approaches in its efforts to salvage an aid package for El Salvador and other Central American nations, especially in the wake of severe congressional fallout over the disclosure that the CIA played a direct role in the war being fought by rebels against the leftist regime in Nicaragua.

Before taking the Easter break, both the House and Senate passed non-binding resolutions that effectively condemned the mining of Nicaraguan harbors and expressed the sense of Congress that no such activities would be financed by U.S. funds in the future.

The administration wanted to provide $21 million in direct aid to Nicaraguan rebels, but that package is all but dead in the House, where Democratic leaders had steadfastly opposed it even before the disclosures about direct CIA involvement in the harbor mining and commando attacks against port facilities.

Mondale, Hart look to Texas

Democrats in Vermont and Utah pick delegates in caucuses this week, but presidential contenders Walter Mondale and Gary Hart are ignoring them and looking ahead to Texas, Ohio and the next big round of contests.

Both Hart and Mondale set out today on week-long campaign trips after taking Easter weekend off — Mondale to Ohio where 154 delegates are at stake in its May 8 primary, and Hart to Texas where 169 delegates will be decided in May 5 caucuses.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson was in Tennessee again today after telling Easter Sunday audiences there that "The poor are still being crucified" and calling for a new "war on poverty."

In a television appearance Sunday, Hart renewed his criticism of the way in which Mondale's campaign is being financed.

"The dozens, if not now hundreds, of independent committees," Hart said on NBC's "Meet the Press," are "accepting political action committee money, which Mr. Mondale decried in 1983, through the back door and perhaps illegally, perhaps in violation of the laws."

Hart said the issue calls into question Mondale's ties to special interest groups and "how independent Mr. Mondale would be in the White House."

Although Mondale has said he will not accept money from PACs, independent delegate committees backing him have been taking such money. Hart has filed a complaint with the Federal Election Commission saying the practice circumvents limits on campaign spending.

The next delegate-selection contest is Tuesday in Vermont, where Hart won 71 percent of the vote in the non-binding primary March 6. Some 194 local caucuses in churches, town halls and living rooms will select delegates to the state convention, and 13 of Vermont's 17 national convention delegates are to be apportioned on the basis of the caucus voting.

On Wednesday, Utah Democrats hold their caucuses with 22 delegates at stake.

Neither Hart nor Mondale were visiting those states, however, and were concentrating on larger stakes.

Paris ripped by two bombs

PARIS — A group demanding the release of an unidentified anarchist "condemned to death in Japan" says it carried out two weekend bombings that ripped through a Sony Corp. building and a business importing Japanese cars, wounding one person slightly.

A man claiming to belong to an "anarchist group" telephoned the Paris offices of Agence France-Presse and claimed to have staged the bombings Sunday in Paris suburbs. The spokesman said "support actions" would continue as long as an unidentified anarchist was held in a Japanese prison.

A bombing in Clichy severely damaged Sony's French headquarters, where 296 French nationals and nine Japanese normally work.

In Levallois, another bomb shattered the window of Sonauto, a business importing Japanese and German cars. An unidentified German tourist was slightly wounded in the blast, which also damaged a Porsche on display.

In Tokyo, a company spokesman for Mitsubishi Motors, which has had a distribution agreement with Sonauto since 1978, said: "We don't understand the cause of the bombing."

Police inspectors from Paris said today that the explosions had been caused by small charges of an explosive akin to dynamite. The bombs, which weighed only ounces each, were ignited by a slow-burning fuse, they said.

Because of the three-day Easter weekend, it will be Tuesday at the earliest before insurance adjusters can estimate the amount of damage done in the bombings, the detectives said.

Rebels claim Angola bombing

PARIS — A rebel group has claimed responsibility for bombing a barracks in Angola that killed anywhere from 30 to 200 people, according to varying reports. The rebels say two Soviet army officers and 37 Cuban officers were among those killed.

The official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported Sunday that about 30 people were killed and more than 70 injured when a jeep loaded with dynamite exploded in the provincial capital of Huambo. The report came from the Angolan capital of Luanda.

The Soviet news agency Tass said from Luanda that 100 people died in the attack Thursday, which it termed a monstrous "crime."

The rebel group said more than 200 were killed. The official Angolan news agency Angop did not mention the bombing.

UNITA — the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola — a guerrilla faction opposed to Angola's Marxist government, claimed responsibility in a statement issued Sunday in Paris and said the bombing was the beginning of a new campaign of urban terror.

A huge charge of TNT "completely destroyed" a building housing Soviet and Cuban officers, UNITA said. Tanjug reported the building collapsed when the dynamite exploded in front of it, killing both people inside and passersby.

Tanjug said doctors in Huambo and Luanda were fighting for the lives of many of the injured, and a large number of the victims could not yet be identified. Tass said women and children were among those killed.

Several Angolan army officers, "unhappy with the Cuban occupation of Angola," collaborated in the attack, UNITA claimed. An estimated 20,000 Cuban troops are based in Angola to help the government fight the anti-Marxist rebels.

Tanjug quoted a member of the Politburo, Lusio Lara, as saying on Angolan television Friday night that the explosion was "another crime of UNITA rebels against the Angolan people."

Tanjug said the Angolan government had vowed to "strengthen measures of security and defense."

Jury to decide pick ax slayer's punishment

HOUSTON (AP) — An eight-man, four-woman jury decides today whether 24-year-old Karla Faye Tucker should receive life in prison or death by injection for killing a man with 21 blows from a pick ax.

The Harris County jury on Thursday found the Houston woman guilty of capital murder in the slaying of Jerry Lynn Dean as Dean lay in his bed last June. Deborah Thornton, 32, also was slain in the incident at Dean's apartment, apparently because she witnessed the Dean slaying, prosecutors said.

Ms. Tucker, however, was tried only for the Dean killing.

Defense attorney Mack Arnold, who told the jury in closing arguments Thursday that his client was guilty, said he will argue that she was intoxicated and temporarily insane during the killing and should be given life in prison.

Dr. Donohue

Iron problem

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Please send me some information on hemochromatosis. I have been diagnosed as having this disease. I am especially interested in the inherited tendency of this disease as I have a 21-year-old daughter and an 8-month-old grandson. — J.L.F.

Your letter finally got to me in a roundabout way, and I hope by now you have gotten information from the Hemochromatosis Foundation. There is a form of the illness that is not inherited, but I'll confine my comments to the inherited kind, in which you are interested.

Your daughter and young grandson certainly should be tested for this disease, even though their chances of having it are not that great. Your husband would have to have the gene for it (as well as you) in order for it to be passed on. And if your daughter does have hemochromatosis, her husband would have to have the gene for it as well for the grandson to be affected.

Hemochromatosis is a problem of faulty iron absorption from the foods we eat. Normally, the body closely regulates the amount that gets into the blood. When that regulation is lost, excess iron deposits itself in body tissues, as in the liver, heart and pancreas, for examples. In the heart it may cause failure of that organ. In the liver, cirrhosis (scarring) can occur. In the pancreas it may interfere with that organ's insulin production and lead to diabetes. In the skin, it produces a slate gray color.

As I'm sure you've been told by the experts, your children and close relatives should be tested, for the more serious complications can be prevented with early treatment. This involves removal of blood to lower the excessive iron content.

Just in case readers may have missed the point made earlier, let me repeat that there is a form of this disease that has nothing to do with inheritance. And any reader interested in either form of the illness should write to the following address: Hemochromatosis Research Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 8569, Albany, N.Y. 12208. You will receive an informative brochure on the illness and learn what's going on in prevention and treatment.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of Dr. Donohue's booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Abby

Teachers need thanks for not giving up

DEAR ABBY: I am the president of the South Philadelphia High School Alumni Association, and I have a confession to make.

We saw this item in your column in the Philadelphia Daily News, and we liked it so much we used it in our newsletter:

"Dear Abby: What a thrill I just had! A former student of many years just telephoned from across the country to tell me that I had made a difference in his life. He wanted to thank me for not giving up on him."

"He began his conversation by saying, 'You probably won't even remember me...' How wrong he was. Not only did I remember what he looked like, I even remembered his small, neat handwriting."

"Abby, if any of your readers had a schoolteacher who has made a difference in their lives, please urge them to take a few minutes to let that teacher know."

"One call from a former student has inspired me to hang in there with students I now have and will have in the future. — Ula Pendleton, Los Angeles."

"Dear Ula: Thank you for inspiring the following: Readers: Did you have a teacher who made a difference in your life? A teacher who encouraged you to stay in school when you wanted to quit? A teacher who believed in you and your ability to succeed when you had no confidence in yourself? A teacher who stayed late to give you the extra help you needed? If so, please phone or write that teacher and say thank you. It will make that teacher's day."

Abby, because of the write-up, a lot of former South Philadelphia students contacted their former teachers, and it really made their day. Keep up the good work. I hope you don't mind.

BILL ESHER, HADDONFIELD, N.J.
DEAR BILL: It's a great idea that deserves to be repeated, and I'm delighted you found it useful.

However, copyrighted material (and mine is) should never be reproduced without the permission of the author.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for encouraging people to donate blood. Recently our 3½-year-old son was accidentally ran over by a riding lawn mower, and his arm and part of his face were mangled. We lived 22 miles from the nearest hospital, and when we finally got there, the boy had nearly bled to death.

Thanks to donors, blood was available or we would have lost him.

GRATEFUL MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Your letter bears two equally important messages: (1) Donate blood; (2) parents please protect your children from such accidents.

DEAR ABBY: I know how "Proud Mama" feels. After she became a grandma, she became a mother again.

My youngest son is 7 and my oldest is 22. When I'm with my 7-year-old, I also get some "Grandma" comments, which doesn't bother me because the people who matter know who I am.

On one occasion, a saleswoman commented, "You look too old to be the mother of your youngest, and too young to be the mother of your oldest."

Twisters roar across Mississippi

WATER VALLEY, Miss (AP) — Workers labored today to restore power and phone service to this tornado-ravaged town, as prison inmates and church groups joined to aid victims of a series of twisters that killed 15 people and injured at least 100 others in northern Mississippi.

Gov. Bill Allain toured the "totally devastated" community of Water Valley on Sunday after declaring 10 Mississippi counties disaster areas. Some of the town's 4,500 residents attended Easter services in littered church parking lots while state penitentiary inmates helped clear roads of debris.

Water Valley — where seven people were killed, 45 homes were destroyed and more than 50 other dwellings damaged — was the hardest hit when a wave of wind funnels spawned by thunderstorms raked northern Mississippi late Saturday afternoon.

"We stood there like Dorothy in the Wizard of Oz and watched the house blow away around us," said Jo Alexander, who was visiting her mother in Water Valley for Easter. All that was left of Louis Edwards' house was the central hallway.

But amid the devastation, there was optimism.

"I guess you might say we were lucky it wasn't worse," said Yalobusha County Sheriff Lloyd Defer. "I'll tell you one thing, as bad as it is, these folks are going to bounce back. We won't worry about this thing too long."

Three Water Valley churches were severely damaged, but many residents still managed to attend Easter services.

"This is not the worst thing that could happen to us," the Rev. Guy Reedy told his congregation Sunday in the parking lot of First Baptist Church in Water Valley. Most of the roof and the wing housing the church's kindergarten program had been destroyed, and a wall had been toppled by the force of the tornado.

Water Valley was still without electricity and telephone service Sunday night, but a spokesman for the state Emergency Operations Center said a load of new utility poles had been sent and repairs were continuing through the night.

The governor's office put 10 counties under a "state of emergency," making them eligible for state aid such as assistance from the National Guard and state agencies.

Officials said they had no immediate figures on the cost of the damage.

Counties covered by the emergency declaration included Yalobusha, Union, Tallahatchie, Leflore, Tippah, Alcorn, Benton, Lafayette, Sunflower and Tishomingo.

Fifty-seven people remained hospitalized Sunday at the Yalobusha County Hospital, Mayor Hamric Henry said, and 30 more were at hospitals in Oxford, Batesville and Coffeeville. "And that doesn't include the injured who were treated and released," he said.

Braniff needs more passengers

DALLAS (AP) — Although newly reincarnated Braniff carried more passengers during its first month of operation than the company had predicted, officials say the airline needs to more than double the number in order to break even.

The company reported its planes 23.4 percent full for the first month of operations, a figure slightly higher than the airline predicted, but still below the break-even point.

"The biggest problem we have is getting people to try us for the first time. After they've flown with us, they say they like us, and we think they will come back," airline President William D. Slattery told The Dallas Morning News.

Braniff executives had hoped Braniff's image as a hometown carrier — coupled with the talked about need for competition at Dallas-Fort Worth Regional airport — would bring immediate passenger loyalty.

Load factors are reported to be slightly up this month, but the figures are below company forecasts, the newspaper reported Sunday.

"Our whole game plan was based on not coming in and slashing fares in half to generate bodies on airplanes. Doing that, we realized we would have a slower build rate in traffic," said Slattery.

He said he expects Braniff to have its first "break-even" month during its third or fourth operating quarter.

"I would like to see it a lot earlier — say July or August," said Slattery. "But it all comes back to how fast we can get the traveling public to come and try the new Braniff."

Nearly two years ago, Braniff collapsed under a $1 billion debt. It took 22 months for what was once the nation's eighth-largest airline to reorganize in federal bankruptcy court and resume limited service.

Joy! To the world

By JOY CULWELL
Colorado City Correspondent

I just knew last December and early January when it was freezing and popping that this spring would be precious. I guess it's because I'm getting older but I no longer take for granted the beauty I am now surrounded with. I've been watching trees come alive this year with a new wonder and sense of excitement.

In January, the trees sure looked dead and their deadness affected my mood. I would look out on their deadness and get depressed, but then my faith in God would take over and I'd remember that the death of winter would be replaced by the life of spring.

Looking at that convinces me again and again that eternal life is mine through faith in the one who conquered death two thousand years ago.

If he had merely died for us, we would have been without hope. But he arose from the dead for us. Glory! He arose from the dead and because he did, I can too. Now Joy, next time you get a blue Monday, think of that! It will bring you out of the doldrums.

When God created me, he put the joy of laughter in my soul. I thank him for that because it sure makes my pathway through this life fun.

Sunday school teachers tell me the cutest stories of what children say at church. "Who was mad when the prodigal son returned home?" my friend asked her class of five-year-old boys and girls. She thought they would say, "The older brother, because he had stayed home faithfully while the prodigal ran off." A little boy immediately held up his hand that he knew the answer. His teacher nodded his way and he blurted out, "The fatted calf was mad." You know, I'll bet he was mad at that.

They make these Noah's Ark toy sets with the boat and all the animals. Well, a friend of mine has a boy who owns just such a set. He was playing with it the other day sitting on the floor of the den.

He put the two tigers on board and said "Here's the tigers, then the giraffes, then the elephants, then the lions, then the bears." He looked around when he ran out of animals and said "Where's the beef?" Kid, I think you have a great future in advertising!

Veteran Texas newsman dies

JASPER, Texas (AP) — He gained the respect of both labor and management for his labor coverage in Southeast Texas during the 1960s.

Broughton began his career in 1956 at the Port Arthur News and worked for the Beaumont Enterprise and Journal from 1969 until 1976, when he was named editor and general manager of the Jasper News-Boy.

Time lists its top 10 newspapers

NEW YORK (AP) — Three newspapers have made Time magazine's list of the nation's top 10 papers for the third time — The New York Times, The Los Angeles Times and The Washington Post.

They were joined by The Boston Globe, The Chicago Tribune, The Des Moines Register, The Miami Herald, The Philadelphia Inquirer, The St. Petersburg Times and The Wall Street Journal.

Time, which named its top 10 newspapers in 1974 and 1984, said two papers on its 1974 list which didn't repeat, The Louisville Courier-Journal and The Milwaukee Journal, were hampered by "the limited newness of the areas they cover."

A third newspaper on the 1974 list which did not repeat, Newsday of Long Island, is "vigilant and bright" but is ranked among newspapers that "might qualify for more national influence if they were not overshadowed by even better nearby competitors."

Let Your Vote Be Your Voice May 5

For the past five years, it has been my privilege to serve the people of the 17th District. To the many friends who have been so kind to Cindy and myself, we say thank you and ask for your continued support.

Vote Saturday, May 5, in the Democratic Primary, and participate that night in the precinct convention. Let your vote be your voice for the kind of America you want.

76ers stay alive with 108-100 win

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Julius Erving scored 11 of his 27 points in the fourth quarter and Moses Malone added 21 points and 17 rebounds as the defending world champion Philadelphia 76ers defeated the New Jersey Nets 108-100 Sunday to remain alive in the first round of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Maurice Cheeks added 19 points, including a crucial layup with 25 seconds to play after a steal, as the 76ers cut the Nets lead in the best-of-five series to 2-1.

Malone scored 15 of his points in the second half while Andrew Toney added 17 points and Bobby Jones 14.

Erving sank a driving basket with 1:09 left and hit one of two free throws 24 seconds later to give the 76ers a 102-100 lead. Cheeks then intercepted Albert King's pass to Michael Ray Richardson near midcourt and converted it into a layup with 25 seconds remaining to give Philadelphia a 104-100 advantage. Clint Richardson added a layup with 12 seconds to play after Erving made a steal. Erving closed out the scoring with two free throws with five seconds to play.

Buck Williams led New Jersey with 21 points and 17 rebounds, while Richardson added 16 points and 11 assists. Darryl Dawkins also had 16 points for the Nets, who will face the 76ers in the fourth game of the series Tuesday night at the Brendan Byrne Arena.

The 76ers built a six-point lead midway through the fourth quarter but the Nets stormed back behind King, who had 10 points in the final period. The Nets had seven of their 23 turnovers in the fourth quarter.

Philadelphia rallied after the Nets reeled off eight unanswered points to take a 45-36 lead. Richardson and Kelvin Ransey hit jump shots, Williams took a pass from Richardson for a layup and Darryl Dawkins dunked as the Nets capitalized on their fast break.

GOING TO THE HOOP — Maurice Cheeks of the Philadelphia 76ers tries to score as Otis Birdsong on the New Jersey Nets tries to defend during the NBA playoff game at Madison Square Garden Sunday night.

Suns' comeback nips Portland

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Walter Davis scored 12 of his 27 points in the fourth period and Maurice Lucas had two crucial baskets in the final minutes as the Phoenix Suns beat the Portland Trail Blazers 106-103 Sunday night and took a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five National Basketball Association playoff series.

Game 4 in the Western Conference quarterfinal series will be here Tuesday night.

Down 54-53 at halftime, 80-73 after the third quarter and 101-96 with 2:41 to go in the game, Phoenix took a 102-101 lead with 1:31 left on Kyle Macy's jumper and back-to-back baskets by Davis in a 19-second span.

Lucas, an ex-Trail Blazer, tapped in a Larry Nance miss with 1:12 remaining and added a jumper for a 106-101 lead with 40 seconds remaining. Jim Paxson cut Portland's deficit to 106-103 on two free throws with 29 seconds left, but missed a 3-point try at the final buzzer.

Nance finished with 17 points for the Suns, while James Edwards and Paul Westphal had 14 each and Lucas added 10.

Darnell Valentine scored a game-high 29 points for the Trail Blazers, including 23 in the second half and 13 in the fourth period. Paxson wound up with 21 points. Mychal Thompson had 17, Kenny Carr 14 and Calvin Natt 10 for Portland.

Denver edges Utah, 121-117

DENVER (AP) — Guard Rob Williams scored 10 crucial points down the stretch as the Denver Nuggets pulled away to a 121-117 victory over the Utah Jazz Sunday night in National Basketball Association playoff action.

The victory gave Denver a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five Western Conference first-round series. Game 4 is scheduled here Tuesday night.

The Nuggets, who trailed by as much as 13 points in the first half, whittled the deficit to four, 64-60, at the half. Dan Issel's 3-point play early in the third quarter gave Denver its first lead since midway through the opening quarter, and the lead then seasawed until Williams took charge with 4½ minutes left in the game.

Williams, who had scored only 10 points up to that time, hit an 18-footer to give the Nuggets a 104-101 advantage. He then sank a 3-point basket from the baseline with 4 minutes left for a 107-103 lead. Then, with 2:40 remaining, he sank a 20-foot jumper to push the Nuggets to their biggest lead of the game to that point at 112-107.

Two free throws by Issel, two more by Kiki Vandeweghe and a jumper by Alex English padded the Nuggets lead to 118-108 with less than 2 minutes to go. Williams tacked on three insurance free throws to help account for the final margin.

English was high scorer for Denver with 29 points, followed by Vandeweghe with 24, Issel with 23 and Williams with a playoff-high 20.

Adrian Dantley paced the Jazz with 29 points. Guard Darrell Griffith, who sparked the Jazz to an early 11-point lead, finished with 24 points, and reserve John Drew had 18.

REFLECTS MISSED BIRDIE PUTT — Tom Kite reflects a missed birdie putt on the 13th green during Sunday's final round of the Heritage Golf Classic. Kite finished play with a 13-under-par 271, one stroke behind winner Nick Faldo.

LA sweeps Kings in three straight

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Mike McGee, Magic Johnson and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar triggered a quick Los Angeles getaway Sunday and helped squelch a Kansas City rally at the end as the Lakers rolled to 108-102 victory and a three-game sweep of the Kings in the first-round of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Lakers, 57-28 and the champions of the Pacific Division of the Western Conference, will meet the winner of the Seattle-Dallas series in the conference semifinals.

Abdul-Jabbar led the Lakers with 23 points, McGee had 22 and Johnson 17. Bob McAdoo had 19 off the bench.

Reggie Theus and Mike Woodson each had 22 points for the Kings.

Abdul-Jabbar, who earlier this year became the NBA's all-time scoring leader, got the first bucket of the game to give the Lakers a lead they never relinquished against outmanned Kansas City, which finished with a 38-47 mark.

The Kings, who have beaten Los Angeles only twice in their last 23 meetings, trailed 59-43 at halftime and 84-72 at three quarters. But Larry Micheaux and Theus led the Kings in a fourth-quarter surge that saw them slice the lead to five points, 93-88, with 4:49 left.

Abdul-Jabbar hit a stuff shot and a skyhook, and Johnson buried a pair of free throws to restore the Lakers to a 99-88 advantage with 3:29 left.

The Lakers also briefly lost the momentum in the third period as Theus and Woodson trimmed the deficit to eight points at 65-57 with a 10-3 run. But Los Angeles called a timeout and regained the momentum with a basket by James Worthy, one of Abdul-Jabbar's famed skyhooks and a Johnson free throw.

King-led Knicks power past Detroit

By The Associated Press
Bernard King, who established New York's playoff record with 46 points in its second-game loss against Detroit, matched that total in as the Knicks downed the Pistons 120-113.

The visiting Pistons trailed 54-36 at halftime after shooting only 32.6 percent from the field in the first two periods, but they more than doubled their first-half total with 77 points in the second half.

Kelly Tripucka scored 25 of his 40 points and Isaiah Thomas all of his 29 points in the final two periods for Detroit, but New York's big halftime cushion and King's 30 second-half points kept the Pistons at bay.

HERITAGE WINNER — Nick Faldo of Hartfordshire, England, raises his putter on the 18th green after winning the Heritage Golf Classic Sunday.

Faldo holds off Kite in Heritage

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Nick Faldo was under some unseen pressure, pressure applied from 3,500 miles and six time zones away, when he strode up the 18th fairway to his first American PGA tour triumph.

"It's not easy anyway, winning your first tournament," the 26-year-old Englishman said after he'd turned back Tom Kite's last-round charge Sunday and won by one shot in the Sea Pines Heritage Classic.

And, he said, there was the added pressure of the British press, which has been highly critical of his unsuccessful efforts in the 1983 British Open and the Masters, two weeks ago.

"That put me under a lot of pressure," said Faldo, a three-time British PGA champion and the leading player in Europe last year.

"I thought that whatever I shot, if I lost, even if I hadn't gone backwards, they would have written that I had blown another tournament.

"But," he said, and leaned back with a smile, "it all came right for me in the end. I got the last laugh." He also got $72,000 from the total purse of $400,000 and, he said, "joined a very small club — only three of us in 20 years."

It was a reference to Tony Jacklin, a former U.S. Open champion, and Peter Oosterhuis, a former Canadian Open title-holder, the only other Englishmen to win on the American PGA Tour in — Faldo underestimated — more than 40 years.

Faldo won it with a front-running, no-bogey, 2-under-par 69 and a 270 total, 14 under par and matching the record on the respected Harbour Town Golf Links.

Kite made a run at him with a solid, no-bogey 66 that fell one stroke short at 271.

"No complaints, but I wish there had been a different result," Kite said.

"It hurts to play that well and not win. But when you hit 16 greens, don't make a bogey, shoot 66, then somebody beats you, there's not much you can do about it."

The victory, in humid, hazy weather, represented the achievement of a goal for Faldo. "It was my No. 1 objective for the year, winning in this country," he said.

It also produced something of a problem for Faldo. Although a full-time member of the American tour, he also is No. 1 in Europe. He'd planned to play in Europe for the next couple of months, returning to the United States in June.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTEER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, APRIL 24, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: All sorts of arguments can take place today if you or others act in a disputative or picky manner. Consciously refrain from any sort of negative response to what anyone else does.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can easily get into arguments today with friends or business contacts. Be tactful. Keep financial and personal affairs separate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Avoid any argument that may arise between a bigwig and a partner; it will soon blow over. Care in motion is necessary.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A co-worker and an outsider are apt to argue, but don't take sides and get into trouble. Enjoy a pleasurable activity with your mate.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) A good friend and some business person could have a confrontation, but don't get yourself involved.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Important you keep out of quarrels between others, or you could get hurt. Find a better way of dealing more harmoniously with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Keep rooted to work ahead of you and don't go off on any tangents. Avoid arguments with a fellow worker.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can easily argue with one you like because he, or she is sensitive. Do not engage in any expensive recreation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't try to force kin to do what you want or there can be trouble, so quietly go about your own business.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Forget that private anxiety and go after all the interesting projects in the outside world. State your aims.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your personal and your business life are not on the same level, so keep them separate. Take care of your own affairs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You cannot understand the ideas of a bigwig, but keep silent for best results. Don't add personal innovations to your job.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You don't know whether to handle some annoying situation or to go out to interesting new activities. Schedule your time well.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one who will like to look at both sides of any condition and could get in trouble by being forceful about it. Teach early to compromise and have friendly relations with others in order to be successful.
