City courts machine company

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

A machine tool company is considering Big Spring as a site for a 50-employee business, Granville Hahn of the Industrial Committee told Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday.

Hahn said the company "is looking at 28 places" in the state but "we are the only ones who have sent people to see them."

The company builds machines which automatically stack newspapers and magazines. It is seeking a five-year contract and people willing to set up a building and provide machinery, Hahn said. "Somebody in West Texas is going to get it," he said.

A proposed expansion at Western Container and the expansion of Co-Ex Pipe Company were also discussed.

In other business, the Chamber directors:

• Were given an update on project CLEAN (City Litter Eliminators Are Near). Organizers have met with students from Big Spring High School but hiring, which will be done by the Texas Employment Commission, has not yet begun.

Executive Director LeRoy Tillery told the directors he had not been able to nail down a price for liability insurance costs for the project.

Hahn told the group, "We ought to get three quotes and take the cheapest. We already said we were going to get (the insurance.) I feel like it ought to be covered."

• Adopted a resolution asking that legislation concerning worker's compensation for agricultural workers and household servants be the topic of a state special legislative session.

• Voted against the labor provisions of House Regulation 5174, which is an amendment to the U.S. bankruptcy code, and urged support of a balanced budget constitutional amendment.

• Voiced support of a three-part position on natural gas supported by the U.S. Chamber. Directors were See Chamber page 2-A

Absentee voting high in District 3

A heavy turnout of absentee voters for Saturday's District 3 city council run-off between Harold Hall and Danny Heckler indicates high interest in the election, according to City Secretary Tom Ferguson.

Voters cast 97 absentee ballots in the run-off before yesterday's 5 p.m. deadline. "It was very surprising to me. All I can say is there's a lot of interest in the election," Ferguson said this morning.

The District 3 council race was thrown into a run-off because none of the candidates could garner a majority of the votes in the April 7 election. Hall led all vote-getters with 43.8 percent of the vote, or 345 ballots. Heckler came next with 23.5 percent, or 184 votes.

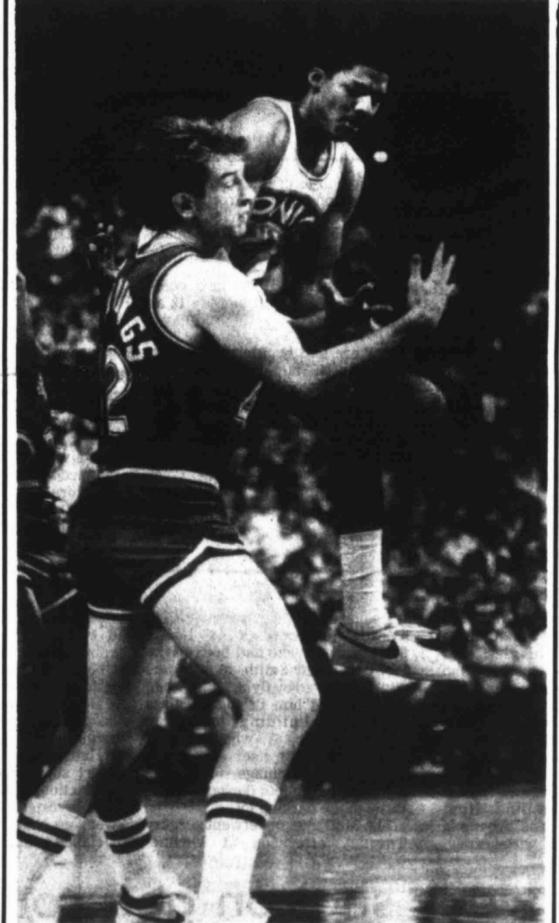

The 97 absentee run-off ballots, which were cast between April 16 and April 24, represent an almost 200 percent increase over the 38 absentee ballots that were cast before the District 3 regular election held April 7.

According to a spokeswoman in the city secretary's office, a steady flow of votes were cast throughout the balloting period. City officials have designated two District 3 polling places for next Saturday's run-off: the 18th and Main Fire Station and the Wasson Road Fire Station.

Absentee ballots for the May 5 Democratic primary election total 172 as of this morning, according to County Clerk Margaret Ray. The office has mailed out 51 ballots, and received 12 back, she said.

Eighteen Republicans have cast absentee ballots in the office, 60 have been mailed, and 14 have been returned, Mrs. Ray said. The clerk's office will be open Saturday from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. for absentee voting, Mrs. Ray said. Tuesday is the last day for absentee voting.

Council cuts landfill hours

Department drops 8 workers

By RICK BROWN Staff Writer

The city's new garbage collection program will cut eight jobs from the Public Works Department and restrict public access to the landfill.

The Big Spring City Council last night approved a new schedule for the landfill to take effect May 14. The landfill will be open for public garbage dumping from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The council also approved an increase in landfill personnel from two workers to four to provide control of scavenging at the dump and to adequately process the garbage under Department of Health regulations.

Officials in the Public Works Department said they hope the two additional employees can be hired from workers who would otherwise be laid off as a result of the city's new container program for garbage collection.

Because residents will be assigned containers for their trash in the coming months, the department will reduce personnel by eight workers, according to department director Tom Decell.

In other action, the council:

• Rejected a request by several residents in the city's Silver Heels addition for disannexation from the city.

The action caps a year-long feud between two Silver Heels families, the Wilsons and the Osbornes, that began last year when the council granted a temporary mobile home permit to David Wilson. The Osbornes complained that the mobile home, 800 feet away from their property, ruined the view from their picture window. The council denied an extension of the permit last January.

Had the request for disannexation been granted, the Osbornes would have lost the protection given them by city zoning ordinances, and the mobile home could have remained.

Council members said the two families should get together and reach a compromise on their differences.

• Rejected a bid for roofing of the Birdwell Fire Station because it came in over budget. City administrators will study the project's specifications for a new bid at a later date.

• Studied a set of floor plans for the new city animal shelter, but took no action because a complete set of plans was not available. The council may take action on the shelter at its May 8 meeting.

• Approved ordinances and resolutions hiring collection agencies for recouping of monies owed the city for delinquent taxes and bad debts, and providing for an additional 15 percent penalty for delinquent taxes not paid by July 1.

• Approved a resolution supporting increased state highway funding and an increase in highway user charges. The resolution was recommended by the Texas Municipal League.

• Approved a settlement of $3,000 with the United States Air Force for electrical costs incurred by the city at three buildings at Big Spring Airport during the time the facility changed hands.

Man fired from job shoots 8 in rampage

CHICAGO (AP) — A 37-year-old man who sprayed eight people with gunfire, killing his wife, their two children and a bystander before police shot him, had been fired from his job, police said.

Two of the four survivors of Charles Hunt's rampage Tuesday remained hospitalized today. In addition, a police sergeant who was wounded in the foot was treated at a hospital and released, and a fourth person refused treatment.

Police said a family dispute apparently touched off the shootings, which began in Hunt's 23rd-floor apartment in a high-rise building on Chicago's South Side.

After killing his wife, Betty, 37, son Charles Jr., 16, and daughter Linda, 15, Hunt rushed from the apartment carrying an automatic pistol, a .38-caliber revolver and about 80 rounds of ammunition, said police Cmdr. James Delaney.

shots to the head, then went to the building's lobby and shot at "everyone he encountered," Delaney said. In the parking lot, witnesses said, he appeared to be reloading the pistol when police caught him in a hail of gunfire.

Hunt had lost his job Monday at a suburban Northbrook security company, Midwest Multifamily Inc., for unknown reasons, Delaney said. Company officials did not return repeated telephone calls Tuesday.

Diane Barr, who lives in the apartment next to the Hunts, said Hunt "terrified me" as he frequently stalked sullenly through the hallway. She said she heard him "pacing nervously" through his apartment Monday night.

"This doesn't surprise me at all. I knew the man was very strange," she said. But at Dunbar High School, Principal Richard Stephenson said Hunt's two children were "were very, very courteous, which reflected a strong home See Shooting page 2-A

The vanishing dream

Salvadoran refugee children await deportation from U.S.

LAREDO (AP) — The two-story, peach-colored building squats squarely within the compound of a surrounding metal fence, but the atmosphere is not that of a jail.

Teen-age boys — prime recruits for both Salvadoran guerrillas and the government army — work up a sweat playing soccer on the cement yard in the afternoon sun.

Girls sit on classroom chairs brought outside to the shade of the building and play dominoes, chatting about what attorneys have said concerning their pending cases.

The place is known as La Frontera, Spanish for The Frontier or Border. What was a former halfway house for alcoholics is now a temporary home for mostly Salvadoran youths escaping the violence in their Central American home.

The recent election carries little meaning for most of them. They say the have nothing to do with the state of affairs in El Salvador, especially since many are too young to vote.

Their stories vary, but all were caught by the U.S. Border Patrol while trying to enter this country illegally — sin papeles, without papers.

La Frontera, operated by the Roman Catholic Diocese of Corpus Christi through Catholic Social Services of Laredo, offers the aliens an alternative to the Webb County Jail, said Roxanne Guerra, chief administrator of the Catholic Social Service.

Mrs. Guerra also oversees nine other programs sponsored by the diocese, including a battered wives' shelter and a counseling center.

Her emotional involvement with the people in the house is evident from her response to the children gathered around her.

"I'm seriously considering adopting Maria Celia so she won't be sent back, but I'm not sure of all the bureaucratic complications we'll have to go through since she's here illegally," said Mrs. Guerra. a grandmother of five, putting her arm around a 13-year-old girl.

Maria Celia, who has no relatives in the United States, said, "I want to stay with her, she treats us very well."

A more typical case is that of ninth-grader Griselda Margarita who hoped to reach her mother who works in a factory near Dallas. Griselda left her father and three younger brothers in San Miguel, a city in southeastern El Salvador.

"It's very dangerous and difficult living there," Griselda said. "In truth, you're afraid of both the guerrillas and the army. So I left with three cousins and an uncle."

She said a coyote, or illegal alien smuggler, brought them into the United States for $300, bringing them most of the way in a truck and helping them cross the Rio Grande in inner tubes.

She and her cousins have been in La Frontera for two weeks. Her uncle was sent to the alien detention facility at Los Fresnos near Brownsville.

"It's nice here. They give us food, clothing and I've made friends," she said of La Frontera.

Griselda's attorney said she may qualify to stay with her mother who has applied for political asylum.

U.S. Border Patrol Assistant Chief H. Pool of Laredo said he does not have specific figures on how many in La Frontera are eventually deported, but he said the majority of them are.

La Frontera is subsidized by the Border Patrol which pays $20 a day for room and board for each alien awaiting a deportation hearing. According to Catholic Social Service financial records, the house has received $62,600 since October.

But Mrs. Guerra said all the money has been used to provide necessities for the refugees.

Both Mrs. Guerra and Border Patrol officials said the project at La Frontera began unexpectedly six months ago after an alien who had been trying to board a moving freight car was found with his legs severed.

That first refugee, Jose Agustin Sibrian, 44, remains at La Frontera, watching others come and go.

Sibrian said he didn't recall much of the circumstances surrounding his accident, but the former farmworker and handyman said he remembers the excruciating pain as he lost his grasp on the train that was supposed to take him to another city and a job.

He said he left his wife and four children behind and had hoped to send for them later.

Catholic Social Services has allotted $10,000 to care for him and provide job training, Mrs. Guerra said.

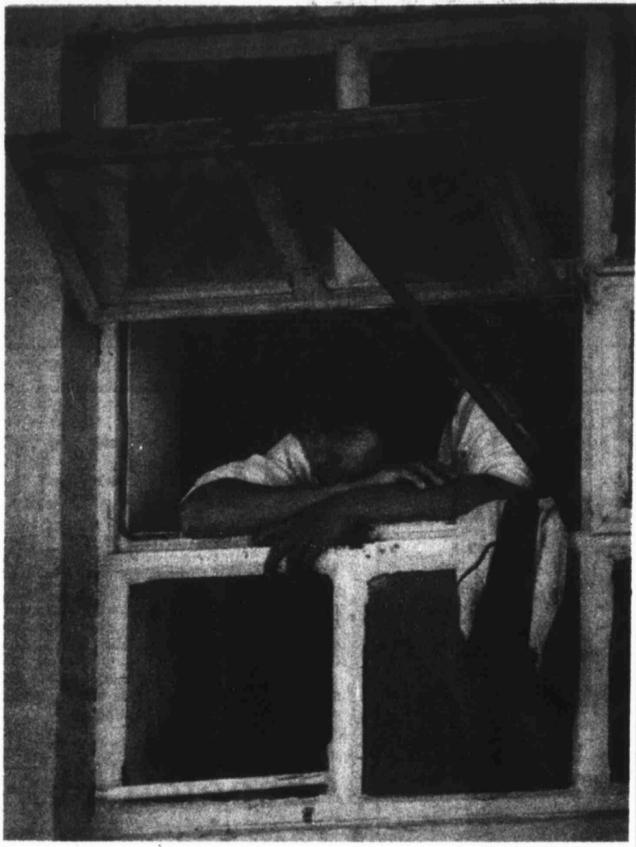

He is also preparing a request for political asylum in Canada, she said.

"The Border Patrol found him bleeding and unconscious with his legs cut off at the Laredo railroad yard area," she said.

"They took him to the hospital where he remained for several weeks and when he was released they didn't know where to put him," she said.

"That's when they asked us if we could care for him rather than having to put him in jail. The Bishop granted his permission."

After that the Border Patrol requested care for women and children and the flow hasn't stopped since, Mrs. Guerra said.

WATCHING AND WAITING — A Salvadoran refugee looks out the window of La Frontera, an alternative to jail for persons trying to enter the U.S. illegally.

background. Linda was in the top 8 percent of her class and Charles was in the top half of his class.

The son had played trombone and belonged to the All-City Jazz band, said instructor Willie Naylor. The youth had not mentioned problems at home, and his father often accompanied him to concerts, Naylor said.

Erma Davis, a dance instructor at Dunbar, said Linda Hunt reported her father was becoming "exceptionally strict" with her.

Police identified those wounded in Tuesday's shootings as Londa McDaniel, 29, who had been in the lobby; Anthony Smith, 16, who was slightly injured by flying glass when Hunt shot at him through a glass partition; building employee Robert Gholar, 31, who was shot outside the high rise; and police Sgt. Oleon Hennings, who was wounded in the foot during a chase through the parking lot.

Ms. McDaniel underwent surgery Tuesday afternoon at Michael Reese Hospital and was in fair condition early today, said spokeswoman Sally Benjamin. Gholar remained hospitalized there in fair condition, she said.

Hennings was treated at a local hospital and released, and Smith refused treatment, authorities said.

Hunt was placed under a one-year court supervision after a robbery conviction in 1964, police said. He was arrested twice in the 1970s on weapons charges but not convicted, Delaney said.

Newlyweds shot on golf course

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A 44-year-old American man wounded in a bizarre shooting on a resort golf course returned Tuesday to the United States with the body of his wife, who was slain in the still unsolved attack, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said.

The couple, said to be from Chicago, were on their honeymoon.

Richard Pena, 44, and his wife Mary Jean, 37, were playing golf at the Flamingo Golf Course on Sunday about 24 miles south of the Pacific resort of Puerto Vallarta when a sniper began shooting at them, according to accounts by police and the embassy spokesman.

The spokesman talked on the condition that his name not be used.

The embassy spokesman said the attacker's rifle apparently jammed after fatally shooting Mrs. Pena and wounding her husband. The attacker then walked over to Pena who gave him 300 Mexican pesos, which is worth a little less than $2, the embassy spokesman said.

But then the gunman apparently began striking Pena with the butt of the weapon, the spokesman said. Nayarit state judicial police arrested five people but could not tie any of them definitely to the crime, the spokesman said.

It was not clear if the five still were in custody, the spokesman said.

Rodrigo Rodriguez Castillon, deputy director of the Nayarit state judicial police, said in a phone interview, however, that no progress had been made yet in the case.

"We don't have anything at all yet. We are still investigating," Rodriguez said.

Teresa Figueroa Lopez, a nurse at the Sanatorio Vallarta private hospital, said Pena walked out on his own Tuesday, although he was still carrying a bullet lodged in his right shoulder.

R.M. Langston

R. M. Langston, 60, died Sunday evening at a local hospital following a one-year illness. No services were held.

He came to Big Spring in 1954. He was born April 8, 1924 in Salado, Texas. He worked as a refrigeration mechanic at Webb Air Force Base until 1969. He was a Methodist.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Doug (Paula) McMeans of Muleshoe; two grandchildren, Shelly McMeans and Brant McMeans of Muleshoe; two brothers, A. L. Langston of Brownfield and Edgar Langston of Fort Worth; and two sisters, Lillie Mae Cowan of Lampassas and Rena Langston of San Antonio.

Liv looks for a cause

ROME — Liv Ullman says she'll be taking a break from the movies for a while.

"I'm a little tired of cinema and have no film roles planned for the future," the 45-year-old actress said Tuesday. "I intend to devote the next year to social causes and the theater."

Ms. Ullman has been busy with her latest book, "Tides," which she hopes will be in print by the end of the year. Ms. Ullman's previous book, the best-selling "Changing," was translated into more than 24 languages.

She was in Rome to attend the opening Tuesday of the annual conference of the United Nations Children's Fund. She is currently a "goodwill ambassador" to UNICEF, a post that has taken her to 16 countries to review the agency's programs.

MEMPHIS — Rockabilly piano pounder Jerry Lee Lewis has tied the knot for the sixth time, marrying Kerrie McCarver, an aspiring 22-year-old country singer from Memphis.

Lewis, 48, and Miss McCarver exchanged vows Tuesday at the home of the bride's parents in a ceremony restricted to family and friends.

Lewis' fifth wife, Shawn Michelle, 25, was found dead in bed Aug. 24 of a methadone overdose at the couple's residence in nearby Nesbit, Miss. She and Lewis had been married three months.

Three of Lewis' marriages ended in divorce, and his fourth wife, Jaren, drowned in 1982. His most publicized marriage was his third, in 1957, to his 13-year-old cousin, Myra Gail Brown.

PEORIA — Convicted Watergate burglar G. Gordon Liddy says the problem with most Americans is that they have a "deep and abiding belief in the Easter Bunny."

"There's something different about us — different from people of Europe, Africa, Asia," Liddy told about 800 people gathered Monday night at Bradley University to hear him.

"The vast majority of our fellow citizens live lives of illusion," he said. "Either they are unable at all to comprehend the real world or, if they can, they tend to turn away from it and shun the harsher aspects of it."

31 die in St. Domingo riots

SANTO DOMINGO — Troopers set up steel barricades today to seal off a burned and looted business district, and the death toll from two days of rioting over food price increases rose to least 31.

Police and soldiers used bullets and rifle butts Tuesday in their clashes with the rioters. It was the bloodiest violence since the nation's 1965 civil war.

At least 26 deaths were reported in four cities Tuesday, according to figures from police, hospital officials and witnesses. There were unconfirmed reports of several more deaths, and hundreds were hospitalized around the country.

Five people, including a policeman, were killed Monday when the riots first broke out. Police reported about 300 arrests Monday, but refused to give figures for Tuesday.

Police and military troopers fired on rioters or clubbed them with rifle butts as street violence persisted into the early hours today.

The troopers, armed with automatic weapons and tear gas grenades, used steel barricades to seal off the historic "old city" business section of Santo Domingo where scores of shops and supermarkets had been ravaged by arsonists and looters.

Flames from burning buildings, buses and automobiles lit up the old city in the pre-dawn and periodic bursts of automatic weapons fire echoed in the streets. There was virtually no car traffic.

Authorities Tuesday shut down a radio station in Santo Domingo, the capital, and in Santiago, the Caribbean nation's second largest city 80 miles to the northwest. A Santo Domingo television station also was shut down and a TV commentator was arrested.

Tuesday's death toll included 14 people in Santo Domingo, six in Santiago, five in San Francisco de Macoris, 80 miles north of the capital, and one in San Cristobal, eight miles west of the capital.

Schools were ordered closed, although the heads of the army and navy met with police leaders Tuesday and claimed they were "in control of the situation."

Soviets claim major victory

NEW DELHI — Afghanistan's regime claimed today that Soviet and Afghan forces controlled a strategic valley after routing anti-Marxist rebels in a major offensive, but a Western diplomat said fighting still raged there.

"Our valiant forces have crushed all rebel resistance in the Panjsher Valley," Afghan government radio said in a broadcast monitored in India.

A Western diplomatic source in New Delhi was skeptical.

"Considering the geography of the large, narrow valley, we disbelieve Kabul's claim that Soviet and Afghan forces captured Panjsher in one single day," said the source who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The 100-mile-long gorge — controlling important supply routes from the Soviet Union to Kabul, the Afghan capital — has been a springboard for guerrilla attacks on nearby Bagram air base, the largest Soviet installation in the nation.

Battle claims could not be independently confirmed, since Western journalists are rarely allowed into Afghanistan.

For four years, Soviets have waged offensives to try to crush the anti-communist resistance. Guerrillas control much of the rugged, mountainous countryside. The Soviets have concentrated on securing major cities and their lines of communication.

An estimated 10,000 insurgents in the area had resisted six previous Soviet assaults in the valley over the past four years.

An Afghan exile leader, S.M. Maiwand, said the rebels apparently had retreated to the mountains and were expected to launch a major attack soon on the invaders.

Rebel leader Ahmad Shah Masoud last year agreed to a truce after Soviet-Afghan troops were pinned down at four places in the gorge.

Western diplomats said the truce expired in January and the latest fighting was sparked by the guerrilla destruction of a key bridge on the most important supply route to the Soviet border.

Quake shakes N. California

MORGAN HILL — Eight homes were left uninhabitable, said Dick Maulden of the Morgan Hill Fire Department. Residents were barred from the structures and police patrolled today to protect the area.

Residents reported chimneys falling into living rooms, broken glass and crockery, drawers spilling throughout the house and cement fountains toppling on their sides. Morgan Hill City Manager Charles Cate estimated damage at $5 million to $10 million in the immediate area.

The quake, felt as far away as western Nevada and Ventura, nearly 250 miles south, was the strongest on the Calaveras Fault since 1911, according to Bill Ellsworth, chief of the seismology branch of the United States Geological Survey in Menlo Park. It was the fourth quake measuring more than 6.0 in the San Francisco Bay area since the great quake of 1906.

Although the tremor was felt for hundreds of miles, damage was centered in Morgan Hill, about 10 miles south of San Jose. Twenty-one people were reported injured, including two hospitalized with concussions and 19 treated and released, authorities said.

Hardest hit was the Jackson Oaks subdivision of luxury homes in Morgan Hill, where 30 houses were damaged, several knocked completely off their foundations.

GARY HART

Hart takes Vermont win

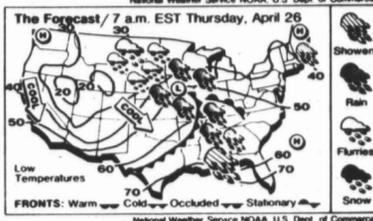

MONTPELIER — Gary Hart, who overwhelmingly won Vermont's non-binding Democratic presidential primary seven weeks ago, beat Walter F. Mondale in the race that counted Tuesday night — local caucuses held to apportion 13 national convention delegates.

But Mondale, who failed to win a single community in the earlier voting, ran a strong second in the caucuses, the first-round in Vermont Democrats' delegate-selection process.

With returns from 158 of the 195 town caucuses, or 81 percent, Hart had 677 local delegates, or 49 percent, to Mondale's 458, or 33 percent. The Rev. Jesse Jackson had 192, or 14 percent, and 66 delegates or 5 percent were uncommitted.

About 1,550 delegates were being selected in the caucuses to attend next month's state Democratic convention.

Weather

By the Associated Press
West Texas — Windy through Thursday all sections. Partly cloudy with widely scattered showers and thunderstorms Panhandle tonight. Blowing dust likely Thursday. Turning cooler most sections Thursday. Lows tonight 50 Panhandle to 65 extreme south. Highs Thursday 70 Panhandle to 92 southeast and near 102 Big Bend valleys.

Winds whip W. Texas dust

A surface low pressure system in the central Rockies intensified today, bringing gusty winds and blowing dust to portions of Texas.

Winds gusted to as high as 30 mph early today across portions of North Central Texas, the Edwards Plateau and the southern High Plains. It was calm over East Texas and southerly winds of about 20 mph were reported over the rest of Texas.

Low clouds were reported over South Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley while the rest of the state reported clear skies, the National Weather Service reported.

Early morning temperatures were warmer than in previous days, mostly in the low to middle 60s except in portions of the Panhandle and Davis Mountains of Southwest Texas where readings dipped into the low to middle 50s. Extremes ranged from 51 at Amarillo to 72 at McAllen.

Forecasts called for windy conditions across much of the state today with blowing dust expected over the High Plains. It was to be partly cloudy and warm statewide. Highs were to range from the middle 80s to the middle 90s, forecasters said.

Heralded by cold winds gusting over 80 mph, a big spring storm was taking shape in Utah today and promised to bring a variety of bad weather as it moved into the Plains.

The high winds forced trucks off a 100-mile stretch of Interstate 80 for several hours Tuesday, and whipped up waves on the Great Salt Lake that sent a section of a dike crashing onto railroad tracks.

But the cool weather was holding back snowmelt threatening to unloose mudslides, with April's 3.03 inches of rain at Salt Lake City already 1.3 inches above normal for the whole month.

Colorado residents, freshly dug out from up to 3 feet of Easter snow, were told to expect more of the same in the mountains, and Wyoming and South Dakota were also due for a new coat of snow.

The Northeast was still feeling the effects of the last storm as drizzle and clouds persisted.

Elsewhere, fair skies stretched from the Carolinas to the southern Plains, the Mississippi Valley and the northern Plains.

Strike talks break down

LAS VEGAS — Talks between negotiators for a union and Caesars Palace hotel broke off in a dispute over wages and health fund increases as a strike by hotel workers entered its 24th day today.

About 17,000 hotel-casino workers remained off the job in a walkout that has closed some showrooms normally featuring celebrity entertainers on the Las Vegas Strip. The walkout has cost $350,000 in police overtime and resulted in 393 arrests.

Jack Stafford, head of Bartenders Local 165, one of four striking unions, said most contract language has been settled, but the remaining stumbling block is wages and increases in the health and welfare funds.

AIDS research merits applause

Researchers are confident enough of their work to call it a breakthrough. And when scientists, who are not prone to snap conclusions, yell "Eureka," then it really is time to bring out the band.

Word of the breakthrough in the baffling and deadly AIDS, acquired immune deficiency syndrome, came this week. Scientists at the National Institutes of Health and the National Cancer Institute believe that the virus which causes AIDS has been isolated. Further, a system to routinely detect and grow the virus has been established — a major step for future research.

Like the infectious herpes simplex, AIDS is a product of modern society. Unlike herpes, AIDS is a killer. While the scientific advance won't help those already afflicted, it offers hope that a contemporary scourge can be eliminated. It serves to remind, too, of the fine work that is taking place in medical research.

But not car study

While the scientific efforts that brought a breakthrough this week in the AIDS disease are lauded for their benefit to society, we're left to ponder the wisdom of another research investment.

A study of the future of the automobile that took analysts from seven nations four years and $3.5 million to complete has led to the determination that service stations for cars will be needed within a decade. We thought was self-evident, but maybe there is something in the results of that study — due out by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in September — that we don't know. We can hardly wait for the report.

Around The Rim

By KEELY COGLAN

Religious freedom

Religion is one of those topics your mother tells you not to discuss if you want to win friends and influence people.

My mother always did say I never listened to her.

She's right, on both counts. Our Founding fathers were so leery of a "Church of the United States" that they built a wall between church and state in our Constitution.

This clause prohibits the state from ordering you to pay any money to any religious organization or to attend any particular worship service. Most often, it's blamed for "preventing our kids from praying in school."

Actually, none of the Supreme Court's decisions prevent children from praying silently as they do their schoolwork. I know whole classes who prayed for their teachers to be sick so they wouldn't have to take a test.

What the court has ruled is that public school students may not conduct organized religious worship, prayer, or instruction in public buildings. And when you think about it, that's a just ruling.

An entire network of private schools developed during the 19th century because school children were taught religion and prayer from the King James version of the Bible. Catholics, just to name one group of persons with different religious beliefs, sent their children to parochial schools rather than have them taught religious values parents did not share.

Angela Prather, a classmate of mine in high school, probably illustrates religious blindness best. Angela one year told our government class we ought to have organized prayer. She didn't seem to understand that there might be members of the class who didn't share her particular beliefs.

When asked whether Jews and other non-Southern Baptists might be offended, she said she didn't care. "We all know who's right," she said.

I told her our ideas of the "right" religion probably varied greatly. It turned out Angela's "we" was a minority of four.

Even if we had decided to use my religion as the basis for the prayer, I wouldn't have supported it.

This same religious blindness and hypocrisy can inspire a president who has attended religious services nine times in the three years he's been in office to insist school children need to pray in schools. At the same time, he's spent 131 days at his ranch.

Half of the congressmen he labels as "godless atheists" attend services more often, including the Speaker of the House.

But what's often forgotten is that the Constitution also forbids the state from prohibiting the free exercise of religion. Under the free exercise clause, Seventh Day Adventists won suits alleging discrimination in hiring because working on Saturdays interfered with their religious beliefs.

Under this ruling, persons cannot be fired, especially from government jobs, because their religious beliefs prevent them from working on their holy days.

Nor are governments prohibited from scheduling holidays on days of religious significance to a large portion of people, as long as employees who are members of other religious groups also are allowed to take off on their special days of worship.

Many persons think the rulings only apply to their particular group. These people expect courtesy, but refuse to give it.

Fortunately, most people extend rights to the Angelas of the world, anyway.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday April 25, the 116th day of 1984. There are 250 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On April 25, 1980 — Iranian time — U.S. commandos abandoned an ill-fated mission to rescue the Americans held hostage in Iran.

On this date:

In 1859, construction began on the Suez Canal.

In 1898, the United States declared war on Spain.

In 1901, New York became the first state to require automobile license plates; the fee was one dollar, and the plates bore the initials of the owner.

In 1945, delegates from 45 countries met in San Francisco to organize the United Nations.

In 1959, 25 years ago, the St.

Lawrence Seaway opened to shipping.

In 1973, amid the Watergate scandal, Vice President Spiro Agnew reaffirmed his faith in President Richard Nixon.

And in 1982, Israel withdrew the last of its troops from the Sinai Peninsula.

Ten years ago: The flooding Mississippi River reached its highest crest in 100 years at St. Louis.

Five years ago: President Jimmy Carter said he expected a shortage of gasoline in the coming summer and an even greater one the following year.

One year ago: A White House official said President Reagan had agreed to appoint a special envoy to El Salvador.

Norwegian diplomat is bullish on America

WASHINGTON — Mark Austad is a big, amiable bull of a man, who carries around his own china shop. He is the American ambassador to Norway, a hero in unheroic times, hemmed in by the flummery of diplomatic protocol — a John Wayne in a post more suited to a Henry Kissinger.

There is nothing suave or subtle about him; he has an unfathomable genius for antagonizing the anti-American clique in Norway. Let the Labor Party chairperson assail President Reagan in a speech, and Austad will fire off an angry rebuttal. Let anti-American sentiment appear in the Norwegian press, and he'll trample it with his one-man stampede.

This awesome ambassador practices diplomacy with the finesse of a bull on the loose, barging around Norway, winding over its tortuous backroads, stopping at village crossroads to shake hands, dropping in on schools and factories, speaking at dreary gatherings, talking to anyone who'll listen, always defending America. He has addressed more than 60 Rotary clubs alone.

He tends to reduce complex issues to simple moral principles. He insists on calling U.S. naval vessels "peace ships"; he's promoting a "peace park" in the Norwegian town of Dombas; he presented a U.S. passport to Knut Haukelid, a World War II hero, after learning he had been born in the United States. Never mind that Haukelid was raised a Norwegian since the age of 2.

Austad confronts each problem, each challenge, each issue head-on. If students are critical of U.S. policy, he invites them to his residence for answers straight from the shoulder. If Norwegian doctors want to brush up on their heart research, he raises $250,000 to send them to the United States for study.

In this spirit, he picked up the telephone the other day and placed a trans-Atlantic call to my office. He was calling, he told me, as a friend. He was "getting murdered" in the press, he complained. Norwegian and American newspapers alike were portraying him as a foot-in-the-mouth buffoon, who had made racial slurs and had been picked up by the police at 3 a.m. banging on a woman's door.

He asked me to conduct my own investigation and tell America the truth about him, whatever I found it to be.

My findings: The ambassador has antagonized many Norwegians with his shoot-from-the-hip remarks and his confrontational style. This has offended some; others like his approach. He speaks the native tongue, loves the country and has won many friends in Norway.

The racist remarks attributed to Austad supposedly were made to a Norwegian reporter who cannot be found and probably doesn't exist. Sources close to the ambassador have never heard him say anything offensive about other races.

It is true that he was picked up by police in the town of Tromso after banging on a woman's door after midnight. Press accounts of the incident implied that he was drunk. In fact Austad, a practicing Mormon, doesn't drink.

As nearly as I can determine, he encountered an old friend at a party. The man insisted that Austad drop by his home for a late-night reacquaintance visit, then the friend would drive him back to the hotel. The ambassador gave the address to a taxi driver who dropped him off. But there were two homes at the same address — one 119, the other 119A — both sharing the same driveway. Austad simply went to the wrong house.

He kept banging on the door, he said, because it was cold and he had no transportation back to the hotel. Then, he walked up and down the streets searching for a taxi, but the streets were empty. So he returned to the house and again beat on the door. The police eventually appeared and gave him a ride back to his hotel. No charges were filed.

Austad isn't a diplomat of the striped-pants, lace-handkerchief set, to be sure. But a lot of people think he's one of our best.

U.S. renews spirit of greatness

WASHINGTON — The spirit of renewal symbolized by the Easter season comes with special grace to Americans this year. For the country is enjoying an undoubted rebirth.

But much more so in some areas than in others. While the private economy throbs with new life, tired men with sterile arguments on stale subjects dominate national politics.

The dynamism of the economy shows itself most dramatically in the latest growth figures for the first quarter — up 8.3 percent, which was far higher than originally expected (5 percent) or first estimated (7.2 percent). Even more impressive than the numbers, however, are the activities evident in every corner of the country.

Immigration, for example, has repeatedly been a force for change and expansion — a kind of American yeast. New entrants from Latin America and Asia are now pouring into the country. While the exact number is unknown, experts say it compares with the great waves of the late 19th century. Not only is the U.S. once again being thrust forward by new arrivals, it is the only major country in the world receiving immigrants in a big way.

Reorganization of industry constitutes another force for change on a grand scale. The combination of deregulation, technological advance and disinflation has made itself felt throughout the economy. Financial institutions are in the midst of a revolution that is sweeping away functional and regional distinctions. The airlines are up for grabs. The auto industry is reorganizing itself, as is the steel industry. The energy business and the field of telecommunications are in the process of a vast reconsolidation.

The full outcome of those shakeups is not yet known. Some, like the breakup of the telephone company, could turn sour. But some undoubted benefits are also in sight. As the case of the personal computer indicates, IBM has now learned how to bring technological improvements onto the market at something like the Japanese pace. General Motors is making itself much more responsive to market forces, and if small cars can be profitably built in this country, GM will do it in its Saturn project.

"High tech" is a buzzword that covers a lot of flimflam. But money from this country and abroad is pouring into new approaches to data processing and genetic engineering. A single Houston entrepreneur, George Mitchell, is moving to bring the world's biggest atom smasher to his town, and also a broad range of new diagnostic techniques in medicine.

More importantly, the competition among states and cities for high technology facilities is now achieving something that no amount of blue-ribbon presidential commissions could accomplish. Chambers of commerce, concerned to lay a base for high technology, have come to understand that the key is improved education at the primary and secondary level. So, with the aid of the business community, several states with school systems renowned for football and drum majorettes are beginning to take math and science seriously — Florida, for example, and Tennessee, and Texas.

The federal government undoubtedly plays a role in this new burst of energy. The defense and space programs fostered high technology. Favorable antitrust and tax rulings impelled some companies to invest and expand. Disinflation helped others. But somehow the sense of exhilaration and achievement is missing from Washington.

The Democrats, of course, have little to cheer about. While Fritz Mondale has forged ahead in the race for the presidential nomination, Gary Hart must keep the fight going through the June 5 primaries in California and New Jersey, which he is apt to win. Both candidates look exhausted, and their attacks lack sting. They have to keep hoping that events undo Ronald Reagan. But they cannot express that hope aloud without seeming to want trouble for the country.

The Republicans have something to crow about, and sometimes President Reagan makes the most of it. But his hostility to government in principle makes it hard to extol his record in office. Leadership cannot assert itself around the famous question — "Are you better off now than you were four years ago?" That is an appeal to selfishness, not the civic sense.

Bungling, moreover, keeps surging to the surface of events. Lebanon was a clear fiasco. Nicaragua puts faulty management on public view once again. Mr. Reagan's coming visit to China cannot compensate for the failure to reach any accords with the Soviet Union. The less so as Moscow now shows no trace of the phobia that enabled Nixon and Kissinger to use the China card in cutting a Russian deal.

The president shows extraordinary art in separating himself from the failures of his regime. But if the economy hits an air pocket, pretending that the trip is smooth may exceed even his skill. So those on the inside are apprehensive. They understand that while the rebirth of the country flows from autonomous forces, the mistakes and blunders are connected with an aging leader who increasingly lacks the vitality required for effective control over events.

Medication may help 'crazy' moods

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Sometimes I wonder if I'm going crazy. Suddenly, for no reason at all, I will become very fearful and anxious, and it may be days before I can shake the feeling. I guess I should see a doctor, but I'm afraid to admit this to anyone. — Mrs. E.B.M.

DEAR MRS. E.B.M.: Don't let your pride (or even your fear about what might be wrong with you) keep you from getting the help you need. There could be various reasons for your problem — including chemical imbalances in your body that can be corrected by proper medication — but until you seek out competent medical help you will probably never know. God does not want you to be paralyzed and filled with alarm over this problem. God has given you both your body and your mind, and you have a responsibility to take care of them if you are having a problem.

At the same time, you also need to discover in a deeper way the strength and presence of God.

Man injured in wreck

A 20-year-old Big Spring man was injured at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday in a two-car accident west of Big Spring.

Clifford P. Burnett of Route 1 suffered slight injuries and was not transported to the hospital, according to Department of Public Safety reports.

Burnett was driving south on Hooser Road, 3.4 miles west of Big Spring and about 50 feet north of the north I-20 service road, DPS reports stated.

Burnett's 1976 silver Mustang collided with a 1976 Mercury Capri driven by Robert Foy Lieb, 38, also of Route 1, the report shows.

Lieb, who was not injured, was travelling north on Hooser road when the two vehicles collided, the report states.

Walk/America discussed at March of Dimes meeting

The upcoming Walk/America walk-a-thon was discussed at the Caprock Chapter of the March of Dimes meeting, April 10, at Avery and Associates.

Linda Floyd, executive director, said that there are 17 "teams" already signed up from local businesses and clubs. She predicts that the Walk/America will be another outstanding event for the chapter. She commended Big Spring and surrounding communities for their support and efforts for the March of Dimes.

Robin Drake of KKIK-KWKI and Jill Wilbanks of Big Spring High School were voted on and appointed to the chapter's executive board.

Two new programs were brought up that the Caprock Chapter will provide in the near future. One will be a Parent Workshop on Adolescent Sexuality. This program will be a joint effort with the Parent Advisory Task Force for the Chemical People project.

The other program will be a Parent Support Group, formed by Pam Walker, secretary for the chapter. Mrs. Walker is contacting the doctors in seven surrounding counties to get their support and cooperation in forming this group. It will be a support group to help those families who are newly involved with a birth defect. The chapter plans to create a list of people who will be in contact immediately after birth to help guide and educate these parents and families.

Anyone interested in helping with either of these groups may contact the March of Dimes office.

Dear Abby

Woman with mustache ready to tear out hair

DEAR ABBY: I am one of those very unfortunate women who have dark facial hair. Can you give me any information about electrolysis? Is it safe? Is it expensive? What about those electrified tweezers you can buy to do electrolysis on yourself at home?

I'm 26 years old and I've had it with remarks about my mustache. SUFFERED ENOUGH IN WISCONSIN
DEAR SUFFERED: Don't confuse professional electrolysis with the electrified tweezers now being marketed. The Food and Drug Administration has found them to be no more effective than ordinary household tweezers.

While, "do-it-yourself" electrolysis equipment can be purchased by anyone, I would never recommend it. Safe and successful permanent hair removal by electrolysis depends upon the angle of the needle when it is inserted, and an unsteady hand can cause skin damage that may leave permanent scars.

First, see a dermatologist to determine whether you are a candidate for electrolysis. (Not everyone is.) To learn more about hair removal — both permanent and temporary — write to: The International Guild of Professional Electrologists Inc., Medical Center, 15 Bond St., Great Neck, N.Y. 11021, and request its booklet. You will be given the names and addresses of skilled electrologists in your area. The booklet is free, but please enclose a long, stamped (20 cents), self-addressed envelope, as this is a non-profit organization.

DEAR ABBY: A couple of readers had a difference of opinion on how to respond when asked, "How are you?"

One said, "Always say, 'I'm fine,' because nobody really wants to hear about somebody else's aches and pains." The other said, "Be honest. If something is ailing you, say so."

I know a little old German lady who always answers that question this way: "I'm better than I was, but I'm not so well as I was before I got to be as bad as I am now."

Does this help?
ESTER

DEAR ESTER: It helps more than it did, but not as much as it would have helped before.

Elect Robert D. (Bob) Miller District Attorney May 5

Robert Miller, your County Attorney who wants to be your District Attorney. We need a District Attorney who represents the people and who doesn't look for technical defects and refuses to prosecute criminals. A District Attorney should not play judge and jury and seek quick plea bargains, or refuse to seek an indictment because he believes a search warrant or arrest is defective. It is the District Attorney's duty to prosecute in court and not short circuit the system. Robert Miller as your District Attorney will represent the people in court. Vote for Robert D. Dr. Donohue

Rabies by inhalation

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Recently I cleaned an attic that had had some bats in it. I swept up the droppings from the floor. Was I in danger of contracting rabies, and, if so, could I have given it to my family? — E.M.

Rabies is a rare illness, and it is so rare in our society thanks to our policy of insisting on vaccination of pet dogs and cats. Fewer than five cases are reported each year. I say this prefatory to answering your direct questions to put the matter of rabies into perspective for you and other readers.

Where careful vaccination programs are used, the remaining serious threat of rabies comes from the bites of wild animals, like skunks and foxes. But bats do carry the virus, and there is a case on record of two people who got rabies while exploring a cave inhabited by millions of bats, even though they were unbiten. It was postulated that they had breathed in the virus.

There have been plenty of bats in attics and plenty of attics cleaned without rabies being contracted. So the inhalation route is a most unusual way to get infected. And, incidentally, the virus of concern is in the bat urine, not the droppings.

All this means that your chances of being infected by cleaning your attic were, while technically possible, virtually nil. I can't come any closer to answering your first question than this.

To your other question, yes, humans can give rabies to other humans through a bite, or in a rarer scenario through the implantation of an infected donor's tissue. Again, these are the kinds of rare inidents reserved for obscure medical journals.

As rare as rabies is today, it still remains the serious obligation of each pet owner to have his animal vaccinated, as it is the sensible precautionary measure for anyone bitten by an animal to learn of the animal's vaccination status and to report the bite. In my opinion, the health authorities would not have urged you to have the rabies shots.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Philadelphia roars back to tie

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia 76ers, refusing to believe their premature obituary, are not only going home breathing — but breathing fire.

"We're a team on a mission, a mission worthy of our talent," said Julius Erving after the 76ers beat New Jersey 110-102 Tuesday night to tie their National Basketball Association playoff series at 2-2. "We've got to go for it. Nothing is going to stop us."

At one time down 0-2 in the best-of-five series and all but counted out, the 76ers were able to hold off a furious rally at the end by the Nets.

Albert King led New Jersey with 20 points, while Buck Williams had 16 points and 18 rebounds.

"If there is a driver's seat, I'd say we're in it," noted Erving. "We didn't come back from 2-0 to go back to Philadelphia and cough it up. They had success in Philadelphia. But they're not going to win in Philadelphia. You can mail in the stats."

NBA Roundup

76ers have come roaring back with two solid efforts to force a fifth game. The 76ers can bounce the Nets out of the playoffs in game five in Philadelphia Thursday night and keep alive hopes of becoming the first team in 15 years to repeat as NBA champions.

In other first-round action, Boston defeated Washington 99-96. Atlanta trimmed Milwaukee 100-97, Utah beat Denver 129-124, Portland bounced Phoenix 113-110 and Dallas whipped Seattle 107-96. In tonight's only playoff game, Detroit plays a. New York.

Erving and Moses Malone scored 22 points apiece, and Malone dominated the backboards with 15 rebounds to lead the 76ers.

The 76ers held an 18-point lead four times in the game, the last at 95-77 on Malone's tap-in with 7:55 to play. That was points in the fourth quarter as Boston defeated Washington to win their series 3-1.

The Celtics stayed ahead after substitutes Quinn Buckner and Kevin McHale sparked a 15-point string late in the second quarter to give Boston a 46-34 advantage.

HAWKS 100, BUCKS 97
Dominique Wilkins gave Atlanta the lead on an 18-footer with 47 seconds remaining and Doc Rivers drilled two free throws with two seconds left as the Hawks trimmed Milwaukee to tie their series at 2-2.

The Bucks had an opportunity to take the lead after Wilkins' basket, but Dan Roundfield blocked Bob Lanier's shot with eight seconds remaining.

Wilkins and Rivers each scored 19 points for Atlanta and Johnny Davis had 17. Junior Bridgeman tallied 20 for the Bucks.

Utah's Adrian Dantley, the NBA's scoring champion, tossed in a game-high 39 points, but was held scoreless over the final five minutes of the game, when the Jazz took control.

BLAZERS 113, SUNS 110
Calvin Natt scored 11 of his game-high 30 points in the fourth period — as Portland beat Phoenix to even their series at two victories each. The score was tied at 87 with 11:14 remaining in the game when Natt's jumper put the Trail Blazers ahead to stay.

Walter Davis finished with 29 points for Phoenix while Maurice Lucas had 23.

MAVERICKS 107, SUPERSONICS 96
Mark Aguirre scored 29 points and Jay Vincent added 21 to lead Dallas over the Seattle and even their series at two triumphs apiece.

The Mavericks, who averaged 91.3 points in their first three playoff games against Seattle, led 49-43 at halftime and then put on a surge in the third quarter for a 79-65 advantage after three periods.

Dallas, breaking a string of 10 consecutive road losses to the Sonics, got 20 points from Rolando Blackman.

Hawks sweep up Rebs in Region V baseball

HILLSBORO — The Howard College Hawks completed a three game sweep of the Hill County Junior College Rebels by taking both ends of a doubleheader here Tuesday.

The Hawks moved to 12-9 in Region V baseball action and will close their regular season with a three game series against Ranger at Hawk Field Saturday and Sunday.

Kevin Kolodzie picked up his first win of the year against two losses when he came on in relief of starter Steve Carrasco in the first game. Carrasco lasted three and one third innings before giving way to Kolodzie. Howard led 3-2 when Carrasco exited, but runners were at first and third with only one out. Kolodzie went ahead and allowed only one hit in three and two thirds innings of work. He walked four and struck out three.

Hawk batters banged out 13 hits in the first contest, led by Jimmy Garcia's three for four performance. Garcia counted a triple, homerun and three rbi's among his total. Gary Carr was a perfect two for two with two rbi's and Bobby Behnsch and Stephon Hodge added two hits apiece.

SECOND GAME, 13-2

The Hawks wasted little time in the second game, scoring six times in the first inning and adding six more in the final two frames for a 13-2 win.

Former Big Spring Steer Mo Rubio picked up the win to move to 3-1 for the year. Rubio was, "hanging on the fence," according to HC coach Bill Griffin, but the sophomore battled through four innings before letting reliever Kevin Sturdy finish up.

Rubio allowed four hits and walked four. He struckout four. Both of Hill's runs were unearned. The score stood at 7-2 when Rubio exited.

Blake Rosson broke a slump by doubling and tripling in three runs and ending with a two of four day at the plate. Behnsch went three for three with a pair of rbi's and Garcia was two of four.

Progress reported in Olympic Soviet talks

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The Soviet Union appeared closer to competing in the Summer Games in Los Angeles after a meeting here with Olympic officials and American representatives.

"I'm very happy with the results of the meetings," Juan Antonio Samaranch, president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC), said Tuesday. "We may say that the black clouds in the Olympic sky have vanished or will very soon disappear."

Samaranch had called the session in response to request by the Soviets, who had cast doubt on their participation in the Games and charged the United States had violated the Olympic Charter. But after Tuesday's meetings, the Soviets promised that they would attend the Games if the Los Angeles organizers "upheld the Olympic Charter."

Peter Ueberroth, president of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee and the chief U.S. representative at the talks, refused to characterize the meeting as a "breakthrough" guaranteeing Soviet attendance. But he said he would guarantee that the LAOC would comply with the Charter.

"There has been some progress, but this is not a breakthrough," Ueberroth emphasized after a meeting with Marat Gramov, chief of the Soviet Olympic Committee.

Meanwhile, Soviet leader Constantine Chernenko offered to invite IOC officials to Moscow to discuss the Games, diplomatic sources said.

Italian Foreign Minister Giulio Andreotti, in Moscow for a three-day visit, asked Chernenko Tuesday about plans for Soviet participation, the sources said.

Chernenko offered no concrete assurances that the Soviet Union would attend, but he said he hoped his country would be able to participate in the games.

The sources said Chernenko offered to meet with the officials only if they would be empowered to make decisions that the U.S. Olympic Committee would be required to carry out.

A U.S.-Soviet joint communique issued in Lausanne said: "The Soviet Union's National Olympic Committee declares that Soviet athletes have the firm intention of participating in the Games in Los Angeles at the 23rd Olympiad under the condition that the Olympic Charter is enforced. The Los Angeles Committee gave its assurances in declarations that the Olympic Charter would be entirely respected."

Gramov, however, would not say definitely that the Soviets would attend the Games.

"A step forward has been made, by getting rid of some impediments which had been accumulating recently," he said. "I'm satisfied with the assurances given by Mr. Ueberroth. But a number of questions still have to be discussed. I'm sure that with further close contact with the LAOC, the problems will be solved."

The Soviets repeatedly have said they do not intend to boycott the Olympics as the U.S. did in 1980 at Moscow in protest of the Soviet Union's military intervention in Afghanistan. But they have not fully ruled out withholding their athletes over alleged U.S. violations of the Charter.

Among the elements apparently agreed upon during Tuesday's meeting were allowing the Soviets and other nations to submit lists of participants to the LAOC instead of U.S. embassies and consulates, a move that should meet Soviet complaints that its athletes needed visas despite contrary stipulations in the Olympic Charter.

The U.S. embassy in Moscow has denied that it intended to require visas for Soviet athletes and team officials.

Pearson no billed in accident

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas County grand jury has voted not to return an indictment against Dallas Cowboys wide receiver Drew Pearson in connection with the automobile accident in which Pearson's brother died.

Pearson was seriously injured and his brother, Carey, was killed early Mar. 22 when Pearson apparently fell asleep while driving. His car struck the rear of a truck that was parked on a north Dallas freeway.

Police said Pearson was driving home after returning from a benefit basketball game at Coalgate, Okla., at the time of the accident.

The Cowboys player suffered multiple cuts and bruises and had to undergo surgery to repair a lacerated liver. Carey Pearson, 27, was pronounced dead at the scene.

The grand jury voted Tuesday to take no action in the case after listening to evidence gathered by police about the accident.

Pearson, 33, announced recently that he will attempt to play his 12th season with the Cowboys this fall. He said he intends to play one more season.

SOME PEOPLE WILL SAY ANYTHING TO GET ELECTED

But...It's what they don't say that's important!

Robert D. Miller says:

My office has a 50 to 34% dismissal rate

Robert D. Miller doesn't tell you.....

90% of these dismissals represent defendants with multiple indictments who have already plead guilty or been tried on related charges or are old cases going back to 1969 which other D.A.'s found unprosecutable for one reason or another. Neither does the county Attorney tell you that since 1981 his dismissal rate as County Attorney has averaged almost 70% of cases handled by his office. A glaring example is that in 1981, Bob Miller dismissed 1204 cases in the County Attorney's office vs. 33 dismissals in the District Attorney's office.

Too many drug cases have been dismissed

Most of these cases are dismissed as a result of the defendant pleading guilty in another case. He further neglects to tell you that from 1981 through 1983, he dismissed more than twice the number of drug cases in the County Attorney's office than did the D.A.'s office.

Miller intimates we're soft on gambling

What he either doesn't know or fails to tell you is that in my entire term in office, the police dept. has brought me a total of three cases to prosecute. Two of these defendants plead guilty and in the remaining case, the search warrant was fatally defective. To my knowledge, Miller as County Attorney has prosecuted only one gambling case (a case which he managed to lose based on one of the "technicalities" which he says he will ignore if elected District Attorney).

Miller tried to indicate that in 1983, we have only 4 jury trials...therefore we didn't do anything!

To begin with, that's more jury trials than Mr. Miller had in 1983. Further, in 1983, my office moved more cases through district court resulting in more punishment for more defendants than we've ever done before. This yielded a sizeable savings to the taxpayer. He doesn't tell you that since 1981, we have had five times the number of contested jury trial convictions than he has had as County Attorney. This was done in spite of the fact that it's easier and less expensive for him to have a jury trial in county court than for us to go to trial in district court.

Robert Miller says that he will seek a payout

He has no choice in the matter. To encourage professional, full time prosecutors, the state pays nearly $6000.00 additional salary. Since he elects to be a part time prosecutor and maintain a private law practice, the state will cut that $6000.00 out of his salary.

Bob Miller says that he has the best interest of the people at heart and will perform all duties required of the D.A. while at the same time carrying on his complete private practice

As County Attorney, he was present in the court room as the county's representative for less than 10 guilty pleas during his entire term in office. Neither does he want to tell us what business he was attending to that was more important than the people's business. Rick Hamby was present in the court room as the people's representative for nearly 500 guilty pleas and revocations of probation just since 1981.

Mr. Miller tells you he is not going to be hampered by "technicalities"

Think about it...Those technicalities are the law and the constitution. For a District Attorney candidate to tell you that he is going to ignore the law should send a cold chill up the spine of a free people. This means that the constitution is going to be interpreted by the police department and not by an independent elected representative of the people. If a D.A. lets law enforcement officers know they don't have to follow the rules, they won't follow the rules. Anarchy results and innocent people are helpless victims.

With the aid of sheriff Dan Saunders, the D.A.'s office has sent more lawbreakers to the penitentiary than ever before.

Steers strikeout against Permian

ODESSA — Striking out 12 times proved too much of a hurdle here Tuesday as the Big Spring Steers dropped an 11-3 decision to Permian in District 4-5A baseball action.

Big Spring is 0-13 with one final chance to claim a loop victory coming Saturday, Apr. 28 when the Steers host San Angelo Central beginning at 2 p.m.

Against the Panthers Big Spring got hits from Danny Arista, Jay Pirkle, Sammy Watson, Mike Dodd and Chris Lamb. Pirkle's double was the only extra base hit for the Black and Gold.

Pirkle also scored twice while John Hart scored once for the Steers.

Tommy Gartman started and lasted six five innings in suffering the loss. He struck out two, walked four and gave up six hits. Pirkle and Dodd threw in relief.

Red Sox to start schedule Sunday

OSONA — The Big Spring Red Sox will open their 1984 baseball season here against the Ozona Braves on Sunday, Apr. 29 at 1:30 p.m. in a doubleheader.

There are eight road and eight home dates on this year's Red Sox schedule. All games are Sunday doubleheaders and all start at 1:30 p.m.

Managing and coaching the Red Sox this season is Bill Diaz. Team members are John Morellon, David Anguiano, Beef Armendaris, Abel Morellon, Steve Hedges, Lupe Ontiveros, Mechie Sarmiento, Ernie Garcia, Adam Yanez, Fernie Parades, Pete Amaro, James Walker, Adriel Salivar, Doug Carson, Luis Rodriguez and Tony Ontiveros.

The first home series for the Red Sox will be May 6 when they host the San Angelo Lions.

You're out!

PLAYING TAG — Big Spring catcher Chris Lamb tags a player out at home plate in a recent Steers contest. Lamb collected one of Big Spring's five hits Tuesday in an 11-3 loss to Permian.

Johnson says fun times are ahead in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers' newest acquisition, wide receiver Butch Johnson, late of the Dallas Cowboys, will never be accused of mincing words.

The 29-year-old Johnson, who came to the Oilers in exchange for receiver Mike Renfro, on Tuesday made his first appearance in Houston since the trade.

When asked to describe himself, he remarked: "Flamboyant, flashy, good-looking, articulate and ready to kick plenty of booty."

And he said the Oilers had picked up a "nut" as their newest wide receiver.

But he said he was pleased to be in Houston and that he was "getting stale and bored" in Dallas.

"I knew I wouldn't deteriorate physically," he said. "The problem was mental deterioration. I would spend the off-season getting my body ready to play and then my coach would come up to me and say, 'No, no, no, no. You brush your teeth.'

"I'm going to like it here," he said. "It's more laid-back than the Cowboys. Coach (Hugh) Campbell thinks I'm overdressed with a sport jacket and tie. I like that."

Johnson said one advantage of coming to the Oilers is that he won't have to "play catch-up. Everybody is starting out new. Besides, from what I've seen, it's basically the same type of offense that we ran in Dallas. I don't see any problems."

Johnson is among the participants in end zone celebrations after scoring touchdowns — a practice that has been outlawed for the most part by the National Football League beginning next season.

"The rules say that we're allowed only spontaneous reaction and spikes," he said. "I'm sure we can test that. I'm working on this moon walk right now."

Cash plan replaces game balls

HOUSTON (AP) — There will be no game balls given out to Houston Gamblers players for outstanding performances.

Instead, the flamboyant owner of the United States Football League team, Jerry Argovitz, says he'll give the most valuable player in each Gambler victory money — $1,000.

The coaching staff will decide on what's to be known as the "Action Award," based on the player's intensity, consistency, total performance, lack of mistakes and key plays.

"I don't know how much difference it will make," General Manager Gene Burrough said Tuesday. "But rather than give game balls or give out scholarships to schools or something like that, we'll just give the guy the money."

The 6-3 Gamblers are tied with Michigan and Oklahoma atop the standings in the USFL Central Division.

Chemical People hotline ready in two weeks

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

A crisis hotline manned by volunteers "should be operational within the next two weeks," Tom Watson, chairman of the Chemical People committee, told Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday.

"We have 11 volunteers," Watson said, who will be trained in two more sessions "in the near future."

Volunteers are learning what resources are available for the program and crisis intervention methods. Watson said phones for the project had been donated and the hotline will be set up in a room at Malone and Hogan Hospital.

Watson said the Chemical People project otherwise "has been a mixture of successes and failures."

The Parents Support Group "has its ups and downs," Watson said. The group is designed to offer peer support for parents facing drug problems with their children. The group is planning a series of films, lectures and other programs this fall.

A second group for parents who have had problems with children on drugs is being established, Watson said. The group is designed to "offer support to parents" and "get rid of guilt trips" from parents who feel their children's problems are the fault of the parents.

"Kids have to take responsibility for their own actions," Watson said.

The Legal Affairs committee "has put in more than 250 man-hours" compiling a list of felony arrests in the last two years, Watson said. "We are tracing the disposition of the cases. We have had meetings with the district attorney, Judge (Jim) Gregg, Judge (Ralph) Gatton, and the chief of work to be done."

The group is conducting "an evaluation of the criminal justice system in Howard County" Watson said. "There is a lot more

The Media Monitoring group recently filmed a television spot with local Girl Scouts and puppets who give the message that it is OK to say no to drugs.

FRIGHTFUL CANDY — The skull crusher, a popular European chocolate candy, is being introduced to the U.S. When the candy skull is crushed between the fingers, strawberry creme oozes through the eye sockets.

Skull crushers

Macabre candy now in U.S. stores

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — The importer of Skull Crushers was explaining the method European kids have developed for eating the macabre candy his company is introducing to the New York metropolitan area this week.

"They squeeze them on the sides so the blood comes squirting through the eyes," Larry Albert said, quite seriously.

Albert said he doesn't believe there's anything wrong with the concept of a thumb-size white chocolate skull that oozes a blood-like strawberry cream through the mouth and eyes when pinched.

"It's a fun thing," he said Monday.

The candies, which cost a nickel apiece, will be sold starting this week in New York City, parts of New Jersey and southern Connecticut.

If they prove popular, Albert said, he'll try to sell them nationally.

R.L. Albert & Son Inc., a family business which has operated out of Greenwich for 60 years, is importing the grisly sweets from Alma Confectionary Ltd. of Kirkcaldy, Scotland. The inventor of the candy was not Dr. Frankenstein, but the Scottish company's sales director, Mario Maciocia, whom Albert described as "kind of a nut."

Albert said his company is also toying with the idea of bringing another novelty candy into the American market soon.

"A little squiggly worm — they look like fishing lures," he said, dangling the colored candy worm.

In America, he said, they would be known as Squirmy Worms.

"We don't think kids are actually going to go out and eat worms because they eat these," he said.

He admitted, however, that some people might question Skull Crushers.

"A lot of people have a lot of different ideas and ways of looking at things, and I understand that it's possible for people to look at it in a negative way," he said. "But I think it's much more fun and happy to look at in a positive way."

Albert said there have been "relatively few" complaints about Skull Crushers in Europe, where they have been available for about a year and a half. More than 50 million of the novelty sweets have been sold in Europe, Australia and Africa, he said.

"The spirit of the candy is for kids to have fun," he said. "Kids see Frankenstein movies and kids see cartoons where people are getting shot with cannons and crushed, and they seem to know that this is fun and this is fantasy."

"Hopefully adults will understand it just as well," he added.

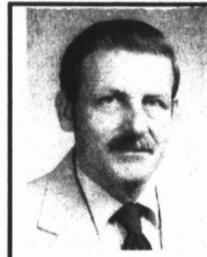

Cable TV drops network

Big Spring Cable TV has replaced the ARTS and Entertainment Network on cable channel 18 with CNN Headline News. The change took place Monday.

Channel 18 is available to cable subscribers who have a premium service such as Showtime, or to people with cable compatible television sets. Not all cable subscribers have channel 18 in their package of services.

CNN Headline News is owned and operated by Turner Broadcasting Systems. In contrast with Cable News Network (CNN), CNN Headline News is strictly headline news and runs a national news format every 30 minutes.

With a hot soup and a hearty sandwich, you will have go-togethers that help banish budget blues and satisfy the family.

Some of these soups and sandwiches are quick and easy to make because they use convenience foods and/or leftovers. They are nourishing because milk is used plentifully while cheese provides satisfying value.

If you have a recipe request, or favorite recipes to share, sent them to the Herald Recipe Exchange, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720.

Healthy pace can be a stress cure

It is almost impossible to remove every stress-provoking situation from our lives. As a result, learning how to pace ourselves is of prime importance.

Dr. Judith Stern, an expert in the field of nutrition, believes that finding a healthy pace is one important way for people to enhance the quality of their lives. A professor in the Department of Nutrition at the University of California Davis, Dr. Stern is also the director of its Food Intake Laboratory Group.

Dr. Stern suggests that pacing all aspects of our lives is an effective way to control stress. "Few people realize that the ultimate stress on our bodies is improper eating habits. The stress that poor nutrition puts on our bodies, as well as the stresses that come from balancing work and other activities, will continue to intensify until we find a way to manage them."

Busy, hectic lifestyles lead people to eat on the run, Dr. Stern says. Leisurely, relaxed meals have almost become a thing of the past. "We have little control over our changing environment, but we can control what we eat," she said. "Our fast-paced lifestyles often contribute to over-consumption of food and sometimes vitamins."

Dr. Stern warns against vitamin overuse. "People don't realize that taking too many vitamins can actually put more stress on our bodies. The right amount of nutrients enables us to function efficiently...but an overdose could make us worse off, or more stressed. In fact, too much of some vitamins can have detrimental effects on our health."

Another problem Dr. Stern encounters is over-eating. "People feeling pressured or stressed eat too much of the wrong kinds of food — often mindlessly. And they gain weight," she says. "Pacing ourselves in these controllable areas puts us in better shape to handle the stresses of our environment."

One way to avoid over-eating is to choose foods that help us eat fewer calories by slowing our eating speed. University of Pennsylvania research shows that by forcing people to eat slower, eating soup helps keep weight down, and a U.S. government study found that the most nutritionally healthy people ate more soup and dairy products and a variety of other foods.

"These studies give clear-cut examples of how to pace our eating," Dr. Stern said. But, the solution to the stress problem is really two-pronged. "It's balancing caloric intake with energy expenditure."

"Eating right is important in controlling stress, but so is physical activity," Dr. Stern says. "You don't need to call it 'exercise,' just try to 'play' more. Anything that gives you enjoyment and increases your physical activity levels will also help you handle stress more effectively."

Freeze leftovers for many time-saver meals

Many working women are turning to their freezers for time-saving help in everyday food preparation. Here are suggestions for easy freeze-ahead meals and snacks.

• Freeze single-serving leftovers in boil-in-bags or microwave bundles. Family members can select their own preferred combinations for a quick meal any time.

• Use leftovers to create complete meals on TV dinner trays. Each is a fast, delicious "dinner for one" when the rest of the family is out.

• Package carrots, onions and celery together to have an instant supply of stew vegetables at any time.

• Stock part of a freezer shelf with sandwiches that can be packed and taken to school or work. Others can be prepared to be taken from the freezer and go into the microwave or conventional oven. Include heating directions on the sandwich label.

Where's the beef?

On the dinner plate

When it comes to the American diet, that popular question "Where's the beef?" has a simple answer — it's on the dinner plate.

Beef is clearly a staple of the American diet, says nutritionist Marilyn Haggard. According to the American Meat Institute, the average American eats a little under 19 pounds of hamburger per year. Ground beef is served in 96% of all households and fresh beef other than ground beef is eaten in 97% of households, says Haggard.

Suspect held in burglary

LAMESA - A man arrested in connection with a burglary and shooting here Sunday remains in jail under $70,000 bond.
Police said they arrested Eugene Casarez, 17, for burglary of a habitation and attempted capital murder.

Justice of the Peace Fred Berra placed Casarez under bonds of $50,000 for attempted capital murder and $20,000 for burglary. Casarez remains in jail.
According to a police spokesman, several juveniles were involved in the burglary and are also still in custody.
Cary and Sammy White of 1301 Main returned home Sunday to find Casarez and the juveniles in their house. Shots were fired at the Whites from a gun that had been in the house, police said. The group fled the scene and were arrested a short time later by police.

Over $1,800 in merchandise was taken, and all but $146 has been recovered, police said. No one was injured in the incident.
Casarez did not have the gun in his possession when arrested, police said. None of the suspect's have a previous police record, police said.

Fire damages vacant house

An early morning fire today at a vacant 1710 Jennings rent house owned by bailbondsman and unsuccessful city council candidate Bob Smith brought three Big Spring Fire Department engines to the scene and caused an estimated $18,000 damage.
Nine firefighters took 30 minutes to douse the flames. The fire was reported just after 1 a.m. this morning, according to fire investigator Burr Lea Settles.

Cause of the fire at the one story, two bedroom wood frame house remains under investigation, he said.
The fire engulfed the kitchen and dining areas of the house, causing damage to the attic and roof, Settles said. Other portions of the house suffered heavy smoke damage, he said.
In addition to the 2,000 gallons of water carried to the scene by department engines, firefighters extinguished the flames with a hose line connected to a 17th and Donley fire hydrant, Settles said.
The firefighters returned to quarters at about 2:30 a.m., 1 1/2 hours after receiving the call, he said.

Hearing reset on eviction
A small claims court trial that could forcibly evict a Northcrest Apartment tenant has been rescheduled until 10 a.m. Thursday.
Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin said he continued the hearing on a motion for a forcible detainer against Della Dickson from Tuesday's original date.
The hearing was reset because both Ms. Dickson's lawyer and the Lubbock director of the privately owned, HUD-subsidized apartment complex could not attend the hearing, Heflin said.
Ms. Dickson has accused the managers of the apartment complex of violating agreements between the landlord and tenants, and of violating tenants' civil rights.

Oilfield Olympics planned

ODE A — The second annual Oilfield Olympics is planned May 19-20 at the Ector County Coliseum grounds during the Odessa Boomtown Days Festival, a celebration of the oilfield heritage of the 1930s and 1940s in the Permian Basin.

The popular two-day event has teams consisting of employees in oilfield related competitions. The Oilfield Olympics give Boomtown spectators a glimpse of the activity of the oilfield and well servicing businesses and gives the oilfield and well servicing professionals an opportunity to show their skills and abilities, according to an Olympic Games spokesperson.

even games are planned for this year including rod and tubing pull with a pole similar to those used in past years and rod and tubing pull with a doubletriple derrick, used today in the oilfields. This event will be judged on finesse, skill and smoothness of operation. The bit throw, judged on distance; and the ladder climb, flow line laying and stake driving all judged on speed; are events from last year's competition. A bit pull will be a new event for the games this year.

Companies can enter a maximum of two teams consisting of four team members each. Each team must have a certified operator of well service equipment as a member. Original designed trophies using oilfield equipment will be presented to the winning teams and their sponsoring companies.

Midway Plumbing Stresses Quality Sales, Service

Quality is a commodity that is not emphasized as much as it used to be. But when you, the consumer, spend your money on a product or service, you deserve to get the best available. That's what they strive for at Midway Plumbing and Supply.

Their showroom is stocked with the finest in fixtures and supplies — from faucets to a complete line of bath fixtures. The brands are a who's who of fine lines, including Delta, Kohler, American Standard, A.O. Smith, and State. The showroom is open to the public.

Gary Belew and Arvin Henry, co-owners of Midway Plumbing and Supply, stress that their company's main aim is to provide quality service to their customers.

Gary started out in the plumbing business 10 years ago installing septic systems, which is still a large part of his business. He and Arvin opened Midway Plumbing and Supply about three years ago.

The firm is moving to a new and larger location in a solar heated building now under construction across I-20 from its present location. The building will house a larger workshop, larger showroom, and a display area for sales and information on solar systems.

In addition to Gary and Arvin, the staff includes Bonnie Foster and Colleen Henry in the showroom/office; Alan Matthies and Chuck Hesson, plumbers; and Paul Dunlap and David Buchanan, helpers.

Customers are invited to drop in to visit about their supply and service requirements, or to phone 393-5294.

Midway Plumbing and Supply is located about six miles from Big Spring. Take the Moss Lake Exit off I-20 East.
