How's that? Permit

Q. Do you need a permit to keep large snakes in your home such as boas or pythons?

A. According to Paul Hope, information specialist for Texas Parks and Wildlife, Austin, you don't need a permit for boas or pythons.

Hope said, "those are non-native species. All we are connected with are native species, such as deer, etc."

Hope said permits are needed for highly dangerous, poisonous snakes.

Caucus offers a night of fun

By JIM DAVIS
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — If the television schedule looks bleak and your budget won't allow a big night out, you might consider another form of entertainment this Saturday night: attending a precinct convention. Probably it won't be as violent as "T.J. Hooker" or as funny as "Diff'rent Strokes," but it could be a rare opportunity to have some fun, meet new people and — if you're a Democrat — to have a say in whom your party nominates for president.

Most conventions probably won't last very long, and you can't beat the price of admission. All you have to do is vote in your party's primary the same day and have your voter registration card stamped. Then, you come back at 7:15 p.m. for the caucus, usually in the same place you voted.

The only cost will come if you get swept up in the whole process and find yourself volunteering to continue up the steps of the convention ladder. If you're highly successful at that, you could find yourself attending your party's state and national conventions. The Democrats will end up in San Francisco in July and the Republicans in Dallas in August.

Taking part in all this is an opportunity that won't come around again until 1988.

Undoubtedly, the big excitement in the party presidential arena this year lies with the Democrats.

Although former Vice President Walter Mondale has a strong lead in the race so far, the matter is far from settled. That means the Texas caucuses could have a strong effect on the party's nomination process.

If Mondale scores big in Texas, as his campaign leaders confidently predict he will, top challenger Gary Hart's dreams of victory could be all but ended. Hart desperately needs a win in Texas, but he acknowledges that he faces an uphill fight. The third candidate, Jesse Jackson, wants a strong Texas showing to boost his

Jobless rate remains steady

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civilian unemployment in April remained frozen at 7.8 percent — its third month at that level — as the number of new jobs virtually accommodated a heavy springtime demand for work, the government said today.

Not since September-November 1980 has unemployment held steady for three months running. Texas unemployment rose slightly in April, climbing from 6.5 percent in March to 6.8 percent last month, but a Labor Department official today called the change insignificant.

The increase was too small to indicate any kind of downturn in the state's economy, said Nick Santangelo, a Bureau of Labor Statistics analyst. "It's not a meaningful increase and it doesn't mean much," he said.

Economists in and out of government have said for months that the steadily declining unemployment rates of the last year or so could level off as the pace of the expanding economy slows.

Still, many analysts expect the civilian rate to fall below 7.4 percent, the rate President Reagan inherited from Jimmy Carter in 1981, by year's end.

In April, the Labor Department said today, total civilian employment rose by 260,000 to 104.4 million, a record. But roughly 333,000 jobless Americans reentered the labor force in search of work, offsetting the gains.

The total number of unemployed people rose by 71,000 last month, to 8.4 million, but that increase was not enough to drive up the overall unemployment rate when the calculation was adjusted for normal seasonal variations.

The bureau said the average factory worker put in 41.2 hours a week last month, up 36 minutes from March and the highest level in nearly two decades.

At the White House, presidential spokesman Larry Speakes noted. "The combination of increased employment and greater average hours should imply higher industrial production and a generally strong economic picture in the weeks ahead."

He added: "The economic recovery appears to be settling down to a sustainable level. ... New jobs are being created and, all in all, it's a very healthy economy."

A separate unemployment rate, which combines the civilian labor force with the roughly 1.69 million members of the U.S. armed forces stationed in the United States, held steady at 7.7 percent last month, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

The unemployment calculation is based on a Census Bureau survey of some 60,000 U.S. households taken in the week that includes the 12th day of the month.

DA, JP races highlight local primary vote

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Issues in local contested primary races this year include availability in office, experience, salaries and basic differences in candidates' philosophies.

The two Democratic candidates for 118th District Attorney bring divergent approaches about a prosecutor's duties and functions to the office.

Incumbent Rick Hamby, a Howard County native, said following the rules of law is most important to him as a prosecutor. Hamby, 36, said he assigns priority to crimes of physical violence, and said he sees drug abuse and drug-related crimes as part of a cultural problem.

In contrast to Hamby's philosophy, Bob Miller, the current county attorney, said he would take a more active role in assisting law enforcement officers in investigations. And the 38-year-old Houston native said he would emphasize stronger prosecution of drug and gambling cases.

IN THE RACE for Justice of the Peace Precinct 1, Place 1, the five Democratic challengers have identified absenteeism by the incumbent as the major issue in their campaigns.

• Bobby West, who is running for his third term in office, defended his absences, saying they were caused by illness.

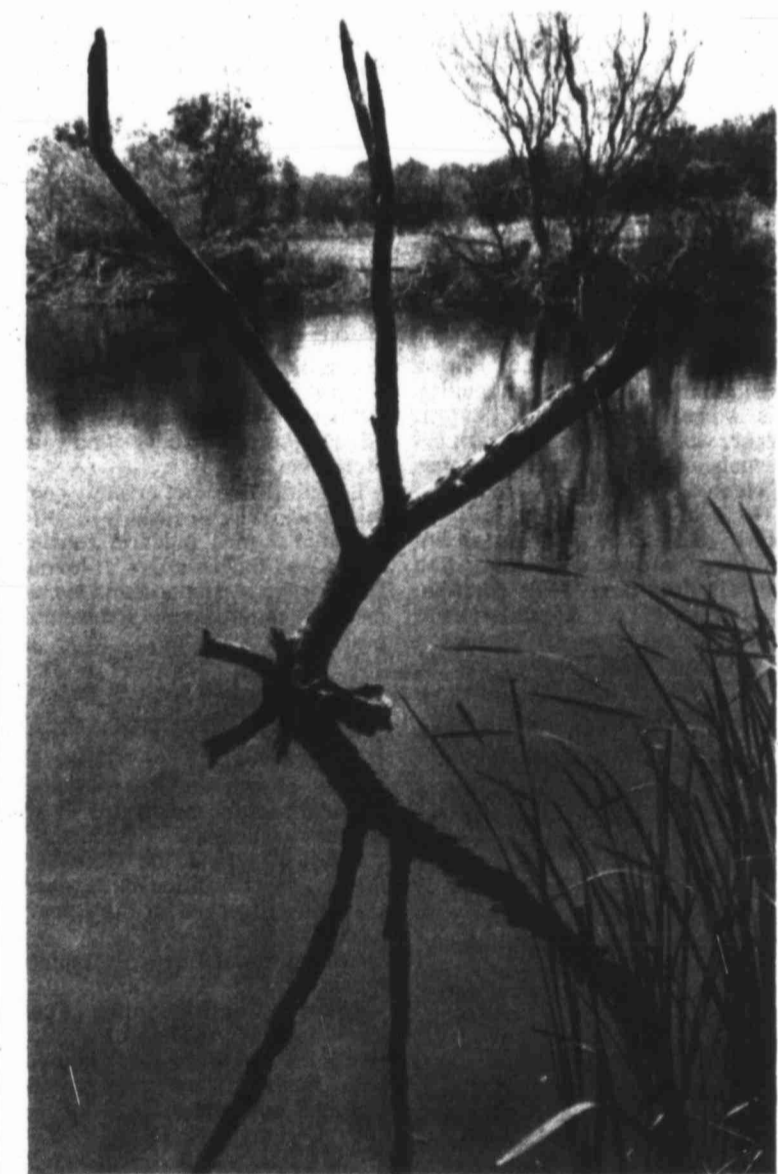

• China Long, 46, the news director for KBST radio, said she would be available for the job. She also said her civil service and reporting experience prepared her and familiarized her with a peace justice's duties.

• Former police Sgt. Bob Stapp, 42, said he would open the office on Saturday mornings in addition to the normal hours if elected. He cited his law enforcement experience with giving him familiarity with the office.

• Doyle Lamb, 48, is a semi-retired businessman who says he is running because the incumbent "obviously is not discharging his responsibility to the voters." He is a former Marine Corps intelligence officer and Red River, N.M., town marshal.

• Paul Silva, a former Howard

Dawson, Mitchell sport contested races

Republican party members in surrounding counties won't have much opportunity to vote for local candidates in the primary elections tomorrow. Nearly every one running for county and district positions is a Democrat.

Only in Mitchell County will there be Republicans running on the local level.

Barber unopposed

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County Attorney Pat Barber will be unopposed in his re-election bid in the Democratic primary Saturday, but local attorney Pete McKinney says he will run a write-in campaign for the office in the November general election.

One citizens group, disgruntled with Barber's controversial relationship with local law enforcement officers, is asking voters to cross out Barber's name on the Saturday ballot.

In other Democratic races, incumbent Sheriff Wendell Bryant will be seeking his second full term. He is opposed by George Davenport, a service station operator; and C.N. Stubblefield, a farmer.

Incumbent tax collector Clarence C. (Mike) Burt is unopposed in his bid for re-election.

Incumbent Treasurer Ann Hallmark was appointed to her position by the city council and is running for her first full term. She is opposed by former corporate secretary Sharon Hammond.

Former gift shop owner Coleen Palmer is running as a Republican for the job.

The county commissioner

Precinct 1 race has five candidates vying for the position being vacated by Louise Logston. Ronnie Feaster, a farmer; Edward Roach, also a farmer; Warren Anderson, a farmer-banker; and Truman Bodine, a dairy farmer, are running on the Democratic slate. Jackie Joiner, a farmer-oilman, is seeking the position on the Republican ballot.

Incumbent Commissioner Precinct 3 Paul Hunter is seeking re-election. He is being challenged by Frank Conard, a doughnut shop owner; Curtis Latier, a farmer; and Weldon Hardegree, a farmer-truck driver, on the Democratic ballot.

Constable Precinct 1 Billy Ray Williamson is unopposed in his bid for re-election.

Incumbent faces five
LAMESA — County Commissioner Precinct 1 J.E. Airhart has five opponents in Saturday's Democratic primary in Dawson County.

FM 700 may open tomorrow

Road work on a three-quarter mile section of FM 700 between Goliad and the Veterans Administration Medical Center may be opened for traffic tomorrow, Joe Smoot, resident engineer at the State Highway Department said this morning.

"It's practically completed," said Smoot.

According to the engineer, state crews have reworked the existing asphalt and base that were previously on the road and have topped it off with a temporary surface.

The department will put a permanent surface on the road later this month, a process that "will only take a couple of hours," he said.

Highway officials closed the road April 5 and traffic was re-routed at that time to access roads running parallel to the street.

County sheriff's deputy and Big Spring policeman, said he would work full-time if elected. Silva, 42, is now a bail bondsman for B & M Bail Bond.

Don Brooks, a retired radio announcer for KHEM and KKKI, says the office should be "open full-time." Brooks said he has studied textbooks on a peace justice's duties "to learn the office."

Brown faces opponent

The two Democratic candidates for County Commissioner Precinct 1 are divided on the full-time/part-time job issue and on the level of taxation.

Cotton farmer Raymond Stallings, 55, said wants to reduce Howard County taxes by employing a better tax structure and using money more efficiently.

Incumbent O.L. "Louis" Brown, 52, of 1508 Oriole is seeking his third term on the commissioners' court, and says he is a "full-time commissioner." A former employee of Cabot Corp., Brown says his presence in town and his active community service make him more accessible to citizens in his precinct.

Salary issue raised

County Commissioner Precinct 3 Democratic hopefuls are divided on the issues of their salaries — $20,844 a year — and the amount of time they plan to spend on the job.

Garner Thixton, 52, of Wasson Road said he thinks county residents deserve a full-time commissioner at the current salary.

Neil Fryar, 54, of Lomax says he qualifies as a commissioner because of his prior service on various boards, including the Stan-

The previously elected precinct chairman or chairwoman will call the meeting to order, but the assembled group will then elect a permanent chair for the convention. If your precinct is about evenly attended by supporters of two or more candidates, that first election could be a hot one since each side will want one of its own in charge. Otherwise, the regular chair may be easily selected to preside.

The next item will be the dividing of the county convention places among the presidential candidates'

Police Beat

Suspects arrested for pot

Police yesterday afternoon arrested four Big Spring men and a New Mexico man on suspicion of marijuana possession after searching a house at 400 N.W. 11th.

Arrested for possession of marijuana over 4 ounces with intent to deliver were Joey Robles, 20, of 404 N.W. 11th; Raymond Ramirez, 33, of 614 N.E. 11th; and Gilbert Granillo, 22, of Demming N.M., police reports said.

Two other Big Spring men were arrested for possession of less than 2 ounces of marijuana, according to reports.

The two arrests came after police executed a search warrant at 4:08 p.m. Thursday at the 400 N.W. 11th residence. Police then arrested Robles, Ramirez and Granillo from a car at the intersection of N.W. 11th and N. Lamesa, according to officer Bill Armstrong.

Police picked up the trio at 5:35 p.m. Thursday, impounded the vehicle and found what is suspected to be marijuana in the car's spare tire, Sgt. Bill Price said.

Police also confiscated a substance they believe to be metamphetamines at the N.W. 11th address, Price said. The substance has been sent to a police laboratory for analysis, he said.

In other police reports:

David Flores of the Apache Bend Apartments at 120 Airbase suffered knife wounds to his shoulders, neck and hands during a fight at 11 p.m. Thursday outside the apartment complex, police reports said. Flores was admitted to Malone-Hogan Hospital and was to have surgery today for treatment of the wounds, a hospital spokeswoman said.

James Russell Robinson Jr. of San Antonio told police two persons at 2:15 p.m. Thursday in the 100 block of N. Lancaster damaged his 1980 Oldsmobile by hitting it with an object, police reports said. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $750, reports said.

Raul Ramirez of 705 E. 16th told police someone between 2:30 a.m. and 2:57 a.m. Friday stole his 1964 Chevrolet pickup while it was parked unlocked with the keys in the ignition at Herman's Restaurant at 1601 Gregg, police reports said.

Jogdish Patel, manager of the Ponderosa Motor Inn on the San Angelo Highway, told police someone checked out of the motel without paying his $132 bill, police reports said. The bill is for services between April 13 and April 19, reports said.

Luis Miramontes, 39, of 509 N.E. Ninth was arrested at 11:50 a.m. Thursday in connection with a warrant for evading arrest, police reports said.

According to Decell, a complete damage estimate will not be ready until next week.

Cocker goes to slammer

VIENNA — Joe Cocker spent about 36 hours in jail after concert organizers alleged they lost the equivalent of $21,000 because the British pop singer missed a May 1 concert.

JOE COCKER

Upon his release Thursday night, Cocker said Austrian authorities had dropped accusations against him of accepting money for the missed concert.

Cocker, 39, and his European tour manager, Martin Biallas, were arrested Wednesday and appeared at two days of City Court hearings.

Biallas said he, too, was free to leave Austria.

Cocker blamed problems with the instruments and the hall for his no-show Monday. He said he planned to fly back to England today for a few days before beginning a tour of Australia.

Andy a little camera shy

LONDON — Britain's Prince Andrew, who splattered photographers with paint during his trip to Los Angeles last month, steered clear of a repeat performance during his latest encounter with the press.

PRINCE ANDREW

British photographers held a sign over their heads that read "Stand here for a top coat" of paint as the 24-year-old prince left a photographers' exhibition at London's Commonwealth Institute on Thursday.

The prince took one glance at it, said "I don't need one," and quickly departed in his royal limousine.

When Andrew arrived to officially open the exhibition, he told waiting journalists standing beneath a "Quiet please" sign to "take notice."

Harry made for the job

NEW YORK — Harry Truman's reputation as a mediocre politician who became great when he assumed the mantle of the presidency is incorrect, says biographer David McCullough.

HARRY TRUMAN

McCullough says Truman already was showing the qualities that would make him a great president 40 years before assuming the office.

"It required only a series of genuine challenges for his true character to assert itself," McCullough said, writing in this Sunday's issue of Parade magazine.

After his work as a file clerk at the bank, McCullough said, Truman persisted in joining the Army.

LEFT HOMELESS — Members of the Taylor family survey the damage done when a twister swept through Montgomery, Ala., killing at least five persons.

79 tornadoes hit Dixie

By the Associated Press

Violent spring storms that lashed the South with 79 tornadoes, leaving six people dead and hundreds of houses wrecked, spread northward today while keeping Dixie locked in the "heart of the most severe weather season."

Heavy rain was falling today from Louisiana to Pennsylvania, raising the fear of flooding in areas already waterlogged by wave after wave of storms. The rains were expected to pour down all day.

In Georgia and Alabama, people picked up the pieces after the two states were battered by 37 of the 43 tornadoes reported Thursday by the National Weather Service.

Twisters also touched down Thursday in Mississippi, Louisiana, North and South Carolina, the National Weather Service said. Five people were killed Thursday in Alabama, and one died Wednesday night in Arkansas.

In all, 79 tornadoes cut a path of destruction from Texas to the Carolinas on Wednesday and Thursday, said Hugh Crowther at the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Mo.

Meanwhile, Texas baked Thursday under record temperatures that sent the mercury soaring to as high as 107 degrees.

Three waves of tornadoes surged through Alabama on Thursday, hitting at the morning rush hour, in mid-afternoon, and again in early evening.

The most deadly roared across a busy highway in Montgomery early Thursday, tossing cars and trucks like toys and leaving four people dead in roadway wreckage.

"My car left the road twice that I know of," said T.A. Reynolds, driving to work when the black whirling cloud clutched his car.

A fifth person was killed when a twister flipped her Mobile home near Montgomery.

Tornadoes hit later in the day in Talladega County and near Prattville. In all, Alabama authorities reported 60 homes destroyed.

The tornadoes were not as deadly in Georgia, but they left behind a trail of twisted wreckage that included more than 200 houses damaged and destroyed, authorities said.

A twister at Uvalda in Montgomery County "ripped off store fronts and took the top off the police station and we haven't found it yet," said county Sheriff Jim Higgs.

Students at a high school in Telfair County watched at midday as a tornado roared within 300 yards of the building, officials said. There were no injuries.

In Atlanta, several school systems refused to let students board buses to go home until a storm that hit right as classes were ending passed.

By Thursday, the National Severe Storms Forecast Center had counted more than 490 twisters since the first of the year in the United States, making it the busiest tornado season in 10 years, according to Ed Ferguson, deputy director of the center.

U.S. to aid Costa Rica

SAN JOSE — The United States announced it is sending military equipment to bolster Costa Rica's tiny defense force, which clashed with Nicaraguan soldiers at a border village near the Pacific coast.

No one was reported injured in Thursday's firefight, the latest of at least a dozen between the Nicaraguan army and Costa Rican civil guards during the past two years. The clashes have been spurred by border-area fighting between Costa Rica-based Nicaraguan rebels and troops of Nicaragua's leftist government.

Polish boss off to Moscow

MOSCOW — Polish Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski arrived today for a visit that is expected to include receipt of a Soviet medal and talks with Kremlin leaders on the political unrest which surfaced again in Poland this week.

Thousands of supporters of the outlawed Solidarity labor union demonstrated in Polish cities Tuesday and Thursday in defiance of Jaruzelski's Communist regime.

The general flew from Warsaw this morning. Neither the length of his stay in Moscow nor his agenda have been announced, but Eastern European sources said they expected Jaruzelski to confer with President Konstantin U. Chernenko, the new Soviet leader, on political and economic problems persisting in Poland.

Labor takes UK elections

LONDON — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher celebrated her fifth anniversary in power today, but her Conservative Party suffered heavy defeats as the Labor Party staged its biggest comeback in local elections since she was took office.

The Conservatives lost control of 14 towns and cities, including the central England industrial metropolis, Birmingham, in balloting Thursday.

The Tories were battered by the centrist Social Democratic-Liberal Party alliance as well as the socialist Labor Party in what was seen as the most significant test of political sentiment since Mrs. Thatcher won a second five-year term by a landslide in general elections last June.

Pope calms Seoul waters

SEOUL — Pope John Paul II took a helicopter ride to an island leper colony today and touched the heads of the most seriously ill patients in blessing before bad weather made him hurry back to the mainland.

Earlier today, at the site of a bloody anti-government rebellion four years ago, the pope told Koreans to strive to resist hatred. On Thursday, the pope coughed and blinked back tears as he breathed tear gas fumes wafting from a nearby university in Seoul where police clashed with demonstrating students.

Two more demonstrations involving thousands of students were held at two universities today, and again riot police fired tear gas at rock-throwing protesters. South Korean students have been protesting limits on campus freedoms and demanding broader civil rights.

South Korea's Roman Catholic bishops declared today a day of national reconciliation, a theme proclaimed by the Vatican for the pope's five days in Korea during his 11-day trip to Asia and the Pacific.

Justice of Peace choice is Lamb

The work of a justice of the peace often comes at odd hours of the night and day. Unattended deaths, which JPs are called out for, may not coincide with an 8-to-5 schedule. And this is but one in a myriad of duties justices of the peace are asked to perform. In a job as diverse and time-consuming as this one, it is imperative to have a JP who is dedicated to the office, flexible enough to change "hats" as duties dictate, and bring savvy to a tough job. Doyle Lamb is the best man for the position.

Lamb is a Democratic Party candidate for Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, Place 1 (which includes all of the city of Big Spring and then some) in Saturday's primary elections. He is in a field of six candidates, including the incumbent who has been plagued with absenteeism this last year following a number of years of good service.

The fact that another justice of the peace, Place 2's Lewis Heflin, actively supports and is a contributor to the Lamb campaign is significant. We have a lot of respect for Judge Heflin, who has carried an inordinate burden of the peace justice workload for too long.

Lamb, 48, is a Big Spring native with good credentials to his favor: work in the Marine Corps intelligence corps as staff sergeant in the 1950s, emergency medical training certification, college credits and a successful business background. He is retired now and, except for using summer months to do plumbing jobs with his sons to get them work experience, he is committed to being a fulltime JP. He will be a real asset to the office.

Ethel and Dawn

As if there wasn't enough sex discrimination in the business world, a recent Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute study says that women with sexy names have less chance of being selected for managerial jobs than those with non-sexy first names.

The study, conducted by Deborah Linville, a former graduate student in industrial/organizational psychology, is titled, "Prejudice Toward Women Applicants Based on Their First Names," and claims that men more often than women hold the traditional "sex role" stereotype about managers.

That stereotype: managers should possess masculine characteristics, such as motivation and decisiveness, and that first names create expectations about people.

Ms. Linville asked seniors and graduate students at RPI, a popular training ground for Fortune 500 company managers, to rate the "perceived sexiness" of 250 female names on a scale from 1 (non-sexy) to 7 (sexy).

She did not define the word "sexy" but left that up to the students.

They considered some first names sexier than others. For example, among the highest-rated sexy names were Dawn (4.8), Jennifer (4.8), Cheryl (4.9), and Michelle (4.8). The least sexy were Ethel, who only got a 1.0, Mildred (1.5) and Esther (1.8).

She then asked another group of students to play "boss" and rate job applications with these seven names. The non-sexy applicants were chosen for employment and promotion over the sexy ones by a much larger margin of men than women, which made Ms. Linville conclude that men, when choosing women for jobs, are prejudiced by the sexiness of their first name.

If Ms. Linville's conclusions are correct, these women will have a tough time making it in a man's world.

Here are a few of the names which were perceived as non-sexy:

Alma, Cornelia, Doris, Edna, Elvira, Florence, Magdalena, Myrtle, Rosalind, Silvana and Zelda.

These women will have no problems rising to the top on the corporate ladder.

So what are we to make of all this? There is nothing much one can do at this stage of the game unless a woman wants to change her first name. But if the prejudice continues in the business world, new parents may think twice when it comes to naming their daughters. If they give them "sexy" names they may never see them rise to a vice presidency. If they give them non-sexy ones their daughters could become very successful professionally, but might scare away nervous prospective suitors.

Of course, parents can compromise by giving a girl one of the first names which wound up in the middle of the Linville survey. Those polled disagreed as to whether the following first names were sexy or not:

Anne, Audrey, Barbara, Betsy, Betty, Carolyn, Catherine, Charlotte, Elaine, Ellen, Faith, Hope, Jean, Jill, Joanne, Joyce, Laura, Linda, Marcia, Marian, Mary, Patricia, Priscilla, Ruth, Shirley, Virginia, Wendy and Yolanda.

These first names may never make it to the top, but at least they won't starve to death.

Space forbids me from printing how all 250 first names were rated, and one should say that this is not the only criterion for promotion used in selecting women for responsible jobs. But Ms. Linville's study should be invaluable as evidence in a job discrimination suit. If an Ethel gets promoted over a Christine, although Christine has been in the organization much longer, I think Christine has got one heck of a case.

On the other hand, if Candace gets to marry the boss and Mildred winds up as only the controller of the firm, Mildred has nothing to blame but her first name.

We can't afford to have Hamby as D.A.

Until a week ago, I really couldn't make up my mind who would make a better district attorney for the next four years — Rick Hamby or Bob Miller.

Since then several things have occurred that convince me the people of Howard, Martin and Glasscock Counties no longer can afford to have Rick Hamby as district attorney if they have any hope of controlling the most insidious criminal activity facing us — the drug traffic.

The first occurrence was Hamby's statement, quoted in the Herald last Sunday, that he considered drugs a cultural problem not a criminal problem, and that he preferred to concentrate on crimes that had victims. Ask any parent whose school-aged child has been pressured to use drugs if there are no victims in drug pushing.

The second occurrence came during a debate with Miller Tuesday at the Big Spring Rotary Club. In an obvious reference to Rick Turner, Big Spring Police Chief, Hamby used his flair for drama and demagoguery to say, "I have felt the winds of tyranny, and I have seen the face of Satan." It has been known for some time that Hamby had a strong dislike for Turner since the police chief found it necessary to ask the FBI to help obtain convictions of some of the leading figures in local drug traffic. I guess I was naive enough to hope that after the election the two men could be encouraged to work out their differences for the benefit of the community. I realize now though, Hamby's statement Tuesday reflects such a deep-seated hatred of Turner, there is almost no hope of any cooperation in the future.

The topper came in the middle of the week in a mass mailing Hamby sent to all the voters of the district on official District Attorney letterhead. It contained a vicious attack on the Chemical People Project, especially its legal affairs task group. He referred to the Chemical People as an "unholy alliance" and an "ambitious clique." He was clever enough not to mention the group by name, because he could raise a fear of some monolithic specter, as he called it, without having to specifically stand behind his statements.

I have been involved in a wide variety of community activities over the years, and I also happen to be chairman of the Chemical People Project. I can tell you from experience there is no more dedicated and hard working group of citizens and parents than those who are working in Chemical People to protect our children from the worst criminal element in this or any other area.

Hamby had some reason to fear the Chemical People. Several weeks ago the legal affairs task group met with him to discuss some preliminary findings from its study of felony arrests by the Big Spring Police Department in 1982 and 1983. The findings showed that out of 564 arrests, nearly 60 percent of them had been dismissed or had not been prosecuted for one reason or another. Of 72 drug arrests 55 of them were in those categories.

The group knew it was important to learn the reasons for these decisions in order to make an objective evaluation, especially if many of those cases involved bad police work or violations of civil rights by police officers.

Hamby said the group would need to name specific cases in order for him to help answer the group's questions. He thought they might try to rely on only a few cases. Several days ago the group presented a list of more than 300 specific cases, but Hamby declined to meet until tomorrow morning, after the election campaign was over.

It is ironic that the Chemical People had decided long ago it would not release any of its findings until after this election. The members felt the information was too important and too much time and effort had been invested for one of the candidates to label it "political" and dismiss it. These people want the problem solved, not swept under a rug.

I personally find it very significant that the FBI investigation has resulted so far in 11 indictments, nine convictions and only one dismissal. Of the 71 felony drug arrests handled on the local level, only 14 convictions have resulted.

It is strange that from the beginning of this campaign Hamby really has not been worried about his opponent. He has concentrated on campaigning against the Big Spring Police Department and against the information he feared the Chemical People might release. He warned against rumors and character assassination — which have not occurred.

His actions this week indicate his fear is bordering on paranoia. I don't particularly care what the candidates say about each other or how much they misrepresent each other's positions — the candidates can take care of themselves. I do care, however, when a candidate blindly and viciously attacks dedicated citizens who have intentionally kept themselves removed from the political rhetoric.

I am personally concerned about the extent of drug traffic in this district, and I am totally dedicated to solving this problem. I am convinced Rick Hamby will not choose to be part of the solution.

I have always liked Rick Hamby, but despite his charisma and pleasing personality, my conscience tells me I must vote in tomorrow's Democratic primary and mark the name of Bob Miller for district attorney.

Billy Graham

Bible and truth

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Recently I picked up a free magazine in an airport that talks a lot about the future and about religion. I was very interested, but was somewhat concerned because it seemed to suggest that most churches have really covered up the truth and only the group that publishes the magazine really knows what the Bible teaches. Do you have any opinion about this? — D.D.

DEAR D.D.: It is a common claim of cults that they, and they alone, have the real truth about God. Often they deny the full deity of Jesus Christ (that is, the doctrine clearly taught in the Bible, that Jesus Christ was fully God in human form). They also deny that salvation is found only through faith and trust in Christ.

Beware, therefore, of any group that claims it alone has the truth about God.

Krueger can win in November

To the editor:

In the May 5 primary, voters face two key questions in the U.S. Senate race — first, who will best serve the interests of all Texas, and second, who can defeat Republican front-runner Phil Gramm in November?

The answer to both questions is Bob Krueger.

Bob Krueger is the only candidate offering Texans a proven record of national and international experience. As a U.S. congressman for two terms, Bob worked hard for natural gas deregulation and earned national accolades and respect from all Texans. As Ambassador-at-Large and Coordinator of U.S./Mexico Policy, Bob negotiated agreements that contributed to a doubling of U.S./Mexico trade.

In 1978, Bob Krueger came within a few thousand votes of unseating Republican John Tower. In 1984, with Tower's retirement, every public opinion poll shows Bob to be the first choice of most Democrats and the only Democratic candidate likely to beat Phil Gramm in November. Meanwhile, Bob's opponents are seen as less experienced and out of touch with Texas voters.

I was for Bob in 1978 and I am again. This year, for the first time in two decades, Texas Democrats have a chance to elect one of their own to an open U.S. Senate seat. I urge you to join me in electing Bob Krueger to the U.S. Senate seat once held by Lyndon Johnson and Sam Houston.

Hamby's aware, not soft on drugs

In response to Ms. Craddock's letter in Wednesday's Mailbag which addressed Rick Hamby's alleged softness on drugs, I wish to say, HOGWASH!

Ms. Craddock based her allegation on Mr. Hamby's statement that illegal drug use "is more a cultural problem than a law enforcement problem." That statement does not reveal a lenient attitude toward drug users or drug traffickers. Instead, it reflects Rick Hamby's understanding of a problem that has infested this country of ours.

Drug use is a cultural phenomenon which due to its nature "leads" to a law enforcement problem. It is much like alcohol abuse in the Soviet Union. Government suppression, lack of personal achievement and deterioration of self-esteem has led that country's people into alcohol abuse and that abuse has led to a law enforcement problem of public intoxication and crime. To many of the Russian people a bottle is more important than a job. Sound familiar?

Mr. Hamby's awareness does not make him soft. I have known Rick for close to thirty years and I have never known him to look the other way or shirk his responsibilities in any way whatsoever. He is a tough individual who holds true to his personal convictions and to the Constitution and laws of the land. I feel that the latter is of paramount importance for a district attorney.

Personally, I fear most those who believe prosecutors and others in law enforcement should wear hobnail boots and possess gestapo-like attitudes. I want a D.A. with intelligence, who works hard and will fight for my rights as guaranteed by the Constitution. Rick Hamby is that D.A.

So as Ms. Craddock suggests, think very carefully voters. Do not be misled by innuendo and cries of wolf. Hamby not only prosecutes the criminals; he protects the rights of the innocent.

DA must work within the law

To the editor:

The letter to the editor by Patricia Craddock is a prime example of how anything said can be used as a fear tactic, by quoting District Attorney Hamby out of context.

We have law enforcement to protect citizens from crime, and officers of the Court such as the District Attorney and District Judge to insure prosecutions are handled within the framework of the law and our Constitution.

Certainly no one could advocate "nothing" to stand between city police and citizens. Everyone arrested would be immediately and severely tried, convicted and sentenced. Shades of George Orwell's "1984." Big Brother would truly reign supreme.

Hamby stated drugs are a problem today — just as are drinking, rape, child abuse, burglary, theft, vandalism, etc. — and apathy. He also published unquestioned facts and figures to support his record.

If Mrs. Craddock truly knows Hamby, then she knows he is always available because he's a full time D.A. If she knows County Attorney Miller then she knows he spends 95 percent of his time on his private civil practice, leaving his layman office staff to handle most of his official duties. He is seldom even available to represent the State on guilty pleas in County Court.

Of course, if the public memory be called upon, Miller did personally expend monies from the hot check fund to attend the last inauguration and for gifts for his staff. He got into considerable trouble over these expenditures, but called it an "honest mistake."

God save us from an elected officer of the Court who can't tell his money from mine.

Hance, Doggett struggle to crack Krueger's lead

Harte-Hanks News Service
 Almost six years have passed since Texans transformed Democrat Bob Krueger's planned election night victory party into a political wake.
 More than mourning Krueger's narrow loss to Republican John Tower, Democrats mourned a continued inability to recapture the U.S. Senate seat lost to Tower — and Republicans — in 1961.
 The Texas GOP, which wants the U.S. Senate seat at least six more years, must wage the fight sans the retiring Tower. Krueger still wants the post but faces two major Democratic obstacles in the primary: state Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin and U.S. Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock.

 Neither believes Krueger's impressive 1978 showing against Tower — a race Krueger lost by 12,227 votes out of 2.3 million ballots cast — makes him the Democrats' heir apparent in 1984.
 "This is not a contest for the House of Lords. You don't inherit the position," states Doggett, who supported Krueger in 1978, but now is an outspoken critic of Krueger's two-term tenure in the U.S. House of Representatives.
 Agrees Hance: "The reason Krueger almost won (in 1978) didn't have anything to do with Krueger. Tower was vulnerable."
 Both acknowledge that Krueger, of New Braunfels, entered this year's contest as the Democratic front-runner. Both have crisscrossed Texas frantically in hopes of earning a runoff berth by keeping Krueger's May 5 vote total below the 50 percent mark.
 Krueger's renewed election bid began almost the day after his 1978 loss. In the interim, he was appointed ambassador-at-large to Mexico by President Carter. He has used that post to solidify support among Texas Hispanics.
 His acknowledged early lead came largely through commitments from key elected officials, many of them made before Hance or Doggett entered the race.
 Krueger's background — which includes a doctorate from Oxford University and a deanship at Duke University — are considered educational pluses, but they often are cited as potential negatives by Hance and Doggett.
 "I think the people, especially the working people, have a tough time identifying with him," claims Hance. "I think he has an extremely difficult, if not impossible time, identifying with working people. He hasn't led the everyday life most people have lived."

That view is shared by Doggett, who believes Krueger "approaches this campaign and especially the issues from somewhat of an elitist view...The fact he taught at a private academy out of state has about as little to do with public education in Texas as an English barrister did with the Texas legal system."
 Such criticism rankles Krueger, who lambasts his rivals for waging what he calls negative and unsuccessful campaigns. "I am the only one who has talked about the issues," he says.
 Doggett, seeking to overcome low voter identification ratings, focused early on winning major group endorsements. He has picked up endorsements from both statewide teacher groups, the AFL-CIO and several others. He has seriously challenged Krueger heavily for endorsements from politically active South Texas Hispanics.
 Doggett also has actively sought the state's black vote — including myriad visits to black churches across Texas — and has a full-time coordinator to court blacks statewide.
 Hance, meanwhile, has waged a hefty media campaign in a bid to expand his regional political base. His campaign is run from Austin and, despite claims he will fare poorly in Houston, he won the endorsement of the Houston Chronicle and has waged a major media drive in that city.
 He also takes his folksy humor to East Texas locales where his rivals rarely tread. He boasts he will fare better in labor-strong Beaumont than Doggett.
 Early in the contest those struggling for a neat summary of the race branded Hance the conservative, Doggett the liberal and

Poll says turnout will be light

By DR. DAVID HILL
 Texas Poll Director
 While almost three-quarters of the most recent Texas Poll's respondents say they plan to vote in the May 5 primaries, only 54 percent place themselves in the category with the greatest chance of voting.
 Even then, turnout will probably be much lower. In 1980, 28.6 percent of the state's registered voters actually voted in one of the primaries. In 1982, 24.7 percent voted.

Primary Countdown 1984

Elect Joneil Smallwood

Vote #1 On Your Ballot.

Hello, I'm Joneil Smallwood

I would like to ask for your vote and support in the (Howard) County Commissioner Precinct 3 election.

My wife's name is Elsie. We have one son Sammy that is still at home, also a son Tim and a daughter Danna that live in Amarillo. I have been self-employed since 1960. In 1968 we purchased College Park 66 Service station and operated it until 1972. At that time we opened Smallwoods Western Wear which we are now operating in downtown Big Spring.

We own our home and acreage in Silver Heels. I also have interest in farm and ranch land in Scurry County, which is part of my mother and dad's estate. I tell you this to let you know I am familiar with some of the various problems some of you face.

I think we all would agree that we live in the greatest country in the world, but I think we are taxed about as much or more than we can stand. If I am elected to be your County Commissioner Precinct 3, I will do my best to see that your tax dollars are used to the best interest of Howard County.

primary: state Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin and U.S. Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock.
 Neither believes Krueger's impressive 1978 showing against Tower — a race Krueger lost by 12,227 votes out of 2.3 million ballots cast — makes him the Democrats' heir apparent in 1984.
 "This is not a contest for the House of Lords. You don't inherit the position," states Doggett, who supported Krueger in 1978, but now is an outspoken critic of Krueger's two-term tenure in the U.S. House of Representatives.
 Agrees Hance: "The reason Krueger almost won (in 1978) didn't have anything to do with Krueger. Tower was vulnerable."
 Both acknowledge that Krueger, of New Braunfels, entered this year's contest as the Democratic front-runner. Both have crisscrossed Texas frantically in hopes of earning a runoff berth by keeping Krueger's May 5 vote total below the 50 percent mark.
 Krueger's renewed election bid began almost the day after his 1978 loss. In the interim, he was appointed ambassador-at-large to Mexico by President Carter. He has used that post to solidify support among Texas Hispanics.
 His acknowledged early lead came largely through commitments from key elected officials, many of them made before Hance or Doggett entered the race.
 Krueger's background — which includes a doctorate from Oxford University and a deanship at Duke University — are considered educational pluses, but they often are cited as potential negatives by Hance and Doggett.
 "I think the people, especially the working people, have a tough time identifying with him," claims Hance. "I think he has an extremely difficult, if not impossible time, identifying with working people. He hasn't led the everyday life most people have lived."

That view is shared by Doggett, who believes Krueger "approaches this campaign and especially the issues from somewhat of an elitist view...The fact he taught at a private academy out of state has about as little to do with public education in Texas as an English barrister did with the Texas legal system."
 Such criticism rankles Krueger, who lambasts his rivals for waging what he calls negative and unsuccessful campaigns. "I am the only one who has talked about the issues," he says.
 Doggett, seeking to overcome low voter identification ratings, focused early on winning major group endorsements. He has picked up endorsements from both statewide teacher groups, the AFL-CIO and several others. He has seriously challenged Krueger heavily for endorsements from politically active South Texas Hispanics.
 Doggett also has actively sought the state's black vote — including myriad visits to black churches across Texas — and has a full-time coordinator to court blacks statewide.
 Hance, meanwhile, has waged a hefty media campaign in a bid to expand his regional political base. His campaign is run from Austin and, despite claims he will fare poorly in Houston, he won the endorsement of the Houston Chronicle and has waged a major media drive in that city.
 He also takes his folksy humor to East Texas locales where his rivals rarely tread. He boasts he will fare better in labor-strong Beaumont than Doggett.
 Early in the contest those struggling for a neat summary of the race branded Hance the conservative, Doggett the liberal and

Our present District Attorney says that he will not ignore "technicalities" — that he will follow the law.

But is he following the law?

In a recent letter, our present D.A. said....

"But, I will not prosecute drug cases which are revealed by DPS Lab Tests to contain a substance which is not only not a felony violation but not an illegal substance at all," as was the case in almost half the narcotic cases submitted to my office in 1983. Perhaps that's the sort of "technicality" the clique would like ignored."

Yet, the Simulated Controlled Substance Act (a law of the State of Texas since September 1, 1983) says:

- A "Simulated Controlled Substance" is a substance that is purported to be an actual controlled substance — in other words, a fake.
- A person commits an offense if the person delivers a simulated controlled substance and represents the substance to be an actual controlled substance.
- That such delivery of a simulated controlled substance is a third degree felony offense.

Simulated drugs, with their impact to society, are just as dangerous as actual drugs. People still rob and murder for them.

Shirin Chinoy visits her family in India

Changes in Indian lifestyle reported

Shirin Chinoy gave Business and Professional Women Club an account of her recent visit with her family in Baroda, India. The club meeting was at La Posada Restaurant, April 24.

It was her first visit home since 1971. She told of the tremendous growth and changes which have taken place since she left there 13 years ago. She showed a collection of Indian jewelry, costume, gold and silver. Ms. Chinoy is a unit social service director at Big Spring State Hospital.

Baroda is about 180 miles north of Bombay. It was a city of 10,000 when Ms. Chinoy left; it now has a population of 100,000. Baroda is an old town with many mansions and castles, which have been converted into office and business buildings, apartments and flats. Land in the city was almost non-existent on which to build private residences due to the rapid population growth, she said. High rise apartment buildings house most of the people.

An increase in the production of agricultural products in Baroda is greatly due to the work of the Peace Corps. The Peace Corps aids in training and demonstrating new agricultural techniques in the agricultural sector of the country. As a result, more fresh vegetables, fruit, meat and grain are available for public consumption.

In the past 10 to 20 years, reservoirs, dams, levees and lakes have been built, which in turn powers adequate electricity into homes. Until a few years ago, many homes had no electricity. Today they have electric lights, air-conditioning, refrigeration and more things powered by electricity.

Educational opportunities are more inclusive and has made progress, Mrs. Chinoy said. The change has affected all segments of lifestyles.

The city has grown so fast it is difficult to keep pace with providing adequate traffic control,

Ms. Chinoy said. But improvement is being made. The main mode of transportation is by bus and trains. Inside the city, it is mostly by bicycle and motorcycle.

Ms. Chinoy said she noticed a change in lifestyles since she lived there — from the controlled, sheltered existence to much more freedom. The major religions in India today are Zoroastrian, Hindu, Moslem, Jains, Christian and Jewish.

In other business, Lynn Chalker of the Junior Women's Club announced a microwave gourmet cooking class at First United Methodist Church's Garrett Hall, May 17 to 18. The fee is $15, which includes the microwave cookbook. For information call 267-7196. The annual B&PW state convention will be in El Paso, June 15-18.

Sedinger presents progress report on Rainbow Project

Victor Sedinger spoke about the Rainbow Project child abuse shelter at the April 11 meeting of Xi Pi Epsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The meeting was at the home of Jeannie Cunningham.

He gave an update on the shelter's progress, operating procedures, present and future needs. The chapter donated canned fruit and fruit juice to the shelter.

A change in the by-laws will be voted on at the next City Council of Beta Sigma Phi meeting.

Members met again April 25 at Book Inn. A program titled "Meeting Changes" was presented by Melba Smith. A rehearsal for the Order of the Rose Ritual was held. The five members who were honored at the Founders Day Dinner were Mackie Hays, Donna McIntosh, Ms. Cunningham, Nancy Fulgham and Ms. Smith. The dinner was held at Howard College.

TO: PATRICIA A. CRADDOCK

I read with interest your letter to the editor in Wednesday's Herald. I also noticed your attendance at Tuesday's Rotary Club meeting as a special guest of my opponent, Bob Miller. I have to wonder how much of your letter is your own creative thought and how much is, in truth, the concoctions of my opponent.

First and foremost, Mrs. Craddock, I am not "soft" on drugs. Am not, never have been and never will be. I do stand fast in my conviction that the family, church and other social institutions should play a strong role in countering drug use and traffic. But to say that I am soft on drugs is absurd.

It is interesting how this race for the District Attorney's office has seemingly focused on one issue and one issue alone. I have yet to hear anyone say, "Hamby is soft on murder, soft on rape and other crimes of violence." Nor have I heard anyone say that I am soft on robbery, burglary, theft or arson. Drugs it seems to be, so its drugs I'll talk about.

Why, you ask, is all the talk focused on drugs? I think I can explain that to you. In their day-to-day lives there are not too many people overly concerned about being murdered, assaulted, raped, robbed or the victim of a theft. Now let one of these crimes be committed upon them or their loved ones and they surely want and deserve to have the criminal be prosecuted. But, again, these are not things they think will happen to them. The one thing we do all fear for is our children. Even though most all of us feel that our kids are good kids, we all experience that gut wrenching anguish of "what if." We hope and we are entitled to hope, Mrs. Craddock, that someone is out there trying to do something about drugs.

No, Mrs. Craddock, I am not soft on drugs. What I am most concerned about is the traffic in drugs. If a young man or woman is arrested for a small amount of marijuana or other drug, prosecution to the fullest extent may or may not have any impact on the availability of drugs in Big Spring. I fully believe that the key to the problem is getting at the source. Drugs do not just appear in a town, Mrs. Craddock. They are brought in by someone. Someone whose only motive is greed; MONEY! Someone who doesn't give a flip about their kids or mine. These are the people I want, Mrs. Craddock. I am not alone in this. Every District Attorney I know shares this view, that we must get to the source. I would rather prosecute one person for selling one pound of marijuana than to prosecute five young people for possession of one-half ounce of marijuana. Prosecution for delivery of hard drugs such as cocaine and heroin should be achieved regardless of the amount of the drug involved. But I have seen entirely too few cases of this type during my two terms of office.

You surely ask, why is this? Well, I can tell you about that also. You see, Mrs. Craddock, it's a lot easier for a law enforcement officer to catch twenty young people possessing an ounce of marijuana or selling a fourth of an ounce of marijuana than it is to catch one full-fledged maggot bringing drugs into town like candy. You see, Mrs. Craddock, that's work. Long, hard, work! And, when you are through, and when you have really accomplished something you only get your picture in the paper one time. And you may have only made one case. But—you have done something. Granted, you don't get to string it out in the press over a week or so. You don't get to pound your chest and say, "Look, we got twenty of the little rodents." You don't get to run to the District Attorney's office and dump 20 minor cases on his desk and run out and say, "Well, we've done our job. Now the drug problem is on the District Attorney. We've passed the buck." But, you have truly done something. You haven't stamped out drugs but you've made a dent. There will be someone else tomorrow and you'll have to start over. But, that's the job. The solution is results, not statistics.

You see, Mrs. Craddock, my job is to prosecute cases, not make them. That's the function of law enforcement agencies. Let me show you, Mrs. Craddock, what your Chief of Police has tried to lay off on me and apparently has you believing in an attempt to influence this election.

I have been confronted over the last few months with a number of statistics floating around as to the number of drug-related arrests compared to convictions. On Friday, April 13, 1984, the Herald was asked the question, "How many drug arrests were made last year (1983) by the Big Spring Police Department?" The Herald quoted "a police spokesman" as stating there had been 87 drug-related arrests.

Since reading that article, I have gone to the Howard County Sheriff's Office to check its records as to the number of defendants who were transferred from the Police Department to the County Jail. (All of these "drug-related arrests" are required by law to be transferred to the Sheriff's Office before being released on bond.) In any event, the booking records maintained by the Sheriff's Office reveal that there were twenty-nine (29) defendants booked into that office from the Police Department during 1983, which initially were thought to be felony crimes under my jurisdiction. Of these 29 cases, further investigation revealed the following dispositions.

Cases Refused By D.A.'s Office	1
Cases No Billed By Grand Jury	1
Cases Which Were, In Fact, Misdemeanors	6
Cases Never Submitted By Police For Laboratory Testing	3
Cases Where Laboratory Results Proved Substance Not
What Police Said It Was And Was Not Even A Crime	12
Cases Dismissed At Arresting Officer's Request	1
Cases Where Defendant Was Released To
Another Jurisdiction For Prosecution	1
Cases Pending	2
Cases Pled Guilty	2
Total	29

As you can see, Mrs. Craddock, while the Police Department may get high marks on the number of arrests, they get pitifully low marks on effectiveness. I ask you now, Mrs. Craddock, who is soft on drugs?

So there be no misunderstanding, I will affirm that the vast majority of police department personnel do their job as professionals, have my greatest respect and are an asset to this community. There is a handful of those, however, who would attempt to divert attention from their own laziness and inability by stooping to rumors about me personally. I am tired and I am through with taking blame for something for which I bear no responsibility.

Please understand, Mrs. Craddock, that while I am concerned by your remarks, I am not offended by them. I fully realize that you, along with many others, have been misled and unknowingly insulted by being asked to believe and even write letters such as yours without any foundation in fact.

I remain,

Dr. Donohue

Drugs may help relieve incontinence

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am writing about my 74-year-old sister, who has developed urinary incontinence. Her urologist prescribed Pro-Banthine, which did not help. He has promised to try more drugs. The problem has gotten worse lately. I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this subject and learn if there is a way to stop this. Thank you. — Mrs. F.P.

I wish I could give you an enlightening answer on this, because it is a problem that causes embarrassment and tends to make people quite shy about functioning socially. But it is difficult to be dogmatic about the problem in general because there are so many different conditions that can be involved.

I am sure your urologist has checked out the main ones and is continuing to look for others. I am thinking of such things as nerve disturbance, shrinkage of the bladder (decreasing its capacity) or loss of muscular control. At times, sedative drugs can lead to loss of urine. The doctor has to review the medications the patient is taking. That's just quickly hopping and skipping over major causes.

Sometimes drugs help. Your sister's Pro-Banthine, or imipramine, or oxybutynin are sometimes helpful. For some, bladder training is the answer, scheduling voiding times, then gradually increasing the intervals between them. For others surgery may be required if the problem is due to faulty anatomy, like a fallen bladder. If nothing works, absorbent garments can be used.

She should be comforted by the fact that a specialist in such problems is investigating the various possible causes and remedies. I encourage her to have patience as the sometimes tedious process of sorting out things goes on.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

THINK — Before You — VOTE

I apologize, when I entered the Justice of the Peace race I had no intention of getting into a one-on-one confrontation with any other candidate, however one of the candidates, Mr. Robert (Bob) Stapp continues to mislead the Voters. I think you should know some of these facts.

Mr. Stapp's Statement

- (1) Has a background in Law
- (2) His Doctor advised him not to take a desk job after the injury to his knee
- (3) He has criticized me for accepting a $1000.00 donation from Mr. Dorland

How it actually is

Mr. Stapp no more has a "Background in Law" than I do, being a Policeman in no way is related to going to Law School. I agree, that would be more impressive than to be remembered as a Policeman who was involved in a shooting incident just before he retired. I think it's what he's not saying that has always bothered people.

He was offered another job at the police department, a position without a commission (Not authorized to carry a Gun), but he refused that job, he later went to work at a local hospital as a security guard. Think about this, if he can not sit at a desk, how would he perform the duties of the Justice of the Peace?? It looks like to me that he wants the JP job as they are authorized to carry a Gun. The last thing we need is a Judge who wants to continue his career as a Police Officer.

The truth of this is that Mr. D.L. Dorland each year and in many offices, donates to candidates of his choice, he does not even live in the Precinct that I would serve if elected. He is a voter who wants quality service in any office and is willing to help people get elected.

Vote for the Candidate who is concerned only with the real and just needs of the Justice of the Peace Court. Vote for DOYLE L. LAMB, Democratic Candidate in the May 5th primary. I don't need a GUN. I've been fair and honest all my life.

A small number of the above are out of the Precinct voting area and a small number are not registered voters, however all encourage you to Vote for Doyle L. Lamb.

Agents attend seminar on how to cope with retirement

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — After 29 years, four months and three days with the FBI, Jean Gray retires today to a lakeside home in Minnesota. And that, the agency says, could be as tough as his assignment as a Soviet counterintelligence specialist.

"We work them hard. We burn them out," said Special Agent Edward J. Sharp, deputy assistant director of the FBI's Administrative Services Division in Washington.

At retirement, the agents "have to learn to cope," Sharp said.

To help Gray and others switch from their high-pressured business to a life of taking it easy, the FBI is conducting a three-day conference here for about 200 agents, their spouses and support personnel, such as secretaries.

The seminar, at the Resorts International hotel-casino on the Boardwalk, is the first of a series planned to counsel FBI employees how to start second careers and cope with the extreme change in their lives.

"The bureau is very demanding of its employees," Sharp said Wednesday. "They expect a lot out of them in a career. We want a full eight hours out of our support personnel."

"And we expect a lot out of agents. We want them on call all the time. We want them available to us all the time," he added.

He said the conference, planned because about 1,000 agents and support workers will be retiring over the next three years, is being held on a trial basis "to see if it's beneficial."

"Although it covets its employees, (the FBI) doesn't do a lot for them like this," said Sharp.

FBI agents face mandatory retirement at age 55, but are eligible to retire when they are 50 and have put in at least 20 years on the job. Support workers are eligible to retire at age 55, but have no mandatory retirement age.

Gray, 54, became an elected constable in the small town of Excelsior in his native Minnesota at the age of 21, four years before he joined the FBI.

"I was always interested in the bureau," Gray said. After 12 transfers among FBI bureaus, including several years overseas, Gray said he is eager for leisure but expects to be on edge before long.

Work crews are clearing land he inherited from his father along Lake Minnetonka, Minn., where he plans to build a two-bedroom house, he said.

"I'm sure by Jan. 1. I'll be ready to do something, because I'm quite active," he said.

He said he is most interested in working as a consultant in corporate security and investigations, a field many of his colleagues explore after leaving the FBI.

"Just because you're an ex-FBI agent doesn't mean all the doors are open to you for jobs," said Sharp.

Hotel cans swingers' weekend

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Cheers went up in a church at the announcement that the Cascade Holiday Inn canceled a "Frontier Frolic" swingers' weekend for readers of a sexually explicit magazine even though the hotel expects to be sued over the contract.

"I think we are probably going to be subject to litigation, but we feel it's the right decision and we are prepared to suffer the consequences," said Tom Knoll, attorney for Motel Management Inc., which manages the downtown hotel.

Earlier Wednesday, Summit County Common Pleas Judge Evan Reed had turned down the county's request to block the convention. At the same time, however, he banned nudity and sexual activity in the hotel's public areas, such as lobbies and elevators.

Hotel officials decided then to cancel the contract with Magcorp, publisher of Ohio Connection magazine, because they felt the ruling left them with an unfair burden of monitoring sexual activity, Knoll said.

Knoll announced the cancellation at Mount Olive Baptist Church, where people had gathered to consider protesting the convention scheduled for this weekend. Cheers arose from the crowd.

Rose White, a deaconess at the church, said members who had planned to protest would instead patronize the hotel's restaurant and other facilities Saturday.

"We want to tell (the hotel) that we love them, and want to thank them for not allowing Satan to take over our city," she said.

About 200 couples had registered at fees between $235 and $245 per couple, according to testimony before Reed on the county's request for a temporary restraining order.

Michael Gallucci Jr., a Motel Management official, said the convention's nature was not completely understood when the contract was signed in November.

"We knew the group, but we were not fully informed of the kind of activities that would take place," he said.

County Prosecutor Lynn Slaby argued at the hearing that the registration fee constituted an admission charge for sexual performance and thus constituted pandering obscenity under Ohio law.

But Michael Murray, a Magcorp attorney, argued that a ban against the convention would violate constitutional rights of privacy, free speech and free assembly.

"If there is to be any sexual activity, it will be done in private," Murray said. "There will be husbands and wives at this convention. There is going to be no violation of law."

Bernard Berkman, another lawyer representing the magazine, had no comment Wednesday night.

Delaney serves church, community

By RHONDA WOODALL
Church Editor

When Father J.P. Delaney, 74, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, came to Big Spring 20 years ago, his church was an old army barrack surrounded by dirt streets.

Through the Delaney and the member's hard work, the church has grown to include six buildings, two parking lots, a photo lab and basketball court encompassed on four street corners.

Delaney reminisced about the church as he looked at old pictures in a scrapbook that records the church's history since he came. The church congregation includes 350 families.

The first project Delaney undertook at Sacred Heart was building a Youth Center in 1966. "The kids worked together, by playing in bands and putting on plays to raise money for the Youth Center," he said.

"An awful lot of work was donated. Volunteers from the parish would work at night after they got off from their jobs."

The next project, in 1967, was to tear down the building behind the parsonage and build an annex. "We were really working fast in those days," he said.

In October 1968, the old hall was torn down, and a wall was built around the land. Next, a basketball court was built.

In October 1972, the old church was torn down. For six months, Delaney held worship services at the Youth Center. The new church was completed in October 1973. The dedication of the church was given by Bishop Stephen A. Leven, Oct. 11, 1973.

In May 1975, the church bought three lots behind the church. Under the direction of Johnny Flores, the lots were leveled up and made into a parking lot.

Another project was to double the size of the parsonage in 1976. The church also built another parking lot north of the church in 1979.

The church recently bought Kate Morrison School across from the church. "We must have spent $30,000 to repair it. When we got it there was dirt two or three inches thick everywhere," Delaney said. The plumbing had to be fixed, and gas lines relaid. The church is planning to sand blast the school.

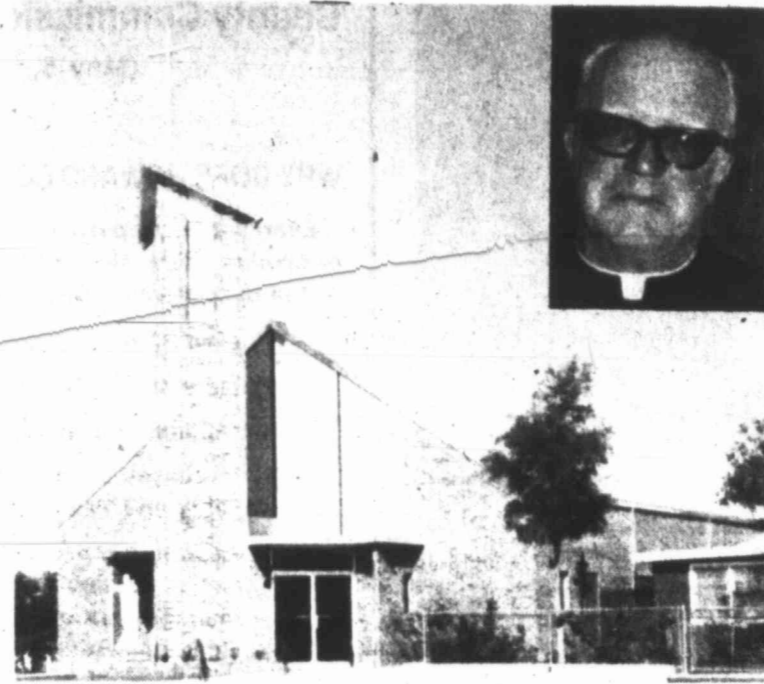

The school has nine classrooms which are filled every Sunday with children learning catechism. The school also has living quarters for Rev. Alfred Prado.

Delaney has taught photography, boxing and golf to several of the church youth. He was like a foster parent to several of the children, Santos Lujan said.

Delaney was involved in community activities as well as the church. He united the Northside to vote one year so the streets would be paved. "You got us to go out and go door-to-door to get people to vote," Mary Lou Lujan said. "He made us aware of our voting rights."

Another time, Mrs. Lujan recalls there was shooting, knifing and prostitution two blocks down from the church. With Father Delaney leading the way, "we went down there to bless them and to shut them down."

Delaney also made the people aware of the importance of an education by encouraging the youth to finish high school. "He would tell us 'Nobody is better than you, remember that,'" Mrs. Lujan said. When he came to Big Spring in 1964 there was only five Mexican Americans graduating from high school. In 1969, 51 Mexican Americans were in the graduating class.

With the help of Herb Johnson, Delaney enrolled several youths at West Texas State University in Canyon.

"In the heart of many people, he was the first priest of Sacred Heart," Lujan said, "because he motivated the people."

"My years in Big Spring have been very, very happy and very challenging," Delaney said. He plans to continue his work at Sacred Heart. "There's always something to be done around here."

Delaney will be honored with a reunion, beginning at 1 p.m., May 26, for his 20 years of service to Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Activities will include Mayor Clyde Angel and the Paul Flores family presenting a proclamation to Delaney. Members, former members and friends are invited. For more information call Francis Flores at 263-3040.

I want to take this opportunity to thank the many people who have encouraged and supported me in my unopposed bid for County Attorney. I will work hard to justify your faith in my ability to do this job.

During my term as County Attorney, I will strive to reduce the backlog of cases in county court, as well as establish more efficient procedures for the administration of justice. The Hot Check Department will continue to be an integral part of the County Attorney's office, there being no plans to alter its successful operation.

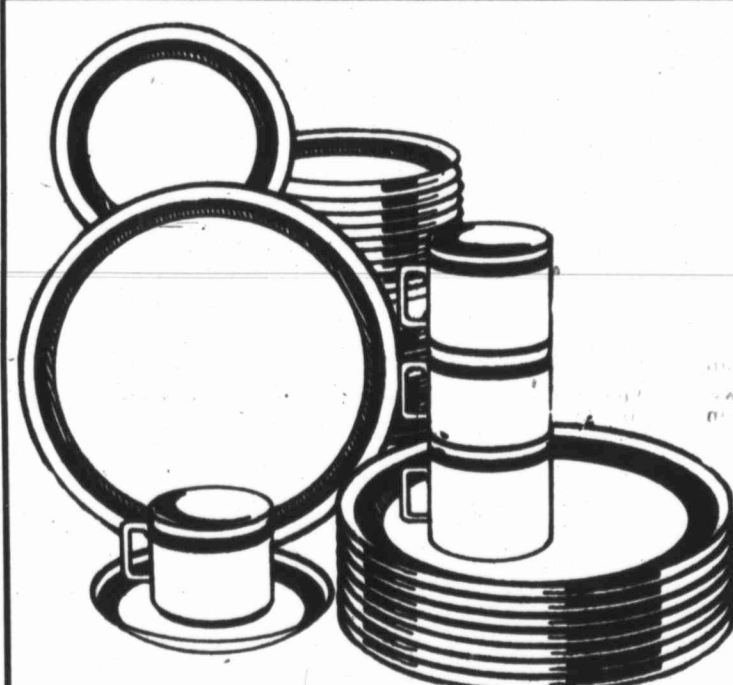

I will present in all County Court proceedings, including juvenile prosecutions and state hospital commitments. While my prosecution of crimes will be aggressive, the constitutional rights of all Defendants will be protected.

With your cooperation, we can make the County Attorney's office an efficient, productive arm of our county government.

I encourage everyone to vote in the May 5th elections.

Hale clears barriers to Austin

The road to the girls State Track Meet in Austin has been a long and rocky one for Grady 1600 meter runner Shana Hale, but the sophomore distance runner has cleared every hurdle in her path to reach the goal every trackster works for.

Hale had to overcome very poor West Texas workout conditions, sickness, plus missing two weeks of workouts because of stock shows and spring break. So with two weeks before the District 6-A meet, it was very questionable if she would be in enough shape to challenge for a berth in Austin.

At the start of track season Grady coach Ted Bedwell and his miler knew they had a good chance of reaching the State Meet since Hale had finished third in the event at regional last year, just missing the trip to state.

Last season she had a best time of 5:54.0, a good time for a sprinter-turn miler. Hale, who always ran the sprints in junior high was switched to the 1600 meters at the start of the season last year.

"When we ran cross county I would always finish first," said

Hale. "So coach told me he was going to enter me in the 1600 to see how I did." Evidently she did alright, well enough for Bedwell to see her potential in the distance race.

The future started to look bleak as the obstacles begin to form in her path. After Shana fell behind in her workouts Bedwell then inserted in the 800 meters to get her back in to shape.

Then Hale begin to double in the 800 and 1600 on her road back to form she had last year. She performed so well in the 800 that Bedwell decided to leave her in it at district. Hale rose to the occasion by taking gold medals in both events.

At regional she finished second to defending state champion Darla Graham of Iraan in the 1600, running a season best of 5:42.70. She barely missed a trip to state in the 800 finishing third.

Bedwell calls his ace distance runner a "very gutty runner", that is gaining experience with every meet. "She is a tough runner," said Bedwell. "She won't give up, if she can stay close to the pack, she can outkick them the last 200 meters because of her good sprint speed."

At state that is what Hale expects to do, stay close to Graham and Cindy Harper of Woodson who finished fourth last year. "I'll try to stay within 10 yards of them and try to outkick them at the end," she said.

Bedwell says the poor workout conditions his miler has been confronted all season long with may be a blessing in disguise. "With good weather conditions, I wouldn't be surprised if she knocked 10 seconds off her time. Running in these conditions has made her a stronger runner. At state it doesn't matter who has the best times going in, it's how you finish".

Hale also made Grady High Schools history with her berth at the State Meet, making her the first GHS trackster to compete in the prestigious meet.

So now the stage is set for the Grady sophomore, it has been a uphill climb all the way, but she has risen to every occasion, and it's a good bet Shana Hale will again rise to the occasion when she steps on the track in Austin.

Forsan's Roman makes switch to state meet

For the past three years Forsan's Lorri Roman has been a successful high school hurdler, but has never been quite good enough to reach the State Track Meet. It took a switch to the 800 meters her senior year to finally reach her coveted goal.

Miss Roman can thank coach Johnny Schafer for the successful switch. Near the end of track season last year Schafer let Roman train with a 800 and 1600 meter runners that qualified for regional. Roman proceeded to beat the two runners thus giving her coach the idea of letting her compete in the metric half mile her senior year.

"I figured there was a good chance that Lorri could go to state in the 800, although she might finish second in district and regional," explained Schafer.

Apparently Schafer had things figured to the tee as Roman did indeed finish second to Garden City's Gena Schaefer at the District 16-A meet and the Region II-A meet. Her time of 2:28.50 was good enough to get her to Austin. Schafer said that his star hurdler took the switch to the 800 in stride. "She responded well to the change," he said. "She knew what we were trying to do, and that it might get her to state."

Facing Garden City's Schaefer three times this season has been a big help to Roman, according to her coach. Although the G-City runner has beaten her all three times, the competition has been invaluable.

"At the first of the year we let her stay behind Gena and run 67's or 68's," said Schafer. "At regional she went out and ran a 64 on her first quarter. This is the key to her winning, attacking the first quarter."

Schafer said he has been working Roman on ending the race strong. "We've been working on her finish, I know she'll go out and do the best she can do. She has waited four years to get here and she is not satisfied with just being here."

Bucks take 2-1 lead over New Jersey

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Sidney Moncrief balanced ice packs on each of his knees. It had been a long, physical, painful night. He sat on the floor as he reviewed the 42 rugged minutes he had put in while helping Milwaukee put away the New Jersey Nets.

Moncrief scored 27 points, including all 13 of his foul shots, as the Bucks defeated the Nets 100-93 Thursday night to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal series of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Moncrief heaped credit for the victory on the Bucks' defense and the club's ability to capitalize on a slew of free throw opportunities.

"Our defense did it," he said. "We pretty much did what we wanted to do. We forced them into a half-court game and hit foul shots."

Indeed, the Bucks forced the Nets to play a slow-paced game and managed to build a 17-point lead four times in the third quarter.

Along the way, the Bucks converted 42 of 55 foul shots, including 19 of 25 in the fourth quarter.

"The key is stopping their fast break," Moncrief said. "This was the kind of tempo we'd like to have for the rest of the series. We know we can't run with the Nets."

Three other series resume tonight, with Los Angeles at Dallas, Boston at New York and Utah at Phoenix. The Lakers and Celtics have 2-0 leads, while the Jazz and Suns are tied 1-1.

Guard Micheal Ray Richardson, the triggerman in the Nets' fast break, was limited to three points as he and two other starters — Buck Williams and Mike O'Koren — were held under 10 points. Williams had eight points and O'Koren four.

Darryl Dawkins was the Nets' top gun with 31 points, but he and Williams and O'Koren each fouled out.

"We controlled the tempo and only looked to run when we had a clear-cut advantage. Otherwise, we just walked it up court," said Bucks forward Marques Johnson, who had 19 points and eight rebounds. "The best way to slow them down is not to run ourselves."

After Junior Bridgeman's two free throws gave Milwaukee its final 17-point lead at 71-54, New Jersey outscored the Bucks 10-1 over the final 2:01 of the third quarter and Otis Birdsong, who finished with 20 points, opened the fourth quarter with a baseline jumper as the Nets cut the deficit to 72-66.

But Milwaukee retaliated with a 10-2 binge to go ahead 82-68 on Moncrief's layup with 7:27 to play. The Bucks kept the Nets at bay the remainder of the game.

"It's almost impossible to beat the Bucks when they're playing their half-court style game," Williams said. "They controlled the game. They had the lead early and we had to play catch up. They were in the driver's seat."

The fourth game will be played Saturday at the Brendan Byrne Arena.

STRETCHING IN VAIN — Boston Red Sox' second baseman Jerry Remy grimaces after diving in vain for Detroit Tigers' Chet Lemon's single to right field in the second inning of Wednesday night's game in Tiger Stadium. Boston went on to win the game 5-4.

State tennis roundup Forsan, G-City looking for gold

AUSTIN — Forsan will make its presence felt in the Girls State Tennis Tournament for the first time in three years when the duo of Peggy Duffer and Connie Strickland take the courts at 9 a.m. Friday in the Class A portion of the event.

Duffer and Strickland, the Region II-A runnersup to Paint Rock 0-6, 1-6, did not become partners until a week before regional, but according to coach Doug Parker, "They are a steady team. They do everything well."

For Strickland the trip to Austin is the culmination of three years hard work. The senior lost in regional doubles as a sophomore and dropped another chance at advancing last year when she lost in singles as a junior. "She really wants it," said Parker.

Duffer, also a senior, is making a state trip on her second try at getting out of district. She had a different doubles partner last year and lost at regional according to Parker. "I hope they (Duffer and Strickland) realize the pressure. Things will be a little different from district and regional," said Parker.

Garden City tennis player Danette Holdamph is a young player going big places — fast. Holdamph, only a freshman, is headed for the Girls Class A State Tennis Tournament in singles play in Austin Friday — a rare achievement for any athlete, and even more rare for a player in their first year of varsity competition.

Second year Garden City tennis coach Bob Mace said that his prize pupil has paid the price to reach Austin. "Danette is a very hard worker," he said. "She has a great attitude and has really worked at every phase of the game."

Holdamph cruised through District 16-A play in fine form, winning singles and leading her teammates to the district title.

She made it handily through the first two matches at regional, setting up the championship match versus the Class A defending state champ Teresa Morris of Venus who downed Holdamph 6-2, 6-0.

Mace said the score did not indicate the closeness of the match. "It was a very even match," said Mace. "Both players are good defensive players, keeping the ball in play. Danette just couldn't get the big points when she needed them, but she played a good game."

The Garden City mentor said that his player has a good chance at the state tournament. "More than likely Danette and the girl from Venus will be in different brackets, so there is a good chance they might meet in the championship match again."

And for Danette Holdamph this year's tourney is only the first big stopping place in what looks like an illustrious journey.

Harris inks with Tennessee school

Dwight Harris has become the third member of the 1983-84 Howard College men's basketball team to sign a scholarship agreement that will allow him to continue his playing days for at least two more years.

The 6-3, 190 pound guard has inked with the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. UTC is a member of the Southern Conference and participated in this year's NCAA playoffs where the Moccasins dropped out in the second round after beating Georgia.

Harris averaged 18 points a game during his last season at HC. He started for most of the season until eye problems slowed him down late. He had a high game of 36 points.

According to Harris, UTC coach Ken Gray told him he may not be limited to just the guard position.

DWIGHT HARRIS

"Coach Gray told me I could play other areas," said Harris. "In their type of wide open offense there is not a true point guard," he added.

Gray is quoted as saying, "Dwight will get a good opportunity to play and could be a fine addition next season."

Harris himself is excited about UTC. "I'll be only four hours from home, so my parents will be able to watch me play." The soon to be former Hawk is from Americus, Georgia and his parents never saw him play in an HC uniform.

Harris also said, "UTC has a good program, the coaching staff is excellent and the Southern Conference offers some good competition."

The soft spoken Harris added, "In appreciation, I would like to thank God for his blessing and guidance throughout my career thus far. I realize without his help it would be impossible for me to do anything."

ELECT CLAYTON McKINNON

As your County Commissioner, I will work to accomplish the following:

1. REDUCE THE SALARIES OF HOWARD COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.
Many taxpayers are not aware that our Commissioners set their own salaries. The salaries have been doubled in the last three years at a time when the population of Howard County has been decreasing rather than increasing. The current monthly salary of each Commissioner, including a car allowance, is about $2,000.00. The Commissioners meet regularly two days each month, meaning they each receive approximately $1,000.00 per meeting. By contrast, members of the Big Spring City Council receive only $50.00 per month in salary, and members of the Big Spring Independent School Board receive only free football tickets and sometimes a free High School yearbook for their services. The responsibilities of City Council and School Board members are certainly as great as those of our County Commissioners. The School Board administers approximately $14,500,000 annually while the City Council oversees $12,631,000. In contrast, the County Commissioners administer only $5,533,700. If elected, I intend to vote for a substantial reduction in the salary paid to the Commissioner of Precinct 3, and I will publicly ask my fellow Commissioners to make the same reduction in their own salaries.
2. REDUCE TAXES:
The County Commissioners have raised the tax rate from $0.20 per $100 valuation in 1980 to $0.23 in 1983. As a result of this increase, the County has accumulated a surplus balance of over $3,000,000 as of the end of February, 1984. Although I recognize that a moderate surplus may be necessary to meet unexpected contingencies, a three million dollar surplus seems excessive.

YMCA soccer meeting scheduled for tonight

Now days the idea is to get a kick out of sports participation and for a number of Big Spring youngsters signups are underway for a sport that does just that — provides lots of kicks.

Signups for the Big Spring YMCA soccer season got underway Apr. 30, but will continue through May. The public is invited to the YMCA tonight at 7:30 for an association meeting. "We want the public to know about what we're doing," said Mike Brock, Director of Leagues. And Saturday, May 12 has been set aside as a special signup day as Big Spring 'Y' Soccer Association will be on hand at the Big Spring Mall to accept youngsters ages 6-14 into the program.

Teams in the Big Spring soccer league don't actually begin play until September, but according Brock, "The association is taking early registration in hopes of getting more kids interested and participating."

By signing a good number of prospects early things will be made easier said Brock. "Ordering uniforms will be easier if we have a pretty good estimate on how many kids will be playing," said Brock. Last year uniforms were ordered once the season started and did not arrive until well after the midway point.

Also, as noted, Brock feels early registration might encourage more participation. "We would like more kids from Coahoma to signup," he said. If enough Coahoma youngsters register and decide to play, a separate team could be formed in that community according to Brock. "As it is, there are a few kids from Coahoma that are on teams here in Big Spring," he added.

"We're hopping to expand the league," Brock said. He noted that 250 youngsters participated last year.

Registration fee for youngsters signing up between now and the end of the month is $10 per Y-member and $12.50 for non Y-members. The fee from Aug. 20 to Sept. 7 will be $12.50 and $15 respectively.

For more information contact Brock at 267-7213 or association president Robb McKenzie at 263-8433 or 263-8125.

Public Reprimand

IN RE: ROBERT D. MILLER
 NO. 51-83-43
 BEFORE THE PROSECUTOR COUNCIL

DECISION OF THE COUNCIL

BE IT REMEMBERED that on the 2nd day of November, 1983, The Prosecutor Council was legally and duly called into session for the purpose of conducting a hearing on the above entitled and numbered cause. The Chairman determined that a quorum was present, the following Council members being present:

- Tim Curry
- Dick W. Hicks
- Claude J. Kelley, Jr.
- William M. Rugeley
- Howard C. Derrick
- John R. Hollums
- Margaret Moore

The prosecutor and his attorney were asked to come in and the Chairman informed the prosecutor of the nature of the allegations against him before proceeding to hear evidence and argument in the matter. After the conclusion of the evidence and after deliberations, the Council made the following findings:

- Since January 1, 1981, the County Attorney's office has collected over $315,000 in restitution through its hot check program. This program has generated over $72,000 in fees paid by the check writers. The Council has examined the expenditures made from the hot check fee fund which were complained of and finds that $1,849.98 of the amount expended was not proper.
- Expenditure of hot check fee funds for political purposes violates Article 53.08 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Specifically, the Council finds that the following expenditures are not authorized by law:
  - $ 14.03 for supplies for a political reception
  - $ 112.00 for tickets for inaugural functions
  - $ 132.84 for travel by the County Attorney from the inauguration.
- Expenditure of hot check fee funds for gifts to his public and private employees violates Article III of the Texas Constitution. Specifically, the following expenditures were not authorized by law:
  - $ 380.10 for jewelry for his public and private employees
  - $ 89.11 for a luncheon for those employees and others
  - $ 94.50 for secretaries' baskets for the same employees
  - $ 92.77 for luggage for a former employee
  - $ 15.75 for flowers for an employee who was sick
  - $ 28.88 for flowers for the County Judge who was sick

4. Expenditure of hot check fee funds for private purposes violates Article III of the Constitution and Article 53.08 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

Specifically, the Council finds the following expenditures were not proper under the facts presented to the Council:

- $ 645.00 for tuition for a Dale Carnegie Course for the County Attorney
- $ 10.00 for a newspaper ad sending Christmas greetings to the public from the County Attorney.
- $ 90.00 for space in a theatre program given by the high school.
- $ 145.00 for registrations for a public employee of the County Attorney's office to attend two courses unrelated to the business of the office

Forget the kids, I want the trains

Divorce battle centers on visitation rights to toy trains

DALLAS (AP) — The divorce case took almost six months to work out, but it finally was settled when a judge granted both the husband and wife visitation rights to the item in question: $5,000 worth of toy trains.

Most of the custody rights, however, went to the husband. For Sondra Kay Buckner, at came down to the trains gr the house.

"I wanted some of the trains but A feeded the house," Mrs. Buckner said Thursday.

The settlement between her and ex-husband Noel Harlan Buckner last week ended a battle between the north Dallas couple wrangled over custody of the toy trains.

State District Judge Josh Taylor awarded Mrs. Buckner the house plus about $500 in trains and railroad paraphernalia including the tin plate 1935 Comet aqua and silver engine, a three-piece green bridge, three passenger cars, two street lights, baggage men and baggage. Buckner got the rest.

"I also got one of the standard gauge tunnels," Mrs. Buckner said, sounding a note of relief.

"She wanted the little cupulent people, too! but he got those," said Joseph V. Semon, the husband's attorney.

Buckner, 48, also got the American Flyer set with the orange water tower, coal loader, log car, red caboose, Lionel billboards, animated newsstand, tunnel, plus 25 train catalogs, workbooks and planning books, as well as 25 sections of Mighty Casey track.

When 12 containers of scenery material for trackside, one train place mat, the dispatcher's phone and the engine oil can are figured in, it comes to nearly $4,000.

Taylor said that in all his years of hearing divorce cases, the Buckner case was the first in which he granted visitation rights on a train.

"It sometimes happens with dogs or something like that," he told the Dallas Times Herald. "But I've never heard about a toy train. But, then, they're both pretty involved with them," he said.

The Buckners, who were married 23 years, began "playing" with toy trains about 11 years ago, Mrs. Buckner said. They later graduated to collecting more sophisticated gauge and antique varieties.

"We even owned a Z gauge. It's so small you can do a whole layout in a briefcase," she said excitedly. "A lot of executives have these trains in their briefcases."

Under terms of the settlement, Mrs. Buckner, 43, will get twice-a-year visitation rights to the trains as long as she gives 24 hours advance notice by telephone and the time is convenient for Buckner.

What will a visit to the trains entail?

"Well, I'll run them, look at them, enjoy them," Mrs. Buckner said.

DIVORCE ISSUE — Sondra Kay Buckner poses with some of the toy trains in her Garland home that her husband will take custody of soon as part of their divorce. The divorce was settled last week when a judge granted both the husband and wife visitation rights to the trains.

Building ahead of last year

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

A mixed bag of good and bad news was released yesterday by the city of Big Spring in its monthly report of construction activity.

The report, which was based on 24 building permits filed during April with the Public Works Department, showed a total dollar amount of $202,000 for construction in the city during the month. The amount includes figures for both commercial and residential building.

The good news is that with the addition of the $202,000 figure, construction for the fiscal year to date — $6.8 million — is running ahead of last fiscal year — $4.6 million.

Not so good is that last month's figure is $20,000 below that of March, when construction activity reached a total amount of $223,640. In addition, the April 1974 figure is less than half the figure recorded for April 1973, when construction activity reached a $514,545 level.

Leading all construction last month was a permit for a $75,000 wood-frame home being built by Bob Park at 1713 Thorp.

Commercial construction activity was led by a $50,000 permit issued to Ben Edwards for a complete remodeling of the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant at 2200 Gregg. The permit listed West Texas Foods as the contractor for the brick and sheetrock remodeling job.

In another commercial permit, Ray Walker applied for a $21,000 metal building to be constructed at 701 Gregg. According to the permit, the building will be used for photo development and finishing.
