The Perot plan

Area administrators grade state's education reform plan

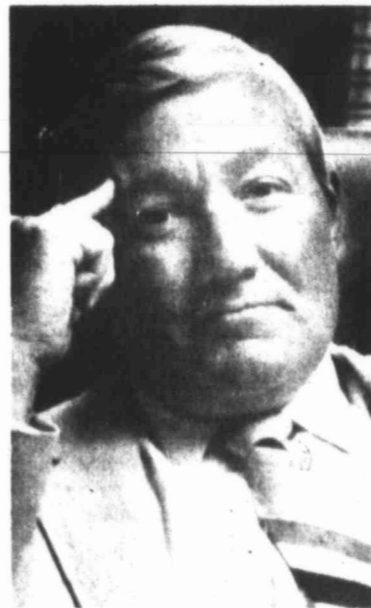

Gov. Mark White's Select Committee on Education, headed by Dallas businessman H. Ross Perot, has completed a study on the state of education in Texas. The report, scaled down to under $1 billion in costs, originally carried a price tag of $2.4 billion. The reduced package is now on its way to the Legislature. The report contains several proposals. For this series, two area superintendents, four local teachers and four Big Spring High School seniors talked about their feelings on the report and on Texas public schools.

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Two area school superintendents who deal with education costs and personnel on a daily basis believe there are several weak spots in the recently released report on Texas schools by the governor's Select Committee on Education, headed by Dallas millionaire H. Ross Perot.

1st in a series

Jerry Doyle, superintendent of the Coahoma Independent School System, said, "Mr. Perot and his committee were given a million-dollar opportunity. Unfortunately, they fumbled the ball."

JERRY DOYLE

Doyle feels that the committee "let their egos and self-serving interests get in the way of what needed to be done."

LYNN HISE

As a result, Texas schools may be faced with a few good items, several bad items, and "many extreme and expensive items," Doyle said.

Lynn Hise, superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School System, said he felt a study on Texas schools was a good idea and that the makeup of the committee, which included no educators, was objective.

However, "some of the recommendations they made, from a practical standpoint, border on the idealistic more than the realistic," he said.

Hise reasoned that putting several educators on the committee might have helped keep down costs and made the recommendations more realistic to public school needs.

Concerning a proposed 10 percent pay increase, Doyle said, "that's totally inadequate." Hise agreed that a larger pay rise should have been considered.

Hise said, "Ten percent is not adequate for what we expect of our teachers now-a-days."

Both Hise and Doyle questioned a basic skills test for educators, recommended by the Select

KENT HANCE
...visits Big Spring

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

State Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, whose district includes Howard County, today endorsed the U.S. Senate campaign of Democratic hopeful Kent Hance in front of about 50 persons at the Big Spring Airport.

Montford, who said he has worked closely with the current U.S. representative from Lubbock "for many years," said he supported Hance "unequivocally" and "wholeheartedly."

"I have known him to be a person of integrity who has worked hard for his constituents," Montford said of Hance, whom he worked with as both Lubbock County criminal district attorney and in his current job as state senator.

When endorsing Hance, Montford called the election to fill Sen.

John Tower's seat "the most important and crucial vote" in this year's election.

"He (Hance) has already proven his salt in Washington," Montford said. "There are a lot of important things to protect in West Texas, including agriculture and oil."

If elected, Hance said he would prefer a position on the Senate agriculture committee, on which he said Texans were underrepresented. Neither Tower nor Lloyd Bentsen are on the committee.

As a member of the committee, Hance said he would like to see a farm program implemented that would grant a "higher loan price for higher set-asides" by farmers. "The government encourages farmers to plant fence-to-fence and row-to-row, and then it supports embargoes," he said.

Hance also said he would like to serve on the energy and the armed services committees if elected.

Hance, who opposes the Simpson-Mazzoli bill now in debate in Congress, spoke against granting amnesty to illegal aliens, saying the problem could be solved by "beefing up the Border Patrol. It would cost $75 to $100 million to beef up the Border Patrol. That's a lot of money, but it's less than the $25 billion that would be spent the first year of amnesty."

The West Texas Democrat also said any illegal aliens that are arrested should be deported. He said he favored government review of individual cases, but not a blanket amnesty. And he said he does not support employer sanctions.

Recent television advertisements by Hance that stress his opposition to amnesty for illegal aliens, a position his two Democratic opponents support, will not cause a backlash among members of the Mexican-American community, he said.

Hispanics are "the very ones hurt most by undocumented workers," Hance said. "The very people knocked out of jobs are Hispanics, unskilled workers and blue collar workers. Maybe some of the leadership is upset, but the rank and file (of the Hispanic community) is with me."

The amnesty issue is actually helping him gain strength in polls, according to Hance, who says he probably will face front-runner Bob Krueger in a run-off.

"One reason I'm moving up and my opponents are dropping down (in public opinion polls) is that I'm against amnesty for illegal aliens."

HIGH DRAMA — A police sharpshooter, right takes aim at Joshua Brown, who holds a gun to the head of his girlfriend, as he attempts to escape Friday in

Wanted — 1 N-site, will pay cash money

Rick Jacobi, general manager of the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority, must have forgotten the community meeting he attended in March at the Borden County High School.

Either that, or he didn't take seriously local residents when they told him they would not tolerate a neighbor selling his land to the state for a nuclear dump site.

"He'd better be packed and ready to move when we find out who'd betray his community and sell land to you," Jacobi was told.

The Big Spring Herald today received a classified advertising insert order from the agency. It reads, "Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority is seeking 200 to 1,000 acres for waste management plant. Deep soil, no groundwater, all minerals. Cash transaction. All replies confidential."

When asked to comment on the ad, State Rep. Larry Don Shaw tersely replied, "Of course I have some good advice for the people in Borden County. Don't sell."

Shaw said the agency will lose several hundred thousand dollars in funding if it hasn't made a land purchase for the proposed nuclear dump by August.

The ad's topographical description fits most of Borden County, and the over $600,000 in the agency purchase fund could make life for an exiled Borden County resident quite pleasant in Palm Springs or Europe.

Snyder bank ordered to close doors

SNYDER (AP) — The First National Bank Snyder, the latest in a series of West Texas banks to collapse because of bad loans, was declared insolvent and ordered closed Friday, the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency said.

American State Financial Corp., a holding company based in Lubbock, purchased the bank's assets Friday afternoon and will reopen it as American State Bank of Snyder on Monday morning, said Alan Whitney, a spokesman for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

H. Joe Selby, senior deputy comptroller for bank supervision, ordered the bank closed at 3:35 p.m. Friday and appointed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. as receiver, said Dean DeBuck, a spokesman for the comptroller's office.

First National Bank, which was granted a national charter on Jan. 15, 1981, had $16 million in deposits on May 2, 1984.

"Over the past year, the bank experienced substantial deteriorations in the quality of its loan portfolio," DeBuck said. "In the past several weeks, the bank also experience accelerated deposit withdrawals as market confidence weakened.

"The lack of available funds to meet depositor demands coupled with substantial loan losses led to the insolvency."

First National was the fourth West Texas bank to fail this year. Three others were declared insolvent last year. Officials attributed all of the failures to bad loans, most related to the energy industry.

Whitney said all deposits at First National up to the federal insurance limit of $100,000 would be available to their owners and checks drawn on First National accounts would continue to be honored.

American State submitted a bid of $962,000, the highest of four offers received by the FDIC, Whitney said.

About $15.2 million in 3,400 accounts were under the federal insurance limit, Whitney said. He said holders of $346,700 in 29 uninsured accounts will share with other uninsured creditors in the bank's liquidated assets.

Whitney said the FDIC would make a 40 percent payment to uninsured depositors and creditors next week, based on the FDIC's estimate of the value of the bank's assets.

"We think it (the estimate) is conservative and hope additional collections will be higher," Whitney said. He said if proceeds are below the estimate, the FDIC will absorb the shortfall.

Snyder is 70 miles southeast of Lubbock in the oil-rich Permian Basin. Banks in Abilene, Midland, Odessa, Lubbock and Brownfield have also failed in recent months.

Police Beat

Sexual assault reported

Police said a rape was reported to their office between midnight and 4 a.m. Friday morning. The sexual assault on the woman occurred within the city limits, according to Capt. Lonnie Smith. She was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital for an examination, but was not injured, Smith said.

Police are continuing to investigate the incident, he said.

Police officers also recovered a black pickup truck reported as missing by Steven Archer of 2929 Langley.

The 1981 Chevrolet Silverado 10 was taken between 11:30 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday, Archer told police. It was recovered early Friday at the 7-Eleven store on Wasson Road, with about $225 of damage to the windshield, according to reports.

Mrs. Reed of 503 Washington reported a missing person to police at 9:22 a.m. Friday.

Missing is Rosa Wells, a white 64-year-old female. She is described as six-feet in height, 175 pounds, and has black hair. She was last seen April 30, according to the report.

Big Spring High School vice principal Craig Fisher reported finding a boy's bike at the school at 9:30 a.m. Friday. The bike has been turned into the police department.

Randy Rogers of Big Spring Cable TV told police at 10:24 a.m. Friday that someone had tapped into a main cable line and used the service without paying between noon April 21 and the time the incident was reported.

The Big Spring State Hospital reported a missing patient at 1:30 p.m. Friday. Missing is Raymond Beasley, a 6'-tall, 165-pound white male who was last seen wearing a brown shirt and pants.

Sheriff's Log

Burglary suspect arrested

Howard County sheriff's deputies Friday arrested a 23-year-old Big Spring man on suspicion of burglary and violation of a peace bond.

Carlos Marquez of 610 N.W. Eighth remains in county jail today. Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin set bond at $15,000.

Deputies Friday also arrested Randall Lavoy Hyden, 23, of 2204 Grace on a warrant for revocation of probation. He was released on $1,000 bond set by County Court Judge Milton Kirby.

Nedra June Marion, 40, of 1605 Kentucky Way was transferred to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of forgery. He remains in jail.

Terri Trusty, no age given, of Snyder was arrested by the Scurry County sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant for issuance of a bad check. Trusty paid $61.72 in fines and court costs to Heflin's office via the Scurry County sheriff's office.

Deputies also arrested Terry Lynn Vaught, 24, of Rule, Texas, on revocation of probation for driving while intoxicated. He was released after paying the probation office $180.

Joey Robles, 26, of 404 N.W. 11th was transferred Friday to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of possession of more than four ounces of marijuana with intent to deliver. He was released on $5,000 bond set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

MAKING A POINT — Jesse Jackson, Democratic presidential hopeful, makes a point Friday at the Starlight Baptist Church in Beaumont. Jackson is in Texas campaigning for support in the Texas precinct conventions.

I'm against legalizing the theft of American jobs," Hance said.
Granting amnesty at a time when Texas is trying to upgrade its educational system will overburden the system because of demands to expand and teach children of illegal aliens, Hance said. And granting amnesty once "encourages more illegal aliens to come" to the United States, when the welfare system is already overburdened, he said.
The three Democratic presidential hopefuls are "trying to appease the more liberal" of the Hispanics "in order not to create controversy" in their bid for gaining control of delegates, Hance said.

Plane crashes near Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N.M. (AP) — One man died and three other people were in critical condition Friday after an airplane crashed in a residential area near the Ruidoso airport, officials said. There were no injuries reported on the ground.
Police said Ronald Wahlrobe, 43, of Lubbock, Texas, died in the crash. Linda Opperman, 38, also of Lubbock, suffered head injuries and was transferred from the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital to St. Mary's Hospital in Roswell.

switch political parties like former fellow Boll Weevil Phil Gramm if he loses the Senate race.
"Anybody that says I will change parties is wrong and lying," Hance said. He said such statements were made by "vicious" people who were trying to hurt his campaign.
"I have better Democratic credentials than either Krueger or (Lloyd) Doggett. I have raised more money for the Democratic Congressional Campaign fund (than either Doggett or Krueger)," Hance said.
Local State Rep. Larry Don Shaw also was present at the press conference, but said he has not endorsed anyone in the Senate race. He has endorsed Democratic hopeful Gary Hart for president.

Committee.
"If I gave that test today," Doyle said, "I'd eat my hat if all 81 (teachers in the Coahoma schools) did not pass."
He explained, "Teachers don't fail because of a lack of knowledge. You can't test ingenuity, or personality or creativity. All those things make teachers teachers."
Doyle said, "Teachers fail because they can't handle kids. I've hired honor graduates who have failed as teachers."
Hise said, "It is unfair to those already in the profession to come back and say, 'Even though you've been teaching...now we're going to give you a test to see if you're qualified to do this.'"
Hise said if teachers are to be tested, then all professionals should be tested.
"Do this across the board. That would make it more palatable. Why single out one professional group?" he said.
Doyle said, "Teachers feel like they are being singled out and having rocks thrown at them."
Concerning a proposal to lengthen the school year by five days, Hise said, "That's not valid. I agree we don't utilize the time we have kids in school as well as we should. By becoming more efficient in the use of time we do have...that would make lengthening the school year unnecessary."
Hise said, "By the end of the school year, kids and teachers are tired. I don't think it would add to the quality of the program."
Doyle said lengthening the year was not practical financially because of water, air conditioning and bus expenses.
He pointed out that some Texas school buildings are not fully air-conditioned.
"You don't teach much when it's...97 degrees in a school room and full of gnats," he said.
Answering a question about cutting out extracurricular activities during the school day, Doyle said he worried about "kid burnout."
Hise said, "If we subscribe to the concept that these activities have educational benefit, then we can justify them being held during school time."
"If we can't," Hise said, "then they should not be held during school time."
Hise agreed with a proposal to limit the number of class days a student can miss for non-academic activities to 10.

"Students do miss too much class time," Hise said. "Ten days is reasonable."
Doyle feared the isolation of "West Texas towns makes that very unfair for West Texas kids."
Doyle said, "The kids that miss a lot of school are usually the strong academic kids anyway. The top 10 (academically) kids (at Coahoma this year) missed a great deal of school, yet they've maintained their academic standing."
Both men were opposed to the appointment of a state board of education. The board is now made up of persons elected to their positions.
"Being able to elect officials...is our right. When someone wants to take that right away, I question their intent and integrity," Doyle said.
Hise said, "I feel very strongly that the State Board should be elected and not appointed. Nobody that did their homework could see that we went through a period when the board was appointed. It was a highly political and ineffective method of having leadership at the state level."
Vocational education, which could lose state funds under the Committee recommendation, was defended by both men.
"Vocational programs have a good, sound legitimate place in the school system," Doyle said. "Every kid is not college bound material. Others take vocational skills and work their way through college degrees. I used two vocational skills to work my way through my master's degree."
Hise said, "We (Big Spring) are an area vocational school. We feel our vocational students do meet a labor market need in the community...if they take away (state) funding, it will be detrimental to school districts and detrimental to students who will not have an opportunity to take programs if local (districts) cannot take up the slack."
Both superintendents agreed with a proposal to require students to make passing grades in order to participate on sports teams.
Doyle said he feared the committee's proposals, if adopted by the Legislature, would add to a growing frustration among teachers.
"We have a serious, growing, potentially dangerous teacher shortage," Doyle said. "Teachers are becoming aggravated and leaving the profession."

King considers hotel buy

NEW HOPE, Pa. — Tennis star Billie Jean King is considering investing in a project to turn an abandoned paper mill into a luxury 202-room hotel.

"I tried to envision what it would look like," Mrs. King said Thursday during a tour of the vandalized Union Paper Mills in Bucks County.

If all the details are worked out, Mrs. King would team up with Washington Crossing architect Robert W. Schleeweiss to convert the mill.

"Nothing's concrete yet," Mrs. King said, but after seeing the mill, she said she liked its brick and stone work as well as the environment, particularly the nearby Delaware River.

Mrs. King said personal ties in New York and Philadelphia got her interested in the project. "This gives me an opportunity to get involved in the area," she said.

Schleeweiss wouldn't disclose the sale price for the 102-year-old mill, which is part of a 10-acre lot near the river. Before two fires, the property's value was estimated at $1.5 million.

Channing gets laryngitis

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Actress Carol Channing believes in the old saying that the show must go on, but the musical "Jerry's Girls" didn't go on when its star came down with acute laryngitis.

Miss Channing, 63, was listed in good condition Friday at Yale-New Haven Hospital after her illness forced cancellation of Thursday's performance of the musical revue at the Shubert Performing Arts Center.

Performances are scheduled tonight through Monday. Also performing with Miss Channing are Leslie Uggams and Andrea McArdle.

Miss Channing prides herself on never missing performances, and missed her first last year only because it was canceled due to a power blackout.

CUSTODY BATTLE — Anthony Sidoti leaves the Brazos County Courthouse with attorney Marsha Rule after 85th District Court Judge W.T. McDonald Jr. dissolved an order barring Sidoti's former wife, Linda Palmore, from regaining custody of their 6-year-old daughter.

Texas judge reverses ruling in interracial custody battle

BRYAN, Texas (AP) — A Texas judge dissolved an order Friday that had blocked a white Florida woman who married a black man from regaining custody of her child, even though the U.S. Supreme Court had decided in her favor.

State District Judge W.T. "Tom" McDonald agreed to withdraw the temporary restraining order against the mother, Linda Palmore, after she agreed not to take the child, 6-year-old Melanie Sidoti, from Bryan before the end of the school year.

The judge initially had said his order was "in the best interests of the child."

McDonald said Friday that he had no jurisdiction over Mrs. Palmore, but set a May 18 hearing to determine whether he has jurisdiction over the child, who lives in Bryan with her father.

Attorneys for the child's father, air conditioner repairman Anthony Sidoti, had asked McDonald to make his injunction against the mother permanent.

The Supreme Court on April 25 overturned a Florida appeals court ruling which had denied Mrs. Palmore custody of the child because she now is married to a black man.

Chief Justice William Burger had earlier this week remanded the case immediately to the Florida court, eliminating the usual 25-day lapse after McDonald issued his order.

Mrs. Palmore's attorney, Craig Smyser, told McDonald his client does not intend to take the child home with her immediately.

"She is not interested in disrupting Melanie's life," Smyser said. "It would not be in the child's best interests to pull her out of school and send her to Florida."

Melanie's elementary school classes are to end May 31. She has been living with her father in Bryan, some 90 miles northwest of Houston, for about a year.

McDonald told attorneys for both parents to return May 18 to present arguments concerning whether Texas or Florida courts should have jurisdiction over Melanie.

Sidoti's attorneys contend Texas courts should decide the custody case because the child has lived in the state for a year. Mrs. Palmore's attorneys contend custody should remain in Florida where the case originated.

"Take care of your daughter," McDonald told Sidoti. "Be sure she stays in school."

Mrs. Palmore, of Seffner, Fla., was not present at Friday's hearing. Reached by telephone at her office in Florida, she said she was "not giving any statements."

Sidoti left the court and refused to comment to reporters.

Bill Hawtrey, Sidoti's attorney, had asked for a permanent injunction against Mrs. Palmore. But McDonald agreed with Sarah Ryan, appointed by the court to represent the interests of the child, saying he did not have jurisdiction over the woman.

Hawtrey said he had filed a motion to stay all further court action in the case in Florida, but said he would fight for custody of Melanie there if the courts agreed the case should remain in Florida.

Hawtrey denied he was asking a state judge to overrule the Supreme Court.

"I personally don't feel I'm bucking the Supreme Court," he said, adding that he viewed the action as a continuation of the custody battle on new grounds.

"One of the justices asked us, once we remove the race question from the modification (of the custody order), can we win custody? We feel we can," he said.

Smyser, however, said a Texas Supreme Court ruling in a similar custody case earlier this week decided Texas did not have proper jurisdiction in that case.

Gunman killed in seige

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — A man holding a woman at gunpoint was shot to death by a police sharpshooter outside a shopping mall Friday, ending a 45-minute seige in which the woman begged people to "please, please get back."

Minutes before the man was slain, he had fired a shot into the air, apparently as a warning.

Police identified the man as Joshua Brown, 27, of Broward County, but said they had no information yet on Brown's background or when the woman was taken hostage.

The woman, whom police identified as Shareen Rahman, 25, was not injured in the ordeal in the parking lot of Daytona Mall, the Daytona Beach Evening News reported.

Patrolman Brad Cowell fired one rifle shot and hit Brown in the back of the head as Brown tried to get into an abandoned pickup, pushing the woman ahead of him, police said. Officers had blocked off busy Volusia Avenue and ordered motorists in the area to leave their cars.

Kidnap suspects plead

KERRVILLE — Two hitchhikers who worked at a Hill Country ranch where a man allegedly was tortured to death with a cattle prod pleaded innocent Friday.

A third worker and the three family members who own the ranch did not enter pleas because they have not yet hired lawyers.

Prosecutors say the three Ellebrachts and three hitchhikers who worked for them at the 1,300-acre Mountain Home ranch shocked and kicked to death Anthony Bates, 21, of Huntsville, Ala., on March 13.

Walter Wesley Ellebracht Sr., 51, his son Walter Wesley Ellebracht Jr., 31, and his daughter-in-law Joyce Ellebracht, 29, sat together in the last row of the courtroom Friday as State District Judge Marilyn Johnson called their cases individually. Each asked for more time to hire a lawyer.

The three hitchhikers charged in Bates' death are Mark Hamilton of Los Angeles, 22, Darryl Hunsaker of Wichita Falls, 21, and Carlton Caldwell of Taos, N.M., 21.

Wendy's shelves 'beef'

DUBLIN, Ohio — Wendy's International has shelved its popular "Where's the Beef?" ads because the company decided the public had seen enough, a spokesman says.

"The one thing we didn't want to happen was to have people get sick of it," said Brad Quicksall, public relations manager for the hamburger chain based in this Columbus suburb. "We just didn't want to run them too often."

"I hasten to add that 'Where's the Beef' is not dead."

The ads featured Clara Peller as the indignant woman who demanded "Where's the Beef?" when served a hamburger patty dwarfed by a huge bun. Quicksall said Wendy's still has Mrs. Peller under an exclusive $250,000 contract, "and we may or may not exercise it in the future."

Pope visits lepers

SOROKDO, South Korea — Pope John Paul II walked through crowds of lepers on a tiny island off the coast of South Korea on Friday, placing his hands upon those most afflicted and offering them the consolation of his faith.

"Among yourselves, Protestants, Catholics and Buddhists, you all live together in genuine brotherhood. Perhaps this is because you have tasted suffering so deeply," the pope said.

"It is necessary for you to know that Christ is particularly close to you."

TO SET THE RECORD STRAIGHT!

our County Commissioners make approximately $1,000. per meeting. In contrast, our city councilmen make $50. per month. A 1982 survey, from the State Office of the Texas Association of Counties, revealed Howard County had the highest paid county commissioners in counties with a population between 10,000 to 25,000. This same survey revealed our commissioner salaries were 40% higher than the average for counties in this same group.

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"Adjust the color, Daddy. The man said Kentucky is bluegrass country and this looks green."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

SUNDAY, MAY 6, 1984
 GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the morning is good for getting conditions about you in good working order. The rest of the day is no good for forcing any issues. Be careful in speech and actions.
 ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Home is fine in the morning, but after lunch, be careful of arguments or other tensions. Weed out your wardrobe.
 TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Get in to philosophical studies in the morning. Not a good day for travel. But get your car in better order. Clean it.
 GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Some financial problem may arise after breakfast, so plan how to handle it wisely. Be economical.
 CANCER CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Make plans for the near future since the afternoon can bring tensions and delays. Not a good day to be social.
 LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You can handle any quick decisions that have to be made, but take under advisement any important issues that may arise.
 VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): A good friend could be helpful in the morning, but later do not seek favors from anyone. Avoid arguments.
 LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Handle an outside affair early, but later stay at home and avoid any outside altercations. Rely pretty much on yourself.
 SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You have a clever idea in the morning that can be put to great use, so carry through with it. Avoid the social tonight.
 SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You can be very happy with your mate in the morning, but later you have duties to perform and should get at them.
 CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Concentrate on agreements made early in the morning. Then you will avoid criticism later. A pleasurable situation will arise.
 AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Some service you render or is done for you can begin the day pleasantly. The evening can be charming spent with your family.
 PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Early be sure to accept some invitation that comes your way. Improve your appearance. Be charming in the evening.
 IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can please members of the clan immensely and be happy. Slant education along lines of business, merchandising, etc. There is a tendency to be overly sensitive to teach to be objective.

 "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
 MONDAY, MAY 7, 1984
 GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is a time to use special care where your diet is concerned, it is not the time to cause ripples in human relations; later your ideas become very big.
 ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Be careful of making a monetary mistake in the early morning. Then you can go about getting your talents expressed nicely.
 TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Talk matters over with him since you are not thinking very clearly now and get right answers. Extend invitations to important people.
 GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): A secret worry could deter you from accomplishing something important, if you do not snap out of it. Think. Grow.
 CANCER CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Early, plan just how to help a friend who is distressed, and later you can have a jolly time with allies. Keep active.
 LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Early morning talk with a powerful person could bring you real trouble, but later you can gradually get help. Show your abilities.
 VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You get a good idea and want to toss aside those duties you have promised to handle, but carry through instead. Be happy.
 LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): First handle some important responsibility and then get out with generous friends and have a good time. Be happy.
 SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Don't permit an irate partner to hold you back from accomplishing much in the outside world. Think big.
 SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Get your work done early so that later you can be with those who can help you to advance more quickly.
 CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Set up that appointment for fun early and then find better ways of keeping promises you have made. Show thoughtfulness.
 AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Forget that easy chair; get together with associates and accomplish a good deal today. Show your real abilities.
 PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Don't waste time shopping when there is such important work to do as well as getting environment more charming.
 IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who will do well in any executive type of position so slant education along business lines. One who will be slow at studies in the interest of accuracy, but later speeds up and can do remarkably well.

Dear Abby

Being appointed monitor is unfair to girl

DEAR ABBY: A 10-year-old girl who was appointed by her teacher to be a bathroom monitor asked what she should do to keep from losing friends. She said she was supposed to report anything the girls did that was against the rules such as "smoking, starting fights, writing on the walls, wasting supplies and stuff like that."

First of all, a child goes to school not only to learn, but to gain experience in dealing with other children — not to be an informer. "Snitching" on friends for every little nitpicking thing they do in the privacy of a bathroom is no way for a child to maintain the admiration and respect of her peers.

I think it's unfair for a teacher to impose such a dirty job on a child. You justified having a monitor in the girls' bathroom by saying, "Smoking can cause fires; damaging property and wasting supplies will cost your parents — as taxpayers — money."

True, but if the school authorities think monitors are essential, they should appoint an adult — not a 10-year-old girl who needs the friendship and trust of her peers. Nobody likes a snitch.

Dr. Donohue

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Perhaps it never occurred to people of the medical profession that we laymen would use an ordinary flatware spoon in order to administer dosages of drugs in syrup form. I was, quite frankly, appalled to find out quite by accident that medical teaspoon (which can be purchased at a drug counter) is an entirely different quantity than the ordinary teaspoon.

I haven't quite gotten over the shock of that, and I imagine many others will be surprised to learn they may have been getting far less than the recommended dosages of liquid medicines for years simply by using the wrong spoon. Please urge your colleagues to alert their patients to this. — S.H.B.

You raise a valid point and one that has been written about from time to time. A teaspoon should hold 5 milliliters of fluid to be medically exact. And we know that ordinary tableware spoons are not made with scientific precision. I suppose some might hold more or less than that amount. So, for the small expenditure involved why not be precise?

Why hasn't this been a burning medical issue? I don't know. I guess there is a safety factor that allows a little excess or a little deficit in most medicines. But I am on your side and will join your mini-crusade. More people should avail themselves of the medical teaspoon, which, as you say, can be purchased at a drug store. But I wouldn't go so far as to suggest that needed medicine should be withheld because the only teaspoon available is a non-medical type.

In many cases the absence of pain does provide evidence of the healing. However, in certain kinds of ulcers — those of the stomach, for example — it's almost routine to want to view the ulcer area via a gastroscope after treatment progresses. This provides a safety margin. Many times a continuing ulcer may cause no pain. And any stomach ulcer does hold the threat of developing into cancer.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Why is it people say a virus illness is so difficult to treat? Isn't there a medicine now available to treat influenza, rather than the vaccine to prevent it? — J.J.

Let me see if I can conduct you on a 25-cent virology tour. Viruses must live inside cells. So they are difficult to reach with medicines. Attempting to attack viruses in their cell homes often involves too many undesired effects, like killing cells and all.

Unlike viruses, organisms like bacteria exist outside of body cells. They are easier to treat without causing too great a disruption.

To your second question, yes, the drug amantadine has been used to treat influenza (A type). It has successfully shortened the duration of the attendant fever.

IN RE: ROBERT D. MILLER

NO. 51-83-43

BEFORE THE PROSECUTOR COUNCIL

DECISION OF THE COUNCIL

BE IT REMEMBERED that on the 2nd day of November, 1983, The Prosecutor Council was legally and duly called into session for the purpose of conducting a hearing on the above entitled and numbered cause. The Chairman determined that a quorum was present, the following Council members being present:

- | | |
|-----------------------|-------------------|
| Tim Curry | Howard C. Derrick |
| Dick W. Hicks | John R. Hollums |
| Claude J. Kelley, Jr. | Margaret Moore |
| William M. Rugeley | |

The prosecutor and his attorney were asked to come in and the Chairman informed the prosecutor of the nature of the allegations against him before proceeding to hear evidence and argument in the matter. After the conclusion of the evidence and after deliberations, the Council made the following findings:

- Since January 1, 1981, the County Attorney's office has collected over $315,000 in restitution through its hot check program. This program has generated over $72,000 in fees paid by the check writers. The Council has examined the expenditures made from the hot check fee fund which were complained of and finds that $1,849.98 of the amount expended was not proper.
- Expenditure of hot check fee funds for political purposes violates Article 53.08 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Specifically, the Council finds that the following expenditures are not authorized by law:
 - $ 14.03 for supplies for a political reception
 - $ 112.00 for tickets for Inaugural functions
 - $ 132.84 for travel by the County Attorney from the Inauguration.

- Expenditure of hot check fee funds for gifts to his public and private employees violates Article III of the Texas Constitution.

Specifically, the following expenditures were not authorized by law:

- $ 380.10 for jewelry for his public and private employees
- $ 89.11 for a luncheon for those employees and others
- $ 94.50 for secretaries' baskets for the same employees
- $ 92.77 for luggage for a former employee
- $ 15.75 for flowers for an employee who was sick
- $ 28.88 for flowers for the County Judge who was sick

- Expenditure of hot check fee funds for private purposes violates Article III of the Constitution and Article 53.08 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

Specifically, the Council finds the following expenditures were not proper under the facts presented to the Council:

- $ 645.00 for tuition for a Dale Carnegie Course for the County Attorney
- $ 10.00 for a newspaper ad sending Christmas greetings to the public from the County Attorney.
- $ 90.00 for space in a theatre program given by the high school.
- $ 145.00 for registrations for a public employee of the County Attorney's office to attend two courses unrelated to the business of the office

- The Council finds that there is no evidence of criminal intent on the part of the County Attorney.
- The County Attorney owes the hot check fee fund $1,849.98.

Based on the evidence and information presented to the Council and based on the agreement of the County Attorney to make restitution in the amount of $1,849.98 before December 1, 1983, it is the opinion of the Council that the prosecutor should be publicly reprimanded.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED BY THE COUNCIL that Robert D. Miller be, and is hereby, publicly reprimanded by the Council for the conduct specified in this decision.

Signed this 18th day of November 1983.

Don Newsom's Grocery has become a member of the Independent Grocers' Alliance, according to a press release issued by the Alliance.

Newsom has placed several IGA signs outside of his grocery store at 1900 Gregg.

IGA stores are responsible for sales of eight billion dollars annually across the country.

The Independent Grocers' Alliance has more than 3,300 members in 48 states. All are retailers who invest their own money and own and operate their own stores.

IGA supermarkets currently rank third in size among retail food groups in the United States.

Steve Lewis, owner of the Rainbarrel General Store in College Park Shopping Center, is operating a one-hour photo processing business within the Rainbarrel.

Lewis said the Rainbarrel is featuring same day service on "all types of color film, including the Kodak disc drive."

The Rainbarrel is offering same day service on 35mm five by seven enlargements.

Lewis said he is offering bargain rates for second copies of photos. First photos can be purchased for 30 cents per print and copies are 19 cents each.

The Rainbarrel is open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. There is a night drop deposit in the front of the store.

In honor of National Foot Health Month, the American Podiatry Association and Medicine Shoppe Pharmacies are running a free, National Foot Clinic at more than 450 Medicine Shoppes across the U.S.

Podiatrists will be on hand on Thursday, May 10, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. to give basic foot exams and answer questions.

The Medicine Shoppe locally is located at 1001 Gregg Street.

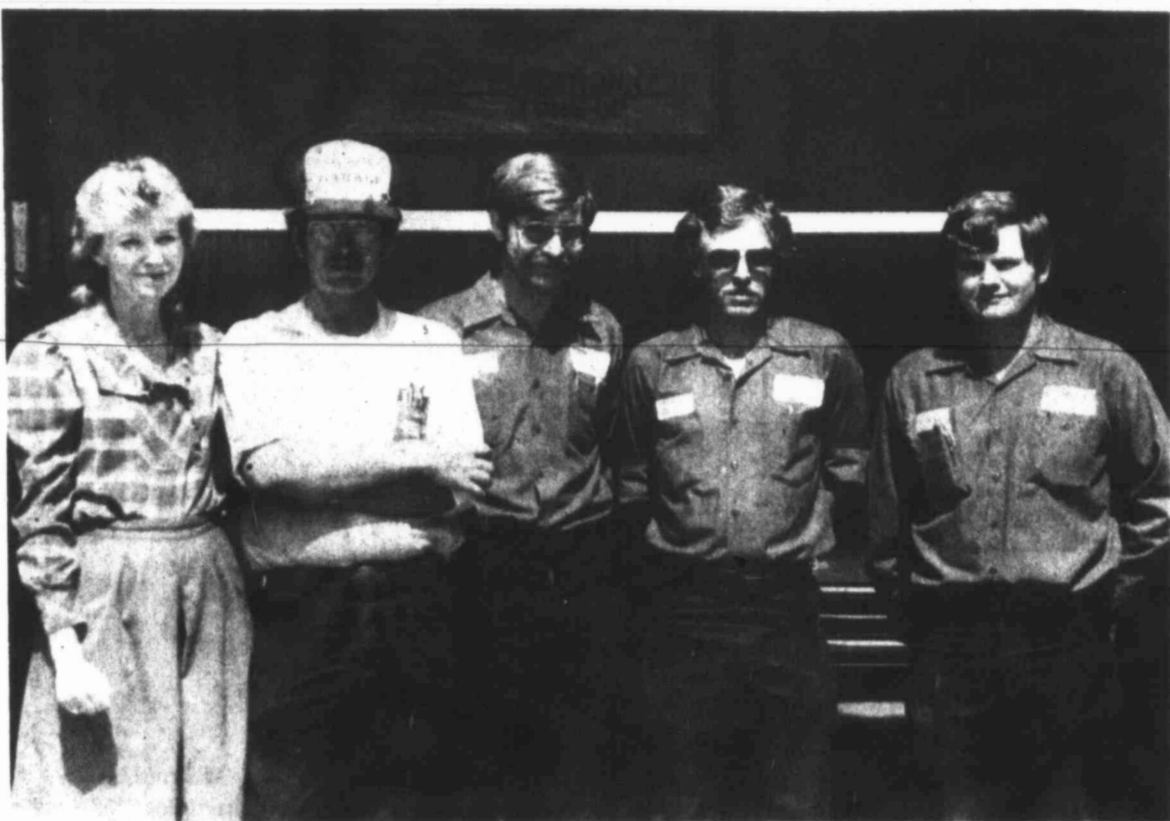

DALLAS — American Petrofina Inc. recently announced net income for the first quarter of 1984 amounted to $10,296,000, or 95 cents per share, as compared to $336,000, or three cents per share, for the same period of last year.

Gross revenues increased to $547,913,000 from $425,339,000 in the same quarter of 1983.

Paul D. Meek, president and chief executive officer, said the substantial increase from the same poor period last year was primarily the result of improved performance in the petrochemical business.

Operating income in the production and exploration segment was up slightly. Refining and marketing income suffered because of start-up expenses and bad weather which reduced refinery operating rates.

On April 30, the company declared a regular 80 cents per share quarterly dividend payable June 15 to shareholders of record June 4.

NEW LOCATION — G&M Garage is now open in its new location at 900 East Third. On hand for a recent ribbon cutting were, from left, owners Mary and George Leatham, and employees Curtis Bruns, Gene Joplin, and Randall Overby. The garage is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and features all types of automotive repair work.

Southwestern Bell honors Big Spring team for project

Members of Southwestern Bell's Big Spring Community Relations team beat out projects from across the state to win the company's Best Community Project award for coordinating Big Spring's 21-hour March of Dimes Telethon last year.

The telethon, staffed by 78 Southwestern Bell employees, retirees and their families, also won March of Dimes (MOD) leadership awards for Community Relations (CR) team chairpersons Buford Durst and Darlene Gifford and an outstanding community involvement plaque for the CR team.

Team members were honored at a dinner April 26. Johnnie Lou Avery, guest speaker, commended the CR team for its efforts to improve telephone service and take a leading role in Big Spring community affairs.

"Too often we fail to say thank you to individuals — and corporations — when thanks are due. Southwestern Bell and the fine telephone people in Big Spring deserve such recognition for their unselfish community involvement and civic responsibilities," Mrs. Avery said.

Other guests at the dinner included Roy Moskop, director of public relations for Southwestern Bell, Dallas; Ed Hughes, Southwestern Bell's division manager-public relations in San Antonio; Max Holman, division manager-network distribution services for Southwestern Bell in Midland; and Sam Ogletree, district manager-community relations for Southwestern Bell, Lubbock.

Moskop applauded the Big Spring team for a record number of community activities.

"Attitudes toward our company are shaped by many factors — the service we provide, the manner in which we deal with our customers in meeting their needs, and most importantly, by showing true concern for the community," Moskop said.

"Concern for service and the community is alive and doing well in Big Spring," Moskop said.

Hughes said the Big Spring team won his division's award for Best Service project for implementing a three-step program that led to trouble reports being cut in half and improving commitments to the state Public Utility Commission by as much as 140 percent.

Carmakers note April sales climb

DETROIT (AP) — The major U.S. carmakers say their late-April sales climbed 36.4 percent from a year earlier and hit the highest level for that period in five years.

The companies said they sold 278,540 vehicles in the late April, compared with 229,734 a year earlier.

The increase was 36.4 percent when based on a daily sales rate, which the companies use in measuring changes because the latest 10-day period had only eight selling days in it, while there were nine selling days in the year-earlier period.

Ford Motor Co. said Thursday its sales jumped 53 percent, while General Motors Corp. reported a 35.6 percent gain and Chrysler Corp.'s sales rose 14 percent.

"These are fairly strong numbers, perhaps a little stronger than expectations," said David Bloom, an industry analyst for First Boston Corp. in New York.

For all of April, the domestic industry sold 721,091 cars, up 30 percent from the 576,688 of April 1983. Importers sold 173,003 cars in April, down 0.1 percent from 181,833 in April last year. And the imports' share of the U.S. market in April was 19.4 percent, the lowest since 18.7 percent in October 1979.

Siboney Corporation promotes Harold Davis

The Siboney Corporation of Port Chester, N.Y., has announced another promotion for Harold Davis of Big Spring.

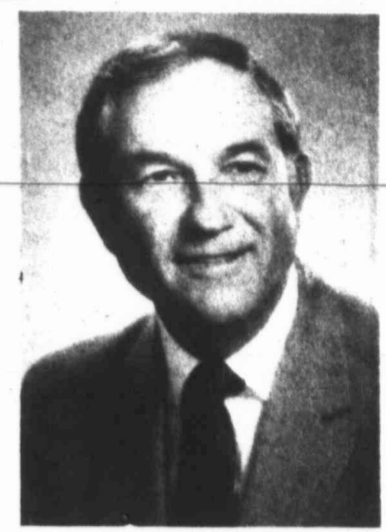

Davis, who had been given the title of group vice president several months ago now has been named executive vice president of Siboney Corporation by directors of that company.

Davis has been a director of Siboney for 17 years and has been a vice president for that company for 14 years. He was president of Gamco Industries for 13 years and has been chairman of the board for the past two years.

Siboney Corporation is a conglomerate with major holdings of oil and gas leases in the Canadian Arctic, coal leases in Kentucky and oil and gas leases in Texas, as well as four operating subsidiaries in California and Texas.

Davis was promoted to executive vice president of the parent corporation with direct responsibility for the operating subsidiaries as well as other duties for the home office.

The largest Siboney subsidiary is Siboney Communications Inc., in Dallas. SCI is in the video, television equipment and micro-computer business and has branch offices in Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Los Angeles, Phoenix,

Other subsidiaries include Cepco, Inc., San Francisco, which is in the ceiling panel and lighting fixture business, Deep Flex Plastic Molds, Inc., Fort Worth, which is in arts and crafts, and Gamco Industries, Inc., Big Spring, in the educational materials business.

Davis will maintain an office in Big Spring now with secondary offices in Dallas and New York.

Auto, housing-related issues lose on market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market dropped sharply Friday, beset by a familiar nemesis — a negative interest-rate forecast from economist Henry Kaufman.

Auto and housing-related issues showed some of the biggest losses, in response to fears of costlier credit.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 16.22 to 1,165.31, finishing the week with a net loss of 3.76 points.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 95.58 million shares, against 91.91 million Thursday.

At midmorning, Kaufman, economist at Salomon Brothers Inc., said it was likely that interest rates would go "spectacularly higher" by next year unless strong measures are taken to narrow the federal budget deficit.

"Interest rates will be the only disciplining force for the economy as we move to a higher level of activity in this business expansion," Kaufman said in remarks to a bankers' group in Fort Worth, Texas.

His comments came at a time when interest rates have already risen substantially from their lows last year. They kept moving up in the credit markets Friday.

Rates on short-term Treasury bills jumped 15 to 20 basis points, or hundredths of a percentage point. Prices of long-term government bonds, which move in the opposite direction from interest rates, fell about $10 for every $1,000 in face value.

Moderator's debate remark angers Fort Worth officials

FORT WORTH (AP) — A comment made by commentator Sander Vanocur during this week's Democratic presidential debate has drawn the ire of some officials in Fort Worth.

A politically slanted remark? No.

Vanocur, at the close of Wednesday's debate between Walter Mondale, Gary Hart and the Rev. Jesse Jackson, made the mistake of thanking the candidates "for being in Dallas."

The debate took place at the Amfac Hotel, located in Grapevine at the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

Fort Worth Mayor Bob Bolen said Thursday he intends to fire off a letter in protest.

"The plain fact is that they weren't in Dallas," Bolen said. "They were in the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport."

Bill Shelton, president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, said he doesn't plan any protest, but added that the comment is part of a continuing problem — getting the media, as well as airlines, to recognize Fort Worth's part of the airport's name.

Shelton said he writes "five or six letters a month calling it to people's attention."

When informed of the controversy, Vanocur, who moderated the debate for the Public Broadcasting System, immediately offered his apologies.

"I love Fort Worth," he said. "I think it has great museums." But Grapevine Mayor William D. Tate wasn't bothered a bit.

"I didn't even know it happened," Tate said. "To tell the truth, I've been so busy, I didn't even know they had a debate."

Harris Co. forgets GOP members

HOUSTON (AP) — Some Harris County Republicans won't be able to vote in Saturday's primary election because no polling places have been set up for them.

in the Houston area had no polling places.

"You don't vote, pure and simple," says Russ Mather, Harris County GOP chairman. "We will have more polling places in 1984 than we ever had, but we've never held them in all the precincts. In some places, there are no Republicans, period."

GOP officials say that as of Thursday, 71 precincts

Strays out of control in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The stray dog and cat problem in Houston is so bad that city officials who keep track of destroyed animals now refer to tonnage — 7½ tons put away each week — instead of counting the animals, the head of the Houston Bureau of Animal Control says.

Robert Armstrong, in an interview published in Friday's Houston Post, described the stray animal problem in the nation's fourth-largest city as "out of control."

Armstrong insisted he was not trying to create a panic, but was being dramatic in order to educate city residents.

Armstrong estimated the dog and cat population at 750,000, but two-thirds of them were not regularly cared for. Only 40,000 were vaccinated against rabies, he said.

About 110 dogs and cats are put to death daily. At that rate, he said the total would reach 390 tons for the entire year.

As of May 1, city officials received reports from 775 people that had been bitten and 100 required treatment from a doctor. But Armstrong said he believed only one of every three bites was reported.

Just one case of rabies has been detected, and that was in a bat, he said.

Armstrong said the situation can be eased if his department's $2 million budget is increased by another $1 million. Most of the money would go for boosting his staff of 50 animal control officers, Armstrong said.

Each officer covers an area of about 35 square miles.

"That's a little ridiculous," he said.

Houston ordinances require pet owners to license their animals. But Armstrong said no more than 2 percent of the animals were properly tagged.

Revisions to the city's animal ordinance are being considered by a special committee of the city council. The budget request goes before the full council next week.

Councilwoman Christin Hartung said she and other council member were "sensitive" to the problems in the animal control department. But she said that was no guarantee that the budget increase and ordinance revisions would be approved.

"We've got a long way to go on the proposed ordinance changes," she said. "We are still just trying to talk about the basic problems."

One change Armstrong is pushing would place a limit on the number of animals a resident could own.

"I've seen as many as 50 cats being kept at a single home," he said.

Richest ever Kentucky Derby field ready to run

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The 110th Kentucky Derby Saturday shapes up as extremely competitive, missing some of the top horses and offering more plots than a cheap detective thriller.

Devil's Bag, Time for a Change and Dr. Carter, who were prime Derby contenders, did not make the race, but it's difficult, perhaps impossible, to detract from a race that has become a piece of Americana.

Besides there is quality in what will be the richest running of the 11 1/4-mile classic at Churchill Downs with a purse of $712,400 and a winner's share of $537,400. Post time is 5:38 p.m. EDT.

"It's a good field," Jack Van Berg, trainer of Gate Dancer, said Friday. "There is no super horse in there we know of yet, but it is a very competitive field. You can pick 10 or 12 horses and any one of them could win."

There is genuine speed in the race and there are some good running horses, whose jockeys will try to move at the right time and hope their mounts can sustain a winning drive to the wire. One of the speed horses is the filly Althea, who beat colts in the Arkansas Derby, while one of the stretch runners is her entymate Life's Magic, also a filly.

Two fillies have won the Derby — Regret in 1915 and Genuine Risk in 1980.

Other contenders who figure to be on or near the pace are Taylor's Special, Swale, Fall Time and Vanlandingham. Three other stretch runners to watch are Silent King, Gate Dancer and Vanlandingham's entymate, Pine Circle.

This Derby has a full field of 20 3-year-olds and even more human interest angles.

At the first Derby, which was won by Aristides on May 17, 1875, women were not allowed into the grandstand without an escort.

In this Derby, there will be a woman jockey and a woman trainer.

Patti Cooksey, who will ride So Vague, will be the second woman jockey in a Derby.

"History was made when Diane Crump did it," said the 26-year-old Cooksey, known as P.J. "Whether I'm the second or the 102nd ... just the prestige of being here and being able to participate is quite a thrill."

Crump finished 15th on Fathom in 1970.

Dianne Carpenter will become the fourth woman to train a Derby starter when she saddles Biloxi Afdial.

Another trainer, 70-year-old Woody Stephens, will be a focal point of this Derby as he has been in the past.

The weather forecast for Saturday calls for increasing cloudiness, a 20 percent chance of afternoon showers and temperatures in the low to mid 70s. Cloudy or not, wet or not, a Swale victory would be a bright moment for Stephens, who has spent a harsh spring and winter.

The Hall of Fame trainer, who won the 100th Derby with Cannonade, broke three ribs about two months ago and was hospitalized here with pneumonia April 22. He has made three brief visits to his barn in the Churchill Downs stable area this week and hopes to be at the Derby.

READY TO RACE — Jockey P.J. Cooksey and trainer Gerald Russell look over the sports pages at Churchill Downs Friday morning. Cooksey, the only female jockey in this year's Kentucky Derby and the second in the race's history, will be riding Russell's horse So Vague.

Henry places second at state

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Coahoma scored 16 points at the Girls State Track Meet here Friday night behind the second place finish of quarter-miler Tobie Henry and a fourth place finish by the 1600 meter relay team.

Henry closed a career best of 57.4 while teaming up with Gina Hudson, Janna Griffin, Leslie Kirkpatrick for a school record 4:03.00 in the 1600 relay.

Hudson led off the relay with a split of 59.97, Griffin followed with a 2:24. Kirkpatrick ran a 61.51 while Henry ran a 59.97.

Henry, a senior finished sixth in the event last season credited her success to competing last year and not letting the pressure get to her.

Melinda Clark of A&M Consolidated won the Class 4A high jump for the third time in four years with a record tying performance and Sherry Deckard of Nacogdoches upset the defending champion with a record toss in the 5A discus to highlight Friday night's girl's state track meet.

Clark tied her own Class 4A record with a leap of 5-10, easily beating runnerup Davona Randolph, Stephenville, who was second at 5-7.

Clark missed three tries at 6 feet, which would have broken the state record of 5-11 by former Red Oak jumper Louise Ritter. A leap of 6-0 1/2 would have given Clark an automatic spot in the Olympic Trials.

Kim Whitaker of New Braunfels won her third straight state title with a 10:45.8 clocking in the 3200-meter run, narrowly missing her 4A record of 10:43.2 set at last year's meet. Bridgett Wilson, Corpus Christi Flour Bluff, was second in 11:30.4.

Deckard upset defending champion Latricia Frank of La Marque with a 5A record heave of 146-7.

Deckard, who finished third in the event last year with a toss of 131-4, broke the old conference record of 146-1 set by Bryan's Jo Beth Palmer in 1980.

The state record in the event is 152-6 set in 1979 by Austin Westlake's Dana Olson and Cindy Johnson of Chandler, Ariz. set the national record of 176-4 in 1982.

Kelly Bertka, El Paso Eastwood, the No. 2 qualifier behind Deckard, finished second at 145-2 and Frank was third at 134-7. Deckard had a winning toss of 138-3 in 1983.

In other discus events, Teri Argubright, of Class A Agua Dulce, and Bessie Haskins of Class 2A Hull-Daisetta each successfully defended their titles.

Argubright had a winning heave of 137-2 a year ago and beat out Patina Sykes of Iraan this year with a toss of 138-3. Wendy Morrow of Riesel, last year's second place finisher, was third.

The 1-2-3 finish in the 2A discus ended exactly as in 1983. Haskins won it with a toss of 129-0 followed by Rochelle Burnette of Rogers at 128-3 and Teresa Hamilton of Henrietta at 123-5.

Astros blanked by Mets, 2-0

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Darling listened to the advice of pitching coach Mel Stottlemyre, then combined with Jesse Orosco for a three-hit, 2-0 victory over the Houston Astros Friday night.

The 23-year-old right-hander, who worked eight innings, evened his record at 2-2 by allowing two hits, striking out five and walking two. Darling had retired 12 in a row but left after issuing a free pass to Terry Puhl to lead off the ninth. Orosco gave up one hit but hung on to earn his fifth save.

"Sometimes I try to do everything too perfect and too fine," said Darling. "Mel told me to take the ball and throw it and think about getting the batters out."

Rubie Brooks fourth home run of the season, in the second inning, gave Darling all the support he needed.

"Tonight, I proved to myself that I can throw the ball over the plate and get them out," Darling said. "We don't have to stay on the corners like I've been trying to do."

The Mets have won six of their last seven while the Astros have lost six straight on the road.

Brooks' homer, his fourth, came with two out on a 1-1 pitch from Bob Knepper, 3-3.

The Mets added an insurance run in the sixth when Ron Gardenhire reached on shortstop Craig Reynolds' throwing error, took second on a sacrifice by Jose Oquendo and scored on Keith Hernandez's single to right field.

Cowboys' Martin calls it quits

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys defensive end Harvey Martin, a 6-5, 260-pound four-time All-Pro performer, said Friday he had decided to retire after an 11-year National Football League career to become sales manager of an electronics firm.

"I'll miss the Cowboys, especially Coach Landry," said an emotional Martin, who became the third Cowboy since the end of the season to retire. "Coach Landry has been good to me. He has stood by me and I'd like to say, 'Thanks, coach.'"

Martin, 33, who had been working out at the team's practice facilities during the off-season as if he planned to play again, informed club officials Thursday of his decision to retire.

"Coach Landry is one of the best men I've known in my life, but I was not giving him everything here recently," Martin said. "I was feeling pretty good, but my shoulder, which I hurt last year, was still bothering me. I got a good offer and decided I should take it. It was a rough decision."

Martin said he will become sales manager of PCB Electronics and concluded, "It was a job I had on the side and it was taking up a lot of my time. As you know, if you do many things at one time, you won't do anything well."

Tight end Billy Joe DuPree and tackle Pat Donovan also retired this year.

Martin threatened last season to retire when Landry took him out of the starting lineup. But Martin won his job back later, occasionally showing glimpses of the style that made him one of Dallas' all-time leading defensive players.

Mavs get last laugh this time, down Lakers by 125-115 count

DALLAS (AP) — It was the Dallas Mavericks doing the laughing Friday night.

They blew away Los Angeles 125-115 almost in the same manner the Lakers disposed of the Mavericks in the first two games of their National Basketball Association series.

"I never accused the Lakers of laughing at us," said Dallas Coach Dick Motta. "I just said they were laughing and having a good time."

Motta said "We can't play any better than we did tonight. The Lakers are still the best but it was nice for our kids to have a win tonight. It was good for them and good for me, the old man."

He said "We got our confidence built up early. I was hoping we could lead after the first quarter. Rolando (Blackman) got us going. He made some great moves out there."

Blackman scored a career playoff high 31 points.

"We were here at home and down 0-2 and we wanted to come out and do the best we could," said Blackman. "We had been down early before and wanted to come and get a lead. I'm sure the Lakers will be ready Sunday."

Laker Coach Pat Riley said "It was a great, great basketball game. The difference obviously was their outside shooting. They also did a much better job of handling our pressure."

He added that the Lakers played poor defense.

"We gave up 65 points in the first half and that's not playing very good defense," Riley said.

Mark Aguirre, kept under close guard by the Lakers in 43 and 16-point victories, hit 21 points.

The third game of the series will resume Sunday afternoon with the Lakers leading 2-1.

SURROUNDED — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (33) of the Los Angeles Lakers looks for an open teammate to pass to as Roland Blackman (22) and Kurt Nimphius (40) of the Dallas Mavericks put the pressure on.

Earvin "Magic" Johnson had 24 points for the heavily favored Lakers with Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scoring 22 and Bob McAdoo getting 23 off the bench.

Dallas raced to a 19 point lead in the first half then beat off a late Laker rally with radar accurate shooting from the field.

Dallas outshot the Lakers 57 to 56 per cent for the game.

It was sweet revenge for the Mavs, who had never even led in the two previous games.

Guard Brad Davis and forward Jay Vincent each scored 18 points for the Mavs, who enthralled a sellout crowd of 17,007 fans in Reunion Arena.

Mavericks outshot the Lakers 60 to 53 per cent in the first half and outrebounded them 25-19 for a stunning 68-53 halftime lead.

Dallas built a 19-point lead in one sizzling shooting stretch behind Aguirre, Davis and Blackman.

The Los Angeles Coliseum, site for the Summer Olympics, also will be the scene for one of the most eagerly awaited confrontations of the United States Football League season — Saturday night's meeting between the Pittsburgh Maulers, featuring 1983 Heisman Trophy winner Mike Rozier, and the Los Angeles Express, with Heisman runner-up Steve Young.

In its first five games of the season, Los Angeles had averaged only 14 points per game. With Young in the lineup, the team's point production has increased remarkably.

In a 17-13 victory over Chicago, Jordan, making his first start, led a rushing attack which totaled a USFL-record 300 yards against Chicago.

In the meeting of Florida rivals — Tampa Bay and Jacksonville — the Bulls will be seeking to avenge a 28-25 early season loss against the Bandits.

Tampa Bay is coming off a 37-19 victory over Washington and is riding a club record-tying four-game winning streak.

The Bulls have won two in a row, including a 34-6 romp over Oklahoma last week. They have held each of their last two opponents to under 250 yards net total offense.

USFL Roundup

Young, the record-setting passer from Brigham Young University, has become the No. 1-rated passer in the USFL's Western Conference, connecting on 99 of 165 attempts for 1,301 yards and six TDs with only two interceptions. He also has rushed for 266 yards and three TDs on 42 carries.

"Obviously, we have a challenge ahead of us this week," said Rainsberger, a former coach at Kansas State. "There's no question that Steve Young is one of the most talented quarterbacks in football. He can hurt you in the air and he's also an exceptional running quarterback."

Meanwhile, Oakland, which posted its first victory of the season last week after nine losses, is at the Oakland Coliseum for the first of three straight home games, against Denver. The Gold lead the Pacific Division despite losing its last two games.

"We've got to get it going again," said Denver Coach Craig Morton. "We've got to get some wins. Our situation (a comfortable three-game lead) could end if we don't start winning."

"The Invaders got a taste of winning, and I know they're going to be hard to beat," he added. "But we want this one."

Oakland's offense got a big boost last week from rookie Eric Jordan, who ran for 186 yards on 13 carries, including an 80-yard scoring burst,

Road race on tap for Saturday

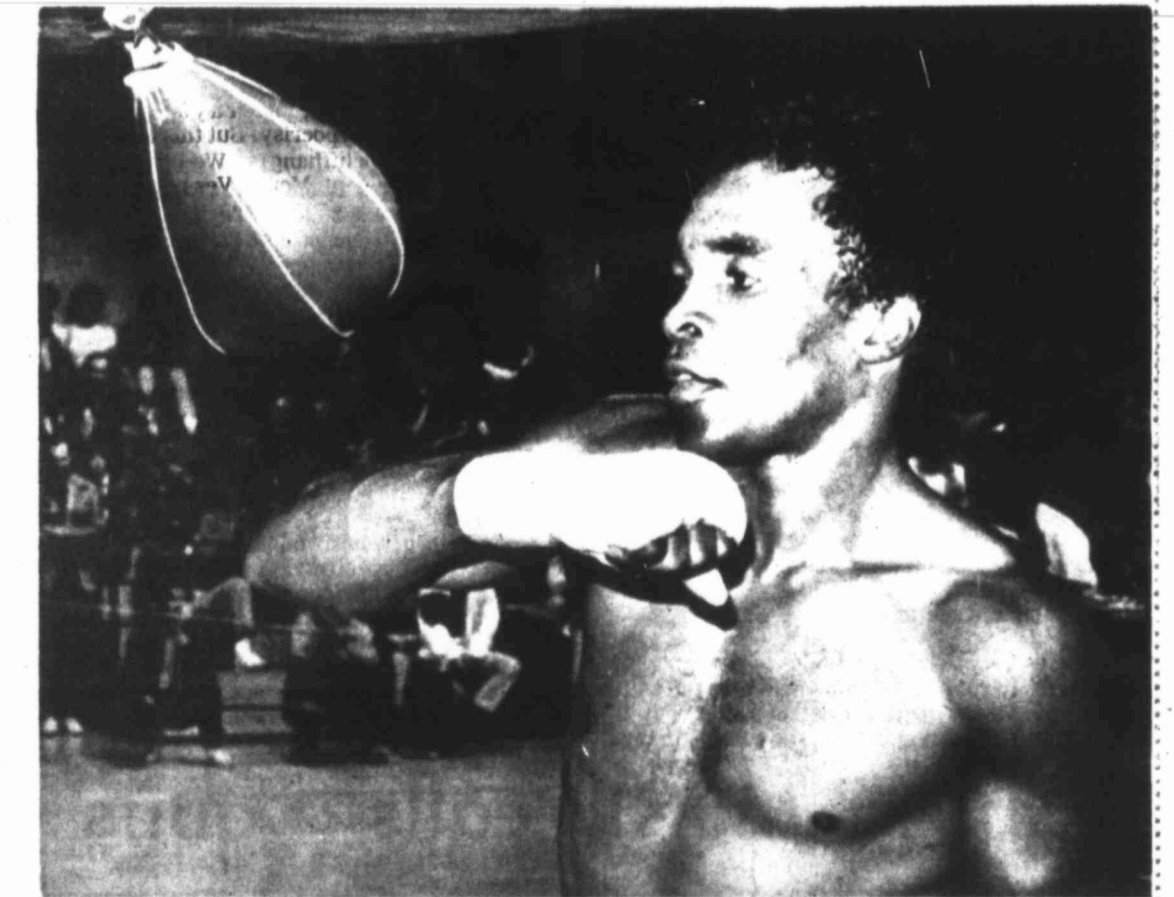

For the fourth consecutive year the Sports Car Club of America will be hosting road races at the Big Spring Industrial Airpark this Saturday and Sunday.

Over 120 race cars will participate in the event, according to SCCA West Texas Region Chairman David Elle of Lubbock. "We expect a pretty good turnout," said Elle; "since road racing is the second largest spectator in the country."

Action gets underway Saturday morning at 7 a.m. when all workers will report. Elle said that all persons wishing to volunteer their services will be admitted free. "There is no prior experience necessary, our people will do the training. All workers should wear light color clothing and stay away from wearing red, yellow and orange colors," said Elle.

The SCCA is the second largest racing organization in the world having over 26,000 participants in various countries. The organization got its start after World War II, when quite a few veterans brought back sport cars from Europe, and wanted to have races like the Europeans.

Over the years the SCCA has grown from two classes to 22.

Actress loves role as leader of lizard people

BAD GIRL — Jane Badler, who will play the cruel and lustful Diane in the sequel to NBC's "V," says she loves to play the powerful role because there are no men to hide behind.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One year ago, NBC's popular miniseries "V" introduced aliens who outwardly resembled humans but, in actuality, were reptiles searching for human meals. The fight to stay off the visitors' food plan now continues with the six-hour sequel, "V: The Final Battle."

The battle lines are clearly drawn, with the resistance movement taking on the creepy foreign invaders, and NBC taking on ABC. "V: The Final Battle" will be broadcast on NBC in three parts this Sunday, Monday and Tuesday nights, going head to head against ABC's miniseries, "The Last Days of Pompeii."

In the past, the networks have avoided pitting miniseries against miniseries, but, as more multi-part programs are produced to stave off cable's incursions, more conflicts are bound to occur. On May 20-21, NBC's "The First Olympics — Athens 1896" will take on ABC's "Mystic Warrior."

The most reptilian of the characters in "V" is the cruel and lustful Diane, played by Jane Badler. "V" also stars Marc Singer and Faye Grant, who lead the resistance fighters, Andrew Prine, Michael Ironside, Michael Wright and Richard Herd as the supreme commander of the aliens.

The title "V" is from the World War II symbol of two upraised fingers for victory.

One of the most memorable moments from the original production last May, and the one that gave Singer's character the first hint-of-the-aliens' evil purpose, was when Diane swallowed a rat. She picked it out of a cage, held it above her mouth and her throat ballooned like a lizard's to accommodate the rodent.

"It was a real rat," Miss Badler remembers. "I was squeamish. It was terrible." Actually, the rat went into a latex dummy that puffed up as three crewmen worked pneumatic pumps.

In her short career, Miss Badler has gone from beauty contest winner to reptile lady.

She was Miss New Hampshire when she was only 17. "I didn't expect to win," she said, "but once I did my competitive spirit came out. I really wanted to win but I wasn't cut out to be Miss America. I would have had to be so controlled. I don't think I could have done that."

Miss Badler is not put off by her character in "V." "It's such a strong woman's role," she said. "She's powerful. There are no men to hide behind. I just love it. I've never played a character like this before, but it's so easy. It's freeing. It's so different from myself it really is a character role."

She said, "Diane's such an incredibly powerful woman, if I can call her a woman. It's because she's not human that she has no emotions or morality. She will literally do anything and has no feelings of guilt. She knows what she wants and goes after it any way she can."

Diane, although a fantasy character, is cast in the mold of the classic villainesses. "I'd rather see woman as strong than as weak and manipulated," Miss Badler said. "The strongest characters on TV today are the villainesses."

"There were some scenes I had to do that freaked me out. I had to torture Julie (Miss Grant). It was really de-humanizing. Sometimes I had tears in my eyes, but I had to realize that Diane would feel none of this."

'I'd rather see woman as strong than as weak and manipulated. The strongest characters on TV today are the villainesses.'

— Jane Badler

The role of Diane was the first big break for the young actress, who had been in the soap opera "The Doctors" in New York.

When NBC was casting for "The A-Team," Miss Badler was asked to do an audition tape in New York. Then she was flown to Los Angeles, but didn't get the part.

"A week later they asked me to fly back to L.A. to test for 'V,'" she said. Joel Thurm, NBC's head of casting, coached her for an audition for Ken Johnson, the creator-director-producer of "V." "He told me to look 35 and act mean," she said.

It paid off: "That night when I got to my hotel a note was tucked under the door. It said, 'Don't leave town.' I couldn't sleep that night I was so excited."

British sex symbol dies from cancer at age 52

WINDSOR, England (AP) — Actress Diana Dors, the sex symbol once billed as Britain's answer to Marilyn Monroe, died Friday night after a long battle with cancer, her husband announced. She was 52.

DIANA DORS

"I have lost my wife and soul mate, and my son has lost a friend and a mother. The world has lost a legend," said her husband, actor Alan Lake, who was at her bedside when she died at Princess Margaret Hospital.

He said her last words were "Oh my darling, I love you take care of the boys and say farewell to everyone concerned. This was not the way it was at rehearsal."

Miss Dors who had meningitis and twice underwent surgery to remove cancerous tumors, collapsed at her home near Windsor last Saturday with acute stomach pains.

She was rushed to the hospital and underwent surgery Monday for a suspected bowel obstruction believed related to cancer. Lake said surgeons found cancer "everywhere."

Miss Dors was the British "blonde bombshell" and self-proclaimed "good-time girl" of films from the 1940s to the 1960s.

Born Diana Fluck in 1931, the daughter of a southwest England railway clerk, she was just 15 when a film agent saw her acting in a school play in her home town of Swindon, 77 miles west of London. She had her first major film role at the age of 17 as a barmaid.

Parlaying an hourglass figure and platinum blonde hair into a series of saucy roles, she once described herself as "the only sex symbol Britain has produced since Lady Godiva."

She was famed for outrageous parties and her luxurious lifestyle. A mink bikini she first used on a film set in Venice became a trademark.

In recent months, she appeared as an advice columnist for the lovelorn and weight-watching on "Good Morning Britain," the country's Independent Television breakfast tea program.

The gradual transformation of her image from a "bombshell" to a thoughtful talk-show guest and competent actress captivated many who had once dismissed her as a dumb blonde. Her battles with meningitis and cancer made her a national heroine.

Miss Dors, at the age of 25, was Britain's highest-paid actress, with a $3 million contract. Her films were forgettable, but she continued to hold attention with sexy photographs, including bubble-bath scenes, and stories about her private life and three marriages.

At 19, she married Denis Hamilton, the man she called her Svengali who made her 37-22-35 figure the sex symbol of the 1950s.

The marriage ended in separation six years later and Hamilton died shortly afterward at 33.

'Pompeii' is Roman soap opera

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's "The Last Days of Pompeii" is a spaghetti serial, a Roman "Dallas," complete with greed, lust, betrayal, fraud and hypocrisy. But this toga party is no cliffhanger. We know in the end that Mount Vesuvius will blow its stack and bury Pompeii's depraved citizens.

The ABC miniseries will have a three-hour episode Sunday night and two-hour installments Monday and Tuesday, competing directly with NBC's six-hour miniseries, "V: The Final Battle."

With a script by Carmen Culver ("The Thorn Birds"), based loosely on a novel by Edward Bulwer-Lytton, and guidance from executive producer David Gerber

("George Washington"), "Pompeii" sometimes succeeds at being more serious than mere first century trash.

But its slow-to-evolve central story, focusing on several incredible and shallow love relationships, is just too convoluted and uninteresting to keep anybody's interest for very long.

While Rome is the seat of power for the Roman Empire, the southern port of Pompeii, in the year 79 A.D., is its playground. There's no Studio 54, but the nobility lolls around by day, goes to wild parties by night and screams for the blood of fallen warriors and Christians on weekends.

In Pompeii, class, which is worshiped as much as the gods, is a virtual immovable object. "What a world of dreams is this Pompeii, where each one strives to be what is not," says the dwarf, Philos (George Claydon), Pompeii's resident philosopher.

One slave did buy his freedom by becoming the heavyweight champion of the gladiators' infamous sword games. Lydon (Duncan Regehr) is a massive physical specimen, so he gets to play most of the movie in his briefs. He's a reluctant killer.

Yes, indeed, there is a bulging heart under Lydon's pectorals. He's in love with a blind slave named Nydia (Linda Purl), who, alas, is in love with the wealthy Greek, Glaucus (Nicholas Clay), who, alas, is in love with the beautiful lone (Olivia Hussey), who, alas, has spurned him and is toying with the idea of becoming a high priestess to Arbaces (Franco Nero), a dastardly, power-hungry religious cultist in Pompeii.

All of this background is necessary because the plot is often tough to follow. The producers suspected that viewer identification would be difficult, so there's a lot of funny-sounding dialogue to reinforce names and faces.

"Look, can it be Glaucus?" "Come in Catus." "Ah, the lovely lone and her brother, Antonius." Oh, hark!

'Moscow' is endearing film

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
"MOSCOW ON THE HUDSON" is Paul Mazursky's valentine to the U.S.A. — a blatantly chauvinistic comedy-drama that is ultimately endearing.

Mazursky has somehow managed to make a series of highly personal films within the big-studio system. Like "Next Stop, Greenwich Village" and "An Unmarried Woman," the new film reflects Mazursky's philosophy that today's harsh world can be conquered by an unquenchably independent spirit.

Mazursky, who produced and directed, depicts the latter-day "melting pot" of Manhattan with perception and wit. Not all of the sequences pay off, however, and the KGB agents are portrayed as bumbling clowns.

The movie was written by Mazursky and Leon Capetanos. Robin Williams, whose film performances have been a mixed bag, shows his potential in "Moscow on the Hudson." He is terrific — warm, sweet, convincing as a Soviet, slightly less so as a saxophonist.

Rated R, semi-nudity, bed scenes, language.

In review

Robin Williams is a saxophonist for the Moscow Circus, a mild person less concerned with liberty than day-to-day needs, such as finding toilet paper for his three-generation family in a tiny apartment. When the circus travels to New York, Williams unexpectedly defects in the jeans department of Bloomingdale's.

He is befriended by a warm-hearted immigrant from Italy (Maria Conchita Alonso), a Cuban lawyer (Alejandro Rey) and a black emigre from the South (Cleavant Derricks).

Mondale win in Texas could be the demise of Gary Hart

AUSTIN (AP) - Former Vice President Walter F. Mondale has nearly all the big-name endorsements and Gary Hart's campaign has high hopes for an upset as the Democratic presidential race reaches the Texas precinct caucuses Saturday night.

At stake are 169 national convention delegates. Mondale backers say victory could knock Hart from the race. Hart backers say the upset win they believe is within reach will breathe new life into the Colorado senator's bid.

"If Gary Hart finishes first in Texas, that will be a sign nationally that this campaign is still very much alive. I think that's all Gary Hart has to do," said U.S. Rep. Martin Frost, co-chairman of Hart's Texas campaign.

Mondale sees it differently, criticizing Hart for leaving the state two days before the caucuses to campaign elsewhere.

"Texas is the third-largest state. We have never won a presidential election without Texas, but apparently he has decided not to campaign at all these last few days. Texans want this caucus to be taken seriously," Mondale said.

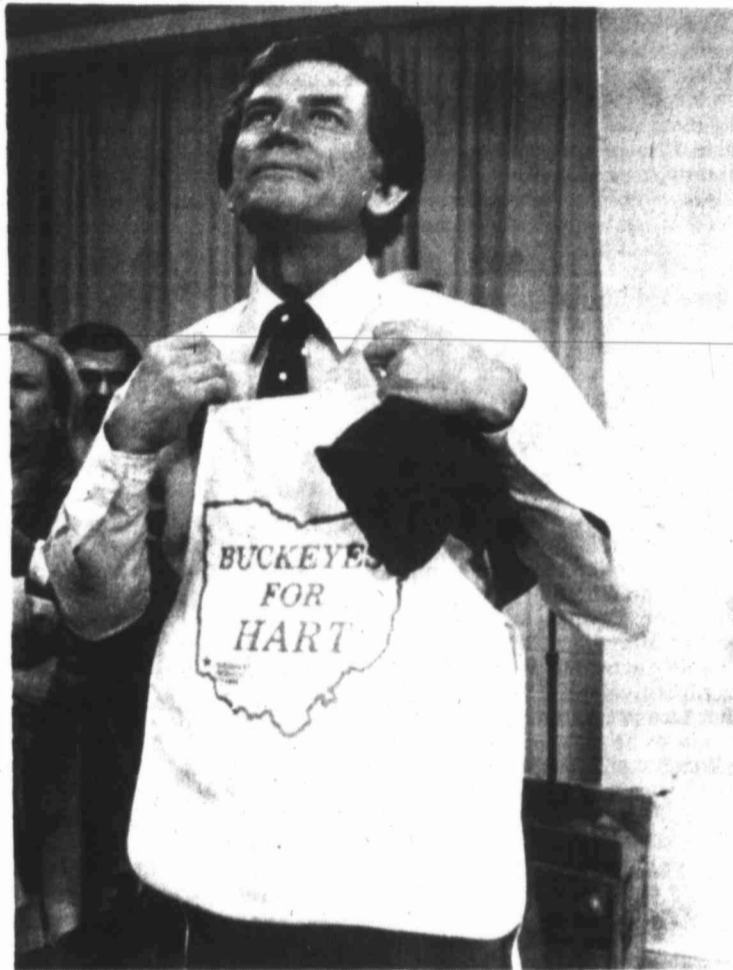

The high-stakes struggle will be resolved in a highly complicated system, which requires Democrats to vote twice and at different times.

Caucuses will be held in the 6,634 precincts in Texas' 254 counties. To take part, Democrats first must vote in the state primary elections. Republicans also caucus, and have a non-binding presidential primary with one name before them - President Reagan.

In addition, voters will go to the polls from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. to choose Republican and Democratic U.S. Senate nominees and congressional candidates.

Voters this year also are filling 15 Texas Senate seats, all 150 Texas House of Representatives seats, a railroad commissioner's job, three Supreme Court spots, including the chief justice, and three places on the Court of Criminal Appeals.

In the presidential race, the winner won't be the candidate who has spent the most money on television advertising, which has been virtually non-existent, but who has the best local organization. Mondale's campaign organized before Hart's. It has the backing of labor unions, teachers and much of the state's Democratic establishment. To head up the campaign, Mondale recruited Dwayne Holman, top political operative for Gov. Mark White.

HART IN OHIO - Sen. Gary Hart may be in Ohio, but his heart's in Texas where 169 national convention delegates are at stake in the state's caucus. Hart is campaigning in Ohio after spending most of the week in the Lone Star state.

"Hart hasn't made any mistakes, he just started so far behind," observed George Christian, an Austin political consultant and one-time aide to President Lyndon Johnson.

Hart backers say they enjoy all the confidence their opponents have voiced. They say Mondale's camp is ripe for an upset. Even Texas Democratic Chairman Bob Slagle, a Mondale loyalist, says an upset is "possible."

"The Hart campaign in Texas is better organized than in any other caucus state. We have placed virtually all our emphasis on organization from the very beginning. We have done things right," Frost said. "In the U.S. Senate races, voters will be choosing nominees to replace retiring Republican Sen. John G. Tower from crowded fields led by a Republican who used to be a Democrat and a Democrat who is a Shakespearean scholar and former congressman.

The Republican Senate race is led by U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm, who until last year was one of the "Boll Weevil" Southern Democrats who supported President Reagan's economic program.

His challengers are conservative Rep. Ron Paul, Houston oilman Rob Mosbacher Jr. and Houston public relations man Henry Grover.

Austin housing costs boom in the last year

AUSTIN (AP) - As the city has boomed, Austin housing prices have risen faster than incomes and made homes less affordable, according to a new report. Dallas is the only Texas city with less affordable prices.

San Antonio has the most affordable housing with an index of 1.35. The only other major Texas city that dropped in the affordability range was Fort Worth, with an index of 1.05.

"(Dallas and Austin) are probably the two most rapidly growing cities in the state," Wright noted.

An index developed by the Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University says Austin housing affordability has hit a 10-year low.

Arthur Wright, research economist at A&M, said monthly income would have to rise $500 to about $2,190 to make the average house - costing $88,500 in 1983 - affordable to half of Austin's home buying population.

He said housing is considered affordable when one-third of the household median income equals the average principal and interest payments.

When 50 percent of the local households can meet the criteria, the affordability index is 1.0. The higher the index, the more affordable. The lower the index, the less affordable.

"When people talk about affordability, they say prices are up 50 percent or whatever. This index gives you something to hang your hat on," Wright said.

Austin's affordability index for 1983 was 0.77, while Dallas registered 0.67.

"People are saying, 'That's where I'm going and I'll make some sacrifices to buy.' The potential for appreciation may be greater since they are such booming areas."

Houston housing also was more affordable than Austin, with an index of 0.89, but the average price of a Houston home was $105,500, compared with Austin's $88,500. The average income in Houston was $27,700. In Austin, it was $20,300.

The statewide index for 1983 was 0.93.

"That is not quite affordable, but it is better than it used to be in the last couple of years," Wright said.

The worst index for the state during the past decade was 0.83 in 1981, and the best was 1.31 in 1974. Housing affordability dropped 43 percent in Austin during the past 10 years, and fell 29 percent statewide. In 1974, Texas housing was 12 percent more affordable than the nation as a whole, but Texas was only 4 percent more affordable in 1983, the survey showed.
