How's that? Three-Mile

Q. When was the Three-Mile Island nuclear plant forced to shut down?

A. A major accident occurred March 28, 1979, at the Three Mile Island nuclear reactor near Middletown, Pa., forcing the facility to shut-down. Radioactive gases escaped through the plant's venting system and a hydrogen gas bubble formed in the top of the reactor containment vessel. The reactor eventually cooled and the crisis was declared over April 9, 1979.

Runoff to write Demo dogma

KENT HANCE

AUSTIN (AP) — The Lloyd Doggett-Kent Hance runoff could be a barometer that spot-checks the evolution of the Texas Democratic Party.

By most measures, Doggett is the liberal and Hance the conservative in the June 2 race that will produce a Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate.

U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm, who made use of political ads featuring testimonials by President Reagan, easily won the Republican nomination May 5.

The left-leaning wing of the party did well in 1982, with Democrats who preferred the tags "progressive" and "populist" taking several top state jobs. The Hance-Doggett event could be a 1984 update on the 1982 trend.

The 1982 victories by Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, Attorney General Jim Mattox, Land Commissioner Garry Mauro and Treasurer Ann Richards were less than clear signals that the more liberal wing had evicted the traditional conservatives in the party.

"It takes more than one race to say what the Democratic Party is," said Hightower. "After we all won they said, 'Oh my God, the Democratic Party is all of a sudden liberal.' That is hogwash."

The 1982 progressive-populist wins were confounded by some special situations. Ms. Richards won a primary battle over conservative incumbent Warren Harding, who faced a misconduct indictment. Hightower's primary win was over conservative incumbent Reagan Brown, who was hurt by a well-publicized incident of Brown saying "nigger" in public.

The general election victories by Hightower, Mauro, Mattox and Mrs. Richards were attributed in part to the strong showings at the top of the ballot by middle-of-the-roadsers U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Gov. Mark White and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Airpark auction bids goodbye to surplus

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

Old stoves, typewriters, desks, heavy machinery and vehicles were crammed into an old Air Force base hangar Saturday as hundreds of surplus dealers and bargain hunters gathered for a large-scale auction at the Big Spring Airpark.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars of goods were available during the auction, which was a combined effort of the Howard County Junior College District, the City of Big Spring, the Airpark and the Big Spring school district.

City Secretary Tom Ferguson, on hand at the hangar to watch the activities, said, "We usually have an auction once a year. This one has been a lot of work. We spent two weeks hauling things out here and setting up."

Ferguson explained that items sold off the auction are "surplus items. Property we have no use for" or property that has outlived its usefulness to the various agencies participating.

And while it may have outlived its usefulness in the minds of some, the bidding went quickly and the crowd at the Airpark was snatching up bargains as fast as they came before the auctioneer, Dub Bryant.

Bryant, a retired furniture store owner, has been an auctioneer for 25 years. He has been overseeing this auction for more than four years, Ferguson said.

Bryant spent most of Saturday calling out dollar figures with a rapid-fire pace, but he took a minute to explain why he does what he does and how he learned to do it so well.

"I went into auctioneering because I went broke in the car business and I about starved to death," Bryant said. "That was 25 years ago."

Bryant began as an auctioneer in Big Spring and has since built up a staff of seven, including his brother, Pete, who was on hand at the Air Park Saturday assisting his brother by calling out prices for various items.

"I learned by watching others and by practicing," Dub said. "They have schools, but I never went to one."

Bryant said he has worked as an auctioneer for 25 years because, "It's a good living."

About noon, the late spring sun began shining directly down on the long-time auctioneer as he moved the crowd out to the back of the hangar to heavy equipment setting on the concrete. He urged the crowd to hurry up the bidding and head back into the shadier hangar, which was cooled by fans.

And although he had been calling out prices for more than two hours, he said, "I don't get tired. You get used to it, and after you're used to it, it don't make you tired."

Bryant kept a eye on all the items as they came up for bids and were claimed by people in the audience. To the seasoned auctioneer, it was clear this was serious business.

Ferguson said the crowd at this year's auction was smaller than normal. "I don't know why. I think more people will be out later on."

Looking around at the large number of items still on the floor at noon, Ferguson said, "I don't know of anytime when we've not sold everything. We've always had good success."

Many of the buyers are surplus dealers who purchase in large quantities. Others are machine shop owners and small businessmen looking for office equipment.

Ferguson said any items remaining at closing time would be sold to surplus dealers offering the best price for them.

Federal drought aid extended for Texas

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. Agriculture Secretary John Block announced Saturday that 6 more Texas counties have become eligible for drought assistance but said the problem is almost beyond the help of government aid and advised farmers to "pray for rain."

The 67 Texas counties are eligible under legislation that extends emergency assistance to counties adjoining the 99 Texas counties previously designated eligible for disaster aid, Block told a news conference.

West Texas has been suffering under drought conditions since last year and this year's rainfall is far below average.

"I don't know what the next step is. Just pray for rain. That's the best solution we have," Block said.

Block said he believes the agriculture industry is "pleased" with progress made by the Reagan

Cactus Oil official found dead in lake

SAN ANGELO (AP) — The body of a 39-year-old oil company executive, reported missing since Tuesday, was pulled from a lake south of here late Saturday morning, authorities said.

Graydon Trusler, owner of Cactus Oil Co. in San Angelo, was pronounced dead at the scene, said Toby Martin, a Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman.

Trusler was last seen around 1:30 a.m. Tuesday leaving a nightclub party, Ms. Martin said.

Police said his Jeep Wagoneer had apparently swerved off Ranch Road 584, hit a guard rail and landed in here late Saturday morning.

Boats were searching for him Saturday morning when one discovered a radio antenna protruding about six inches above the water's surface, Ms. Martin said.

No one else was injured in the accident, she said, adding that an investigation is continuing.

SWCID-Fest ends 3-day observance

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

Road races, softball, dancing, barbecue and visiting were the highlights of the first annual SWCID-Fest, a three-day celebration that concludes today.

The event, sponsored by the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, was a combination of the yearly party and thank-you for a successful year.

The event formally kicked off with an awards ceremony and graduation ceremonies Friday at Howard College.

On Saturday, clear skies and a slight breeze set the stage for the 10-kilometer foot race and two mile fun/run.

The races were the first items on Saturday's agenda.

More than 100 runners gathered in front of SWCID at 8:30 a.m. to participate in the two races. When a pop gun failed to go off at the beginning, Donald Webb, one of the race coordinators, shouted "Go!" and the group sprinted down Avenue C on the Airpark grounds.

After the runners were finished, everyone gathered in the SWCID cafeteria to collect their trophies.

Weather

By the Associated Press

Sunny skies and temperatures in the 70s and 80s Saturday caused the heavy snowpack atop mountains in Utah and Colorado to start melting. The runoff pushed streams over their banks, and mudslides blocked highways.

In the East, a tornado touched down at a fairgrounds in Altamont, N.Y., 12 miles west of Albany, scattering people at a flea market and injuring at least 10 people. Mudslides triggered by supersaturated soil blocked two highways and restricted travel on an interstate highway in the western half of Colorado, the state patrol reported.

An 1,800-foot mudslide in central Utah's Spanish Fork Canyon appeared to have stabilized Saturday, a day after it slipped off the canyon and filtered between about 40 homes, said Utah County sheriff's dispatcher Ralph Coones.

"It came right around some of the homes, but there was no damage to any of them," he said. "There's a lot of cleanup to be done, though."

The rapid snowmelt is expected to continue into the early part of the week, the weather service said. Showers and thunderstorms covered the northeastern quarter of the nation Saturday. Thunderstorms with 50 mph winds blew through Ithaca and Utica in upstate New York, while other cities were pelted with pea-size hail. It rained in parts of northern New England.

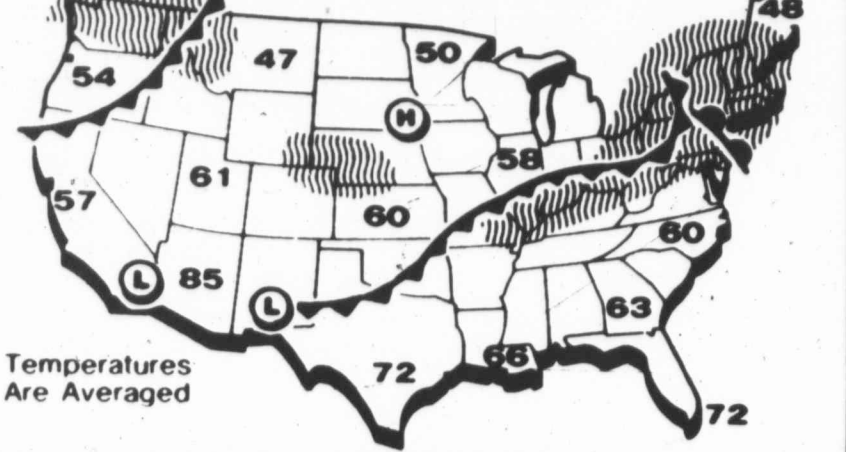

Except for a few showers scattered over portions of western Minnesota, western Iowa and western Missouri, sunny skies prevailed over most of the nation.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 p.m. EDT ranged from 44 degrees in Marquette, Mich., to 98 in Needles, Calif.

For Sunday, partly sunny to sunny skies were forecast over the entire nation except the Pacific Northwest, where rain and showers will prevail.

Highs will be in the 50s and 60s across the Pacific Northwest, the Great Lakes and New England; 70s and 80s from coastal California through the Rockies, most of the Plains, the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, the Southeast and the mid-Atlantic Coast. It will be in the 90s in west Texas, New Mexico and interior California, with a few 100-degree readings in the desert Southwest.

Sands names top grads

ACKERLY — Sands High School has named Daniel Franco valedictorian and Chris Wigington salutatorian of the 1984 graduating class.

Franco, son of Ishmael and Mary Franco of Ackerly, maintained a grade average of 92.72.

Wigington, son of Robert and Burnell Wigington, had an average grade of 90.26.

Both students have attended Ackerly schools for 12 years and were members of the varsity football, basketball and track teams. Other activities for both included participation in UIL literary contests and the student council. They also were named to Who's Who in American High Schools.

Franco, who plans to attend Texas Tech University, also participated in tennis and was recognized as the top-ranking student of his class for four consecutive years.

Chris Wigington plans to attend McMurry College.

Tornado injures 12 in N.Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A tornado that "snapped telephone poles like totpicks" cut a swath 30 feet wide through a fairgrounds Saturday afternoon, scattering a flea market and injuring at least 12 people, authorities said.

Fair Manager Reid Northrup said he saw no funnel, only flying debris.

"You could hear this tremendous wind. ... It tore a large metal roof right off a building near me and it went right over my head," he said, adding that he saw the telephone poles snap and debris soar an estimated 1,000 feet in the air.

The tornado struck a flea market at the 90-acre Altamont Fairgrounds, about 12 miles west of Albany, Northrup said.

The top three finishers in each race won trophies, as did the over-all men and women finishers.

Sam Hill, executive vice president for SWCID, thanked the crowd for participating and said, "This is a fund-raising event to benefit SWCID. We hope to do this annually, so keep practicing."

Over-all men and women's winners of the 10-kilometer run were Kirk Thaxton with a time of 33:07 and Andy Ayala with a time of 49:25.

Kim Bingham and her dad, John Bingham, Malone-Hogan Hospital administrator, took home a pair of trophies for their efforts in the fun/run. Kim was first place winner in the 12 and under division and Bingham won second in the men's 30 to 39 men's division in the two-mile run.

Other results are listed in today's sports section.

Pat Jones, a SWCID instructor and coordinator of the fun/run, said after event concluded, "It was great. Everything went pretty good. We've got people from Dallas and Lubbock here and from all over the state."

After the race, several teams from Texas deaf clubs gathered at the Johnny Stone Softball park for a tournament which continued throughout the day.

Other persons gathered at Comanche Trail Park for a barbecue supper prepared by Edwin Easley, a deaf barbecue chef from Austin. Horseshoes, volleyball, croquet, golf and other games were set up in the park for persons not participating in the softball tournament.

A dance was scheduled at 8 p.m. at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

The SWCID-Fest is slated to conclude this morning with a brunch and closing session at 8:30 a.m. in the SWCID cafeteria.

Special guests at the SWCID-Fest included members of the Texas Association of the Deaf, parents and family members of instructors and students, school alumni, former students and friends of SWCID.

longtime Democratic Party watcher, is looking to the Hance-Doggett race as some measure of party control.

"I think Hance represents the moderate to conservative Democratic majority in the state — and I think it is a majority," he said. "This state is basically a Democratic state and also basically a conservative state. You have to assume that given a choice in top of the ballot races, Texans will elect conservatives."

But Christian is not ready to make a prediction based on that simple theory.

"It depends on who gets the vote out. If each one got all his votes out, Hance would win. There are more conservatives than there are liberals," he said.

Hance denies it's a clear liberal-conservative fight, but apparently he would not mind if voters see it that way.

"It certainly will be perceived that way in some areas," he said. "I think it certainly gives me more advantage than it would Doggett because there are a lot more moderates and conservatives in Texas than there are liberals. A lot of the liberals realize Doggett can't win in November. That's one of the things that we'll use."

Hightower, a Doggett supporter, says a liberal-conservative label war gives Doggett an edge.

"Hance is not a populist. It was Mr. Hance who wrote the tax bill for Mr. Ronald Reagan. He carried the water for Ronald Reagan that we are all now drowning in," said Hightower.

Ms. Richards, who says "that old label stuff that just doesn't hang anymore," says Hance lacks a label in the eyes of some voters.

"Hance really hasn't been defined by the voters. That definition process will take place in the runoff," said Ms. Richards, another Doggett supporter.

Ms. Richards thinks the "real dialogue and real coalition" the Democrat rode to victory in 1982 will peak in November, giving Hance or Doggett a win over Gramm, and giving Texas to the Democrats' presidential contender.

Hance is not so sure.

"I think Doggett's lining up with a group that's not able to carry the masses and the mainstream in Texas," he said.

Christian agreed that Doggett would be the unusual Texas liberal if he can win the Senate seat.

"It just takes an unusual non-conservative to win a high-profile race in Texas," he said.

administration — lifting the grain embargo with the Soviet Union and the payment-in-kind program that paid farmers in surplus grain if they agreed not to plant.

"There are still lingering problems in agriculture," Block said. "Some of them are frankly almost out of the reach of the secretary of agriculture. They are macro-economic related, they are problems that have to do with deficits, interest rates, the strength of the dollar, and I hear about these kinds of problems most everywhere I go."

He said interest rates are "down dramatically" but "still too high."

The agriculture department has received about 3,600 applications from Texas ranchers for low-cost grain.

Net farm income this year is "definitely going to be near a record" — over $30 billion, Block said. "Farm prices overall are the best they've ever been in history," he said.

Police Beat

2 arrested in pot bust

Police arrested two men Friday night for possession of more than 4 ounces of marijuana.

Arrested at Sterling City Route, Box 10, were James T. Maddox, 31, and Jan Nelson Slagh, 49. Both men gave their address as Sterling City Route, Box 10.

Reports show police entered the home with search and arrest warrants. The men were transferred to county jail Friday night. Judge Melvin Daratt placed both men under $2,500 bonds, which were posted Saturday morning by a local bail bonding company.

Doris Mitchell, 24, of 1509 Bluebird, was arrested at the police department at 10:53 a.m. Saturday on a warrant for criminal mischief.

Ronald Anderson of 801 Creighton told police Saturday that fishing equipment valued at $162 was taken from a locked storage shed behind his home between March 15 and May 12.

Tom Starnes of the American Little League organization told police someone had broken into the press box at the Roy Anderson softball park Friday night or Saturday morning and taken a PA system and a microphone.

Billie Lewis of 3101 W. Highway 30 told police someone known to her threw six beer bottles at her vehicle while it was parked at 2300 Gregg early Saturday morning. One of the beer bottles broke out the windshield.

Lee Jimenez of 1315 Wright told police Friday afternoon that someone cut the doors and damaged the fenders on his vehicle while it was parked at his home. Damage was estimated at $250.

Clayton F. Cluck of 608 W. 16th told police someone broke into his home Friday and took a microwave valued at $425; a ring valued at $50; and 100 personalized checks.

Nancy Fackrell of 502 S. Gregg told police Friday night that someone she knows hit her in the face and head. She was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Ralph Hilton of the Interstate 20 trailer park, No. 20, told police Saturday that someone had broken into his home and thrown lamps, pictures and frames, a vase and an ashtray at his television, causing more than $2,000 in damages.

Sheriff's Log

Three arrested on warrants

William Anthony Burgess, 25, of the Sterling City Route was transferred to county jail early Saturday morning after his arrest on warrants for failure to appear and for speeding.

Burgess was released after bonds of $200 for each charge were posted by a local bail bonding company.

Ramon Cruz Ortegon, 36, of San Antonio was transferred to county jail Friday afternoon after his arrest on several Texas Highway Patrol warrants from Pecos and Brewster counties. He remained in jail Saturday.

Tonya Ann Moore, 20, of 2305 Morrison was transferred to county jail Friday after being arrested with a warrant for tampering with government records. She was placed under a $1,000 bond set by Judge Milton Kirby and released when bond was posted by a local bail bonding company.

Danny Austin, 24, of 710 B. Willa was transferred to county jail after he was arrested Friday for driving while intoxicated and for driving while license was suspended. Bonds of $1,000 and $500 respectively were set by Judge Melvin Daratt and posted by a local bail bonding company.

Thomas Kirkpatrick, 34, of 2201 Carl was released from county jail Saturday after he posted a $1,000 bond for driving while intoxicated and a $500 bond for driving with license suspended. Daratt set the bonds, which were posted by a local bail bonding company.

John David Williams, 18, of 906 Birdwell was released from county jail Saturday after posting a $200 bond. Williams had been arrested for fleeing from a police officer Friday night. Bond was set by Hefflin and posted by a local bail bonding company.

Joe Diaz, 24, of 1105 N. Scurry was released from county jail Saturday after a local bonding company posted a $1,000 bond. Diaz had been arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Luis Tios Jr., no age given, of 3206 W. 8th was transferred to county jail Saturday morning after being arrested for criminal mischief. A bond of $2,500 was set by Daratt and posted by a local bonding company.

Lawmakers examine Texas-Mexico trade

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — A group of Texas legislators seeking ways to promote Texas products in other countries and to help the state's financially troubled border areas found no easy answers Friday.

Witness after witness stressed the importance of improving trade and helping border regions, but frequently their suggestions were general and sometimes conflicting.

Some witnesses referred to other states setting up new agencies and establishing foreign offices to promote exports. Others called such efforts costly and ineffective.

The testimony was to a joint meeting of the House State, Federal and International Relations Committee and the House Business and Commerce Committee, which are studying ways Texas can improve trade involving Texas products.

Texas border communities and they held out little hope for fast relief.

"It has been devastating," Barbara Chaney, new Texas Economic Development Commission member from El Paso, said of recent devaluations of the Mexican peso.

Devaluations, she said, made shopping in Texas too expensive for many Mexican border residents and that caused many U.S. stores to close or cut back. Although she agreed the border economy should be diversified, she added: "We along the border, whether we like it or not, are heavily dependent on Mexican trade... We need to be less dependent, but we cannot forget that our backyard is Mexico."

Ms. Chaney, a bank executive, said in the long run there are reasons to be optimistic about the Texas border region. The development of twin-plants, whereby U.S. goods are sent to plants in Mexico for assembly and then returned, has helped both sides of the border, she said.

Because of the state's common border with Mexico, a major focus was on that country and Texas border regions. Several witnesses agreed that Mexico's current economic crisis has severely hurt

Mr. T needs bodyguard

OMAHA — Mr. T needs a bodyguard? One might pity the person who'd be fool enough to tangle with the muscular star of the NBC-TV series "The A-Team," but Mr. T apparently believes in being cautious.

The tough-guy actor, who once was a bodyguard himself for heavyweight fighter Muhammad Ali showed up in Council Bluffs, Iowa with a bodyguard. He and his entourage requested and got the 11th floor of the Red Lion Inn to themselves Friday night, even though it meant moving music conductor Daniel Hornstein to a different floor. Mr. T's security man got Hornstein's room.

Hornstein, here to conduct the Omaha Symphony's Pops Concerts, said he didn't mind.

Cohen believes in system

MADISON — Former Roosevelt aide Wilbur Cohen, who was instrumental in devising Social Security, told his 50th college reunion that the system today is suffering from young people's disbelief, but that it is unlikely to be abandoned.

Cohen, who addressed fellow members of the University of Wisconsin's class of 1934 on Friday, said he guessed he was tapped to speak because of his expertise. He has taught courses on the system and served as secretary of health, education and welfare under President Lyndon Johnson.

Scarsdale killer suicidal

NEW YORK — Jean Harris, the private school headmistress convicted of killing Scarsdale Diet Dr. Herman Tarnower in a lover's quarrel, threatened suicide repeatedly during her trial and felt like a "nuisance" to her attorney, according to new court papers.

Mrs. Harris, 61, now serving 15 years to life on her murder conviction in the March 10, 1980, death of Tarnower, was driven to the brink of suicide almost constantly, said the 64-page brief asking the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court to order a new trial.

FATAL FIRE — Eight teen-agers were killed late Friday when a fire destroyed this haunted house at a New Jersey amusements park.

Haunted house fire kills 8

JACKSON TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Investigators poked through the ruins of an amusement park's Haunted Castle attraction Saturday, seeking the cause of a fire that killed eight people trapped in a narrow, dimly lit maze of metal trailers.

Eight others were injured in the fire Friday night at the Six Flags Great Adventure Park. Seven of the bodies were found huddled together and the eighth was a short distance away, Ocean County Prosecutor Edward Turnbach said Saturday.

A spokesman for Great Adventure, Glenn Vallach, said neither he nor investigators could explain why the victims had been unable to get out. Vallach said he had heard rumors that some patrons believed the fire was part of the attraction.

Preliminary examinations indicated seven of the victims were male and one was a female, Turnbach said. Four of the victims, all of whom were believed to be teen-agers, were tentatively identified, he added.

Vallach said Six Flags had held a drill at the Haunted Castle on April 1. He also said all attractions at the park were inspected by fire officials April 14 and approved as safe.

There were no sprinklers in the Haunted Castle, he said.

Jackson Township Mayor William Schreiber said he had no concerns about safety at the park. "You people would have to come here when there is not a tragedy to see how well it is run," he told reporters.

On Saturday, thousands of tourists attending Family Christian Day at the park were prevented from viewing the burned-out attraction by a makeshift plywood wall 6 feet high.

Telephone calls to the park dwindled as most of the anxious parents whose children were among the park's 20,000 visitors Friday evening were reunited with their youngsters.

"The switchboard was overloaded all night. Any person who had a child who was even late or slept over at someone's house was concerned," said Police Commissioner Richard Borys.

Investigators have not ruled out arson as a possible cause, Borys said Saturday. Turnbach said the investigation of the fire was continuing and "we have no suspicions of anything as to cause."

The fire struck the 17 metal trailers that make up the Haunted Castle and spread quickly as winds fanned the flames. Firefighters said the blaze reached heights of 100 feet and temperatures inside the trailers reached up to 2,000 degrees.

News in brief

Italian blast injures 10

FLORENCE — Two explosions ripped through the ground floor of the 15th century Pitti Palace museum in Florence on Saturday, injuring at least 10 people, police said. None of the priceless paintings in the building were damaged.

A gas leak was believed to be the cause of the blasts.

Among the three people listed as most seriously injured was Mary Versterman, 33, from Chicago, Ill., a current resident of Florence.

The two explosions, which occurred almost simultaneously in the ground floor administrative offices at about 11:25 a.m., blew a 13-foot-wide hole in a frescoed ceiling and knocked out a main exit door.

Salvador gunmen freed

SAN SALVADOR — Five leftist gunmen who seized 73 hostages in a thwarted robbery, held them for nine hours until the guerrillas were given safe conduct out of the country Saturday — reportedly to Mexico.

The rebels left aboard a TACA airlines flight to Mexico at 11:20 a.m. (1:20 p.m. EDT), an airline official said. The flight takes approximately three hours. A Mexican Embassy official who asked not to be identified confirmed the five had left the country.

At the start of one of the most dramatic rebel exploits in the capital in four years, the guerrillas tried to hold up El Tiempo grocery store on the south side of the capital, but the attempt was foiled when two police cars arrived at the scene.

After a brief gunbattle at 6:30 p.m. Friday, the rebels retreated inside, forcing 20 store employees and 52 shoppers to lie face down on the floor of a back room while the gunmen negotiated with police.

Visitors say Chernenko ill

MOSCOW — Sources in the delegation with visiting Spanish King Juan Carlos said President Konstantin U. Chernenko appeared to be ill last week, but the Soviet leader looked fit at a later public appearance.

The conflicting impressions are typical of the speculation that has surrounded the issue of Chernenko's health since he took office as party chief and head of state.

Chernenko, 72, was seriously ill with pneumonia last year and failed to attend the May Day celebration on Red Square.

Good times roll at World's Fair opening

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Heralded by riverboat whistles and skyrockets, the $350 million 1984 world's fair opened Saturday after a night of frantic construction and cleanup that left only a few parts of it unfinished.

"Let the good times roll," Mayor Dutch Morial told the crowd at opening ceremonies in the huge fair amphitheater overlooking the Mississippi River.

Floyd Lewis, chairman of the corporation that set up the fair despite a financial struggle, urged those in the audience to become "a cheerleader for the fair, and as you leave the amphitheater, don't leave any trash behind because we're trying to get the place cleaned up."

Little of the debris — lumber stacks, sand piles, mountains of cardboard boxes and scaffolding — that marred the 82-acre site Friday was visible Saturday. The general manager of the fair, Petr Spurney, appeared to have kept his promise to have the site cleaned up by show time.

The African Market and the exhibits of Peru, Bolivia and the Philippines were closed to various technical problems.

Perfect weather — sunny skies and temperatures in the 70s — enhanced the site. But at least part of the fair was obviously not ready. Only five of the 40 cars had been attached to what is billed as the world's largest Ferris wheel.

Reports that the fair might not be quite ready failed to dim the enthusiasm of the lines of people at the gates — many of them veteran New Orleans partygoers who gathered as early as 8 a.m.

Convict gets life sentence

HOUSTON (AP) — An ex-convict was sentenced to life in prison for a killing in Texas but will serve his time in California, where he is wanted in a robbery-killing case, officials said.

William S. Marshall, 22, was sentenced Friday after pleading guilty to murder in the July 26 slaying of Jarrold Lloyd Rose of Arcadia.

Prosecutor John Petrucci said Marshall and Rose got into an argument in south Houston. Marshall took Rose, who was also 22, into a field and shot him in the back, Petrucci said.

Petrucci said Marshall has also agreed to plead guilty in a killing in El Centro, Calif., and will serve a life term in that state.

Q: With our family grown, we're ready to sell our house and move to something smaller. The real estate agent we are going to list with is a member of the Multiple Listing Service. Won't this widespread advertising bring a lot of "just lookers"?

A.: No, it won't. A large part of your agent's job is to screen the "just lookers," and to show your home to prospective purchasers who are eligible and ready to buy. Additionally, prospective buyers will go through your agent and the agents who are also MLS members, protecting you from unwanted phone calls or strangers at your door. You are correct about widespread advertising, however, MLS carries a distinct advantage in getting your home to the widest possible market through a cooperative effort of agents who are MLS members.

Likely candidates for tax increases

It looks like a special session of the Texas Legislature will come to pass this summer to address a topic Texans haven't had to face in any significant manner for a decade — raising taxes.

Gov. Mark White is moving cautiously, working to line up support for his tax hike proposals with the decision whether to even call the summer session riding on the outcome. But even in an election year, we think the consensus will be that increased revenues are essential.

A tax increase in one or more areas, in a little or a bigger bite, is probably inevitable if Texas is going to forge ahead in the '80s. The money to be generated is earmarked for education and highways, both areas in need of a financial shot.

Among the proposals White trial-ballooned Friday are a 5-cent per gallon boost in gasoline taxes; a 20 percent increase in taxes on liquor, wine, beer and mixed drinks; and a 5-cent a pack tax on cigarettes, with one penny of that going to cancer research. These are all likely candidates for generating additional revenues.

The gasoline tax in Texas is among the lowest in the nation, and a 5-cent across-the-board boost is a relatively painless moneymaker. The "sin" tax increases, while destined to be fought by the respective lobby groups, are hard to argue against. They are guaranteed sources of additional revenue, without a valid counterargument that they will hurt the poor or constitute repressive taxation. Consumers can simply cut their consumption a corresponding amount if they wish.

Texas has long been known for fine roads and excellent access. The additional gasoline tax revenues will guarantee this deserved praise continues. And while the package of recommendations of the Perot Committee on Education has been controversial, one truth in education reform is the need to spend more money on schooling our children. A major concern is teacher pay, where better compensation will reward the dedicated teachers and attract those who are talented but unwilling to enter an underpaid profession.

Jail break

There's a nasty rumor going around town that I'm going to be arrested and imprisoned.

Actually, the nasty rumor is the nasty truth. And actually, the nasty truth is not so nasty.

Humiliating. But not nasty. Saturday I will be confined in a horse trailer on the Big Spring Mall parking lot, on display for the thousands of area denizens buying underwear at Penney's or getting their feet checked at the Health Fair.

I've been told not to make any plans for the following few days, because I won't be released until someone forks over $2,000 for my bail.

My jailmates during my cell sojourn will be City Manager Don Davis, Police Chief Rick Turner and school Superintendent Lynn Hise. That's the humiliating part.

I was sentenced two months ago when the directors of the Rainbow Project, a shelter for abused children, asked me to participate in a fund-raising event.

They said they were going to imprison several locals and hold them in a makeshift jail until someone made their bail. The bail money would go to the Rainbow Project.

"So you want to put me in jail so people will come bail me out?" I asked.

"Are you kidding? We want you because everyone will cough up cash to keep you in jail," the directors said. "You could make our budget for the next two years."

At first I thought this was Quigman's backlash, a vengeful plot in retaliation for my thorough thrashing of the cartoon in a popularity poll.

But then the directors presented an unassailable argument:

"We really want you out there to show the people we really care about kids and we don't want any of them growing up to be like you."

I go behind bars at 1 p.m. If you love kids and hate me, put your money where your heart is.

I can stay locked up a long time. I've got my Sony Walkman and a friend named Trixie who's bringing me a case of Gatorade.

Abortion wrong

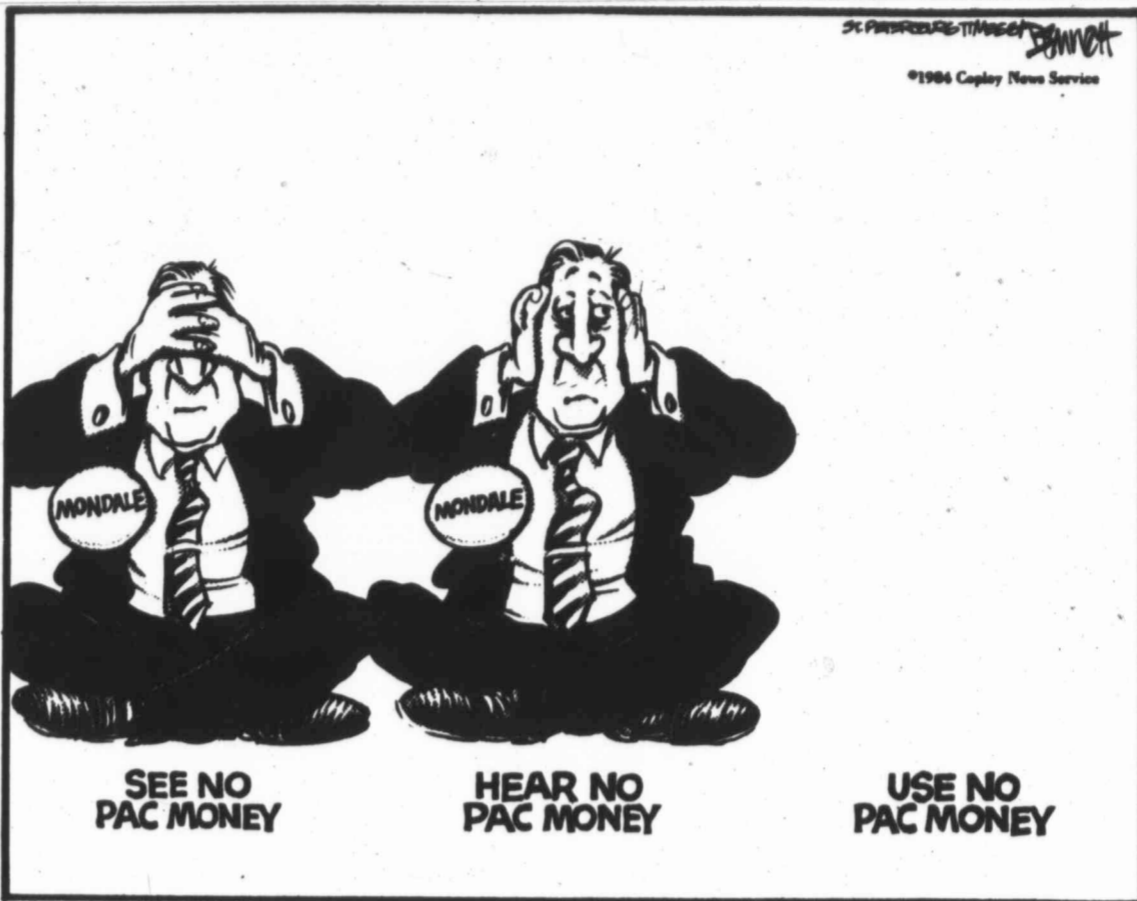

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My husband and I are heartbroken over our daughter, who is still in high school. We always thought we had taught her to do right. Now she has confessed to us that she and her boyfriend have been having sexual relations and she is pregnant. He wants her to get an abortion. We don't think we want that, but don't know what to do to get her out of this mess. — Mrs. T.L.F.

DEAR MRS. T.L.F.: First of all, two wrongs do not make a right. What your daughter has done is wrong, but it also would be wrong for her to have an abortion. Unfortunately, many people today think that abortion is an easy way out of an unwanted pregnancy, but that is incorrect. An abortion would be morally wrong, because it would take the life of that human being who is growing in her womb. And every day, my mail brings letters from women who are filled with deep guilt and remorse because they have submitted (often against their better judgment) to an abortion.

The choices your daughter faces are not easy, and it will take courage and love to help her think through the options and come to the right decision. Assuming she does not follow her boyfriend's advice to get an abortion (and I fervently hope she will not), she either will decide to offer the child for adoption or else keep the child and raise it herself. There are, as you know, a large number of families who are childless and deeply want to adopt a child. Such families will be properly screened by an adoption agency, so the child will be placed with responsible parents who will provide for him (or her) in an atmosphere of love. There are many problems with a single girl attempting to raise a child, and if instead she decides to do that, she should be aware of them and be sure she is doing the right thing for the sake of the child.

But beyond the practical problems she faces is an issue which is even more important. It is the spiritual question of her relationship to God. She has sinned in God's eyes, and she needs forgiveness. She also needs God's wisdom as she looks to the future. Encourage her to turn to Christ. He loves her and wants to forgive her. She can begin again on the right path if she will commit herself to Christ.

Rated PG for 'really scary'

The movie rating system is out of date. Advances in makeup and costuming and the propensity of directors to liven their movies with grossly ghoulish monsters makes it imperative that an "S" factor be added to the rating system.

"S" is for scary.

Considerable care is taken in screening the movies our young children watch on the premium channels we've beamed into our home. These are movies that are uncut and commercial free, both of which can be problems for parents of kids. Since they are not "edited for television" we must take pains to know what channel is on when, and since they are commercial-free, we have no built-in break times to refill water glasses or take care of other needs children frequently have.

PG — parental guidance — rated films are the biggest problem. Some are suitable for kids, some are not. We hate to deprive the children of a movie they may love and which is only minimally a problem for their age level; but it's mighty easy to get burned.

Last week, "Twilight Zone the Movie" came on. It carried a PG rating, and as an adult who grew up with the original Twilight Zone television series, I thought the kids would enjoy it. I mistakenly believ-

Harry Truman was no crybaby

In November 1961 a Gallup poll found that only 23 percent of Americans approved of President Truman's handling of his job — the lowest rating Gallup ever recorded for a president, including Richard Nixon. The voice of the people isn't always the voice of God, but maybe this time the Almighty was muttering his dissatisfaction.

Born 100 years ago this week Harry Truman left the White House a national joke — "to err is Truman," went the refrain. But today he is mythologized as the consummate common man who grew into greatness. By the time he died in 1972, he had become an American hero, revered by all. The Truman myth's only remaining enemy is the truth.

Despite his carefully crafted image as a man of the people, Truman was vain as a peacock. To judge from Merle Miller's "oral biography" he liked nothing better than recounting how he cut the big shots down to size — upbraiding Eisenhower at his inauguration, chewing out Cabinet officers, humiliating Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

From all evidence, most of the tales were fictional, concocted to embellish the legend of the Man from Missouri. "It is the dream of the bullied man" Garry Wills has written of Truman, "to reveal himself, at last, as capable of out-bullying anyone."

For a politician, Truman was bitterly contemptuous of anyone who had ever opposed him. A church-going Baptist, he economized on Christian charity. No one ever clashed with Mr. Citizen from good motives, only from weakness or stupidity.

His favorite epithet was ed the movie would mirror the imaginative — but cerebral rather than visual — strangeness the TV show was famous for.

I failed to reckon with the direction films have taken toward genuinely scary characters. Our 5-year-old was subjected to plotlines involving a child who held awesome powers over adults, and got a thrill out of using them in quite evil ways; a horrible looking devil who terrorized an airplane's passengers by tinkering with wing engines in mid-flight; and an innocent-enough looking car passenger who flips out to resemble a grotesque Mr. Hyde.

At strategic points in the movie, we offered our son the opportunity to go play with his Castle-Grayskull or something less stimulating, but he refused, and sat with eyes glued to the screen and hands clasped so firmly the knuckles were white.

When "Twilight Zone" ended, I attempted to take a reading of its effect by asking in a light tone, "How'd you like it, Brian? Pretty scary, huh?"

In a deathly serious tone, he responded, "That movie scared me so much it made my heart stop."

When "Poltergeist" debuted on cable, we gathered enough from the plotline description to steer the kids clear of it. Any movie about a possessed little girl is off-limits to my brood. But "Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan," similarly rated PG, was one I was happy for very limited amounts of gore, it was pretty faithful to the imaginative escapism of the Star Trek television series.

Sometimes we guess right; sometimes wrong, and must live with our regrets. But despite what I think is overzealousness by modern directors to wrench screams from their audiences, I have to admit some of the TV I grew up was in its own way just as much unsuitable for kids. And I guess I turned out all right.

In "The Untouchables," for example, machine-gun deaths were a plot mainstay. Cowboy movies devoted to at least half their running times to slinging arrows and rapid fire carbines. And war movies were, well, about war.

The purpose of ratings, though, is to give moviegoers, and censors like parents, a feeling for what the movie is likely to show. The explanations of "nudity," "violence" and "adult scenes" are specific and very helpful. Another one — "scary" — is really needed, though. And it wouldn't hurt to add two: "scary" and "really scary."

peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressures."

George Kennan, the father of containment, complained this was "more grandiose and more sweeping than anything that I... had envisaged." It spawned U.S. intervention in a variety of strategically unimportant places, notably Korea and Vietnam. In any disturbance anywhere, Truman saw not indigenous quarrels but communist imperialism. (I'm tired of babying the Soviets," he said.)

Truman's promotion of state power at home matched his policies abroad. Few presidents spoke the language of class hatred more fluently. That helped to justify such abuses as his unconstitutional seizure of the nation's steel mills. But this disdain for personal liberty wasn't reserved only for capitalists. In 1946, when railway workers went on strike, he seized the railroads, then asked for authority to draft the strikers into the Army.

Love ya, Ma

This story is an unabashed love letter to my mother.

If you're not in the mood for something mushy, or if the sentimental tends to sicken you, you might as well skip on over to Buchwald.

It is a hard story to tell, because it's very personal. But it explains why I will think of my mother with a special love this coming Mother's Day.

The story begins more than 10 years ago.

It was not that I, at the age of 16, was unprepared for the death of my grandfather — my mother's father — so much that I couldn't relate to death as a concept.

Being so young, I was callous to the depth of her feelings for this man, who, as she has only told me recently, had been such a stern father.

With a deep sense of guilt, I now understand her hurt when I told her I would rather not attend her father's funeral. I remember saying something flowery along the lines that I would rather remember Grandpa as he had been, not as the encased corpse he had become.

I thought such sentiments would sound adult and caring, coming from a sixteen-year-old, but it was a bunch of bolshoi. It's sad to say that I was more moved by the thought of the unchaperoned parties I could have during the three days my parents were out of town for the funeral.

It is really no surprise that, with what I remember to be the speed of light, my father shuffled me from the room. He informed me in no uncertain terms that I was going and there would be no argument. Looking back, it is also no surprise that I was shut out of the illness and death of my mother's brother several years later.

I had just returned from overseas and the letters I had received from home made small references to Uncle Bud's illness, but did not let on.

I was unaware of its severity until I came home and my father pulled me aside to say it looked pretty bad, but there was really no need for me to become involved.

No reason to become involved! I still wonder at his motives for telling me this. Was he simply trying to protect me from the pain of another death? I cringe to think that it was perhaps my mother he was protecting. I had been so hurtful and selfish during the last family death, was he wondering if I could be trusted to take part in this one?

Daily, she went to the hospital to take care of him, to simply be with him.

Mother and Dad saved me from involvement in Bud's death and I let them do it. I did little else than meet them in Oklahoma for the funeral.

A few years later, this past summer in fact, I arrived home again from overseas to find my grandmother failing fast.

It was the hardest of deaths, not because the old woman was in great pain, but because her passing closed a great door on my mother's life. Grandma was the last living relative of the family my mother grew up with.

I started helping in little ways during her sickness. I took my turn trying to get her to eat, begging and cajoling her to take bites of the soft, bland food. I rubbed her hands to help her circulation and watched her smile as I did it.

I was there when she died. In the great catharsis that followed, as the woman who raised me dealt with the loss of her own mother, I felt a love greater than ever before for my mom.

It is a love that was borne in pain and is stronger for the added weight of the shared experience of a family death.

It is a well that I shall draw from again and again.

To my son on Mother's Day

By JOY CULWELL
C-City Correspondent

Motherhood was a joy to my life and it still is. This Mother's day I would like to look back and remember. My spring was a baby boy who was born, and next thing I knew he was asking questions. Some of the questions I could answer and others I bluffed my way through. Thanks to staying three books ahead of him in the Encyclopedia Britannica, I could talk knowledgeably about such subjects as why Indians didn't live in houses and why bears hibernated. I asked him dumb questions like "do you want Mother to spank you?" and "Why aren't you eating your vegetables?" In spite of that my son grew up believing I knew everything on every subject. I remember the day when he found out I didn't. Thank God, he loved me and was so understanding while I went through the period when I didn't know anything. By the time he had graduated from high school I was returning to my old self. I found out I was a strong believer in heredity when he was one of the top 10 in his class. His college days were fun because I had a grown son who could share my concerns about politics and world events. The first letter he wrote me from college thanked me for teaching him to wash his own clothes. He was so proud of being independent. I remember promising God that I would not raise a "Mama's boy." His seven years of college taught me a lot but mostly it was a lonely time when there were times that I wished he would just come home and be our boy again. Other times I was so glad he was independent. I remember the first time he called home and it was not collect. We must have done some things right! To hear him preach now is like icing on the cake. I am a happy, proud Mother and I'm very glad I had him. But I really think he should not fuss at me for being late to church when he was due on Sept. 6 and arrived on the 29th.

Barrio 82 Band wins award

The Barrio 82 Band, a Big Spring music group, won first place and was named best band in a Cinco de Mayo (Fifth of May) contest in Midland recently at the Crown Royal Club.

The band competed against four other groups to win the honor, said manager Abel Martinez.

Members of the band include Edward Martinez, organist and vocalist; Pete Martinez, drums and vocals; Jonathan DeLeon, drums and vocals; Gary Robles, guitar; Johnny Fierro, lead guitar; Raymond Fierro, bass; and Robert Rios, band boy.

Barrio 82 has been together for a year, Martinez said. All members are from Big Spring, and the band performs all types of music.

Regent raps prof clothes

HOUSTON (AP) — Professors who dress "like mechanics" are setting a bad example for students at Texas Southern University, a member of the board of regents says.

"Some TSU law professors come to class dressed in blue jeans and sandals, or dirty mechanic's clothes and that's no way to set an example or be role models for our young blacks," Regent Naomi Andrews said during a board committee meeting Friday.

Most Texas Southern students are black.

"I have observed they come to school looking like mechanics," Mrs. Andrews said of the professors.

Mrs. Andrews, who did undergraduate work at Texas Southern in the late 1950s, was awarded her law degree from the school last year. She said the board ought to consider a policy that encourages acceptable dress.

"I'm not suggesting a formal dress code but what I saw while in law school and on the campus was simply deplorable," she said. "Many of my law school classmates complained about the way the faculty dressed. How can one set an example that way?"

The board took no action on her proposal.

School President Leonard Spearman said he has been concerned about the dress habits of some faculty members, who he said were "children of the 1960s" who grew up rebelling against established practices of the day, some of which had to do with modes of dress.

He said teachers should take every opportunity to prepare students for what to expect in the professional world, but stopped short of advocating a dress code.

"We can't tell them how to dress but we could express a serious concern," board attorney Ted Andrews said.

Law school Dean James Douglas said it is especially important for teachers to serve as role models for students preparing for professional careers.

"Even though the world has changed a lot in the last 15 years, you still can't go into a courtroom that way," he said. "The judges would throw you out."

VOTERS OF BIG SPRING & HOWARD COUNTY

Thank each one of you who took the time and effort to Vote in the Primary; I'm sorry the Herald made it appear that I was out of town on the day of the elections. I did leave that day after the poles had closed, to take a group of young people with the YMCA driving class to Balmorhea. I am also sorry that this race has been turned (by others) into a Woman vs. Man contest or simply a personality contest. Being a Justice of the Peace is a most serious job and responsibility to me.

We now have an important runoff coming June 2nd in the Democratic race, the LONG-LAMB runoff for Justice of the Peace, and that is what I want to interest you in. China Long is first of all a friend, her husband and I go back in time to grade school, and is probably one of the best friends I have in Big Spring. We share our lives and feelings almost every day at coffee together. Knowing these facts you will understand that it is hard to oppose China in a runoff. I respect her as a friend, as a lady and as the professional woman she is. There is no doubt in my mind that she is capable of performing the duties of a Justice of the Peace. Sounds like I'm voting for China Long for Justice of the Peace, well you know I'M NOT. I feel we both have excellent qualifications even though they are in different areas. China has a job, a job she does well, should she win this race, we would all miss her and her timely news reports. I need a job, am willing to work and work hard for you, the voters of Big Spring and Howard County. I would work closely with all the Law Enforcement Agencies, be available, and would set up with the other Justice of the Peace a weekend and nightly call system so that there would always be a JP available for Bond Setting, reading of rights, verifying unattended deaths and highway fatalities. I do have one small advantage, I am an Emergency Medical Technician, deaths, drug overdose deaths, suicides, murders and things of that nature, even though they are unpleasant, I have been exposed to many times. I have a capacity for work and need this Justice of the Peace job for several reasons. First, it is a reasonably good paying job, and we all need money. Second, I have a sincere desire to give to the citizens a Responsible, Honest and Fair Justice Court, a system fair to all people, all colors, all races, and the same system for the poor as for the rich, and last, probably most important to me, I think once in our life we should give something of ourselves back to the community and the people we live with.

I'm actively involved in the prevention of Drug Abuse, Alcohol Abuse and would be fair, but exceptionally HARD on CHILD, SEX and WIFE ABUSERS. I believe we should abide by our highway traffic laws and liquor laws. I'm very fond of our educators and think we should support them more, and in many ways. Our Retired and Elderly Citizens are the people whom I feel most of all need our support, love and respect. I believe if I were to be "SOFT" on any person or group of people it would be our Senior Citizens.

And Please, this is not a woman vs. man race, what is at stake is two people both with good qualifications, asking for your vote.

By now maybe you know a little more about me, I was BORN AND RAISED IN BIG SPRING & HOWARD COUNTY, I need your VOTE and INFLUENCE now and in the runoff, June 2nd, I am FIRST PLACE ON THE BALLOT.

Sincerely,

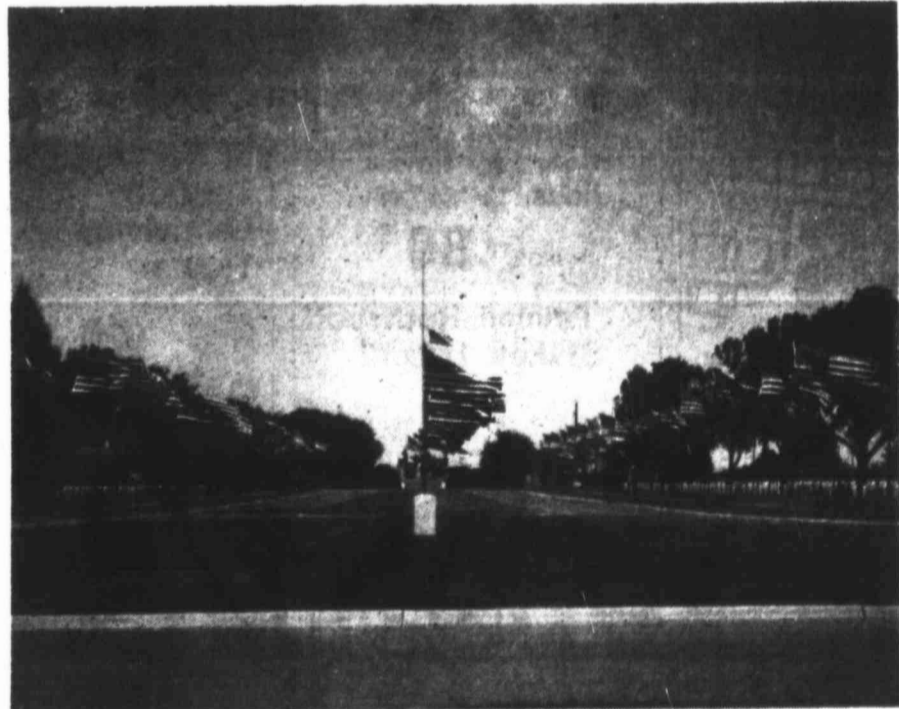

Doyle L. Lamb

Democratic Candidate for Justice of the Peace.

"AVENUE OF FLAGS AT TRINITY MEMORIAL PARK"

We are pleased to announce an "Avenue of Flags" to be created in our Perpetually cared for Cemetery. This avenue of flags is dedicated to the men and women who served their country and state. (In peace and war). These flags will be proudly displayed in their memory every year on Memorial Day, Veterans Day, and special days and events. For each family member represented in the "Avenue of Flags", there will be a special bronzed plate with their name, birth, and death date appearing on it. This plate will be a permanent fixture in the park office. If you wish for your loved one to be represented in this avenue of flags, please contact the Trinity Memorial Park office by mailing the coupon below.

Clip and Mail to: P.O. Box 2591, Big Spring, Texas 79720

PLEASE RUSH!

Please see that I receive the information on your "Avenue of Flags" to be dedicated on May 27, 1984 at 2:00 P.M. I understand that if I wish to participate, my loved ones name will be mentioned in the Dedication Ceremony.

Everyone wins at State

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

You've heard the phrase, "thrill of victory and agony of defeat," a million times over through the years, but never was it so evident as during the recent girls state track and field meet.

For starters there was the Colorado City contingent of Sherry Fite, Staci Free, Linda Scott and Sandra Williams in the 400 meter relay. The foursome was seventh and very disappointed and upset with their showing — almost to the point of tears — but they should remember one thing. They did score a victory. Out of all the Class AAA 400 meter teams in Texas, they were one of the eight best. And Free and Fite remarked that their handoffs, a problem all season, were their best of the year. State is definitely the place to put on your best anything.

Williams, as an individual, was back for a second straight year in the 100-meters and the sophomore ran fifth compared to her freshman year when she was third at the event. Again, however, none of the Lady Wolves really lost. They went, competed and accomplished much simply by reaching Austin's Memorial Stadium.

COAHOMA COACH PHILOSOPHIC

Coahoma coach Bill Dennis took a very refreshing look at his team's outing in Austin by saying, "They all surpassed everything they set for themselves and they did it at the state meet."

Dennis was talking enthusiastically after the first night of the meet about his 1600 meter relay team of Gina Hudson, Janna Griffin, Leslie Kirkpatrick and Tobie Henry.

The foursome's best going into the race was 4:10. That was the slowest time of any AAA qualifiers and Henry admitted afterwards, "We (team members) just wanted to do our best and compete as well as we could. Things would take care of themselves if we did that."

Hudson, Griffin, Kirkpatrick and Henry did just that — compete. They turned in a Coahoma school record 4:03.29 to break the old standard of 4:07 that was set during Henry's freshman year. And for Hudson the race also meant a new level was scaled. The junior had been striving for the under 60 second barrier on her leg for three years and she did it at state by clocking a 59.97.

And while there was no gold, silver or bronze hardware for the Bulldogettes save Henry's second place in the 400 meters, Henry summed things up rather well by saying, "I'll carry some great memories from state with me for a long time. State is the place to run your best."

LONG DISTANCE HONORS

Two of the area's long distance girls reached new marks as well and their coaches were more than glad to praise their state deeds.

First there is Grady's super soph Shanna Hale who ran second in the Class A 1600 meters with a time of 5:40. Not only was her finish a note worthy mention, but Hale was Grady's first ever state meet entry.

Coach Ted Bedwell said, "There is no telling what Shanna is capable of. Without adverse weather conditions she is likely to cut 15 to 20 seconds off her time."

Bedwell remarked, "Shanna combines the qualities of a sprinter with those of a long distance runner. She has as much stamina and probably a little more speed than most girls."

Hale's accomplishments came despite missing almost two weeks of workouts due to time spent showing livestock and some minor injuries.

Forsan's Lorri Roman went to state in the 800 meters, despite this being her only year to compete in the event. The senior ran an impressive 2:20, just missing defending state champion Darla Graham of Iraan. In the process, however Roman accomplished a goal and found out something about herself.

According to coach Johnny Schaefer, "One of Lorri's goals was to beat Garden City's Gena Schaefer." Schaefer beat Roman at regional and has been running her specialty sometime longer than Roman, but Schaefer added, "Lorri has just been a real factor in all of the success that Forsan girl's sports have enjoyed this year. She's a hard worker."

And during her workout on the day before she ran Roman said, "The track here (Memorial Stadium) seems so much bigger than the ones I've run on. I know it isn't, but I may have trouble just getting around it." It probably is quite a sight for a country girl or boy when they pull up in the parking lot at Memorial, but one thing is for sure — Roman and the rest of the Howard County contingent had their abilities in overdrive simply to reach the "big house" and none of them has anything to be ashamed of.

HOT HITTER — Howard College Hawk baseballer Doug Hatch had the hot hand for the Hawks in the State Junior College Baseball Championships in Abilene this weekend. The sophomore from Lubbock was batted .692 in the tourney, collecting nine hits in 13 at bats.

Singer's high note concludes Hawks baseball season

ABILENE — Angelina College ended the Howard College Hawks' first-ever post-season baseball action here Saturday with a 10-4 win in the Texas Junior College State Baseball Championship Tournament.

The Hawks' hopes to advance in Saturday's nightcap against San Jacinto, a 14-12 loser to MCC earlier in the day, were smashed in the sixth inning when Roadrunner designated hitter Jerry Singer hit a grand slam to break a 4-4 deadlock.

Singer's blast scored Ken Clower, Lewis Cory and Jeff Miller. The blast came off relief pitcher Steve Carraso who entered the game in the fifth with Angelina having taken a 4-3 lead against starter Kevin Kolodzie.

Clower sacrificed Keith Weathers and Kellie Mays with insurance runs in the seventh.

Howard threatened in the ninth with one out when walks to Kenny Sprears and John Friesahn and a single by Doug Hatch loaded the bases. Angelina starter Brian Sheppard managed to strike out Stephon Hodge and get Jim Garcia on a fly ball to center field to end the game.

The Hawks opened the scoring with three runs in the second inning. Blake Rosson notched the first score when a rap by Kenny Spears was mishandled at second base.

Jeff Davis, a designated runner in place of Joey Ortiz who had singled, came home just ahead of Spears when Hatch picked up a hit, making the score 3-0. Howard. In Angelina's bottom of the second inning, Mays doubled and Kyle Tubdeville homered to cut the margin to 3-2.

Angelina batters continued to bombard starter Kolodzie when Edrick Renfro singled and Weathers hit a round tripper to put the Roadrunners in front 4-3, in the third.

Rosson started the sixth with a single for the Hawks and scored the tying run on a sacrifice fly by Bobby Behnch. The score stood 3-3 until Angelina bgt out the big bats in the fatal sixth.

The Hawks ended their second season of baseball competition at 28-19. Hatch was one of the brightest spots in Howard's three tourney games. The sophomore from Lubbock collected nine hits in 13 at bats.

Howard coach Bill Griffin said, "we suffered a letdown in the sixth and seventh innings. We didn't deserve to win."

Angelina got a full nine innings from Shepard who limited the Hawks to seven hits while striking out three and walking five. The contest marks the seventh time this season that the Hawks and Roadrunner have met.

Angelina also beat the Hawks of the opening day of the tournament, 8-6, but for the season HC owned a 4-3 advantage.

The winner between Angelina and San Jacinto is slated to meet MCC at 1 p.m. Sunday at the Hardin-Simmons University Field for the tourney championship.

Foley's blast lifts Rangers over 'Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Marv Foley hit a two-run home run to help Dave Stewart win his first game of the season as the Texas Rangers defeated the Chicago White Sox 6-4 Saturday.

Stewart, 1-6, allowed four hits, walked six and struck out four through five innings. Jim Bibby went the next three innings and Dave Tobik pitched the final inning for his third save.

Texas took a 2-0 lead in the first inning off White Sox starter LaMar Hoyt, 3-4. Billy Sample led off with an infield single and moved to third one out later on Buddy Bell's single.

Sample scored on Larry Parrish's ground ball to shortstop Jerry Dybzinski, who tried to force Bell at second, but second baseman Scott Fletcher dropped the throw for an error. Bell then scored on Gary Ward's single.

The White Sox got a run back in their first when Jerry Hairston drew a leadoff walk and Greg Walker and Tom Paciorek followed with singles.

Foley's fifth home run of the season came after Ward singled in the third. Curt Wilkerson singled in the fourth, moved to second on a groundout and scored when Hoyt's wild pickoff throw to make it 5-1.

REDS 2, CARDS 1
CINCINNATI (AP) — Fireballing Mario Soto came within one pitch of a no-hitter Saturday against St. Louis before George Hendrick drilled a 2-2 pitch for a home run with two outs in the ninth inning, but Brad Gulden's run-scoring single in the bottom of the ninth lifted the Cincinnati Reds over the Cardinals 2-1.

Soto struck out 12 batters with a blazing fastball, and Cincinnati had made two spectacular fielding plays in the late innings to preserve the right-hander's no-hit bid through 8 2-3 innings.

With two outs in the ninth and the crowd of 24,364 standing and screaming encouragement, Soto fired two strikes past Hendrick.

Hendrick then fouled off two pitches, then took two balls high before lining the next pitch well over the 375-foot mark in left field for his second home run to tie the score 1-1.

While Hendrick rounded the bases, Soto stood to the side of the mound with his head bowed and his hands on his knees. Soto then walked Andy Van Slyke before Ken Oberkfell flied out to end the inning.

The Reds won the game as Dave Concepcion singled with one out in the ninth against Bruce Sutter, 1-2, and stole second. Gulden's single drove in Concepcion.

With one out in the eighth, right fielder Dave Parker made a spectacular diving catch in the right-center field gap, snagging a liner by Tom Herr just inches above the ground as he slid on his stomach.

Cincinnati scored in the third against starter Danny Cox as Oester doubled, moved up on Duane Walker's fly out and scored on Parker's sacrifice fly.

ANGELS 4, TIGERS 2

DETROIT (AP) — Reggie Jackson slammed a two-run homer over the right-field roof and Fred Lynn snapped a seventh-inning tie with a run-scoring single as the California Angels beat Detroit 4-2 Saturday, snapping the Tigers' seven-game winning streak.

Tommy John scattered seven hits as the Angels ended a five-game losing streak and handed Detroit its fifth loss in 31 games, still the best record in the majors this season.

Jackson became only the 12th player in the history of Tiger Stadium to hit a ball over the roof when he connected off Juan Berenguer, 2-2, on a 3-2 pitch in the fifth inning. The blast, Jackson's seventh of the season, was only the 18th to clear the stadium's roof and came after a walk to Juan Beniquez.

CUBS 5, ASTROS 4

HOUSTON (AP) — Pinch hitter Jody Davis slammed a three-run homer with two outs in the top of the ninth inning off reliever Frank DiPino to earn a comeback 5-4 victory for the Chicago Cubs over the Houston Astros Saturday.

Davis' homer barely cleared the orange line signifying a homer in left field. It drove in pinch hitter Bill Buckner and Henry Cotto, running for Ron Cey, who had walked.

Houston's Joe Niekro allowed three hits before giving way to DiPino with one out in the ninth inning. Dick Nolles, 1-1, gained the victory, while DiPino, 1-2, took the loss.

GIANTS 8, EXPOS 7

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jeff Leonard belted a two-run homer during a four-run first inning Saturday that sent the San Francisco Giants to an 8-7 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Chili Davis triggered the first-inning uprising against Steve Rogers, 2-2, with a single. Manny Trillo was hit by a pitch, which fractured a bone in his left hand and put him on the 21-day disabled list.

Al Oliver followed with a run-scoring single to right and following Jack Clark's run-scoring groundout, Leonard made it 4-0 with his fourth home run of the season.

Mike Krukow, 2-4, won his first game since April 10 as the Giants won their fourth consecutive game despite being out 17-7.

Before ending life

Tech-bound athlete under pressure

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — This is the story of life and death and the system that killed Rod David.

David, 18, was an all-sports star at Tucumcari (N.M.) High School. On April 9, he took a shotgun and with one squeeze of the trigger, snuffed out a life headed for the stars. He was to enroll at Texas Tech this fall on a football scholarship.

The questions lay the blame on critical opponents whose insidious remarks drove "Roddie" to the brink of destruction.

"Roddie was such a loving boy," said Ward David, "he never could understand why those people didn't like him."

"Those people" blame Ward David, a strong-willed man who once played basketball at the University of Nebraska, for pushing his son too hard into athletics.

In truth, neither party could bear the brunt of the blame, according to Dr. Josh Kaplan, a psychiatrist working with Tucumcari youths to make sure no such tragedy occurs again in the community.

"Even with parental pressure, the decision is the victim's," Kaplan said.

But if the victim is condemned, shouldn't the system at least be tried? Kay David, Rod's mother, believes so.

"If the kids could just have fun...play sandlot ball without their parents around to rile them up, I think they'd be a lot better off," she said.

Rod David was the kind of boy who had his life before him and nothing but backslaps and handshakes behind him. A two-time all-state performer in football and basketball, and a state record-holder in the long jump, David was considered by some to be New Mexico's top schoolboy athlete this year.

He was cut from the same kind of cloth as Jack Armstrong. The kind of son any family would adore.

David had a fractured and failing relationship to hold on to. His mother and father had split up during his high school years and a tety relationship with his 16-year-old girlfriend had evaporated.

But as in all things this complex, the reasons for Rod David's demise went much deeper than that. As far back, perhaps, as his freshman year at Tucumcari High when he was elevated to the Rattler varsity football team.

A trip to the varsity from the junior varsity at the ripe old age of 16 is a treacherous flight.

"You're taking him away from his friends, and then there is the question of higher expectations," said coach J.D. Hawkins, who was out of town the day David shot himself.

In David's case, there was always the question of higher expectations. Both his brothers, Mick and Stan, were well-known athletes at Tucumcari before him. Stan recently completed an all-Southwest Conference year as a Texas Tech defensive back.

"I think what the problem was, maybe some of his family wanted him to emulate his brothers," said Hawkins.

That was precisely what young David did not want to do. He purposely made two Bs his freshman year so his grade-point would not be compared with Stan's 4.0 overall GPA his senior year.

Rod wanted to play quarterback at Tech so he would not have to follow in Stan's footsteps. And Tech Coach Jerry Moore was perfectly willing to let him try.

"We had recruited him primarily as a defensive back, but we were going to let him come in here and try his hand at quarterback, too," Moore said.

There were some who believed David probably would have preferred to play basketball, and others who believed he was never really that intense about sports all along.

"Stan did this and Stan did that," said Coach Mike Sparaco of rival Raton (N.M.) High School.

"Maybe Rod just wanted to be a regular high school kid with regular high school kid problems."

Boots Rabb, who as sports editor of the Quay County Sun has covered David's every move the last four years, recalled a conversation he had had with one of the youngster's good friends four years ago.

"They had a summer softball league, and he (Gary Montano) had stopped by with the scorebook one night," Rabb said. "We got to talking about Rod, and he said he wouldn't be surprised if Rod wasn't around in four years."

Obviously, Montano was not talking in literal terms, but athletically. Nobody could foretell David's death. But apparently then it was clear to see Ward David's overbearing nature was having an effect.

Stadler takes lead in Nelson

IRVING, Texas (AP) — After scoring seven birdies and an eagle-2 in a round of 64, Craig Stadler said he saw the end of a frustrating non-winning string.

"Obviously, I'm pleased with my position," a satisfied Stadler said after he'd opened up a four-shot lead Saturday in the third round of the Byron Nelson Classic.

"Somebody will have to play a pretty good round to catch me now," said the former Masters champion and leading money-winner who has not won since his banner season of 1984.

"I hit the irons very, very good today and the putter is working tremendously well."

One of the iron shots was perfect. That came from about 175 yards out on the ninth, where, he said, "I hit it right at the hole — and that's where it ended up."

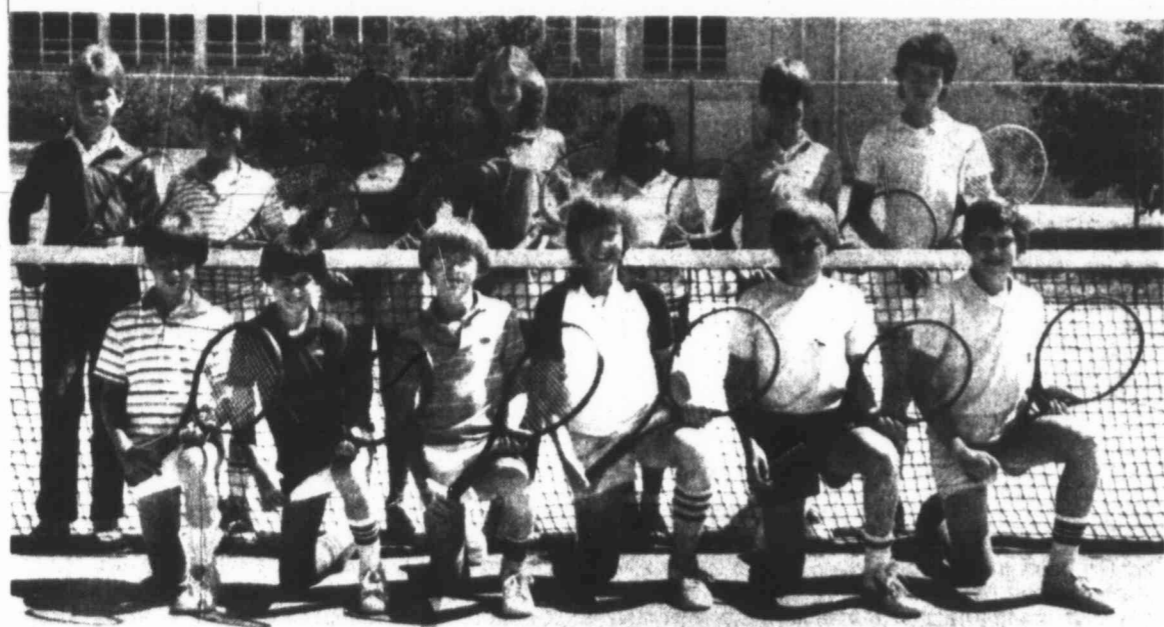

That eagle-2 and a birdie-par-birdie finish helped him to a 205 total, eight shots under par for 54 holes, and prompted his challengers to agree that a superior effort will be necessary to catch Stadler in Sunday's final round.

"It will have to be a 64 or 65; 71 won't do it."

"He'll be a hard man to catch," said Tom Watson, a four-time winner of this event who goes into Sunday's final round of the chase for a $72,000 first prize at 211, six off the pace.

"It looks like Craig is so far out in front, the players behind him will have to take chances. And he won't have to take chances," analyzed Lee Trevino, also at 211.

After bout with Howard Leonard retires again

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Another pot of gold was there for Sugar Ray Leonard to grab. He walked away.

Leonard came back from a 27-month layoff Friday night with a nine-round victory over Kevin Howard, then retired again, saying, "It's just not there."

"He's the only man in the world who can walk away from that amount of money," said Pat Petronelli.

Petronelli, the co-manager of Mavelous Marvin Hagler, the undisputed middleweight champion, said negotiations had been nearly finalized for a fight, which would guarantee Leonard and Hagler each $11 million.

Leonard has made between $38 and $43 million in the ring.

"It's one of those things," said Hagler. "I think he did the right thing."

"My confidence wasn't there," said Leonard, who was knocked down in the fourth round for the first time in his 33-bout pro career. "My ability was. I was apprehensive at being hit. I had cold feet."

"I'm not taking chances with my health and family," said Leonard, who had retired Nov. 9, 1982, following surgery for a detached retina of the left eye. Last Feb. 13, he had undergone treatment to strengthen the retina of his right eye.

"I'm pleased I won, but not with my actual performance," said Leonard, who left the ring to a chorus of boos from an announced crowd of 10,401 at the 13,866-seat Centrum.

"They knew he wasn't going to win. That's why they stopped it," said the 23-year-old Howard. Referee Richard Flaherty halted the fight at 2:28 of the ninth round with Howard in deep trouble, but still on his feet.

Howard was behind on all three official cards and would have needed a knockout in the 10th, and final round, to win.

"Remember, we were in Hagler's ranch," Angelo Dundee, Leonard's manager, said of the crowd's reaction. Hagler lives at Brockton, Mass., about 55 miles away.

But Leonard was stung by the boos.

"The crowd was upset," said the former undisputed welterweight champion. "I can't go on humiliating myself."

Leonard, who will be 28 next Thursday, said he reached the decision to retire when he was knocked down by a right to the jaw.

"I looked at my wife to see if she was OK," he said. "It hit me: 'What am I doing?' It's just not there. In the corner, I felt it wasn't there. I have retired for good."

However, Leonard didn't announce his decision to retire until after talking to his wife, Juanita, who is eight months pregnant, and to his 11-year-old son, Ray Jr.

After they arrived in his dressing room, he talked to them privately. There were no tears, no loud talk, said someone who was there.

Leonard then met the news media and announced his decision.

There was no day-after news conference as there had been after so many moments of past glory — his World Boxing Council title victory over Wilfredo Benitez in 1979, his revenge win over Roberto Duran in 1980 and his 14th-round stoppage of Thomas Hearns for the undisputed welterweight championship in 1981.

The Hearn fight was the crowning moment of a career which Leonard was reluctant to begin.

After winning a gold medal at the 1976 Olympics in Montreal, Leonard said he had achieved his dream.

But family health problems caused him to change his mind, and he launched his dazzling career Feb. 5, 1977 with a six-round decision over Luis "The Bull" Vega at Baltimore.

Leonard's career reportedly ended with a third-round knockout of Bruce Finch on Feb. 15, 1982.

Leonard was scheduled to defend the title against Roger Stafford May 14, 1982 at Buffalo, N.Y., but on May 9, Leonard underwent surgery for the detached retina. On Nov. 9, he announced his retirement.

His record was 32-1, with 23 knockouts. He had the undisputed welterweight title and the World Boxing Association junior middleweight title, which he relinquished without defending.

Leonard's place in boxing lore was secure.

However, the itch for fighting returned and last Dec. 10 after a six-round exhibition at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, Leonard announced his comeback.

"I'm doing something from the heart, not for financial reasons," he said.

Tech

"I've always been goal-oriented," the elder David said recently. "I like to see achievers. I put a lot of pressure on him when he was younger — in the ninth grade — I had backed off since then."

Sparaco recalled a story a friend of his from Tucumcari had told him recently. He would not divulge the source, but he vouched for the story's authenticity.

"I know the guy who said it. It's not fabricated," Sparaco said.

The story concerns a track meet which occurred when David was in the "seventh or eighth grade," according to Sparaco.

A youngster who was competing with David in a running event came up to the judge before the race was to start and asked for help.

"What's wrong?" the judge supposedly said.

"Rod told me that if he lost this race, his father was gonna beat him. I don't know what to do."

Ward David's critique sessions after less-than-regal performances are legendary in the district in which Tucumcari competes.

In fact, Sparaco's last reminiscence of the Davids together came at Tucumcari's April 7 Rattler Relays.

"My kid had beaten Rod in the javelin. And, there they were, out on the field, Mr. David correcting Rod," said Sparaco.

And when Ward David wasn't correcting his son, he was taking up for him — embarrassingly so. Two stories stand out.

There is the one about Ward David coming down out of the crowd to halt proceedings after the 1983 Rattler Relays to demand a recount. His son had actually been the meet's leading scorer, but another participant incorrectly had been awarded the honor.

Sure enough, David was right. He demanded the mistake be corrected publicly over the loud-speaker system.

"He was the high-point individual and they had neglected to say that. I'm not ashamed of that. I'll defend my kids every time," said David.

The most famous case involving Ward David occurred at a football game between Tucumcari and Sparaco's Raton team last fall.

Rod David had carried wide and as he stepped out of bounds, two Raton players "drilled him," according to Sparaco.

"Rod came up swinging and we rushed over to break it up. They tried to make it sound like we had gotten involved in the fight. Which was false. In 10 minutes, it was all cleared up."

But not in Ward David's mind.

"He came out yelling and cussing and generally making a fool of himself. The next week we received a call from somebody — I don't know who — saying the whole matter was going to court. We never heard from him again," Sparaco said.

For his part, Ward David claimed that acts like the one in Raton were premeditated — that the opposition treated his son flagrantly in order to get him to lose his cool.

"He had to take so much from the adults — the boos, the catcalls, the bad remarks," Ward David said. "They'd introduce him before games and jeer him. It was jealousy. They could see it bothered him. Never have I witnessed a situation where a young athlete experienced adversity like he did."

Sparaco admitted Ward David was right.

"Rod was a most gifted athlete. His only problem was his ego. His attitude was his only liability," he said. "We always knew if we could keep the pressure on him, get him rattled, he'd start pointing fingers. He'd be on our side."

While it was true opponents went out of their way to make David mad, Billy Dallas, sports editor of the Lovington Leader, said David brought some of the problems on himself.

"The kid would throw tantrums — especially when they were losing — he was temperamental. I wrote that he played emotionally. I didn't want to single him out. But he was a hot-head," Dallas said.

Ward David claimed Dallas stood under the Lovington basket in the last basketball game of the season between the two teams and jeered at his son — a claim Dallas flatly denied. "But I did join in the boogie like everybody else," he said.

Upon David's death, Dallas wrote a column, in part apologizing for his actions and those of the Lovington rooting section.

Sparaco's team sent the Davids a letter of condolence.

Ward David said he is going to write a book about the affair.

25 try out for cheerleader

Cheerleader elections were held Thursday, May 10. Twenty-five girls tried out to be freshmen cheerleaders. The six lucky girls are Kenda Madry, Tiffanie Evans, Kim Sanders, Ginger Brooks, Stella Vidlak, and Jennifer Spencer. Alternates are Mike Valli, first alternate; Michelle LaGrande, second alternate; and Melissa Torres, third alternate.

Friday, May 11, National Junior Honor Society members, accompanied by James McFarland, Mrs. Carol Greene, and five parents were out of school for a trip to the Midland Mall and Monahans Sand Dunes. Money for the trip was made by Honor Society members selling candy.

All library books were due last Friday. The Calendar Clue category was industrialists.

Wednesday, May 9, Runnels students had their last RIF program for the school year. Reading Is Fundamental is a federal program which encourages students to read by giving each pupil a book of his choice. Mothers who helped Mrs. Mabel Beene, librarian, were Mrs. Bill Brooks, Mrs. James Ellison, Mrs. Russ McEwen and Mrs. Carl Wyrick.

The Runnels Junior High School Band competed in the third annual Snyder Band Festival Saturday, May 5, 1984. The band made a division I in concert and sightreading. These ratings earned the band a special sweepstakes award. The band performed "Alamo March" by K. L. King and "Devonshire Overture" by James Ployar. This is the second straight year the Runnels band has earned an sweepstakes award at the Snyder Festival.

The band students also competed in solo and ensemble competition at the festival. These results are: flute solos earning a division I-Kris Connell, Margaret West, Kim Labbe, Tiffanie Evans, Danella Castillo, Michelle Wiggins, Yvette Garcia, Belinda Quintero, Martina Solis, Katrina Thompson and Elsie Nieto; flute solos earning a division II-Michelle Walls, Teri Herring and Debbie Lee; clarinet solos earning a division I-Lori Holmes, Michelle Smith, Julie Hamby, Tricia Murley, Tammy Herring, Aricia Grant, and Unis Drew; clarinet solos earning a division II-Robert Rhoades; saxophone solos earning a division I-Denise Salazar, Gary Chavez, Lynn Sherrill and Pat Covington; cornet solos earning a division I-Eric Kinman, Thomas Rudd, David Fox, Joanne Paredes, Mary Ann Guevera, Stella Vidlak, Jeff Collier and Angie Wilson; french horns earning a division I-Jennifer Spencer and Lynn Malone; french horn earning a division II-Jenny Smoot; trombone solos earning a division I-Mark Hall, Dewayne Woodall, Brandon Hallford, Torbin McEwen, Tyrone Foster, Pat Collins and Scott Oliver; trombone solos earning a division II-Scott Welch; baritone solos earning a division I-Ed Hernandez and Bobby Parras; baritone solo earning a Division II-Brad Hondnett; percussion solos earning a Division I-Kyle Carroll, Marty Deanda, Craig Knocke and Chris Everts; percussion solo earning a division II-Sean Lauder. The Runnels band made no rating below a division II.

Bands make Division I rating

Goliad bands participated in the Third Annual Snyder Band Festival Saturday, May 5. Advanced and beginning bands, under the direction of Ricky Mitchell, made Division I ratings in concert and sightreading competitions.

Sixth grade students receiving Division I, superior medals in solo competition include the following: flutes-Tara McCann, Kaci McCormick and Pam Barraza; clarinets-Jennifer Lee, Jason Davis, Tricia Tompkins and Heather Hendrickson; saxophones-Scott Neitzel, Alfredo Garcia and Kathryn Whitaker; cornets-Marilyn Corwin, George Robbins and Scott Hunter; horns-Jamey Moss and Theresa Ray; trombone-Stanley Solis; baritone-Jason Peterson; tuba-Charles LaGrande; percussion-Jason Davis, Tracy McElvane and Chase Fraser; piano-Kathryn Whitaker.

Seventh graders making Division I ratings were as follows: flutes-Andy Bacon, Chu-Lai Campos, Erin Kelly, Amy Carroll, Gina Ladwig, Andrea Nieto, Lori Anderson, Angela Chandler, Julie Gomez, Lori Park, Alicia Garcia and Deanna Spilman; clarinets-Kim Watkins, Dianna Fish, Armando Paredes, Jamie Horojos, Adela Ramirez, Aretha Isaiah, Nancy Martinez, Gracie Soliz, Rachel Paredes, Cynthia Olivas and Suzanne Smichnick; bass clarinet-Kevin Gorham; alto saxophones-Velen Garcia, Timmy Gutierrez, Kristina Hollahan, Brent Hartfield, Mandy Sepeda, and Mark Settles; tenor saxophone-Michael Vera; bassoon-Andrew Warner; cornets-Joel Jennings, Lyle Moore, Brad Roberts, Alan Cox, Daniel Freshour, Jacky Turner and Sherry Kessler; horn-Sherman Powers, Mark Barkley and Janene Horton; trombones-Mark Richardson and Brent Kimbell; baritones-Brandon Burnett, Tony Lewis, Andrew Davis and Greg Jones; tubas-Michael Calvia and Christopher Reynolds; percussion-Randall Earnst, Steve Hernandez, John Vidlak, Jino Flores, Chris Mason, Paul Chavez and Paul Krueger; piano-Kim Watkins.

An awards ceremony was held Wednesday, May 9, in the Goliad gym. Honor roll, megaphone, and annual staff awards were handed out. American Legion awards, the highest awards given at Goliad, were given to Jason Phillips and Kelly Newton.

Four students in state meet

Four Coahoma High School students competed in the Texas Industrial Arts Student Association State Competition in Waco May 4th and 5th.

Winning first place with a lamp was Ray Valencia. Andrew Martinez won second place with a crossbow. Mike Duckworth's cedar chest placed second. Carey Jones competed in on-site drafting at the contest.

On Monday, May 14, there will be an OEA meeting and "pot luck" supper in the VOE lab at 7 p.m. All OEA members are encouraged to attend.

National Honor Society probationary members will be inducted Tuesday, May 15, in the high school auditorium at 7 p.m. Senior Jonana Doyle will be inducted as a full member at this time, and the present full members of NHS will present a skit to explain the purposes, meanings and goals of the National Honor Society. All parents and friends are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served at a reception following the ceremony.

Outstanding Coahoma High School students will be rewarded at an awards assembly which will be held Friday, May 18 in the high school auditorium. The program will be held during school hours beginning at 9:45 a.m.

The Big Red Band will perform in their "Spring Concert" on Sunday, May 20, at 2:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The public is urged to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Graduation ceremonies will be held for the CHS class of 1984 in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. May 24.

Community calendar orders will be taken by the CHS Student Council until May 18. Each calendar will cost $3. Birthdays and anniversary dates can be printed on the calendars for an extra charge of 50 cents each. Business advertisements are also being sold for $10.

The Coahoma High School Big Red Band will have tryouts for the flag corp, drum major, and twirler Monday, May 21 at 3:45 p.m. at the high school band hall. The forms must be signed and returned by Friday, May 18.

Booster Club sponsors dance

Friday, May 4, the Sands Booster Club sponsored this year's awards banquet and dance. It was the first dance ever held for the school.

The Ken Peters Award, in honor of the late assistant football coach, was given to junior Mickey Franco. Mrs. Ken Peters and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Pete Peters of Eldorado were in attendance.

Most Valuable Player awards in football went to Robby Creswell for offense and Chris Wightington for defense.

Most Valuable Player awards in basketball went to Lisa Iden and Chris Wightington.

Highest scholastic girl and boy this year were freshman Michelle Hall with a grade point average of 96.36, and senior valedictorian Daniel Franco with a grade point average of 96.16.

'Kidnapped' Texan returns from beach

HOUSTON (AP) — A Texan reportedly kidnapped in Colombia has resurfaced after a trip to the beach, saying he's shocked at the fuss made during his absence.

Michael Logan Jones, a Sweetwater native who now lives in Lufkin, told the Houston Chronicle Friday he was astonished Thursday evening when a coworker showed him a newspaper clipping about his alleged kidnapping.

Jones, who works for a Houston-based oilfield service firm, Baker-Sand Control, did not tell his supervisor he was leaving, said Edgar Cruz, controller for the company in Bogota.

Senior-itis

On Wednesday, May 16, exempt seniors will be finished with their high school career. They will be dismissed from school after their fourth period class Wednesday. All seniors who must take their exams will be dismissed after their fourth period class Thursday, May 17.

Fourth and fifth period exams will be given to seniors on Wednesday, and first, second, third and fourth period exams will be given Thursday.

The annual senior awards assembly will be held Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in the auditorium. Only juniors and seniors will attend.

The annual powderpuff football game is now history. The upper class defeated the lower class 20-8 in a hard fought game.

Several banquets will be held this week. The theatre banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 14, in the auditorium. El Rodeo will hold a senior dinner at the Brandin' Iron Tuesday, May 15. The Youth Achievement Awards Banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 16, at the Country Club. Band will hold its banquet in the cafeteria Saturday, May 19. The Spring Sports Festival will be held from 7-11 p.m. Saturday, May 19 at the YMCA.

Any sophomore who did not order a class ring last week may order one Tuesday, May 15, from 11:45 a.m.-1:30 p.m. A thirty dollar deposit is required.

The Key Club is selling birthday slots for the 1984-85 calendar for 50 cents. All BASIC applications are due in the office Friday, May 18.

Whites TO OUR CUSTOMERS

In our MAY SALE FLYER, effective through May 15, 1984, we advertised a FREE 1/2" Air Impact Tool with the purchase of a 2-HP Twin-Cylinder Compressor (Page 6). Because of a manufacturer's shipping error, our warehouses did not receive the air impact tools. We anticipate that they will be available in our stores in approximately two weeks.

If you purchase the compressor we'll give you a raincheck good for a free air impact tool when the item arrives in our stores.

We are sorry for any inconvenience to our customers and thank you for your patience. Thanks for shopping Whites Hardware Department.

Card of Thanks 115

We wish to thank all of our friends and relatives in Big Spring and Coahoma for the beautiful cards, flowers and visits while Harold was in the hospital.

Also, thanks to Doctors Roa, Crockett, Mathews and Parks and to all the nurses who helped Harold make it!

May God bless you!
Harold Crawford & family

We wish to express our warm appreciation to Dr. Lee and Dr. Arul and to the outstanding SICU staff of the VA Hospital whose medical competency and tender care given to our father, Sam Glover, were of great comfort at our time of loss.

May God Bless You All,
Sandra Gossett & Sammie Byrd

The $49 Over Factory
Invoice Concept

No salespeople, low inventory. Volume selling cuts our total selling expenses by $600 per car sold, making it possible to sell every brand new 1984 and 1985 Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and GMC truck at $49 over factory invoice. No exceptions. Everyone pays the same price at Don Perryman Motors: $49 over the price we pay the manufacturer and we guarantee it in writing. Price includes 3% dealer bonus referred to as "holdback" paid by GM. All factory options are sold at exact factory invoice.
You see the original, untampered, authentic factory invoice. Not a limited offer.

No gimmicks, no pressure, no dickering. Factory order the car or truck of your choice with the exact options and color you want. Six weeks delivery for most models. The Don Perryman Motors staff of professional and courteous auto consultants is available for product information, quick-spec pricing, used car appraisals, and factory ordering. Free paint sealant, fabricare and full tank of gas with every new vehicle delivered, plus free engine oil changes, filters and lubes for the life of your car or truck. We encourage trades. We ask for a $500 deposit. If for any reason you should have to cancel your order, your deposit will be cheerfully refunded. Visit, call or write. Our new concept in auto buying will make your new vehicle purchase a pleasurable experience.

Red Cross is 'people helping people'

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

The phrase, "people helping people," best describes the work of the American Red Cross and its Howard-Glasscock County Chapter. But many people don't realize what the Red Cross actually does, local chapter member Edith Gay said.

The Red Cross provides emergency reporting services to the military for U.S. Armed Forces members and veterans. The service is available when information is needed by military authorities making decisions about emergency leave or emergency extension of leave and to family members unable to talk directly with the service member during a crisis because normal channels of communication are disrupted.

In addition, the service also is provided to service members who can't communicate directly about a home situation or who need to check on a home situation for leave or other purposes.

"They (the military member) don't get emergency leave if the parent calls and says the father died," said Marianne Brown, a member of the local Red Cross board of directors. Mrs. Brown operates a telephone-answering service for emergency calls related to this service.

The American Red Cross also handles any emergency leave. After the family calls the local chapter, the information is passed on to Mrs. Brown, who verifies the emergency and-or details of funeral arrangements.

Then she relays the information to the Red Cross representative where the serviceman is stationed, who works with the serviceman's company commander to make leave and travel arrangements.

Mrs. Brown enjoys the job, she says, because she is able to help people.

"I LOVE THIS JOB. I really do. It's nice. I follow up on it and ask if there is something else I can do. (The family) is alone and they think their world is gone sometimes. I've been in situations where I needed help, and it's good to know someone can help," Mrs. Brown said.

Red Cross policy requires a doctor's statement when a birth, death or illness occurs in the family, before the message will be relayed, she said.

"Doctors often don't realize that it is the procedure when the Red Cross calls and interrupts their work. But it is part of the required process we have to go through to get someone a message and help the family," Mrs. Brown said.

The same Red Cross service provides a health and welfare report for families who have lost contact with a relative in the armed forces. Red Cross tracks down the person and transmits the message to call home. Red Cross also sends fathers news of a birth.

If the military member is unaware of his family situation before he or she receives an emergency message, the Red Cross representative will counsel him.

The Red Cross also provides financial assistance in emergency situations under the following conditions. Emergency Travel Fund money is loaned to military members traveling home on emergency leave with no money.

Military dependents are allotted part of the serviceman's salary. If it doesn't arrive on time and creates a financial burden, the Red Cross tries to help, Mrs. Brown said.

"Sometimes you can call the landlord or utilities. Since you are the Red Cross, they believe you and try to work things out. Sometimes the Red Cross loans money," Mrs. Brown said.

Red Cross advances money to servicemen in transit to a new station if they have problems. It also provides invitational travel orders for the next of kin of a seriously ill military member stationed overseas.

Transportation costs are paid by the military. But if a relative doesn't have money to pay for transportation to the "port of military departure," the local

SERVICE TO MILITARY — Marianne Brown, member of the Howard-Glasscock Counties Chapter of the American Red Cross, assists a family in getting a message to a son stationed at an Air Force Base. The Red Cross provides an extensive amount of emergency services for members and families of military personnel.

Red Cross chapter will loan money for transportation and at least seven days' maintenance money for expenses not covered by the military.

THIS RED CROSS service is offered round-the-clock, Mrs. Brown said. Although she keeps office hours at North Side Center where she works, an answering machine takes calls during the other hours, she said.

"That doesn't mean a Red Cross worker isn't available," she said. She contacts her answering machine frequently to receive messages, she said. "I want people to leave a number where they can be reached when they call," to help her contact them, she said.

Another Red Cross service is disaster relief. "Should there be a disaster — fire, floods, tornado, hail storm or anything that would destroy people's shelter — they need food and clothing," says Louise Nuckolls, a local member who has helped with the Wichita Falls tornado, the St. Louis flood and smaller local disasters.

"If a fire destroys a home, we try to get in there immediately and give them a replacement of clothing and food. If they can live in the place while it's being repaired, they may need bedding if the bedding is destroyed," she said. "The disaster relief committee of the Red Cross operates by meeting the immediate emergency needs of food, clothing or maybe shelter.

"If something happened here, a tornado, the Red Cross first would get a shelter set up in a school auditorium or church's Fellowship Hall. It would be opened up to people who need immediate shelter and would feed them and see that they receive medical attention," Mrs. Nuckolls said.

"It (Red Cross) would set up a service center so (its) workers could fill out the applications for help for each family. The families would need food, clothing and shoes," she said. "The first 24 to 48 hours after a disaster is a madhouse."

TO PROVIDE the necessities, Red Cross issues a disbursement order to grocery or clothing stores for clothing, food or whatever is needed immediately. Each person receives an allotment in a disbursement order, which is like a blank check, Mrs.

CPR — Maria Morgan, left, and Carolyn Krause practice cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) during a CPR course. The course is taught by American Red Cross certified instructors. The course instructs people in what steps to take during a medical emergency where CPR could be used.

Nuckolls said. Local merchants keep a running bill of what each individual spends, Mrs. Nuckolls said. Afterwards, the merchant sends the bill to the American Red Cross office in Washington, D.C. for reimbursement.

Last fall, the back bedroom and bathroom of a family's home on Benton were completely destroyed by fire. A divorced daughter and her children were living in the bedroom. They were able to share rooms with other family members; therefore, they didn't have to move.

To provide the woman clothing, shoes and toiletries, Mrs. Nuckolls issued a disbursement order at K-mart, she said.

"The merchants will cooperate with you real well," she said. "In addition to accepting the disbursement order, K-mart donated $50 worth of linens for the woman's needs. I just thought that was fantastic."

When that portion of the home was rebuilt, the Red Cross and Salvation Army worked together to give the woman bedroom furniture, Mrs. Nuckolls said.

The Red Cross also provides nursing services during disasters, often to elderly victims who have lost their glasses, dentures or medications.

WHEN A DISASTER occurs in another area, Red Cross field directors call each chapter to ask if they have someone who can help. Volunteers from throughout the United States assist with major disasters.

Individual and business contributions are made to the American Red Cross. Forty-six percent of the income raised by each chapter goes to the national headquarters for the organization's disaster relief fund to handle disasters and to pay the headquarters employee's salaries. The national office reimburses the disaster teams for their expenses in taking care of disaster victims.

Local Red Cross chapters also offer several courses in first aid, water safety, small craft safety, nursing and health, youth services, safety aide program and instructor training. These courses are provided to promote individual well-being, to save human lives, and to prevent or reduce human suffering. The classes teach skills that enable students to avoid, be prepared for and cope with simple accidents that may occur in daily life, as well as life-threatening emergencies, and caring for ill family members and others.

"THE RED CROSS has had organized, trained first-aid instruction from the word go," says Dale Young, who keeps records on any first aid and cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training performed by the local chapter.

Today's courses include multi-media instruction: a film, lectures, practice session and instruction books.

"Each student upon completing a Red Cross course is issued a wallet-size certificate card," he said. "Red Cross has always tried to fill a need for mankind in peacetime, wartime and any other type of emergency."

The local chapter has courses in first aid, CPR, swimming and lifesaving. Due to its small size and financial health, it is unable to provide instruction in several courses provided by larger chapters.

Terri McIntosh, a certified lifesaving instructor, teaches the Red Cross lifesaving and swimming classes at her home. She offers the instruction because "they didn't have anybody certified to teach Red Cross swimming. I wanted to see more Red Cross programs in this town."

"A lot of places won't hire a lifeguard unless they have a Red Cross certified lifeguard certificate," Young said.

"I really believe in the Red Cross. They do a lot of great things," Mrs. McIntosh said.

Crestina Soto Perez, Rosa Lee Stewart and Hazel Duggan were honored as outstanding senior citizens by the Howard County Council on Aging during a dinner at the Senior Citizens Center, May 8.

"These ladies have given hours of service to senior citizens," Mary Newell said as she presented them pink carnation corsages and certificates of appreciation.

Mrs. Perez, 203 N.E. 8th, enrolled with the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) in April 1980. She serves with the Howard County Council on Aging as an interpreter of English for the Spanish-speaking people. She works in the Senior Center Country Store from 10 a.m. to noon on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. She also assists with the Northside Community Center every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

"I enjoy doing volunteer work," Mrs. Perez said. "I like to help people. I go and see sick people when I can. I'm busy all the time."

Mrs. Perez's job at Northside Community Center includes cleaning, cooking, sewing, sorting clothes, and helping with the Girl Scouts.

"She does everything. I can always call on her. If it wasn't for Crestina the Northside Community Center would never have functioned at first," said Marianne Brown, Mrs. Perez's neighbor. "She is very dependable and a hard worker."

Mrs. Perez was born at Minquis in Palo Pinto County. She attended school in Eastland. She moved to Big Spring in 1950 and has been a member of St. Thomas Catholic Church for 23 years. In her spare

Longs celebrate Mother's Day Baby gives holiday new meaning

By RHONDA WOODALL
Lifestyle Writer

Today is a special day for Katricia Long and her daughter Ramey Blythe LenShea. They are celebrating their first Mother's Day together.

Mrs. Long gave birth to Blythe May 1 at Malone-Hogan Hospital. "We've wanted a baby for a long time," she said. Mrs. Long and husband Lloyd have been married for two years. "Even though I wasn't a mother he has always given me a present on Mother's Day." One year Long gave his wife perfume, another he presented her with a pair of earrings.

"He's very thoughtful as far as Katricia is concerned," said Jackie Knight, Mrs. Long's mother. "He ordered the flowers for Mrs. Long's room two weeks in advance so they would be there when the baby came."

By Thursday, Long hadn't decided what he wanted to do for his wife on Mother's Day, but he said, "We will spend Mother's Day together."

"They are both great and pretty," he said about his wife and daughter.

Asked who Blythe looked like, Mrs. Long immediately said "Me!" Her mother then showed a picture of Mrs. Long as a baby. Mrs. Knight said, "Of course, she (Blythe) is changing everyday."

Mrs. Long is proud of her daughter. "She already acts so big. She likes to sit up and talk. I think she is beautiful and she is the smartest baby in the world," Mrs. Long said. "Of course all mothers think that. I think she was well worth everything—the cesarean, the labor, the nine months of being pregnant, and the keeping me up at night."

Mrs. Long has some plans for her daughter's future. "I want to try to do everything with her as early as possible. I hope to educate her as much as I can before she starts school," Mrs. Long said.

"I'm going to try to give her everything I can without spoiling her. I want to give her everything she needs and let her be her own person. I don't want to force her into doing anything, but I want her to do as much as she can, so she'll be a smart baby. Children learn more before they are five years old than they do the rest of their lives."

As a mother, Mrs. Long wants to do her best. "I just want to try to be a good mother and spend as much time with her as I can even though I'll be going to school. I want to try to encourage family bonds and to impress on her the importance of the family. I think that has an effect on babies."

Mrs. Long plans to go back to nursing school at Howard College. She dropped out of school when she found out she was pregnant. She wanted to complete all her schooling at the same time.

Engagements

JUNE WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. Dinsel R. Evans, Abilene, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Debra R., to James Gross. Gross is the son of Irene McCullough, Big Spring, and Don Gross of California. The couple will wed June 16 at Glad Tidings Assembly of God Church of Abilene with the Rev. Roy Evans, pastor, officiating.

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Strickland, Forsan, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Connie, to J.C. Moore of Forsan. Moore is the son of Juanita Moore of Forsan and Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Moore of Gaylord, Mich. The couple will wed June 1 in Big Spring.

PLANS ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Tomas Rodriguez Sr., Stanton, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Edillia, to Alfredo Flores, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Flores of Stanton. The couple will wed June 16 at the First United Methodist Church in Stanton.

Statham announces engagement

Leroy Statham, 2412 Runnels, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Deborah Janiece, to Duane Tillman. Tillman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Tillman of Olton.

Miss Statham also is the daughter of the late Jan Statham. The couple will wed in September in Lubbock.

A candidate's measure of success is directly tied to his support by you the voters. Therefore, the fact that I will be in a runoff for County Commissioner Precinct 3, on June 2 is because many of you gave me your vote. I thank you for your confidence in my candidacy and I hope you will favor me with your vote again on June 2nd.

I would like to ask those of you who voted for other candidates to consider me as your candidate on June 2nd.

Thanks

Grandparents also played a special role in the life of a new baby. "Lloyd and I appreciated all the help of our parents Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Len Long, and Jimmy Ramey. They made it easier with us having a baby."

The Longs told Mrs. Knight she was going to be a grandmother on Grandparents' Day, Sept. 11, 1983. "We found out Sept. 3, and I could hardly wait to tell her," Mrs. Long said.

The Longs enjoy following tradition, and Mother's Day will probably be a new one for the family. Blythe wore the same pajamas home from the hospital that her mother wore home from the hospital. One of Blythe's toys is a squeeze kitten, which was Mrs. Long's first toy.

Aggies participate in Brazos march

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

The annual March to the Brazos is an Aggie tradition that began nearly a decade ago. In this year's march in April, local Texas A & M students that participated in the event were LT. MARK MADIGAN, SGT. MAJOR MATHEW TAYLOR and CPL. JOHNNY HATCH.

It began one year around April 1, when cadets would play pranks on the Texas A & M University as April Fools' jokes. So many jokes were played on the university that the administration decided to punish the Cadets by submitting them to a forced march of 7 miles to the Brazos River and back.

For years this happened every April 1, until someone decided to change the purpose of the March. Now prior to the March, Cadets collect donations to be given to the March of Dimes.

In 1983 the Corps of Cadets collected nearly $30,000 and was given the honor of being the single largest contributor to the March of Dimes in Texas.

The March to the Brazos now consists of the 7 mile hike to the river and competitive games. Stretcher and chariot races are among the day's group participation sports.

Prizes were given to the outfit and individual Cadet who collected the most money. This year, head football coach JACKIE SHERRIL gave the cadets who collected the most money a chance to fly on the team jet to the Arkansas game.

MARJ CARPENTER was in town briefly on her way from Phoenix to Dallas and visited a few friends. "I couldn't see them all in 24 hours," she said. Marj is national news director for the Presbyterian Church U.S.A., out of Atlanta, Ga. She edits the weekly newsletter and articles for the monthly magazine that is published.

MARJ says she enjoys her job. She has been to 21 countries in two years on mission stories. She will operate the press room at the national meeting, which will be in Phoenix, Ariz. this month. She had been out there seeing about printers and things and was on her way to Dallas when she detoured into the Spring City.

Last Sunday, the hit country-western group "ALABAMA" was grocery shopping at the Safeway in College Park Shopping Center. No one bothered them in the store, says VALERIE SIMMONS, an Alabama fan who saw them. "But when they got back to their bus and semi-trucks, people were all

DREAM COMES TRUE FOR JOY BOYD!

After working for the State National Bank for over ten years, Joy purchased Highland Hallmark from the Ralph Henderson's March 1st of this year. Joy loves cards and the creativity fostered by the many accessories available from her suppliers. Hallmark stands for the high standards and fine quality Joy is proud to represent. She plans to enlarge her gift department when she attends the July gift show in Dallas.

Joy is married to Hal Boyd who is the Big Spring Industrial Park Manager. They moved here in late 1973 and have worked hard in the community ever since their arrival. They were very active with the Centennial activities which were held in '81. Hal is a Rotarian and both are involved in their church. They have one son, Mike who is an A&M graduate and the vice president of a San Angelo bank.

Two longtime employees; Helen Gregory and Goldie Hogue, stayed on to work with Joy and she credits the easy transition of ownership to their knowledge of the merchandise and their friendly personalities. Joy says the store is "fun work" and she loves visiting with the public especially since she seems to meet friends every day at the shop.

Joy has recently revised the party area of the shop and is very excited about the festive ware from Hallmark which will allow complete mood changes in the dining room at paper ware prices. The colors and patterns range from sleek greys and sophisticated wines to the bright crayola colors of summer. There are theme groupings for the younger set complete with matching stickers and favors! The store is airy and bright with special attention areas for children, the kitchen and brides. The shop is full of ideas and now it has Joy! The Highland merchants are delighted to have Joy Boyd of Highland Hallmark as their featured merchant this month of May!

Dear Abby

"A Prayer for Mamma" honors her kindness

DEAR READERS: The following column was last published in 1980. A significant number of readers wrote to say it deserved to be rerun every few years:

DEAR ABBY: I am a long-time reader but have never written before. I am enclosing a part of your column that I have kept in my Bible for years. As you can see, it is yellowed and shredded and half of it is missing. I don't know how many hundreds of times I have read it. It gave me such a feeling of peace and comfort, it was titled "A Prayer for Mamma."

Will you please print it again? I would love to have another copy. Thank you.

DOROTHY L.

DEAR DOROTHY: With pleasure: It is the one Jews recite on Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement) to honor the memory of a deceased mother.

In Memory of a Mother
I remember thee in this solemn hour, my dear mother. I remember the days when thou didst dwell on earth, and they tender love watched over me like a guardian angel. Thou has gone from me, but the bond which unites our souls can never be severed; thine image lives within my heart. May the merciful Father reward thee for the faithfulness and kindness thou hast shown me; may he lift up the light of his countenance upon thee, and grant thee eternal peace! Amen.

DEAR ABBY: I love birds, which is why I'm writing. For some years now, I have been offended by the expression "for the birds." When people want to express a negative opinion of something, they say, "It's for the birds."

Why, Abby? Birds are the most beautiful of all God's creatures, and their music is among the most glorious of all sounds. What did they ever do to earn the disparaging "It's for the birds" reputation? I would like to know where that unkind expression originated.

FOR THE BIRDS
DEAR FOR: So would I. If a word (or a bird) lover out there knows, I'll deliver the message.

time, she likes to quilt and work in her yard. Mrs. Perez and husband Juan have one daughter, Olga Scott of Corpus Christi.

Rosa Lee Stewart, 808 N.W. 4th, joined RVSP two years ago following her retirement from Hall-Bennett Hospital. "It gives me something to do. It lets me get out and visit," she said. "I just enjoy whatever I'm doing to help the community and church."

Mrs. Stewart is proud of the award Howard County Council on Aging gave her. "I appreciate it very much, and it has encouraged me to continue to help and do for the community."

Mrs. Stewart stays active in her church, Bakers Chapel A.M.E. Church, where she is assistant Sunday school superintendent. She served as Sunday school superintendent for 25 years.

Mrs. Stewart was born in Sulphur Springs where she attended and graduated from school. She came to Big Spring in 1935. She has one daughter Louise Birot of Mineral Wells and 4 grandchildren. Mrs. Stewart is a member of the Ever Ready Civic and Art Club. She worked at Hall-Bennett Hospital as head of the linen room until she retired. Mrs. Stewart now is caring for a blind sister.

Hazel Duggan, 2305 Cindy, does volunteer work for the library by delivering books every third Tuesday, for the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Escort Services, for the Big Spring State Hospital, and for the Howard County Council of Aging by delivering Mobile Meals each Thursday.

Mrs. Duggan got interested in RSVP when Joy Decker recruited her. "I just enjoy it. I really do like all my jobs."

Mrs. Duggan has served as a Sunday School teacher and is a Communion Steward at her church, First United Methodist Church. She was born in San Marcos, where she attended school and college. She graduated from San Marcos Teachers College in San Marcos. She came to Big Spring in 1951.

Mrs. Duggan has two children, David Duggan, Big Spring, and Carol Eggleston in Greenwood. She also has two grandchildren. She is a member of Big Spring Art Association and Retired Teachers Association. She enjoys sewing and traveling.

"THOSE CRAZY

what is their bag?

Are they Protestant, Catholic, or something in between? Call them anything you please. Episcopalians are Protestant because their forebears were among the leaders of the Protestant Reformation in 16th-Century England. But the word "Catholic" means "universal" and Episcopalians are quick to embrace the universality of all Christian denominations. They do not believe that heaven is reserved for those who agree, jot and tittle, with their particular views.

What place does the Bible occupy in the Episcopal faith? It's central. No Episcopal is required to accept any belief that doesn't agree with Holy Scripture.

Then why do they use a Prayer Book? The Episcopal Book of Common Prayer serves several purposes. It's an excellent key to understanding the Bible. It assures reading and teaching in church solely from the Bible; it's a complete guide to worship.

The word "common" in the title means "together." Episcopalians pray and praise God together, believing—as they do—that worship is no spectator sport. Thanks to the Prayer Book, their services cannot be dominated by the minister's whims.

Then why the need for instruction and confirmation? In the Episcopal church, confirmation marks the renewal of baptismal vows.

Thus the promises made for a child in baptism are confirmed by the candidate himself in a spirit of matured Christian conviction.

Correspondingly, the service signifies a confirmation, on God's part, of His promise of salvation.

Simple instruction by the clergy assures an understanding of the Church's basic beliefs and customs before the candidate assumes the responsibilities of communicant status.

Does this mean they have a "closed" communion? Not at all, although the Episcopal church regards communion as a true sacrament and not just a memorial. Any baptized person is welcome to join in an Episcopal communion service if his own church's discipline permits him to do so.

Are visitors welcomed to Episcopal services? Absolutely. At any service. It's customary for Episcopalians to remain quiet until they're outside the church, which explains why some visitors look on them as unfriendly. Just stick around after the service. There's usually coffee in the nearby parish hall... and plenty of opportunity to get acquainted. Feel free to ask the minister for an appointment to discuss anything you find puzzling about the Episcopal faith. He'll be delighted...and wouldn't think of "twisting your arm" to join his church. That sort of decision must come from you, or it loses meaning.

Dr. Donohue

Mental pulse-taking effective

Dear Dr. Donohue: The idea of using the Borg Scale for measuring exercise intensity appeals to me, but I wonder just how effective it is, or rather, just how closely it measures up to other scales of intensity, like actually measuring the pulse during exercise. — F.N.

The Borg Scale measures up pretty well, although you are certainly not going to get the precision you get from other, objective scales, such as those based on actual pulse-rate changes during exercise.

For other readers, I should mention that the Borg Scale, developed by Dr. Gunnar A. Borg, permits the exerciser to estimate the exercise intensity based on his perceptions: how difficult he perceives the exercise to be. It measures exercise intensity from 0 (nothing) to 10 (very strong).

There are surprisingly close correlations between this form of mental pulse-taking and chemical testing of what actually is going on in the body during the exercise. A casual walk, using the Borg Scale, might give a person a perception of relative exercise intensity of, say, 2 or 3. As he speeds up, his perception of difficulty might get to 5 or so. If he were to break into a full run, he would soon see the difficulty rise sharply, and were he to reach a point of exhaustion, he would be at around the 10 or 10-plus level. See what I mean.

A related question: With physical fitness the fad now, could you comment on what a person can do to monitor himself while working out? I am 65 and have a resting pulse rate of 70. I have heard you subtract your age from 220 and take 70 percent of that figure to arrive at the proper exercise heart rate you must sustain for 15-20 minutes. — D.M.S.

The formula you quote is a common one. Pulse or heart rate (same thing) is a convenient way to measure aerobic capacity and the aerobic effect of exercise. It's a substitute for very expensive measuring equipment and the less scientific Borg Scale (see letter above).
A 65-year-old raising his heart to 110 beats a minute assures himself aerobic benefits. You don't have to raise it any higher than that, assuming you are using the scale to which you refer. And I hope you have approval for your exercise from your physician. Even following such a formula, as safe as it may seem, can be contraindicated for certain out-of-shape individuals.

Now I can give you a more complicated formula. Subtract your pulse rate at rest from the maximum pulse rate attainable by a 65-year-old, which is 175. For you that would be 70 from 175, which will give you 105. Take 30 to 45 percent of that number (the 105) and you get a range of 31 to 47. That's the number of beats per minute you have to achieve over your resting pulse to get aerobic benefit.

Again for you, that is 70 plus 31 (for a total of 101 beats a minute) up to 70 plus 47 (for a total of 117 beats a minute). In short, you can raise your heart rate to anywhere between 101 and 117 beats per minute and have a good aerobic effect on your cardiovascular system.

Information for 1944 BSHS class needed

On Turning Heads

by Gary Don

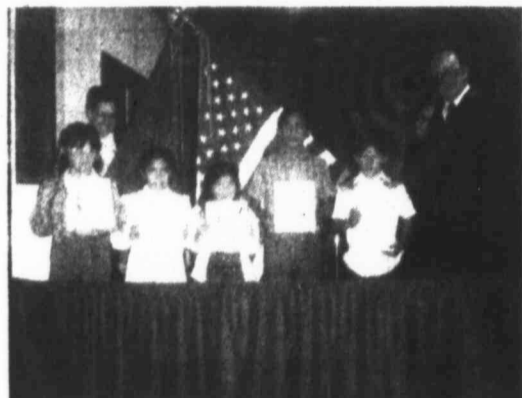

Since the outer cuticle layer on fine hair is just as tough as on any other hair type, there is no need to forego hair coloring. In fact coloring can help fill out fine hair, both physically and visually. Fine hair that is extremely light, especially when graying, tends to look even thinner. If it is very blonde, thin hair may even look transparent. If it is very dark and sparse, its thinness will be even more obvious. However, these problems of thin hair are easy to correct. Fine hair takes to color more easily than other hair types because each hair is narrower. Also, because less color development time is needed, the risk of damaging the cuticle is significantly reduced.

With the spring season upon us, why not spring into the warm weather with a new hairstyle. You will find the staff at LA CON-TESA ready to assist you with all the latest cuts and hair styles for the carefree lifestyle. You will find us conveniently located at 1508 Marcy. The Salvation Army: Serving Big Spring Over 50 Years

Young people join as Junior Soldiers.

Annual Doll Tree is created by volunteers.

Ladies Home League take CPR Classes.

Mobile Canteen responds to disasters.

Sunbeams receive achievement awards.

Army sponsors six summer youth camps.

On a field trip to the fire station.

S.A.A.C. stresses achievement for boys.

Wherever the Salvation Army serves, it's a shining example of faith in action. In a combined program of social services, recreation and education, worship and Christian service, the emphasis is always to meet the needs of the whole person — body, mind and spirit. The Army gladly helps all people in need, regardless of race, color, creed, sex, or age.

Admirers of The Army's practical no-nonsense Christian work say they can put maximum energy and limited funds to remarkable use, and can stretch a dollar very effectively.

Every day The Salvation Army's creed is put to the test by local people needing energy aid, food, clothing, shelter, medicine, transportation and many other services. The Army provides 24-hour emergency shelter, welfare to deprived families, disaster relief, refugee socialization and community transition, summer camps for socio-economically deprived families, family and marriage counseling, traveler's aid, rehabilitation of alcoholics and much more. The Army operates a Thrift Store where those of limited resources can purchase goods at a small cost, and it maintains a storehouse for emergency and disaster needs.

The Army's greatest pride is its program of youth activities that stress character building. — Girl Guards, S.A.A.C. and Sunbeams. A Big Spring lad, Sean Braun, earned the distinction of national Honor Camper for 1983, besting the campers from 44 Army units.

The Salvation Army of Big Spring constantly evaluates its programs to meet the community's changing needs. An Advisory Board made up of volunteers helps strengthen the effectiveness of the Army by acting as liaison to the community.

The Big Spring Salvation Army receives the largest amount of its funds — 69% from public support, with 17% from United Fund donations, and 14% from internal fees. The 1983 operations budget was $214,560. Over 70% of assistance in 1983 was to local residents, with a decline in aid to transients.

Every day, the programs of social service and spiritual guidance of The Salvation Army of Big Spring are working to give people from all walks of life direction, hope, inner strength and a chance for a better future.

Anniversary

The Mike Ramirezes

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Ramirez, 110 Carey St., observed their 25th wedding anniversary with a candlelight dinner, Saturday.

Ramirez met the former Anamaria Medina of Sterling City in 1956 at a local hospital. The couple married on Mrs. Ramirez's birthday, May 9, 1959 at First Baptist Church of Sterling City with the late Rev. Simon Natividad, Ramirez's brother-in-law, officiating.

The couple has three children, Yvonne Ramirez, 801A Willa, Gina Valencia, 1609 Lark, and Paul Ramirez of the home. They have two grandchildren.

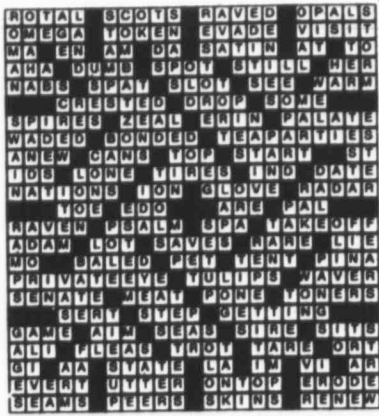

The couple has lived in Big Spring throughout their entire marriage. Ramirez, who is retired, worked at the Veterans Administration Medical Center as hospital baker for 21 years and as a cook for two. Mrs. Ramirez operates the Big Dipper Donut Shop with the couple's son.

The Ramirezes are Baptist. The couple enjoys people. Ramirez is a licensed pilot, but is unable to fly due to medical reasons. He enjoys playing golf and the piano.

SOLUTION

We would like to take this means of thanking all the wonderful people who have helped us when we needed you.

We appreciate everything that was done including the fund, flowers, food, visits, prayers, kindnesses, large and small.

It is so nice to live in a town where people still believe in helping people.

May God bless all of you,
Gary and Nancy Richardson

Solution cleans crystal prisms

Wash crystal prisms from chandeliers safely and quickly in a French fry basket. Just dunk several times in a solution of hot water and detergent until clean. Then rinse in clear water and drain in the basket.

Alligator clips hold workshop projects together

Before throwing out an old set of jumper cables, cut off the alligator clips on the ends. They can be used to hold workshop projects together.

Weddings

MRS. PAUL MICHAEL WISEMAN
...formerly Julie Ann Davidson

Davidson-Wiseman

Julie Ann Davidson became the bride of Paul Michael Wiseman, both of Midland during a Saturday afternoon wedding at Crestview Baptist Church in Midland with Dr. Kenneth Hall officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mary Ann Carter of Midland and Kenneth C. Davidson, Anderson Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Wiseman of Dallas.

The bridegroom and Melinda Reed sang two songs written by the bridegroom.

Deborah Caffey of Ft. Worth was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Tanga Cain and Debbie Davidson of Lubbock, bride's sister-in-law. Flower girls were Dacia Dolloff of Midland, cousin of the bride, and Kimberly Carter of Midland, bride's sister.

C.C. Wiseman of Dallas served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Frank Millwood and Ty Morris, Jr., both of Midland. Ushers were Richard Davidson of Lubbock, bride's brother, Michael Davidson, bride's brother, James Dumas of Midland and Kip Culpepper of Midland, bride's cousin. Kevin Ries of Midland was ring bearer.

Following a wedding trip to Clouderoft, N.M., the couple will make their home in Midland.

Jones-Forshee

Clare Ann Jones and Jeffrey Clark Forshee were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, April 28. The ceremony was officiated by the Rev. David Fisher of Big Spring, Baptist minister.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Roman of League City Texas and Robert E. Jones of Houston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Forshee, Sterling City Rt.

The bride, given in marriage by her father and step-father, wore a gown of white dotted swiss and Venice lace with a high neckline and a bouffant skirt. She wore a fingertip-length veil held by a large white picture hat covered with Venice lace. She carried a bouquet of spring blossoms mixed with daisies.

The bride's attendants were Jennifer Jones of League City, sister of the bride, and Monica Hieno of Houston.

Craig Forshee of Boerne served his brother as best man. Lt. (USN) Robert E. Jones Jr. of Arlington, brother of the bride, was groomsmen.

Following the ceremony, a garden reception was held.

Following a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, the couple will make their home in Granbury.
