Cotton crop delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Along with other producers, cotton farmers have been held back in this spring's planting, reflecting contrary weather that has meant muddy fields in some areas and powdery dry soil in others.

As of mid-May, according to the Agriculture Department, about 40 percent of the intended acreage in the major cotton states had been planted, compared to 48 percent a year ago and the long-time average of 52 percent.

Meanwhile, USDA analysts say there is a relatively tight supply outlook for American producers in the 1984-85 cotton marketing year that will begin on Aug. 1. Of course, a lot could happen between now and then, but there are some reasons for their predictions.

First, the world outlook for cotton points to sharply higher production, some increase in total use, and a rise in cotton stocks by the end of the 1984-85 season, according to a recent USDA supply-and-demand report.

"Global output may expand around six million bales to a record 73.5 million, reflecting a nearly 50 percent recovery in U.S. production," the report said.

World cotton production in 1983-84 is estimated at 67.6 million bales, down from 70.8 million bales in 1982-83.

Total world "consumption" of cotton in 1984-85 was projected at 71.2 million bales, also a record, an increase of about 2 million bales from this season.

According to the projections, the U.S. cotton inventory or carryover at the end of the 1984-85 marketing year could rise to about 3.2 million bales from a recent low of 2.9 million bales estimated for this Aug. 1. Even so, that would be less than half of the U.S. cotton carryover of 7.9 million bales on Aug. 1, 1983.

On a global basis, cotton stocks could rise to 29.5 million bales by the end of 1984-85, an increase during the year of about 2.2 million bales.

Health fair, Rainbow Project draw big crowd

By RICK BROWN

More than a thousand residents of all ages concerned about their health turned out yesterday at the Big Spring Mall for the Big Spring Health Fair.

There was much free medical advice to be had among the fair's 40 booths that were set up both inside and outside the mall. Persons listened to video-taped presentations on such varied subjects as planned parenthood and the problems of lice. Also available were 15 diagnostic health screenings.

The screenings, which were manned by doctors, dentists and health professionals from virtually all local hospitals and clinics, were designed to help participants "take responsibility for their own health," according to fair organizer Barbara Holdampf.

"Nationally, this is where health care is going because of the costs," said Mrs. Holdampf. "The focus is on wellness," she said.

Participants found out the state of their health in screenings that included checks for diabetes, anemia, hearing condition, dental condition, knee-joint strength, glaucoma and rectal-colon cancer.

According to Mrs. Holdampf, this year's fair had a greater emphasis on diagnostic techniques that use "high-tech" machinery.

A highlight of the fair was a high-frequency sonic wave ultra-sound diagnostic unit that provided a picture of internal organs without the use of x-rays.

During a demonstration of the unit, a microphone-shaped wand that emitted sonic waves was rubbed against the chest area of a volunteer. On an attached viewing screen, members of the audience could see the actual opening and closing of valves in the volunteer's heart.

Comments of "Wow!" and "Isn't that amazing!" were heard from the audience. Later,

Conventions elect delegates

• Demos send 16 to state • GOP adopts resolutions

Howard County Democrats met during a lengthy convention Saturday night to choose 16 delegates and 16 alternates to the State Democratic Convention in Houston June 15-16.

Wayne Burns was elected chairman of the convention. Kay Burns was secretary.

Burns explained that the number of delegates allocated to the county was derived from the number of Democrats who voted in the governor's election in 1982. For each 300 voters, the county is eligible to send one delegate.

According to county calculations, 4,696 Democrats voted within the county. The 16 delegates were computed from that figure.

A delegate was chosen from each precinct that recorded at least 300 votes. Precincts with less than that total were combined until 300 voters were amassed.

Twelve delegates were elected from precincts and four were elected at-large.

According to Mrs. Burns, delegates for Walter Mondale are Eric Sanchez (precincts 102 and 103); Wayne Burns, (201, 202, 203); Mack Underwood, (401-402); Roy Tubb (404-105-205); Dale Ferguson, (206-104); Joe Horton (204); Omar Jones (303); Thomas Woolverton (304); Walt Finley (302-201); and at-large delegate Kay Burns.

Mondale alternates are Pat Deanda, (102-103); Cliff Ferguson (206-104); Bob Hutte, (204); John Roemer (303); Virginia Bridge (304); Mrs. Walt Finley (302-301); and at-large alternate D.A. Brazel.

Delegates for Gary Hart, all elected at-large, are Mary Thomas, Ann Weaver, Jaynet Smith, Steve Davis and alternate W.E. Desatell.

Delegates for Jesse Jackson are Barbara Davis (101, alternate, Carol Cooper); and at-large delegate Adelaide F. Brown (with Israel Cooper, alternate.)

At press time Saturday night, Democrats at the convention were discussing several resolutions. Results of that vote will be released at a later date.

The state delegates will have the final say in selection of the 200 Texas delegates to the national Democratic convention.

Resolutions about the Texas caucus system, which required voters to return to meetings on the day of the May 5 primary, and a possible switch to a presidential primary system were on the agenda at many meetings.

With approximately 70 percent of the precincts counted from the May 5 caucuses, Mondale had 49.7 percent of the voter, followed by 27 percent for Gary Hart and 16.9 percent for Jesse Jackson.

Howard County Republicans elected 12 delegates to the state convention and adopted nine resolutions yesterday at party's county convention held in the 118th District courtroom.

Republicans all over the state, as well as Big Spring, Saturday selected delegates to the state convention slated for June 15 and 16 in Fort Worth.

Texas Republican delegates selected to the state convention will pick the GOP's 109-member delegation to the national convention in Dallas.

Big Spring GOP delegates going to the state convention will be Maxwell Green, Spencer Wolfe, Charles Christopher, Ben Bancroft, Jerry Worthy, Margaret Sprinke, Betty Wrinkle, Bill Crooker, Ann Wilkins, Keith Walker, Mary Jo Cowper, and Jane Thomas.

Alternates include Claudene Cooper, Louise Worthy, William Sprine, Clayton McKinnon, Bob Madigan, Michael Giberson, Robert Wrinkle, Tim Mayes, Janet Wolfe, Dan Wilkins, Jerry Grimes, and Katie Grimes.

The local Republicans also adopted nine resolutions to be carried to the state convention. The following is a summary of the resolutions:

• Require the federal government to operate within a balanced budget, except in time of national emergency.

• Build and maintain a stronger national defense. Specifically: maintain conventional forces in Europe, maintain a primary strategic nuclear force, develop a space-based defense system.

• Encourage the federal government to search for ways and methods to reduce the size and cost of government.

• Strengthen and protect the right of parents to direct their children's education, strengthen the teacher certification program, set rigid academic standards for students, and establish education programs on a state level rather than a national one.

• Limit the term of office of a U.S. representative to three consecutive terms, and that of a U.S. senator to two consecutive terms.

• Eliminate abuse of Social Security system.

• Encourage Congress to effectively stop illegal immigration by whatever manner necessary, permitting entrance only according to legal and proven procedures.

• Eliminate welfare abuse. Also establish a welfare program on the local and state level rather than on the national level.

• Urge the President to invoke the Monroe Doctrine when necessary to stop the advance of communism in South and Central America.

N-agency nixes big meetings

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The manager of a state agency searching for a low-level nuclear waste dump site in West Texas says his agency no longer will meet with large groups of citizens, but will conduct smaller meetings with civic organizations.

Rick Jacobi, general manager of the Texas Low Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority, said Thursday that the decision was made because "town hall meetings tend to get out of hand."

"Emotion takes over, and no one can think," Jacobi said.

In January, more than 1,000 angry Dimmit County residents met with authority directors in Asherton.

Jacobi said the authority instead will meet regularly with "smaller groups of 15 or 20 people."

"We'll get together with chambers of commerce, Kiwanis, Lions Clubs, groups like that," he told the San Antonio Light.

The decision came, Jacobi said, when the authority's board of directors reviewed a study on improving public understanding of the agency.

Ullmann on crusade

UNITED NATIONS — Actress Liv Ullmann, who recently toured Mali on behalf of the United Nations Children's Fund, says she has become less of a favorite on the talk-show circuit since she began talking more about starvation than about show business.

The 45-year-old goodwill ambassador for UNICEF said at a New York news conference Friday that if she had been born in the drought-stricken African nation instead of Norway, "my life expectancy would be over. I would be dead."

Her voice trembled as she described witnessing nomadic women digging for water with bloodied hands.

"When you asked people, 'What do you eat?' they replied, 'I didn't have food today. I didn't have food yesterday. I hope I have food tomorrow,'" she said.

She said she was trying to publicize the problems of the poorer nations to overcome indifference in developed countries, but noted that some television and radio talk shows are not eager to have her as a guest if she insists on talking about starving and disease-ridden children.

To get on some shows, she said, "I have to promise not to talk about oral rehydration" — a simple, inexpensive method for countering the dehydrating effects of diarrhea through the use of a solution of salt and sugar.

Jones cancels 2 shows

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Country singer George Jones was forced to cancel two performances this weekend because of a throat ailment, a spokeswoman for his booking agency said.

GEORGE JONES

Jones, 52, was examined by a throat specialist in Columbus, Ohio, on Friday and was found to have bronchitis and pharyngitis, an inflammation of the pharynx, said Karen Duncan of Regency Artists of Los Angeles.

The singer canceled today's concert at the Ford Fieldhouse in Grand Rapids, Mich., and one Sunday at the Lewis J. Tullio Convention Center in Erie, Penn.

Jones, whose hits have included "He Stopped Loving Her Today," "She Thinks I Still Care," "Take Me" and "Things Have Gone to Pieces," performed Wednesday in Lancaster, Ohio, and Thursday in Springfield, Ohio, Ms. Duncan said.

Chernenko wants treaty banning space weapons

MOSCOW (AP) — President Konstantin U. Chernenko called Saturday for a ban on all space weapons and accused the United States of wanting to turn space "into an arena of aggression and war."

CHERENKO ... calls for ban

Chernenko, in a letter to U.S. scientists released by the Soviet news agency Tass, urged all nations that possess space weaponry to sign a Soviet draft treaty that calls for a ban on space weapons.

"There are some who would like to turn space into an arena of aggression and war, as is clear from the plans announced in the U.S.A.," he said in the letter.

Chernenko accused the United States of planning to deploy anti-missile systems in space and said Washington intended to station "super new types of weapons" in space that could strike targets on land, at sea and in the air.

Chernenko's statement did not contain anything different from offers made by the late President Yuri V. Andropov, first to a group of American scientists in April 1983 and again last August during a meeting with nine U.S. Democratic senators.

Since that time, the United States has pressed ahead with plans to develop anti-satellite weapons. It has said the Soviet Union already possesses similar weaponry that can be fired from Earth into orbit.

Tass said Chernenko's letter was addressed to American scientists Carl Sagan and Richard Garvin.

The two wrote to Chernenko and other world leaders in support of the Soviet draft treaty on banning space weapons, Tass said.

President Reagan, who has proposed research into space-based anti-missile weapons, said in February that it would not be wise to open negotiations with the Soviet Union on a new treaty because it would be almost impossible to verify Soviet compliance.

A senior U.S. diplomat said this week that the Kremlin had suggested the two nations discuss space weaponry and the White House had agreed, but the superpowers had disagreed on what would be discussed.

"We offered to discuss whether placing weapons in space would be a violation of existing space agreements," said the diplomat, who spoke on condition he not be identified.

He said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko turned down the offer, saying the Soviet Union only wanted to negotiate on the proposed treaty, which has been submitted to the United Nations General Assembly.

"Gromyko says he'll only negotiate, he won't just talk. We say it's impossible to have any negotiations until you define the subject," the diplomat said.

In his letter, Chernenko reiterated the Soviet position on the arms race, saying it opposed the weapons competition, but would "take measures for ensuring its security" if it is faced with a threat from space.

He said ideas "that it is possible to blaze a road toward military superiority through outer space are based on illusions."

He said steps to ban such weapons must be taken quickly, before the militarization of outer space "acquires an irreversible character."

Tanker sinks in Persian Gulf

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — A steel-laden freighter hit by an Iraqi missile sank Saturday in the Persian Gulf, shipping sources said. It was the latest in a string of attacks by Iran or Iraq that have threatened gulf oil shipping.

The 17,000-ton freighter Fidelity, of Panamanian registry, was near Iran's Kharg Island oil terminal, headed toward the Iranian port of Bandar Khomeini with a load of Spanish steel, when it was attacked Friday.

Shipping sources said 230,000-ton Spanish oil tanker Barcelona escaped an attack at the same time the Fidelity sustained a direct hit.

"The Spanish tanker Barcelona was not hurt, but the Fidelity sank ... A mayday call was received from its captain to that effect," said a Bahrain-based executive of a European ship salvage company. He spoke on condition he not be identified.

At least 19 other vessels, including several huge oil tankers, have been attacked in the gulf region since February. Five of the eight ships attacked since April 25 were tankers registered in Kuwait or Saudi Arabia. Iran and Iraq have been at war since September 1980.

Shipping sources at Dubai, the United Arab Emirates, said 24 crewmen of the Fidelity were rescued by other ships or Iranian helicopters while nine escaped in life rafts. There was no word on any casualties. Lloyd's Shipping Intelligence of London said it was uncertain how many crewmen the ship had.

On Friday, the Iraqi military said its warplanes hit two "big" naval targets near Iran's main Kharg Island oil terminal. On Saturday, the Iraqi state radio in Baghdad quoted unidentified shipping sources as "admitting that one of the two naval targets which were successfully hit by Iraqi planes yesterday has sunk near the Iranian oil terminal in Kharg Island."

State prison board calls emergency meeting

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — The Texas Board of Corrections has called an emergency meeting Monday in Austin to consider candidates for the job of director of the state prison system.

Two candidates, Raymond Proctor of New Mexico and Lane McCotter of Kansas, have discussed the job with Texas Gov. Mark

White. The job of director of the Texas Department of Corrections has been vacant since W.J. "Jim" Estelle resigned eight months ago.

Synfuels head is No. 43 to leave

The resignation of Victor M. Thompson Jr. as president and board member of the U.S. Synthetic Fuels Corp., amid charges of influence-peddling and failure to disclose key information about his background, is the latest in a by-now familiar saga: the departure of Reagan administration appointees under less than happy circumstances. The particulars of this one merit placement near the head of the list.

Thompson's $135,000 salary made him the highest-paid presidential appointee, earning almost twice the pay of a Cabinet officer. But when Utica Bankshares, the Tulsa bank that he headed until earlier this year, got in financial trouble, Thompson tried to sell shares in the bank to Texas oilman B.K. Johnson. Meanwhile, wearing his Synfuels hat, Thompson was promoting Johnson's application for millions of dollars in Synfuel loan supports and price guarantees for a tar sands project.

That relationship was unknown to Thompson's Synfuels colleagues. Nor did Thompson inform them, when he was elected corporation president, that the Securities and Exchange Commission was investigating charges that Utica Bankshares hadn't informed its investors about the financial problems caused by some of its energy-related loans.

When the Synfuels general counsel and its ethics officer ruled that the imprudent silence violated the corporation's own rules, Thompson quit — but not without a blast at the corporation for expecting him to divulge "confidential" information, and not without sticking around an extra day to approve additional Synfuels subsidies totaling nearly $1.5 billion.

This isn't the first Synfuels embarrassment. Victor A. Schroeder, Thompson's predecessor as president, quit last year in the face of accusations that he had awarded 51 consulting contracts without competitive bidding — some to old friends — and had billed the corporation for interest payments on his Washington home. For those keeping track, Thompson's departure is, by the conservative National Journal's count, No. 43 on the Reagan administration's dishonor roll.

Steve Chapman

PAC it in

Not so long ago, the purpose of elections was to give citizens the opportunity to choose the people who govern them. Now, the main function of elections is to expose the silliness of campaign finance laws.

For weeks, the air was thick with accusations (from Gary Hart) and denials (from Walter Mondale) concerning whether groups formed to elect Mondale delegates were truly independent, as woolly-headed election laws require, and whether they should have taken money from political action committees (PACs), as Mondale's own fastidious standards suggest they should not.

This tiresome issue was settled when Mondale grudgingly agreed to count the money spent by these committees against his own spending limit and to return the money contributed to them by PACs. Thus have brainless issues evolved: In the old days, we had Quemoy and Matsui; today, we have election law transgressions.

But there are other juicy campaign finance issues frying in the skillet. On April 30, the Supreme Court, suppressing its eagerness, manfully resolved to wait until after the election to rule on a suit filed by the Federal Election Commission and the Democratic Party. They wanted to stop two conservative groups, the National Conservative Political Action Committee and the Fund for a Conservative Majority, from spending excessive sums of money (more than $1,000 apiece) publicizing their opinion that Ronald Reagan should be re-elected. The plaintiffs think these expenditures are corrupting to democracy and contrary to law.

A similar suit after the 1980 campaign, in which independent groups spent nearly $14 million on behalf of Reagan, went to the Supreme Court, but it deadlocked 4-4, with Justice O'Connor abstaining. There is no guarantee it won't happen again.

All this nonsense grows out of the election reforms of the Watergate era, which were intended to cleanse campaigns of filthy lucre. Limits were put on contributions and expenditures, with the spending limit applied not only to candidates, but also to groups of people supporting candidates. In the presidential election, "public" funds were provided, to minimize the need for unsavory private contributions.

But the pristine symmetry of this edifice was spoiled by a 1974 Supreme Court ruling that struck down limits on spending by campaigns (except publicly-funded ones) or by people outside of campaigns. It reasoned as follows: Expenditures are made to communicate ideas; the communication of ideas is protected by the First Amendment; limits on spending are unconstitutional.

Unfortunately, the Court quailed at pursuing its irreproachable logic and upheld the contribution limits — even though giving money to a candidate to promote his ideas is just another way for the contributor to express his own. (An exception was made for donations by a candidate to his own campaign.)

This is where the problem of the independent committees (and most other disputes) arises. People form these committees, or give money to them, mainly because they are prohibited from giving more than $1,000 to a candidate in any one campaign. Then, the committees have to be policed to make sure they aren't evading the limit by working with the campaign itself.

The entire enterprise is designed to prevent what campaigns ought to encourage: vigorous expression of their preferences by interested voters. Effective policing is also impossible, at least without suffocating the entire election process in a web of regulations.

The laws have spawned a plague of other side effects — protecting incumbents against challenges, forcing campaigns to divert scarce funds dollars from brochures and ads to lawyers and accountants, handicapping minor parties. But it hasn't placed politicians beyond the suspicion of corruption.

Having tried extensive government regulation of campaigns, we ought to try deregulation.

Where'd the rains go

Anticipation was high last week for a good ol' soaker to come our way. For three days the threatening skies flirted with us, while sending good rains west to Midland and Odessa and east to Abilene.

Here, though, the rains never materialized like they must if cotton is to be grown this year. The cutoff for federal crop insurance is in the second week in June, which means cotton planted after that date is unlikely to produce a harvest before first freeze.

As of Friday afternoon, while dark clouds still held out promise of moisture, we were riding on one-tenth our normal rain for the year. The dry weather combined with a typically gusty spring has left the soil in disrepair.

I suspect a lot of farmers will plant even without the rain they desperately need, and hold onto a prayer that conditions improve.

But even while it wasn't the three-to-four inch soaker we longed for, last week's rains did come slow and steady. What we got soaked in — it didn't run off and it didn't burn up under a hot sun as so often happens after a hit-and-run thunderstorm.

Looks like the city is getting after owners of overgrown lots. A problem has long existed with absentee owners neglecting their Big Spring property. The resulting overgrown conditions are both an eyesore and a health menace.

In public notices published last week, the city warned several lot owners to clean up, or pay the city to do the work for them. The notices are published as "weedy lot" warnings which seek first to notify the owner that his lot is a "menace to the public health" and have him fix it up. Failing that, the city goes on the lot and corrects the situation and cost of the cleanup is charged to the owner. If payment isn't made, a lien is attached against the lot and it cannot be sold until payment is made.

The city's push probably is not coincidentally coming as project CLEAN gets into gear. The fix-it-up community action group has its sites set on rallying Big Spring residents behind the cause of a cleaner city. Bravo to both efforts.

No wonder the appraisal work recently completed is such an exercise in frustration. It's awfully hard to get a handle on what, and how, the appraisal district does in the course of setting new property values for taxation purposes. Reappraisal notices last week put taxpayers up in arms about property value increases of 100 percent in some cases from just one year ago.

An eight-page newsletter from the State Property Tax Board came across my desk Friday. I thought it would make all things clear, but it didn't. Under the heading, "how much is it worth?" the pamphlet said an appraiser has three methods at his disposal: the market approach, the income approach and the cost approach.

It didn't say which should be used, or whether they are used in combination, or exactly how they were used. But it does say quite clearly: No property can be appraised above its market value. That proverbial "bottom line" is what people are upset about.

Teachers, parents share 3Rs role

To the editor:
I would like to use this space to let people know about Bauer Magnet School. A school that has helped me where others failed. My son is a second grader in Mrs. Pat DeAnda's classroom.

The things he has accomplished this year went way above what I had expected. She has three rules of learning 1. Consistency: In her classroom work, homework and discipline. 2. Responsibility: In turning in daily work, doing their homework and bringing back books. 3. Independence: The children depend on her for everything when school first starts. At this point they have learned to do many things without her help. She works on these all year long and it makes them better students.

I have read so much about how un-qualified teachers are but I know it takes a person with love, patience and understanding of more than their own. I believe too many parents are turning the responsibility more and more and if anything goes wrong the school is blamed.

I believe that if parents worked with their children's teachers things would get better because then they would see that learning should take place at home also. If we are to have an educated society it should start at home.

County meetings need public eye

To the editor:
If you are a county resident and you have never attended a county commissioner's meeting, it is time you did. Are you aware that at the last commissioner's meeting, on May 14, the county had on the agenda an item to approve a bid for mowing the right-of-ways on our county roads, that would have cost you, the taxpayer, almost $20,000? After watching the commission in operation, it is plain to see which commissioners are looking after our best interest. At this meeting,

Mr. David Barr, Mr. Lou Brown and Judge Kirby, stated that they felt the bid of $39.22 for one mile of mowing, one side, of our county roads was a bit out of reason. Mr. Crooker, disagreed, saying "This seems well within reason to me."

"Does it seem within reason to you? I have asked a couple of farmers, what they think a reasonable price would be, and they have told me that they have mowed their own land, combined and baled an acre at $12. WITHIN REASON?"

Also on the agenda was an item to approve paying the city of Big Spring, $750 monthly, for dispatching services rendered to the county for after hours service. It is my understanding that the city also provides this same service to the Highway Patrol and does not charge them anything. Why then should they charge the county?

It was stated at this meeting, by the Sheriff and by a couple of private citizens, that it might be in the county's best interest to hire an extra employee for the county, to improve our service and to take a burden from the city dispatchers.

The Sheriff also advised the commissioners the county will, in the near future, be forced to hire a matron for the county jail, and that if he was given an additional employee to dispatch, this person could also double as the female matron and be able to perform other duties at night.

At this point in the meeting, Mr. Crooker jumped up from his chair at the council table and said "I am going to call the city manager and get him down here." Now, I don't know how you feel about this, but I could care less what the city manager thinks about how we run our business at the county. We have little or no say so about the management of city government, so why should the city have any say so in the running of the county business.

I also wonder why Mr. Crooker would care what the city manager thinks. He is a county commissioner not city councilman. Is his salary paid by the city manager or by us, the voters?

PLEASE, if you don't already attend the county commissioner's meeting, start attending. I PLAN TO!!! IT IS YOUR MONEY AND MY MONEY THAT THEY ARE SPENDING. LET'S HAVE A SAY IN IT.

Appraisal will be county's downfall

To the editor:
I am writing concerning our tax appraisal system. We have the Board of Directors appointed by the taxing agencies. These men also choose their Tax Review Board. The taxpayer has no vote on this. Rome fell because the people were taxed out of everything they owned.

Two years ago, I met with the Review Board and got my taxes lowered about Nine Thousand Dollars... now it has been increased over $25,000 more; but realtors say, the value of our property has decreased.

I called Austin to see if they can pass a bill so that we can elect the Board of Directors.

If we don't get a law passed where this can get changed, then we should get all our appraisal system each a fiddle so they can fiddle while Howard County burns.

Joy! To the world

Love those modern conveniences

By JOY CULWELL
Colorado City
Correspondent

My good friend, Ray Jordan, from Bartlett, Tenn., said something profound the other night. He was looking at his watch and said, "You know, Joy, I don't trust this watch. It doesn't tick."

I know exactly how he feels — how can you teach children what counter clockwise is when they have digital watches?

When I graduated from high school, the commencement speaker said that most of the products we would be using in the future were not invented yet.

He said that we would be so affluent we would even buy dish rags. I could not believe it. Ever since I can remember we had used part of worn out underwear as a 'dish rag'. Now they are all called 'dish cloths' and we buy them as he said.

We use radios with no tubes in them and they are smaller. The transistor made it possible. Television came into being a few years later and sure enough here we have color television with remote control and 'instant on' sound.

The satellite dishes bring in the world to our television set and we love it. The drive-in movie has been replaced by cable television with several movies shown each day.

In cooking, we now have the microwave method that the space age brought. Cooks no longer slave over a hot stove all day but breeze in and out of the kitchen turning on dishwashers, microwaves and blenders.

The convection ovens and top of the range broilers are as modern as tomorrow. My refrigerator has ice cubes and ice water dispensed through the door of a wonderful machine that never needs defrosting or changing the drip pan.

My grocery dollar goes for products that were only wished for in 1948. Think of the thousands of products that were not in the stores in that year.

I spent hours each week in 1948 in ironing. Now it is against my religion to iron. I take my clothes out of the dryer and hang them up ready to wear. I even gave away my ironing board to a lady who uses it to set pot plants on.

The ball point pen I am writing this column with is the answer to a dream unheard of when I graduated. The list is endless.

Somebody mentions going back to the good old days. Well, I'll only go if I can take my Tupperware, aluminum foil, Saran Wrap, instant tea, stereo music, electric appliances — and my same old husband, thank you.

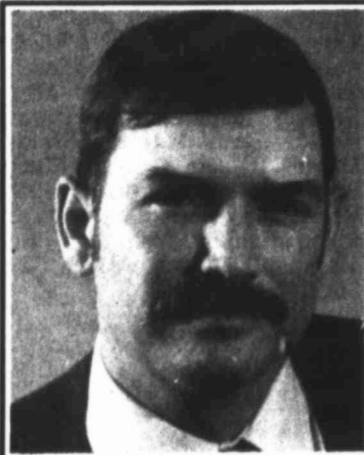

Career student graduates

AUSTIN (AP) — Morna Seiders, 64, who has been going to the University of Texas off and on since 1937, got her degree Saturday.

Her bachelor's degree in American Studies has been 47 years in the making.

"My father insisted that I be a doctor, thinking it would be good to have one in the family," said Mrs. Morris, who graduated from Highland Park High School near Dallas. "But after two years, that last semester of chemistry got to me and I quit for a while."

She married, had three children and took courses either at night or during the day. At one time during the 1960s "I was a junior and my daughter was a senior."

Some people don't know their electric bills can be about the same all year round. Some do.

The Average Payment Plan will put you in the know; and just in time to take the heat off your hot weather bills. You'll still pay for all the electricity you use. But under the Average Payment Plan, your bills will be more even all year round. The plan is based on a 12-month average that's refigured each month. So you can pay less during the months you use the most electricity, by paying more during the months you use less. The Average Payment Plan is available to Texas Electric residential customers. So look into it today. It's definitely worth knowing about.

Let the Games begin

Planning on trekking to smoggy, terrorist-ridden LA for the Summer Olympics come the last of July and first of August?

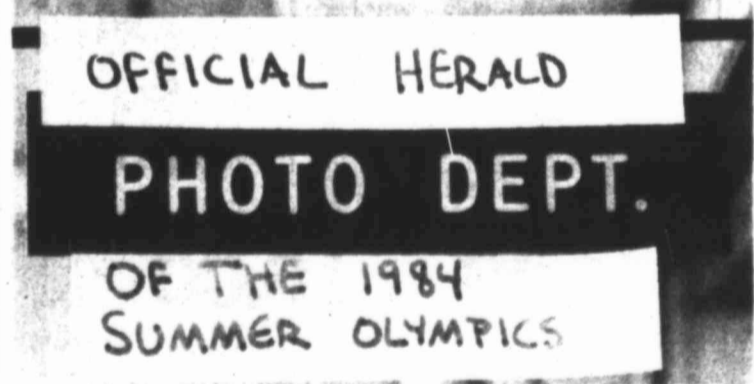

Nay you say, since some of the world's best trained athletes won't be there for some assanine reason or another. Have no fear, however. Interested Summer Olympics fans can stay right here in Big Spring and read about the happenings, trials and many tribulations of the Official Big Spring 1984 Summer Games (don't be surprised — everything else is riding the Olympics coattails).

What an international lineup the Big Spring Games has. And just in keeping with the modern political and international spirit of the Games the Big Spring Olympics are being billed as the Herald sports department against the world, even the third world is represented, — namely this sports editor against advertising in the form of Karen Bellinghausen and assistant Steve Belvin competing in a series of competitions against Official Herald Photographer of the 1984 Summer Olympics, Tim Appel.

In a couple of competitions that heretofore have been considered too embarrassing for print (and because the Texas Sportswriters Association will demand my card) the sports department already trails the world 2-0.

Montana's contribution to these games, Bellinghausen, has already taken yours truly to the cleaners in leg wrestling and road racing (driving the limit of course). Three more competitions are set in racquetball, swimming and pool (those last two are separates). This sports editor is crazy like a fox though. Bellinghausen has been informed that she has been set up for a big fall. The fearless leader of sports intends to come roaring back with wins in the final three events. Keep your eyes peeled for forthcoming results in upcoming columns and notes.

A final note from this end of the Games: Although Bellinghausen intends to use every trick in the book to win, i.e.; the latest in microscopic swimwear (the lady is definitely not in the same heavyweight class as those saltminers the Soviets pass off as women); the plan of distraction won't work in my case. I spent two years at the monastery of Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos where young men engage in improving their minds and self discipline and become immune to the ways of a woman. At SWT you forget what a woman looks like. Read that last statement as one that's way under.

STEVE'S TASK EASIER THOUGH

The other half of the Official Sports Department Summer Olympics Team, Steve, has what appears to be an equally easy task in upholding the time honored tradition of the department.

He must face the third world's (Oregon and Ohio) representative, Appel, in a series of video game competitions which includes track and field, a game which Appel says will earn him a trip to Japan when he wins some sort of non-Olympic regional event.

Poor sap that Appel. He'll have a better chance at getting to Oz before he gets to Japan or beats Steve when the two square off.

The dynamic Mr. Belvin and Tiny Tim will also go at each other on the court in a game of Nerf basketball. During an exhibition game Steve dusted Appel better than any broom could.

So there is hope for the sports department to overcome the threat of mere novices to the athletic arena. Predicted outcome should have the sports department on top in five events while the two wins already wracked up by Bellinghausen should be considered a favor — so much so that she is being spotted 10 points in the racquetball competition.

COMMENTS FROM OUR RIVALS

In granting equal time to one of the disillusioned rivals, Bellinghausen said, "It goes with out saying that when you are ahead 2-0 there is no reason to spend any time discussing the past. The future is what is here and now. Swimming, racquetball, and pool will bring out the true champion. As you can see, I need only one more victory to wrapup a series advantage from my end. So, I'll be generous to Billy, the goldfish is going to need it when it comes time to swim against the shark."

To which the sports department replies, "You're all wet!"

BSHS outstanding athletes honored during sports fete

Monette Wise and Eric Sherman highlighted the Big Spring High School Spring Sports Banquet Saturday evening by being named as the outstanding female and male athlete for 1984-85 at BSBS.

Wise was a three sport star in volleyball, basketball and track while Sherman served the Steers in football, basketball and track. Wise also garnered most outstanding honors in basketball and top distance runner accolades during the fete held at the Big Spring YMCA.

Other youngsters who received special honors for their contributions to BSBS athletics during the past year included girls basketball players: Debra Rubio as best defender; Alice Lopez as best team player; Tina Smith and Kathy Porras who earned the coaches award; Janna Matthews and Debbie Donelson, academic honors; and Paula Spears as most improved.

From the boys basketball team Mike Lueschner was voted best academically; Fred Cole took the defensive accolades; and Jimmy Brown was awarded the most outstanding player trophy. Hartley Newell and Terry Bordske were presented as the outstanding female and male swimmers.

Victor Coots was given most improved honors in tennis while Mark Slate and Kristie Grimes were recipients of the fighting heart award. Scholastic achievement citations went to Charlie Botts and Stacy Basham. Linda Arroyo was singled out as the most dedicated team member and Dana Canon earned the coaches award.

Ronnie and Pam Martinez gained outstanding golfer honors as did Margie Garcia who was a co-winner for the girls with Pam Martinez.

Roddy Fair was the honoree to whom the most dedicated male track award went. Jimmy Cearley was cited as the most outstanding Steer trackster for the Spring.

In girls track Paula Jolley was the top field event person; Pam Palmer earned top sprinter and outstanding freshman honors; Tina Smith took the fighting heart; and Millie Correa was the selection for the coaches award.

OUTSTANDING ATHLETES — Monette Wise (left) and Eric Sherman display the awards they received for being selected as Big Spring High School's outstanding athletes for the 1984-85 year. Wise was a three sport letterwinner in volleyball, basketball and track while Sherman also earned honors in three sports by competing in football, basketball and track.

In baseball, Danny Arista walked away with two awards — one as the team's MVP and another for displaying the best team leadership. Jay Pirkle was presented as the team's top pitcher.

Debbie Donelson and Vickie Hallman, along with Tai Logback and Tommy Gartman received special recognition for their work with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

SEMENKO CELEBRATES — Edmonton Oiler Dave Semenko thrives his arms up in jubilation after assisting on a goal by Wayne Gretzky against Islanders Billy Smith. Edmonton's victory kept the Islanders from tying an NHL record of five straight Stanley Cups.

Gun for one stops Isles drive for five

EDMONTON, Alberta (AP) — The Edmonton Oilers snatched the Stanley Cup away from the four-time defending champion New York Islanders as Wayne Gretzky scored twice in the first period en route to a 5-2 victory Saturday night.

The Islanders' drive for a record-tying fifth straight National Hockey League title died at the hands of the relentless attack of the Oilers. Edmonton outclassed the Islanders for much of the three games here to win its first league championship ever.

The Oilers, who joined the NHL from the World Hockey Association in the 1979 merger, never won a title in the other league. And they were humiliated by the Islanders in a four-game final-round sweep last year.

This spring, showing maturity, versatility and patience they rarely exhibited in the past, the Oilers surged to the top. Leading the way was Gretzky, the most dynamic scorer in NHL history.

The three straight defeats for Smith marked the first time in his 10 years of playoff action he had been beaten that many consecutive times.

The Oilers showed surprising defensive strength in shutting out the Islanders behind the spectacular goaltending of Grant Fuhr in Game 1 of the series. But the champions came back behind a three-goal hat trick by Gillies and two goals from Bryan Trottier for a 6-1 victory in the second game.

It was the only time New York could break out offensively.

Signal Peak Pro-Am lineup noted

Saints will come marching in

The Saints will come marching in this week as Big Spring hosts its Signal Peak Shriners Pro-Am and Russell Erxleben Benefit for Steve Little Golf Tournament, the field of which will include a number of players and coaches from New Orleans' NFL franchise.

Most of the star studded field will be in town Wednesday in time for a practice round at the Big Spring Country Club and the parade that is held in conjunction with the event.

Following are some thumbnail sketches on those celebrities who have confirmed they will be in town for the benefit tourney that will be played Thursday and Friday.

A folk hero as well as a keen football man, O.A. "BUM" PHILLIPS is head coach and general manager of the New Orleans Saints. For the past two years, Phillips has been busy building a foundation from which the New Orleans Saints could rise to contention. Phillips spent six years as head coach of the Houston Oilers and came to New Orleans in 1981 after coaching the Oilers to three straight playoff berths that included two consecutive AFC title games. He assumed the title of general manager in 1982. He came from the Houston Oilers where in six seasons as head coach he raised that franchise to a perennial playoff contender.

Prior to the Oilers, Phillips served the San Diego Chargers as defensive assistant and was assistant coach at Texas A&M, the University of Houston, Southern Methodist University and Oklahoma State. A Marine Corps veteran, he played guard at Lamar Junior College and at Stephen F. Austin State University. Phillips and wife Helen have six children and three grandchildren.

A scratch golfer, Erxleben owns an investment company in Austin. He and wife Kari have one son.

RUSTY KASMIERSKY, Saints assistant director of public relations, also joined the Saints staff in 1981. He served as student assistant sports information director at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos for three years and went on to serve as sports information director of Angelo State University for one year. Kasmiersky worked for the Saints as an equipment manager in summer camp. A native of Garwood, he and wife Donna live in Metairie, La.

He majored in finance. His off-season activities include dealings in a Louisiana oil patch. He and wife Frannie have two children.

HAROLD RICHARDSON, special teams coach, completed his third season with the Saints this year. He started his pro coaching career in 1981 after ten years of coaching at the collegiate level. He coached at Southern Methodist University, Oklahoma State University, Texas Christian University and North Texas State University. Richardson and wife Ramona live in Destrehan, La.

GREG SUIT is the Saints director of public relations. He came to the Saints in 1977 as assistant director of public relations and was promoted to publicity director in 1980. He was promoted to his present position in 1981. Prior to the Saints, he was sports information director and assistant athletic director at University of New Orleans for five years. A native of Cincinnati, Ohio, he graduated from Miami University and worked as a news writer at the Middletown (Ohio) Journal. He and wife Karen have one son.

STAN BROCK is a tackle in his fourth year with the Saints. The native of Portland, Oregon hasn't missed a game since becoming a Saint. He received Pro-Bowl votes in 1981 and 1982 for fine performances those two seasons. He also was an all-rookie selection in 1980 by UPI and Pro Football Weekly. He was called the best pass blocker in college football by his University of Colorado coach in his senior year and was first team all-Big Eight in 1979. Brock majored in physical education. He and wife Lori have two daughters.

RICHARD TODD is the newest Saint via a trade, but the former University of Alabama star and past starting quarterback for the New York Jets is eager to help the cause of the Pro-Am. Todd played seven seasons for the Jets and guided them to the AFC championship game in 1982.

FRANK WATTELET just completed his third year in Saintsland after joining the team in 1981 as a free agent from Kansas. The safety intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble in his first start against the Packers that year. He also participates on special teams.

Celtics comeback over Bucks, 109-100

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gerald Henderson sparked a third-quarter rally with 11 points and Larry Bird scored 11 of his 28 points in the fourth quarter to lift Boston to a 109-100 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks Saturday, giving the Celtics a commanding 3-0 advantage in their National Basketball Association playoff.

The fourth game in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference finals will be Monday night at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, with Sidney Moncrief scoring 13 points and Mike Dunleavy and Junior Bridgeman adding 12 apiece, took a 63-50 lead at halftime.

But the Celtics charged back, going on a 24-10 run to take a 74-73 lead with 4:03 left in the third quarter. Henderson hit four baskets during the spurt.

Milwaukee recovered to take an 85-82 lead at the end of the period with Paul Mokeski scoring six points in the final two minutes.

After Mokeski opened the fourth quarter with a rebound basket, Bird scored five straight points, two coming off illegal defense calls, to pull Boston even at 87-87. Baskets by Bob Lanier and Marques Johnson gave Milwaukee a 91-87 lead with 8:44 to go. The Celtics then scored 10 straight points, with Bird hitting two baskets to take a 97-91 advantage at 6:59.

The Bucks managed to slice the margin to 99-98 on Johnson's dunk with 3:20 remaining, but Boston countered with eight straight

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS
by Pat Gray

One of the greatest of all sports today in this country, fishing, was thought to be a stern duty by early colonists who would not openly admit that they enjoyed it. Fishing and hunting too, for that matter were not to be thought of in any other way or manner than a means to an end. The origin of American sports plus hundreds of interesting sidelights and personal experiences of world-renowned athletes of our time and generations gone by will make for a wealth of informative topics, which will appear in this column regularly. Won't you make it a reading habit?

Welcome to our new weekly column. Our staff of highly qualified technicians at PAT GRAY BODY WORKS can restore your vehicle to its original condition whether it needs some simple body work or more extensive repairs. We are located at 700 N. Owens, 263-0582, 263-2374. If you need a wrecker at night please call 267-6953. "From a scratch to a rollover we provide quality work at reasonable prices". Open: Mon.-Fri. 8-6.

Golf, parade highlight tournament

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

After a year of planning, it's time for the 2nd annual Signal Peak Shriner's Pro-Am Golf Tournament and Russell Erleben Benefit for Steve Little at Big Spring Country Club.

Everything will begin Wednesday morning with the arrival of most of the professional golfers and celebrities. Practice rounds of golf will go on throughout the day at the club.

'We're going to have to do better to do as well. We need some help and support if we are going to do things like this in Big Spring.'

The Pro-Am Parade will begin at Big Spring Savings at 4 p.m. and swing around the courthouse, up Scurry and end at Gibson's. The parade will feature local floats, pro golfers and celebrities participating in the tournament, Goliad Junior High School Band and Suez and El Maida Shrine Units.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, VIPs, tournament sponsors and their guests will attend the VIP Party at the Brass Nail Club. Celebrities will be introduced and donated items will be auctioned. West Wind will provide entertainment throughout the evening; however, Charlie Walker and eight Nashville country-western songwriters will perform a show. Double-tee will start at 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Thursday and Friday at the Big Spring Country Club course. Golfers and VIPs will join for a banquet at the Club Thursday evening with the Nashville celebrities providing entertainment.

Following the completion of rounds Friday evening, awards will be presented and an estimate on the amount of money raised will be announced. A wrap-up party will follow.

Russell Erleben, the New Orleans Saints punter who participated in the tournament last year, has returned and merged his tournament for Steve Little with the Pro-Am. As co-sponsor, he is bringing

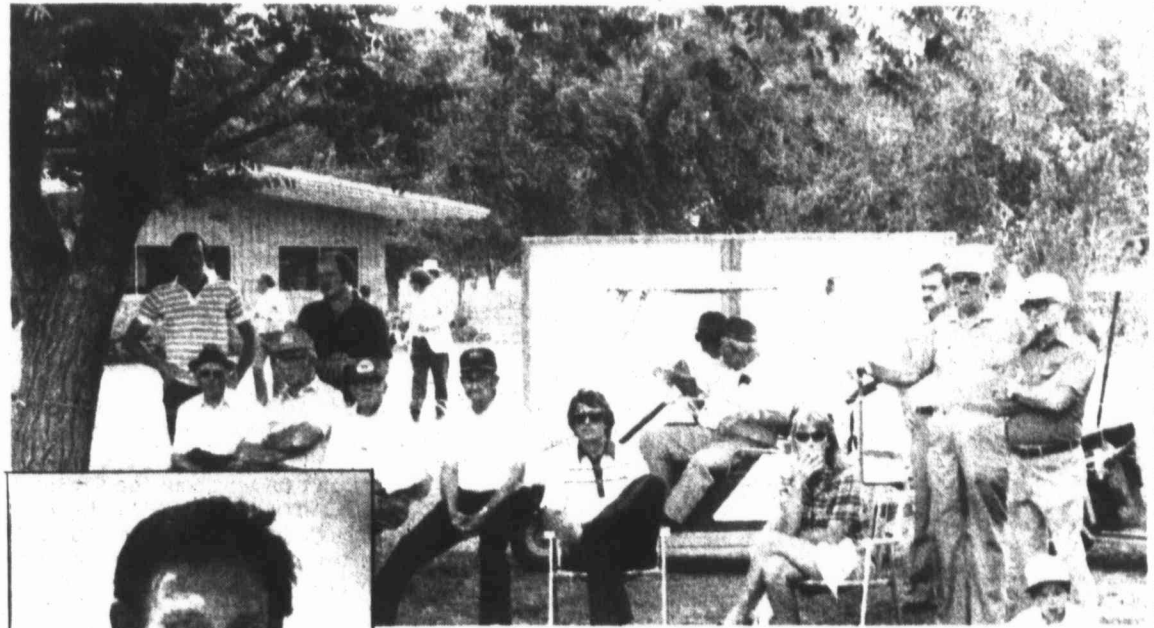

Mr. and Mrs. Erby Aucoin with him to the tournament. Aucoin, a famous Cajun cook from Louisiana, is bringing 700 pounds of fresh crawfish and will cook crawfish and gumbo all day Thursday and Friday for those attending the tournament. "Everyone should enjoy that," says Rose Thomas, a tournament planner.

MORE THAN 40 celebrities will participate in the three-day event, including many members of the New Orleans Saints professional football team and staff. Saints' head coach Bum Phillips will be among those participating.

Other notable sports figures coming are: Charles (Cotton) Speyrer; Sammy Baugh; David Studdard and Charlie Johnson, both of the Denver Broncos; Tom Brahaney and Steve Little. Country music singer Charlie Walker participated in last year's tournament and will be here again. Also coming from Nashville are eight well-known country-western songwriters: P.R. Battle, Sonny Throckmorton, Bruce Channel, Rock Killough, Joe Allen, Roger Cook, Jim Pasquale and Cliff Cochran. Ray Stone, the voice on the Dallas Cowboy Report radio show, will come into town Friday to visit with people at the tournament. Also participating are: Joe Higgins — the sheriff on the Dodge commercials who says "You're in a heap of trouble, boy"; Bob Tallman — the announcer on the Great American Rodeo Series radio show; and T.O. Stanley, an El Paso boot manufacturer.

Dr. Mark Peters, son of local dentist Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Peters, also will be at the tournament. He was recently featured in a Polaroid Camera television commercial that aired during the Academy Awards, Dallas, Falcon Crest and Monday Night Movie. Peggy Marshall, will be the only lady playing in the Pro-Am. Tracy Dawn Estes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Estes, also is expected to appear in the Pro-Am Parade, VIP party and banquet.

LAST YEAR'S TOURNAMENT raised $22,000 for the Shriners Crippled Children's Hospital and Burn Centers. This year's tournament is larger and more expensive, says director Don Cook. "We're going to have to do better to do as well. We need some help and support if we are going to do things like this in Big Spring." Gallery tickets are available for $5 and are good for watching the entire tournament. Sponsorships also are available for those who would like to play. They start at $100, which includes four spon-

Gallery tickets for this year's tournament may be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce office for $5. sor badges, six all-tournament tickets, one reserved parking sticker and a year-round listing on permanent sponsor board. The other sponsorships increase in price with more things included in the sponsorship.

Last year's tournament exceeded the tournament directors' expectations. Originally they were budgeted for raising $4,300 for the Shriner's Hospitals. They earned $22,000. The goal this year is "for it to be in the black," says Cook.

Twenty-four local women will serve as hostesses by operating the commercial booths and registration. They handle the details that someone on foot has to do at a tournament, Cook said.

Last year, the teams of Carl Small and Del Austin tied for first place. Jimmie Welch won an automobile by having the first hole-in-one on a par three hole in the tournament. He got it on hole #13 with a 192-yard shot. Prizes this year total 25,000 in merchandise and cash.

This year's tournament has gone from 68 four-man teams to 53 six-man teams. "We are looking at 100 more golfers this year," Cook said.

Erleben has had two tournaments in Austin for former pro football player, Steve Little. Erleben enjoyed Big Spring and its hospitality so much when here for last year's tournament that he worked toward either bringing his tournament to Big Spring or combining it with the Signal Peak Pro-Am. "We determined we could work together and benefit from our separate experiences," Cook said. "Most of the celebrities (coming) were the result of his influence with his tournament in combination with our tournament."

Little, hospitals benefit from tournament

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

This year, the Signal Peak Shriner's Pro-Am Golf Tournament will have two beneficiaries. Proceeds from the three-day event will go to the Shriners Crippled Children's Hospitals and Burn Centers and to Steve Little. Little is a former punter with the St. Louis Cardinals football team who became a quadriplegic following a car accident in 1980.

Russell Erleben, a New Orleans Saints NFL punter and one of the visiting celebrities of last year's tournament, has held an annual benefit golf tournament in Austin for Little. However, Austin has many benefit tournaments a year that Erleben competed with to make his successful. When Erleben came to the Pro-Am Tournament in Big Spring last year, he was impressed by Big Spring's hospitality. He decided that Big Spring might be a better location for making his tournament more successful.

Erleben presented a proposal to moving his tournament to Big Spring to the Signal Peak Pro-Am directors. Eventually they decided to merge the two tournaments and use Erleben's influence to bring in additional celebrities, says Don Cook and Claudene Cooper, members of the tournament's board of directors. Now the tournament will be known as the Signal Peak Shriner's Pro-Am and Russell Erleben Benefit for Steve Little.

LITTLE DEVELOPED a soccer kicking style while living in Switzerland and Norway in 1966 and 1969. He was recruited by the University of Arkansas Razorbacks following a successful high school football career. At Arkansas, he was named to the All Southwest Conference team three years and Kodak (Coaches) All-America team two years. He consistently broke school records in kicking, punting and scoring by a kicker. He played in the Cotton Bowl, Orange Bowl and Hula Bowl.

Little was the number one draft choice of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1978. As a rookie, he kicked off and punted for the first half of the season, but was sidelined by a knee injury he suffered in his eighth game while making a tackle after a punt against the New York Jets. In 1979, he handled all facets of kicking chores and tied the club record with a 51 yard field goal against Dallas.

In 1980, the 24-year-old was relegated to place kicking only and was released Oct. 16th. The next day, Little was in an automobile accident resulting in his quadriplegic condition. Today, Little lives in Little Rock, Ark.

Little and Erleben consistently broke each others NCAA kicking records in college while Little was at University of Arkansas and Erleben at University of Texas. He is tied with Erleben for the NCAA record for the longest field goal of 67 yards in 1978.

During Little's football career, Erleben considered him his arch rival and disliked him. They consistently broke or tied each others football records.

Little's accident had a profound affect on Erleben. His plight drew Erleben's attention to the opportunity to serve his former rival, both in terms of financial assistance and psychological support. "Steve is totally incapacitated and is dependent upon complicated and expensive mechanical aids to exist," said Erleben before his first benefit golf tournament he held for Little in Austin.

Erleben has gone on with his pro career and says that to this day, a day has not gone by that he doesn't think of Little. Little is his inspiration.

THE OTHER BENEFICIARY of the Pro-Am tournament is the Shriners Hospitals and Burn Centers. The hospital network has served children in North America since 1922. It includes 18 Orthopedic units and three burn centers scattered throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

The hospitals provide medical care to children affected with congenital deformities, orthopedic injuries and/or diseases of the bones, joints and muscles, or severe burn injuries to children up to 18 years old.

Shriners hospitals are engaged in teaching and research programs to expand the hospital's benefits. No charge is required for medical services offered to all children. The hospitals are supported totally by contributions from the Shriners and others interested in improving the quality of life for crippled and burned children.

The hospitals offer a total care approach to the treatment of their patients. Their philosophy is "that while medicine might heal the body, tending to the child's mind and spirit are vital to achieving optimal results." Each child finds support in meeting his or her needs from the hospitals' staff, facilities, environment and through a close relationship with other patients.

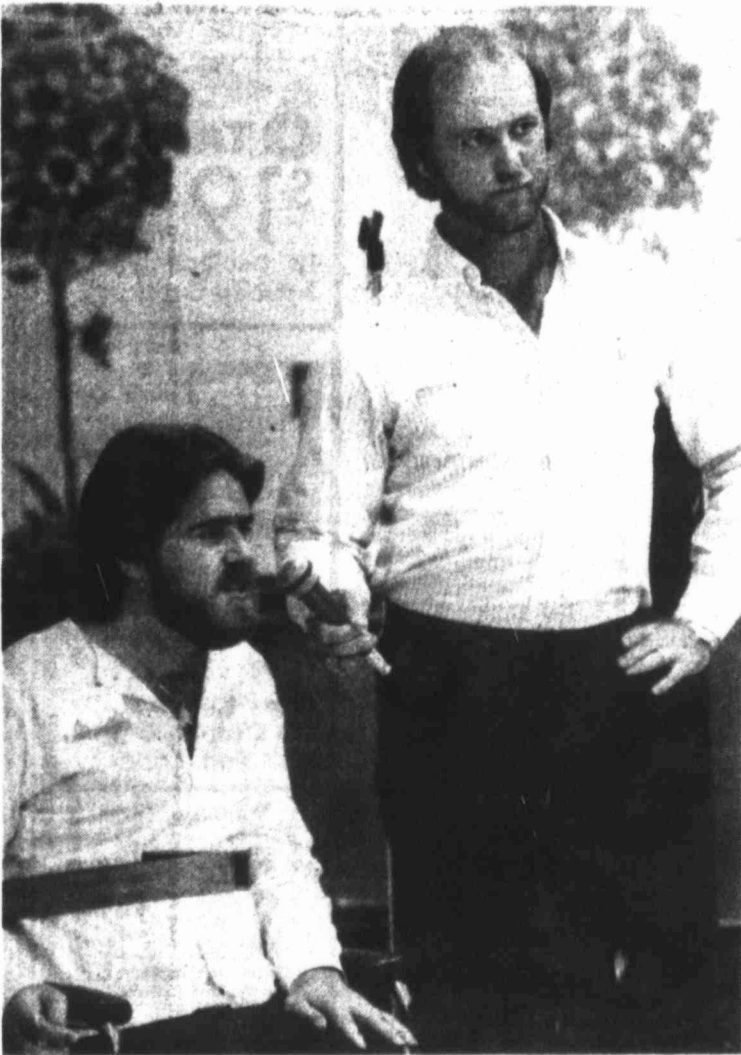

ACCORDING TO VERLIN KNOUS, a local Shriner involved in the golf tournament, the hospitals and burn centers' budget for 1984 is $106 million. The way to meet the Shriner's Hospitals' needs are through donations to the hospital's endowment fund. Less than two percent of all monies contributed to the hospitals is used for administrative costs. More than 98 percent is used for patient care.

Texas is a home for two Shriners hospitals. The Houston Unit is an orthopedic hospital located at 1402 Outer Belt Dr., Houston, Texas 77030. The Galveston Unit is a burn center located at 610 Texas Av., Galveston, Texas 77550. The hospital network is growing. Another hospital, located in Tampa, Fla., should be completed in this year.

Each year through the Shriners Hospitals, assessments and fund raising events, Shriners demonstrate their support for their philanthropy. The Shriners believe that "no man ever stands so straight as when he stoops to help a crippled or burned child."

"This tournament here is my favorite philanthropy, which is the Crippled Children's Hospital," says country music singer Charlie Walker. Walker is one of the returning celebrities to this year's tournament.

"Being a Shriner myself, I really know how to appreciate the great job that they do around the world and around the United States and Canada as far as aid to crippled children," he said. "I've entertained at a lot of the Scottish Rite hospitals. I've known a number of children that they just absolutely would not survive if it hadn't have been for the hospitals. Anything we can do for young people, especially crippled kids, well that's great."

Tri-Hi-Y prepares for trip to Olympics

By RHONDA WOODALL
Lifestyle Writer

As part of the Tri-Hi-Y trip, 11 people are going to the Summer Olympics in Los Angeles, Calif., July 28-30.

"I'm real excited because it's the Olympics," said Shelly Brasel, Big Spring High School sophomore and Tri-Hi-Y vice president. "It only happens every four years. It's so close and we thought we would never be this close again, so we decided to go."

"The kids just decided that they would like to raise the money to go to the Summer Olympics," Terri McIntosh said. "They go on a trip every year at the end of school.

They figured it was a once-in-a-lifetime chance to see this since it is held in the U.S. every 50 years."

"I think it is going to be fun," said Molly Thompson, a sophomore and Tri-Hi-Y treasurer. "I'm excited about seeing people from different parts of the world."

Those making the trip to the Olympics will be Lori Gilbert, Kristi Grimes, Miss Thompson, Kade Loftin, Lee Coleman, Shelly Bennett, Miss Brasel, Katie Grimes, Hannah Coleman, Mrs. McIntosh and Kevin McIntosh.

The group will see field hockey, basketball, soccer and wrestling. "We may see some other stuff because our mornings are open,"

Mrs. Coleman said. The group also will try to tour Universal Studios and take local sightseeing trips.

"It's so exciting that we are going to go," she said. "Big Spring will be represented at the Olympics a little bit through us."

The local Tri-Hi-Y, a YMCA-sponsored club for high school students, helps youths learn about Texas government by participating in it, Mrs. Coleman said. Students participated in state government at a meeting in Austin during February. They wrote bills and presented them to the state, and they participated in criminal and civil cases. Tymi Brooks was named outstanding judge in the state at the meeting.

Mrs. Coleman estimated the cost per person to be about $600 to go on the trip. Expenses include airline tickets, staying at the Y Hostel for three nights, car rentals, meals, and tickets for the Olympics.

Each person had to pay $100 and raise the rest through work, Mrs. McIntosh said. Each individual has $287 left to raise for the trip. The students have worked concession stands at YMCA basketball and soccer games, have sponsored junior high dances at the YMCA and had car washes.

Clyde Angel honored by Masons

Congratulations to Big Spring Mayor CLYDE ANGEL for receiving his 50-year Masonic service award pin from the Staked Plains Lodge No. 598 AF&AM. As you remember, he and wife ANNIE MATT ANGEL celebrated their 50th anniversary last August too. I can't imagine being involved in anything 20 years let alone 50. Those are some wonderful achievements, I think.

T.R. MORRIS, past district deputy director of the 80th Masonic District of the Grand Lodge of Texas, made the presentation with Mrs. Angel assisting.

Here is the latest scoop from DEBBIE SALAZAR. She says SYLVIA PADILLA and DANNY GUZMAN got engaged recently. They are unsure yet when they will tie the knot. Danny is in the armed forces and does not know yet when he can get leave in order to be married.

MATTIE WREN of Canterbury

Apartments had her children and grandchildren as her guests for Mother's Day. They are DON WREN of Fort Worth, STANLEY AND BELVA HESS of San Antonio, granddaughter NANCY HESS of Clear Lake-Houston and grandson WESLEY HESS. The Hesses spent several days in Lubbock for Wesley's graduation from Texas Tech University. He was a seven-year civil engineering major.

The BIG SPRING JUNIOR WOMEN'S CLUB did a great job sponsoring the JEAN KILLNER DURKEE Tout de Suite a' la Microwave cooking school Thursday and Friday. I went Thursday night and had a fabulous time. Not only were the demonstrations delightful, but Mrs. Durkee can be very funny. She and assistant JOLENE M. LEVERMANN prepared several French, Mexican and Italian dishes and candy, most of which were given away as door prizes. Each person attending received an autographed copy of her second cookbook Tout de Suite a' la Microwave II.

I hope the cooking school was enough of a success financially as it was enjoyable for those attending. I'd like to see the club make this an annual project and have Mrs. Durkee feature recipes from her other cookbooks.

JOHNNIE LOU AVERY was honored by the Small Business Administration at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce luncheon, Friday, for her hard work and support of small business, women in business and the community. She was presented the "Women in Business Advocate" by the SBA highlighting Small Business Week activities in Big Spring. BILL LONGLEY, district representative for Congressman CHARLES STENHOLM, presented the award to her. BILL BEAUCHAMP and BARBARA HURT, both of Lubbock's SBA office assisted in the presentation.

Don't forget about the PRO-AM GOLF TOURNAMENT at Big Spring Country Club, Wednesday through Friday. If you do not want to play but would like to watch, mingle with the pros and celebrities or try some Cajun cooking, you can still purchase gallery tickets for $5 each. The tickets are good for all three days.

The Pro-AM Parade will be at 4 p.m. Wednesday taking the usual parade route.

Dear Abby

Wife frustrated by rejection

DEAR ABBY: I am 37 and my husband is 39. We've been married for six years. It's the second marriage for both of us. We had a terrific sexual relationship until about two years ago, then it seems that he was either "too tired" or not in the mood. I tried to be understanding. Meanwhile I was going out of my mind with frustration. I did a lot of sewing, reading and eating and went from 130 pounds to 190 before I realized what I was doing to myself.

I lost most of the weight, bought sexy clothes, talked sexy talk and hoped things would change. Nothing! Then I just quit asking him because I knew he'd have a "backache" or be too tired. He keeps asking me to be patient, but that's easier said than done.

I'm lonely, hurt and frustrated. Right now I'm angry with myself for staying in this marriage. Please don't recommend an affair. I could never go that route. Besides I really love the guy.

Is there a support group for middle-age women who meet and talk about rejection?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Your husband's sudden lack of interest in sex could be a symptom of a physical problem — or an emotional one. You won't help your husband, nor will you solve your problem, by meeting with other middle-age women to compare notes about "rejection."

If you love him, and I believe you do, please insist that he see a doctor for a complete physical examination. You need to determine the cause before you can even hope for a cure.

DEAR ABBY: Our 9-year-old son is nagging his mother and me for a "motorcycle." Actually it's a "dirt bike," but it can go between 40 and 50 miles an hour.

Some of his friends have one, but I can't see a 9-year-old kid going that fast on a bike. His mother is starting to give in, and I'm running out of excuses.

I talked to the state police and was told it isn't against the law for him to ride one as long as he stays on private property. I still think he's too young. Am I being unreasonable?

LOVES MY SON

DEAR LOVES: No. Stick to your guns. Since when does a father need an excuse to discipline his son? Give him a reason, the reason being, "Because I'm responsible for your safety, and it's against my better judgment."

(Getting married? Send for Abby's new, updated, expanded booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 (this includes postage) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the less, fussy, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

Q: I've heard of "The Three C's" — what lenders look at in a mortgage application. One of the C's must be credit, but what are the other two?

A: Credit is the first of the C's. The other two are Character and Capacity according to the National Association of Realtors. The three C's are self-explanatory (with the possible exception of Capacity, which is your capacity to withstand debt liability). The problem is demonstrating to the lending institution how your particular "Three C's" fare. To do that, the N.A.R. suggests you go prepared with your job history, credit references, a listing of outstanding debts, savings, life insurance policies and proof of your income. All forms of income, including part-time jobs, alimony and child support payments will be considered.

After cleansing lingering traces of cleanser, stubborn makeup and dirt can be removed with a skin toner. Toners also leave the skin feeling cool and refreshed and are a convenient way of cleansing the face between full-scale cleansing routines. There are various types of toner, the primary difference among them being the amount of alcohol in the liquid solution. Skin tonics and fresheners are the mildest and are usually devoid of alcohol. They are most suitable for dry and sensitive skin. Astringents are stronger preparations and may contain ingredients such as methol and camphor. They are particularly useful for oily skin as they help to remove excess oil. Do not use too astringent a preparation as it may tend to sting and dry the skin.

"Beauty is as beauty does" is a well known saying that is of particular significance to the staff of LA CONTESSA. We are constantly updating our knowledge on all the latest beauty techniques in such areas as coloring, perming and hair design. We are dedicated in our commitment to providing our clientel with all the latest beauty techniques to achieve their greatest potentiality. We are located at 1508 Marcy. We are open Tues.-Sat. Blum's

One beautiful place
Jewelers

During the verdant time of year, it should come as no surprise that the emerald, which denotes love and success, is the birthstone for the month of May. This green gem symbolizes faith, kindness, goodness and the promises of nature. In the history of the emerald, lovers believed it to be endowed with the power to reveal the faithfulness of one's beloved. Its name has been traced to many ancient languages, and in each case the name is derived from the word "green." No other gem in the world possesses its glorious color. The best emeralds have a medium-dark tone of slightly bluish-green and a soft, velvety appearance.

Whatever your favorite precious gemstone may be we invite you to plan a visit with us today at BLUM'S JEWELERS, conveniently located at 222 Main, 267-6335. With over 22 years of experience and expertise in the field of fine jewelry we will gladly take all of the time you need to answer all of your questions and assist you in selecting the perfect piece of fine jewelry to suit your personal tastes and budget requirements. MasterCard & Visa welcome. Hours: Mon.-Sat., 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

— HINT —

Since emeralds have less brilliance than most gems, beauty and distribution of color are of prime importance.
