Arsenic threatening aquifer

By JIM BROWN
Staff Writer

KNOTT — The state Department of Water Resources has blamed high levels of arsenic contamination here on the use of cotton defoliants and says the poisonous chemical could pollute the giant Ogallala aquifer, the Herald has learned.

In a May 21 letter to the state Department of Health, Charles Nemir, executive director of the water resources department, said agricultural use of chemical-laden gin trash is responsible for the arsenic contamination of water wells here.

"Data collected thus far suggest that the arsenic concentrations in private water wells are primarily due to the use of arsenicals to defoliate cotton," the letter said. "When the local cotton crop is ginned, the waste cotton burrs, or gin trash, which can contain extremely high concentrations of arsenic, is commonly tilled by farmers into their fields in order to provide badly needed organic matter."

The letter continues, "This practice serves to readily introduce any water-soluble arsenic present into the subsurface. As only a few of the numerous water wells in the area investigated are completed with cemented casing, the many uncemented water well annuli could present potential avenues for arsenic to enter the local aquifer.

A report accompanying the letter said there is no evidence of a natural cause for the contamination.

The report also states: "The practice of tilling gin trash into the topsoil readily introduces arsenic into the subsurface, thereby creating a source of contamination of local ground-water resources. Once tilled into the topsoil, some of the arsenic is leached out of the gin trash by infiltration of precipitation on the land surface. The arsenic-containing solution gradually percolates downward until it either reaches the water table or relatively impermeable strata, such as the caliche at the

Krueger endorses Hance

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Defeated U.S. Senate candidate Bob Krueger, indicating he wasn't impressed with the campaign tactics waged by former rival Lloyd Doggett, formally endorsed U.S. Rep. Kent Hance on Wednesday in the Democrats' runoff election.

"My reason for supporting Kent is simple," Krueger told a Capitol news conference. "I believe that, ultimately, the quality of one's public service depends upon the character that one displays in filling an office.

"And I believe there is no separation between the candidate and an officeholder," Krueger added. "The qualities displayed in a campaign are the same qualities likely to be displayed in office."

Doggett, an Austin state senator, once accused Krueger of lacking sufficient backbone to serve in the U.S. Senate.

"While I do not agree with all things said or done in Kent Hance's campaign," Krueger said, "Kent Hance has focused on the issues, not personalities."

Krueger, a former congressman from New Braunfels, fell 1,287 votes shy of earning a runoff berth in the Democrats' May 5 primary. Democrats return to the polls Saturday to decide whether Hance or Doggett will face GOP nominee U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm of College Station in November.

HANCE SUPPORTERS — State Reps. Jim Rudd of Brownfield and Jay Gibson of Odessa were in Big Spring today to lend their support to the campaign of Kent Hance, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by John Tower.

Two of a kind Duo deals hand to Hance

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Kent Hance picked up a few endorsements today in his campaign for the U.S. Senate, but there were few people around to hear his Democratic colleagues lend support for Saturday's runoff election.

State Reps. Jim Rudd of Brownfield and Jay Gibson of Odessa stopped in Big Spring to hand out campaign literature to an almost empty county courtroom at 9 a.m. this morning. Excluding press, only one man showed up to listen in the courtroom. However, the representatives did pass out campaign literature to county employees in their offices.

Rudd and Gibson, along with ex-Odessa mayors Dan Henfield and Bob Bryant, are stopping here and in Lamesa, Seminole and Brownfield today as part of a West Texas Leaders for Hance group in the last days before the Democratic primary runoff. Friday they will go to Andrews, Kermit, Monahans, Pecos and Fort Stockton, they said.

Gibson, who called Hance "the best of the way West Texas people are," said he was supporting the U.S. representative from Lubbock over state Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin because, "We don't often elect someone from West Texas to the U.S. Senate. Hance is someone we can relate to."

Gibson, the budget chairman for the State House's Higher Education Committee, said Doggett "always opposed SWCID," the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.

"He never lifted a finger to do anything for the school," Gibson said. "And Lloyd Doggett is opposed to the university in Odessa (UTPB)."

When Doggett was in Big Spring before the May 5 primary, he said he would fight for federal funding for SWCID if elected to the U.S. Senate.

Both Gibson and Rudd said Doggett had never backed a West Texas water issue. They also said Doggett supported the Lower Colorado River Authority, in his district in Austin, which is suing the Colorado River Municipal Water District in Big Spring over construction of the Stacy Dam.

And they said charges made by Doggett in a commercial that Hance voted against more aid to the Border Patrol were "misleading."

Doggett was citing a vote Hance made against "a whole package of things. He (Doggett) just picked out items" from the budget to use in the commercials, Rudd said. "It's just one of those political facades."

Hance's commercials have focused on his opposition to granting amnesty to illegal aliens and to sanctions against employers who hire illegal aliens. Some pollsters have credited the commercials with his apparent jump from third to first place in the first Democratic primary.

Lamb chops Long in campaign spending

CHINA LONG

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Doyle Lamb is outpacing China Long by a 2-to-1 margin in the Democratic runoff race for Justice of the Peace Precinct 1, Place 1, according to campaign expense reports filed with the Howard County Clerk's office.

Lamb continued to out-pace all runoff candidates with a total expenditure for the race of $5,350. Mrs. Long has spent a total of $2,265 in the race.

Lamb reported more than twice the amount of expenditures as Mrs. Long's expenditures for the last month. According to the campaign expenditure reports, Lamb spent $1,077 and Mrs. Long spent $455, of which $215 was in amounts of $50 or less.

During the same time period, Lamb reported receiving $281 in gifts, services or use of property. He did not detail these on the report. His total contributions for the race were reported as $3,991.

In contrast, Mrs. Long reported $175 in contributions of $50 or less.

She reported total contributions of $1,075.

All persons within the Big Spring city limits who voted in the Democratic Party May 5 are eligible to vote in this election.

In the Democratic primary for County Commissioner Precinct 3, Joneil Smallwood outspent Oliver B. "Bud" Nichols Jr.

Smallwood spent $896 during the month-long period, of which $57 was in expenditures of $50 or less, to bring his total expenses to $2,734.

Kuwait asks U.S. for missile sale

By The Associated Press
Kuwait has asked the United States to sell it Stinger anti-aircraft missiles as protection from attacks in the Iran-Iraq war on oil shipments in the Persian Gulf, according to Reagan administration sources.

The sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified, said Wednesday night that Kuwait unofficially asked for the missiles for the same purposes as Saudi Arabia, which recently received 400 from the United States.

Kuwaiti Defense Ministry sources said a U.S. military delegation was in Kuwait today discussing the gulf nation's requirements for U.S. arms. They did not confirm the report that Kuwait had requested the missiles, or say whether the delegation was specifically considering such a request.

Iraq claimed Wednesday that its warplanes attacked another "big naval target" near Iran's main Persian Gulf oil terminal to enforce a blockade of Iranian ports, and international oil traders said Iran is offering discount prices to maintain its oil export income.

There was no immediate confirmation of the reported Iraqi attack, and shipping officials in the gulf said they had not received any distress signals.

In the past week, President Reagan has employed emergency powers to send 400 Stingers and a KC-10 tanker plane to bolster Saudi defenses against attacks on oil shipments by Iran.

Publicly, a Defense Department spokeswoman acknowledged early today that "we are reviewing Kuwait's defensive requirements with them, but we are not proceeding with any other Stinger sale in the region at this time."

The hand-held Stingers have a range of three miles and can be used against low-flying attack planes. The Saudis are using them at the main Saudi oil depot of Ras Tanura, near gulf tankers and around royal palaces, U.S. officials said.

EDEN PASTORA

Pastora escapes bomb; five killed

LA PENCA, Nicaragua (AP) — A bomb intended for Nicaraguan rebel leader Edén Pastora exploded during a news conference at his jungle headquarters, killing an American journalist and four other people. Pastora was hospitalized for his wounds.

The explosion, which Red Cross officials in Costa Rica said injured at least 28 people and killed five, occurred Wednesday night about one mile from the Costa Rican border. Pastora's guerrilla forces have been fighting in the region against troops of Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government.

Among those killed was Linda Frazier, 38, a reporter for the Tico Times newspaper in San Jose, Costa Rica, and wife of AP Central American correspondent Joseph B. Frazier, according to Miguel Carmona, general director of the Costa Rican Red Cross.

Mrs. Frazier, who had also worked as a stringer for the AP in Costa Rica, was from Portland, Ore., and formerly worked for The Oregonian newspaper there. Mrs.

Frazier and her husband had a 10-year-old son. She was the 14th foreign journalist to be killed in Central America.

Carmona said Red Cross workers evacuated 20 injured people and that there were more to be moved to hospitals. Other Red Cross officials put the number of injured at 28.

Also killed was Jorge Quiroz, a Costa Rican television cameraman in San Jose; a guerrilla woman only known as "Rosita," who was in charge of the camp; and two other people who remained unidentified.

Pastora, 48, was wounded in the heel, according to his nephew, Leonel Pastora, a member of his uncle's Costa Rican-based Revolutionary Democratic Alliance, known by its Spanish initials ARDE.

But Pastora was taken to the Hospital Mexico in San Jose. His condition was not immediately known.

This correspondent was among those injured and was being

Weather

Skies remain clear

A high-pressure ridge kept skies clear and temperatures mild across Texas today, and forecasters predicted a warming trend through the beginning of the weekend.

Little rainfall was expected over the Lone Star State, since the ridge located over East Texas and the Coastal Plains was blocking moisture from entering the coast from the Gulf of Mexico.

A low-pressure trough developing over southern Colorado and New Mexico was kicking up easterly winds at 10 to 20 mph. Elsewhere, winds were light and variable. Low temperatures were in the 50s and 60s statewide. Extremes ranged from 51 degrees at Lufkin and 65 at both Laredo and Lubbock.

Forecasters said mild temperatures and sunny skies should continue through Friday. Highs in North Texas Friday should reach 84 to 96 degrees, with near 106 expected in the Big Bend.

The National Weather Service said increasing cloudiness was expected in West Texas Friday. Skies should be partly cloudy in southern sections.

Lows Friday were expected in the mid-50s inland in Southeast Texas, the upper 60s along the lower Gulf coast, and the 50s in the mountains of far West Texas.

Drenching rains from a four-day-old storm that forced the evacuation of more than 1,000 people continued to soak the soggy Northeast today, while temperatures fell to record levels in eastern Tennessee.

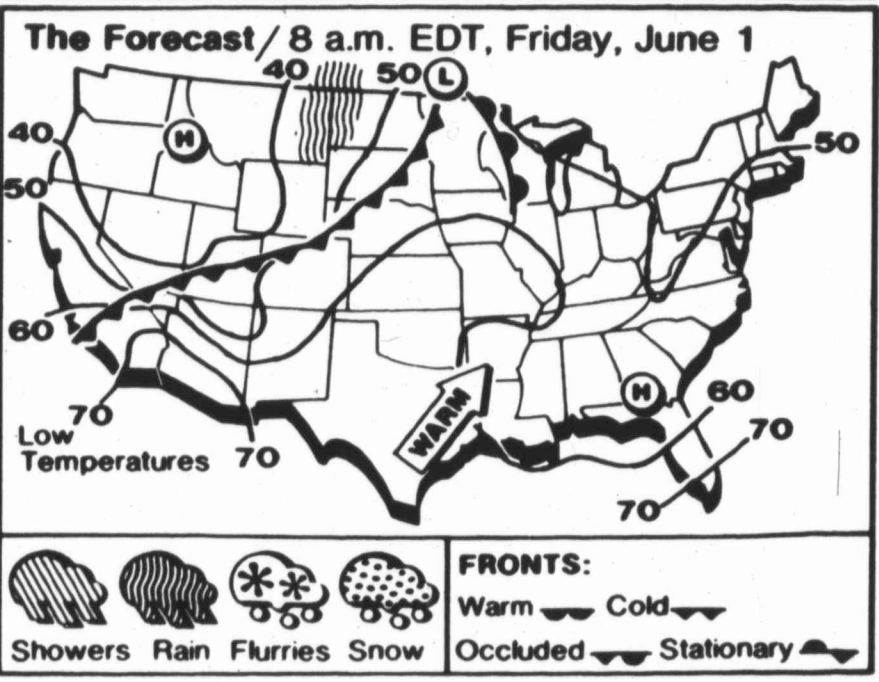

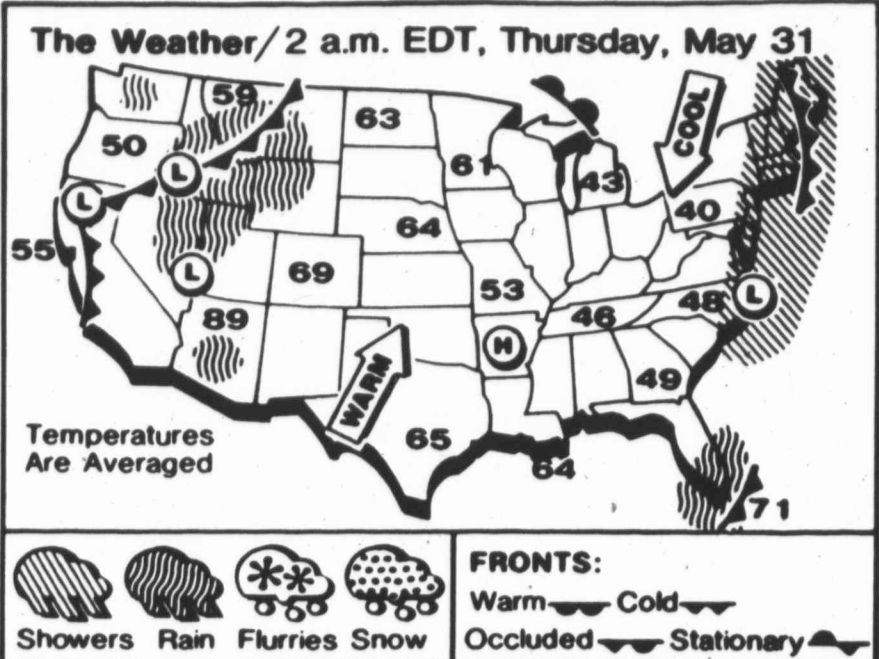

Flooding was expected later today in Connecticut and Massachusetts, with some rivers expected to reach their highest levels in nearly 30 years, the National Weather Service said.

West Texas — Partly cloudy with gradually cooler afternoon temperatures especially east of the mountains. Panhandle lows low 40s and highs upper 80s Saturday cooling to low 80s by Monday. South Plains lows low 40s and highs low 90s Saturday cooling to mid 80s by Monday. Permian Basin and Concho Valley lows mid to upper 60s and highs mid 90s Saturday cooling to near 90 by Monday. Far west lows mid 40s and highs mid 90s. Big Bend lows near 60 mountains to near 70 along the Rio Grande. Highs low 90s mountains to near 104 along the river.

Showbarn bids sought

Howard County Commissioners Wednesday agreed to set a special meeting June 18 to award a bid for construction of a new county showbarn on the county fairgrounds.

Plans and specifications will be available to prospective bidders June 11. The commissioners are having the meeting to award the bid because the building must be constructed by September, the deadline for using revenue-sharing funds funding the construction.

Commissioners voted unanimously to not add a special $5 registration fee to motor vehicles registered in the county.

In other action, the Howard County 4-H Council presented commissioners with a framed reproduction of the national 4-H poster.

Commissioners approved a $9,000 overhaul of an engine on a roads and bridge department vehicle, and agreed to consider providing uniforms for all members of the department.

Payment service offered

City water, sewer and sanitation customers may soon enjoy greater convenience in paying their bills if they choose to take advantage of a new service offered by the city of Big Spring beginning July 1.

Under the new program, customers who give authorization may have their charges for these services taken directly from their bank accounts by bank draft, City Secretary Tom Ferguson said yesterday.

"I guess the major benefit (to customers) is that they won't forget to pay their bills and have late charges and penalties added on," he said.

Customers who wish to take advantage of the program should fill out an authorization card at the city water office, Ferguson said.

Customers who use the service will not receive their bills in the mail, but will receive a statement of water, sewer and sanitation charges in their monthly bank statements, he said.

According to Ferguson, the city discontinued a similar service three years ago when its new computer system was put into operation. The system had not been programmed for paying bills by bank draft, he said.

The city's computer consultant, Tom Bates of Midland, recently developed a program to restart the service, Ferguson said.

Leadership grads honored

Education and knowledge are the keys to meeting opportunity, graduates of Leadership Big Spring were told Wednesday night.

The speaker was George A. McAlister, a former Howard County math instructor who later founded Gamco Industries in Big Spring.

McAlister spoke at a dinner honoring 12 graduates of the nine-month Leadership Big Spring class sponsored by the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

Opportunity is a favorable set of circumstances that allows a person to accomplish good things, McAlister told his audience of graduates, their employers and Chamber officials.

"It takes a knowledge of chemistry to solve problems in chemistry," he said. "One cannot provide a breakthrough in software without a knowledge of computers."

McAlister noted that the discovery of vulcanization by Charles Goodyear and of the telephone by Alexander Graham Bell were the result of accidents.

"The people who take advantage of opportunities are problem solvers, not people who avoid problems," he said.

A complete list of the Leadership graduates and biographical sketches are contained in a special supplement in today's Herald.

Police Beat

$4,000 in jewelry stolen

Gregg Brooks of 3602 Calvin told police at 10:50 a.m. Wednesday that someone between 9 a.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday stole from his residence jewelry valued at more than $4,000, police reports said.

Among items taken in the robbery were a sapphire and diamond gold nugget ring valued at $950 and a diamond initial gold bracelet worth $2,200, reports said.

Earris Dunn of the Jones Apartments at 2703 W. Hwy. 80 told police at 11:40 p.m. Wednesday that someone between 7:30 p.m. and 11:45 p.m. Wednesday entered his residence and stole a 30.06 caliber rifle with scope valued at a total of $230, police reports said.

Sgt. Charles Daon filed at 8:50 p.m. Wednesday a criminal mischief report stating that a man held in city jail repeatedly slammed the observation window on his cell door at about 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, resulting in damage to door's latch, police reports said.

Sheriff's Log

Man pleads guilty in court

A 21-year-old Big Spring man pleaded guilty Wednesday in 118th District Court to aggravated assault.

District Judge Jim Gregg sentenced James Elery Baker of 801 S. Lancaster to five years in prison.

Gregg Wednesday sentenced Ramon Ramirez, 33, of 614 N.E. 11th to two years in prison after revoking Ramirez' probation for theft by exercising control.

Howard County sheriff's deputies Wednesday arrested Robert Lee Armstrong, 39, of Route 3 on a fugitive warrant at East Robinson Road. According to a teletype the sheriff's office received yesterday, Armstrong is wanted on two Alleghany, Va., warrants for breaking and entering and grand larceny.

The Lubbock Police Department Wednesday night arrested Sharon Berenice Blackwell, 22, no address available, on a Howard County warrant for forgery by passing. The warrant was issued yesterday by Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin in connection with a theft of 17 checks from a Big Spring business.

The forged checks, all for more than $400, have turned up in Midland, Big Spring, Lubbock and Lamesa, according to Sheriff A.N. Standard.

Deputies are continuing to look for a woman and a man who they suspect of being involved in the forgery, according to Standard.

William Carl Jenkins, 29, of San Angelo was arrested by the Rannels County sheriff's office on a Howard County warrant for revocation of probation on driving while intoxicated. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Garrett Dean Burgess, 22, of Sterling City Route was arrested on a warrant for bond forfeiture on driving while license suspended. He was released on $1,000 bond set by County Judge Milton Kirby.

Knott

top of the Ogallala (aquifer). An examination of Texas Department of Water Resources' file data, as well as interviews with well owners in the Knott area, indicates that most of the water wells around Knott are un cemented. The un cemented annular space in these wells serves as a potential avenue for contamination of usable-quality water-bearing strata."

The report says wells containing the highest levels of contamination are all along the southern property line of the abandoned Guitar Gin in Knott.

The report says according to local farmers, gin trash had not only been used on the cotton fields adjacent to two of the wells but had been buried on the south side of the Guitar Gin. Large piles of gin trash are still present along the gin's southern property line, the report said.

Many of the other contaminated wells are also located in or adjacent to fields or gardens to which gin trash had been applied.

At one well, the report noted that gin burrs had been piled up against the pump house, while another well was in a fenced pen where burrs had been mixed with the topsoil.

Tom Mulligan, Water Resources Information Officer, said he did not know of the report and said results from 60 core samples taken in the area won't be received for another two weeks.

State Rep. Larry Don Shaw's office said he also was unaware of the report.

Bomb

treated for shrapnel wounds and burns at a hospital in Quesada, Costa Rica. Another journalist reported seriously injured was Susan Morgan, a Briton who is a stringer for Newsweek magazine.

Sixteen of the injured were hospitalized in Quesada. About 16 journalists were gathered on the second floor of Pastora's headquarters when the bomb went off at about 7:30 p.m. (8:30 p.m. CDT). The explosives apparently had been planted in the building.

After the blast, there was an immediate burst of automatic rifle fire, apparently from Pastora's men outside the building. Pastora's news conference was held in a warehouse-type building in a jungle area that has been controlled by ARDE rebels, and Pastora's headquarters had been in that area.

Radio Havana, in a broadcast monitored in Miami, said "unconfirmed reports indicate that the explosive was set by a couple pretending to be journalists." The broadcast did not give the source of its report.

"The traitor Eden Pastora was seriously wounded in a dynamite attempt at a press conference where he was pointing out that he will not join other Nicaraguan groups because they have ties with CIA and (former Nicaraguan dictator Anastasio) Somoza's former guards."

Radio Reloj, a San Jose radio station, reported the bridge over the San Juan River between La Penca and Boca Tapada, Costa Rica, was not useable, but the reason was not known. The bridge was used Wednesday night to ferry some of the wounded to Costa Rica.

Radio Monumental said Pastora had wanted to cancel the news conference because of heavy rain, but had been overruled by alliance leaders.

Pastora, known as "Commander Zero," was a hero of the Sandinista Revolution that ousted pro-American strongman Anastasio Somoza in 1979. He broke with the Sandinistas because of the military ties with Cuba and the Soviet Union.

The bomb exploded as Pastora was starting a question-and-answer session. He had called a news conference to discuss reports that some of his Democratic Revolutionary Alliance troops had voted to join with another group of "Contra" rebels fighting Nicaragua's Sandinista government.

Earlier Wednesday, an official for the Honduras-based Nicaraguan Democratic Force said the group would sign an agreement with ARDE within a week.

Spending

Nichols spent $797 for the month, $62 of which was for bills of $50 or less. His total expenses for the race are $2,736.

Nichols received $375 in contributions this month, including $100 from Robert Beall. The other $275 was given to his campaign in contributions of $50 or less. His campaign contributions now total $625.

Smallwood reported no campaign donations.

In the only Republican race on the ballot, incumbent County Commissioner Precinct 3 Bill Crooker has outspent his opponent, Clayton McKinnon, by 2-to-1.

Crooker spent $1,182 this month, for a total of $2,631. He has reported no contributions during the entire campaign.

McKinnon reported $873 expenses this month, of which $229 is in expenses of less than $50. Total expenses reported for the campaign was $1,725.

McKinnon received $20 in contributions, making his total contributions for the race $95.

All figures cited are from campaign expense and contribution reports filed Tuesday and cover the period between April 26 to May 23, seven days before the run-off election this Saturday. Runoff candidates are required to file reports of individual contributions and expenses of more than $50, and to list the total of contributions and expenses of $50 or less.

All expenditures were for newspaper, radio, or specialty advertisements and signs.

For the record

A Coahoma State Bank vice president who recently resigned was incorrectly identified in a story yesterday.

John Ezell, not Jim Ezell, is the bank vice president who offered his resignation, effective June 15.

Prince eats an awful lot

CHESTER — Prince William, toddler son of Prince Charles and Princess Diana, has something in common with his grandfather, Earl Spencer, the princess says.

"... He's got my father's appetite. He is very boisterous and eats an awful lot," hospital patient Marjorie Simpson, 48, quoted Diana as saying Wednesday during a visit to West Cheshire Hospital in this northwest town.

The 22-year-old wife of the heir to the British throne sat on Mrs. Simpson's bed and chatted with her for several minutes after she and Prince Charles attended a ceremony to rename the facility the Countess of Chester Hospital, in honor of the princess who also holds that title.

A crowd of 7,000 people chanted "We Want Di" as city officials escorted the royal couple on a short walking tour of the town.

Degree of endearment

NEW YORK — Academy Award-winning actress Shirley MacLaine has another prize to hang on her wall — an honorary degree from Hunter College.

Hunter, part of the City University of New York, recognized Miss MacLaine on Wednesday for her "quest into philosophy and metaphysics... extraordinary talent as an actress... and forays into public affairs."

"I've always believed that if I went to college, which I didn't, I would have gone to Hunter. Or maybe I did in another life," said Miss MacLaine, who wrote a best-selling book about her belief in reincarnation.

Miss MacLaine, who won an Oscar this year for her role in "Terms of Endearment" and has a show currently on Broadway, said, "It took me 50 years of traveling and searching other cultures and diverse points of view to come to this understanding that I have today."

"This world was my university," she told the 2,005 recipients of degrees at graduation ceremonies in Madison Square Garden.

Sightless judge eyes courtroom credibility

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — A blind judge who's worked eight years in the nation's busiest court system says he doesn't have to see his witnesses to be fair because "it's what's inside that counts" when determining truthfulness.

Cook County Associate Circuit Judge Nicholas T. Pomaro, blinded in childhood by a rare disease, presides over civil, felony, misdemeanor and traffic cases.

"I believe in my whole heart, soul and mind that I am perfectly capable of determining credibility," said Pomaro, 46. "Because what I lack in what I see, I more than make up for in what I hear."

"Maybe it's a kind of a sixth sense that you develop," he explained in a recent interview. "I don't sit here in a black abyss... I form these images in my brain, but those images are not perceived through sight, but through imagination, sounds, smell, feel and the other senses."

Pomaro is keenly aware that blindness on the bench became an issue recently in a murder case in Denver, when a lawyer challenged a blind judge's ability to review a videotaped confession given to police.

The lawyer asked the judge to disqualify himself because he would not be able to see the defendant's non-verbal expressions. The judge refused and was upheld by the state Supreme Court.

Pomaro, who has followed the case closely, said the situation is similar whenever someone testifies before him because "I can't see his face and I can't see his expressions."

But "that outer appearance... doesn't make him a truthful person and it doesn't make him a liar. It's what's inside that counts, and that's what I'm better able to get at," he said.

Pomaro said most attorneys are "scared to death" when they learn he is blind because they don't know what to expect. But, he said, "when you work with me a while... there's a rhythm that you establish."

Kevin Kelly, a Cook County

SIXTH SENSE — Cook County circuit judge Nicholas Pomaro is assisted at the bench by a court clerk in Skokie, Ill.

assistant state's attorney, will attest to that. Pomaro "provides the things you expect in a judge — fairness and knowledge of the law," Kelly said. "... He's more than qualified to sit on the bench."

Blinded at age 6 by a rare blood disease called purpura hemorrhagica, Pomaro graduated from DePaul University and John Marshall Law School, both in Chicago.

He said he encountered few objections to his blindness when he began his private practice as an attorney because people looking for inexpensive services didn't care whether he was sightless.

"I always had a client and always earned some money," he said.

But that changed after he became an assistant state's attorney in April 1966.

"No one wanted to give Nick a chance," said his wife, Jean. "The state's attorney's office wanted him to sit and do office work, but he wanted to try cases."

Mrs. Pomaro said her husband always felt he would remove himself if for some reason he couldn't properly try a case, "but he wanted the chance to try."

Pomaro has developed his own system of overcoming his blindness when dealing with visual evidence such as photographs.

"I have the clerk describe the photograph until I feel that I understand what is depicted," he said. He then asks the attorneys involved for corrections or additions.

"When I feel I have a good verbal description of what the photograph depicts... we go on from there," he said.

However, Pomaro added, "one thing I want to be is realistic... There are probably some things that I would have to disqualify myself from presiding over," such as obscenity cases.

News in brief

Karami wants mandate

BEIRUT — Prime Minister Rashid Karami today asked Parliament for a mandate to rule by decree for nine months as part of efforts to end the nine-year civil war and create a "future, modernized Lebanon" based on equality between Christians and Moslems.

Karami also called for warring Christians and Moslems to close ranks behind his coalition Cabinet's drive to "liberate south Lebanon from Israeli occupation."

Armored cars and troops stood guard outside Parliament headquarters and a few shots rang out in the distance as Parliament met to hear Karami read his Cabinet's policy statement. It is to meet again Tuesday to debate the document.

Chernenko meets Syrians

MOSCOW — Soviet President Konstantin U. Chernenko met today with Syrian Vice President Rifaat Assad, head of a delegation visiting the Soviet Union this week, the official Soviet news agency Tass said.

No details were reported on the meeting, held on the final day of a four-day meeting. The Syrian Embassy said earlier that the delegation would leave today.

Tass said the meeting was held in "an atmosphere of friendship and cordiality that are characteristic of Soviet-Syrian relations."

Polish police on trial

WARSAW — Two policemen, two ambulance attendants and two doctors went on trial today for the May 1983 beating of a teen-age Solidarity supporter who died after being detained by police.

The death of 19-year-old Gregorz Przemyslaw on May 14, 1983, sparked public anger over harsh police methods used to crush support for the now outlawed Solidarity labor federation. An estimated 20,000 people attended his funeral in Warsaw.

The most serious charges in the case were brought against two ambulance attendants, who face a minimum of one year imprisonment if convicted of beating Przemyslaw severely enough to cause his death.

U.S. sends food to Haiti

PORT-AU-PRINCE — The Reagan administration will send an extra $21 million worth of food to Haiti in the aftermath of rioting in two cities, U.S. officials in Port-au-Prince said.

A U.S. Embassy official said the assistance from the Agency for International Development is in addition to $54 million already allocated this year for the Western Hemisphere's poorest nation.

Indicators show economy rebounding from March dip

By The Associated Press
The government's economic barometer resumed its climb in April after a slight decline the previous month, the Commerce Department said today.

The Index of Leading Economic Indicators rose 0.5 percent in April, the department said. The agency also revised the decline in March to only 0.1 percent, instead of the 1.1 percent drop earlier reported.

March's decline had been the first in 19 months, and the initial report of a sharp drop was interpreted by some analysts as a signal the economic expansion was slowing.

Since that report, however, other figures emerged showing renewed economic vigor in April.

The ability of the American economy to expand at a brisker pace than those of other nations helped lift the U.S. trade deficit to a new monthly record of $12.19 billion in April, the Commerce Department said in an earlier report.

It was the fourth straight month in which the trade deficit climbed to a new peak.

In a separate report, the department said sales of new houses fell 4.9 percent in April, and worried builders said high interest rates are curtailing the national housing recovery.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed a tariff with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to make end user common line charges associated with Centrex CO service equal to those to be billed to Private Branch Exchange service. The Commission has suspended the proposed tariff until October 1, 1984, or before, and assigned the matter to Docket No. 5686.

The equalization of end user common line charges for Centrex CO service is to be accomplished by a reduction in Centrex service charges. The net effect of the Centrex service charge adjustment and an interstate end user common line charge will be an increase in total billing.

3rd best turnout may get better

U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm this week reported a significant finding from the Secretary of State's office: The area — including Howard County — which makes up the 17th Congressional District had the third highest voting turnout in the state on May 5.

In fact, Howard County's voter turnout numbers show the Big Spring area helped lead the way.

In the 17th District, 33 percent of voters showed at the polls in primary elections for Republican and Democratic candidates. Howard County Clerk Margaret Ray says that voter turnout locally was nearly 39 percent. Across the state, only 25 percent of eligible voters recorded their choices in county, senate, congressional and judicial primary voting.

Local interest was sparked by vigorously waged campaigns by district attorney candidates and, although that race is behind us, both parties are conducting runoff elections here Saturday. The statewide numbers may pick up in response to the Democratic primary battle for nomination to the U.S. Senate, a race which pits Lloyd Doggett against Kent Hance.

Locally, runoffs will be held in two Democratic races — justice of the peace and county commissioner — as well as in the Republican primary — county commissioner.

Stenholm reports that only East Texas' District 2 and Northeast Texas' District 1 bettered the 17th District in turnout. Maybe we can change those standings this time around.

The job culprit

In what threatens to become an annual rite of spring, the Reagan administration has again proposed to reduce the minimum wage for teenagers in summer jobs. Again, of course, it has no more chance of passage than Ed Meese has of being mistaken for Junior Wells.

By the reasoning of critics on the left, the minimum wage is the last hope of the poor, the black, the unemployed city-dweller. Without it, they'd be at the mercy of miserly employers. The inimitable Rep. Augustus Hawkins, a California Democrat best known for trying to eradicate joblessness by congressional fiat, says the administration's proposal, combined with its budget cuts, would force the poor to choose between "starvation" and "slavery."

This year, however, there is an interesting twist: The measure has been endorsed by the National Conference of Black Mayors. Among Reagan's critics, this could unleash an epidemic of cognitive dissonance. But the mayors, in their tentative way, are merely beginning to recognize the accuracy of what fellow blacks in the economics profession have argued for years: The minimum wage is one of the most anti-black, anti-poor laws on the books.

The reasons are simple. The minimum wage says an employer can't employ anyone for less than $3.35 an hour. A firm that hires someone who can produce $3 worth of goods or services in an hour, but has to pay him $3.35, is losing 35 cents for every hour he works. That's no recipe for success in business.

Faced with a legal minimum wage, employers will try very hard not to employ anyone whose labor is worth less than that amount. They will substitute one skilled worker for a couple of unskilled ones, or replace workers with machines, or cut back production — or, if they can't adapt in these ways, they may simply close down.

Which workers are the most likely to be poor less than $3.35 an hour? The poor and victims of racial discrimination — and, of course, teenagers. Each of these groups is less likely than other Americans to have marketable skills. So they're unlikely to find anyone willing to hire them. That raises the question: Is it better to have a job at $3 an hour or no job at $3.35?

The argument that the minimum wage hurts blacks has been made most forcefully by Walter Williams, a black economist at Virginia's George Mason University.

ty, in his book, The State Against Blacks. In 1948, he notes, unemployment among young blacks was actually lower than among young whites. Then the effective minimum wage began to climb. By 1980, the unemployment rate for young blacks was twice as high as for young whites.

This can't be ascribed to discrimination. It's hard to make a case that white prejudice is more widespread or pronounced now than it was a generation ago. If bigotry were the source of the problem, black unemployment should have declined substantially. The real culprit is the minimum wage.

Minimum wages plainly can serve discriminatory purposes. As Williams points out, "South Africa's racist union support minimum wages... for blacks!" Why? Because minimum wages spare high-wage white workers from low-wage black competition. A racist employer might employ black workers if he were allowed to pay them less than whites, but if he has to pay all workers the same legal minimum, he'll probably indulge his preference for whites.

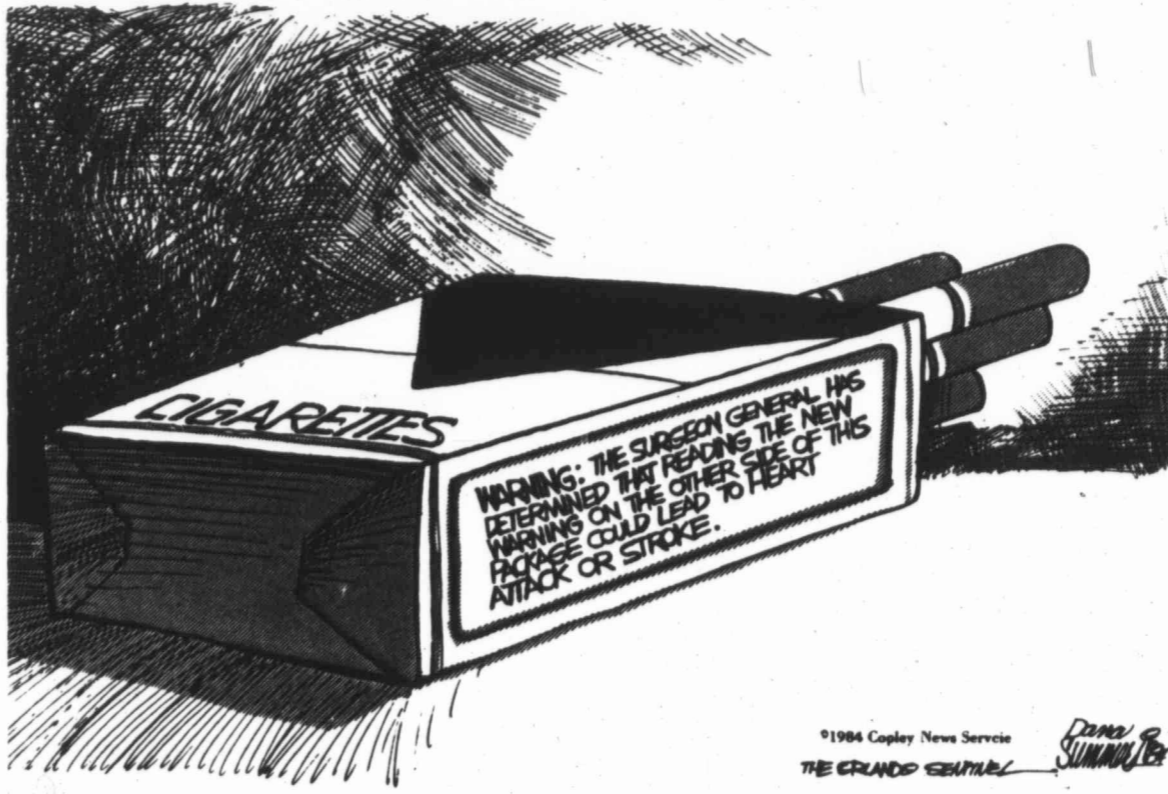

There's no reason to think that black leaders and black organizations are ready to acknowledge the failure of federal policies like this one. Even the National Conference of Black Mayors refuses to consider drastic changes in the law.

"We're for the minimum wage," says Sam Tucker, the deputy executive director. "We think it's too low." The mayors support the sub-minimum mainly because it's "the only proposal out there dealing with youth unemployment."

Tucker thinks black teenagers will be better off working at a low wage than not working at all: "These kids have no experience. If you get a job at $2.50 an hour, then the next summer you've got experience that qualifies you for a better-paying job." But, he says, his organization is opposed by other black groups.

The continuing black support for this destructive law is the result of confusion between its purpose and its actual effects. The intentions of black leaders who support the minimum wage may be good, but unemployed blacks can't eat intentions.

Reagan takes sides with Iraq

WASHINGTON — If the escalating Iran-Iraq war should close the Persian Gulf even temporarily, a classified Treasury Department study predicts that oil prices could jump to $39 a barrel. This would boost the cost of living for every American, disrupt the economic recovery and jeopardize President Reagan's re-election.

But higher oil prices would be a far worse disaster for nations with fragile economies such as Argentina and Brazil. Then, inevitably, these countries would come crying to the United States for financial support. The Treasury Department anticipates that U.S. banks would be asked to contribute $2 to $3 for every $1 that the World Bank would provide through emergency loans.

The danger of U.S. embroilment in the Persian Gulf, meanwhile, has been increased by the president's latest decisions. In the past, the United States has tried to avoid antagonizing either side in the Iran-Iraq struggle. This was thought to be the best way to avoid inflaming the Persian Gulf oil fields.

But Saudi Arabia, fearful of aggressions and subversions by Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini, wanted him brought under the knout. The Saudi royal family has always been subject to radical insurgencies and transitory runnings amok. But the ayatollah, glaring from the center of web of conspiracies, really scares the Saudis.

So they quietly encouraged the Reagan administration to support Iraq as a necessary step to defuse the ayatollah's radical fury. The administration has been persuaded to drop its "strict neutrality." A secret policy directive has now been issued ordering a "tilt" in Iraq's favor.

My associate Mike Binstein has learned that cables have already gone out pressuring allies to halt military shipments to Iran and to rush weapons to Iraq. The irascible Khomeini can be expected to strike back against the United States.

INSIDE NICARAGUA: For months, Eden Pastora's claim that his anti-Sandinista guerrillas are operating deep inside Nicaragua have been greeted with widespread skepticism. I can now confirm that the one-time "Commander Zero" of the Nicaraguan revolution has indeed penetrated into southeastern Nicaragua far beyond his headquarters on the Costa Rican border.

My associate Jon Lee Anderson was the first reporter to visit one of Pastora's "deep penetration" camps. The only way into the camp is by helicopter. Otherwise, it would take a month-long trek on foot through the jungle. Local peasants helped the guerrillas slash a clearing in the trees for a helipad.

The commander of the forward camp was a 34-year-old ex-Sandinista soldier who calls himself Leonel. He claimed 900 armed men under his command, spread out over a large area in fast-moving ambush units. Leonel's ultimate mission is to seize and hold the road that snakes through his territory from the Atlantic coast to western Nicaragua.

Leonel was actively recruiting and arming peasants who showed up at his camp. Most of them said they had fled Sandinista "abuses" in the northeast. In the day and night my reporter spent at Leonel's camp, it was clear that the guerrillas had solid support among the peasantry.

Leonel's forward camp is the only one that has a helicopter landing place. The rest must get their ammunition and provisions by parachute drops from Pastora's mini-squadron of red-and-white Maule single-engine propeller planes.

The daredevil pilots use sand bars in the San Juan River as airstrips. Risking Sandinista anti-aircraft fire, they fly deep into Nicaragua to make their air drops to isolated guerrilla units. Pastora said most of his planes are inoperative due to a lack of spare parts. But he speaks optimistically of buying new planes and outfitting them with machine guns so he can have his own "air force."

Further evidence of Pastora's status as a serious, effective guerrilla leader is a reasonably sophisticated, one-channel radio system, which transmits messages in code between headquarters and the forward camps. The radio is in constant operation, passing along intelligence information, requests for supplies and arrangements for evacuating sick or wounded guerrillas.

While still not completely streamlined, Pastora's logistical pipeline is functioning and appears capable of handling several thousand fighters. His rear-echelon organization has made noticeable progress since my reporter's last visit 11 months ago.

Try to stay married sacrifices are necessary to keep your marriage together. You see, the step you are about to take in getting a divorce is a serious one. God gave marriage to us, and that vow is not to be broken. "Therefore what God has joined together, let man not separate" (Matthew 19:6).

Billy Graham's religious column is distributed by the Tribune Company Syndicate.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My wife and I are talking about getting a divorce. Our marriage is just one of those things that didn't work out, I guess. The problem is our two children. She says she ought to get custody of them since I travel a lot, but I will miss them and wonder if you think I should put up a fight to keep them. — G.V.C.

DEAR G.V.C.: One of the most tragic effects of divorce is the tension and heartache it brings to children. I don't know the full story, of course, but if you do get a divorce, it will be up to the judge to decide the custody of your children.

Frankly, however, your letter (which I have not quoted in full here) sounds as if you have not been as responsible as you could have been in fulfilling your duties as a father (as well as a husband). You admit you have been away from home a lot because of your job, and have done little to make up for this problem by concentrating on your family when you have been in town. Your children (and your wife) deserve more than a part-time parent and husband who is unwilling to give them the time and energy they need.

But more than that, you need to do all you can to make your marriage work. I don't know what your problems are, but it is God's will for you to make whatever

Around The Rim

By RHONDA WOODALL

Mr. Right

Who are we to judge? I'm tired of listening to certain self-righteous people give their opinion of everybody else. According to them, they would never do anything wrong. How dare a person even think of Mr. Self-Righteous as least than perfect? However, Mr. Self-Righteous will run someone else's character into the ground in a split second because that person doesn't behave exactly like he wants her to.

Mr. Self-Righteous should try not to judge anyone until he has walked in her shoes. Remember, no two people have the same experiences in life. One experience can make the difference in a person's life. If Mr. Self-Righteous were in her position he might do the same thing she did. Would he want to be judged as harshly as he judged her? Probably not.

Some people believe a person they know is rude if that person doesn't talk to them. That's not always true. First of all did Mr. Self-Righteous speak to that "rude" person? Probably not. Next, did Mr. Self-Righteous ever think the "rude" person might have something else on her mind or she doesn't know what to say. If she is like me, she is probably in a daze and didn't see Mr. Self-Righteous.

Mr. Self-Righteous is quick to notice if a woman and a man are sitting together in a public place. He jumps to the conclusion that the woman and man must be dating. This isn't always true. Nowadays, women and men do go out together just as friends. Yes, this may seem hard to believe, but a person can have friends of the opposite sex.

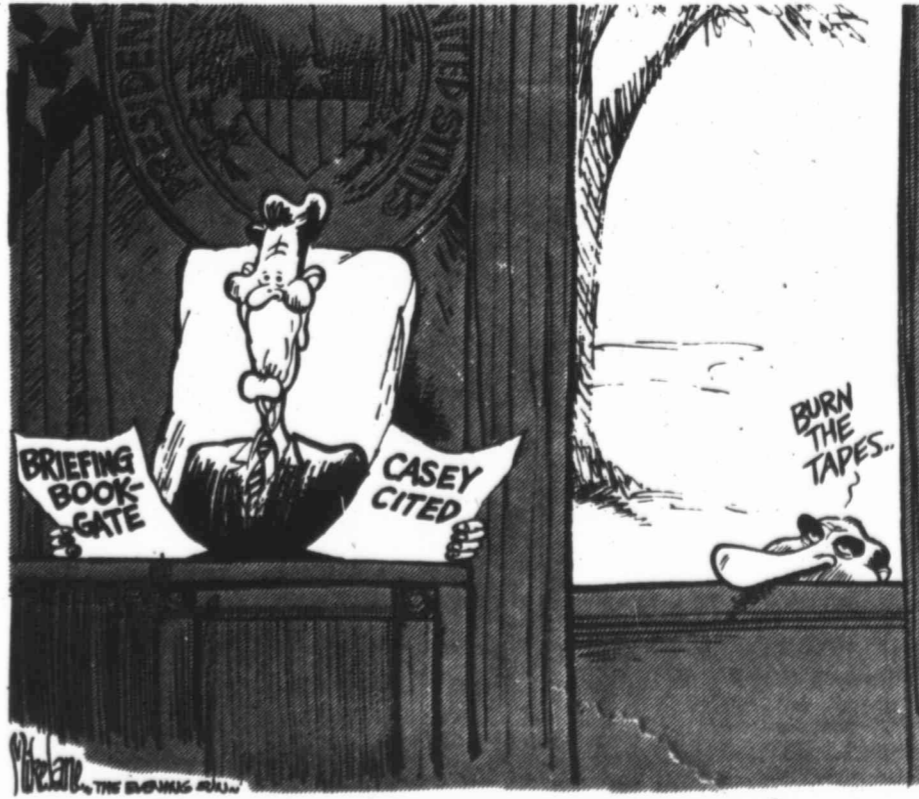

There's only one thing worse than Mr. Self-Righteous. That's Mrs. Self-Righteous, the gossip who has at least half the facts wrong. If the facts are right you can believe the names are wrong and vice versa. More false rumors have gotten start by Mrs. Self-Righteous than hamburgers have been eaten by American teenagers.

Mrs. Self-Righteous can also be credited with ruining the good names of several people. You know her as the neighbor who peeps through the window blinds in the early hours of the morning. It's her duty to protect the neighborhood from you. She's watches you like a hawk, waiting for you to make a slip that will prove you guilty of some awful crime.

Why is Mrs. Self-Righteous out to get you, you wonder? See, Mrs. Self-Righteous has been down at the post office looking at the posters of the ten most wanted criminals. Even though you are well disguised she knows you are a public enemy No. 1. Only one thing she forgot to notice that you are only six inches shorter than public enemy No. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Self-Righteous are trying to be good samaritans by helping people discover their faults. Faults that didn't exist before Mr. and Mrs. Self-Righteous noticed them. If only the lovely Self-Righteous couple would just accept people as they are, they would be able to do more together. Like minding their own business.

VOE to honor Vonna Swim

When Vonna Swim attended high school there was no Vocational Office Education program. "VOE is a relatively new vocational program. Big Spring had the first VOE program in this area," she said.

"VOE is a good opportunity for teenagers because you get on the job training and prepare for your future. Experience is the best teacher."

Mrs. Swim has been a VOE instructor at Big Spring High School since 1965 and plans to retire this year. She also has taught typing and shorthand. Before taking the VOE position, she taught BSBS business classes for two years.

In appreciation for her contributions, BSBS's VOE program will honor Mrs. Swim at an open house from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Saturday at First Baptist Church Parlor.

Former and present students, faculty members and friends will attend the event. It will be hosted by Robbie Crow, Lougene Green, Donna Ringener, Audrey Ware, Cynthia Weeks, Anna Walker, Sonya Worthan, Tammy Worthan, Cindy Yater and Patsy Alvarez.

Mrs. Swim earned a bachelor of arts degree from Harding College in Searcy, Ark. and a masters' in business education from Colorado State College of Education in Greeley, Colo. She has taught for 37 years at Big Spring, Saint Jo, Iowa Park, and in Hart, Bernie and Linn, Mo.

Mrs. Swim is married to Keith Swim, who is retiring as superintendent of Danbury schools this year. They have two children: Sharon Lane of Lubbock and Keith Swim Jr. of Bryan.

Dear Abby

Quadriplegic's treatment

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a handsome man in his 30s who is totally disabled due to an accident. He's a quadriplegic who has not regained his ability to speak and must be fed through a tube.

I know he understands what is being said to him because he smiles a lot and changes his facial expressions. He requires 24-hour care, but he is living at home because I want him here.

My problem: How can I protect him from well-meaning people who tickle his chin, pat him on the head and even kiss him and treat him like a child? It's always women who do this. Recently, a woman I met for the first time actually hugged and kissed him! (It did not occur to me to kiss her husband.)

I want my husband to be treated like the man he still is, the man I am married to and dearly love. His children and I give him plenty of love and affection. I appreciate those people who care about him, but if he weren't in a wheelchair I'm sure they wouldn't do some of the things they do.

Am I being silly? What do other people with problems like this do? I know if I were in a wheelchair I wouldn't want people I hardly know patting me on the head or kissing me.

NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: You are not being silly. Your problem is one that many people must deal with. The solution is to educate the well-meaning public, and your letter is a giant step in the right direction. Thanks for writing.

Prolapsed mitral valve explained

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been helped many times because you often discuss cases which hit home. Perhaps in a future column you can discuss this one. A valued member of my family has a prolapsed mitral heart valve which causes her very uncomfortable heart palpitations. My question: Is there any hope for a marked improvement? — E.K.

I would say there is. Usually, palpitations associated with mitral valve prolapse are well controlled with drugs called beta blockers. Propranolol (Inderal) is one of those. Has she tried them?

I should explain for other readers that a prolapsed mitral valve refers to the valve controlling blood flow between the upper and lower leftside heart chambers. Prolapse refers to the fact that the valve has become a little floppy. With each heartbeat it billows into the upper chamber. It is a common condition and, as I said, is usually well-controlled in the few women who develop symptoms from it.

Usually, it causes no great problems. I am sorry your family member is one of the few who has trouble with it.

Headaches — you can beat them! Write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

United Way reinstates ARC Chapter

The Howard-Glasscock Counties Chapter of American Red Cross was reinstated into the United Way organization and would be considered at one of the UW's budget meetings, June 4-7, it was reported at the chapter's May 15 meeting.

A proposed budget for 1984-85 was presented. It will be presented to the United Way.

The chapter adopted a non-discrimination certificate of policy. It also decided to abide by the United Way's by-laws regarding supplementary fund raising without prior approval by the United Way's board of directors. The chapter has an unpaid debt to the National American Red Cross office of $16,589 from a period of six years.

Five hundred envelopes have been addressed as the chapter plans to send out 2,000 letters for its mailout fund campaign by June 1. Twenty-two CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) certificates were given out since the chapter's last meeting.

Names of prospective board members from Glasscock County were given. They are: county judge D.W. Parker, J.E. Wooten, Alex Fryar and Fred Holcher.

Marianne Brown will be on vacation for three weeks. Laurie Webb will take over answering service duties for the Service to Military Personnel and Veterans during that time. Martha Moody commended Abilene volunteers for furnishing gifts to hospital patients.

The board's next meeting will be 7 p.m. June 19 at Veteran's Administration Medical Center.

Thursday Notes

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

Track and field is very much alive and well in Big Spring

Seven Big Spring athletes won 16 medals recently at the state Special Olympics Track and Field meet in Austin which was attended by 4,200 handicapped children and adults.

Those from Big Spring that won first place gold medals were Carrie Parker in the softball throw and 50-meters; and Mike Jones, Monroe Faubion, and Judy Poblete in the 50-meters. The same foursome captured gold in the 200-meter shuttle relay.

Second place silver was won by Leticia Anguiano in the standing long jump and 100-meters.

Bronze medals were garnered by Edward Reyna in the standing long jump and the 400-meters; Anguiano and Parker in the frisbee throw, and Faubion in the softball throw.

Funds raised by the Big Spring Civitan Club allowed the Big Spring group to dine at the Magic Time Machine and the contingent was entertained, along with the other athletes, coaches, chaperones and parents, at the Fran Erwin Special Events Center by the United States Air Force Blue Thunder Rock and Roll Band and Miss Texas.

The Big Spring Elks Lodge 1386 sponsored the seven athletes for their trip to Austin. Other organizations which contributed were the Association for Retarded Citizens, Coca-Cola Bottling Company, and the Kentwood PTA.

Coaches were Carol Green, Linda Davis, and Mike Cowley.

Big Spring Special Olympians display their banner while at Austin's Memorial Stadium.

And Saturday, June 2 is the final day for entering the annual Fiesta Del Concho Volleyball Tournament sponsored by the San Angelo YMCA.

The tourney will be held June 8-10 and will include play for men's A, women's A and B, and mixed competition.

Awards will be presented to six members of each team finishing first, second or consolation in each division.

Each team will be assured of at least two games. The entry fee is $40 per team.

For more information call the YMCA at 655-9106.

Also on tap at the YMCA June 7-10 is the annual Fiesta Del Concho Racquetball Tournament.

Divisions of play include singles and doubles for men and women as well as a mixed doubles division.

Awards will be presented in the form of trophies, T-shirts and an awards banquet that is included in the entry fee of $15 for entering one division. Cost is $25 for playing in two divisions.

Deadline for entering is 6 p.m., Monday, June 4. For more information call the YMCA at 944-9622.

Ex-Big Spring High School and Southwest Texas State University football star Keneth Coffey, now a member of the starting defensive backfield for the Washington Redskins, married the former Brenda Gail James of Victoria on May 19 in the brides' hometown.

The wedding was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wise of Big Spring.

Fishing has been good, but took an upward surge recently at Lakes J.B. Thomas and Spence as striped bass stepped up their biting.

Stripers at Spence hit 15 pounds in a couple of instances and one at Thomas weighed in at 22 pounds. Crappie are hitting minnows and jigs and black bass are proving to favor both live and artificial bait.

Among the reports turned in by area fishermen was one by Joe Froman of Big Spring who hauled in a 22 pound yellow cat.

The June Fest Slow-Pitch Softball Tournament for Class B teams will be held June 8-10 at Big Spring's Johnny Stone Park.

Entry fee is $90 per team and the first five places will be awarded team trophies. Players on the top three teams will also receive individual trophies. An MVP and Sportsmanship trophy will also be presented. The deadline for entry is Thursday, June 7. To enter contact Noel Hull at 915-263-3108.

The Notes started with a line or two about track and field and now closes in that fashion also.

The Sixth Annual Hill Country Classic Masters Track and Field Meet will be held in Mason, June 9.

Age groups for men are 20-24, 25-29, 30-34, 35-39, 40-44, 45-49, 50-54, 55-59, 60-64, 65-69 and 70 and up. For women the age groups are 20-34 and 35 and up.

Entry fee is $6 for the first event and $1 for each additional event. Medals will be awarded to the first three finishers in each age group.

For more information call 915-347-5620, 915-347-6147 or 915-347-5581.

Lakers expect Boston to get physical in game two

BOSTON (AP) — It's only the second game of a possible seven-game series, but Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley says the Boston Celtics "have to win" tonight and will use more physical contact to accomplish it.

"They're sending us a very subtle message" in their comments to reporters, Riley said Wednesday. "They're going to bump us and be more physical, and I hope our players are listening because that's the approach I think they're going to take."

After the Lakers won Sunday's first game of the National Basketball Association championship series, 115-109, Boston's Cedric Maxwell said, "We played L.A. with kid gloves. We did not really touch them or bump them early in the game. We let them do what they wanted."

Facing the prospect of a more brutal battle tonight, Los Angeles center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar said Wednesday, "I hope they're not more physical. They'll probably bring brass knuckles if they are."

"Sunday's game was very physical. I think they want to make it count for something. We were able to deal with it except for brief stretches when they got a lot of offensive rebounds."

The Lakers rode their fast break to a 28-10 lead in the first eight minutes. Boston never caught up, although it outscored the Lakers 99-87 the rest of the game.

To win, the Celtics say, they must improve their outside shooting to keep Los Angeles from double-teaming their big men and must retreat quickly on defense to stop the Lakers from scoring easy baskets off the fast break.

"I haven't seen a fast break this good in years and years. They're the best I've seen in the last 10 or 15 years," said Boston Coach K.C. Jones.

Lions, Angels win recent games

The Lions stretched their National Little League lead over the second-place Rangers with two recent victories over their league rivals.

The pitching tandem of Chad Soles and Sammy Carrillo allowed the Lions (8-1), to claim victory. Soles started both victories while Carrillo came on in relief.

In their first meeting, the Lions defeated the Rangers 9-4. The big blow for the winners was a grand slam by David Lee in the third inning with the score tied at 4-4.

The Lions made it two in a row with an 11-5 victory. Neal Mayfield hit a inside the park home run for the Rangers. The losses drop the Rangers record to 6-4 for the season.

ANGELS 11, ASTROS 10
In other local baseball action, the Angels survived a three run rally in the seventh inning by the Astros to hold on for an 11-10 win in American Senior League action.

Chris Lopez got the win for the Angels while Carey Fraser took the loss.

Eric Kinman keyed the Angels' win with three singles. Lance Soles and Teddy Molina added two hits each. Raymond Ontiveros paced the Astros with two doubles, Marcos Ramos added four singles and Matt Garrett collected two base hits.

Both teams went to 2-1 for the season.

Annual Mize event offers fine fast pitch

The Eighth Annual Cotton Mize Fast Pitch Tournament is set for a two day run Friday and Saturday at the Johnny Stone complex and should offer area fast pitch fans some exciting action.

Things get started Friday at 8 p.m. and wind up Saturday evening with the finals in what appears to be a 10-team tournament according to the tourney's organizer and namesake, Cotton Mize of Big Spring.

"We have seven teams already entered and three more have indicated they want in," said Mize Wednesday.

Mize's own Cotton Chippers have to be one of the favorites with their 10-3 mark. The Chippers have played in two tournaments already this year, posting a 5-1 record at Carlsbad, New Mexico and going 1-2 in Graham when the Chippers were forced to play with only seven players.

Mize said, however that his tourney will feature several very strong teams including the defending state champions from New Mexico, the Potashers from Carlsbad.

Mize said the tourney is a double elimination affair with all winners and losers from the first night being dumped into opposite brackets.

"It provides for a little better competition that way. You don't have real strong teams beating up on the weaker ones," said Mize.

Fans will get a chance to watch former BSHS baseball players when the Chippers take the field since the roster is dotted with ex-Steers.

Some of those starting for the Chippers include Paul Spence, Kenny Fowler, Johnny Mize, David Altom, Tommy Vaughn and Bobby Doe. The younger Mize is a pitcher and will bring a 7-1 record to the tourney.

As an added note the elder Mize said area farmers might be able to expect rain when the first pitch is thrown out Friday. "It's rained on this tournament six of its first seven years so I won't be surprised if it rains pretty good this year," Mize said.

Some people don't know their electric bills can be about the same all year round.

Some do.

The Average Payment Plan will put you in the know; and just in time to take the heat off your hot weather bills.

You'll still pay for all the electricity you use. But under the Average Payment Plan, your bills will be more even all year round.

The plan is based on a 12-month average that's refigured each month. So you can pay less during the months you use the most electricity, by paying more during the months you use less.

The Average Payment Plan is available to Texas Electric residential customers. So look into it today. It's definitely worth knowing about.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 1, 1984
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have all kinds of opportunities to get ahead by being alert to modern techniques as well as humanitarian projects so get into these advanced interests and activities early.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can garner a good deal of data if you listen to what modern persons have to suggest. Avoid one in business who is greedy.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Important that you step out of that rut you are in and find out how some more modern careers can help you to get ahead faster.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Think along more progressive lines and put aside whatever has been deterring your progress. Make new acquaintances.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) A good day to get out of that rut you are in and look for more progressive ways of handling your daily business.
LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Don't permit a demanding bigwig to keep you from being with outside associates just to please his whim.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Look for new mechanisms that can make your job more efficient and forget that new contact who doesn't understand you.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can get into the amusements you like and have a fine time, so forget that monetary worry you have.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Many changes are occurring today, so be prepared to accept them graciously. Your plans also require some changes.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Analyze your methods well and see if adding modern touches do not improve your practical affairs.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You feel that you understand a moody individual, but you may find it is just the opposite.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Planning may be difficult today since unexpected situations may come up to spoil your schedule.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) That entertainment that you have planned may need some last minute revision, but it will work out better than you had thought.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be emotional and romantic and will like change, but circumstances rise up that prevent consistency so try to be helpful to your progeny by proper guidance and teach early to be more objective.

On Saturday, June 2, Elect CLAYTON MCKINNON
As Your County Commissioner, I Will Work To Accomplish The Following:

1. REDUCE THE SALARIES OF HOWARD COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Many taxpayers are not aware that our Commissioners set their own salaries. The salaries have been doubled in the last three years at a time when the population of Howard County has been decreasing rather than increasing. The current monthly salary of each Commissioner, including a car allowance, is about $2,000.00. The Commissioners meet regularly two days each month, meaning they each receive approximately $1,000.00 per meeting. If elected, I intend to vote for a substantial reduction in the salary paid to the Commissioner of Precinct 3, and I will publicly ask my fellow Commissioners to make the same reduction in their own salaries.

2. REDUCE TAXES:

The County Commissioners have raised the tax rate from $0.20 per $100 valuation in 1980 to $0.23 in 1983. As a result of this increase, the County has accumulated a surplus balance of over $3,000,000 as of the end of February, 1984. Although I recognize that a moderate surplus may be necessary to meet unexpected contingencies, a three million dollar surplus seems excessive.
