A local artist has been invited to France to display his work in one of Paris' most prestigious shows, Le Salon des Nations a Paris 1984.

Coy McCann, 33, a member of a pioneer Howard County farm and ranch family, will display his work for three weeks at the Centre International D'Art Contemporain (CIAC).

He will be taking seven works with him that are valued at $3,000 to $10,000 each.

"I don't like to display my works in galleries," he said. "Their commission is too high; besides, local art dealers don't seem to think that there are any talented local artists."

McCann, who claims he has never taken art lessons, said, "I've just visited museums all over the country. In fact my degree is in agriculture, and I'm a cowboy at heart."

The spotlight is nothing new to McCann. He traveled for several years with daredevil Evil Knieval, designing commemorative coins and other art works that Knieval sold during his performances.

In 1974 he designed the coin for the 50th anniversary of Howard County's Old Settlers Reunion.

In 1981 McCann was honored with a one man show in Austin by the state House of Representatives. The show received national coverage and reviews.

"I've sold a lot of my work in Hollywood; in fact, one vice president at Twentieth Century Fox collects my work," he said.

"I have a real strong feeling about art," he said. "I've been painting since I was 6."

"When you buy a painting, you're buying part of the artist. One of the paintings that I'm taking to Paris took me three months to complete," McCann said.

"I don't really belong to any one school of art, even though I paint pink rhinoceroses. Sometimes I'm a surrealist, sometimes impressionistic, sometimes Western; in fact, I'm just as likely to paint a bull standing out in the pasture as another pink rhinoceros."

He said he's taking a painting to Paris of a Western scene and a sculpture of a Indian standing and listening to a telegraph wire hum.

"To me, art is part of everyday life," he said. "It's everywhere and involved in everything that you do: it's your clothes, the car you drive, the tools you use, the way you arrange your food on your plate. I live, breath and eat art."

The work McCann is including in his Paris show includes his pink rhinoceros painting entitled Poloriasis, the bronze Indian, a western landscape, a portrait, a painting he terms political and another that he calls seductive.

McCann, who leaves Sunday, said he had purchased a Euro-Rail train pass and will tour much of Europe during the three-week exhibition.

McCann is the son of Dwight and Getrude McCann. He graduated from Big Spring High in 1969. His family, which began their farm and ranching operations in 1904, brought the first 'steam plow' or tractor to the area.

Talking it over

Artist Coy McCann talks with a pet bull on the family ranch near Knott. McCann, who often paints ranch animals, says, "I'm a cowboy at heart." In the photo at right, "Singing Wire" is one of 7 pieces of art that McCann will exhibit in Paris, France next week. The lifelike bronze is valued at $7,500.

Grand jury indicts 27

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

The Howard County grand jury Friday indicted 27 persons, including two Big Spring men for murder in the January death of another local man whose body was found lying near a county road.

The district attorney's office said Wednesday it planned to present about 40 cases.

Both Juan Marquez Jr., 21, of 606B S. Douglas or 803 N. Scurry and Ralph Gutierrez Rodriguez, 19, of 1901 Donley were indicted for murder in the death of Robert Dutchover Jr., 23, of 1205 Lamar. Both men remain in the county jail.

Dutchover's body, with three bullet wounds, was found Jan. 30 near Gail Road, about two miles from the Snyder Highway by a motorist who notified law enforcement officials he saw an object resembling a body near the road.

Justice of the Peace Willie Grant ruled Dutchover died of homicide by gunshot wounds. Eight shell casings were found in the area near the body, according to Assistant District Attorney Don Richard.

Also indicted was Mart Dwayne Smith, 21, of 1402 S. Main, on one count of burglary. Police said Smith, a former parolee, is suspected of committing 14 burglaries in residences of elderly people.

Joseph William Diliberto, 23, of Route 1 was not indicted for involuntary manslaughter for the March 27 death of Helen Ziegler, who died of injuries suffered in an accident March 19. Diliberto was arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Ziegler's daughter and grandson also were injured in the accident on Wasson Road. A civil suit for damages also was filed against Diliberto in 118th District Court.

District attorneys did not present as planned an investigation into the death of Carla Perry, a Department of Human Resources employee, who died of gunshot wounds in what her husband called an attempted suicide.

The DA's office is waiting on results from a Department of Public Safety lab test, Richard said.

According to the district attorney's office, Mrs. Perry's husband, Richard Perry, claimed she died accidentally when he tried to take a gun away from her. Perry told police his wife was trying to commit suicide, according to the DA's office.

Mrs. Perry had filed for a divorce earlier that week.

• Three persons were indicted in separate incidents involving criminal acts against a child.

Johnny Ray Jones, 45, of 910 W. Fourth was indicted on two separate counts of sexual abuse of a child. The incidents occurred on Aug. 28, 1983 and Sept. 11, 1983, according to the indictments.

Ronnie Ray Rayos of 2521 Hunter was indicted on two counts of a sexual assault on a child, and Pete Gonzales Jr., 32, of 2501 Old Highway 80 was indicted on one count of sexual abuse of a child in an incident that occurred Dec. 1, 1982, according to the indictment.

• Grand jurors failed to indict two other persons charged with separate incidents of indecency with a child. No-billed were Marlin Johnke, 22, of Route 2 and George Theobald, 74, of 2301 Johnson.

• In another incident involving a child, grand jurors decided to pass a case for further investigation against Monaco Delgadillo, 73, of 1004 N. Runnels accusing him of sexual assault of a child.

• An aggravated kidnapping case against James Elery Baker, 21, of 801 S. Lancaster was originally scheduled to be presented to the Fire truck earns rest

By RICK BROWN

After almost 30 years of service, the Big Spring Fire Department's "Old No. 8" will get a rest from the duties it has faithfully performed for so long.

"It sure was a good old truck," said James Dubose, the truck's driver.

"They don't build trucks like that anymore," Fire Marshal Carl Dorton said about the engine that is among the oldest in the department fleet.

According to Dorton, the city purchased No. 8 in 1956 for use in the then newly-built Birdwell Lane Fire Station. The 750-gallon Mack pumper will achieve antique status in two years on its 30th birthday, when it will have to be retired for good, he said.

In the meantime, No. 8 will stand faithfully in reserve for another 750-gallon pumper, the brand spanking new No. 50, which joined the department's fleet last week.

The department's new truck has features that will make fighting fires easier for firemen, including a electric hose reeler, power steering and metal ladders, according to DeBose. The new No. 50 also has been more efficiently designed to allow more storage space for tools, extra air packs and extra hoses, he said.

It seems sad, but natural, that No. 8, a truck with such a long and romantic history, should be relegated to the shadows behind a product of new technology.

No. 8 was designated for use at the old Webb Air Force Base and has the distinction of being the first truck in the department to carry foam for putting out liquid fires, Dorton said. Now, all the department's engines have this capability, he said.

Captain E.G. Miller, who drove the truck for 10 years, remembered one particularly spectacular fire that No. 8 took him to.

It was at the old Southern Ice Plant in the early 1960s. The three-story building, which still stands near the Mo-Pac Railway yard, See Truck page 2-A

Weather

Warming trend noted

A warming trend with moist southerly winds embraced Texas on Friday as clear to partly cloudy skies dominated the state's weather picture.

Afternoon temperatures also showed a continued warming trend, moving away from the unusually mild readings earlier in the week.

The National Weather Service reported temperatures in the 80s and 90s in most of Texas.

Winds were southerly at 10 to 20 mph across most of the state, while southwesterly breezes were reported in far West Texas and the Panhandle.

The forecast called for early morning cloudiness Saturday over portions of South and North Central Texas. Otherwise, the forecasters predicted fair to partly cloudy skies and continued warm weather through the weekend.

In the Panhandle and West Texas, scattered thunderstorms and cloudy skies were forecast Saturday, the weather service said.

Afternoon highs were expected to reach the 80s and 90s with readings approaching 104 in the Big Bend valleys. Lows were forecast to dip into the 60s and 70s over most areas, with readings in the 50s in West Texas.

A persistent storm that caused flooding from Oklahoma to Maine trudged out to sea Friday, but some New England rivers kept rising far above flood stage and thousands who fled their homes stayed in evacuation shelters another day.

In Utah and Wyoming, meanwhile, volunteers stacked sandbags along rivers swollen by snowmelt, and in the Southeast, unusually low temperatures set records for the date in more than two dozen cities.

Smaller rivers began to recede in New England but some of the major ones were rising, fed by water from waterlogged ground from the week-long storm that killed 18 people nationwide. The National Weather Service forecast continued flooding in Maine, New Hampshire and Connecticut.

"It's such a large watershed and it's so saturated," said Clifford Chapin, a city official in New Milford, Conn. "It's going to drain and drain for days."

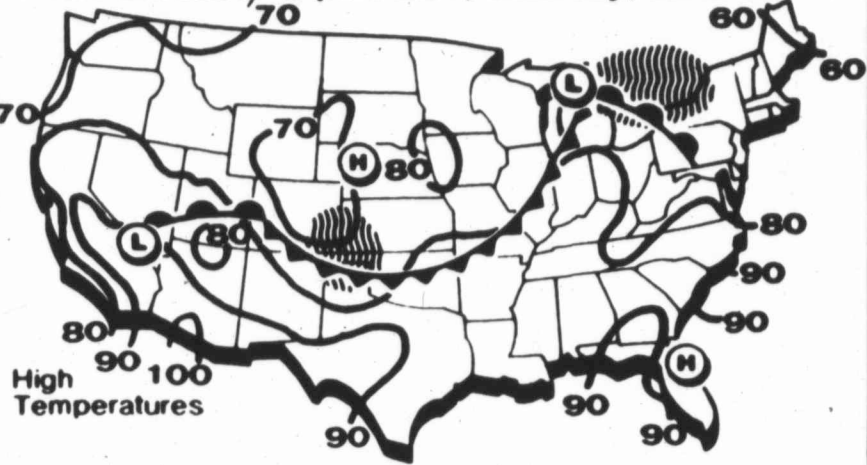

In Connecticut, where the governor declared a state of emergency, National Guardsmen directed traffic as rush-hour commuters were confounded by submerged roads. In a parking lot in Middletown, all that could be seen of cars were antennas poking out of the water.

West Texas — Saturday partly cloudy and very warm. Highs lower 90s. Wind southeasterly 10 to 15 mph. Saturday night partly cloudy with a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms. Lows lower 60s. Sunday partly cloudy with widely scattered thunderstorms. Highs upper 80s.

Police Beat

Man in stable condition

A Howard County man remains in stable condition at Malone-Hogan Hospital with incapacitating injuries incurred in a major accident that happened early Friday afternoon at the intersection of N.W. 10th and N. Gregg streets.

Patricio Nieto, 40, of Route 2 was taken to the hospital emergency room by Shaffer Ambulance after his Harley-Davidson motorcycle collided in the uncontrolled intersection with a 1978 Ford Thunderbird driven by Gloria Bustamante, 17, of 302 N.E. Sixth, reports said.

According to reports, the collision occurred as Nieto was driving south in the 1000 block of N. Gregg and failed to yield right of way to Miss Bustamante, who was driving east in the 300 block of N.W. 10th.

Police ticketed both drivers after the accident. Miss Bustamante was ticketed for having no driver's license and no insurance and Nieto for failing to yield right of way, reports said.

Police Friday morning received three reports of auto burglaries that occurred in the city's Kentwood addition. Reporting persons told police that the items taken were car stereo equipment in all three cases.

Scott Stanton of the Kentwood Apartments at 1904 E. 25th told police at 6:56 a.m. Friday that someone between 9 p.m. Thursday and 6:30 a.m. Friday stole stereo equipment valued at a total of $140 from his 1979 Chrysler 2-door. Stanton told police the car was unlocked at the time of the incident, reports said.

Cecil Sumpter of 2612 Cindy told police at 7:42 a.m. Friday that someone between 9:30 p.m. Thursday and 7:30 p.m. Friday stole stereo equipment valued at $175 from his 1981 Chevrolet pickup. Sumpter also told police his car was unlocked at the time of the incident, reports said.

Rudy Cordero of 2600 Cindy told police at 6:52 a.m. Friday that someone between 12:30 a.m. and 6 a.m. Friday stole stereo equipment valued at a total of $564 from his 1979 AMC Jeep. Cordero said he did not know if his Jeep was locked or not, reports said.

In other reports: Bobby Nicholson of D&C Sales at 3901 W. Hwy. 80 told police at 7:56 a.m. Friday that someone between 7 p.m. Thursday and 7 a.m. Friday stole 6 sets of tires and wheels from a double-wide mobile home at his business, reports said. The items were valued at a total of $324.

Police animal control warden Mary Flores filed a report at 9:17 a.m. Friday stating that between 6 p.m. Thursday and 7 a.m. Friday someone entered the city animal shelter and released 8 dogs that had been impounded there.

Daniel Hernandez, 19, of 404 W. 7th was arrested at 9:20 a.m. Friday at the Aladdin Beauty Center at 217 Main in connection with a warrant for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, police reports said.

VP not under investigation

Coahoma State Bank Vice President John Ezell, who will resign June 15, is not under investigation in connection with a used car sales fraud that may cost the bank $250,000 in bad loans, his attorney Lanny Hamby says.

Hamby said an article in Wednesday's Herald "left the impression that John Ezell was under some type of criminal investigation by the Texas Rangers," Hamby said. "This, of course, is not the case."

He said Ezell is aiding a Ranger investigation of former Big Spring car dealer Anthony "Tony" Ginnetti, who is suspected of using fake car titles to secure loans from the Coahoma bank.

Ezell, who worked at two Lubbock banks, said he intends to remain in the banking business. "My banking career is not over," he said.

Ezell said he will have more to say at a later date.

Texas Ranger Charles Brune previously told the Herald that Ezell is not under investigation.

was engulfed in flames. No. 8 stood by for 10 hours while firefighters poured water on the fire that eventually burned itself out, Miller said. Fortunately, no one was hurt in the fire, he said.

While there may be a few more such fires left in Old No. 8, the truck's days are numbered.

Dorton said persons who want to view the vintage truck can see it at the Wasson Road Fire Station.

grand jury. However, Baker pleaded guilty to aggravated assault earlier in the week and received a 5-year sentence in a plea-bargain arrangement with the District Attorney's office.

Also indicted were: Bonnie Sue Birmelin, 23, of 112 Grant, on a felony count of delivery of marijuana for an incident that occurred Feb. 28, according to the indictment.

David Joseph Licastro, 37, of 200 S. Goliad on a count of delivery of a controlled substance on April 20.

Albert Gonzales Jr., 21, of 404 N.E. 10th on a count of burglary of a vehicle.

Jim W. Griffin of J & S Dirt Service, Box 1207, on a count of theft by check.

Jeana King, 19, of 2611 Langley on a count of forgery by passing.

Paul Eugene Merrell, 30, of 1012 W. Third on a count of failure to stop and render aid on Feb. 28.

Margie Molina of P.O. Box 2588 on a count of theft by appropriation.

Doyle Wayne Perdue, 32, of 1318 Wood on a count of burglary of a building.

Kenny M. Speciale, 21, of San Angelo on a count of theft by appropriation.

Jeffery Griffith Starr, 27, of 1101 1/2 Bell on a second felony offense of driving while intoxicated on March 7.

Jesse Nunez Torres, 26, of 825 W. Eighth on a count of aggravated robbery on March 17.

William Jack Watson, 26, of 2903 Lawrence on a count of burglary of a building.

John Zamora, 26, of 1002 N. Main on a count of theft of services.

Danny Lee Eagle, 23, of 507 1/2 Johnson on a count of forgery.

Five other persons were indicted on reduced charges by the grand jury.

Manuel Cantu, 32, of 805 Johnson was indicted on a charge of felony theft; reduced from a charge of forgery by passing.

Thomas D. Carpenter, 38, of Odessa was indicted on a count of felony criminal mischief, reduced from a charge of felony theft by check.

Thomas Francisco Figueroa, 17, of 105 N.E. Third, indicted on a charge of misdemeanor criminal mischief; presented as a charge of burglary of a building.

Salvador Garcia, 29, of Houston indicted on a charge of misdemeanor criminal mischief; presented as a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

John Paul Garza, 19, of 1006 E. Sixth, indicted on a charge of misdemeanor possession of marijuana of less than four ounces, reduced from felony possession of marijuana.

Grand jurors no-billed, or declined to indict, the following persons: Santos J. Lopez, 17, of 1111 N.W. Seventh on a robbery.

Andrew Napper, 27, of 611 Douglas on burglary of a habitation.

Raul John Rivas, 34, of 805 Lorilla on failure to stop and render aid on Jan. 6.

Passed until the next grand jury was a case against Jackie Morris, 17, of 104 Lockhart on suspicion of aggravated assault with serious bodily injury.

Six other cases were withdrawn from the grand jury, not presented because the case was settled before the grand jury finished or dropped at the request of the complainant, according to the DA's office.

Nursing home deaths studied

GALVESTON (AP) — A grand jury will receive new evidence next month in the case of a Texas City nursing home whose owner once faced murder charges in the deaths of eight patients, Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said Friday.

Mattox said the case against Autumn Hills Convalescent Centers Inc. of Houston will be presented to the Galveston County panel on July 2.

"We're going to present basically the same evidence that was developed before in the case," Mattox said. "We're going to present that evidence and additional evidence we've developed. And if the grand jury makes the determination that a murder indictment is proper, then of course we will prosecute that."

Mattox's office has supplied much of the money and many of the investigators who have gathered evidence in the case in the last 18 months. But Mattox refused to say how much the state has spent in the probe.

The firm and several of its present and former employees originally faced 256 charges filed in 38 indictments in the deaths of 56 patients between 1977 and 1979.

A plea bargain which was eventually disallowed dropped 255 charges. Only a single count of involuntary manslaughter filed in the Oct. 16, 1978, death of Edna Mae Witt, 78, remained.

Visiting State District Judge Larry Gist of Beaumont agreed to find the firm innocent if it obeyed state law for the next 10 years.

Sheriff's Log

2 plead guilty in court

Two Big Spring men pleaded guilty in 118th District Court to charges of marijuana delivery during Friday afternoon court proceedings.

Paul Rustin Ramirez, 18, of 110 Carey and Fernando Franco, 18, of 905 W. Fifth both received 7-year probated sentences from 118th District Judge Jim Gregg. Both men had been indicted Jan. 19 by a Howard County Grand Jury in connection with marijuana delivery.

In other court action yesterday: Miles Ray Anguiano, 18, of 1308 Wright pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and received a 6-year probated sentence from Gregg.

Raul Estrella Perez, 27, of 120 Airbase pleaded guilty to a felony charge of driving while intoxicated and received a 5-year probated sentence.

Ernest Arispe Guzman, 18, of Lubbock was given 4 years in the Texas Department of Corrections after his probation was revoked.

Roy Lee Thompson, 36, of Snyder was given 2 years in the Texas Department of Corrections after his probation was revoked.

In other entries on the Howard County sheriff's log:

Jesse Torres, 26, of 825 W. Eighth was released at 12:50 p.m. Friday from the county jail on a total of five bonds totaling $13,000 set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin. Two of the bonds were in connection with charges of resisting arrest and driving with license suspended, reports said. The remaining three bonds were set after Torres' bondsman went off bond in connection with previous charges of aggravated robbery, driving with license suspended and driving while intoxicated, reports said.

Jesse Paul Silva, 21, of 1307 Lindbergh was released at 9:45 a.m. Friday from county jail on $5,000 bond set by Judge Melvin Darratt after being charged with robbery, reports said.

Petition questions possibility of electing local police chief

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer
Should Big Spring elect its police chief?

That's the question of a petition being circulated which, if signed by enough voters, will force a charter amendment election on the subject.

Petition organizers said yesterday they have gathered more than 400 signatures toward the 567 total needed to call the election.

Danny Heckler and Mary Thomas said Thursday they and 20 other Big Spring residents are working toward a goal of about 1,000 names for their petition. Heckler is a business owner and was an unsuccessful city council candidate this year. Mary Thomas is a bail bond agency owner.

They said they need the excess of signatures to make sure their document contains enough valid names to be certified. The petition, which has been in circulation for two weeks, reads in part:

"We, the undersigned citizens of Big Spring...believe an elective chief of police would better serve the overall individual needs of the people... (and) be more responsive."

The petition sets a term of office of two years for the police chief and stipulates that candidates for the position must reside in the city for one year to be eligible for office.

Under provisions in the current city charter, the police chief is hired by the city manager. Organizers said they drafted the petition in accordance with state civil statute 1170 which says a charter change election can be called if a petition bears signatures of 5 percent of the city's registered voters. There are 11,219 voters registered in the city, according to County Clerk Margaret Ray.

John Steiner, attorney for the Elections Division of the Secretary of State's office in Austin, said the city council must call the special charter amendment election after it is presented the certified petition by Ferguson.

The election must be set for a standard election day "not less than 30 days nor more than 90 days" after the council calls the election, the statute says.

According to Steiner, the next available standard election day is in August.

In addition, Steiner quoted a separate statute that says charter elections can be held only every two years.

Nixon unseats Rodino

WASHINGTON — Nearly 10 years after U.S. Rep. Peter Rodino chaired the House Judiciary Committee that voted to impeach President Richard Nixon, the New Jersey Democrat found out that former presidents carry more weight than current congressmen.

Rodino, who was aboard a morning flight from Newark, N.J., to Washington, was forced Wednesday to surrender his customary second-row seat to Nixon and accompanying Secret Service agents.

High government officials are routinely given the first rows on commercial airline flights so they can be the last to board and first to disembark for security reasons.

Rodino, 74, said he did not speak to the former president. "I didn't even see his face," said Rodino, who ended up in the plane's fifth row. "I saw the back of his head."

It was in July 1974 that Rodino's committee approved three impeachment articles against Nixon, who resigned the presidency in August before the full House could vote on impeachment.

Dylan gives up on peace

NEW YORK — Bob Dylan, the folk singer whose early works became anthems for a generation of protesters, says he no longer thinks world peace is worth working for.

"There is not going to be any peace," the composer said in an interview published in the June issue of Rolling Stone magazine.

Even if world peace were achieved, the songwriter said, "It would be a false peace. You can reload your rifle, and that moment you're reloading it, that's peace. It may last for a few years."

OFF TO IRELAND — President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan wave from the steps of Marine One, the presidential helicopter, Friday as they prepared to fly to Andrews Air Force Base, Md. and then by Air Force One to Ireland, the first stop on a 10-day trip to Europe.

Reagan off to visit roots

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan left today for Europe and an economic summit conference, boasting about the latest unemployment figures that show joblessness has fallen to the "level it was when we took office."

"I leave with happy news for the economic summit as far as our own situation is concerned," said Reagan as he left the White House.

Reagan pointed out the latest figures, announced by the Labor Department a few minutes before his departure, that showed civilian unemployment had broken a two-month holding pattern and fallen from 7.8 percent to 7.5 percent.

The jobless rate stood at 7.5 percent in January 1981, and Reagan noted today's figure "is the level it was when we took office."

"I'm practicing on you for what I will tell the people at the summit," the president said as he set off on a journey that will take him to the tiny Irish town of his ancestors and the Normandy beaches made famous by the Allied invasion of France in World War II.

The president will wind up his 10-day trip in London where leaders of the world's industrial democracies will gather for a seven-nation economic summit.

Reagan left Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington aboard Air Force One at 9:05 a.m. EDT for Ireland, the first leg of his trip.

Answering a few questions as he left the White House, Reagan suggested "there may be another flurry of a half a point or a point or something" in interest rate increases, but he predicted "that over the next period of months ... they will be coming down."

He reasserted his administration's contention that rising interest rates are "not connected to the deficit," but are a reflection of concern in the marketplace about a return to high inflation. And he pledged once again to "do something about the deficit," which has risen to record levels during his term.

In advance of his departure, the president discussed the touchy issues of the Persian Gulf and East-West relations, themes that will no doubt follow his journey across the Atlantic Ocean.

News in brief

By the Associated Press

Diplomacy discussed

MANAMA, Bahrain — After 44 months of war with Iraq, the speaker of the Iranian parliament gave the first indication Friday that his government would be willing to use diplomacy to avoid catastrophe in the Persian Gulf.

But in the third warning to the United States in as many days by Iranian leaders, the commanders of the Revolutionary Guard threatened to sabotage U.S. bases throughout the world if America interferes in the gulf.

Iran's Parliament speaker, Hojatoleslam Hashemi Rafsanjani, struck a conciliatory tone when he said in a prayer sermon, "We are not eager to see a catastrophe in the Persian Gulf... and we will strongly refrain from it, but not to the point of jeopardizing the honor and spirit of our revolution."

Pastora moved

CARACAS, Venezuela — Nicaraguan rebel leader Eden Pastora, wounded in a bomb blast at his frontier command post that killed four people, is being flown to Caracas from Costa Rica, the government announced Friday.

Acting Interior Minister Cesareo Espinal said Pastora had been placed aboard a plane in San Jose, the Costa Rican capital, and when he arrived in Caracas he would be taken immediately to a hospital where his "personal security will be guaranteed."

He said Pastora was not coming to Venezuela at the invitation of the government but because of requests from "the many friends he has here."

Deployment OK'ed

THE HAGUE, Netherlands — Holland's Cabinet on Friday approved deployment of U.S. nuclear missiles on Dutch soil, but it compromised with missile foes by delaying the installation and linking the size of the deployment to Soviet behavior.

"If the Soviet Union deploys one more SS-20 (nuclear missile), we will deploy all 48 cruise missiles," Premier Ruud Lubbers told a news conference after the Cabinet meeting. The decision requires approval by Parliament.

The Dutch action was announced in a carefully worded letter designed to allow the government to delay initial deployment by up to two years, placate strong anti-nuclear forces in the country and at the same time go along with the NATO plan.

Death row inmates recaptured Friday

WARRENTON, N.C. (AP) — Authorities searching with bloodhounds and helicopters recaptured two death row inmates on Friday at a coin laundry, but four other convicted murderers who also escaped from the state's maximum-security prison remained at large Friday night.

Derick Lynn Peterson, 22, and Earl Clanton Jr., 30, were caught just before 6 p.m., said Wes Terry of the Virginia Department of Corrections.

Ron Hawley, an assistant superintendent with the state Bureau of Investigation, said Peterson and Clanton were caught in Willoughby's Laundromat and Convenience Store in Warrenton, about one block from the Warren County Jail.

Clanton, Peterson and four other convicted murderers briefly took about 12 guards hostage during their escape Thursday night from Mecklenburg County Maximum Correction Facility, about 25 miles north of Warrenton. No one was injured during the escape.

Danny Bland, an eyewitness, said he saw authorities lead the two men out of the laundromat and into a yellow van.

"They came out peaceful," he said.

Authorities closed in on Clanton and Peterson after FBI "scans" of Virginia telephones revealed a call that was traced to the laundromat.

Shortly after the arrest at the laundry, authorities chased two other escapees down Interstate 85, Terry said. He said the other two escapees were believed to be James and Linwood Briley, brothers who escaped at the same time as Clanton and Peterson.

The two men jumped from their vehicle and fled into a wooded area, Terry said.

Terry confirmed that authorities had surrounded a farm supply store about a block from the laundromat, but said he didn't know whether anyone was inside.

The two inmates surrendered without a struggle, Terry said, but "seemed reluctant to be caught."

Terry quoted Peterson as saying, "Next time, we ought to tear this (place) down," referring to the prison.

The National Guard had been alerted and would be called in "if we find it necessary," Hawley said.

The recaptured convicts were taken first to Warren County Jail for questioning by FBI agents and Virginia authorities, then to Central Prison, said Russ Edmunston of the Department of Crime Control and Public Safety.

Clanton was convicted in the 1981 strangulation murder of a Petersburg librarian.

Peterson was convicted for the robbery and shooting death of a Hampton grocery store manager.

Gilbert Miller of the Virginia Department of Corrections identified the other inmates as Willie Leroy Jones, 26; Linwood Earl Briley, 30; James D. Briley, 24, and Lem Davis Tuggle, 32, all convicted of murder.

Warren County Sheriff's Deputy Bobby Bolton said two inmates tried to steal a car from Andrew Lee Davis, 33, of Warrenton. Two men got into Davis' car at a stoplight and asked for a ride. One of the men held a knife to Davis' throat and said he would be killed if he didn't drive, Bolton said.

Davis stopped the car, struggled with his abductors and jumped on to the pavement, suffering cuts and scratches. He said the two men drove the car only about 25 yards before halting and fleeing on foot.

Hawley said the inmates apparently tried to steal several vehicles, including a truck.

Miller said the escape occurred during a disturbance on the death row cell block about 9 p.m. Thursday.

The convicts used knives made of door casing pieces and tape to subdue the unarmed guards who responded to the disturbance, Miller said. Some uniforms were taken.

The prisoners obtained the van by calling the prison transportation officer and requesting a van to haul away an incendiary device.

Make more usable space

With current housing prices, moving to larger quarters is out of the question for a lot of homeowners. Adding to the squeeze, is the current trend in housing construction which emphasizes compactness and economy.

As a result, many of us will need to learn how to live comfortably with less space. Furniture selection and placement and other decorating devices can help.

Start with an inventory of the total amount of available space in your house and its divisions, the arrangement of rooms or areas and size and location of home furnishings.

If some areas seem overcrowded, while others appear underused, reorganize your use of the space. Explore new and different ways of making space function better for your needs.

Some changes can require costly remodeling or decorating, while others may be achieved by minimal purchases or simple furniture rearrangements.

Here are some low-cost ideas for making cramped quarters look larger:

- Plan the decor for the entire home as a unit rather than for each room separately to create a feeling of spaciousness and continuity.
- Carry wall and floor colors from room to room and change textures rather than colors. Blending simple window treatments with wall colors will make rooms seem larger.
- Rooms with pastel colored walls reflect light and seem more spacious, while darker walls soak up light and appear to confine.
- Modify a guest room or extra bedroom to double as a study, television room, sewing and/or hobby room.
- Choose small-scaled furniture with simple lines, and choose multi-purpose pieces such as sofa beds or drop-leaf tables when selecting or replacing furniture. Place furniture against walls to leave as much space as possible in the center of the room.
- Consider clustering items such as the TV, stereo, bookshelves and storage cabinets in a wall unit to help eliminate clutter, increase floor space, and add interest to your room.

- Expand space visually by using mirrors.
- Eliminate furniture that's not used and limit the number of accessories to two or three to a room. Beautiful objects need space around them to give people eye as well as elbow room.

BUMP-OUTS: CHEAP SPACE MAKERS

A "bump-out" may sound like a new dance craze, but it's not. A bump-out — or bay window — is simply an easy way of gaining a little extra square footage without making major structural changes in your home.

A family may only need a few extra feet of room in a particular area of the house. Rather than remodeling they may find that an enlarged eating nook or sitting space in a small bedroom will suffice. A glassed-in-greenhouse-style bump-out will also add light to dark spaces and "expand" the room without a major renovation.

Unlike conventional additions, a bump-out "hangs" onto the side of the house, which saves the cost of excavating, pouring foundations and building main support walls.

Bump-outs also allow a landowner to avoid the setback building code restrictions, that sometimes pose a problem on small urban or suburban lots. In some communities, setback ordinances apply only to additions constructed on a foundation.

Installing a bump-out area is not a do-it-yourself project for the inexperienced. Consult two or three contractors for a simple design and price estimates. Consider hiring an architect if the addition requires close matching with other trim and distinctive structural materials. A bump-out that does not fit the character of the house is worse than none at all and may actually reduce your property value.

A very simple idea whose time has come, bump-outs are an ideal alternative for many families faced with too little space and tight finances.

Shade tree borers

Borers are a common problem in west Texas shade trees. They normally do not attack healthy vigorously growing trees, but instead are attracted to weakened or stressed trees. Trees that are suffering from too little water, too little fertilizer, natural gas leaks (or other industrial fumes), or severe hail storms are prime candidates for heavy attacks by shade tree boring insects.

The two common wood borers which damage trees are the flatheaded and roundheaded borers. Adult roundheaded borers are called long horned beetles because of their long antennae. Adult flatheaded borers are called metallic wood-boring beetles because of the iridescent metallic luster.

Adult beetles emerge from infested trees in late spring through early fall. After mating the females seek egg-laying sites under bark, in crevices or in tree wounds. After hatching the larvae feed beneath the bark, and may enter the wood.

The roundheaded borer group of beetles are more numerous and more destructive than flatheaded borers. Borers commonly burrow into the heartwood, tunneling holes are large as or larger than a pencil. The burrow entrance usually is packed with coarse, excelsior-like frass. These wood fibers, or frass, often accumulate around the tree base. Generally, a discharge of sap from the tunnel opening wets and discolors the bark of the tree below it.

Injury caused by flatheaded borers consists of shallow, long-winding, oval galleries beneath the bark, usually on the sunny side of the tree. Only larvae bore. Flatheaded borers damage or kill ornamental and shade trees by mining beneath the bark or tunneling into the sapwood and heartwood. Dark, dead areas of bark, often with sap exuding, result from their burrowing. Tunnels made by the larvae do not have outside exit holes although the sawdust-like frass may be visible in cracks in the bark or where the bark sloughs from the trees.

The presence of borers usually is not evident until it is too late to prevent extensive damage and to save the tree. Therefore, sound tree management practices are important in preventing borer attack. These practices include:

- Watering and fertilizing trees properly to maintain vigorous growth.

- Pruning dead or dying branches.

• Selecting trees and shrubs for planting suited to the local climate and not susceptible to borer attack. Ash, cottonwood, linden, soft maple and poplar are especially susceptible to borer attack.

• Protect trunks of young or newly transplanted trees with nursery wrapping paper, burlap, aluminum foil or newspaper. Protection also helps prevent sun scald and mechanical injury. Injured bark areas are particularly vulnerable to attack. Spray trunks with an insecticide containing lindane before wrapping. Keep the wrapping on all year or replace if it gets torn.

In areas where borers are a recurring problem, trees may be protected for 3 to 6 months by use of chemicals. The trunk and limbs up to 1/2 inch diameter should be thoroughly sprayed. Use insecticide products containing lindane or chlorpyrifos (DursbanR). Apply the first spray in April and make subsequent applications in late May, mid-July and late August.

Once borers have entered a tree, control measures become difficult and occasionally fruitless. There is no magic formula that can be applied to the soil, or sprayed on or injected into the tree that is effective. Commercially available borer sprays may be of some help, however, better results are often obtained in prolonging the life of the tree through cultural practices such as watering, fertilizing, pruning and removal of other stress factors. Preventive sprays as previously described will protect trees from further infestation and kill emerging adult beetles.

When only a few trees are involved, borers sometimes may be controlled by mechanical worming methods. Locate the tunnels and clean them out with a sharp knife or wire probe. This method does not always produce positive results.

Insecticide label clearances are subject to change. The pesticide USER is always responsible for the effects of pesticides on his own plants or household goods as well as problems caused by drift from his property to other property or plants. Always read and follow carefully the instructions on the container label.

SCALE INSECTS ON ORNAMENTAL PLANTS

Scale insects are especially severe on many species of trees and shrubs in west Texas. Scales are generally about the size of a pencil eraser or smaller, and are most commonly found on plants stems. Scales damage plants by their feeding, and they make them less attractive by secreting a sweet, sticky liquid on which a black, sooty mold fungus grows. Severe infestations can cause the death of twigs and limbs, or even the death of whole plants.

In west Texas, scales are frequently a problem on live oak, pecan, boxwood, elm, apple, pear, willow, evergreens, pyracantha, plum, pittosporum, holly, redbud, sycamore, illex, euonymus, Ficus and Taxus.

Control of scales can be accomplished with dormant oil sprays in winter, or chemical treatments in summer. Dormant oils should be used only when temperatures are above 45 degrees F for 24 to 48 hours. Summer sprays should be applied when scale crawlers are active. Inspect plants with a magnifying glass in spring to determine the presence of the small yellow crawler stage of the scales. The crawlers will be seen moving onto new growth, usually in spring.

There are two types of chemicals which can be used for scale control. Systemic compounds, which generally need only be applied once per season, do a good job on controlling scales. These compounds include: Cygon, Metasystox-R, De-Fend, and Di-Syston.

Dear Abby

Husband spoils wife's dinner

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say something about husbands who take their wives out for dinner, then proceed to get overly familiar with the waitress. My husband does this frequently, and it spoils my dinner.

He always manages to engage the waitress in some kind of small talk that has nothing to do with the menu — complimenting her on her hair, her shape, her smile, etc. Some waitresses act pleased; others do not appreciate it.

This is one of the few complaints I have had about my husband throughout our 31-year marriage.

DESERVES BETTER

DEAR DESERVES BETTER: It won't be easy to change a man's habits after 31 years, but you can try. Don't chastise or criticize him; use a more gentle and appealing approach. Say, "George (or whatever his name is), when you get chummy with the waitress, it humiliates me. Please don't do it anymore."

If he claims he doesn't mean anything by it, repeat your little speech. And if he says he will "try" to overcome the habit, ask for permission to help him by giving him a small kick in the ankle should he "forget."

Dr. Donohue

Vasectomy doesn't cause impotency

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please settle this matter. Is it true or not that men who have had their sperm tubes tied off end up being less able to function sexually? — G.

A recent study among thousands of vasectomized men showed no difference in their potency when compared with non-vasectomized subjects. And, as noted earlier in another item, no connection has been found between vasectomy and other ailments.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Why did my doctor tell me not to eat anything for breakfast the day I had my ultrasound examination? I cannot see the connection. — S.F.

He asked you to avoid eating because production of intestinal gas from food digestion can interfere with the ultrasound waves. They cannot penetrate gas. So food should be avoided for 12 hours prior to the test, particularly the foods notable for their gas production. But all foods should really be avoided for best test results.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

CLAYTON MCKINNON
As Your County Commissioner, I Will Work
To Accomplish The Following:

1. REDUCE THE SALARIES OF HOWARD COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Many taxpayers are not aware that our Commissioners set their own salaries. The salaries have been doubled in the last three years at a time when the population of Howard County has been decreasing rather than increasing. The current monthly salary of each Commissioner, including a car allowance, is about $2,000.00. The Commissioners meet regularly two days each month, meaning they each receive approximately $1,000.00 per meeting. If elected, I intend to vote for a substantial reduction in the salary paid to the Commissioner of Precinct 3, and I will publicly ask my fellow Commissioners to make the same reduction in their own salaries.

2. REDUCE TAXES:

The County Commissioners have raised the tax rate from $0.20 per $100 valuation in 1980 to $0.23 in 1983. As a result of this increase, the County has accumulated a surplus balance of over $3,000,000 as of the end of February, 1984. Although I recognize that a moderate surplus may be necessary to meet unexpected contingencies, a three million dollar surplus seems excessive.

Bramble proves thorny in winning WBA crown

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Livingstone Bramble unleashed a savage barrage of punches and stopped Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini in the 14th round Friday night to win the World Boxing Association lightweight championship.

It was the second upset of the night. In the first of two title fights, Gene Hatcher needing a knockout to win, stopped Johnny Bumphus at 2:35 of the 11th round to become the WBA junior welterweight champion.

Mancini opened strong and in control for the first six rounds of the fight, but then Bramble, who raised pit bull terriers and fought like one, took the play away and battered Mancini over the last eight rounds before it was stopped at 53 seconds of the 14th round.

Mancini was ahead on two of the three official cards when the end came. But he was helpless and taking a beating along the ropes when referee Morton Denkin jumped in and stopped it.

It was a tough bitter fight from the opening bell with both men scoring with blows to the head. In the early rounds, the 23-year-old Mancini, making his fifth title defense, also scored well to the body which gave him his edge.

But, Mancini was cut over the right eye in the first round and Denkin ruled it was from a butt.

The referee called in a doctor to examine the cut with about one minute left then the action resumed. The cut did not bother Mancini, but the right eye was badly swollen and he was also cut over his left eye when the fight was stopped.

Mancini was a big favorite with an estimated crowd of 12,000 at War Memorial Auditorium, but Bramble, a 23-year-old native of the Virgin Islands, was not awed by the crowd or by Mancini's reputation.

In the seventh round, Bramble bloodied Mancini's nose and scored with several hard head shots.

Bramble, who weighed 134½ pounds, one-half pound less than the defending champion, also scored well to the head in the eighth, ninth and 10th rounds, shaking Mancini on several occasions.

Then Bramble took a breather in the 11th and Mancini stole the round simply by being busier.

Bramble scored with harder, sharper punches in the 12th and rocked Mancini with several head blows in the 13th. At this time, judge Lou Moret had it 124-123 and judge Stanley Berg had it 125-122 for Mancini. Judge Mike Gliena favored Bramble 126-121.

The AP had it 124-123 for Bramble.

In the 14th round, Bramble seeming to sense that victory was near, shot out of his corner and staggered Mancini with hard head blows. Mancini reeled along the ropes toward his own corner and Bramble trapped him there and fired a volley to the head before Denkin jumped in and stopped it.

Bramble's manager, Lou Duva, had objected to the use of Denkin as referee. But Denkin worked a strong fight and there was no chaos as there had been in the Hatcher-Bumphus bout.

For Bramble, who lives in Passaic, N.J., the victory was his 21st and 14th knockout against one loss and one draw. He had been ranked the WBA's No. 1 contender.

Mancini, who got $1 million, suffered his second defeat against 29 victories.

The Youngstown, Ohio resident had won the title on a first-round knockout over Art Frias on March 8, 1982 at Las Vegas, Nev.

"I'm going to go out and set the pace," Mancini had said. He did, but Bramble stayed with the pace and then took it over.

"He has trouble with everybody he fights," Bramble had said of Mancini and Boom Boom certainly had trouble with Bramble.

Feds will keep drug charged duo on roster

WASHINGTON (AP) —
Washington Federal's defensive back Mike Guess and wide receiver Ricky Simmons, both arrested Thursday on charges of possessing marijuana and cocaine, will remain on the active roster pending a final examination of the incident, the United States Football League team said Friday.

"By no means does this mean the club condones the use of drugs but you have to listen to the full story and act accordingly," said Federal's General Manager Dick Myers following a two-hour meeting with the players Friday afternoon.

An investigation by the team and league security officials is continuing, Myers added.

The two players were arrested
Thursday evening by U.S. Park Police plainclothes officers at Hains Point, a public park some three miles from the team's training facility at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

"The players are to be charged with a misdemeanor," said Myers, noting that the charges include neither usage or distribution.
"Unless subsequent information indicates otherwise, the club will have no further comment until after the players have had their court appearance."

The players were not available for comment.

OFF AND RUNNING — Atlanta Braves second baseman Glenn Hubbard gets up to advance to third base as Cincinnati Reds second baseman Ron Oester falls to the turf on a steal by Hubbard in their National League game Friday. Oester was diving for the off-line throw, which continued into center field, allowing Hubbard to advance safely to third. The Braves went on and beat the Reds in the first game of a doubleheader, 4-2.

NCAA Outdoor Championships

Mileham nails hammer throw

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Colorful Matt Mileham of Fresno State, the collegiate record holder, won the hammer throw title Friday in the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

In capturing his first national collegiate crown, the 27-year-old Mileham, who will compete for a spot on the British Olympic team June 10, hurled the hammer 241 feet, 11 inches, breaking the Hayward Field record at the University of Oregon.

The previous mark was 241-5, set last year by John McArdle.
Mileham established the collegiate record of 252-8 about two weeks ago.

He did not come close to that mark in the NCAA final, perhaps because the footing was slippery in the throwing ring.

"It was like glass," said Mileham, who got psyched before each throw by listening to lively music on his Sony Walkman, and wore a red bandanna around his curly blond hair while competing.

"It was too slick."
As he threw, he exhorted a series of grunts and groans, and screams and yells, similar to that of a weightlifter.

On one occasion before an attempt, he banged his head three times on the top of a bench, gritted his teeth and encouraged himself verbally.

"It's just a release of energy," he explained about his somewhat unusual antics. "I usually swear, but I controlled myself today."

"I just wanted to win," added Mileham. "I wasn't necessarily looking for a big throw. But I was pleased with my series. I was very consistent."

Mileham had five legal throws in his series of six, and four exceeded 230-0.

Kjell Bystedt of San Jose State finished second with a throw of 240-5 on his final attempt, and 1983 champion Robert Weir of Southern Methodist University was third at 237-9.

John Wolitarsky of Southern California, the 12th-place finisher at 206-11, agreed with Mileham about the slippery conditions of the ring.

"It was like ice," he said.
"Everyone was slipping."

Mileham and Bystedt changed their sneakers during the competition in attempts to prevent their sliding, but it didn't help. They and the other throwers still appeared to be having a lot of difficulty with their traction.

"I was slipping badly," noted Mileham.

With the Soviet Bloc countries boycotting the Olympic Games at Los Angeles, Mileham has to be considered among the top contenders for a medal. The Soviets have three of the top hammer throwers in the world in Sergey Lit-vinov, Yuri Syedikh and Yuri Tamm.

"It (the absence of the Soviets) will affect my event," conceded Mileham, the United Kingdom and Commonwealth record holder.

Eisenreich will quit baseball

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Outfielder Jim Eisenreich, who has battled a nervous disorder during his three seasons in the major leagues, does not want to play baseball any more, Minnesota Twins General Manager Billy
Gardner said Friday night.

Eisenreich, 25, is still struggling with the problem, which causes him to twitch and hyperventilate.
Both his first two seasons were cut short by the problem.

Gardner said he would meet with team owner Calvin Griffith and Executive Vice President Howard Fox no later than Saturday morning to decide whether to place Eisenreich on the voluntarily retired list or to give him his outright release.

If he were released outright, Eisenreich could sign with another team.

"Jim doesn't want to play anymore and he's gone off the medication prescribed for him in favor of his own medication," Gardner said in an interview before Friday night's game against Kansas City at the Metrodome.

The medication that Eisenreich insists on using is "too strong," Gardner said, slowing his reaction time at the plate and in the field.

Last month, the Twins reportedly gave Eisenreich the option of going to Toledo, the team's Triple A farm club, so he could get more playing time, but he declined to go.

Eisenreich, who has refused all season to discuss his situation with reporters, declined comment again Friday.

In 1982, Eisenreich batted .303 in 34 games before his twitching and hyperventilating forced him off the field. Fans in Boston's Fenway Park were the first to taunt him and cause his exit during a game.

Tigers chew up Orioles, 14-2

DETROIT (AP) — Alan Trammell, Chet Lemon and Lance Parrish hit home runs to back the combined seven-hit pitching of Dan Petry and Doug Bair as the Detroit Tigers pounded the Baltimore Orioles 14-2 Friday night in the first game of their weekend showdown.

Trammell's seventh homer of the year keyed a six-run second inning, Lemon's 10th of the season drove in three runs in the third and Parrish's ninth highlighted a three-run fourth.

It marked the ninth consecutive game in which the Tigers have homered. They improved their major league-leading record to 38-9, opened an 11½-game lead over the third-place Orioles and remained 5½ in front of second-place Toronto in the American League East.

The game was played on a perfect June night in front of 47,252 singing, chanting, waving fans on Polish-American Night at Tiger
Stadium.

Petry, 8-2, scattered three hits in six innings, walking one and striking out one, before Bair took over. He gave up John Lowenstein's two-run homer in the seventh.

Scott McGregor, 6-4, lasted only 1 2-3 innings for Baltimore, giving up six runs on five hits as the Tigers ended his personal five-game winning streak.

Singles by Parrish, Larry Herndon and Lemon loaded the bases in the second, McGregor hit Kirk Gibson with a pitch to force in Parrish, then Rusty Kuntz hit a two-run single, Gibson scored on a sacrifice fly by Lou Whitaker and Trammell's blast into the upper deck made it 6-0 and chased McGregor.

In the third, with Bill Swaggerty pitching, Parrish was safe on an error by third baseman Wayne Gross, Darrell Evans walked and Lemon homered into the lower left field seats.

Whitaker walked in the fourth, went to third on Trammell's single and scored on a sacrifice fly by Barbaro Garbey. Parrish's shot into the lower deck in right, giving Detroit a 12-0 lead. Trammell had a run-scoring single in the fifth and Herndon doubled home a run in the eighth.

homers to lead Toronto's 15-hit attack and Doyle Alexander scattered five New York hits in eight innings Friday night as the Blue Jays routed the Yankees 10-2.
The Blue Jays jumped on Ray innings of perfect relief pitching as the California Angels downed the Cleveland Indians 5-2 Friday night.

Witt, 5-5, yielded both Indian runs on 10 hits over the first 6-1-3 innings, striking out eight, before Corbett came on to pitch hitless ball and gain his second save. It was Cleveland's 23rd loss in its last 30 games.

Rick Sutcliffe, 3-5, took the loss, allowing six hits, walking eight and striking out seven before being relieved with one out in the ninth by Ernie Camacho.

catcher Tony Pena to let the second score as Montreal scored two ninth-inning runs to break a scoreless tie and give the Expos and Charlie Lea a 2-0 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night.

Lea, 9-2, scattered five hits over eight innings to become the National League's first 9-game winner.

Tim Wallach led off the Expos ninth with a single and Andre Dawson followed with a single to chase Pirates' starter Rick Rhoden, 4-4, who allowed 11 hits but worked out of numerous jams.
Derrel Thomas ran for Wallach

Drugs, agents singled out by CFA

DALLAS (AP) — In the wake of a drug testing program that resulted in suspensions to several players last season, the University of Georgia will begin testing its football players for alcohol abuse as well, Coach Vince Dooley said Friday.

Speaking to the opening session of the College Football Association's eighth annual meeting, Dooley admitted for the first time that several suspensions at Georgia last season were drug-related.

"Several players tested positive during the season — marijuana primarily," he said. Georgia was one of the first schools to institute a program of drug tests for its football players and Dooley called it "a right step in the right direction." He termed alcohol abuse "a definite problem," but said it was "more difficult to get to because alcohol can come out of the blood and urine faster than most drugs."

Georgia instituted its drug testing program, Dooley said, after he suspended a player from the 1982 Sugar Bowl against Penn State for being "bombed out, so to speak" the night before the game.

"For several years, we had been hearing that drugs were out there somewhere," he said. "We determined at that point that we were tired of hearing rumors. But first we had to educate ourselves. Most of us are not of this generation."

"For three or four months we consulted with many people who had insights into drugs. We went to rehabilitation hospitals and talked to addicts. We learned that the problem was not only at Georgia or with college athletes or with professional athletes or with all athletes, but it was a social problem nationally."

Dooley said he told his team a year ago that testing would start last fall. If drugs showed up without a doubt after retesting, the player was suspended for one week, including that week's game, and would have to notify his parents. A second offense, Dooley said, means more restrictive measures (confinement to room, etc.), while a third offense carries a year's suspension from the team.

"Two players denied they had used drugs (after positive tests)," Dooley said. "Someone told them that if they drank vinegar the drugs wouldn't show up. That turned out not to be true."

Dooley said Georgia has purchased a testing machine at a cost of $16,000-18,000 "which enables our trainer to administer the tests a lot faster." He also said the university was "a little more geared up for next year" and would require players to sign a release form agreeing to the tests.

"They don't have to sign it," Dooley said. "But if they don't want to sign it, a coach still has one weapon — he determines who plays. If they don't sign it, they don't play."

In a panel discussion on "Current Concerns Regarding College Football," player agents were cited as another problem. Gil Brandt, vice president of the Dallas Cowboys, said that "an agent or lawyer will hire one or two or three 'bird dogs' on a year-round basis to contact players around the country. One former Heisman Trophy winner received $50,000 to influence a player to sign with a particular agent. I know of one agent who went to a team's hotel the night before a game to try and talk the seniors into signing with him."

Brandt noted that the National Football League drafts 336 players but there are between 800-1,000 agents, making for "a very, very highly competitive situation."

"There's a great deal of money involved. In the past, there wasn't much beyond the first round," he said, pointing out that first-round NFL draft choices in 1983 averaged $677,000 in signing bonuses alone.

"The worst thing that's happened to college football is the problems agents create for the coaches," Brandt said.

Business briefs

Pat Githens, former manager of Fleet Tire, has opened his own tire service.

Githens has opened Pat's Discount Tire Store at 1511 Gregg. The tire store is opened Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday from 7:30 a.m. to noon.

Working with Githens at the store are John Knoepfel and Francisco Martinez.

Githens said the tire store will offer "quality tires at a discount price." He said he plans to carry several different name brands.

Pat's Discount Tire Store will also offer service work such as fixing flats on passenger, truck and industrial vehicles. A service truck for road service will also be available.

A major conference to help women business owners will be held in Dallas June 14-15. The conference is sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration, the Association of Women Entrepreneurs of Dallas, Inc., and the University of Texas at Arlington.

More than 2,000 people are expected to attend the conference which is being held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, 300 Reunion Blvd., in Dallas.

The two-day conference will feature comprehensive workshops for women who are in the start up or early growth of business ownership as well as seminars for women who already own established businesses.

A report from the Permian Basin Petroleum Association shows that there were 71,637,000 barrels of oil produced in March, down from 73,321,000 in March of 1983.

The top six producing counties are Pecos, Ector, Gaines, Yoakum, Andrews and Hockley.

The Texas Railroad Commission is sponsoring two seminars in Midland this month.

The first is June 13 at the Holiday Inn Country Villa. It will be on "Oil and Gas Forms and Procedure."

The second is June 14 at the same location. The topic will be "Gas Proration."

For more information, call the Railroad Commission office in Midland or the Permian Basin Petroleum Association in Midland at 915-684-6345.

The Permian Basin Rig count for the week ended June 3 is 343. Last week was 333. One year ago the count was 222.

LETTER CARRIER — Francis Cowen of Waterville, N.Y., an employee of Buck Construction Co., became a letter carrier for awhile this week as he lugged letters that formerly spelled out "The Boston Sotire" across the front of a building in Utica, N.Y. The letters were removed for storage as renovation of the building continued.

Business highlights

Slowdown noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's gauge of future economic growth rose a modest 0.5 percent in April, signaling to some analysts that the long-expected economic slowdown is in progress.

However, the slowdown from a year of rapid economic growth is not necessarily bad news; it could mean the expansion is more likely to continue rather than explode into a new burst of high inflation, analysts said.

"It's better to have a sustained recovery rather than a boom-bust situation," said Thomas Thomson, chief economist for Crocker National Bank in San Francisco. "I'm not concerned at all that the slowdown will become a stall."

The Commerce Department said Thursday its Index of Leading Indicators — designed to forecast the economy six to nine months in advance — resumed its upward trend of nearly two years after dipping a revised 0.1 percent in March. However, the new increase was much smaller than the gains that were typical much of last year.

The March decline initially was estimated at a steep 1.1 percent.

Orders tumble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orders to U.S. factories for new manufactured goods tumbled 3.6 percent in April, the biggest drop since May 1980, the Commerce Department says.

A huge 44.8 percent drop in orders for military hardware accounted for most of the decline, it said. The overall decline was the first since last July, but economists played down its significance because of the impact of the military decrease.

The defense-goods category is highly volatile and tends to show a very large gain one month and a very large decline the next — with the overall trend remaining upward. Indeed, the April decline announced Thursday followed a 58.3 percent March increase.

Still, economists said there would have been at least a modest decline in total orders, even without the military drag — providing another sign that economic expansion is beginning to slow.

Total factory orders fell to $189.1 billion in April, a decline that had been expected in light of a recent advance report of a steep decrease in orders for durable goods, which make up more than half of the total.

Sales gains

Major U.S. retailers posted strong sales gains in May. Analysts say the trend should continue, but not without heavy promotions to lure customers after the post-recession buying spree of a year ago.

The May sales gains were somewhat less than those recorded earlier in the year, and were typical of the second-year of a recovery when pent-up demand has begun to be satisfied, industry watchers said.

Industry leader Sears, Roebuck & Co. said Thursday its May sales rose 6.1 percent over May 1983; No. 2 K mart Corp. saw a 9.7 percent increase, and third-ranked J.C. Penney Co. had a 19.8 percent gain in store and catalog sales.

Jeffrey Edelman, retail specialist for the investment firm Dean Witter Reynolds Inc., said that in the second year of a recovery, year-to-year increases typically begin to taper off. He said the pattern should continue throughout 1984, although "we're not looking for it to fall off the cliff."

Most retailers said they were pleased with their results in light of the comparison with strong showings in May 1983.

"May sales were solid, particularly considering that the improvement was on top of double-digit sales increases last year," said Kenneth A. Macke, chief executive of Dayton Hudson Corp., whose sales rose 15.6 percent.
