How's that?
UNESCO

Q. When was the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization founded and why does President Reagan want to withdraw from the organization?

A. One of the U.N.'s specialized agencies, its constitution was adopted Nov. 16, 1945. The United States was one of the charter members.

Among other reasons, President Reagan has said he wants to withdraw U.S. participation from UNESCO because he believes that UNESCO is being used to promote Communist beliefs and programs, and not democracy.

For more information on UNESCO, write its U.N. Liaison office, at 2401 U.N. Building, New York City, N.Y., 10017.

Off the wall: Draft beer

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — A tavern owner refused to admit Willie, out for a night on the town, fearing he might fall through the floor. Besides, Willie wasn't wearing a tie.

Another bar was too crowded. And when Willie finally did find himself inside a watering hole, a police officer politely suggested he leave — no horsing around.

Seems no place wanted to give Willie a drink, despite his connections in the brewery business. So finally he just trotted off to bed.

Although he got a cold shoulder from tavern owners on this resort island, Willie, a 2,500-pound Clydesdale horse representing Anheuser-Busch Inc., isn't one to hold a grudge. He marched anyway Sunday in the 36th annual Lilac Festival Parade.

A trainer decided to take Willie out for a drink Saturday night, apparently to promote the parade, said Trooper Bud Tierman of the island's state police detail.

First stop was a place named, appropriately, the Mustang. "I was afraid he would fall through the floor," said tavern owner Dennis Brodeur.

ROSS PEROT

Perot school plan cut by lawmakers

AUSTIN (AP) — In legislative surgery that House Speaker Gib Lewis said is harmful to the children of Texas, the House Public Education Committee has cut out some school reforms pushed by the speaker and H. Ross Perot.

In a marathon Fathers' Day session, and with Lewis looking on, the panel diluted proposals on programs for 4-year-olds and academic requirements for extracurricular program participants. But the panel also added a high school seniors' test providing for "certificates of completion" instead of diplomas for those who fail it.

The changes came in a compromise bill pushed by Lewis and backed by Gov. Mark White, who called the current special legislative session to look at education and highways.

H. Ross Perot, chairman of the Select Committee on Public Education, has lobbied for early childhood programs to help students with learning disabilities or other problems that hinder their education.

The Lewis bill mandated pre-kindergarten programs in districts with 15 or more children that need the help. But the committee on Sunday made the programs optional.

That decision came a few hours after committee members had voted to broaden the program's scope. When the program was changed to an optional one — offered only if districts want to — Rep. Ernestine Glossbrenner, D-Alice, said:

"We won a great victory for the school children this morning. Now we come back and destroy it."

Lewis also was upset. He called the early childhood program "one of the building blocks in the select committee's recommendation."

The House committee also watered down a select committee proposal aimed at guaranteeing classwork comes before extracurricular activities. Under Lewis' bill, a student failing any subject could not participate in extracurricular programs.

An amendment offered by Rep. Bill Hammond, R-Dallas, and approved by the committee, allows students to fail one course and still participate in extracurricular activities.

5 inches of rain hits area

KNOTT — Farmers in the Brown Community near here will have to replant their cotton crops after an estimated 5 inches of rain that fell within two hours Sunday afternoon washed away recently planted seeds.

Larry Shaw, a Knott farmer who owns land in Brown, said the road from Brown to Ackeryly was submerged in water and impassable for nearly three-quarters of a mile after the rainfall.

"That's the most rain I've ever seen in that area," Shaw said.

He said Brown farmers Durwood Blagraves and Dicky Shortes each got between 4 and 5 inches of rain.

Shaw said the rain churned and flushed the topsoil, carrying away most of the cotton seed planted within the last month.

"This big cloud passed over and just stopped," said Shaw. "Most of the rain stayed to the north, around Knott and Ackeryly."

The Knott area received about 1.1 inches of rain, Shaw said.

The Big Spring U.S. Field Station said no rain had fallen in the county seat within the last 24 hours, but many residents reported a trace of precipitation yesterday around 5:30 p.m.

Nancy Martin of Luther said she recorded two-tenths of an inch of rain by Sunday evening.

Big Spring has received 1.67 inches of rain so far this year, less than one-fourth of the average 7.84 inches of rainfall through June 18.

The forecast for the Big Spring area called for a 20 percent chance of thunderstorms through Tuesday afternoon as the remnants of a weak cold front move east through West Texas.

County takes bid for barn

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Howard County Commissioners today agreed to accept a $56,896 bid on a proposed county barn from Johnston General Construction and Painting Service, Inc. of Big Spring.

Commissioners decided to accept Johnston's bid after they disqualified the estimated $52,062 apparent low bid of A-K Construction Co. Commissioners disqualified the bid because A-K Co. officials forgot to include a bond bid in the proposal. The bonds are required by the state.

Johnston bid then became the low bid. Only one other company submitted a bid, Reinhart Welding and Steel Construction Co.

Reinhart's bid was about $72,000. Johnston said the building will be completed and erected on the county fairgrounds within 70 days, the shortest time estimated by the three companies.

If the county decides to connect the utilities itself, Johnston's bid will be lowered by $1,748.

In addition, commissioners agreed to a request by the Downtown Merchants Association to establish a farmers market on Main Street between Third and Fourth streets during the weekends in August and September.

Commissioners are continuing to discuss the proposed 1985 budget in a workshop today. So far they have examined budgets for the road and bridge department, the equipment fund and budgets for the district, county and justice of the peace budgets.

State conventions

•GOP confident •Demos united

FORT WORTH — Texas Republicans have been warned by national and state party leaders that hard work — and hard cash — will be needed to put President Reagan back in the White House for a second term.

At the state GOP convention, businessman Chris Christopher of Big Spring was elected to the party's nomination committee.

Much of the convention, which ended Saturday night, was concerned with rallying state Republicans to campaign hard for Reagan and U.S. Senate hopeful Phil Gramm.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, co-chairman of the Reagan-Bush campaign in Texas, told the closing session:

"We're putting a double whammy on you. We're not only asking you to volunteer to work in the telephone banks to get new voters, but we are asking you to pay for the phone banks."

He estimated it would take $3.5 million in Texas "to put Reagan over the top in November."

State GOP Chairman George Strake said, "It is up to us to present a GOP welcome not only to all new party members but to independents and disenfranchised Democrats."

Strake said he was particularly interested in Republicans winning more seats in the Texas House.

HOUSTON — Texas Democratic Party members gave Walter Mondale most of their national convention delegates and gave one another speeches about unity against Republicans, as party leaders worked to bridge gaps that appeared during the state convention.

At the convention, D.A. Brazel of Big Spring was elected to the party's resolutions committee.

Throughout the convention Friday and Saturday, a lengthy procession of top-level Democrats talked about unity.

Former congressman Bob Krueger, a moderate who was defeated in the U.S. Senate primary, pledged his backing to Senate nominee Lloyd Doggett and urged his supporters to do the same.

"I'm going to be there for Lloyd in November and you can count on it," Krueger said.

"You acted as Democrats should have. You had conflicts; you resolved your conflicts. When we leave here, we can go forward," party chairman Bob Slagle told the 5,500 delegates at the convention's final session.

The biggest conflict they resolved was selection of the 200-member delegation Texas will send to the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco next month.

Weather

By The Associated Press

Showers and thunderstorms continued over portions of West Texas before dawn today as the rest of the state reported mostly fair skies and warm temperatures.

Rain persisted from the Trans Pecos into the South Plains and the Panhandle following an onslaught of rain over the weekend in drought-parched sections of West Texas.

The National Weather Service reports rainfall of as much as four to six inches over the past week from the Panhandle southward to the Permian Basin. Since Sunday, as much as two inches of rain had fallen over the Davis Mountains and the Big Bend country of far Southwest Texas.

Several campers were trapped overnight in the Palo Duro Canyon State Park by rising waters, according to Randall County sheriff's officers. However, the waters were expected to recede quickly and the campers were in no danger, authorities said.

Skies were mostly clear over the eastern half of Texas before dawn today. A few showers dotted the upper coast and nearby waters in the Gulf of Mexico. Isolated thundershowers also were located offshore just east of Brownsville.

Temperatures were mostly in the 70s, except for readings in the 60s across western sections. Readings at 4 a.m. ranged from 60 at Guadalupe Pass to 80 at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

The forecast called for mostly fair skies over the eastern two-thirds of Texas through Tuesday. Scattered thunderstorms were expected to persist in West Texas, while other showers were possible in Southeast Texas.

Heavy thunderstorms which dumped up to 7 inches of rain on Nebraska drenched the nation's mid-section today, causing flash-flood watches to be posted from southern Texas to western Pennsylvania.

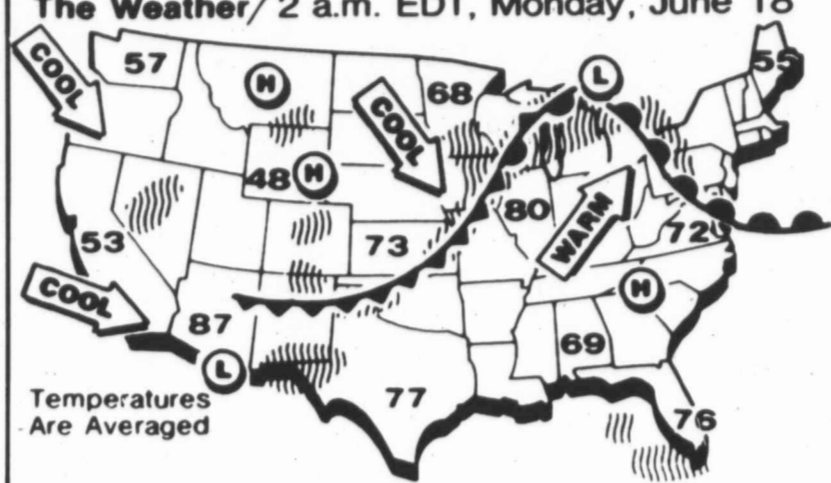

Scattered showers — some of them heavy — were reported early today from eastern Iowa across the Ohio Valley to the Atlantic Coast.

On Sunday, about 7 inches of rain fell on Madison, Neb., causing some street flooding.

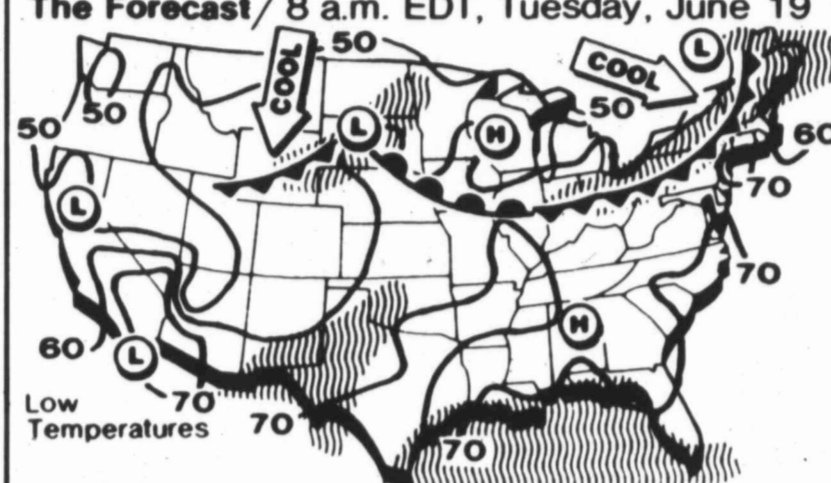

Forecast

West Texas — Partly cloudy through Tuesday. Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms, some heavy in Pecos Valley and Big Bend. Lows near 60 north to 75 south. Highs 88 north to 95 south.

2 guitars reported stolen

Two guitars were stolen Saturday afternoon from Red's Place on the Snyder Highway, Sam Harris told the Howard County sheriff's office.

According to a report by a sheriff's deputy, an electric and a bass guitar were missing from their cases, and a metal plate, which covered a hole in the hollow tile wall on the western side of the building from a prior burglary, was taken off and partially replaced.

Taken during the burglary, which occurred between noon and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, were a red Gibson 335 electric guitar, valued at $800, and a red and black bass guitar valued at $70, the report stated.

Deputies are continuing to investigate, and have found a heel print that they believe belongs to the burglar, according to the report.

Deputies also are continuing to investigate statements made by a man in the custody of the Garza County sheriff's office. According to Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard, the man has given deputies statements regarding a burglary of an automobile and theft from the ARCO fields on E. Howard Field Road.

Arco officials reported $1,600 in equipment taken in the two incidents, which occurred on May 7 and May 14, according to Deputy Bill Shankles.

The man also has made statements regarding a burglary of a building and an automobile burglary at the Mobil field site on Highway 821 east of Forsan, Standard said.

Shankles and Standard said they expected charges to be filed in the cases, possibly today.

Larry Gene Stevens, 41, of 1905 Wason was transferred to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of attempted capital murder. He was released on $20,000 bond set by Assistant Municipal Judge John Stanley.

Caroline Tibbets, 23, of 2401

Scurry was transferred Sunday to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of theft of more than $20 but less than $250. She was released on $750 bond set by Stanley.

Ernst Rene Diaz, 22, of Colorado City was transferred Saturday to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and driving while license suspended. He was released on $1,000 bond for the DWI and $500 for the DWLS charge.

Eric Howard Lansperry, 28, of 5804 Connally was transferred Sunday to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of DWI. He was released on $1,000 bond set by Stanley.

Charles Stansel, 32, of Sterling City Route was transferred from the police department to the sheriff's office on suspicion of criminal mischief. He was released on $2,500 bond set by Stanley.

Also transferred to the sheriff's office from the Department of Public Safety was Felipe Romero Moron, 66, of Coahoma on suspicion of DWI. He was released on $1,000 bond set by Stanley.

Jose Hernandez, no age given, of Amarillo was transferred Sunday from the DPS to the sheriff's office on suspicion of DWI. He was released on $1,500 bond.

Also transferred Sunday to the sheriff's office from the police department was Lazaro Torres, 39, of Levelland, arrested on suspicion of DWI and unlawfully carrying a weapon. He was released on two $1,000 bonds set by Stanley.

Julian Reyna, 30, of Gail Route was transferred Saturday to the sheriff's office from the DPS on suspicion of DWI. He was released on $500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Nathan Lee King, 22, of 711 E. 18th was transferred from the police department to the city on suspicion of DWI. He was released on $1,000 bond set by Stanley.

Police Beat

Police follow bouncing ball

A stray golf ball from the municipal golf course at Comanche Trail Park was the culprit in two police reports of criminal mischief that were filed Saturday afternoon.

At 2 p.m. Saturday, Jose Ortega of 4212 Dixon was driving in the 2700 block of Wason Road when the ball struck his front windshield causing damage he estimated at $250, according to police reports.

At 2:05 p.m. Saturday, city golf pro Al Patterson said someone he knows broke out the 3-foot by 7-foot glass door at the golf course's pro shop. Patterson told police the person broke out the door, which has an estimated value of $200, because his vehicle had been struck by a gold ball, reports said.

Reports did not say who originally hit the golf ball, or whether anyone had been arrested in connection with the two incidents.

In other police reports: Terry Hickman of Lubbock told police at 8:19 p.m. Saturday that someone between 6:45 a.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday jumped from the second floor of the Mid-Continent Inn at U.S. Interstate 20 and Highway 87 onto the hood of his 1983 Chevrolet pickup, causing about $300 in damage to the vehicle, police reports said.

John Puckett of Houston told police at 6:52 a.m. Sunday that someone stole tools valued at $100 and an AM-FM cassette player and equalizer valued at a total of $800 from his 1983 Ford pickup while it was parked at the Mid-Continent Inn near U.S. Interstate 20 and Hwy. 87, police reports said.

Fram Hauser of 801 Marcy told police at 7:45 p.m. Sunday that someone between 9:20 a.m. Friday and 9:30 p.m. Saturday entered her residence and stole a radio, several silver spoons and a spoon rack, a pillow cover and several bottles of wine valued at a total of $225, police reports said.

Dominquez Gavier of 705 Creighton told police at 12:32 p.m. Sunday that at about 12:30 a.m. Sunday someone he knows damaged his 1969 Ford four-door by shooting it with a shotgun, police reports said. According to reports, the incident occurred in the 500 block of Lancaster.

Police received two reports of bodily injury caused by violence over the weekend; however, both persons involved in the incidents refused medical treatment and chose not to file offense reports.

One incident, which was listed as a stabbing on the police activity sheet, occurred at the Amigos private club at 205 S. Runnels. The other incident, listed as a shooting, occurred at 1602 Bluebird, reports said.

Weekend police arrest activity included:

Caroline Elizabeth Tibbets, 23, of 2401 Scurry, who was arrested at 7:59 p.m. Saturday at the Wal-Mart department store on suspicion of shoplifting, police reports said. Store employee Robert Taylor told police someone stole merchandise valued at $62 from the store, was stopped while leaving and held in custody until police arrived, reports said.

Ernest Rene Diaz, 22, of Colorado City was arrested at 2:08 a.m. Sunday near the intersection of Third and Douglas on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, police reports said. Police also ticketed Diaz for running a red light, reports said.

Eric Howard Lanperry, 28, of 3804 Connelly was arrested at 11:19 p.m. Saturday near the intersection of Fifth and Gregg on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and ticketed for failure to maintain a single lane of traffic, police reports said.

Jose Hernandez, 42, of Amarillo was arrested at 2:15 a.m. Sunday two miles south of the city on Hwy. 87 on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, police reports said.

Mitchell Harris, 24, of 1601 Indian Hills was arrested at 11:30 p.m. Sunday near the intersection of Eighth and Gregg on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, police reports said.

Ernesto Rodriguez, 26, address listed as Lancaster Street, was arrested at 12:43 a.m. Monday on suspicion of unlawful carrying of a weapon and public intoxication, police reports said. According to reports, a clerk at the 7-Eleven convenience store at Eighth and Gregg told police at about 11:40 p.m. Sunday that someone in the store was intoxicated and carrying a knife.

Pallbearers will be Dr. Jim Mathews, Wayne Burns, Bill Burnett, Bud Burnett, Rich Anderson and Danny Rand.

The family suggests memorials be made to the American Heart Association, the American Cancer Society, the Lori Brown Trust Fund at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock for the Neurological ICU Unit or the St. Mary's Episcopal Church Library.

Winifred P. Hughes, 62, died Sunday at a local hospital following a sudden illness.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the 14th and Main Church of Christ.

Royce Clay of the 14th and Main Church of Christ will officiate. Burial will be at Trinity Memorial Park.

He was born Feb. 20, 1922 in Young County, Texas. He married Glenna Martin March 28, 1942 in Austin. He had been in Big Spring since 1946. He was a member of the 14th and Main Church of Christ and the Cattle Raisers Association. He was a veteran of World War II, serving in the Army Air Corps in the South Pacific from 1942 to 1945.

He was service manager for Eaker Motor Co. and later bought the business in 1960 and operated Hughes Motor Co. until 1974 when he sold it and devoted full time to ranching interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes also owned Creative Decor in the Highland Mall.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Mike Hughes of Stephenville and Johnny Hughes of Sterling City; three grandsons, one granddaughter; three sisters, Mrs. Toye Willis of Graham, Texas, Mrs. Ruth Roark of Granbury and Mrs. Cecil Morris of Arlington; and two brothers, Dean Hughes of Graham and Ernest Hughes of Big Spring.

Pallbearers will be Carl Coleman, Harvey Fryar, Cecil Peurifoy, Jim Willis, Bill Roark, Jimmy Jones, Orville Hughes, Courtney Ballard, Avery Faulkner, Chesley McDonald, Bud Hughes, Cecil Arnold, Don McDonald, Garey Bryan and Clem Shanks.

The family suggests memorials to the Foster Children's Home in Stephenville or the Medina Children's Home in Medina, Texas.

Eula Rogers

Mrs. Rufus (Eula Mae) Rogers, 72, died Saturday at a local hospital following a sudden illness. Graveside services will be at 1 p.m.

Tuesday at Trinity Memorial Park. The Rev. Bill Ballard of Elbow Baptist Church will officiate.

She was born Aug. 8, 1911 in Big Spring. She married Rufus Rogers Oct. 22, 1937 in Big Spring. He died Oct. 8, 1982. She has spent her lifetime in Howard County.

Mrs. Rogers lived in the Elbow Community until June 1983. She was a member of the Central Baptist Church at Elbow. She worked at Newsom's grocery store for 35 years.

Survivors are one brother, James R. (Bill) Horton of Big Spring; and one sister, Ida Ruth Low of Hollister, Calif.

Joseph Pearson

Joseph Raymond Pearson, 2, died Saturday at his home following a lengthy illness. Graveside services will be at 4 p.m. Tuesday at Trinity Memorial Park. The Rev. Arlie Knight of Faith Tabernacle Church will officiate.

He was born Oct. 23, 1981 in Big Spring.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Pearson of Big Spring; one brother, James Pearson of Big Spring; one sister, Melissa Pearson of Big Spring; grandparents, Sandra Jones of Beaumont, Bobby and Sharon White of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Charley Pearson of Big Spring; and great-grandparents, Mona Ray Choates and L.B. White, both of Big Spring.

Margie Ross

Services for Margie Lee Ross, 37, who died Saturday, will be at 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Nalley-Pickle and Welch Rosewood Chapel. Burial will be in Mount Olive Memorial Park. The Rev. Floyd Green of Big Spring will officiate.

She was born March 22, 1947 in Dallas. She married Sheppard C. Ross Nov. 7, 1966 in Roby, Texas, where she lived until moving to Big Spring in 1968. She was a baptist and was a member of the Mount Olive Missionary Church in Rotan.

Survivors include her husband, Sheppard C. Ross of Big Spring; three sons, Clarence, Kenneth and Robert, all of Big Spring; five daughters, Patricia, Vernice, Teresa, Gracie and Jewlene, all of Big Spring; and her father of Dallas.

Pallbearers will be Roger Evans, Leonard Evans, Herman Evans, Thomas Evans, Danny Sherman and Eric Sherman.

For the record

The column "Second Glances," by managing editor John Rice, contained an error Sunday. A reference to the chemical compound thialomethane in city tap water should have read:

"...a 'slight probability' of cancer exists for humans who drink about 2 quarts of trihalomethane-tainted water per day over a lifetime."

Three injured in plane crash

ROSEBUD, N.M. (AP) — A 45-year-old man remained in serious condition today in a Texas hospital after he and two teenagers were injured in the crash of a single-engine Cessna Skyline airplane about four miles north of this small community.

Gene Adee and two 16-year-olds, all of Clayton were taken to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo after the crash Sunday, state police officer Roger Tompkins said.

Tompkins said Adee "just landed too fast."

Just sick of Congress

BOSTON — Former U.S. Sen. Paul E. Tsongas says he has no regrets about leaving Congress — a decision he now says was mainly so he could spend more time with his family, not because of illness.

“When it came to the issue of my leaving the Senate, they (colleagues) wanted to know that I am leaving because I am sick. They didn't want to know that I'm leaving to be with my family, that the health problem only precipitated a decision based on other considerations,” the Massachusetts Democrat said in the keynote address Saturday to a forum on fatherhood at Wheelock College.

Tsongas retired last winter after 10 years as a senator and a representative, saying he had a mild, treatable form of lymphatic cancer.

“I've yet to meet anyone who chose family over career and regretted it. No one on their death bed ever said 'I didn't spend enough time with my business,’” he said.

Tsongas said that after his announcement, many colleagues “were resentful and disrespectful of me for what I was doing, particularly those who had chosen differently, sacrificing their families for their careers.”

“It's in remission right now,” Maris told the Los Angeles Herald Examiner. “I feel good. But I was pretty sick for the first four months when I was taking prednisone and chemotherapy pills every day.”

A royal candid camera

LONDON — A mischievous Queen Elizabeth II captured on camera her grimacing daughter, Princess Anne, getting soaked in a thunderstorm.

The 33-year-old princess was caught in a deluge while riding her horse during a centenary display by British horse breeders at Windsor Great Park on Sunday.

She was forced to sit in the saddle for a half-hour during the downpour and, as she passed the royal box, the queen took out her camera.

Prince Charles, the queen's eldest son and first in line to the British throne, was slightly injured later in the day during a polo game at the park.

The prince, 35, who bruised his knee last week, was cut on the hand by a blow from a polo stick.

Don't go down lookin'

LOS ANGELES — Home run king Roger Maris, who is recovering from cancer, says the illness “causes you to change your priorities in life.”

Maris, who quit baseball in his prime 15 years ago, said he didn't want to be deluged with sympathy when he learned of the lymphoma cancer last November.

“But you do find out in a hurry who your real friend are,” he said. “Mickey Mantle called every week. I received hundreds of letters. That was great for my spirits.”

Maris, 49, discovered he had cancer when he was checked for what he believed was a nagging sinus problem. A doctor noticed his lymph glands were swollen, and tests showed he had had malignant cancer for five years.

Italian Reds win in European Parliament vote

BRUSSELS (AP) — Italy's Communists won their first nationwide victory and governing parties in France, West Germany and Britain suffered setbacks in elections for a new European Parliament, according to official returns today.

The Italian Communist Party — apparently bolstered by a sympathy vote following the death of party leader Enrico Berlinguer last week — received 33.3 percent of the vote to 33 percent for the Christian Democrats, the Interior Ministry said. All but 0.3 percent of the votes had been counted.

The vote for the international advisory body will not affect the Communists' legislative power in Italy itself. But it was the first time the party, which is relatively independent of Moscow, had outpolled the long-dominant Christian Democrats.

Voting for the 434-member Parliament was held in two stages. Britain, Denmark, Ireland and the Netherlands held their elections Thursday, but results of those elections were withheld until the polls closed in the other six European Common Market countries where voting took place Sunday.

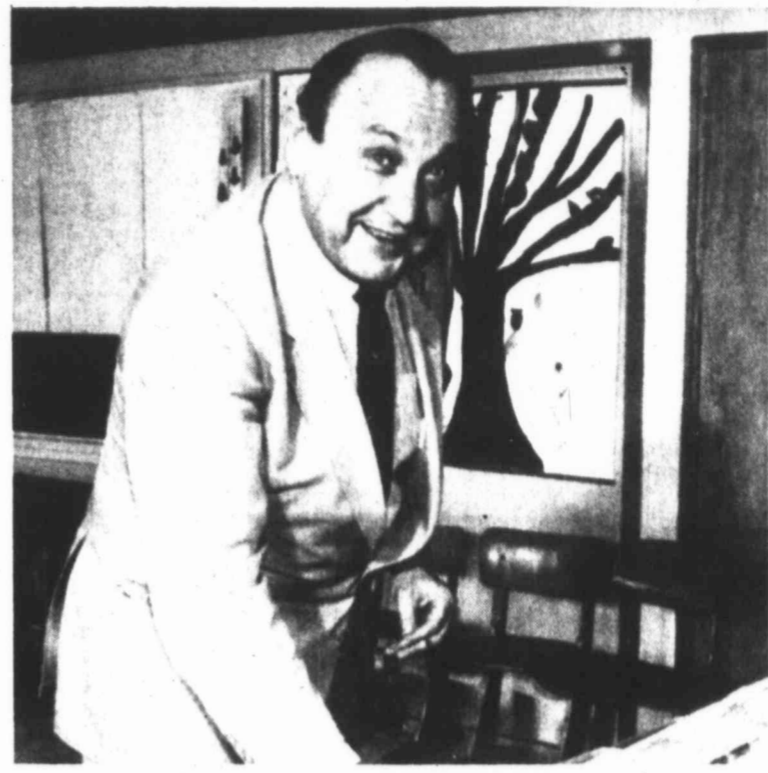

The Parliament approves the Common Market's administrative budget and expresses opinions on international topics but has no law-making powers.

Because voters could not choose candidates in other countries, and because of the Parliament's limited powers, the election was viewed as an unofficial referendum on national policies. In France, particularly, the success of conservative and centrist opposition parties was seen as a sign of rising public dissatisfaction with the policies of President Francois Mitterrand's Socialist government.

Britain, Italy, France and West Germany have 81 seats each in the Parliament; the Netherlands has 25; Greece and Belgium, 24 seats each; Denmark, 16; Ireland, 15, and Luxembourg, 6.

In almost all of the countries, voter turnout was lower than in 1979, when the first European Parliament elections were held. Prior to 1979, the assembly members were appointed by national governments.

The results were not expected to produce significant shifts in the political hierarchy of the European Parliament, although the Socialist grouping picked up eight additional seats to retain its position as the largest bloc in the Parliament with 132 seats.

ONE VOTE — West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher casts his ballot in elections for the European Parliament.

More significant were the implications for national governments.

In France, with 92 percent of the vote counted, the Socialists had won 21 percent of the vote, compared with 23.5 percent in 1979.

“The French people want another government and other policies,” said Jacques Chirac, leader of the conservative Republic Party.

The Communist Party that is a partner in the Mitterrand government fared even worse than the Socialists, to 11 percent from 20.5 percent five years ago. The main opposition groups took 43 percent of the vote, while the extreme right took 11 percent.

It was not immediately clear how those results would be translated into seats in the Parliament for the French parties. In any case, the outcome does not put Mitterrand under any formal constraint to change his policies or to call an early national election.

Here are results in other key European countries:

• Britain: The socialist Labor Party staged its first major comeback in five years, boosting its representation in the Parliament to 32 seats from the previous 16. The Conservative Party of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher dropped to 44 seats from 60.

• West Germany: The anti-NATO Greens party won representation in the Parliament for the first time, taking seven seats. The Free Democrats, the junior partner in Chancellor Helmut Kohl's government, failed to win enough votes to remain in the assembly. Kohl's conservative Christian Democratic-Christian Union took 41 seats, one less than in 1979.

• Italy: The results give 27 seats each to the Communists and the Christian Democrats. The governing Socialists took 11.2 percent, or nine seats. While it was the first plurality for the Communists, they had achieved a larger share of the votes in 1976 — 34 percent — before slipping below 30 percent in recent elections.

• Greece: With 52 percent of the vote counted, the Panhellenic Socialist Movement of Premier Andreas Papandreu claimed victory, with 42 percent of the votes, or 10 Parliament seats. The conservative New Democracy Party won 38 percent, or nine seats, and the Greek Communists took 11 percent, or three seats.

The voting reflected relatively little change in the political landscape in the five other countries that voted: Denmark, Ireland, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Mayors want balanced budget

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A meeting of mayors has taken up the cause of a balanced federal budget, calling for reform of costly entitlement programs like Social Security as one committee endorsed giving the president line-item veto power.

A president then could control federal spending more directly by vetoing single items in appropriations bills. The proposal, which would require a constitutional amendment, is supported by the Reagan administration.

The 171 mayors at the 52nd annual meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors were to vote today on whether to give the conference's final blessing to the line-item measure. A 41-member bipartisan resolutions committee passed it Sunday in a 24-17 vote.

Meanwhile two Reagan cabinet members — Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret M. Heckler and Housing and Urban Development Secretary Samuel R. Pierce — were to address the convention today.

Reagan declined to attend the gathering, as did Democratic presidential candidates Walter Mondale and Gary Hart. Jesse Jackson was to address the convention Tuesday, the final session.

Seattle was awarded top honors in the conference's annual “City Livability Awards Program” which recognizes city efforts to promote the arts. At a special luncheon, the city was cited for its many outdoor sculptures, and its “Portable Artworks” collection.

James Cagney taken to hospital

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Maine (AP) — Actor James Cagney was hospitalized in this resort community after he suffered shortness of breath, but the hospital refused to comment on his condition or say whether he remained there today.

Cagney, 84, was taken to St. Andrews Hospital from his hotel Saturday night, police said. An unidentified hospital official told NBC News that Cagney's condition had improved Sunday.

Cagney, best known in his six-decade movie career for roles as a pugnacious gangster, had complained of shortness of breath and was to undergo tests, said Police Chief Floyd McDunnah.

“We don't give any information on our patients,” said Elizabeth Schooliciast, a staff nurse at the hospital said early today.

A spokesman for the actor did not return a phone call Sunday. There was no answer at Cagney's home in Stanfordville, N.Y.

Cagney's portrayal of song-and-dance man George M. Cohan in the 1942 movie “Yankee Doodle Dandy” won him an Academy Award.

Opinion

McCarthyism is always a worry

Thirty years ago, Sen. Joe McCarthy lost the support of a majority of the American people.

The senator, a fighting Irishman and a former Marine, had served a somewhat lackluster four years as the Republican senator from Wisconsin — until Feb. 9, 1950. On that night he appeared before the Ohio County Women's Republican Club in Wheeling, W.Va., and spoke about Communists infiltrating our government. He said:

"While I cannot take the time to name all of the men in the State Department who have been named as members of the Communist Party and members of a spy ring, I have here in my hand a list of 205 that were known to the secretary of state as being members of the Communist Party and who nevertheless are still working and shaping the policy of the State Department." He named no names.

Despite scanty evidence to support his shotgun charges, McCarthy gained widespread support in an America disturbed by the Communist takeover in China, the Russian atomic and hydrogen bomb tests, the arrest and conviction of Americans on charges of spying for the Reds and the Korean War. National leaders who opposed McCarthy's tactics avoided challenging him out of fear. But McCarthy went too far when he charged the Eisenhower administration with treason.

He challenged the president by accusing the U.S. Army of "coddling Communists," and the Army returned the attack, leveling countercharges. The resulting Senate hearings were televised over several weeks and McCarthy's abrasive personality was there on the screen for all to see.

That TV coverage did McCarthy in. Soon afterward the Senate adopted a resolution 67-22 condemning McCarthy for violating due process and Senate procedure and for his "contemptuous" conduct. He lost his subcommittee chairmanship. His days as a Communist hunter were over. He died three years later, on May 2, 1957, of hepatitis.

When in power, McCarthy managed to ruin careers with the flimsiest of evidence. The word, McCarthyism, came to mean the use of indiscriminate, often unfounded, accusations and inquisitorial investigative methods.

Most everyone now condemns McCarthyism, but McCarthyism hasn't passed away. The tactics are in use today. There are still those who call names, who jump to passionate certainty before the facts are in, who see conspiracy in everything from nuclear power to the news media, who panic the mob.

They are the McCarthys of our day, whether on the right wing or the left. Don't let them stampede us.

Father-in-love

There are fathers and father-figures. Sometimes the father-figures play more of a part in your life than your father. My father was a good man and a kind man and a funny man. My father-figure was something else again.

He was a Marine Corps Drill Instructor named Pete Bonardi.

We first met at Parris Island at 4 o'clock in the morning. I was still in civilian clothes lined up with a group of other young men who were thrown together by patriotism, duty and the movie, "To the Shores of Tripoli."

Bonardi stopped in front of me. "WHO IS YOUR FATHER?"

I told him, "Joseph Buchwald of Queens, New York."

"NO HE ISN'T. I AM YOUR FATHER. AND I WILL BE YOUR FATHER FOR THE NEXT 10 WEEKS. IS THAT CLEAR?"

"Yes, father," I said.

"NOT FATHER — SIR. YOU WILL CALL ME SIR AND ONLY SIR. DO YOU LOVE YOUR FATHER?"

"Yessir."

"THEN YOU'RE GOING TO LOVE ME, BECAUSE I'M GOING TO LOVE YOU LIKE NO FATHER HAS EVER LOVED A SON. IS THAT CLEAR?"

"Yessir."

"HOW MANY PUSHUPS DID YOUR FATHER MAKE YOU DO EACH DAY?"

"None, sir."

"WELL, I'M GOING TO MAKE YOU DO 50 PUSHUPS A DAY. DO YOU KNOW WHY?"

"No, sir."

"BECAUSE THAT IS WHAT A FATHER IS FOR. TO MAKE HIS SON INTO A MAN. YOU'RE A MISERABLE EXCUSE FOR A PHYSICAL SPECIMEN. ONLY A FATHER LIKE MYSELF COULD BELIEVE HE COULD MAKE A BAG OF BONES LIKE YOU INTO A MARINE. DO YOU LOVE ME?"

"Yessir."

"GOOD, NOW HIT THE DECK AND START DOING THE PUSHUPS."

He stood over me. I collapsed after 10.

"I THOUGHT YOU LOVED ME," he shouted.

On a 20-mile hike we were given one canteen of water to last us the entire trip. I drank mine after 10 miles. Bonardi was very sympathetic and told me if he wasn't my father he would give me more. But he loved me too much, and he would rather have me faint than spoil me. Then he kicked me in the pants. "NOW GET MOVING, OR ELSE I'LL KICK YOUR BUTT FOR THE NEXT 10 MILES."

Bonardi woke me in the morning and put me to bed at night. Then he would inspect my rifle and make me get out of bed and clean it again. And so it went. The 10 weeks seemed like 10 years because Bonardi never left my side. Then we said goodbye. I vowed I would forget him as soon as I left Parris Island.

That was 42 years ago. Despite my vow, every Father's Day I seem to remember him. And what is really weird is that when I look back on the role he played in my life, I really do love him.

Lopez Portillo eats like a horse

WASHINGTON — Alamain is a handsome Arabian stallion presented to President Reagan by the former president of Mexico, Jose Lopez Portillo. Reagan soon discovered that the horse had an insatiable appetite for the finer things in equine life.

The trouble with feeding Alamain a carrot is that "he gets the carrot and starts on the finger," the president remarked to aides. "You have to be careful or he'll eat you off to the elbow."

That's pretty much how Lopez Portillo and his cronies devoured his country's resources while he was president from 1976 to 1982. With a zeal unmatched since the Spanish conquistadors, Lopez Portillo made himself one of the world's richest men — while Mexico was reduced to near-bankruptcy, bent to its knees under foreign debts of more than $80 billion.

When I first disclosed details of Lopez Portillo's self-enrichment and suggested that the corruption extended to his former budget director and handpicked successor, President Miguel de la Madrid, the Mexican government raised a predictable howl.

But my associate Dale Van Atta has been investigating high-level corruption in Mexico for more than a year, and facts are facts, no matter who may be embarrassed by their revelation.

With a single political party dominating Mexico for decades, corruption was probably inevitable. It became an accepted fact of life that Mexican presidents and their closest cronies would become wealthy during their terms of office.

Lopez Portillo's good fortune — and Mexico's misfortune — was that he came to power just when discovery of the country's huge oil reserves promised to make Mexico a "have" instead of a "have-not" nation. International bankers rushed to extend credit to the nouveau riche country.

Like a lottery winner who doesn't know how to handle his unexpected wealth, Mexico under Lopez Portillo embarked on costly projects that relied on an uninterrupted flow of dollars from the black gold. When the worldwide price of oil tumbled, Mexico was caught short.

By that time, though, Lopez Portillo and his buddies had stashed their billions in foreign bank accounts and real estate. Figures uncovered in a secret investigation conducted by Lopez Portillo shortly before he left office concluded that at least $14 billion had been deposited in foreign banks during his term as president, while another $30 billion had been invested in U.S. real estate.

With incredible hypocrisy, Lopez Portillo said in his four-hour farewell address that "a group of Mexicans, led, counseled and supported by private banks, have taken more money out of Mexico in the past two years than imperialists ever exploited during the entire history of our country."

The outgoing president claimed to have a list of the "sacudolares" — the dollar removers. My sources confirm the existence of one such list, gathered by investigators combing through deeds in a dozen U.S. cities. Favorite investment sites included South Padre Island and Houston, Tex.; Aspen and Vail, Colo.; Las Vegas, Nev.; and La Jolla, Calif.

Lopez Portillo neglected to mention his own expensive properties in Miami, Rome and Seville, Spain, as well as his lavish estate in Mexico City. The estimates of the former president's personal wealth range from a low of $1 billion to a high of $5 billion.

Footnote: President de la Madrid's press secretary has angrily denied that his boss has any foreign bank accounts.

The town that failed to grow

To the editor:

Big Spring, the town that has failed to grow. Why? Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Lubbock, all these towns have grown ten times more than Big Spring. Why?

We are located in the ideal spot in West Texas, with two major highways crossing here in Big Spring. But we are losing people by the hundreds each month. Why?

It is simple — our school board, an unelected city government — and things are out of control.

It was at a school board meeting at the high school when the budget was brought up. The school board members flipped a few pages on the table and voted a $13 million budget without reading one page. Why?

Our esteemed leaders at City Hall told the biggest lie of all. They extended their own terms in office and tried to blame it on the LULACS. When people would not buy this, they blamed it on the Federal Judge. That was a lie also. These people want total control of Big Spring, which they have, and that is why we are losing people each day.

They have violated the Texas Constitution, the City Charter, and most important they have violated the values and principles of man. This unelected government is destroying Big Spring. They are what I call the Monument Builders.

They are now building a $75,000 monument at the air park. Why? We need this like we need the unelected government we have.

I didn't believe my eyes when I read the Big Spring Herald and our Police Chief says that an elected official or an elected Chief of Police would be under pressure from special interest groups. I still can't believe he said that. Ask yourself who our Police Chief gets his orders from — Mr. Don Davis himself, and our esteemed unelected City Dads.

If you happen to be on Mr. Davis' or the City Council's hit list, you are going to be in trouble with our police department. But if the Police Chief is elected, the Chief can tell Mr. Davis and the City Council to go to hell, and do what is right for the people. That is the special interest group the Chief should represent — the people who elected him.

Anytime the Big Spring Herald comes out for anyone running for office, then I vote just the opposite. Just as the paper doesn't want an elected Police Chief, then I do.

Lots on deficit

Photographers are not known for being the smartest people in the world, yet we always have an answer for everything. Right now, I'm expecting a call from President Reagan. You see, I've come up with the perfect solution for eliminating the federal deficit.

The answer, of course, is to have a national lottery, much like the state lottery systems of Pennsylvania, Ohio and other states. Contests like these are big news when the stakes are high, and with the whole country in the action, the pot could be overflowing.

Tickets would be a buck apiece, and they would be bought through federal lottery agents in each city in the U.S. (this would also give jobs to the unemployed). Tickets would be printed so that there would be no more than five winners in each drawing.

Automatically, fifty percent of the money taken in is put in the Federal Treasury coffers. The remaining fifty percent would be divided up among the winners.

For example, say 250 million lottery tickets are sold, roughly one for each person in the country. After all, who could turn down a chance at winning $25 million? Right off the bat, the government would be 125 million bucks richer. If five winners are found, each lucky person would revel in their extra 25 million clams.

Whoops, Uncle Sam comes along again with ye ole 1040 form, putting you in a higher tax bracket, and taking out his cut from the winnings. By the time the dust settles, the Stars and Stripes end up with 200 million bones, and the drained winners come up with a paltry 10 million apiece.

Say this lottery business is done once every two months. With the highly conservative figures given here, the Feds could still walk away with roughly 1.2 million dollars each year.

Such a solution might help solve the financial troubles of our country, but just don't tell the President you heard this from me. He may put me in charge of the crazy thing, and Washington, D.C., is just too big a place for my liking.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Shoes for pregnant women should be comfortable, safe

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a "growing" trend among modern working wives — literally — with many more mothers-to-be staying in the labor force almost until they leave for the labor room.

"I've never seen anything like it," says obstetrician Dr. Leonard Roberts of New York City. "If their jobs aren't physically taxing, many of my patients now work right into the last weeks of pregnancy."

One reason may be that women are starting families later — in 1981, only 49 percent had babies before age 25, versus 56 percent in 1970. Women today don't want to drop their careers just to knit tiny garments, he suggests.

However, when expectant mothers take a stand on working longer, they'd better make that stand on properly shod feet, according to physicians and podiatrists consulted by the Footwear Council.

"Pregnancy may bring changes that make your regular shoe wardrobe inappropriate, both for comfort and for safety reasons," says Dr. Jerry Brant, a podiatrist of Jacksonville, Ill., president-elect of the American Podiatry Association.

What are the major foot concerns for a pregnant woman and how can she handle them, while remaining stylishly shod for the office?

"Feet respond to extra weight by spreading," says Brant, "so a pregnant woman may need roomier shoes. And she should have them fitted after midday, when she's been on her feet a while."

Trying to wear shoes that have become too tight will only aggravate any current foot problems, he warns.

During pregnancy, metabolic activity increases, Roberts notes, causing increased perspiration, especially during summer months, so it's wise to choose shoe materials that "breathe" — like canvas or leather.

He also recommends the use of medicated foot powders and support stockings to less swelling and increase foot comfort.

Unless you're a ballet dancer with superb abdominal muscle tone, the added frontal weight throws the body forward, and you react by arching the back, he points out. High heels, therefore, accentuate the strain, resulting in backache. Even worse, unsteadiness might cause a fall.

Then must a pregnant lawyer wear moccasins into court? Not at all, says Roberts. "I think an inch-and-a-half heel height is fine, as long as the foot is firmly supported."

Podiatrist Brant agrees, adding that the heel should be broad enough to distribute the weight evenly and provide secure footing.

Fortunately for working women who are pregnant this year, the freshest fashions for business are just what the doctors ordered, the Footwear Council reports.

Among the most popular daytime styles are sandals and opened-up pumps with low, broad-based, stronger heels, flats and low-to-moderate wedges.

Also for summer, all kinds of mesh and woven materials are available in newsy broad-banded sandals.

BIRTHDAY PARTY PLANNED — Clay C. Bedell, 625 State, will be honored for his 90th birthday at a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Bedell, 2400 N. Birdwell. The event will be from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Bedell has been a cowboy all his life. He retired about 25 years ago from being a pumper in the oilfield. He was married to the late Stella Bedell, who died in 1970. The couple had eight children. Bedell enjoys traveling, fishing, camping, reminiscing of old times and visiting his family.

Dr. Donohue

EKG can miss irregular heartbeats

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have had this irregular heartbeat for five years. It seems to be getting worse. Sometimes it is a fast beat and I get dizzy. Is this dangerous? It never seems to happen when I have an EKG test. The doctor finds nothing. Should I just ignore it? Is it true that if the EKG shows nothing that nothing's wrong? — Mrs. A.S.

Irregular heartbeats occur in many people. Their seriousness depends on the kind of irregularity, how frequently it appears, and how long it lasts when it does appear. Otherwise, the word irregularity doesn't mean very much.

Irregularities happen to all of us. Caffeine, nicotine or excitement can cause them. However, as soon as we have symptoms, like your dizziness, then it is time to take them seriously, or at least try to determine if they mean something more serious than a quirk in a normal heart.

I don't know what your irregular beats mean, but since you are having symptoms and since it sounds as though they are becoming more frequent, you should be examined more closely. An EKG doesn't take much time to record, so an irregularity can be missed. You need the EKG taken over 24 hours or longer. You wear a unit small enough to carry like a purse at your side.

The wires are hooked up to you just as they are with the office EKG. However, it allows you to move around and proceed through a normal day of activity. Every beat is recorded during that time, and you keep a parallel written diary of your activities so that it can be matched with your heart performance. Then the doctor can analyze the record and tell much more about your heart and the irregularities you are having.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have headaches every night after going to bed. Laying my head on the pillow seems to activate the headaches. If I turn on the other side it stops most times. I also have a headache when I wake up. Thanks for any help. — W.S.

Headaches that develop on bending or lying down and which are relieved by changing position of the body are called postural headaches. You have to consult your physician about them, especially if they are of recent origin, something you have not had all your life.

They may represent nothing more than a temporary blockage of sinuses when you assume that particular position. But they may mean something more serious, indicating a growth in the brain, one that is blocking flow of spinal fluid when you alter position.

Dear Abby

Woman thinks silence isn't golden

DEAR ABBY: I don't mind standing in long lines, but I hate the silence. As soon as I get into a line, I say to the person next to me, "Quite a crowd today, isn't it?" Of course I get an answer. Soon someone else chimes in with, "I didn't expect it to be so busy this time of day." In a few minutes, a lot of conversations get going, the time passes more quickly, and everybody leaves in a good mood.

Once I went to a volunteer awards luncheon and didn't know anyone, so I started talking to a man who didn't know anybody either. He told me he had just lost his wife and he sure missed the Swiss steak she used to make, but he supposed it was too complicated to prepare himself. I told him exactly how to make it, and he brightened up immediately.

Recently while visiting my father in the hospital, I was in the elevator going down to the cafeteria in the basement. An old gentleman got on and I said, "You look worried." He said, "I am. I've got an awfully big decision to make by tomorrow — guess I'll have to talk it over with the Lord." I said, "You can't get better advice than that." The elevator stopped and he walked me to the cafeteria, still talking a mile a minute. Suddenly, he asked, "Where are we?" I told him, and he said he wanted the lobby, so I walked him back to the elevator, pushed the lobby button and told him I'd pray for him.

My kids keep saying, "Ma, you're too friendly. One day you are going to be murdered by a stranger." And I say, "Well, I'd rather go on being friendly than standing in dead silence in a group of people."

I prefer to give a present, but so many couples say they'd rather have the money, I feel I should conform.

No one is willing to tell me what amount of money would be an appropriate wedding gift for a niece, for example. How about for the son of a business associate?

Any guidelines would be appreciated.

Chapter has Ritual of Jewels for four members at meeting

The Ritual of Jewels was held for four women at the Mu Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi meeting in the home of Sharon Richardson, May 28.

The ritual was held for Joyce Crosby, Peggy Kalina, Carla Lyons and Tina Steffen.

Eight members received perfect attendance stars for the past year. The members were Peggy Payne, Rene Eyskens, Marian Buzbee, Brenda Carr, Lisa Murphy, Mrs.

Richardson, Debbie Walling and Joyce Crosby.

Ms. Murphy received the award for "Best Program of the Year." Her program dealt with how to make butterflies from ribbons. Secret sisters for the past year were revealed, and new secret sisters were chosen for the coming year.

The BSP State Convention, which will be in Houston June 22-24, was discussed.

Officers installed at Planters Garden Club meeting, June 6

Officers were installed at a June 6 meeting of the Planters Garden Club.

New officers are: Fannie Wilkinson, president; Neva Clinkscales, vice president; Mildred Murphy, secretary; and Adele Tibbs, treasurer.

The club visited the home of Mrs. Robert Vaughan in Robert Lee. A luncheon was held and the group toured the Vaughan's yard. The members also toured the city park where the Vaughans had planted a plot of ground as a memorial to their deceased great-grandson. The next meeting will be in September.

Mitchells announce son's birth

Ricky and Pam Mitchell, 2511 Central, announce the birth of their son, Michael Richard, at Malone-Hogan Hospital, June 1. The infant arrived at 9:11 a.m. weighing 8 pounds 11 ounces.

Television sets provide two-way communications

NATICK, Mass. (AP) — Television sets are fast becoming a two-way communication system whether at work or shopping.

Recent video technology allows individuals to examine houses on the market in an area of interest to them from real estate video installations. Other video displays show travel and hotel information or demonstrate products in response to user inquiries. A person may also be trained at work via TV screen, reviewing lessons at his own pace or testing his knowledge.

At the heart of the system is an electronic control device for a personal computer. The device makes video interactive, giving visual information immediately, according to Philip Dodds, a maker of the unit.

Norman's final surge forces Open playoff

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Greg Norman called the putt 40 feet. It probably was closer to 50. Fuzzy Zoeller thought it was for birdie, and he was ready to throw in the towel.

Instead, the putt was for par. Norman lined it up, hard sure that it was going in, and when it did, he and Zoeller were headed for the 27th playoff in U.S. Open history.

It would take 18 holes today to settle the issue under the U.S. Golf Association's Open format. Tee off was 1:45 p.m. EDT.

Zoeller was 7-under and three shots ahead of Norman after nine holes Sunday, firing four consecutive birdies on Nos. 3-6. But he bogeyed three holes on the back nine to finish with par-70 and 276, 4-under for the tournament.

Norman, who began the day two shots off the lead and one behind Zoeller, birdied the 14th to go 4-under, but he had to scramble for par on the final three holes, including the 50-foot putt at 18, to finish with 69-276.

And two-time winner Hale Irwin, leader or co-leader in all three previous rounds, squandered a one-shot lead going into the fourth round with a 7-over-par 79 to finish at 284, eight shots back. Irwin began the day at 5-under, but a double-bogey six on the ninth hole put him back to even for the tournament, and he bogeyed four more holes on the back nine.

It was perhaps the worst U.S. Open collapse since Arnold Palmer blew a seven-stroke lead to Billy Casper in the final nine holes in 1966 and lost in a playoff.

Curtis Strange shot one of the best rounds of the day, 68, to finish at 281, 1-over-par and five shots back. Johnny Miller had 70-282 and was tied for fourth with Jim Thorpe, who faltered to a 3-over 73.

Peter Jacobsen and Mark O'Meara were tied at 285. O'Meara shot 69 and Jacobsen had 67, best round of the day.

Zoeller was playing in a twosome with Irwin behind Norman and Thorpe. Zoeller stood on the fairway as Norman lined up his long, par-saving putt. Norman had hit his second shot on the 448-yard, par-4 hole into the bleachers. He took a free drop into some high grass and pitched the ball past the pin and all the way to the fringe on the other side of the green.

The 18-hole playoff format is unique in major tournaments to the U.S. and British opens. Most tournaments are settled on the same day by sudden death. The last time the Open went to a playoff was in 1975 when Lou Graham beat John Mahaffey.

"To be perfectly honest, I'd rather play sudden death," Zoeller said. "But if this is the way they want to do it, it's OK with me. We play seven days a week anyway, so we might just as well play at Winged Foot."

WHAT A GAME — Greg Norman rejoices after he tied for first place in the fourth round of the U.S. Open at Winged Foot Golf Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y. Sunday. Norman will play a sudden death round with Fuzzy Zoeller.

Kentucky Derby winner dies of unknown causes

NEW YORK (AP) — Swale, who emerged as this year's top 3-year-old by winning the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes, died suddenly Sunday after a routine gallop at Belmont Park eight days after winning the final leg of racing's Triple Crown there.

At first it was believed the colt had suffered a heart attack but an autopsy failed to disclose any evidence of that and the cause of death was not known.

"There is nothing to indicate that he died from a heart attack," said Dr. Helen Acland, one of two pathologists from the University of Pennsylvania's New Bolton Center who flew to New York to perform the autopsy.

"It is not known at this stage what cause the death," she said.

"We thought there would be a ruptured aorta (the main artery from the heart) but it wasn't present"

Asked if there were any chance of foul play, Acland said, "If it was done, it was done extremely subtly."

Ryan pitches Astros by LA

Last inning blast drops Rangers, 5-2

Al Cowens blasted a three-run homer with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the Mariners their victory in Seattle.

Cowens, who hit just .205 with seven home runs last season, is batting .282 in 1984. His sixth home run of the season came off reliever Odell Jones, who had taken over for Texas to start the ninth.

Larry Parrish doubled home a run for the Rangers in the third.

Orioles 6, Yankees 2

Gary Roenicke smashed a grand slam homer in the eighth inning Sunday, capping a five-run rally with two outs that made the Orioles 6-2 victors over the New York Yankees and made a millionaire out of Anne Somers.

In other AL games, Detroit stopped Milwaukee 7-4, Toronto downed Boston 5-3, Minnesota slapped Kansas City 3-1, Cleveland shaded California 4-3, Chicago crushed Oakland 9-4, and Seattle topped Texas 5-2.

Baltimore seemed as though it might waste a fine effort by starter Mike Flanagan, who finished with a five-hitter, as the Orioles trailed 2-1 going into the eighth at Yankee Stadium.

But with two outs, Floyd Rayford delivered a game-tying RBI single and Cal Ripken Jr. wished a happy Father's Day to his dad, Cal Sr. — the Orioles third-base coach — with another single. Eddie Murray then walked before Roenicke lined his shot into the left-field seats off New York starter Dennis Rasmussen, 1-2.

Indians 4, Angels 3

Andre Thornton, who hit a sacrifice fly in the first inning but then flied out to leave the bases loaded in the second, belted a leadoff home run in the eighth inning to break a 3-3 tie in California.

Brewers 7, Tigers 4

Detroit completed a three-game sweep in Milwaukee as Tom Brookens cracked a two-run triple to spark a five-run fifth inning.

The outburst started when Brewer pitcher Bob McClure mishandled Barbaro Garbey's soft grounder for an error. Chet Lemon then singled Garbey to third, and the two runners executed a double steal to put the Tigers ahead 2-1.

After a walk, Brookens tripled to finish McClure and Howard Johnson delivered an RBI single off reliever Jack Lazorko.

Lemon had contributed a run-scoring double in the first and tripled home another run in the eighth.

Astros 1, Dodgers 0

Nolan Ryan came off the 15-day disabled list and pitched eight overpowering innings to lead Houston over Los Angeles.

Ryan, 7-2, won his sixth straight decision, allowing just three hits and striking out nine before getting relief help in the ninth from Dave Smith, who gained his second save.

Terry Puhl delivered the game's only run with a fifth-inning RBI double off Bob Welch, 5-7, who lasted six innings.

The Astros won their fourth straight game for the first time this season, sweeping the four-game series with Los Angeles, while the

Olympic Trials

Lewis breezes to 100 meters win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carl Lewis, who hopes to duplicate Jesse Owens' feat of winning four gold medals in the Olympics, has taken one important stride toward the 1984 Games, with two more remaining.

Lewis, appearing to run almost effortlessly, glided to victory in the 100-meter finals Sunday night at the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials. By winning the event, which was contested by one of the finest sprint fields ever assembled, the 22-year-old locked up one berth on the American team for this summer's Games.

Meanwhile, Joan Benoit ran the second fastest 10,000 meters by an American woman Sunday night in an exhibition race at the trials.

The women's 10,000 — and next Sunday's 5,000 — were added to the trials as a statement on behalf of runners seeking to have those events included in the Olympics.

Benoit was clocked in 32 minutes, 7.41 seconds. Mary Decker is the only American woman who ran the women's 10,000 faster than Benoit, who will represent the United States in the women's marathon.

Later this week, Lewis will try to earn more two spots, in the 200 meters and the long jump. He wants to compete in those events and as a member of the American 400-meter relay team in the Olympics and hopefully match Owens' four-gold performance in the 1936 Games.

"Obviously, I'm happy it went this way and that I won," Lewis said after he ran the 100 in 10.06 seconds despite facing a headwind of 2.2 meters per second. "I trained for this meet, harder than anyone else."

Sam Graddy, a relative unknown despite being the reigning NCAA and national champion in the 100, finished second to Lewis with a time of 10.21. Ron Brown, who delayed what figures to be a lucrative pro football career for a chance to compete in the Olympics, grabbed off the final 100-meter spot on the U.S. squad with a 10.23 for third.

The field was so strong that Calvin Smith, the world record holder in the event at 9.93, finished fourth, in 10.29, followed by Kirk Baptiste, Emit King, Harvey Glance and Mel Lattany.

Glance, a two-time Olympian, said, "That was the best field I've ever been in, including the 1976 Olympics. They are all champions and it was a great race."

Lewis, comfortably ahead in the final strides, took a quick look around and raised his arms triumphantly just before the finish.

Graddy, a 20-year-old Tennessee sophomore who seems to be hitting his peak at an excellent time, said, "I was in a loaded field, but I knew it would come down to the top dogs."

The 100 was one of four finals during Sunday's second day of the trials, which run through next Sunday, with Wednesday a day off.

Jackie Joyner won the women's heptathlon with an American-record performance; Mike Conley won the triple jump when he went 57.5, the sixth best mark ever; and Bill Green won the hammer throw at 240-3.

HEPTATHLON RECORD — Jackie Joyner hurls the javelin 148 feet, 11 inches, a personal best, to win the heptathlon event in the U.S. Olympic track and field trials in Los Angeles Sunday. Joyner, of East St. Louis, Ill., smashed the American record by accumulating 6,520 points in the seven heptathlon events, surpassing the old mark of 6,458 points.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 19, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day finds you ricocheting between feeling you are too held down by restricting conditions and eager to upset present conditions for new outlets. Use self-control.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't permit anxieties to upset you or cause you to make sudden changes and then you can handle practical affairs.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You find it difficult to understand the strange actions of a usually kind friend, but be patient and the mood will soon change.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Certain issues come up that you do not understand, but don't act quickly, and then they inure to your benefit.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Go slowly with that plan you have in mind in the morning, and then later it will work out nicely with little effort.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Find the right answers that will assist you in handling your responsibilities better. Show that you are truly devoted.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't show any ire toward a partner in the morning, and then all smooths itself out nicely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You find it difficult to handle some task in the morning, but later you have the right solution to the problem and all are satisfied.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Some early altercation with one of whom you are fond should be avoided since later you find that doubt vanishes and all is well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Tension that is building up at home is best ignored since later you and kin get along famously by doing something thoughtful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Much care in driving the morning is important so that you avoid a possible accident. Be careful in handling communications.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find a better way of handling monetary affairs and get experts to help you in practical matters.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't permit a bad mood in the morning to deter you from pursuing whatever is uppermost on your mind and gaining it.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will, upon reaching adulthood, easily reduce lofty ideas to a workable level, so be encouraging during childhood when the ideas are apt to confusing and a little too advanced for the childish mind. Teach to be tolerant of others.
