Bolen said he didn't know whether the six-mile stretch of highway was open to traffic yet but thought he'd give it a try in an attempt to shorten his trip home from work.

HC teachers lose appeals

Attorney: union was issue

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Two Howard County Junior College District instructors Tuesday lost appeals before the district board of directors to retain their jobs as business teachers.

The attorney for one instructor, Howard College part-time business instructor Bill Damron, said the board's vote reflected a struggle between the teachers' union and the administration, and not the issues in the case.

"I think the board probably would have ruled the other way (for Damron). But it became an issue of the union against the administration," Barry Odell of Austin said. Odell is general counsel for both the Texas Federation of Teachers and the Texas

Faculty Union, and served as both instructors' attorney during the board hearings.

The board unanimously denied both the appeals of Damron and of Chris Laniyan, a first-year business instructor at the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, in separate votes in a four-hour meeting.

A vote to reinstate Damron as a Howard College faculty member would have been perceived as a union victory, particularly by district president Charles Hays, Odell said, statements Hays called "totally false."

"The union had nothing to do with it (the board's decision). The decision made by the administration was based on the reasons

School plan facing fight

Shaw withholding support

From staff and wire reports
AUSTIN — State senators were to try today to blend four subcommittee reports into an education reform bill that can win legislative approval.

"It's been wild and crazy here the last couple of days," said State Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring.

The Senate, meeting as a committee, planned a work session that would not include public testimony.

First up was a subcommittee proposal that would scrap the elected State Board of Education and set up a temporary board of 12 appointed members.

On the House side, Speaker Gib Lewis looked for support in preparation for a House floor fight he wants to begin and end on Thursday.

Lewis wants to revive a package gutted by the House Public Education Committee. That panel took out reforms pushed by H. Ross Perot, chairman of the Select Committee on Public Education.

"The big fight is still the State Board of Education and the equalization proposals," said Lewis.

The equalization battle will have legislators scrutinizing computer printouts showing what various plans do to individual school districts.

Shaw said that before supporting the speaker's compromise he would need to check the equalization formula.

Cosden lawsuit returned

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A suit by Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. for alleged non-delivery of oil will be returned to Howard County for a new trial.

The Texas Supreme Court on Wednesday found no reversible error in an Eastland appeals court ruling that knocked out more than $2 million awarded to Cosden by Judge James W. Gregg in 118th District Court. The Eastland opinion ordered a new trial because a witness' testimony had been improperly limited.

Cosden sued John Thedford Sims, Dwight Chester Wheeler, Jaco Oil Co., Inc., and Wheelco Oil and Gas Co., Inc., saying it had paid for oil that never was delivered.

As a major part of its evidence, Cosden produced a drop meter placed between the defendants' storage tank and Cosden's pipeline.

The drop meter was designed to measure the amount of oil going into the Cosden pipeline, and testimony showed it recorded only two-tenths of a barrel flowing between Dec. 17, 1980, and Jan. 5, 1981. During that same period, according to testimony, Cosden was charged for 1,200 barrels.

The meter also was used as evidence in a Martin County criminal case stemming from the same investigation.

Between the criminal case, in which the defendants were acquitted, and the civil case for damages, an expert witness hired by the civil defendants examined the meter at the Martin County Courthouse at Stanton.

When called to the stand in the civil case, the expert, Byron Glenn Taylor, told the jury he had examined the meter in the presence of a deputy sheriff and he had a photographer take pictures as he disassembled the meter.

In later testimony, the record shows, the deputy sheriff testified that no altering had been done to the meter during Taylor's examination but that changes had been made later after Cosden employees took possession of it prior to the civil trial.

Based on jury findings, Gregg awarded Cosden $343,109 in actual damages, $1,750,000 in exemplary, or punitive, damages and attorney's fees.

The 11th Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland overturned that judgment, however, saying Taylor's testimony on his examination of the meter should have been allowed.

House debating alien amnesty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, nearing final action on a sweeping immigration control bill, today debated whether to allow illegal aliens who have earned their living in the United States since 1982 a chance to become legal residents.

Debate focused on an amendment by Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Fla., that would strip an amnesty program from the immigration control bill before the House.

McCollum called amnesty a "great slap in the face" of millions around the world who are standing in line to legally immigrate to the United States. He said it would be a "cruel hoax" to foreigners who would sneak across the borders in the expectation there would be another amnesty in the future.

The sponsor of the bill, Rep. Romano Mazzoli, D-Ky., called the legalization "an unavoidable reality" to make the program of controlling the borders "workable and fair and decent and effective."

The chairman of the 11-member Hispanic Caucus, Rep. Robert Garcia, D-N.Y., said "if there's anything that's humane in this bill, it's the amnesty program." Without it, he said, "there would be no dignity for anybody."

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., supported legalization. He said the United States has a choice to make. "We can engage in a mass deportation of millions of people or we can condone their continued exploitation, or we can legalize them."

McCollum contended that the bill's amnesty program would cost the American taxpayer $9 billion over the next several years for the education and public welfare costs of the newly legalized.

'We can engage in a mass deportation of millions of people or we can condone their continued exploitation, or we can legalize them.'

Rep. Don Edwards
D-Calif.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., said earlier that the amnesty program is a "trade off" for the penalties in the bill for employers who hire illegal aliens. President Reagan has said the measure is vital to a nation that wants to regain control of its borders.

McCollum and other foes of amnesty argued that the measure "rewards lawbreakers."

Advocates insist it is the only way to deal with much of the "shadow population" within our borders — estimated between 3 million and 6 million — and that large-scale roundups and deportations would not only be repugnant to today's society, but unfeasible.

After approval, the House bill goes to a conference committee where differences will be worked out with a similar measure passed by the Senate last summer.

The House bill allows illegal aliens who can prove they have been living and working in the United States since Jan. 1, 1982, to be given legal resident status. Those who cannot prove this could be deported.

The Senate's version is stricter, and sets up a two-tiered system. Under that approach only aliens who have continuously resided here since 1977 would be eligible for permanent resident status, and those who entered before 1980 would be granted temporary status.

An attempt to make the House bill comply with the Senate's was defeated by a 245-181 vote on Tuesday.

Knott reports rainfall

KNOTT — Several farmers here received up to three-quarters of an inch of rain Tuesday, while some Big Spring residents reported only a trace of rain.

Mrs. Larry Shaw of Knott said heavy rain fell in the area Tuesday night, and sprinkles of rain were continuing this morning.

Kathy Bayes, a bookkeeper at the Knott Co-Op Gin, said today Knott-area farmers were reporting between one-half inch and three-quarters of an inch of rain.

However, north of Big Spring at the Big Spring U.S. Field Station, secretary Nell Rogers said today that .09 of an inch fell Tuesday, bringing the official year-to-date total to 1.76 inches. The normal for this date is 8.20 inches.

In the west sections of the city, residents reported a heavy rainfall late Tuesday afternoon. Residents from the city's eastside reported only sprinkles of rain Tuesday afternoon.

Weather

Rain chance lessens

By The Associated Press

The chance for rain lessened overnight in West Texas, where heavy showers during the past week have caused creeks and rivers to flow over their banks and people to leave their homes. But weather officials said thunderstorms were still passing over the soaked region today.

More than 12 inches of rain had fallen in Jeff Davis County between last Wednesday and Tuesday, "just saturating the area," said County Judge Ann Scudday.

On Tuesday, more than 25 people near Fort Davis had been evacuated — some from a trailer park after the Limpia Canyon Creek overflowed its banks, spilling muddy water into the mobile homes, and others from area houses as a precautionary measure.

However, no serious injuries were reported and most people were allowed to return to their homes Tuesday afternoon, county officials said.

The Limpia Canyon Creek, which usually flows at a gentle trickle about 10 miles northwest of Fort Davis on Texas Highway 118, was between 100 to 200 yards wide with water rising to as high as 3 1/2 feet, officials said Tuesday.

Fort Davis, a small community nestled in the Davis Mountains, has received the brunt of the rain, which began falling in West Texas last week.

The annual average amount of precipitation for Fort Davis is about 17 inches, according to Ms. Scudday. "We're probably very close to that now. We've had about four inches earlier this month and now this 12 inches or so."

The flooding closed Texas Highway 17 from Balmorhea to Fort Davis after several bridges were washed away.

And county officials feared more rain would destroy other bridges, isolating the McDonald Observatory.

One family in the Davis Mountains was stranded Tuesday, but Terry Taylor said he was prepared for the unusual weather.

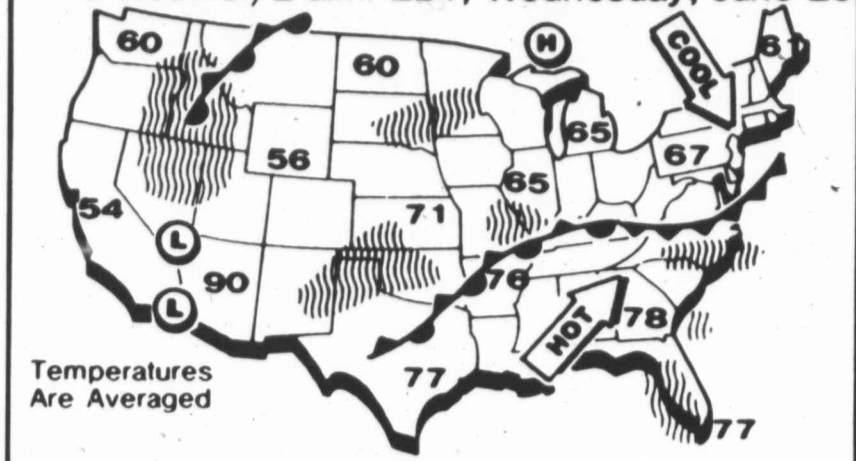

In a telephone interview with The Odessa American, Taylor said, "The last time we had this kind of rain, we were in about six days."

He said he had shopped for staples Monday, anticipating trouble from the severe storms.

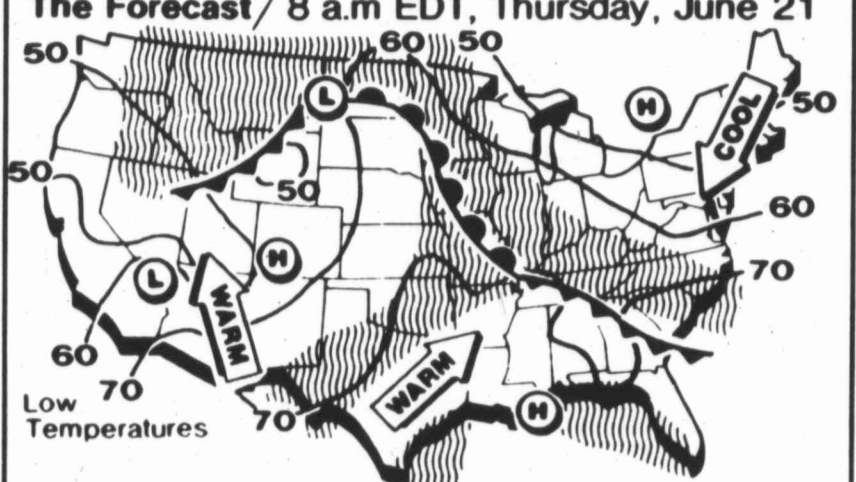

West Texas — Partly cloudy Friday with isolated afternoon and evening thunderstorms most sections. Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday with widely scattered thunderstorms north Saturday and most sections Sunday.

Police called to hospital

Two calls of injury caused by a weapon brought Big Spring Police to the emergency room at Malone-Hogan Hospital late Tuesday night.

Emergency room staff called police at 11:08 p.m. Tuesday to report the self-inflicted gunshot wound of an unidentified man who accidentally shot himself in the hand, according to reports.

Police returned to the Malone-Hogan emergency room at 11:45 p.m. Tuesday after Anita Deleon of 1002 N. Main was brought to the hospital by her daughter, Linda Sanchez, with a knife wound two inches above her navel, police reports said. Arrested in connection with the case on suspicion of aggravated assault and public intoxication was Lino Deleon, 45, also of 1002 N. Main, reports said.

In other police reports:

• Michael Mims of 4005 Connally told police at 4:33 p.m. Tuesday that three pieces of jewelry — a white gold Forsan High School class ring valued at $175, a man's gold ring with three diamonds valued at $500 and a Seiko watch with a gold band valued at $250 — were found missing from his residence, police reports said.

• Doyle Lamb of 554 Hillside told police at 9:39 a.m. Tuesday that someone between 12:30 a.m. and 1 a.m. Tuesday came onto his property, cut a hole in the right rear tire of his 1974 Datsun 260 Z and stole the tire's hubcap, police reports said. The tire and the hubcap were valued at a total of $125, according to reports.

• Isaiah Green of 1105 N. Gregg told police at 3:56 p.m. Tuesday that he thinks the mechanic with whom he left his 1974 Dodge 4-door sold the car, police reports said. Green told police he left the car, which is valued at $100, for repairs at a 12th and N. Goliad location and the car is now gone, reports said.

• Harry Patel, employee of the Thrifty Lodge at 1000 W. Fourth, told police at 8:03 p.m. Tuesday that someone rented for four days a 2-bedroom apartment at the complex and then left without paying the bill, police reports said. Total loss to the motel according to the theft of services report was $78.40.

• Linda Luna of 1612 Cardinal told police at 9:01 p.m. Tuesday that someone between 7 p.m. and 8:45 p.m. Tuesday entered her residence through an unlocked back door and wrote "Norma will die in the name of Gilbert" with lipstick on her living room wall, police reports said.

• Arvel Stansel, 37, of 2619 Dow was arrested at 10:39 p.m. Tuesday in the 1600 block of Wasson on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, police reports said.

Hearings

brought out at (Damron's) hearing. The administration's decision was made long before the union got involved," Hays said.

"The question was: Did we follow college policy, and did we do so legally?" Hays said. "That's what I understood Harold Davis (board chairman) to say."

Damron, who taught at Howard College for a total of 8 1/2 years — five as a full time instructor, and 3 1/2 part-time — probably will appeal his case to either the Texas Education Agency or to state district court, said his attorney, Barry Odell of Austin.

The board voted Tuesday in regular session to deny Damron's appeal after discussing his case during an executive session Monday night. The motion was made by Louis Stallings and seconded by James "Buddy" Barr.

According to Odell, Laniyan will consult his attorney in Washington, D.C., before deciding whether he will continue to appeal the board's action.

Odell said Hays and the administration, which he said was "having problems," "fear the more the union is involved, the more scrutiny" the administration will face.

At a public appeals hearing in the board's last meeting, Damron claimed he was the victim of unfair administration policies and unfair evaluation practices.

In a three-hour hearing Tuesday, board members heard Laniyan claim SWCID officials conspired to violate his academic freedoms and change a TEA rating on his statement of qualification.

District vice president Sam Hill denied taking any actions against Laniyan because of statements made in an October faculty meeting, saying he was "not vindictive."

Laniyan cited as a turning point in his relationship with Hill and other college officials an October faculty meeting in which he and other faculty members discussed student petitions. After Laniyan told Hill and others at the meeting that "the prestige of the school is at stake; without the students we would have no jobs," Hill "dropped his file on the desk and walked out of the room," Laniyan testified.

Laniyan also said his request from the school's registrar on the grade performance of students in business classes was never answered, but that SWCID administrator Bern Jones returned his request form unanswered more than one month later. This interfered with his "scholarly pursuit," which is considered a protected academic freedom, according to the faculty handbook.

Although Laniyan said he discussed the matter with Hill, Hill denied any discussion. Hill also said SWCID officials merely informed the TEA of its error in granting an unconditional letter of qualifications, instead of one year. The TEA changed its ruling on Laniyan after the district pointed out the mistake, Hill said, but he denied making any threats that the district would change Laniyan's status.

District officials based part of their decision to terminate Laniyan's job on his low grades in business department courses taken at Gallaudet in D.C. Laniyan said the bad grades occurred at a time when his grandmother died.

District officials also based their decision to not rehire Laniyan on what they say was his repeated tardiness to class, a claim Laniyan disputed.

In other action, the board decided to:

- Rehire the district's outside auditors, Lee, Reynolds and Welch.
- Accept the low bid of $7,300 from Highland Pontiac for a car.
- Accept the resignations of Mike Bruner, district vice president of fiscal affairs; Bette Buchanan, director of the oral hygiene program; and Reva Adams, the business division head. Bruner is accepting a position with a new junior college district in east Texas, and Mrs. Adams is retiring.
- Hire three persons to positions at Howard College. Dee Hightley will become the new automotive technology instructor, and Lois Brace will become the new drama and speech instructor. Both are new positions. Al Blount is replacing an associate degree nursing instructor who retired last spring.

last week were incorrect and I'm going to have to have correct figures on equalization. My final decision probably will hinge on that formula," Shaw said.

"I favor an elected state school board but think I can support the speaker's proposal to let the governor appoint a 15-member board from specific districts for two years to enact major reforms," Shaw said.

Lawrence Wilkes, aide to State Sen. John Montford, said the Senate this afternoon would meet in a committee of the whole to debate reform measures.

"However, the Perot reforms seem to be doing much better in the Senate committees than it did in the House," he said.

Wilkes said Montford is supporting a plan proposed by Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, that would increase state aid to most schools in the area; Big Spring would gain $1.4 million; Ackerly would get $33,000; Borden County would remain the same; Stanton would pick up $197,000; and Colorado City would gain $353,000.

Shaw said the speaker's new bill will contain the following provisions:

- A new 10-member Legislative Education Board to oversee school policy.
- Higher teacher salaries, including raising the starting pay to $15,200 from $11,000 a year.
- A career ladder to provide more pay for better teachers.
- Teacher competency testing.

Bristow trial testimony is published verbatim

A portion of an account of the Abilene federal court trial of Harold Gaida "Guy" Talbot of Big Spring, published in the Wednesday, June 13, edition of the Big Spring Herald has been challenged by the source of the information.

Keith Bristow of Big Spring said Thursday morning a segment of his testimony was incorrectly reported by the Herald. The testimony in question, which came under cross-examination by the defense attorney, concerned Bristow and Assistant 118th District Attorney Don Richard.

At the Herald's request, an expedited transcript of the testimony was prepared by court reporter Roger Miller. The transcript was received by bus from Lubbock at Herald offices this morning.

Printed below are the two paragraphs the Herald published regarding this testimony, followed by verbatim publication of the court reporter's transcript.

The newspaper story read: "In response to a specific question about sharing cocaine with 118th District assistant attorney Don Richard, Bristow said, 'I remember I asked if he wanted to use some of mine that was in a little vial, and he went into the bathroom and came back (and it was empty),' Bristow said."

"Bristow also acknowledged he told grand jurors Richard had used cocaine twice at Bristow's residence, the last time during the 1983 Signal Peak Golf Tournament."

The pertinent sections of the court transcript read:

"Q. Are you saying you don't have any recollection of furnishing any cocaine to Don Richard?"

"A. Well, I remember once that I believe I asked him if he wanted to use some of mine and there was a little vial I had, and gave it to him and he went to the bathroom and came back. But, I don't know if he used it or not.

"Q. How many occasions?"

"A. Well, that is once I can remember, and possibly a second time, but that would have happened so long ago it is under the same circumstances."

"Q. Well, didn't you tell the grand jury that it happened at this same golf tournament?"

"A. I said about that time."

"Q. All right."

"A. And I said that it was the one time, too."

"Q. Well, let me tell you — let me read this to you and see if that is what you said. The question was asked you, 'Okay. Do you know the assistant district attorney by the name of Don Richard in Big Spring.' Answer, 'Yes, I do.' Question, 'Have you ever used cocaine with him?' Answer, 'He used some of mine one time, yes, sir. Twice.' Question, 'On two occasions?' Answer, 'Yes, sir.' Question, 'Was that at your house?' Answer, 'Yes, sir.' Question, 'On those occasions' — 'Yes, sir.' 'Are you able to put any time frame on that, about how long ago that would be?' Answer, 'It would be during the golf tournament.' Question, 'Both times?' Answer, 'Well, that was the last time. Before that, earlier, I don't really remember.'

"Now, is your —"

"A. That is what I just said."

"Q. Well, are you saying you used it with him during that golf tournament in '83?"

"A. During that period of time in there. I don't know the exact date or anything about that. You know, like I say, I didn't even see him actually use it, and it says so in there."

He's better than Burt

NASHVILLE — Country music super singer Dolly Parton says making a movie with Sylvester Stallone was more fun than working with Burt Reynolds but, she says, "I made money off of both of them."

Miss Parton said she enjoyed working with Stallone "because we got a chance to get more involved and have more of the energy in the songs..."

The singer-songwriter turned actress made her remarks Monday at the Nashville premier of the movie "Rhinestone," in which she co-stars with Stallone.

Nixon's partial to girls

PHOENIXVILLE — Richard Nixon has a new grandchild and the former president wasted no time hurrying over from his New Jersey home to see the bouncing baby girl born in Pennsylvania to his daughter Julie Eisenhower.

"I think Julie wanted a girl," Nixon told a reporter Tuesday as dozens of people crowded around for autographs. "I'm partial to girls because we had two girls."

The baby, Melanie Catherine, was born Monday night, the third child of Julie and David Eisenhower. She was about two weeks later than expected and Nixon joked that the late birth might have been the reason for her size — 9 pounds, 8 ounces.

Where's the people?

COLUMBUS — Clara Peller, the feisty 82-year-old actress who grows the line "Where's the beef" in commercials for Wendy's restaurants, asked "Where's all the people" when she visited the chains' first outlet.

Mrs. Peller posed the embarrassing question Tuesday to Wendy's founder Dave Thomas as they toured a newly deserted Wendy's in downtown Columbus that first opened its doors in 1969.

Club parking lots in Guam earn agency Golden Fleece

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal money for the territory of Guam went to pave parking lots for a nightclub and an apartment building, while more taxpayer money went to a pre-election hiring binge as a result of the Interior Department's lax management, Sen. William Proxmire charged today.

Proxmire, D-Wis., presented his monthly "Golden Fleece of the Month" for June to the Interior Department for "gross mismanagement" of millions of dollars the department funneled to Guam.

Not only did the territorial government embark on an ambitious and virtually uncontrolled paving program, Proxmire said, but it also began a program to put thousands of island residents on the federal payroll. The senator said the hiring increased significantly two months before the island's 1982 primary election.

Telephone calls were made Tuesday to Larry Morgan, the department's spokesman in its territorial affairs division, seeking comment on Proxmire's charges. Morgan, however, was not immediately available for comment.

Donor's legacy

REFLECTING — John Brennan pauses for a moment with his son, John Jr., to think about Terry, his other son who was killed in an accident. Terry's organs were donated to other persons.

Boy donates organs to save others' lives

CHICAGO (AP) — When John Brennan buries his son today, he'll remember him as a "young hero" — not just for what he did in his 15 years of life but for a legacy of hope he leaves to six strangers.

Terry Brennan, who died Sunday, has given two critically ill people a second chance at life through donations of his heart and liver. Four others received the youth's kidneys and eyes.

"He's a young hero and we're very proud of him," Brennan said Tuesday. "Here is a young man who has helped people all over the country. This wasn't an act of a boy, but something a man would do. He did a man's job and he should be credited with being a man."

After Terry's death, his heart was transplanted into a 51-year-old ironworker in Illinois who, doctors say, would have lived only weeks without the organ. LeRoy Blackburn of Belvidere was in fair condition today at the University of Chicago Hospitals. His condition was upgraded from critical but stable Tuesday night.

The youth's liver was transplanted into a critically ill woman in her 40s. The woman, whose identity was withheld, was in critical condition today at Yale-New Haven Hospital in Connecticut, a spokeswoman said. Terry's kidneys were donated to a boy and a middle-age man. A 33-year-old man and an 80-year-old woman received the youth's eyes, said Bill Silberg, a spokesman at the Chicago hospital. None was identified.

Terry died three days after suffering serious head injuries. He was hit by a utility company vehicle as he rode his bicycle to work at the Gurnee Funeral Home, which handled his burial arrangements. His father said he had found that job for him.

Brennan said a decision was made to donate Terry's organs after it became clear the boy wouldn't survive.

"We had this beautiful body and just because the brain is gone, doesn't mean the body can't go on serving mankind," Brennan said. "I feel fantastic because Terry's legacy will live on in other people." Brennan spent Father's Day at the hospital, saying goodbye to his youngest son, who was comatose and on a respirator.

Alcohol ban is rail safety need

The U.S. Transportation Department's proposed federal rules to curb alcohol and drug abuse by railroad crews may need to be fine-tuned before they are made final. But the need for such rules is clear. Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole told a Senate Commerce subcommittee that rail employees impaired by alcohol and drugs caused at least 45 train accidents between 1975 and 1983 — accidents that claimed 34 lives and caused more than $28 million in property damage.

The proposed rules — still subject to public comment before being promulgated — would, among other things, prohibit on-the-job use of alcohol or drugs by railroad employees; require pre-employment drug screening; authorize railroads to test employees for "just cause," such as slurred speech, accidents or serious safety rule violations; require railroads to conduct post-accident testing for drugs and alcohol and report all results to the government; and require railroads to maintain employment for any employee who admits a problem and volunteers for treatment.

Spokesmen for railroads and rail unions have given qualified support — each with some reservations — to the proposed rules. Hearings scheduled for this summer should elicit suggestions on how to refine the rules and to meet objections on both sides. But since a century-old railroad ban against crew use of alcohol and drugs has not been effective, the time for more formal rules has come.

Dem battle scars

A group of cub reporters was sitting in a bar in Washington when several old-timers from the 1984 Democratic Primary Veterans Association came in.

We watched in awe as they ordered their drinks.

Mike Gretschel said to one of them, "I guess you guys saw a lot of action."

The grizzled vet said proudly, "We saw it all. From the caucus balls of Iowa to the exit polls of Newport Beach. We were there in the snows of New Hampshire, and we fought in the peanut furrows of Georgia. But we're not heroes. We were just doing our job. Someone had to cover the Democratic presidential primaries, and better us than our wives and children."

"What do you mean wives and children?" a woman vet wearing a network baseball cap said. "I was there too."

"Sorry, Sarah," the vet apologized.

"What was it really like, sir, covering Mondale, Hart and Jackson?" a young reporter asked.

A vet loaded down with campaign pins stared in his beer and said, "I'd rather not talk about it."

The vet standing next to him whispered to me, "He lost his best friend at a Hart fund-raising barbecue in Waco, Texas."

"What happened?"

"The friend was listening to Gary Hart explain how he differed from Mondale on the nuclear freeze for the 165th time, and he freaked out. They took him away in a straightjacket."

One of the vets held up his glass and said, "Here's to Johnny Applesseed."

The other vets all solemnly lifted their glasses, drank, and then smashed them against the fireplace.

"Who was Johnny Applesseed?" one of us asked.

"He was the greatest," a TV veteran said. "He threw himself in a Mondale mimeograph machine which was turning out a press release on Hart's credibility gap and saved all our lives. He was awarded the Media Medal of Honor posthumously."

Another vet was wearing combat ribbons from Syria, Canada and Mexico.

"I asked the man next to me, 'Where did he earn those?'"

"He covered Jesse Jackson's campaign, and was one of the few reporters who saw action in the Democratic primaries outside the United States."

I turned to the Jackson vet, "I guess you were in the thick of it."

The Jackson vet said, "I saw enough to last me a lifetime. You never knew when you wrote a story about Jackson whether the Reverend Farrakhan would threaten your life. We had to wear bulletproof vests everytime we attended a rally. I guess those of us who covered Jackson saw more action than anybody else. When it came to campaigning he was another George Patton."

I bought a Mondale vet a drink. "It's hard for someone on the home front to imagine what you people went through."

"You don't think about it until it's over," he said. "Mondale was always sniping at Hart, Hart was always dropping bombs on Mondale, Jackson's people engaged in hand-to-hand combat for delegates, and all three were trying to burn the Democratic Party to the ground. Everyone took the low ground. Whoever said, 'Democratic primaries are hell' knew what he was talking about."

"I can't wait to cover one," I said.

"That's because you've never seen a primary close up. All you saw is what they showed you on television, and what you read in the paper. They never showed you the boredom between the speeches and the debates. You never saw us huddled in Holiday Inns and airport waiting rooms for something — anything — to happen. You never heard the same speeches a thousand times. No one who has been there would ever want to do it again."

"But at least you have something to tell your grandchildren."

"I doubt it. Who the hell will care in 20 years what the Mondale, Hart, Jackson war was all about? Nobody even cares now."

PRESIDENT REAGAN REHEARSES FOR A POSSIBLE SUMMIT WITH THE SOVIETS:

Billy Graham

Doing right

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know we are supposed to follow the Ten Commandments, but in reading the Old Testament it seems to me many of the people who lived in Old Testament times didn't obey them. How do you account for that, if the Bible is supposed to be true and tells us how to live? — J.H.

Yes, one of the purposes of the Bible is to tell us how to live. And one of the ways it does is by showing us what happens when people choose to disobey God's guidance. The Bible — particularly the Old Testament — is full of examples of people who turned their backs on God and his plan for their lives. We should learn from them so we don't make the same mistakes. "These things happened to them as examples and were written down as warnings for us" (1 Corinthians 10:11).

What should we learn? For one thing, we should learn life is always unhappy and unfulfilled when we deliberately leave God out of it. King Saul, for example, was a good king at first. But as time went on he turned his back on God and spent his latter years eaten up by jealousy, disbelief and unhelpfulness — ending up with suicide. The same principle is true today. When we turn our backs on God and his moral laws, we never discover the true joy and peace he wants us to have.

We also should learn that eventually God judges those men and nations that have disregarded him. The ancient nation of Israel had been chosen of God to be a special instrument in his hands. But over the centuries idolatry and immorality took over. Eventually God allowed the nation to fall to a cruel foreign power.

We need these lessons today. God has not changed — and I am afraid human nature has not changed either. Countless people every day believe they can neglect God and get by with it. But that is not true. The Bible's warning is still valid: "Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. A man reaps what he sows" (Galatians 6:7).

Are you attempting to live your life apart from Christ, thinking you do not need him? Don't be deceived. You need his forgiveness for your sins, and you need his wisdom and strength every day. Learn from the example of others — and discover the joy of having Christ as your Savior and Lord by committing your life to him.

Jack Anderson

Morocco, on the road to peace

WASHINGTON — Of all nations, Morocco may emerge as the surprise catalyst of a renewed Arab-Israeli peace process. This is the impression that was brought back from the Moroccan capital of Rabat last month by visiting Jews.

They included rabbis, members of the Israeli parliament and mayors of Israeli cities. This remarkable delegation was led by American tycoon Edgar M. Bronfman, chairman of Seagram's and majority stockholder in Dupont, who is also president of the World Jewish Congress.

They participated in a truly amazing event. The Moroccan government rolled out the red carpet for 300 foreign Jews who had been invited to a conference organized by Moroccan Jews. A number of gestures by the government gave the Jewish conference unique political significance.

Senior Moroccan officials welcomed the delegates and attended conference sessions. Bronfman met privately with Prime Minister Mohammed Karim Lamrani at the royal palace. At the close of the conference, Bronfman was seated between Lamrani and Crown Prince Sidi Mohammed at a banquet the prince hosted.

Even more astonishing, members of the delegation — including rabbis — were permitted to visit the mausoleum of King Hassan's father. Previously, the shrine had been closed to all non-Moslems. And for the entire period, the Rabat Hilton, where the Jewish visitors stayed, was officially deemed kosher by the Moroccan government. These strange happenings, which passed unnoticed by the world press, could open a quiet dialogue between Israel and Morocco. This is the assessment of Israel Singer, a roving ambassador for the World Jewish Congress.

Though he is devoted to easing Arab-Israeli and East-West tensions, he is no pie-in-the-sky dreamer but a hard realist. He sees Morocco's King Hassan as a pragmatic yet visionary ruler who wants to restore his country to its former prominence.

Morocco is a land of contrasts, tan and white against the Mediterranean blue, with tranquil shores, rugged mountains, deep chasms and vast stretches of desert. It is located strategically at the far western end of the sunlit Islamic crescent that spans two continents.

The king is occupied with imperial schemes and dreams for establishing Morocco as a bridge between the Arab and Western worlds. In fact, he would like to build an actual bridge across the Strait of Gibraltar. Traders and tourists, he believes, would flow into Morocco and revitalize his country.

The king is trying, therefore, to create a propitious atmosphere by extending Jews as much hospitality as is consistent with Morocco's Islamic roots and his need to appease Arab fundamentalists. But he is willing to put the Star of David alongside the dome, curve, cross and minaret in Morocco.

King Hassan will also risk the wrath of other Arab League members to win a close security arrangement with the United States — all the while taking care to maintain a visible independence of foreign control.

The scenario envisioned by those who hope to revive the bright promise of Camp David: Morocco will continue its dialogue with Israel. This might embolden Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, who now feels isolated by his Arab neighbors. The pursuit of a Middle East settlement by Morocco and Egypt might induce Jordan's King Hussein to join in the process.

EYE ON THE ECONOMY: The rash of bank failures across the country in recent months has raised the specter of the Great Depression. There were 10 failures in 1981, 42 in 1982 and 48 last year. But there have been nearly 40 failures so far this year. If the trend continues, there could be close to 100 bank failures in all of 1984.

Grim as the numbers are, however, they may be deceptive. Banking sources explain that the current plethora of collapses represents an aftershock of the last recession — the worst in 40 years. But since it usually takes as long as 18 months for changes in the economy to work their way through the banking system, the worst should be over by the end of the year.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Reactor cakes, hot potatoes

To the editor:

Well, I have just been informed of the facts on nuclear storage. Needless to say, I am angry enough to pick up pen and paper. The storage choice of nuclear waste in a thinly populated area with little political clout in Washington and few constituents that are steadfastly against the DOE's policies is the logical move of an irresponsible and reckless administration.

The wool is being pulled over the eyes of those who are being told that there is little, or no risk involved in the storage of reactor cake. The problems of moisture migration toward hotly decaying radioactive cakes buried directly over the Ogallala aquifer (the largest unpolluted body of fresh water in the U.S. that stretches from the Big Bend area to northern Nebraska, and hundreds of miles wide) have not been solved by our government's hand-picked technicians.

In like manner stand the problems of decaying containers, rust, corrosion and accidental spills. The Department of Energy has tested control amounts for an unspecified period of time — but certainly not the 10,000 years that is needed for isotopes of higher radioactive content to disintegrate into safe matter: thus no safe method of disposal has yet been developed. As those persons unwittingly burned by radioactive materials in the nuclear industry are we also to be exposed to trace amounts of hot materials that will, in all surety and eventualty, work their way into the Ogallala Aquifer and into our crops and eventually into our food and then our genes? I fail to see the humor that "mutant jokes" provide, considering the ultimate truth: The menace that "ignorance-of-facts" and a pushy, industrial-minded administration if giving cause to rise in our midst. I believe the key to this argumewnt lies in the figure ten thousand years — longer than the entire length of recorded history.

To even consider placing it over the Ogallala Aquifer is moronic.

Mark White has agreed with the fed to allow Texas to be used as a nuclear dump as long as safety guidelines are followed. What sort of safety guidelines could have been developed that take into account the figures, yawning and cavernous, ten thousand years? We are children playing with matches.

Dr. Donohue

Anti-malaria drug

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have had rheumatoid arthritis for more than 30 years and am still looking for a cause, and most of all a cure. What is plaquenil? Is it used for arthritis? Is it dangerous? — Mrs. W.K.

We'd all like to know the cause and cure for rheumatoid arthritis. We know that it is more than a joint disease, that it's a generalized inflammatory illness and that many body organs are affected. The joints are the most visible, but they are not the only organs suffering.

Even though we don't know the cause, we do have medicines that control the problem for most, aspirin being one of the most useful. But when such drugs are not keeping the inflammation under control, or when someone finds they cannot tolerate them, other drugs can be called into play. This brings us to Plaquenil. That also decreases inflammation, although the way it does this is not too apparent. As an aside, this is the same drug used for treatment of malaria, its chemical name is hydroxychloroquine. It is dangerous if it is used without proper monitoring for some of its noted side effects. It can cause skin rashes, muscle weakness, a drop in blood count and eye problems. I'm sure your doctor is checking you often while you are using it.

But the potential for these side effects should not deter you from its use. All drugs have potential bad effects, which tend to disappear when the drug is discontinued. It is only when drugs are used without knowledge of their effects and without checking for their appearance that they become clearly dangerous. If other medicines have been ineffective in controlling your long-standing rheumatoid arthritis, then a cautious trial of such a medicine is justified.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Abby

Moms may opt for abortion

DEAR ABBY: On "Hour Magazine," you told Gary Collins that you were not certain of the number of states that permit sealed adoption records to be opened.

Abby, there are several states that permit the violation of confidentiality promised the birth mother at the time she signed the adoption papers. Can you imagine the terror of thousands of birth mothers who see this national push to open the records in the remaining states? Provisions can always be made for medical information to be made available to the adoptee, but to tell a young woman now that her name will be revealed in 18 years could drive many straight to the abortion clinics.

The Past Noble Grand Club will meet at the home of Lucille Brown, 1303 Sycamore, at 7 p.m., Monday. The next meeting of the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge will be Tuesday.

Plans finalized for Faceter's Fair

The Big Spring Prospectors Club met Thursday to finalize plans for their Texas First Faceter's Fair and Gem Show. The show was held Saturday and Sunday at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

At the meeting, Vergil Perkins led members in a group sharing of "bloopers", ranging from dropping and breaking a fine Brazilian agate slab to using a coarse grit on Rattlesnake agate and almost grinding the stone away, to cracking a stone from too much heat, too little water, to setting drapes on fire with a silversmithing torch.

Members laughed when Dr. Snively asked why a wheel cut slowly until you had it on the wrong setting, then it quickly chopped off the wrong cut. Dan Clark answered the question, "What do you call that stone?" with "Lady, I called this stone a lot of things before I finished cutting it."

Members were reminded to be at the coliseum Friday early to help set up displays, wear club vests and name tags during the show, and to make out-of-town guests feel welcomed.

The July meeting will be an ice cream supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leek.

Truck driver injured in area wreck

GARDEN CITY — An 18-wheel tanker truck overturned this morning on Highway 158 about four miles west of here, the Glasscock County Sheriff's office said.

The sheriff's office said the truck went off the highway as the driver was trying to round a curve.

The name of the driver, who was taken by a Glasscock County ambulance to a Midland hospital, was not released.

A sheriff's employee said the tanker was believed to be carrying brine water and that the water had spilled or was leaking from the truck after the accident.

The Department of Public Safety, whose officers were covering the accident, said no information would be available until the troopers returned from the site.

No other vehicles were involved in the crash.

Two retired educators are making news: Indomitable Elizabeth Johansen was honored at the annual banquet of the Abilene Writers Guild for "...excellence in the field of writing over tremendous odds..." Elizabeth was presented a gold typewriter and plaque. It was noted that she wrote most of the texts for her Bible classes at BSHS and more recently wrote articles for several religious publications and the International Rotary magazine.

Philosophizing Ed Shive has written a little book with an intriguing title, The Roses Stink, about the present and future. He puts the reader on notice in the preface that he doesn't particularly care whether the reader agrees or disagrees with him because "...it's wonderful to reach a point in life when approval and acceptance carry little priority." Unfortunately, Ed had only 100 copies printed of this pithy commentary. Call him — or me — to beg, borrow or steal a copy.

Next week is a big week with lots of rodeo festivities. The kickoff rodeo parade

Wednesday precedes the annual Kiwanis Barbecue at the Fair Barn. Eat all you want for $4 and then walk over to the Rodeo Bowl to witness a taste of the true West. This 51st annual rodeo promises to be another great one with outstanding competitors in every event. Attend every night through Saturday.

I need to clarify something I reported in last week's column with the following statement from Cheri Sparks, vice president of Student Life at Howard College: "Beginning this fall, Howard College will initiate a college level color guard program for the Big Spring community. Presently, the group doesn't have an official name. BSHS will retain its color guard program."

Last week, a charter banquet of the Freespeakers Toastmasters was held at the Federal Prison Camp. This Toastmasters Club is made up of about 40 inmates who are using their time in a positive pursuit. At that banquet, the inmates gave recognition to special guest and retiring camp administrator John Allman.

The newly organized Humane Society meets monthly on the third Thursday night at the Westside Community Center at 7 p.m. Members are needed.

The Public Library posted another heavy usage last month showing circulation up sharply, more than 300 youngsters involved in the summer reading program, and a record number of people using the varied services. Listen for the interesting and informative spot announcements provided as a public service by the four local radio stations. These spot messages are written and recorded by the library staff.

Judith Gray, director of the library, has just been selected to the 1984 edition of Who's Who in the South and Southwest.

URGENT REMINDER: Deadline to register as a sponsor or team for the gigantic July 4 Summerfest Rehab Benefit is June 22. Entry blanks are available at the Chamber or the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY NEWS

What will the Rainbarrel General Store think of next? Just when you think you're acquainted with all their merchandise and services, they just go and add something else.

Now they've added a Kodak Photo Center featuring same day photo processing right on the premises, using newest state-of-the-art equipment. Additional prints, ordered at same time, are 19¢ each.

And they've added a full range of specialty photo services. For example, they give same-day service on 5x7 color enlargements. They offer Kodak service on movie film, color slides and portrait size enlargements. And here's a great gift idea: they'll make a 20x30 poster giant size picture off a 33 MM negative or slides.

ty in town that can offer such service.

The Rainbarrel is located next door to Goldmine Restaurant (there's a door in between). As a new convenience for shoppers, the Goldmine has opened the Claim Jumpers Dining Room in back of the Rainbarrel — a charming room with rustic booths.

One of the most welcome features about shopping at Rainbarrel General Store is the U.S. Postal Sub Station. It's so handy to buy a greeting card or a gift — and mail it at the same time. For a small fee, Rainbarrel will wrap your gift for mailing in Postal Services-approved style (no masking tape).

Look to the Rainbarrel for a complete selection of gifts, including a line of gifts for hard-to-please men; stationery, greeting cards, and delicious variety of famous candies.

The Rainbarrel is open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday thru Saturday at College Park Shopping Center.

Personal income rate steady

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans' personal income rose 0.6 percent in May, matching the previous month's gain, though wages and salaries grew much more slowly than in April, the Commerce Department reported Tuesday.

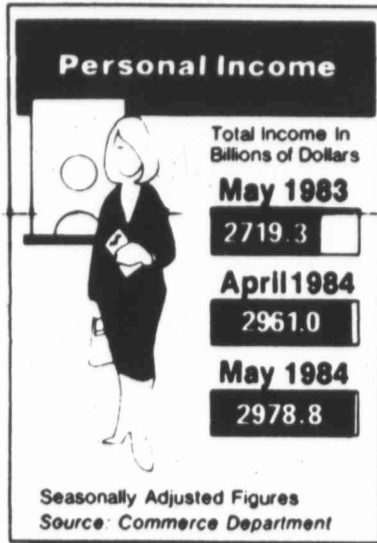

Consumers' spending slowed to an increase of 1.1 percent compared with the 1.6 percent gain of April.

The spending figure, which includes virtually everything but interest payments on debt, was still fairly strong, especially in comparison with last week's report that U.S. retailers' sales rose only 0.2 percent in May.

However, the fact that spending was indeed slowing was in line with recent reports that increases in both sales and industrial production were down — an apparent indication of a slackening in the formerly robust expansion of the national economy.

Robert Gough, vice president of Data Resources Inc. in Lexington, Mass., said he saw the new report as "a classic indication of the recovery moving more into mature stages."

"The increases were much more balanced," he said. And he added that in the economy generally, "much more moderate rates of growth should be expressed over the next few months."

"This is what we want. I found it to be fairly encouraging," he said.

Both government and private economists have said that the rapid economic expansion of the past year could not last forever, that it would lead to rising inflation and probably to a new recession unless it slowed.

Indeed, rising home loan rates were given most of the blame for a 10.5 percent May decline in housing starts, also reported Tuesday by the Commerce Department.

Most industry spokesmen saw continuing declines for housing, though Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said that wouldn't necessarily happen.

Baldrige, in a statement implying he expected future income gains as well, said, "If interest rates level off, rising incomes and employment should help maintain housing activity at a high level."

The income report provided these additional details: —Total personal income increased to an annual rate of $2.98 trillion in May, while personal consumption spending reached an annual rate of $2.43 trillion.

—Within the income category, wages and salaries increased at a rate of $8.7 billion in May, less than half the $21.5 billion of April. Balancing that change was a big improvement for farm proprietors, whose income stayed about level in May after dropping at a rate of $15.3 billion in April. The farmers' big decline and their $400 million decrease in May "reflected the return to a normal level following several months of unusually large government subsidy payments to farmers under the payment-in-kind program," the report said.

—Disposable, or after-tax, income rose 0.5 percent, reaching a rate of $2.55 trillion, compared with a 0.6 percent increase in April.

Three Big Spring residents remain in two area hospitals

A 39-year-old Big Spring man has begun to recover from injuries he suffered in a Wednesday night crash, according to a nursing supervisor at Medical Center Hospital in Odessa, where he was transferred.

However, a Big Spring woman also transferred to the Odessa hospital on Thursday from Malone-Hogan Hospital remains in critical condition, the nursing supervisor said.

The hospital upgraded the condition of William Leslie Estes of 1400 Harding from critical to stable during the weekend, the supervisor said.

Estes has been moved out of the Intensive Care Unit to the private room floor, the hospital spokeswoman said. Estes was admitted to ICU after an accident in which he was thrown off his motorcycle.

Norma Brown of 632 Tulsa remains in critical condition in ICU because of injuries from a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.

According to police, Mrs. Brown shot herself in the head with a .22-caliber revolver about noon Thursday. She is a municipal court clerk-typist for Judge Melvin Daratt.

A 7-year-old Big Spring girl remains in serious condition today in the intensive care unit at Lubbock General Hospital following a major two-car accident Tuesday morning on S. Highway 87.

Misty Ussery of No. 12 November Circle was rushed by Shaffer Ambulance to the Lubbock hospital with head injuries after Malone-Hogan Hospital emergency room technicians stabilized her condition, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Two other persons injured in the accident that occurred at 7:40 a.m. Tuesday were treated and released at Malone-Hogan Hospital, the spokeswoman said.

Gloria Ussery, 27, also of No. 12 November Circle, was taken to the hospital by Shaffer Ambulance. A private vehicle took Johnnie Christian, 50, address listed as P.O. Box 2295, to the hospital.

Fire Department personnel used the "Jaws of Life" to free Mrs. Ussery from the car before she was taken to the hospital, Fire Chief Jim Ryals said yesterday.

A third passenger in the Ussery vehicle, Mandy Ussery, 6, was not injured.

According to police reports, the accident happened when Gloria Ussery, driving a 1979 Chevrolet Caprice, attempted a left turn from Hearn Street onto Highway 87. Christian, driving southbound on the highway in a 1980 Ford Ranger pickup, swerved to avoid the Ussery vehicle, but the two cars collided in the center turn lane of the highway, reports said.

Police following the accident ticketed Mrs. Ussery for failure to yield the right of way and for having an expired driver's license, reports said.

NUMBER ONE TO HOUSTON — Akeem Olajuwon holds up his new jersey after being selected by the Houston Rockets in the National Basketball Association draft in New York. Rockets owner Charlie Thomas looks up at right. Olajuwon was the first player selected in the draft.

Rockets draft Akeem

Mavs take Perkins, Spurs get Robertson

NEW YORK (A) — The Houston Rockets believe they got a nearly finished player in Ralph Sampson last year. In Akeem Olajuwon, they hope they received an uncut diamond.

"When we got Sampson, he was a polished player, whereas Akeem represents raw talent," Ray Patterson, general manager of the Rockets, said Tuesday at the National Basketball Association draft. "He's got that incredible ability to block a shot before it's a foot away from a shooter's hands. With a little experience, he should be outstanding."

The Rockets took the 7-4 Sampson first in the 1983 draft, and then got the No. 1 pick again this year after Sampson was the NBA Rookie of the Year. Olajuwon, nicknamed "the Dream" during his outstanding career at the University of Houston, said being picked first "feels like a dream. I just want to be the best I can be, to play hard every time out. I know I can help, that I can rebound and block shots."

"He's the quickest big man I've ever seen," Patterson said.

Olajuwon, a Nigerian, shared the draft spotlight with two Kentucky players who decided not to try out for the Olympics and eight American Olympic finalists who were selected with the first 18 picks.

After Olajuwon, 7-0 center Sam Bowie of Kentucky was taken by the Portland Trail Blazers with the second pick, and his "Twin Tower" teammate with the Wildcats, 6-11 Melvin Turpin, was the sixth selection, taken by the Washington Bullets. The rights to sign Turpin later were traded to Cleveland in a three-team deal.

Bowie was on the 1980 U.S. team that wasn't able to compete because of the boycott of the Moscow Olympics. He said he was worried that Americans would question his patriotism, but he decided not to try out because "I just didn't have the desire and motivation that I felt I needed to make the team."

The run of Olympic finalists started when the Chicago Bulls, picking third, took 1983-84 college Player of the Year Michael Jordan of North Carolina, and Dallas selected another Tar Heel, Sam Perkins, with the fourth choice.

Sixteen players are working at the Olympic basketball training camp in Bloomington, Ind., in an effort to make the final 12-man U.S. Olympic squad.

Other first-round selections who are among the final 16 were Alvin Robertson of Arkansas, No. 7 by San Antonio; Lancaster Gordon of Louisville, No. 8 by the Los Angeles

Clippers; Leon Wood of Fullerton State, No. 10 by Philadelphia; Tim McCormick of Michigan, No. 12 by Cleveland; Jeff Turner of Vanderbilt, No. 17 by New Jersey, and Vern Fleming of Georgia, No. 18 by Indiana.

In the same deal that sent Turpin's draft rights to Cleveland, McCormick's rights were traded to Seattle, which also acquired veteran Ricky Sobers from Washington. The Bullets acquired veterans Gus Williams from Seattle and Cliff Robinson from Cleveland in the three-way deal.

Two other players who made the final 20 at the Olympic tryouts, but later were cut, also were taken in the first round. Charles Barkley of Auburn, a sensation with his quickness and leaping ability despite carrying 272 pounds on a 6-6 frame, was the No. 5 pick by Philadelphia, and John Stockton of Gonzaga was taken 16th by Utah.

Marty Blake, the NBA's director of scouting, said he was not surprised by the potential Olympians drafted early, although some of them are not well-known.

"They were outstanding players in the first place," Blake said. "It's a credit to their ability that they were picked so high, but it proves also that the judgment of (Olympic Coach) Bobby Knight coincides with the judgment of the top brains of basketball."

Lewis highlights record runs during Olympic Track Trials

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carl Lewis, the magnificently gifted sprinter-long jumper, put on two of the most glittering performances in track and field history in a record-filled program Tuesday night at the U.S. Track and Field Trials.

Lewis won the long jump at 28 feet, 7 inches — equalling the fourth-best performance ever outdoors — and ran his second-round heat in the 200-meter dash in 19.84 seconds, the second-best effort ever at sea level and the fourth-best overall.

While Lewis' remarkable exploits were a big part of the show at the Los Angeles Coliseum, the 21,081 fans were treated to two American records — 1:43.74 by Earl Jones and Johnny Gray in the men's 800 meters and 49.28 by Chandra Cheeseborough in the women's 400.

In addition, Kim Gallagher won the women's 800 meters in 1:58.50, the fastest by an American this year; world champion Greg Foster took the men's 110-meter high hurdles in 13.21; Karin Smith captured the women's javelin at 200-9, and Paul Cummings grabbed the men's 10,000 meters in 27:59.08.

Lewis, seeking to make the team in four events — in his quest to match the four-gold medal feat of Jesse Owens in the 1936 Olympics — earned his third berth by capturing the long jump.

Lewis, who earned places on the U.S. team in the 100-meter dash and the 400-meter relay Sunday night, will go for his fourth spot Thursday night, when the 200 semifinals and final are scheduled.

Larry Myricks finished second in the long jump at 27-0¾ and Mike McRae was third at 26-9, joining Lewis on the U.S. Olympic team.

Before winning the long jump at night, Lewis clicked off his dazzling time in the heats of the 200.

Turning on the power from the outset, he blazed around the lightning-fast track in a time that only he has bettered at sea level, with a clocking of 19.75 at last year's National Championships in Indianapolis.

Meanwhile, in the men's 800, the 19-year-old Jones, a sophomore at Eastern Michigan University, led all the way in winning one of the fastest races in history.

Although he and Gray, who was celebrating his 24th birthday Tuesday, were given identical times — and both will share the American record — Jones was declared the winner in a photo finish.

The world record is 1:41.73, by Sebastian Coe of Britain.

DANNY STEPHEN

BSHS duo will play for OC, TSU teams

Two recently graduated Big Spring High School athletes will continue their athletic careers on the collegiate level this fall.

Debra Rubio and Danny Stephen have made agreements with Odessa College and Tarleton State University respectively. Rubio will be wearing the uniform of the OC Lady Wranglers basketball team after earning a roster spot during a walk-on tryout back in April.

The 5-7 guard was a three year letter winner at BSHS and averaged 12.1 points per game during the 1983-84 season. Her high game came against Odessa Permian when she pumped in 27 points.

Stephen is a 5-11, 195-pound linebacker and is expected to help TSU out greatly in his first year at the school. Stephen is one of only two linebackers signed by the Texans for the coming season.

With Stephen's agreement too play for TSU, the Stephenville based university has three BSHS athletes in the fold.

Paula Spears and Monette Wise have already decided to continue their basketball careers for the TexAnns.

City LL tourney gets underway tonight

The Indians of the International of League will be back to defend the city title they captured last year when the Big Spring Little League Tournament gets underway tonight for a four night run that ends with championship play Saturday, June 23.

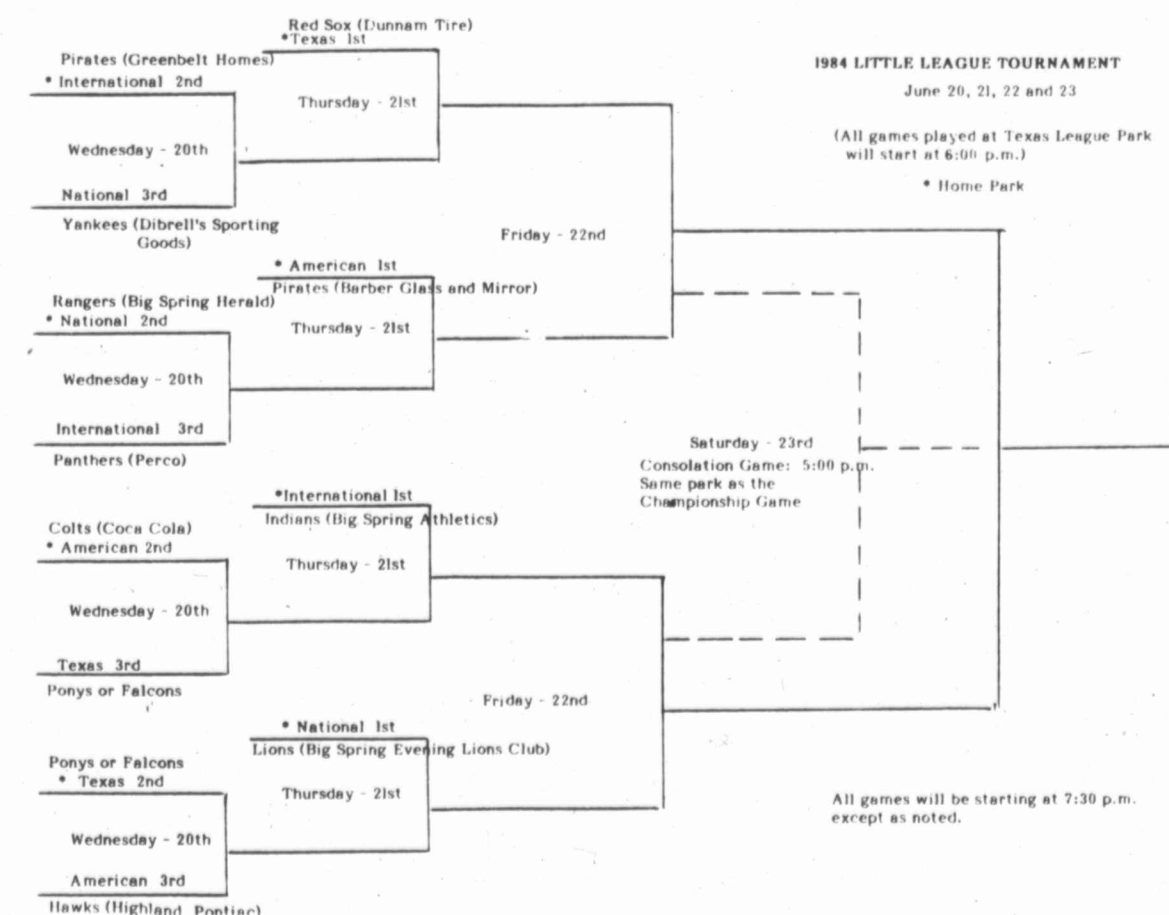

The Indians won the title last season with a forfeit win over the Royals in the championship tilt. This year they finished first in the International League and are one of the favorites along with the Red Sox, who finished first in the Texas League. Both teams, along with the American League Pirates and National League Lions, received opening round byes because they won their respective leagues.

Since this tournament is not sanctioned by the National Little League Association, the winner of the tournament can't advance to post-season play.

On Wednesday, the second place Pirates of the International League will battle the third place Yankees of the National League at the International Field at the old Webb Air Force Base. The Rangers, who finished second in the National League, will battle the third place Panthers of the International League at the National League Park located just behind the American Legion just off South Highway 87.

The Colts, who finished second in the American League will go against the Falcons who finished third in the Texas League at the American League Park located behind Howard College.

Rounding out Wednesday night action will be Ponies, second place finishers in the Texas League, versus the Hawks, third place

PARINGS — The bracket above shows the parings for the city little league tournament that starts its four night run tonight at four locations throughout Big Spring. The Indians of the International League are the defending city champs.

finishers in the American League, at the Texas League field located at the Roy Anderson Complex off West IH-20. Only games being played at the Texas League park will start at 6 p.m. All other contests start at 7:30 p.m. The tournament will conclude Saturday with the consolation finals at 5 p.m. and the championship game at 8 p.m. The playing site has not been determined yet.

White assault trial continues

MCKINNEY, Texas (AP) — There has been one agreement in the misdemeanor assault trial of Dallas Cowboys quarterback Danny White: both White and the 17-year-old high school student he is accused of punching said in court the star football player hit the teenager.

White said Tuesday he delivered a slap to Jon Michael Clark after the youth nearly forced the quarterback's van into a head-on collision at 80 mph. White testified he was driving with his three children and feared for their lives.

Clark, a Plano High School football player, testified that White for no apparent reason tried to force his Camaro off the road, then, at a stop sign, punched his squarely in the nose and threatened to kill him. "Obviously we have very differing stories about what happened," White said after his testimony Tuesday.

The trial was scheduled to resume today with White facing cross-examination by prosecutors. If convicted of the Class A misdemeanor, the 32-year-old Cowboys quarterback could be sentenced to a year in jail and fined $2,000.

White said he tried to pass Clark's Camaro on a rural Collin County road north of Dallas, but the youth's car accelerated and prevented him from moving back to the right lane.

White said that as another car approached him head-on, he floored his accelerator and, at speeds in excess of 80 mph, moved back into the right lane without knowing if his rear bumper could clear the front of the Camaro. "I was scared to death," the National Football League star said.

White said the Camaro moved to the left as if to pass him, so he moved his van to the center of the road, and then confronted Clark at a stop sign.

"You almost got me and my kids killed," White said he told Clark. "If you ever threaten the life of my kids, I'll kill you."

He said that at that point, Clark was grinning and "I slapped him across the nose with the back of my hand" to impress upon him the seriousness of the incident.

Clark, telling his side of the story earlier in the day, said the blow from White startled him because "being who he is, I never expected him to hit me."

Clark said he tried to pass White's van, but could not because the van swerved to the left and forced him off the road. The two vehicles never collided, Clark said.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today and tonight are times to be especially careful that you do not break any promises. Avoid uncertainty during the day and forcefulness during the evening.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) The morning finds you confused in your thinking, but after lunch you could be too sure of yourself. Stay at home tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A new contact is wondering just what you have in mind concerning him or her in the morning. Keep any promise you have made.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Keep steady at career jobs even though you are tempted to make changes, and then try not to be forceful with a good friend.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You are not certain about that new project, and later you want to make radical changes, but be wise and relax.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) An obligation seems difficult for you to handle, so relax for awhile, and later do not argue with your mate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) It is important to comprehend what an associate expects of you and then handle your part of any agreement wisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Everything seems to be going wrong at work and partners are not very cooperative either.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A friend could be very upset today and make some thoughtless remark, so forget it quickly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You find that kin are not cooperative today, even as to matters of entertainment, so await a better day for such.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be careful of taking any risks while driving any time during the day or night. Avoid arguments at home. Be more objective.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Much care is required today when handling monetary affairs. Don't be too sure about a bill; go over it.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) It is confusing to know what it is you want in the morning, but later your mind clears. Tonight, be sure you are not overly demanding.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will like to daydream a lot and needs everything spelled out clearly; this could be taxing on your nerves, but be patient and then your progeny will wake up to reality and become a veritable human dynamo.

Short cut cooking for busy work weeks

The following recipes and ideas are designed for busy work weeks and schedules that leave little time for meal planning and unexpected events. To short cut these situations, choose from these time-saving recipes. Then follow their basic patterns to adapt your favorite recipes to your busy lifestyle.

CHICKEN AND SHRIMP PASTA NESTS

- 1 pkg. (12 oz.) fettuccine
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 Tbsps. butter or margarine
- 2 cans (10 3/4 oz. each) cream of mushroom soup
- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, cubed
- 1 cup white wine
- 2 Tbsps. dried parsley
- 3/2 tsp. basil leaves
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
- 2 pkgs. (10 oz. each) frozen petite peas, thawed
- 8 boneless chicken breast halves, cut in bite-size chunks
- 1 bag (5 oz.) frozen cooked shrimp
- Grated Parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Cook fettuccine according to package directions to al dente stage; drain. Place in a large bowl; toss with egg and Parmesan cheese. To make pasta nests, tear off a sheet of aluminum foil. Lift six to eight strands of pasta from bowl with fork. With tines of fork resting on foil, twirl pasta to form nest; remove fork. Make 24 pasta nests. Set aside. In a large skillet or Dutch oven, saute onion in butter until crisp-tender. Stir in soup, cream cheese, wine, parsley, basil, salt and pepper. Cook and stir over medium-low heat until cream cheese is melted. Remove from heat; stir in Swiss cheese and peas. Spoon half of the sauce in an even layer in the bottom of two cake pans (12 1/4 x 8 1/4 x 1 1/2 inches); reserve remaining sauce. Place 12 pasta nests upright in each pan. Place half of chicken pieces around pasta nests in each pan. Spoon remaining sauce over chicken pieces. Cover pans tightly with foil; place on supporting pan. Bake 50 minutes or until chicken tests done. To freeze one pan, stop at this point and follow directions for freezing. Uncover remaining pan and place half of shrimp, thawed according to package directions, on top; sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Cover with foil and bake an additional 10 minutes. Makes 2 pans (six servings each).

To freeze one pan: Center pan on a sheet of heavy aluminum foil large enough for adequate wrapping. Bring longer sides of foil together over food. Fold down in a series of locked folds, pressing air out. Fold and crimp short ends. Label, date and freeze. To serve, preheat oven to 425 degrees. Place cake pan on a supporting pan, remove foil and bake 1 hour. Recover with foil during last 30 minutes to keep moist. Add thawed shrimp and Parmesan cheese, cover again with foil and bake a final 10 minutes or until shrimp is heated through.

TIP for times when the cook is out of town: Serve half and freeze half. Even a family of two can plan ahead. Stir-fry more than you need. Serve half and freeze half for those nights when the cook is away. Reheat in conventional oven or peel off foil and reheat in microwave.

DOUBLE STIR-FRY DINNER

- 1 tsp. cornstarch
- 1 Tbsp. soy sauce
- 1 lb. boneless lean pork, cut in 1 x 1/4-inch strips
- 1 pkg. (6 1/4 oz.) fast-cooking long grain and wild rice
- 1 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1/4 tsp. garlic powder
- 1 pkg. (6 oz.) frozen pea pods

PASTA DELIGHT — Parmesan and pasta shaped into spirals, hearty chunks of chicken and frozen cooked shrimp are combined in Chicken 'N' Shrimp Pasta Nests. The dish utilizes cooking techniques to make meal preparation and planning easier for people with busy schedules.

- 1 can (8 oz.) sliced water chestnuts, drained
- 1 can (3 1/2 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1 tsp. cornstarch
- 1 Tbsp. soy sauce
- 3/4 cups chicken broth

In glass dish, combine cornstarch and soy sauce; add pork strips and mix well. Cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 20 minutes. While pork is marinating, cook rice according to package directions. Heat oil in large skillet or wok over medium-high heat. Add marinated pork; sprinkle with garlic powder and saute until pork is no longer pink. Stir in pea pods, water chestnuts and mushrooms. Cover and cook five minutes, stirring occasionally. Combine cornstarch, soy sauce and chicken broth. Stir into pork mixture; cook until mixture begins to boil. Stir in hot cooked rice. Cook until heated through. To make two servings, place 1 1/2 cups of pork mixture on each plate. Sprinkle with soy sauce, if desired. Serve immediately. Makes four servings.

BUNDLE WRAP to freeze two individual servings: Tear off two 14-inch squares of heavy duty aluminum foil wrap. Place 1 1/2 cups of pork mixture on each square. "Bundle wrap" by bringing 4 corners of foil up together in a pyramid shape. Fold edges together in a series of locked folds, pressing air out. Mold tightly against food. Label, date and freeze.

MICROWAVE REHEATING: Remove foil from frozen bundle. Place food on microwave-safe plate; cover with plastic wrap, turning back one edge to vent. Micro-cook on medium power setting 9 to 11 minutes or until heated through, turning dish once.

ADAPT YOUR RECIPE: Stir-fry your favorite meat and vegetables just until cooked. Stir in partially cooked pasta. For single servings, "bundle wrap" in heavy aluminum foil and freeze. The secret to success is not to overcook. Each serving should be as appetizing when reheated as when first prepared.

WESTERN STYLE BEEF STRIPS

- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
- 1 cup (8 oz.) beer

- 1 tsp. instant beef bouillon
- 1/4 tsp. dried pepper flakes
- 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
- 1/2 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 1/2 tsp. cumin
- 2 Tbsps. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. freshly ground pepper
- 2 Tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
- 3 lbs. London Broil (top round steak)
- 8 carrots, cut in thin diagonal slices (2 1/2 cups)
- 1 large onion, cut in eighths

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Shake flour in large size cooking bag (14 x 20-inch). Place in 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking dish. Add tomato sauce, beer and bouillon. Squeeze bag gently to blend. Add pepper flakes with spices, sugar, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce to bag; turn bag to mix. Cut London Broil in half lengthwise; slice diagonally across grain in 1/4-inch strips. Place beef strips and vegetables in bag; turn bag gently several times to coat beef and vegetables. Close bag with nylon tie; make 6 half-inch slits in top. Cook 1 1/2 hours until tender. For 4 servings, place 1 cup beef and vegetables on each plate. Serve with corn muffins. Makes 8 servings.

DRUGSTORE WRAP AND FREEZE SERVINGS

Place 1 cup of beef and vegetables in each of four tart pans. "Drugstore wrap" in heavy aluminum foil by centering food on foil wrap large enough for wrapping. Pad protruding bones. Bring longer sides of foil together over food. Fold down in a series of locked folds, pressing air out. Repeat to seal short ends. Fold and crimp short ends. Label, date and freeze. To serve, preheat oven to 425 degrees. Place foil-wrapped tart on baking sheet. Bake 35 to 40 minutes or until heated through.

MICROWAVE REHEATING: Remove foil cover and tart pan from food. Place food on microwave-safe plate; cover with plastic wrap turning back one edge to vent. Micro-cook on high power setting 4 to 6 minutes or until heated through, turning dish once halfway through cooking time.

ADAPT YOUR RECIPE: Cook your favorite stew when the mood hits. Then freeze individual portions in tart pans to heat and serve as you please. Another tip, use large cooking bags to mix and prepare large quantity recipes without potwatching or pot scrubbing. Serve a portion. Freeze the remainder in individual servings for those nights when everyone is eating on a different schedule.

TIP for unexpected company. Be ready with appetizer meatballs. Wrap in heavy aluminum foil and freeze foil package in shape of pan. This frees the baking pan for other uses while the food is in the freezer. Return foil package to original pan to reheat.

ORIENTAL MEATBALLS
Meatballs:
4 lbs. lean ground beef

- 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- 3 eggs, lightly beaten
- 1/2 cup catsup
- 2 Tbsps. vegetable oil

Sweet 'n Sour Sauce:
3 cups pineapple juice
2 cups catsup
1/2 cup prepared mustard
2 cans (20 oz.) pineapple chunks in pineapple juice, drained
2 large green peppers, cut into 1-inch chunks.

Combine ground beef, bread crumbs, onion, salt, pepper, eggs and catsup. Press evenly into two 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pans. Divide each pan into 60 squares by cutting mixture lengthwise into 10 sections and crosswise into 6 sections. Shape each square into a meatball. Brown and cook in vegetable oil; drain on paper towels. While meatballs are browning, wash pans, line each with heavy aluminum foil leaving a 1 1/2-inch collar. Place half of meatballs in each foil-lined pan. Combine pineapple juice, catsup and mustard; divide mixture evenly over each pan. Bake one pan, uncovered, in 350 degree oven 25 minutes. Stir in 1 can pineapple and 1 green pepper. Return to oven, continue baking 5 to 10 minutes or until sauce is hot and bubbly. Makes 2 pans (60 meatballs each).

CASSEROLE WRAP TO FREEZE: Stir remaining pineapple and green pepper into second pan. "Casserole wrap" by lining baking pan with heavy aluminum foil, leaving a 1 1/2-inch foil collar. Fill foil-lined pan with food. Cover with sheet of foil the size of baking pan and foil collar. Fold edges together sealing tightly and pressing air out. Label, date and freeze. When frozen, lift from baking pan; return foil package in original pan. To serve, preheat oven to 425 degrees, place foil package in original pan. Bake covered, 35 minutes; uncover. Bake an additional 10 to 15 minutes or until sauce is hot and bubbly.

ADAPT YOUR RECIPE: Brown and cook meatballs as given above. "Casserole wrap" in heavy aluminum foil and freeze in your favorite sauce. Precooking the meatballs eliminates greasiness and shortens reheating time.

TIP for last minute dinners: When there's no time to prepare ahead, combine a heavy aluminum wrap envelope and a high oven temperature to cook tender meats and fresh vegetables in minutes. To "Envelope wrap" for cooking, center food on lower half of a 12 x 18-inch sheet of heavy aluminum foil. Fold upper half over food meeting bottom edges of foil. Seal edges together making a tight 1/2-inch fold. Double fold. Allow space for heat circulation and expansion. Repeat to seal each side.

ENVELOPE BAKED FLOUNDER AND VEGETABLES

- 1 medium onion, thinly sliced
- 2 small yellow squash, thinly sliced
- 1/2 tsp. onion powder
- 1/2 tsp. onion powder
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, thawed
- 1 pkg. (1 lb.) frozen flounder fillets, thawed
- 1 medium zucchini, cut in julienne strips

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Tear off four 12 x 18-inch sheets of heavy aluminum foil. Place onion and yellow squash on lower half of each sheet of foil. Combine lemon pepper, dill weed and onion powder; sprinkle half of seasoning mixture over squash and onions. Season with salt. Dot with half of butter. Layer fish over vegetables; season with salt. Place zucchini strips over fish. Sprinkle with remaining seasoning mixture and salt. Dot with remaining butter. "Envelope wrap." Arrange foil packets on baking sheet. Cook 18 to 20 minutes or until envelope puffs. To serve, cut "x" in top of packet; fold foil back. Makes four servings.

ADAPT YOUR RECIPE: Combine boneless chicken breasts or fish fillets with your choice of julienne cut fresh vegetables. Season meat and vegetables. Dot with butter. Envelope wrap in heavy aluminum foil wrap. Bake on a cookie sheet in preheated 450 degree oven 20 minutes or until envelope puffs.
