Q. Who is the chairman of the Democratic Party, and where can I write him?

A. Write Charles Manatt at the National Democratic Party Headquarters, 1625 Massachusetts, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Manatt replaced Texan Robert Strauss last year.

Calendar: Dance

TODAY

• The Senior Citizens Center regular Friday night dance is from 8 to 11 p.m. in Building 487. Tickets are $2. A country-western band will perform.

• The Big Spring Band Boosters is sponsoring the Gene Ledel carnival at the College Park Shopping Center.

• The Howard County Rodeo will kick off at 8:30 p.m. at the rodeo bowl.

SATURDAY

• The Christensen-Tucker VFW Post 2013 Buddy Poppy Drive is today. Workers will meet in the back of the Chamber of Commerce building. Please report no later than 8 a.m.

• The youth of First Christian Church will sponsor a dog wash and dip from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Highland Pontiac. A professional dog groomer will assist. Prices vary from $3 to $6 depending on the size of the dog.

• The Knott school homecoming will be from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Knott Church of Christ. All exes of Knott school are invited and urged to bring cookies. Drinks will be provided.

• The Senior Citizens Center will have a fundraiser dance from 8 to 11 p.m. in Building 487. Tickets are $2. Funds will go toward the purchase of an ice machine. Guests are welcome.

Tops on TV: Music City

Country music performers are honored in 15 categories including top male and female artist, musician of the year and album of the year on "Music City News Country Awards" at 8 p.m. on channel 13. The premiere of "Sprague", a story of how a detective and his zany aunt set out to trap a doctor who specializes in causing heart attacks, will be at 8:30 p.m. on channel 2.

At the movies: Ghostbusters

Burt Reynolds stars in "Cannonball Run II" at the Ritz. Bill Murray and Dan Aykroyd star in "Ghostbusters" also at the Ritz. Dolly Parton and Sylvester Stallone star in "Rhinestone" at the Cinema. Also at the Cinema is "Gremlins". At the Jet Drive-In, "Goodbye Bruce Lee" and "Bruce From the Grave" are showing.

Outside: Sunny

Tonight, look for lows in the upper 60s with a 20 percent chance of isolated thunderstorms. Tomorrow, skies will be sunny with an expected high in the mid-90s. Winds will be south-easterly 5-10 miles per hour.

Bulletin

Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. in a press release said today 23 employees at the Big Spring refinery have agreed to retire early in a plan by the company to reduce its work force.

Cosden said 45 other employees age 55 and older had been approached about the early retirement offer. The company said declining oil revenues are forcing it to reduce the number of workers by 35 at the Big Spring plant.

The press release did not mention layoffs.

Cosden said it had discussed the retirement program with Local 826 of the International Union of Operating Engineers. The company said it told the union there were no forced retirements.

School reform plan draws fire

Big Spring, Coahoma gain; Forsan loses

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Big Spring Independent School District would receive an additional $1.41 million in state aid if the House and Senate approve a compromise $2.8 billion school finance agreement reached this week by a conference committee.

The effects for other Howard County districts are Coahoma ISD, gain $64,100; and Forsan ISD, lose $154,500.

In other area counties, the effects are:
Mitchell County: Colorado ISD, gain $344,200; Loraine ISD, gain $292,700; Westbrook ISD, lose $54,500.
Dawson County: Dawson ISD, lose $19,100; Klondike ISD, lose $149,000; Lamesa ISD, gain $1.7 million; Sands ISD, lose $33,300.

Glasscock County: Glasscock ISD, lose $49,200.

Martin County: Stanton ISD, gain $573,400; Grady ISD, lose $63,600.

The conference committee is set to take a final vote on the plan Friday morning. The House and Senate must then approve the proposal before it becomes final.

Gov. Mark White claimed the agreement, if approved, "will make equal educational opportunity a reality for every child in the state."

But some folks are not so happy with the plan.

Several legislators and some teacher groups say that although many districts will receive extra state funds, local tax hikes may be required. The state money will not go far enough to cover teacher salary increases, pre-kindergarten programs, tutoring services, reduced elementary class sizes and other reforms called for in the legislation, they claim.

"The bill is seriously underfunded," said Becky Brooks, president of the Texas State Teachers Association.

But conference committee members contended that the bill will not necessarily mandate tax hikes.

Meanwhile, Texas residents may be asked to pay higher state taxes on various items for the state to come up with the $2.8 billion over three years for the state's share. The Texas State Teachers Association complains that the new funding approach included in the plan will encourage school districts to hire less experienced teachers since the funds will be tied to programs not teacher salaries.

Under the current system, districts can have the state pay for the more expensive and experienced teachers and fund the cheaper ones with their own money.

Also, districts that do not qualify for equalization aid, compensatory education aid or bilingual education aid will have funding problems, TSTA said.

But that teachers' group likes the provisions for equalization aid, compensatory and bilingual education. See Schools page 2-A

Bail bondsmen raise complaints

Chemical People call meeting

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

Despite some confusion by two bail bond representatives on the purpose of a Thursday afternoon meeting, local law enforcement officials, judges and bail bondsmen hashed out bonding procedures for 1½ hours.

The 4 p.m. gathering at the Chamber of Commerce was called by the Chemical People anti-drug organization's Legal Affairs Committee and led by committee member Truett Thomas.

Discussion yesterday centered on the delay in bonding that often occurs after persons are arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated.

Bail bond company owners Mary Thomas and Danny Heckler said they thought the purpose of yesterday's meeting was to discuss a broad range of policies at the Big Spring Police Department.

Mrs. Thomas said the gathering was prompted by a previous meeting with the committee about a Herald Johnnie Lou Avery column setting out pros and cons of a petition to elect the city's police chief.

Legal Affairs Committee member Thomas agreed that yesterday's gathering came out of this previous meeting, but said its purpose was to answer complaints about bonding procedures which the previous meeting raised.

"Some communication problems existed and should be resolved," he told the gathering.

Current police department policy is to hold persons arrested for DWI at least four hours until they are no longer a danger to themselves or the public at large, City Attorney Doyle Curtis said.

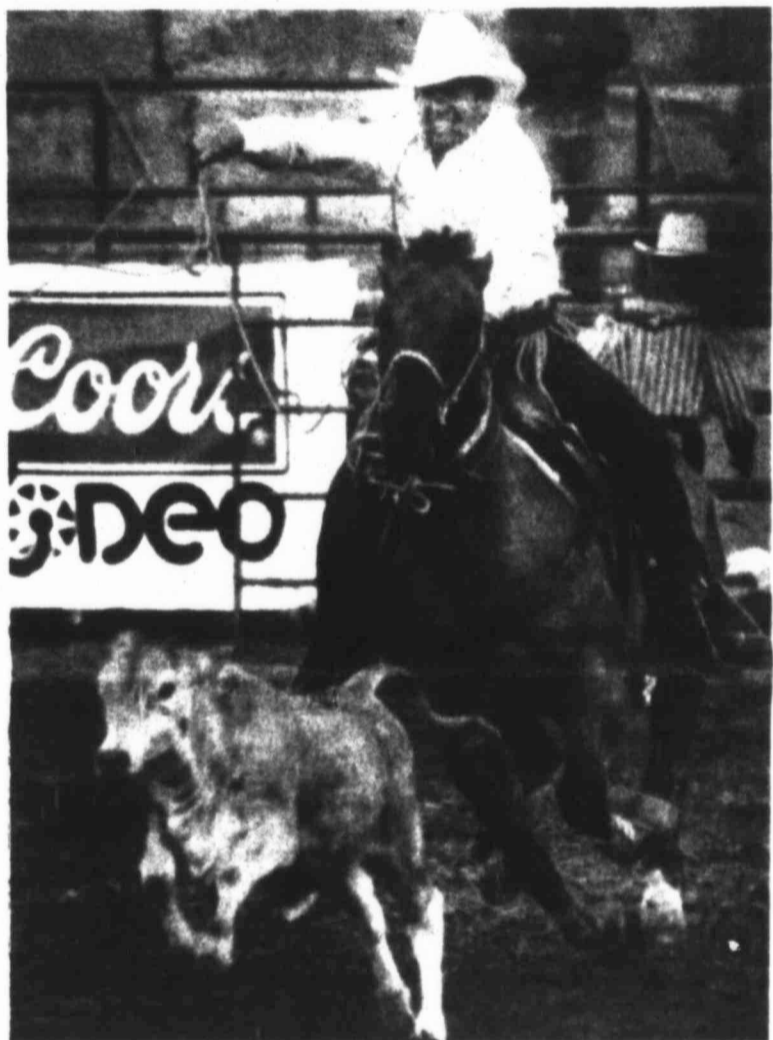

However, bail bond representatives said such persons are often held longer periods of time, sometimes until late the next morning, because local magistrates are not available to set bond after normal working hours. The bond representatives said the delay sometimes results in the person losing his job.

According to District Judge Jim Gregg, state law allows law enforcement officers to set bond without the presence of a magistrate "in certain circumstances in all misdemeanors."

6 killed in Dallas shooting

DALLAS (AP) — Six people were killed at a plush nightclub early today when a 39-year-old Moroccan arguing with his dance partner pulled a semiautomatic pistol, killed her and began firing at random, police said.

A seventh person was wounded critically in the shooting spree, authorities said.

The suspect, Abdelkrim Belachheb, was arraigned on a charge of investigation of murder before Dallas County Magistrate Tom A. Boardman about 6:30 a.m. Bond for Belachheb, an unemployed waiter and resident alien who lives in Dallas, was set at $500,000.

Belachheb shot his dance partner twice before he walked to the door turned and fired at other patrons as they sat around the U-shaped bar about 12:30 a.m. at Ianni's Restaurant and Lounge, a witness said.

The man left the lounge, reloaded the 9 mm pistol and then returned and fired more shots, police said.

Belachheb was arrested three hours later after he wrecked his car and was traced to an acquaintance's house, based on information he gave when he filled out a membership application at the

Merchants sponsor 'hold up' of couple

Jack and Esther Davis of Clarksburg, W. Va., intrigued by the idea of attending a West Texas rodeo, agreed to be "held up" in Big Spring overnight, courtesy of local merchants and the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

The "hold up," sponsored periodically in the city since 1978, provides free of cost a night's lodging at a local motel, a steak dinner, tickets to the rodeo or some other event, a tank of gasoline, a bouquet of flowers and breakfast.

Patrolman Glen Redmon of the Texas Department of Public Safety has participated in several "hold ups" and was on hand Thursday to find a family for the event.

It was no easy task, however, as Redmon pulled over three cars and radioed to another patrolman who pulled another car over before finding a fifth car filled with two willing participants.

Rose Thomas, a former Chamber employee who participated in the first hold-up in 1978,

AN INVITATION — Glen Redmon, a trooper with the Texas Department of Public Safety, pulled Jack and Esther Davis off Interstate 20 Thursday, but it wasn't to give the couple a ticket. The two were invited to spend a night in the city and were given a free steak dinner and tickets to the rodeo.

Ms. Thomas accompanied the Davises during dinner and the rodeo.

The initial reaction for persons pulled over by Redmon was surprise. Flashing red lights in the rearview mirror is usually an unsettling experience.

Redmon asked each person he pulled over for their drivers' license, then explained to them what was happening.

A mother and two sons from Dade County, Fla., were on their way to Carlsbad Caverns when pulled over on Interstate 20. The mother asked her sons if they'd like to spend the night, but the boys opted for camping.

The next car contained three adults from Illinois, one of whom had a broken leg and didn't think he'd enjoy the rodeo.

A third car from Oklahoma had two elderly female passengers. The women also declined the offer.

One of Redmon's fellow patrolmen pulled over a car from Ohio, and the family explained they had too far to go to stay overnight.

The Davises hesitated at first, but then were convinced by Redmon to stay. Davis said he and his wife were on vacation. "We like to travel."

He was also delighted at the prospect of seeing a rodeo, which he pronounced "ro-day-o." "I've tried for many years to get my wife to see a rodeo," he said.

Mr. Mack goes to Washington

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Local political campaign organizer H.M. "Mack" Underwood doesn't like rock music. "It's loud, and you can't understand the words," he says.

Republicans are just as unintelligible to him. The founder of the Howard County Democratic Club remains as adamantly opposed to "the other party" as he was when he founded the club in 1981.

And although he has curtailed his involvement in local Democratic politics because of a heart attack a year ago, he took time out on a personal visit with his daughter in Washington, D.C., to do a little politicking himself.

"The trip wasn't planned as a political trip," Underwood said of his 16-state tour and visits with family members. "I wasn't up there to lobby for anything."

Nevertheless, he managed to talk to three Texas representatives, including Democratic House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth, "about the (drought) problems in West Texas," the upcoming Democratic National Convention and the chances of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, (D-Texas) of being named the Democrats' vice presidential nominee.

Big Spring-born Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, (D-Austin), told Underwood "his land was dry where he farms. I told him he ought to see Howard County. Howard County had the least amount of rain (of any of the West Texas counties)," Underwood said.

"He understands what we're going through," Underwood said of Texas. See Mack page 2-A

Rain, hail reported

By the Associated Press

Very heavy thunderstorms moved southward into North Texas along the Red River early today on the heels of thunderstorms that roared across portions of North Texas late Thursday.

The thunderstorm activity Thursday included heavy rainfall in the Fort Worth area and northern sections of Dallas. Winds gusted to 70 mph at Mineral Wells, west of Fort Worth as a heavy thunderstorm moved across. No damage was reported.

Hail up to one-fourth of an inch in diameter was reported in some areas of the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area during the late afternoon storms.

Winds gusted to 50 mph late Thursday as one storm moved over Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

Today's thunderstorm activity was triggered by a weak upper level impulse mixing with moist surface air, the National Weather Service said.

Elsewhere today, showers and very heavy thunderstorms were reported in the Gulf of Mexico just off the upper Texas coast from near Sabine eastward to off the Louisiana coast.

Skies were mostly clear over northern and western sections of the state early today and partly cloudy to cloudy elsewhere.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s, ranging from the mid to upper 60s over the High Plains to the upper 70s in southern sections of the state. Extremes ranged from 58 at Marfa in the Davis Mountains of Southwest Texas to 81 at Laredo.

Forecasts called for a chance of scattered showers and thunderstorms statewide. Skies were to be clear to partly cloudy. Highs were to be mostly in the 90s, ranging upward to near or slight above 100 along the Rio Grande in South Texas.

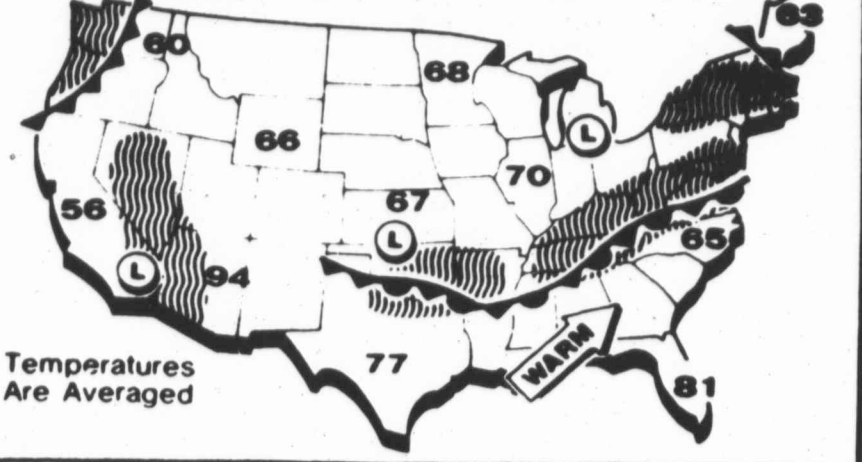

Thunderstorms packing more than 2 inches of rain drenched sections of the South and the Plains early today and promised another bleak day for the Northeast, but skies were expected to clear over California and the Plains.

Showers and thunderstorms stretched from southeast Kansas across parts of Missouri and Oklahoma. Other storms dumped rain from Arkansas across Georgia and from the Carolinas through southern New England and the upper Ohio Valley.

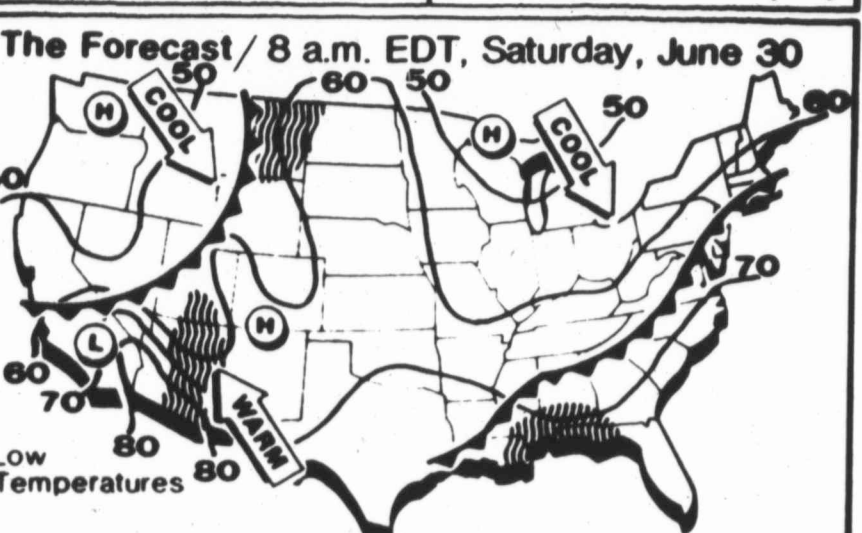

In Columbus, Miss., more than 2 inches of rain fell overnight while Topeka, Kan., got 1 1/2 inches. Some local flooding was reported in Tempe, Ariz., where a quarter-inch of rain fell in less than 20 minutes.

WEST TEXAS — Hot, with isolated afternoon and evening thunderstorms. Lows in the upper 60s and 70s. Highs in the 90s, except to near 105 along the river.

Railroad stool stolen

Mabel Kountz, owner of May Bell's Antiques at 1617 E. Third, told police at 2:12 p.m. Thursday that someone entered the business by cutting into a plexiglass window valued at $100 and stole a railroad stool valued at $125, police reports said. Mrs. Kountz told police the break-in might be related to incidents that have occurred at her residence, reports said.

David Rogers of 100 Canyon told police at 2:12 p.m. Thursday that someone between 12:30 a.m. and 2:15 a.m. Thursday broke into his 1984 Ford pickup, damaged a side window valued at $150 and stole a radar detector, 15 cassette tapes, a tape box and a buck skin knife valued at a total of $60, police reports said.

Luis Ramos of 1408 Robin told police at 8:11 p.m. Thursday that someone between 3:30 a.m. and 4:30 a.m. Thursday someone he may know damaged the front windshield on his 1960 Chevrolet pickup, police reports said. Value of the windshield was set at $200, reports said.

Kimberly Brook Chappell, 21, of 404 E. 15th was arrested at 8:47 p.m. Thursday in connection with a capias warrant, police reports said.

Harvey Phil Ball of Gail Route was arrested at 10:36 p.m. Thursday near the intersection of the Interstate 20 South Service Road and FM 700 on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, police reports said.

Susanno Alvarez, 21, of Garden City Route was arrested at 2:07 p.m. Thursday in connection with a capias warrant, police reports said.

Teen pleads guilty

An 18-year-old Forsan man pleaded guilty Thursday in 118th District Court to a charge of credit card abuse.

District Court Judge Jim Gregg sentenced William Charles Melton Jr. to four years of deferred adjudication probation. At the end of the four years, if Melton serves his probation successfully, his conviction will be erased from records.

Robert R. Gonzales, 18, of 607 S. Rannels remains in county jail today without bond. He was arrested Thursday by the Harrant county sheriff's office on a warrant for violation of his probation on burglary.

Johnny Tonn, 30, of Gail Route was served Thursday with a misdemeanor theft of service warrant, and paid $1,500 bond.

A 16-year-old Stanton boy was released from county jail on the authority of assistant juvenile probation officer Pat Dunham. The boy will be transferred to the Texas Youth Corrections department.

Schools

While the equalization aid will help win pay raises for teachers in poorer districts, many teachers may not receive raises, TSTA claims.

The Association of Texas Professional Educators objected to basing the funding on average daily attendance (ADA) rather than the number of children enrolled in the schools. Funding based on attendance rather than enrollment has been criticized for partiality to richer districts where more students tend to show up to class each day.

Pickle. "He leases some farmland down here."

Rep. Charles Stenholm (D-Stamford) "was optimistic" about the chances of his farm bill to enact permanent farm legislation "instead of skipping farm bills from year to year," Underwood said.

While in Washington, Underwood also "reminded" two other non-Texas representatives "of the horrible drought we in West Texas are in," he said.

An acute reminder of the difference in the climates in the Washington area and West Texas were the multitudes of trees everywhere in Washington and the south, Underwood said. "I tried to trade some Texas oil for a few of those big trees at Mount Vernon, but it didn't work," Underwood said. "There are millions and millions of trees and parks."

"A guy at a rest park asked me why I was looking at all the trees, and I told him where I came from the trees we had were about as tall as me," Underwood said. "I was talking about mesquite trees, of course." He is 5'3".

Bentsen also was a major topic of discussion while he was in Washington, he said.

"Wright wants Bentsen on the ticket," Underwood said. "If it were left up to the representatives from Texas, the vast majority of representatives from Texas want Bentsen on the ticket."

"Most everybody I talked to had the same opinion. They wanted Bentsen as vice president, but they weren't sure he was as well known as (Sen. Gary) Hart (D-Colo.)," he said. Bentsen ran as a favorite son presidential candidate in Texas in 1976, but after the first ballot gave his votes to Carter.

"He (Bentsen) could probably win Texas, and Texas is an important state," Underwood said. "Bentsen is well known in the South. But is he well-known enough to carry the South? It's conservative."

"How well known is he in the north and the northeast? Could he become well enough known by the election?" Underwood said.

Underwood sees one of the biggest problems the Democrats face at election time from employees of companies like Continental Airlines and the automobile industry in Detroit. There, employees are getting extra overtime because companies are not rehiring workers laid off "because they (companies) don't want to pay the fringe benefits," according to Underwood. In that sense, he agrees with Reagan, saying economic issues are going to be the most important in the upcoming election.

"Those people at the factories are going to vote for Reagan. They're working 60 hours a week and getting overtime," Underwood said. "The money in their pockets is what counts, not their buddies who lost their homes and their jobs."

Underwood said he was last in Washington, D.C., in 1979, before Reagan was inaugurated. The political climate has definitely changed, he said.

"I didn't see very many demonstrators," Underwood said. "But there are hundreds of protest signs in the park across from the White House — anti-nuclear, unions, all kinds of them. There are so many signs, they are hanging over the fence."

"They are a constant reminder (to Reagan). Every time he looks out his window, he sees those signs. Maybe he never looks in that direction. That's the only way he could avoid seeing them," he said.

The White House also has become more security-conscious since the truck-bombing in Beirut of the Marine camp, Underwood said.

A barricade has been constructed in front of the White House gates so that if someone tried to drive a truck bomb into the grounds, "it wouldn't hurt anything. I don't think anybody would be able to throw a grenade far enough to reach the White House, either," Underwood said.

Italian club Wednesday night, said the lounge's manager, Jerrell Todd. "I can't believe this. This is unbelievable," Todd said. "He was in here last night."

Five of the victims, including Frank Parker, 49, of Arlington, and Joseph John Manasi, 36, the part owner of a Dallas business called European Connection, were dead at the scene. A sixth, Marcell M.

Ford, 34, of Grand Prairie, died a short time later at Parkland Memorial Hospital, authorities said.

The lounge manager had said Belachheb was arguing with a woman named Marcell just before the shooting started.

Bob Breckenridge, a field agent for the Dallas County medical examiner, said Ms. Ford had a gunshot wound to the head and chest.

St. Mary's school notes anniversary

St. Mary's Episcopal School at 118 Cedar will celebrate its 25th year of continuous operation during the coming school year.

The school first opened during the Depression, but was closed a few years later. It was reopened in September 1960 and is the oldest church-related school in Big Spring.

St. Mary's started as a kindergarten with 13 students in 1960. It now offers pre-kindergarten classes through the fifth grade.

During the 1984-85 school year, the school will begin a new science program for kindergarten through fifth grade. The program is funded through an endowment.

Coinciding with the 25th anniversary of the school, the current headmaster, the Rev. Robert L. Bonnington, has announced plans for an endowment campaign to ensure the school's future. An endowment fund was established in 1980.

The school is operated under the authority of the Canons of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas and is affiliated with both the National and Southwestern Associations of Episcopal Schools.

Bonnington was appointed headmaster and interim minister of the church in 1983, and was elected rector of the church in a recent vestry meeting. He is a graduate of Indiana University with a bachelor of science degree in accounting, and has a doctorate in economics from the University of Iowa. He taught economics at Texas Tech University for 12 years before entering the Episcopal Seminary of the Southwest in Austin. He received a certificate of special studies from the seminary in 1982, and came to Big Spring that summer as the curate of the Episcopal Church of St. Mary the Virgin.

Bebe McCasland serves as school administrator. The school is supervised by a nine-member board of trustees elected by the parish and appointed by the vestry. Current trustees are Gene Adkins, Rich Anderson, Evelyn Anderson, Dan Clere, Mary Joy Cowper, Sophia Crawford, JoAnne Guitier, Nancy Jurgens and Ann Turner. Dorothy Jones is the teacher representative for the board.

The school is operated under the authority of the Canons of the Episcopal Diocese of Northwest Texas and is affiliated with both the National and Southwestern Associations of Episcopal Schools.

City designates 'C Day'

NEW BRAUNFELS (AP) — Officials in this South Central Texas city, concerned about a summer drought, have designated Monday for one day of strict water conservation measures.

To be called "C Day," or "Conservation Day," businesses and individuals will be asked to curtail all "non-essential" water use.

On the "don't" list will be lawn watering, car washing, long baths or showers, serving water in restaurants except when requested and filling swimming pools or hot tubs.

The plan was adopted Thursday during a meeting of the local utility board.

Officials said they hope the conservation effort will keep Comal Springs running longer. At present consumption levels, the springs will dry up by July 10 if there is no rain.

The springs feed the Comal River, which attracts thousands of tourists each year to the New Braunfels area.

The New Braunfels strategy sounds good to Tom Fox, general manager of the Edwards Underground Water District. The Edwards Aquifer serves New Braunfels and other areas surrounding San Antonio.

"I think something positive will come of it. We'd like to see it tried here," he said.

meanor cases would result in shorter incarceration periods for persons arrested in connection with DWI cases, according to bail bondsmen present at the meeting.

Police Chief Rick Turner said his department will request a state Attorney General's opinion on the question and that he would make changes in his policies depending on that opinion.

Harte-Hanks attorney David Donaldson of Austin, contacted this morning by the Herald, said Article 17.20 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedures gives peace officers the right to set and accept bonds in misdemeanor cases.

However, he said peace officers have "the discretion, but not the obligation" to perform this role.

Doctors narrow search for gene

HOUSTON (AP) — Doctors studying the female chromosome announced Thursday they have found the approximate location of a gene that causes one form of an inherited blinding disease.

Baylor College of Medicine researchers Dr. Richard A. Lewis and Dr. Robert Nussbaum said their work has helped to narrow the search for the genetic cause of retinitis pigmentosa, a blinding disease that affects about 400,000 Americans.

Lewis and Nussbaum said the defective gene they are studying causes a type of RP called "metallic sheen" and that finding its location on the X chromosome will make it possible in "a few years" to develop a method of detecting carriers of the disease.

"Eventually, our finding may help identify and isolate the gene and may aid in developing a way to correct the genetic defect that causes RP," said Nussbaum.

Researchers in England recently determined that the gene for another type of RP is in the same general location on the X chromosome as the gene location studied by the Baylor researchers.

RP causes a progressive deterioration of vision and victims usually become blind or nearly so in their late 20s or early 30s. This is caused by a degeneration of the retina, a specialized tissue at the back of the eye that receives light. RP causes the retina to accumulate pigment.

Symptoms start with night blindness, loss of peripheral vision and then progresses to loss of color sight.

Lewis and Nussbaum said the "metallic sheen" RP is associated with the female, or X chromosome. A female has two such chromosomes. If one chromosome is a carrier of the RP gene then a male child born to the woman has a 50-50 chance of developing RP. Males have one X chromosome and one Y chromosome.

Currently, the only way to determine if a woman is a carrier of RP is to examine her retina. This frequently is done only after her child has developed RP.

Lewis and Nussbaum narrowed the location on the X chromosome of the RP gene by studying a family living in Houston and Mexico. They continued their study to precisely locate the defective gene on the X chromosome.

"When we find the gene we could use our information to determine with certainty which unborn males in a family are at risk of having RP, as well as determine who is a carrier before she has a child," said Lewis. "In the future, it would be possible to analyze the defective gene and determine what it is doing wrong or not doing right. When we know what is wrong, we can develop a treatment to reverse the effects of the gene."

Posters to be displayed at mall

167 posters made by Big Spring elementary school students from the first through fifth grades will be displayed Saturday at Highland Mall from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

These posters were entered in a recent poster contest sponsored by the Media and Movie Monitoring Task Force of the Chemical People.

Talent show sign-up scheduled

Sign-up is under way now for the Starlight Specials talent pageant scheduled at 8 p.m. July 7 in Comanche Trail Park amphitheatre.

All students and preschool residents of Howard County and the surrounding areas are eligible. People interested in singing, dancing, acting, music or gymnastics are welcomed to try out.

Applications, available through the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, must be returned by July 3. Preliminary auditions are July 6.

Audition times will be assigned upon receipt of the application. Division finalists will perform on July 7 for the 1984 talent show.

'Seedy' suit settled

LOS ANGELES — An $18 million lawsuit against journalist Bob Woodward, prompted by his use of the word "seedy" in a book to describe the bungalow where comedian John Belushi died, has been settled without cash damages.

At a joint news conference Thursday with an official of the Chateau Marmont hotel, Woodward said seedy referred "to the mess Belushi made just prior to his death, not to the quality of the Chateau itself."

On the dust jacket of Woodward's new book "Wired," he wrote "John Belushi was found dead of a drug overdose March 5, 1982 in a seedy hotel bungalow off Sunset Boulevard in Hollywood."

Proceedings in the hotel's $18 million lawsuit were to have begun Monday. Woodward's comments came via a telephone hookup from his office at The Washington Post.

Belushi died at a bungalow adjacent to the castle-like main structure of the Chateau Marmont, which has housed such celebrities as Greta Garbo and Mick Jagger.

Hotel co-owner Ray Sarlot said the hotel reserves the right to sue the book's publisher, Simon & Schuster, if the word "seedy" is not deleted from the dust jacket in future printings.

Gonzo award winner

NEW YORK — Mayor Edward I. Koch was overwhelmed when Kermit the Frog awarded him the Muppets' Gonzo award for appearing in a Muppets movie.

"This means more to me than the last award I received this morning," Koch said Thursday. "I'll treasure it until tomorrow."

The movie "The Muppets Take Manhattan," filmed in Central Park, opens next month.

"For outstanding performance by a politician in a film that stars animals," Kermit said, handing Koch a statuette of a frog.

"I was superb," Koch said of his cameo appearance, calling it "my first full-length movie."

Novelist challenged

NEW YORK — Tom Wolfe, author of "The Right Stuff" and an early proponent of using fiction techniques to tell true stories, is now taking on the challenge of writing a novel in installments.

Wolfe has already written a detailed, 100-page outline of "The Bonfire of the Vanities," and the first three chapters were published in Rolling Stone magazine's July 19 issue.

"No one can remember the ones who tried this and failed," Wolfe said at a news conference Thursday. "There were scores of them."

But Wolfe said he was confident that he would be up to the task of completing "Bonfire" by next spring. It will be published as a book by Farrar Straus & Giroux in September 1985, he said.

The novel, which appears to take place in the near future, is set in New York.

Photographer is citizen

LOS ANGELES — Ut Cong Huynh, the Associated Press photographer who won a Pulitzer Prize for his picture of a girl running from a napalm blast during the Vietnam War, has become an American citizen.

Huynh, waving a small American flag, was among some 6,000 people sworn in en masse Thursday at the Shrine Auditorium ceremony conducted by the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"I am very happy, wait so long," said Huynh, known to his work colleagues as Nick Ut.

HOME AGAIN — Jesse Jackson and Andres Vargas clasp hands after 48 prisoners from Cuba landed in Washington, D.C., last night. Vargas was a United Nations ambassador before his imprisonment for political crimes.

Freedom flight

Jackson jets home with 48 prisoners from Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-eight American and Cuban prisoners flew from Cuba to freedom and a tumultuous welcome here early today as their escort, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, returned home from his five-day swing through the Caribbean.

While most praised Jackson's mission, one Cuban turned the tables on the Democratic presidential candidate by ridiculing his bid to seek improved U.S.-Cuban relations.

"To go to Cuba to join in a moral offensive with (President) Fidel Castro ... is a moral offense," said Andres Vargas Gomez, the lone non-prisoner among the group.

Vargas, who had spent 20 years in prison followed by house arrest in Cuba, thanked Jackson for his efforts but said, "I cannot be here and allow that you might believe that Fidel Castro is a human being ... and that we are here on account of his kindness."

As the scene unfolded at the terminal building at nearby Dulles Airport, Jackson stood impassively behind Vargas while the Cuban spoke. Later, Jackson said, "I have a different view but that's what makes America America."

He said Vargas' remarks reflected the bitterness accumulated over two decades imprisonment. One freed Cuban prisoner, Daniel Conde Freire, said of his newfound freedom: "It's something I have wanted for so long, to come to the United States and get away from that small hellhole."

Aside from Vargas, Jackson returned with 22 Americans and 26 Cubans; but for six of the Americans, their flight with freedom was brief. They were taken into custody to face charges of violating U.S. laws.

Most of the Americans had been held in Cuba on drug charges. Stephen Trott, assistant attorney general for the Justice Department's criminal division, could not say what charges the six faced but he believed all were wanted for felony offenses.

The scene at Dulles was chaotic, with dozens of Jackson supporters comingling with reporters, friends and relatives of the prisoners and curiosity seekers as they awaited the midnight arrival.

Jackson spoke briefly about his success in securing the prisoner release but made clear the main purpose of his mission to Panama, El Salvador, Nicaragua and Cuba was peace.

"The signs of war are growing," Jackson told reporters. "The military budget is one the rise. Danger signs are on the rise. Dialogue and understanding on the decrease ..."

"It's time to stop the killing ... There comes a time when we must learn to forgive each other, to redeem each other and to move on."

Jackson said his goal was to challenge leaders of the region "to go on the moral offensive in the summertime and not to engage in a military offensive in the fall."

"It's time to stop the killing, the shedding of blood, the destruction of families. It's time to go another way."

Jackson disavows Black Muslim leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — After months of controversy over his opinions about Judaism, the Rev. Jesse Jackson has disavowed as "reprehensible and morally indefensible" comments about Jews made by militant Black Muslim leader Louis Farrakhan, an early supporter of Jackson's presidential campaign.

Blast destroys tanker

BUENOS AIRES — An explosion and dockside fire destroyed the 20,000-ton state-owned oil tanker Perito Moreno and forced temporary evacuation of hundreds of people from a nearby slum.

It was not immediately known whether the Thursday night blast and blaze, which were visible nine miles away, claimed any lives aboard the vessel. The ship normally carries a crew of 45.

Reports indicated between four and six people were missing, but police and firefighters declined to confirm the figure.

Punjab officials resign

NEW DELHI — The government announced a major administrative shake-up today in violence-torn Punjab state, accepting resignations from the governor, police chief and other officials who were criticized for dealing ineffectively with Sikh extremists.

Punjab governor B.D. Pande and state Inspector-General of Police Pritam Singh Bhinder submitted their resignations this morning. The federal government accepted the resignations promptly.

Details were not immediately available on other resignations. The government spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said a separate announcement would be made in the next day or two on the new governor, police and other senior officials.

Beirut fighting heats up

BEIRUT — Fighting broke out today along the line separating Beirut's Christian and Moslem sections, and artillery shells and rockets crashed into residential neighborhoods.

Rescue operations ended at a small island off the north Lebanon coast, and police said today that Israeli air and sea attacks on a suspected guerrilla base there left 15 people dead, 23 wounded and 11 missing and presumed drowned.

The fighting in Beirut was the worst since the national coalition Cabinet agreed a week ago to a security plan aimed at ending the violence. The shelling began a few hours after Moslem militiamen unleashed a storm of festive gunfire in mostly Moslem west Beirut to celebrate the first day of the Fitr feast ending the fasting month of Ramadan.

W. Germans end strike

STUTTGART — Union leaders and management compromised Thursday with a shortened workweek for metalworkers whose seven-week strike shut down the West German auto industry and cost billions of dollars.

The I.G. Metall union had demanded the workweek be shortened from 40 hours to 35, with no cut in pay, saying this would create new jobs for some of West Germany's 2.1 million unemployed. Management had said the added costs would price them out of the export market. Both sides settled for a 38.5 hour week without a cut in pay.

More than 400,000 metalworkers have been idled in strikes, lockouts, layoffs and forced vacations in what labor and management called West Germany's costliest and toughest labor conflict since World War II.

Russia deserves French scolding

A tip of the hat to Francois Mitterrand, the socialist president of France, who took the Russians to task at a state dinner in the Kremlin for their treatment of Andrei Sakharov.

The Russians need to be told of our disapproval when they treat their own people the way Sakharov has been treated. Sakharov is an eminent scientist, a savant. He is the father of the Soviet hydrogen bomb. But to the rulers of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, he is a serf. His dissidence is not to be tolerated. He has been sent into internal exile in the city of Gorki, and both he and his wife are on a hunger strike because she is not being permitted to leave the country to seek medical care.

Sakharov is a man of peace, but he is a realist. He knows the risks he and his wife are taking. Their safety depends on support from the West. Sakharov by his courage and his commitment to the cause of world peace has become a citizen of the world.

It was proper for Mitterrand to speak out. It was France that gave the world a Declaration of the Rights of Man. The cause of liberty is a French cause. So it is that, of all the countries on the continent of Europe, France seems most willing to associate itself with the United States in criticizing the Kremlin.

French is the language of diplomacy. But it is also the language of clarity, of candor, of humanity. It used to be the language of the Russian aristocracy. Surely there must remain some dim understanding of French values among those in power in Moscow.

Art Buchwald
Space scenario

The successful test of an anti-ballistic missile against a dummy one in space could not come at a better time for President Reagan's campaign to get more funds for his "Star Wars" program.

It also vindicated the lifetime work of Professor Grindewald, who was the first to put forward the theory that anything man could put into space he could also shoot down.

Ridiculed in the scientific community for years, Grindewald may now go down in history as the Father of World War III.

I found the old man in his home in Falls Church, Va.

He took me into his garage and showed me sketches dating back to 1962 covered with mathematical calculations, and then told me his story.

"After the Soviets launched Sputnik, everyone in America panicked except me. I went to see Kennedy's people in the White House and said, 'There is only one answer to Sputnik. We have to launch a crash program to shoot it down.' They told me the president had a better idea. America would develop satellites of its own, and compete peacefully with the Soviets in space. Space, Kennedy insisted, must not be used as a launching pad for war.

"So he created NASA and sent manned and unmanned satellites into the sky, without giving any thought to their military value. Every time I saw one go up I got sick.

"Pretty soon there were hundreds of satellites swooping around the sky. It made me furious. While other space scientists were working to get more of them into space, I decided to devote my life to shooting them down."

"You were way ahead of your time."

Grindewald said, "First I went to NASA and asked them if they would finance my research. No one would listen to me. They said the space program was man's last chance to improve the quality of life on earth and to unlock the secrets of the universe.

"Then I went to Congress with my dream. I asked them to let me shoot down one communications satellite to prove that it could be done. My timing was off because our astronauts had just landed on the moon and the country was brainwashed into believing this accomplishment was the dawn of a new civilization. I had to laugh.

"What finally saved me was Vladimir Richesky, a Soviet scientist who also had a deep hatred of using space for peaceful purposes. We met at a 'Star Trek' convention at Disneyland and exchanged views. I told him if he would let me steal his anti-satellite weapon plans I could prove the Soviets were going to use space to launch a first-strike attack on the U.S. Then Congress would give me funds to develop my program. In exchange I would let him steal my plans so he could prove to the Kremlin we were working on a top-secret strategy to shoot down their satellites. Then he could get all the rubles he needed from the Kremlin to finance his research.

"He naturally agreed, and now thanks to that meeting the U.S. and U.S.S.R. are on a collision course in space."

"Weren't you afraid of being arrested for exchanging secrets with the Soviets?"

"What secrets? Satellites are sitting ducks. All you have to do is aim a laser beam at one and it goes POOF!"

"You gave the space program a whole new lease on life," I said.

Grindewald said modestly, "I never doubted we could do it. Once I proved the Soviets were up to their ears in space warfare research I had President Reagan's ear."

"What did he say when you showed him your anti-satellite weapon plan?"

"He just smiled and said, 'This is one small step for man and one giant leap for mankind!'"

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you think we ought to treat the Sabbath day any different than we do any other day? If so, how should we look upon it? — H.L.

DEAR H.L.: I know the Sabbath day is just like any other day for many people, but this is unfortunate. The Sabbath — one day out of seven in the week — was appointed by God for our good, and when we fail to use it as God intends, we are spiritually and physically poorer for it.

God set the Sabbath apart for us to be both a day of rest and a day of worship.

The sins of Synfuels are many

WASHINGTON — In a series of columns last year, I exposed the extravagance of the U.S. Synthetic Fuels Corp., which has squandered the taxpayers' money but has yet to produce its first erg of energy from alternative sources.

I reported in depressing detail how Synfuels executives had searched for a petroleum substitute at golf courses, sauna baths and nightclubs around the world. The officials indignantly denied my charges that they were wasting the $15 billion Congress has authorized for this gigantic boondoggle.

But no less than President Reagan has now complained about Synfuels' wasteful ways. He has told Congress he wants to cut about $10 billion from the corporation's budget.

The president's disenchantment with Synfuels is welcome, if belated. For months, the Synfuels board has lacked a quorum because so many members have resigned under fire. Scandals and bickering have led to the departure of five of the board's seven members, which means Synfuels can't legally approve alternate fuel projects. Yet this is its sole reason for existing.

Though the president's suggested $10 billion cut would effectively shut Synfuels out of its misery, it is far from certain that Congress will approve the mercy killing. For the corporation's custody of a $15 billion pork barrel has won it some influential friends, both Republicans and Democrats, on Capitol Hill.

An outrageous example of Synfuels' operations is the proposed "Scrubgrass" synthetic fuel project near Pittsburgh. This has the ardent support of Rep. William Clinger, R-Pa., in whose district it would be built. Even though the Scrubgrass request for $500 million has been rejected four times, two Synfuels officials flew to Pittsburgh to meet with the project's sponsors to help them fill out the forms for one last attempted raid on the Treasury.

My associates John Dillon and Corky Johnson have checked into the Scrubgrass project and uncovered information that casts serious doubts on the legitimacy of its claims to public funds. For example:

- The president has recently insisted that Synfuels projects produce fuel that will be priced competitively with oil. Scrubgrass sponsors say they have no idea what the fuel they hope to produce will cost.
- The directors of the chief sponsor, AC Valley Corp., have virtually no experience in synthetic fuels. They include a waitress, a minister and a schoolteacher.
- Behind the facade of a locally owned company with few tangible assets is a German name: Krupp, Germany's munitions maker from Bismarck to Hitler. Krupp-GKT, which will provide the gasification technology for Scrubgrass, is a wholly owned subsidiary of Friedrich Krupp GmbH, which is 25 percent owned by Iran. So American taxpayers would be indirectly subsidizing the Ayatollah Khomeini.
- AC Valley officials have claimed they have financial commitments from two labor union pension funds. But the most they have to show are letters from one union that said Scrubgrass "could be an example of the kind of investment which pension fund trustees might consider reviewing."
- AC Valley's president, Neal

McGarvey, took leave from a Washington consulting firm to organize the Scrubgrass project. His former employer, Syscon Corp., could get a $200,000 subcontract if Synfuels agrees to fund Scrubgrass.

- A lawyer for AC Valley, J. Michael King, who describes himself as "just a country lawyer," is also the attorney for the township where Scrubgrass would be located. And his law partner, Miles Lynn, is a director of AC Valley.

Footnote: McGarvey said he doesn't know why Scrubgrass was rejected by Synfuels four times. He denied any conflict of interest regarding Syscon Corp. and said Scrubgrass would help alleviate unemployment in the area. As for AC Valley's lack of expertise, McGarvey said other sponsoring partners have enough experience, and added candidly: "We simply will act as a catalyst. We recognize our limitations. Ours are that we can't manage a multi-million-dollar facility."

IMELDA TALKS: Did Ronald Reagan, when he was president-elect, urge Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos to lift martial law? First Lady Imelda Marcos said that's exactly what he did when she and Reagan met at the Waldorf Towers in New York in December 1980.

"He told (us) not to act hastily. He said the stability and security of our country are vital to the U.S., and we should not rush into any changes. ... He practically told me not to lift martial law yet."

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

$7,500 copier is business nonsense

To the editor:

Seventy-five hundred dollars for a copier? For the County Engineer's office? Although there was no mention of the volume of copies made by the County Engineer's Department, it appears the County Commissioners have done the equivalent of purchasing a semi-truck to do the job that could be done by a pick-up truck.

I am basing my opinion on the experience of a local business I am familiar with. In just over a year they ran over 125,000 copies through a remanufactured Xerox 660 (built in the 1960s) and purchased for $1500. Granted that old machine was a little slow; therefore, they purchased a Xerox 2830 copier just over a month ago. The price? Twenty-five hundred dollars spread out equally over a 12 month period with no interest. They have already run 7,366 copies — sometimes as many as 2,000 in succession. The operator tells me they have had no problems with overheating or quality deterioration of the copies. The last copy was just as perfect as the first one. This copier will make standard letter size copies, legal size copies, or even 11-by-17 inch copies.

What I am getting at is I can't imagine the County Engineer's office needing a machine three times more expensive than the one I have described. Although this excessive spending doesn't quite rank with the Defense Department paying hundreds of dollars for items costing less than a dollar which we are now hearing about in the news, it is still unsettling.

If our county commissioners court does not know the value of our dollars in relation to the equipment they are purchasing, perhaps it would be wise to contact some local businessmen or consumers before making such a purchase instead of listening only to the salesman making the sales presentation or the department wanting the equipment.

If I were selling a car, for instance, I would rather sell a Mercedes than a Volkswagen. If I was having a car bought for me, I would rather have a Mercedes than a Volkswagen. It only stands to reason the people who should be consulted should be the ones ultimately paying for the car and the people who are paying for the purchases being made by the Commissioner's Court are the taxpayers.

Around The Rim
By RICK BROWN
The idea man

City Fathers made a good choice Tuesday in tapping Micheal Russell for a recently vacated spot on the Parks and Recreation Board.

In his first dip into the city political pool last April, Russell came out the loser in the city council District 3 election, not even making the run-off cut that pitted ball bondsman Danny Heckler against eventual winner Harold Hall.

Russell, a man with positive ideas, deserved better.

Prior to the election, the 34-year-old director of operations at H.W. Wright Oil Co. proposed a four-point platform that was long on ideas for city betterment, some of which are slowly becoming reality.

Russell's platform came out strongly for both city clean-up and downtown renovation, two programs that have recently begun to bear fruit in the form of the CLEAN and Heart of the City projects.

Although the energies of scores of other persons are making these projects work, it must be a source of some satisfaction for this idea man to have brought these notions to the forefront — even without winning the election.

A partial explanation of Russell's loss might be his challenge to current city governors and administration to form a more cohesive bond with greater segments of the city.

"I feel we're divided," Russell said before the election.

"In the last few years, there has been a chasm between the council, the city administration and the public. I want to rebuild the unity of the community."

It speaks well for our City Fathers that they would bring Russell into the decision-making process rather than shutting him out.

And how does Russell feel about his board membership?

"I feel pretty good about it," the generally soft-spoken man said yesterday.

"My main objective right now is to get with the rest of the board and find out where everyone is coming from."

"If I have some ideas — you know me — I'll put them forward," he added.

Dear Abby

Wife is uneasy rider when husband drives

DEAR ABBY: My husband absolutely refuses to go anywhere in the car without a cooler and a six-pack of beer.

He used to be a menace (drunk driving), but since we've had the kids he usually keeps his beer intake down to one beer per one hour of driving. Our kids are now 3 and 4, and I think it sets a terrible example for them when Daddy refuses to drive anywhere without his beer.

I have argued with my husband about this until I am blue in the face, but it does no good. My only alternative would be to forbid him to take the kids anywhere unless I go along to drive. He loves the kids and likes to take them places. He did have one DWI with our youngest in the car when she was 18 months old. He said he learned his lesson then, and now he watches his intake while driving.

I don't think he should drink at all while driving. Can you help me?

WORRIED IN TEXAS

DEAR WORRIED: Your husband is an alcoholic and should have absolutely nothing to drink while he is driving. You should positively forbid it. Please don't wait until he maims or kills himself, his family or some innocent stranger while he is under the influence.

I beg you to take a firm stand on this now, and if he continues to drink and drive, tell him that whether he admits it or not, he is an alcoholic, and if he does not go to a treatment clinic, he cannot continue to live as a family with you and the children he professes to love.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 22 and in love with a great guy. He's 28. We met four years ago and moved in together last year. He's married, but it's not what you think. His wife left him 4½ years ago. I had nothing to do with the trouble between them — and I didn't even know him then. He came home from work one day and she was gone with all her things and some of his. There were no children.

We have no idea where this woman is — we've been looking for four years. She has his parents' phone number and address if she wants to contact him.

We have called lawyers and been to the courthouse and public library, but we can't trace her. So what are we supposed to do? Stay unmarried until she decides to surface? After all, she abandoned him, so why should he suffer?

Abby, she could take forever to show up. No one knows what we should do. Do you? We want to get married, but how can we when he is married to a woman who is hiding? We want to marry and start a family. Thank you.

FRUSTRATED: A lawyer can tell you what to do. Retain one for this purpose, and good luck.

Dr. Donohue

Removal of parathyroids

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I don't know if you've discussed parathyroid glands before, but wish you would this time. My son, who is 28, has just been told that he has hyperparathyroidism and that the only cure is removal of one of the parathyroid glands. He has had a couple of bouts with kidney stones already. Can you explain the connection between his stones and the parathyroid glands? Will he always be bothered by stones if he keeps the glands intact? I am wondering if surgery is the only answer. — F.C.

I'm sure you know where the thyroid gland is. That's the soft mass you feel when you grab the base of your neck and take a shallow. It rises up against your hand. But right behind that gland, and adhering to it, are the small parathyroid glands. (Para, incidentally, is Greek for "next to.") There are four of them.

The parathyroids produce certain hormones that regulate the calcium and phosphorous concentrations in your blood. When they make too much hormone, the illness is called hyperparathyroidism. And the signs of it are many — weakness, mental confusion, excessive urination, high blood pressure, ulcers, bone pain and the kidney stones you mention. These are all possible consequences of having too much calcium in the blood.

Surgery is the curative for this, for usually one of the parathyroids has developed into a benign tumor, causing such an outpouring of the gland's hormone that calcium is leached away from bone substance.

Sometimes when calcium levels are only marginally elevated and when that is producing no problems, then surgery is not done. And other illnesses may preclude surgery. However, your son does sound like a good candidate for an operation because of his repeated kidney-stone formation. Recurring bouts of stone formation can damage the kidneys, so it is good medicine to try to stop that formation when possible. If you want a second opinion, you are welcome to get it, but from this distance it sounds like a reasonable answer for your son.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Since 1980 and through the ensuing three years, my husband has had X-rays, approximately 4,350 of them. He had kidney stones and that was the reason for having them. I am concerned about his health and the danger of so many X-rays in such a short period. Is his life in danger? — Mrs. S.

Generally speaking, while concern over X-ray exposure is justified, the hazards have to be kept in perspective. Today, X-ray machines emit much less radiation than previously. Also, better methods of reading them have reduced the amount of radiation needed.

But let's get down to facts. The increased risk for cancer appears when the lifetime X-ray dose exceeds 40 to 50 rems (40,000 to 50,000 millirems). I'll explain what that means in your husband's case.

I am pretty sure he had an intravenous pyelogram done. That's an X-ray where dye is injected into a vein and pictures are taken of the kidneys when the dye gets there. The X-ray dosage from a IVP is 420 millirems. I think what you meant to write was that your husband had a total dose of 4,350 millirems.

The government has determined that those who work with radioactive substances must not be exposed to more than 5,000 millirems a year. Your husband is below that figure, too. So even though he has had a lot of X-rays, his total dose is still relatively small.

Dwayne Stone to lead crusade

DWAYNE STONE

By RHONDA WOODALL
Church Editor

Dwayne Stone will be the keynoter in the 1984 Dwayne Stone Big Spring Spiritual Life Crusade at Big Spring High School Auditorium, Sunday through July 6. Camp meeting '84 services will be held each night at 7:30 p.m.

"We are excited (about the crusade)," Stone said. "We believe this is God's time and God's place." The crusade is sponsored by several local churches.

The crusade is being held, because "we have sensed a great spiritual hunger and the Bible says those who hunger and thirst after righteousness will be filled," Stone said.

The ground work for the crusade began in January. Stone preached a few days at Trinity Family Church. "That's where God began to deal with us in coming to Big Spring for an area-wide crusade. Pastor (Bob) Millsaps was the one who invited me the first time. Several pastors have invited me this time."

Stone became interested in the ministry when he attended a church service at age thirteen. "At the end of one evening, I sensed God speaking to me," he said. "For three hours, God dealt with me about going into the ministry. Since then that is all I've ever wanted to do; to share Jesus Christ."

Stone was encouraged by a preacher and began his pulpit ministry at age fourteen. "A pastor in Wellington, Ks. invited me to preach for four days, and from there, as I grew up in high school, I would fill in for different pastors that were on vacation. I became associate pastor of my home church, First Assembly of God in Nampa, Idaho." Stone is an ordained Assembly of God minister.

"After college, I started receiving invitations and started to travel all over the United States. I've preached in Baptist, Nazarene, and independent churches, in universities, in parks and on street corners. About any place they would let me preach, I'd preached."

Stone and wife Susan are part of Solid Rock Ministries.

Crestview Adult Choir presents musical

The Crestview Baptist Adult Choir will perform the musical "He Started the Whole World Singing" at the church auditorium, at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The musical tells the story of the Israelites in bondage and being without a homeland, and how God promised he would give them a home through Jesus, who started the world singing.

The musical includes songs entitled "Zion Kept on Calling," "They Shall Go Out Weeping," "Bring Back the Glory," "Shepherd's Song," "Next Time We Meet" and more. Solos will be performed by Leah Walters, J.R. Walters, Kenny Scott, Debbie Grimes, Jim Grimes, Patsy Scott, Jan Odom, Tommy Musgrove and Jamie Scott. Narrators will be Don Moore, Clifton Platte and Debbie Moore.

The public is invited to attend. Admission is free and a nursery will be provided. Crestview Baptist is located on the corner of Gatesville and Eubanks Rd.

REV. AND MRS. BOBBY FULLER
...honored on anniversary by College Baptist Church

The church celebrated Fuller's anniversary during the morning worship service, Sunday. All the plans for the celebration were a surprise to the Fullers. Tim Blackshear, chairman of the building and grounds committee, presented a large golden key to Fuller. This key represents the key for his new study.

Horace Blackshear, chairman of deacons, presented Fuller with a check for $486 to cover the cost of materials for the new study. Cricket Pairrett presented Mrs. Fuller with a spring flower corsage.

Since Fuller's arrival at College Baptist, he has expressed a desire for a study where he can spend more time in study, prayer and preparation for preaching. Construction of the study will be done with volunteer help from church members.

Following the evening service, the church had an ice cream and cake reception honoring the Fullers. Since Sunday, more money has been donated for the study bringing the total received to $504.

Youth will wash, dip dogs

The First Christian Church youth and Highland Pontiac are sponsoring a "Dog Wash and Dip" at Highland Pontiac, Dodge, Chrysler, FM 700 and Goliad, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The fundraiser is being held in conjunction with Rodeo Week and will benefit the church's youth groups for a ski trip later in the 1984-85 school year. The youth will bath the dogs and dip them to rid of "varmits."

Women learn about Japan

The ladies of Calvary Baptist Church met for the Royal Service Missionary Program, June 19. The program was titled "Japan's cities: Day of Opportunity."

According to the Mission Program, a Tokyo newspaper reported that a hundred Tokyos are growing in Asia. Population is shifting away from the agricultural pattern of the past to modern technology. Young people are called to a new lifestyle and flock to the cities in search of excitement, employment and wealth. Often they find unemployment, crime and alienation instead. Urbanization could be the civilization's number one problem in the coming century, the program said.

Today, 180 missionaries work with Japanese pastors and laymen in 250 churches and missions to reach the people in Japan's cities.

Church to observe holiday

The First Church of the Nazarene will observe patriotic services Sunday at 10:50 a.m. Dr. Carl Powers, pastor, will use as his sermon theme "Four Thoughts for the Fourth."

The congregation will join in singing beamed toward love for America. The Sanctuary Choir will provide special music. Children's Church sessions will meet during the morning service providing worship opportunities for those in kindergarten through the sixth grade. Steve Powers is the children's pastor.

Sunday School classes will convene at 9:45 a.m. with Cotton Mize, director of Christian Life. A Summer/Time Enlargement Program is providing impetus for Sunday School growth during the summer months according to Mize. "S.T.E.P. into Summer" saw June's attendance increase seven percent over last June as the church works to "stump the summer slump syndrome." Classes are provided for all age groups.

At 6 p.m., the evening service gives opportunity for a relaxed evening of singing, prayer, testimonies and a sermon by Dr. Powers.

Church honors pastor

College Baptist Church celebrated the first anniversary of their pastor, Sunday. On June 19, 1983, Bobby and Phyllis Fuller joined the congregation as the church's new pastor.

Jehovah's Witnesses meet

MIDLAND — An audience of 5,782 Jehovah's Witnesses jammed the Chaparral Center in Midland for the final sessions of the religious group's "Kingdom Increases" district convention, Sunday.

The key speech, "A Government That Accomplishes What Man Cannot," was by L.E. Punko of New York. Punko contrasted the scientific achievements of the 20th century with the massive problems that perplex the human family. Paradoxically, Punko said, we reap benefits from modern technology and also are threatened with extinction by new weapons of enormous, destructive power.

He pointed to economic crises, rapidly-changing lifestyles, moral decay, disease and hunger as problems that remain unsolved despite technological advancement. "In the United States, some 34 million persons are classified as living below the poverty line," he said, "and as many as 2 1/2 million citizens are without a place to live."

Human governments cannot solve global poverty, he said. He detailed that governments of the undeveloped world are 700 billion dollars in debt and many cannot even pay the interest on their loans. "The United States' debt has passed $1,400 billion. Just the interest on it yearly is over 120 billion dollars," he said.

Discussing the horrors of war, Punko said the technology of World War I introduced killing methods unheard of in previous generations. Quoting author Richard Rees, Punko said, "The 1914 to 1918 war brought two facts to light: first, that technology had reached a point where it could continue without disaster only in a unified world and, second, that the political and social organizations in the world made its unification impossible."

"Think of this," Punko said, "Every minute, worldwide, 30 children die from malnutrition and disease. In that same minute, the world spends 1 1/2 million dollars on its military budget — about 800 billion dollars a year."

Punko added that the farther away individuals and nations get from God's laws, the more ruinously they act. "We should believe it when God's prophetic Word tells us that we are nearing the end of the time limit he has allowed for humans to go their independent way," Punko said. Punko said the present world is nearing its end, not in nuclear holocaust, but in judgement from God.

Lutherans introduce series

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP) — A new Sunday School curriculum, "Living Faith Series," will be introduced into congregations of the Lutheran Church in America this fall.

According to the church, the new curriculum places greater emphasis on the Bible and provides more detailed lesson plans. It was recently introduced at St. Paul Lutheran Church here and has been presented at 239 other workshops in the United States.

Milwaukee site of meeting

NEW YORK (AP) — United Church of Christ women from throughout the United States will meet next month in Milwaukee, Wis., to discuss the problems and responsibilities of women in church and in the secular world.

Women at the July 12-16 meeting will discuss many contemporary issues including abortion, recasting scriptural passages to eliminate bias against women, school prayer, discrimination against clergywomen, aging, human sexuality and civil rights.

The meeting is sponsored by the 1.7 million-member denomination's Coordinating Center for Women in Church and Society and United Church of Christ Women in Mission.

Ecumenical center desired

NEW YORK (AP) — A group named Church Women United plans to create an ecumenical center at the third United Nation's World Conference for Women, being held in Nairobi, Kenya, in July 1985.

The facility, to be called Women of Faith Center, will be a gathering place where women of all faiths can worship together and share information and experiences.

The U.N. conference, which was preceded by similar meetings in Mexico City in 1975 and Copenhagen in 1980, will explore the progress achieved by women in the International Decade for Women, which ends next year.

PUC orders Bell to expand economy rate service

'...the majority of customers now utilizing the service make $20,000 a year and above, have a college education, two incomes and aren't home very much.'

Richard Harris
Bell official

AUSTIN (AP) — The Public Utility Commission ordered Southwestern Bell on Thursday to make its "economy rate" telephone service available to about 70 percent of its Texas customers.

The reduced rate was intended for the poor, but a Bell-commissioned study said it's been most used by so-called "yuppies," professionals who are not home much.

The decision came as the commission denied 12 requests to reconsider a May 1 PUC ruling granting Bell an $816.7 million rate hike that added 32 cents to monthly residential service bills.

Bell wanted a $1.3 billion increase that would have doubled residential bills.

The company now can take the case to court, but Richard Harris, vice president for revenues in Texas, said no decision has been made on whether to file a lawsuit.

"Our inclination has been not to appeal the case," he said, adding that the PUC rate order "hastens the day" when Bell will file another increase request.

Bell was among 12 parties who asked the commission to reconsider parts of the case, which was filed a year ago. Commissioners turned down the motions, but ordered Bell to revise the economy rate service, which offers 25 outgoing local calls a month for a reduced charge.

The economy rate has been offered in 18 exchanges as an experiment. Under the Thursday order, Bell must offer the service in all areas served by electronic switching equipment. Harris said that would include about 70 percent of Bell's Texas customers.

Commissioners initially approved the economy rate after consumer groups said it was needed for low-income Texans. However, Harris said a consultant's study showed poor people have not been the prime customers for the service.

"The demographics of the study showed the majority of customers now utilizing the service make $20,000 a year and above, have a college education, two incomes and aren't home very much," he said.

The economy rate in Houston is $5.55 a month, with an 8-cent charge for each additional call. The monthly charge for basic residential service in Houston is now $11.05 a month for unlimited calls.

Commissioners also ordered Bell to "widely advertise" the economy rate.

White blasts drinking age law penalty

MARK WHITE

AUSTIN — State highway officials predict Texas could lose almost $1.5 billion in highway funds under a bill sent to President Reagan on Thursday that would penalize states which do not raise their drinking age to 21 by 1986.

The drinking age in Texas is 19. Reagan already has announced he would sign a national drinking age bill.

At a news conference in Austin on Thursday, Gov. Mark White said he would favor the 21-year-old drinking age if it has the "desired effect" of reducing deaths caused by teen-agers driving while intoxicated.

But White called the penalty measure "heavy-handed."

"But if that's the way they proceed, we're not in a position to do anything about it," White said.

Under the bill, unless a state raised its drinking age to 21 by Oct. 1, 1986, it would lose 5 percent of its federal highway construction funds for fiscal year 1986. The percent goes up to 10 percent for fiscal year 1987.

New indictments issued in death of ranch 'slave'

KERRVILLE (AP) — A grand jury returned an organized crime indictment Thursday against nine people in connection with the alleged kidnapping and murder of a drifter who authorities say was held captive at a Hill Country ranch.

"This is the first time organized crime has been applied to a situation like this," said Kerr County District Attorney Ron Sutton. "It will make it hard for them to point a finger at each other."

The grand jury met in a special session before returning the indictment. The charge replaces an earlier murder indictment against three members of the ranch family and three drifters who worked on the ranch.

The new indictment also adds four new defendants to the case. Sutton said the names of the new defendants will not be released until they are arrested.

Already in jail are Walter Wesley Ellebracht, his son, Walter Wesley Ellebracht Jr., his daughter-in-law, Joyce Ellebracht, Carlton Robert Caldwell and Mark Hamilton.

The four are accused of kidnapping drifter Anthony Bates on Feb. 19, torturing him and killing him on March 3.

State District Judge V. Murray Jordan set bond at $250,000 each and scheduled arraignment for July 6.

The original indictment charging a fourth drifter, Darryl Hunsaker, in the Bates killing was not changed by the grand jury.

Emission control tests tightened

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Air Control Board said Thursday that starting next week cars and light-duty trucks registered and operated in Harris County must undergo much closer annual inspections of emission control equipment.

The inspection program includes all 1968 or later-model cars and trucks fueled with gasoline or gasohol.

Big Spring rodeo gets new leader

By BILLY NABOURS
Sports Editor

Bobby Del Vecchio, the "Bronx Cowboy," was the only new leader to emerge at the second performance of the 51st Annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Thursday night, although several ties are to be had in the timed events.

Del Vecchio, known as the "Concrete Cowboy," from New York earned a score of 81 in the bullriding competition. First round leader Gary Toole slipped to third with 77 because behind Del Vecchio's score is Cody Lambert's 80. Phillip Graf is also still in the running for the money with a fourth place 75.

Hometown favorite Wacey Cathey rode his bull, but Cathey's score of 73 is good only for a sixth place tie.

Another hometown cowboy doing well, however was Toots Mansfield. The seven time world champion calf roper joined Walton Poage of Rankin in tetam roping and the pair turned an 8.1. That was good for second in Thursday's go-round and has the pair of veteran rodeopers sitting third overall. Frank Matthews and Johnny Cordova had the night's best time of 7.9. Sterling an Charlie Price and Walt Rodman and Bret Boatright share the lead with 4.7 turned in at slack competition Tuesday.

Buddy Reynolds of Slaton is in the running for prize money in both bronc riding events. Reynolds' Wednesday night score of 73 in saddle broncs is holding at second behind Dave Appleton's 75 and Reynolds came up with a 74 in Thursday's bareback competition, good for fourth so far. Scott Gilbert and Tom Neuens scored 71's to tie for Thursday's top saddle bronc ride, but they are tied for third overall after two performances of the rodeo that still has two more on tap. The rodeo gets underway at 8:30 p.m. at the Rodeo Bowl.

None of the Thursday's bareback riders approached opening night's scores which still give the top spot to Jack Ward with an 81. The best was Reynolds' 74 followed by Jack Himes of Big Spring with a 73.

Jimmie Cooper threw his steer in 5.2 to take over third place among steer wrestlers. He just edged out Monty Heatly and Llew Rust, of Sonora and Del Rio respectively, when both recorded 5.4.

The calf roping also became a congested race for the cash as Rick Kyle tied his calf in 10.0, tying the Quannah cowboy for third with Tod Sloan of Martindale. Jim Hodge's slack time of 9.3 and Dave Brock's 9.7 may be hard to beat with only tonight's and Saturday's rodeo performances left.

In barrel racing the ladies showed more consistent times than Wednesday, but first night co-leaders Sue Overton and Kim Miller remain that way with 17.17. Thursday's best ride was turned in Lee Ann Guilkey of Decatur. Her 17.19 ties her for second with Janet Powell while there is also a logjam for third with Manor's Nancy Mayes and Aubrey's Vicki Ferguson recording 17.33.

HOMETOWN FAVORITE — Wacey Cathey aboard his ride at Thursday's performance of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo. Cathey scored a 73 which is good for a sixth place tie with two more rodeo performances to go. Things begin happening at the Rodeo Bowl at 8:30 p.m.

Wimby upset bullet hits American seed

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Fourth-seeded Pam Shriver, who narrowly escaped her second-round opponent, crushed fellow American Camille Benjamin 6-0, 6-2 today and moved into the fourth round of the women's singles at the Wimbledon tennis championships.

Also advancing under the leaden gray skies were sixth-seeded Kathy Jordan, No. 7 Manuela Maleeva of Bulgaria and No. 13 Barbara Potter.

But American Lisa Bonder, the No. 11 seed, became the latest casualty as she fell to Elizabeth Sayers of Australia 6-4, 6-2 on the grass courts of the All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club.

The top two seeds in the women's singles, No. 1 Martina Navratilova and No. 2 Chris Evert Lloyd, also saw action today.

Jordan defeated Britain's Julie Salmon 6-4, 6-3; Maleeva downed South Africa's Yvonne Vermaak 6-4, 6-4, and Potter topped Marcela Skuherska of Czechoslovakia 6-1, 6-3.

Shriver disposed of Benjamin, a Bakersfield, Calif., high school student who reached the semifinals of the French Open earlier this month, in just 50 minutes. On the few occasions Benjamin journeyed near the net, Shriver passed her cleanly.

Benjamin rallied at the beginning of the second set, holding her own service twice for 2-2. But the Lutherville, Md., right-hander, a semifinalist here in 1981, ripped through the next four games to walk away an easy winner.

"I went into today's match differently," Shriver said. "I was a little more nervous than the other day when I took things too lightly. But it was a different match. Camille stays back whereas (Puer to Rico's Gigi) Fernandez is basically a grass court player."

Sayers, a 21-year-old grass court specialist from Perth, shocked Bonder, the 18-year-old French Open quarter-finalist from Saline, Mich.

The Australian, who needed 67 minutes to advance into the fourth round, began the match by dropping her serve. But she broke right back, and, falling behind 3-4, took the next three games to close out the opening set. She completely dominated her baseline-playing opponent in the second set, Bonder winning only the third and seventh games.

Jordan, who shocked Lloyd here last year and again at Eastbourne last week, had a fight on her hands with the 18-year-old Salmon. In the early games, Jordan looked tentative as Salmon tested her with a mixture of lobs and passing shots.

But Jordan, who lives in King of Prussia, Pa., called on her experience and weathered the storm, finally pulling out the victory in straight sets. The key was the eighth game of the second set when Jordan hit four excellent returns of service to break Salmon. She then served a love game to close out the match in 77 minutes.

Panthers, Cunningham Oil claim titles

Division I championship to be decided tonight

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

The Kiwanis Purple Panthers needed a game ending double play by shortstop Teresa Averett to squelch a last inning Gressett Gulf Angels rally as the Purple Panthers downed the Angels 10-9 to win the UGSA Division II City Tournament Thursday night at Roy Anderson Complex.

Averett caught a ball off the bat of Carrie Alexander and doubled the runner up on second for the final out with the bases loaded. Her heroics turned back a sixth inning charge that saw the Angels rally from a four run deficit.

Irene Jara led off the inning with a walk followed by Joana Gardner and Roslynn Smith. Then Panthers pitcher Terri Moncoda walked three consecutive batters bringing in three runs before Averett pulled off the twin killing.

Double plays played a large part in the Panthers' success since the champs pulled off four during the contest. The Angels were plagued with not getting runners across home plate. They left 12 runners stranded, including leaving the bases loaded twice.

Moncoda, a wiry left-hander was just one of three Panthers pitchers who switched duties throughout the game. She, along with starter Jennifer Cranford and Averett allowed 11 Angels hits while walking eight. Like the final score the contest was close all the way. The Panthers never trailed in the game, the score was 4-4 after three innings of play with the largest Panther lead being 10-5 in the fifth stanza.

The Panthers jumped out to a 3-0 lead in their half of the first thanks to singles by Averett and Stefanie Ramirez. The Angels came back with two runs in their first at bat when Pam Gill and Jara singled. Jara's hit scored Peaches Clark and Carrie Alexander. Jara had the big bat for the Angels going two for two while driving in four runs.

The Panthers scored their fourth run in the third inning when Laura Pena hit a inside-the-park homer. The Angels tied it up on a single by Gardner and an inside-the-park home run by Jara.

The Panthers erupted for five runs in the fourth inning thanks to single by Alicia Rios which scored Denise Flores. Averett then banged out a base clearing triple that scored Marissa DeLeon, Rios and Cranford. Laurie Robertson doubled, scoring Averett with run number nine.

Averett also had hot bat for the winners as she banged out two hits in four trips to the plate. She scored two runs while driving in four. Ramirez also had two hits for the Panthers.

Pam Gill took the loss for the Angels as she pitched four innings allowing nine runs on seven hits. Jara allowed one run and one hit in two innings of relief.

CUNNINGHAM WINS DIVISION III

Cunningham Oil handily won the Division III championship by downing Citizen's F.C.U. 14-2 behind the five-hit pitching of Melissa Paige.

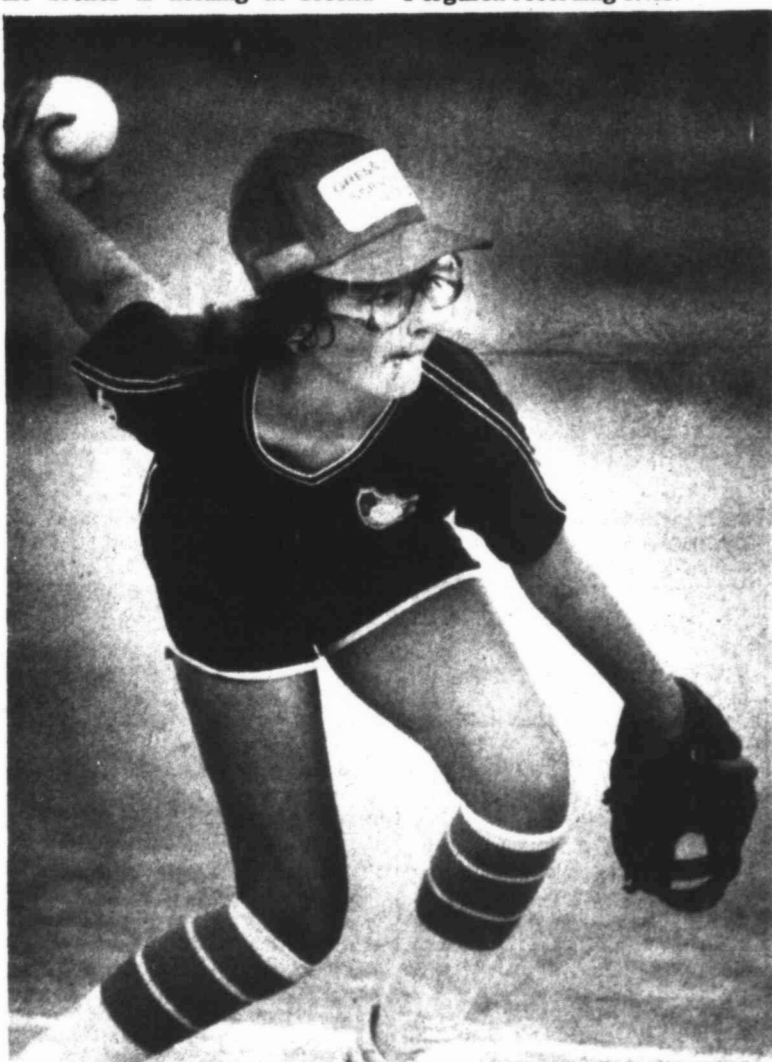

Denise Greenfield paced the Cunningham bats with two doubles while Terri Tucker and Janice Cunningham each hit doubles. Alice Lopez took the loss for Citizen's.

EAGLES FORCE TITLE GAME IN DIV. I

The Eagles Lodge forced a title contest versus the First Federal Fillies tonight at 6 p.m. by virtue of their 21-7 victory over Big Spring Athletics and 16-6 win over the Fillies.

Tessa Olague was the winning hurler in the first contest as Karma Morrow came on in relief Jana Jones was the losing pitcher. Olague aided her own cause with a grand slam while Cristy Webb drove in three RBI's.

Morrow picked up the win against the Fillies while E.D. Barnett took the loss. Karla Roberts and Shadie Casey hit doubles for the winners.

Heavy lumber provides win for Big Spring

COAHOMA — Big Spring hauled out the lumber here Thursday night as Coahoma fell, 20-0 before a six homerun barrage in Big League baseball action.

Mike Dodd started and pitched three innings in the five inning affair to run his record to 3-3. Big Spring is 8-6 overall. Dodd allowed one hit, struckout six and walked one. Jay Pirkle relieved Dodd in the fourth and showed no hits, five strikeouts and two walks in his short stint on the mound.

When Big Spring took the offensive the results showed Pirkle with six rbi's on a perfect four for four night at the plate. Pirkle belted two homeruns as did Jay Reed who picked up three hits including a double. Randy Hayworth and Tommy Gartman managed single homers and double trouble was on the ends of the bats of Dodd, Jerry Anderson and Chris Lamb. Abel Carrillo and Casey Weaver chipped in singles. Dodd and Pirkle scored four runs in the game that went Big Spring's way in the first inning when Big Spring jumped to a 10-0 lead.

All totals showed Big Spring picking up its 18 hits in 30 times at bat.

The next action for Big Spring will be against Midland in a doubleheader Saturday beginning at 5 p.m. in Midland's Cubs Stadium.

Price is right in Canadian Open start

OAKVILLE, Ontario (AP) — In retrospect, Nick Price said, the two-week break from competition probably was overdue.

"I played pretty well through the Tournament of Champions, then didn't play well at all for the next seven weeks," said the South African golfer.

"I think I was mentally tired." So Price took two weeks off, then returned to the PGA Tour "with all the cobwebs gone, with my mind clear" and shot a 5-under-par 67 over the windswept Glen Abbey Golf Club course and took a two-shot lead in Thursday's opening round of the 75th Canadian Open championship.

"The key to the round, the key to any good round, is that I holed a lot of putts," said Price, who last season won the World Series of Golf.

He one-putted nine times on the extremely fast greens and needed no putts at all on the 417-yard, par-4 fourth hole. He found the cup with a 112-yard wedge shot for an eagle-2.

"When you're playing well, the breaks seem to go your way," Price said.

Lee Trevino, however, got a break he didn't need.

On the 16th hole, his driver snapped as he hit his tee shot, with the clubhouse following the ball down the fairway.

"I've used that driver for two years and really like it," said Trevino, 44, a three-time Canadian Open champion. "I don't know whether I can replace that shaft or not. I don't know what I'm going to do."

He got in with a 70, one stroke back of Richard Zokol and Larry Rinker, who shared second at 69. Rinker one-putted to save par eight times while Zokol, seeking to become the first Canadian to win this tournament in 30 years, dropped 25-foot birdie putts on two of his last three holes.

Gary Hallberg and veteran Charles Coady were tied with Trevino at 70.

Jack Nicklaus, who designed this course as a permanent site for the Canadian national championship, had a 73 and said he "had to work very hard to get that. It seems like I shoot a 73 in the first round of this tournament every year."

Nicklaus, who holds a record collection of 17 major professional titles, has not yet won the Canadian Open.

"I'd better do it soon, before I get too old," said Nicklaus, 44.

Masters champion Ben Crenshaw had a 74 in the winds that gusted over 30 miles per hour, and PGA titleholder Hal Sutton struggled to a 76. Defending champion John Cook had a 71.
