A. The Herald was founded in Oct. 1904, by Thomas E. Jordan and Will R. Hayden. It was a weekly newspaper and was printed on a flat-bed sheet press. Jordan bought out Hayden's interest in 1925, and in the oil boom of the late 1920s, he installed the first web press and converted to daily publication on June 3, 1928.

Harte-Hanks acquired the Herald on March 15, 1929. The advertising publication, The Window Shopper, was started in July 1960 to provide advertisers with distribution to non-subscribers of the Herald. The Saturday edition was added in September 1983.

School board studying education reform plan

"We're going to be spending a lot of time on a lot of things," Superintendent Lynn Hise told the Big Spring school trustees as the group studied the recently passed House Bill 72 at their meeting Thursday.

Because of policy changes mandated by the school reform bill, school districts throughout the state will be scrutinizing local policies and undergoing changes throughout the coming year.

In preparation for the changes, Hise gave board members a summary of major educational reform provisions and a policy update questionnaire. Some of the policies will have to be changed at the beginning of the 1984-85 school year. Hise said, "We are required to have all policies adopted and requirements implemented by the beginning of the 1985-86 year."

Among changes the board will be looking at during the coming weeks will be the curtailment of unexcused absences and time spent away from school for extracurricular activities, changes in the University Interscholastic League activities, higher grade requirements for participation in extracurricular activities, and fund raisers allowed by local school-related organizations.

Board members expressed concern that policies adopted for the 1984-85 school year might be confusing to parents and students. Hise said policies would be outlined in the student handbook.

Hise said he and other administrators "have been studying (House Bill 72) carefully" and that parts of it are "difficult reading" because of its wordiness. He anticipated that parts of the bill will have to be clarified before 1985.

"We're not ready to tell you specific things about it," Hise said. Hise and Don Crockett, assistant superintendent for business, will attend the State Superintendents' Workshop in Austin Monday through Wednesday and will study the bill at that time. Several workshops are also planned by the district service center at the Midland Airpark.

Hise asked board members to plan to attend 1984-85 budget workshops July 30-Aug. 3 and Aug. 6-10. The next board meeting was scheduled for Aug. 16 and workshops will continue up through

New plastics firm to open

Permian Research Corp. has purchased the Burwood Industries property on the city's west side, located at 3400 W. 7th, according to a press release from Granville Hahn, president of the company.

The new company plans to employ eight persons for research projects in the field of plastics and in packaging of food products. Other areas of research will include oil field applications using plastics.

Production will begin immediately, according to Leroy Tillery, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Hahn declined to comment on the news release.

Rain slakes county

Big Springers got a rare treat Thursday afternoon as menacing clouds produced a short downpour that flooded gutters and lowered scorching temperatures.

Although Big Spring is fall below its normal rainfall of 9.55 inches, the county continues to move ahead slowly in rainfall averages with small rainfall amounts this week.

At the Big Spring Experiment Station, Nell Rogers, secretary, said .56 of an inch of rain was recorded in the last 24 hours. That brings the year's total to 2.41 inches.

Although the rains are falling too late to benefit area farmers, the rains are important to Big Spring lawns, many of which are turning brown from temperatures near 100 degrees and days and days of no rain.

Heavy rain began falling in Big Spring Thursday afternoon. Near the downtown area, Red Thomas said his rain gauge measured .6 of an inch during the downpour.

The rain was heaviest in the city's eastside and downtown areas. In the city's southwest side, rains were lighter but steady for about 30 minutes.

IT WAS QUITE A SHOCK — An eerie white light emanates from a downed electrical wire while a city firetruck stands by during a thunder storm yesterday afternoon. According to a power company official, power was shut off to 205 of the company's customers for about 20 minutes while crews repaired the wire. Traffic on the N.E. Ninth street was rerouted until crews arrived and the line was repaired.

Petition organizer predicts good turnout

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

In the wake of yesterday's surprise move by the Big Spring City Council setting an Aug. 11 election date on the question of whether the city should have an elected police chief, reaction from one organizer of the petition that prompted the election was generally favorable.

"I think it's good," said bail bond company owner Danny Heckler yesterday. "People are aware of what's going on and it's fresh in their minds. I think we'll get a good turnout," he said.

Heckler and another bail bond company owner, Mary Thomas, organized the 64-page, 1,100 signature petition that had originally prompted yesterday's council action.

Mrs. Thomas, who is on vacation, could not be reached for comment.

"In effect, what we've done is ignore the petition," said councilman Robert Fuller yesterday. "Out of 1,100 names...I'm convinced there are enough legitimate signatures" to justify the election, he said today in explanation of yesterday's council action.

Submitted July 2 to City Secretary Tom Ferguson, the document had been set for a lengthy verification process that would have pushed the election date back to Jan. 19, 1985.

Prior to receiving news of the new August date, Mrs. Thomas and Heckler voiced several complaints concerning the manner in which City Hall had handled the petition.

According to Heckler, he had attempted to submit an additional 60 names to the original document but was refused.

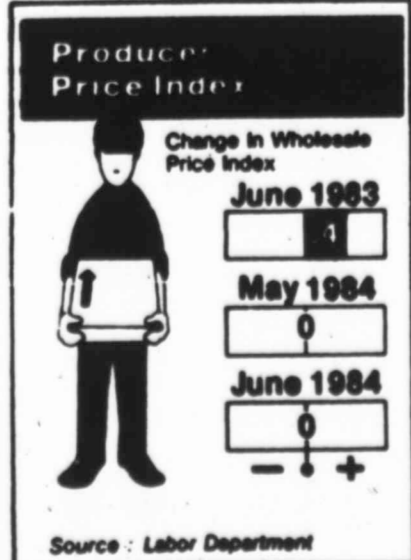

City Secretary Tom Ferguson said yesterday the refusal was based on the advice of City Attorney Doyle Curtis. "Since (the petition) had been filed and accepted, we could not accept any additions to the list," he said.

In addition, Mrs. Thomas questioned the validity of the council's Tuesday night executive session.

SO BE IT — Mayor Clyde Angel's proclamation of "Teen Appreciation Week" adds emphasis to the role of youth in community affairs, as teens get ready for an all-day talent show July 28 in downtown Heart of the City festivities. Helping the mayor get into the festival spirit are Suzanne Bowers (left) and Cary Brooks.

Prices steady; food, gas cheaper

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices held flat for a third straight month in June as both food and gasoline prices fell, the government said today. For the first half of 1984, inflation at the wholesale level was just 2.8 percent.

Not since early 1983 have prices refused to rise for a full calendar quarter, the Labor Department said.

At the White House, deputy press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said inflation "remains under control while the economic expansion continues at a healthy pace."

Today's report seemed to indicate that inflation at the wholesale level is even more under control than had been predicted by many economists, who have forecast a full-year inflation rate of 4.5 percent to 5 percent.

Noting the price report and two others issued today, Allen Sinai, chief economist at Shearson Lehman-American Express Inc., said they "present a best-of-all-worlds configuration for the U.S. economy — sustained but moderating growth and price stability."

"It's hard to find much wrong or hints of difficulties in any of these reports," he said.

Indeed, there was little to worry about last month.

Food prices fell 0.6 percent, their third straight monthly decline. Sharp decreases for meat, fish and eggs offset steep gains for fresh fruits and vegetables.

Gasoline prices were down 0.7 percent.

Meanwhile, the government offered fresh evidence that the economic expansion is moderating from the first quarter's frenzied growth. Analysts say slower growth will lessen pressure on inflation and interest rates, thus increasing the likelihood of a longer running expansion.

The Commerce Department reported that June retail sales advanced 0.8 percent to a seasonally adjusted $109 billion, a sign the spring buying spree was easing.

The increase was ahead of the 0.5 percent rise in May but well under the strong 3.1 percent gain in April.

In a third report, the Federal Reserve Board said production in the nation's factories, mines and utilities rose 0.5 percent in June, in line with the previous month's performance.

City woman hurt in accident

A 77-year-old Big Spring woman was treated and released at Malone-Hogan Hospital yesterday evening following a major three-vehicle accident at the intersection of 25th and Lynn.

Thelma R. Hull of 2713 Lynn was taken to the hospital by Shaffer Ambulance after the accident that happened at 5:04 p.m. Thursday, reports said.

According to reports, the accident happened when David Shortes of 1806 E. 25th and Bradley Hanlen of 400 Washington were driving their vehicles east on 25th and collided with a 1976 Mercury Marquis driven by Earl Hull of 2713 Lynn after Hull pulled out from a Lynn Street stop sign.

Hull was ticketed for failure to yield right of way following the accident.

In other police reports:

- Robert Kirby of 1704 W. Fourth told police at 11:34 p.m. Thursday that two persons at about 9 p.m. Wednesday jumped out of a 1984 Ford pickup and cut him in the chest with a knife, police reports said. The incident occurred in the old Gibson's parking lot on Gregg Street, reports said.
- In another incident at the Gibson's parking lot, police arrested two persons on suspicion of public intoxication and consuming alcoholic beverages during prohibited hours, reports said.

Kevin Charles Hattenbach, 22, of 1806 E. 15th and Frank Rosas Jr., 28, of Garden City were arrested at 2:58 a.m. Friday, according to reports.

Robert Rodriguez of 606 E. 12th told police at 9:44 a.m. Thursday that someone at about 5 p.m. Wednesday stole a 9mm Remington revolver valued at $300 from the bedroom of his residence, police reports said.

Jennie Redley of 2623 Chanute told police at 8:10 p.m. Thursday that someone sometime Wednesday stole from her residence a necklace and bracelet set valued at a total of $75, a white gold chain valued at $100 and a white gold bracelet valued at $100, police reports said.

Thursday's police activity sheet also contained an 8:05 p.m. report of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in an incident that happened at 120 Airbase Road. According to the activity sheet, the person involved in the incident was transported to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Shaffer Ambulance. No further information was available on the incident.

Sheriff's Log

Marion Hayes was released on $1,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Bobby West.

Fifty-year-old Dickey Luther, no address given, was released from county jail today on the authority of 118th District Chief Probation Officer Frank Martinez. Martinez dismissed the charge of revocation of probation against Luther.

The Lubbock County sheriff's office Thursday arrested Sharon Bernice Blackwell of Lubbock on a Howard County warrant when her bondsman went off bond on a felony forgery charge. She was released from custody in Lubbock after posting a $5,000 bond through the Lubbock County sheriff's office.

— as stated in the council agenda — was to discuss litigation against the city. However, councilmen said after the meeting they had discussed the pending referendum election.

"We spent a lot of time last night (Tuesday night) trying to determine if there is a way to get this election quicker," said Fuller during a Wednesday night interview on KBST radio station.

Under the Texas Open Meetings Act, government bodies cannot go into closed session except when discussing pending litigation, personnel matters or land acquisitions.

"I wonder if they had a right to go into executive session on a petition. I question whether or not they held an illegal executive session," Mrs. Thomas said Wednesday.

In regard to the city's original plan to sample 25 percent of the petition signers to see if they had actually signed the document and knew what they were signing, Mrs. Thomas said: "I think the general electorate is more intelligent than (City Hall) gives them credit for."

"I'm sure that when you have lists all over town you may have somebody's name signed that didn't really sign it," she said on the question of possible forgeries in the petition.

Trustees

that date, Hise said. "This budget will have a lot of interesting facets," Crockett said, referring to changes triggered by House Bill 72 and by revenue changes due to a drop in enrollment.

Hise said that he wasn't sure how much money the district will receive from the state because the Texas Education Agency has not sent formulas on which to figure revenues. A $1.4 million figure in additional funds for the local district released by TEA recently is not accurate, Hise said, because the district experienced a drop in enrollment.

In other business, trustees approved the resignations of five employees. They are Nancy Collins from Goliad, Susan Rains from Bauer, Rob Saxton and Sharma Wall from Rannels and Jimmy Smith from high school.

New employees are Vicki Lynn Denton, Rannels, who will be teaching English; and Camella Ryan and Janis Whitehead, both math teachers at Goliad.

school band director, to be assigned to Rannels Junior High School as band director and district fine arts director. Richard Mitchell will be transferred from Goliad to the high school as band director. This leaves a vacancy at Goliad.

Trustees approved a request by Dr. Reg Cranford to have his daughter transferred into the BSISD. Cranford and his family reside in the Forsan school district, but Cranford said it posed a hardship on the family to get their daughter to school and to work in Big Spring. He added that he pays Big Spring school taxes because of a local business.

Trustees also approved a request to provide in-kind aid to West Texas Opportunities. The group, which sponsors a commodity giveaway monthly, requested the use of district facilities to refrigerate supplies of cheese and butter during the summer. They also requested and were allowed to use a district copy machine on an availability basis.

West Texas Opportunities must obtain in-kind services to make up 20 percent of its budget, Hise said.

Coahoma council approves changes in trash ordinance

By LUIS RIOS

COAHOMA — The City Council by a 3-2 vote here Thursday night approved changes in a proposed city ordinance for trash collection. The vote followed almost an hour of debate over the controversial measure.

The inception of a city trash ordinance, which according to some members has plagued the city for 15 months, drew response from both council members and city residents alike.

The amended proposed ordinance will be reviewed by the city's attorney before it comes back before the council, said member Steve New.

"I really would like to get the ordinance and contract by the end of this month," said Mayor Pat Harrison at the onset of the meeting. "Trying to get things into the ordinance has been one of our problems."

"We need an ordinance that will last as long as we do; but the contract will come and go," she said. Members Steve New, Brian Jensen and Gary Roberts voted in favor of the changes in the proposed ordinance. Those opposed against the changes were Lawrence Aberegg and Jerry Brockman.

"As far as I am concerned, I can't pass any ordinance like this," said Aberegg.

Aberegg said he was opposed to the ordinance because the city was doing the billing. At one point during the discussion Jensen asked Aberegg, "Do you have a better ordinance?" Aberegg replied, "No, but I don't like this one."

The changes in the proposed ordinance include extending the termination date notice by the contractor from 30 days to 60 days and eliminating all mention of prices and fees within the ordinance; thus leaving the set fee at the discretion of the council and the contractor. A stipulation, not changed in the proposed ordinance, was one that included the penalty imposed on residents who did not pay their trash-hauling bill.

The proposed ordinance states that all persons who do not pay or refuse to pay the required fee will have their water disconnected until that fee is paid.

Burning garbage also will be unlawful under the proposed ordinance. The ordinance also will have to be made public during three dated public readings. Changes and corrections will be made before the council accepts the final form of the ordinance.

Gerald King, who contracts with the city for trash collection, was present at the meeting.

"I need them (Council) to pass an ordinance where they (customer) will pay," said King. "I don't need a raise. There are some people that are getting a discount that don't need it."

"We are not a collection agency," Aberegg told King. "If you want to take the business, I'm for that."

Billing for the trash collection is done by the city and is included on the customer's water bill. The city charges $7.50 per customer for the service. King receives $7 of the total charged per customer.

Mrs. Harrison called for a special meeting of the council for 3:30 p.m. Saturday at City Hall.

The council went into executive session and discussed personnel. No action was taken on the discussion, said Mrs. Harrison.

Mrs. Harrison told the council the franchise revenue for the city was $9,909.75. She recommended the council review the franchise revenue regularly.

The council voted to approve an amendment to the rules and regulations for annexation of property by the city. Under the new rules, all property must have paved streets, sewer, curb and gutter, a 6-inch water line and fire hydrant before it can be considered for annexation.

Jailer complains of fallacies

SAN SABA (AP) — The chief jailer of the San Saba County Jail has written the Texas Commission on Jail Standards and the American Civil Liberties Union to complain that the facility he has operated for the past two years is substandard in at least 13 areas.

Tim Atkins, who lives at the jail with his family, told the San Angelo Standard-Times on Thursday that he wrote the letters "to try to get what needs to be done legally."

County officials have refused to take the steps to maintain the jail properly, Atkins said.

His letters said the 13 violations of jail standards range from lack of security and supervision to safety hazards.

Atkins said twice jail keys have fallen into the hands of jail inmates because of negligence on the part of a deputy.

One of the complaints pertains to Atkins' attempts to get county commissioners to give his wife back pay for her services over the past two years. She is in charge of the jail whenever he is away, he said.

"I've done everything a jailer has to do. I've had to book and lock up state and Department of Public Safety prisoners, and when bondsmen come I've booked prisoners out," Atkins' wife, Julie, told the Standard-Times.

San Saba County Sheriff Brantley Barker said he doesn't think the jail standards commission will find any serious violations, but added, "We're going to fix them, whatever they say." Barker said he received notification to meet with the state group later this month.

Barker, who has served as sheriff 34 years, said this is the first time a jailer has lodged complaints on the jail's standards.

The jail standards commission wrote the sheriff and the county commissioners court immediately after getting his letter, Atkins said.

Atkins said county commissioners are scheduled to meet Monday to discuss the problem and hear his proposals.

"We've got resolutions to all of this and we'll propose them to the county commissioners. All I'm standing up for is what's right," Atkins said.

He and his wife can't carry out a requirement that prisoners be visually checked at least once every hour, Atkins said, because "we have to sleep sometime."

"I enforce the laws that the public has made and I do it to protect the public. We're not trying to cause trouble and forget about it. I like my job. I'm a public servant and I like it very much," he added.

"We knew the problems here and we couldn't turn our heads away. We could have quit and gone about our way. Or do what we did and get something done."

Old-fashioned assets, hard-nosed politics

By The Associated Press

Geraldine Ferraro is the kind of woman politician that men feel comfortable with. She's pragmatic, tough, forthright. She's been through the mill. Life hasn't been easy.

As a girl, she wanted to be a doctor. But she knew that girls didn't become doctors. She settled for teaching school. "That's what women were supposed to do," she said.

Now she's about to become a vice presidential candidate. That's what no woman has ever done, in either major political party.

Ms. Ferraro brings some hard-nosed, old-fashioned assets to the ticket. She's a Roman Catholic and the daughter of Italian immigrants. That cannot hurt Walter Mondale in his attempt to win back for the Democratic party its old New Deal working class, ethnic base.

Ms. Ferraro represents a workaday district in the Queens, a borough of New York City. She was elected in 1978, when Rep. James Delaney, a conservative Democrat who usually got the Republican endorsement, too, retired.

It was assumed the seat would go to a conservative Republican, but Ms. Ferraro proved to be a strong campaigner. "I gambled and I won," she said.

Her name surfaced last fall when the idea of a woman as a vice presidential candidate first came up. She said she was flattered and, she said, if lightning did strike, she'd probably say, "Oh, my God, I'm in the right place at the right time."

She was in San Francisco — sort of making her presence felt — when lightning struck. It is a violation of custom for anyone to campaign for the vice presidential spot. But Ms. Ferraro let it be known that she'd be around.

She was the favorite of the National Organization for Women, of some of her fellow congresswomen and of House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill. It could be that NOW's championing of her cause worked to her detriment. Walter Mondale could not afford the appearance of having anyone dictating his choice to him.

Ms. Ferraro, 48, was born in Newburgh, N.Y., and moved to the South Bronx with her mother and older brother after her father died when she was 8. The big family house was replaced by a small apartment near relatives. Her mother got a job sewing in New York City's garment district.

The loss of her father was devastating — "She was sick for a whole year," her mother says — but her childhood otherwise was a normal one with tea parties and outings with the Girl Scouts.

Ms. Ferraro got bored teaching second and fourth grades in public school, so she enrolled herself in

RESUME

Age: 48
 Birthplace: Newburgh, N.Y.
 Married: 3 children
 Law degree: Fordham
 Occupation: Congresswoman Queens, N.Y.

Fordham Law School in Manhattan, going to classes at night while still teaching during the day.

She married her suitor, John Zaccaro, now a successful real estate developer, after she passed her bar exam.

She practiced law from home for 13 years while raising three children, Donna, 22, John Jr., 20, and Laura, 18.

That done, she became a Queens assistant district attorney in 1974, specializing in prosecution of cases of child abuse, domestic violence, rape and crimes against the elderly.

"It was emotionally draining," she said. "It's a very difficult thing to look someone in the eye (who has been physically abused) and tell them they have to testify, to go through the whole process."

She was ready to resign in 1978, when the Delaney seat opened up. She jumped at the chance. Against the advice of friends and without the support of the county Democratic organization, she entered the race and won first in a primary and then in the general election.

In Congress, she made a hit with the men who run things. They installed her as secretary to the House Democratic caucus, the panel which sets legislative priorities and makes committee assignments. Last year, she was named to the influential House Budget Committee.

She used her position on the Public Works and Transportation Committee to get bread-and-butter rewards for her district — water and road projects. She also has been an advocate of noise control measures since her district is next to two major New York airports.

Ms. Ferraro is more liberal than her district, which voted substantially for Ronald Reagan over Jimmy Carter in 1980. She supports the Equal Rights Amendment and, significantly, for a Roman Catholic from a predominantly Catholic district, she votes for government-supported abortions for the poor — and gets away with it.

"I never heard that girl say she was tired," her mother said. "Workaholic — that's what my daughter is, right?"

The mother-daughter admiration is mutual. Wellbefore it became a common practice, Ms. Ferraro kept her maiden name as a signal of salute to her mother.

Taiwan closes coal mines

TAIPEI — The government ordered 70 of Taiwan's 124 coal mines shut down today when they failed safety checks ordered after the island nation's worst mine disaster.

The disaster at the Mei-shan coal mine, 31 miles northeast of Taipei, had already claimed 101 lives. But rescuers expected the final death toll to increase because two other miners working in a tunnel when a fire swept through the area Tuesday were still missing and presumed dead today.

Chances for their survival were considered slim because of poisonous carbon monoxide in the tunnel, officials said.

Twelve of the 22 survivors rescued Wednesday and Thursday remained in critical condition at a hospital, most of them suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning. Several of them were unconscious when they were rescued and had failed to regain consciousness, doctors reported.

British strike force grows

LONDON — About 1,200 dockworkers at Britain's biggest container port voted today to join a nationwide strike, and loaded trucks were backed up for five miles outside Dover, one of the few major ports still open.

In London, union leaders and employers met for new talks on settling the dispute that began Tuesday, as an offshoot of coal miners' 17-week walkout over government plans to close unprofitable mines.

However, the Times of London quoted union sources as saying they were doubtful that dockworkers' leaders would want to "rush in" to any settlement of the strike.

In Nottinghamshire, more than 1,000 striking coal miners wielding wooden staves battled with police today outside the Warsop mine. Two officers were injured and 40 strikers arrested, and a police spokesman said strikers hurled the sharpened staves "like javelins" at police in the hour-long clash.

The vote by longshoremen at Felixstowe, the large container port on England's east coast, was seen as crucial to the strikers' effort to close most of Britain's 204 ports by the weekend.

U.S. airmen killed in crash

CATANIA — A U.S. C-141B transport plane crashed shortly after takeoff from a naval air station Thursday, disintegrating in a ball of flames that killed all nine people aboard, a U.S. official said.

"There are no known survivors and no known civilian injuries or deaths," said Lt. Cmdr. Ron Donovan, press spokesman for the U.S. Sigonella Naval Air Station near the crash site in eastern Sicily.

The plane carried eight crewmen and one military passenger, all Americans. It crashed after a refueling stop at the U.S. base near Catania, he said.

The crew was from the 315th Military Airlift Wing Reserve Associate assigned to the Charleston, S.C., Air Force Base, said base spokesperson Margie Galbiati. Sgt. William Hamilton, also a base spokesman, said the plane was on a routine flight to Nairobi, Kenya, on a resupply mission.

Bomb kills 5 in S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG — Five people were reported killed and 26 injured in an explosion, believed caused by a car bomb, at an industrial area in Durban.

No one claimed responsibility for the blast Thursday in the Indian Ocean port city, but Minister of Law and Order Louis le Grange told Parliament that the explosion was similar to previous bombings by the African National Congress.

That group, the largest black nationalist guerrilla organization in South Africa, has been fighting white minority rule since 1961.

Last Friday guerrilla chief Oliver Tambo told reporters in Gaborone, Botswana, that it was inevitable that more civilians would die in attacks by the organization.

"We suspect it was a car bomb, but we are not sure yet," Lt. Barend van der Walt said Thursday night at police headquarters in Pretoria, the nation's capital. Most of the casualties were passersby and employees of a nearby air conditioner factory, he said.

Chopstick clicks play out of tune

Ever see a Japanese girl hold a cherry in her chopsticks, rotating the fruit slowly, daintily biting off the meat and then placing the pit back on her plate?

If you haven't, maybe you never will. We are sad to report Japanese youngsters are losing their ability to control their wood cutlery at mealtime. It might be said they are all thumbs.

A Ministry of Education report shows that 52 percent of Japan's elementary school pupils flunk the test in chopstick dexterity.

Tokyo noodle houses were checked out. Obviously, chopstick skills had deteriorated. Most diners were using the basic inugui technique — scooping huge haystacks of noodles dog-style into their mouths. Others fell victim to the hashami syndrome — helpless as their chopsticks scissored across one another.

The situation is considered serious. But alarmed parents, who know the nutritional value of a swift stick into the sukiyaki, are fighting back. They are buying "trainer chopsticks" — equipped with plastic loops to guide children's fingers. Concern is demonstrated by the 10,000 pairs of trainer sticks sold in Japanese supermarkets and department stores each day.

The government must investigate. If the Japanese people lose chopstick control, finger sensitivity could follow. In the worst scenario, future generations won't be able to fit those teeny little parts into Japanese radios, cameras, computers and television sets. Japan's very future could be hanging in the click of the chops.

Debt's depth

WASHINGTON — Financial problems are increasingly emerging as the juiciest issue of the 1984 campaign. For while comfortable with foreign policy and the economy in general, the Reagan administration seems baffled by high interest rates, big deficits and associated evils.

The harsh consequences, moreover, hit large numbers of people in states that could make up an electoral college majority for the Democrats.

Defining the financial issue, to be sure, does not come easily. It is not like a war in Vietnam or Korea, which inflicts misery on all citizens. Nor is the financial issue to be confused with the economy as a whole. Such big economic indicators as growth, employment, consumer spending and investment are all coming up roses. As to inflation, a good guess is that price increases for 1984 will run below 5 percent — or less than half the figure for 1980.

At that point the financial problem comes into play as the great mystery of the economy. Interest rates have not followed inflation down. On the contrary, real rates — which are calculated by subtracting inflation from prevailing interest charges — are about 10 percent, or almost exactly where they stood in 1980. Despite some dips last year, furthermore, they have recently been edging upward. Early this week, the banks raised the prime rate at which they charge their best customers to 13 percent. That was the fourth increase of half-a-point in the last six weeks.

The stickiness of interest rates has been blamed by the administration on expectations of inflation. In that way responsibility is pinned on the past sins of the Democrats. But the dramatic decline in inflation has virtually eliminated that convenient scapegoat.

Comments from the White House show that the administration now lacks a ready explanation for the high interest rates. Thus President Reagan, in a comment pregnant with befuddlement, said: "There is no excuse for interest rates being at the level they are right now, other than fear of the future." A formal White House statement said the rise in rates was "difficult to explain."

The difficulty vanishes for those not bound to defend the administration record. Behind the rise in rates is a great surge in demand for credit. Some of the surge comes from private business, which is now expanding. But most of the demand comes from the government itself, which has to borrow to meet the record deficits stretching ahead into the future.

In other words, the blame for the high rates falls squarely on the Reagan administration. For slashed revenues in the tax cut of 1981, thus setting up the record deficits which are the prime source of the high interest rates.

Statistical abstractions like deficits and interest rates, to be sure, do not win national elections. But as it happens, the high rates have consequences which hit people where they live.

High rates mean high mortgages. Housing is one of the few sectors of the economy that is down. Millions of young people have had to abandon hopes of owning their own homes.

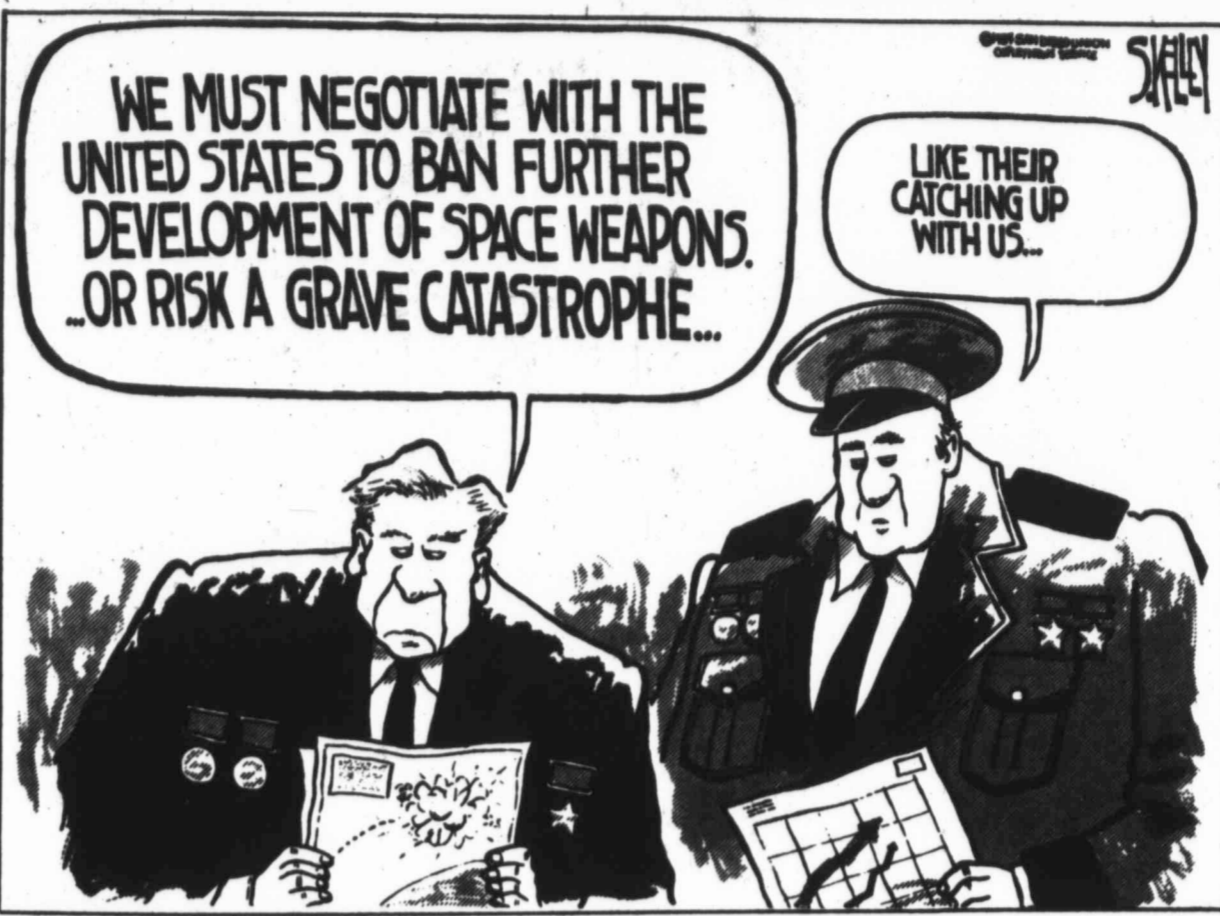

Agriculture is also highly sensitive to the cost of money. Farmers borrow to buy seed, fertilizer and equipment. They have mortgage payments to keep up. Their land has ceased to appreciate. So farm income is way down.

The banks, and many depositors, also suffer from high rates. For the very biggest banks are heavily exposed in loans to Latin America. The Latin countries are showing increasing reluctance to make payments. Their moves to renegotiate loans and postpone interest payments have already weakened the country's financial structure.

Finally there are two sectors of the economy badly hit by the 1981-82 recession which have not recovered. Smokestack industry — including steel — is one; energy is another.

Even if all these elements can be put together, the defeat of President Reagan is hardly assured. But in the absence of other good strategies, a focus on the debt problem might just carry enough states to put the Democrats over. But the focus has to be steady, and it would have to include the South.

Informant stays out in the cold

WASHINGTON — U.S. authorities are desperately seeking information about terrorist groups that might kill or kidnap Americans overseas. The State Department got invaluable information from a Guatemalan refugee and then, believe it or not, handed him over to the Guatemalan government for prosecution.

The informant, Jorge Zimeri, had been part of an unsuccessful attempt to overthrow the repressive Guatemalan government. He fled to the United States after miraculously surviving an assassination attempt that left him with 13 bullet wounds.

Zimeri knows who's who in the Guatemalan underground. He told the State Department which groups have been murdering American diplomats and advisers in Guatemala.

A State Department intelligence officer, Belle Johnstone, flew to El Salvador and Guatemala and corroborated Zimeri's information. Her report was so sensitive it will be kept classified until the year 2005.

Meanwhile, the Guatemalan government issued a warrant for Zimeri's arrest on a trumped-up murder charge and demanded that he be extradited. In a secret memorandum to superiors, Ms. Johnstone wrote:

"I have extensively researched this case and have strong doubts as to the credibility of the charge. Recent information indicates the possibility that Zimeri was not even in Guatemala at the time of the alleged murder. ... There is supportive reason (to believe) that the accusations could have been made for political reasons."

In spite of this warning and Zimeri's service to the United States, the State Department deported him last August to Guatemala where he was dumped in prison to await trial. In May, he was acquitted of the murder charge, but he has gone into hiding in fear for his life.

The State Department has refused to issue him a visa to return to the United States. Meanwhile, he has never seen his infant daughter who lives with his wife in Miami.

Zimeri's experience should discourage other informants from cooperating with the State Department to combat the terrorist threat. Certainly this is the opinion of a Washington, D.C., homicide detective, Jack Chaillet, who bought Zimeri to the State Department.

"He turned out to be a gold mine of information," Chaillet told my associate Indy Badwar. "I'm really upset with the way the State Department has treated Zimeri. First, he should never have been deported, and he should now be allowed back. He might get killed over there."

Chaillet, who is now retired, added: "Zimeri was our source, a police department source. It was because he trusted us that he agreed to talk to the State Department. If this is the way the State Department treats informants, then the local cops are going to tell those guys to shove it when they ask for cooperation on intelligence matters."

In Miami, where she lives with her 3-month-old daughter, Norma Zimeri said: "I feel because he helped the government here his life is in danger. I cannot stay here alone any longer. I will have to go to El Salvador where Jorge can come to see his daughter."

Footnote: There is one minor complication. With 13 bullet wounds to remind Zimeri that he's on someone's hit list, he purchased two handguns in Miami without disclosing his alien status. This is a law violation, and he served 11 months in jail.

A State Department consular official, meanwhile, said no final decision has been made on Zimeri's visa application. Ms. Johnstone refused to comment.

EYE ON THE ECONOMY: Government officials don't rule out the possibility that one or more of the nation's 10 biggest banks could fail because of unwise loans. Even though the federal government recently came to the rescue of Continental Illinois, a "confidence crisis" might develop that would cause massive withdrawals — and failure.

For what cold comfort it may be, these Cassandras' views are not shared by all federal banking regulators, for one simple reason: The panic-stricken depositors would either have to stuff their money in mattresses or put it into another bank, which would be just as vulnerable to a chain-reaction confidence crisis.

A lingering side effect of the Continental Illinois affair still haunts administration officials. When rumors first surfaced that the nation's sixth biggest bank was in trouble, Comptroller of the Currency C. Todd Conover issued a flat denial. But Conover knew at the time that Continental was on the brink of disaster; it required a multi-billion-dollar rescue effort to save the bank.

As one official explained the damage done by Conover's less than forthright statement, "If you say there's no problem and it turns out there is a problem, then you've lost your credibility." The next time a false rumor starts up, will anybody believe the official denials?

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: In Laos, you follow the communist party line or else. The regime's "thought-reform camps" are described this way in a secret State Department cable: "There is one possible view of the world and it is that of the Communist Party. When people at the 'seminars' sincerely believe this view, they will be allowed to return to society. Apparently if someone is so stubborn or so stupid as not to accept or at least to feign acceptance of the communist line, he will stay on indefinitely."

Today in history

Today is Friday, July 13, the 195th day of 1984. There are 171 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On July 13, 1863, rioting against the Civil War military draft erupted in New York City. The violence would result in the deaths of about 1,000 people over the next three days.

On this date: In 1787, Congress enacted an ordinance governing the Northwest Territory.

In 1793, French revolutionary writer Jean Paul Marat was murdered in his bath by Charlotte Corday.

In 1878, the Treaty of Berlin ended one of a series of wars between Russia and Turkey.

In 1977, a blackout left New York City virtually paralyzed and resulted in widespread looting.

S'water may contract with CRMWD

The Colorado River Municipal Water District has agreed to make 3,500 ac. ft. of water from Lake Spence available annually to Sweetwater subject to approving vote Aug. 11 by city residents.

CRMWD directors Thursday approved a contract by which Sweetwater could obtain that volume of water at a cost of $3,908,006. The District will finance this if Sweetwater desires, according to a press release from the CRMWD.

The cost figure is based on the estimated value of $45 million of Lake Spence in place Jan. 1, 1980.

Three injured in truck rollover

The driver of a truck-trailer and his two passengers were injured Thursday afternoon at Rattlesnake Gap when their vehicle overturned and blocked both eastbound lanes of Interstate Highway 20.

The driver, Harry Bobbie Johnson, 38, of Matthews, N.C., and one passenger, Ronald Omer Kent, 51, of Charlotte, N.C., remain in stable condition at Malone-Hogan Hospital, according to a hospital spokeswoman.

A second passenger in the car, Sandra Ann Gentry, 36, of Cudahy, Calif., was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital, the spokeswoman said.

Both Ms. Gentry and Kent had been riding in the truck's sleeper when the accident occurred, according to a Department of Public Safety accident report.

Johnson was driving a 1983 Blue Freightliner trailer-truck and towing a 1976 silver Great Dane van about six miles east of Coahoma on I-20 at 3:05 p.m. Thursday when he lost control of the rig, according to the report.

Johnson lost control of the truck because of "excessive speed during heavy rain," according to Trooper Mike Dawson's report. The vehicle then went into the south bar ditch after striking two linear poles about two feet from the curb, and flipped over to land across both eastbound lanes of the interstate.

Training starts for hotline

Training for new volunteers for the Crisis Hotline will begin Tuesday at the Canterbury Retirement Home, 1700 Lancaster, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The Crisis Hotline, sponsored by the Chemical People, is a referral service for people with problems. Hours for the hotline are 8 p.m. to midnight Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Boy tries to poison mother, stepfather authorities say

AUSTIN (AP) — A 15-year-old boy, apparently angry because his mother made him break up with a girlfriend, has been accused of trying to kill his parents with ant poison, authorities said.

The boy's mother and stepfather called police Wednesday night after a light yellow powdery substance came out when the woman poured water into her coffeemaker. Moments earlier, the woman said, her son seemed very nervous and said he had to leave the house.

The couple said the boy had been the only other person around the coffeemaker that afternoon and that he had been using a commercial poison to kill ants in their yard.

A patrol officer took the coffeemaker and the contents to the police department for chemical analysis.

The youth denied to police officers that he had placed poison in the coffeemaker, but later told them he had wanted to hurt his mother because she made him end a relationship with a girlfriend, authorities said.

The youth signed a statement about the incident and was taken to a juvenile detention facility, police said.

plus quality enhancement facilities which bring the present day value of the lake to $50,591,000.

Sweetwater's 3,500 ac. ft. volume is 7.527 percent of the estimated 46,500 ac. ft. annual safe yield of the lake; this percentage being applied to the total present value of the lake. Sweetwater also will pay the same percentage of the annual operation and maintenance cost of the lake.

Whenever the original cost is retired, Sweetwater may elect to continue paying its pro rate share of operation and maintenance of the lake and have perpetual rights to the 3,500 ac. ft. of water at no other charge.

Water in excess of the contract quantity will be available at 35.42 cents per thousand gallons as of Jan. 1, 1985, adjustable annually to the Price Index.

Sweetwater will install and operate its own pump station and pipeline facilities to its Oak Creek reservoir.

An offer by the District was made in 1980, but rejected by voters. However, the request was renewed in April of this year by the City of Sweetwater.

The Jim Fortunes tell about 'miracle baby'

By RHONDA WOODALL
Church Editor

Brandi Fortune likes roller skating, playing in the water, and reading. Like any normal, healthy child, Brandi, 6, enjoys having fun. However, if a person had asked Midland doctors six years ago, they would have said Brandi would never be able to enjoy activities most children take for granted.

The 700 Club of the Christian Broadcasting Network came to Big Spring June 12 to tape Brandi's story. The show planned to air the story last Tuesday, but it was delayed due to live coverage from the Middle East on the OPEC crisis. The show will air at a later date.

Brandi's story began when her mother, Dixie Fortune, contracted Rubella during the 10th week of her pregnancy. Her doctor told her "she (Brandi) would be blind, deaf, mentally retarded and possibly deformed. The picture he colored for us was not very pretty," Mrs. Fortune said. "The way he put it was we were going to have a deformed monster on our hands."

Mrs. Fortune's doctor in Midland wanted her to terminate the pregnancy. "It is standard procedure to terminate a pregnancy if a person as Rubella during the first four months of pregnancy," she said.

However, the Fortunes decided against abortion. "Jim (her husband) and I prayed and talked about it. We decided to go ahead with the pregnancy," she said.

"We felt like it was what the Lord wanted us to do," the doctor insisted on an abortion, Dixie said. "The doctor in Midland would not except my feelings on the situation." The Fortunes contacted a doctor in Lubbock who said it would not hurt Mrs. Fortune to carry the pregnancy to full term.

The doctor in Midland became upset, Jim said. "We received a registered letter releasing her (Dixie) as his patient, and releasing him (the doctor) of all responsibility."

The Fortunes went to Dr. Virgil Sanders for the term of Mrs. Fortune's pregnancy. "He was very supportive during entire pregnancy," she said.

"We had strong faith and have been Christians for a long time. We kept God first in our lives. We had been taught to put our faith in God, and that's what we did. We put the pregnancy in His hand, and let what happened happened," she said.

Seven months, after her bout with Rubella, Dixie gave birth to a healthy baby girl. Brandi was a straight 'A' student in kindergarten this year, and read 41 books in the Howard County Library Summer Program recently.

The Fortunes who live at 2603 Albrook have three other children, Michelle, 14; Michael, 10; and Billy Don, 5.

The 700 Club learned of the story three years ago when Dixie was watching the show. "They were doing a series on abortion. I called and shared my story with a counselor. I told her how the doctors tried to pressure me and Jim into having an abortion," said Dixie.

The 700 Club "called us right before Easter and said Brandi's birth was indeed a miracle and they wanted to share it with the 700 Club viewers," Dixie said. Before 700 Club will tape a story, they check out all the information to make sure everything is true.

"The men from CBN asked Brandi what she told her teacher about being on the 700 Club. She said 'I told my teacher I was a miracle baby, and I just thank Jesus that he let me live,'" Dixie said.

"In our hearts, we believe God did a miracle. We thank Jesus for a normal, healthy baby," Dixie said. "And the most important thing is God has taught us to rely on the scriptures, and it has helped us not only to see the big miracles, but also the small ones."

Membership climbing and slipping in churches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Membership is climbing slowly in American churches after some sharp skids in recent years. But some mainline Protestant denominations, are still slipping, as are the ranks of Roman Catholic nuns and Catholic school students. The two biggest denominations, Roman Catholics and Southern Baptists, are gaining in members, and two other major bodies that had declined were edging up again, the new statistics show.

But there was no resumption of the kind of strong, general growth recorded before 1960 in proportion to the U. S. population. The figures offer "some signs that we may be approaching a turning point, but it hasn't come yet," says Constant H. Jacques, editor of the 1984 Yearbook of American and Canadian Churches. As compiled by the research office of the National Council of Churches, the figures show total U. S. church membership at 139,603,059, up 1,150,445 in a year, a gain of .83 percent.

Church celebrates 10th anniversary

Tenth anniversary services at New Life Chapel, located at the Industrial Park, will be held July 19-22 with services beginning nightly at 7:30 p.m. Nursery services will be provided. The public is invited.

The Rev. William Dean, pastor of United Pentecostal Church of Killeen, will be guest speaker on Thursday. Rev. J.T. Pugh, district superintendent of the Texico District of the United Pentecostal Church and pastor of the First United Pentecostal Church of Odessa, will speak July 20. Rev. Floyd Leverton, pastor of Apostolic United Pentecostal Church of Abilene will speak July 21. Sunday services, July 22, will be specially-oriented toward the church's laity.

In July 1974, the congregation of Calvary Tabernacle and Jesus Name Pentecostal Church were consolidated under the direction of the newly-appointed pastor, M.J. Mullins, to form the First United Pentecostal Church of Big Spring. The church, first located at 1010 W. 4th St., started with a voting membership of 10 people with less than 20 in attendance.

The church had more than 100 members at the time of the closing Webb Air Force Base. In late 1977, the congregation size was cut in half due to the base closing. Since then, however, the church has grown and has opened and operated for six years a twelve-grade private school. The church also purchased new facilities at the former Air Base Chapel, and has operated a marriage and family counseling ministry, and a Federal Prison ministry. The church has more than 150 people involved in home cell groups.

Klenicki brings to his new position "a long and rich experience in interfaith affairs devoted to improving friendship and understanding between Christians and Jews," said Nathan Perlmutter, ADL's national director.

As a professor of Jewish theology at the Immaculate Conception Seminary at Darlington, N.J., Klenicki has lectured in inter-religious centers, universities and seminaries. Klenicki is co-chairman of the Joint Working Study Group sponsored by ADL and the National Council of Catholic Bishops, and is a member of the committee on Christian-Jewish relations of the National Council of Churches.

Klenicki's interfaith guidelines, prepared in 1983 at the request of CELAM, the Latin American Catholic Bishops Conference is used throughout the Latin American continent in furthering Catholic-Jewish relations.

Bonnington has served at St. Mary's Church since June 1982, first as curate, then as interim priest during the time that the parish was searching for a new rector. Prior to coming to Big Spring, Bonnington attended the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest in Austin. Before going to seminary, he was on the Economics faculty of Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

In addition to his position as church rector, Bonnington is the headmaster of St. Mary's Episcopal School and a member of

Dr. R.K. Reddy attends post-graduate courses

Dr. R.K. Reddy, orthopedic surgeon at Malone and Hogan Clinic, recently attended three weeks of post-graduate courses sponsored by the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgery in California and Maine.

"Pediatric Orthopedic Surgery" was the one-week course he attended in San Francisco during late May. New advances in treatment of osteomyelitis and Perthes' Disease in children were topics of interest to Reddy.

"Orthopedic Review Course," Reddy's intensive two-week session at Colby College in Waterville, Maine, June 17-30, covered all phases of orthopedic surgery and included new developments in hip and hand surgery.

Reddy is certified by the Royal College of Surgeons of England and Scotland. He completed his orthopedic surgery residency at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia and has practiced in Big Spring since 1961.

Dr. Donohue

Aerobic benefits

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you compare the aerobic benefits from jogging vs. aerobic dancing? — F.P.

The benefits are pretty much the same, given the same levels of intensity of either. The bottom line is the heartbeat attained, however. If they are equal or nearly so, then the aerobic benefits are equal or nearly so.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Our teenager has one functioning kidney, but is athletic. We were wondering about contact sports for him, if he were to use one of the flak-type jackets to protect his kidney area. — Mrs. T.

I would forget it if he were my son. I cite the obvious reservations about such activity in a person with a single functioning kidney. This remaining kidney's value increases dramatically. Any serious damage to it would present a dire emergency. We can all live quite nicely with a single functioning kidney.

I am sure you can convince him of the logic behind the American Academy of Pediatrics position against contact sports for any person with a lone kidney. However, other non-contact sports can be considered, depending on the physician's evaluation.

Howard County youths to attend 4-H Congress

The theme for the 1984 Texas 4-H Congress, set for Tuesday through Thursday in Brownsville, will be "4-H Fiesta International," says Dennis Poole, Howard County Extension agent.

More than 500 4-H delegates, their agent advisors, and members of the Texas 4-H Council which assists with the operation of 4-H Congress, are expected to participate in the activity. The Congress will be headquartered at the Fort Brown Motor Hotel.

Representing Howard County in the 4-H educational activities will be Blair Richardson of Lucky Acres 4-H Club and Robbie Dolan of Forsan 4-H Club.

While seminar sessions are scheduled at Jacob Brown Auditorium, adjacent to the host hotel, other features of the program will include a study of the interrelationship of the United States and Mexico in regard to trade, an educational tour to study the shrimp industry and a boat manufacturing company near Brownsville, and the Gladys Porter Zoo in Brownsville, a source zoo for restocking other zoos around the country.

Featured speaker for the 4-H Congress will be Michael Brome of Charlotte, N.C., a humorist and futurist, who will discuss "Tomorrow's America." Other attractions of the 4-H Congress include a chartered bus into Mexico to study agricultural facilities near Matamoros; a simulated air-sea rescue program coordinated by the United States Coast Guard just off South Padre Island, and a tour of historic homes in that area.

Texas 4-H Congress is an annual highlight of 4-H careers of many 15 to 18-year-old club members, says Poole. It is held in different Texas cities each year to enable use of various educational aspects of programming.

Dear Abby

Unethical therapists wreck what they claim to build

DEAR ABBY: I want to warn women against psychotherapists who have sex with their patients. It happened to me, and a year later, I am still devastated.

Two years ago I went into psychoanalysis because of some recent personal tragedies that I couldn't handle. After many sessions, my therapist started to touch me — beginning with friendly pats and affectionate hugs. I didn't see what was coming. I was "in transference" at the time — projecting onto him the love that other important men in my life had rejected.

Then an entire session of "therapy" was spent rolling around on the floor of his office locked in embraces. (He billed me for that hour!)

I was in a state of emotional shock, terminated the analysis immediately, and sought help from an ethical analyst, the local rape and assault committee and a lawyer. I also filed a malpractice suit for these reasons:

When a woman is in therapy she's like a child — emotionally at the mercy of her therapist. (I read that 5 percent of psychiatrists admit to having sex with their patients — which means there are probably more, but they won't admit it.)

The American Psychiatric Society has taken the official position that once sex occurs with a patient, the therapy is destroyed. Few women take action against their therapists because they feel so ashamed.

So women, be warned. If a mental health practitioner starts to hug you, kiss you or go further, run like hell. He is sicker than you are!

I'm signing my real name and address, but please don't use it.

ANONYMOUSLY GRATEFUL

DEAR GRATEFUL: All licensed therapists (psychiatrists, psychologists and counselors) are accountable for their professional conduct. Patients should call their local mental health association to learn where to address their complaints. And they should do so promptly.

CONFIDENTIAL TO F.H.: Acquaint your young friend with the local suicide prevention clinic. It offers excellent counseling. Suicide is a permanent solution to a temporary problem.

Our way of saying thank you to your last response

Relief pitching rescues Nationals in tourney action

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

The game between the Big Spring National and American League All-Stars started out with a bang and ended up as a pitching duel between two relief hurlers — and in the end it was the Nationals taking an 8-4 victory in District Tournament action Thursday night at the National League Park.

Each team's starting pitcher, Neal Mayfield for the Nationals and Danny Ditto for the Americans, didn't stick around very long. Both pitchers were chased from the game in the second inning, at the time the Nationals held a 7-3 lead.

Then the game changed from a hitting contest to a pitching showcase as relievers Artie Valdez of the Nationals and Danny Whitehead stole the show.

Both pitchers pitched smoothly the remainder of the game as each team managed one unearned run the final four innings.

Valdez, utilizing his fastball and breaking pitches, limited the Americans to three hits while striking out five in four-and-two-third innings.

Whitehead was just as tough with his variety of curveballs. He held the Nationals to four hits and fanned 10 in four-and-one-third innings.

Just about all the fireworks happened in the second inning when the Nationals erupted for six runs thanks to a grand slam by second baseman Sammy Carrillo, while the Americans scored three runs themselves.

The Nationals scored a run in the first inning when right fielder Peter Buske drove a hard double to left field that scored Lance Newell who had singled.

Things really heated up on the Nationals second time at bat. After Ditto registered two outs the Nationals exploded for six runs, chasing Ditto out of the contest.

First Chase Frazier singled and Bobby Gerstenberger laid down excellent bunt for a hit. Newell promptly singled to score Frazier with the Nationals second run. Ditto then walked Aaron Salazar to load the bases and provide Carrillo with the opportunity for his big blast.

Carrillo line shot over the right field fence on the first pitch, boosted the Nationals out front, 6-0. Ditto was pulled from the game and Whitehead walked Buske and was tagged for a run scoring triple by Mayfield.

The Americans came back with three runs of their own in the bottom of the second, chasing the 10-year-old Mayfield out of the contest. Whitehead and Jake Davis both drew walks and third baseman Chris Thorn ripped a triple to rightfield that scored Whitehead and Davis. Jody Nelson's single brought in Thorn with the third run. That's when Valdez entered the contest and shut the Americans down for the remainder of the game.

The win was the Nationals second of the tournament while the Americans were making their first tourney appearance.

MIDLAND WESTERN 7, ODESSA WEST 0

Midland Western got its first win of the tourney with a 7-0 blanking of Odessa West which suffered its first loss of the double elimination tournament.

In Little League action tonight, the Big Spring Texas League All-Stars will take on Midland Mid-City at 8 at the National League Park. At the American League Park Midland Eastern will face Lamsa at 8.

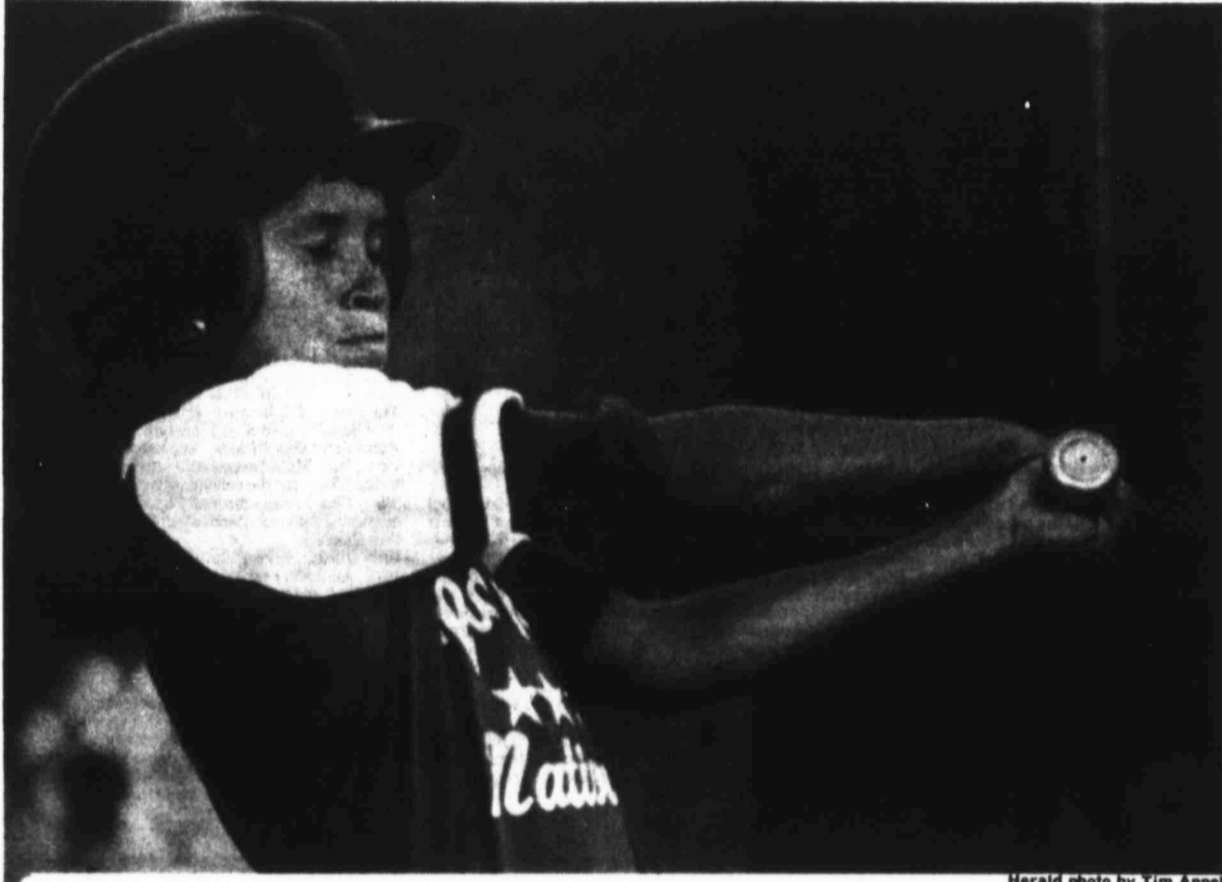

BIG SPRING 13, SAN ANGELO 12
Big Spring earned a spot in the Sub-Sectional Junior League Tour-namment in Lubbock by virtue of its 13-12 come-from-behind victory.

Big Spring tied the contest at 12-12 in the sixth inning and scored the winning tally in the final inning. Brent Hartfield got the win for Big Spring which starts play in Lubbock on July 23.

BIG SPRING 22, COAHOMA 0
The Big Spring Senior League All-Stars made the first step in advancing to Sub-Sectional play with a 22-0 walloping of Coahoma in a game which lasted only four innings.

Aaron Allen was the winning hurler for Big Spring which can advance to the next round of competition with a win over Coahoma tonight a 8 at the Roy Anderson Complex.

JUST A SWINGING — National League All-Star shortstop David Lee takes a mighty swing at a pitch thrown by American League pitcher Danny Ditto during second inning action last night at the National League Park. Lee went two-for-three in the the Nationals 8-4 victory in the District Little League Tournament.

Injury could force Pearson into retiring from Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys wide receiver Drew Pearson could be forced to retire because of a liver injury that will keep him off the playing field until late fall at the earliest, The Dallas Morning News reported today.

Pearson learned Tuesday it could be fatal for him to play with the injury, which resulted from a March 22 auto accident that killed his younger brother, the News said.

The accident left Pearson with a 7-centimeter hole in his liver. Any physical contact to the liver could cause fatal bleeding, the newspaper said.

"It could rupture on impact and he could bleed to death before he gets to the hospital," Pearson's physician, Dr. Lee Bourland said.

Bourland advised Pearson not to play until his liver heals and that could be mid-October at the earliest.

"The timing of this is going to be enough to keep him off the field this year," Bourland said.

Pearson said he was considering retirement.

"It would be hard for me to keep in shape until mid-October," Pearson said. "1985? It would be hard for me, at the age of 33, to sit out a year and come back."

Pearson planned to break the news of his liver problem today to Cowboys Coach Tom Landry, the News reported. Pearson said he was willing to come back in October or November if Landry asked, but added that he didn't think a return was likely.

"If my career ended tomorrow, I would be satisfied," Pearson said. "I gave the Dallas Cowboys all I had for 11 years. I had to beg them to let me play. They won't have to beg me to leave. I won't continue with a risk. I have to live after football."

Bourland said Pearson's liver eventually will heal.

"If he didn't want to play football — and he does — there would be no problem," Bourland said.

According to the News, Pearson has recovered physically from the auto accident, except for the liver injury.

But the mental scars from the accident that killed his younger brother, Carey, have not healed, he said.

"Working out is a constant reminder of the accident," Pearson said. "Running laps is a reminder. I lost my brother. I miss him. I wonder why it was him and not me."

Pearson said formal retirement will wait until he talks to his agent, David Falk, about his contract. He said may pursue a career in sports broadcasting or a front office job with a professional football team.

Pearson has been a Cowboy since 1973.

CFA reception gives college grid television better picture

By The Associated Press

The jumbled status of televised college football in 1984 has become somewhat clearer — although there still is uncertainty regarding who will be showing what games.

On Thursday, all 63 members of the College Football Association filed a commitment form that binds them to following the CFA's television package.

Those members did so after disbanding efforts by a separate coalition of the Big Ten and Pac-10 Conferences, which tried to get some Southern and Eastern independents to join their group in an attempt to widen its base of support.

The CFA membership consists of the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Big 8 Conference, the Southeastern Conference, the Southwest Conference, the Western Athletic Conference and 19 major independents.

The Supreme Court two weeks ago upheld a ruling that struck down two existing NCAA packages sold to CBS, ABC and ESPN for almost $275 million, saying they were in violation of federal antitrust laws. On Tuesday, college football's major schools turned down a last-ditch proposal by the NCAA for a TV package that would have been based on voluntary cooperation.

An attempt to get the CFA and Big Ten-Pac-10 to consolidate ef-orts failed earlier this week.

Neinas said the basic CFA television plan provides for a national marketing effort in two times period on each date — offering those games to national networks and national cable — as well as an open period for conference and institutional telecasts in the afternoon, which would be used for local and regional broadcasts.

"We may have something resolved in a week or two," said Mississippi State Athletic Director Charley Scott.

Some schools that joined the CFA said they felt there was nothing else they could do.

U.S. Olympians score another win over NBA

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The U.S. Olympic basketball team has romped to six straight victories over various all-star competition this summer, but the coach of the latest victim says the team shouldn't start counting its gold medals just yet.

Coach Bobby Knight's team swept to a 96-85 victory over a group of National Basketball Association stars in Greensboro behind Michael Jordan's 25 points. It was the fifth straight triumph over the NBA players after the Olympians opened their exhibition schedule with a 124-89 rout of former Indiana University stars.

Billy Cunningham, the Philadelphia 76ers' coach who led the NBA team in its latest outing, was impressed with the performance before a crowd of 15,771 at the Greensboro Coliseum. But he doesn't think the team can start thinking gold.

"They had some great spurts of basketball," Cunningham said. "The only thing I'm concerned about is that they don't get a false sense of security. It's going to be a lot different in the Olympics. They're going to play against teams who have played together for many, many years."

Jordan's play might mark the beginning of the improvement phase for Knight's club. The University of North Carolina star, who was named college basketball player of the year last season, had been mired in sub-par shooting for the last several weeks. He entered the sixth game at 46 percent from the field.

Tee Time

By AL PATTERSON

Hello Big Spring golfers!

This column will be coming your way weekly to keep you abreast on about goings on in the golfing community and hopefully offer some helpful tips which might make your golf more enjoyable. With that out of the way let's head into the first tee.

The Second Partnership of the season will be held at Comanche Trail for Aug. 18-19. Details will be forthcoming next week.

A free junior golf clinic will begin Tuesday, July 17 at 9 a.m. All boys and girls interested in learning the game are invited to Comanche Trail Golf Course. For additional details call 263-7271.

Saturday, July 14 marks the finals of the several week long match play tournament. Teeing off at 11 a.m. will be T.W. Young and Duane Thomas.

The Chicano Golf Association will host a Two-Man Partnership Tournament with a handicap Sunday, July 15. All CGA members may select their partner and call in for a starting time.

Speaking of starting times: The trial basis idea of golfers calling in a day ahead for a starting time for weekends and holidays only will now become permanent. Starting times are designed to spread out play and are geared for the convenience of the golfers. Veteran Gene Fletcher is the starter and does a great job working in players without tee times or a game.

The PGA tour has its "Golden Bear" and now Big Spring has its "Grizzly Bear," in my son Scott.

In the Big Spring and Chicano Golf Association's joint Match Play Championship, fast drawing to a close, Scott has marched through three opponents to reach the finals of the fourth flight. Scott is awarding t-shirts to his victims that simply state, "I lost to Grizzly Bear." His opponents in the fourth flight finals is Amador Gonzales who said he wants a shirt saying, "I beat Grizzly Bear."

Who ever wins, the loser will probably be old dad who pays for the shirts.

LANDRY LEG STRETCH — Arizona Wrangler quarterback Greg Landry loosens up during the team's first practice session late Wednesday as they prepare for Sunday's USFL championship game with the Philadelphia Stars.

USFL official thinks big bucks bad business in both leagues

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — It was important news here when Ronnie Lott, the San Francisco 49ers' cornerback arrived in town the other day to meet with representatives of United States Football League teams about a possible contract.

But it wasn't necessarily viewed with glee by a lot of USFL officials, who see the escalating costs of salaries to players using their league against the established National Football League as a growing problem that could threaten the stability of both leagues.

"Personally, I think it's an embarrassment," Carl Peterson, general manager of the Philadelphia Stars, said of Lott's appearance here. "I feel sorry for Ronnie. They're trading him around like a piece of meat."

That's not an unusual opinion here as the USFL gears up for Sunday's nationally televised title game between the Stars and the Arizona Wranglers at 7 p.m. CST. It's also an opinion that has resulted in the second-year league's desire to impose a team salary cap in upcoming negotiations with the newly formed USFL Players Association.

A year and a half ago, after the National Football League strike but before the USFL's first game, salaries in pro football were 150 percent lower than basketball and baseball. Now, they're at least even, thanks to the bidding war between the leagues that has resulted in salaries of $1 million plus per year for rookies like Los Angeles Express quarterback Steve Young and huge raises for established stars like the New York Giants' Lawrence Taylor, whose salary was increased from $150,000 a year to $1 million to keep him from jumping leagues.

"I'm going to get all the information I can get here," Lott said after meeting with officials of the USFL's Tampa Bay Bandits.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JULY 14, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Despite early delays in putting your original ideas across, you find you have the ability to achieve much of value until the late afternoon, so do your best work then. Avoid disputes later.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You fail to understand the views of a friend early in the day, but don't lose control and tonight it is clear to you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your reputation may be assailed if you do not view matters from a new standpoint within the community in which you reside.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study your obligations and know which partner is best able to help you with your problems, and contact early.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) An outside partner can pose a problem but a co-worker comes to your aid, and all works out well.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Look to some attractive person to assist you with some public work you are doing and get good results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Whatever amusements you want to get into could prove disappointing, but a family tie gives you an idea that is much to your liking.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) The situation at home is not ideal but if you contact an expert, you can remedy it considerably. Don't lose your hard-earned assets.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you study new ideas you can advance more rapidly in your career. Don't waste too much time in long, unimportant conversations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Not a good day to get into the practical since others can be greedy and you could lose much.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try to understand why you have not gotten ahead faster and get rid of whatever has been deterring your progress.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Concentrate on how to get ahead faster in the future and forget all that gadding about for today. Be with one who makes you laugh.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have a private anxiety that is becoming an obsession with you, so forget it, and be more hopeful for the future.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be worried all the time about something if you do not early have serene and cheerful persons around who can show your progeny the importance of being modern and sure of self instead of delving into antiquated ideas and superstitions.
