Old Settlers plan reunion

By LUIS RIOS
Staff Writer

Howard and Glasscock counties' historic past and living history will be remembered as oldtimers gather for the 60th annual Howard-Glasscock County Old Settlers Reunion at Comanche Trail Park Aug. 3.

The celebration will feature a full day of activities for oldtimers as well as the general public, said president Dwight McCann.

"It started 60 years ago and it just kept on going," said McCann, who has been reunion president for the past 10 years. "Some have been here for 20 years or longer and have pioneered the counties."

McCann, 64, and reunion vice president Mac Underwood, 70, are considered pioneers in Howard County. The men said last year's reunion attracted 1,200 people.

The oldtimers have seen technological advances and changes in lifestyles that would astound one's parents and grandparents.

"It would be beyond imagination," said Underwood, if someone were somehow transferred here from 1924. "My grandchildren are astonished at some of the stories that happened here in Big Spring. There were about 15 cars here in Big Spring when the reunion began. People came to the reunion in horse-driven carriages and by horseback."

One of the biggest differences in lifestyles has been the decline of the traditional work ethic that pioneers needed to survive, McCann said.

Union keeps doors open for settlement

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

Although plans remain "firm" for a lawsuit against the city on the issue of back pay for city firemen, union officials said Friday they have not ruled out a negotiated settlement in their case.

"We leave it in our lawyer's hands," said union vice-president Robert Muller Friday. "If they can get something done without going to court, hey, that's great," he said.

The controversy stems from a policy that goes as far back as either side can remember whereby city firefighters were substituted into higher job classifications but not paid at a higher rate.

City administrators last December instituted a new policy giving fire fighters the higher pay.

Currently at issue, however, is what compensation the firemen should get for the period before the new policy went into effect.

In a letter to City Manager Don Davis received last Friday, union president John Branham pressed his organization's demand for either $45,000 in back pay or three extra holidays per year for the firemen. The letter gave the city five working days to respond to his union's demands.

Davis responded to Branham Friday, stating the city's intention to stand firm with its original $15,000 offer in the back pay issue.

In addition, Davis' letter invited the union to inspect city personnel department records "to reconcile the discrepancies between your claim and our findings."

"From the beginning of this, we never really wanted the money in the first place," Muller said yesterday, stating his union's preference for the three extra holidays.

"Once the money is divided up, it doesn't really add up to that much per person," he said.

The firemen, who work shifts in a "one day on, two days off" arrangement, are currently allotted nine shifts per year as holidays. Their proposal would increase their holiday time to 11 shifts yearly, Muller said.

Muller also proposed a meeting between his union's attorneys, who are from a San Antonio firm recommended by state union officials, and city administrators. Muller said he will also meet with City Personnel Director Emma Bogard early next week to go over how the city reached its $15,000

Reagan fudges on tax query

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rejecting the challenge of Walter F. Mondale, President Reagan's chief spokesman said Friday that "We'll just have to wait" until after the election before the president takes a stand on whether to increase taxes to close the federal deficit.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said Mondale, the Democratic presidential nominee, had no basis for telling the nation Thursday night that a tax increase is inevitable, regardless of who wins the White House. "Mondale's not in a position to know," Speakes declared.

Reagan "has a strong record of not raising taxes" but a decision on revenue needs will await results of Treasury Department study due in December, Speakes said.

Later, White House Chief of Staff James A. Baker III rejected Mondale's call for six presidential debates. Reagan "looks forward to debating the Democratic nominee on reasonable terms at a reasonable time," he said, but the challenge for half a dozen exchanges "cannot be taken seriously."

"We will let Walter Mondale do the talking about raising taxes," Speakes said. He called Mondale's predictions a sign that "the Democrats are committed to continuing their program of spend and spend, tax and tax" because of "too many promises to too many interest groups."

Reagan, asked after a White House ceremony about Mondale's statement, said, "wait 'til Tuesday night." The president has scheduled a news conference for that time.

Mondale, in his acceptance speech at the Democratic National Convention, said: "Here is the truth about the future: We are living on borrowed money and borrowed time. These deficits hike interest rates, clobber exports, stunt investment, kill jobs, undermine growth, cheat our kids, and shrink our future."

"Whoever is inaugurated in January, the American people will have to pay Mr. Reagan's bills. The budget will be squeezed. Taxes will go up. And anyone who says they won't is not telling the truth.

"Let's tell the truth. Mr. Reagan will raise taxes, and so will I. He won't tell you. I just did."

Reagan watched Mondale's speech and "found it interesting," said Speakes. The spokesman expressed surprise at Mondale's prediction. "I haven't heard a candidate for mayor make that kind of statement."

Speakes said, "We are studying tax reform, not tax increases. Ronald Reagan has a strong record of not raising taxes and we think that the Congress, particularly the Democratic-controlled Congress, should come to grips with the spending issue as far as the deficit issue is concerned. So far they have refused to do so."

Speakes said Reagan, in his State of the Union address last January, expressed a desire to make the tax system "more fair for all taxpayers, to bring the underground economy into the sunlight and to make the tax base broader so personal tax rates could come down, not go up."

"The president time and again has said — and I repeat today — no one should consider a tax increase until we get every last dollar possible out of federal spending and reduce the size of the bloated federal bureaucracy."

"The Democrats say they will raise taxes. That doesn't surprise us. They can't cut spending because they have made too many promises to too many special interest groups."

Mondale said he would cut the deficit, now running about $200 billion per year, by two-thirds by the end of his first term. And "To the Congress," he said, "my message is this: We must cut spending and pay as we go. If you don't hold the line, I will: that's what the veto is for."

Speakes refused to rule out the Citizens' group to battle election

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

A group of about 100 local residents who call themselves Citizens for Effective Law Enforcement have organized against a proposal for an elected Police Chief, the group's co-chairperson, businesswoman Johnnie Lou Avery, said yesterday.

The proposal in question will be presented to city voters in an August 11 election to amend the city charter.

"Neutrality and quality are imperative for effective law enforcement and these would be sacrificed with an elected police chief," said a statement from the group released yesterday.

Members of the group, according to the statement, "feel that the proposition to elect a police chief has been clouded with questions of individual personalities rather than a study of whether the method of selecting a police chief should be changed."

According to Mrs. Avery, the organization plans to take out ads in local media to support their cause and is organizing a phone bank manned by about 70 volunteers to inform voters of the election. She said the volunteers will send pamphlets explaining their side of the question to interested voters.

The group has also organized a speakers bureau, she said.

In its literature, the group says an elected police chief would be of lower quality than one that is appointed, that if citizens are dissatisfied with the elected chief, he could not be replaced until his term is up, that an elected chief would be more responsive to special interest groups than the public at large and that he would be under no direct supervision.

"Our current form of government does work. And while there may be some personality differences at this time, there is not reason to change our form of city government... especially not at the whims of a special interest group," reads the group's literature.

figure. "(However), we are going to file (the suit) if nothing further comes up," he said.

He said the fire fighters will try to set several legal precedents in their case if it ends up in court. "We'll try to go back four years instead of two," he said, referring to current precedents whereby administrators have been forced to pay the equivalent of two years back remuneration in cases of substitution into higher classifications.

He said their case will also include a provision forcing the city to pay back remuneration for an officer's slot on each piece of firefighting equipment in the department's fleet. Current city policy does not include the officer's slot on department equipment.

Although the practice is recommended under National Fire Protection Association standards, Mrs. Bogard said yesterday it was neither budgeted by city administrators nor called for by state law. She estimated the addition of the officer's slot accounts for about $14,000 of the union's $45,000 demand.

Muller said the union, which has been in negotiation with the city since formation seven months ago, is "tired of waiting."

"It will be in the very near future whether we know if we're going to court or whether we can meet in other negotiations," he said.

Window displays studied Reunion

Kay Harvey Mosley, a marketing and design specialist with the Texas Historical Commission's Main Street Project, gave a presentation on effective window displays to local merchants Friday.

The presentation was part of an effort to spruce up downtown Big Spring in the "Heart of the City" project.

Although Big Spring has not submitted an application to the Main Street Project, five cities a year are chosen to receive advice and services ranging from free architectural services, grant money and recruiting tips.

Big Spring is working with Main Street Project personnel to receive tips on downtown renovation.

"We have every intention of indulging Kay's expertise to allow," Pat Hardy, the city's administrative assistant, said following the meeting. Instead of submitting an application, city councilmen agreed last year to allow Hardy to spend time working with downtown renovation. Hardy has been fulfilling the duties required of a project manager, Mrs. Mosley said.

Local architect Phil Furquon also has been working with the project, Hardy said.

Mrs. Mosley said downtown Big Spring "has some really fine historical buildings. Some of them are covered up with metal siding, but you can tell they are historical."

Hardy said 24 persons attended Friday's meeting. Mrs. Mosley gave a slide presentation dealing with effective window display, proper lighting, signs in windows and correct amounts of merchandise to display.

She also discussed heights of displays and color coordinating merchandising.

She gave tips on basics of good window design, such as keeping windows clean and free of bugs.

"Everybody worked back then because they had to," McCann said. "Everybody had to pitch in to make ends meet."

The reunion began at the J.L. McKinney Ranch and was moved to Center Point where only the schoolhouse remains, McCann said. Cottonwood Park also served as a place for the reunion. The Old Settlers Pavilion at Comanche Trail Park was obtained by the Old Settlers Reunion in the early 60's.

Registration for the reunion will begin at 9 a.m. A noon barbecue is open to the public at $4.50 a plate, but everybody over 70 can eat free. A dance will be held at the Dora Roberts Community Center at 8:30 p.m. Tickets for the dance will be $3.50.

Friday morning events will include horseshoe pitching, washer throwing and tobacco spitting. The old settlers will also be recognized and prizes will be awarded.

The categories will include eldest lady (native), eldest man (native), native coming the greatest distance, couple married longest to same spouse, and husband calling.

At 1:30 p.m. a group will break out fiddles and rosin up their bows for the annual fiddlers contest. The best fiddler will receive $100, second place will win $50, and third $25.

Ben Nix and the Boys Band will perform at the dance.

Dallas business trip takes unexpected turn for couple

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

A Big Spring couple's Dallas business trip took an unexpected turn last week when the man who stole their car was fatally shot in a struggle with an Arkansas State Trooper.

"When I got out to the parking lot, the car was gone," said Tommy Churchwell of 2609 Wasson, speaking of his 1984 Cadillac El Dorado. Churchwell and his wife, Laurie, were checking out of their hotel after attending a Dallas dance convention.

After searching the parking lot thoroughly and checking to make sure his wife hadn't moved the car, Churchwell said he called the police.

"They said if it was a joy ride that chances are it would be stripped when they found it — if they found it."

After flying home, however, the Churchwells were unaware of the drama involving their Cadillac that was unfolding 75 miles northeast of Texarkana.

Churchwell said he received a call from the Arkansas Department of Public Safety informing him that the car had been found — and the man who had stolen it was killed in a struggle with a trooper.

DPS agents told Churchwell the man had been weaving as he drove on the highway and that Trooper Bobby Carlton of Prescott, Ark., had pulled him over on a drunk driving charge. The man driving the car was later identified as David Glen Bond, 35.

"After they got one handcuff on him, he went berserk. He knocked (Carlton) flat on his back, jumped on top of him and started choking him," Churchwell said the DPS agent told him.

According to a story on the incident carried in the July 14 Dallas Morning News, "The trooper could not get loose," said Arkansas prosecuting attorney W.H. "Dub" Arnold. "But before (Bond) cut off his wind completely, he was able to get his pistol and fire it into Bond's left side," Arnold said.

According to the article, the incident began about 7 p.m. July 12 when Carlton pulled over the late model Cadillac. Carlton then received a report that a similar Cadillac had been stolen in Dallas. After getting out and determining that a dealer's license plate had been put on the car over a Texas plate, the trooper returned and tried to handcuff Bond.

Churchwell said Bond had used magnets to cover the car's Texas license plate with the dealer's plates.

He said that when he got the car back it smelled of cigarettes and beer, "but if he hadn't been drunk, we wouldn't have seen the car again."

Reagan

possibility that Reagan might be forced to raise taxes, but declared: "I'm not going to play games on that ... We have tax reform under study. Mondale's not in a position to know. My question is how would Mondale know?"

"We're interested in tax reform, not tax increases, we're interested in cutting the budget, cutting spending and we wish we could get some assistance from (Speaker) Tip O'Neill and his people in the House of Representatives," Speakes said.

Pressed by reporters on whether Reagan would raise taxes, Speakes replied, "Don't come in here carrying water for these people (Mondale) ... We'll just have to wait until the study is complete, I'm sorry."

Mondale charged that Reagan is keeping his tax plan "a secret until after the election. That's not leadership; that's salesmanship. I challenge Mr. Reagan to put his plan on the table next to mine and debate it on national television. Americans want the truth about the future, not after the election, but now."

Speakes said "There is no secret plan to raise taxes." Reagan won the largest income tax cuts in history in 1981. He told voters in 1980 he could balance the budget by 1983 even with those cuts and major increases in defense spending. Though he won many cuts in non-defense programs, he has repeatedly blamed Congress for the record red ink.

According to the House Budget Committee, Reagan has asked Congress for a total of $1,903.8 trillion in spending for programs controlled by the annual appropriations process for fiscal years 1981-84. Congress actually appropriated $1,915.8 trillion, or $13 billion more than Reagan asked over those four years. That is an increase of about one-half of 1 percent.

The deficit for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, according to the administration, will top $178 billion. Though Reagan earlier this week signed a mixed bag of tax increases to raise $52 billion over the next three years, that will scarcely dent deficits expected to total $600 billion in that period.

Mondale is not alone in declaring future tax increases inevitable. Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kansas, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said late last month that a tax package next year should combine increases with simplification. "Whether it's Reagan or Mondale, I would think he's going to have his hands full on" tax legislation, Dole said.

2 treated for injuries

Two persons were treated and released at Malone-Hogan Hospital following two major accidents that occurred Friday morning.

Alice Butler of 2500 Cindy was taken to the hospital by Shaffer Ambulance after her 1975 Chrysler collided with an unattended Chevrolet Suburban that rolled out the parking lot at the Mity Mart at 1904 Birdwell, police reports said.

The accident occurred at 11:05 a.m. Friday in the 1900 block of the street, reports said. Owner of the unattended vehicle was listed as Sandra Christenson, who was cited by police for improper parking, reports said. Joe Beesinger of Levelland was taken to the hospital by private vehicle after his 1975 Chevrolet Silverado pickup collided at 10:58 a.m. Friday with a 1984 Ford LTD driven by Rudolph Davis of 520 Scott, police reports said.

The accident occurred in the parking lot of the Coronado Plaza Shopping Center, according to reports.

In other police reports: Carl Dugger of 4117 Dixon told police at 9:15 a.m. Friday that someone sometime between 9:30 p.m. Thursday and 7:30 a.m. Friday caused damage estimated at $1,100 to the engine of his 1969 Oldsmobile Cutlass, police reports said. According to reports, the person put sugar in the fuel tank of Dugger's car.

Sean Thornton, manager of the Golden Corral Restaurant at 503 FM 700, told police at 1:21 p.m. Friday that someone sometime Wednesday stole $320 in currency from the restaurant, police reports said.

Takes 2 to tango, Babs

NEW YORK (AP) — Television interviewer Barbara Walters says she used to fantasize about being a mother, but has come to realize that "the reality is that children involve a lifelong commitment."

Miss Walters, who has an adopted teen-age daughter, Jacqueline, said she's "made lots of mistakes," as a mother, "but what gives me comfort is the fact that the things I did, I did out of caring."

"My fantasies were of a child in feet pajamas. The colors pink and white. Christmas trees. And, of course, I wasn't going to have a child with any adolescent problems," Miss Walters said in an interview with Parade magazine.

"The reality is that having a child is a lifelong commitment," said Miss Walters. "A child isn't a puppy. If things get hard, you can't give it away to a friend or neighbor."

"I think that people ought to think long and hard about their life and what they want to do with it," she said. "As children grow, problems get tougher, not easier."

Isaac Hayes gets 'Shaft'

ATLANTA — Entertainer Isaac Hayes' wife has filed for divorce on grounds that the couple's marriage is irretrievably broken.

In the divorce petition filed Thursday, Mignon C. Hayes said she has been separated from Hayes since Sept. 1, 1982. She is seeking custody of the couple's two children, a division of Hayes' property and temporary and permanent alimony and child support.

Mrs. Hayes said in the petition, filed in Fulton County Superior Court, that she is unemployed and has no earnings and no property other than her personal effects.

Hayes, a recording artist, songwriter and performer, is best known for "Theme From Shaft," the hit song he recorded for the motion picture "Shaft."

It's worse than caffeine

WAILUKU — Jeanne Cooper, who plays heiress Katherine Chancellor in the daytime soap opera "The Young and the Restless," was hospitalized briefly after accidentally drinking coffee containing a cleaning solution, a spokesman said.

Ms. Cooper had stopped with a companion to eat at a pancake house while vacationing on Maui and had some coffee from a pot that had been placed on the table, said spokesman Jerry Walden.

Thinking it tasted peculiar, Ms. Cooper added some cream, took another swallow and immediately suffered severe stomach pains, Walden said.

Ms. Cooper was taken by ambulance to Maui Memorial Hospital on Tuesday night and her stomach was pumped, he said. She was released a short time later.

Walden said someone apparently had mistakenly filled the pot from an urn containing cleaning solution instead of one containing coffee.

Throwing Mum off track

LONDON — Queen Mother Elizabeth's first official visit to Italy in October has been pushed back six days because of the rescheduling of Queen Elizabeth II's tour of Canada, officials said.

The queen mother, who will be 84 years old in August, was to have made her trip on the Royal Yacht Britannia from Oct. 19 to Oct. 22, but the four-day visit will now begin on Oct. 25 to allow time for the Britannia to return from Canada.

The queen's two-week tour of Ontario, Manitoba and New Brunswick, originally scheduled for July 14-27, was switched to Sept. 24-Oct. 4 to avoid clashing with Canada's national elections, set for Sept. 4.

Likud losing

Labor widens lead in Israeli election polls

TEL AVIV (AP) — Opinion polls published Friday, three days before Israel's national election, showed Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's Likud bloc badly trailing the opposition Labor Party.

Likud had hoped polls would show it edging closer to Labor in the campaign's closing days. Instead, they showed Labor had slightly increased its lead and indicated that Shamir stands little chance of winning on July 23.

Shamir called for Likud and Labor to join in a coalition government, saying any issues which divide the two parties "can be postponed for the present."

Labor leader Shimon Peres said such a coalition would be unworkable and would make for a government of "national paralysis."

A Dahaf Research Organization interview poll showed Labor likely to win 49 seats and a Gallup telephone survey projected it as taking 50 seats in the 120-seat Knesset, or parliament. Dahaf showed 37 seats for Likud. Gallup showed 34.

Most Likud officials have said the party needs 45 seats to be able to stay in power with help from some smaller parties.

Likud party leaders urged former Prime Minister Menachem Begin, for months in seclusion, to make a last-minute campaign appeal on behalf of the party he founded. Likud officials said his participation could rescue the party by adding four or five seats to its total, but there was no sign Begin had agreed to campaign.

Neither poll included the Arab vote, which likely will go to Labor or to smaller parties which would ally with Labor. The Arabs make up 10 percent of the population and would hold 12 seats if they voted in a bloc.

Shamir said in one of several interviews published Friday in Israeli newspapers that a coalition between the two major parties is needed so that Israel's 24 smaller parties are not permitted so much power.

A small ethnic party brought down Shamir's government in anger over budget cuts, resulting in Monday's elections, which are being held 16 months early.

Peres said the two parties differ on too many subjects for them to ally. He mentioned Labor's willingness to negotiate without conditions with Jordan about the future of the occupied West Bank, which Israel captured from Jordan in the 1967 Middle East war.

Shamir rejected the idea of formal peace talks with Jordan.

"What is (Jordan's King) Hussein offering us?" the prime minister said. "Total withdrawal. So it's better not to begin at all."

Shamir said his first step as a newly elected prime minister would be to try to form a coalition with Labor. Peres said he would try at once to improve Israel's economy, suffering from an inflation rate projected at 400 percent.

The Dahaf poll had a 2.5 to 3 percent margin of error and the Gallup survey 2 to 4 percent. Gallup did not list undecided voters. Dahaf indicated its percentage of undecideds had fallen from 15 percent a week ago to its latest figure of 11 percent. Dahaf polled 1,030 voters and Gallup 660.

Israeli women losing social stature

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli women have reason to envy the nomination of Geraldine Ferraro as the first woman candidate for vice president of the United States.

Golda Meir once headed the Israeli government and Israel was in the vanguard of the battle for equality of the sexes as men and women worked shoulder to shoulder to build the country.

But growing religious influence in the country and the prominent role of the army in Israeli society have worked against women.

"Since Golda Meir, we have missed the boat somewhere," said Tel Aviv university professor Sylvia Bijau. "I doubt another woman could be elected prime minister here again at this stage."

Mrs. Meir, an American immigrant in 1921, was a product of the pre-state pioneer days when women and men were fired with zeal for social change.

She was an activist in the Labor Party, serving as minister of labor and for 10 years as minister of foreign affairs. Israel's founding father, David Ben-Gurion, called her "the only man in my Cabinet."

Mrs. Meir was prime minister from 1969 to 1974, but she did not really establish a prominent place for women in the top level of Israeli politics.

"Politics still is seen by most as a man's occupation," said Dafna Sharfman, a political scientist at Haifa University.

Eleven women were elected to the first three Parliaments. Only nine are in Parliament now, and 10 are likely to be elected in Monday's national election.

"This stagnation actually means a reversal," Ms. Sharfman said.

Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir agreed with that assessment in a recent interview with Israel's most widely read women's weekly. He called the underrepresentation of women in Parliament "a weakness of Israeli society."

Other Israeli leaders have made similar remarks during the tight election campaign where every vote counts. But the subject of rights for women is a marginal topic in a country grappling with 400 percent inflation and a lengthy military involvement in Lebanon.

Statistics show 44 percent of Israeli women aged 18-64 are working, but fewer than 8 percent hold managerial positions.

And although the number of working women has doubled in the last 30 years, they are under pressures from a traditional society to marry young and have children, discouraging most from entering public life.

Many are held back by a growing shortage of day-care centers, but there are not enough women in Parliament to fight for them, said Rena Shashua-Hasson, a lawyer and parliamentary candidate for the small, liberal Shinui Party.

Ranked sixth on the party list, Mrs. Shashua-Hasson, 48, does not expect to win a seat.

Wife said gunman heard voices

SAN YSIDRO, Calif. (AP) — The widow of James Oliver Huberty, the unemployed security guard who killed 21 people and wounded 19 in a fast-food restaurant massacre, apologized to the victims and said "I wish I could undo it, but I can't."

Etna Huberty, 41, went into seclusion Friday after issuing a statement and granting a few interviews Thursday.

A friend who gave her name only as Ann told The Associated Press that Mrs. Huberty was with her but would not talk to reporters.

"Don't you know that one of the children who was killed was playing with Cassandra (one of the Hubert's two daughters) the day it happened?" the woman asked before hanging up.

"If he would have been in his right mind, hadn't been hearing voices, he would have never done this. Never." Mrs. Huberty said in an interview with KFMB-TV.

In Tucson, Ariz., Huberty's mother, Icle, 70, told the Arizona Daily Star in a copyright interview that her son "was in need of help."

"They should have given it to him," she said.

But former neighbors in Massillon, Ohio, where Huberty and his family lived for 10 years before moving to San Ysidro late last year, said they were not surprised when they heard he was the man responsible for the massacre.

They said he was fascinated with guns and guard dogs.

Bandits hit Brinks' car

UKIAH, Calif. — State and federal authorities examined two aging pickups for evidence Friday in the effort to find out who sprayed a Brink's armored truck with bullets, told its guards to "Give up or die," and escaped in the trucks with 15 bags of money.

Mendocino County Sheriff's Lt. Jay Miller said his department has had "no indication whatsoever of any political overtones or any terrorist" group responsibility in the robbery, carried out by six to eight armed bandits.

The heist was "very well orchestrated by people who seemed to know what they were doing," said FBI spokesman John Holford.

Investigators from the state Department of Justice arrived in Ukiah, about 120 miles north of San Francisco, on Friday to help the FBI and local authorities look for fingerprints or other evidence in the robbery vehicles.

The Ford Fleetside pickups, 1965 and 1966 models, were found abandoned at the Pomo recreation area of Lake Mendocino, two miles from the heist. A third "switch" car, a mid-1970 model green Buick Riviera, was found later at Calpella, two miles away.

Rosenkranz kidnapped

WASHINGTON — The wife of a founder of the Syntex Corp., a drug company that helped develop the oral contraceptive, was kidnapped at gunpoint at a luxury hotel where the couple was playing in a bridge tournament, police said Friday.

Edith Rosenkranz, 60, was kidnapped late Thursday night at the Sheraton Washington Hotel where she was staying with her husband, George Rosenkranz.

The woman was taken at gunpoint about 11:50 p.m. EDT while walking with another woman in the hotel's parking garage, said city police Lt. William White III.

The man, armed with a handgun, led Mrs. Rosenkranz away after refusing to take only her purse, police said. The other woman, who was left behind unharmed, notified police, who found Mrs. Rosenkranz's shoes on another level of the parking garage.

Offensive under way

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — About 2,000 troops began sweeping an area north of the capital Friday for guerrilla hideouts, but there were no immediate reports of fighting.

A military spokesman, who asked anonymity for security reasons, said troops from two U.S.-trained battalions began the operation in the early morning around El Paisanal, 22 miles north of San Salvador.

The leftist rebels have made a series of attacks in the area in recent weeks, including dynamiting a freight train north of the town July 14 in which 21 of a 25 policemen guarding the convoy were killed.

Undersecretary of Defense Fred Ikle arrived Friday from Honduras for a one-day visit whose purpose was not announced. U.S. military aid is central to the government's fight against the 4 1/2-year-old leftist insurgency.

Leaders of the National Association of Salvadoran Indigenous Groups accused President Jose Napoleon Duarte's government Friday of failing to bring to act against civil defense guards and military men accused of murdering at least 18 Indians in February 1983 in the western part of the country.

VICTORIAN HOME — This elegant, restrained Victorian house was the William Wheeler House in Victoria, Texas. The house is included in "The Way Things Were," a photographic exhibition from the Texas Humanities Resource Center, as a reminder of the structures built by the 19th century Texas settlers to memorialize their accomplishments and success. The exhibit will be shown at Heritage Museum, Aug. 1-21.

Photographic exhibition shown at Heritage Museum

Turning on the electric lights in a Texas farmhouse was a momentous occasion, for it meant that the farm family was leaving the frontier behind and plugging into the 20th century.

This quiet revolution is one of the many social changes documented in "The Way Things Were," a photographic exhibition that will be on display for three weeks at the Heritage Museum.

"The Way Things Were" takes viewers on a journey into the past, as it is reflected in the buildings that settlers erected between 1850 and 1940 in rural and small-town areas of Texas. This exhibit from the Texas Humanities Resource Center at Arlington highlights the settler's accommodations to reality and their dreams of a better tomorrow. The photographs include images of log houses, one-room schools, brush arbors, Victorian mansions and a selection of courthouses that 19th century Texans built as monuments to an orderly society.

The exhibition will be on display Aug. 1 through Aug. 21 at the Heritage Museum, 510 Scurry. The museum is open from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $1 for adults and free to children, youth groups and museum members.

Dear Abby

Where is her man from?

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married in three months to a wonderful man. He lives out of state and has spent a lot of time and money driving in so we can be together. He knows all my friends and he even knows all the relatives in my large family by name.

The problem: I have never met his parents or any of his relatives or friends. He once told me that he never liked living at home and has been on his own since he was 18. I never fully understood the reason for this because he never talked about it.

Last year when I told him that I would like to meet his family, he said that we came from "two different worlds." I opened up my world to him, but so far he hasn't opened up his world to me.

He asked me to marry him, so I assume he has chosen to live in my world, but he won't even let me visit in his. (I can't imagine what could be so terrible in his world, can you?) He has all the good qualities a woman could want in a husband and I love him very much.

Should I let sleeping dogs lie? Or will this eat at me forever?

This is 4-H Junior Rodeo Week in Howard County. As many as 400 local and regional youth between the ages of 9 and 19 will compete in the 39th annual Howard County Junior Rodeo Wednesday through Saturday, July 25-28 at 8:00 p.m. each evening in the Rodeo Bowl.

Because this rodeo is sanctioned by the American Junior Rodeo Association, members of AJRA will be vying for points to qualify them to compete in the National AJRA Finals which will be held in Snyder in the Fall. Local youth are also eligible to participate. All contestants compete for cash prizes and belt buckles. As in all AJRA events, all entry fees are paid back to the winners as prize money.

The Junior Rodeo is the major money making project of 4-H in Howard County. Proceeds from ticket sales and concessions are used to support 4-H activities throughout the year. In recent months, money raised from the rodeo has been used to help 4-H members and leaders attend district and state leadership training conferences; purchase equipment to support 4-H projects such as a trim table for livestock projects; a camera which is used to prepare programs, records and to share the 4-H program with others; and for food service equipment for concessions and special events.

The rodeo could not be the success it is without the support of the community. The Extension Staff, Don Richardson, Dennis Poole and myself sincerely appreciate the tremendous support given to the entire 4-H program and especially for the rodeo. Mothers and Daddies and numerous friends provide the man-power at the gates, chutes, in the arena and the concession stands. Numerous others donate equipment, prizes and supplies. We especially thank the media for the good publicity this year. And to our many friends, the businesses and individuals who purchase tickets. We thank you. Barq's Root Beer and Wrangler Western Wear are sponsors of AJRA Rodeos throughout the country. WE THANK YOU ALL!

For a truly delightful evening, come to the Rodeo and watch the kids participate in wholesome West Texas fun. The program starts at 8:00 p.m. each evening, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 25-28 in Rodeo Bowl, West Highway 80 in Big Spring. Tickets are $3.00 for adults, $1.50 for children, available from any 4-H member or at the gate. See you at the Rodeo!

R for your garden

by Don Richardson
County Extension Agent

Junior Rodeo scheduled for July 25-28

Now that summer has arrived, you may be thinking about taking that well-earned vacation. If you are planning to take an extended vacation now or later this summer, be sure your landscape is in order prior to leaving. Lawns, gardens and landscapes left unattended and uncared for several weeks can be virtually ruined by our summer's sun, wind and heat.

Just a little extra effort on your part before leaving can make a big difference in the health and well-being of your plants. Here are some practical tips which should help to ensure that your home landscape will not suffer the post vacation blues.

- Water the home grounds well prior to leaving. Soak your lawn, gardens and all landscape plants deeply. Our shallow soils can dry out rapidly even after heavy watering, so if you'll be gone over a week, plan to have a neighbor hook up your hose and do a little supplemental watering.

- Mow your lawn a day or two before you leave. Use the same cutting height that you normally do. Don't lower the mower blade for a "closer shave." Doing so could easily cause sun scald and damage. If you plan to be gone more than a week it would be a good idea to arrange to have a friend or neighbor mow the lawn for you.
- Prune hedges and other plants likely to get rangy by the time you return.
- Mulch to help conserve valuable moisture needed for plant growth while you are home or away. Choose a clean mulch, free of weed seed, and one which will remain loose and well aerated. Consider grass clippings, pine bark, compost, or a variety of other organic materials. Mulching will also reduce or eliminate the weeding problem.

- Check carefully and spray for insects and diseases to prevent a buildup of pests during your absence. Summer insects and diseases do not take a vacation, and will work overtime on your healthy plants. This goes particularly for chinch bugs. Make sure you have applied chinch bug control to your St. Augustine lawn, or you just might find it severely damaged by this little critter when you return.

- Be sure that walks and flower beds are neatly edged before your departure. A buildup of growth while you are away will be difficult to manage on your return.
- Take lawn and garden equipment by the repair shop, if needed. They'll have it ready when you return.
- Harvest all ripe or nearly ripe fruit and vegetables. If you'll be gone over a week arrange for a friend to pull and use produce. Vegetables left unpicked will frequently cease to bear.

Have a nice trip knowing that things at home will be in fine shape when you return.

Dr. Donohue

Atrophic gastritis

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a peculiar ailment. It is called atrophic gastritis. I'm hoping you have information on it. Are there many people with this? I get stomach upset. — S.V.V.

Atrophic gastritis is loss of some of the stomach glands that produce digestive juices. Sounds terrible, but actually many have it and it often happens with age. It may be part of pernicious anemia. Some get it because a stomach juice gets to the lower digestive tract. There may be some food intolerance or a feeling of fullness upon eating a little; perhaps some nausea. There is nothing special in the way of treatment, but you have to watch foods that give you trouble, and perhaps take smaller portions at more frequent meal sittings.

Sleeping dogs must eventually awaken, so if you plan to spend the rest of your life with this wonderful man, you had better clear up the mystery of "his world" before you marry him.

He's probably not very proud of his world and prefers to keep it from you, but if that's the case, he should be man enough to say so. His refusal to explain it is unfair to you.

Johnny Rutherford, chairman of the C.L.E.A.N. program, said more work is needed to accomplish the objective of a substantial cleanup of the community.

C.L.E.A.N., a program which employs about 25 people working for minimum wage under the supervision of Dewayne Wallace, has targeted cleaning up major thoroughfares in Big Spring. C.L.E.A.N. crews also work on private lots and other property if contracted by the owners.

C.L.E.A.N. employees are divided into work crews of five with a lawnmower and weedeater and hand tools. The crews work for about $30 an hour.

The program has access to heavy equipment for loading and hauling large items.

Max Green, Certified Public Accounting Firm, is now officially Green and Fillingim, CPA Accounting Firm, after taking on two new stockholders, his daughter and son-in-law, who are both certified public accountants.

The firm, in addition to general accounting, specializes in farm/ranch and oil/gas accounting. Glen and Cassandra Fillingim moved to Big Spring and into the CPA firm as of July 1.

Two area residents, sisters Marilyn Read of Coahoma and Helen Wilkerson of Garden City, are having the time of their lives researching, writing and having published articles about Texas cemeteries.

In the July issue of "True West" magazine, published in Austin, they had a lengthy article.

"Towns West," a regional magazine published in Abilene, is publishing a series of their articles. The sisters started three years ago mainly just to have a purpose, or excuse, to travel places they hadn't seen. They are hooked now and have stacks of records and research, enough to write a book, which is their ultimate goal.

One of the most unusual reunions ever to be held in Big Spring is coming up Aug. 2-4 when Morris Robertson hosts the former crew members of the USS Neshanic, a World War II fueling Navy vessel.

This will be the 11th reunion of the 215 member crew. Of this original crew, 51 are deceased, but most of the remaining 164 will be in Big Spring.

The reunion rotates each year to another part of the country where a different crew member serves as host. The other ten reunions have been held in Pennsylvania, Tennessee, North Carolina, Ohio, Illinois, California and Texas.

Morris and his wife, Jimmy, will meet the group at the headquarters motel, the Holiday Inn, and lead them through three days of West Texas hospitality. These guests, who will fill up most of the motel space in town, and spend lots of money here, will golf, bowl, shop, and do a whole agenda to make them want to come back.

INTERESTING STATISTICS — The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) had 318 volunteers in June who worked a total of 3,856 hours which, if they had been paid, would have amounted to (even at minimum wage) $13,496. More senior volunteers are needed though. Any wishing to become RSVP members will have an orientation at Canterbury soon.

Another Dallas TV station for sale

DALLAS (AP) — For the fourth time in 15 months, another Dallas television station is up for sale, and this time it's Continental Broadcasting Network Inc.'s KXTX.

Roger K. Baerwolf, station vice president and general manager, said Thursday that "talks are going on" and said he expects a sale within a month.

CBN is also proposing to sell its Continental Productions company as part of the same deal. The production company wants to get active in syndicated programming and is working in a 50 percent partnership with the team of Gary Ganaway and Sherman Rubenstein in "Guilty or Innocent," a game show.

According to one media analyst, the television station and production company could be worth between $75 million and $85 million.

KXTX is the latest in a series of television station sales that began with the May 1983 announcement of the $14.9 million purchase of KNBN-TV by Metromedia Inc.

That sale was followed by the purchase of KTWS-TV in August to a group of investors. KTXA-TV was sold on May 25, 1984 to Dallas-based Gulf Broadcast Co. for an estimated minimum of $62.5 million.

In the last year, Dallas has advanced from 10th to ninth place in the ranking of the nation's major media markets. Dallas-Fort Worth television stations generate about $225 million in revenues annually.

Western eliminates Texas, 8-3

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

The Midland Western All-Stars rode the fine pitching of Kevin Irish and the big bat of catcher Bradley Fortune to take a convincing 8-3 win over Big Spring Texas Stars.

The Loss eliminated Texas from the tourney, the last Big Spring team to exit, as Texas managed by Lupe Lara finished in third place in the 12-team double elimination Little League tourney. Western, loser of one game to Midland North Central will face undefeated North Central tonight at the National League Park at 8 p.m. If a deciding game is needed, it will be played Monday night.

Texas jumped on Irish for three runs in the first inning as the Western pitcher struggled with control problems and was touched for four hits in the first two innings.

But the smooth righthander settled down the final five inning and limited the Texans to three hits and ended the contest striking out 14.

Fortune was a thorn in the Texas side with his bat. In three trips to the plate he collected a single, homer while scoring two runs and driving in four.

The killing blow came in the top of the fifth with Western holding a 4-3 lead. Kevin Mannix got a bloop single bringing up Fortune who promptly took relief pitcher Valen Garcia's third pitch deep over the centerfield fence, giving Western a 6-3 bulge.

Garcia took the loss for Texas coming in relief midway through the third inning for starter Chris Cole. Cole went two-and-a-third innings, allowed two hits and three runs. Texas scored their only runs of the night in their first at bat. Third baseman Danny Valle, who went three for three in the contest, singled and Thomas Hernandez got an infield hit. A throwing error by the first baseman scored Valle with the first run of the night.

Walks to Renea Villa and Cole loaded up the bases, Garcia singled scoring Hernandez and Villa with Big Spring's final runs.

Western added insurance runs in the sixth inning thanks to three Texas errors. The only Western hit in the stanza was a double by Nickie Hinjos. Hinjos and Mannix, who reached on an error scored giving Western a commanding lead and closing out the season for the Texas League All-Stars.

Tigers defeat Rangers for third time

DETROIT (AP) — Barbaro Garbey and Chet Lemon homered and Dave Rozema ran his home winning streak to 15 games as the Detroit Tigers posted their seventh victory in eight games, a 3-1 decision over the Texas Rangers.

Rozema, who has not lost a decision at Tiger Stadium since 1981, allowed six hits, struck out four and did not walk a batter to improve his record to 7-1. Willie Hernandez came on to pitch the ninth inning for Detroit and earned his 18th save.

With the game scoreless, Howard Johnson started the Detroit third with a single, moved to second on Lou Whitaker's sacrifice bunt and took third on a groundout. Garbey followed with his fourth home run of the season off Texas starter Frank Tanana, 9-9, to give the Tigers a 2-0 lead.

HOUSTON (AP) — Enos Cabell and Terry Puhl each drove in two runs and Craig Reynolds highlighted Houston's four-run first with an RBI triple as the Astros defeated the Montreal Expos 8-4 Friday night.

Bill Doran opened the Astros' first with a double, preceding Reynolds' triple and an RBI single by Denny Walling. Walks to Jose Cruz and Jerry Mumphy led

The Royals tied it in the sixth with Slaughter's single, a ground out and Concepcion's RBI single.

The Royals were clinging to a 2-1 lead in the fifth when Brett booted John Shelby's grounder to third. Rich Dauer followed with a single to put Shelby on third, then Dempsey and Ford singled off starter Charlie Leibrandt to push across two runs for the Orioles.

Australian equals British golf record

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — An obscure Australian, Ian Baker-Finch, fired a 66 before the winds began to howl Friday, setting what even he called a surprising three-stroke lead and equalling a 36-hole course record in the 113th British Open golf championship.

"It's a surprise in that I didn't expect the lead," said the 23-year-old after reaching the tournament halfway point with a 134 total, 10 under par and matching the record on the historic Old Course. The mark was set by Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina in 1960.

Meanwhile, some of the biggest names in golf — American Tom Watson, Seve Ballesteros of Spain and the "Merry Mex" himself, Lee Trevino of the United States — moved into position to challenge the leader.

Trevino, who also played before the winds kicked up and the temperature dropped 20 degrees to a cool 55 in minutes, maneuvered his way to a 5-under-par 67 and was tied for second at 137 with Nick Faldo of England and Ballesteros, the former British Open and Masters champion.

Ballesteros and Faldo each had a 68 over the ancient course that is recognized as the cradle and home of golf.

Watson finished off a 68 and completed 36 holes at 139 — five under par and five strokes off the pace.

He was tied at 139 with Fred Couples, who holed out a 9-iron shot on the 18th for a 69; Lanny Wadkins, with a 69; and Bernhard Langer of West Germany, who birdied the 18th for a 68.

Jack Nicklaus, winner of this championship the last two times it was played at St. Andrews, refused to count himself out even though he barely qualified for the final two rounds at 148, 14 strokes behind the leader.

"The opera isn't over 'til the fat lady sings," he said.

Bill Longmuir, the longshot Scot who shared the first-round lead, was within a stroke of the lead at nine under for the tournament, when he fell victim to the fearsome Road Hole, the 17th. A triple-bogey seven sent him reeling back to a 71 and a 138 total.

Peter Jacobsen, one of three tied for the first-round lead, and Tom Kite were in the group at 140. Kite had a 71 and Jacobsen 73.

Greg Norman, the powerful Australian who also had a piece of the first-round lead and played with Watson and Langer in the worst of the weather, finished with a 41 on the back nine. He had a 74 for the day and was at 141.

Baker-Finch, among the first off the tee, made most of his round with a 32 on the front nine that included a 50-foot putt on the eighth.

But the key, he said, was "getting up and down a couple of times from very difficult positions." That included a save from the Road Bunker on the 17th and the Valley of Sin on the 18th.

"I know I'm capable, but I didn't tee off expecting to win. Something in the top 20 was my goal," said Baker-Finch, who won this year's West Australian Open and last year's New Zealand Open — his only two tournament victories.

He knew what he had to do. "I've got to try to stay calm, relaxed, not let it get the better of me," he said.

And that, warned Trevino, can be difficult.

"When you're young, you want to win so much you get nervous. Everybody does. Everybody chokes. Anybody tells you he doesn't, he's lying. We all do.

"When you're older, when you've played in a lot of these, you approach things differently," said Trevino, 44, twice the winner of this title but a non-winner for three years.

"I'm as relaxed as I've ever been. When you've got a good player, and he's relaxed — not too concerned whether he plays good or not so good — he's dangerous."

Longmuir, 4-under for the day and coming off a 30-foot birdie putt on the 16th, tried to play his drive down the right side to find a better opening to the green. He found disaster instead.

Bank robbers escape using stolen helicopter

VALLEY VIEW (AP) — Five men in bungee jumpsuits robbed the Valley View National Bank in this North Texas city this morning and fled in a blue-and-white helicopter, police said.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Texas Rangers were helping police track the Jet Ranger helicopter, which they say may have been stolen Thursday night in Galveston.

Authorities later said the helicopter was sighted in Love County, Okla., about 30 miles from the holdup sight. There was also another unconfirmed sighting near Duncan, west of Love County, authorities said.

"The report was made by some children, and the military (Fort Sill Army Base) also had four choppers in that area," said Leon Rounds, Oklahoma Highway Patrol dispatcher in Lawton.
