How's that? Gipper

Q. In yesterday's How's That, you reported that The Gipper was the nickname for Knute Rockne. I thought it was the nickname for some other person that Ronald Reagan portrayed in the movie "Knute Rockne, All-American."

A. Right. The Gipper was a nickname for George Gipp, an ill-fated Notre Dame football star portrayed by Reagan. The Gipper dies, and the team, at the urging of coach Knute Rockne, played by Pat O'Brien goes out and "wins one for the Gipper."

Calendar: Seminar

TODAY

Oil slick nears coast

Texas beaches readied

THE SOURCE — The U.S. Coast Guard attempts to contain oil spewing from a disabled British tanker off the Louisiana coast.

PORT ARTHUR (AP) — A 25-mile-long oil slick as thick as molasses was six miles off the Texas coast early today, and Coast Guard officials said it will hit beaches between Galveston and High Island with a mass of tar-like goo sometime before late Friday.

"It's now just a matter of waiting for it to arrive," said Coast Guard spokesman Keith Spangler. "We have clean-up crews — vacuum trucks and the like — standing by."

The oil, spilled from a British tanker grounded off the Louisiana coast, could wash ashore anywhere along the 25-mile stretch between High Island and Galveston between tonight and Friday evening, Spangler said.

Shortly before midnight Wednesday, the slick was six miles south of McFadden Beach below Sabine Pass, and winds were blowing east-southeast at about 10 knots per hour, he said.

Lt. Joe Ocken, a spokesman for the Coast Guard office in Galveston, said he had lined up contractors ready with loads of straw and dirt-moving equipment to begin mopping up beaches when the oil hits.

Spangler said winds are "moving the oil about twice as fast as it was before. We really don't know the extent of this — what it will cause — but with 1.25 million gallons in the water, you're going to have some on the beaches."

Specialists from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the state Parks and Wildlife Department arrived on the scene Wednesday night to survey the slick and assess possible damage to marine life.

Spangler said the oil will be thick and gooey when it hits, tarring any bird or other wildlife it contacts.

"Someone just brought in a sample of it, from the leading edge of the spill that will make contact

Fiberflex trial

Fraud motion denied

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Retired 118th District Court Judge Ralph Caton today denied a motion to instruct jurors to rule against Fiberflex Products Inc. patent attorney Guy Matthews' fraud and conspiracy claims.

The motions were brought by Dallas attorney Tom Thomas, who represents former OIL manager and owner Charles (Chris) Christopher in a fraud suit involving a disputed Fiberflex stock sale, Big Spring attorney Gil Jones, who represents directors who favor Christopher, and Hobbs bank attorney Mike McKinney.

Matthews' attorney, John Skrhak, has claimed that Christopher, the directors and the bank had conspired to defraud his client.

The motion came at the end of Skrhak's presentation of his conspiracy case.

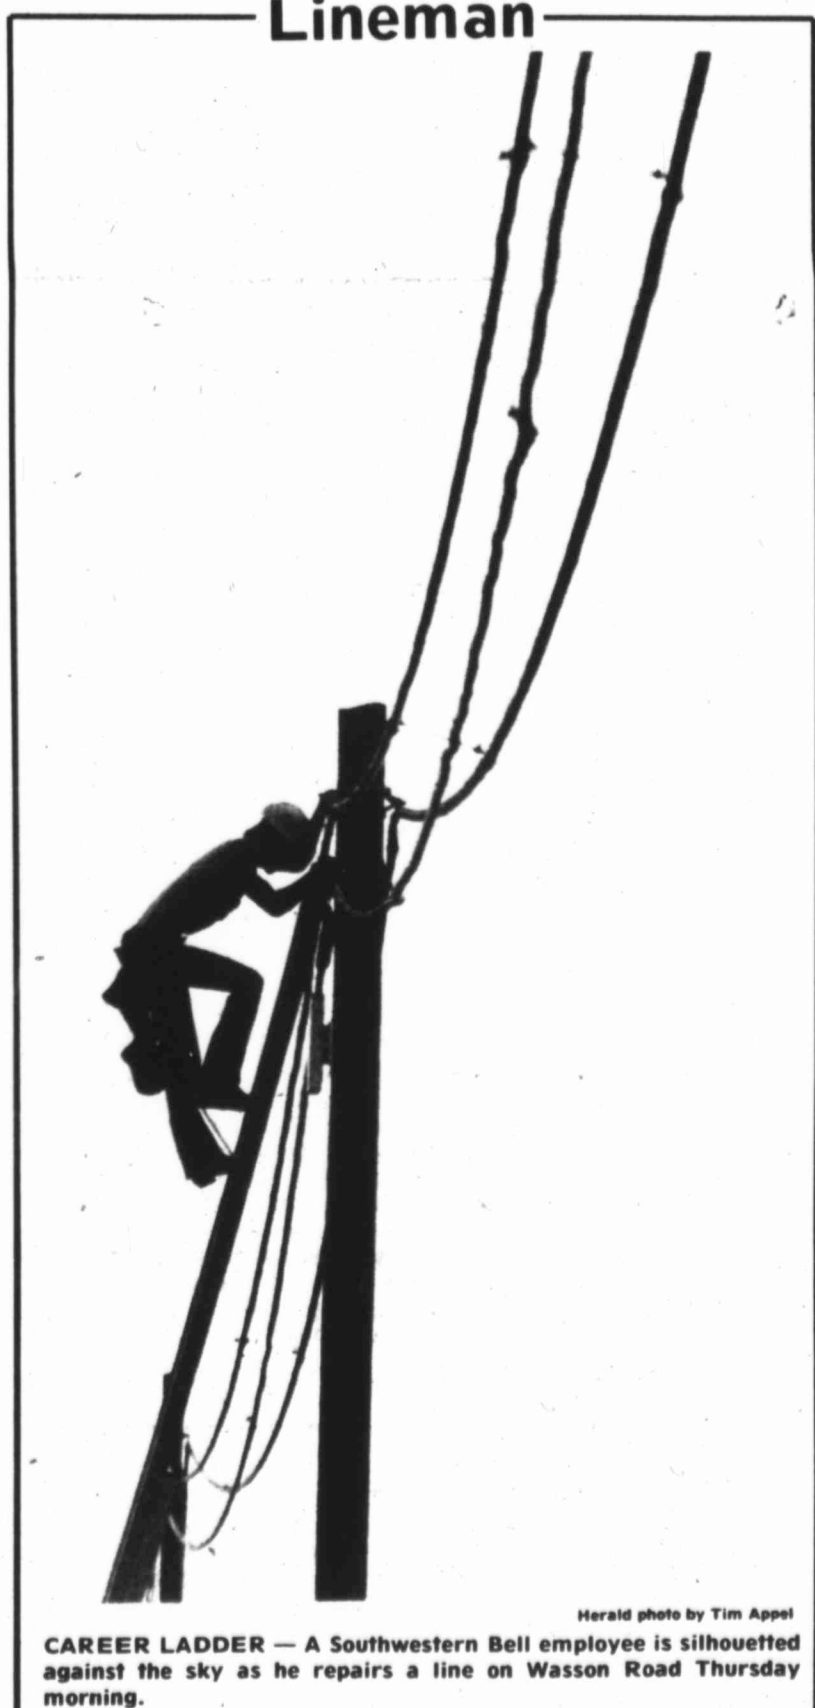

Skrhak has tried to show Matthews was defrauded by Christopher and the other alleged co-conspirators in a stock sale Feb. 27, 1984.

Matthews bought the stock from Spikes on Sept. 17, 1983. As part of that deal, Matthews agreed to use his name on a $400,000 note at a Hobbs, N.M., bank, and to give the proceeds to Spikes, who would pay back the note.

When Spikes did not pay off the note due March 14, 1984, Matthews agreed to sell the stock to Christopher on Feb. 27, 1984, a sale both parties dispute. Matthews has sued Christopher, claiming Christopher failed to tell him the 20,000 shares were control stock, and Christopher has sued Mat-

Hijackers surrender

Jet passengers freed

By The Associated Press
TEHRAN — Hijackers of an Air France jetliner surrendered today at Tehran airport and freed their 46 hostages after an explosion and fire in the aircraft's cockpit, ending a two-day hijacking ordeal, officials in Iran and Paris said.

"All passengers and crew are well," said a Tehran airport official in a telephone interview with The Associated Press in Beirut, Lebanon. He spoke on condition of anonymity.

Air France confirmed that the hostages — all male, 44 passengers and the pilot and co-pilot — were safe and had been taken to the airport infirmary.

Maurice Bouhag, an Air France spokesman in Paris, reported, "The hijackers surrendered to the Iranian authorities. The hijacking is over, the passengers freed and the pirates surrendered."

The cockpit explosion occurred at 5:10 p.m. local time (8:40 a.m. CDT) after all the passengers were out of the aircraft, according to Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency, monitored in Cyprus. The Boeing 737 with 64 people aboard had been commandeered two days before on a flight from West Germany to Paris.

One Iranian official said it was not clear what caused the explosion. He said the explosion started a fire that was quickly extinguished.

Air France said 14 passengers — including a 10-year-old American boy — had been released earlier in Tehran by the hijackers in addition to a steward who escaped in Cyprus.

jetliner had rigged the aircraft with explosives and said they would blow up the plane and their hostages if France did not meet their demands, an airport official told The Associated Press earlier today.

The official, reached by telephone from Beirut, reported, "They've given them (French officials) until 4:30 p.m. (Tehran time, 9 a.m. EDT)." He spoke on condition of anonymity.

It was the second deadline set by the hijackers. They said earlier they would kill a French hostage every hour after 9 a.m. local time if the French did not release five men from their prisons. That deadline passed with no one reported harmed.

The hostages aboard the airliner reportedly included French, U.S., Japanese, Indian, Swiss and Finnish passengers. Air France refused to identify any of the passengers.

Cypriot authorities said the hijackers carried knives and perhaps explosives. The plane landed in Geneva, Switzerland, Beirut and Lanarca, Cyprus on the way to Tehran.

Dam may improve water

By LUIS RIOS
Staff Writer

The construction of a low-channel dam, reservoir and pump station at Beals Creek southeast of Big Spring is scheduled to begin Aug. 7 with the operating date set for April 30, 1985, said Colorado River Municipal Water District secretary Joe Pickle.

The Beals Creek project is part of a program to help upgrade the quality of water in Lake Spence, Pickle said. The project will cost an estimated $4.8 million, according to an engineer's study. The "disposal system" will also help divert water to oil companies.

CRMWD has already contracted with oil field secondary units to take all their operational requirements in diverted water, according to a press release.

The pump station will push water to the Moss Creek pump station, Foster station and Thomas station. The water will not be pumped into Moss Creek, Pickle said. The pump station will be located 1,500 yards west of Moss Creek, Pickle said.

"This is a separate water supply," he said. "The water will go to oil field pump stations in east Howard County. Although we are stopping the water before it gets to Big Spring, we have problems there (Beals Creek).

"We hope to catch that flow down there and pump it off."

The channel dam will trap the normal low flow of water that is considered "bad water," he said. However, the dam will not impede flood waters coming over the dam that are considered good water, Pickle said.

Rain rips most of state

By the Associated Press

An upper-air low front over eastern Oklahoma brought showers and thunderstorms to much of Texas early today.

Heavy rain activity was reported near the Toledo Bend Reservoir, between Seymour and Abilene, and between Greenville and Paris.

South Texas was fair before daybreak. Middle- and high-level clouds covered the northern portion of the state. Low cloudiness settled into the rain area from Wichita Falls to Abilene.

Other than local gustiness caused by thunderstorms, wind was generally light and southeasterly statewide.

Temperatures were generally in the 60s and 70s across the state overnight. Readings at 4 a.m. ranged from 64 at Amarillo and Guadalupe Pass to 80 at Del Rio and Galveston.

Thunderstorms and showers soaked the Gulf Coast and Florida Panhandle today, with flash flood warnings posted throughout Georgia following several days of heavy rain.

Scattered showers also were reported overnight in parts of southern New England, Texas and Minnesota, while fair skies prevailed across the Plains, the middle and upper Mississippi Valley and much of the Southwest.

In northern and western Georgia, flash flood warnings were issued today and forecasters predicted more rain through Friday.

Atlanta finished July with 11.21 inches of rain, 6.48 inches higher than normal for the month and the third wettest July on record for the city.

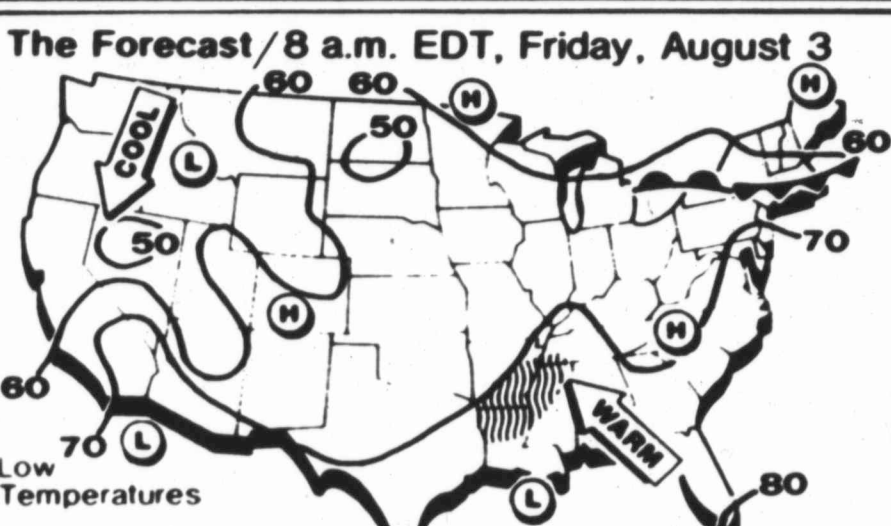

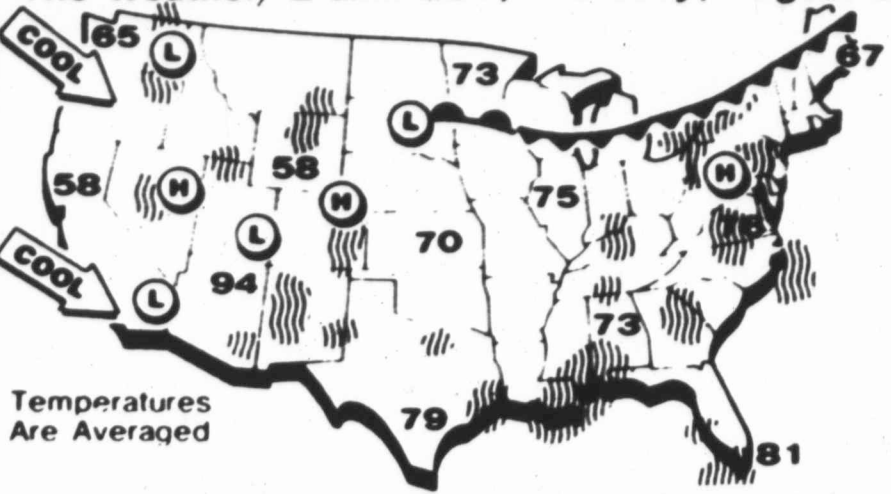

The continued rains pushed many Georgia streams and rivers over their banks, with the Ocmulgee River a half-foot above flood stage when it crested late Wednesday near Macon.

The Chattahoochee River at Whitesburg, Ga., was 3.4 feet above flood stage, spilling onto farmland along the banks.

"The last several days have been really an unusual weather pattern for this time of year, more of the type of mid-winter than July," said forecaster Charles Matthews.

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy with no important temperature changes through Friday. Widely scattered showers most sections tonight. Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms continuing extreme southwest Friday. Highs Friday mid 80s north to upper 90s Big Bend valleys. Lows tonight lower 60s Panhandle to near 70 southeast and extreme south except upper 50s mountains.

Cosden Oil reports lay-offs

Almost 40 Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. employees have agreed to early retirement or voluntary lay-offs effective Tuesday, according to a spokesman for the company.

According to the spokesman, 31 senior employees agreed to enter a voluntary retirement program for employees who will become 55 years old in 1984. Cosden offered the program with incentives to avoid layoffs of junior employees, the spokesman said. Six other hourly employees volunteered to be laid-off, according to the spokesman. The company does not plan to reduce the staff any further "at this time," the spokesman said.

In addition to the reduction in company manpower, Cosden plant officials "are continuing steps to achieve further efficiencies and economy in operation," the spokesman said.

Settlers reunion set for Friday

Dwight McCann, president of the Howard-Glasscock Old Settlers Reunion, said Friday's reunion "is shaping up as one of the liveliest in the 60 years of the Old Settlers Association."

Registration is slated for 9 a.m. in the Old Settlers Pavilion at Comanche Trail Park. Following introductions at 10 a.m., contests in horseshoe pitching, washer throwing and tobacco spitting are on the schedule.

Providing music throughout the morning will be the "Outlaw Band" from the Big Spring Federal Prison.

The Rev. Guy White will lead the memorial and invocation at 11:55 a.m., followed by lunch at noon, and a special awards ceremony and election of officers at 1 p.m.

A fiddlers contest, open to all participants, is at 1:30 p.m., followed by awards.

The reunion will recess at 3 p.m. and participants will reconvene at 8:30 p.m. at the Dora Roberts Community Center for the annual dance. This year's band will be Ben Nix and the Boys.

A drawing for prizes is at 11 p.m., and the reunion will conclude at 12:30 a.m.

Special recognitions are planned Friday for the eldest woman and man, the native coming the greatest distance, the couple married the longest to the same spouse, couple with the most children, couple with the most grandchildren, and the most authentically dressed woman, man and child.

The Old Settlers Reunion is open to the public, McCann said.

Ailing dog target of search

The Big Spring Humane Society has put out an all points bulletin for a short, black female dog that strayed from a car Monday evening in the 1400 block of Rummels.

Margaret Lloyd said the dog, which she described as "third cousin to a border collie," has a heart problem and needs continual care. Called Lady, the medium-length hair animal was found downtown about six months ago and has been residing with Mrs. Lloyd.

She said the dog's health is very fragile, and she has offered a $100 reward for Lady's return.

Child, 10, still listed critical

Viki Hollingsworth remains in critical condition in Odessa Medical Center's intensive care unit with head injuries she received in a car-bicycle accident Wednesday morning on North Birdwell Lane near Hilltop Road.

Miss Hollingsworth, 10, of the Gail Route, was riding her bike when she collided with a car driven by Patricia Ann Rhoton, 45, of No. 12 Village Road. The accident occurred at 9:40 a.m. Wednesday. Miss Hollingsworth was transported to Malone-Hogan Hospital, then moved to Odessa Medical Center.

Firemen fight dump site fire

A fire in an illegal dump ground in the city's Highland South addition brought one unit of the Big Spring Fire Department to the scene at about 3:30 p.m. yesterday to extinguish the blaze.

"People have started their own little dump ground" at the 2600 Goliad location, Fire Investigator Burr Lea Settles said this morning. Settles said the dump ground, which includes items of garbage and brush, covers about a one-quarter block area in Highland South. "Something will be done (about the dump)," Settles said, but he was not sure what action will be taken "at this point." He said his department has the names of people who are dumping at the site.

Firefighters pumped 4,500 gallons of water on the fire and returned to quarters about 2½ hours later, he said.

According to the fire investigator, it was the fourth fire at the location in the last month. Dump fires are "very, very hard to put out," he said.

City construction remains up

Although last month's almost $190,000 figure for Big Spring building construction was the lowest so far this fiscal year, construction in the city remains $2.6 million ahead of last year's pace, city inspection division records show.

In addition, the total number of building permits issued this year by the division are lagging behind last year's pace. A total of 285 permits have been issued this year; last year at this time the total was 329, records show.

Two building projects account for about $6.5 million of this fiscal year's almost $9.8 million construction total. The two projects are the newly opened Bent Tree Apartment complex in the city's Coronado Addition and Lancaster Street's Canterbury II Retirement Home, which went under construction last month.

Leading all permits last month was a $56,000 livestock barn to be built at the Howard County Fairgrounds. Contractor for the 7,200 square-foot, metal building was listed as D.D. Johnston Construction.

New residential construction was led by a $41,000 concrete and brick home to be built at a 3304 Duke address by Wayne Durham. Also, Louis R. Dorton plans a 288 square-foot residential addition of $9,850 to his home at 1514 11th Place.

Leading new commercial construction was a permit for $15,000 filed by W.D. Draper. Draper plans a 1,500 square-foot concrete slab and masonry building to be used as a flower shop. Mike Walker of Walker Auto Parts at 409 E. Third plans a $20,000 alteration to his store, where the building's north wall will be reconstructed with brick and concrete block.

Society hears guest speaker

Members of the Big Spring Humane Society recently heard speaker Dalton Byerly of the Midland Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals discuss information on publications and programs which might help the organization.

Committees studied the current status of the City Animal Shelter.

Plans were discussed. Janie Edwards, Big Spring's animal control supervisor, spoke on current local animal control laws and operating procedures.

Local man hurt in collision

A Big Spring man was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital yesterday after a late afternoon major accident that happened in the 2000 block of S. Birdwell Lane.

Jimmy Baker of 407 Donley was taken to the hospital by private vehicle after the accident that happened at 5:27 p.m. Wednesday, police reports said.

According to reports, Baker, driving a 1969 Chevrolet Custom, pulled out from a private drive at 2006 S. Birdwell and collided with a Pontiac Catalina driven south in the 1900 block of the street by Raymond Alexander of 2512 Rebecca.

Baker was ticketed for failure to yield right of way after the accident, reports said.

In other police reports: Another Big Spring man led police yesterday on a late-night, high-speed chase that ended with the man colliding with a traffic control sign. He was arrested in connection with the incident.

Howard Raymond Weaver, 43, of Colorado City was arrested at 11:19 p.m. Wednesday near the intersection of the north service road of Interstate 20 and FM 700 on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, police reports said.

Karin Rathjen, 37, of 1211 E. Sixth was arrested at 11:29 p.m. Wednesday in the 200 block of Circle on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and driving with license suspended, police reports said.

John Williams, 18, of 906 Birdwell, driving a 1982 Chevrolet Silverado pickup, was not injured after he turned west from Birdwell onto FM 700, crossed both lanes of traffic, hit a traffic median and struck the sign, police reports said.

Williams was arrested after the incident on suspicion of driving with license suspended, fleeing to elude and traffic citations, reports said.

Sheriff's Log

1 arrested on assault charge

Howard County sheriff's deputies Wednesday arrested a 25-year-old Big Spring man on suspicion of sexual assault of a child.

Anthony Valentine of 1107 N.W. Seventh remains in Howard County jail in connection with a sexual assault of a minor female last Thursday. The victim and another minor female were reportedly abducted from the parking lot of a store and taken into the county where the assault occurred.

Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin set bond for Valentine at $20,000. According to Sheriff A.N. Standard, witnesses have been able to identify Valentine's companion and an arrest is expected.

Three Colorado City residents were arrested Wednesday by the Mitchell County sheriff's office on Howard County grand jury indictments for burglary of the Cole Ranch.

Arrested and released on $5,000 bond each via the Mitchell County sheriff's office were: Granville Ray Dering, Vernon Young and his wife Tamara (Tammy) Young, all of Colorado City. No ages were given.

Mrs. Victor Coats of 1509 Hilltop Road told deputies Wednesday her 1976 Toyota was burglarized while it was parked at her house between 10:30 p.m. Tuesday and 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Katherine Marie Little Nalls, 28, of 1410 Parkway was arrested Wednesday on a peace bond warrant. She was released on $1,000 public recognizance bond set by Heflin.

Leonard Glenn McPeak, 23, of Odessa was transferred Wednesday to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of driving while license suspended and a Department of Public Safety warrant for speeding. He was released on $500 bond for the DWLS charge and $200 for the speeding charge.

Dennis Palafox, pollution surveillance program leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said that if the oil pages into inland bays through Rollover Pass or Bolivar Roads, it could devastate aquatic nurseries.

"If the oil gets in there, it can go just about anywhere the winds and tides push it," he said.

Spangler said workers have abandoned efforts to vacuum up the oil already in the water and are concentrating on getting the rest of the tanker's cargo safely unloaded.

threw, claiming Matthews failed to inform him that Matthews had already granted the stock voting rights to the Rutledges.

At issue in the suit is the ownership of 20,000 shares of company stock, which could determine whether company control will go to corporate management — Tom and Russ Rutledge, John Freeman and Fred Morrow — or to a group of unhappy investors led by former OIL manager and owner Charles "Chris" Christopher.

Five members of the original board — Spikes was a party to the suit, but has dropped out of the litigation — filed the original lawsuit claiming the addition of five directors by corporate management at a February special shareholders' meeting violated the corporation bylaws.

If the addition to the board is upheld, control of the board would

With seas getting higher in the stiffer winds, only about 1 percent of the oil already in the water could be recovered, he said.

"Since we can't do much about what's in the water — and we're going to have to clean the beaches anyway — we're saying let's put all of our efforts on the ship and make it safe."

switch from the board members led by Christopher, who control the board 6-4, to corporate management, 9-6.

In other testimony today, Skrhak testified about his attorney's fees, which he is asking jurors to award to him if his client wins. Skrhak has records of 485 hours of work and he charges $125 an hour.

Skrhak also read today from a May 11, 1984 deposition by Fiberflex director Billy Massingill, also accused in the conspiracy.

According to the deposition, Massingill testified that on Feb. 27, Massingill and Christopher tried to buy 12,000 shares of stock from Mary Lou Hicks before the Matthews' sale. The attempt failed. According to the deposition, Massingill and Christopher did not tell her that if she sold the stock, Christopher would gain control of the company.

that flows over the dam will travel down to Lake Spence. The water that is not pumped to the different pump stations will be stored in a reservoir covering 374 surface acres, Pickle said.

High velocity pumps will be used to send the water to Red Draw reservoir and the three pump stations, Pickle said.

The project also calls for a 72-foot high, 1,600-foot long earthen dam across Red Draw, 1½ miles south of the channel dam site.

Engineers say the project will upgrade water at Lake Spence by about 25 percent. Engineers figure the project will also dilute Beals Creek's 46 percent contribution of the chlorides (salt) in Lake Spence.

IBM antitrust suit settled

BRUSSELS — The European Common Market today announced a compromise settlement of its four-year-old antitrust case against U.S.-based International Business Machines Corp.

The European trading bloc's complaint against the world's largest computer maker centered on its contention that IBM was abusing its dominant position in the European computer market. IBM denied the charge.

However, IBM has agreed to change its business practices in the Common Market, Frans Andriessen of the Common Market's administrators commission told a news conference today.

Economic meeting opens

VIENNA — Rich nations should open their borders to goods from underdeveloped trading partners and help them reduce crippling foreign debts, U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez De Cuellar told delegates today at a major North-South economics conference.

While welcoming the economic upturn in developed nations, Perez de Cuellar cautioned that it might be of short duration and said events in the Third World "give no cause for satisfaction."

He called for "balance of payments finance, the alleviation of the debt burden and the immediate rollback of protectionist measures against developing countries" in the keynote address of the fourth conference organized by the U. N. Industrial Development Organization.

6 hurt in Israeli attack

BEIRUT — Police said today that six people were wounded in attacks by Israeli gunboats and helicopters on targets at a Palestinian refugee camp in Syrian-controlled north Lebanon.

The Israeli military command, in reporting Wednesday's raids, said they were aimed at guerrilla bases in the Nahr el-Bared camp that served as staging points for sea attacks against Israel. The command did not report casualties.

Two Israeli soldiers were wounded today by a hand grenade thrown from a rooftop in the south Lebanese town of Nabatiyeh, the Israeli command said. The command said the soldiers were evacuated to hospitals for treatment and Israeli troops searched the large Shiite Moslem market town after the attack.

Tiny patient holding up

LONDON — Thirteen-day-old Hollie Roffey, the world's youngest heart transplant patient, was in critical condition today, but awake and holding up well under the strain of an operation to seal a perforated bowel, a hospital bulletin said.

"Hollie is awake," said the bulletin from London's National Heart Hospital. "The heart has stood up to the second operation. Surgically the operation to the bowel went well but naturally we are anxious about the after-effects of the operation."

"The baby is still critical," the hospital statement said, although her heart, transplanted from a 3-day-old Dutch infant who had died from brain damage, survived the Wednesday night operation on her intestine.

Hollie, who was born July 20 with the left side of her heart missing, was rushed into surgery Wednesday, two days after she had received the new heart.

Burford quits advisory post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stung by Congress, former EPA Administrator Anne Gorsuch Burford sought to defuse an election-year furor by withdrawing as the new head of a federal environmental advisory group.

The controversial former head of the Environmental Protection Agency withdrew as chairwoman of the National Advisory Committee on Oceans and Atmosphere Wednesday. She was to have been sworn in today.

President Reagan's announcement early in July that he would name Mrs. Burford to the post stirred a storm of outrage among environmentalists, both Democrats and Republicans.

The Republican-controlled Senate voted 74-19 last week to urge Reagan to rescind the choice, and the House echoed that sentiment on Tuesday by a 363-51 vote.

Unity government wins support among Israelis

JERUSALEM (AP) — Negotiations between Israel's two major political parties continued today on the possibility of forming a bipartisan unity government, but Israel army radio said President Chaim Herzog may pick one of the parties Friday to try on its own.

Labor Party leader Shimon Peres and Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir of the Likud bloc met for four hours Wednesday to discuss the possibility of setting up a joint government, and they scheduled a second round of talks focusing on economic policy for this evening at the King David Hotel.

Despite intense rounds of bargaining, neither party has been able to round up enough support in the 120-seat Knesset for a majority.

The state-owned army radio said Herzog could finish his consultations with the 13 small parties that won seats in the July 23 elections and be ready to make a decision by Friday on who will get the first chance to form a new government.

Traditionally, the party with the most votes gets that chance. Labor won 44 seats to Likud's 41, and Herzog was a member of the Labor Party before his election to the largely ceremonial post of president.

But even if Labor gets the first nod, there are doubts that it will be able to collect a coalition of 61 seats, a majority in the 120-member Knesset.

The army radio, the pro-Labor Davar and Al Hamishmar newspapers said today that Herzog was most likely to choose Peres after finishing his consultations because Labor had greater support among the small parties.

However, Shamir spokesman Yossi Ahmeir said, "We are hoping the president will give Shamir the mandate." He argued that Shamir had the most support in parliament if the Arab parties that control six seats were excluded.

The predominantly Arab Communist Party with four seats and the Arab-led Progressive List for Peace with two seats both were expected to back a Labor-led government, although they were not expected to be invited into any governing coalition.

Labor had a bloc of 59 Knesset members lined up against a Likud-led coalition of 52.

Former Defense Minister Ezer Weizman, the leader of a three-man party that is seen as one of the keys to forming a new government, said on television Wednesday night that he supported a Peres-led national unity government.

The left-wing Citizens' Rights movement and the centrist Shinui Party, each with three seats, have supported a Labor-led government throughout the election campaign.

Likud is assured of support from the nationalist Tehiya party, with five seats, the Orthodox Sephardi Torah Guardians with four seats, and the religious-nationalist Morasha with two seats, giving it a bloc of 52.

Shamir met today with Agudat Yisrael, an ultra-Orthodox religious party that has not endorsed either party although it is a member of the outgoing Likud coalition.

Army radio said Agudat Yisrael, with two seats, would follow Weizman in Labor's direction, although it would tell Herzog it had no preference for a prime minister-designate.

The Daily Maariv said two independents, both former ministers in Menachem Begin's first Likud government, would support a unity government led by either Shamir or Peres.

KO'd in kangaroo court

NEW YORK — Actor Tony Danza, best known for his role as the ex-boxer cab driver on the television series "Taxi," says he was stunned after his conviction for assault and criminal mischief stemming from a fight with a restaurant security guard.

TONY DANZA

"It was a shock," Danza, 33, said Monday after a jury found him guilty. "I didn't expect it. I was not guilty."

Also convicted was Danza's friend, Albert Sinacori, 29, of Malverne. Both were allowed to remain free on their own recognizance pending sentencing Sept. 17. The charges carry a top penalty of a year in prison.

Danza and Sinacori were charged with beating William Sawyer, 35, a guard at the Mayflower Hotel, in the hotel's ground-floor restaurant on Feb. 3.

Sawyer said the men, loud and boisterous, attacked him when he asked them to quiet down as they were drinking in the restaurant's bar.

Sinacori and Danza, a former professional boxer, said that Sawyer had approached them without identifying himself and told them he had a gun. They said they attacked him when he reached under his coat.

Too many connections

VIRGINIA BEACH — Tennis superstar Martina Navratilova is moving out of her $600,000 waterfront home here to go back to Texas, associates say.

MARTINA NAVRATILOVA

"She made the decision to return to Dallas, where she's lived longer and has more friends," said James A. Howard, a Norfolk lawyer who has represented Miss Navratilova.

Harry Lozon, a friend of the tennis dynamo, said the departure was due partly to the lack of direct flights serving Norfolk International

"She travels so much," he said. "When she leaves here out of Norfolk, she's got to go to New York. Connections of the flights in and out of Texas are much better."

One of several homes owned by Miss Navratilova, 27, is in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area.

Exercise doesn't assure long life

The untimely death July 20 of author and runner Jim Fixx, whose 1977 best seller The Complete Book of Running helped to popularize the fitness movement, shocked as many Americans as it saddened. How could a dedicated runner and exercise buff suffer a fatal heart attack at the age of 52?

An autopsy provided the answer — arteriosclerosis so advanced that two coronary arteries were sufficiently blocked to warrant bypass surgery. Excepting that, Fixx was indeed in excellent physical condition.

For all his dedication to fitness, Fixx reportedly spurned the physical examinations, stress tests and other procedures that might have detected his heart disease. If Fixx's heart condition could have been detected in time, proper diet and medication, or surgery, might have added decades to his life.

The lesson here is obvious. Running, and other forms of exercise, can be healthful under the proper circumstances, and may even add to longevity. But exercise alone is no guarantee of a long lifetime. And the medical community's standard injunction that any middle-aged person should receive a physical examination before beginning an exercise program and periodic monitoring later on seems vindicated once again.

Fixx's books and lectures inspired countless thousands of Americans to join the legions of joggers and runners for health and recreation. His unfortunate death at 52 of heart disease should serve at least to remind his many readers and admirers that there is more to maintaining good health than exercise alone.

They're just Games

In ancient Greece, the Olympic games were a huge quadrennial religious festival, a sacred tribute to Zeus. Today, as the coverage in the mass media attests, it is the athletes themselves who are worshipped.

Actually, that's not much different from the old days. "The Olympic victors," write two historians, "were more than athletic heroes: they were local and even national idols. In some cases they had, after death, almost the worship of minor gods." To see Diane Sawyer gushing over two polite but inarticulate divers on national television is to know what minor gods look like today.

No one should begrudge the Olympic athletes their day in the spotlight. Most of them have labored in obscurity for years in sports of no interest to their countrymen. With a few exceptions — Carl Lewis, Mary Decker, Edwin Moses, and the like — most will return to anonymity once the games are over.

Nor do the Olympics produce the worst excesses in our national obsession with organized spectator sports. They occupy the attention of the populace for only a few weeks every four years. (Compare that with the toll taken on matrimonial harmony by the annual six-month National Football League season.)

And no event which includes competition in sports like archery, canoeing and judo — to say nothing of such winter pastimes as the luge and the biathlon — can be accused of shamelessly pandering to the lowest common denominator. Anyone who watches the figure skating or gymnastics competitions learns something about art as well as sport.

Still, the Olympics, like most televised sports, are a reminder of the exalted place occupied in our affections by mere athletes. Lately, trying to avoid reading or hearing about the Los Angeles games is like trying to dodge raindrops in a thunderstorm. Sports Illustrated, which rarely loses its skeptical eye, got so carried away with the spirit of the occasion that it published a "Special Preview" roughly the size of a Sears catalogue.

In modern America, centerfielders and power forwards are regarded much as saints were in the Middle Ages — with reverence and awe, like a species greater than humans. The difference is that not all parents would have wanted their children to grow up to be a saint, since they can be an aggravation around the house. But who would discourage a promising young athlete from pursuing fame in sport, even if it may be an impediment to maturing into a decent human being?

The idea of an Olympic gold medalist like Sugar Ray Leonard resolving (temporarily, it turned out) to forgo a professional boxing career to, of all things, go to college comes as a shock. (A fist is a terrible thing to waste.) The world has plenty of scholars; what we need is more tailbacks.

Likewise, sports events now serve better than religion to evoke a sense of community. A professional baseball game is one of the few spectacles that brings together people of every color and class.

Nothing wrong with that. But it is possible to elevate sports to a higher level than they deserve, which is exactly what we have done. Athletic competition used to be treated as a way to develop traits valuable in other, serious endeavors, or as part of a well-rounded life. Now it is an end in itself.

Of course, brilliance in any form should be honored, which is one reason for the Olympic games. The problem is that the incessant glorification of athletes leaves little room for the acknowledgement of other forms of achievement. It is not mere excellence that obsesses us — if so, the cellist Yo-Yo Ma would be as famous as Reggie Jackson. We demand excellence in forms that we can easily appreciate, instead of learning to understand it in its less accessible manifestations.

It will be easy to find moments of joy, pride and even heroism in the endless hours that television will devote to the Los Angeles Olympics. But it may be hard to remember that they are only games.

A conversation with Ferraro

WASHINGTON — The reaction of White House insiders to Walter Mondale's choice of Rep. Geraldine Ferraro, D-N.Y., as his running-mate was a sort of grudging admiration: They hadn't expected safe, sane, solid Walter Mondale to make such a bold move.

"This bounces the chessboard," a member of President Reagan's inner circle told me. Then he admitted frankly: "We aren't sure what it means."

In the short run, White House insiders anticipated an immediate surge of favorable reaction to Ferraro's selection. But by November, they predict, the glamor and novelty of a woman candidate will have worn off, and voters will judge Ferraro as a potential president, just like any vice presidential candidate.

Six months ago, in a New Year's forecast, I suggested that Mondale's best hope of overcoming Ronald Reagan's popularity might be to choose a woman as his running-mate. A woman could make the difference between winning and losing in November, I wrote.

In that respect, Mondale made a wise choice. Ferraro dedicated herself — after the shambles of Democratic defeat four years ago — to making a difference in 1984. Whether she had her eye on the vice presidency even then, she won't say, but she set about positioning herself for an important role in the 1984 campaign.

It was no accident that Ferraro was given the high-profile job chairing the convention's platform committee. Ever since she came to Washington five years ago, she had impressed both the House leadership and her colleagues with her willingness to work long and hard, with her sensitivity to gut issues, and with her skill at pulling disparate factions together. In short, Ferraro's political skills may be crucial to Mondale's efforts to unify the Democrats this year.

As a working mother, Ferraro understands the problems of this growing segment of the population. For example, she has tried to eliminate the penalty Social Security imposes on women who, like Ferraro, temporarily gave up full-time careers to raise their children.

Real issue is elect or appoint

To the editor: I believe the real issue surrounding the City Election on Aug. 11 is being clouded by irrelevant issues.

The real issue of Aug. 11 is whether we shall change the City Charter to read: the Chief of Police shall be an elected official, or remain as it reads; the Chief of Police shall be an appointed official.

It has nothing to do with the extended terms of office by the City Council. If there are differences with the City Council they should be aired at a specified future time. JANE THOMAS 400 Washington Blvd.

Though essentially pragmatic in her views on women's rights, Ferraro has a steel core of dedication to the cause that was forged by the discrimination she endured as she made her way in a man's world.

In a recent interview with my associate Vicki Warren, Ferraro recalled what it was like being one of only two women in a night law school class at Fordham. "Professors would call on you when it was a case involving rape or sodomy, and everyone would giggle as one of the two females briefed the class," she said.

And when she eventually got her degree and started looking for work, Ferraro was told by one law firm, "We aren't hiring any women this year."

Though she acknowledged that things have changed for the better since she got this sexist brushoff, Ferraro summed up her view by quoting a bumper sticker that read: "We haven't come a long way, and don't call me 'baby.'"

Ferraro's appeal to ethnics, Catholics and family-oriented voters is graphically illustrated by the photos that adorn her congressional office wall: Ferraro with Pope John Paul II, and with such celebrities as Sophia Loren, Frank Sinatra, Tony Bennett and Al Pacino. And on a bookshelf along with volumes of the U.S. Code is a family portrait of Archie and Edith Bunker, Gloria and "Meathead"; Ferraro represents the Queens district where "All in the Family" was set.

But perhaps her greatest single contribution to the Mondale campaign will be as a focus for the concern of many Americans — mostly women — over the issue of war and peace.

Ferraro can be eloquent on the subject. She recalled talking to her son, John, who was 19 and away at college when the Marines were killed in Beirut last fall: "At the end of the conversation, he said to me, 'Mom, are we going to war?' And I said, 'John, I don't know.' And he said, 'What should I do?' And I said, 'Just like any other mother, 'You stay up there and study hard and get good marks.'"

Getting a bit misty-eyed, Ferraro said: "So to me, peace is the issue. You can let the environment go to pot for four more years. The economy is a disaster and the budget deficits are terrible. ... You can live through that, but we can't live through a foreign policy that goes from military intervention to military intervention."

Today in history

By The Associated Press Today is Thursday, Aug. 2, the 215th day of 1984. There are 151 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Aug. 2, 1934, Adolf Hitler became dictator of Germany upon the death of President Paul von Hindenburg.

On this date: In 1776, members of the Continental Congress began to attach their signatures to the Declaration of Independence.

In 1921, opera singer Enrico Caruso died.

In 1923, the 29th President of the United States, Warren G. Harding, died in San Francisco.

In 1927, President Calvin Coolidge issued a one-sentence statement to reporters in South Dakota. The statement read, "I do not choose to run for President in 1928."

In 1939, the Hatch Act was passed, forbidding federal civil service employees from taking an active part in political campaigns.

In 1943, Navy Lieutenant John F. Kennedy became a war hero by rescuing members of his crew after his PT boat was sheared in two by a Japanese destroyer.

Ten years ago: Former Nixon counsel John W. Dean III was sentenced to one to four years in prison for his admitted role in the Watergate cover-up.

Five years ago: New York Yankees catcher and team captain Thurman Munson was killed in the crash of his private jet in Ohio.

Today's birthdays: Actress Myrna Loy is 79. Actress Beatrice Straight is 66.

Around The Rim

Olympians

Izvestia and Pravda won't have anything kind to say about the XX-IIIrd Olympics, especially about the men's gymnastics competition. "Rife favoritism in the scoring," they'll say, or some such nonsense.

They'll point to a lot of world swimming records that remain unbroken, and say the games aren't a true representation of world class athletes. They'll say they were right to boycott, and point to the violence at the San Ysidro McDonald's and the maddened driver in Inglewood who ran over civilians as proof that California is too violent.

They'll say the games are too nationalistic. This from an avowedly nationalistic press.

Luckily, I don't have to read what the Soviet press will have to say about the magnificent routines the American team performed last night.

They'll say something about undue pressure being exerted on the judges because the games were hosted in the United States, and list that as the only reason the U.S. men's team did so well.

Well, hockey pucks! Sure, the boos and the catcalls from the American home crowd for some of the 9.95s were a little excessive and probably intimidating. But the performances were good and might well have deserved 10s.

And whatever they say about the U.S. hosting the games having an effect on the outcome of scores applies equally well to the Soviets, whose Moscow 1980 summer games were riddled with controversy in track and field and women's gymnastics.

To put it simply, the men's team performances by both the Americans and the Chinese were simply beautiful and amazing.

Li Ning, the Chinese gymnast, got three 10s.

Bart Conner's presence was even more awe-inspiring. This is a man who six months ago had a bicep rip apart on him during a performance on the rings. Most gymnasts usually take a year to recover from extensive surgery on their shoulders.

At the time of the injury, in a world men's gymnastics meet, a Soviet gymnast told Conner he was finished.

It's about six months later, and Conner is in fourth place in individual all-around.

The meet six months ago wasn't the first time Conner's shoulder muscles have torn in the middle of a meet. The same thing happened in the Olympic Trials for the '80 Games. At that time, he put off surgery because of the Olympics. Instead, he spent the summer of 1980 in America undergoing surgery instead of in Moscow because of the U.S. boycott.

And there he was Tuesday night, back up on the rings, the event that literally tore his muscles apart.

It takes guts to climb back up on the rings, and hang suspended in an "iron cross," and other strength moves, knowing all of your weight depends on your arms and that they could fail you yet again.

I know facing those rings would take more guts than I have. He deserved the gold for his personal victory alone.

Dear Abby

Jokes about son make mother see red

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are the proud parents of a beautiful son, now nearly 3. As he began to grow and change, we were astonished that his hair color was totally different from ours. Although there are blonds further removed from our family line, my husband and I and everyone else on both sides have black hair. I am fed up with people who constantly make jokes like, "It must have been the mailman," etc. Now, my husband is saying the same thing in the presence of other people, and I am burning! It's as though he is apologizing for the fact that our son is a blond. Or maybe he wants to get his cheap comment in before someone else does. What can I say when these remarks are made? And what is our son going to think when he's old enough to understand that people are accusing his mother of adultery? I need a snappy comeback.

amused, by his "jokes." But as far as the others are concerned, don't make an issue of it. When your son is old enough to "understand," he will realize that these comments are not meant to be taken seriously.

DEAR ABBY: A cousin of mine was married 10 months ago. It was her first marriage and his third. The bride was 24 and the groom (are you sitting down, Abby?) 81, but he could have passed for 65 or 70.

This cousin had a baby boy last week, and she and her husband are happy as a pair of teen-agers.

I've never heard of a man in his 80s fathering a child. I think he set a record, don't you?

PENNSYLVANIA DUTCHMAN DEAR DUTCHMAN: Probably not. But if somebody out there can top this, I'll hear about it.

Pre-nuptial events honor Juli Britton

Juli Britton, bride-elect of Jayi Braulick, was honored at two pre-nuptial events recently.

Miss Britton was the guest of honor at a kitchen shower in the home of Mrs. Gene Perry of Lomax, July 19.

Hosting the event were Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Roger Brooks of Midland, Mrs. Bob Cox and Mrs. Gerald Hanson, both of Stanton. The bride-elect was presented a corsage of aqua daisies and baby's breath.

Guests were served from a table covered with a floor-length white cloth with aqua runners and centered with an arrangement of aqua and white daisies and baby's breath. Special guests included Mrs. Ellis Britton, mother of the bride, Mrs. Wayne Cook, grandmother, and Mrs. Dean Forrest, aunt of the bride.

Miss Britton also was honored with a rice bag party at the home of Mrs. J.R. McMurray, Silver Heels, July 25. Hostesses were Mrs. McMurray and Mrs. Tracey Glover of Jal, N.M. Guests presented Miss Britton with gifts of lingerie.

The couple will wed Saturday evening at Wesley United Methodist Church.

4-Hers work on crafts at summer camp

The 1984 Martin-Glasscock County Summer 4-H Camp began July 23 when the senior members planned and organized games and activities for the juniors attending Tuesday and Wednesday.

Some of the crafts included tin work, magnets, huck toweling, cross stitch, popsicle napkin holders, skulpie, electric extension cords and wood working.

The 4-Hers also participated in outdoor activities, such as swimming, horseback riding, shooting sports and hiking to the old convent and jail house in Stanton.

Afterwards, the 4-Hers ate ice cream and performed skits for their parents. The 4-Hers returned home Wednesday.

Hypospadias: an infant genital problem

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Our baby was born with hypospadias, a problem with the penis opening. We have excellent doctors, and the only question left is when the repair surgery will be scheduled. Can you comment? — Mrs. L. I.

Hypospadias (HYPE-oh-SPADE-ee-us), for other readers, is a congenital abnormality of the urethral structure in which the urinary outlet lies on the underside of the penis. It is one of the more common birth defects, and with skilled surgery the outcome is almost always very good.

The timing of surgery depends on several factors, but it is important that it be done long before the child is to enter school. Some authorities suggest very early surgery (during the first year). Sometimes it is done in a single session, but in other cases there may have to be two stages of surgery for complete correction of the abnormality. Earlier surgery is emphasized to minimize the psychological effects that can accompany any genital disturbance. I am sure your son is in excellent hands and that his surgery will be highly successful.

Thursday Notes

By Steve Belvin

Cotton Mize and his Cotton Chippers just keep on winning. Last weekend the Chippers placed second at the 34 team State Major Fast-pitch Tournament in Stephenville.

The Chippers went into the finals versus Buster Haack Realty of Hempstead undefeated, having already defeated the team from Hempstead 6-4. But the tide changed as Buster Haack Realty won the final two games to gain the title.

The Chippers opened the tourney with a 3-0 whitewashing of Yokum and then proceeded to close the door on Stephenville 8-0. The Chippers then rolled over Killeen 8-1 thanks to a round tripper by ace hurler and first baseman Johnny Mize.

Cotton's boys were aided by a grand slam homer by second baseman Mike Ritchey to down Livingston 8-1. Next the Chippers defeated Buster Haack before losing the final two games.

Four players were named to the Major All-State Team. They were, Ritchey at second base, Kenny Fowle at third base, Gary Martin in left field and pitcher Joe Green.

Ritchey received a Golden Glove award for making 27 putouts in 27 attempts and Green received an award for having the lowest earned run average in the tourney with an amazing .050.

The Chippers are now 40-9 for the season. Their next tournament will be the State TAAF tourney in Lubbock this weekend.

The Howard County Boxing Club recently elected new officers for the year. Their main goal as of right now is raising funds to send boxers to the P.A.L. Tournament in Albuquerque, N.M.

New members elected were, Muel Villa, Chairman; Mary Baldwin, Vice Chairman; Tina Garza, Secretary; Patty Garza, Treasurer, Jamie Baldwin, Sports Coordinator and Representative and Historians Mary Rios and Lupe Villa.

The next meeting is scheduled July 31 at Howard County Park at Dundee and North Fourth.

It was a big week for the big ones at Lake E.V. Spence where striped bass were hitting lures. There were half a dozen in the 16 to 23-pound range, many from one to 14 pounds. There were also a few reports of yellow and channel catfish.

So you fishermen get on out there and bring in the big ones!

The Abilene Baptist Church announces the first Focus on Fitness Festival September 20-22.

Entrants from all over the Big Country can compete in such events as a 10K road race, two mile fun run, racquetball tourney, volleyball tourney and bowling tourney, plus much more.

Registration for the festival can be arranged through First Baptist Family Center, 1442 N. Second St. Abilene, Tx, 79601. (915) 677-1358.

The Blue Blazers Women's Division of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce has begun plans for a gigantic celebration and community recognition day to honor Big Spring's own Olympian Rose Magers.

Johnnie Lou Avery, president of the Blue Blazers said the date and details will be finalized as soon as it can be determined when Rose and her family return from Los Angeles. Futher plans will appear in the Herald in the future.

American women manage silver in team gymnastics

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This time there were no cries of foul, no complaints that America had been hometowned on its own turf.

"We lost, the Romanians deserved the gold," said American women's coach Don Peters after Romania had ended America's bid for a sweep in the team competition of gymnastics at the Summer Games.

Led by a pair of perfect scores from 17-year-old Ecaterina Szabo and 15-year-old Simona Pauca, Romania shed its bridesmaid role in Olympic competition with a one-point victory over the United States women.

Romania, which had taken the silver behind the Soviet Union in the last two Olympics, simply outlasted the Americans on a night that saw five perfect scores awarded but also plenty of mistakes made by both teams.

China, never in the hunt for the gold after the compulsories, took the bronze medal.

In contrast to the compulsory competition, where Peters complained the U.S. team had been robbed of points on the balance beam by Romanian judge Julia Roterescu, this time the American coach had no excuses.

"We did not perform to our best potential," said Peters.

A dispute among the judges at the haven of controversy — the balance beam — forced a six to eight minute delay, enough time to break the U.S. team's concentration.

American star Julianne McNamara, who moments earlier had become the first American woman gymnast to score a perfect 10.00, had to wait to start her routine while the judges agreed on a score for her teammate Kathy Johnson.

When the dispute was settled, McNamara promptly fell off the beam in a rare mistake on the apparatus she considers one of her favorites.

"I definitely think the long pause affected her," said Peters. But Peters conceded the Americans were their own worst enemies.

"We made a lot of little mistakes," he said. "It was not a night for perfect performances and both teams felt the pressure."

Szabo, stoic but sensational under pressure, got the Romanians rolling with a perfect vault at the end of the first rotation.

Pauca, a relatively unknown, sealed the victory with a flawless somersault-filled routine on the balance beam. Szabo, who would say later she felt no pressure from performing before the partisan American crowd, finished the night with a 9.95 score in the floor exercises.

McNamara nailed a perfect landing off the uneven bars to hang up the historic 10.00 and Mary Lou Retton was perfect in her first

Spikers rally by Brazil; set for China

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The United States clinched a berth in the medal round of the women's volleyball competition at the Olympic Games Wednesday night by rallying for a 12-15, 10-15, 15-5, 15-5, 15-12 victory over stubborn Brazil.

The come-from-behind triumph before a capacity crowd of about 12,000 at the Long Beach Arena gave the Americans a 2-0 record in Pool A.

China, which overwhelmed West Germany 15-5, 15-6, 15-3 earlier Wednesday, is also 2-0 and has clinched the other Pool A spot in the medal round.

Brazil and West Germany are both 0-2.

In Pool B action Wednesday, Japan raised its record to 2-0 by trouncing Peru 15-8, 15-7, 15-5 and Korea breezed past Canada 15-10, 15-1, 15-3.

Peru and Korea are both 1-1 while Canada is 0-2.

The USA and China square off Friday night as pool play comes to an end. The winner of that match will be the Pool A champion.

Brazil appeared headed for a major upset as it led most of the way through the first two games.

The USA scored four straight points to tie the first game at 12-all but the Brazilians then tallied three in a row to win it.

Brazil tallied five straight points to establish a 12-7 lead in the second game. The Americans came back with three in a row before the Brazilians got three of their own to put the USA on the brink of disaster.

However, the Americans roared back. They took a 9-1 lead en route to their one-sided victory in the third game, and scored the final 10 points to break a 5-5 tie and easily win the fourth game.

The Americans scored the first three points and five of the first six in the fifth game, but Brazil scored four points in a row to go ahead 10-8 and later held a 12-9 advantage.

However, sparked by Flo Hyman, the Americans rattled off the final six points of the match. The USA got the final point on a kill by Paula Weishoff.

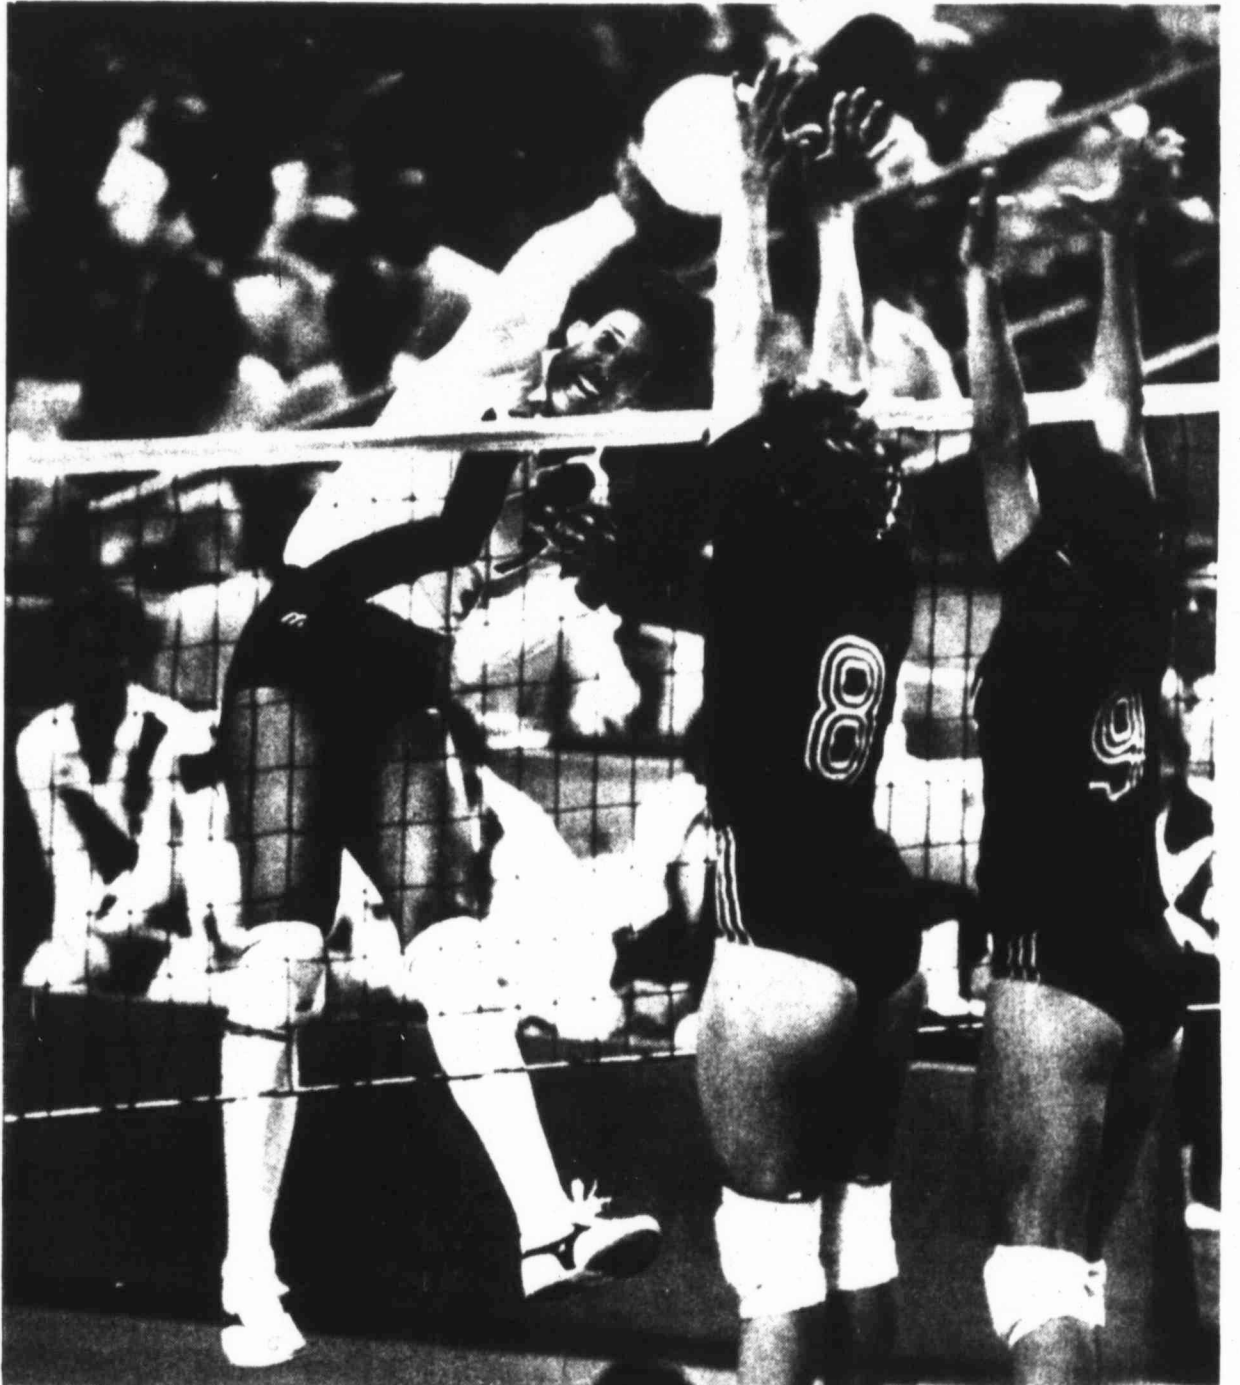

Among the standouts for the Americans were Hyman, Rita Crockett and Debbie Green. Among the top players for Brazil were Jacqueline Silva, Maria Salgado and Vera Leme.

Japan, which needs only to defeat winless Canada Friday to clinch the championship of Pool B, scored the first six points in easily winning the first game over Peru.

The Japanese took command of the second game by scoring six straight points to break a 1-1 tie, and went ahead to stay in the third game by ripping off seven points in a row to snap a 2-2 deadlock.

China, the 1982 world champion, had no difficulty against West Germany. Team captain Zhang Rongfang and Lang Ping led the way.

Korea kept its hopes for a berth in the medal round alive by walloping Canada. Assuming that Japan beats Canada Friday, the winner of the match between Korea and Peru the same day will advance to Sunday's medal round.

DRIVING IT HOME — Flo Hyman hits the ball as Brazil's Helosia Roese (8) and Regina Uchoa (9) defend during women's Olympic volleyball action. The U.S. won the game 3-2.

In the medal round, the winner of Pool A plays the runnerup in Pool B and the winner of Pool B plays the runnerup in Pool A. The winners battle for the gold medal next Tuesday night, after the losers play for the bronze.

Competition in the 10-team men's division continues Thursday with four matches — China, 0-2, faces Egypt, 0-1, and Brazil, 1-0, meets Tunisia, 0-2, in the morning while Italy, 2-0, battles Japan, 1-0, and the USA, 2-0, takes on Korea, 1-0, at night. Argentina, 0-2, and Canada, 1-1, are idle. The USA, Brazil, Korea, Argentina and Tunisia are in Pool A while Italy, Japan, Canada, China and Egypt are in Pool B.

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: After a good start in finding a better means by which to extend your interests beyond their present boundaries, you find that some delays and obstacles enter the picture.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A delightful person is about to come into your life, so be ready to accept him or her. Pay only the most pressing bills now.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure to get recreations planned early since an associate could put a crimp in your plans later. Don't let this delay depress you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Everything seems to go every smoothly in the morning so plan your work so that the afternoon will not bring interruptions.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Get in touch with a bigwig early who can make your life easier, but avoid costly amusements in the evening.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Early handle that vital work ahead of you since it can bring you fine benefits but later avoid arguments at home.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Early plan amusements with your buddies for the evening, but be sure to drive carefully. Settle that matter quickly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Some monetary problem can be settled best with the aid of a family tie, but then don't get into further debt.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) During the morning you are able to handle problematical affairs very wisely, but after lunch it is better not to make decisions of any importance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Follow ideas of a good advisor who can show you how to get ahead financially since later you have to handle private concerns.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Vital decisions should be made in the morning when your judgment is good since later an imposing pal could waste your time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A wise person could show you how to improve your image with the public, but later don't take any risks with outsiders.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can gain wishes with the aid of a good pal so listen to what he or she has to say. Important that you drive with utmost care.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have great investigative capabilities and get to the truth of any situation which could easily stump others and delve into the motivations as well. So slant the education along lines of research and there can be much success during this lifetime. Teach not to be so prejudiced.

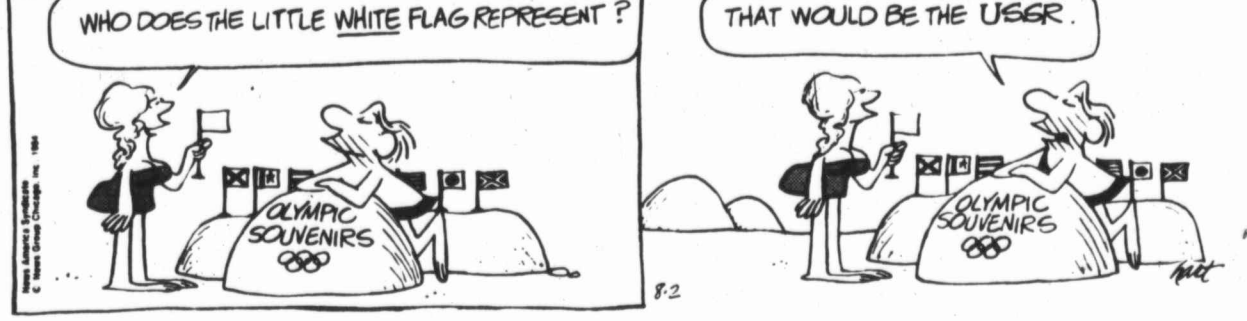

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

TOTAL SHOCK - Arlington firefighters stand at the spot where one of the two fatalities was located. Two are dead and 150 homeless in the four-alarm pre-dawn fire that swept through 15 buildings of the Sherry Park Apartments. All that remains of the apartments is the bed frame in the foreground.

Vote count highest in decade

While City Secretary Tom Ferguson said this morning's absentee balloting total of 318 votes constitutes a ten-year record, the total is not the all-time record for city absentee balloting, Herald records show.

That honor goes to a 1971 election to recall then-city councilmen Wade Choate, Jack Watkins and Eddie Aciri. A total of 646 of the ballots were cast prior to that Tuesday, Aug. 3 election, records show.

"We have never in any election had more than 100-150 absentee votes," Maxine Shaffer, then-acting City Secretary, said before the 1971 election.

Records show that Choate, Watkins and Aciri survived the

Davis outlines travel policy

City Manager Don Davis said this morning it is current city policy for councilmen and staff to take their wives at city expense "to certain conventions and Texas Municipal League meetings."

Davis said he is not sure when the policy was first set. He said it "was established in existence" before he joined the city five years ago.

The city manager's comments came in reference to a Texas Municipal League convention in Corpus Christi in early June that cost "about $3,000" for air fare, lodging, meals and car rentals for Mayor and Mrs. Clyde Angel, Councilman and Mrs. Jack Y. Smith and Administrative Assistant and Mrs. Pat Hardy. Councilman Henry Sanchez also attended the convention, but without his wife.

Davis said the reason for allowing spouses to accompany councilmen and staff is that the convention includes seminars specially designed for wives. The responsibilities of public officials often "spill over into the household," Davis said, and the "role of spouses becomes pretty important."

According to expense reports from the trip, $980 was spent on air fare for the seven persons, about $1,000 for lodging and meals and $310 to rent two cars for the three-day excursion. The report also included a $10 expense for a boat tour sponsored by the convention.

Four teens pillage WT town

ANTHONY (AP) - Authorities say four teen-age boys who ramaged this tiny West Texas town, killing dogs, damaging homes and tossing bricks at police officers who tried to stop them, were under the influence of drugs and alcohol.

El Paso County sheriff's Capt. Chuy Reyes said the boys, three 16-year-olds and one 13-year-old, assaulted Anthony for 90 minutes Wednesday afternoon before being arrested by police officers.

The teen-agers entered a home about 4:30 p.m., killed two German shepherd dogs by stabbing them 20 about times each, "broke a microwave all over the floor, threw plants all over and even threw food on the floor," Reyes said.

They also burglarized another residence before being arrested by

Two dead in Arlington blaze

ARLINGTON (AP) - Two people are dead and 100 homeless after the eighth blaze since 1969 reduced 44 units of the Sherry Park Apartments to twisted black rubble.

Another 24 units were damaged by the four-alarm fire that spread like lightning through the 16-year-old apartment complex Wednesday in this city between Dallas and Fort Worth, fire officials say.

The blaze, which caused an estimated $1.5 million in damages, started just before 4 a.m. in a corner unit belonging to an apartment employee. The employee and a 70-year-old woman - neither of whom have been positively identified - were killed.

It took 52 firefighters nearly four hours to bring the fire under control, said Fire Chief Bill Strickland.

The blaze's cause was unknown, but officials have ruled out arson. Strickland said the employee who died was a smoker, but that there was no way to determine if careless smoking contributed to the fire.

He said the complex's wood-shingle roofs and siding portions helped the fire spread so fast. Assistant Fire Chief Bill

McFadin noted that "we've had more fires out there (at the Sherry Park complex) than any other place in the city."

He said most of the previous fires were caused accidentally, but said he didn't know why so many had occurred at the complex.

Newlyweds Mark and Teddi Smothermon were among several residents who barely escaped the swift-moving flames.

"There was just no warning of any kind," said the 20-year-old Mrs. Smothermon. "It was crazy. No warning..."

In fact, the Smothermons said only the honk of a fire engine horn saved them and Mrs. Smothermon's 16-year-old sister from almost certain death.
