WASHINGTON (AP) — Civilian unemployment climbed to 7.5 percent in July, the first gain in 20 months, as 413,000 Americans joined the jobless rolls, the government reported today.

Old Settlers reunite

ountry-western music drifted through Comanche Trail Park today as hundreds of long-time residents made their way to the Howard-Glasscock Old Settlers Reunion.

Early morning clouds and cool temperatures greeted the par-ticipants, who will spend the day visiting, trying their hands at contests and listening to the music of the Outlaw Prison Band.

The Old Settlers Pavilion, the official reunion site for many years, was filled with folks who have called either Howard or Glasscock counties home since the turn of the century. And dotting the crowd were grandchildren and sons of daughters of the counties'

Registration officially kicked off at 9 a.m., and Gertrude McCann, secretary of the organization, said 220 people had registered by 10

"We're expecting 1,500 people throughout the day," Mrs. McCann said as she hurried off to officially welcome everyone to the 60th annual reunion. Her husband, Dwight, is president of the Old Settlers Association.

Although there are organized events throughout the day, most of the participants come to the Old Settlers Pavilion to catch up on old times and to see familiar faces. In many cases, folks run into people they've known for more than half a

The Old Settlers Reunion is also highlighted with old-fashioned costumes hand-made by many of the participants. Myrtle True, 89, has a special costume for this year's event.

"I made it in 1947 to wear to the Big Spring Centennial," Mrs. True, wife of the late "Preacher" True, said. The pink and blue floor-length dress is reminiscent of Sunday dresses worn by West Texas women in the 1800s.

Mrs. True's dress "has a big bow in the back. The bigger the bow was, the more stylish the dress was," Mrs. True says with a laugh. Also dressed in turn-of-the century ranch hand clothes is Clay

Bedell; 90. Bedell is dressed in a western shirt accented with a big red bandana and complete with cowboy boots. Bedell said he has been coming to the Old Settlers Reunion for years, and remembers when the reunion was held in the old Cottonwood Park. He considers himself a true area pioneer. "I came here in 1900," he explains.

2 rob motel on I-20

Staff reports

Two bandits took $200 at gunpoint from an Interstate 20 motel late Thursday night, and Big Spring police are searching for a black male and black female in connection with the robbery.

Police have descriptions of the two robbers and are "pursuing all available leads," Lt. Jerry Edwards said this morning.

Jim Bowen, night clerk at the Mid-Continent Inn on Interstate 20, told police at 11:14 p.m. Thursday that the pair stole at gunpoint about $200 from the motel's cash drawer. The couple also stole an undetermined amount of cash from wallets and purses of the three clerks at the scene, reports said.

Edwards said the pair entered the motel, displayed a hand gun and forced the three clerks to lay on the motel office floor. They then directed a female clerk to get the money from the cash drawer, he

Although there were no injuries or shots fired in the incident, Edwards said the robbery saw "some pushing and shoving." He said the clerks were "a bit shaken up after being robbed."

The pair fled the scene after pulling the motel's telephone out of the

Postal workers shun strike talk

Staff and wire reports Although local postal employees would "all like a contract" to work under, Postmaster Frank Hardesty said "no one is too hot under the collar" in the face of a collective bargaining impasse with national union heads and Postal Service management.

In Washington, presidents of unions representing half a million Postal Service employees are warning management of an increasing militancy by workers.

But locally, Hardesty said,

"There hasn't been a whole lot of conversation about it."

Without predicting whether the members of the American Postal Workers Union and the National Association of Letter Carriers would strike, which would be il-legal, national labor leaders said management has been provoking

GALVESTON (AP) - Steered by shifting winds, a 65-mile-long oil slick was expected to ooze into Galveston Bay around noon today, endangering marine life and the island's tourism business.

A surveillance flight spotted one "finger" of the slick a mile or two off the north Galveston jetty this morning, said Jerry Galt, an oceanographer with the National Oceanic and Atomospheric Administration. Galt and U.S. Coast Guard officials said the oil may wash ashore at high tide, but shifting winds and current make firm predictions impossible.

"It's being moved by currents and winds, the winds are steering it," said Coast Guard spokesman Keith Spangler. "It's going to do what it wants." The slick is from a 1.2 million gallon spill, which leaked out of a 609-foot British tanker Alvenus that ran aground Monday off the Louisiana coast. Coast Guard spokesman Dale Puckett said today that the flow of oil from the ruptured tank had stopped.

"It's gone," Puckett said. "All the oil is gone."

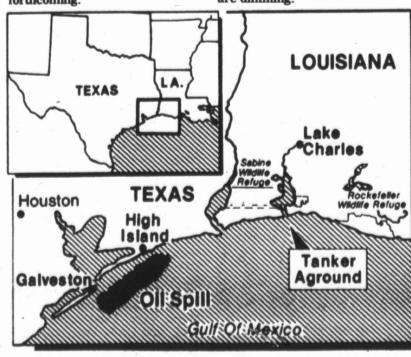

Puckett said none of the 1.8 million gallons of oil could be salvaged.

Scientists and area officials were bracing Friday for the arrival of the slush in sensitive marine estuaries and choice fishing grounds.

"It is going to be nasty to clean up wherever it comes ashore," said Dr. Roy Hann, director of Texas A&M University's oil spill technical assistance team. If the spill hits Galveston Bay, it could mean the temporary end of oyster harvesting.

"There are a number of shellfish beds in the bay under private lease, and if they go under oil, you can't harvest them," said Dr. Edward Ibert, pollution control director at the Galveston County Health District in La Marque. "If it does (enter Galveston Bay), probably no more oyster harvesting will be

The slick meandered off the coast Thursday, coming within three miles of High Island at one point, the Coast Guard said.

Thunderstorms rumbled across portions of East and West Texas before dawn today as an upper level storm system centered over Arkansas continued to trigger scattered storm activity.

The showers in West Texas extended from near Guadalupe Pass northeast to the South Plains. Other scattered thunderstorms developed from north of Longview to near Shreveport, La.
High clouds hovered over Central and far West Texas while low clouds dotted northeastern sections of the state and the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The rest of the state reported mostly fair skies.

Pre-dawn temperatures were generally in the 70s. Readings at 4 a.m. ranged from 68 at Longview to 80 at Winds were mostly from the south at 5 to 10 mph. Northeasterly breezes were noted along with the shower activity in Northeast Texas.

The forecast called for partly cloudy skies with widely scattered thundershowers through Saturday. Most of the shower activity was expected to end late tonight, followed by scattered showers Saturday in Northeast Texas and southern portions of West Texas.

Along the coast, scattered thunderstorms, along with southeasterly winds near 15 knots, were possible through Thunderstorms packing heavy rain soaked much of the nation today from the Dakota hills to the Florida Keys, while flash flood watches were posted in southwest Alabama and a thick, warm fog enveloped parts of the Northeast.

A surge of tropical moisture from the Gulf of Mexico was blamed for another night of torrential rain in the Gulf Coast states and much of the South, with high seas and intense lightning reported today in the Florida Keys.

The National Weather Service today posted flash flood watches for 11 counties in southwest Alabama and four counties in the Florida Panhandle following several days of heavy rainfall.

A flood watch was canceled late Thursday in Montgomery, Ala., where 2.51 inches of rain fell in a six-hour period earlier in the day.

West Texas - Isolated late afternoon and evening thunderstorms, otherwise fair nights and partly cloudy days. Panhandle and South Plains highs in the lower 90s and lows in the mid to upper 60s. Reunion.

Mrs. True, like Bedell, can remember many such reunions. "I've been coming ever since I came to Howard County. My first reunion was in 1929."

She returns each year, she said, "because I enjoy the fellowship, and I enjoy the music. It's all a part of being in the community. You get to see people you haven't seen for a long time."

Mrs. True approves of a relatively new twist to the reunion — that of free lunches for everyone over

"I think that induces better attendance," she said.

Participants will pitch horseshoes, throw washers and spit tobacco throughout the day, all to the background music of the Big Spring Federal Camp's "Outlaw Band." Special awards, a fiddlers contest and others events are scheduled until 3 p.m.

Old Settlers will reconvene at 8:30 p.m. at the Dora Boberts Com-munity Center for a dance with Ben Nix and the Boys.

"If the ingredients for a strike do not exist, no demagogue can make it happen," Moe Biller, president of the APWU, told the National Press Club Wednesday. If conditions are ripe for a walkout, "no leader can prevent it," he added.

Hardesty said local employees "to my knowledge" have not been discussing an illegal strike against the Postal Service. Two union representatives, Pearl Shifflett for the clerks and Wade Bledsoe for the letter carriers, have not come to Hardesty with any complaints, he said.

"I don't feel our people are going to get that stirred up about it," Hardesty said. "There is not an intense union involvement here. Most of our employees are satisfied with their jobs."

Biller and Vincent F. Sombrotto. head of the letter carriers, said a decision on whether to strike or accept binding arbitration of the dispute with the Postal Service will be left to some 8,000 delegates to the unions' conventions scheduled later this month in Las Vegas, Nev. "It is up to these representatives, elected by over 500,000 good and decent people, to make some serious decisions," Sombrotto said. "And we as leaders will heed their

Meanwhile, provisions of the Postal Reorganization Act calling for appointment of fact-finding boards have been set into motion, and any resort to arbitration would involve a months-long process which would result in a binding and final settlement imposed on the two sides by sometime in December. Biller and Sombrotto accused Postmaster General William F. Bolger and the nine-member Board of Governors of "wanting an impasse.' Spokesmen for Bolger had no immediate comment.

Biller and Sombrotto also said in answer to a question that they would risk going to jail if they became convinced that a strike were the only remaining option. "If we have to go to jail ..., there's no more noble cause than on the behalf of postal workers and on behalf of labor," Biller said.

LULAC sponsors public forum

Declaring "the majority — the big majority — of the community is unaware of what's a stake," local League of United Latin American Citizens president Pat DeAnda announced yesterday the organiza-tion will sponsor a public forum next week on the elected police

But city officials who were previously challanged to a debate on the issue said yesterday they have "no plans" to attend.

The local Hispanic organization scheduled the forum for 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Coors Hospitality Center, Mrs. Deanda said.

Mrs. Deanda said that Councilman Henry Sanchez will speak at the forum and that her group has tentatively scheduled an out-oftown speaker who has experience with an elected chief. All other interested persons are invited to come and air their viewpoints, she

In addition, she said her group is "encouraging" City Manager Don Davis and Police Chief Rick Turner, as well as local organizations for and against the elected police chief concept, to speak at the meeting. However, Davis said yesterday

"I believe people have a lot of unanswered questions on the issues involved, and a debate would have been beneficial to everyone. Heckler said later.

"Further, no one had the common courtesy to tell either of us in person or by letter that they refused the debate. We didn't know it until we read it in the paper," he said. Citizens for Effective Law En-

San Antonio says Fritz, Gerry just family

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Democratic presidential candidate Walter Mondale and running-mate Geraldine Ferraro courted the Hispanic vote in a campaign swing through Texas.

"I'm not saying let's win for myself and Geraldine. I'm saying let's win it for us," he told a heavily Mexican-American crowd gathered Thursday for a rally at El Mercado, San Antonio's marketplace. Mondale had Mayor Henry Cisneros by his side, describing the former vice president as "our hermano" (our brother).

"Walter Mondale has been a brother to this city for a very long time," said the mayor, who interviewed with Mondale for the vice presidential spot on the

As a senator in the 1960s, Mondale worked for bilingual education and "as a vice president, did an outstanding job of representing the interests of the working people," Cisneros said.

Mondale, who threw away his speech after part of it blew away, told the Hispanics in the crowd of about 2,500, "It's never been what we can do for you.

"It's what Hispanics can do for this country if we give them the chance," he said, his voiced drowned out by applause and shouts.

Mondale pooh-poohed predictions by a pollster that the Democratic ticket cannot win in Texas.

"Mark White said that's the same pollster who said Bill Clements would be re-elected," the former vice president said.

Clements, a Republican, was beaten by White in Cisneros told the enthusiastic, flag-waving listeners, "We are here in El Mercado in this city that has a strong Spanish heritage. The mother of Mexico is Spain and the mother of Spain is Italy. We are here to welcome a cousin.

BEVERLY HILLS - Gene Kelly, the 72-yearold hoofer who still seems as fit as when he danced through puddles in "Singin' In The Rain," says he likes break dancing because it's 'spontaneous."

Kelly, living in a rented house built by Greta Garbo until his burned-down Beverly Hills residence can be restored, said in an interview published today that he isn't missing any of the Olympics.

Salvador rebels hold hostages after bank hit

SOYAPANGO, El Salvador (AP) Heavily armed leftist guerrillas held about 100 hostages in a bank today while considering a government offer of temporary asylum in exchange for release of the captives.

The rebels seized the bank Thursday in an apparent robbery attempt, killing a guard in the process. Witnesses said there were six gunmen, armed with rifles, pistols and grenades.

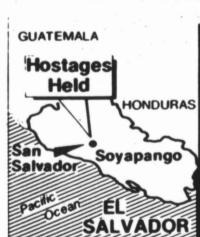

The guerrillas later released three children and seven women, and early today - as troops surrounded the bank and helicopters circled overhead - they appeared ready to release the other captives in exchange for asylum at the Spanish Embassy and safe conduct out of the country.

However, the Spanish Foreign Ministry said Spain would shelter the guerrillas in its San Salvador embassy "when and only when a third country has agreed to grant them asylum outside El Salvador."

"Acceptance of a third country to receive the guerrillas is the sine qua non of Spain's agreement to provide temporary protection," spokesman Santiago Salas said today in Madrid.

Geraldine Ferraro has not only broken new territory when it comes to national politics; she has also changed the manner in which the media will now cover vice presidential candidates.

To avoid any hint of sexism or misunderstanding, I received a memo from my editor laying out new guidelines for male reporters. They are as follows:

• You are not to kiss Rep. Ferraro in public unless she kisses you first

 Do not put your arm around her waist or around her shoulder when you are seen with her in public. You may shake hands with her, if she offers you hers, but do not kiss her hand if photographers

• Do not open her car door for her or let her precede you in a revolving door, as this will appear patronizing and will offend your

• If you are granted a one-on-one interview with her, ALWAYS have your wife present so there will be no question in anybody's mind what you are meeting about.

• When you find yourself at a dinner party next to her, DON'T full out her chair and see that she is comfortably seated. But if she pulls out your chair for you, be sure to thank her.

 To sum up, keep your hands off Rep. Ferraro during the campaign, and don't give the public the slighest excuse to think there is anything going on between the two of you other than you trying to find out where she really stands in the nuclear freeze.

 You can exchange innocent jokes with her and laugh, but keep the byplay to a minimum so the public won't perceive you as a "fun couple.'

 At political rallies do not throw kisses to her from the press stand. A friendly wave will suffice.

 If you happen to be on the platform, do not hug her as you would Fritz Mondale. A simple holding hands over the head is sufficient. • The important thing is make the public aware that you and

Rep. Ferraro are equal partners in the election process and that you as a reporter are colorblind when it comes to sex.

• It may be awkward at first to avoid any reference to Mrs. Ferraro as a woman in your column, but as the campaign progresses, it will be easier. British reporters had the same problem when Margaret Thatcher first became prime minister. But now it's rare to see a British journalist kiss or hug Mrs. Thatcher in front of No. 10 Downing Stgreet.

 Langauge is very important when addressing the Democratic vice presidential candidate. Do not refer to her as "Honey," "Dear," "Babe" or "Toots." A simple "Ma'am" will set the right

• Also, keep in mind that only Geraldine Ferraro's husband John Zaccaro may introduce his wife to someone else as "My better

 Although the kissing and hugging prohibition rules must be strictly adhered to concerning Mrs. Ferraro, they do not apply to other female candidates running for lesser office. You may still buss a congresswoman or a senator or the mayoral candidate of the opposite sex and even put your arm around her waist if it will help you get your story.

• There are absolutely no restrictions on male reporters kissing eorge Bush as you have done in the past, since people will not misread your intentions.

• To sum up, keep your hands off Rep. Ferraro during the campaign, and don't give the public the slighest excuse to think there is anything going on between the two of you other than you trying to find out where she really stands in the nuclear freeze.

A chicken way to sell poison

WASHINGTON - Chevron Chemical Co., the nation's sole manufacturer of the deadly herbicide paraquat, is requiring distributors who want to sell it under their own label to sign an agreement absolving Chevron of liability for death or injury to users.

"It's simply prudence on our part," a Chevron spokesman said. There has been a growing number of multi-million-dollar lawsuits involving deaths and illnesses claimed to have been caused by paraquat.

My associate Donald Goldberg and John Dillon obtained a copy of the agreement that must be signed by anyone who wants to market paraquat under an individual brand name. It requires a warning label on the proper use of the chemical, and liability insurance of "not less than $1 million per person and not less than $3 million per occurrence" — to be paid for by the distributor. In addition, the contract states that "the insurance shall be expressly endorsed to name Chevron as an additional insured (party)."

Industry sources said the marketing agreement is an unusual form of legal protection for a manufacturer. Even the Chevron spokesman said the agreement may be unique.

Paraquat first gained attention when it was used to eradicate marijuana fields in Mexico several years ago; more recently it as been used for the same purpose on federal land in Kentucky. Under a sprayed on clandestine marijuana crops in Colombia.

But the herbicide is becoming increasingly popular with American farmers for "no-till" farming. Instead of plowing last year's crops under, farmers can "clear" their fields with paraquat. It is already used to control weeds and speed harvests on more than 10 million acres of U.S. farmland, including fields of corn, wheat, soybeans and cotton.

Paraguat is one of the deadliest poisons known to man. A small quantity dropped on an exposed part of the body is absorbed through the skin and attacks the digestive system, the liver and the lungs. There is no antidote, beyond eating clay in hopes of absorbing some of the poison. "Since paraquat does not instantly destroy vegetation, forage feeders and species (including humans) contacting contaminated plants can be exposed for weeks after spraying at normal concentrations," wrote Ellen Silbergeld, a senior scientist at the Environmental Defense Fund. "Application of paraquat by aerial spraying is particularly dangerous." Footnote: Several companies contacted by my of-fice said they had decided not to distribute paraquat under their own label. But Chevron's non-liability requirement has not discouraged others. HOW TO SPELL RELIEF?: Recent disclosures that U.S. military aircraft have ferried relief supplies from private groups to Central America have caused dissension within the government agencies and charitable groups involved.

The National Security Council supports the use of military transports, while State Department and Pentagon officials are afraid it may break the law. Military transports of privately provided relief supplies is prohibited except in cases of extreme natural uch as earth tes or floods

Some of the private relief agencies are concerned that the use of military aircraft will cause their humanitarian efforts to be regarded with suspicion. They also fear that dependence on the military will mean that relief supplies will go only to those who are politically "in" with the administration, instead of to all who need them.

Around The Rim

By RICK BROWN

Taming TV

Prompted by the release this week of the Emmy nominations, I was struck rather perversly with how much time we waste in front of the one-eyed monster affectionatly known as the TV.

How much better our time could be spent improving ourselves or our web of relationships rather than strung out on the living room floor feeding on the mindless dribble that comes from the tube.

So, in this spirit of selfimprovement, I've taken it upon myself to come up with a list of things to do instead of watching television. I hope you find it useful the next time you're flipping through the channels and disappointed with what you see.

No. 1 on my list, as it should be on everyone's, is reading a good book. If you're not in the mood for A Tale of Two Cities, try something lighter, say, Animal Farm.

This is not to put down Charles Dickens. What wonderous depth his books have, what fascinating characters, what human plots and intricate sub-plots.

The great thing about great books is that there are always more of them; you can't exhaust the possiblities too soon.

(A side note: a friend tells me there is nothing light about Animal Farm, but I contend that if you're going to snuggle up to Emma Bombeck and If Life is Just a Bowl of Cherries, What Am I Doing in the Pits, you might as well watch

Reading does not have to be an expensive hobby. Remember the thing called a library? Ours, which is located downtown, isn't bad. You can read books for free, too.

Another thing to do instead of watching TV is working on a tan. A look at the people I meet and greet in Big Spring tells me that everyone could use a little color It's almost our aesthetic duty to darken those skin tones. Not too much, though; we must be ever mindful of the dangers of skin cancer.

Also, get some exercise. Any doctor in town will tell you that it reduces tension and promotes general well-being. Ride a bicycle or just take a walk around Scenic

Making home-made ice cream is an idea that we can all get behind, and it's even more fun when you do it as a family project.

In fact, any family activity is a good idea. Try to maintain that ever important eye contact. It's a hard habit to get back into after years with attention focused on the tube. Some poor families, especially younger ones, never even had the habit to begin with. Do you know the color of your parents' eyes? Your siblings? Your spouse?

A final activity you might try is making lists just like this one. We could all use a little more organization in our lives.

Now that I've got you on the road with this small effort, I'm sure you can see the possibilities for selfimprovement are endless.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Police group supports chief

To the editor: The Big Spring Police Association recently passed the following

We feel it is in the best interest of the Big Spring Police Department that our department administrator not be politically involved and/or motivated, but rather a professional and progressive chief appointed by our city government. Our city council are elected by the voting majority, because they are perceived to be the best candidates. We believe they are wellinformed and capable of understanding the needs of our

We further believe that if our chief is an elected official a majority of his term will be spent in working for his re-election. An appointed chief is free of political ties and is able to devote his entire time to fair and unbiased law enforcement. He would be able to set goals for the department and individuals within the department. The chief of police position

Councilman says vote no

To the editor:

I am Jack Y. Smith and in April, 1982, I was elected by majority vote, to be your city commissioner for two years. The majority vote is the democratic way of our country and I sincerely hope it stays that way. For the balance of my term, as your city commissioner, I will continue to do my best to represent all citizens to the best of my ability.

As a citizen of Big Spring for the last 50 years I feel I should express my personal feelings concerning the August 11th election. Just like any issue that confronts us, there are some good and some bad, but to me the city management type of government is the best and an elected department head is not the answer. I urge everyone to vote and vote against this issue. I also appeal to everyone to join together and with a positive attitude. Lets make Big Spring the best place to live in West Texas.

Directors testify in Fiberflex trial

By KEELY COGHLAN Staff Writer

Two Fiberflex Products Inc. directors, Russell Withrow and Wayne Runkles, testified today they did not participate in or know of any sham involving the sale of company stock or takeovers.

The two men, added to the board of directors at a December annual shareholders meeting, said they were interested in selling company stock for the best interest of the

Both men testified they had heard "rumors" of management turning down offers by other companies, rumors they said they wanted to confirm.

After being named head of mergers and acquisitions at the December directors meeeting, Withrow said he talked to several companies about merger or sale possibilities.

"Their first question was, were the Rutledges still involved," Withrow testified. When told yes, the companies, "were stopped cold," he said.

Withrow testified that in 1981 and 1982 a large number of corporations were actively searching for companies similar to Fiberflex.

Withrow testified that other companies dislike of the Rutledges might be caused by possible past legal action against companies on patent infringements.

Questioned about why he was talking to competitors, Withrow replied, "I wouldn't go to a cosmetic company to try and sell them a sucker rod.

Fiberflex Products Inc. executive vice president John Freeman told jurors Thursday afternoon of what he termed "irregular procedures" in a Dec. 20, 1983. annual shareholders meeting.

According to Freeman's testimony, some ballots for directors were not turned in until the following day, a procedure Freeman said was very irregular. In that shareholders' meeting, a group of shareholders interested in selling the company and opposed to Runkles said.

corporate management - Tom and Russ Rutledge, Freeman and Fred Morrow - were elected as the majority of the new board.

Those same board members -Wayne Runkles, Russell Withrow, Billy Massingill, West Texas banker Sam Spikes, Pete Dublin and Pat McNair - filed suit earlier this year when management added five persons to the board at a February special shareholder's meeting. The addition violated the corporation's bylaws, according to the suit.

Freeman, who acted as secretary at the December shareholders' meeting, testified he never certified the results of that election because some votes were not submitted in writing, he did not receive some ballots until the next day, and because lawyers at the meeting did not turn some of the ballots over to him.

'There was confusion because the battlelines were drawn," Freeman said of the balloting at the December shareholders' meeting.

Freeman also testified that he did not know until after the fact about a Dallas bank loan corporate management was trying to negotiate to assist company patent attorney Guy Matthews in paying off a controversial loan from the First City National Bank of Hobbs. N.M.. The $400,000 Hobbs bank note was part of a deal Matthews had with Spikes for the purchase of 20,000 shares of stock, Matthews testified, whose ownership is disputed in the case and which could determine who controls the company. Calling the company's business set-up "squirrelly," Freeman testified, "I don't mess with the business end, and they (the Rutledges) don't mess with the mechanical end.

Runkles also took the witness stand Thursday, and testified about the December shareholder's meeting. "There was much jubilation in my group when that (the election results) was announced,"

Lance resigns top post

NORTH OAKS, Minn. (AP) -Bert Lance, a former close aide to Jimmy Carter, resigned Thursday after 19 days as general chairman of Walter F. Mondale's Democratic presidential campaign, citing the controversy raised by 'charges' leveled against him.

Mondale accepted the resignation with regret and said in a statement "I understand his desire to protect his family from additional Lance's resignation came after a tenure of less than three weeks that was marked by a protest from party officials. They said his presence in the campaign might resurrect the issue of Lance's association with Carter and his resignation as budget director amid charges of irregularities in his personal banking business.

Lance was never convicted of any wrongdoing, but in his resignation letter he said that in the past three weeks unnamed people have "once again (raised) old charges which have been fully resolved through our system established by the Constitution. ...

"I want to be a part of a successful effort in your election ... not the focus to divert attention away from the substantive issues.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) -South Korean Coach Seung-Young Cho has hinted his team purposely played less than its best when it lost to the undefeated American squad in a preliminary-round game of the Olympic basketball tournament.

"We didn't want to use all our strength in today's game," Cho said Thursday after the United States sent South Korea down to its first defeat, 84-47.

"Right now we are going to concentrate on the Australian and China games," Cho said. "If we meet the United States in the finals, we'll do our best and show them how good we are.'

Pat Head Summitt, the U.S. women's coach, didn't fault that strategy. From past defeats to the South Koreans in international competition, she realizes how tough the Asians can be.

"I can appreciate why a coach would make that decision. They know in their own minds they can beat us," the University of Tennessee coach said. "Hopefully, we won't let this score affect us in a medal game.' Neither U.S. basketball teams have been pressed in rolling up three straight victories. The American men play France and the U.S. women meet China later today in the Forum.

Yugoslavia, the men's gold medalist in 1980, already has clinched a spot in next week's final pool. The Yugoslavs toyed with Brazil in a 98-85 verdict for a 4-0 record in Pool A play on Thursday. Italy, the 1984 European champion, matched Yugoslavia's start in Pool A by whipping Australia 93-82. Yugoslavia and Italy meet Saturday night in the final Pool A

In other games Thursday, West Germany pounded winless Egypt 85-58 in men's play, while Canada defeated Australia 56-46 and China beat Yugoslavia 79-58 in the women's event.

Lynette Woodard, one of four double-figure scorers against South Korea, contends an improved defense is the reason the United States can now beat the Asians.

"This team can play good man-to-man pressure," said Woodard, the national college career-scoring champion at Kansas. "In the past, we had to play zone against them. And as you can see, they are excellent outside shooters. They shoot those unorthodox 35-and 40-footers and make them.

Cheryl Miller led the rout with 16 points in the 19 minutes she played.

Canada's Victor Davis broke a run of eight consecutive U.S. goldmedal triumphs when he captured the 200-meter breastroke Thursday, posting a 2:13.34 clocking to best his own world record of 2:14.58.

"Now I can sleep at night," said Davis, who sailed frisbees into the stands in celebration. "The pressure on me has been tremendous. I had to live up to my name."

Petra Van Staveren of Holland followed with an Olympic record 1:09.88 in the 100 breaststroke, nipping the old mark of 1:10.11 by East Germany's Ute Geweniger. Van Staveren was so excited she sprayed the media with champagne in the press tent.

Mrs. Bickman helps revise Mothers Day Out program

Although Mothers Day Out is a ministry of the First United Methodist Church for mothers who want a day for themselves, the church wants the children to feel like it is a special place for them, says Mrs. Bickham.

"The concept before I came was that it was a babysitting program for drop-ins. Before the program was more for the mothers; now it is more geared toward the kids," said Mrs. Bickham.

The program offers a curriculum for the children in a relaxed atmosphere. It is designed to help children develops social skills; basic academic concepts; music appreciation; art appreciation; motor skills, and language skills. Mrs. Bickham said the program is developing a curriculum for crib room and toddlers.

Children will participate in activities such as academics, music time, reading and story time; outdoor play; motor development; craft and art time; kitchen activities; visitations; field trips, and sign language.

Mothers' Day Out programs are from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Wednesdays and Fridays. Infants through preschoolers are kept at Mothers' Day Out. Mothers are urged to have their child at the church by 10 a.m. so the child does not miss out on any activities.

Although the program is a ministry of the church, none of its activities is church-related, Mrs. Bickham said. The church follows state guidelines although it is not state licensed, Mrs. Bickham said

Church members are charged $4.50 daily for one child plus $1.25 for each additional child, and $3 per child for half a day. Non-members are charged $5 daily for the first child plus $1.75 for each additional child, and $3.50 for half a day. By paying daily for services, parents can bring their children when they want and don't feel obligated, Bickham said.

Mothers are asked to signed up their children up for Mothers' Day Out 24 hours in advance and to let Mrs. Bickham know at a moment's notice if they are going to cancel so other children may be substituted.

Mrs. Bickman has a bachelor of arts in Elementary Education from Sul Ross State University. She directed the Mothers' Day Out and Pre-School at Fort Stockton. She also was involved in the Mothers' Day Out programs at First United Methodist and Sierra Vista United Methodist Churches in San Angelo. Mrs. Bickham's sons, Brandon, 4, and Ryan, 1, are active in the program.

Hoffman speaks at rally

"The Light has come. The darkness has been dispelled," Lutheran Hour (LH) speaker, Dr. Oswald Hoffman told almost 2,500 attending a LH Rally at "Symphony Hall" in Phoenix, Ariz., July 29.

"Christ has come and the whole world has been redeemed," Dr. Hoffmann continued. "By His power and also by His humility, He offered Himself to be the Light of the world, and now we are to invite people all over the world to put their trust in Him.

LH Rally was the opening event of the 67th annual International Lutheran Laymen's League Convention being held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Phoenix, July 29th through August 1. The League, a 130,000 member volunteer auxiliary of th Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, sponsors the world-wide radio ministry "The Lutheran Hour," and the weekly syndicated television program "This Is The Life." Approximately 1,100 people from throughout the United States and Canada and from several other countries were expected to attend the convention.

Reich issues statement

Seymour D. Reich, chairman of Anti-Defamation League's national Civil Rights Committee, issued the following statement in reaction to the House of Representatives approval recently of an "equal access" measure which allows organized religious activity by students on public

"The advocates of this 'equal access' legislation openly proclaimed that its passage would be a way to get religion into the public schools. And they're right. Under the guise of free expression for students, the bill will open our public school doors to religious and cult groups, some of which use high pressure proselytizing techniques. In addition, the measure could open to racist and extremist organizations the opportunity to operate in our public schools.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 4, 1984 GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you will.

have the chance to live the Golden Rule since we all have to tone down an influence of the planets that is pressuring us to force our will and viewpoints on others. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are apt to light into your mate over some possible mistake but this would be wrong, so remain silent.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A partner may not agree with your views and is apt to start a rumpus but you have to control your temper and explain slowly. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Forget those work problems for the time being and find out what it is that is going on around you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You feel it is imperative that you have a good time today, which is fine provided you do not kick up your heels too much. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Do nothing that can ruin the harmony at home that has been evident for some time.

Keep the conversation light and cheerful.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Important you are careful in motion of all kind, especially on the highways and byways and don't be sarcastic with others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be careful not to spend too freely today nor get into investments that you would later regret.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are full of energy and bounce today, so be sure to use it constructively and all will be fine. Seek out vivacious, happy friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may feel limited in some way so meditate and come out of this mood. Don't discusss any controversial subjects.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to gain your wishes but be tactful if you want good results. Try to aid a good pal who is having rough sledding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be wise and use the soft pedal if you want everything to go well for you now. Don't neglect to get your marketing done.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have many opinions today that could lead you in the wrong directions, so be alert to whatever is happening around you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be highly magnetic and use this quality to gain whatever is wanted. Be sure to see to it that all this energy is used in the right, constructive way, otherwise your progeny could become a holy terror and one that everybody will shun, including the family.
