Fiberflex trial ends

Former O.I.L. boss granted voting rights

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer
Retired 118th District Judge Ralph Caton ruled Wednesday afternoon in favor of an expanded 15-man Fiberflex Products Inc. board of directors whose 9-6 majority support the current corporate management.

However, Caton also ruled that a 10-year voting trust on 31,500 shares of stock given to Fiberflex president Tom Rutledge and his brother Russ Rutledge is no longer in effect, effectively granting those rights to former OIL president Charles "Chris" Christopher, who says he now controls a majority of company stock.

"The foreclosure sale of the 20,000 shares was regular," Caton said of the Hobbs, N.M., bank sale of 20,000 shares of stock company patent attorney Guy Matthews had used to secure a $400,000 loan at the bank. Christopher bought the stock from the bank after a deal with Matthews fell through in February.

"The voting trust is wiped out," Caton said.

Prior to ruling against the Rutledges on the voting trust, Caton ruled for the five directors who favor the Rutledges' staying in control of the company.

"I'm going to rule that the Feb. 21 (1984) meeting was regular and legal," Caton said Wednesday. "If the action was taken to overrule the board of directors meeting of Dec. 20 (1983), then it was done." The 15-member board supporting corporate management — Tom and Russ Rutledge, John Freeman and Fred Morrow — was elected at a special shareholders' meeting Feb. 21, 1984, in which majority control was returned to the Rutledges.

Shareholders at the Feb. 21, 1984, meeting added five new directors to the board, all of whom favored the Rutledges. Prior to their addition, the majority of directors elected at an annual shareholders

Sanchez defends chief job

Councilman says no to amendment

Big Spring City Councilman Enrique "Henry" Sanchez last night told a public forum that he favors an appointed police chief and will vote against a city charter amendment calling for an elected chief.

"I'm going to go as it stands now," Sanchez told 30 to 40 people gathered at the Howard County Courthouse in a meeting sponsored by the League of United Latin American Citizens. Sanchez, a member of LULAC, was one of several people presenting his views on the much controversial charter amendment that will go to a vote Saturday.

A large voter turnout is expected following the record 720 absentee votes cast by the deadline Tuesday. Local LULAC president Pat DeAnda said she called the forum "because there has been a lot of controversy and confusion" concerning the issues over the election Saturday. She said the pros and cons of the issue needed to be made known.

People fired questions at Sanchez from the onset of the meeting concerning the conduct of Police Chief Rick Turner, the other six council members and Davis.

"Some problems did exist in the Northside," Sanchez said. "We sat down and talked with him (Turner) and he did listen. He opened doors."

However, most of the discussion centered around the feasibility of an elected police chief versus an appointed one.

Jerry Avery, calling the police chief the most important man in Big Spring, said the problem is not Turner. He said the residents of Big Spring would add more to the problem if the city went with an elected police chief.

"I'm not here to defend Chief Turner, but I'm here to defend the system," Avery said.

Another spokesman Lorenzo Rodriguez said the referendum Saturday may not solve anything but would be a beginning.

"The only problem Chief Turner has is Don Davis," Rodriguez said. "He (Turner) has to listen to him."

Heckler complained to Sanchez that city secretary Tom Ferguson, Davis and Turner would not talk to him over the chief of police issue.

"The city secretary said he would not talk to me, now or never," Heckler said.

One citizen, who said he favored an elected police chief, said the police department was playing politics by giving "courtesy tickets" to offenders. He said he knew of one instance when an officer making an arrest checked with the police department to see if the offender had signed the petition favoring an elected chief of police.

Mary Thomas, a leader of Citizens for Change — who favor an elected chief — was present,

The 'life' of a puppeteer

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Strewn across Kelly Draper's workroom are puppets in various stages of completion. Under a table, Draper has a box of round, red, rubber noses and plastic eyes. There are swatches of colorful cloth and sections of wood and wire stacked in corners.

The workshop is a flurry of activity this week as Draper hurries to finish 100 puppets before Saturday, when he and his puppeteers will present "A Day on the Loose with Dr. Seuss" at 8 p.m. at the amphitheater. The Saturday performance is one of a series of Starlight Specials.

Draper must do more than build the puppets. He must give them character and make them believable to the audience.

He said, "A puppet is an inanimate object that a person gives life to. It might be a doll, a mop or a feather boa, but it has to have life before it can be a puppet."

Draper has been "giving life" to puppets for several years. The 30-year-old, who owns Faye's Flowers, majored in drama at South West Texas State University

10 years since Nixon's fall

Ten years ago today, a typed letter was delivered to the secretary of state. "I hereby resign the Office of President of the United States," it said.

It was signed: "Sincerely, Richard Nixon."

The one-sentence note marked the end of a remarkable period in American history in which an American president tried to hide White House involvement in a squalid burglary, got caught at it, and was finally forced from office as scandal after scandal was opened to public scrutiny.

"It is hard to believe that 10 years ago Mr. Nixon resigned his presidency," Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y., told the House of Representatives on Wednesday. "I think it's appropriate that we take time to reflect on those 10 years because it gives us an indication of what is right with this country and what is wrong."

What is right, Downey said, "is that we proved ourselves to be a nation of laws and not of men, that no individual was exempt from the law and that if

Man killed on I-20

Staff reports

A 63-year-old Anaheim, Calif., man became the fourth person to die of injuries from area automobile accidents in 11 days, when he died Wednesday morning at a Lubbock hospital of injuries he suffered in an early Wednesday accident in Big Spring.

James Mickey Roberts, 63, died at 8:43 a.m. Wednesday after treatment for multiple trauma at Lubbock General Hospital, according to a Lubbock General spokeswoman. Roberts arrived at the hospital at 7:40 a.m., after being transferred from Malone-Hogan Hospital in Big Spring, according to the spokeswoman.

According to a Department of Public Safety report, Roberts was crossing the south service road of Interstate 20 near the Refinery Road overpass inside city limits when he was struck by a 1976 Dodge driven by James Cecil Coffman, 76, of Big Spring.

The accident occurred about 3:30 a.m. Wednesday, when Roberts "ran into the path of the vehicle," according to the report by DPS officer Bill Cooper.

More rainfall coming

Staff reports

Menacing clouds that swept into the Big Spring area Wednesday afternoon dropped little rain on the city, but areas to the south of the county reported up to an inch of precipitation.

Rain continued throughout the afternoon in the Forsan area, according to reports there. Superintendent of the Forsan Independent School District, J.W. Poyner, said about 7 of an inch of rain fell in Forsan by about 5 p.m. In other areas of the county's south side, residents were reporting steady, hard rains and more than an inch of precipitation.

However, as has been the pattern in recent weeks, other sections of the county received smaller amounts of rainfall. The U.S. Big Spring Field Station, located on the north service road of Interstate 20, reported .06 of an inch of rain for Wednesday. That brings the official total up to 2.79. Normal to date is 11.13 inches.

The forecast calls for a 50 percent chance of continued rain today, with highs predicted to rise into the lower 80s. By tonight, chances increase to 70 percent.

A plastic Iron Maiden

LONDON — It wasn't so easy to tell at first glance which was which as Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher gazed at her new likeness in Madame Tussaud's wax museum here Wednesday.

Both carried navy handbags and wore pearls and a silver brooch. The wax statue wore an embroidered navy blue, frill-necked chiffon dress. Mrs. Thatcher, 58, turned up for the private viewing in a similar navy dress but hers sported white spots.

The look-alike's eyes are fixed in a relentless stare on the figure of opposition leader Neil Kinnock, standing across a crowded room, much as Mrs. Thatcher herself might be seen doing.

"It makes me look very nice — better than the last one," the prime minister said of the statue, which replaces one made in 1980.

WEWAK — Prince Charles had to make a rare apology for not being properly attired when he took part in a ceremony in New Guinea on Wednesday.

The prince, on a two-day tour of Papua New Guinea, was conferring a royal title on the national defense force's Pacific Islands Regiment, of which his mother, Queen Elizabeth II, had named him colonel-in-chief.

The prince asked to be excused for showing up dressed as colonel-in-chief of the 2nd Gurkhas, made up of the ethnic Nepalese who serve in the British army.

"I am only sorry that as her majesty's approval was given only last week I was unable to procure the correct uniform in time," Charles said. "I hope that I am therefore to be excused for being improperly dressed on my first parade with the regiment."

Family feud fuels rampage in Massachusetts

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP) — Nearly 80 police surrounded two blocks of this factory town today, keeping an uneasy peace after scores of young men went on a five-hour arson and rock-throwing rampage that left at least 13 people hurt.

A liquor store and two apartments were heavily damaged after being firebombed and a bar was ransacked in the disturbance, which began Wednesday night and was put down by dozens of city police and helmeted state troopers wielding clubs, authorities said today.

"They were going crazy up there," Deputy Fire Chief Al DeCelle said. "They were throwing firebombs all over the street."

Young men pelted the police and firefighters with rocks and tossed firebombs in the Tower Hill section, a densely populated area that is home to poor blacks, whites and Hispanics, said city Police Capt. Frank Foley.

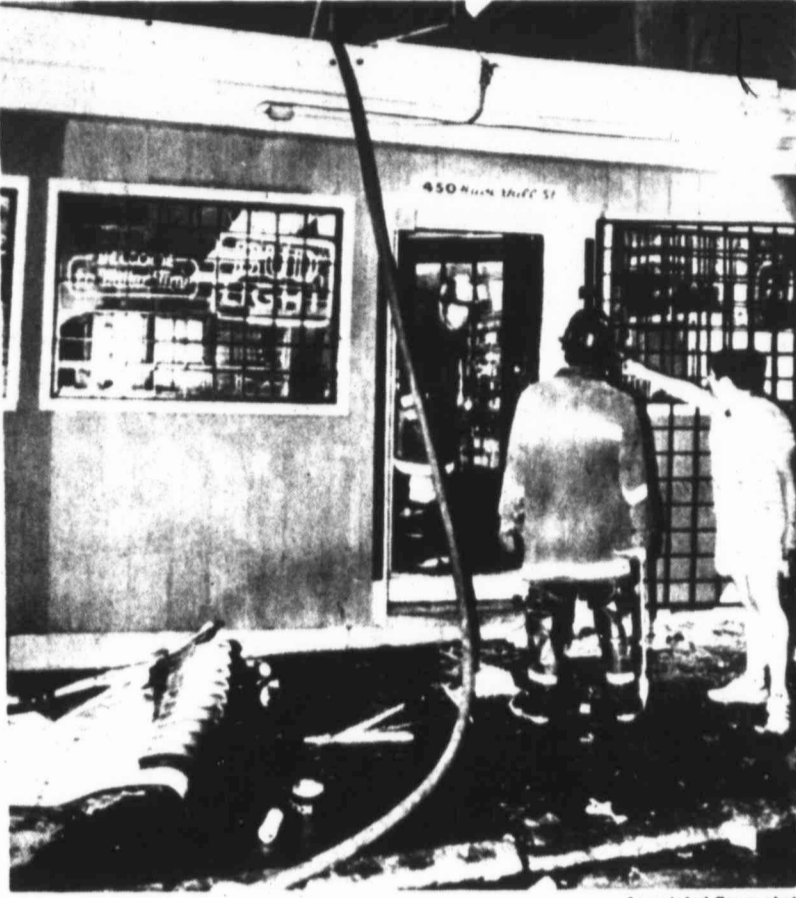

Police said 13 people were taken to Lawrence General Hospital. Seven had been shot, and two of them were seriously wounded. One person was treated for a knife wound and five were treated for injuries caused by flying debris.

Authorities said they had no definite idea what sparked the violence in the northern Massachusetts city of 63,000 people, but they were investigating the possibility that it began as an argument between two families.

Police Capt. Samuel Aliano said, "It all started over a broken window, I understand. One family alleged another broke a window. One fellow came out with a baseball bat and swung it. One thing led to another."

The dispute was between a Hispanic family and a white family, he said, but "I wouldn't really call it racial." A member of one of the families was taken into protective custody, he said.

Foley estimated at least 100 participants and bystanders were in the streets during the rampage. Three people were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct, the police said. Another man was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and harassing a police dog.

Aliano said a man believed to have been involved in the initial disturbance was taken into protective custody at headquarters.

Investigators had not determined who fired the shots that caused the injuries.

Police surrounded the neighborhood after the disturbance, and made plans to walk through the scene of the violence later today.

"Our main concern is containing the situation and keeping it contained," said Foley. "It's explosive. We cordoned off the block

French reject referendum

PARIS — The opposition-controlled Senate early today overwhelmingly rejected Socialist President Francois Mitterrand's proposal to amend the Constitution and allow popular referendums on matters of "public freedom."

Justice Minister Robert Badinter had argued before the Senate that such referendums would give the public more control over issues of civil liberties. But opponents called the proposal "dangerous" and a "political maneuver."

UK to help clear Red Sea

CAIRO — Britain has agreed to join the United States in clearing mines from heavily traveled Red Sea shipping lanes where explosions have damaged at least 13 ships in the past few weeks.

The United States, responding to an Egyptian request, is dispatching special helicopters to the Red Sea to drag the waterway with devices designed to detect and destroy mines. The helicopters are expected to arrive by early next week, along with a U.S. support ship.

2 teens jailed in hijacking

ROME — Two Iranian teen-agers identified as foes of their country's Islamic regime were in prison today after freeing about 300 passengers from an airliner they had hijacked. Police said their only weapon was a knife.

Police identified the hijackers as Hosein Eftekhari, 18, and Mohsem Rahgozhar, 17, both of Tehran. About 280 of the passengers were Moslem pilgrims who had boarded the Iran Air flight in Tehran bound for the holy cities of Mecca and Medina in Saudi Arabia.

Iraq claims jet attack

BAGHDAD — Iraq claimed its warplanes attacked a ship in the Persian Gulf near Iran's Kharg Island oil terminal at dawn today, the second such attack reported in 48 hours.

However, shipping sources in the gulf region said no distress signals had been picked up to confirm the Iraqi claim.

Rebels ambush patrol

SAN SALVADOR — Leftist rebels ambushed a military patrol in northern El Salvador and killed three national guardsmen, a military source said, while thousands of soldiers continued anti-guerrilla sweeps in four other provinces.

The official said the ambush occurred in San Vicente province near Santo Domingo, 46 miles north of the capital, on Wednesday. He said he had no information on guerrilla casualties.

Jetliner narrowly misses collision with small plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Delta Air Lines jetliner carrying 146 people came within 30 to 50 feet of colliding with a twin-engine airplane over northern Virginia, Federal Aviation Administration officials said.

FAA spokesman Ed Pinto said the pilot of the Boeing 727, bound for Atlanta after taking off from Washington National Airport, saw the small aircraft just above the jetliner about 12:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

"He took no evasive action but just slowed down and it was over," Pinto said.

The incident occurred at about 14,000 feet while the Delta jet was climbing to 27,000 feet, said another FAA spokesman, Fred Farrar. It happened about 30 miles southwest of Dulles International Airport, which is west of Washington, as the three-engine jetliner was heading southwest and the smaller craft was heading north-northwest.

Pinto said Delta flight 457 was in contact with air traffic controllers at Leesburg, Va., but that the small plane was not in radio contact with any control tower.

The near-collision was the fourth in the Washington area in the past 10 days. The first three involved planes approaching Baltimore-Washington International Airport.

Farrar said that when flying between 12,500 and 18,000 feet, a pilot such as the one in the small-engine plane must have a transponder operating which gives a picture of an aircraft on a radar screen and provides the plane's altitude to a traffic controller.

Carson sues Enquirer for $51 million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Tonight Show" host Johnny Carson has filed a $51 million lawsuit alleging the National Enquirer knowingly printed false information about him and his divorce battle in a June article.

The civil suit filed Wednesday in Superior Court also said the Enquirer misappropriated Carson's name and likeness in the article headlined "Johnny Settles — Huge Payoff for Joanna as Bitter Divorce Battle Ends."

"They continue to print those inaccuracies and something has to be done about it," said Jim Mahoney, a spokesman for Carson.

The suit alleged the article falsely said that "the divorce war is over" and that Joanna Carson would receive $32 million to $42 million under the purported settlement.

According to court papers, the tabloid article said "the deal was hammered out behind closed doors" and that Mrs. Carson would get Carson's Bel-Air mansion.

Nixon resignation expected

 you violate it, the very foundations of our Republic, you would be punished as Richard Nixon was."

What is wrong, he added, "is that we have a collective amnesia as a nation ... Richard Nixon has made a remarkable comeback. Forgotten are the things that he did to this nation."

Nixon, the successful author of four books since his resignation, has gone from self-imposed exile to sought-after speaker; from a pariah shunned by his party to fund-raiser; from president who felt it necessary to proclaim "I am not a crook" to oracle on foreign policy.

All this was impossible to foresee on Aug. 9, 1974, when Nixon said goodbye to his staff and friends and left the White House with a final, defiant, V-for-victory gesture.

At noon that day, taking the oath of an office to which he had not been elected, Gerald Ford, proclaimed: "Our long national nightmare is over. Our Constitution works. Our great republic is a government of laws and not of men."

He asked that the country confirm him with its prayers. And he asked for prayers for Nixon. "May our former president who brought peace to millions find it for himself," Ford said.

Nixon was halfway across the country — over Missouri — when the office passed to his successor. In the nation's capital, the pressure that had built all week was finally relieved.

Privately, Nixon talked about "the countdown to resignation."

It began on Monday, Aug. 5, when the president — under orders from the Supreme Court to give up more tapes of White House conversations — admitted he had lied to everyone, even to his own lawyers, about his involvement in the Watergate cover-up. Three of those tapes constituted "the smoking gun" impeachment advocates had looked for.

They had a devastating effect on Nixon's support in Congress. Even congressmen who had voted against a committee resolution calling for his impeachment said it would be "in the national interest" if Nixon left the White House.

On Tuesday, Nixon told his Cabinet that his quitting had to be seen as his own decision and not one forced by public pressure or consensus of his staff.

On Wednesday, he met with three congressional leaders of the Republican Party, who told him he could count on only 16 votes in the Senate if there were an impeachment trial. "I don't have many alternatives, do I?" Nixon recalls saying.

On Thursday, at noon, he met with Ford — the vice president appointed to take the place of Spiro T. Agnew, who resigned in disgrace a year earlier — and said he would quit the next day. Ford left the office in tears.

The entire country paused to hear Nixon's speech that evening. "In the past few days," said Nixon, speaking from the Oval Office, "it has become evident to me that I no longer have a strong enough political base in the Congress ... I have never been a quitter. To leave office before my term is completed is abhorrent to every instinct in my body."

But, he said, he had to put the interests of the country first; that to fight out in the Senate would totally absorb the attention of both the president and the Congress. And so he would quit.

The last day, Aug. 9, was almost anti-climactic. With his wife, daughters and sons-in-law at his side, Nixon spoke in the East Room to his staff, Cabinet "and all our friends here."

He talked about his father and mother — "he was a great man, because he did his job ... my mother was a saint." And he spoke of himself. "Only if you have been in the deepest valley can you ever know how magnificent it is to be on the highest mountain," he said.

The resignation note had been presented to Nixon for signature the night before.

It was delivered to Henry Kissinger, the secretary of state, when Nixon was airborne. Kissinger marked on the note the time he received it, 11:35 a.m. and initialed it. There was nothing to add.

KKK draws city's attention

LUFKIN (AP) — The rental of the Lufkin Civic Center by the Ku Klux Klan last month has spurred city commissioners to pass a resolution giving the city manager and chief of police authority to deny rentals to groups likely to incite violence.

The unanimous resolution also calls for any civic center renter to pay, in advance, for any extra police protection the rental might cause.

"We're not necessarily trying to direct it at the Ku Klux Klan. Of course, the question came up because of them," said City Attorney Robert Flournoy, drafter of Tuesday's resolution.

There was a public outcry after the KKK rented the civic center July 14 to show a film. Lufkinites protested that the group shouldn't be allowed on city property, while others said it would be a violation of the First Amendment to deny the KKK access.

U.S. Rep. Charles Wilson sparked commission discussion of the rental policy. Before the commission's last meeting, he offered the assistance of his office in finding ways to prevent future rentals to the KKK. At that last meeting the commission instructed Flournoy to investigate legal options.

Since the KKK's rental of the civic center, the Klan has said it would apply for a parade permit, although it has yet to do so formally.

Commissioner Louis Bronaugh suggested that a similar ordinance be drafted for parades, and the city attorney said he would study the matter.

Senate breaks logjam on top spending bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted on Wednesday to break a Democrat-led filibuster protesting the failure of Congress to pass a 1985 budget, breaking a logjam that had threatened to hold up action on vital spending bills.

The 68-30 vote cleared the way for Senate action later this week on a farm-program spending bill.

Wednesday's vote came on a motion by Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker Jr., R-Tenn., invoking "cloture," a parliamentary device that limits further debate on a piece of legislation to no more than one hour per senator. It remained unclear whether Democrats would launch similar delaying tactics against seven other 1985 spending bills now pending before the Senate.

The week-long filibuster was led by Sen. Lawton Chiles of Florida, the ranking Democrat on the Senate Budget Committee.

Chiles said he constructed the roadblock to dramatize his opposition to handling the spending bill — or any other — without congressional approval of a budget blueprint.

GOP pushes El Salvador aid measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican-controlled Senate braced for a fight Wednesday over President Reagan's plea for $117 million to spend in the next two months to bolster El Salvador's army in its civil war with Marxist-led insurgents. "My intention is to defend that number, and I am fairly optimistic," said Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn.

But Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, said he would offer an amendment to strip out all money for the Salvadoran military, which has already received $126 million in U.S. aid for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., announcing he would support such an amendment, said, "I am aware of no evidence that suggests that the armed forces of El Salvador can absorb or wisely use this kind of assistance in this short space of time."

Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., one of five members of the Foreign Relations Committee who were briefed by administration officials Tuesday, said they were told the money would be spent for such purposes as training, logistics and medical supplies.

Biden said the senators also were told that if the fiscal 1984 supplement was not granted, the administration would be reluctant to channel 1985 funds into these purposes because the money would be needed for ammunition instead.

The additional Salvadoran assistance is part of a $6.9 billion emergency spending measure that also contains $700 million for food stamps, $447 million for the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, $175 million for food relief abroad and funds for a variety of other domestic and foreign programs.

The House has passed its version of the bill, which is $1.5 billion smaller than the proposed Senate measure and provides no funds for the Salvadoran military.

Baker was pressing for final Senate action late Wednesday night or early Thursday, in order to get the measure through a House-Senate conference committee by the end of the week. Congress is scheduled to recess Friday until Sept. 6.

Baker, asked whether administration supporters would encounter trouble steering the funds through the conference committee, said, "Absolutely, but we will just have to deal with one thing at a time."

A Republican congressional source, speaking on condition he not be identified, said the White House believes it can obtain "some funding level on El Salvador" from the conference committee despite the House's refusal.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a frequent critic of what he considers excessive government spending, told the Senate on Tuesday that he will vote against the bill as a whole.

Dr. Donohue

Abnormal milk production

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been leaking milk from my breasts for more than two years, and they have doubled in size. When it first started, I had tests run — X-ray and blood tests. The doctors said everything seemed normal. In the last three months the leaking started again, like crazy in the right one. I wear nursing pads, but that doesn't seem to help. I just remember the doctor telling me it was nothing and would go away. But it hasn't. What should I do? — D.F.

You should go back to your doctor now. One cause of breast milk production at times when the woman is not nursing is a disorder of the pituitary gland, which is where milk-producing hormone is made. Often, even with every sensitive tests, a problem cannot be spotted right away, so tests have to be repeated time and again before they will show positive. So even though your first tests were negative two years ago, you have to go back.

There are, of course, other causes of abnormal milk production. One is breast stimulation, even that from the chafing of a bra. Certain drugs can cause it, as can disorders of the thyroid and adrenal glands. An ovary disorder can cause it. Two years is too long to go without an explanation. And the increase of breast size, which you mention, is an even more com-elling reason to seek advice again.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Will the disc-dissolving medicine, chymopapain, help dissolve a spur on the spine? — J.N.

No. It has its action on a protruding spinal disc material, which is different from bone spur material. In fact, a bone spur may co-exist with a protruded disc, and if so the dissolving technique might not effectively eliminate pain.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The Hulls gather in Stanton

The S.L. and Gussie Hull family reunion was held at the Community Center in Stanton, Aug. 5.

The Hulls moved to Howard County in 1906 and had three girls and eight boys. Eight of the children are deceased. Surviving children are Floyd Hull, Earl Hull and Leona Baugh, all of Big Spring.

They all attended the reunion.

More than 100 people attended the reunion. Also, attending from Big Spring were Pete Hull, Ted Hull, Bufford Hull and Helen Worthan. Bill Hull, Bertha Stewart, Oleta Reynolds, Daylene Baugh, and Roxy Coggins, all of Stanton, were in attendance.

Dear Abby

Woman walks away from therapy

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you two years ago when I was having a midlife crisis. I signed myself "Fat and Forty." You said, "Get counseling," so I took your advice and here's what happened:

I saw four psychologists. The first one tried to talk me into going to bed with him. He said it would be good "therapy" for which I was supposed to pay him.

The second one (a woman) told me if I wanted to be fulfilled as a woman, I should quit my job and have babies before it was too late.

The third therapist was also in a midlife crisis, and he kept telling me his troubles.

The fourth one wanted me to get high with him.

None of these counselors was cheap, and they were all recommended by a reliable source.

I'm still going through a midlife crisis, but I just wanted you to know that counseling isn't the answer for everybody.

Sign me ...

STILL FAT (BUT FORTY-TWO)

DEAR F. AND F.: After four lemons, I don't blame you for being soured on counseling. If you're still going through a mid-life crisis, I stand by my original advice. Get counseling. But this time seek a referral through your county mental health association.

It is imperative that you report the unethical conduct of the four therapists to the professional association that licensed them to practice. And also tell the "reliable" source who recommended them that they were anything but reliable.

DEAR ABBY: My brother was recently married in a church wedding. During the service, three times the minister made a reference to the "long and loving marriage of the bride's parents." And each time, he implored the young couple to follow the shining example set by the parents of the bride.

No mention was made of the groom's parents, who had also had a long and loving marriage until death parted them a short time ago.

My mother, still a grieving widow, was deeply hurt by this omission, and at the third mention of the "long and loving marriage of the bride's parents, my mother, my sister and I were reduced to tears. Later, in private, and with the hopes of sparing some future parents a similar hurt, we explained our feelings to the minister.

Although my father was not physically present at the wedding, he was present in the hearts of all of us. Death does not invalidate 32 years of love and caring.

My question: Was it improper for us to express our pain to the minister? Or do you think we were being oversensitive?

HURT IN DOWNERS GROVE, ILL.

DEAR HURT: It was not improper to have expressed your pain to the minister. I'm sure he learned a lesson he will not soon forget. (So will other clergymen who read this.) His "sin of omission" can be attributed to thoughtlessness and lack of preparation. He was obviously acquainted only with the bride's family and didn't bother to inquire about the family of the groom. It was an unfortunate oversight.

Wheeler family plans reunion

Descendants of the John R. Wheeler family will have a reunion at Dora Roberts Community Center in Comanche Trail Park, Aug. 10-11. Also attending the reunion will be the Ashley, Simmon and Graham families.

Wheeler turned the first farm land in Howard County. Along with R.V. Guthrie he also marked off the Coahoma School District, surveyed and set up a tax base for its support. The Wheelers were charter members of the first Baptist church of Howard County. The Wheelers had 10 children: Newt, Low, Bob, Henry, George, Callie, Della, Dave, Estele and Joe.

Those planning to attend the reunion will be from California, Alabama, Georgia, West Virginia, Tennessee, Arkansas and Texas. Activities will include a bingo, a covered dish luncheon, a watermelon feast, a talent show, a dance and a handicraft auction.

Producer directs future of Lone Star movies

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Film production may be thriving now in Texas, but the Academy Award-winning producer of "Terms of Endearment" and "Sylvester" says competition from other states will become fierce in five years if other talents are not cultivated in the Lone Star State.

"If we are really to become regional, we must develop additional creative talents, such as writing, directing, acting and producing, for theatrical films," Martin Jurow said in a telephone interview from Marfa.

"In the next five years, I think the competition from other states will grow stronger and more severe. But those crews we have developed in Dallas, they are a key."

Jurow, who has his headquarters in Dallas, is currently overseeing production in Marfa of "Sylvester" starring Melissa Gilbert and Richard Farnsworth. He and director Tim Hunter will be filming there and in Alpine through early August.

In "Sylvester," Jurow said he has found story elements similar to those in "Terms of Endearment," which may stand as Jurow's highest achievement in a producing career that has included "Breakfast at Tiffany's" and "The Hanging Tree."

The film swept last year's Academy Awards, earning Oscars for Best Picture, screenwriter-director James Brooks and actors Shirley MacLaine and Jack Nicholson. It also grossed more than $100 million in domestic film rentals.

"Terms" proved to be a critical and commercial success because of a storyline that emphasized people over special effects, Jurow said.

"I guess what it means is that you're probably a little more inclined to study those films that are packed with human emotions and human relationships, as a contrast to the spectacular shows of 'Gremlins' and 'Ghostbusters,'" he said. "All power to those (films), but at the same time, what a wonderful feeling that the emotions and interrelationships between people still gives you the opportunity for big grosses around the world."

"Sylvester" has a contemporary western flavor to it, Jurow said, but the story is also concerned with the growth of a young woman's character. He feels this will become a "key theme of the '80s."

The human values prevalent in "Sylvester" and "Terms of Endearment" should be stressed in all Texas productions, Jurow emphasized.

"If we do not have a continuity in family, work, effort and abilities, then we're losing a great deal. We want that continuity established in Texas productions, not only to induce more work, but also to cultivate our own talents."

Jurow has used Texas as the setting for his last two movies before "Sylvester." Portions of "Terms" were filmed in Houston, and "Waltz Across Texas," starring Anne Archer and Farnsworth, was set in the Midland-Odessa area. An untitled project for 1985 will be filmed in the Dallas area, he said.

DA's check rejected by store

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — In San Antonio, where hot checks are a continuing problem for merchants, you need the proper identification to write a check even if you're the local law.

District Attorney Sam Millsap discovered this recently when he attempted to make a purchase as a San Antonio store, a member of his staff told a group attending a seminar on hot checks Tuesday.

Millsap tried to write a check for the item he wanted, but could not produce his driver's license for identification.

The store clerk refused to accept any other identifying documents and when Millsap showed his work identification card to prove who he was, the man replied, "Right, and I'm the Easter Bunny."

Millsap's wife, who had remembered her driver's license, paid for the goods.

Robert Castaneda, chief of the check section of the district attorney's office, told the seminar that last year his office handled 39,000 bad checks valued at $2.25 million.

Forsan High School standout Lorri Roman, who finished second in the Class A 800 meters at the girls state track meet, will continue that event and cross country as well with the recent announcement that she signed a track scholarship with Ranger Junior College.

Roman will also be accorded several academic scholarships in lieu of graduating as salutatorian at FHS.

Big Spring bull rider Wacey Cathey continues to be listed among the top money winners on the PRCA circuit. Cathey is ranked 13th in the world with earnings near $26,000 thus far in 1984.

When the Big Spring Cardinals whipped the Hobbs Cobras in two straight games for the New Mexico-West Texas League baseball championship there were several heroes in addition to series clinching pitcher Frankie Rubio who contributed a homer in game two and was voted the MVP of the league for the second straight year.

In game one, taken by the Cards, 17-5, the Cards banged out 18 hits that included homeruns by Orlando Olague, Sam Rodriguez and Arthur Olague. Jinx Valenzuela was the winning pitcher and ended the season at 7-1.

Game two, won by Big Spring, 5-0, saw the Cards post eight hits that counted Rubio's homerun. Rubio finished the year with a 12-1 record on the mound.

Orlando Olague in right field, Rodriguez at shortstop, Robert Rubio in center and Arthur Olague at third are Cards named to the All-League team.

In other news from the baseball diamond:

Seven more former Howard College Hawks have inked with or been asked to try out for large college and university teams, bringing the total of players off HC's second edition to 12 as far as those continuing their baseball playing days.

Shortstop Stephon Hodge (Texas A&M); Bobby Behnsch (Texas) and Blake Rosson (North Alabama) were the first three soon after the Hawks completed their year at the State Juco Tournament.

Following in their footsteps are catcher Gary Carr to Schreiner, pitcher Dave Rodriguez to UTA, pitcher Bryan Robbins to Oral Roberts, leftfielder Doug Hatch to McNeese State, pitcher Kevin Sturdy to North Alabama, pitcher Mo Rubio to Southwestern University and outfielder John Friesenhahn to Southwestern also. Gaining invitations in the hope of making the Aggies roster are outfielder Jeff Hodges and pitcher John Wilson.

Bowling is starting to make a few rumbling noises on the local sports scene again as evidenced by the SWABA Handicap Bowling Tournament held last weekend.

From a field 89 entries, Angie Foster topped all comers with a 653 score in the finals. Hugh Kerby was second at 651, followed by Jack Griffin's 644, Sharon Horton's 643 and Joey McMahan's 629.

In recent fishing action at Central Texas' Lake Whitney, two pairs of Big Springers fared rather well.

Mr. and Mrs. George Walker and Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop, brought in 105 sandies on jigs.

Lewis leads 1-2-3 sweep in 200

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Carl Lewis lunges and Greg Louganis plunges, they inevitably come up No. 1.

Lewis, still running in high gear on the road Jesse Owens traveled 48 years ago in Berlin, dove across the finish line Wednesday to lead a 1-2-3 United States sweep in the 200-meter sprint and win the third of his prospective four gold medals. Saturday he anchors the 400 relay.

Louganis, expectedly running away from the field in the three-meter springboard diving, set his sights on Sunday's platform competition.

Daley Thompson of Britain led Jurgen Hingsen of West Germany 4,663-4,519 entering today's final day of the decathlon.

Valerie Brisco-Hooks is seeking a double also. Brisco-Hooks won the 400 Monday night. Tonight she goes for the 200 gold.

MILERS GO DIFFERENT ROUTES

South African-born Sydney Maree of Philadelphia withdrew from today's 1,500 meters because of a hamstring pull. Steve Ovett of Britain, hospitalized with bronchitis after Monday's 800 said he would announce early today whether he'd run the 1,500.

The United States finished 1-3 in Wednesday's springboard, Ron Merriott of Ann Arbor, Mich., getting the bronze. And Americans were 1-3 in the men's 400 — but in an unexpected order.

Antonio McKay of Atlanta figured to battle Jamaican Bert Cameron for the gold. Just before the final, Cameron pulled out with a pulled muscle. In the race itself, Alonzo Babers pulled away to win, leaving McKay third.

The United States defeated

Canada twice, 78-59 in men's basketball as Chris Mullin of St. John's University scored 20 points, and 15-6, 15-10, 15-7 in men's volleyball. Each now goes for gold, the basketball team against Spain Friday night, the volleyball team against Brazil Saturday night.

Judi Brown of East Lansing, Mich., won silver in the women's 400 hurdles, finishing behind Nawal El Moutawakil of Morocco; five U.S. boxers advanced to the semifinals; Mike Tully got the pole vault silver, finishing second to Pierre Quinon of France, and Earl Bell shared bronze.

Robert Berland became the first U.S. medalist ever in Olympic judo, winning the middleweight silver after being defeated by gold medalist Peter Seisenbacher of Austria; Mario Martinez ed was second to Dinko Lukim of Australia in super heavyweightlifting.

LEWIS BREAKS SILENCE

Lewis didn't break Italian Pietro Mennea's world record of 19.72 seconds in the 200, finishing in an Olympic-record 19.80 to beat silver medalist Kirk Baptiste of Beaumont, Texas, and third-place finisher Thomas Jefferson. But he did break the back of the hostility directed at him earlier by the Memorial Coliseum crowd, and then he broke his silence.

"I think the most important thing for me is to win as many gold medals as I possibly can, because that's what people are going to remember from these Games, how well the American team did," said Lewis, who had refused in previous days to talk following his competition.

He hadn't tried for a world record Monday night in the long jump and many in the crowd reacted angrily. "When I got the boos, at first it was shocking," he said, "but then I wasn't really disappointed."

And on Wednesday, neither was the crowd of 80,909, cheering him and his teammates as they circled the track in victory, celebrating the first 1-2-3 U.S. finish in the event since 1956. "Our whole goal here was to sweep the event," Lewis said. Mennea, incidentally, finished seventh.

Louganis fell short of his goal of 800 points in the springboard.

finishing with 754.41 to the 661.32 by Tan Liangde of China. But Louganis said he wasn't disappointed. "Records can be broken any time," the 1976 Olympic platform silver medalist said, "but gold medals are hard to come by. It meant a lot to get a gold here. It was something missing in my career. The platform is another goal and if I don't obtain it my life is still full."

Babers was third coming out of the turn in the 400, then turned on the jets to sweep to victory in 44.27, beating Gabriel Tiacoh, whose silver gave the Ivory Coast its first Olympic medal ever.

"I felt really sorry for Antonio, felt sorry for everybody out there who didn't win," Babers said. "I know everybody wanted to win that race as much as I did."

Mark Breland of Brooklyn, N.Y., led the parade of U.S. boxers into the semis with a first-round knockout of Mexico's Genaro Leon in a 147-pound bout.

Mac Wilkins of Eugene, Ore., led Wednesday's qualifying in the discus with a throw of 216 feet, 1 inch.

Akeem signs dream contract

HOUSTON (AP) — Akeem Olajuwon is $6 million richer, Houston Rockets owner Charlie Thomas is poorer by the same amount and Coach Bill Fitch is ready to go to work.

"It's not sweat-proof," Fitch cautioned Wednesday as he presented Olajuwon with a No. 34 Rockets jersey after the National Basketball Association's No. 1 draftee signed a six-year pact.

Olajuwon, who led the University of Houston Cougars to NCAA Final Four appearances in each of the past three years, blurted in reply: "I am very proud to be a Houston Rocket."

And so, history repeated itself two years in a row. In 1983, in the same room of Thomas' restaurant, the Rockets inked No. 1 draftee Ralph Sampson to a four-year, $5.3 million contract.

Rockets officials declined comment on terms of Olajuwon's contract and would not compare it to Sampson's, but Olajuwon is believed to be in line to earn about $6.3 million over the next six years if he fulfills all bonus requirements.

General Manager Ray Patterson didn't even want to compare the excitement of signing Olajuwon to the rush he felt when he put Sampson in a Rockets uniform. He was just happy.

"It's unbelievable," Patterson said. "If you set out to invent three people with the temperament and physical abilities to complement each other, you couldn't get three better to go together than these guys," Patterson said.

He referred to Olajuwon, Sampson and former Louisville star Rodney McCray, the Rockets' other first-round pick last year.

Houston, trying to rebuild after consecutive disastrous seasons, took one giant step forward.

"All the steps we have taken before would have been diminished if we had not taken this step," Patterson said. "There never has been a stronger young front line in the history of the NBA and you can check that out."

Olajuwon, who skipped his final year of eligibility with the Cougars, said he looked forward to playing on the same team with Sampson.

FINALLY A ROCKET — Akeem Olajuwon, the number one pick in the NBA draft, was finally signed to a six year contract with the Houston Rockets. Olajuwon holds the jersey he will be wearing as he joins the rookies in training.

West Texas State checking options on conference shift

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — As one of the dwindling southwestern teams in the Missouri Valley Conference, West Texas State University will withdraw from the league no later than the spring of 1986.

West Texas State will compete in the MVC this season, with an option for the 1985-86 season. The school has been a member of the conference since 1970, and is the sixth to withdraw in the past 11 years.

"All of us felt, inevitably, that West Texas State would seek and find another conference alignment with schools that are compatible," Don Davis, athletic director and head football coach, said after the school's Board of Regents approved the move unanimously on Wednesday. "I think in a lot of ways, West Texas State has experienced a number of disappointments with the Missouri Valley Conference. I don't think there are any major reasons, but rather it's more a culmination of minor dissatisfactions with our position."

The possibility of West Texas State's withdrawal from the MVC became greater a year ago when New Mexico State dropped out to join the Pacific Coast Athletic Association.

Budd posts only fourth best time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fourth best qualifying time for Friday night's finals. And at least one of the other 11 finalists wasn't sure she had seen the real Zola Budd. Controversy and mystery have swirled around the tiny teen-ager ever since she created a big stir of international intrigue. But after her first race on a U.S. track, Britain's best-known new citizen kept her thoughts to herself and her Olympic opponents in the women's 5,000-meter run in the dark. She declined to talk to reporters Wednesday night after posting the heat and the three with the next fastest times make the finals. Even if Budd, who came in third in the heat in which Bremser finished second, was conserving her energy, Bremser did detect some disadvantages that the newcomer might face. "This has to be a tough situation for her," said Bremser. "For the first time (she's) really running with people with her the whole way and she never really had to kick before because she was always way ahead. "She hasn't had that and maybe it doesn't bother her. Maybe she can block it out, but I would think that would be something real hard to get used to," Bremser added. "She can't be as prepared as some of us are running with groups.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, AUGUST 10, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime will find you with all kinds of openings for whatever your greatest talents happen to be, so get at them and get the benefits that will accrue from such activity.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can carry through with your ideas and get good results, but in the P.M. plan how to get rid of stumbling blocks in your path.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you tackle your career work in an original manner, you can accomplish a good deal today, also learn a lot. Be grateful.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study how best to make progress in your career and quickly put good ideas to work. Steer clear of that bland newcomer.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) More up-to-date system of handling practical matters can make a difference now. Take more time to please your loved one.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal day to take a more modern stance where some agreement is concerned and revise it to your advantage. Drive carefully.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study your newspaper for mechanisms you need in order to make your place of business or home more functional.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You may get a fine invitation today which should be accepted, though it may seem unusual to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find the right mechanisms that can make your home more functional and in good condition.

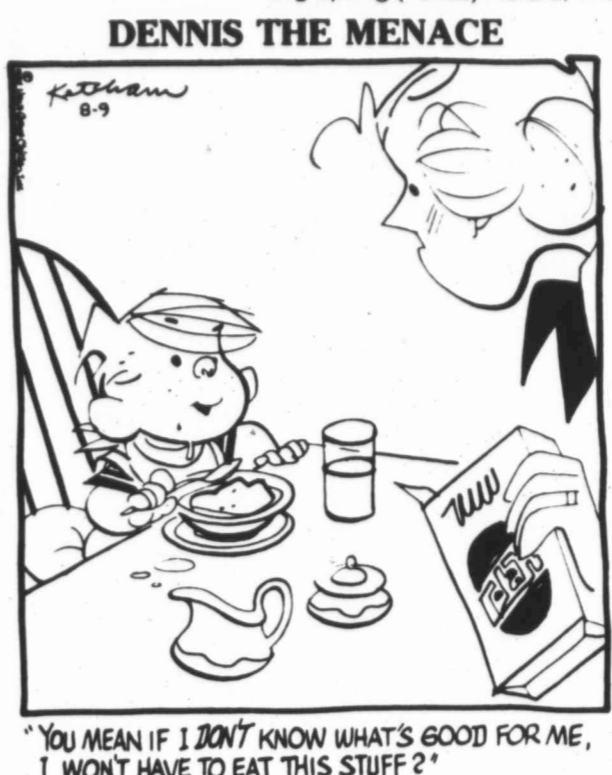

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show regular allies that you have brilliant ideas for making your daily activities more interesting and exciting.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Stop being so conservative and try to make everything around you more modern and streamlined. Be happy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You get some wonderful ideas in the daytime that you had better jot down so that you don't forget them later.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Forget old-fashioned ways and become more modern in your thinking and acting and get ahead faster now. Cut down expenses.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be quite different from the norm and you should not try to conform to others since this is a highly individualistic type of person who will be quiet and unobtrusive during childhood. But in adulthood, will suddenly come up with highly advanced ideas and could become a pioneer.

Homestead exemptions scrutinized

Board members for the Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal District Wednesday told oil man Cecil Gilstrap they "were working on" reducing the number of times county residents must file homestead exemption with the tax appraiser's office.

Near the end of the meeting, Gilstrap said he had talked to Austin attorneys, and told the board Pereira was requiring homestead exemptions be filed more than necessary, a complaint he has made at prior meetings.

State law requires that homestead exemptions only be filed once, but allows individual chief appraisers to use their own discretion in determining whether the exemptions should be filed more often.

Board members also accepted bids from three companies to appraise the district's mineral rights for 1985-86. Appraisal of the county's mineral rights is contracted out.

Capitol Appraisal Group Inc. of Austin, currently under contract to the district, submitted the low bid of $59,400 for 1985, and $62,400 for 1986, a total of $121,800.

Pritchard and Abbott Inc. of Odessa bid $62,500 each year, a total of $125,000. And Thomas Y. Pickett bid $71,850 a year, a total of $143,700.

50 protest Playboy Channel

AUSTIN (AP) - About 50 Austin residents appeared before the Austin Cable Commission on Wednesday night to protest the Playboy Channel on the pay channel lineup.

Mark Weaver of Citizens Against Pornography said the Playboy Channel "shows disgusting, perverted, degenerating sex. It incites people to go out and do things. I strongly suggest they reconsider showing porno movies and the Playboy Channel."

Comments from several speakers who protested the channel drew "amens" and applause from the audience.

The Playboy Channel was added as an additional pay channel last month, along with Showtime and the Disney Channel, as part of the new 54-channel service available to 50,000 homes in Central and East Austin. It is not beamed into any home unless the subscriber asks and pays for it.

"When you put something like this on, it doesn't just remain in the home. It's like a plague. It affects the entire community," Weaver said.

Scott Greenhill, Austin Cablevision vice president for adult affairs, said, "Playboy is sexy adult material, but it is not about bestiality or child sex. The Playboy Channel is not for everyone. We believe in freedom of choice. It cannot be out in your home unless you want it."

Cable Commission members made no comment on the speakers' remarks.
