Flood watches posted

By The Associated Press

A cold front pushed thunderstorms packing heavy rain across the East Coast on Saturday and more rain threatened flash flood-ravaged sections of New Mexico, where the governor declared one county in a state of emergency.

The nation's capital got 4.40 inches of rain Saturday morning while 2.05 inches fell at Lynchburg, Va., during the night. Thunderstorms also dumped 1.90 inches of rain at Wilmington, N.C., in an hour and a half.

Flash flood watches were issued for northern and western Virginia and over most of Maryland, including Washington.

The National Weather Service issued a flash flood watch for east-central and southern New Mexico until midnight Saturday, and southern Lincoln County was under a flash flood warning for part of the day.

Gov. Toney Anaya declared Lincoln County in a state of emergency Saturday, allowing relief from state agencies, and Anaya's press aide, David Roybal, said the National Guard was shipping 10,000 sandbags from Albuquerque to flood-threatened Ruidoso.

The normally quiet Rio Ruidoso rose to flood stage in the town in the south-central part of the state Thursday after being fed by about 5 inches of rain in five days, and threatened dozens of homes along its banks, said Frank Potter, assistant village manager.

"The ground is so saturated that every drop that falls goes right to the river," said village manager Jim Hine.

Police went door to door to homes in threatened areas along the river Saturday warning people to move to higher ground, and evacuation centers were set up at public buildings and a church.

Elsewhere in New Mexico, scattered roads were washed out or flooded.

Strong thunderstorms also continued over the South, with wind gusting to 60 mph at Fort Rucker, Ala., while nearly an inch of rain fell at Fort Worth.

Flash flood watches also were posted for parts of southwestern Texas.

Woman injured in crash

The Big Spring Police Department answered two major accident calls late Friday afternoon. Only person needed medical attention, according to police reports.

Maria Florida D. Porter of 1014 1/2 Sycamore was treated and released from Malone-Hogan Hospital after suffering injuries in a one-vehicle accident at 15th and Gregg at 7:48 p.m., reports said.

Officers also investigated a major accident on FM 700 and 11th Place East at 2:29 p.m., according to reports. Involved in the accident were Ava Crowley of Rt. 1 and Elijah Cole of 1002 W. Main. Crowley was taken to his residence by private car, reports said.

In other police reports: Officers arrested Israel Pacheco, 21, of 701 N. Douglas for fleeing from officers and for two outstanding traffic citations at 2:08 p.m., reports said. He was released on bond at 3:12 p.m., according to reports.

Donna Austin of 2102 Merrilly reported a theft of a $100 bill from her purse at 3:36 p.m., reports said. She told police two white male juveniles took the bill from her purse, reports said.

David Buenida, 20, of 1300 Stanford was arrested at 2200 Gregg for traffic warrants at 6:41 p.m., reports said. He was released at 7:35 p.m. on bond.

Audrey Dean Smith, 49, of Seminole was arrested at 6:43 p.m. 8 miles on West Highway 80 for suspicion of driving while intoxicated, reports said. He was transferred to county at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Officers arrested three people at Cuatro Copas, 3800 W. Highway 80, at 2:22 a.m., reports said. Arrested were Luis Soliz Flores, 60, for permitting consumption of alcoholic beverages on licensed premises during prohibited hours; Felisiano Zamora, 37, and Flora Gomez, 33, for consuming alcoholic beverages on licensed premises during prohibited hours, reports said.

Zamora of Knott and Gomez of 303 E. 11th bonded out at 3:36 a.m. Saturday. Flores was transferred to county at 9:15 a.m., reports said.

Officers arrested Kevin Jay Patterson, 25, of 601 Circle for suspicion of driving while license was suspended, reports said. He was arrested at 13th and Settles, according to reports. Patterson was transferred to county at 9:44 a.m. Saturday, reports said.

Branham Furniture, 1008 E. 3rd, reported a theft of a flatbed trailer valued at $800, reports said. The police answered the call at 10:35 a.m. and the robbery occurred between 5 p.m. Friday and 10:30 a.m. Saturday, reports said.

Sheriff's Log

1 held on murder warrant

The Howard County Sheriff's Department is holding a man on a warrant for a murder charge in New Mexico, according to sheriff's reports.

James Dale Meritt, 33, is in the county jail without bond. He was arrested by deputies at 8:15 a.m. Saturday at the Sandra Gale Apartments, 2911 W. Highway 80, according to reports.

In other sheriff reports: Deputies arrested Ramiro Lara, 30, of 3200 W. 8th on a peace bond, reports said. He was released on a $1,000 bond.

Helvia Rodriguez Halsup, 22, of 635 Mann Lane was arrested by deputies at 11:13 a.m. Saturday for issuance of bad checks, reports said. She was released on a $200 bond.

Luis Flores, 60, of Rt. 1 Box 87, was transferred to county and released on a $500 bond at 9:15 a.m., reports said.

Audrey Dean Smith, 49, of Seminole was transferred to county on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and released on a $1,000 bond at 9:25 a.m. Saturday, reports said.

Donald Rozelle, 24, of Oklahoma City was released to Oklahoma authorities Saturday at 9:45 a.m. on a charge of possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute, reports said. Kevin Jay Patterson, 25, of 601 Circle was transferred to county on a driving while license was suspended charge and released on a $500 bond at 10:15 a.m. Saturday, reports said.

Man indicted in TV kidnap

AUSTIN — A man who used a 9mm pistol to seize a hostage and demand air time on KVUE-TV last month has been indicted on a charge of aggravated kidnapping.

Walter Sauder II is charged with abducting Denise Hodgson, a 34-year-old control room employee at the station, "with intent to use (her) as a shield and hostage."

Ms. Hodgson was ordered to sit in Sauder's lap as he read a political statement he had written.

The event was videotaped by the station but was not aired live, as Sauder had demanded. Sauder, a 30-year-old San Antonio native who had lived in Austin less than a month before the July 19 incident, was tricked by station employees into thinking the statement was being shown live.

Agency officials are not disheartened by the poor results so far, Blackburn said, because they do not have strict time constraints. The agency board has cautioned the staff to "do it, but do it right," he added.

Also, a House subcommittee wants to make sure the agency is doing it right. A meeting is set for Aug. 22 to look at the agency's actions. The subcommittee was created by House Speaker Gib Lewis at the request of Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, who helped pen legislation creating the agency.

In an interview Friday, Shaw said he has "some concerns" over the way the agency is conducting its site search.

Some University of Texas-owned land in Hudspeth County — included in Shaw's district — at one point topped the agency's list for possible sites.

Shaw said an initial agency report lauded the location. "I defended the acts of the authority to my constituents." But a university committee later found several problems with the proposed area after an independent study, Shaw said.

Since the University of Texas System is one of the state's major producers of low-level radioactive waste, the university would have been willing to sell the land to the agency if the site proved safe, Shaw contended.

Shaw said that an official with the Environmental Protection Agency will be at the next session. That official, Hugh Kaufman, is an environmental protection specialist in that federal agency's hazardous site control division.

Most of the waste will be generated from nuclear power plants, but will not include high-level wastes such as spent reactor fuel. The state's two nuclear power plants should have capacity to store their low-level wastes for about five years, the spokesman said.

Currently, low-level wastes are sent out-of-state to commercial facilities. States probably will be prohibited by the federal government in 1986 from accepting nuclear wastes from other states.

at this time, spokesman Tom Blackburn said. Counties where sites have been considered and rejected or negotiations stymied include:

Garza — Several sites considered in this county near Kalgary and Cooper Creek. In each case, the geology was poor or the negotiations with landowners fell through.

Borden — "This site appeared very suitable but negotiations with the landowner fell through," officials said.

Mitchell — Possible presence of shallow groundwater forced rejection of a site in this county. The agency hopes to find from two to five possible locations before selecting one.

Agency officials are not disheartened by the poor results so far, Blackburn said, because they do not have strict time constraints. The agency board has cautioned the staff to "do it, but do it right," he added.

Company kills pipeline plans

AUSTIN — The Texas Railroad Commission on Friday granted a request from Energy Transportation Systems Inc. to withdraw an application to build a 950-mile coal slurry pipeline in the state.

ETSI recently announced it was abandoning its plan to build a pipeline that would carry a coal and water mix from Wyoming and Montana through Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana.

The company filed the pipeline application in December 1983. The total cost of the project was estimated at $3 billion.

An Austin hearing set for Aug. 28 has been cancelled by the commission.

UT to upgrade dental school

AUSTIN — Plans for $17.7 million in improvements at The University of Texas dental facility in Houston were approved Friday by system regents.

The project includes 128,500 square feet of new or remodeled space.

Also Friday, the regents accepted a gift of $10,025 in common stock that will be used to set up a scholarship fund for female tennis players with high academic grades.

The gift came from Helmut Younger of Austin, whose daughter Fern Marlies earned a masters degree from UT in 1983.

Fire forces evacuation of 50

DARROUZETT — A tanker truck fire Friday prompted evacuations of 30 to 50 residents from a four-block area in the northeastern Panhandle community of Darrouzett, authorities said.

The tanker truck loaded with 200 barrels of gas condensate burst into flames on state highway 15 shortly before 1 p.m.

Both sides of the highway were barricaded and firefighters from Darrouzett and Booker extinguished the flames using foam at 2:45. Residents returned to their homes later.

the implementation of HB-246 and that's going to cost the local district some money. The special session this summer produced HB-72 and that is going to be an expensive piece of legislation for the local districts.

"In a nutshell, it's all landed in our laps at the same time. We have already trimmed our 1984-85 budget to the bare-boned minimum and only the veteran teachers have received the full $1,700 pay increase mandated by HB-72. In essence, we have shaved every corner possible to hold down cost." Doyle said although some teachers did not receive their full pay raises, "no one took a pay cut. No one will receive less money than last year." All employees got some kind of a raise, he said.

Doyle also said he doubted that any programs would be cut this year.

"I don't expect any programs to be cut. This community wants definite things for their kids and they are willing to pay for them."

start over again," he said.

In another 30 to 45 days, nighttime frosts will stop grass from growing on parched rangelands, Stichter said. As a result, most ranchers probably won't begin restocking until next spring to allow as much grass as possible to come back.

The rains also improved the situation for West Texas farmers, who face an impending cotton harvest. But the moisture was too late to help "many acres that have nothing on them," Stichter said.

Some farmers now have enough moisture to plant winter wheat and barley, but the rain mostly gives hope for next year, he said.

"We have a chance of storing some of this water," he said, "and with a good winter rain, we would have a chance of good crops next spring."

Officer injured in accident

A Big Spring Police officer was injured and his car totaled in an accident on FM 700 at approximately 9 p.m. Saturday. An ambulance was called to the scene, but the extent of the unidentified officer's injury is not known. A police department dispatcher later said no information was available on the accident.

ALFRED KNOPF

On April 4, 1916, he married his assistant, Blanche Wolf, and their partnership proved to be a successful and enduring one. It was Mrs. Knopf's interest in South American literature that helped lead the firm to publish the works of such South American writers as Brazilians Jorge Amado and Gilberto Freyre.

Mrs. Knopf died in 1966, and Knopf married novelist and short story writer Helen Norcross Hedrick the following year.

"My main thesis has always been loyalty, whether it is dealing with authors or with plumbers," Knopf, in an interview at the home he lived in since 1928, told The New York Times on the occasion of his 90th birthday. "We use the grandson of the plumber to do repairs in this house that his grandfather worked on when we built it more than half a century ago."

Knopf, in addition to his book publishing firm, also was a founder and publisher for 11 years of the original American Mercury.

Protestants stage march

LONDONDERRY — An estimated 15,000 Protestants staged their annual Apprentice Boys march through Londonderry Saturday as British soldiers watched from atop the city's ancient walls. Police said there was no violence during the Londonderry parade, but elsewhere in this British province mourners at the funeral of a suspected IRA guerrilla battled police and two policemen were wounded when their patrol car struck a mine.

14 resign in Costa Rica

SAN JOSE — All 14 members of President Luis Alberto Monge's cabinet resigned Saturday, making way for a reorganization following widespread accusations of government corruption. Presidential spokesman Carlos Valverde told reporters the Cabinet resigned to "give the president a free hand to reorganize it."

Lebanon takes up reform

BEIRUT — President Amin Gemayel and Prime Minister Rashid Karami opened discussions on Moslem-Christian power-sharing reforms Saturday. Syria threatened earlier in the day to use the "sword's edge" against any faction that tries to rekindle Lebanon's civil war. The nation's main warlords agreed in principle at a March reconciliation conference in Lausanne, Switzerland, that power should be divided equally between Moslems and Christians. But no mechanism has yet been approved to bring about the reforms.

India seeks Punjab rule

NEW DELHI — The Indian government, concerned about continuing terrorist activity in Punjab, will propose a constitutional amendment to maintain federal control over the northern state for another year, officials said Saturday. The amendment requires a two-thirds majority in the parliament. It would extend the emergency measure, first adopted in October of last year, through October of 1985.

Mugabe gets 1-party rule

HARARE — Zimbabwe's ruling party has given Prime Minister Robert Mugabe the power to introduce a one-party socialist state, replacing one of Africa's few remaining Western-style democracies, party congress sources said Saturday. The 6,000 delegates to the Zimbabwe African National Union congress, meeting Friday in Harare, also called for introduction of an executive presidency, which would effectively raise Mugabe's status from prime minister to head of state.

Bomb kills 8 in Sri Lanka

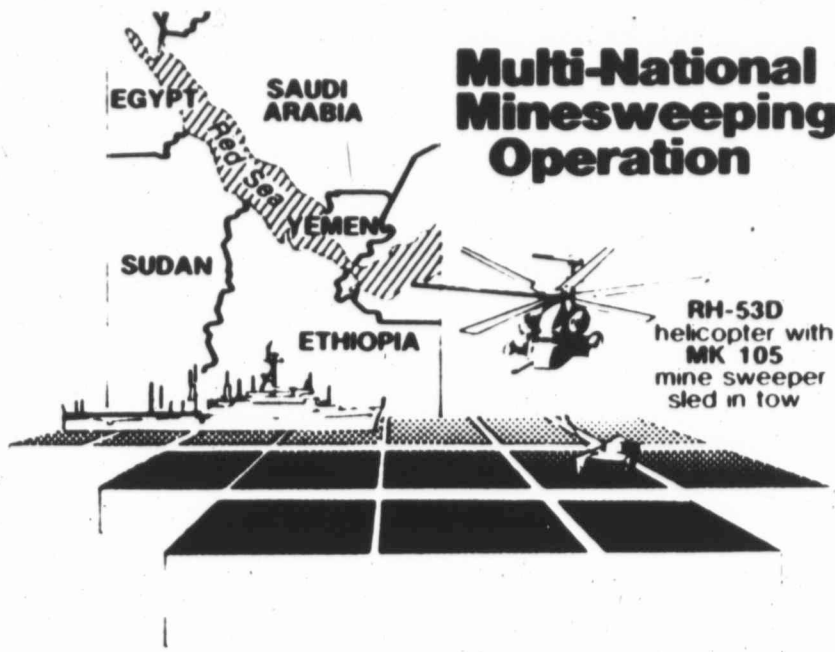

COLOMBO — A remote-controlled bomb devastated a Sri Lankan army convoy on a highway near the northern city of Jaffna Saturday, killing at least eight soldiers and wounding more than 20, reliable sources said. Indian officials in India's southern city of Madras, meanwhile, announced that five men were arrested and house used as a bomb factory was seized in connection with the Madras airport bomb blast that killed 29 people and wounded scores on Aug. 2. That explosion was believed linked with Tamil demands for their own homeland in Sri Lanka, as was the Saturday bombing near Jaffna.

Red Sea war

Polish ship hits mine; armada forming

By The Associated Press
A Polish cargo ship struck a mine near the southern end of the Red Sea on Saturday and the explosion stopped the ship dead in the water, the official Polish news agency PAP reported. It said the strong blast extensively damaged engine room pipes, but caused no injuries. Shipping sources in Jidda, Saudi Arabia, reached by telephone by The Associated Press in Bahrain, confirmed the explosion aboard the Jozef Wybicki and said it took place about 150 miles north of the 17-mile-wide Bab el-Mandeb straits, which link the Indian Ocean and the Red Sea. It was the latest in a series of mysterious explosions involving commercial ships in the 1,450-mile-long Red Sea, a vital shipping route connecting Europe to the Persian Gulf and South and East Asia. Lloyd's Shipping Intelligence Department in London had said Friday — before the latest incident — that at least 13 ships had been damaged since the explosions began last month, five ships in the Suez Gulf at the northern end of the sea, and the rest off the coast of North Yemen in the south. Saturday's reported blast occurred between the coasts of Ethiopia and North Yemen. The Polish agency said the crew of the 5,713-ton Jozef Wybicki was attempting to repair the damage and another Polish ship, the Leopold Staff, was helping. The Jozef Wybicki had been sailing from Malaysia to Jidda. Many nations have expressed concern about the blasts, which threaten both commercial and passenger shipping in the important waterway. Thousands of Moslem pilgrims are traveling in the Red Sea at this time of year to the holy cities of Mecca and Medina in Saudi Arabia. The United States, France and Britain have agreed to Egyptian requests to assist in mine-clearing operations in the sea and the 150-mile-long Suez Gulf, at the northern end of the sea. The gulf flows into the 100-mile-long Suez Canal, which links the Red Sea and the Mediterranean. Two French minesweepers and a support ship left the port of Toulon on Friday for the Red Sea, and four British minesweepers were expected to arrive at the Suez Canal on Wednesday. The United States is sending the Navy's amphibious transport dock Shreveport, which is expected to arrive in the Red Sea in mid-week with four mine-hunting Sea Stallion helicopters aboard. In Rome, Prime Minister Bettino Craxi's office said Italy was considering Egypt's request to join the international minesweeping mission, and had readied plans for the operation. Parliament must first give its approval, and Craxi's office said it hoped debate could begin in the next few days. Greece has also agreed in principle to join the effort. Anonymous callers claiming to represent the Islamic Jihad (holy war) organization have claimed responsibility for the mining. They spoke in phone calls to news agencies in London.

Fuel explodes; 4 injured

MARATHON — A 10,000-gallon fuel tank exploded at a dock here Saturday, shooting a fireball hundreds of feet in the air, injuring four people and destroying a warehouse, mobile homes and boats, Florida authorities said. Local firefighters took two hours to extinguish the blaze on this island in the Florida Keys and hosed down two other fuel tanks to keep them from exploding, said Jerry Powell, spokesman for the Monroe County sheriff's office.

Women held in slaying

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two women have been charged with criminal homicide in the slaying of one Turkish student and the wounding of another near Pittsburgh, authorities said. Charmaine Lynn Pfender, 18, of Pittsburgh, and Sara Mae Richardson, 20, of Imperial, Pa., spent about six hours at a relative's home here before surrendering to police at about 1 a.m. Friday, Ma. Pfender said in an interview from the city jail.

Riot-torn town quieted

LAWRENCE — An overnight curfew brought peace Saturday to a Massachusetts neighborhood shattered by two nights of violent skirmishes between Hispanics and whites, and officials of this old mill city voted to continue the curfew another night. About 70 police officers patrolled the four-block area when Friday night's curfew began at 8 p.m., and community leaders drove around with loudspeakers, urging residents to remain indoors.

Preacher held for escape

BATON ROUGE — A preacher who asked permission to preach to inmates at the State Police barracks was arrested when he showed up to deliver his sermon after a routine background check showed him to be an escaped convicted killer, authorities said. The Rev. Governor Reiss was arrested Friday on a 1974 warrant accusing him of escaping from an Alabama prison where he'd been serving 32 years for murder and assault, Trooper Mike Edmonson said Saturday.

Man torches 2 children

MARKHAM — As his wife and eight children watched in horror, a man doused a room of his house in this Chicago suburb with gasoline, stepped outside and ignited it, killing two children and injuring three others, police said. Lawrence Price Sr., 56, was charged Friday with murder and aggravated arson. Police said he and his wife, Cora, 42, apparently had been arguing about the children.

8 arrested in hash deal

SAN FRANCISCO — Eight people have been arrested on charges of conspiring to import 5½ tons of hashish following a "sting" operation, federal Drug Enforcement Administration agents said. Agents arrested seven men and a woman after they allegedly offered to buy the hashish.

Iraq claims gulf victory

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — Iraq said it shot down three of Iran's U.S.-made F-14 jet fighters and sunk five Iranian warships Saturday in a major air and naval battle with Iran at the northern reaches of the Persian Gulf. A military spokesman said on Baghdad Radio that the Iranian F-14s plunged into the gulf in flames and the five naval targets were "burning and sinking in gulf waters" in the battle that began at dawn in Khor Mousa Creek, which leads to the Iranian port of Bandar Khomeini. Iraq said the battle lasted for more than four hours. The daily war communique carried by Iran's Islamic Republic News Agency made no mention of the battle reported by Iraq. The report climaxed a week in which Iraq claimed three attacks on targets near Iran's major oil terminal at Kharg Island.

Get leaded gas off the market

There is overwhelming evidence that lead from gasoline is poison to humans — and young children and pregnant women are especially vulnerable.

Lead poisoning in sufficient concentrations causes brain damage. Without leaded fuels fouling the air, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) estimates the IQs of as many as 4 million children would be raised an average of 2.2 points.

The EPA says that 97,000 children now require medical attention because of high lead content in their bloodstreams — lead that they get from paint and from gasoline. Their medical care costs $1.8 billion a year.

This poisoning of our youth is intolerable. The EPA has pushed to have leaded fuels phased out in eight years. Now it says that is not quick enough. It wants to reduce the use of leaded fuels 91 percent by Jan. 1, 1986, and ban them totally by 1995.

Tetraethyl lead is placed in gasoline because it is a cheap way of boosting the octane rating. It also serves as a valve lubricant and is a required fuel for some cars with high-compression engines built before 1971.

Most cars produced since 1975 are equipped with catalytic converters and are required to use unleaded fuel. It is illegal to run them on leaded gasoline. Nevertheless, about 17 percent of American motorists with post-1975 cars use leaded fuel illegally because it is cheaper.

Most cars built before 1971 run better and have fewer mechanical problems if leaded fuel is used, but those who own these older cars must not stand in the way of getting leaded fuels off the market as quickly as possible. They produce 80 percent of all lead emissions into the air.

The EPA will be conducting hearings on its proposal to phase out leaded fuels Aug. 30 and 31. The lead ban must have public support.

Tighten gun control

What would the United States be like without guns in the hands of criminals and crazies? Without weapons, like the Uzi machine pistol, whose only purpose is "to hunt humans," in the hands of ordinary citizens? Without any more San Ysidro massacres?

We'll never know. But that doesn't mean we should not try to control these weapons of death.

Unfortunately, some senators would like to take a step backward in this fight. A bill sponsored by Republican Sens. Orrin G. Hatch of Utah and James A. McClure of Idaho, recently passed by the Senate Judiciary Committee, would do just that, by easing restrictions on the sale of shotguns, rifles and certain types of handguns.

The bill may pass the Senate, but Congressional Quarterly says it has little chance of passage in the House, and that's good. Instead, the law should move in the opposite direction, toward tighter restrictions on the sale of guns, especially handguns.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., have sponsored a bill that would work toward that goal. It would require handgun purchasers to submit to a background check and a waiting period before they could purchase handguns; it contains a version of California's "use a gun, go to prison" law, and it tightens restrictions on those who make and sell handguns.

But tighter gun laws such as this one are unlikely, given the power of the gun lobby. The gun lovers cite the Second Amendment and forget the victims of the sacred right to "bear arms."

For too long we've heard the pious slogan, "Guns don't kill people, people do." Too many people have suffered because a powerful minority believes its right to own guns should prevent even the most limited restrictions on the sale and possession of guns without purpose, except for killing people.

Today

By The Associated Press
Today is Sunday, Aug. 12, the 225th day of 1984. There are 141 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On Aug. 12, 1898, the peace protocol ending the Spanish-American War was signed.

On this date:
In 1851, Isaac Singer was granted a patent on his sewing machine.

In 1867, President Andrew Johnson suspended Secretary of War Edwin Stanton.

In 1941, French Marshal Henri Petain called on his countrymen to give full support to Nazi Germany.

In 1960, the first balloon satellite, the Echo I, was launched by the United States from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

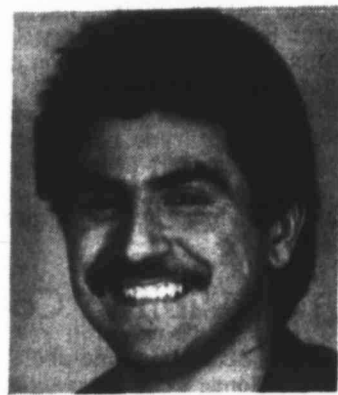

Ten years ago: President Gerald

R. Ford, appearing before a joint session of Congress, called for bipartisan restraint in government spending to control inflation.

Five years ago: Thousands of supporters and opponents of Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini clashed in the most serious rioting in Tehran since the overthrow of the shah.

One year ago: President Reagan courted Hispanic Americans with a speech in Tampa, Fla., in which he denounced Fidel Castro's Cuba as "an economic basket case."

Today's birthdays: Actor Cantinflas is 73. Actress Jane Wyatt is 72. Choreographer Michael Kidd is 65. Arkansas Senator Dale Bumpers is 59. Actor-director John Derek is 58. Actor George Hamilton is 45.

Around The Rim

Doonesday

Cowpoke cartoonist Ace Reid and political cartoonist W.B. Trudeau may hail from two completely different worlds, but both men deal with harsh reality in their works.

The world-renowned Trudeau is best known for Doonesbury, where the author unmercifully pokes, slashes and carves the beliefs Americans hold most dear.

Reid, a Kerrville resident, through his "cowpoke" characters humorously depicts the cold reality of life. In Reid's works, one can see that hard work and dedication sometimes don't always pay off.

Both men question the validity of the American dream and way of life.

Newspapers throughout the nation refused to publish Trudeau's works because of the serious political overtones concerning issues such as Watergate and the Vietnam War.

The mood of Cowpokes is more visible than subliminal. The desolate and barren landscape, the underfed and malnourished herd of cattle, and the worsening financial state of the farmers and ranchers are evident in every Reid cartoon.

This brings to one's mind the question: Are the American people as naive and gullible as these two men lead one to believe?

One would not dare think so. But more than once we have been willing victims of some second-rate politician's promises. And any utterance or guttural sound from a famous athlete is considered gold to a star-struck fan.

But nothing has been more effective in shaping American sentiment than "The Old Lie."

The concept of "The Old Lie" has lived and outlived the best of men. "Dulce et decorum est, pro patria mori." — How sweet and beautiful it is to die for your own country.

Some poor soul has yet to verify the age-old ideal, and to make an assumption would be ludicrous.

But to question such a statement is one's choice. Unfortunately, the sentimental fools that we are, we follow our hearts instead of our heads.

Despite the chaos and dissension it may cause, it is okay to question beliefs and ideas. This country's forefathers did the very same thing over 200 years ago.

To say that something or someone is un-American or unpatriotic, goes against the concept of democracy itself. However, the freedom of choice does not come easy.

But we will have the Texas cowboy Reid and the satirical Trudeau to make sure we stay on our toes and question our policymakers, leaders and always someone else's ideas.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

The lighter side

Going ape

NEW YORK (AP) — Humans aren't the only primates that get a little wild after too much booze.

Sloshed after a day of solitary drinking, a pet chimpanzee dived through a window of his owner's house and reeled through the neighborhood, breaking windows, biting a neighbor's toe and hugging a cop.

Congo the chimp evaded police for half an hour until his owner, Mario Cervantes, got home and persuaded his ward to sleep it off, police said Saturday.

"The chimp was left in the family house alone. He somehow found a quart bottle of vodka and he drank it, and two bottles of beer, and then he crashed through a window and ran into the street," Sgt. Charles R. DeCosta said.

During his drunken spree Friday evening, the 4-foot, 150-pound chimp nipped a neighbor's toe, then "ran through the neighborhood breaking windows," DeCosta said.

"During the chase the chimp repeatedly embraced police Officer (Patricia) Edwards and scratched her on the arm," DeCosta said. Neither the officer nor the neighbor appeared to be seriously hurt, he said.

Russian bear stalks Middle East

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration's tilt toward Iraq in the 4-year-old Persian Gulf war may have driven Iran into the Kremlin's iron embrace.

More than a month ago, I reported that the Soviets were playing both ends against the middle in the Iraqi-Iranian conflict. According to intelligence sources, they sought to position themselves to play the "honest broker" and to ensure that any eventual peace settlement would be to their advantage.

The Soviets pursued a two-faced policy, alternately aiding Iran, then Iraq, now Iran again. There is reason to believe that the covert U.S. support of Iraq was the catalyst that brought Iran and Russia together again. At least this much is certain: The Kremlin has indirectly resumed large-scale military aid to Iran.

Intelligence sources told my associate Lucete Lagnado that the Iranians have been getting major arms shipments from such Soviet-bloc suppliers as Bulgaria and North Korea. Obviously this could not have happened without Moscow's sanction.

In fact, it appears likely that the Korean munitions originated in the Soviet Union itself. According to the intelligence sources, a North Korean munitions factory on the 10-mile border with the USSR exists solely to put its own stamp on Soviet-made weapons that are transhipped to customers around the world.

Iranian diplomats in recent months have been secretly visiting Eastern European countries, not only to make arms deals but to ask Soviet satellite regimes to intercede for Iran in Moscow. They seem to have succeeded in both.

During June, for example, the State Department received reports of huge shipments of ammunition to Tehran from Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia. And the No. 3 man in the Iranian foreign ministry recently went to Moscow, where he was reportedly granted an hour-long meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

In addition, a top Soviet energy official visited Tehran, apparently to discuss mutually beneficial economic deals. One possibility is an agreement under which the Soviets would supply electric power — which Iran badly needs — in return for shipments of Iranian natural gas.

While the Soviets are mending their fences with the anti-American regime in Tehran, they are also making brazen overtures to one of our oldest friends in the Middle East: Jordan. For the first time in years, a high-level Soviet delegation visited Amman to dicker with King Hussein over missiles he is determined to buy from one source or another.

At the same time, Hussein had been playing his "Kremlin card" in hopes of scaring the Reagan administration into supplying him with U.S. Stinger missiles.

The president's advisers are split over how to respond to the Soviet-Jordanian arms negotiations. Some want to offer Hussein U.S. missiles to keep him out of the Kremlin's clutches. Others — presumably mindful of what such a decision would cost Reagan in an election year — believe Hussein is only bluffing. They recommend doing nothing.

A reason for expensive churches

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you think it is normally right for churches to build huge multi-million dollar buildings when there is so much hunger and poverty in the world? This bothers me a lot. — W.D.

DEAR W.D.: This is not an easy question to answer with a simple "yes" or "no," because there are many factors involved. However, I, too, get disturbed when I see very elaborate church buildings that are used only for a few hours each week.

Those who have to decide about building a new church — or spending money for any other kind of project — have a major responsibility and you should pray for them. The real question should be, what is God's will for this particular project? I have known churches that greatly increased their ministry when they built a new structure or added on to their facilities, because people were attracted to the new building — and thus came to hear the Gospel.

Many churches today also are making much greater use of their facilities for schools, day care centers, social service projects, and so forth. On the other hand, churches may get so involved in their buildings that they almost lose sight of God's purpose for them. Sometimes it would be better for a large church to encourage some of its members to form a new, smaller church instead of having to build a new expensive building.

Yes, we live in a world of great poverty — not just material poverty, but spiritual poverty as well. God's desire is for His people to "Go into all the world and preach the good news to all creation" (Mark 16:15). Christ alone is the hope of the world, and those of us who claim the name of Christ need to make the proclamation of the Gospel our first priority — both in our neighborhoods, and to the ends of the earth. When we have that as our goal, we will see our church buildings as a tool and not as an end in themselves.

Bullock sees billion-dollar tax hike

AUSTIN (AP) — The task of merely maintaining current state services could mean a $1 billion tax hike next year, according to state Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Bullock, who said the size of a tax hike would be "dependent upon what the Legislature spends," warned that even with such an increase, there would be no room for new state employees or programs.

"If they don't spend one single dime on any new services, if they enact no new programs, if they don't hire one more individual, no new highway patrolmen, nothing, they're still going to be short — probably in the neighborhood of a billion dollars in January," Bullock told the Dallas Morning News.

James P. Oliver, director of the Legislative Budget Board, said Friday that Bullock "certainly is not off base."

The state could break even only if the 1985 budget were unchanged for two more years, if state employees got no new raises and if there were no new capital costs, Oliver said.

"That's what you'd have to do to come out even," he said. "From even, if you assume the state is going to do anything at all, you can very quickly get to where you need a billion dollars."

But Texas "is not going to stay status quo," Bullock said. "Inflation and population growth are going to take care of that."

"We're having almost 500,000 a year in new people, and it takes more people to service them, and more highways, schoolteachers, DPS (Department of Public Safety) people and state government people as a whole," Bullock said.

1,000 aliens taken in sweep

DALLAS (AP) — More than 1,000 aliens were rounded up in a three-day sweep this week by federal officials searching for illegal immigrants, authorities said.

It was the largest single series of raids in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, said William Noland, deputy district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Beginning Tuesday, the INS and Border Patrol agents swept down on construction sites and manufacturing plants where suspected illegal aliens were employed. The agents used helicopters to spot those fleeing from the job sites, and rounded them up in buses.

Most of those picked up during raids Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday were either deported to Mexico or sent to a detention center in Port Isabel, Texas, Noland said.

The INS normally apprehends 800 to 900 aliens a month in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, he said.

In the largest of this week's raids, 150 aliens were found working at an aluminum products plant in the suburb of Irving on Tuesday.

Another 110 were apprehended Wednesday at a mobile home manufacturing plant in Saginaw, the site of an April 1982 raid during which 170 illegal aliens were caught.

Funnel clouds sighted south of Amarillo

AMARILLO (AP) — Storm spotters in the Panhandle reported seeing several funnels south and southwest of Amarillo Friday, but emergency officials said the twisters — called "cold funnels" — did not have enough strength to cause damage.

Amarillo emergency management director Walt Kelly said funnels dipped briefly from the clouds at Hereford, Umbarger and Happy about 3 p.m. The National Weather Service said the storm's size was not great enough to cause dangerous tornadoes.

Our new SOAPLESS FACIAL BAR has become very popular. We believe that soap is improper skin care, because of the drying effects. Our new soapless bar is enough like a soap product to comfort the customer that likes to wash their face. It is made of specially formulated surfactants, emollients, and glycerine without the alkali salts of soap.

I have mentioned before our cosmetics are all dermatologist tested. Persons with sensitive skin can safely use them. A human test has been conducted on a large number of people, at least 200. All tests and results are under the supervision of a leading dermatologist at UCLA Medical School.

OPEN LETTER TO THE SHAREHOLDERS OF FIBERFLEX PRODUCTS, INC. AND THE CITIZENS OF BIG SPRING

We, the undersigned employees of Fiberflex Products, Inc., would like to take this opportunity to express our personal feelings concerning the attempted takeover of our Company. Since one of the Company's main assets is its employees, it is difficult to buy that control with "increased capital." That kind of Company control is earned in the form of mutual respect and loyalty.

We, the undersigned employees, are in full agreement on the following points:

1. We support and trust current management 100%!
2. We believe that any change in the management of this Company would be detrimental to all concerned parties.
3. We believe that the current management team has operated in the best interest of the shareholders, the employees and the community. They have proven this many times in the past. Their record of contributions to the oil industry and our community speaks for itself.
4. This Company was built by individuals in every department working together as a team. Present administration is the major factor in establishing this team concept.
5. Many large corporations have attempted to enter the fiberglass sucker rod market and have failed. Fiberflex has become the recognized leader in the industry. We have accomplished this through hard work, team effort and CURRENT MANAGEMENT.

CRITIC — Charles Duncan of WFAA channel 8 in Dallas has been carving up restaurants with surprise inspections of kitchen cleanliness.

Bad taste TV

Dallas reporter raises stink with restaurant series

DALLAS (AP) — He's surreptitiously followed delivery trucks, poked through racks of foul fish, examined spoiled fowl and found vermin in kitchens. Some call him a hoodlum; others call him a devoted public servant.

Charles Duncan, a local television reporter who for two years has periodically taken his WFAA-TV camera into Dallas hotels and restaurants and exposed filth and unsanitary conditions, has become something of a local folk hero.

His graphic, detailed reports, titled "Eat, Drink and be Wary," have left a bad taste in the mouths of some local restaurateurs, fed business to others, focused scrutiny on the city health department and made him a celebrity in eating establishments.

"There's no doubt that he's got people in this business scared," said Rick Pfeiffer, manager of Sonny Bryan's Smokehouse. Duncan began peering under sinks and checking temperatures in refrigerators in the summer of 1982. A curious peek into the food industry has led to a lengthy crusade to clean up Dallas-area restaurants — and a running feud with city officials.

"I think a lot of places operate and serve food in filthy conditions and they don't even know it themselves," Duncan said. "That goes right back to City Hall. The (health) inspectors have not been tough enough and not been willing to close them down."

The tough reports, on-camera arguments and critical analysis has moved the curly-haired Duncan into the local limelight.

"My wife and I eat out quite a bit," Duncan said. "People come up and say, 'Well, we guess this place is OK since we see you here.' ... Each time we do these series, we get a tremendous amount of positive reaction from the public."

The ABC affiliate station's series has led to restaurant closings, fines and jokes on one radio station that sponsored the "first annual Charles Duncan Memorial Eat, Drink and be Caring" party.

The charity bash was held at the Loews Anatole Hotel, one target of Duncan's reports.

"We just decided it was fun because he knocked the Anatole so hard. He really ripped them," said KVIL morning disc jockey Ron Chapman.

Managers of restaurants that received favorable reports said the television exposure brought them customers. Those that received negative reports weren't so pleased with Dallas' restaurant crusader.

"I would say they are a bunch of hoodlums," Joe Stevens, president of Industrial Catering, said of Duncan and his camera crew. "They show up in unmarked cars. They sneak in through back doors. All they want to dwell on are dead bugs and rodents."

Crew killed in plane crash

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A Texas-owned twin-engine cargo plane crashed and burned into a military supply warehouse early today, killing the three-man crew.

Air traffic controllers said the pilot of the civilian DC-3 radioed that he was having problems shortly after he took off from Memphis International Airport.

The names of the dead crewmen were not immediately released.

The aircraft caught on fire when it crashed, igniting the warehouse, which was unoccupied at the time, said Lt. Ed Johnson of the Memphis Fire Department.

Sam Smith, a supervisor at the Federal Aviation Administration control tower at Memphis, said the plane took off at 12:55 a.m. bound for Chicago's O'Hare International Airport.

Sixteen engine companies with about 70 firefighters fought the blaze at the Defense Logistics Agency Memphis Depot for almost three hours, Johnson said.

The craft, owned by Acero Air Inc. of Los Fresnos, Texas, was one of three cargo planes based at Memphis for regular flights to Chicago, FAA officials said.

John Kitchens, manager of the FAA's Flight Standards District Office, said controllers noticed that the plane was too low a few minutes after it left the airport.

"The controller asked him if he was having problems, and the pilot said 'Yes.' The controller cleared him for any runway he wanted," Kitchens said.

But before the plane made it back to the runway, it crashed into a warehouse about two miles north of the airport and burned.

Grad donates land to Baylor

WACO (AP) — A Guy Crouch, a 1949 Baylor Law School graduate who is a banker and lawyer in Alvin, has donated 65 acres of land appraised at $1.4 million to his alma mater.

Proceeds from the eventual sale of the land, in Weybridge, Brazoria County, will be used to endow the A. Guy Crouch Chair of Law to be held by the dean of the Baylor Law School. The donation is among the largest gifts ever received by Baylor Law School.

Q.: I've seen the term "marketable title" several times in reference to real estate. What is a marketable title?

A.: When buying a home, be sure you get a title to the property. The burden to prove the title marketable is usually on the seller: either through an abstract of title — a written history of the ownership of the property, showing all liens or encumbrances against it, if any; or, through title insurance, another method of showing and insuring the title's marketability. The title abstract or title insurance is to protect you from any "unknown" encumbrances on the property which you do not want to assume. Your real estate broker can assist you in making sure you know exactly what you are buying.

flooded after more than 2 inches of rain fell in 30 minutes Friday.

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Residents of parts of New Mexico braced for more rain and the governor declared a state of emergency in one county Saturday after flash floods that ripped out roads and flooded streets and highways.

The National Weather Service issued a flash flood watch for east-central and southern New Mexico until midnight Saturday, and southern Lincoln County was under a flash flood warning for part of the day.

Gov. Toney Anaya declared Lincoln County in a state of emergency Saturday, allowing relief from state agencies, and Anaya's press aide, David Roybal, said the National Guard was shipping 10,000 sandbags from Albuquerque to flood-threatened Ruidoso.

"Officials in the community of Ruidoso earlier had declared a state of emergency, and they requested a similar declaration from the state," Roybal said.

The normally quiet Rio Ruidoso rose to flood stage in the town in the south-central part of the state on Thursday after being fed by about 5 inches of rain in five days, and threatened dozens of homes along its banks, said Frank Potter, assistant village manager.

The Rio Ruidoso, which flows through the middle of town, rose 3 feet in 24 hours until it peaked Thursday afternoon, Potter said.

"The ground is so saturated that every drop that falls goes right to the river," said village manager Jim Hine.

Police went door to door to residences in threatened areas along the river Saturday warning people to move to higher ground, and evacuation centers were set up at public buildings and a church.

Hine said street department and water department employees had been on duty 48 hours straight and faced more work clearing out culverts to keep water flowing.

The Paradise Canyon and Gavilan Canyon bridges were closed because of high water.

'The ground is so saturated that every drop that falls goes right to the river.'

GROWING OUT LENGTH

Are you trying to grow your hair longer? It is important to have your hair trimmed and kept neat looking by visiting your hair stylist. However rare, there is a mistake that can occur. Poor communication can turn a request for a slight trim into a major haircut. Let your hairstylist know that you are not looking for the perfect haircut or style at this point, but simply an interim look. Also, try these illusion tricks: Lift up the sides of your hair and secure them with barrettes, combs or a headband. This will reveal the lengths of the hair at the back of the head which will automatically make your hairstyle appear longer. Or, try a permanent. It will increase hair volume and give the feel of more hair.

Any of our highly trained operators will help you to create the look you are desirous of achieving by assisting you in selecting a hairstyle that is both flattering and easy to care for. All of us here at LA CONTESSA, keep abreast of the latest trends in hair styles and hair techniques in order to offer you the finest services available. Visit with us soon at our headquarters located at 1508 Marcy. We are open Tues.-Sat. Call 267-2187 for an appointment.

H&R Block To Offer Tax School In Big Spring

Thousands of people are saving money at tax time and earning money in their spare time as income tax preparers.

H&R Block, the world's largest income tax preparation service, is offering a basic income tax course starting September 6th with morning and evening classes available.

During the 14 week course, experienced Block personnel will teach students all phases of income tax preparation including actual experience in preparing individual returns. Instruction topics include current tax laws and tax theory and their application as practiced in Block offices nationwide. There is classroom lecture and practice problems on each subject. Courses are programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students will find the course both practical and challenging and will also be able to use their new skills directly to save money on their own tax returns.

Anyone may enroll. There are no restrictions or qualifications. Courses are ideally suited for housewives, retired persons, teachers, persons wanting to increase their tax knowledge or anyone who files a tax return.

Qualified course graduates may be offered job interviews for positions with Block. However, Block is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are graduates under any obligation to accept employment with H&R Block.

The modest course fee includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for completion of the school. Certificates and 7.5 continuing education units will be awarded upon successful completion of the course.

Registration forms and a brochure for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting the H&R Block office at: 1307 E. 8th, Odessa or telephone collect 1-332-7801.

Dallas writer killed in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A writer from Texas was killed and his wife raped by three armed men who attacked the couple while they were sleeping in their car alongside a road in southern Mexico, the English-language news reported Friday.

The slain man was identified as Paul Berlowitz, a writer from the Dallas area who wrote novels under the pseudonym Terrence Schweitzer, the News said.

Quoting police in Matias Romero, a town in southern Oaxaca state on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, the News reported that the attack took place on July 30 near the intersection of the Palomares and Tuxtpec highways.

Berlowitz and his wife Wendy entered Mexico on July 16 and were visiting Oaxaca as tourists, the newspaper said.

You've come a long way baby

By STEVE BELVIN
Staff Writer

Remember whenever the subject of the American women's Olympic team was mentioned prior to the Games how hardly anyone took notice?

The common reply would be, "Aw, they might win a few medals, but they're not a force to be reckoned with." That was then and this is now — and now U.S.A. is on everyone lips when you talk about the women's competition.

That's right! You've come a long way baby and it's good to be on top. Didn't it feel good to outdo the Japanese and Chinese in sports like gymnastics and volleyball — sports no one ever gave you much of a chance in in year's past.

Didn't it feel good to walk on the basketball court and drive the Koreans in the hardwood (especially after their coach was quoted as saying his bunch purposely withheld its best effort in a previous meeting).

How about swimming the West Germans and Austrians right out of the pool, not to mention blowing away the field in the 100 meters, maybe a reminder of more American dominance on the track. Heck, Joan Benoit even took the gold in the running of first ever women's Olympic marathon.

DAYS GONE BY

The days are gone when American women could be considered cream puffs in the international world of sports.

I don't know how we've done it, but the U.S. women have made tremendous improvements in international competition. If the girls in Red, White and Blue had competed in the Olympics four years ago, not much stock would have been put in them dominating the Games. Oh, we would have collected some hardware in a few swimming, gymnastics and track and field events, but nothing spectacular.

Evidently the eight year wait must have weighed heavy on the females' minds because they have displayed a ferocious intensity thus far. Never have I seen a ladies group from America that has performed as diligently and with as much togetherness as this one.

Typical examples are: Mary Lou Retton, the first American to win an overall overall gymnastics title. She and her teammates finished second to traditionally tough Romania in team competition. Then there are swimmers like Tracy Caulkins and Mary T. Meagher who dominated their events.

How about the volleyball team that played for gold? With strong contributions from hometown favorite Rose Magers, did you know that this is the first time the U.S. has even won a medal in the sport? There was the Cheryl Miller led basketball squad that did cop a gold medal.

And Thursday, Tracie Ruiz and Candy Costie won the first gold medals ever awarded in synchronized swimming.

Yes foreigners, the level of women's basketball has picked up tremendously over the last eight years.

In track and field, Evelyn Ashford breezed to the first U.S. women's 100 meters gold in 16 years. And she did it by nosing out teammate Alice Brown while American Janette Bolden finished fourth.

Tracksters like Mary Decker, Valerie Briscoe-Hooks, Kim Turner and Kim Gallagher are others who thrust America in the track and field limelight.

No doubt these Summer Games will always be looked upon for the clear domination by the Americans. But not to be overlooked is the way the American women came out of their shells and made the whole world take notice. Are you listening out there Russia?

With her not-so-steady foundation, it would be foolish to suggest that Sharp could turn Big Spring back into a volleyball powerhouse in a year's time. But there is a good chance that the Lady Steers could be a force in years to come.

Sharp, in her second year as head coach at BSHS, is quick to admit that she is not expecting a miracle turnaround in the sport. She does however expect her team to improve on last year's 10-18 season record and 6-8 district mark.

"Yes, one of my goals is to have a winning season," said Sharp. "I think this team can be the start for successful teams in the future."

Sharp's foundation comes from returning starters Debbie Holguin, a 5-3 senior setter, and Trel See Volleyball page 2-A

American relay teams steal show as more gold comes in LOS ANGELES (AP) — Friday night Bobby Knight and his Olympic basketball team stole show with its 99-65 gold medal win over Spain, led by Michael Jordan's 20 points, Wayne Tisdale 14, Sam Perkins 12 and Steve Alford 10, it was the Americans 78th win against only one loss in Olympic competition. But it was the U.S. relay teams that took the spotlight Saturday.

Carl Lewis kept his appointment with a legend, winning his fourth gold medal at the Summer Games while anchoring the U.S. men's 400-meter relay team to a world record and matching the mark of Jesse Owens.

Valerie Brisco-Hooks kept a date with history, too. She won her third gold medal of the 1984 Games, running a leg on the winning U.S. women's 1,600-meter relay team to become the first woman in track and field to accomplish that feat since Wilma Rudolph did it in 1960.

Americans swept all four track relays, with Chandra Cheeseborough running a leg on both women's races.

And the United States won seven boxing gold medals, breaking Cuba's Olympic record set in 1980.

Two of the other glamour events in track — the men's and women's 1,500 meters — went to Sebastian Coe of Britain and Gabriela Dorio of Italy.

But the spotlight this day and all through the Olympics was on Lewis, seeking to match the storied record of Jesse Owens, who won gold in the same four events in 1936 at the Berlin Games.

Lewis said he was considering dedicating one of his medals to Ruth Owens, the late track star's widow.

Lewis and his teammates, Sam Graddy, Ron Brown and Calvin Smith, were smooth. And fast. Clocked in 37.83, three-hundredths of a second under the old world record, they finished ahead of

Jamaica and Canada, who were both far back.

The old record of 37.86 was set in 1983 by a U.S. national team that included Lewis and Smith.

Later, Lewis' teammates — with the Jamaican team joining the celebration — carried him off the field.

Lewis had won the 100-meter race, the long jump while only making two of six attempts, the 200 meters and now the relay. He won them all with ease, although not everybody thought he won them with grace.

As the Olympics, saturated with U.S. gold, sped toward the finish line, American boxers Mark Breland, Pernell Whitaker and Paul Gonzales quickly picked up gold medals before Virgil Hill lost in a hair-line decision to Joon-Sup Shin.

Then Henry Tillman got the U.S. boxers back on track, winning America's fourth of the day, and Steve McCrory of Detroit started the evening session with a split decision in the flyweight division over Redzep Redzepovski of Yugoslavia. Meldrick Taylor of Philadelphia then won a unanimous decision, 5-0, over Peter Konyegwachie of Nigeria. Jerry Page of Columbus, Ohio, beat Thailand's Dhawee Umponmaha in the 139-pound class, for the record-breaking seventh U.S. boxing gold. Cuba won six golds four years ago, when the United States and its powerful team of fighters boycotted the Games. This time, Cuba joined the Soviet-led boycott.

Evelyn Ashford won her second gold of the Games, anchoring the U.S. women's 400-meter relay in 41.65 seconds. She earlier won the women's 100-meter dash.

Ashford and her teammates — Alice Brown, Jeanette Bolden and Cheeseborough — had an easy time in their 400-meter relay victory. The U.S. led throughout, and at the end Ashford had a 10-yard lead and was pulling away.

Canada was second, Britain third.

Brisco-Hooks won the women's 200 and 400 meters earlier, the first person — woman or man — to achieve that double at the Olympics.

She ran the third leg of the relay Saturday. And — when Cheeseborough crossed the finish line first, in Olympic-record time of 3:18.29 — Brisco-Hooks had a triple-crown of gold shared only with Rudolph, who was here as a TV analyst. Fanny Blankers-Koen of the Netherlands shares the Olympic record of four track and field golds with Owens and now Lewis, winning her's in 1948.

The men's 1,600 relay also went to the United States, with the squad anchored by Antonio McKay winning in 2:57.91. Also on the winning team were Sunder Nix, Ray Armstead and Alonzo Babers, the winner in the men's 400.

In boxing: — Breland, a welterweight from Brooklyn, N.Y., won the most important bout of his career, giving him a record of 110-1 in amateur life.

O'Meara fires 64 to take Buick Open lead

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — Mark O'Meara, continuing a hot streak that began seven tournaments ago, fired an 8-under-par 64 in the third round Saturday to take a one-stroke lead into the final round of the Buick Open.

O'Meara, 27, the 1979 U.S. Amateur champion who is seeking his first win as a pro, was at 14-under 202, one shot ahead of Lee Trevino, Denis Watson, Isao Aoki of Japan and Payne Stewart in the $400,000 event.

O'Meara's 202 also is a 54-hole record for the Buick Open.

After missing the cut at the Memorial Tournament in Dublin, Ohio, in May, O'Meara has finished in the top 10 in each of his last six tournaments, including runner-up four times.

O'Meara, who already has banked $299,050 in official money this year, could pocket another $72,000 by winning the Buick Open.

In his round Saturday, O'Meara birdied four of the first six holes, then bogeyed No. 8 to make the turn at 3-under 33. He had five more birdies on the back nine for his 64.

Ironically, O'Meara's 64 came about two hours too late to tie the tournament record which was shattered by Watson's brilliant 63.

Watson, a South African now playing out of Venice, Fla., started the day far back in the pack at 4-under, but quickly began attacking the windswept course.

The mark of 64 was first set in 1981 by John Fought and equaled last year by defending champion Wayne Levi, who missed the cut this year. The course record for Warwick Hills is 62 by Jim Colbert during a pro-am event in 1979.

Watson also is seeking his first victory after three years on the Tour. His best finish has been a tie for second on three different occasions.

Watson, 26, who was born and educated in Rhodesia before moving to South Africa in 1976, started the day at 4-under 140.

On the back side, Watson played almost flawless golf. He made birdies on 10 and 12, carded an eagle 3 on the par-5 13th, then birdied 14 and 16 while completing the back nine in just 30 strokes.

Watson has earned only $42,324 in official money this season.

Gary Hallberg, who held a one-stroke lead over Trevino, Stewart and John Adams after two rounds, soared to a 1-over 73 on Saturday to slip back to 10-under for the tournament.

Rockets trade Jones for Chicago guard

HOSTON (AP) — The Houston Rockets, overloaded with front line players, traded 7-foot Caldwell Jones to the Chicago Bulls Saturday in exchange for guard Mitchell Wiggins and the Bulls' second and third round draft picks in 1985.

Wiggins, 24, was Chicago's first-round pick in the 1983 draft and finished his first season in the National Basketball Association as the team's No. 3 scorer with a 12.4 average.

Wiggins, 6-4, played the final two years of his collegiate career at Florida State where he led the Metro Conference in scoring each year with averages of 23.8 and 22.7 points per game.

Jones averaged 9.9 points per game last season, the highest of his pro career. Jones was acquired from the Philadelphia 76ers in September 1982 in a trade that sent Moses Malone to Philadelphia.

The Rockets recently signed Akeem Oluajun, the No. 1 draft pick in the 1984 draft, to a six-year, $6.3 million contract and will have five front line players under contract.

Oluajun is expected to start along with Ralph Sampson and Rodney McCray in the Rockets front court. Major Jones and James Bailey also are under contract.

North Carolina and U.S. Olympic team star Michael Jordan Wiggins was Chicago's first round selection in the 1984 draft, crowding out Mitchell Wiggins from a guard-laden team that also includes Quintin Dailey, Ennis Whatley and Ronnie Lester.

WORKING HARD — Monique Jones, a junior spiker on the Big Spring Lady Steers volleyball team leaps high on a spike attempt as teammate Lisa Phillips scampers to her position at one of Big Spring's workouts. Coach Susan Sharp has been putting the team through two-a-day practices for the past week, getting them ready for the season opener versus Andrews Aug. 14.

Volleyball

 Clemons, a 5-8 senior spiker. Tammy Green, a 5-5 junior spiker was a spot-starter last season. "I know we don't have a lot of experience but we have experience in the critical places," said Sharp. "Debbie did a good job setting for us all last year while Trell and Tammy are good spikers."

"These kids are not that outgoing, they provide their leadership by doing things at practice. All three are valuable to the team."

After Sharp gets past her three veterans she has to dip into underclassmen for help. Two sophomore spikers from a freshmen team that went 15-2 last season have performed well so far.

They are 5-9 Tabitha Green and 5-8 Shelia Chatman. "Both players are fundamentally strong, they sure don't play like sophomores," said Sharp. Sharp says she has also been impressed with the play of 5-6 junior spiker Monique Jones.

Another Lady Steer Sharp is counting is 5-5 senior setter Tonya Stevenson, a player returning after a year's absence from the program. "Tonya has been a good leader for the squad," stated the Lady Steers mentor. Other setters include 5-4 senior Lisa Subia and 5-3 junior Keri Myrick.

Melinda Berkley, a 5-5 junior transfer from Breckenridge is a spiker Sharp is looking at for punch along the front line. "Lisa is a pretty fundamentally sound player, they play pretty good volleyball in Breckenridge," said Sharp. Other setters include 5-9 senior Tanya Ferguson and 5-5 junior Lisa Phillips. Sharp has been putting her troops through rigid two-a-day workouts this week. Prior to the start of school the team is working three hours in the morning and afternoon. The squad has been going through various stretching, work stations and drills capped off with a team scrimmage.

"We have been trying to get the legs back in shape. Although were got rusty over the summer the kids didn't lose as much as I thought they would, everyone reported back in pretty good shape," Sharp said.

Sharp thinks that one of the pluses her squad will have going into District 5-4A competition is a tough non-district schedule which kicks off with Andrews on Aug. 14 in Andrews. Other powerhouses on the Lady Steers schedule include Plains, Bronte and Kermit.

"San Angelo will be the top team in district," said Sharp. "They have some fine players back from the team that went to state last year, plus they have a transfer from Plains that will help them a lot. Cooper and both the Midland schools should be strong."

But Sharp is not ready to give up anything to 5-4A rivals. "I think we will be successful as far as district goes. Once the kids know they can win, everything will fall together. We are a young team with so much potential and desire. It's just a matter of putting it all together."

Sharp is patiently waiting for her team to put it all together — then her building will be complete.

CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY — Cotton Mize and grandson Clayton Pate stand beside the trophy won at the TAAF State Tournament in Lubbock by Mize's Cotton Chippers. The trophy and videos of the title game were awarded to the Chippers who qualified for Regional action in Dallas Aug. 24-26 by virtue of their championship.

All members are encouraged to attend because the finals of the club tournament will begin. Also, all players wishing to enter the Chemical People Tennis-thon can call Figure Seven at 915-267-7777.

Hawks sign two

Howard College Athletic Director and head baseball coach Bill Griffin has announced the signing of two prospective players into the HC fold for 1984-85. Scott Smith from state tourney team Lubbock Monterey is one of the signees. Smith can play shortstop, third base or leftfield and lettered three years for the Plainsmen. An All-District shortstop in 1983, Smith garnered the same status in 1984 in left field batting .440 and picking up 42 rbi's. He was also chosen to the Amarillo Globe News' All-Star team. Mark Howell is a Central Texas product from Waxahachie High School and is touted as a solid catcher or outfielder. He lettered two years for the Indians during which time he was selected to the All-District team both years. Howell batted .541 and hit three homeruns and should offer the Hawks some speed with a 4.7 in the 40 and 6.9 in the 60.

Astros comeback overpowers Reds, 8-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bill Doran scored the winning run from first in the seventh inning on shortstop Tom Foley's second key error of the game as the Houston Astros came from behind to defeat the Cincinnati Reds 8-2 Saturday night.

Doran opened the seventh with a single, then put Houston ahead 3-2 when Kevin Bass' grounder went through Foley's legs and rolled to the wall in left-center. Phil Garner's sacrifice fly made it 4-2.

The Astros then made it 7-2 when Jim Pankovits, pinch-hitting in the eighth for Houston starter Mike Scott, 5-10, belted a three-run homer off Reds reliever John Franco.

Cincinnati's Joe Price, 5-9, left with two out in the seventh inning after giving up four runs.

Cleveland 78-25 this season and hit 17 home runs to Cleveland's two.

Bobby Meacham led off the Yankees first with a walk and later scored on Winfield's single. The Yankees made it 3-0 in the second on Pagliarulo's two-run homer, his second of the year.

 MONTREAL (AP) — Keith Morland singled home Ryne Sandberg with one out in the top of the ninth to lift the Chicago Cubs to a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Expos Saturday.

Sandberg stroked a leadoff single, stole second and advanced to third when Gary Matthews fled to right. Montreal starter Charlie Lea, 14-8, then walked Leon Durham intentionally before Moreland drilled a single back through the box to score Sandberg.

Lee Smith, 8-4, got the victory in relief of starter Dick Ruthven, who left the game with one out in the bottom of the eighth inning.

The Cubs took a 1-0 lead in the second when Durham doubled, moved to second on a single by Moreland and scored on Ron Cey's

Grid practices begin Monday

Football season officially begins Monday for most area schools as coaches drill their teams through one week of two-a-day workouts.

All schools are required by the UIL to go through the first four days in shorts, avoiding the use of equipment.

Sands, Forsan, Colorado City, Coahoma and Klondike all begin workouts Monday. Garden City, Stanton and Borden County also begin workouts Monday. Grady is the lone school starting workouts on Tuesday.

The Sands Mustangs under the direction of head coach Jim White will have scheduled workouts beginning at 8 a.m. for the first session and 6 p.m. for the second practice.

The Forsan Buffaloes under the leadership of head coach Jan East will practice at 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. East is expecting 35 players playing on the high school level. Forsan's first scrimmage is versus Sterling City August 23 or 24.

Tom Ramsey and his Colorado City Wolves will be practicing at 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. The Wolves will have 70 players out for football this season. The first scheduled scrimmage is versus Stanton in Colorado City on August 24 at 6:30 p.m.

The Coahoma Bulldogs and mentor Bruce Mitchell will have a tentative two-a-day schedule because of teacher's in-service day, will have their first workout at 6:30 a.m.

The Klondike Cougars will have their workouts at 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. Coach Jimmy Thomas is expecting 18 players out for the squad. Their first scrimmage will be versus Smyer in Symer August 23 at 6 p.m.

Garden City under new coach Anthony Strickland will practice at 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. The Bearcats will have 40 players out for the squad. Their first scrimmage is versus August 24 versus Rankin in Garden City at 6 p.m.

Stanton and coach Dale Ruth will have practices at 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. The Buffaloes are expecting 60 players out for high school practices. Their first scrimmage is versus Colorado City.

Grady and first year coach Carrie McWilliams will practice at 5:30 both morning and afternoon. McWilliams is expecting 18 players for the team. Their first scrimmage is August 24 versus Wellman at 6:30 p.m. in Grady.

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS
by Pat Gray

THE CRAWL

Although "freestyle" swimming events technically allow the swimmer to perform any stroke, the term has become synonymous with the crawl. According to legend, "the crawl" got its name during the late 1800s. A swim coach spotted a fast-moving boy propelling himself through the water with one arm at a th... The coach yelled, "Look at that kid crawling." Chances are that we will continue to see records broken in men's and women's swimming events. In no other sport have times improved as dramatically as they have in this one during the last century. In 1912, for instance, Australian Fanny Durack won the 100-meter freestyle event in 1:22.2.

Pool painter

Artist: Mural will be waterproof

QUEEN CITY, Texas (AP) — The Scott Joplin mural, Texarkana's first major mural, has spawned another in nearby Queen City, Texas — and a summer job for a young artist.

Danny Rhoades, 18, who worked on the Joplin project for three weeks, is putting the finishing touches on the mural he painted for Celebration, the spring-fed pool of Queen City.

Rhoades says that being at the right place at the right time led to his getting the Queen City project.

"Don Turner, the owner, saw me working on the Joplin mural and asked if I would do something for him," says Rhoades. "Of course, I jumped at the chance."

Rhoades, who recently moved to Queen City from Detroit, says that he has been painting since he was 13, but that until the Joplin project, he had never worked on a wall.

"The painting itself didn't take that long," says Rhoades. "What was the most work was the preparation, getting the walls ready, finding the materials, getting everything just right before we started the actual painting."

In fact, Rhoades said that the painting itself went fairly quickly, each of the large swans in the mural only taking 45 minutes to complete.

Dana Romanick, Rhoades' brother, also helped work on the project. The two are building a house near Queen City and say they have other talents as well. "I'm a great house painter, interior and exterior," says Rhoades. "I've also helped on income taxes. I can do that. I would also like to work for a paper someday, maybe as a cartoonist or an illustrator."

Rhoades and Romanick have done several cartoons, Romanick writing the script to Rhoades' illustrations.

"I dream sometimes that I really am a cartoonist. I haven't checked much on the possibilities around here."

Rhoades says that the owners decided on the swans from among several designs he gave them. He says everyone is happy with the results.

"I liked the swans, too," says Rhoades. "They relate to the name of the place. They look like celebrating swans, don't they?"

Turner says that he has been trying to make improvements at the pool and thought that people would enjoy something on the wall.

"I thought that the swimmers would like to look at what Danny painted, rather than just a blank wall. We're real happy with it. It really brightens up the place."

When Rhoades first started the painting, there were a few skeptics, however. He first painted the purple and green background, confusing a few of the spectators.

Joy to the world!
By JOY CULWELL C-City Correspondent
Gus Armstrong is a long-time Mitchell County gentleman who has retired after long years being away from here. We were all overjoyed when he and his lovely wife chose Loraine to settle in. They hadn't been here long when we had the freeze of the century in late December and Gus did what he does best — he helped people with their freezing water and other problems. For those good deeds done in such a selfless way, he received the honor of being named by Effie Wheeler the appreciation day recipient on my radio program. I devote each Thursday to a different recipient. That's when I got to know him and began to appreciate him.
As I get to know Gus I am amazed at his ability to cut right to the heart of a matter and get down to basics. I also enjoy his sense of humor.
We spent several hours together the other evening waiting on a hospital board meeting to give the public a report. Around 11:30 p.m. our conversation was about smoking and other habits. That's when Gus tickled me so by telling me about his tobacco habit. It's not a very destructive one, because he only smokes when he's in a room full of other smokers and then he doesn't inhale. He smokes unfiltered King Size Chesterfields, the kind he started with so long ago before World War II.
When Gus first started buying cigarettes, he got them for 15 cents or two for a quarter. Well, now Gus has had it with the high price of cigarettes. He told me the other evening he is not going to pay over a dollar for his Chesterfields.
Gus, we are proud of you and your stand against inflation. May you and your kind that we admire so much ever wave.

Birth, death, infinity

Austin takes vital statistics on life in the Lone Star state

AUSTIN (AP) — More Texans died last year than in any previous year, but the death rate remained at an all-time low of 7.3 per 1,000 population, reports the state health department.

The department's Bureau of Vital Statistics reported Friday that heart disease, cancer, stroke and accidents caused seven out of 10 deaths among Texans in 1983.

The top 10 killers accounted for almost 82 percent of all deaths.

In the 1-34 age group, accidents were the leading cause of death. The department said 64.1 percent of accidental deaths were motor-vehicle related.

Although more Texans died last year — 114,714 — than the previous year, the death rate continued at 7.3 per 1,000 because of the state's population increase.

The bureau's report said deaths increased by 3,451 from 1982, when 111,263 deaths were recorded, but the population grew from 15.3 million to 15.7 million.

The health department also reported that the infant mortality rate, considered an index of health care quality, increased slightly to 11 deaths per 1,000 births in 1983. The increase followed four years during which deaths of children under 1 had decreased. The 1982 rate of 10.8 was the state's lowest ever.

Nationally, the infant death rate in 1983 was 10.9 per 1,000.

In Texas, there were 295,178 births last year, a birth rate of 18.8 per 1,000 population. It was the lowest birth rate since 1978.

Physicians were in attendance at 284,091 of the births (96.2 percent), while midwives or others attended 11,087 births.

The vital statistics report showed twice as many marriages as divorces in 1983. For every 100 marriages there were 49 divorces. The 97,061 divorces came in families with a total of 87,482 children.

Birth and deaths records showed that 25 of Texas' 254 counties recorded no births in 1983. Loving County, the state's least populous with 91 residents, recorded no births and one death. Another Loving County resident died outside the county.

"Things may be picking up in Loving County, however, since six marriage licenses were issued there and only one divorce decree was granted in the county. A baby boom may be on the way," said a health department release.

The month of June topped all others in the number of marriages and divorces. About 38 percent of the 199,037 marriages took place in either June, July, September or December.

The median age group for bridegrooms was 26. For brides it was 23.

Here are the leading causes of Texan deaths in 1983:

- Heart disease 39,849
- Cancer 23,358
- Cerebrovascular disease (stroke) 8,914
- Accidents 7,275
- Bronchitis, emphysema, asthma, and allied conditions 3,535
- Pneumonia 2,919
- Homicide 2,322

Women Learn A New Skill At H&R Block

Women across America are moving into the business world by learning income tax preparation skills.

Many women are finding that learning a skill like income tax preparation can open new doors for them and help save money at tax time.

H&R Block, the world's largest income tax preparation service, is offering a basic income tax course starting September 6th with morning and evening classes available. Enrollment is open to everyone. Courses are ideal for those wanting to develop a new, practical skill or for those interested in increasing their tax knowledge.

Classes are held over a 14 week period. An experienced Block instructor will guide students through all phases of income tax preparation. Classroom will include lectures, practice problems and actual experience preparing individual tax returns. New tax laws will be explained.

Skills learned in the H&R Block Income Tax Course could be the key to entrance into the business world and a way to earn extra money or qualify for a possible job interview with H&R Block. Block, however, is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are graduates under any obligation to accept employment with H&R Block.

One low fee covers all textbooks, supplies and tax forms required for the class. Certificates and 7.5 continuing education units will be awarded upon completion of the course.

Registration forms, brochure, or more information on the Income Tax Course may be obtained by contacting the H&R Block office at: 1512 Gregg, or telephone Odessa collect 1-332-7801.

Homeowner plots to insult condos

AUSTIN (AP) — Grant Lannon, a west Austin homeowner, says a court order will not keep him from continuing his protest against a nearby condominium project.

State District Judge Jerry Dellana issued an order Friday telling Lannon to remove or cover signs in his backyard until a hearing could be held next Wednesday on an injunction.

Last fall Lannon painted "Condos Stink" on the roof of his garage, in sight of a number of condominiums with balconies.

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

New Grapefruit 'Super Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

No Dieting - Eat All You Want Pill Does All the Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special) An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

This "super" grapefruit pill is a dramatically improved version of the world famous grapefruit diet. It is far more effective than the original and eliminates "the mess, fuss, and high cost of eating half a fresh grapefruit at every meal."

"Pill Does All the Work"

According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation "diet menus" to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs." It is 100% safe. You simply take the pill with a glass of water before each meal and the amazing combination of powerful ingredients are so effective they take over and you start losing weight immediately.

Pill Has ALL Daily Vitamins

The powerful and unique combination of ingredients are what make this a "super-pill". It contains highly potent grapefruit concentrate and a diuretic to help eliminate bloat and puffiness. No need to take any vitamins to maintain your good health and energy. The pill is fortified with ALL (100%) of the U.S. Government daily vitamin requirements.

Contains Japanese 'Glucomannan' Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan", the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

The super-pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Now Available to Public

Songwriter takes stab at music world

By TINA STEFFEN
Lifestyle Editor

Eunice Choate's songwriting talents are getting some of the attention they deserve. She began singing when in the fourth grade and actively writing verses since her husband Sonny was stationed in Japan. Now she's "cutting a record."

A traveling music teacher, Miss Grisey, influenced Eunice and her musical talents early in her life. The teacher detected a little bit of talent in Eunice and encouraged her to keep singing. The teacher arranged Eunice's first public appearance about 36 years ago. "I sang 'The Bells of St. Mary' in the basement of the First Methodist Church for a youth group or Sunday School meeting."

Eunice and Julie Rainwater, now Julie Shirey, became friends in eighth grade. "She could play anything without the music, with the music, however you presented it to her. We spent a lot of time together because we performed all over town and at many school functions during our high school years."

In 1956, the girls had their own unsponsored 15-minute television show on Saturday afternoons when Big Spring had a TV station. They invited friends to perform on the show. "I think the big thrill we had with the show was a little review we did and we made the newspaper back when Tommy Hart was in Sports." He wrote about the review on the Sports page of the Big Spring Herald.

THE SUMMER AFTER they graduated, Julie went to college and Eunice sang with a combo at the Officer's Club called the Manhattans and Eunice. "I loved it because they put my name on the billboard. I made $12 an hour, and I thought it can't get any better than this."

The next 21 years Eunice spent with her family and the Air Force. She married Sonny Choate after he graduated from Texas A & M University in 1959 commissioned as second lieutenant.

One Christmas in England, Sonny ordered a ukulele for the family and Eunice taught herself to play. When the Air Force transferred the Choates to Montgomery Ala., Eunice volunteered to teach sixth graders at her children's school to play the guitar. Two years before, the school's PTA bought all the 6th graders guitars. None of the volunteers knew how to play or tune the guitars. "I knew six chords, two strums and how to tune them" based on her knowledge of the ukulele.

"We used to cheat and play the bottom four strings a lot of the time if they couldn't stretch their fingers across the six strings. The bottom four strings of a guitar are the same as a ukulele."

It was in Japan, that Eunice seriously began writing music and verses. "Everything before went out the door with the trash or I hid them. I was assistant editor of Officer Wives Club's monthly magazine called The Yokoson. In one copy, we had about four lines of space that wasn't filled, and we didn't have any ads to put in. So I wrote a four-line light verse. Everybody like it and asked for more."

"It was a regular feature while we were there. It was not very serious poetry, usually with a funny tagline — unexpected. I found out I could rhyme words."

THE CHOATES WERE in Peru, Indiana during the four years when Indiana had two of its worst blizzards. "We had cabin fever a lot." Eunice usually stayed at home during the day. "We lived in the country. I wasn't fond of driving in the ice so I stayed home a lot. Having that much time, I started putting music to the (verses). Writing verses didn't do the trick. When I did one that I was not completely embarrassed by, I would try it out on Sonny and the kids."

The Choates returned to Big Spring following Sonny's retirement from the Air Force in 1980. Julie was here and the two women began performing again for family nights or Christmas parties. "I sang, she played the piano."

"After we'd been doing that awhile, everything I wrote was a song, not a verse. After Julie and I got back together again, it seemed the inspiration came back," Eunice said. "Someone once asked how you write songs. It's part experience, part observation, inspiration and imagination."

Eunice won a songwriting contest for the Railroad Centennial Song. Her son was "The Stagecoach Boys." "Sherry Wegner encouraged me to submit it. I felt shy about it," Eunice said. "There's a difference when other people listen to something you've done. The night of the Iron Horse Review, we presented it live and I forgot the words. Don Tolle, who was playing for me, told me, 'You know you are going to forget those words' and I did. It was a hometown crowd and they were nice."

Eunice met Bob Lewis, alias "Tumbleweed Smith", at the Centennial. She began writing jingles for Lewis's advertising agency, Multi-Media. "He was fixing to change to a new theme song for his program 'The Sound of Texas,' and I wrote the lyrics for him," she said.

In addition to winning the Railroad Centennial song contest, Eunice also won the I Believe in Big Spring essay contest. She wrote about ordinary people in Big Spring who work hard, save money and don't seem to get the breaks. "I love people like that. They keep on trying and you wonder what resources they are pulling from. So I write songs about them."

WRITING MUSIC COMES naturally for Eunice, even though she is unable to read music. "I don't know where the songs come from, but they are always there," Eunice said. "When I'm about to doze off is when one will pop in. I have learned if I don't do something right then, I can't depend on it being there the next morning. So a lot of nights I'm creeping down the stairs with the tape recorder, humming into it."

'We used to cheat and play the bottom four strings a lot of the time if they couldn't stretch their fingers across the six strings. The bottom four strings of a guitar are the same as a ukulele.'

Once the Choates were coming back from Phoenix, Ariz. and saw many hitchhikers along the highway. Eunice began wondering about the hitchhikers when the song "Pickin' Them Up, Puttin' Them Down" came to her mind.

Some of her thoughts create "full-blown songs with three verses and a chorus." But not her song "Dirt Poor Farmer's Kid." The verses were written five years before she could come up with a chorus to fit it. One day she and Sonny were driving home from San Angelo when the chorus popped in her mind. The song is about memories of her grandparents, her image of her parents growing up, and memories of watching her mother work without today's modern conveniences when Eunice was little.

Family members always perform at her family reunion. Lola Sheppard noticed Eunice's talent and encouraged her to do something about it. "She would call me and say, 'Are you just sittin there or are you working on songs?' She wanted me to do something with them, so she called her Midland radio station friends to find out how to get songs noticed." They told Mrs. Sheppard to get something on tape and sent it to an artist or publisher. Eunice, Julie, Terry Stovall and Phil Stovall began working on six favorites to make a demo tape. The Stovalls are brothers and guitarists.

Last spring, the Stovall Family was invited to perform at the Heritage Museum's Chuck Wagon Party. The group consists of Terry and Phil, their father Cliff and uncle Jack. "As a surprise for me, they had been working on my song, 'Pickin' Them Up, Puttin' Them Down.' It was the first time I heard a group do anything I had written, and it was a wonderful feeling. It was well received."

JUST A STRUMMIN' — Eunice Choate strums chords on her ukulele while thinking about her songwriting and its influence on her life. Eunice and friends are cutting a record with two of her songs. They plan to send it to radio stations in hopes of that one in a million chance her songs will make it. Eunice's musical pastime stretches from grade school, through raising her children, to today.

EUNICE WAS AFRAID her demo tapes would get lost in the shuffle, and she didn't think she could take that kind of strain. Sonny suggested that she cut a record. The Stovalls agreed to do one side of the 45 R.P.M. record with the song they performed at the Museum. "There is no way I could have done it. They have full-bodied style. I wanted it to be presented the best it could be," Eunice said. The Stovalls also are doing the back up singing for Eunice's song on the other side, "Dirt Poor Farmer's Kid."

Eunice, Julie, Tolle, the Stovalls and their families went to Caldwell Recording Studio in Lubbock, July 22, to begin recording. "It was a hometown group that went over there and I couldn't have been more prouder of the talent," Eunice said. "We worked from 3 to 11 p.m. That experience alone was worth the money. The sound engineer did so much with the people there. He made everybody do such good things, things they didn't know they were capable of. "We go back Aug. 12. The instrumental portion has been done on their's and they will add harmonies. We did the basic track on my song and will work mainly on that." Afterwards, the recording will be pressed in Dallas and the group will begin promoting it. "Even if we are 90 years old and have a stack of dusty old records, it was worth a good try," Eunice said. "But I don't think that will happen. They are good songs and I believe in them."

Eunice plans to get the record played on radio stations. "We are sending them to everybody we know who knows a disc jockey. We hope to get an established artist to hear it." According to Eunice, Bob Lewis plans to do a Sound of Texas program about Eunice and her try at breaking into the music business. She believes that will be a big boost. "There's always that chance of one in a million that one of these will make it," she said.

Bob Lewis family finds friends through exchange program

By RHONDA WOODALL
Lifestyle Writer

The Bob Lewis family has opened their home and their hearts to the Pierre Eugene Pitance family in Ecully, Lyon, France. As part of a growing friendship, the Lewises spent a month showing Laurent Pitance, 17, the sites of Big Spring and Texas.

The Lewises first became acquainted with the Pitance family when Laurent's father invited Lewis' son Kevin to stay with his family two years ago as part of the grandmother, Mrs. Lewis said. The Lewises and the Pitances made plans on their own to exchange their younger sons, B.Z. and Laurent, respectively. "We have been in very close contact with the family for the past two years," Mrs. Lewis said.

While in Texas, Laurent has visited Paris, Tx. on Bastille Day, July 14; been made an honorary Texas citizen by Gov. Mark White; and presented the key to the city by Mayor Clyde Angel. With the help of Larry Don Shaw, the Rotary

'It couldn't have worked out better in getting to met a family. We've all gotten along very, very well.'

Rotary's foreign student exchange. "Kevin totally flipped over their family," Susan Lewis said. "I know Kevin wants to go back and see them again. He found total luxury over there."

Later that summer, Laurent's brother, Pierre visited the Lewis family. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis met Mr. and Mrs. Pitance in London, England this spring for the first time.

"It couldn't have worked out better in getting to met a family," Mrs. Lewis said. "We've all gotten along very, very well."

"We've exchanged quite a few things with the family" including a book about Lyon from Laurent's Club presented Laurent with the Texas flag that flew over the state capitol on Bastille Day.

THE LEWISES KEPT Laurent busy by going to the water park in Odessa; the Starlite Specials; performances of the Ice Cream Supper Summer Theatre at Howard College, the junior rodeo, and the Summer Mummies in Midland. The Lewises also took Laurent to Austin, Monahans, San Antonio, Fort Davis, and Big Bend.

Laurent also toured Cameo Energy Homes. Construction of building are completely different in the United States and France, Mrs. Lewis said. In France they use rock and steel for the frame, but are not familiar with lumber. Laurent's father owns a construction company in Lyon.

I LIVE HERE — B.Z. Lewis, 16, (right) listens to Laurent Pitance of Ecully, Lyon, France, 17, tell about his country and his customs. Laurent spent the past month in the Bob Lewis' home. B.Z. will visit Laurent's family next summer in France. B.Z. and Laurent's older brothers, Kevin and Pierre, respectively, were exchange students in each other family home, two years ago.

Laurent said he likes Big Spring "because everybody lives in a house, not a brick building (apartments)." Laurent's family lives in a large house.

However, one thing that does bothers him that we have such beautiful roads and we drive so slow, Mrs. Lewis said. In France, the usually drive 130 kilometers per hour on the highway.

Being away from France, does have its disadvantages. Laurent miss the food and the downtown centers. The Lewises have been baking french bread for Laurent. He also doesn't like Mexican food.

Laurent has visited the United States before with his parents. The Pitance family have been to Washington D.C., Los Angeles, Florida, Las Vegas, New York, San Francisco, New Orleans and the Grand Canyon.

Laurent has been an exchange student in Germany twice and Ireland once. Besides Kevin, exchange students from Sweden and Brazil have stayed with the Pitance family.

LAURENT DECIDED to visit America "for the language. It's nice to be able to speak to other people in their languages and to know a lot of other people," he said. "My brother said 'Life in Texas was great.'"

Having an exchange student in their home has helped the Lewises perfect their English. "We do not use contractions any more. We are speaking much more distinctly," Mrs. Lewis said. "We try not to use any slang. Some things do not translate into other languages, which you do not realize until someone that uses the correct language is in your home."

Laurent has also helped B.Z. with his French. "It has given B.Z. some confidence in the words he has learned," Mrs. Lewis said.

"It's been a terrific experience," Mrs. Lewis said. More people should do it, she said. The more people do it the more understanding they will be toward other people. "It (participating in a foreign exchange program) is much easier to do than you think."

B.Z. will be visiting Laurent's family in France next summer. He decided he wanted to do it when Pierre was here. "It looked like fun," B.Z. said. "I'm looking forward to it. My brother has talked a lot about it (his trip)."

B.Z. said that visiting France will help him learn about the language, the people and himself. While in France, he plans to visit Paris and the Mediterranean.

"I think our families will stay close," Mrs. Lewis said. "It has been very special meeting them and getting to know them."

Laurent left Friday to met his parents in Los Angeles. "I will miss my (Lewis) family," he said.

Weddings

Barbee-Campbell

Polly Jill Barbee and Jay Henry Campbell exchanged wedding vows in a Saturday afternoon ceremony at McMurry College Chapel in Abilene. The Rev. Johnny Kahl, campus minister, officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell Barbee, Rt. 3. The bridegroom is the son of Monah Sue Cannon of Merkel and the late John I. Campbell.

The couple was wed before an altar of burgundy and pink roses with accents of baby's breath, with candles on either side. The altar rail, covered with greenery and baby's breath, completed the setting.

Mona Barbee of Midland, the bride's sister-in-law and organist, and Jenny Case of Hobbs, N. M., vocalist, provided the music for the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of candlelight slipper satin with appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace. The fitted bodice was accented with a modified sweetheart neckline and bishop sleeves. The skirt fell into a chapel-length train. The bride wore tiered illusion veil held by a wreath of candlelight flowers.

The bride carried a cascading nosegay of white and pink roses.

Amy Winn served her sister as matron of honor. Sammy Tumlinson of Tye was as best man. Chad Winn, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer. Ushers were Tim Barbee of Midland and Neal Barbee, brothers of the bride.

MRS. JAY HENRY CAMPBELL

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the campus center at McMurry College. A miniature bride and groom topped the three-tiered cake, which was supported by pillars. The table was covered with mauve cloth overlaid with lace.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School and currently employed by Star Com Distributing. She will be a junior at McMurry College this fall.

The bridegroom graduated from Merkel High School and is employed at Taylor Telephone in Merkel.

The couple will make their home in Abilene.

Sanders-Grove

Robyn Renee Sanders and Richard Allen Grove were united in marriage in a garden ceremony, Aug. 4, at 1806 Hearn. Gary Fine, youth minister of First Baptist Church, officiated at the 8 p.m. rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Awtrey, 1101 E. 16th. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grove, 4214 Parkway.

The couple was wed before an altar decorated with carnations and roses on a white trellis arch.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white, floor-length gown covered with chantilly lace. Her chapel-length veil was attached to a white carnation crown. The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses on a white lace fan with streamers in pastel spring colors.

Connie Covington served as maid of honor. Richard Grove, father of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Following the ceremony, the couple was feted with a reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Brodie, 1806 Hearn. A two tiered white cake was laced with pastel flowers and crowned with a bride and groom under an arch of white carnations.

The bride attends Big Spring High School and is employed by Sears Roebuck and Co. The bridegroom graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard College. He is employed by Fiberflex.

The couple will make their home in Big Spring.

Lifestyle policies

We will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement, wedding, silver or golden anniversary in the Lifestyle section of the Big Spring Herald. We try to use the story on the date you request, but sometimes space does not permit this.

The information must be submitted to us on a form available at the Herald no later than Wednesday noon before the Sunday it is to be published. The form must include a name and telephone number of a person whom we can reach during the day for more information.

We will use a picture of the couple in the announcements. Or in the case of engagement announcements where a picture of the couple is not available, we will use one of the bride-elect. The picture must be a professional quality studio photograph. We prefer a 5 x 7 glossy black and white print. We ask for this kind of photograph so that it will reproduce well in the newspaper. Following the picture's publication, it may be picked up at the Lifestyle department.

The information for the story may be brought to the Lifestyle department of the Herald, which is located at 710 Scurry. Or it may be mailed to Lifestyle Department, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Texas 79720. Call us at (915) 263-7331 if we can help with more information or clarification of our policies.

ENGAGEMENTS

Information on engagement announcements must be submitted to the Lifestyle department of the Herald anytime after the engagement is a reality until at least three weeks prior to the wedding. Anything closer than three weeks will not be published. The engagement form must be submitted no later than Wednesday noon prior to the Sunday it is to be published.

If the bride-elect, prospective bridegroom or their parents do not now or have never lived in our area, we need to know why you are submitting your engagement to the Herald. If only grandparents live in our area, please, give their names and addresses.

WEDDINGS

If a wedding writeup is submitted to the Herald after the wedding has occurred, the space allotted to it will diminish according to the length of time that has passed since the wedding.

Americans drink millions of gallons of water

DENVER (AP) — America's 235 million people consume 176 million gallons of water each day, according to the American Water Works Association.

Medical experts say a daily replenishment of from two to three quarts of water is needed through food and drink to maintain a person's health. While a human can live for up to two months without solid food, to go without water for one week can be fatal.

Newcomers

Several families were welcomed to Big Spring last week by Joy Fortenberry, hostess of the Newcomer Greeting Service.

KIRK DAVIS is employed by Texas Electric Service Co. as an electrical technician. Davis, and his wife Denise, who is employed by Security State Bank, are from Lamesa. They enjoy fishing, water skiing, hunting and handicrafts.

From Odessa comes DIANE RILEY. She is employed by Texas Department of Human Resources and enjoys Eastern Star, theater, arts and crafts and photos.

A Chinese acupuncture specialist from Houston is PAUL NG. He enjoys swimming, fishing, hunting and sports.

From Leavenworth, Ks. is WALTER H. HOLLINGSWORTH, who is the hospital administrator at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp. Hollingsworth, his wife Jean and daughter Nancy, 12, enjoy horses, boating, crafts and soccer.

LES SCHMIDT is a car salesman from Bursleson. Schmidt, his wife Janet, employed by Big Spring Federal Prison Camp, and daughter Kassoe, 16, enjoy camping, bowling and swimming.

Dr. Donohue

Topspin stroke causes arm pain

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a pretty good tennis player. A problem has arisen. I have been trying to get better topspin on my ball and as a result I think I have hurt my wrist. This is obviously because of the turning of the wrist as I apply the topspin. Now the motion gives me a sharp pain. Do I have tennis wrist? — S.S.

I don't know. I have not heard of tennis wrist, although I guess it could be one of those all-purpose terms defining soreness in that joint. The wrist is a complicated joint, so you need a better diagnosis than "tennis wrist." Let me address your problem from another angle. I think you may need some instruction from a professional on just how to apply the topspin stroke.

You don't get topspin by rolling your wrist over the top of the ball. That is virtually impossible, because the ball only stays in contact with the racket for 4/1000ths of a second. You get topspin from the angle of contact, by swinging in a low to high direction, not by trying to roll your wrist.

I think, no matter what is wrong physically with your wrist, that you are subjecting it to unnecessary stress by your rolling motion. You need rest for your wrist now, and if that doesn't ease your pain you need to consult a physician. When things settle down, your next visit should be to a pro. Subject: topspin.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 25-year-old female, the mother of one and a babysitter to five. It's hard for me to get any exercise. Recently, I purchased an exercise bike. I stay at the speed of 25-30 mph and do between seven and 10 miles in 15 minutes. I do this twice a day. Can you tell me how many calories I am burning each time, and is this enough to lose weight? — C.F.

First of all, 15-minute pedaling sessions at your speed is good aerobic exercise. You are moving large muscles (your legs) for the required minimum time and you're doing this consistently, at least three times a week.

Now to the calorie and weight-loss part of your question. That depends on the tension of your bike pedals as well as your speed of pedaling, so I cannot answer precisely. Roughly, you are burning about 200 calories in your two daily sessions.

That may not seem like a lot, but it's not the end of calorie loss. You are revving up your body's metabolism, which continues after you get off the bike. You continue to burn some calories. I can't tell you how much that is, but cumulatively, over many weeks and months, it can be considerable.

If weight loss is your goal, you do have to combine dieting with the exercising. Your scales will be the ultimate arbiter of success. But if you are looking toward better aerobic fitness from your exercising, I can tell you that you will be successful with your present program. Your sense of well-being, your pulse rate at rest, and a lot of other vital body functions will reflect that.

You can lose weight if you really want to! The booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue inc are of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Mrs. Howell honored at baby shower

Mrs. Ralph Howell and daughter, Andrea Joy, were honorees at a baby shower in the fellowship hall of East Fourth St. Baptist Church, Aug. 7.

Hostesses for the shower were Mrs. M. L. Kirby, Mrs. Craig Rhoton, Mrs. Randy Gee, Mrs. Edward Slate, Mrs. Dick Davis, Mrs. Jimmy Shanks, Mrs. Wade Shanks, Mrs. Royce Griffith, Mrs. H. D. Stewart, Mrs. Bertie Mansfield, Jeanette Mansfield and Mrs. Mike West. Their gift was an umbrella stroller.

Mrs. Albert Rivas, sister of Mrs. Howell, was a special guest. A corsage made from baby socks, lace, ribbon and miniature flowers was presented to the new mother.

The register table and refreshment table were covered with pink cloths edged in white lace. The register book was made by Mrs. Kirby using a baby bib for the cover, trimmed with lace and miniature rattles. The refreshment table was centered with a baby doll in a basinet surrounded with pink roses, with two ceramic angels on pedestals looking down on the baby from each side.

Andrea Joy was born July 21.

Big Spring supports Magers

By KIM KIRKHAM

Kim and I are filling in for TINA STEFFENS who has been on vacation.

Big Spring citizens watched with enthusiasm as ROSE MAGERS, local volleyball star, participated in the Summer Olympics, recently. They showed her their support by a telegram which arrived right before the final game, said JOHNNIE LOU AVERY. Big Spring High School also sent her roses.

Johnnie Lou says plans are full steam ahead for Rose's community recognition parade which will be held later this month.

LIBBY GAMBOA stayed at Rose's home in Mission Viejo, Calif. for ten days. "We are like one big family," Libby said. She has known Rose since Rose was eight years old.

Libby got to watch Rose play in the China-USA women's volleyball gold medal match. "This was better than the super bowl. It was USA-USA all the 10 days that we stayed there," she said.

When Rose got the roses from Big Spring High School, "She got tears in her eyes. She couldn't get over it. She'll be tickled to death about that parade."

Rose is thinking about competing in the 1988 Summer Olympics in Korea, Libby said. "I guess I'll be saving my nickels and pennies, because I like to be where she's playing."

IVAN AND MILDRED COLLINS, 1725 Purdue, have just returned home from a two week long European tour. The Collins' daughter, DOROTHY MIDLETON of Baton Rouge, La. went with them. They traveled with a big group from all over the United States. They visited London, England; Paris, France; Switzerland; Germany and Holland.

The Collins' tour guide spoke four languages and even told the history of the houses in the various countries. "We had the best time. It was so wonderful," Mrs. Collins said.

In Holland, the group visited a cheese factory. Mrs. Collins said she also was fascinated with the hand-crocheted lace products. In Oberammergau, Germany, the group saw the Passion show. "It was so good. It seemed real," Mrs. Collins said.

JAMES B. MCNALLAN of Washington D.C. visited his parents, MR. AND MRS. G.B. MCNALLAN, 2800 Navaho, recently. He works for the United States government and left for Saudi Arabia, today.

LINDA ARNOLD of Irving and her daughter, TERRI, 12, visited her mother, DOROTHY PHILLIPS, 1306 Mt. Vernon, this week.

Take precautions against infection

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Antibiotic drugs have gone a long way toward controlling some infectious diseases such as pneumonia, scarlet fever and tuberculosis, notes Dr. Arnold Lentnek, chairman of the Infection Control Committee at Episcopal Hospital in Philadelphia.

But, he adds, new infections, some of which were unheard of 20 to 30 years ago, are appearing daily.

"Certain sectors of the population — including the elderly, diabetics, alcoholics, drug addicts and people with chronic lung ailments — are more than ordinarily vulnerable to potentially life-threatening infections," says Lentnek, who is also director of medical affairs for Smith Kline & French Laboratories here.

"This group is expanding rapidly, and in turn, putting other sectors of the population at risk of acquiring these infections," he says. "It is not possible to predict who will develop an infection, but people who are at risk of infection can be identified."

A critical aspect of treating infections is early recognition of the disease, Lentnek points out.

"By defining high-risk groups we can alert these people to be on the lookout for early symptoms and to take precautionary measures," he explains. "We can also inform general physicians in the community about which of their patients are most likely to develop infectious diseases."

"The scope of the infectious disease problem is immense," says Dr. James Pennington of the Infectious Diseases Division, Harvard Medical School. "And it is complicated by the fact that the broad spectrum antibiotics we use to combat infection can make the patient susceptible to other infections."

According to Pennington, there are many measures which can be taken to help control and contain infection and infectious diseases.

"Each group defined can take precautionary measures," he says. "For example, the elderly are highly vulnerable to respiratory tract infections such as pneumonia and influenza. They should consider a flu vaccination, which has been recommended for people over 65 by the Public Health Service.

"Diabetics should take special precautions against foot infections, including examining their feet daily and grooming them with special care. People suffering from lung diseases such as asthma or bronchitis should not smoke, should consider a regular exercise program, and keep to an ideal weight."

To fight infection, adds Lentnek, "we need a partnership between physicians, patients and the pharmaceutical industry.

"Physicians must acquaint themselves with the categories of patients at risk; individuals at risk must learn about their condition, be alert, and modify their habits where necessary; and the pharmaceutical industry must continue its efforts to provide the safest, most effective antibiotics possible."

Blushing at meetings may be harmful to job

By COTTEN TIMBERLAKE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Cunningham's first job interview with William Agee, chairman of Bendix Corp., took place at 7:30 a.m. in a suite at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. Naturally, she was nervous. And her teacup rattled.

Anybody in such a situation would probably get rattled. And sweat. Or twitch.

What happened instead to Ms. Cunningham is a blusher's nightmare-come-true: "I felt my neck turn hot and red," she said.

Agee nevertheless hired Ms. Cunningham, quickly promoted her to vice president and, as noted in reams of gossipy news copy, eventually married her.

But the 32-year-old Harvard MBA, who wears high-neck blouses even in July to hide her redness, said of her blushing, "It's not an asset."

For countless other blushers, it can be a definite liability.

Philip G. Zimbardo, author of the book "Shyness," quotes an unidentified middle-aged salesman:

"This is most distressing to me as it hinders my involvement in many activities that my line of work leads me toward. Public speaking is out of the realm of possibility, small group discussions are rarely handled well, and occasionally, even face-to-face communication is difficult without showing signs of embarrassment. The situation is getting progressively worse."

A young business executive told the author, "The energy diverted by the shyness-blushing syndrome has undoubtedly prevented my movement into higher responsibility."

Researchers have various theories about blushing, which is one of the most visible symptoms of anxiety and therefore one of the most disturbing.

"Blushing is clearly the one you can't hide," said Dr. Benjamin D. Reese Jr., a clinical psychologist at the Fifth Avenue Center for Counseling and Psychotherapy in New York City. "It's easier to put your hand to your face to hide a quiver or not take your jacket off if you're perspiring like mad."

People who blush frequently and habitually are called erythrophobes. Humans of all races and skin pigmentations blush. Experts believe people blush only after reaching the age of 6 and that women blush more than men and the young more than the old. Thomas Scheff, a social psychologist who teaches at the University of California at Santa Barbara, said, "The intensity varies a lot. Sometimes they're only a couple of seconds, sometimes they go on five or 10 minutes," frequently in waves.

Although blushing generally occurs only in the face and the upper part of the body, Scheff said, "Some people tell me in the interview that they blush down to their navel."

But not much about blushing has been confirmed. William Rickles, a psychiatrist who practices in Los Angeles, said, "Because it doesn't kill you, nobody has done very much work on it."

"I think most psychologists would agree it's a cognitive evaluation," said Reese. "What is the evaluation? You don't fit in: 'This is a setting where I feel little.' It's an evaluation of myself vis-a-vis the environment."

He added, however, "Blushing is often not an issue in and of itself. It's related to general anxiety and general shyness. All blushing isn't a result of lack of confidence, just as people who lack as much confidence as they would like don't all blush."

Scheff's theory is that "blushing is surely about shame. Shame that is evoked but not acknowledged. You can acknowledge and laugh. But you cannot acknowledge and blush."

"There's a lot of shame in a business context," he added. "Your work is always being evaluated by a superior. There's a temptation to feel inadequate when being compared to others."

"Feeling evaluated negatively, it can be very subtle. It doesn't have to be very flagrant. They can talk about your work or ask you about your work, and you jump to the conclusion that they're thinking something negative about it."

"If you're being ashamed of being ashamed, you can go around and around forever in that one. That's why it gets so intense." Reese warns managers against being overly critical of blushers.

"Certain symptoms of interpersonal anxiety don't necessarily turn out to mean that he will turn out to be a bad employee for the company," he said. "I would caution employees and employers against taking blushing as a sign of lower competence."
