How's that? Rings

Q. What do the Olympic rings and the flame stand for? Also. what does the Oympic motto "Citius, Altius, Fortius" mean?

A. The five rings are linked together to represent the sporting friendship of all peoples. They also symbolize the five continents: Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and America. Each ring is a different color: blue, yellow, black, green, and

The flame symbolizes the continuity between the ancient and modern games. The modern version of the flame was adopted in 1936. The torch used to kindle the flame is first lit by the sun's rays at Olympia, Greece, and then carried to the site of the Games by relays of runners.

The motto, coined by Father Didon, a French educator, in 1895, means "faster, higher, braver" or the modern interpretation "swifter, higher, stronger.'

Games close in style

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A flying saucer hovered over Memorial Coliseum, fireworks filled the air and blue lasers lighted the sky Sunday night as the torch of the 23rd Olympiad was doused and crowd of 92,000 bid farewell with a Hollywood-style party.

The sounds of church bells launched the closing extravaganza and a flock of white pigeons flew into the flag-draped Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Flags from all 140 countries at the Games were paraded onto the field and about half of the more than 7,300 athletes who participated in the Games swarmed onto the field, waving to the crowd. Many were wearing their Olympic medals.

The boisterous closing celebration, viewed by tens of millions around the world, included lasers, dancing from ballet to breakin', the beams from 90,000 flashlights handed out to spectators, and Lionel Richie singing a special version of "All Night Long" that included lyrics he wrote especially for the closing.

The sellout crowd had earlier watched on huge television sereens as the 107 marathoners wound their way on a 26.2-mile course that ended at the finish line in the Coliseum.

The United States won 174 medals in the Games, a performance highlighted by Carl Lewis's four golds. West Germany was next with 59, including 17 gold, followed by Romania with 53, 20 of them gold.

A Soviet cargo carrier struck a mine in the Red Sea, one of at least 16 ships damaged by explosions there in the past month, Lloyd's of London reported today.

The Bastion, a 633-ton refrigerator cargo fish carrier, hit the mine Aug. 6. Lloyd's did not receive a report of the hit until today, said Roger Lowes, a spokesman for the insurance underwriter's Shipping Intelligence Department.

"Another Russian vessel was in the area to assist if required," Lowes said. It was not known how much the Bastion was damaged or whether it needed aid, he said, adding his information came from "a reliable source."

At least 16 ships plying the Red Sea have been damaged by explosions in the past month, Lowes

He also said "an unnamed Egyptian destroyer investigating a report of black barrel-shaped objects in water" on Saturday reported an explosion off Shaker Island in the Gulf of Suez.

The official Polish news agency PAP reported Saturday that the Polish cargo ship Jozef Wybicki struck a mine near the southern end of the Red Sea, but the Lloyd's report was the first of an explosion Saturday in the Gulf of Suez, the Red Sea's northwestern fork.

Iran and the Soviet Union today accused the United States of exploiting the explosions in the Red Sea to expand its regional military presence. One Soviet commentator said the Pentagon wants to turn the sea into an "American lake."

Britain's embassy in Cairo, the Egyptian capital, said four British minesweepers will go through the Suez Canal on Tuesday and the next day begin searching for

At Egypt's request, Britain, the United States and France have minesweeping equipment en route to the Red Sea and the Gulf of Suez to join the Egyptian navy in detecting and destroying mines and securing passage of navigation. The sea is the shortest water route between the Middle East oil fields and the Western world.

Diplomatic sources in Cairo said no mines had been recovered as of early today.

The four British ships will arrive

Wednesday at the Egyptian naval base of Atiba, six miles southeast of Suez City at the southern end of the 100 mile-long canal, said the British mbassy official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

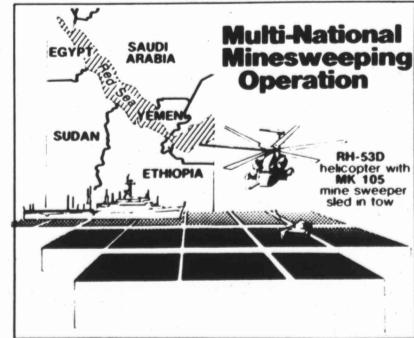

"We expect our hunters to operate at the head of the Gulf of Suez, and the Egyptian and Americans to operate toward the southern end and in the Red Sea," he said.

'Some ships which have been damaged have been inspected, but the evidence has been inconclusive," the British diplomat said. "The damage definitely was caused by an underwater explosion, but we can't say what kind."

In Moscow, commentator Vladimir Nakaryakov of the Soviet news agency Novosti said, "it would be extreme naivete to believe that Washington has planned a humane act" in dispatching its minesweepers.

He referred to what he said was "the quite recent mining of Nicaragua's ports" by the CIA, but did not accuse the U.S. intelligence agency outright of mining the Red

However, Nakaryakov said the Pentagon orchestrated the Red Sea mining in order to bolster U.S. military power in the region.

Rainfall continues

By the Associated Press

A weak surface air mass brought scattered showers and thunderstorms today from the southern high plains of West Texas to the Coastal Bend, and forecasters predicted rainfall should continue in western and eastern

The National Weather Service said dense fog was reported on the Texas Gulf Coast near Houston and near College Station. And skies were cloudy in the upper coastal plains, South Central Texas and much of the Edwards Plateau, High Plains and Panhandle.

Elsewhere in the state, skies were clear. Winds were light and variable in most areas. Temperatures ranged from the 60s to 70s. Extreme low readings were 59 degrees at Marfa and 78 at Kingsville.

The weather service said scattered thunderstorms were expected over western, central and northern sections of the state through Tuesday. Skies should be mostly cloudy over much of South Texas, with numerous thunderstorms, the weather service said. Otherwise, partly cloudy conditions were expected with widely scattered thunderstorms over West and East Texas.

High temperatures Tuesday should range from 93 to 98 in North Texas, with scattered afternoon thunderstorms. In West Texas, highs Tuesday were expected from the mid 80s in the Panhandle to the upper 90s in the Big Bend of the Rio Grande.

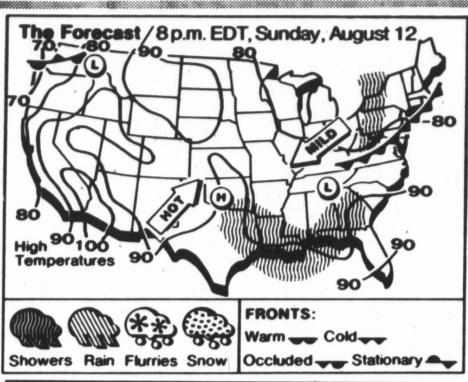

Showers and thunderstorms erupted at scattered locations across the upper Ohio Valley early today and fanned out over the mid-Atlantic states, the southern Atlantic Coast and the Gulf Coast states.

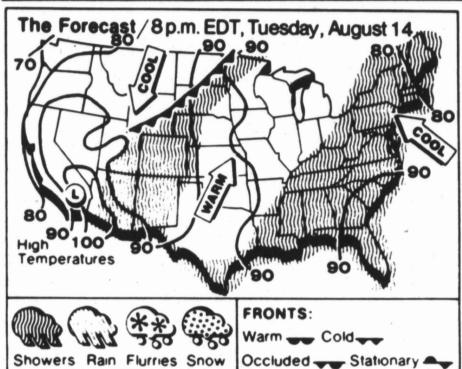

Up to 8 inches of rain fell over the weekend in the Virginias, and rains threatened more flooding today. On Sunday, about 60 residents of Armstrong County in western Pennsylvania were evacuated in floods, and 14 West Virginia counties were under a flood watch early

Other storms hit the lower Mississippi Valley, eastern Colorado and northern New Mexico, the northern Rockies and northern Nevada.

Today's forecast called for showers and thunderstorms to be scattered from New England to Florida, then across the Gulf Coast states to central Texas.

West Texas: Partly cloudy tonight with isolated showers and thunderstorms most sections, showers more numerous southwest this afternoon. Mostly sunny Tuesday except for isolated afternoon thunderstorms southwest. Highs Tuesday mid 80s panhandle to upper 90s Big Bend of the Rio Grande. Lows tonight upper 50s mountains to mid 60s Permian Basin to lower 70s Big Bend valleys.

Mondale has volunteered that he would raise taxes to help slash the deficit by two-thirds by the end of his term, if elected.

In his statement, Reagan chided Mondale for turning to tax increases as "a first resort," while "for me, it is a last resort."

He said voters will be offered "a nent, who promises to raise taxes, and me, who will do everything I can to avoid having to." He again charged that Mondale's deficitreducing plans and other programs would require $135 billion in new tax revenue, equal to $1,500 for every American household.

County Judge Milton Kirby also supported the raise. "Road and bridge is not the only thing. There are other projects besides road and bridge. That's the only thing you fellows think of - road and bridge," he said, referring to other commissioners.

In other action, commisioners agreed to study a proposal by Interior Designer Bill Brooks on Courthouse space problems.

Brooks made three proposals to the commissioners: to add onto the Courthouse; to build an annex about a block away from the building; and to build a combined jail and law enforcement office complex, which might also include other county offices.

Brooks said the first proposal would be expensive because of the type of construction. It would also mar the "architectural beauty" of the present building, he said.

The most expedient of the three proposals, Brooks said, is the plan for building an annex. He said the annex would include the tax assesor-collector's office, the automobile department, the tax appraisal office, the county agent's office and the county engineer's

The space vacated by these offices would be remodeled to add room to the county clerk's and sheriff's offices on the first floor and the county auditor's and the juvenile probation offices on the second floor.

The third proposal, to combine a jail, sheriff's office and other law enforcement agencies in a separate building, would be the most expensive, Brooks said. However, commissioners said construction of a new jail would be necessary within the next four to five years to prevent the present jail from being de-certified.

The same offices that would be included in the annex might also be included in this proposal, Brooks said, providing that business offices had a separate entrance for security reasons.

It said "Washington's plot" also was meant to "prevent the passage of Iran's commercial vessels through the Red Sea with the ultimate idea of exerting increased economic pressure upon Iran," and to "muzzle Moslem revolutionaries in Egypt by accusing them of complicity with foreign agents in making the region instable."

Joke makes the news

LOS ANGELES — White House officials maintained a stony silence toward widespread reports that President Reagan had joked into a microphone Saturday that the United States would bomb the Soviet Union "in five minutes."

Gannett News Service, CBS radio and other news outlets all reported that Reagan made the joke while testing a microphone in preparation for his regular weekly radio address, which on Saturday dealt with criticism of the House Democratic

Reagan was quoted in the CBS report as saying in a clearly joking tone: "My fellow Americans. I am pleased to announce I just signed legislation that will outlaw Russia forever. We begin bombing in five minutes."

Ferraro reverses herself

SAN DIEGO - Geraldine Ferraro prides herself on straight talk, but she has reversed herself on release of her husband's income tax returns, saying she won't make them public as part of her promised full financial disclosure.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee said Sunday that she tried unsuccessfully to convince her husband John Zaccaro to file his tax return with the family's financial disclosure form next

Her husband, she said, is afraid release would hurt his real estate business.

"His reaction was, 'I won't tell you how to run the country and don't you tell me how to run my business," she said Sunday in Washington before taking off on a five-day tour through California, Oregon and Washington state, her first solo campaign swing as vice presidential nominee.

Then, she quipped: "So you people married to Italian men, you know what it's like."

Motorist dies in crash

SAN FRANCISCO - A motorist waited for a tourist-filled cable car, then gunned his engine, crossed a double-yellow line and rammed it at 60 mph, killing himself and sending passengers hurtling through the air, injuring 26 people, authorities said.

"I've never seen one like this, a head-on collision, apparently deliberately, at speed," said Art Curtis, San Francisco Municipal Railway operations manager.

The San Francisco County Coroner's Office has identified the driver of the automobile as in his mid-30s, but is withholding his name pending notification of relatives.

Passengers, mostly tourists, were smashed into windows of the vintage car and some were tossed into the street when the two vehicles collided at SEATTLE - A hoax by two jail inmates who claimed to have committed some of the Green River killings provided an unusually public glimpse of the mammoth but frustrating efforts by a 41-member task force to find out who killed at least 26 young women.

The Green River Task Force has chased thousands of tips, investigated several confessions and sifted through 5,000 to 6,000 suspect names in its search to solve the slayings in the

But Capt. Frank Adamson, who has headed the task force since December, said he can't predict how near — or how far away — an arrest may be.

Two San Francisco jail inmates grabbed headlines last week by calling a newspaper and confessing in separate interviews to killing 16 women in Washington and Oregon.

Robert Matthias, jailed on robbery and burglary charges, eventually admitted he and fellow inmate Richard Carbone researched the Green River slayings in newspapers.

STARTS RIOT — American lawyer Martin Galvin prepares to mount the speakers platform at the headquarters of the Sinn Fein Sunday. Before he could address the crowd, troops stormed the building in an attempt to arrest him. The British government banned him from entering Northern Ireland.

Police search for American IRA sympathizer in Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Police searched Roman Catholic west Belfast today for banned IRA sympathizer Martin Galvin after the New York attorney escaped during a police assault on the headquarters of the IRA's political front.

One civilian was killed and 20 wounded, including women and children, when officers of the Royal Ulster Constabulary stormed the Sinn Fein headquarters during a rally Sunday, swinging truncheons and firing plastic bullets.

The assault by the predominantly Protestant police force touched off a wave of gasoline bomb attacks on police patrols by Catholic youngsters. A police spokesman, Inspector Bernie Hamilton, said police were attacked in Catholic areas of Belfast as rioters hijacked cars and set them afire to form blazing barricades.

He said police fired more plastic bullets to disperse the crowds, but no serious casualties were reported. During the hunt for Galvin, police seized caches of milk-bottle gasoline bombs, Hamilton said. Also Sunday, police reported the death of the 199th officer to be killed since Northern Ireland's sectarian blood feud began its current phase on Aug. 12, 1969. Sunday was the 15th anniversary of that date. Hamilton said Sgt. Malcolm White, 26, died in a hospital from wounds he suffered in an Irish Republican Army landmine ambush in County

Tyrone on Saturday, Sunday's fatalities raised the known death toll in Northern Ireland over the past 15 years to at least 2,386, — 44 of them this year. The man slain in the police assault was named by Sinn Fein as Sean Downs, 22, was killed when a police officer fired one of the rock-hard plastic bullets at a range of about six feet. The 4-inch-long plastic bullets were designed to be fired from more than 30 feet at human targets. The police moved in when Galvin appeared at the rally to defy a British ban on him entering Northern

The aid committee, in a statement issued today in New York, denounced the police attack as "unprovoked and savage." It also accused the U.S. State Department of collaborating with Britain to curb travel to Northern Ireland by Americans.

Several thousand Catholics, including a 130-member delegation from the aid committee giving clenched fist salutes, attended Sunday's rally, organized by Sinn Fein to mark the 13th anniversary of the introduction of internment without trial for suspected guerrillas on Aug. 9, 1971.

Galvin was introduced by Sinn Fein's president, Gerry Adams. The American emerged from Sinn Fein headquarters and rushed up to the microphone with arms outstretched in a victory salute as the crowd cheered.

But he never said a word. As police swept in, Adams grabbed his arm and pushed him back into the two-story building. Policemen wearing riot helmets and bulletproof vests smashed down the door, but Galvin had gone.

Outside, demonstrators and reporters dived for cover during a seven-minute barrage of plastic bullets. No live rounds were fired. The Royal Ulster Constabulary claimed in a statement that police took action after they were attacked by "stone throwing rioters." But newsmen at the scene witnessed no such attacks when the police charged the Sinn Fein headquarters. Northern Ireland's Catholic politicians and the government of the neighboring Irish Republic condemned the police assault. Peter Barry, the republic's foreign minister, voiced "serious concern" at the actions of the police, who swept in firing the plastic bullets, often at pointblank range, on unarmed Catholics. Dublin's Foreign Affairs Ministry in a statement

"expressed to a representative of the British Embassy its concern at the police action.' It said Barry urged "that appropriate action be taken" against the police, an apparent demand that British authorities bring criminal charges against police officers. The Northern Ireland Office, the government department that administers the province, blamed Sinn Fein for the violence.

JAFFNA, Sri Lanka - Army troops set fire to the Tamil-dominated town of Mannar in retaliation for a guerrilla ambush of a military convoy, official sources said today.

The sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said more than 3,000 families lost their homes in the army action Sunday in the town 50 miles south of Jaffna on the Gulf of Mannar."Only four to five buildings have been left standing in Mannar," one source said.

The national security minister confirmed that houses were set afire in Mannar and said an inquiry was under way to determine who was responsible. The Roman Catholic bishop of Mannar said soldiers rampaged through the steets of the town in retaliation for a rebel attack.

The herbicide Agent Orange was sprayed from U.S. aircraft over Vietnam from March 1965 until June 1970.

It was used as a weapon — to defoliate the jungle, to uncover the hiding places of the enemy and to destroy the enemy's

In those five years, more than 11.3 million gallons of Agent Orange were dumped over jungles, forests, rice paddies and rivers. Areas near U.S. military bases often were sprayed

It is estimated that the total amount of Agent Orange used over Vietnam contained about 350 pounds of a toxic contaminant called dioxin. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency describes dioxin as "one of the most perplexing and potentially dangerous chemicals ever to pollute the environment."

Now, 14 years later, thousands of Vietnam veterans blame their health problems, and the health problems of their offsprings, on exposure to the dioxin contained in Agent Orange.

A class action suit was filed by a group of veterans in 1979 against seven chemical companies that manufactured Agent Orange for the government. The day the trial was to begin, an out-of-court settlement was reached. The chemical companies agreed to set up a $180 million fund to pay legitimate health claims to 16,000 plaintiff veterans and their children. First awards for damages are not expected to be made until 1986.

Thousands of others who served in Vietnam rightly or wrongly believe they too suffer from exposure to Agent Orange. A total of 138,000 of them have registered their healthproblem concerns with the Agent Orange Projects Office of the U.S. Veterans Administration.

Many veterans complain that the VA has turned a deaf ear to their problems. Only after Congress adopted legislation in 1981, over the VA's objections, have veterans become eligible for disability benefits linked to toxic herbicides. Since then, 20,000 veterans who believe they have been made ill by Agent Orange have been treated in VA health-care facilities and thousands of other have received care as outpatients.

Most scientists agree that humans suffer short-term disorders from exposure to dioxin. These include nervous system disturbances, liver poisoning, fatigue and chloracne, a disfiguring acne appearing on the face, back and neck.

The long-term effects of dioxin are still disputed. At the current time, federal agencies are conducting 65 studies on Agent Orange. The matter is sure to be a continuing controversy.

What is the government's role in the matter? Compensation for all who claim injury from the Vietnam War is not the answer. It would become a boondoggle and enrich some who are least entitled to claim government support.

What the government must do is continue Agent Orange research and to provide the best and most comprehensive and compassionate medical care to those most clearly suffering the physical aftereffects of exposure.

Hatfield friend is real McCoy from Greece, she adds.

WASHINGTON — Witnesses have given the Senate Ethics Committee sworn statements that contradict Sen. Mark Hatfield's account of his dealings with Greek arms merchant Basil Tsakos

After I raised questions about the Tsakos-Hatfield relationship, the Oregon Republican asked the committee to investigate the matter to clear his name. His request came after the committee had already taken affidavits from two former employees of

According to the sworn statements, which have been obtained by my associate Corky Johnson, the ex-employees believe Hatfield did not give the press an accurate account of the Tsakos affair.

They dispute, for example, Hatfield's explanation of the moiney that Tsakos paid to the senator's wife, Antoinette. They say that payments totaling about $40,000 were made to Mrs. Hatfield during the same two-year period that the senator was helping Tsakos promote a $15 billion trans-African pipeline project. The senator contends that the money was a

"finder's fee" for his wife's work in locating a Watergate condominium for Tsakos and a professional fee for her consultation on remodeling the

But Tsakos' former employee, Marilyn Mangan accused Hatfield in her sworn statement of "lying about (the) money received by his wife." The affidavit called the senator's account "a significant transgression of public good faith, of outright lies.' Ms. Mangan also said the Greek arms merchant treated Hatfield like an "errand boy."

Here are other details from the sworn statement: - Tsakos' former personal assistant, Margaret Stocker, said that she was the one who had supervised the Watergate apartment renovation and that Mrs. Hatfield was not involved. "Mrs. Hatfield was never anywhere near the apartment when it was redone," the affidavit states

It was inconceivable that Mrs. Hatfield could have been consulted, Ms. Stocker claims, because of the "totally Greek style" of the renovation. "He was making a Greek temple out of it," the affidavit says. According to Ms. Stocker, Tsakos first hired the Lascaris Design Group, run by a Greek, Climis Lascaris. Many of the furnishings were imported

Fran Cowan, the decorator from Lascaris who handled the job, also told my associate that Mrs. Hatfield was not involved

When Lascaris dropped out over a money dispute, the Tsakos assistant recounts, Greek architect Jason Rizes was brought eve from Athens to continue the work. During that time, Ms. Stocker swears, she hired all the workers and was with Mrs. Tsakos when the drapes and carpets were selected. She also kept the books and wrote the checks for the renovation. She issued no funds to Mrs. Hatfield, Ms. Stocker says, and the senator's wife was never mentioned.

 Ms. Stocker also attests that she wrote a check for $5,000 to Susan Hurley, for setting up the apartment purchase. Ms. Hurley told my associate it was she, not Mrs. Hatfield, who introduced the Tsakoses to the apartment sellers, David and Sarah Yerkes.

- Two of the checks delivered to Mrs. Hatfield were written to "the bearer" and recorded as paid to "A.H.," Ms. Stocker said.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am still a teen-ager — I'm 16 — but I think I am in love with a woman who is more than twice my age. She works at the place where I recently got a job. She doesn't know my feelings, but do you think there is any future in this? - D.S.A.

DEAR D.S.A.: Frankly, you should face the fact that there is no future in this kind of relationship and not allow yourself to get emotionally involved in daydreams that will only hurt you eventually. I am not saying people must always be the same age when they marry; there are certainly happy couples who have rather large differences in their ages. But the gap in

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - About 60 people went fishing in an urban bayou with rakes and pitchforks, and came up with a truckload of slimy weeds, grocery carts, tires, bottles and soggy carpeting.

We pulled up 10 grocery carts by 11 a.m.," said Ken Twitchell. 'We pulled out an entire trash bag. You can figure the whole bottom of the bayou looks like this."

Bayou St. John, which stretches down one side of New Orleans City Park, is home to turtles, ducks, and about 50,000 fish brought in by the state Department of Wildlife and Fisheries maturity and experience between you and this person (whom you hardly know) is almost certainly too great right now.

But I also want you to think through what it means to be in love. Love is a wonderful gift that God has given us - and in fact, the greatest example of love is God himself. But love is more than an emotional feeling or sexual attraction — no matter what the popular songs may say. When you love someone you not only may have emotional feelings about them, but with your will you have made a commitment to do whatever is best for them. Love, in other words, is the exact opposite of selfishness. The Bible says, "Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs" (1 Corinthians 13:4-5).

Right now you are very interested in the whole subject of love. But have you discovered the greatest love of all - God's love for you? The most important thing you can do is open your heart to Christ, asking Him to come in and be your Savior and Lord. Then ask Him to help you understand what true love is, and to seek His will for this very important area of your life.

A move of that size constitutes a full-scale rally all by itself. So the professional managers, moving in a herd with computer-like efficiency, impart great velocity to ups and downs. Markets have become highly volatile.

The latest signal for a simultaneous move by so many of the money managers was testimony to the Senate Banking Committee by Chairman Paul Volcker of the Federal Reserve Board on July 25. Volcker expressed the belief that inflation would stay low for the rest of the year and that the Fed would probably not be obliged to slow down the economy by raising interest rates. Since many financial gurus had been pessimistic about inflation, the managers had been holding back from stocks in favor of investments that rise with inflation. Once assured that interest rates would hold for a while, they plunged en masse into the stock market.

> READING, Pa. (AP) — Riding high in the cool of the evening, Stephen is dressed the part of the cowboy - jeans, leather jacket, boots and hat. His horse is strong and sleek, its muscles rippling a smooth brown coat.

But the horse is gentle - gentle enough for the mentally retarded. Gentle enough for Stephen.

Once Stephen is in the saddle, his

Proof is in the activity at Mount View Farm, Mountain Road,

Tilden Township, where eight clients from the Hamburg Center are taking turns riding two horses. The clients, ranging in age from 13 to 30, have the potential to become physically stronger and mentally sharper from exercises and activities they are paced through on a horse.

Kenneth Purcell, director of seasonal activities at the center, said clients get an increased sense of body awareness and balance from horseback riding.

Purcell said following instructions and making the horse move from verbal and physical commands give the handicapped more self-confidence.

The program seeks to increase their self-confidence and the ability to follow instructions, and to familiarize them with different surroundings.

"Sometimes," said Purcell, "it's an accomplishment to even get everyone off the bus when we arrive, with the farm dogs barking and running around. And, a client must be comfortable enough with a horse to even participate.' The handicapped are asked to perform simple exercises on the horses. Even touching a shoulder, a hip or a knee while moving on the horse is not an easy task. During a lesson, the rider is guided in pacing the horse through wooden planks, weaving through old tires set 10 feet apart, grabbing a stick from a bucket while mounted, then riding across the yard to place the stick into another bucket.

The obstacle course on the yard is altered. Then the client must look at the particular obstacle, think, and decide what commands

Waitresses say tips aren't treats, but survival

DEAR ABBY: I'm a waitress who just returned home after putting in 10 hours at a restaurant. I started to relax with the newspaper when I read the letter in your column from a man signed, "Loves to Travel in Oak Park, Ill." He says he and "the wife" eat out a lot, and instead of leaving a tip, he leaves an inspirational religious tract! He says he and his wife have taken some lovely trips with the money

Abby, I've been a waitress for 13 years. My salary right now is $1.65 an hour. I am divorced and have three children to support, and I couldn't make it on my salary alone. I need my tips to live. I love to travel, too, but I haven't had a to take home.

STEAMED IN RICHMOND, VA. DEAR ABBY: I'm a waitress and single parent in Seattle, raising four children on the money I earn from tips. In this state, restaurants are not required to pay minimum wages - and an employer can get away with paying as low as half the minimum wage. Many of the better restaurants here start their waitpersons at $2.30 an hour, and if the establishment serves cocktails, I have to split my tips with the bartender, the captain and the busboy. After the federal government takes 8 percent for assumed tips, there's not a heck of a lot left

If we could keep 100 percent of our tips, we would be overjoyed. But if we got religious tracts instead of money, we wouldn't even service! break even.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Would you tell me about cellulite reduction by surgical suction? I am interested in this procedure for my thighs, although I don't know much about it. Is it dangerous? Is it very expensive? I've lost about 30 pounds in about 10 months, but diet and exercise have not done anything for my thighs! For the record, I'm a 25-year-old female (with fat thighs). - Mrs. P.O.

Can't we all call cellulite by its real name, as you do. It's fat. I don't know where that word cellulite was born, but by any other name, that's what it is, fat.

Suction lipectomy has been done for years in Europe. A small incision is made and a hollow tube inserted. Then tunnels of fat are sucked out. After the fat tissue has been removed in this way, pressure is applied in the area. That collapses the tunnels and evens out the skin contours. That's it.

Is it the answer to all obesity? Of course not. To those who have the idea that such surgery is a way to avoid diet and exercise to lose unwanted fat deposits, I have to say technique for shaping certain body areas that resist the effects of the bursa on the back of the knee. it general weight loss through cutting calories and becoming physically active. It's best for those under 35 who, like yourself, have been left with areas of stubborn fat despite efforts at conventional loss.

It's safe because surgeons skillful in its use have made it so. But, as with any surgery, safety is a relative word. You can have a large bruise develop, but that goes away. And there have been times when nerves have been damaged, leaving peculiar sensations for a time. And you cannot expect miracles from it. Costs? I have estimates ranging from $750 to

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have just had a Baker's cyst the size of a grapefruit removed from my knee. Would you please explain why and how they start and if there is a chance of it returning? - Mr. F.M.

Have you ever heard of housemaid's knee? That is inflammation of the bursa in the front part of the knee caused by chronic irritation of the area, presumably from kneeling down on hard kitclearly that it isn't. It's a cosmetic chen floors. A Baker's cyst is the reverse of that, inflammation of fills with fluid to form a cyst, which can become quite large.

Children form Baker's cysts, often because of some irritation, just as in housemaid's knee. In adults, the problem often reflects trouble inside the knee related to arthritis or cartilage damage. If your internal knee joint is in good shape, and if the cyst was completely removed, there should be no recurrence and you should not have trouble from it in the future.

FOR J.D. — It's best to get the flu vaccine by the end of November when possible. That allows for protection to be afforded in time for the usual mid-winter flu invasion.

Do you often have a "stomach ache"? If so, your stomach may not be the real trouble spot. The booklet, "Stomach and Other Abdominal Pains: A Checklist," tells you why. For a copy, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.00.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever

America's Olympic finale brings in more gold

LOS ANGELES (AP) -America's Olympic party ended Sunday - bathed in celebration, gold medals for the United States and gold in the coffers of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee.

It was farewell to an Olympics where Americans fared very well, amassing a record 83 gold medals in 15 days of competition.

The United States won three more gold medals on the final day of the XXIII Olympiad, in diving, equestrian and sychronized swimming.

The 1984 Olympics officially ended with a bash on the green carpeted floor of the Coliseum — to the music of Lionel Richie and the finish of the men's marathon.

This finale was no ordinary party.

It was a spectacle of dazzling light, dance and sound. It was a 1984 party with space ships and laser and breakdancers and fireworks. Everyone was invited.

It was a party in Los Angeles, in America, but the world was its guest.

It was 100,000 people lighting the night with flashlights. It was Auld Lang Syne. It was a night of fun. And it was a goodbye to the Summer Olympics.

The games of these Games ended earlier in the day.

A 37-year-old runner from Portgual won the marathon in an upset, beating the previous Olympic best by 35 seconds.

Carlos Lopes, the world crosscountry champion but running in only his third marathon, was half a lap ahead of his closest rival as he ran through the tunnel and completed the final lap inside the Coliseum, where a boisterous, cheering crowd greeted him.

America's Pete Pfitzinger 11th, while teammate Alberto Salazar finished 15th.

Greg Louganis broke a diving barrier of 700 points and became the first man in 56 years to win two Olympic diving gold

His gold put the United States over the all-time gold-medal

Then, Tracie Ruiz, of Bothell, won her second gold medal of the Olympics in sychonrized swimming, adding the individual title to the gold she won in the duet.

The last American gold medal was won by Joe Fargis of Petersburg, Va., in equestrian show jumping on Touch of Class. Conrad Homfeld, also of Petersburg, took the silver, on Abdullah.

Louganis, of Mission Viejo, Calif., performed the difficult "dive of death" on his last of 10 dives, and that performance put him over the 700-point mark. He chalked up five perfect scores of 10 during the finals and had no score lower than 8.5 on his first four dives.

The 700-point mark had been eclipsed in 1980 by all five of the eight finalists, when 15 dives were counted in the point total. This year, only 10 dives were counted.

Teammate Bruce Kimball, of Ann Arbor, Mich., the only man to defeat Louganis in five years, won the silver medal.

Louganis, who earlier won the springboard diving gold, finished with 710.91 points. Kimball, making a fine comeback on the last two dives, finished with 643.50 points, while Li Kongzheng of China took the bronze with 638.28 points.

Louganis said he knew what was on the line when he took his last dive, a 31/2 reverse somersault from 33 feet above the water, a dive where his head must clear the edge of the platform — a dive that killed a Soviet diver at the World University Games one year ago.

"I kinda had a feeling," Louganis said, referring to the impending record. "I tried to block it all out."

The result was a breathtaking dive from high above the water. "I feel like I was at home, I was prepared, I was ready.'

The crowd enjoyed the moment of history, rising in a standing ovation. Louganis bowed in

The gold and silver in equestrian gave the United States a total of 174 medals, including 83 golds, 31 silvers and 60 bronze. West Germany was second with 59 medals, including 17 gold, 19 silver and 23

Romania, the only Eastern bloc country attending the Games, was in third place with 53 medals — 20 gold, 16 silver and 17 bronze. Canada was fourth with 43 medals, including 10 gold, 17 silver and 16 bronze.

Lopes won the marathon in a record 2 hours, 9 minutes, 21 seconds.

The silver medal in the 26-mile, 365-yard race went to John Treacy of Irland, with Charles Spedding of Britain taking the bronze.

The Games of the XXIII Olympiad were America's Games, built on free enterprise and showcasing the nation's best. It even was expected to turn a handsome profit, according to LAOOC president Peter V. Ueberroth. So, it was a party of gold for U.S. athletes and for the Olympic committee.

It was a party where the United States won at least one medal in 21 of 23 sports, missing only handball and soccer.

It was a party of records, many by Americans. But the fabled record of Jesse Owens, which Carl Lewis matched, will be the standout.

It was a party for American women, who won 61 medals -27gold — far surpassing their previous best of 33 medals and 15 gold in 1968.

It was a celebration for America in swimming, gymnastics, boxing, track and field and shooting. World or Olympic records were broken in each of those sports.

It was a celebration for athletes, for the crowds, for the city, for the country, for the

Hogeboom injury puts damper quarterback duel

It was, however, a party without important guests - the Soviet Union, the East Germans, the Cubans and others who chose to boycott the Games. The soaring U.S. medals total showed how much they were missed.

It was a 1984 happening for heros and stars, for the couragous and the disappointed. For Carl Lewis, prince of track and field, who won four gold medals.

For Ruth Owens, widow of Jesse, who smiled in joy when Lewis matched her husband's

For Mary Decker and Zola Budd, whose dreams were shattered in the women's 3,000 meter race.

Tigers down Royals to takes series sweep

BY The Associated Press Everything's up to date in Kansas City — for the Detroit Tigers. The Tigers staggered into Kansas City with 12 losses in their previous 18 games and their lead over Toronto in the American League East having shrunk from 121/2 to eight games in less than a week. But Darrell Evans, Ruppert

Jones and Alan Trammell each drove in two runs Sunday as Detroit defeated the Royals 8-4 to sweep a three-game weekend series. Coupled with Toronto's 5-4 loss to Baltimore, the Tigers headed home with a nine-game bulge.

In the AL West, Minnesota remained 11/2 games ahead of California with a 3-0 victory over Seattle while the Angels outlasted Oakland Elsewhere, Cleveland ended New York's domination with a 6-0 triumph, Milwaukee trounced Chicago 8-1 and Boston edged Texas 3-2 in 11 innings

Orioles 5, Blue Jays 4 After Dave Stieb blanked the Orioles on four hits for seven innings, he left with a blister on his pitching hand and they jumped on Roy Lee Jackson and Jimmy Key for five runs in the eighth. A throwing error by Toronto shortstop Alfredo Griffin and singles by Dan Ford and Cal Ripken Jr. loaded the bases. Eddie Murray tripled to tie the score and one out later Young belted his ninth home run.

Twins 3, Mariners 0

Frank Viola scattered six hits and struck out four in hurling his fourth shutout of the season. Minnesota took a 1-0 lead against Mike Moore in the first inning when Andre David doubled, continued to third on right fielder Al Cowens' throwing error and scored on Kent Hrbek's grounder. The Twins added a run in the second when Gary-Gaetti walked.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — An arm inthe Cowboys to a 24-13 exhibition jury to Gary Hogeboom may have diminished somewhat the controversy over who should be starting at quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys, but the issue certainly

"I'm not speculating anything. A lot of things can happen," Coach Tom Landry said Saturday night after Hogeboom had to be lifted in favor of Danny White, who sparked victory over San Diego.

Hogeboom's opportunity to shine came to an abrupt halt less than 10 minutes into the game, when he hyper-extended his right elbow while diving on top of a San Diego defender who had pounced on a blocked field goal attempt.

The rest of the game belonged to White and third-string quarterback Steve Pelluer, and White led an

Braves take 'ugly' 5-3 win over Padres

By The Associated Press The game was intimidation and revenge, and in trying to gain the upper hand, the Braves and Padres let the game get out of hand.

San Diego Manager Dick Williams, Atlanta Manager Joe Torre, four pitchers, five other players and two replacement managers were ejected in a series of brushback pitches and consequent brawls as the Braves took an ugly 5-3 victory over the Padres Sunday

As the Padres were returning to their dugout after the final brawl, a fan hit San Diego's Kurt Bevacqua in the head with a mug of beer. Bevacqua jumped onto the top of the dugout and charged toward the fan but was restrained by security

Atlanta police later confirmed that five should-be spectators were charged with "disorderly while intoxicated" conduct and one had the added charge of simple battery and resisting arrest.

Atlanta starter Pascual Perez was the central figure in the fights. He allowed only five hits over eight innings, but his sixth "hit" set the tone for the game. Perez struck San Diego's Alan Wiggins with the first pitch of the contest - and the baseball soon became secondary.

'We know who started what, and we were going to finish it," said Williams. "We will not be intimidated."

'The guy who caused it all was Dick Williams," said Torre. "It was gutless. It stinks. It was Hitlerlike action. I think he (Williams) should be suspended for the rest of

For the rest of the day, every time Perez stepped to the plate, Padres pitchers threw inside. Ed Whitson did it twice and was warned the first time and ejected the second. Benches cleared, put no punches were thrown.

Greg Booker followed suit in the fifth and was also booted as a fullscale brawl broke out. In the eighth, Craig Lefferts' first pitch hit Perez on the arm and fights again broke out as Lefferts was

As the game's final out was recorded, bullpen coach Harry Dunlop was managing the Padres, policemen were on top of both dugouts and the benches were cleared by order of the umpires. "That wasn't the way I would like for it to end," Perez said. While dodging pitches, he raised his record to 11-4 and dropped Whitson's to 12-6. Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago beat Montreal 7-3. New York downed Pittsburgh 6-3, Houston topped Cincinnati 6-1 and Los Angeles edged San Francisco 5-4 in 10 innings. St. Louis and Philadelpha were raid out.

Cubs 7, Expos 3 Rick Sutcliffe, 10-1, won his eighth consecutive decision, striking out 12, walking none and picking up an RBI on a ninth-inning double. Ron Cey broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth with a two-run homer, his 18th of the season. It came off Steve Rogers, 3-12, who lost his seventh game in as many decisions. Mets 6, Pirates 3

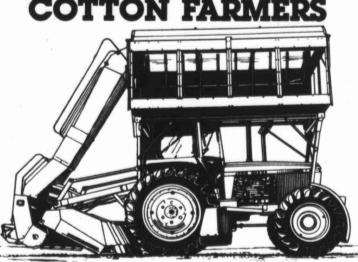

George Foster's two-run homer helped Ron Darling to his first victory since the All-Star break. Darling, 11-5, had failed in six previous attempts for his 11th victory.

Pat's Discount Tire Store

Will no longer have a retail operation. We will continue to service our commercial customers with light truck and truck tires.

You're mad at your boss, worried about money, and you think you might be pregnant again.

Bad days. We all have them. And on those bad days good parents will sometimes lash out at those they love most. A baby crying late at night is brutally shaken and seriously injured by her mother who has had a terrible day at work. A small boy is slapped repeatedly by his father who, on this day, was turned down for a raise he desperately needed. When troubles pile up and push you to the brink of child abuse-stop.

Punch a pillow, not your kid. Phone a friend. Take a shower. Do some sit-ups. Don't take hold of your child until you get hold of yourself.

Take time out.

Don't take it out on your kid.

of action that can bring you the greatest success.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A confidential talk with allies in business can get you fine results as to how to get ahead faster. Decide what you want from your mate. TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can rely on friends to give you a boost with outsiders who can assist you with plans you have in mind.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Look to a co-worker for cooperation so that you can impress a bigwig favorably. Ask for advice you may need.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Talk to a partner about some trip you plan on taking and get the right advice about it. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Plan how to have greater romantic happiness with the one you love, but make no overtures in the evening. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Showing more affection for your mate brings good results today. Drive with utmost care and be safe. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you do your work well today, you can have much added income. Show that you are an expert at it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) While entertainment is on your mind, the daytime is best for this, since tonight it could be most expensive and even dangerous. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get everything in fine order early if you are expecting guests and then entertain them with poise and charm.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be willing to give good advice to friends if they ask for it and make them happy. Don't do anything of a risky nature.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) There is a good chance for you to get ahead financially in the morning so be sure to seize it.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) There are several ways for you to gain your personal desires so study them and make use of the best ones.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be able to comprehend the highest principles and put them in operation to his or her benefit as well as that of others. Permit to get an early start in the career since the talents work best during youth and after that hobbies and philanthropy are the big interests.
