Spring Coahoma mayor Board Doard asks for tax hike

Staff Writer

COAHOMA — Mayor Pat Harrison told the City Council Tuesday night taxes should be raised to pay off interest charges on a $78,000 bank note.

Members argued over the possibility of deferring of the payments on a note owed to Coahoma State Bank until the 1985 taxes can be collected. The city makes monthly payments of $1,622 around until February.

on the note, said councilman Gary

The city is currently Roberts.

Roberts argued the city's financial situation would not improve if payments were deferred for a three or six month period.

"It will be staring you in the face in 10 months," Roberts said. "Right now the water fund is solid. but that is right now. It's not cutting expenses. It's moving them and covering other expenses out of the water fund, which is the only department supplying revenue. Lawrence Aberegg, who favored deferring payments, said the col-

UGLY PICKUP CONTEST — David Pringle and Jimmy Brearley relax on the first-place winner of the worst looking pickup contest. Eighteen of the homeliest, mangiest, uncomeliest and ugliest pickups in Denton County competed for prizes, including a pair of fuzzy red dice to hang from the rear view mirror and a psychedelic green wavingbye-bye hand.

hey clanked and clattered, belched and roared their way into the parking lot -18 of the homeliest, mangiest, uncomeliest, downright ugliest pickup trucks in Denton County.

They came to The Denton Record-Chronicle for the Worst Looking Pickup Contest. And they came to win.

Entrants brought their wives, their husbands, their children, their friends. They sat on delapidated bumpers and discolored fenders and discussed the merits of their unsightly steeds.

Tim Wright pointed proudly to his '71 Ford that sported a mottled, mustard yellow hood, a green and white body and one blue fender with a red stripe.

Jerry and Kathy Glidewell leaned on their '55 Chevy that hinted of a smoky blue paint job in days gone by. "It has the original bed," Glidewell explained. "And a disgusting cab," his wife interrupted. "And he's sensitive about it. But I'll say one thing — it always starts."

JoAnne Ferris brought her 1966 Ford from Aubrey. Frontbumperless, the pickup is red and white in random areas, with large, irregular rust spots down the sides. The front grill is turquoise. There is a royal blue paint spill down one headlight mount that seems to have nothing to do with any other color on the vehicle. Mrs. Ferris married the truck, along with her husband, Jimmy, and they made a trip to South Carolina in it, she said. "Its name is Betsy, and it only needs a quart of oil every five minutes," she said.

Gus Mallam's dad bought his '62 Chevy new, the Lewisville resident said. He took it over about 15 years ago. He pointed to a rusted-out hole in the left front fender. "I normally have a weed growing out of there," he said. "But the drought got it.

Childless couple allowed to keep monkey

By RICK BROWN Staff Writer

A woman who said she "can't have kids" and "feels the need to dress and put diapers on something" was granted permission last night by the Big Spring City Council to keep a monkey at her 1800 Duquoin residence.

"My husband and I, we don't have any kids. We've looked into adoption — and it's worse than having a monkey," said Tina Barnett, an employee of KBYG radio station, to some smiles from the council.

Mrs. Barnett, who admitted to being nervous in her appearance before the council, said she and her husband came to Big Spring eight months ago from Kansas, where they were emergency medical technicians. She said they were working toward Texas certification for the same occupation.

'I'm making these points to tell you that I feel we're responsible people," she said. She said she had already talked to her neighbors, who approved of her plans to keep the animal. She added that she has taken out insurance papers on the monkey for any personal injury or property damage he might inflict. She said she was afraid adoption might be "degrading. If I get turned down, it would be even

"I've got no problem with it," said Councilman Robert Fuller before the council unanimously granted its permission.

Council OK's new plans for animal shelter

Staff reports The Big Spring City Council last night approved for a second time plans for the proposed city animal

About $65,000 is budgeted for building of the shelter, Councilman Jack Y. Smith said. The figure includes a $40,000 gift to the city from local philanthropist Dorothy Garrett. Bids on previous plans for the shelter came in last June at about $150,000, prompting a revision of

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., also announced it is withdrawing its rate case, including a request for $115.4 million of interim rate relief.

Cop held in bomb hoax

'Unsung hero' wanted attention at Olympics

LOS ANGELES (AP) - An officer who staged an Olympic bomb hoax had saved lives, solved a murder and been cited by a president, but still felt he needed to be seen as a hero because he was having trouble with his superiors, authorities said.

While newspaper headlines heralded Officer Jimmy Pearson for his courageous act, the nine-year veteran of the force was being booked Tuesday for investigation of possessing an explosive device and was being held in lieu of $60,000 bail. "This is particularly sad. He had a remarkable record," said Police Chief Daryl Gates as he announced Pearson's confession to planting a pipe bomb on a Turkish Olympic team bus. Gates, who had gone through Pearson's file, characterized him as "a fine officer." Pearson, 40, had saved several lives, solved a murder single-handedly, received the Presidential Citation from President Gerald Ford, and was assigned to an elite force sworn to protect competitors at the Summer Games.

"He indicated he was having trouble with his supervisors," Gates said at a news conference Tuesday, without elaborating. "He wanted to do something to cause them to take notice. We have all noticed him at this point."

Capt. John Higgins, Pearson's supervisor, had praise for his record. "He was not perceived as a disciplinary problem. He was an aggressive officer who seemed to work very hard," Higgins said.

The bomb never exploded Monday night. Reports of its discovery were followed by numerous telephoned bomb threats to the airport. In all, about 6,000 people were evacuated from three terminals.

Forecasters predict rain

By The Associated Press
A cool air pocket produced showers and thunderstorms today that helped alleviate drought conditions in South Central Texas, and forecasters predicted more scattered rainfall statewide through Thursday.

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered from northwest of Amarillo through western Oklahoma into western North Texas, and southward into the Hill Country. Rainfall fell north of Cotulla and San Saba and near Llano, the National Weather Service said.

Low temperatures were mostly in the 60s and 70s, with the cooler readings over the High Plains and mountainous areas of the Trans-Pecos. Extremes were 52 degrees at Marfa and 82 at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

The weather service said .75 inch of rain fell in San Antonio, where just 11.24 inches has been recorded this year. Middle- and high-level cloudiness stretched from the High Plains through North, Central and South Texas. A weak high-pressure mass covered East and Southeast Texas, producing some dense fog. Authorities said visibility was near zero near Lufkin and was down to three miles at Port Arthur.

The weather service said a travelers advisory remained in effect for the Lufkin area until mid-morning.

Scattered thunderstorms were expected statewide, with the heaviest and most numerous in the south. highs should range from the middle 80s in the Panhandle to near 100 along the Rio Grande plains and in the Big Bend valleys.

Western Utah and parts of Nevada remained under flash flood watches today to ward off danger from heavy summer rains that have plagued the area.

Rainfall was 11/2 inches Tuesday at Boulder, Colo., and power was knocked out for more than half of the desert city's residents.

Forecasters said Las Vegas, Nev., may be in for another drenching today.

A flood warning also extended over a portion of western New York state because of the threat of locally heavy

Israeli economy rises

JERUSALEM — Casel's cost of living index rose by 12.4 percent in July, pushing inflation during the last 12-month period to 354.4 percent, the Central Bureau of Statistics said today.

It was the biggest cost of living increase for any July in Israel's 36-year history, and it followed six other record months, said bureau spokesman David Neuman. The index increased by 13.3 percent in June.

Neuman estimated that if current trends continue, inflation for the 1984 calendar year would be nearly 400 percent. Prices have already increased 150 percent since the beginning of the year, he

Tamil homes attacked

MANNAR — Army attacks were reported today on 14 homes of the Tamil minority in Sri Lanka's troubled Jaffna region. Two alleged terrorists were slain and 80 suspects were rounded up by security forces, officials said.

A guerrilla group threatened to bomb the main railroad station in the capital of Colombo to stop authorities from sending army reinforcements and arms to the Tamil-dominated north.

Tamil separatists have told the government through an unidentified intermediary that they may be willing to halt attacks on security forces if authorities withdraw Sinhalese troops and police from the northern part of Sri Lanka within seven days, an official source reported.

Joke draws criticism

MOSCOW - The Soviet Union today issued a formal statement condemning President Reagan's joke about bombing Russia, calling the remark "unprecedentedly hostile toward the U.S.S.R."

The statement, issued through the official Tass news agency, was an unusually strong method of reacting to Reagan's comment. Such Soviet statements are issued to make public the policy or opinions of the highest echelons of the government and usually are reserved for proclamations of new arms control proposals or other similar weighty issues

Reagan, said, in a microphone test before taping a radio address Saturday: "My fellow Americans, I'm pleased to tell you today that I've signed legislation that will outlaw Russia forever. We begin bombing in five minutes."

Rioting breaks out again

BELFAST — American IRA supporter Martin Galvin hinted he may again defy a British ban on his presence in Northern Ireland, and rioting broke out in advance of today's funeral of a man killed when police tried to arrest Galvin.

Police and Roman Catholic youths clashed Tuesday night at a soccer match. A spokesman at Belfast police headquarters said 35 officers and 10 civilians were hurt and 10 people were arrested, heightening tension before the funeral.

A statement attributed to Galvin was issued by Sinn Fein, the legal political wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, after Britain's Northern Ireland Secretary James Prior admitted the ban on Galvin, publicity director of the New Yorkbased Irish Northern Aid Committee, was a serious mistake.

British spearhead search

CAIRO - A multinational effort to clear Red Sea waterways of explosives got underway today with four British mine-hunters and a support ship sweeping the Gulf of Suez for mysterious mines that have damaged at least 16 ships in five weeks.

Harbor officials at Suez, at the northern end of the Red Sea, said the five ships began operations at 7 a.m. in the gulf, the northwest fork of the Red Sea bordered by the Egyptian mainland to the west and the Sinai peninsula to the east.

Summer rains swamp Nevada, East Coast

By The Associated Press

Hard-hitting summer storms dotted parts of the East and West coasts today after raging floodwaters in southern Nevada toppled a bus carrying 60 children, critically injured a girl trapped under a car and left 6,000 people without Flood-ravaged communities in the Appalachians were hoping for relief today after a stubborn storm system forced hundreds from their homes, caused millions of dollars in damage and left seven people dead or missing. The slow-moving storm system plodded into New England as it lost its punch.

Boulder City, Nev., 20 miles south of Las Vegas, received 1½ inches of rain on Tuesday, more than one-third the normal annual rainfall for the desert city. Power was knocked out to more than half its 12,000 residents.

'Just too much water came down too fast," said Boulder City Police Chief Robert Lowrie.

In North Las Vegas, a rushing torrent pushed a bus carrying 60 children into a gully, tipping it to a 45-degree angle, police said. Passers-by waded into the water and rescued the children without

"Everybody was just beautiful, the kids and the people who helped us," said the driver, Doris Holiday.

"There will be some storms scattered in the Atlantic Coast states and west of the Rockies," Harry Gordon of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Mo., said today. But the middle two-thirds of the nation should see sunny skies, he said.

Forecasters in Nevada said the Las Vegas area, which is ringed with mountains, could be in for another day of heavy rains today, after it was drenched with floods for the fourth time in 23 days.

The National Weather Service reported up to 4 feet of water in some sections of Las Vegas, Henderson and Boulder City, Nev. Hundreds of cars were stalled on Interstate 93 near the Boulder

Eleven-year-old Jennifer Ames, who was sucked under a car, was in a coma and listed in critical condition today, said Humana Sunrise Hospital spokeswoman Ann Lynch.

The girl was not breathing when an unidentified passer-by freed her, but the rescuer restored the child's vital signs by administering cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, authorities said

Messy leftovers banned

DALLAS - Republicans have banned food from the floor of the Dallas Convention Center in order to avoid messy leftovers at their national convention.

The ban was implemented because of the cost of cleaning up mounds of litter left in San Francisco's Moscone Center during the Democratic National Cenvention, said Frank Poe, manager of the Dallas Convention Center.

Delegates will have a choice of the main cafeteria just off the exhibition hall, several catered parties and several concession stands some of which will feature beer.

More than 50 custodians will be assigned to nightly cleanup details.

Emotional wedding day

LOS ANGELES - Nancy Reagan cried and the president said he hoped the newlyweds would always have "beautiful memories from this day." President and Mrs. Reagan both were emotional Tuesday at the wedding of their daughter Patti Davis to Paul Grilley, said Mrs. Reagan's press secretary Sheila Tate.

Mrs. Tate relayed details of the wedding to reporters who were not allowed near the secluded Beverly Hills hotel where the private ceremony and reception were held.

Mondale dodges potshots

MEMPHIS - Walter F. Mondale, trying to focus an abbreviated Southern campaign swing on his plan to revamp the nation's defense policy, is being plagued by potshots from the Rev. Jesse Jackson and persistent questions about the finances of his running mate.

The Democratic presidential nominee was closing a two-day trip today with an appearance at the Kentucky State Fair in Louisville. He was returning to his Minnesota home later in the day.

He canceled a campaign appearance planned for today in Macon, Ga. Aides said they had been unable to arrange for former President Jimmy Carter, Sen. Sam Nunn, state party chairman Bert Lance and other Georgia Democrats to appear with him and wanted to reschedule the trip later when they could be there. Lance resigned as Mondale's general campaign chairman two

Athletes highlight parade

NEW YORK - Fresh off their record-setting gold grab in Los Angeles, America's Olympic athletes swept into New York for a ticker tape parade today through Wall Street's "Canyon of Heroes," an honor usually reserved for warriors and astronauts.

A flurry of ticker tape, a shower of paper gold medals and a line of yellow balloons awaited the medal winners along the parade route through the heart of the nation's financial capital to the steps

The excitement over the parade, which Mayor Edward Koch promised the 206 Olympians would be the city's "biggest and best," spilled over to the athletes themselves.

ATLANTA (AP) — State Sen. Julian Bond says he intends to "work harder" after winning a tight race with his first serious challenger since 1974, while Robert Benham became the first black elected to a statewide post in Georgia by winning a seat on the state Court of Appeals.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Romanian Orthodox Archbishop Valerian Trifa, a Nazi sympathizer who the United States sought to deport for the last nine years, has left the country permanently for Portugal.

Writer held hostage during Emmy selections

Fontana, writer-producer on NBC's "St. Elsewhere," voted in two Emmy Award categories last year. As a writer, he was eligible to judge his peers only in the writing categories; his group had to decide on the outstanding-writing award for both a limited series and an informational program.

But the limited series were not so limited, and that had Fontana and 16 other writers climbing the walls of a poorly ventilated hotel room in Los Angeles one sultry summer weekend a year ago.

'I had seen all the shows in my categories before," said Fontana. 'You can't believe my agony when I realized I was going to have to see four hours of 'Little Gloria ... Happy at Last' and nine hours of 'Nicholas Nickleby' again."

Other programs in the long-form bracket were "Executioner's Song" (four hours), "Who Will Love My Children?" (two hours) and the eventual winner, "Special Bulletin' (two hours).

The Academy of Television Arts & Sciences has a rule forbidding discussion among the voters. An Academy supervisor, sort of a classroom monitor, was there to ensure silence. The only activity allowed was heavy TV watching, with one break for lunch. But even that had a cruel twist.

"After watching hours and hours of 'Nicholas Nickleby,' you get stir crazy. We all were starving," Fontana said. "But, by the time we got downstairs, everybody else had eaten. They all had shorter programs to watch. All that was left were two rolls and the dregs of the cold cuts.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) -They end up like most other pigs, but for a brief time they are pampered porkers — oinkers that get daily doctor's visits, special food and water and 24-hour entertainment during training.

But while they're on the team, the pigs "are treated more like people than a lot of people are," Holding said.

A veterinarian visits them daily, checking for stress, among other things. They drink special water, pig out on special feed that keeps them in racing form and travel in a luxury van with running water and fans over each pen.

"They do much better than we do at some of the hotels we wind up at," he told the crowd waiting for the first race.

There are 22 races daily at the show. Each pig races two to five times a day. This year, a new event has been added, the steeplechase, with the pigs hopping hurdles to win the cookie.

Holding said. But apparently they're not picky - they didn't seem to notice when Holding switched to generic cookies from a more expensive name brand.

The pigs are on a 25-day racing schedule. After Springfield, they head for Iowa, Michigan and Ohio and eventually back to Illinois for a farm show at Champaign.

The porcine prima donnas have not time to squeal about boredom during training. They constantly listen to a radio to get them used to the noise of the crowd, Holding said. This year, they happen to be listening to many baseball games

Even as Ronald Reagan and Walter Mondale continue to argue over whether taxes will be raised after the election, the non-partisan Congressional Budget Office predicts growing massive federal deficits through 1989. And a group of leading economists interviewed by The New York Times asserts that the gap between the government's revenues and obligations will remain the $200 billion range for the rest of the decade, no matter who wins in November.

Declaring that the Democrats' policies would saddle the average household with a $1,500 rise in taxes, President Reagan has pledged to veto any bill that increases personal income taxes. But note that this says nothing about other federal levies, such as a national sales tax. And note, too, that Vice President Bush says that Mr. Reagan is keeping his "option open" on "revenue increases."

On candor, Mr. Mondale has the better of it. He has said flatly that taxes will have to be raised to finance the deficit, and he challenges the president to show how the deficit can be tamed otherwise. Moreover, Mr. Mondale has the advantage so far in terms of specific economic proposals.

Among other things, he has said that he will increase taxes for those with incomes above $100,000, eliminate the third year of the Reagan tax cut for people earning more than $60,000 and propose a 15 percent tax on business profits. He has promised to reduce the rate of defense spending increases by 2 to 3 percent and achieve $10 billion in Medicare and Medicaid savings, while leaving those essential health programs intact.

By contrast, Mr. Reagan still claims that economic growth and "reducing wasteful government spending" are all that is necessary to drive down the deficit. But as to the first, the CBO and the top economists who are predicting unending large deficits assume that economic growth will continue. As to the second, four years of Reaganomics have squeezed fat, muscle and bone out of government spending. Let Reagan tell the people just what programs he proposes to wring the necessary billions out of. Otherwise, Mr. Mondale's charge that the president is engaging in "hocus-pocus" stands unrefuted.

Left unchecked, a massive deficit will soon send interest rates to dangerous levels, as the governent dominates the competition for available private savings. Not only will that constrict the economic activity of American businesses and individuals but it will continue to exacerbate the trade deficit by keeping the dollar exchange rate too high. The deficit, in short, is putting the economy's future in peril. In such circumstances, Mr. Mondale's straight talk is far preferable to the president's continued bland assurances.

Life after Watergate

Ten years ago Richard M. Nixon resigned as president under threat of impeachment, driven from the highest office in the land by the spreading scandal known as Watergate.

Many of the men closest to him politically were indicted or convicted on criminal charges. Where are these men today? Many have become well-to-do, even celebrities.

Former President Nixon is wealthy, a writer of several books. He is again becoming prominent on the lecture circuit and among some within the foreign policy establishment.

H. R. Haldeman, once White House chief of staff, is a rich Los Angeles real estate developer.

CIA meddling in El Salvador

WASHINGTON — Scarcely 14 years after the CIA meddled in Chile's national election and was properly scolded by Congress for its bizarre plottings, the CIA again has intervened in the politics of a sovereign nation.

The story behind the CIA's machinations in El Salvador have been hushed up. But here are the details, which my associate Dale Van Atta has pieced together from intelligence sources:

 In 1981, President Reagan approved a covert action "finding" - the secret routine that authorizes the dispensing of CIA funds for clandestine operations. This allowed the CIA to finance noncommunist candidates in Latin American elections. The intent was to block communist sympathizers from coming to power, not to discriminate between rival anti-communist candidates Without further White House authorization, the CIA slipped a reported $960,000 under the table to El Salvador's Christian Democratic Party, whose candidate, Jose Napoleon Duarte, won the presidential runoff on May 6, 1984. Another $437,000 was delivered to the moderate National Conciliation Party. The purpose was to defeat Roberto d'Aubuisson, the right-wing candidate, who allegedly is linked to the notorious death squads.

• President Reagan didn't learn about the CIA's meddling in the Salvadoran election until after the about the secret payments. Five days later, Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., went public with the charge that CIA had "bought the election" for Duarte.

Press accounts reported that president summoned Helms to the White House for a reprimand. Our souces say that Reagan was furious, not at Helms but at the CIA. He thanked Helms for saving him from the embarrassment of hailing the election in his May 9 television address as an example of democracy in action - words he would have had to eat when the CIA's involvement became known.

 After the election, the Reagan administration changed its attitude toward d'Aubuisson. The policy makers decided that a leader who had won 46 percent of the vote - regardless of his alleged bloody background — could not be ignored and that it would be wise to start a dialogue with him. President Reagan wrote a personal letter to d'Aubuisson, congratulating him on his strong showing. Secretary of State George Shultz, who previously had denied d'Aubuisson a visa, asked Helms privately to invite the right-wing leader to Washington.

Footnote: There have been other occasions when Helms has used his right-wing channels. He won a stunning concession from the Argentines at the beginning of the Falklands War because the military junta trusted him. The Argentines told Helms they would withdraw their troops from the islands if the British would halt their fleet before it reached the Falklands. Unfortunately, this secret concession, which could have prevented the war, got lost in the Helms was also behind the negotiations that saved the life of Korean dissident Kim Dae Jung. The senator's erstwhile assistant, John Carbaugh, helped persuade Korean leaders in late 1980 to exile rather han execute Kim.

HYPE AND HYPOCRISY: With much fanfare, Vermont's Republican governor, Richard Snelling, recently launched a national, bipartisan, $10 million crusade called Proposition One, intended to force a reduction in the federal budget deficit.

The goal, Snelling said, is to "organized the people of this country into a broad interest group that will tell the Congress and the president that we understand, and reject, the consequences of continuing to operate hundreds of billions of dollars in the red each

The press packet that accompanied Snelling's kickoff of Proposition One included a large photo of himself. But there was one bit of relegant information missing from the hoopla: During Snelling's eight years as governor, Vermont has been awash in deficits, including an all-time record $30.8 million pool of red ink in 1983. According to the National Governors' Association, Vermont may be the only

There's no future in sinful life

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Is it true God will forgive anything we do? I must admit I am being tempted to do something I know God probably would not like. It has to do with my girlfriend, whom I would like to move in with. But since God will forgive us of our sins anyway, why should I worry. - M.B.

DEAR M. B.: Yes, God can at the time.

forgive any sin we commit — but there are two things you need to know. First, sin can only be forgiven when we tuly are sorry for it and repent of it. Second, when we deliberately sin and go against God's plan for our lives, we always - without exception - hurt ourselves, even if we cannot see it

Don't make light, therefore, of the seriousness of sin and assume that somehow you can commit sin without it catching up with you. And do not sin now, hoping that somehow you will become sorry for your sin later and truly repent of it.

The Rim

Titles

By KEELY COGHLAN

The twisting of the English language, like soft pretzels, into zingy titles has always fascinated

The more crowded our lives get, the shorter and weirder titles to books, movies and records become (not to mention the titles to articles in True Confessions).

We've done away with the allinclusive titles, like "War and Peace." "Crime and Punishment" and "Pride and Prejudice," though occasionally one of those will show up today. "Blood and Money," the quintessential three-word title separated by "and," has both the two winning ingredients of the San Antonio evening news and Fortune magazine. How could it fail to make the best-seller list?

College theses, state department files and books by ex-politicians are about the only place you can find titles with colons anymore. Colons are definitely on their way out, with the exception of the title to Bob Woodward's new book, "Wired: The fast life and short times of John Belushi." Bernstein must have been the one who believed in brevity.

The Berke Breathed comic strip take-off of the book, "Frazzled: the life, death and resurrection of Bill the Cat," does Woodward one better. Speaking of "Frazzled," it sounds like the perfect title for my autobiography.

The best titles are always short and punchy. Try these on for size: 'Clockwork Orange,' "Gone with the Wind" (the sagag of my checkbook), "A Boy and His Dog," 'Breakfast of Champions, "Alien," "Them," "The Great White Shark Hunt," "Casablanca," and "Psycho."
"Hitchhiker's Guide

Galaxy," "The Great American Novel," "The fifth of July," and "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," "Fear and Loathing on the Campaign Trail" (or anywhere else, for that matter) are also classics as they grab you by the skin of your teeth.

The best movie title this summer is bound to be "The Adventures of Buckaroo Bonzai: Across the Eighth Dimension," or more familiarly known as "Buckaroo Bonzai." I don't know who or what the movie is about, but with a title like that and a villain named "Alien Lectroid," my $4 is already gone. Only Philip K. Dick ("The Three Stigmata of Palmer Eldritch," "A Scanner Darkly" and "Bladerunner") or Harry Harrison ("The Stainless Steel Rat") could make their titles any Murder mysteries and movies have their own code of ethics. "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Little Murders," "And Then There Were None," followed by "Curtains" these are the upscale, "yuppy" titles. On the dark and grisly side, the most infamous title has got to "The Texas Chainsaw Massacre," closely trailed by

The course at Chanute Technical Training Center is the only one in the free world dealing exclusively with the jet engine's role in a plane crash, the Air Force says.

"We have to say if these engines were capable of supporting flight, and if not, what caused the failure," said Epps, who has been investigating crashes for 37 years. "If an engine failed, we want to prevent future occurrences and save lives. The next plane might crash into a city...'

Epps prepares his students to be detectives, sifting through deformed and shattered engine parts for answers. The way the blades of a compressor are bent can indicate whether it had failed, whether it had stooped rotating before the

The emains of a tiny instrument panel light can tell a trained investigator whether the light was on at the time of impact, indicating the hydraulic system had failed. "We can use lightbulbs to our advantage, even if they are peanutsized," Epps said.

Since the eight-day course opened at Chanute 19 years ago, it has been attended by hundreds of students from the United States and 53 foreign countries. They include both military personnel and civilians, who conduct accident probes for agencies such as the National Transportation . Safety Board.

The 13 students in one recent class included Air Force sergeants with closly cropped hair and fatigues, and a civilian with long blond hair and blue jeans.

"Do not jump to conclusions at a crash site," Epps told them. "I do a lot of walking around and looking. I've got my hands in my pocket and I'm getting ideas.

He told them that in the field they will present their findings to an accident board, helping the board reach a conclusion about the cause

Actually, the cause seldom is engine failure, said Epps, and more often is attributed to pilot error. Still, it is essential to find out whether the engine was at fault.

The biggest problem at the crash scene can be dealing with the people involved with the flight, Epps said said.

'Sometimes people fight us because our reports could hang them - show up their errors and they lose their jobs," said Epps. He noted that a maintenance man's failure to add oil could cause a bearing to give out, leading to an A difficult part of the job for

Epps and fellow instructor Ron Shepherd is keeping up with new engine designs and exotic, spaceage metals.

'When he's up there teaching,

said Epps

There also are language problems to deal with, and differences among students in technical knowledge about particular engines.

"I'm a fighter pilot. I had to start learning about the break-down of jet engines all over again," said Major Joe Jackson, a Canadian officer from Ottawa whose new duties will include crash investigations. "A lot of the stuff I learned here - the way things break, the pattern - I had never heard before.

In addition to teaching, Epps and Shepherd frequently are dispatched to crash scenes to add their expertise to investigations

"If I shoot you, there will be a hole there," said Epps, putting his finger on a reporter's chest. "It's a tattletale mark; that's what we're looking for."

Sheriff blasts use of stun guns

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Bexar County Sheriff Joe Neaves says he has banned the use of socalled "stun guns" which pack an electric shock on suspects.

The sheriff Tuesday said he outlawed the 40,000-volt shock devices after an investigation was launched against a veteran sheriff's lieutenant for allegedly using the equipment on an 18-year-old man.

The matter is under investigation in our office," Assistant District Attorney Karen Amos said. "We'll have to make a decision as to whether we want to proceed further.'

The unidentified lieutenant has not been suspended and faces no charges in the incident, sheriff's officials said.

The officer allegedly used the device on the 18-year-old because he refused to show identification. He had been suspected of stealing a six-pack of beer from a convenience store last month.

The teen-ager claimed to be the son of another sheriff's deputy. Mike Schill, head of the special crimes division for the sheriff's office, said he understands the teen's claim is true.

Ms. Amos said the device can be purchased in San Antonio.

'Red Dawn' tops sales at box office

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Droves of Americans who couldn't watch the Russians competing in the Olympics apparently decided to see them at the movies, making "Red Dawn" - a film about a Soviet invasion of the United States - the weekend's top-grossing film.

But "Ghostbusters," which came in second for the weekend, pulled past "Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom" in overall receipts and became the top-grossing film of 1984 to date.

"Red Dawn," an MGM-UA release, racked up $8.2 million in a three-day opening that did not seem to suffer for taking place during the last three days of the Los Angeles Games, which kept millions glued to their televison

Columbia's "Ghostbusters" drew. $5.9 million, bringing its 10-week total to $162.7 million. "Indiana Jones" - Paramount's sequel to "Raiders of the Lost Ark" was ninth for the weekend with $2.1 million, and its cumulative box office for 12 weeks hit $159 million.

Third place went to "Purple Rain," the Warner Bros. film starring rock sensation Prince.

Gloria Gilbert and Homer to perform at Howard County Fair

The Howard County Fair Association members are smiling from ear to ear. In a talent parade, Gloria Gilbert, Miss Texas 1982, stood out above many presentations. She won the talent contest as Miss America and has been invited to perform with Willie Nelson, Englebert Humperdinck and Gary Collins. She is considered one of the most talented ventriloquists in her field today.

The reason why Fair Association members are smiling so big is that Miss Gilbert will be one of the featured entertainers at the Howard County Fair this September. She and her staff will perform twice daily Sept. 18, 20, 21 and 22. On Sept. 19, Miss Gilbert will visit and present programs in schools and hospitals. However, she will be at the fair each day to meet the public and autograph pictures.

Miss Gilbert was raised on a ranch in Millsap with three older sisters. Her father worked for an oil refinery and raised Hereford

Miss Gilbert was first introduced to the art of ventriloquism at the age of six when she watched Shari Lewis with her little friend Lamb because they all were doing the or-Chops on television. She was at- dinary singing and dancing.

GLORIA GILBERT BARRON

tracted to this and thought it would be lots of fun to do. The next Christmas, she found that Santa Claus had brought her Mortimer Snerd, Edgar Bergen's country bumpkin friend, along with a record album all about ventriloquism. And that is how she got

Miss Gilbert's mother recognized her desire and love for the art and entered her into talent contests and Little Miss pageants. It was in these events where Miss Gilbert's talent shown above the others

Miss Gilbert was heavily involved in athletics while in school and played on three varsity teams: basketball, tennis and track. She also was a cheerleader. Since high school, she has attended Weatherford College, North Texas State University and is majoring in public relations and advertising and minoring in radio-TV-film at Texas Christian University in Fort

She entered the Miss Texas Pageant in hopes of getting the scholarship it provides the winner and that she did. In 1981, she won the Miss Mineral Wells contest and came in first runner-up in the state pageant. For 1982, she won the Miss Palo Pinto County Pageant and Miss Texas 1982. Her 15 years of practicing ventriloquism paid off handsomely.

Miss Gilbert, 21, has been working with her sidekick Homer for the last nine years. Together they entertain for concerts, churches, banquets, fairs, festivals, and many other events, including the First Annual Signal Peak Shriners Pro-Am Golf Tournament in Big Spring in May 1983. She also is involved in many beauty pageants. Miss Gilbert is married now and makes her home with husband Greg Barron in Fort Worth.

Woman ready to lay down the law

DEAR ABBY: What a mess I am in! I just found out that the rat I've been living with for nine years (we have a six-month-old baby) has been having quickie affairs all along. I bought the story that he couldn't marry because we're living in my house, which is located out of his district (he's a Detroit police officer), and he would say, "If I married you and we lived in your house, I would lose my job because of residency."

One of his girlfriends wrote him a letter addressed to my house. In this letter she described some love scenes she has had with him that are exactly like the ones I have had with him. She used the very same endearing words he used to whisper in my ear at night.

I am so burned I want to throw the rat out. Can you give me some advice? He lies so much I can't

Dr. Donohue

Human insulin

Dear Dr. Donohue: Would you please discuss the new insulin on the market? My son is having trouble with it. Is this new stuff purer? He is having trouble with low sugar that can come on suddenly without warning.

My son was handcuffed and on his way to jail, halfway there he asked the sheriff to let him have a bite of chocolate he carries in his pocket. The sheriff got it out for him and in a few seconds, when the sheriff looked at my son, the confused look was gone and he apologized and took off the handcuffs. But meanwhile, his car had been towed away from where he was fishing.

Maybe you're laughing, but as a mother my heart is sorely tried. My son has had diabetes since he was in grade school. - Mrs. A.K.

Before I answer your insulin question, let me say that I liked your letter because it gives a good description of insulin reaction and the confusion that sometimes occurs when it happens. The person is often mistakenly thought of as being drunk. It's important for diabetics to carry identification stating their condition. And it's important for the public to become acquainted with the symptoms of insulin reaction. I'm not laughing at

Now, about the newly-marketed insulin. It is human insulin. The older type came from beef or pork pancreases. The new insulin is made in one of two ways. Through some biological engineering, the gene code for insulin production is given to bacteria, which then produces it. The other way is to change pork insulin chemically so that its structure is that of human insulin.

Human insulin is given in about the same doses as the pork or beef kinds, but its peak action comes a little sooner, so your son may have to adjust his meal schedule There's another factor. The older insulins tended to cause allergy in the user. The allergy produced antibodies against the insulin so that the user had to use greater amounts for effect. The human insulin doesn't do that, so smaller amounts are needed by some. About 93 percent of the insulin used is U-100. There are 100 units in each cubic centimeter of fluid.

If, as you say, he was formerly using U-80, he will need new syringes for injection, ones calibrated for the U-100. Otherwise he may be giving himself too much, causing the low sugar reaction that way.

Finally, Mrs. K., your son may need to see his doctor. There are many ways to be tested and to learn to adjust his insulin dose so these things don't happen. He can even test his own blood sugar at

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever

Lifestyle Editor Say the word "potato" and people will visualize their favorite potato recipe - thick fries, baked with tasty toppings, deliciously mashed, or served as potato skins. Potatoes are definitely one of the nation's favorite vegetable.

Many of the potatoes we enjoy come from the fields of Texas. Production begins in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and moves on up to North Texas, High Plains and the Trans Pecos area in the summer. There has been an increase in potato acreage in the Lone Star State each year since 1980.

Potatoes are a low calorie, highly nutritious vegetable. For years they had a "fattening" reputation due to the mound of calories that topped most potatoes. At only 100 calories per medium baked potato, they easily qualify as a "nutrient dence" food. Potatoes are a good source for protein, iron, Vitamin C, several B vitamins, copper and magnesium.

In selecting red or russet potatoes, look for ones that are clean, smooth and firm. Avoid potatoes that are wrinkled, have wilted skins, or soft dark areas, cut surfaces or a green appearance. Store potatoes in a cool area with good air circulation. Do not store them by onions as the onions tend to dehydrate the potatoes. Also, don't refrigerate potatoes. Below 40 degrees, potatoes will develop a sweet taste as the starches change to sugars. This increased sugar will cause the potato to darken when cooked.

With their gourmet names and fancy packaging, today's "upscale" frozen dinners seem frozen dinners seem quite different from the ordinary TV dinner on an aluminum tray. But that difference is mostly a matter of cost and type of ingredients rather than nutrition, says a Texas A & M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

Computer receipts can help with food budget

Computerized price scanning economist. systems provide grocery shoppers with speedier checkouts, and can mean lower grocery bills — if you read the receipts.

"Many people throw away the computer generated receipts listing each item, size and price without realizng that they provide an ideal way to keep track of food costs," says Texas A & M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist Bonnie L. Piernot.

Consumers can use the receipt information to determine how much they spend in certain categories, such as food and nonfood items; or meat, vegetables, packaged products, convenience foods and staples, she says.

Reviewing the scanner receipt helps identify categories where spending could be cut. You might find, for example, that you're spending substantial amounts on nonfood items that cost less at other types of stores, notes Piernot.

Scanner receipts also reveal impulse buyng. Since impulse purchases make up about two-thirds of all supermarket decisions, reducing these costs can cut overall grocery expenses, says the home

Regular review of scanner receipts permits consumers to track prices on products they frequently buy. Armed with a good knowlege of prices, shoppers can better detect true specials in weekly advertising and unadvertised specials in stores, she explains.

Over time, receipt-reading consumers can develop a shopping calendar of items that are better buys at select times of the year. They can stock up when the price is right and save about 20 percent on food buying by eating foods in greatest supply.

Shopping at supermarkets with computerized cash registers and scanning equipment is not without its disadvantages, says Piernot. These supermarkets sometimes remove prices of items on the shelf as a means of reducing their costs.

Without item prices on the shelf, consumers have a difficult time comparison shopping among different brands. Lack of item prices also makes it more difficult to spot computer errors or unchanged special prices at the checkout

Gloria Gilbert and Homer to perform at Howard County Fair

The Howard County Fair Association members are smiling from ear to ear. In a talent parade, Gloria Gilbert, Miss Texas 1982, stood out above many presentations. She won the talent contest as Miss America and has been invited to perform with Willie Nelson, Englebert Humperdinck and Gary Collins. She is considered one of the most talented ventriloquists in her field today.

The reason why Fair Association members are smiling so big is that Miss Gilbert will be one of the featured entertainers at the Howard County Fair this September. She and her staff will perform twice daily Sept. 18, 20, 21 and 22. On Sept. 19, Miss Gilbert will visit and present programs in schools and hospitals. However, she will be at the fair each day to meet the public and autograph

Woman ready to lay down the law

DEAR ABBY: What a mess I am in! I just found out that the rat I've been living with for nine years (we have a six-month-old baby) has been having quickie affairs all along. I bought the story that he couldn't marry because we're living in my house, which is located out of his district (he's a Detroit police officer), and he would say, 'If I married you and we lived in your house, I would lose my job because of residency.'

One of his girlfriends wrote him a letter addressed to my house. In this letter she described some love scenes she has had with him that are exactly like the ones I have had with him. She used the very same endearing words he used to whisper in my ear at night.

I am so burned I want to throw the rat out. Can you give me some advice? He lies so much I can't believe a word he says BURNED IN MICHIGAN

Human insulin

Dear Dr. Donohue: Would you please discuss the new insulin on the market? My son is having trouble with it. Is this new stuff purer? He is having trouble with low sugar that can come on suddenly without

My son was handcuffed and on his way to jail, halfway there he asked the sheriff to let him have a bite of chocolate he carries in his pocket. The sheriff got it out for him and in a few seconds, when the sheriff looked at my son, the confused look was gone and he apologized and took off the handcuffs. But meanwhile, his car had been towed away from where he

Before I answer your insulin question, let me say that I liked your letter because it gives a good description of insulin reaction and the confusion that sometimes occurs when it happens. The person is often mistakenly thought of as being drunk. It's important for diabetics to carry identification stating their condition. And it's important for the public to become acquainted with the symptoms of insulin reaction. I'm not laughing at

Now, about the newly-marketed insulin. It is human insulin. The older type came from beef or pork pancreases. The new insulin is made in one of two ways. Through some biological engineering, the gene code for insulin production is given to bacteria, which then produces it. The other way is to change pork insulin chemically so that its structure is that of human insulin.

Human insulin is given in about the same doses as the pork or beef kinds, but its peak action comes a little sooner, so your son may have to adjust his meal schedule. There's another factor. The older insulins tended to cause allergy in the user. The allergy produced antibodies against the insulin so that the user had to use greater amounts for effect. The human insulin doesn't do that, so smaller amounts are needed by some. About 93 percent of the insulin used is U-100. There are 100 units in each cubic centimeter of fluid. If, as you say, he was formerly using U-80, he will need new syringes for injection, ones calibrated for the U-100. Otherwise he may be giving himself too much, causing the low sugar reaction that way. Finally, Mrs. K., your son may need to see his doctor. There are many ways to be tested and to learn to adjust his insulin dose so these things don't happen. He can even test his own blood sugar at

By TINA STEFFEN Lifestyle Editor

Say the word "potato" and peo-ple will visualize their favorite potato recipe — thick fries, baked with tasty toppings, deliciously mashed, or served as potato skins. Potatoes are definitely one of the nation's favorite vegetable.

Many of the potatoes we enjoy come from the fields of Texas. Production begins in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and moves on up to North Texas, High Plains and the Trans Pecos area in the summer. There has been an increase in potato acreage in the Lone Star State each year since 1980.

Potatoes are a low calorie, highly nutritious vegetable. For years they had a "fattening" reputation due to the mound of calories that topped most potatoes. At only 100 calories per medium baked potato, they easily qualify as a "nutrient dence" food. Potatoes are a good source for protein, iron, Vitamin C. several B vitamins, copper and magnesium.

In selecting red or russet potatoes, look for ones that are clean, smooth and firm. Avoid potatoes that are wrinkled, have wilted skins, or soft dark areas, cut surfaces or a green appearance. Store potatoes in a cool area with good air circulation. Do not store them by onions as the onions tend to dehydrate the potatoes. Also, don't refrigerate potatoes. Below 40 degrees, potatoes will develop a sweet taste as the starches change to sugars. This increased sugar will cause the potato to darken when cooked.

With their gourmet names and fancy packaging, today's "upscale" frozen dinners seem quite different from the ordinary TV dinner on an aluminum tray. But that difference is mostly a matter of cost and type of ingredients rather than nutrition, says a Texas A & M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

The premium frozen food category has enjoyed meteoric growth, gaining about 35 percent in sales volume last year, says Dr. Alice Hunt. Sales are expected to triple in the next several years, she

Computer receipts can help with food budget

Computerized price scanning economist. systems provide grocery shoppers with speedier checkouts, and can mean lower grocery bills - if you read the receipts.

"Many people throw away the computer generated receipts listing each item, size and price without realizng that they provide an ideal way to keep track of food costs," says Texas A & M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist Bonnie L. Piernot.

Consumers can use the receipt information to determine how much they spend in certain categories, such as food and nonfood items; or meat, vegetables, packaged products, convenience foods and staples, she says.

Reviewing, the scanner receipt helps identify categories where spending could be cut. You might find, for example, that you're spending substantial amounts on nonfood items that cost less at other types of stores, notes Piernot.

Scanner receipts also reveal impulse buyng. Since impulse purchases make up about two-thirds of all supermarket decisions, reducgrocery expenses, says the home

Regular review of scanner receipts permits consumers to track prices on products they frequently buy. Armed with a good knowlege of prices, shoppers can better detect true specials in weekly advertising and unadvertised specials in stores, she explains.

Over time, receipt-reading consumers can develop a shopping calendar of items that are better buys at select times of the year. They can stock up when the price is right and save about 20 percent on food buying by eating foods in greatest supply.

Shopping at supermarkets with computerized cash registers and scanning equipment is not without its disadvantages, says Piernot. These supermarkets sometimes remove prices of items on the shelf as a means of reducing their costs.

Without item prices on the shelf, consumers have a difficult time comparison shopping among different brands. Lack of item prices also makes it more difficult to spot computer errors or unchanged ing these costs can cut overall special prices at the checkout counter.

NUN ADOPTS NEPHEWS — Sister Luz Maria Valdez-Holguin was awarded custody of her nephews, Ruben Valdez-Castillo, 11, left, and his brother, Gustavo. The boys were orphaned two years ago when their parents were killed in a traffic accident.

Nun adopts nephews

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Sister Luz Maria Valdez-Holguin, 54, says she feels old enough to start raising children, so she's adopting two young boys.

District Judge Mike Machado Monday approved the formal adoption by the Catholic nun of her two nephews.

"It is an honor and a privilege for me to grant this adoption,' Machado told Sister Valdez-Holguin and her attorney Ed Lavin.

The nun said she is not worried about becoming a mother so late in "I think I'm old enough to start raising children," she said. The sister has been taking care of the boys, Gustavo Valdez-Castillo, 9, and Ruben, 11, since their parents were killed in an automobile accident two years ago. The boys' father was a farmer near Sonora, Mexico. "After I went to get them, they lived in the convent with me here for four or five months," said

Sister Valdez-Holguin. She said her religious order, the Cordi Marian Sisters, granted her permission to move into a house so she could live with the boys. Lavin said the nun receives a salary of about $500 a month for her work as director of religious studies at St. Gregory the Great Catholic Church.

"She gets by," he said.

former Santa Claus won more than 70 stuffed bears for a crowd of admiring children by tossing dimes onto a plate at an amusement park, until park officials found it unbear-able — and asked him to quit.

"They came in and rearranged the plates a couple of times, thinking I'd found the right angle to throw," John Gaines said as he demonstrated the winning technique that drew more than 100 onlookers Monday. "You gotta aim for the bevel - it's a science."

ANDREWS - With a starting lineup boasting three juniors, two sophmores and only one senior, the Big Spring Lady Steers volleyball team may be a young outfit, but they showed they will be a tough one also in light of their season opener here Tuesday.

Big Spring is 0-1 after losing to Andrews, but the scores of 5-15. 15-12 and 11-15 reflected good hustle and determination according to head coach Susan Sharp.

Sharp especially cited Tammi Green. Sharp said the junior, "played real well, provided some good leadership, huistled and made some good saves.

Sophmore Tab Green managed four service aces and handled the responsibility of setter very well Sharp noted. "She was successful on about 85 percent of her sets," said Sharp.

Junior Monique Jones performed well as a hitter while seniors Debbie Holguin and Tonya Stevenson played, "smart volleyball," according to their coach. Holguin saw time as a setter while Stevenson played along the backline.

Sharp wasn't pleased with her team's spiking efforts since Big Spring had only 60 attempts.

White Sox retire No. 11

CHICAGO (AP) - Luis Aparicio, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame and considered by many the greatest shortstop to play the game, has had his No. 11 retired by the Chicago White Sox.

"I worked hard to do my best," Aparicio said Tuesday night at ceremonies conducted in Comiskey Park and at the very spot where he thrilled fans for years with his brilliant fielding, running and hitting.

"I thank my teammates and the White Sox for giving me the chance to play the game I love. I thank God, I thank America and I thank all of you.

"What can I say?" said Aparicio. "I don't have any words for it. I can't believe the last two days.

Aparicio was inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame on Sunday and one of the big surprises the White Sox staged for him was bringing Chico Carrasquel to Chicago for the ceremonies.

The two, who hold different political views in their native Venezuela, hugged each other.

"He was the greatest," said Carrasquel, who was instrumental in getting Aparicio to sign with the White Sox. "The first time I saw him he was 10 years old and I knew he was going to be a major leaguer."

It was Carrasquel who called White Sox General Manager Frank Lane and told him about Aparicio.

"I called Lane and told him about Luis and Lane told me to sign him," recalled Carrasquel, whom the White Sox later traded to make room for Aparicio when they brought him up in 1956, the year he won American League Rookie of the Year honors.

"He wanted to go to the major leagues right away but it took him two years," said Carrasquel, who is unique in that he was the White Sox shortstop between two players who made the Hall of Fame.

Minoso, Pierce and Jim Rivera were among Aparicio's White Sox teammates who attended the ceremonies, as did Moe Drabowsky who pitched for Baltimore when Aparicio played for the Orioles.

Rivera said "If anybody deserves the Hall of Fame, it's Looie. He played every day and he had fallen arches. Without him and Nellie we would never have won in 1959."

The ever-popular Minoso, who was not with the White Sox when they won their last pennant, said "I believe when you talk about the best, you have to put him with all the great shortstops who ever played this game."

NYC rolls out red carpet for America's Olympic winners

NEW YORK (AP) - From Charles Linbergh to John Glenn, ticker tape parades have been bestowed on some of this country's greatest heroes.

Today — much to their disbelief America's 1984 Olympic medalists join the list of honorees with a ticker tape celebration of their very own.

"I thought you had to be an astronaut to be in a ticker tape parade," said Steve Lundquist who won a gold in swimming.

The city honored astronaut Glenn with a 1962 ticker tape parade; others who received the ticker tape treatment include Gen. Douglas MacArthur on his return from Korea in 1951 and Lindbergh following his New York-Paris flight

Lundquist and other Olympians arrived in the city Tuesday night for a dinner-dance in their honor way from Battery Park to City Hall. before today's parade up Broadtouched down at Kennedy Airport, the athletes' winning spirit spread like a fever. From the airport, through the borough of Queens and through the Midtown Tunnel into Manhattan, the welcome from New Yorkers poured out.

"When people lined the streets all the way from the airport, it's great," said Lundquist. "Crowds formed everywhere. People stopped in their cars. There were people on overpasses and some were getting out of their cars to wave." The 206 athletes, who filled 13 buses, were escorted from the airport by a 16-motorcycle police unit - as the large as the one used for the president, said Lt. Vincent Abbene.

LAST LOOK — Some of the thousands of Boeing. Commercial Airline Co. employees who got a break from their regular jobs Tuesday morning to attend the final 727 jet rollout ceremony take a close look at the final trijet of its kind to be built.

Last 727 rolls off production line

SEATTLE (AP) — When the last and shorter distances. Boeing 727 rolled out of production Tuesday, it marked the first time the Boeing Commercial Airplane Co. stopped building a commercial jetliner model. The 727, introduced in 1962, is being discontinued because newer airplanes fly with a smaller crew, use less fuel and are quieter, said spokesman Tom Cole. "I don't want to say it's obsolete, because they will still be flying. But in the future we won't be selling any of them," Cole said.

The 727 is Boeing's second line of jets and is the first model to be discontinued, Cole said. A modified version of the 707, Boeing's oldest line, still is being produced for the

Cole said the last 727 model brings the total sold to 1,832 since the first craft was produced 22 years

United Airlines bought the first 727, which rolled out of the Renton production plant in November 1962. United ordered 40 planes in late 1960, about the same time Boeing confirmed it actually would build the 727.

Eastern Airlines also ordered 40 planes about the same time and became the first airline to put the plane in service.

Cole said Boeing tried to convince United to bring its first 727, which is still in service, back to Renton for a brief ceremony, but the airline declined.

The last 727 is being sold to Federal Express, which will use it to transport cargo, he said.

The 727 is the most popular commercial airplane in the world, said opened up the "middle of America" to travel.

Older, long-range 707s and DC-8s were too expensive to fly for short hops and needed long runways to land. But the 145-seat 727 was designed to handle shorter fields
