

Davis considered for Abilene manager

ABILENE — Big Spring City Manager Don Davis is among almost 100 people from Texas and around the country who have applied for the vacant Abilene city manager's job, according to a list of applicants released here today by city officials.

Abilene Mayor David Stubbeman said Wednesday he hopes a new chief administrator for the city will be hired by mid-September, according to an article Thursday in the Abilene Reporter-News. He said the city council here will begin the selection as soon as possible.

Davis, who was involved in meetings at Big Spring City Hall this morning, could not be reached for comment.

The list released today includes six applicants from Abilene City Hall, including acting City Manager Curtis Hawk, the assistant city manager, the police and fire chiefs and the planning and water utilities directors.

In addition to Davis' application and those from people in other Texas cities, applicants from as far away as Michigan, Kentucky, Illinois and Colorado are included in the 98-person list.

"We didn't want to limit any possible applicants," Stubbeman said when asked why the council decided to advertise for the job nationwide.

"I had no idea we'd have this type of response," he said.

The Abilene search was prompted by the resignation earlier this year of City Manager Ed Seegmiller, who left the Abilene for a new position at the West Central Texas Municipal Water District.

The Reporter-News article said the application deadline was Wednesday, although applications postmarked Aug. 15 would probably be accepted.

"We will now go through and try to narrow the list down," Stubbeman said Wednesday.

Q. When was the last time the Chicago Cubs won the pennant?

A. The cubs last won the pennant and went to the World Series in 1905. The last time they were contenders for the pennant was in 1969, when the New York Mets — the "Amazing" version — beat them out. The Mets are their main competition for the division title this year as well.

School taxes raised

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Big Spring school district trustees Thursday approved a one-cent tax hike to fund a $14,930,108 budget for 1984-85 during their meeting Thursday.

That figure, which includes all projected expenditures for the coming school year, is a $430,626 increase over the 1983-1984 budget of $14,499,482, according to Don Crockett, assistant superintendent for business.

Crockett said the 1984-85 budget would require a tax rate per $100 evaluation of .862. This compares with a 1983-84 tax rate of .85 per $100 evaluation, a net increase of .012.

Trustees approved the tax rate increase during their meeting.

Crockett told the board the brunt of the tax increase will be met this year by oil and mineral valuations, and not by local taxpayers. The biggest increases in the budget, $523,000, is going for state-mandated teacher salaries, he said.

"Teacher salaries are the major expenditure of the budget," Crockett said.

Total local and federal revenues for 1984-85 are estimated at $14,879,119, Crockett said. That is $1,098,466 over the 1983-84 revenue figure of $13,780,653.

Crockett gave a brief outline of the budget during a public hearing Thursday. Local revenue for the coming year is $6,029,568, a $198,122 increase over the previous year.

Debt service revenue is $432,259, a decrease of $44,648. State revenue is $7,003,353, an increase of $946,401. Federal revenue is $1,413,939, a decrease of $1,409 over the 1983-84 budget.

Trustees will meet again Aug. 31 in the Big Spring High School cafeteria to make final amendments to the 1983-84 budget. The fiscal year for 1984-85 begins Sept.

1. In other business Thursday, trustees approved the employment of 13 new teachers. They include Keith Bagnall, high school; Mitzie Sue Balios, Runnels; Charles Briscoe, high school; Karla Canada, Runnels; Brenda Sue-Ann Damron, Runnels; and David Dillard, Goliad.

Also Jeffrey Todd Felty, Goliad; Sandra Kay Haney, Goliad; Andrea Harp, Goliad; Carol Ann Niemeier, high school; Steve Poitevin, high school; Clarence E. Steadman, high school; and Jewel

Root Hospital administrator resigns post

Doctor may be reprimanded

Staff Reports

COLORADO CITY — The Mitchell County Hospital District Thursday night voted unanimously to accept the unexpected resignation of Root Memorial Hospital administrator Ray Dillard.

Dillard, 42, gave his verbal resignation to board president Bobby Lemons following accusations made by some residents, including Marion Bassham, a hospital philanthropist and registered nurse at the hospital.

A petition of over 400 names asking for Dillard's resignation was presented to the board July 24.

Assistant administrator Ray Mason will temporarily take over the administration post at his current salary of $35,000 a year.

Dillard said two board members had asked him to resign following the hospital's Medicare decertification last month.

"If that's what you want, give me until Monday to confer with my family," Dillard said.

The accusations made by Mrs. Bassham were made following a closed session of the board.

In a written statement, Mrs. Bassham listed "incorrect information had been presented to the board, slanderous letters distributed, the routine in the hospital to mail notice of deficiencies in signing patients' charts to doctors one week ahead, 48 hours ahead and then a stop of their practice has not been done."

The letter also said some minutes of meetings had been changed without authorization, some minutes were written for meetings never held, Medicare reports had not been read by all board members, deficiencies had gone unreported, tapes of meetings were found to be erased in spots, and improper and possible illegal behavior by some of the hospital staff was not corrected.

Dillard said he denied all accusations.

Mrs. Bassham also said Dr. Thomas Noonan, a hospital staff doctor, should be reprimanded and put on probation for several months.

Board member Jane McCarley asked that the hospital board and medical staff meet Monday to consider suspension of all hospital and nursing home privileges for Noonan.

The suspension was requested after a reported infraction of hospital and nursing home rules, she said.

Earlier in the meeting, the board voted to begin negotiations to bring two new doctors to the hospital staff.

In other business, the board listened to Randy Abernathy, vice president of the YDP Corp., a professional management firm from Lubbock. Abernathy said his firm has aided several area hospitals regain their Medicare certification. No action was taken on whether to hire the firm.

Turkey fowls up Forsan oil power

Staff reports

FORSAN — A wild turkey flew its coop Thursday night and wreaked havoc when it decided to make a Texas Electric power station southwest of Forsan its resting place.

The turkey flew into the power station at about 11 p.m. causing a 1½-hour power shortage to a major oil field in Glasscock County, said a Forsan Oil Co. spokesman. The turkey was gobbled up when it landed on the transformer power lines.

"We had just about everybody in Forsan and Big Spring out there," he said.

The power was cut to several hundreds of oil wells in the area, he said. Continental Oil has approximately 600 wells in the area, he said.

No estimate was available on damage caused by the bird. Power was restored at approximately 12:30 a.m. Friday.

The spokesman said he would ask the local game warden to help remove the wild turkeys from the area.

"It happens all the time out here," said the spokesman. "Animals just climb onto the wires and we find them the next day."

Verdict: not guilty

JOHN DE LOREAN...convinced the jury

De Lorean punchy following 8-count cocaine trial bout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John De Lorean wept tears of joy after being acquitted of cocaine-trafficking charges, but he still faces huge unpaid legal fees, lawsuits, a bankruptcy case and a British probe of $17.5 million allegedly missing from his failed sports car company.

"Would you buy a used car from me?" the onetime millionaire automaker joked Thursday after a federal jury decided he had not conspired to distribute cocaine worth $24 million.

The British government, which poured more than $100 million into De Lorean's defunct sports car venture in Northern Ireland, issued an immediate invitation for him to answer questions about the unaccounted-for $17.5 million.

But on Thursday, De Lorean was a happy man as he heard the words "not guilty" pronounced eight times in a hushed courtroom, clearing him on all counts in a cocaine conspiracy indictment.

Defense attorney Howard Weitzman called the jury's verdict a condemnation of the government's controversial "sting" operations. He said the jury "sent out a message to the Department of Justice that you can't do to our citizens what you did to John De Lorean."

Some of the jurors felt De Lorean never committed the crimes he was charged with, and others felt he was illegally "lured into a situation" by the government, jurors told reporters.

But De Lorean's future was clouded by court cases in Miami and Detroit and the ongoing British inquiry into his business dealings.

In London, legislators demanded Thursday night that the government ask De Lorean what happened to $17.5 million that a House of Commons investigative committee concluded was paid to a firm called GPD. GPD was described as a small Swiss company registered in Panama with no known assets and about which almost nothing was known.

In Miami, meanwhile, 132 investors including Sammy Davis Jr. and Roy Clark have filed a $414.7 million suit alleging De Lorean misappropriated funds intended for research and development of the gull-winged sports car that bore his name.

Judge issues orders

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

District Court Judge Jim Gregg late Thursday handed down temporary injunctions and a temporary restraining order against both corporate management and former O.I.L. president Charles Christopher in their continuing struggle for control of Fibertex Products Inc.

In a temporary restraining order, Gregg ruled that the company's board of directors could still meet as scheduled this afternoon. But he has prohibited that board — split 9-6 in favor of corporate officers Tom Rutledge, Russ Rutledge, John Freeman and Fred Morrow — from taking certain action until a hearing at 3 p.m. next Wednesday. At the hearing, he will decide whether to continue the restrictions until a final decision in a pending lawsuit.

Gregg's restraining order prohibits the board from:

- Issuing any previously authorized but unissued shares of stock or selling the estimated 102,000 shares of treasury stock. Christopher's attorney, Gil Jones of Big Spring, argued that the sale or issuance of the stock would dilute Christopher's position as majority shareholder. Christopher testified Thursday that he owns or controls 52.48 percent of Fibertex stock.
- From amending the bylaws or articles of incorporation. A board elected in December and controlled by unhappy shareholders who now support Christopher changed company bylaws to stagger the terms of board members. The bylaws were changed again in February, when corporate management gained control.
- From redeeming or purchasing stock shares for the corporation.
- From any other act of the board that might alter the percentage of the shares owned by stockholders.

Gregg Thursday also handed down temporary injunctions concerning the exercise of voting rights to more than 40,000 shares of stock at a special stockholders' meeting called for 10 a.m. Saturday at the Big Spring Country Club by Christopher.

Both Christopher and the Rutledges are prohibited from voting.

Clear skies top state

By The Associated Press
A high pressure system aloft kept most of Texas cloud free and warm to hot today as clear skies and warm to hot temperatures dominated the weather scene.

A few high clouds were reported early today from the western Gulf of Mexico into the coastal plains northward into the Hill Country and Edwards Plateau. But most of the state had clear skies.

No significant rainfall was reported during the night and early morning hours, but a few showers and thunderstorms were reported just off the Texas coast east of Brownsville and a few showers fell in the Laredo area.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 60s and 70s. Extremes ranged from 56 at Marfa in Southwest Texas to 82 at Dallas. Other readings around the state included 62 at Amarillo, 72 at Wichita Falls, 73 at Waco, 74 at San Antonio, 72 at Corpus Christi, 74 at Brownsville, 70 at San Angelo, 66 at Midland and 68 at El Paso.

Forecasts called for thundershowers today along the lower coast, the Rio Grande Valley and thundershowers were expected in far West Texas around El Paso.

Highs today were to be mostly in the 80s and 90s, ranging to as high as around 100 in the lower portions of the Big Bend area. Lows tonight will be mostly in the 60s and 70s.

Little change is expected Saturday with clear to partly cloudy skies and warm to hot temperatures statewide. Highs will be mostly in the 80s and 90s, ranging upward to near 100 in the Big Bend area.

Scattered thundershowers rumbled across the Plains, the Rockies and part of the South today, as temperatures in the low 40s chilled Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

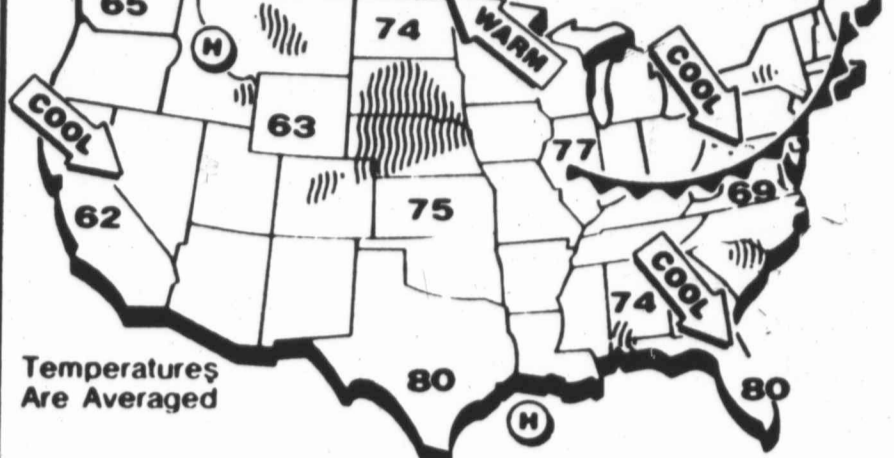

The National Weather Service said thundershowers were reported early today in South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, New Mexico, Montana, Arizona and along the southern Atlantic Coast.

In Marquette, Mich., the mercury stood at 44 degrees early today as lows in the 50s were recorded over much of the nation's northern tier.

The rest of the nation experienced generally fair skies as heavy thunderstorms which have drenched much of the East for several days moved out to sea.

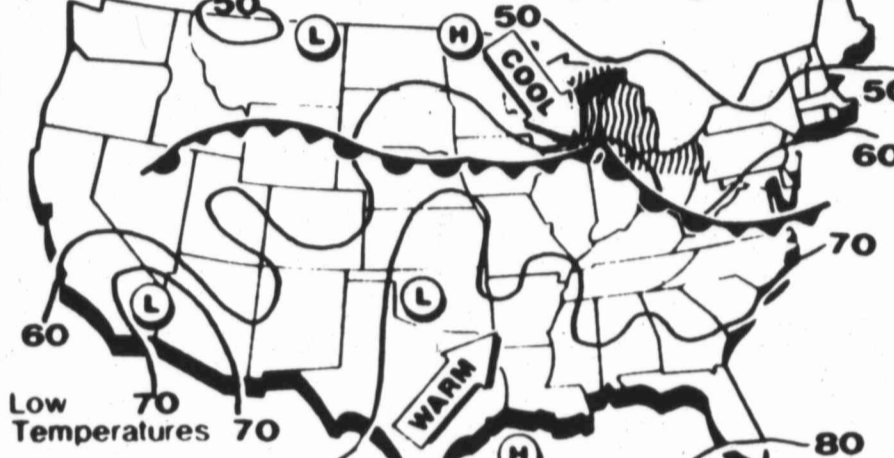

West Texas - Generally fair with no important change in temperatures. Widely scattered thundershowers mountains Sunday. Panhandle lows lower 60s. Highs near 90. South Plains low mid 60s. High low 90s. Permian Basin and far west lows upper 60s. Highs low 90s. Concho Valley low near 70. Highs mid 90s. Big Bend lows near 60s mountains. Highs mid 90s mountains to upper 90s along the river.

Herald tops in area contest

The Big Spring Herald took first-place honors in four out of six daily newspaper categories in the West Texas Press Association Better Newspaper Contest.

The awards, announced recently in San Angelo, included first-place prizes for general excellence, news writing, editorial writing and advertising composition, and a second-place award for column writing.

The contest period covered 1983. The Nov. 22-23 issues of the Herald earned the general excellence honor, and the Oct. 27-28 issues garnered top acclaim for advertising composition.

In newswriting, Carol Baldwin's Dec. 22 "Cold snap strands bus travelers" and Rick Brown's Nov. 27 "Midland air crash kills TV crew" earned the first-place finish.

Two editorials by Managing Editor John Rice, "Big Spring sinking in pothole problem" and "City should have asked voters," were considered best among entries.

In the column writing category, "Spin Cycle," by former news editor Bob Carpenter, and "Prevent Defense," by sports writer Steve Belvin, captured the second-place spot.

Hospital starts new program

A new program designed to reduce hospital admissions to the Big Spring State Hospital started in late July, according to hospital superintendent A.K. Smith and Community Programs director Jack Stovall.

The program, called admission prevention lodge, is housed in a cottage at career village on the hospital grounds.

"The goal of APL is to provide short-term accelerated psychiatric treatment to persons referred from the 46-county area served by Big Spring State Hospital as an alternative to in-patient care," Smith said. "We believe the program will reduce hospital admissions by enhancing the outpatient program's capability to respond to acutely distressed and potentially committable patients by providing intense therapeutic aid in a semi-secured environment."

The lodge has a six-bed capacity. Room cost will be about $1.76 a day per patient. Patients have a choice of receiving meals at the hospital dining facilities at cost or preparing their own meals, Smith and Stovall said.

"The APL program is for clients who need close observation, as they are starting on a prescribed medication or treatment program, but who do not actually need to go through the complete hospital admission procedure," Stovall said.

Clients considered for admission to the program must be active outpatients of a mental health authority in the 46-county area, and each must be referred by the local mental health authority, Stovall said.

Other admission requirements include: a current social history; a psychological assessment or evaluation; a psychiatric assessment or evaluation; a B-6.0 financial assessment; consent for treatment; and a comprehensive treatment plan.

The treatment plan should indicate a patient will respond to "extremely short-term intensive treatment," Stovall said. Patients accepted in the program will stay in the lodge a maximum of 10 days, he said.

Program staff will either refer the patient back to the mental health agency that did the original referral or to in-patient care at the hospital at the completion of the APL program.

"We are looking forward to some excellent results from this new program," Smith said. "We expect to be able to release 75 percent of the persons served in the program for a return to their community setting."

Police Beat

Man, 69, injured in collision

A 69-year-old Big Spring man was released from Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital this morning after a Thursday morning major accident near 9th and Goliad.

Ira Minchew of 407 W. Eighth was taken to the hospital by Shafter Ambulance after he rear-ended a parked 1977 Pontiac Bonneville on Ninth Street at about 10:15 a.m. Thursday, police reports said.

According to reports, owner of the Pontiac was listed as C.M. Humphrey of 2506 Rebecca. Minchew was driving a 1965 Oldsmobile Cutlass at the time of the accident, reports said.

No police action was taken after the accident. In other police reports: Ronnie Atkins of Big Spring was released at 117 Main told police at 8:11 a.m. Thursday that someone sometime between 5:30 p.m.

Wednesday and 8:10 a.m. Thursday threw a rock through a plate glass window at the business causing damage estimated at $400, police reports said.

C.J. Williamson of 2505 W. Highway 80 told police at 8:35 a.m. Thursday that someone entered his residence and stole a sawed-off shotgun valued at $100, a .25 caliber Japanese rifle valued at $250, two Remington rifles valued at a total of $65, and a BB rifle valued at $15, police reports said.

Willie Rangel of 309 W. 11th told police at 12:30 a.m. Friday that someone at about midnight Thursday stole a 1978 Kawasaki motorcycle while it was parked outside the Penny Pinchers Lounge at 1310 W. Fourth, police reports said. Value of the motorbike was set at $2,300, reports said.

Freeman is the subject of a lawsuit filed in 118th District Court.

Gregg said he could not order the individual shareholders not to vote their stock at the meeting because they were not parties to the suit.

11,500 shares once owned by company patent attorney Guy Matthews and sold to Christopher and Fiberflex director Billy Massingill as part of an out-of-court settlement. Matthews had signed both an 11-month proxy and a 10-year voting agreement granting voting rights to the Rutledges. The injunction is in effect until a final judgment in the lawsuit, also filed in 118th District Court.

20,000 shares also previously owned by Matthews, and now owned by Christopher and Massingill. The shares were sold at a foreclosure sale in March to Christopher and Massingill when Matthews did not pay off a $400,000 note on which the stock was collateral.

Retired 118th Judge Ralph Caton ruled in a lawsuit earlier this month that the voting rights agreements held by the Rutledges on the stock were no longer in effect because of the bank foreclosure sale. Gregg's order Thursday will remain in effect until Caton files a separate judgment or until the appeals process is exhausted.

Gregg also ordered corporate management, by next Wednesday, to find a way to have the interests of Christopher's group represented. If the deadline is not met and the two factions do not come to an agreement on the matter, then Gregg said he would appoint someone to fill that role.

In other court action involving the Rutledges and Christopher, Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin threw out the $2,500 peace bonds on each of the Rutledges and Christopher.

Heflin Thursday said all three were "degrading the company and the community." The peace bonds against the Rutledges stemmed from an argument with Christopher at the country club; the bond on Christopher was requested by the Rutledges, who claimed Christopher was harassing them at work and at home.

India train crash kills 61

NEW DELHI — A train plunged into a flooded river in central India after a bridge collapsed during monsoon rains, and railroad officials said today that at least 61 people were killed. Another 41 people were missing and believed dead.

The crash Thursday injured another 104 people. Authorities said they did not know exactly how many people were aboard the five-car train.

The train fell into the river near Balaghat in Madhya Pradesh state, about 500 miles southeast of New Delhi.

BEIRUT — Four Lebanese civilians were wounded today when a hand grenade, apparently intended for a passing Israeli army patrol, exploded in the market town of Nabatiyeh in south Lebanon.

Reports said a lone assailant threw the grenade toward a passing Israeli patrol of one jeep and a command car.

Three pedestrians and a passing civilian motorist were wounded by shrapnel from the grenade.

Rig fire death toll rises

RIO DE JANEIRO — At least 40 workers drowned when a lifboat evacuating oil workers from a fire on Brazil's biggest offshore rig capsized in heavy seas, the state oil company Petrobras says.

Petrobras said the fire, which it blamed on an explosion caused by a gas leak early Thursday, was raging out of control during the night and expected to blaze for days. It said other oil and gas wells in the Enchova field, 53 miles offshore and 130 miles east of Rio, were sealed off to try to prevent environmental damage and explosions.

The Jornal do Brasil radio station said some workers tried to escape the flames by jumping from atop the 120 foot-high rig into the sea. Petrobras did not confirm the report but said the death toll was expected to increase.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Brasilia, Don Hauger, said the embassy did not believe any U.S. citizens were involved in the fire.

Petrobras said in an official communique there was an explosion from a gas leak that started a fire on the rig. As deck hands fought the blaze, a second fire broke out and workers began to abandon the rig.

The injured workers, some badly hurt, were taken by boat and helicopter to Casa de Caridade Hospital in Macae, a hospital employee said.

The fire was on the main platform at Enchova, and is Brazil's biggest. It has a crew of 80 to 100 people and produces up to 58,000 barrels of oil and 1.5 million cubic meters of gas per day.

BELFAST rocked by riots

BELFAST — Protestant gunmen fired on officers of the predominantly Protestant police force during a second straight night of rioting prompted by the trial of alleged anti-Catholic terrorists, police said.

A Belfast police spokesman said gunmen shot at officers at least three times Thursday night as mobs of young Protestants bombarded police with gasoline bombs and rocks, erected blazing barricades, attacked reporters and looted and set fire to stores.

Managua confirms airport

PUNTA HUETE — Nicaragua's leftist government confirmed a Reagan administration claim that it is building a major military airport and also said it is awaiting delivery of new combat planes from abroad.

The Reagan administration had claimed that Nicaragua was working on an airport at Punta Huete, 13 miles northeast of Managua, but Thursday was the first time the Sandinista government acknowledged the project.

WELCOME ABOARD — An Egyptian sailor watches as one of three British minesweepers makes its way through the Gulf of Suez to join American and French vessels searching for mines.

3 British minesweepers join Suez armada

CAIRO — Three British mine-hunters sailed into the Gulf of Suez today and a U.S. Navy ship carrying mine-sweeping helicopters prepared to join the search for the mines that have damaged 17 ships in the Red Sea.

Three other U.S. mine-detecting helicopters were sweeping the narrow approaches to the Saudi Arabian port of Jidda, midway down the 1,450-mile-long sea, U.S. Defense Department spokesman Michael Burch said.

Suez harbor officials said one British mine-hunter entered the Gulf of Suez — the northwestern branch of the Red Sea — on Thursday night and another two sailed today from the naval base at Adabiya, a few miles south of the city of Suez.

The remainder of the British contingent, one mine-hunter and a support ship, will put to sea later today or Saturday.

The start of the multinational cleanup operation in the northern part of the Red Sea came less than two days after unidentified mines claimed their 17th victim since July 9, a Cypriot vessel.

A U.S. Embassy source told The Associated Press the U.S. Navy transport Shreveport, with four Sea Stallion mine-hunting helicopters on board, was "in position in the Suez Gulf, preparing to start operations in a day or two." About 200 American servicemen are aboard.

He said the Shreveport had dropped anchor "somewhere in the gulf" but not at an Egyptian naval base.

"The Shreveport is a beehive of activity, the crew is getting equipment ready, testing the helicopters and checking out logistics support," said the embassy source, who spoke on condition he not be identified.

Sources close to the Egyptian Defense Ministry said the ministry had set up a "special command" to direct and coordinate mine clearance operations with the British and American units, and also with French and Italian vessels when they arrive.

The British have been allotted the northern part of the Suez Gulf, the Americans the mid-section and the Egyptian navy the southern part, the sources said.

FBI probes Block finances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary John Block says he has nothing to hide from a reported FBI investigation into his farmland transactions and suggests that some of the controversy about his finances has been politically motivated.

Block responded Thursday to earlier reports in Minnesota and Iowa that the FBI also is checking to see if he could benefit from a $400,000 loan by the Farmers Home Administration to a business partner.

The FBI would not confirm or deny that an investigation was under way.

Jim Nichols, Minnesota state agriculture commissioner, said Wednesday that the FBI is trying to discover whether Block disclosed all his assets in financial statements required of government employees.

Nichols, a member of the Democratic-Farm-Labor coalition party, has frequently criticized Block and the Reagan administration's farm policies.

Block was asked at a news conference whether the FBI had contacted him in connection with the investigation.

"No, they haven't contacted me at all, and I don't know anything about it," Block said.

Guards save 25 from tide

NEW YORK — Twenty-five "heroic" lifeguards battled a freak rip tide apparently whipped up by a passing barge to save more than two dozen swimmers being swept helplessly into deep Atlantic waters, officials said.

A large barge and tug involved in an Army Corps of Engineers beach replenishment project may have created the strong current that pulled 25 to 30 bathers into water over their heads Thursday at the city's Rockaway Beach, said Parks Department spokesman Adrian Benepe.

Chrysler hikes car prices

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. says it has tentatively raised prices on its 1985-model passenger cars an average 1.7 percent, or $181, over comparably equipped 1984 models.

The automaker announced the increase Thursday to its U.S. dealers, Chrysler said in a statement. The tentative prices apply to models shipped after July 30.

Chrysler also said it would increase delivery prices by an average $12 per car. Dealer profit margins would remain the same, a company spokesman said.

Man dies of Legionnaire's

TRENTON — An isolated case of Legionnaires' disease caused the death of a longtime resident of Trenton Psychiatric Hospital, a state official said Thursday.

Human Services Commissioner George J. Albanese ordered an immediate investigation into the death, which occurred on July 28 at Mercer Medical Center here. Albanese said he was not alerted to the incident until Tuesday.

The victim was a 34-year-old man who had been in the state psychiatric institution for the past 16 years, Albanese said.

Freighter pulled from reef

MIAMI — A freighter grounded on a fragile coral reef in the Florida Keys for nearly two weeks was pulled free Thursday, but then was boarded and confiscated by federal marshals when it arrived in Miami, officials said.

Four straining tugs and the ship's own engines pulled the 400-foot Wellwood free shortly before noon EDT, said Coast Guard Petty Officer Dan Waldschmidt at Coast Guard district headquarters in Miami.

The Wellwood had been stuck on Molasses Reef, part of the continent's only living coral reef, in the Key Largo National Marine Sanctuary since early Aug. 4.

AIDS antibodies found

SAN FRANCISCO — University of California virologists have discovered antibodies to a previously unknown retrovirus, thought to be a possible cause of AIDS, in each of 86 AIDS patients they tested.

The scientists also found antibodies to the retrovirus in the blood of 30 of 47 clinically healthy homosexual men, or 64 percent.

Big Two games

WASHINGTON — The Olympics in Los Angeles announced to the world a resurgence of American patriotism. The Russians, by their boycott, proved they will pay a price to contest the new American confidence.

So the Games dramatized the condition of Big Two relations. They amplify the message that unless Washington takes the initiative, the outlook for future understandings with Moscow is bleak.

Signs of American nationalism abounded in Los Angeles. The athletes themselves, in sharp contrast to the black power salutes of 1968, went all-out to show devotion to the U.S. Almost all the track winners seized an American flag and bore it aloft. Carl Lewis, the star of all the stars, held the flag longest. One of those who trailed him in a race wrapped the flag around his body.

The coverage went almost to the limit of boastful self-glorification. Expert commentators, who would have considered it bush league to root for the home team in national sports, spoke regularly of "our side." Time magazine entitled its story "Glory Hallelujah." A fast-food chain advertised the contest with the slogan, "When the U.S. wins, you win."

The American love affair with America is, of course, not new. It has persisted from Colonial days, and varies only in intensity. The present surge comes after a down decade marked by Vietnam, Watergate and stagflation. Jimmy Carter articulated what many Americans felt when he spoke of a "national malaise."

The swelling of the patriotic theme which has followed is not confined to party. Americans of all kinds participated in the Vietnam Memorial celebrations. There was flag-waving at the Democratic convention in San Francisco. Still, President Reagan has certainly led the way. From his first days in office, he has heaped praise on men in uniform, stood tall for defense spending and backed the assertion of American interests in the world. He thinks of the country, as he likes to say, as a "shining city."

The Russians could have dismissed most of this as blarney rhetoric. Instead they have chosen to take it at more than face value. They have refused to acknowledge the legitimacy of America's psychological recovery, and nothing shows it better than the decision to boycott the Olympics.

Had the Soviets come to Los Angeles, Russian athletes would undoubtedly have done well, maybe even very well, in swimming, weightlifting and field events. Their East German allies would have scored heavily in women's events. The Cubans would have cut a figure in boxing. Since people the world over tend to be impressed by victories, a good showing in the Olympics would have worked to Moscow's advantage all around the globe.

Besides forgoing gain, moreover, the boycott cost something. Communist states which like to underline differences with Russia — notably China and Romania — sent teams to Los Angeles to dramatize their independence from the Moscow line. As a result, the boycott revealed just how little international sympathy the Russians command. Outside of the Warsaw Pact countries, only Cuba, South Yemen, Ethiopia, Angola, Afghanistan, Mongolia, North Korea, Laos and Vietnam followed Moscow's lead in the boycott. That is a pathetic showing for a superpower.

Just why the Russians were prepared to pay such a cost for not showing in Los Angeles is a matter of speculation. A couple of theories have been blown by Moscow's recent offer to meet with the U.S. in Vienna next month to discuss demilitarization of space. That offer showed, first, that internal leadership squabbles have not totally paralyzed the Soviet decision-making machinery. It also indicated — as Russian officials here have explicitly said — that Moscow does not mind dealing with the Reagan administration at a time likely to help in the reelection campaign.

What the Russians do not want to do is be a highly visible party to the triumph of resurgent nationalism in this country. Had they competed in Los Angeles, Soviet athletes would have been swept up — as the Chinese and Romanians were — in the euphoric feeling that has characterized the Games. They would have been seen embracing American opponents with the crowd applauding in the background.

But the last thing the Kremlin wants on Soviet television is evidence of good feeling between Russians and Americans. Soviet leaders are now warning of the American challenge in the darkest terms. The Moscow media have likened Reagan to Hitler, and call insistently upon all citizens to make sacrifice for the motherland. False accounts of terrorism in Los Angeles are detailed daily in the Soviet Union.

Moscow, in other words, wants to play the American relation cool. Except where self-interest clearly dictates it — as in the case for demilitarization of space — the Russians are not going to accommodate the U.S. in its present mood. A serious initiative will have to come from the American side. So it would be no bad thing if President Reagan kept alive the idea of a summit meeting even after the election. For otherwise there will be no momentum for the Big Two dialogue that — in the end — serves everybody's best interest.

Billy Graham

Bible nutrition

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Does the Bible say anything about proper nutrition and what we should eat and not eat? I have become very interested in the subject of nutrition lately and would like to know what the Bible says. — Mrs. I.A.

DEAR MRS. I.A.: Yes, the Bible certainly does underline the importance of taking care of ourselves physically — including proper food. It is amazing, in fact, to read through the Old Testament (the book of Leviticus, for example) and discover how many of the regulations for ancient Israel were built on sound health rules. Their society was different than ours, of course — they had no refrigeration — so many of their specific rules would not be necessary for us today, but underneath those rules are important and valid principles we need to recall. One of those principles is that we are to avoid things which might harm us physically.

The reason for this is that God gave us our bodies, and we are responsible to Him for them. This is especially important if you know Christ, because your body is not really yours — it belongs to God. "Do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit, who is in you, whom you have received from God? You are not your own; you were bought at a price. Therefore honor God with your body" (1 Corinthians 6:19-20).

But don't become so preoccupied with physical fitness that you forget your spiritual fitness. Are you spiritually fit?

Monopoly politics shaky in Mexico

WASHINGTON — In a top-secret report, the CIA has concluded that the near-monopoly party that has dominated Mexico for more than half a century — the Institutional Revolutionary Party — is running scared. The CIA is concerned that the situation could eventually lead to revolution from either the right or the left.

The report, titled "Prospects for Instability in Mexico," was specially prepared for President Reagan before he met with Mexican President Miguel de la Madrid last May. My associate Dale Van Atta has reviewed the report's self-described "key judgments."

The CIA dealt at length with the municipal elections of July 1983. The ruling PRI was jolted by the astonishing success of the opposition National Action Party.

Though PAN won only five of 61 contested legislative seats and nine of 105 municipal posts in five Mexican states, it was PRI's worst showing in its 54-year history. PAN candidates were elected mayors of two state capitals — Chihuahua and Durango — and of Ciudad Juarez, the border town across from El Paso.

In the two northern states, where PAN is strongest, it was able to force relatively clean elections monitoring every polling place. Whenever obvious manipulation was spotted, PAN's poll watchers used citizens-band radios to call in the cavalry — demonstrators with bullhorns and lawyers well versed in electoral procedures. Under these circumstances, as one Mexican columnist observed, "it was not practical for any PRI representative to try the decrepit set of tricks of the party's Golden Age."

It may also explain why PRI at first let the election results stand, something it had never done before when it had lost. Traditionally, opposition victories at the polls were lost in the government-run vote-counting rooms — a practice derisively referred to as PRI's "electoral alchemy."

But the CIA noted that it didn't take long for PRI to reverse its little experiment in true democracy. At least two of the elections were declared null and void, and PRI engaged in a new round of vote-rigging. PRI didn't lose any major contests after that, the CIA reported, due to "massive ballot stuffing."

Jack Anderson's investigative reports from Washington are distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Some of the most flagrant excesses occurred in PRI's efforts to prevent opposition victories in Acapulco and the states of Sinaloa and Puebla. According to Mexican sources, teachers at government-run schools in Sinaloa were observed filling out hundreds of ballots the day before election.

Voters who were first in line the next day found the ballot boxes already so full they couldn't cram in their ballots. At several polling places, angry voters broke open the ballot boxes and hundreds of PRI votes came tumbling out.

In one contest PRI thought it might lose, party bully boys simply arrested the opposition candidate, the popular PAN mayor of Ciudad Obregon, and brought trumped-up charges such as "non-fulfillment of official duties." In a rare display of judicial efficiency, he was brought to trial and convicted within a month. But the public outcry was so great that the mayor has not yet had to start serving his three-year sentence.

Violence is not unknown in response to PRI election-rigging. Last October, when PRI stole an election from the Socialist Workers Party in Namiquipa, Chihuahua, some 2,000 irate citizens stormed the mayor's office. One protester was killed, a woman had her arm torn off by an explosive bullet and at least 150 demonstrators were beaten by police.

In the July 1983 elections, PRI leaders charged that PAN candidates had been elected through fraud, then complained that they shouldn't be allowed to hold office because they lacked experience. PRI also charged that PAN had won only because of financial support from the U.S. Democratic National Committee and the FBI.

Finally, PRI simply declared several of the elections null and void, rescheduled them for last April 1, and won through its traditional chicanery.

Popular outrage led to a riot last May 2 in Chihuahua city, in which at least two persons were killed and many injured.

KIWI KWALITY CONTROL: The Reagan administration, which loudly proclaims its opposition to unnecessary government meddling in the marketplace, has decided that kiwis must be subjected to federal regulation.

The kiwis in question are not visitors from New Zealand or the tiny tailless birds that flourish there, but the hairy-brown, egg-sized, strawberry-flavored tropical fruit that gourmet grocers have been selling with increasing success in recent years.

Egged on by domestic kiwi growers, the Department of Agriculture is considering a "marketing order" for the trendy little fruits. This would establish strict, government-enforced quality controls on kiwis, protect unwary shoppers from undersized, blemished, dented, misshapen or sunburned fruits.

Critics charge that the marketing order, if given final approval by Agriculture Secretary John Block, would inevitably lead to higher prices for kiwis, to say nothing of the inspection and enforcement expense.

PRESCIENT WARNING: The Commerce Department recently warned all ships using Gulf Coast ports of hazards in the very area where a British tanker ran aground and leaked 1.2 million gallons of crude oil. A department manual, "Gulf Coast Pilot," said the approaches to the Calcasieu River off Louisiana are an underwater graveyard of capped oil wells and other obstructions, and urged strict adherence to navigational guidelines. The cause of the latest marine casualty in the area has not been determined.

Jack Anderson's investigative reports from Washington are distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Around The Rim

By RICK BROWN

There and back

The kid had been around; he looked his age but didn't act it.

His eyes were clear, a combination of steel and light that you find in people who think they've found a better way. He told me about the hard knocks he'd had, but he accepted them with the peaceful clarity of one who'd been to hell and managed to make it back.

He was "real young," but wouldn't tell his age. And he was more of an adult than most people I meet daily.

I met him at Amigos, a private club downtown on Runnels that opens its doors on Wednesday nights to "teens," and we talked in the dark, red light as other kids danced below a silver, mirrored ball.

He said he had a message he wanted to get out to other kids on the street: "You don't have to smoke dope to be cool anymore," he said. "There's new light on the situation. You don't have to be tough to get along with people."

"I want kids to know that just because you're bigger than the little man that's no reason to make trouble to him. Because that little man will face up to you some day," he said.

But the kid had another story to tell. He said he'd been in "some trouble." He said he'd been "in the wrong place at the wrong time" and gotten busted.

Now, he was a walking anti-drug commercial of the "Why do you think they call it dope" variety.

Like most people who tell me they've changed, that they've seen a new light in some way or another, I mistrusted him. I wanted to know what axe he had to grind to talk like he did.

"You just put yourself in my position and think about it. I hung out. I got stoned. I changed, man," he said.

"Since they got Amigos they all hang out here. How many kids do you think are out on the streets tonight?" the kid said to me. There were at least 250 Black and Hispanic kids — but no Anglos — in the place. They were talking, drinking soft drinks and dancing.

After Mary's Disco Paradise was closed down by the city, new owners set out to make the place respectable. These summertime Wednesday night teen dances are part of that effort.

Naturally, the big attraction for the kids is break dancing. All the big break dancing clubs make Amigos on Wednesdays: Reckless, the Mixed Beat, the Street Rockers.

They were all there, staying out of trouble.

"Four or five years ago, there wasn't a damn thing in this town, just the movies. It was bad," the kid told me.

"But it's better now. You got people down at DHR (State Department of Human Resources) They look out for these kids. You also got a better police force."

"Used to, they just didn't give a s---. They had better things to do," he said.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Medication for acne said to be cause of birth defects

There is now enough evidence to say that a new prescription drug for acne can kill or malforn the human embryo, according to the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation.

"Any sexually active woman should have a pregnancy test before treatment with Accutane," says Arthur J. Salisbury, M.D., March of Dimes vice president for medical services. "She should avoid becoming pregnant during treatment, and for one month afterward," he said.

The drug was licensed for sale in 1982 with knowledge that it caused birth defects in test animals, and with a warning against its use during pregnancy. Since then, the manufacturer has twice sent letters to doctors and pharmacists nationwide to stress the risk of damage to unborn babies. The drug's packaging includes a red sticker, warning of this risk.

However, to date the manufacturer and the Food and Drug Administration have received at least 29 reports of miscarriages and birth defects after use of the drug during pregnancy.

The most recent report of birth defects associated with the drug appeared in the June 22 issue of Journal of the American Medical Association. Two cases were described by Dr. Paul J. Benke, associate professor of pediatrics at the University of Miami and director of a March of Dimes-supported genetics clinic serving Florida's Palm Beach County.

Malformations in the two babies included hydrocephaly (enlargement of the fluid-filled spaces in the brain), abnormal ears, small mouth and cleft palate. Both babies died.

These malformations are consistent with earlier reports of hydrocephaly, microcephaly (very small head), small and malformed ears and eyes, very severe congenital heart defects and cleft palate in offspring of women taking Accutane early in pregnancy. They also resemble the malformations that have been produced in test animals.

"This consistency," Dr. Salisbury says, "is the single most convincing piece of evidence that the drug has really caused the reported birth defects. Coincidence is not a plausible explanation."

"Accutane has F.D.A. approval only for very severe acne that does not respond well to other treatments," he adds. "Restricting its use to appropriate cases is one way to reduce the risk to women of childbearing age."

"A problem with any drug that causes major malformations is that it does its damage in the early weeks after conception, often before a woman knows that she is pregnant. This is why it is necessary to have a pregnancy test before starting treatment with Accutane, and to have a reliable way to avoid conception during treatment."

"Fortunately," he says, "Accutane is not meant to be taken for more than a few months. When it works for acne, its remission effect seems to last for a year or more. Responsible adult women should be able to avoid conception during the relatively short period of treatment and for a month afterward. Teen-age girls, as a group, are more worrisome, and the choice to treat them with Accutane must be made very carefully on an individual basis."

Dr. Donohue Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Friday, Aug. 17, 1984 5-A

Pregnancy mole to be watched

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Once you wrote about molar pregnancy. My main problem is lack of understanding. I had this condition, and I can't find out how it happened. I've never been told bluntly that I have cancer, so why the chemotherapy? I have to go to a cancer clinic semi-annually to have my blood checked. Why is all this drawn out over such a long period of time?

My problem occurred two years ago. That was my second pregnancy. I am still of childbearing age, and would like to think that my only child will not have to remain an only child. I experimented with LSD about 10 years ago. Could this cause a molar pregnancy? I wish to remain anonymous, but would appreciate any enlightenment. — Anon.

Before trying to enlighten you about the general facts, let me say I know of no relationship between LSD use and molar pregnancy, and that having one does increase the risk of a second, but not so much that a second pregnancy is unwise or ill-advised. Much depends on the circumstances.

I think I explained earlier that a molar pregnancy (or hydatiform mole) is disease of the tissue that would have eventually formed the placenta, the structure through which the fetus is nourished. Those tissues are called trophoblast tissues. Growths on those tissues do have potential for cancer development. Then it's called a choriocarcinoma.

It's for this reason that the doctor wants to keep a close check on the woman who has had molar pregnancy. He wants to be sure that all the molar tissue has been removed, for even a tiny amount can become cancerous. The blood tests you have are to detect presence of chorionic gonadotropin, a hormone produced by such tissue. If no hormone is found, things are OK.

Sometimes molar tissue may invade the muscle wall of the uterus. That's more serious than a simple mole. Then it's decision time. If a woman is under 40 and wants to have more children, treatment is with a single chemotherapy drug. If she doesn't want to become pregnant, then the uterus is removed. I hope all this adds sufficiently to my previous discussion of molar pregnancy and enlightens you.

Dear Abby

Mom's policy reveals closed mind

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl and I need your help to settle something between my mother and me.

When I have a boy over, my mother thinks it's horrible if we shut the door while we're in my room. She always yells loudly, "Leave that door open!" It embarrasses me in front of the boy. My brother, who is 18, also has to leave his door open when he has a girl in his room.

If my brother and I ignore our mother's wishes (or the door should accidentally blow shut), she will come by, knock once, then fling the door open. It's like she wants to catch us doing something. But the point is, we aren't doing anything.

Please don't say that if we aren't doing anything we don't need the door shut. I like my privacy and so does my brother when we have friends over. We usually just sit on the bed and talk or listen to the stereo.

It seems like our mother doesn't trust us. It makes me feel trashy that my own mother thinks the worst of me when I have a boy in my room. How do I handle the situation?

NOSY MOTHER TROUBLE
DEAR TROUBLE: Thank you "nosy" mother for caring enough about you to do what a mother is supposed to do — minimize the human temptations all normal kids eventually encounter. She trusts you. She trusts your brother. She also remembers your father and the temptations of her youth. I'm sure she trusts the friends you invite into your bedrooms to "sit on the bed and listen to the stereo"; she just wants to make sure you don't get carried away by the music until you're sufficiently mature in every way to handle it.

Dallas minister serves Hillcrest Baptist

GEORGE DAVIS

By KIM KIRKHAM
George Davis, interim pastor at Hillcrest Baptist Church, says he became a minister before he became a Christian.

"I was a religious man, but I hadn't been truly converted until I was in the ministry," said Davis, a dean at Criswell Bible College in Dallas.

"I felt the Lord's call to preach actually before I was converted. I was not actually converted until I was in the ministry. It's one of those situations when a person gets saved after they become a member of a church," he said.

The Mississippi native has been serving the Hillcrest congregation for one month since its pastor left.

"I have preached here off and on for about five years. Dr. Phillip McClendon, former pastor here, was a very good friend of mine and still is," said Davis.

"I live and breath preaching," Davis said, tracing his career to the strong influence of his family.

His father was a deacon and his mother, who is 79, is still active in church. His 19-year-old son also is a minister. There also are three ministers on his wife's side of the family.

Criswell Bible College, where Davis has worked for 12 years, trains pastors and missionaries for Southern Baptist Church work. W. H. Criswell is the founder of Criswell Bible College and the elder statesman of the Southern Baptists. He has been a minister for 40 years. According to Davis, Criswell has been a major influence on his ministry. "If Baptists had a Pope, he (Criswell) would be it."

Criswell Baptist began in 1971 as a night school. In 1973, it became a Bible institute. It became a four-year, fully accredited Bible school in 1976.

Davis said he expects to be here several more months, and during that time he plans to use his professional experience to help the church reach its goal of being a "dynamic evangelistic church for the city of Big Spring."

"This church is somewhat special to me, because I have been associated with it for five years," Davis said.

Davis' wife, Jean, will make her first trip to Big Spring and West Texas this weekend. His son, George Jr., is a sophomore at Criswell Baptist College and also has preached at Hillcrest Baptist Church. His daughter, Katherine, 14, will be a freshman at First Baptist Academy in Dallas.

Top students attend ministers' meeting

Danny Evans and Rick Hope, Forsan High School Bible Class students who had the highest and second highest grades in the class, were introduced by Kenneth Patrick to members of the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship, May 21.

It costs more than $20,000 to sponsor the Bible classes in three high schools. So far, the balance of the Bible fund is $19,432.

According to Dixie Robertson, $14,500 was raised in cash and pledges at a recent Rainbow Project fundraiser. Future projects include a softball game with KOSA, bike-a-thon, walk-a-thon and run-a-thon.

New officers for 1984-85 are: Rick Davis, president; Dixie Robertson, vice president; Kenneth Patrick, treasurer; and Carl Powers, secretary.

Women hold prayer retreat

The Women of First Church of God held a Prayer Retreat Monday, Aug. 6, in the church sanctuary.

Renae Loy, spiritual life director, led the retreat titled "Precious Moments," written by Elaine Loftin of Lake Charles, Louisiana.

Jane Loy, Mississippi State stewardship director, was a guest. The WCG will host the September birthday party for residents of Mountain View Lodge at 2 p.m. Sept. 3. The next meeting will be Sept. 3 at the church.

Calvary Baptist conducts Bible Study

The Ladies of Calvary Baptist Church met for a Bible Study meeting Aug. 7 in the home of Gladys Sonderson. The study was in the book of Acts titled Mission Possible Then - "When Three Fiery Trials."

The study told of wide-spread hunger in many countries. Christians and non-Christians are affected by drought, unemployment, disease and malnutrition. These problems are similar to the suffering of Paul. Paul used his trials as opportunities to witness for Christ. So do many Christians today.

The next meeting will be August 21st with the Royal Service Missionary program.

Annual breakfast set for Sunday

The Big Spring Baptist Association will have its second annual Men and Boy's breakfast Sunday at 7 a.m. at the Howard County Fair Barns. The menu will include biscuits, gravy, eggs, grits, ham, bacon, sausage, coffee, milk and juice.

Virginia Powers reported for Bible classes at Big Spring High School and Coahoma High School. Big Spring High is growing in interest and participation. Coahoma will not permit the HCFM to provide Bible class there next year.

The next meeting of HCFM will be at noon Monday at the Golden Corral. Dues of $5 are due at this time.

Upper Room to present 'Nite Song'

A movie, "Nite Song," will be shown at 8 p.m. Saturday at The Upper Room, 313 Runnels. The movie shows the love and power of God at work in a desperate urban environment.

"Nite Song" is about two boys, Joe and Pet, who live in a world of bitterness, discouragement, poverty and drugs. Together, they fight Satan in the city's streets and the minds of friends and family.

Immanuel Baptist celebrates 30th year

Immanuel Baptist Church in Monahans will celebrate its 30th Anniversary August 18th and 19th.

Beginning with registration at 9 a.m. Saturday, coffee and donuts will be served. Lunch will be served in the Fellowship Hall at 12 p.m. After a day of various planned activities, a barbecue dinner will be served at 6 p.m. at the church.

Sundays activities include Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. Nick Gates of Odessa will speak during the Worship Services at 11 a.m. A covered dish luncheon will be served at the church. Evening services will be at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Berea Baptist schedules youth revival

Berea Baptist Church will have a commissioning service Sunday at 7 p.m. for Ron and Jackie Banks. The Banks are leaving to become missionaries in Venezuela. Friends and supporters are invited to attend.

A youth revival also will be held at the church beginning Friday night at 7:30 p.m. and continuing until Sunday morning. Donnie Croft and Jerry Lewis will lead the revival.

B'nai B'rith condemns decision

The Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, recently condemned the decision by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra to replace a Hebrew rhapsody by Ernest Bloch scheduled to be played in Malaysia.

In a statement issued by Gary Zaslav, chairman of the League's New York Regional Board, ADL said, "That free Americans should cravenly bend their knee to such musical censorship does violence to our democratic principles and our national traditions. It is cultural anti-Semitism. It is a repudiation of the international language of arts and music which transcends all religious, national and cultural differences. Those capable of such censorship do not deserve to hear the Philharmonic."

Bloch's "Schelomo," subtitled "A Hebrew Rhapsody for Cello and Orchestra," was to be performed Sept. 3 in Kuala Lumpur. The orchestra replaced the Bloch score with Tchaikovsky's Violin Concerto.

Lutheran league elects new president

Paul H. Wegele of Bazine, Kansas, was elected president of the International Lutheran Laymen's League at the League's 67th Annual Convention in Phoenix, Ariz.

Laurence Lumpe of St. Louis, Mo., was appointed vice president of The International Lutheran Laymen's League. Lumpe was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Wegele.

Lumpe served as treasurer of the International LLL from 1979 to 1983, and as financial secretary from 1974 to 1978. Housing starts show steady decline

Staff reports

The Commerce Department said Thursday that new housing was started at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1.76 million units in July, with the construction level for single-family homes hitting its lowest point since December 1982. Big Spring recorded one single family unit housing start during July, a $41,600 unit built at 3304 Duke by Wayne Durham, reports from the city Inspection Division show.

Nationally, the decline was blamed on high mortgage rates, which have been going up for five months.

Rates on conventional fixed mortgages have risen for the past five months, hitting 15.2 percent in July, according to a survey by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. During the same period, the rate of housing construction fell 22 percent from a high of 2.2 million units in February.

But in recent days there have been indications that mortgage rates could decline. The Veterans Administration announced last week it was lowering its rate from 14 percent to 13.5 percent.

Mark Riedy, executive vice president of the Mortgage Bankers Association, said even with a slight decline in interest rates, mortgages were "still above the threshold level that chokes off demand."

High interest rates seem to have had no impact on the industrial segment of the economy.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities rose to 82.5 percent in July, the highest level in more than four years.

The 0.5 percentage point gain — which matched the June increase — was the 20th consecutive monthly rise since the recession ended and reflected widespread gains in a 1/2 p industries, autos and coal mining in particular.

Meanwhile, Americans' personal income rose a healthy 0.8 percent in July, but their spending continued to moderate, a separate report from the the Commerce Department said today.

Also, new applications for unemployment rose slightly in early August and industry operated at its highest level in more than four years, Commerce Department reports said.

The July income gain trailed slightly the 0.9 percent increase in June, but both months were well ahead of the 0.3 percent gain posted in May.

Spending, however, edged up only 0.3 percent in July, down from 0.4 percent in June and sharply lower than the 1.2 percent growth in May, the Commerce Department said.

First-time claims for unemployment compensation insurance payments totaled 349,000 in the first week of this month, up 2,000 from the preceding week, the Labor Department reported Thursday.

Falwell sparks gay alliance

DALLAS (AP) — With the Rev. Jerry Falwell in town boosting families and berating gays, the Dallas Gay Alliance decided to gather in a city park and hurl some fiery rhetoric of their own.

Condemning the right-wing religious leader as fostering "ignorance, bigotry and despotism," city gay leaders urged Falwell to get out of town and take his anti-gay views with him.

About 200 spectators and reporters came to Lee Park to be rallied, jeer a vintage Ronald Reagan film, "Bedtime for Bonzo," and hear Ron Najman, media director for the National Gay Task Force, run down a list of conditions in the country that make gays quake.

This is a nation, Najman said, "where the Ku Klux Klan is permitted to call for public hangings of gays ... where gays are felons in half the country's states ... where a gay man was murdered in San Francisco by men out for a night of fag-bashing."

Najman said the same societal permissiveness that Falwell condemns has also allowed people like Falwell to flourish and "hatred and bigotry to be accepted and even welcome."

The event was officially called a "Pro-Human Rights Rally," but Dallas Gay Alliance President Bill Nelson said that's tantamount to calling it an anti-Falwell event.

Like many events here this week prior to the Republican National Convention, reporters came close to outnumbering spectators at first. But as the ranks swelled, so did the rhetoric.

As 'Steel Curtain' falls hard Rookies teach Cowboys

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Pittsburgh's rich crop of rookie defenders shook Dallas veteran quarterback Danny White, and the first-year Steeler offensive players made the clutch plays to remain unbeaten in the National Football League preseason.

Rookie Chris Brown of Notre Dame intercepted White twice and rookie Terry Echols of Marshall recovered a fumble that led to the second of two touchdowns by Anthony Corley in a 20-10 victory Thursday night.

Corley is yet another rookie, a free agent no less, from Nevada-Reno.

He has an excellent shot at making the Steeler team.

He scored on runs of one and nine yards after White mistakes and Gary Anderson kicked two 49-yard field goals in a joust of unbeaten.

"Anthony Corley has played well for us and I'd say he is cementing a position on this football team," said Steeler Coach Chuck Noll.

"He's been doing well as a running back and on specialty teams.

"He has a knack of slithering through there with power. Others have some slither, but they don't have the power that he has. Corley is a strong runner."

Asked if he missed contract holdout Franco Harris, Noll said "Franco who? I don't know who he is."

Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry didn't appear too upset at his team's first loss of the preseason.

"Their second team beat our second team," said Landry. "The game wasn't a total loss. We got to see a lot of our players to get ready for the cut to 60 next week. We played pretty good when our first units were in there."

Pittsburgh raised its record to 3-0 while Dallas dropped to 2-1.

White suffered two interceptions and fumbled a snap away to the Steelers.

White did throw an 18-yard fourth period scoring pass to rookie Kirk Phillips of Tulsa to cut the Steeler lead to 13-10, but later fumbled away to Echols at the Cowboy 30. Four plays later Corley broke a tackle and scored from nine yards out.

"I'm not that disappointed," said Landry. "I think we are showing some positive signs. I can't say we are on schedule but I think we will play better each week now. White made some good plays and he made some bad plays. Some were when the second unit was in there."

Steeler linebacker Jack Lambert said the victory over Dallas was important even if it was in the exhibition category.

"It's always nice to beat the Cowboys, no matter when you are playing them," he said. "I think our football team is really looking good, especially our running backs."

Elsewhere Thursday, all-pro linebacker Harry Carson ended a two-day workout and returned to the New York Giants training camp without indicating why he left, a team spokesman said.

Carson practiced with the club and will start at his inside linebacker position Saturday night when the Giants meet the crosstown rival New York Jets in their annual preseason game.

"Carson appeared and practiced," said Giants spokesman Ed Croke. "He had no comment on why he left or why he came back."

Carson admitted he had been fined $1,000 per day.

The resat of Saturday night's schedule finds Cincinnati at Chicago, Cleveland at Kansas City, Indianapolis at Denver, Detroit at Buffalo, Green Bay at the Los Angeles Rams, New Orleans at Houston, Philadelphia at Minnesota, San Francisco at San Diego and Tampa Bay at Atlanta.

Miami travels to Los Angeles to play the Raiders Sunday.

Washington Coach Joe Gibbs used his regulars during the fourth quarter of last week's 21-20 loss to the Raiders, but is expected to rest his veterans as much as possible tonight with the regular season opener just 16 days away.

New England's Ron Meyer, meanwhile, will continue experimenting with the single-back offense that the Redskins have popularized and used with unequal success the past two seasons.

Rose will continue attack on record, but only sparingly

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose says he still can hit, run and field the same as 10 years ago.

"But I can't do it every day," the 43-year-old Cincinnati native quipped Thursday when he was introduced as the Reds' player-manager.

Rose will remain active as a player-manager, although his time on the field will be limited and mostly as a pinch-hitter with the Reds, the team he started with in 1963.

"I am convinced I can still hit," Rose told a news conference, but he said his assault on Ty Cobb's all-time hit record of 4,190 hits — he needs 129 more — will be of secondary importance. "But then again,

I'd disappoint a lot of people if I didn't give it a good shot.

Rose said Nick Esasky will remain the Reds' starting first baseman, but that he will spell Esasky occasionally.

Rose said he has spent more time on the bench the last two seasons in Philadelphia and Montreal and has had more opportunity to study the moves made by managers.

"I probably know more about baseball than any other manager," he said, adding that he will have a different relationship with the players because he will be one of them.

"I have this ability to make young players feel welcome," said the 22-year veteran who replaced

Vern Rapp, who was fired Wednesday as manager. "When I first came up it was a very cliqueish ball club. I decided then that I wasn't going to let other young players be snubbed like that."

Shortstop Dave Concepcion, who played with Rose at Cincinnati until Rose left as a free agent for Philadelphia in 1979, said Rose will make a difference for the slumping team that has a record of 51-70.

"I expect two things," Rose said. "They have to be on time. That's for practice, buses or planes. And second, I want them to play as hard as they can between the white lines."

Williams draws $10,000 fine

MANAGER FINED — San Diego Padre manager Dick Williams speaks to reporters after learning of his $10,000 fine by the National League for his part in last weekend's beanball war against the Atlanta Braves. Williams is appealing the action.

By The Associated Press
Mike Schmidt, who has been struggling with his hitting much of the summer, gave signs of breaking loose Thursday when he hit his 24th and 25th home runs in the Philadelphia Phillies' 8-3 romp over San Diego.

Despite Schmidt's hitting troubles — his average is only .268 — Philadelphia looms only six games back of Chicago in the National League East with six weeks left in the season, and that gives Phils Manager Paul Owens reason for optimism.

"Maybe the big guy will get going and carry us for a while," said Owens.

The loss capped a thoroughly dreadful day for San Diego, which learned earlier that Manager Dick Williams and players Champ Summers and Bobby Brown would be suspended and nine other Padres would be fined for their roles in last Sunday's beanball battle with the Atlanta Braves. National League President Charles Feeney, who fined Williams $10,000 and suspended him for 10 days, also suspended and fined four Braves, including Manager Joe Torre.

Aggies switch game times to help television

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas A&M University's first three football games this season will be televised earlier because of a deal reached by the school and Gaylord Broadcasting Co., officials announced.

The television deal means the starting times of the games will be moved from the original 6 p.m. to 11:20 a.m.

"The Southeastern Conference, except for LSU (Louisiana State), is primarily an afternoon-playing conference and they have had no problem with the warm weather during the early part of the season," Texas A&M Associate Athletic Director John David Crow said Thursday. "I don't think it gets any hotter in College Station than it does in Tuscaloosa, (Ala.), Gainesville (Fla.), or Auburn (Ala.)."

Gaylord Broadcasting owns seven television stations and three radio stations around the country, including KTVT-TV in Dallas-Fort Worth and KHTV in Houston.

Games to be broadcast under the deal include A&M's opener Sept. 1 against the University of Texas at El Paso, Sept. 22 against Iowa State and Sept. 29 vs. Arkansas State. All three games are at College Station.

The Comanche Trail Partnership gets underway Saturday morning with the final round on Sunday.

Haig ultra woods, irons and bags will be awarded to the winners in the five flights. The golfer recording the first hole-in-one at No. 4 or No. 10 will receive a 1984 Dodge Ram pickup donated by Highland Dodge.

Contestants and their wives will be treated with a barbecue at the Dora Roberts Community Center Saturday night at 7:30. Dewey Byers and famed West Texas Hackers will do a little picking after the team evaluation.

The Haig ultra woods, iron and staff bag drawing will be Sunday.

All those who are selling tickets for the water fund benefit can turn them in as late as Sunday morning.

Hats off to the city fathers for the recent rate adjustment at Comanche Trail. With the rate, a social junior golfer fee of $2.25 per day or $75 for a year was established. The results are that more and more Big Spring youth are playing golf.

So far this summer, nearly 700 rounds have been played on the daily green fee. Looking down the road, these kids are tomorrow's golfers — perhaps a Palmer or Nicklaus.

Ever wonder why scorecards read out at the end of nine holes and in on the second nine?

Those terms date back to the birthplace of golf, St. Andrews, Scotland.

Then, as today, the front nine went straight out from the clubhouse, ending a golfer's first nine holes about as far out from the clubhouse as possible. The last nine begins the trek back in.

By the way, The greens at St. Andrews are actually double greens. For example — No. 2 and No. 17 might be the same in size, but displaying two different pins.

Gunslinger's won't change much despite turnover in head coaches

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — New San Antonio Gunslingers Coach Jim Bates says some of predecessor Gil Steinke's coaching ideas will live on as he takes over. Bates, who had been defensive coordinator for the Gunslingers, took over Thursday as head coach after Steinke stepped down to become director of football operations for the team. Bates said he plans to keep all of the current coaching staff for the time being and will be bringing in a new defensive coordinator and an offensive line coach. "Some of his (Steinke's) thoughts and procedures will be retained," Bates said at a news conference. He was not specific about what changes, if any, he might make in the way the team is coached. Bates, 37, has coached at Villanova, Kansas State, West Virginia and Texas Tech.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
 from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 18, 1984
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when underneath all of the little pleasantries and agreeable happy moments there will be some very practical problems to be taken care of that cannot be rushed.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get into important monetary affairs and avoid an older person who is altogether too concerned with own problems.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Steer clear of one who is very prejudiced, and be with persons who are more cheerful and younger. Better conditions set in soon.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A co-worker could put a monkey wrench into the work you had planned for today, so you have time to improve conditions at home.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Contact those who admire you and show how much you value their alliance and gain more goodwill.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Making improvements to property is wise today, and show him you approve of changes they would like to be made.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good day to shop for new clothing and whatever else you need to look more charming. Finish one project before starting another.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be more concerned with personal pleasure since you are rather depressed now. An argument could start between you and your mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Turn to good pals in moments of anxiety and get surcease from worry today. Both a partner and a higher-up could give you trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have to get much work out, so don't permit an older person to take up your time. Keep active and you are happy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study into activities that are new to you and you can make real progress today. You may find it difficult to release tension.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Although you may have outside trouble, keep cheerful and devoted to your mate and all works out well, and retain equilibrium.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get in touch with good friends who are cheerful and you can forget any worries that are troubling you now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have everything neat and clean, which is a fine trait that should be encouraged. A flair for writing is apparent early in life. Have many playmates around during childhood and make sure that older persons around should not try to think negatively and try to limit your gifted progeny.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
