College raises '85 taxes

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

Howard County Junior College District trustees Monday approved a 2-cent tax rate hike, from 14 to 16 cents per $100 valuation. Board president Harold Davis told trustees the increase "will bring in less money for the college" due to a reduction in county property values. He defended the hike, saying, "it is a necessity, or we wouldn't have enough to operate on." Trustees approved operating budgets for 1984-85 for both Howard College and the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf. Howard College's projected budget is $5.6 million. SWCID will be operating with a projected budget of $2 million. Dr. Charles Hays, outgoing president of the HCJCD, told trustees the new budgets are "a decrease in total expenditures" —

$111,000 less — from last year. Trustees heard a presentation by designer Bill Brooks, who brought blueprints and drawings of additions to the men's and women's dormitories at Howard College. Brooks proposed doubling the space in the men's dormitory. The addition would include 12 new suites on the first floor and 14 on the second floor, an addition of 14,729 square feet on the first floor and 13,596 on the second.

In the women's dorm, Brooks proposed adding eight new suites to the first floor and 12 to the second floor. Brooks gave a "guesstimate" of $2.9 million for the additions. He added, "I don't think it will cost that much." Once completed, the dorms could house up to 216 students. Hays told the board the next step would be to have a bonding company look into ways of funding the project. Trustees accepted the resignation of Bern Jones, an administrator at the SWCID who has taken a position at the Johnson County Community College in Kansas City, Mo. They also approved the transfer of Dr. Bob Mehan to the position of vice president for instruction for the district. Mehan had been dean of instruction at SWCID. See Taxes page 2-A

Hot! Mercury hits 104

Staff and wire reports Sweltering temperatures in Big Spring Monday narrowly missed setting a record high. According to the U.S. Big Spring Field Station, the mercury Monday afternoon shot to 104 degrees, 2 degrees short of the record 106 degrees set in 1943. The 104-degree reading for Monday was the same temperature recorded a year ago on the same date, records show. Low temperature last night reached 71 degrees, far short of the record low of 57 degrees set in 1961. The average high for this time of year is 94 degrees, and the average low is 68 degrees. Temperatures were forecast to reach the century mark by this afternoon. The heat wave is a stark change compared to early August temperatures. Last year at this time, Texas had suffered through several continuous days of plus-100 temperatures. This year, however, the usual August heat wave was dashed by several days of rain in Big Spring and the surrounding area. Temperatures fell into the 80s and 90s during the hottest part of the day. During the night, temperatures fell into the lower 60s. Rainfall for the county, however, remains far below normal.

The silver Rose

Home town Olympian is a Mager attraction

By CAROL BALDWIN Staff Writer

Rose Magers fielded questions and shook the hands of hundreds of admirers Monday afternoon during receptions at Malone-Hogan Hospital and the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf. The silver medalist, who participated on the U.S. women's volleyball team at the Los Angeles Olympics, attended a press conference, an autograph session, an awards ceremony and a reunion with her high school volleyball teammates before going to Malone-Hogan and SWCID. She admitted her schedule was grueling, but quickly added it wasn't the hometown ceremonies that made her tired. "I've been on tour for a week," she said. She attended Olympic ticker-tape parades in New York and Dallas before heading to Big Spring. She said Rose Magers Day was "extremely awesome. I'm surprised the town came out. They really make me feel warm and wanted." Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellihue Magers, attended most of the day's events with their daughter. Mrs. Magers was greeted by a group of colleagues at Malone-Hogan, where she is employed as a cook. Looking over the crowd assembled to meet her daughter, she said, "This is great. These people are wonderful." Mr. and Mrs. Magers were in Los Angeles to watch their daughter compete. "I was nervous. I'm still nervous and shakey," Mrs. Magers said. "I can't believe it's really happened." Rose presented an autographed poster of the women's volleyball team to hang in the hospital. Presenting the poster, Miss Magers said, "I want to thank you guys for everything." See Rose page 2-A

Farm questions crop up

By RICK BROWN Staff Writer

About 170 drought-plagued cotton farmers Monday afternoon posed hard questions on crop insurance to Merritt Sprague, General Manager of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation in Washington D.C. Led by Rep. Charles Stenholm (D-Stamford), who sponsored the 2 p.m. meeting at Howard College, the farmers heard Sprague stress the "sanctity of contract" that "should not be violated" in cases where crops were federally insured. "It's our goal to not only provide the kind of guarantee that you expect, but to rate your farm at a risk level that is appropriate," Sprague told the farmers. "We want to make sure there is consistent, comparable treatment given to all," he said.

Stenholm, sometimes acting as interpreter of government action, sometimes spokesman for farmer concerns, told the crowd: "We know we have problems — and not just this year and not just this drought. The future of the program is also important to us." Admitting that "circumstances in this area are different" due to the "delayed and ragged

DA picks assistant

Jeanene Walker has been named assistant to 118th District Attorney Rick Hamby. She replaces Don Richard.

Ms. Walker is a graduate of Texas Tech Law School and worked with a Lubbock law firm while completing her law degree, Hamby said. She specialized at that time in criminal defense work, Hamby said.

According to the 118th district attorney, Ms. Walker's duties will include areas of case intake, research and appellate work. She will also work in the areas of sexual offenses and cases involving children, Hamby said. "I feel she would have a reassuring rapport with victims of these types of crimes," he said. While Ms. Walker said she enjoyed criminal defense work while completing her degree in Lubbock, "there were a few things that were hard to take," she said.

Hospital suspends physician

COLORADO CITY — The Mitchell County Hospital Board voted 4-3 Monday night to suspend all privileges of a Root Memorial Hospital doctor at the hospital and Root Valley Fair Lodge nursing home.

Dr. Thomas Noonan, who earlier had been reprimanded by the board, has come under fire since the hospital's Medicare program was decertified. The hospital has filed for recertification. The suspension, which is listed as indefinite, came days after the board accepted the resignation of hospital administrator Ray Dillard.

The board did not list any specific infractions by Noonan against the hospital or nursing home. A statement from the board said the suspension of privileges came because of infractions of hospital and nursing home rules and incompatibility of purposes of the hospital and nursing home.

The motion for the suspension came following a closed session of the board. Board member Preston Morris made the motion and was seconded by Jane McCarley. The vote was deadlocked at 3-3 until board chairman Bobby Lemons broke the tie by favoring the recommendation.

Dissenting were Jack Perkins, Bob Reily and Glen Hemphill. Herbert Mearse also favored the suspension.

By The Associated Press

A high-pressure ridge over Texas kept skies fair to partly cloudy statewide today, with no rainfall reported, but forecasters predicted thunderstorms in northern sections later and continued hot temperatures.

The National Weather Service posted an excessive heat advisory for Central Texas today.

A weak stationary front stretched along the Red River valley into the south plains, but the weather service said the feature had little or no effect on the weather over the Lone Star State.

Winds were light south to southeast at 5 to 10 mph, and easterly along the Red River and northerly over the mountainous southwest.

Early-morning temperatures were warm, with most readings in the 70s and 80s. Lows were in the 60s in the far West Texas mountains and in parts of the south plains.

Extremes were a cool 60 degrees at Marfa in the Davis Mountains to a warm 83 degrees at Dallas.

The weather service said highs should range from near 90 along the Gulf Coast to the mid to upper 90s, with some readings over the century mark in North Texas and the Big Bend valley.

A chance of widely scattered afternoon and evening showers and thunderstorms was expected over North and Southeast Texas, along with isolated thunderstorms in the Panhandle.

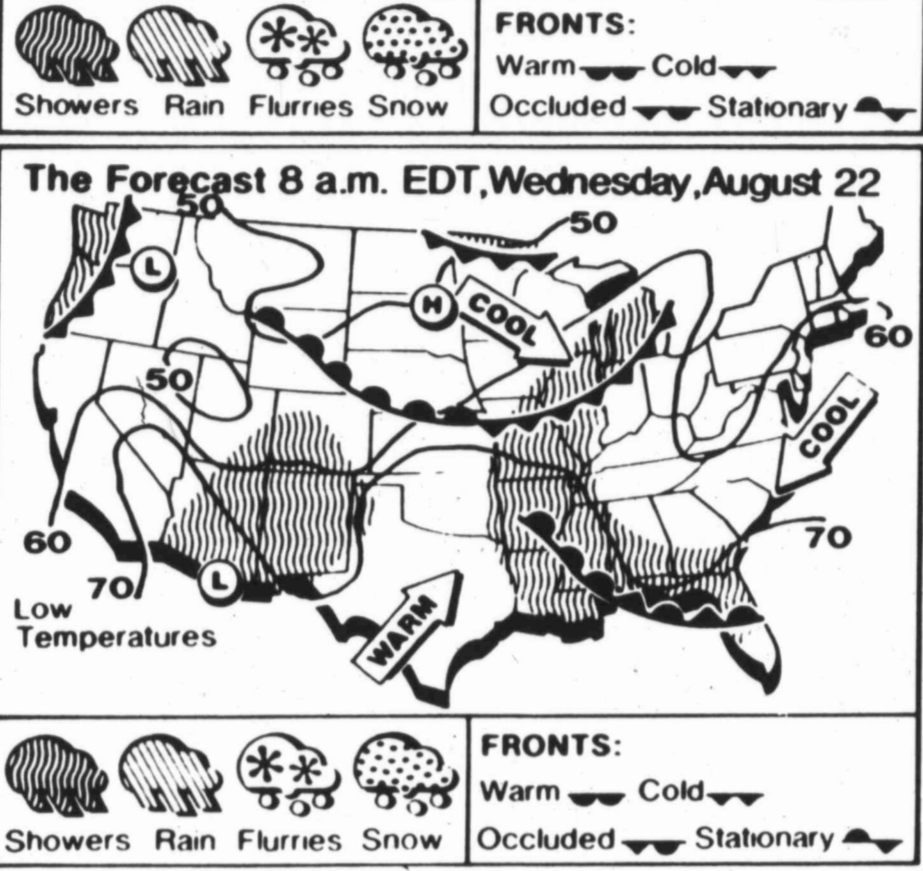

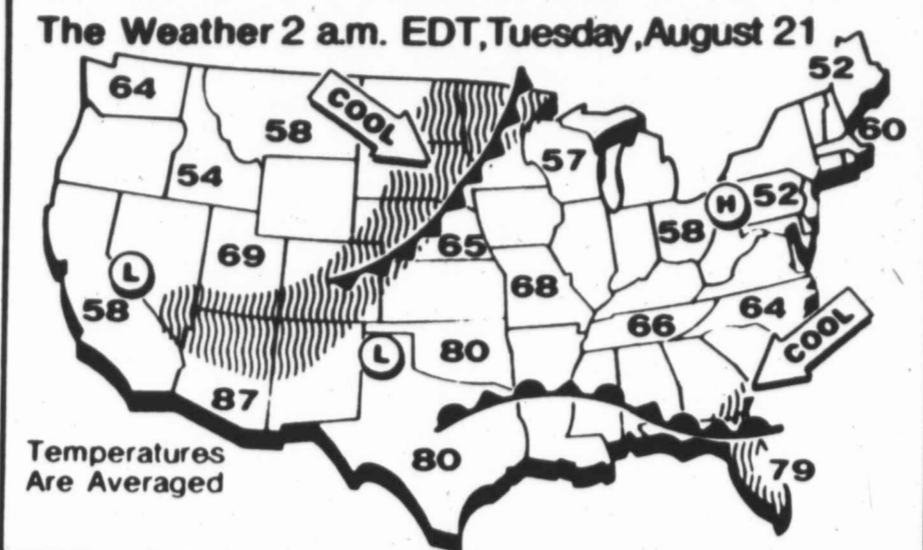

Skies elsewhere should be fair to partly cloudy with continued hot afternoons through Wednesday, the weather service said.

Locally heavy showers continued over parts of western Kansas, central Nebraska and southwest Minnesota today while temperatures were expected to mount into the 100s over central Texas and the Southwest desert region.

Fair skies dominated the Far West, the northern Plateau, most of the Mississippi Valley and most of the East.

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered from the Great Lakes across the mid-Mississippi Valley, the central Plains, the central Rockies and the southern Plateau. Thunderstorms erupted over Florida and the Gulf Coast states.

West Texas - Widely scattered thunderstorms Thursday continuing south Friday, otherwise partly cloudy. Panhandle lows low 60s. Highs near 90. South Plains lows mid 60s. Highs low 90s. Permian Basin and far west lows upper 60s. Highs mid 90s. Concho Valley lows low 70s. Highs mid to upper 90s. Big Bend country lows near 60 mountains to near 70 lowlands. emergence of planted seed cotton," Sprague addressed the specific concerns of the farmers.

Most important to the farmers was how soon farm tracts will be reappraised by the corporation to allow planting of alternative crops.

"The longer we carry (the cotton) now, the more we lose," said one farmer. "We should be able to destroy what little cotton we've got," he said.

Sprague and Ted Crouch, corporation regional assistant in College Station, told the farmers they could expect an answer through local insurance agents "by the end of the week."

A second question came when farmers wanted to know whether they will be able to obtain "first stage" or "second stage" coverage for their crops.

Stenholm spoke for the government administrators in saying that a field with "no cotton and no stand" would be considered stage one.

"The question is where you've got some stand," he said.

"If an individual in good faith had done all that is expected of him - then I think he's got second stage coverage," said Crouch.

At SWCID, Miss Magers was given a poem written by instructor George Taylor. The poem, "Today, Silver," read in part, "We wish you the best that this life has to hold; you have brought home the medal, yours to savor - the honor, today it is silver, tomorrow, the gold." Instructor Steve Baldwin signed the poem and it was interpreted for Miss Magers by Terry Dobson.

Miss Magers responded to questions from SWCID students and instructors. One student asked about opportunities in sports for the deaf. Miss Magers told the group, "If it comes from the heart, you can do anything."

She told the students that her coach, Arie Selinger, is resigning and that an assistant coach would take his place. "The team in '88 will be just as strong," she said.

The 6-foot-3 athlete also told the students, "I played every game. I never sat on the bench."

She said she's undecided about the future.

Miss Magers ended the visit by signing autographs and passing around her Olympic silver medal for the students to see. Other activities are planned for Miss Magers throughout the week.

Trial begins in 'feud' slayings

ODESSA (AP) - Details of a deadly feud among factions of this West Texas city are expected to come out this week in the trial of two brothers charged with the shooting deaths of two other men.

Feelings are so high that a metal detector will be used to screen those who enter the courtroom.

Jury selection was scheduled to begin today for the murder trials of Odessa brothers David Mendoza, 34, and Joe Mendoza, 26.

The Mendozas are named in separate murder indictments in the June 23 slayings of Ron Don Lopez, 19, and 18-year-old John Moreno.

Lopez and Moreno were gunned down near the Mendozas' residence in an incident police said was part of a continuing conflict among factions on the city's southside.

Police arrested David Mendoza at the scene. Joe Mendoza surrendered to police several days later. Both are free on $50,000 bonds.

During pretrial hearings in the case, defense attorneys sought to obtain the criminal histories of the two victims.

Police have said Lopez was a central figure in the lingering feud that intensified this spring despite police efforts to mediate the conflict.

Lopez's reported history of violence would be an important issue during the Mendozas' trial, defense attorneys have said during pretrial hearings.

Meanwhile, the murder trials will be surrounded by heightened security, 70th Judicial District Judge Gene Ater has said.

CRMWD to discuss refunding

Refunding bonded indebtedness will be the main topic when directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District meet at 10 a.m. Thursday in Big Spring.

Refunding could save substantial interest amounts, but it would also put the district in position to begin the Stacy Reservoir project when its permit is cleared by the Texas Supreme Court.

Amending the City of Odessa contract to permit an additional point of delivery also is on the agenda, along with authorizing funds for the district's share of maintaining stream gauging stations. Release of groundwater rights on the Wilcockson lands in Coke County will be considered, as will liability insurance for members of the employees pension trust committee.

A&M work gives world new food

Those Aggies have done it again. Work performed at Texas A&M Food Protein Research and Development Center on producing a new strain of glandless cottonseed may result in a world food source, say researchers at A&M and two other Texas universities.

The breakthrough has caught the attention of U.S. Sen. John Tower, the outgoing Texas Republican, who touts the efforts as making "a significant contribution toward alleviating world hunger."

Back in the 1960s, A&M researchers were asked to detoxify glanded cotton. Their work produced a cottonseed rich in protein and safe for human consumption. Five hundred pounds of glandless cottonseed yields 165 to 200 pounds of cottonseed protein, Tower reports. The FDA approved it as a food in 1979 and since then researchers have been busy whipping it up in casseroles, breads, dressings and other dishes. They have used cottonseed flour in native recipes of Nigeria, southern India and Central America.

In light of dramatic food shortages in many nations, among them the countries of Africa, the potential of this food supply is great in many underdeveloped countries which can grow cotton but perhaps little else. Chalk up another advance to Lone Star talent and Aggie ingenuity.

Art Buchwald

Not nice at all

With the resignations of Anne Gorsuch Burford and Bert Lance, Mr. Buchwald has gone on a monastic retreat to rethink the entire November elections. He left behind some of his readers' all-time favorite columns.

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee recently released classified material involving the security clearance of eight distinguished American citizens. It was unevaluated material gathered by Otto F. Otepka, and many people protested that this kind of thing harked back to the McCarthy era.

I didn't realize how dangerous something like this could be until I was interviewed by a security specialist from one of the government agencies, who was checking up on a good friend of mine who was being considered for an important job.

We shall call my friend Bill Hoganblatt, and I knew him from my days in Paris.

The security man was very friendly. "How long have you known Hoganblatt?" he asked me. "About 18 years," I replied. "I want to say he's one of the finest men I've ever had the pleasure to be associated with. He's a good father, a kind husband, a loyal friend and a great American."

"What kind of people did he associate with during the years in Paris?"

"All kinds. Writers, artists, businessmen. Bill was a very democratic guy."

"Were there any left-wingers among these friends?"

"Come to think of it, I think there were. At least some of them had strong political convictions, but I don't believe Bill — then again he never did say much about politics."

"Didn't you find this strange?" the investigator asked as he took notes.

"I didn't at that time, but now that you mention it, there was something funny about Bill's not wanting to discuss politics."

"You said it; I didn't. What about his drinking habits?"

"As far as I know, he never touched the stuff at all."

"Then you'd call him a secret drinker?"

"Come to think of it, he probably was. I never trusted a guy who wouldn't drink in public."

"What else can you remember about him?"

"He used to go to the museums in Paris a lot."

"Did you ever see him go to a museum?"

"No, he just said he did."

"Then he could have gone anywhere during those times. Even to the Soviet Embassy."

"By golly, he could have. I wouldn't have put it past him."

"One more question. As an American citizen, would you want Hoganblatt to work for your government?"

"I should say not! I didn't realize what a contemptible rat he was until I talked to you. For all I know, he's another Alger Hiss, and I hope he gets what's coming to him real soon."

Billy Graham

Religion 'for weak'

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I never thought I would be writing you, because I have always thought religion was for weak people, and I have prided myself on being able to scheme my way out of any situation. But now I am overwhelmed with problems that I can't handle. What are your ideas about ways I can get help? — M.H.J.

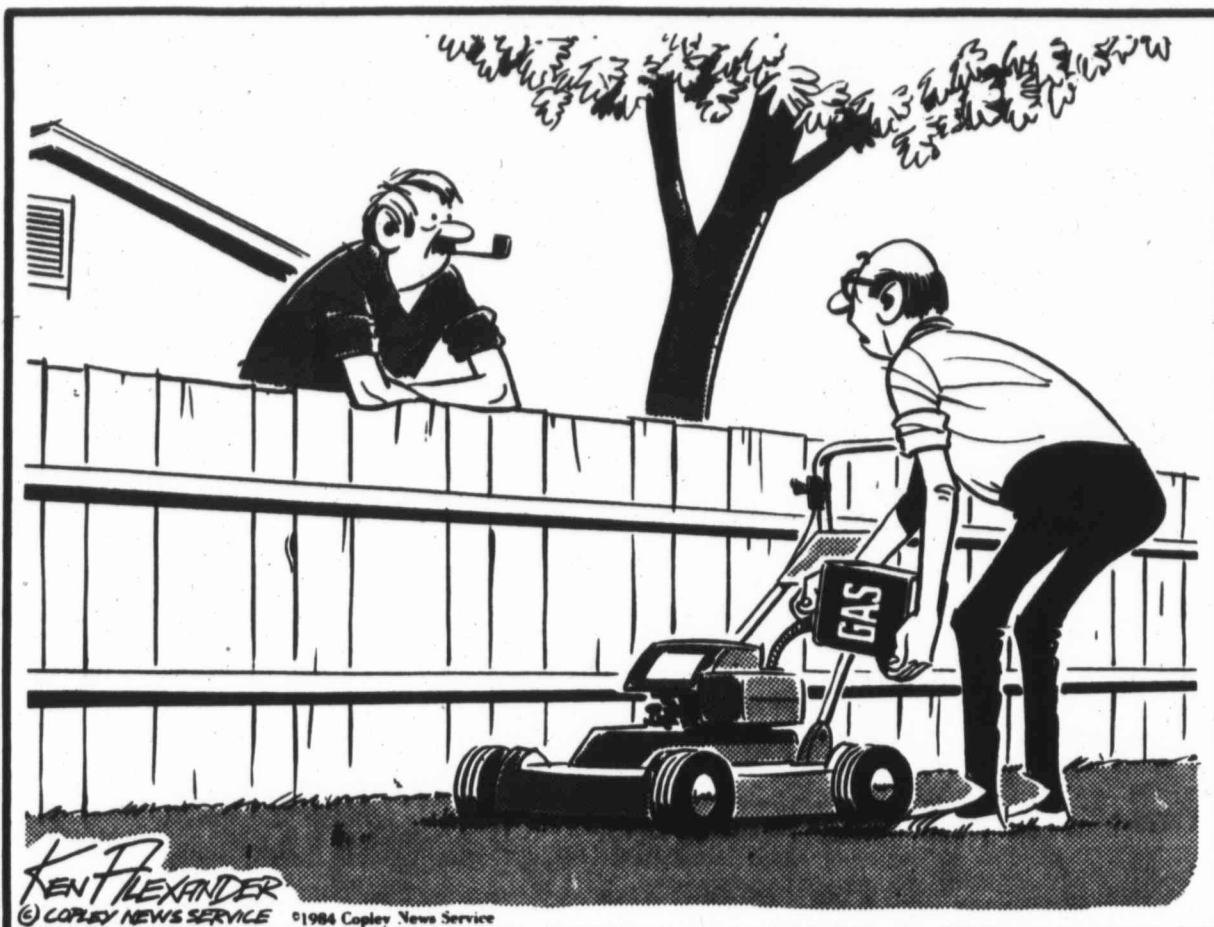

DEAR M.H.J.: Look closely at this promise of the Bible: "God is our refuge and strength, an ever-present help in trouble. Therefore we will not fear" (Psalm 46:1-2). This tells you something very important for you to understand: God is both willing and able to help you, if you will turn to Him.

Why is that true? Because God loves you. All your life you have trusted in yourself and left God out of your life. But in spite of that, God cares for you and more than anything else He wants you to discover the joy and strength that comes from knowing Christ as your personal Savior.

How does God help us when we face problems? For one thing, He gives us a new perspective on them. When we see our problems from His point of view, they often begin to seem less overwhelming.

"I ASKED MYSELF WHICH WOULD BE MORE EXCITING, WATCHING THE GOP CONVENTION OR MOWING THE LAWN"

Jack Anderson

Money issues guide GOP strategy

WASHINGTON — Walter Mondale's introduction of tax increases as a major issue in the campaign threw a monkey wrench into the Republicans' well-planned election strategy.

From White House sources and internal GOP working papers, I've been able to get a picture of President Reagan's re-election strategy. If they can just contain the damage already caused by Mondale's tax-increase gamble — which obviously caught them by surprise — here's what Reagan's political professionals have charted for the campaign:

● Economic issues are the voters' chief concern, according to a confidential White House briefing report. "Our political success depends on what happens to the federal budget deficit, interest rates and unemployment," the report warned, noting that voters are more concerned about unemployment than inflation.

● Social issues rate No. 2 in the public's mind, the GOP strategy paper asserts. Crime is the big concern here, followed by education, Social Security and race relations.

● International relations — war and peace — is the third most important category of voter worries, the Republican strategists believe.

● The campaign planners have, regretfully acknowledged that voters in general seem to be less concerned about the quality of leadership and the state of the nation's morality — precisely the areas where the president is regarded as strongest.

Given their certainty that economic issues are what voters care about most — and history is generally on their side in this — how do Reagan's advisers plan to capitalize on the present healthy state of the economy?

Essentially, they intend to replay their successful 1980 campaign. According to a planning document reviewed by my associate Dale Van Atta, the president will continue to harp on the need to reduce total government spending, eliminate "undue and cumbersome regulations that smother initiative" and bring pressure "on all federal agencies to reduce waste and fraud."

To Democratic suggestions that Reagan has had four years to do this, the Republicans will be happy to respond that four years wasn't enough to clean up the mess they inherited from the Democrats.

In the GOP's economic blue skies there is only one small cloud — no bigger than a man's hand. But that hand belongs to Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul Volcker, and the dark cloud of rising interest rates could turn into a campaign thunderstorm for the Republicans.

The president's advisers are worried about what they refer to as the new "interest-rate constituency" — Americans at all economic levels who pay close attention to interest rates before buying a house or other major credit items. If they get too nervous to buy because of high interest rates, the economic recovery will shudder to a halt — and Reagan will lose his best campaign issue.

White House insiders blame Volcker's money policies for the recent rise in interest rates, and privately concede that Reagan's reappointment of Volcker was a mistake. All they can do now, though, is cross their fingers and hope Volcker doesn't bring on a recession before Election Day.

Barring such a disaster, the Republicans are confident they can ride the economic issues to another four years in the White House.

POWER GRAB: Political realities being what they are, Congress has voted down the heretical suggestion that large buyers of electric power from the Hoover Dam should pay rates closer to those that less favored utility customers have to pay.

This clearly political decision means that utilities throughout the Southwest will still be buying their power from the government-owned dam at the same Depression-era rates they were charged 50 years ago.

An illustration of the bargains available is the request for more cut-rate power by the Platte River Power Authority of Ft. Collins, Colo. Platte's general manager asked the Department of Energy for $8.5 million worth of electric power — which it would then sell to its customers for almost $40 million.

The department's acerbic rejection of this "power grab" said in part:

"Although Platte River is a non-profit entity and does not classify that markup on Federal power as profit, you must admit $30 million is quite a nice cost saver."

"Additionally, it gives a non-regulated utility like Platte River a great amount of flexibility in its operation and ability to pay its managers lucrative salaries and build facilities like cooling ponds and power plant administration buildings several times larger than actually needed for small power plants."

GIMME A BREAK: Senseless vandalism, usually considered a phenomenon of big-city blight, has reached the rugged back country of Alaska.

Near the awe-inspiring Mendenhall Glacier, the National Park Service put up Skaters Cabin, in which hikers could find protection from the arctic winds whistling across the glacier. But vandals keep breaking the little cabin's windows, seriously diminishing the structure's usefulness as a barrier to the biting cold.

A Park Service memo notes that the rangers have "tried a variety of products, including material designed for use in prison facilities." None of them proved a match for the vandals.

So the service has come up with a bizarre solution: Hikers are issued portable replacement windows that they can install themselves.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

New laws

By REP. LARRY DON SHAW
With all the excitement and controversy surrounding the recent passage of the education reform and tax bills during the June special session, other important legislation we passed has been somewhat neglected.

Two significant measures will help protect the lives of Texas children. As a result of one new measure, you will now be required to use car safety seats or seat belts if you have children younger than 4. Car safety seats will be required for children under 2 and safety seats or seat belts for children under 4.

The law, effective Oct. 31, provides for a fine of up to $50 for violators, but it may be waived if the driver purchases a safety seat within 10 days of the offense. No fines will be imposed, however, until Jan. 1 to give parents time to purchase the seats.

In a related matter, we approved legislation making it illegal to leave a child under 7 unattended in a car for longer than five minutes if not accompanied by someone who is at least 14. The law will be effective Oct. 2 and is aimed at preventing parents from leaving young children in cars that can become dangerously hot.

Another piece of legislation that passed during the session will allow the Texas Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation to improve its staff-to-patient ratios at all state mental hospitals. The bill allows the agency to divert $6.7 million from reserve funds to staff salaries and to pay alternate community treatment centers for taking more patients.

The measure was in response to a federal court order to either increase mental hospital staffing or reduce the number of patients in state facilities. U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders has ordered the department to have no more than five patients for every worker on the day and evening shifts, and no more than 10 patients for each worker at night.

Another new law effective Jan. 1 will extend workers' compensation coverage to all migrant farm and ranch workers. Most seasonal or temporary farm workers will be covered as well as about 80 percent of the full-time farm workers.

Small family farmers with two or fewer workers and a gross annual payroll of less than $25,000 a year will be exempt.

This law is a result of a recent ruling that excluding farm workers from the compensation law is unconstitutional. Although the new law does not require farmers to carry workers' compensation, those farmers who do not carry insurance can lose their common-law defenses when a farm worker sues, leaving them wide open to enormous money claims.

Shaw is a Democratic state representative from Big Spring.

Today

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, Aug. 21, the 234th day of 1984. There are 132 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: Twenty-five years ago, on Aug. 21, 1959, Hawaii became the 50th state of the union.

On this date: In 1680, Pueblo Indians took possession of Santa Fe, N.M., after driving out the Spanish.

In 1831, former slave Nat Turner led a violent insurrection against slavery in Virginia. Some 60 whites and about 100 blacks died in the revolt. (Turner was later tried and executed.)

In 1858, the famous debates began between Senatorial contenders Abraham Lincoln and Stephen Douglas.

In 1940, Communist revolutionary Leon Trotsky died of wounds inflicted by an assassin the previous day in Mexico City.

In 1945, President Harry S. Truman ended the Lend-Lease program that had shipped some $50 billion in aid to America's allies during World War II.

Queen contest is planned for Fair

Howard County Fair Association has announced plans for a queen's pageant to be held in conjunction with the Howard County Fair, Sept. 17.

Chairpersons for the event, which will begin at 6 p.m., are Pat Underwood, Ann Weaver and June Nichols. The top three winners of the pageant will receive scholarships. A Miss Congeniality winner also will be named. Each girl participating in the pageant will receive a gift.

Cecilia Livingston of Andrews, Claudia Heffington of O'Donnell, Fran Einsel of Abilene and Nancy Webb of Lamesa will judge the pageant's contestants on their knowledge of the Fair and their personality.

Each club, social, fraternal, religious group, business, civic organization or school organization in Howard and joining counties will be allowed one contestant. Contestants need not be a member of the sponsoring organizations but must be residents of the joining county or Howard County. Each sponsor must pay a $25 entry fee. The sponsor's fee must accompany the entry form.

The contestants must be enrolled in an 1983, 1984 or 1985 high school class of Howard County or joining county. They must be single and never married or had children. The contestant must wear an evening dress.

The pageant's winner will be expected to help at the Fair during the week and where she is needed. She forfeits the right of future entries in the Howard County Fair Association Queen's Contest.

All contestants are required to be in the Fair parade. The contestants will have lunch with the judges for an interview. The winner will be crowned at 8 p.m. Sept. 17.

Dear Abby

Being caught freed her for life

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman who shoplifted a 78-cent box of candy brought back memories.

When I was a young girl, I helped another steal a 10-cent ring from a 5-and-10-cent store. (She "accidentally" knocked the ring to the floor, I picked it up and slipped it to her, and she put it in her purse.)

I slept over at her house that night. We had a fight, and I told her if she didn't shut up and let me go to sleep, I would tell her mother about the ring she stole. Her mother heard us, came into the room and said, "What ring?"

My friend had to tell her mother the truth, so the next day her mother and my mother marched the two of us back to the store, made us confess to the clerk and return the ring. Abby, that was the worst moment of my life, but it was one of the best lessons I have ever learned. It happened 64 years ago, and from that day on I was never tempted to steal a thing.

NAMELESS IN LANCASTER, PA.

DEAR NAMELESS: Your friend's mother was wise. An ounce of humiliation is worth a pound of punishment.

DEAR ABBY: Your letter warning women about unethical psychotherapists was excellent. I'm saving it. I was a victim 15 years ago. He's still out there practicing.

It might help to warn others that many unethical therapists have excellent "lines." He ignored my real problem and kept steering our conversations back to sex. He asked me to write down my sexual fantasies, and he even loaned me a book of erotic stories that he asked me to discuss with him. Then he asked if he could come to my home to see me. (My husband was overseas.) How dumb I was!

After he got what he wanted, he dropped me. I felt guilty for seven years because he made me believe that I had instigated it.

Another therapist was able to help me face my real problem, which has nothing to do with sex. (I had been raised by a domineering, mentally sick mother.) The second therapist also helped me to deal with this sicko who had subtly seduced me. I hope this isn't too long for your column. It could help other women who think therapists can do no wrong.

ANOTHER VICTIM

DEAR VICTIM: You say "he's still out there." Why should he go unpunished, free to do to other women what he did to you? If you haven't let him know that you are wise to him now, please consider it. It may not be too late to report his unprofessional conduct to the proper authorities.

(Problems? What's bugging you? Unload on Abby, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Can diet avoid jet travel lag?

Dear Dr. Donohue: We have heard of a diet to prevent jet lag. We are planning a long flight and want to avoid fatigue. Can you please give us the diet?—B.T.

The only dietary recommendation I have is to eat smaller meals and go easy on alcohol a couple of days before departing. If any of my readers have come across a specific diet, I know I'll hear about it.

Jet travel zips our bodies across time zones so rapidly that no matter which direction the plane's traveling we're going to be biologically out of synch with things when we arrive. Our alarm clock will be either rundown or wound up. And this is a bit more than imagination. It is a real disruption of normal body rhythms.

We are all computerized to do certain things at certain times. Body temperature is lowest early in the morning, highest in the evening. Environmental clues, like changes in lighting, temperature and sounds, give the body its input for regulating itself. Take away the clues and you freak out the computer. It takes days of rest to get over the lag and it is amazing to me that globe-girdling diplomats can cope.

Ideally, you should have a day of rest on arrival. But if that isn't possible, then extra preparation is needed so you don't tip cab drivers with $100 bills or slip postcards into rubbish receptacles. Before you leave, get two good nights' sleep. Don't count on napping aboard the plane. The body has to be fully horizontal to neutralize the effects of gravity, so you don't get much benefit dozing in a seat.

Don't count on tranquilizers or sleeping pills to sleep. That kind of unnatural sleep doesn't help and can be counterproductive the next day (or night).

Why the smaller meals? It gives your digestive tract a chance to readjust quickly. Hunger is another one of the biological clues that can be the jet traveler's undoing. Have a nice trip.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am writing about blood pressure. My doctor has put me on Lopressor. Since then I've been falling asleep in the a.m. watching TV. I never had this problem before now. Thanks for your most interesting medical column. Any words for me?—Mrs. S.C.

A fraction of those taking Lopressor (metoprolol) will experience tiredness and dizziness. Give your doctor a call and tell him. He may want to modify your dose or change the medicine. Your other questions about your pressure readings (another part of your letter) are discussed in the booklet, "Blood Pressure and Your Health," which other readers may order by writing me care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.25 for printing and handling.

Firearms workshop to be offered

Due to public interest in the Firearms Workshop for Women, Sgt. Fred Pace, Crime Prevention officer of the Big Spring Police Department, has scheduled another workshop to be held Sept. 8.

Classroom instruction will be held at the Wrinkle/McMahon Complex at the Air Park Office building beginning at 8 a.m. Women are urged not to bring their firearms to the classroom but bring both the firearms and the ammunition to the firing range, Pace said. Any women not having a firearm may use one furnished by Pace or one of the instructors. Individual instruction will be given to each person both in the classroom and on the firing range. The class will be limited to 20 women. Interested persons may call Pace for more information at 263-8311 ext. 434.

Beautiful people

Now that the Olympics are over, it's time to look back at some of the highlights of the LA Summer Games.

The United States dominated the games with the Americans accomplishing many firsts in the games.

That's what this column is dedicated to — the winners at the Olympics. But not for an athlete's actual performance. This is a new kind of tribute — a tribute to the beautiful people in the Summer Games.

That's right, this is the rest of the world's picks for the good looking competitors in the Olympics.

Starting with the best looking men. American diver Greg Louganis captures the number one spot according to the women at the Herald and the outside world.

It was really no contest as Greg baby won hands down. Out of four women questioned at the Herald, three optioned for Greg. Lifestyle editor Tina Steffen picked Greg because she likes men "with dark wavy hair and well-built bodies". Staff writer Carol Baldwin stated that Greg had a "perfect body" and never really noticed his face.

Staff writer Keely Coghlan gave Greg a slight edge over American gymnast Bart Conner with an Italian diver named Itallina running a close third. Advertising representative Karen Bellinghausen was the only one that was more impressed with Itallina that Louganis. According to Karen, though, "What's in a name," when pressed to remember his first name.

Outsiders also picked Louganis hands down. Out of five women interviewed, three picked the diver. The other votes went to American 100 meter man Ron Brown and Great Britain decathlete Daley Thompson.

Now the men were more opinionated in their choices, especially within the Herald ranks. In fact, the most attractive female award went to commentator Kathleen Sullivan.

Staff writer Luis Rios rates Kathleen as a solid eight on his scale, which is pretty good since no female is a 10, according to Luis. "She looks like a real classy lady, she has the great looks and is good at her job to top it off," explained Luis.

Staff writer Rick Brown echoed Luis' feeling about Kathleen and added, "she wore some nice sweaters." Rick was also impressed with Romanian gymnast Simona Pacca because she had "outstanding derrie muscles", (for those that are wondering — look it up in the dictionary). American gymnast Mary Lou Retton was another one of Rick's favorites.

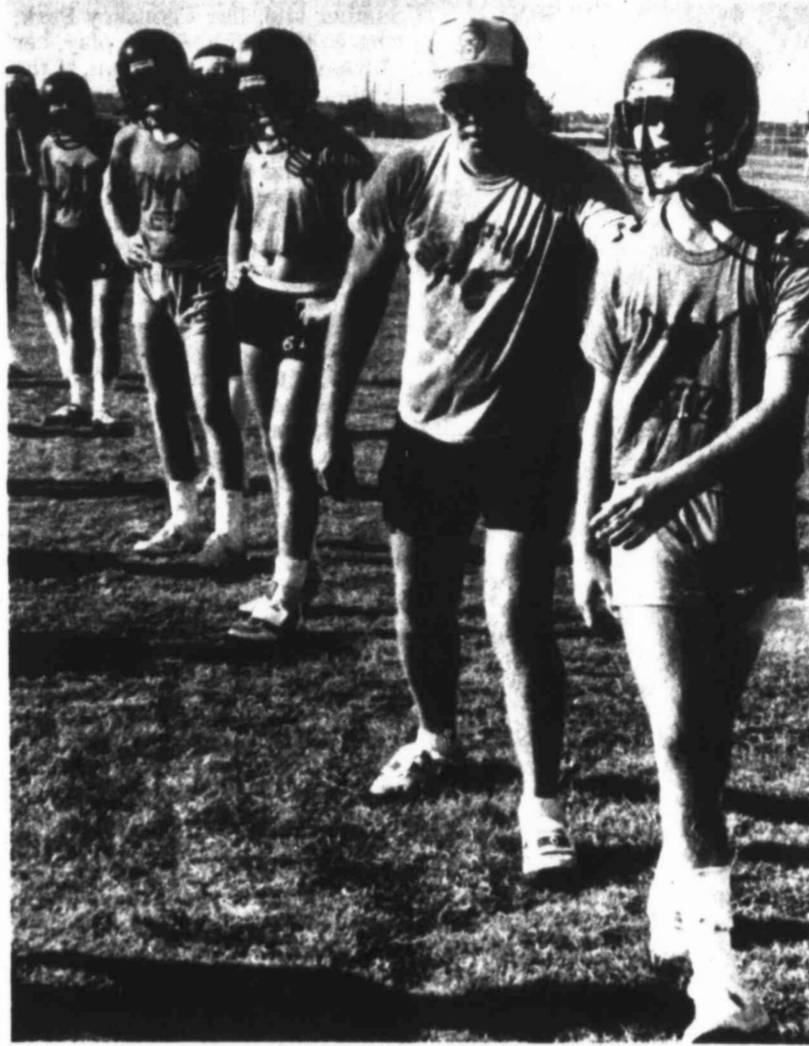

Sports editor Billy Nabours had a hard time choosing between American trackster Mary Decker, because "she reminded me of a girl I use to date in high school," American volleyball player Debbie Green, because "she has a nice smile and legs plus she's just plain cute," and Romanian long jumper Anisoara Stancia, because "she was enough to make me defect."

After careful consideration Billy's scale read like this: Green, 9; Stancia, 8.5; and Decker 8.

Photographer Tim Appel was really upset about the entire Summer Games because the East Germans didn't show up. "I'm depressed because the East German shot putters weren't there. "Steroids turn me on," explained Tim.

The outside world could not agree on anything. The five men that were polled gave five different choices starting with hometown girl Rose Magers on the volleyball team. Anne Jensen, a Denmark diver received a vote, Florence Griffith an American 200 meter runner, Escaterina Szabo the Romanian gymnast and Tiffany Cohen, an American diver all received votes.

So there you have it. The beautiful people from the 1984 Summer Games. The general opinion is that swimmers, divers and gymnasts have the best bods at these games. I must say the poll was fun and I'm already making a list of hopefuls for the 1988 games.

INSTRUCTION — Big Spring assistant football coach Jack Dorsett instructs some of this year's Steer prospects during Monday's afternoon workout. Monday was the first day allowable under the rules for the Steers to begin gearing up for the official start of the 1984 football season.

Big Spring begins football practice

Despite the heat, it was a somewhat spirited group of young men who took to the practice field Monday for the Big Spring Steers.

Monday was the first day, under UIL rules, for the state's 5A football teams and Big Spring is among the 256 upper level schools that began the long road towards a possible playoff berth.

According to head coach Quinn Eudy, "The kids showed up with a great attitude. They can have a great year."

Big Spring welcomes back starters Jay Pirkle, Doug Walker, Tommy Gartman, Derek Logback, Jerry Meyer and Tommy Rodriguez from last year's 3-7 team as Eudy begins his third year as head coach of the Steers.

There were only about seven no-shows for the start of fall workouts, still leaving around 85-plus prospects in the Steers camp with the season slated to open on Sept. 7 in Snyder. Big Spring will continue two-a-day workouts in shorts until Friday, Aug. 24 which is the first day allowed for contact work under still more UIL guidelines. The Steers will host Sweetwater on Friday, Aug. 31 in a scrimmage at Memorial Stadium. Scrimmage time is scheduled for 7 p.m. The first home game of 1984 will be Sept. 14 against Lubbock Estacado, last year's Class-4A runnerup.

The first chance for most of Big Spring to meet this year's Steer gridders will come Monday, Aug. 27 at the Annual Back-to-School Pep Rally slated for 8 p.m. at the Amphitheatre in Comanche Trail Park.

The rally will feature introductions of the football and volleyball teams at BSHS and their coaches.

In other football related news, Big Spring High School season ticket holders are reminded that season tickets for all five Steers home games are on sale now and available at the the school business office.

The cost is $20. Big Spring's 1984 home schedule will include contests against Estacado, Lubbock Monterey, Odessa Permian, Midland Lee and Abilene High.

Also, tonight at 7:30 in the Big Spring High School cafeteria, the Big Spring Quarterback Club will hold an organizational meeting. The purpose of the year's first meeting will be to discuss goals the club has for the 1984-85 school year.

Anyone interested in being a trainer or manager for the Steers can contact Everett Blackburn at the high school.

'Franco's Army' sounds retreat

Age goes before beauty in NFL cuts

By The Associated Press

Only 363 yards away from becoming professional football's all-time leading ground-gainer, Franco Harris was placed on waivers by the Pittsburgh Steelers after a month-long contract dispute.

"It's over," Steelers President Dan Rooney said of the team's relationship with the running back.

"It was a surprise but probably something I shouldn't have counted on," said Harris to WPXI-TV from his Pittsburgh home.

The 34-year-old Harris, who ran for 1,007 yards in 1983, can be claimed by any of the other 27 National Football League teams.

"We did everything we could to sign Franco," Rooney said Monday at a hastily called news conference at Three Rivers Stadium. "I don't think they really wanted me," Harris told KDKA-TV.

"When Dan didn't get back to me this morning like he said he would, I had a gut feeling something would happen."

Harris, in the option year of a contract that would have paid him $385,000, refused to report to the Steelers' training camp on July 20 and did not play in any of the Steelers' first three exhibition games.

The club's decision to end the negotiations and its association with Harris came a week after the Steelers prematurely issued a news release reporting Harris' signing.

But their talks then broke down — apparently over Harris' refusal to agree to an option-year provision.

The Steelers then decided that with fullbacks Frank Pollard and Elton Veals running well during the preseason, Harris — advancing in age and out of camp for a month — was not vital to their 1984 plans.

Harris' 11,950 career yards rank only behind Jim Brown's NFL career-best total of 12,312. His eight 1,000-yard seasons are an NFL record and he gained 1,000 or more yards in each of the Steelers' four Super Bowl championship seasons. He gained 1,556 yards in playoff games alone and commanded support of a group of fans known as "Franco's Army".

"I guess now it's like being a senior in college, waiting by the phone to see if someone will call you," Harris said. "I still think I can play."

The Denver Broncos made two deals and seven cuts as NFL teams began trimming their rosters.

Denver acquired wide receiver Butch Johnson from the Houston Oilers for a 1985 third-round draft choice.

In addition to acquiring Johnson, the Broncos dealt punter Luke Prestridge to New England for a draft choice.

The Green Bay Packers dropped their former starting quarterback, David Whitehurst, a seven-year veteran. They also cut veteran nose tackle Charlie Johnson and free agent Calvin Favron.

The Cincinnati Bengals announced that veteran Turk Schonert, and not rookie Boomer Esiason, will be their second-string quarterback. Esiason was 21-for-40 with two touchdowns in his three exhibition appearances.

The San Francisco 49ers, faced with the holdout of defensive lineman Fred Dean, acquired defensive end Kenny Neil from San Diego.

The 49ers also cut six players, including two veterans, wide receiver James Scott and defensive back Richard Blackmore. The Chargers made two cuts and placed linebacker Derrie Nelson on the injured reserve list.

Safety Vernon Perry, a one-time playoff hero for the Oilers, was let go by his old Houston coach, Bum Phillips, at New Orleans. The Saints also cut special teams stand-out Rich Mauti — who had asked to be released — as well as linebacker Paul Gray, a 10th-round draft pick.

USFL may switch format

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Football League, after suffering lower television ratings in its second season, may move to more direct competition with the National Football League.

Donald Trump, owner of the New Jersey Generals, said Monday he will propose at this week's league meetings that the USFL switch at least partially to a fall schedule in 1986.

The New York Times reported in Tuesday's editions that Trump's proposal is expected to meet with the approval of fellow owners at the meetings, which begin Wednesday in Chicago.

The newspaper reported that league operations director Peter Hadzazy expects ratification by the USFL's 18 owners, two-thirds of whom must support the move to approve it.

Trump has been said to be seeking such a schedule change since he bought the Generals last year.

According to the proposal, the switch could be achieved by splitting the 1986 season. The schedule would begin in March, but the league would go on hiatus over the summer and finish in the fall.

The split would be made to avoid a year without USFL activity, which would occur if the league played a complete spring schedule and switched to a fall schedule the following year.

The move was suggested by a market research survey commissioned by the league and completed recently. The survey advised that the USFL schedule avoid the month of July, when many fans go on vacation.

The survey found little current interest among television networks in USFL fall telecasts. The NFL's TV contract, however, expires in 1986, and the USFL hopes network interest will then increase.

While TV ratings for USFL telecasts fell in 1984, average attendance at the games rose slightly, from 24,824 last year, to 27,126.

Cubs in playoffs, means owners lose big bucks

By JOHN NELSON
 AP Sports Writer

Those nocturnal beasts of baseball — owners with black ink in their veins — are on the prowl again. Their intended prey: the day-feeding Chicago Cubs.

With the Cubs holding a slim lead in the National League East, baseball stands to lose a bundle as it faces the prospect of midweek playoff and World Series games in daylight for the first time in a decade.

Some reports place the figure at as much as $700,000 per team in lost television revenues should that happen.

It's a sad story, but it was written by baseball. This time, the networks seem to be getting too much of the blame for exerting pressure on the Cubs that is coming, in fact, from baseball's ownership.

It seems that baseball's $1 billion contracts with NBC and ABC, struck last year, contain rebate clauses. Baseball must return some of the money if playoff and World Series games normally played in prime time are moved to daytime. Thus, owners have begun a campaign to get those games played at night.

"The influence is money itself," said one source. "They (the owners) struck this deal, and now they realize what's at stake."

Since the Cubs do not have lights at Wrigley Field, as many as five playoff and six World Series games could be held during the day. Under the six-year television contract, ABC will telecast the playoffs this year and NBC the World Series.

The baseball commissioner's office admits that alternatives are being studied in case the Cubs go all the way. Such alternatives might include the installation of temporary lights at Wrigley Field or transferring the games to another site, like Comiskey Park, where the White Sox play, or Milwaukee County Stadium, if the White Sox should get into the playoffs.

The simplest alternative, if one becomes necessary, might be to alter the schedule to allow the playoffs and Series to begin outside of Chicago, thus eliminating some of the weekday games at Wrigley Field.

"Obviously it's a bit of a different situation as far as Chicago is concerned," says Chuck Adams of the commissioner's office. "We're examining all scheduling alternatives. Nothing is final at this point, and so far there is no conclusion."

Temporary lighting might present a logistical problem, since Wrigley Field is located in a residential area and there isn't a lot of room for light towers. But representatives of both networks said it would be possible — that it has been done in college football, for example. One hurdle cleared, there's also the problem of an Illinois state law and a city ordinance effectively banning lights at Wrigley Field.

A citizen's group call CUBS (Citizens United for Baseball in the Sunshine) lobbied vehemently for the local statutes against lights and certainly would also strongly oppose moving the Cubs for postseason play. A shift in venues seems the least likely of all alternatives. It would be unfair not only to the team but also to fans.

A Big Spring WINNER!

Ora Burson
 Dance Instructor, YMCA

"I have loved dancing all my life!" As a teen Ora Burson danced all over the nation on the Keith Orpheum Vaudeville Circuit. She studied in Houston, New York, Los Angeles, and New Orleans plus four years in London. She remembers being a headliner at the stage gala which opened the Ritz Theatre here in the early thirties! She's a member of Dancemasters of America. Ora danced professionally until she was married and since that time has devoted her time to teaching. She moved to Big Spring 26 years ago and went to work at the YMCA, created a class called Trim 'n Fit ("they call it aerobics now!"), and taught tap, ballet, jazz and acrobatics. This small, vivacious woman has taught two generations of Big Spring youngsters, and "I guess I'll teach a third!" Many of her students have opened dance studios of their own. Her Y classes today include "three-year-olds to grandmothers" — and she hasn't missed a class or been late in 26 years! Ora produced the dance shows at the recent downtown Heart of the City festival. She and her late husband, Edmon, had two children, Rene Hurt of Carrollton and Bobby Ann Delaney of New Orleans, and a granddaughter Kenda Lee Hurt. Her dog, Maggie, shares her leisure.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon, it is fine to put your ideas across and to get others to go along with whatever plan of action you have in mind of a policy nature. Show affection.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Confer with partners and know exactly how to handle business affairs well, and then in the evening much happiness is possible.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Early concentrate on telephone calls, deals, etc., that can start money rolling in quickly and allow others to assist you who are capable.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have a fine opportunity in the morning to gain your own wishes where it is important that you do. Dress nicely.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You are thinking cleverly and can plan some activity that will gain you your fondest ambition. Try to please a friend.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) One who uses logic can help you to gain your desires in the morning; then you can be with an advisor and plan the future better.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find the right way to improve your career and get ahead faster, and then gain the assistance of good friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Find the various methods by which you can improve your status in life and get experts to help you gain your goals.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be sure you know where you are going in business affairs, and then try to use more modern methods. Be happier.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Know what it is a nervous partner wants you to do to have more accord and try to please him or her.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are able to get certain tasks completed early; then you can contact outsiders for more activity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Early plan how you can please the one you love more and then carry through with ideas in the evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study the situation at home well and do whatever will improve conditions there. Solve that fundamental affair that arises early.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she can study and learn too fast and then not retain much of whatever has been taught, so early teach to slow down some and be more concerned with practical matters and then can arrive at right conclusions. Contentment and good judgment will come in adulthood.

Big Spring honors Magers at awards ceremony

By TINA STEFFEN
Staff Writer

Before a crowd more spirited and enthusiastic than a pre-season pep-rally, Rose Magers was greeted by sign-bearing fans as she entered Big Spring High School auditorium for the Rose Magers Day awards ceremony Monday morning.

She was escorted by local Olympic torch bearer, Rocky Yandell. Yandell jogged into the auditorium carrying the Olympic torch he carried in Lubbock on the torch's trail to Los Angeles.

Miss Magers joined her parents and community dignitaries on stage as Big Spring High School band played and her fans stood and cheered.

Johnny Lou Avery of the Blue Blazers, hostesses for Rose Magers Day, opened the ceremony by quoting a poster, "Tyler has Earl Campbell, but Big Spring has the Rose."

On behalf of the City Council, Mayor Clyde Angel proclaimed Aug. 20 as Rose Magers Day. City manager Don Davis said a jogging trail at Comanche Trail Park will be reconstructed with funds provided by Wells Fargo, Malone-Hogan Hospital and Hall-Bennett Hospital. The City Council named the trail the "Rose Magers Jogging Trail." Davis unveiled the sign that will be placed at the site. On behalf of Howard County, Judge Milton Kirby presented a plaque to Miss Magers.

Ron Logback, Big Spring Independent School District athletic director, recounted the year of 1977 when the Big Spring High School Lady Steers volleyball team was regional champion and placed third in the state championship. The team was coached by Nancy Deason. Logback also described the continuance of Miss Magers' volleyball career at the University of Houston, Louisiana State University and the 1984 Women's Olympic Volleyball team.

Miss Magers was named an outstanding player, most valuable player and best hitter many times during her volleyball career. She graduated from BSHS in 1978. Logback thanked Miss Magers for the memories of her volleyball achievements and welcomed her home.

Nancy Deason, Miss Mager's Big

Spring High School volleyball coach, also recounted the memories of the successful 1977 volleyball season. "I guess the greatest honor I could ever have is to say I coached Rose Magers," she said tearfully. She and Miss Magers were reunited in Washington D.C. last week while the Olympic medal winners were touring there.

"I saw that same player and that same attitude displayed," Ms. Deason said. She introduced the 1977 team members who were in town for the reunion with Miss Magers. "Rose you put volleyball back into the public's eye and I think it will grow," Ms. Deason concluded.

Representing Big Spring High School, vice principal Craig Fischer and principal Bill McQueary welcomed Miss Magers home and also recounted her volleyball history. After speaking about the 1977 season, Fischer said, "In 1984, you provided us with still more excitement at the Olympics." Julie Miller, student council president, presented Miss Magers with a gift from BSHS students. On behalf of the Exes Association, Janice Rosson thanked Miss Magers for the "thrill and pride she has given the exes through the years. She has filled her own dreams as well as ours," she said. "Remember, no medal or match you achieve will match the positive impression you've made on young people."

Miss Magers was inducted along with her 1977 team members into the BSHS's Hall of Fame in 1979. During the ceremony yesterday, Mrs. Rosson inducted Miss Magers again individually because of her Olympic accomplishments. A display plaque prepared in her honor was unveiled. Miss Magers also was presented a plaque commemorating her induction.

Dwayne Fraser, school board president, presented a resolution from the school board to applaud Miss Magers' accomplishments. "Rose, we are extremely proud of you as an American, a Big Springer and as a former student of the Big Spring Schools," he said.

Susan Sharp and Coach Elaine Stone presented Miss Magers the practice volleyball she used during the 1977 season. The ball still bears the name Magers. Tanya Stevenson and Carl Speck, BSHS with a Fellowship of Christian students, presented Miss Magers Athletes award.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Three-Shops-In-One At Bob's Custom Woodwork

It's hard to think of any home or business remodeling or repair job that Bob's Custom Woodwork couldn't handle.

Bob's shop is really three businesses in one: General Contractor, "Furniture Doctor" Repair Service and the Strip Shop.

As a General Contractor, Bob's provides turn-key construction on room additions, everything from slab to roof, including sheetrock, painting, electrical, plumbing and cabinets.

Remodelling is a specialty, including redesigned kitchens and baths. Bob's advice and counsel is an invaluable service to the homeowner who's in a quandry about where to begin remodeling.

"The Furniture Doctor" service offers complete repairs to furniture in your home or in the shop. This includes the repairs and refinishing of fine antiques. Bob's has hard-to-find specialty hardware for trunks, chests and other antique pieces.

stripping for home and industry. They will do the stripping and refinishing — or they'll strip an item and provide complete supplies for the do-it-yourselfer.

Bob's installs microwave ovens, dishwashers, and Majestic heat circulating fireplaces and mantels.

There's no job too small or too large for Bob Noyes and his crew. Bob does the estimates and gives his personal supervision to all jobs. His wife, Jan, oversees the Strip Shop, handles bookkeeping and customer service. Pablo Jara does framing, carpentry and custom doors; Armando Nunez, general carpentry, counter tops, installation of cabinets, custom doors and acoustical ceilings; Vickie Bell and Craig Neighbors, stripping and refinishing; Elvin Bearden, furniture repair; Rick Cohn, general carpentry; Steve Tillery, carpentry and painting.

Bob's is located in Building 613 in the Industrial Park. Their number is 267-5811.

First to Hester's, then back-to-school

From kindergarten to college, students depend on Hester's for classroom and homework supplies.

There's all the basics, like glue, rulers, ring binders, notebooks, triangles, theme books, paper clips, pencils and poster board.

College students will like the selection of pen and pencil sets, portfolios and desk sets.

The new supply of 1985 calendars and date books — in themes from religious to flowery to animals to cartoons — has arrived. They make excellent gifts for the departing student as well as other gift occasions.

Students going away to school may be looking for a Bible to take with them. Hester's has the largest collection of Bibles in town — all the popular translations, many indexed, one version in larger type. Hester's will personalize them at no charge.

Pictures of friends often find their way into suitcases headed back-to-school. Hester's has a variety of frames in many sizes so the picture can properly be displayed in a dorm room.

Teachers haven't been forgotten by Hester's — the store stocks a variety of back-to-school bulletin board aids.

Big Spring can depend on Hester's for the most complete selection of office supplies in town.

Hester's summer vacation hours end after the Labor Day weekend and the store returns to regular hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays.
