How's that?
Trashy

Q. Why doesn't the city put three or four dumpsters on the old Gibson's parking lot so people will have a place to put their bottles?
A. The city has placed two dumpsters on the lot. Tom Decell, director of public works, said the city placed the dumpsters on the lot about two weeks ago hoping "to encourage people to throw their trash in the dumpsters as opposed to on the ground."

Late news

Embassy attack

BEIRUT — Radical Shiite Moslems broke into a building at the Saudi Arabian Embassy compound in the Lebanese capital today and set it afire. They stoned the building, set the fire, then hoisted a picture of Iranian patriarch Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini atop the battered, two-story structure, that housed the embassy's consular section.

S. Africa explosion

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — A rush-hour explosion, apparently caused by a bomb, buckled walls on three sides of a seven-story building housing government offices in downtown Johannesburg today. The area was quickly cordoned off and police said there was no word yet about casualties. The blast occurred after the normal closing hour for government offices.

GOP mandate

Reagan charts four more years

DALLAS (AP) — President Reagan accepted the presidential nomination of the Republican National Convention Thursday night, declaring that Democrats intend to raise taxes, but he's going to stop them. The re-election rally ended to chants of "Four More Years" and the strains of "America the Beautiful."
Reagan summoned voters — 17,000 in the hall, millions watching at home — to renew the mandate of his administration of "hope, confidence and growth" and reject the "pessimism, fear and limits" offered by opponents.
The Democrats "are openly committed to increasing your tax burden. We are committed to stopping them — and we will," he said. The president's first and only appearance before the delegates set off the noisiest floor demonstration of the week — and the most colorful.
He drew some of his loudest cheers when he declared that during the last Democratic administration — the Carter-Mondale years — "Country after country fell under the Soviet yoke. Since January 20, 1981, not one inch of soil has fallen to the communists."

Reagan underscored the weeklong Republican invitation to disaffected Democrats to join the GOP re-election campaign.
Earlier in the day he said the party was in the hands of an "eccentric clique." Now, he moderated his tone, but declared that the Democratic leadership had taken the party "further and further away from its first principles," and said "we welcome to our side" voters who feel more comfortable with the Republicans.
He used the prospect of higher taxes under the Democrats to entice them over to his side.
"Our friends in the other party never met a tax they didn't like ... or hike," he said, in a curt reply to Walter Mondale's prediction of higher taxes, no matter who wins November 6.
He vowed to lower tax rates for "every American," but didn't say whether that meant a tax cut. He listed some legislative priorities, including a line item veto for turning back specific spending commitments.
The Republican counter-attack on taxes led Mondale, at home in Minnesota, to charge that

Hightower not high on Reagan hog

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower says America's farmers are worse off under President Reagan than at any time since the Great Depression, when another Republican — Herbert Hoover — "was presiding over a farm collapse."
"Under three years of Reaganomics, real farm income has plummeted by 25 percent and the U.S. farm economy is in its worst depression in 50 years," Hightower told the Texas Association of Counties on Thursday. Agriculture is Texas' second-largest industry, Hightower said, "an industry that is in right now, I believe, a full-fledged depression — not a recession, not a lagging recovery as the president said on television the other day, but a depression."

"Harry Truman once said no man should be allowed to be president who doesn't understand hogs. Well, we've got a man up there right now who wouldn't know a hog from a howitzer from what I've seen," Hightower said.
The agriculture commissioner said there are more farms for sale

Sikhs pirate Indian jet

NEW DELHI (AP) — Sikh militants armed with daggers hijacked an Indian jetliner carrying 93 people today, forced it to fly to Pakistan and threatened to kill the passengers and blow up the plane, officials said. The jet took off about nine hours later after the sky pirates freed five passengers.
Pakistani government spokesman Mohammad Sharif said the jetliner left the Lahore airport at 6:45 p.m. (8:45 a.m. CDT), but that he did not know its destination. India's civil aviation minister said earlier that the hijackers wanted to go to the United States by way of Bahrain.
About an hour before the plane took off, the Pakistani news agency reported erroneously that all the passengers had been freed. But Pakistani officials said only five people were released — two ailing Norwegian women and a crippled man and his wife and child.
The Indian Airlines Boeing 737 with 87 passengers and six crew members was commandeered on a domestic flight from New Delhi to Srinagar, capital of northern Kashmir state.

Bob Riley: a few changes for HC

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

When an institution or business undergoes a change in administration those involved are left wondering what policy and personnel changes will also occur.

Dr. Bob Riley, new president of the Howard County Junior College District, acknowledges there will be some changes.
"I want to initiate many changes of my own. Probably in a different way from Dr. Hays."
He is referring to the administration of Dr. Charles Hays, former HCJCD president. Riley is stepping into a position another man held for 10 years.
He sees problems and positive aspects about that.
"Dr. Hays had a certain way of doing things...I'm fortunate to have been here for a year and a half and at least understand many of the procedural things and the way things are done. That will aid in the continuity of the on-going college operation during transition."
But he added, "Dr. Hays had a strong personality and tended to speak his mind about issues. I may tend to be a little more thoughtful before I respond."
True to his word, Riley talks with the air of a man who is weighing each thought before he says it.
"I hope the end result would be the college moving toward positive goals. I felt the college made many strides under Dr. Hays. I want to continue those things."

"Some of the changes we are planning will be to create a more continuous dialogue between the faculty and administration."
Before assuming the job of president, Riley, in his position as Howard College vice president for instruction, was accused by faculty representatives of falsifying information in personnel files and of not telling the truth about information part led in part to several contract terminations.

Riley denied the accusations and stood by his faculty evaluations. He now faces the faculty in a different role but must deal with the hard feelings from the past.

"During the past year, there have been some misunderstandings relating to the faculty evaluation process. I intend to see the procedure and process more clearly understood by all," he said.

Dr. Hays and Dr. Riley will be honored during a reception from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday in the fireplace room at the student union building on the Howard College campus.

"I'm ready to put some of the hard feelings behind us and start this year on a very positive note. I'm expecting a commitment on the part of the faculty and administration to do our very best to make Howard College one of the best junior colleges in the state."
As president of the HCJCD, Riley will be administering the Howard College and SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf campuses as well as branch campuses in Del Rio, San Angelo, Lamesa and Snyder. There are more than 200 employees in the district and a student population of more than 1,200.
He has plans for all areas of the District.
As for SWCID, "We are anticipating another struggle with the State Legislature in relation to the funding of SWCID." He is concerned with exorbitant tuition rates charged to out-of-state students at SWCID.
"We feel it is incumbent that the Legislature change its posture on requiring our hearing-impaired students to pay actual costs of instruction rather than an out-of-state fee as paid by other students coming into Texas for instruction," he said.
Despite these obstacles, "I'm

Rains pound Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Scattered showers continued to fall over the Panhandle and East Texas this morning as a weak surface trough of low pressure stretched from Louisiana across North Central Texas over the Edwards Plateau.

Skies across the remainder of the state were fair to partly cloudy this morning because of a high pressure system anchored over the state.

Violent weather struck last night south of Amarillo. Either high winds or a tornado five miles west of Canyon caused $40,000 to West Texas State University's Nance Farm Swine Center, authorities said. Several buildings were damaged but none of the animals were hurt.

Temperatures at dawn were in the 60s over most of West Texas, while readings in the 70s and 80s were being recorded over the remainder of the state. The early morning extremes ranged from a cool 61 degrees at Marfa in the Davis Mountains to a warm 82 degrees in Fort Worth.

Elsewhere, at 6 a.m., it was 62 at Amarillo, 73 at Wichita Falls, 71 at Abilene, 77 at Dallas, 76 at San Antonio, 75 at Brownsville and Corpus Christi, and 72 at El Paso.

The forecast called for partly cloudy skies statewide with widely scattered to isolated thunderstorms expected across west and southeast Texas and over the lower Rio Grande valley. Otherwise, partly cloudy skies were expected through Saturday with isolated to widely scattered thunderstorms continuing over parts of West Texas.

Afternoon highs were expected to range from near 90 over the Panhandle and South Plains to the mid to upper 90s elsewhere, except for readings near 104 in the Big Bend valleys.

A cool high pressure system settled over the Great Lakes region today as fair skies and cool temperatures covered most of the Midwest.

Meanwhile, a cold front brought wet weather to the Atlantic seaboard and the Gulf Coast. Readings in the 40s were scattered from Michigan to Minnesota early today. The mercury at Marquette, Mich., dipped to 35 degrees while Hibbing, Minn., was 42 degrees.

Thunderstorms dropped one-half inch of rain at Fort Rucker, Ala., Thursday evening and three-fourth inches fell at New Orleans, La.

Dense fog restricted visibilities to near zero on the coast of New England and over parts of the Carolinas.

Strong thunderstorms drenched parts of New Mexico where autos stalled in floodwaters on the streets of Las Cruces.

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy and warm with isolated later afternoon and evening thunderstorms. Lows in the mid 40s to near 70. Highs in the 90s, to near 103 in the Big Bend valleys.

Cotton options seminar set

Howard County producers as well as others in the cotton industry will be able to learn more about the trading of cotton commodity options at an upcoming seminar, according to a release from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The seminar on Agricultural Commodity Options for the Southwestern Cotton Industry is slated for Sept. 7-8 at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas.

The purpose of the seminar is to acquaint cotton growers, merchants and agriculture lenders with agriculture commodity options.

An option is a contract that gives the buyer right, but not the obligation, to buy or sell a particular commodity at a specified price for a specified period of time. It gives farmers another pricing tool to assist in price risk management — a type of insurance against sudden price drops.

Among seminar speakers will be officials with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, New York Cotton Exchange, Merrill Lynch Futures, Republic Bank Corporation, Toyo Cotton Company and Easterwood Farms.

U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm of Stamford will give an update of agriculture issues in Congress at a noon luncheon.

The seminar is a joint effort of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, the Extension Service of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, Texas Cotton Association, New York Cotton Exchange and the Commodity Futures Trading Commission. Persons planning to attend should make room reservations at the Fairmont Hotel.

Inmates' donation tops $1,450

Inmates from the Big Spring Federal Camp recently made a $1,450 donation to the Children's Home of Lubbock, according to Eric Dickey, pastor of the Sand Springs Church of Christ.

Dickey said the inmates made the gift in memory of Michael Bryant, a correctional officer at the prison who died in a traffic accident several weeks ago.

Dickey said the inmates wanted to donate money in memory of Bryant and that he recommended the Children's Home. The money will be used for a universal gym for the new activity center at the home.

Firemen sponsor fund raiser

Local fire fighters will participate in a "Fill their boots" fund raiser this Saturday for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, according to Kerry Horton of the Big Spring Fire Department.

Funds will be used to support area clinics and patient service programs.

The fire fighters will be at the Big Spring Mall, K-Mart and Wal-Mart.

Reception honors Hays, Riley

Dr. Charles Hays, former president of the Howard County Junior College District, and Dr. Bob Riley, new president, will be honored with a reception Sunday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the fireplace room in the Student Union Building at Howard College.

Linda Woodley of the district public relations office said the public is invited to the reception.

Custody battle for twins over

GILMER (AP) — A battle over a pair of infant twins that a judge once ordered divided between their teenage parents has ended in a more orthodox custody arrangement.

Stan Carter, 18, and 17-year-old Dina Denise Carter reached an out-of-court settlement this week under which the mother will retain custody of the 8-month-old children and her husband will be allowed to visit them once a month.

But state District Judge Virgil Mulanax, who once ruled that each parent should take custody of one child, saying he hoped to reunite the couple, said he agreed to the arrangement reluctantly.

"It's over now," he said Wednesday. "I still believe, like I have all along, that these two young people didn't really want a divorce."

At issue in the lawsuit was the marriage of the high school sweethearts, and the custody of twins born seven months after the wedding. Mrs. Carter left her husband's home on Feb. 10, when the twins were less than 3 weeks old, and moved 250 miles south to her parents home.

"I'm satisfied with the decision — not pleased — just satisfied," said Carter, who lives with his parents in the town of Big Sandy in northeast Texas.

"The way the judicial system is in this state a man doesn't seem to have a chance at getting his kids. You have to have serious charges of abuse or other such things for a man to have a fighting chance. But if it's a 50-50 deal, then forget it," he said.

For the record

Dr. Charles Hays, outgoing president of the Howard County Junior College District, has owned Big Spring Automotive Parts for 3 1/2 years, not 34 years as stated in an article Thursday.

Hightower

in Texas than at any time since 1932. He said a clipping service checked 55 newspapers one week for advertisements for farms and ranches for sale, and the total came to 2,400, almost 2 percent of the farms and ranches in Texas.

"The worst news is no one out there is trying to buy them — at least no farmer's trying to buy them," Hightower said.

In 1983, farm exports from Texas fell by $4.2 billion and produced a net loss of 53,164 jobs, he said, adding, "Instead of exporting grain and cotton, the Reagan policy is to export jobs."

"I'm not here to give you a political speech, and I don't know what else you may think of Ronnie Reagan, but you've got to admit agriculture's not his strong suit," Hightower said.

The commissioner said farm debt now totals $220 billion, "yet we can't get help from the federal government — no relief. ... (But) any Latin American right-wing dictator who can afford a pair of sunglasses can get a bucketful of money from this (Reagan) administration — cash money."

"Our own farmers in this state get the door of our own (federal) government slammed in their face up there," he said. "Sometimes I think their idea of a good farm program is 'Hee-Haw.' But it is a laughing matter, because 200,000 farmers and ranchers in the United States in the last three years went broke."

Hightower called for a national farm bill that would include a price floor so farmers could at least recover the cost of production.

"Agriculture cannot be an afterthought this (election) year," he said, "because we're talking about a whole way of life — the way of life that we count on to put three squares a day on the table for us — going under."

Reagan

Reagan's re-election platform would add almost $160 billion a year to the federal deficit — in part by granting "even more tax cuts for Mr. Reagan's rich friends..."

"America is coming back and is more confident than ever about the future," Reagan said, establishing a principal theme of his re-election campaign.

"In this springtime of hope, some lights seem eternal."

He used his 55-minute address to contrast his own four years in office with the Carter-Mondale years, and offered a grim prediction of a Mondale administration.

"Is there any doubt that they will raise our taxes. That they will send inflation into orbit again...make...deficits even worse, raise unemployment, cut back defense preparedness; raise interest rates, make unilateral and unwise concessions to the Soviet Union..." he asked.

With each question came the crowd's emphatic answer: "No." Reagan renewed his call for Congress to enact a constitutional amendment to balance the budget, and said, "If our opponents were as vigorous in supporting our voluntary school prayer amendment as they are in raising taxes, maybe we could get the lord back in our schoolrooms and get drugs and violence out." Running down the list of legislation he is seeking from Congress, the president called for approval of tax breaks for the parents of parochial school students as well as anti-crime legislation.

He stoutly defended his administration's invasion in Grenada, saying it was "unconscionable" of his Democratic opponents to compare the military action with "the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, the crushing of human rights in Poland or the genocide in Cambodia."

He invited the voters to take a "little stroll down memory lane" of high inflation in the Carter-Mondale years.

"We could say they spend money like drunken sailors but that would be unfair to drunken sailors. The sailors are spending their own money," he said.

"We intend to simplify the entire tax system, to make taxes more fair ... and most important, to bring the tax rates of every American further down, not up," Reagan said.

In San Francisco last month, Mondale struck a Republican nerve by saying that record deficits make a tax hike inevitable next year, no matter who wins the election.

2 killed in motel fire

ASBURY ARK — Fire raced through a four-story motel in New Jersey early today, killing at least two people and injuring 12 others, officials said.

A fire official said the blaze may have been deliberately set.

The fire erupted on the first floor of the Jefferson Motor Inn at about 5:20 a.m. and spread through a stairwell to the upper floors, said Fire Capt. Louis Severino.

4 held in Navy code thefts

SAN DIEGO — Two more men have been charged with stealing classified Navy codes and trying to sell them to the Soviet Union, bringing to four the number accused in an alleged plot that could have caused "grave damage" to national security, authorities say.

The FBI announced the latest arrests on Thursday in connection with the theft of "highly classified" documents from the USS Peoria, a tank landing ship based in San Diego.

The men were accused of stealing from the Peoria classified cryptograph cards that contained what was described by the FBI as "highly classified code material, which, if compromised, could result in grave damage to national security."

Aircraft firm lays off 500

WICHITA — Beech Aircraft Corp. has announced it is laying off 500 of its 6,600 employees, citing a weak market for the company's commercial aircraft.

The announcement came Thursday, the same day Beech signed a new three-year union contract.

About 400 Beech employees who work in aircraft production and support jobs received furlough notices Thursday. The rest will receive notices in the coming weeks.

USSR satellite finds crash

DETROIT — Rescue workers in western Michigan were first alerted to the fatal crash of a small plane when the aircraft's emergency signal was picked up by a Soviet satellite, authorities said.

Two people died Wednesday night when a Cessna 150 apparently ran out of gas and crashed shortly after takeoff from a Muskegon airport. The plane's emergency signal was picked up early Thursday and relayed to earth by one of three Soviet satellites in a five-nation tracking system.

Lights go out in Boston

BOSTON — Restaurants closed down, bars filled up and police moved in to prevent looting after an underground fire forced Boston Edison Co. to cut power to a 20-block area in the heart of downtown, part of which remained without electricity today.

Power was cut just before rush hour Thursday afternoon after smoke swirled from manhole covers, snarling traffic and forcing one hospital to rely on emergency generators.

VP Bush begins own campaign schedule

THE NOMINEE — Vice President George Bush addresses the Republican National Convention Thursday night to accept its nomination for a second term.

DALLAS (AP) — Keep your bags packed, George Bush. The campaign plane is waiting.

That's the message the vice president will find on his desk when he returns to Washington from the Republican National Convention. Much more than President Reagan, Bush will hit the hustings this fall, trumpeting the administration's record and decrying the failings of the Jimmy Carter-Walter Mondale years.

While Bush's specific role is still being refined by the Reagan-Bush re-election committee, he is experienced enough to know that vice presidents are expected to smile their way through a grueling schedule of four and five-day-a-week campaign stints, week after week.

"My job is to support the top of the ticket, to travel extensively around the country without regard to any region or another, in other words, not part of any regional strategy," Bush said. "I think it's more of a national approach."

"I expect that if there's a disproportionate amount of time spent any place, it might be in my home state of Texas."

That's a good guess, and not only because it's his adopted home. With a whopping 29 electoral votes, more than a tenth of the 270 needed to win the White House, Texas is one of a handful of key battleground states in the 1984 race.

But watch for Bush elsewhere. Say, in Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Florida and the West.

Gramm buffet cooks up $1 million

Harte-Hanks News Service DALLAS — Rep. Phil Gramm, the GOP hopeful in the race to replace Sen. John Tower next year, Thursday stepped from the floor of the Republican National Convention into a star-studded fund-raiser which was expected to add $650,000 to his campaign.

The late-night $1,500-per person breakfast buffet was expected to collect $1.1 million, with the largest share going to Gramm's campaign against Democratic challenger Lloyd Doggett.

Victory '84, the Reagan-Bush Texas campaign, and the Republican National Convention host committee will share the remainder of the proceeds.

The fund-raiser capped four days of high profile campaigning by Gramm, who spoke to convention delegates Monday, held a seemingly endless stream of news conferences and addressed the Texas delegation Wednesday morning.

"There's no doubt that this convention has been a statement of support," Gramm said in an interview.

When delegates tired from four days of convention sessions take time to attend another fund-raiser, "it's a real compliment," he added.

Charlton Heston and Wayne Newton were among the stars at the breakfast.

Iraqis cripple Cypriot ship

BAGHDAD — Iraqi warplanes rocketed a ship south of Iran's Kharg Island oil terminal today, and shipping sources said a Cypriot tanker captain radioed that his vessel had been hit and set afire, forcing the crew to abandon ship.

In Baghdad, the Iraqi military spokesman said jetfighters "successfully raided and effectively hit a big naval target" south of Kharg, Iran's main oil terminal.

It was the second attack on gulf shipping claimed by Iraq within 24 hours.

UK dockworkers strike

LONDON — Leaders of Britain's 35,000 dockworkers today called an immediate nationwide strike, the country's second in two months, in support of the 23-week-old coal miners' walkout.

The nationwide strike was widely expected after steelworkers Thursday unloaded coal for a fuel-starved Scottish steel plant from a Panamanian freighter which the transport union had ordered boycotted in support of the miners. The steelworkers' action prompted an immediate strike by Scottish longshoremen, who began their strike today.

It is the second nationwide strike called by dockworkers in indirect support of the coal miners' walkout. The last strike by dockworkers, an 11-day walkout that paralyzed 75 percent of British trade, was in July.

British embassy attacked

BEIRUT — Unidentified assailants fired rocket-propelled grenades at the new British Embassy in west Beirut today, damaging the consular and visa section but causing no casualties.

Meanwhile, the death of Lebanon's highest ranking Druse army officer, chief of staff Maj. Gen. Nadim Hakim, in an air crash threatened to further delay President Amin Gemayel's plans to extend his government's control to the Druse-controlled central mountains.

And in the northern port of Tripoli, authorities put the final toll from four days of fighting by rival Moslem militias at 120 killed and 325 wounded, most of them civilians.

Shamir, Peres hold talks

JERUSALEM — Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir and the man designated to succeed him, Shimon Peres, met for crucial talks today on bipartisan rule, and there reports Peres was ready to set up a minority government if negotiations fail.

The two-hour discussion in a sixth-floor suite in the King David Hotel followed three weeks of unsuccessful efforts by delegations from Peres' Labor Party and Shamir's Likud bloc to hammer out an agreement that would allow them to govern together.

Both leaders told reporters afterwards that some progress had been made to bridge policy differences. But they declined to give any details of the talks.

This is good year to be tight-fisted

When the new appraisal values for homes were dropped, after a general pummeling from the populace, the stage was set for a round of tax rate hikes: school district taxes, county taxes, junior college district taxes, city taxes, and so on.

The reason is this. If appraisals go up, then the taxing government has an increase built in to its tax base. The task then becomes to decide whether to lower the tax rate to offset higher appraised values. Taxpayers generally digest this much better than they do a tax rate increase. For the taxing agency, the advantage is more revenue coupled with the public relations bonus of announcing a tax decrease — or at least "holding the line" on taxes.

Not so this year. When the 1984 appraisals were largely scrapped, that left the taxing agencies with a flat tax base. If they feel they must have more money for the upcoming year, that money must come through a higher tax rate. And the taxers must face the taxpayers squarely with that increase.

The reduction in the appraisals was justified, coming as they did in the face of declining market values for homes. But money is money, and lower property values don't necessarily dictate static or reduced taxes.

It is paramount that each local government — city, county, schools and higher education — assess its true needs, and not its wishes. The modest raises sought by the school and junior college districts are indications of such soul-searching.

The city sent up a preliminary flag yesterday that it's looking to hold the tax rate to last year's level. County government, riding into its new fiscal year on a seven-digit budget surplus, probably will not consider a hike in taxes either.

The city deserves kudos if it can hold the line on a municipal budget. It will be taking a leadership role.

As always, we must balance quality of life, long-term needs and Big Spring's future against the burden of more taxes. Short-term solutions that appease the populace may not be in the best interests of the people's future. But this year, taxing governments must lean toward austerity. This is no time to propose taking more money from people's pockets unless there is absolutely, positively no other alternative.

Ugh, fresh air

Mr. Buchwald has gone on a monastic retreat to rethink the November elections. He left behind some of his readers' all-time favorite columns.

Smog which was once the big attraction of Los Angeles, can now be found all over the country from Butte, Montana, to New York City and people are getting so used to polluted air that it's very difficult for them to breathe anything else.

I was lecturing recently, and one of my stops was Flagstaff, Arizona, which is about 7,000 feet above sea level.

As soon as I got out of the plane, I smelled something peculiar.

"What's that smell?" I asked the man who met me at the plane.

"I don't smell anything," he replied.

"There's a definite odor that I'm not familiar with," I said.

"Oh, you must be talking about the fresh air. A lot of people come out here who have never smelled fresh air before."

"What's it supposed to do?" I asked suspiciously.

"Nothing. You just breathe it like any other kind of air. It's supposed to be good for your lungs."

"I've heard that story before," I said. "How come if it's air, my eyes aren't watering?"

"Your eyes don't water with fresh air. That's the advantage of it. Saves you a lot in paper tissues."

I looked around and everything appeared crystal clear. It was a strange sensation and made me feel very uncomfortable.

My host, sensing this, tried to be reassuring. "Please don't worry about it. Tests have proved that you can breathe fresh air day and night without its doing any harm to the body."

"You're just saying that because you don't want me to leave," I said. "Nobody who has lived in a major city can stand fresh air for a very long time. He has no tolerance for it."

"Well, if the fresh air bothers you, why don't you put a handkerchief over your nose and breathe through your mouth?"

"Okay, I'll try it. If I'd known I was coming to a place that had nothing but fresh air, I would have brought a surgical mask."

We drove in silence. About 15 minutes later he asked, "How do you feel now?"

"Okay, I guess, but I sure miss sneezing."

"We don't sneeze too much here," the man admitted. "Do they sneeze a lot where you come from?"

"All the time. There are some days when that's all you do."

"Do you enjoy it?"

"Not necessarily, but if you don't sneeze, you'll die. Let me ask you something. How come there's no air pollution around here?"

"Flagstaff can't seem to attract industry. I guess we're really behind the times. The only smoke we get is when the Indians start signaling each other. But the wind seems to blow it away."

The fresh air was making me feel dizzy. "Isn't there a diesel bus around here that I could breathe in to for a couple of hours?"

"Not at this time of day. I might be able to find a truck for you."

We found a truck driver, and slipped him a $5 bill, and he let me put my head near his exhaust pipe for a half-hour. I was immediately revived and able to give me speech.

Nobody was as happy to leave Flagstaff as I was. My next stop was Los Angeles, and when I got off the plane, I took one big deep breath of the smog-filled air, my eyes started to water, I began to sneeze, and I felt like a new man again.

Reagan like Scarlett on report

WASHINGTON — The White House is sitting uncomfortably on an ambitious Veterans Administration proposal for future health care of the nation's growing number of older veterans. The costly plan is something the Reagan administration would rather not deal with before Election Day.

The reason is simple: If President Reagan doesn't endorse the multi-billion-dollar proposal, he risks offending more than 28 million veterans who may need VA medical care as they retire and lose their employee health-insurance plans.

But if the president accepts the VA's fearfully expensive proposal to start spending now for future needs, it will make his stand against tax increases even less believable than it already is.

The VA, whose militant constituency and bipartisan clout on Capitol Hill have made it virtually untouchable among federal agencies, has timed its proposal shrewdly. No candidate for Congress or the White House is likely to risk being seen as putting mere dollars above the welfare of veterans and their families.

But the VA's draft report to the White House makes two things clear: The problem of aging vets is one that won't go away, and its solution will cost plenty. My associate Donald Goldberg has obtained a copy of the closely held draft, titled "Caring for the Older Veteran: A Shared Vision for the Future."

"Americans are growing older," the report points out, "but veterans are growing older faster than the general population. ... In this decade, 4.2 million veterans will pass the age 65 milestone. ... By the year 2000, 63 percent of all American males over 65 will be veterans. Under current eligibility rules, this means that by 2000 two out of every three elderly males in the United States will be eligible for VA health care if they elect to use it."

The cost of VA medical programs is already more than $9 billion a year. If the youngest World War II veterans and those who served in Korea and Vietnam are to be given the same level of care that older vets are now getting, the cost increase will be significant.

"The magnitude of the increase will depend on factors whose impact can only be estimated, but it will approach an increase of $6 billion (a year) from 1985 level at its peak in 2000," the draft report warns. "In addition, provision for the facilities necessary to meet the needs of the older veteran will require an estimated $6.8 billion investment above current commitments, primarily between 1990 and 2000."

The VA report lists several targeted areas or "strategies" that will require sizable expansion over the next few years. Among the most important:

- "The goal of the hospital strategy is to provide sufficient capacity in VA hospitals to assure availability and accessibility of needed inpatient acute care services to all eligible older veterans," the report states. New construction and service to "underserved areas" will increase bed capacity by at least 27 percent by the year 2000.

- "The ambulatory care strategy has a goal of providing ... non-institutional capacity designed to provide essential health and supportive services to eligible veterans of all ages, emphasizing a full array of health care services designed to decrease the need for hospital treatment to the maximum extent consistent with high quality care."

- The extended care strategy's goal calls for a 250 percent increase by 2010 in the capacity of nursing homes operated or supported by the VA, plus expansion of home care programs and day health-care services.

In addition to veterans' medical services, the report estimates that by 1990, anywhere from $5 billion to $8 billion a year will be needed to meet pension payments, plus $10.4 billion for other compensation.

INDEXING THE DELEGATES: If you've been wondering how reporters at the Republican National Convention have managed to get just the right female delegate to comment on a particular issue or event, it wasn't blind luck. The Republicans decided to use their female resources to advantage. So they put their computer to work.

Each woman delegate's personal and professional background was fed into the computer, and the categories were cross-indexed. So when a reporter wanted to interview, say, a middle-aged black schoolteacher or an unmarried Hispanic businesswoman, the computer did a quick search and identified the best candidate for media attention.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: The latest country to try its hand at mediating an end to the Iraqi-Iranian war is the tiny, oil-rich United Arab Emirates, just across the Persian Gulf from Iran.

Though the UAE had no success in a similar effort in the past, State Department sources say Tehran has been more receptive this time. There's a large Iranian community in the UAE, and there are centuries-old trading links. UAE diplomats are also trying to patch things up between Iran and Saudi Arabia.

More than two months ago, King Hassan of Morocco sent a secret message to Shimon Peres, the Labor Party leader who seemed likely to be Israel's next prime minister. The message, delivered by a Moroccan Jewish doctor on a visit to Israel, urged a more conciliatory Israeli policy on the West Bank and other Arab issues.

College ads are 'waste of money'

To the editor: I have been noticing billboards for Howard College cluttering the landscape. I thought, what a waste of money. Any area student contemplating college already knows there is a Howard College in Big Spring.

Much to my astonishment I saw in the Herald that college taxes are going up. Those ad costs should come out of the college president's pocket, not from the taxpayers.

They pulled plug on Sunday fun

To the editor: Why is the handball court on the old base had its lights turned off? The inmates from the prison have been using it and then the children from the day care center and then myself and my son and his friends and several other young men, all residents of Big Spring (taxpayers).

So anyhow, no sooner we start using the facility they turn the power off — but when the prisoners used it everything was in working order. For example the tennis courts they use. Who can we talk to to get service restored and some of the light bulbs replaced? We will take care of keeping it cleaned and maybe paint it if necessary.

RICARDO BELTRAN

P.S. One of the reasons we use the facility is that it is the only place open on Sunday when we can all play (something like golf).

Danger duty

By RICK BROWN

Did you know that firefighters have the highest on-the-job death rate of any occupational group in the country?

It's higher than for people working in mining jobs, than for those in construction, and for those in transportation.

Surprisingly, their death rate is even higher than that of policemen.

In addition, the likelihood that a firefighter will die of cancer has almost doubled over the past 20 years and has risen at a faster clip than the national average.

Why the increase in fire-related deaths?

According to a special report put out by the Register, an award-winning publication published in Santa Ana, Calif., "The surge in firefighter deaths and disease parallels the burgeoning use of synthetic materials, especially plastics, in nearly every part of American life: throughout homes and offices, in cars, in nearly every industry."

"When synthetics burn, their thick smoke fills a firefighter's face with gases that can kill instantly, burn irreparably or plant the seeds of cancer," an article in the publication said.

In light of these facts, I talked to three local firemen at their 18th and Main quarters to find out why they joined the ranks of firefighters.

I had assumed that most got into the job because of the excitement, the flow of adrenaline that comes with the ringing of the alarm bell, but that didn't seem the case.

"I like running the red light and pushing the siren," one said facetiously, perhaps harkening back to a childhood when most little boys wanted to be firemen, while girls wanted to be ballerinas.

"We've got a couple of glory hounds," said one fireman on a more serious note. "But you mostly find the thrill-seekers in bigger towns — not in Big Spring."

All three firemen agreed that they "loved" their jobs. They mentioned "community service" and "civic pride" as contributing to the satisfaction they get from their work.

Becoming a fireman was "a chance that I saw for security in my old age. The job I had before was just a job," said one man.

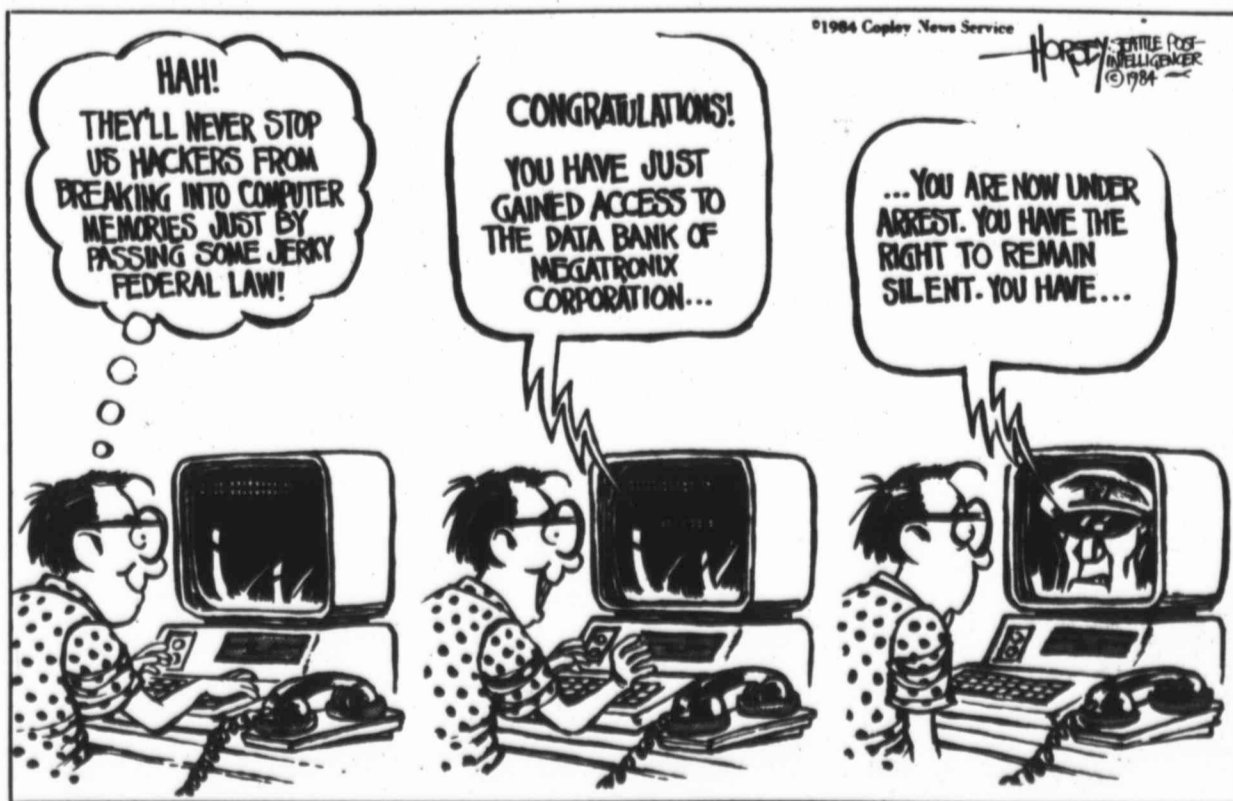

The men seemed to agree when one said "once you get on, it's kind of a brotherhood."

"It's a unique way of life," he said, referring to the 24 hours he spends at the station every third day, waiting for the alarm bell to ring.

"The majority of us are real close. When you work with somebody 24 hours, you get to know them in depth," he said.

Perhaps the feeling the men had for their jobs can be summed up in the following comment: "We take a lot of pride in our work. Pride is probably 50 percent of the job. If you take that pride away, you're taking away the firefighter."

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Mission family to serve in Venezuela

MISSIONARY FAMILY — The Ron Banks family left yesterday to study Spanish at the San Hosea Costa Rica Language School. After studying the language for nine months, they will begin their mission in Venezuela. Pictured are Jackie Banks, Ron Banks, son Nathan and daughter Kristal, hamming it up in front.

By KIM KIRKHAM
Church Editor

Ron Banks' ministry has taken him from the basement of his parent's home to the jungles of Venezuela.

Banks, 30, a former flight instructor at Trans Regional Air of Big Spring, is winging his way to South America to serve as a missionary to 200 families in the small village of Puerto Ayaucho, located on the border with Brazil.

He and his family — wife Jackie, 31, daughter Kristal, 7, and son Nathan, 2, — left yesterday for the San Hosea Costa Rica Language School. They will study Spanish for nine months before beginning their mission.

The Forsan High School graduate says flying and missionary work came easy for him.

Because Banks' parents were "mission-minded," his interest in missionary work started in his home where missions were taught and emphasized since early in his life. Berea Baptist was started in 1962 in the basement of his parent's home.

And as a boy, Banks lived near Webb Air Force Base. With airplanes flying over his house, he became interested in flying.

Thoughts of missions and aviation came together for Banks when he read the biography of a missionary pilot during his senior year in high school.

Jungle Pilot was about missionary Nat Saint with the Mission Aviation Fellowship, said Banks. "I got their (MAF) address in the book. I wrote them and they sent me a list of colleges to go to to prepare for Mission Aviation Fellowship."

Banks has worked as a flight instructor at Trans Regional, instructed ground school and aviation at Howard College, worked for two helicopter companies in Louisiana, and was a shop foreman at a hangar in Redlands, Calif.

The Banks family joined MAF after attending Le Tourneau College in Longview and Moody Bible Instructor School in Elizabeth, Tenn. "They (MAF) appointed us an assignment where the need was," said Mrs. Banks.

MAF is an interdenominational program. "The main purpose is to allow everyone the privilege of responding to the Gospel of Jesus Christ," said Banks.

The Banks family will aid Bible translators who are working with Indian tribes and help in community development and disaster relief.

"We kind of like to think of ourselves as a time capsule for the missionaries," Banks said. "We work with missionaries, national pastors and teachers as they have to be transported (by airplanes) from one place to another in giving them more time to do what they're there for."

Dr. Rick Davis, the Rev. Gary Fine and the Rev. Joe Torres will teach the college-level and basic curriculum courses. The courses are designed for pastors and lay persons desiring academic study in the Bible and other subjects included in a theological curriculum.

Interested persons may pre-enroll at First Baptist Church or by calling Dr. Kenneth Patzek at 263-3661. Registration will be on the first night of classes, Sept. 10. Classes will be on Monday nights, 7 to 10 p.m.

Southern Baptist Seminaries. The local center is sponsored by the Big Spring Baptist Association.

Baker Chapel takes first in Area Two

African Methodist Episcopal missionaries, ministers, delegates and laity of the Northwest Texas Conference met in El Paso Aug. 15-17. New 1984-85 officers were elected and pastoral appointments were made.

The Missionary Society of Baker Chapel, Big Spring, won the first place award in Area Two. Vernon Missionary Society was the first place winner in Area One.

Recipients of the service awards were: Barbara Cooper of Big Spring, president of the Minister's Wives; Anna Jones, promotion and missionary education chairman; Billye Wright, young peoples department director; Al Pearl Jones, worship director; Winnie Wright, first vice-president; Naomi Graham of Big Spring, second vice-president; Willie Meyers, Area One chairman; and LaFrance Hickson.

Rev. I. C. Cooper, conference secretary, was appointed presiding elder of the Northwest Texas Conference by Bishop Rembert Stokes, prelate of the Tenth Episcopal District. The Rev. W.O. Johnson, who previously held the position, was appointed to Bethel, Lubbock.

Baker Chapel of Big Spring will entertain the conference in 1985.

Burroughs to be featured in concert

The First Church of the Nazarene will celebrate the final "Spring City Super Summer Sunday Evening of 1984" at 6 p.m. Sunday.

Wade Burroughs will be featured in a concert. A fellowship time will follow in the Family Life Center.

Sunday School classes for all age groups are at 9:45 a.m. Cotton Mize, Christian Life director, has led the Sunday School in a summer-long STEP program titled "Summer Time Enlargement Program." The program has resulted in increased summer attendance. Promotion exercises will be conducted Sunday for those going into new departments.

Morning worship is at 10:50 a.m. The Rev. Carl Powers will speak on "The Expanded Christian Life." Children's Church sessions will be provided for children four years of age through the fifth grade.

Ford sings

TESTIMONY — Felecia Ford gave her testimony and sang to the youth at Belview Baptist Church in Midland, Tuesday night. Dr. David Ray, former minister at First Baptist Church in Lubbock, led the revival. Paul and Christy Newberry also performed and gave a testimony at the event.

Special to air

A special broadcast, "The Secret of Loving", featuring best-selling author and speaker Josh McDowell, will be aired Tuesday at 7 p.m. on channel 2.

Roger Staubach, former Dallas Cowboys quarterback, hosts the presentation which focuses on both the fun and frustrations within marriage and dating relationships. The hour-long program presents the Christian perspective and has been viewed across the United States by about 26 million people.

"This special entertains, as well as challenges the viewer's convictions and thinking," says the television coordinator for Josh McDowell Ministries of Richardson. The telecast will be aired without commercial interruption as a result of the private funding of Midland/Odessa residents.

McDowell is the author of 22 books, including Evidence that Demands a Verdict and Givers, Takers and Other Kinds of Lovers. He is a frequent college lecturer.

Dr. Donohue

Pilonidal cyst common occurrence

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have had an active pilonidal cyst for about two years. I didn't know what it was at first, and still don't completely. I had it drained last year. The doctor said if it didn't fuse together after the draining that it'd have to be removed. Well, a year later it flared up four times, so last week I had it removed, sacs, cords, and all. It's been a painful experience, but I'm glad it's over now. What causes these cysts, and why at my age? I am a female, only 22, and in perfect health. I eat right and exercise often. My mom says it's hereditary. Please elaborate. — S.R.

In all probability, pilonidal cysts are present from birth. You don't notice them until later in life, usually in late adolescence or early adulthood. There has been time for them to become chronically irritated and inflamed by then. I think I discussed these cysts in a recent column, and you may have seen that item since writing me.

I didn't mention this aspect. They are a developmental abnormality. Your mother will not have many examples on her side, for these cysts are not, from the evidence we have, inherited. But they are a common occurrence.

When the cyst becomes infected it must be drained, and if it doesn't close, infections may recur. Then the cyst must be removed for permanent cure. I'm positive you will be even happier about your experience, particularly the surgery.

Dear Abby

A shady deal in a crystal ball

DEAR ABBY: Last week I went to a spiritual reader who is supposed to have the power to tell you your past, your future and to make your dreams come true. I was told she charged $20, which was fine with me.

After the first reading, she asked me for another $20 so she could burn a candle to bring back my first love, which is something I have been praying and praying for. I gave her another $20 and she told me to come back in a week.

Well, I went back last night, and she said she would have to have another $50 because the evil spirits blew out the first candle and she would have to light another one to bring back my first love.

I told her I was not a rich woman and that was all the cash I had, so she asked me to leave my VISA card with her so she could buy something for the church in my name. She said that would help bring back my first love. Something told me not to leave it, so I didn't. I feel like I am being drained for all I have, but it would be worth everything to me if she could bring back my first love.

I need to know if this woman has the power she claims to have. Please answer before I go broke.

Thompson speaks to retired teachers about legislation

Tommy Thompson, American Association of Retired Persons Legislative Committee member, spoke to the Big Spring-Howard County Retired Teachers' Association during the Aug. 20 meeting.

Thompson spoke on the status of retired teacher legislation. He urged retired teachers to contact legislators to remind them of the legitimate needs of retired teachers.

District president Louise Wier announced the District Convention in Kermit, Nov. 7, and the State Convention in Abilene, March 29-30, 1985.

New members Mabel Beene, Lucy Bonner and Cornelia Gary were welcomed. The next meeting will be at the Cactus Room at Howard College, Sept. 17. Joy Decker, Retired Senior Volunteer Program director, will be featured.

Riley

 very optimistic about the future of SWCID. If we can get the tuition structure changed, we could very well become a national leader in the field of deaf education since we have a community college approach to instruction."

Riley plans to continue some of Hays plans for improving the look of Howard College.

"Dr. Hays made tremendous improvements in the physical appearance of the campus, and had a master campus plan developed that we will follow to some degree."

Riley hopes to concentrate efforts in other areas. "My training is more from the instructional side of college administration and I'll probably give that segment of the college a lot of attention."

Riley's background includes a bachelor's degree in social science and a master's degree in psychology and physical education degree from West Texas State University. His doctorate is in educational administration from East Texas State University.

The 41-year-old is a veteran of the Navy and has six years experience with public schools.

He started his higher education career with Sul Ross State University as assistant professor of education and administrator of its branch campus in Del Rio. He then worked as dean of instruction at Clarendon Junior College and assistant professor of education and director of student teaching at Southwestern Oklahoma State University.

Riley said: "I'm uniquely qualified as an administrator because I've held administrative positions in public schools, junior colleges and universities."

Riley's wife, Gayle, is a teacher with the Coahoma Independent School District, and his three children, Lisa, 16, Leigh, 13, and Melinda, 9, attend Coahoma schools.

Riley would like to see computers used more widely throughout the district. "We have a modern IBM system that we acquired during the summer of 1983 that can provide many services to students and faculty."

He feels there is "opportunity for growth in post-secondary education in the San Angelo area and at Goodfellow Air Force Base. We have an outstanding ADN (nursing) program there (in San Angelo) now and we hold a few classes at the air base."

Riley said the key to a successful administration includes "effective administrators. (The president) should rely on them for assistance."

"I'm very fortunate to have an administrative staff that I have a lot of confidence in. I feel we have an outstanding faculty at Howard College and SWCID. When you combine administration and faculty with a supportive maintenance, food service, secretarial and clerical staff, you have the ingredients for an outstanding college."

Riley said he is supportive of the district trustees, who "have a genuine concern for the employees and programs at the college. I'm appreciative for the opportunity that they've given me to be the president of the HCJCD."

Chemical fire guts paint factory

AUSTIN (AP) — Dozens of residents were allowed to return to their homes after a massive blaze at a paint factory and solvent company sent toxic fumes spewing over a sparsely-populated area south of the city, officials said.

The three-alarm chemical fire erupted shortly after 2 p.m. Thursday. About 75 firefighters responded to the blaze, which blocked rush-hour traffic on Interstate 35 for more than an hour, authorities said.

No injuries were reported. Officials late Thursday were trying to determine the cause of the blaze. People living within half a mile of the plant, just off I-35 near Slaughter Creek, were asked to leave immediately because of danger of explosions and toxic fumes.

The blaze was brought under control three hours later, and fire officials said most of the danger had passed. But firefighters remained on the scene as the fire continued to smolder late Thursday.

Fire dispatcher Dick Tidwell said the fire was "still smoking and smoldering and as long as it continues to smoke it will give off toxic chemicals. But it's not as bad as it was."

"We'll be here for a long time," said Marvin Erickson, division fire chief on the scene.

Thursday afternoon, flames and smoke billowed hundreds of feet and could be seen for miles around. Witnesses said there were huge fireballs and the heat could be felt several hundred feet away.

About 8 p.m., Erickson issued the all-clear for people to return to their homes.

Public Information Officer Bob Davis of the Police Department said the fire was at Gavlon Industries Inc.

Cheerleaders take several camp awards

As the Big Spring Steers go through preparations for their 1984 season football opener against Snyder, another part of the local football scene is also readying for its contribution.

And based on honors passed out during the Texas Tech Cheerleading Camp, the Steers will not want for lack of spirit.

BSHS cheerleaders brought home a spirit stick, four superior ribbons and one for excellence and saw one of their members named as a finalist in All-American Cheerleading competition.

This year's unit consists of Pricilla Escanuela, John Buzbee, Adrienne Allen, Suzanne Bowers, Tracey Kilgore, Chandra Wrightsil, Becky Griffith and Sammy Watson.

Buzbee gained the All-American honors and Watson was awarded a superior rating as a mascot. As a team the group hauled in its spirit stick and five other ribbons while competing against 60 other squads. For the finals, the top 12 squads were chosen, with seven actually competing. Big Spring was ninth.

"It was the best showing ever for Big Spring," said Escanuela. "Each day there was an evaluation after competition," added Buzbee. Buzbee was one of only two young men selected for the finals of All-America competition. Criteria for the All-American team is based on tumbling and cheering ability and personality.

All instruction during the camp was done by NCAA Cheerleaders Association members.

BRING HOME HONORS — The Big Spring High School cheerleaders came back from their recent trip to the Texas Tech Cheerleading Camp with four superior and one excellent rating plus the camp's spirit stick. In addition, John Buzbee was named as a finalist in the All-American Cheerleading competition. This year's cheerleaders are, back, left to right, Chandra Wrightsil, Adrienne Allen, Buzbee, Tracey Kilgore, Pricilla Escanuela. Front, left to right, Suzanne Bowers, Becky Griffith. Not pictured is Sammy Watson who is this year's mascot. The public can meet the cheerleaders as well as this year's varsity football team at the Annual Back-to-School Pep Rally scheduled for the Comanche Trail Park Amphitheatre on Monday, Aug. 27 at 8 p.m.

Cowboys, Oilers will battle for missing Governor's Cup

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys and Houston Oilers tangle Saturday night for Texas professional football bragging rights, but the once-bitter rivalry has simmered to the point where nobody can find the "Governor's Cup" prize for the winner. Dallas has won five of these National Football League preseason matches in a row and has built a 13-4 advantage over the Oilers.

The Texas Governor's Cup used to be proudly awarded to the conquerors, but now, nobody seems to know where the thing is.

Or if they do, they aren't talking. "Unconfirmed reports say it's in Houston owner Bud Adams' trophy case," said a Cowboy publicity release.

The Cowboys and Oilers will play on for pride anyway, with a national television audience (CBS) tuned into the proceedings beginning at 8 p.m. CDT. The game was not a sellout.

COAHOMA — It took coach Bruce Mitchell's Coahoma Bulldogs a while to get their offense uncranked, but when they did the Bulldogs rallied to outscore the McCamey Badgers 3-2 in a controlled scrimmage here Thursday night.

The Bulldogs offense sputtered for the first 33 plays against a tough Badger defense, one which led McCamey to a Class 2A semifinal berth last season. Led by 6-7, 234-pound defensive end James Kennedy, the Badger defense didn't allow Coahoma a first down in its first 20 plays, starting from the 30-yard line.

On the other hand the Bulldog defense, led by linebacker Bobby Henry, also gave the Badgers problems. Henry was a mainstay for the Bulldogs, recording two quarterback sacks a recovering a fumble, as the Badger offense failed to score in its first 40 plays.

Mitchell said he was pleased with his team's defensive effort in the first series. "I was happy with our defense on McCamey's first possession. We played good defense. Usually the defense is ahead of the offense this early in the season though," stated Mitchell.

It was the Badger defense that got on the scoreboard first during Coahoma's second offensive series. Linebacker Danny Vengas intercepted a John Swinney pass in the flat and returned it 42 yards for the score. Swinney was Coahoma's leading passer for the night completing five of 14 passes for 51 yards while suffering three interceptions.

Coahoma roared back after Vengas' interception by reeling off a seven play, 70-yard scoring drive. The big plays were the timely runs of Amelio Molina and a 22 yard pass from Swinney to Tommy White.

Coahoma nearly scored again when running back Ronnie Musser dashed 60 yards to the Badger 10 on the final play of the possession.

On its third possession McCamey reeled off its most impressive drive of the scrimmage, a 15-play 70 yard scoring march that was all on the ground as McCamey's I-formation came to life behind runningback Rodney Terry. Terry ended the game with 40 yards on six carries. McCamey scored when Ben Molina went over from the one.

Coahoma answered on a seven play, 70 yard drive. The big plays were runs of 25 and 35 by Dale Hodnett and Luke Yarbar respectively. Yarbar's jaunt tied the contest at 2-2.

After stopping McCamey on the Badgers' fourth and final possession, the Bulldogs pieced together another scoring drive directed by Swinney and Brian Calaway. Yarbar capped off the 15-play, 70-yard drive with a one yard plunge.

Mitchell said he was pleased with the overall effort of his troops. "We didn't do to well on our first offensive set, but then the kids settled down. McCamey is just a good team. Our passing game was shaky. Our quarterbacks found out they have to get back and set up quick. Overall I'm pleased. The kids rallied together and did a good job. That's what makes coaching fun."

Cougars blank Smyer in scrimmage action

SMYER — It was an up and down Klondike Cougars team that outscored Smyer, 2-0 in Class 1A scrimmage action here Thursday night.

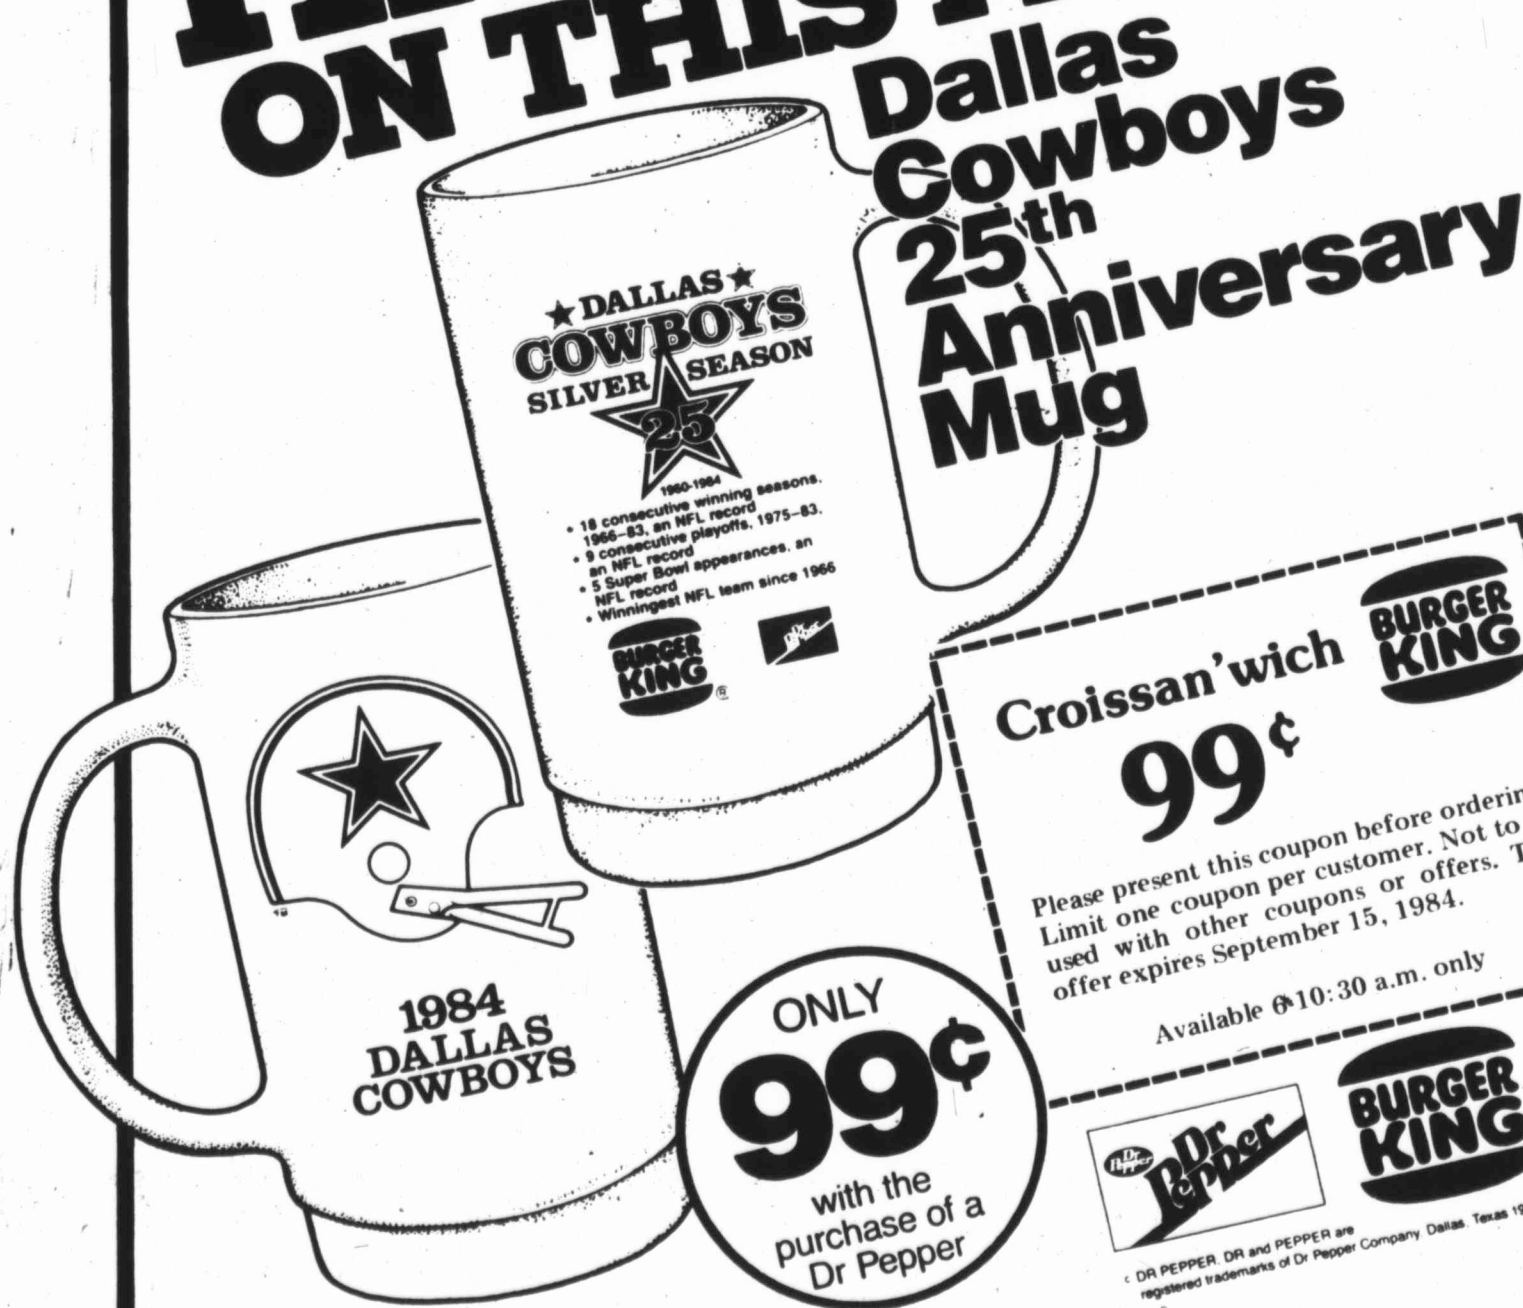

The Cougars scored once on the ground and once through the air, but had two more scores called back due to what Klondike head coach Jimmy Thomas called, "too many mental breakdowns."

While Thomas was not that excited about his team's offensive showing he did single out the defense as showing well. "Usually your defense will be ahead of your offense this time of year anyway" he said. "We were real aggressive and hit well," he added. Smyer never got inside Klondike's 30 until very late with its second group.

Tim Cope scored once and Scott Runge looked good at quarterback while Robert Guerra ran well at fullback according to Thomas who expects his squad to be tested more heavily Friday, Aug. 31 when Whiteface will be on Klondike's home field for a final tuneup before the season starts Sept. 7.

East German sets world swim record

MOSCOW (AP) — Sylvia Gersch of East Germany set a world record in the women's 100-meter breaststroke and Soviet swimmers won four of five finals on the seventh day of the Friendship '84 Games.
Gersch, 15, clocked 1 minute, 8.29 seconds to break the previous record of 1:08.51, held by Ute Geweniger, also of East Germany.

Par hard to come by in WSG opening play

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Bruce Lietzke, the first-round leader, offered a prediction for the NEC World Series of Golf.
"If I don't drive it better, I can't win," said Lietzke, the leader Thursday by two strokes after squeezing a 4-under-par 66 out of windy Firestone South.

Tom Purtzer and Rex Caldwell, two first-time Series qualifiers, matched 68s for second place going into today's second round of the $700,000 tournament, offering a first prize of $126,000.
Craig Stadler, Mark McCumber and Denis Watson of South Africa, all at 69, were the only other players in the field of 42 to break par.

Tom Watson, this year's No. 1 money-winner, and British Open champion Greg Norman of Australia were among those at 70. Defending champion Nick Price of South Africa shot 71, Jack Nicklaus and PGA winner Lee Trevino 72s and Masters winner Ben Crenshaw 74.

Lietzke called it an unfamiliar round — 18 holes filled with an 111-yard wedge shot for an eagle, 10 putts on the front side and just five fairways hit.
"My strength is my driving and hitting greens in regulation. I drove it poorly and putted incredibly," said the 33-year-old, looking for his first Series victory.
Lietzke is trying to shake an image of being an early-season winner. Of his 10 victories, six have come in January or February and all but two by May.

"One of my little goals is to win this time of year. I've never come close to winning in August, September or later," he said.
"I am very fresh," said Lietzke, "and if I am fresh mentally, I can overcome physical problems with my swing."
Lietzke was 3-under after two holes, thanks to a birdie-eagle beginning over this 7,173-yard monster. He toured the front side in 30, 5-under, aided by six one-putt greens.

Caldwell was astounded by Lietzke's performance. "That's incredible," he said, looking at the scoreboard in the press tent. "You got no roll in the fairways. The ball was plugging, even on down slopes. It's the longest course we play on tour, by far."
Caldwell, playing with a new set of irons, found the gusting North wind difficult.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 25, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon you will have the chance to see how you can get ahead in a very successful manner by the special talents with which you are endowed, so get into a positive and active state of mind.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can get into the entertainments that you most enjoy today, so contact your friends early in the day.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A good day to invite friends in, particularly those of different background to yours. Reach a new accord with kin by being thoughtful.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make those telephone calls that will bring in the benefits you want and need. Be most careful in motion of all kind.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Elevate your consciousness so that you can get more of the good things of life now and in the future.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Think along lines of personal expansion and then go after your aims in a positive way. Be with friends who appreciate and understand you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Formulate a plan that can help you to have more of the good things of life and then follow through on it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Permit a good friend to help you in gaining personal wishes more quickly today. You are inspired about the days ahead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) The morning is apt to be slow but later you can get a bigwig to assist you with your talents. Be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Early make careful plans and then be off to the places where you can get important data you need.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Fine Saturday to handle responsibilities nicely but also to find more up-to-date systems of operating.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You may find it hard in the morning to contact a partner but keep trying since a meeting could prove very worthwhile.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A good day to get into tasks that are hard to do during very busy work days, but first analyze them well.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she can look at everything from its broadest scope and potentiality, so be sure to give the finest education so that the most can be made of this fine quality. Be sure to praise for any exceptional work that is done and raise the incentive, and your expectations can be met. One whose star can take to a very great height.
