Duck race

DEMING, N.M. (AP) - Running Deer, a duck with a taste for turkey food, emerged as the champion of the fifth annual Great American Duck Race.

Running Deere proved to be the swiftest of the more than 300 ducks who competed over the weekend in the southwest New Mexico community of Deming. The Great American Duck race was born in the city in 1980.

In winning the top prize of $2,000, Running Deere followed in the webfoots of his kin, Duc Andra, winner of the inaugural 1980 race. Running Deere's owner, Tommy Brdecko, of Deming, said the 1984 champion was an offspring of Duc Andra.

Doctor's suspension protested

Supporters slate meeting tonight

By JOY CULWELL C-City Correspondent

COLORADO CITY -Α community-wide meeting will be held at 7 p.m. tonight at the Civic Center here to protest the suspension of Dr. Thomas Noonan, doctor of osteopathy, by the Root Memorial hospital board.

The meeting tonight was called by Dick Powell and is opened to the public and the hospital board.

The board suspended Noonan indefinately at a recent meeting, citing "infractions" of hospital rules. A colleague at Noonan's office today said Noonan is going to appeal the action.

Noonan attended high school in San Antonio. He attended Tarleton State University in Stephenville and graduated magna cum laude from the Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine in Fort Worth. He was a resident in general surgery at the Oklahoma Osteopathic Hospital and later was a resident in thoracic and cardiovascular surgery.

Petitions are circulating in Colorado City to ask Noonan to appeal and to ask the hospital board to consider his re-appointment.

Noonan's colleagues, Dr. William R. Jones, Dr. George C. Lindsey and Dr. Pat A. Thomas, all of the Doctors' Clinic in Colorado City, have sent a letter to Bobby Lemon, chairman of the Mitchell County Hospital District board, formally protesting Noonan's suspension.

The letter states, "We, the undersigned, members of the medical staff, wish to formally protest the inappropriate actions of the Root Memorial Hospital Board in suspending Dr. Thomas Noonan's privileges. We indicated at the meeting Monday night, Aug. 20, that we fully supported Dr. Noonan remaining on staff.

'It should be noted that none of the active staff members voiced any desire for his suspension. We have personally observed Dr. Noonan and assisted him in surgery on numerous occasions and know of no action on his part nor have we been given reason or cause - which would necessitate his suspension from the staff of Root Memorial Hospital.

"On the contrary, his practice of medicine is sound and current. On this basis, we strongly oppose this action of the hospital board."

Copies of the letter were sent to board members Glen Hemphill, Herbert Mearse, Bob Reily, Jane McCarley, Preston Morris and Jack Perkins.

The doctors are not admitting patients into Root Memorial Hospital. They are referring their patients to Sweetwater's Rolling Plains Hospital.

Root Memorial Hospital recently lost its Medicare certification. A Medicare recertification team is scheduled to arrive in Colorado City Sept. 4 to review the situation.

In a statement issued today, Jones, Lindsey and Thomas said, "As health care providers for Mitchell County residents, the medical staff of Doctors Clinic feel it is our responsibility to provide excellent medical care. To accomplish this, we must have absolute confidence in our hospital. Considering the present climate at Root Memorial Hospital, it is our firm belief that our ability to extend adequate medical care is severely compromised.

"We cannot compromise our patients' medical care. We are therefore unable to recommend that our patients be admitted to Root Memorial Hospital. This will continue to be our conviction until the present hospital board demonstrates a willingness of cooperation in resolving our hospital problem.'

Weather. Hot weather on tap

By the Associated Press Fair skies prevailed across Texas before dawn today as forecasters expected little change in the state's summertime weather picture for at least several days. A few high-level clouds were noted over South and East Texas before dawn.

Temperatures before dawn were generally in the middle 70s, although overnight readings never dropped below the lower 80s along the coast and across sections of North Central Texas.

At 4 a.m., temperatures ranged from 67 at Amarillo to 82 at Waco and Galveston.

Southerly breezes ranging from 5 to 15 mph were the rule over most of the state. Light winds from the west were noted across the Trans Pecos region.

The forecast called for fair to partly cloudy skies and hot afternoon temperatures statewide through Tuesday. Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms were expected over the coast and over extreme Southwest Texas.

Readings were forecast to top out in the middle and upper 90s, with some temperatures passing the 100-degree mark in the Big Bend and North Central Texas.

Along the coast, southerly and southeasterly winds at 15 to 20 knots, along with widely scattered thunderstorms, were forecast through Tuesday.

Thunderstorms lingered over parts of the upper Midwest today, including northern Wisconsin and Michigan and eastern Minnesota, where four people had been struck by lightning at the state fair.

One of the four people hit by lightning on Sunday at the Minnesota State Fair was seriously injured when the bolt knocked them to the ground, said Jim Bnzen of Plymouth, who was nearby.

Fair officials said the people were hit when lightning that struck a tree near the Home Improvement Building on the fairgrounds traveled through water on the sidewalk to them.

"I heard a big boom, saw a flash, then people just fell right down, flat on the ground," Benzen said.

The storm was one of a series of thunderstorms which rumbled through Minnesota on Sunday afternoon and evening.

Northern States Power Co. reported outages to 55,000 customers in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. Service had been restored to all but about 5,000 before midnight Sunday.

West Texas - Fair most sections tonight. Widely scattered thunderstorms extreme southwest. Fair to partly cloudy Tuesday. Lows 58 mountains, 65 Panhandle and 72 south. Highs lower 90s mountains and Panhandle to near 100 southwest and near 104 Big Bend valleys.

Howard County commissioners today agreed to increase funding of county volunteer fire departments by $6,000 in revenue sharing funds. Commissioners transferred

$6,000 from money originally earmarked for paving of county roads. The increase will pay for equip-ment and fire truck maintenance at various departments in the county. Coahoma will still receive $3,000 as previously budgeted, and Forsan will receive $500.

more than $256,000 in funds for county projects. Commissioners also agreed to close county road 55 in the Vincent area, at the request of farmers who say they do not use it anymore.

Commissioners decreased their current budget for the general fund by almost $14,500. The decrease came because commissioners originally had budgeted juvenile probation office expenses out of the general fund. A new state law has provided for the payment of those funds from the state.

They also increased the road and bridge department current budget by $1,610.

Toddler drowns in water bucket

DALLAS (AP) - A toddler left at the bucket was. home with his brothers and sisters while their parents went to the store drowned when he fell head first into a 5-gallon bucket of water, police said.

The Dallas County Medical Examiner's office has ruled the death of 1-year-old Javier Delgado as accidental.

The boy drowned about 10 a.m. Sunday after he climbed out of his crawled into the bathroom where investigator Bob Alexander.

His parents - Jorge and Rosa Maria Delgado - had gone to the store for about 15 minutes and left their six children - ranging from 13 to 1 - at home.

city's school district, a lawyer for the schools said.

About 30 black demonstrators, including about a dozen students, stood outside the federal building in Houston today, chanting, "Save our children from an inferior education" just before a hearing on the lawsuit was to begin.

The session before U.S. District Judge Robert O'Conor, called to determine whether the suit should be dismissed, was delayed to allow negotiations between lawyers for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Houston Independent School District, HISD attorney Kelly Frels said this morning.

School officials were unable to say whether a request that black students boycott classes today and Tuesday was successful.

"As far as I can tell there weren't any great numbers of children boycotting classes," spokeswoman Geri Konigsberg said.

Last week, the Rev. J. Don Boney urged black students to skip their classes during the hearing in which the NAACP was to ask O'Conor to continue monitoring the district's compliance with a desegregation order.

Earlier today, Boney stood outside the predominately black Yates High School in southeast Houston handing out several hundred black armbands to students.

School trustees and HISD attorney's met until 12:30 a.m. today in an effort to negotiate a possible settlement of the suit, Frels said. Frels said there was a "good

Gramm called the Reagan economic program the "greatest" nutrition and housing programs in the history of the county - because the program has "put 7 million peo-ple back to work," he said.

The Republican nominee also said he is "deeply concerned" about the problems of farmers. "The present farm program is not working," he said, adding that "the Carter farm program didn't work either.'

Gramm said he supports a farm program that would "manage supply" and "actively force trading partners to open their markets just as ours are open."

Addressing another issue, Gramm said it is "imperative that federal government work with torneys expected to meet again at 1 p.m. today to discuss any preliminary agreement that district and NAACP attorneys might have reached.

Harris County District Attorney Johnny Holmes said Friday that Boney and other leaders of The Campaign to Save Children could be found in violation of the State Education Code if they disrupt school activities by enticing students to leave the classroom. But Harris County Justice of the Peace Al Green, who is black, said Saturday he will stand up for Boney if Holmes tries to prosecute him. "I will guarantee I will defend him (Boney)," Green said Saturday at a meeting to discuss the court hearing. "If we can get a fair and impartial jury in Harris County ... I will whip his pants off." The meeting Saturday was called to take testimony from people about discrimination and racism in the school district, Boney said. Last week, he accused the HISD of preferring to hire white teachers and to provide inferior education to black students at inner-city schools by bringing in less-experienced teachers.

"White rules in HISD, unfortunately," Boney said. "This is a prime example of what happens in desegregation cases around the country.

He said fewer fewer black teachers have been hired this year, even though a record number of black teachers are retiring from the district.

Suspect flees after funeral report.

FORT WORTH (AP) - A 16-year-old youth held in connection with the shotgun slaying of his younger brother disappeared after being released from custody to attend the boy's funeral, authorities said.

At the time of his brother's death, the youth was free on bond awaiting trial on attempted capital murder charges in a January shooting involving a Fort Worth police officer, said Tarrant County Juvenile Judge Scott Moore.

Moore said he ordered the youth held at the Lynn Ross Juvenile Center while police investigated the slaying of his 14-year-old brother, but granted a release Friday for the funeral.

"Nothing had been filed on him," the judge said.

A stepbrother said the 16-yearold Haltom City youth was at the funeral but "he just wandered around ... He didn't stand with the family ... He didn't talk to the famiy." The stepbrother said that was the last he saw of him.

Moore had ordered the youth to return to the detention center at 5:30 p.m. Friday, but the boy failed to appear.

The brother died in his family's garage Tuesday of a single blast to the throat from a 20-gauge shotgun. Haltom City police said they had information that the youth might have fled the area.

"We're satisfied he's not around here," Haltom City Police Chief J.W. Robbins said Sunday.

The boy's father said his son "has never been away from home" and that he was concerned about the disappearance.

"I don't know what got into him. He was always a hyperactive kid, but he was always a pretty good kid," the father said.

In the January incident, the youth was charged with shooting at officers who were chasing him in a public parking lot near the Will Rogers Memorial Complex. Moore said the youth was certified to stand trial as an adult in that case.

Austin drought woes continue

AUSTN (AP) — Operators of docks and marinas at Central Texas lakes are singing the blues over the current drought, saying their business is as far down as the lake levels.

Hydrologists for the Army Corps of Engineers told the Austin American-Statesman that several Central Texas rivers have stopped flowing entirely, including those feeding Lakes Granger, Georgetown, Stillhouse Hollow and Belton.

"You can step across the Colorado River above Lake Buchanan without getting your feet wet," said Lake Buchanan resident Ira Dickey.

The Pedernales River has been reduced to "stagnant pools of water that don't even connect," said a rancher near the river.

And at Lake Travis, which is 40 feet below the normal level of 681 feet above mean sea level, the only public boat ramp that still reaches the water is at Mannsfield Dam Recreation Area.

At Lake Buchanan, almost 26 feet below normal level, there are no public boat ramps available.

At Belton Lake, almost nine feet low, Harry Reynolds had to push a marina of 188 boat stalls into deeper water. Stillhouse Hollow Lake, fed by the Lampasas River, is eight feet low. "The fishing is off. Boating is off, and all of the businesses around the lake are hurting," said Bill Sanderson, marina operator.

Canyon Lake, about eight feet low, is not having trouble ex-perienced at other lakes.

"Canyon is very deep, so we're not having the problems that Lake Travis is having," said Sherry Dawson, marina operator.

28 dié in 5 crashes

Investigators are searching for the causes of five separate plane crashes, including three collisions several thousand feet above the ground, that killed a total of 28 people in three days.

The pilot of a Cessna 185 and two of his five passengers were killed in Lake Delton, Wis., on Sunday when the plane crashed into trees near a crowded beach in the Wisconsin Dells area.

Shanks identified the pilot as Curt W. Turner, 26, of Wausau, Wis.

In Connecticut, six people escaped injury Sunday when two twin-engine Meriden Airways planes collided as they prepared to land at Meriden-Markham Airport, officials said.

Turbulence or lightning may have caused a twin-engine turboprop to disintegrate near Little America, Wyo., killing all four people aboard Saturday, a federal investigator said.

An investigation was also continuing into the cause of Friday's collision between a commuter plane and a private craft near the San Luis Obispo, Calif., Airport, in which 17 people were killed.

Investigators in Valdosta, Ga., on Sunday sorted the wreckage of two single-engine airplanes that collided on Saturday, killing four people.

A two-seat Cessna 150 was "taking off and going someplace in Florida," and the other plane, a twoseat Cessna 152, was trying to land, said Lowndes County Sheriff G. Robert Carter. "From eyewitness reports, we're assuming they had a midair collision," he said.

Autopsy results revealed

LOS ANGELES - An autopsy on Truman Capote showed signs of epilepsy and phlebitis but nothing conclusive about what caused the flamboyant author's death at age 59, before he could finish a last novel written "from his heart and soul."

The death came just one week after Capote collapsed from phlebitis at the home of writer Kurt Vonnegut on New York's Long Island, Vonnegut said Sunday.

Capote, who pioneered the "non-fiction" novel with "In Cold Blood," died Saturday at the Bel-Air home of Joanne Carson, the second ex-wife of "Tonight Show" host Johnny Carson.

First winning acclaim at age 23 for "Other Voices, Other Rooms" and again a decade later for "Breakfast at Tiffany's," Capote had a yearning for celebrity that sometimes overshadowed his gifts, friends said.

His works totaled fewer than 20 volumes, including short stories which won three O. Henry Memorial awards.

Crime ties uncovered

CHICAGO - Federal officials reportedly exect "hundreds of indictments" from Operation Safe Bet, a newly disclosed 3-year-old undercover probe of organized crime's ties to a multimilliondollar prostitution industry in suburban Chicago. According to one published report, authorities consider it their largest sting operation ever.

The probe, under way since the spring of 1981, focuses on extortion, prostitution, corruption of public officials and the distribution of controlled substances, Edward D. Hegarty, special agent in charge of the FBI in Chicago, said Sunday.

The FBI has arrested four Colombians in Illinois on drug charges and had issued an arrest warrant for a fifth based on evidence gained in URGING WOMEN TO VOTE - Democratic vice presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro urges women to vote Sunday at a rally in Fort Lee, N.J.

"Sixty-four years ago today, women couldn't hold public office," she said. "In 1984, we'll elect one of our own to the nation's second highest office."

Women celebrate voting right

NEW YORK (AP) - Geraldine Ferraro says Americans can give her a birthday present by registering to vote, and then voting for her. In return, the Democratic vice presidential candidate says people who register have "a chance to change history

Ms. Ferraro's plea was in keeping with the history of the day. In addition to being her 49th birthday, Sunday was the 64th anniversary of the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, guaranteeing women the right to vote.

To celebrate both occasions, the New York congresswoman went to Ft. Lee, N.J., for a rally keyed to women's rights and voter registration.

"I want all of you to give us a present that will cost you nothing, but which will gain you a lot," she told the crowd of several hundred. "I want everyone of you who is not yet registered to vote to do it here, today. And I want all of you who are registered promise to go out and vote on Nov. 6," she added.

On "Women's Equality Day," Ms. Ferraro appealed to women in particular to vote for Walter F. Mondale and herself in the fall election and put a woman in the vice presidency for the first time ever.

"We have been given a chance to change history ... 64 years ago today, we didn't have the right to vote and we got it. In 1984, women will elect the next president of the United States," Ms. Ferraro said.

At another point, she said, "64 years ago today, women couldn't hold public office. In 1984, we'll elect one of our own to the nation's second highest office.' After women were guaranteed the right to vote in 1920, participation of women in elections has steadily increased. Women are the majority of registered voters and probably will be a majority of voters on Nov. 6

Today, Ms. Ferraro had no public events scheduled and was working at her home in Queens.

In her speech, Ms. Ferraro emphasized the importance of voter registration by retelling the story of her daughter's 18th birthday in June and the gifts her mother gave her.

"One was a 'Walkman' (tape player) and she loved it. But the other gift, which cost me nothing, was far more valuable and far more long-lasting - it was a voter registration form," said Ms. Ferraro. Her daughter registered, "thinking it would entitle her to vote for Geraldine Ferraro for Congress. Little did we know on June 21 that she would be casting her first vote for Walter Mondale for president and her mom for vice president.'

Mondale picked Ferraro as his running mate in early July.

After the Ft. Lee speech, Ms. Ferraro had a private birthday celebration with her family, including her mother and mother-in-law, at a Manhattan waterfront restaurant. She was presented with a dark chocolate and light chocolate mousse cake with the legend, "All the way with Geri. Vice President Ferraro.'

John Anderson endorses Mondale

The sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified, said Anderson has been negotiating directly with Mondale on the endorsement. In addition, they said there have been discussions between Mondale's staff and former Wisconsin Gov. Patrick J. Lucev, who ran as Anderson's vice presidential nominee in 1980. Lucey was described by sources as a principal figure in the efforts to encourage Anderson to formally endorse Mondale. It was not clear if Anderson would campaign actively for Mondale. In 1980, the Carter-Mondale campaign worked actively to deny Anderson access to the ballot in many states out of fear that supporters of the former Republican House member from Illinois would give the election to Reagan. In the end, the election returns showed that Reagan would have defeated Carter soundly with or without Anderson's presence on the ballot.

Radioactive search

A Belgian research vessel found no traces of radioactivity in the North Sea area where the French freighter Mont Louis sank with a cargo of radioactive gas, a public health official said today

Another Belgian expert cautioned, however, that the radioactive cargo should not be allowed to remain in the sea for long.

The ship's owners, the Paris-based Compagnie General, are seeking ways to recover the cargo and refloat the ship, a company official said Sunday. The Mont Louis was reported lying in 40 to 46 feet of water at low tide.

The 5,000-ton cargo ship sank about 12 miles off Ostend, Belgium, after colliding Saturday with the 15,000-ton ferry Olau Britannia, carrying 935 people and a crew of 80 from the Netherlands to England. No one was injured in the crash. The ferry was only slightly damaged.

The owners said the Mont Louis was carrying 225 tons of uranium hexafluoride gas, used in the uranium refinement process, which were stored in 15 containers designed to be watertight for up to a year. It had been reported that the cargo consisted of 450 tons of radioactive gas, but the company said today that figure included the weight of the steel drums and tar inside the containers.

Walkout may spread second port strike, but union leaders predict the walkout will spread after the three-day bank holiday ends today.

The left-led Transport and General Workers Union called the dock strike Friday to support a coal miners' walkout over threatened pit closures, which entered its 25th week today.

An 11-day port strike in mid-July paralyzed three-quarters of Britain's trade.

But the union leadership suffered a setback Sunday when 600 longshoremen at the nation's third largest foreign trade port, Immingham in eastern England, voted Sudnay to remain at work in defiance of the new strike call.

During the weekend, dock workers kept 19 British ports shut, including Liverpool, Hull and Scotland's 12 major ports.

However, more than a dozen others were operating normally, including the country's biggest passenger port at Dover and its biggest container operation at Felixstowe in southeast England.

Union longshoremen at still-open ports have scheduled strike votes starting Tuesday. A spokesman for the union's docks committee said he expected a majority of dock workers to support the strike call at the meetings.

Panamanian ship hit

MANAMA - A Panamanian tanker was hit amidships by a rocket today in the Persian Gulf off Qatar, said Lloyd's Shipping Intelligence Unit in London. Gulf shipping sources said the vessel was using "emergency steering" as it headed for Doha

The shipping sources also said a nearby U.S. Navy warship, the guided missle destroyer King, offered assistance to the Cleo 1, which Lloyd's said was about four miles of the Shah Allum Shoal when hit. It was unclear if the offer was accepted.

Intruder shot to death

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. - An intruder who held a family of four at gunpoint in their home for two hours was shot to death by police when he tried to escape by using one of the hostages as a shield, authorities said.

Rick Gallegos, 30, of Albuquerque, was killed by a single shot about 2:20 a.m. Sunday, about two hours after the incident began at a home in southwest Albuquerque, police said.

The family - a couple and their two children were not injured, police said. Their names were not released.

Police had been called to the area following numerous complaints about a prowler there.

Gallegos was killed as he attempted to get into the family's car after leaving the residence with the father, police public affairs officer Roy Manfredi said.

The father of the family was quoted by the Albuquerque Journal today as saying that the two-hour standoff "seemed like forever.

Anderson, under which a third political party he organized would formally nominate Mondale and provide him with about $7.8 million in public funds.

Anderson attracted more than 7 percent of the vote in the general election four years ago as an independent running aginst Ronald Reagan and former President Jimmy Carter.

His performance qualified him for public financing of a 1988 race if he met the qualifications for organizing a third political party.

Earlier this year, Anderson announced he would not run again for president this year, but would go ahead with pulling together the National Unity Party, composed largely of supporters from the 1980 race.

Average gas price climbs slightly

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The average gasoline price has climbed slightly this month and a "real run-up" is possible if oil-producing nations are serious about production cutbacks, says an oil industry analyst who conducts a biweekly nationwide price survey.

The price rise, halting a 15-week price decline, came because the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is curbing the overproduction that had sprung up during the Iran-Iraq war, Dan Lundberg, publisher of the Lundberg Letter said Sunday.

"That price is still lower than it was at the first of the year," Lundberg said. "But it is an unmistakable turnaround."

Pump prices have just started to climb, but if

OPEC members are serious about trimming production, "that could usher in a real run-up of price," Lundberg said.

The average price for all grades of gasoline, including taxes, stood at $1.1791 on Friday, compared with $1.1785 on Aug. 12, said Lundberg, who surveys the prices at about 17,000 stations in all 50 states biweekly

The prices of all brands of gasoline went up, he said, but the price of regular leaded gas rose the least at 0.4 cents per gallon.

Retail increases were spurred when leading wholesalers boosted prices a total of 2 cents per gallon on Aug. 14 and Aug. 19, he said.

Shipping sources in the gulf said the Cleo 1 was sailing from Columbia to the Saudi Arabian oil loading terminal of Ras Tanura when it was attacked at about 10 a.m. (3 a.m. EDT).

The sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified, said they monitored radio communications of the Cleo 1, whose captain reported a small fire was brought under control but the ship's power system was down and he was unable to maneuver properly

The ship was in the same area off Qatar where two other tankers were attacked earlier this month, and the sources speculated the attack was carried out by Iran.

The U.S. destroyer King was about 50 miles away from the Cleo 1, and offered to help, the sources said. The warship is part of a small U.S. naval contingent that rotates between the gulf waters and the Pacific.

No further details were immediately available.

Volunteering at Malone-Hogan Hospital means many things to many different people. It is an opportunity to fulfill personal desires; independent of home and family.

Voluntering is a means of giving service where it is needed, without thought of monetary reward.

Each day at Malone-Hogan Hospital brings new and enriching experiences. Where else can one, in a four hour period, answer questions, staff the gift shop, deliver flowers to brighten rooms, congratulate new fathers, bring coffee to anxious relatives, try to calm apprehensive patients on the way to their rooms, and most of all, work with people — people who really appreciate what you are trying to do and say so, in many different ways. People are continuously being asked to give something money, clothing, endorsements, etc. How much of your time, your strength, your love, and most of all, yourself, are you willing to give?

If you are interested in becoming a volunteer, please contact the Personnel Office, 263-1211, Ext. 115, Malone-Hogan Hospital, 1601 W. 11th Place, Big Spring, Texas 79720. The rewards of volunteering are many and you can begin experiencing them today at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

System to blame for voter apathy

As the presidential election approaches, both major parties have launched plans for multimillion-dollar fund-raising campaigns to finance efforts to register and get to the polls those voters who favor their respective candidates. There is nothing wrong with these efforts, which are to be paid for largely by so-called "soft money" donations that fall outside the areas regulated by the Federal Election Commission.

But more voters would participate and such partisan getout-the-vote drives would be less necessary if the United States had the kind of politically neutral, simpler and easier registration system that other democratic countries have.

In the United States, only 48.5 percent of the potential electorate actually voted in the 1982 congressional elections. Many of those who didn't vote were of age and otherwise qualified but had not registered, often because of needless impediments. Of those in the United States who are registered, between 80 percent and 90 percent do vote - figures comparable to voter turnout in other democracies where registration is made easier.

In Britain, for example, registrars actively canvass and write to potential voters; in Canada they visit each household as in a census. In the United States, such government registration efforts are often resisted, particularly by officeholders, who have been elected by voters registered under rules that they know and are happy with.

Although failure to vote in this country may be due in part to voter apathy, it is no doubt also due to difficulties in registration caused by unknown rules and inconvenient hours and places of registration. One method that could produce greater voter participation would be mass mailings from election officials informing potential voters of the rules and the places and hours for registration.

Political hardball

WASHINGTON — The oratory out of Dallas announces that the Republicans are going for a landslide, and you can't really blame them. "The earth, the moon, the sun and the planets," as President Reagan's pollster, Richard Wirthlin, likes to put it, "are all in a moment of favorable alignment."

But the Democrats are left with only one option - to take the risk of making the issue Ronald Reagan. That makes the task of governing iter the election that much harder.

on cutting the deficit. Real interest rates - the amount paid minus inflation - are higher than before.

As to the missiles in Europe, far from affording protection, they were scheduled for deployment chiefly as a means to engage the Russians in arms control talks. The Reagan administration blew that opportunity. Most of the increase in Soviet influence came immediately after the loss of Vietnam under President Ford. In the case of the Reagan — without much thought to the matter - sent the Marines back to Lebanon. But that kind of argument can hardly be expected to match the Republican overture. To win, Fritz Mondale has to do the unexpected. Not for the sake of attracting attention but to throw Reagan off stride, and thus induce the kind of errors that make him the issue. Already, Mondale has moved twice in that fashion. The selection of Geraldine Ferraro as running mate pinned Reagan on the gender issue. He promptly made a comment about "tokenism," which the Democrats just loved. He got off the hook only when the Ferraro finances eclipsed the gender gap. The pledge to raise taxes was equally unorthodox. For two weeks it put Reagan on the defensive and at odds with other Republicans. While the administration has recovered and is now focusing on the spending issue, taxes remain a live question. Other possibilities exist. Mondale will almost surely take shots the defense budget and arms at control. He will probably hit at the continued loss of industrial jobs indeed, at one point, he contemplated a trip to Japan to dramatize the issue.

WASHINGTON - My recent columns on the 1978 congressional bailout of General Dynamics, the nation's biggest defense contractor, brought a heated response from the chief government architect of the deal, former Secretary of the Navy Edward Hidalgo.

In a letter to the Washington Post, Hidalgo accused Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and me of having "concocted an offensively inaccurate fantasy about a worthwhile accomplishment." That 'accomplishment'' is currently the subject of separate investigations by Proximire and by a House investigations subcommittee headed by Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich.

Hidalgo's letter deserves a response.

After some soul-searching, I've decided that I may have erred on S. Lewis "expressed serious conthe side of charity toward Hidalgo. cern with Hidalgo's approach ... by was also too lenient toward the General Dynamics executives who followed Hidalgo's suggested method of milking the taxpayers for hundreds of millions of dollars in cost overruns on construction of nuclear submariens by the company's Electric Boat Division, in Groton, Conn.

Previous expose was 'charitable'

Hidalgo's charge: "No one ever claimed that the settlement was necessary as a 'bailout' to save General Dynamics from bankruptcy. ... The Navy witnesses explicitly told Congress that bankruptcy was not an issue.

Response: Internal General Dynamics documents examined by my associate Tony Capaccio make clear that Hidalgo himself tried to push the bankruptcy tactic on company executives, citing the success Lockheed and Grumman had achieved seeking bailouts from Congress on grounds of impending bankruptcy. According to minutes of a Dec. 21, 1977, meeting, General Dynamics Board Chairman David

General Dynamics could review it before hand for factual correctness

There must have been a bundle of errors. Marginal notes on the -page draft report show that Hidalgo and General Dynamics executives reviewed the "independent" audit six days before it was issued. At least 17 pages were deleted from the final revision.

The independence of the audit is also called into question by the contents of a General Dynamics memo dated June 9, 1978 - 10 days before the audit report was released.

The memo recounts a conversation in which a company official assured an aide to Hidalgo that the official "would be in touch with him to indicate which portions would have to be excluded from the (audit) report and which would be all right to release by the Navy." The memo added: "The size of the exclusion would reduce the report

You have taken a first step by facing your need for help and admitting you cannot conquer your problems on your own. Now I urge you to turn to Christ by faith, seeking His forgiveness for your sins and asking Him to come into your life and help you. The Bible promises, concerning those who turn to Christ, "To all who received him, to those who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God" (John 1:12). Right now you can become part of God's family by asking Christ to come into your heart. How will God then help you fight

Economic recovery, of course, is the chief asset the Republicans have to exploit. Nobody would demur if they pointed with pride to the surge in jobs and the sharp drop in inflation. To assert that the Democrats actually favor unemployment and higher prices, however, goes much further. But that was the charge leveled in Dallas by the most moderate of Republicans

Howard Baker, the retiring leader of the Senate who wants to run for President in 1988, fired up his rhetoric for the conservatives in the convention. He said: "More people than ever before are working and Walter Mondale can't stand it The economy is growing faster than it has in 30 years and Walter Mondale can't stand it. Inflation is the lowest it's been in a dozen years, interest rates are eight points lower than under Carter-Mondale, and income taxes have been cut 25 percent, and Walter Mondale can't stand it."

In foreign policy the Reagan administration enjoys a lull in Big Two skirmishes and in many associated conflicts. But Jeane Kirkpatrick, the United Nations ambassador, who also aspires to higher office, wouldn't let it go at that. She delivered a mean speech that both excited the right-wing audience and struck the TV commentators, in the fullness of their timidity, as high level. Among other things she claimed for the Reagan administration that "with NATO it has installed missiles to defend the cities of Europe." She listed 15 countries - among them Syria - in which "Soviet influence expanded rapidly" since 1975.

Reasoned response to both sets of broadsides is possible. The cost of cutting inflation was the worst recession since the Great Depression. Enduring recovery depends

The target in all these ploys is Reagan himself. Mondale hopes to engage the president directly and personally in debate. The theory is that Reagan, without his cue cars, makes errors which magnify his weakness as an aging leader, out of touch with events.

That approach, of course, represents a strategy of desperation. It probably won't work, and the predictions of a Republican landslide look good in this quarter.

He also fails to mention that General Dynamics was paid $300 million up front in cash for progress payments that accumulated during the bailout negotiations.

A staff analysis prepared for Dingell points out that the interest savings the company enjoyed - by not having to borrow the $300 million over the life of the contract the outside audit contract was that

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell your readers not to ask, "Is that a new dress you're wearing?' "Where did you get those shoes?" or purse, or whatever.

I can't afford to spend a bundle on clothes, so I usually shop at a "near-new" thrift shop, or Goodwill, and it's embarrassing for me to have to say, "No, it's not new, I got it at Goodwill." Once in a while I may splurge and buy a dress at K-Mart or Target, but not often. And while I'm on the subject of embarrassing questions, I wish people wouldn't ask their single friends, "Are you seeing anyone special?

I'm 39, divorced and nobody has asked me for a date in two years. I'm too embarrassed to tell anyone, so I just say, "There's no one special in my life right now." SENSITIVE IN A SMALL TOWN DEAR SENSITIVE: Most people mean to be complimentary when they ask, "Is that new?" They don't realize it's a very personal question, and also that it's none of their business. And the inquiry "Are you seeing anyone special?" is another well-meaning question better left unasked.

A good rule to follow: Be generous with compliments and stingy with questions.

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading your column since you started writing - nearly 30 years ago. Last year you told your readers to call or write to a school teacher who made a difference in their lives - a teacher who stayed after school to give a slow learner a little extra help, a teacher who encouraged a student to finish school when he wanted to quit and get a job.

Well, can you imagine how thrilled I was to receive a letter from a student I taught 62 years ago! He wanted to thank me for staying after school to teach him how to tell time when he was in the second grade!

Abby, I am 95 years old and live in a nursing home, and I don't expect to have many more surprises as happy as this one. Thank you! MISS ANDERSON

DEAR MISS ANDERSON: I hope your letter inspires others to pick up on the suggestion. Thank you for writing. Flowers mean so much more when the recipients can still smell them.

(Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send your name and address clearly printed with a check or money order for $2.50 (this includes postage) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: For the past five years my brother in West Africa has contracted jaundice at a rate of three times a year. Every school term, when he goes to boarding school, he has to be hospitalized for at least three weeks to fight jaundice. Could you please discuss jaundice? What causes it? - E.O. Jaundice is a yellowing of the skin and the eyes from having too much bilirubin in the blood, bilirubin being the pigment debris from worn out red blod cells. The process of removing bilirubin from the blood so that it can be eliminated goes on in the liver.

You are asking the right questions and those your brother's doctors will have to answer: What is causing it? Bilirubin blood levels rise under two conditions. Liver disease is the more common cause. The liver cannot process the pigment. The less common cause is a too rapid breakdown of too many red blood cells to the point where the liver just cannot handle the task of breaking down the pigment. It is not the yellowness itself that causes the problem. It does no harm except in very young infants. The continuing liver or blood problem can be dangerous. Your brother has to find out why his bilirubin levels are high. Does he have a liver disease? Or is it basically one involving his red blood cells? When he answers those questions, he will be able to fight off his problem.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: How is an artificial pacemaker installed? I admit to total ignorance on this subject. Is an incision actually made? Does it require long hospitalization or brief? — Mrs. 0.T.D.

An artificial pacemaker is an electrical device that does the work of the heart's natural pacemaker when that one is not functioning properly. The natural pacemaker is a tiny node of specialized heart tissue. It's in the upper heart, from where it sends electrical impulses through the upper and lower chambers normally at a resting rate of 60 to 100 times a minute. The artificial pacemaker is a tiny power unit with connecting wires. They deliver battery-powered impulses to the heart chambers, telling them when to contract.

For implantation, a tiny incision is made in the chest. The unit is placed just under the skin. Most of the time, the pacer's wires are threaded through a vein leading to the interior of the upper heart chamber, then extend downward to the lower chambers. The pacer's battery power then assures appropriate heartbeat frequency. Previously, artificial pacers were limited to control of the lower pumping chambers (ventricles), but newer ones can control both upper and lower chambers simultaneously. A brief hospitalization is required. The surgery is done under local anesthesia

Tigers favored in AP ranking

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Auburn Coach Pat Dye answered his own question.

"Why did they pick us No. 1 this year and not last year? We haven't played a game yet," Dye wondered upon learning that his Tigers had been voted the nation's top team in the Associated Press preseason college football poll.

Auburn gets the 1984 season under way here tonight against defending national champion Miami — the Hurricanes are No. 10 in the preseason ratings - in the second annual Kickoff Classic.

One reason for Auburn's ranking is that the Tigers have 11 returning starters -- including All-American halfback Bo Jackson - from last year's 11-1 team that won the Southeastern Conference title and finished third in the final AP rankings. Dye then disclosed another reason why the voters may have such high regard for Auburn.

"We have more talent and pure raw physical ability than any team I've ever been around in my life," the said. "A lot of it is young and I don't know how good we'll be, but we have the potential to do that (win the national championship). We'll have to win all the close games and it will be difficult because we play so many good teams on the road.

Auburn received 30 of 60 firstplace votes and 1,057 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Runner-up Nebraska - the Cornhuskers also finished second to Miami a year ago - received five first-place votes and 922 points while third-ranked Pitt got two first-place ballots and 890 points. Clemson received 11 first-place votes, the second highest, but its 817 points were only good for fourth place, one ahead of UCLA, which received five first-place votes and 816 points.

Sixth-place Texas, which opens its season against Auburn on Sept. 15, received 734 points, followed by Ohio State with 661. Neither team got a first-place vote.

However, the 8-9-10 teams received one first-place vote apiece. Notre Dame totaled 639 points for eighth place, Alabama was ninth with 632 and Miami received 602 points.

Behind Miami, Nebraska and Florida State. Arizona State Iowa, Alabama, West Virginia, received two first-place votes with UCLA, Pitt, Boston College and one apiece going to Iowa and East Carolina.

now and be good enough to stay there. We have a great deal of pride that the news media thinks we're No. 1 in the country. We're excited about being there. We've talked about this thing since January. The odds, however, are stacked against Auburn. Not only must the Tigers play such strong opponents as Miami, Texas, Tennessee, Florida State, Florida, Georgia and Alabama, but since the AP started a preseason poll in 1950 the poll itself began in 1936 - only six teams have won the national championship after being No. 1 in the preseason rankings.

in every area," Dye said: "It's cer-tainly to Miami's benefit to get ready to play the No. 1 team again (Nebraska was No. 1 when it lost to Miami 31-30 in the Orange Bowl).

but it won't change anything we're doing from a preparation standpoint. We're not going take the fun out of football just because we're picked as the preseason No. 1. 'We have a long, long season Associated Press photo ahead of us. Being No. 1 right now might be nice and fun and exciting but there's a long, long way to go until the end of the season.'

Final cuts due by NFL teams

Bythe Associated Press

They have been burning the mid-night oil, looking to make a late trade or two, checking the waiver wire and paring their rosters to 49 players, all leading to this — deci-sion day in the National Football League.

The preseason has ended and with it the experiments of 26 head coaches who must now sink or swim on the basis of today's decisions on who to keep and who to cut; who to acquire and who to trade; who to start and who to sit. The latter is of particular interest in Dallas, where the quarterback controversy has been item No. 1.

Will it be incumbent Danny White, the man who replaced Roger Staubach? Or will it be Gary Hogeboom, who was named on 80 percent of the ballots in a pretraining camp poll by a newspaper which asked unidentified Cowboy players to state their preference? Coach Tom Landry, seemingly perturbed by the incessant questioning of reporters, isn't saying - just vet.

"I'll give the starting lineup (for the Sept. 3 Cowboy opener with the Los Angeles Rams) on Tuesday," said Landry. "Who knows what I'm going to do?"

Hogeboom was impressive Saturday, hitting seven of 12 passes for 130 yards and a touchdown as the Cowboys beat the Houston Oilers 31-24 to finish with a 3-1 preseason record. White was 4-of-11 for 48 yards and a touchdown.

"White is the quarterback until 1 replace him," Landry said.

'As far as I'm concerned, I am the No. 1 quarterback," White said. There have been no announcements otherwise."

Hogeboom said he deserved to be the starter.

"I've worked hard for it," he said. "I am happy with the way I played and that's all I can do. Now the decision is up to Landry."

Rookie cornerback Victor Scott's 30-yard touchdown interception return and Tony Dorsett's 69-yard scoring run helped beat the Oilers, winners of the Warren Moon quarterback sweepstakes but just one preseason game. Moon, a former University of Washington star who led Edmonton to five straight Grey Cup titles in Canada, had been sought by several NFL clubs.

McMahon ran for two touchdowns and hit Dennis McKinnon with a 39-yard scoring pass.

"I think we accomplished what we wanted to," said Bears Coach Mike Ditka. "We tried to stress scoring some points on offense, and we tried to stress (producing) turnovers on defense.

The Bears, intercepting five passes and sacking Buffalo quarterbacks four times, raced to a 24-point halftime lead.

"Our attitude was not what it is supposed to be," said Buffalo Coach Kay Stephenson. "It's my fault we weren't ready to play. It was an excellent lesson for us.

In other games Saturday, Washington edged New Orleans 14-9, Green Bay routed Indianapolis 34-17 and the New York Giants defeated Pittsburgh 16-9.

On Friday night, it was: New England 36, Kansas City 7; Denver 24, Atlanta 13; Cincinnati 35, Detroit 14; Tampa Bay 14, Miami 13; St. Louis 31, Minnesota 0; New York Jets 20, Los Angeles Raiders 14; and San Francisco 17, Seattle 7. In Thursday night contests, Philadelphia beat Cleveland 20-19 and the Los Angeles Rams ripped San Diego 47-14.

Washington, 2-2, registered seven sacks, three by defensive end Dexter Manley, against three New Orleans quarterbacks. The Saints, 3-1, got three field goals from Morten Andersen.

Gerry Ellis scored twice from two yards out and John Jefferson and James Lofton caught TD passes in Green Bay's manhandling of the Colts. Green Bay finished at 2-2 and Indianapolis 1-3.

Jeff Rutledge, who lost his quarterback battle with Phil Simms, hit Byron Williams with an 87-yard TD pass with 1:45 left to give the Giants, 3-1, their victory over Pittsburgh. The Steelers, no longer spearheaded by departed veterans Terry Bradshaw and Franco Harris, also finished 3-1.

Atlanta, which finished the preseason 1-3 and lost running back William Andrews for the season, made two trades Sunday. The Falcons sent former Pro Bowl tight end Junior Miller to New Orleans for an undisclosed draft choice and traded offensive lineman Ron Lee and an undisclosed draft pick to Miami for cornerback Gerald Small. The Falcons also waived offensive tackle Glen Howe and linebacker Kirk Dodge to bring their roster to 58.

Watson beats all odds for World Series of Golf title

Chicago on th game, 38-7.

Michigan.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) - Denis Watson has a handle on all of them now — his mind, his game and an allergy that almost cost him his golf career.

The 28-year-old South African proved it Sunday as he won the NEC World Series of Golf title in his first try, holding off runner-up Bruce Lietzke for a $126,000 payday.

Watson, cashing in on tips from University of Virginia sports psychologist Bob Rotella and Florida teaching pro David Leadbetter, beat 40 of the best players in the world. "It's just unbelievable," Watson said. "I just can't put into words 'how I feel."

After burning Firestone South for five records with a 62 on Friday, Watson turned consecutive par rounds of 70 into a 271 total nine strokes under par - and a two-stroke victory over Lietzke.

"I had little goals at the beginning of the year. I felt I could win over $100,000. I do it in one week here," said Watson, joining countryman Nick Price as the last two Series champions.

Rotella lectured Watson for nearly 10 hours on the mind and golf.

"I had to improve my mental has paid off incredibly."

Leadbetter, the director of golf at Greenleaf Golf and Racquet Club near Orlando, has been the Rhodesia native's only teacher.

In fact, Leadbetter helped straighten out Watson's putting before the final round.

Watson, allergic to grass, trees and anything that grows green, has whipped that problem with a strict diet and by running as many as five miles at a time.

"It keeps my lungs clean," he said.

Watson has lost 35 pounds since January.

"I've gone from tight 34s to real loose 32s," he said of his slacks.

Watson refused to wilt after Lietzke had gained a one-shot lead at the turn in the final round.

"I felt I was in control at the turn," Lietzke said. "Denis earned the tournament on the back nine."

To grab his second title in three weeks, Watson played his last nine holes in 1-under-par 34. Lietzke slipped to 37 and also had a finalround 70 for 273 and $75,600.

"I just didn't make any mistakes the back side," Watson said. Both agreed that No. 14, a game," Watson said. "I knew it 418-yard, par-4, turned the tide in was the only thing I was lacking. It favor of Watson. He pushed his tee shot into the left rough amidst fir trees and appeared to have no chance of reaching the green in regulation.

"I didn't have a shot. I made one," Watson said of his hooked wedge to within eight feet for his par.

Lietzke, meanwhile, missed the green and had to hole a four-foot putt just to save bogey.

Watson was in the lead to stay. "I don't know how Denis got out of the trees," Lietzke said.

Lietzke hit his third shot into a pond at 16, bogeyed again and it was all over.

Bob Eastwood and Peter Jacobsen used 70s to share third place at 276, four strokes below par over the 7,173-yard course, the longest par-70 on the tour.

Price was far off the pace this time with 294.

Jack Nicklaus, a five-time Series champion, finished at 280, PGA winner Lee Trevino had 281, leading money-winner Tom Watson 284, British Open titleholder Seve Balesteros of Spain 289 and Masters champion Ben Crenshaw 295

The first ever Big Spring Tennis Association Tennis-Thon held Sunday raised around a $1,000 according to one of the event's coordinators.

Action took place from 1 to 6 p.m. at the Figure 7 Tennis Center courts with some 30 BSTA members and 10 Federal Prison inmates participating. All proceeds are being donated to the Big Spring Chemical People Task Force.

Outgoing BSTA vice-president Karen McIntyre said, "Things went pretty well. All pledges and money should be in by Thursday and we'll know then exactly how much money was raised, but it looks like it'll be close to a thousand dollars." All BSTA members are reminded to bring their money in between 7 and 9 p.m. to the pro shop at the Figure 7 Tennis Center.

McIntyre added that special thanks is due Federal Prison Camp Supt. John Glutch, for his part in allowing 10 inmates from the prison to play in the tournament, and to Tim Boyles for providing a pizza break for all tourney participants.

Transactions BASEBALL

Desai s ahea Williams of Canada, 20.49, and American James Butler, 20.65, had captured the event in Los Angeles. in an Olympic record 19.80. On Friday, Lewis won the long jump at a meet in Brussels, Belguim. Lewis did not compete in the 100. which teammate Kirk Baptiste won in 10.18.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Monday, August 27, 1984

Tee Time By AL PATTERSON

A huge Big Spring thanks to those that assisted me in conducting the Two-Man Partnership at Comanche Trail. With the dog days upon us, these folks hung right in there and helped make the event a huge success. Contestants flocked to Big Spring from as far away at Lake Charles, La. and Roswell, N.M.

The Pro-Am this spring at the Big Spring Country Club and the Two Partnerships at Comanche Trail have drawn a lot of people to Big Spring. It's like having a miniconvention here and the contestants and wives help boost the economy of Big Spring. Along with the continued progress at the city course, it once again proves that well groomed golf courses help a community.

The three guys and a doll events scheduled by the Chicano and Big Spring Golf Associations for last week and this weekend have been cancelled and will be played at a date to be announced in September. This comes about due to conflicts of other tourneys in the area. At the moment both groups will merge for this fun event.

Looking down the road, the City Championship and the City Senior Championship is tabbed for the first weekend in October. The event drew 140 contestants last year. All indications are that the field will be larger this time around. Ever notice a opponent mark a ball on the green and do it incorrectly? The proper method in marking a ball is to place a small coin directly behind the ball and then remove the ball. If the coin rests in a player's line you may move the coin on or two putter lengths right or left. Generally when moving it right or left you line it up in a tree or fixed object then move the coin. The golden rule is you always move the coin, not the ball.

Moses wins 108th

at Sports Festival

COLOGNE, West Germany (AP) It was business as usual for Olympic gold medalists Carl Lewis and Edwin Moses, but a third American, Valerie Brisco-Hooks, came up empty.

Lewis, who tied Jesse Owens' 1936 record with four track golds at the Los Angeles Olympics, continued to roll in Europe with a victory Sunday in the 200 meters at the International Cologne Sports Festival track and field meet.

Moses won his 108th straight victory in the 400-meter hurdles dating back to 1977.

But Brisco-Hooks, a triple gold medalist in Los Angeles, lost the 400-meter event to Jarmilla Kratochvilova of Czechoslovakia. Few of the many Olympic stars, Lewis included, had impressive performances before 58,000 spectators at Muengersdorfer Stadium. Lewis, who won the 200 in a time Angeles performance of 47.75. Illness had forced him to back out of a meet in Hannover, and he did not compete in Brussels and Zurich, Switzerland last week.

Brisco-Hooks, who set an Olympic record of 48.83, was outdistanced by Kratochvilova's 49.56.2. Brisco-Hooks was timed Sunday in 49.83.3.

Steve Scott of the United States won the 1,500 in 3:36.01.

The closest to a world recordbreaking performance came from Olympic gold medalist Joaquim Cruz of Brazil, who clocked 1:41.77 in the men's 800.

That was four-hundredths of a second slower than the world record held by Sebastian Coe of Britain, who did not attend the meet. Cruz improved on his winning time of 1:43 at the Summer Games in Los Angeles a few weeks ago.

He was followed by Sammy Koskei of Kenva, in 1:42.28, and Johnny Gray of the United States, and and an interesting of the second seco

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, AUGUST 28, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon double-check your vocational activities to make sure that you have them as you wish them to be and correct whatever errors exist in your detailed plans.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Taking risks on your job in the morning could be costly, so do your work well and later a bigwig gives you right advice for the days ahead.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Forget fun in the morning and get busy on creative work so that it is neat and artistic and you gain fine benefits from it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use tact in handling some basic problematical affair and get good results, but tonight you can enjoy hobbies with your friends. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Take no chances in anything today and then you can have a fine time at home with kin and friends in the evening. LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Find a more practical course of action to follow that cuts down on stumbling blocks in the path of your progress. VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out of that slough of despond you are in in the morning, and tonight you can handle monetary affairs very well. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have to do something positive if you are to rid yourself of a secret anxiety, and then get your practical affairs working better.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You find it difficult early to gain some cherished aim, but persevere and it can soon be yours.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study that outside affair and then fix it to your liking. Then go after your aims in a most positive way and gain them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have a progressive idea early, but you find it hard to get started on it. After lunch get a bigwig interested in it. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are confused just how to handle an obligation in the morning, but after lunch try a new slant and it works out fine. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Dicuss some moot point that is difficult to solve with a partner, and then you can come to a real understanding by evening. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will find it very hard to get on a course of action and stick to it, so teach the importance of being consistent early. Then the life changes and your progeny will be much concerned with the problems of others and will want to help them.
