Late news

Terrorists foiled

DALLAS (AP) — Federal agents apparently foiled a pair of terrorist plots against the Republican National Convention — including a plan for an ultralight aircraft attack — by arresting nine Iranians and Palestine Liberation Organization supporters, officials said Wednesday.

The nine were arrested before and during last week's GOP presidential nominating session and were all charged with violating their immigration status, said Ronald Chandler, Immigration and Naturalization Service district director.

Economy declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's main gauge of future economic activity dropped a sharp 0.8 percent in July, marking the first back-to-back monthly declines since the depths of the recession 2½ years ago, the government reported today.

And in another sign of economic weakness, the government reported today that the United States suffered a record $14.1 billion trade deficit in July, surpassing the old mark of $12.2 billion set in April.

Pierre Gemayel dies

BEIRUT (AP) — Pierre Gemayel, a major figure in Lebanon's long civil war, and the father of the country's president, died Wednesday, the government television announced.

Gemayel, founder and leader of the Phalange Party, te most powerful Christian political party in Lebanon, survived several assassination attempts over the years, escaping with cuts, fractured bones and bruises.

Jury weighs verdict

Testimony ends
in murder trial

Security remained tight today in the 118th District Courtroom as an 11-man, one-woman jury deliberated the fate of 21-year-old Juan Marquez of 606B S. Douglas, accused of murder in the shooting death of Robert Dutchover Jr.

Jurors Tuesday heard Marquez' alleged accomplice, Ralph Rodriguez, 19, of 1901 Donley testify that Marquez shot Dutchover "at least four or five times" when the three men stopped by the side of Gail Road near Snyder Highway to urinate.

According to Rodriguez' testimony, which Marquez disputed, Marquez told Rodriguez after the shooting that Marquez killed Dutchover "because he (Dutchover) was talking too much and he owed people money."

Rodriguez also testified that Marquez told Rodriguez that Marquez' cousin, Clemente Sanchez — who Rodriguez testified was involved in selling narcotics — paid Marquez $500 to kill Dutchover.

"Sanchez was losing his customers because of Dutch," Rodriguez testified he was told by Marquez. Dutchover also sold drugs and owed money to Sanchez, according to Rodriguez' testimony. "He (Marquez) told me it (Dutchover's murder) was for heroin. I told him it was wrong to kill for all that stuff," Rodriguez testified.

Parents get preview of school rules

By CAROL BALDWIN
Staff Writer

Big Spring parents Tuesday night got a taste of what their children will be facing as a result of education reforms dished out by the recent Texas Legislature.

A series of seminars at Goliad Middle School, sponsored by the Parents Support Task Force of the Chemical People project, drew a crowd of about 75 parents curious about state-mandated education reform programs.

Lynn Hise, superintendent of Big Spring schools outlined changes school reform legislation will force in the local system.

"Social promotion is prohibited," Hise said. Students must have a grade of 70 or above in each class in order to pass on to the next grade. In previous years, students could have grades of A, B, C or D and still pass their courses. Now, the grading system will include A, B, C and F, with no allowances made for grades under 70.

"The State Board of Education will adopt rules setting forth alternatives for those unable to pass," Hise said.

Although schools across the state "will teach all the same essential elements to all children," Hise said, "a separate delivery system" will be instituted for children with varying levels of skills.

The delivery system will help "avoid a class of first graders with 11- or 12-year-old students," Hise said. Big Spring schools have been operating on a 9-week reporting period, but will change to a 6-week reporting period under the new legislation. Report cards must be signed by parents. Parents of a child with a grade lower than 70 will be asked to come to school for a parent-teacher conference.

In the past, students could earn exemption privileges from exams. That will no longer be allowed. "No one will be exempt from finals," Hise said.

"Students making below 70 in a class may be required to attend tutorials two times a week," Hise said. However, transportation will not be provided, and Hise said students who depend on bus service to and from school will be placed at a disadvantage.

Locally, tutorial sessions will be scheduled at 7:30 a.m. to 8:15 a.m. Hise said. "Parents will be notified and we will recommend that their child attend."

Beginning next summer, the BSISD will be required to offer summer programs to students with no English skills and pre-kindergarten classes for 4-year-olds who come from low income families.

Beginning in 1986, class size of grades kindergarten to 2nd will be limited to 22. In 1988, 3rd and 4th grade classes will be limited to 22. Hise said that rule may be cost-

PUP wags tale of community unity

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

Last night's Big Spring city council meeting saw the initial foray into political action of a new local organization known as Partners for Unity and Progress (PUP). The group hopes to play a major role in decision-making with all local governing bodies.

Led by chairman Johnny Rutherford, about 20 members of the new organization packed the council chambers to "let the council know who we are, what we're about and what role we hope to play."

"We want to assure you that when (an issue) is brought before you it will be out of concern and there will be no table thumping," Rutherford told the council.

Rutherford said the group was formed after the recent charter amendment referendum concerning an elected chief of police. Calls for community unity came from organizations on both sides of the issue after the proposal was voted down Aug. 11.

See related stories, page 2A

Included among those who attended the council meeting in support of PUP were members of the League of United Latin American Citizens, Citizens for Effective Law Enforcement, Citizens for a Change and other prominent citizens.

According to a prepared statement distributed by Rutherford, the goal of the organization is to "strive toward united, progressive community action by fostering two-way communications and aiding in public education and awareness."

The statement said membership in the organization is "open to all citizens who want to approach community issues positively and will work as a team with officials to find workable solutions."

According to PUP member Mike Russell, the organization meets monthly on first and third Tuesday evenings in the District Courtroom.

Among issues the organization wants to address are those of water quality, city beautification and police issues.

He said the group will work with other organizations besides the city council, such as the school board, the county commissioners and the board of directors of Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Hospital runs up big loss

By JOY CULWELL
C-City Correspondent

COLORADO CITY — Root Memorial Hospital has shown a loss of $167,674 during the last three months, hospital comptroller Richard Murphy told board members Tuesday night.

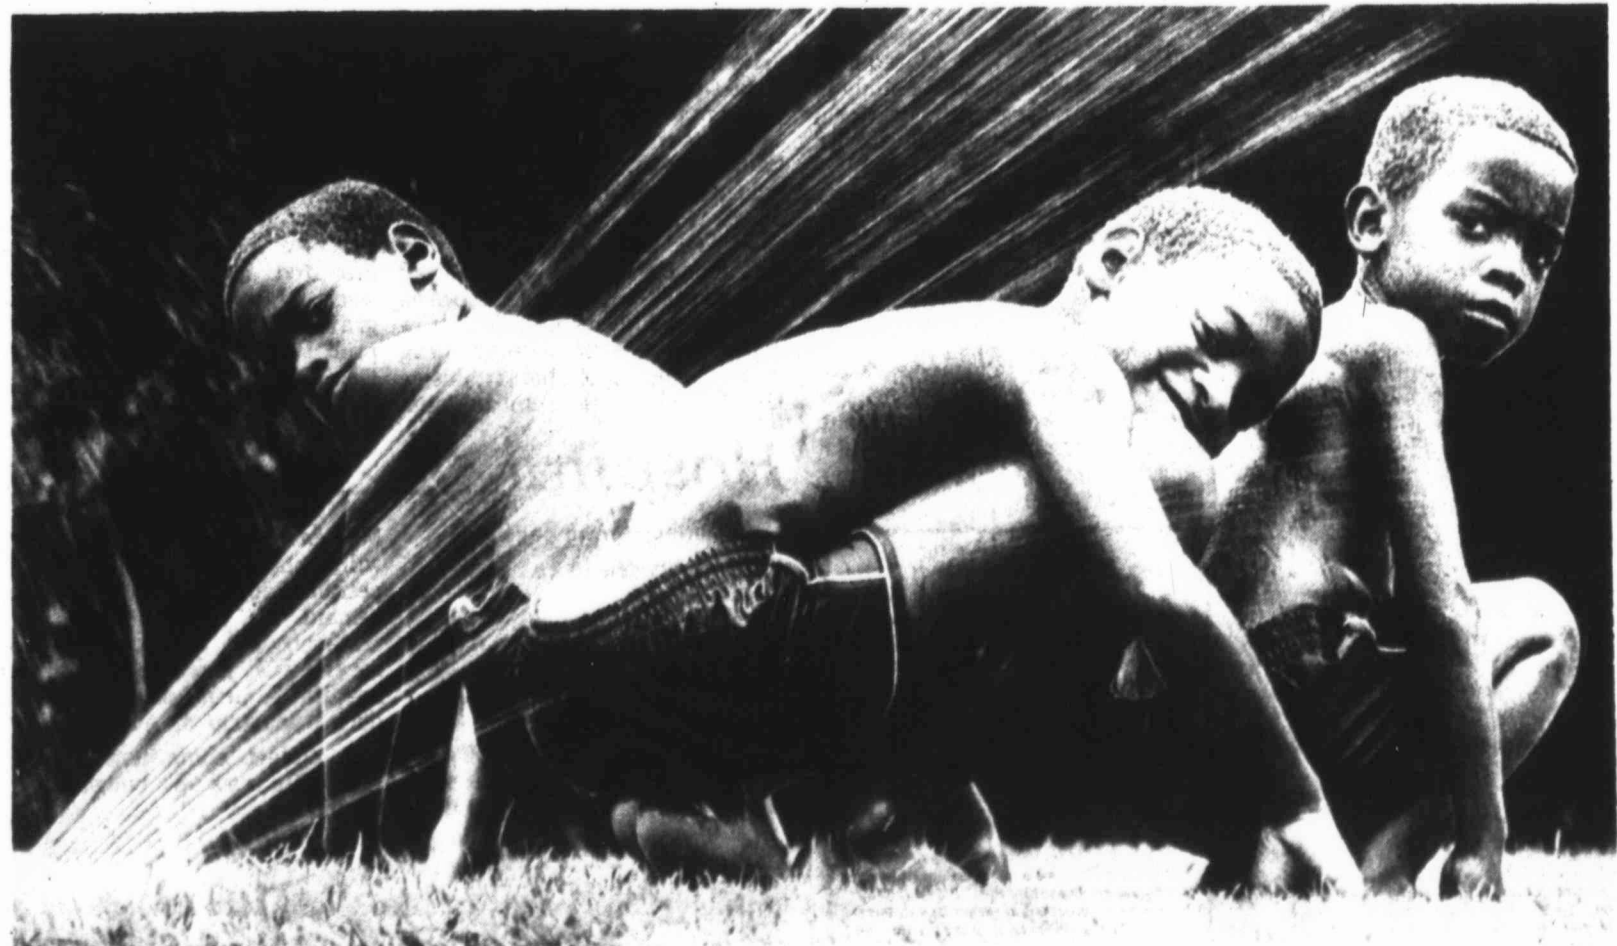

Most of the loss came after the hospital's Medicare program was decertified Aug. 1, he said. The hospital is also being boycotted by four local doctors, who are sending their patients to Rolling Plains Hospital in Sweetwater.

Murphy told the board the average cost per patient is $349.75 a day at the hospital. The three-month loss reflects the low patient load, Murphy said.

The board received two petitions concerning a former staff physician suspended for alleged violations of hospital policies. One, urging the board to uphold Dr. Thomas Noonan's suspension, contained 319 signatures. Another petition from 14 members of the hospital staff

Weather

Texas back to normal

By The Associated Press

A high pressure system aloft kept skies clear and temperatures hot across all of Texas today.

The National Weather Service says no weather system is enroute that will bring about any significant change in the weather situation in the next few days.

Only a few isolated thundershowers forecast for Southeast Texas were expected to break up the pattern of hot, dry conditions statewide today.

A few high level clouds were reported before dawn today over the Panhandle and Trans Pecos region, but elsewhere skies were clear statewide.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s, ranging from the cool upper 50s in the Davis Mountains of West Texas to the sultry low 80s over North Central Texas. Extremes ranged from a cool 58 at Marfa to 86 at Dallas.

Other readings around the state early today included 68 at Amarillo, 81 at Wichita Falls, 83 at Waco, 78 at Austin, 77 at Corpus Christi, Brownsville and San Angelo, 75 at Midland and Lubbock and 73 at El Paso.

In addition to the isolated thundershowers expected in Southeast Texas, forecasts called for continued mostly sunny skies and hot temperatures over all of Texas today. Highs were expected to range from near 90 along the coast to near 105 across portions of North Central Texas and in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

Record high temperatures baked the Plains states again Tuesday, forcing some overheated schools to close early for the day, while thunderstorms dumped heavy rain over parts of the Ohio and Tennessee valleys.

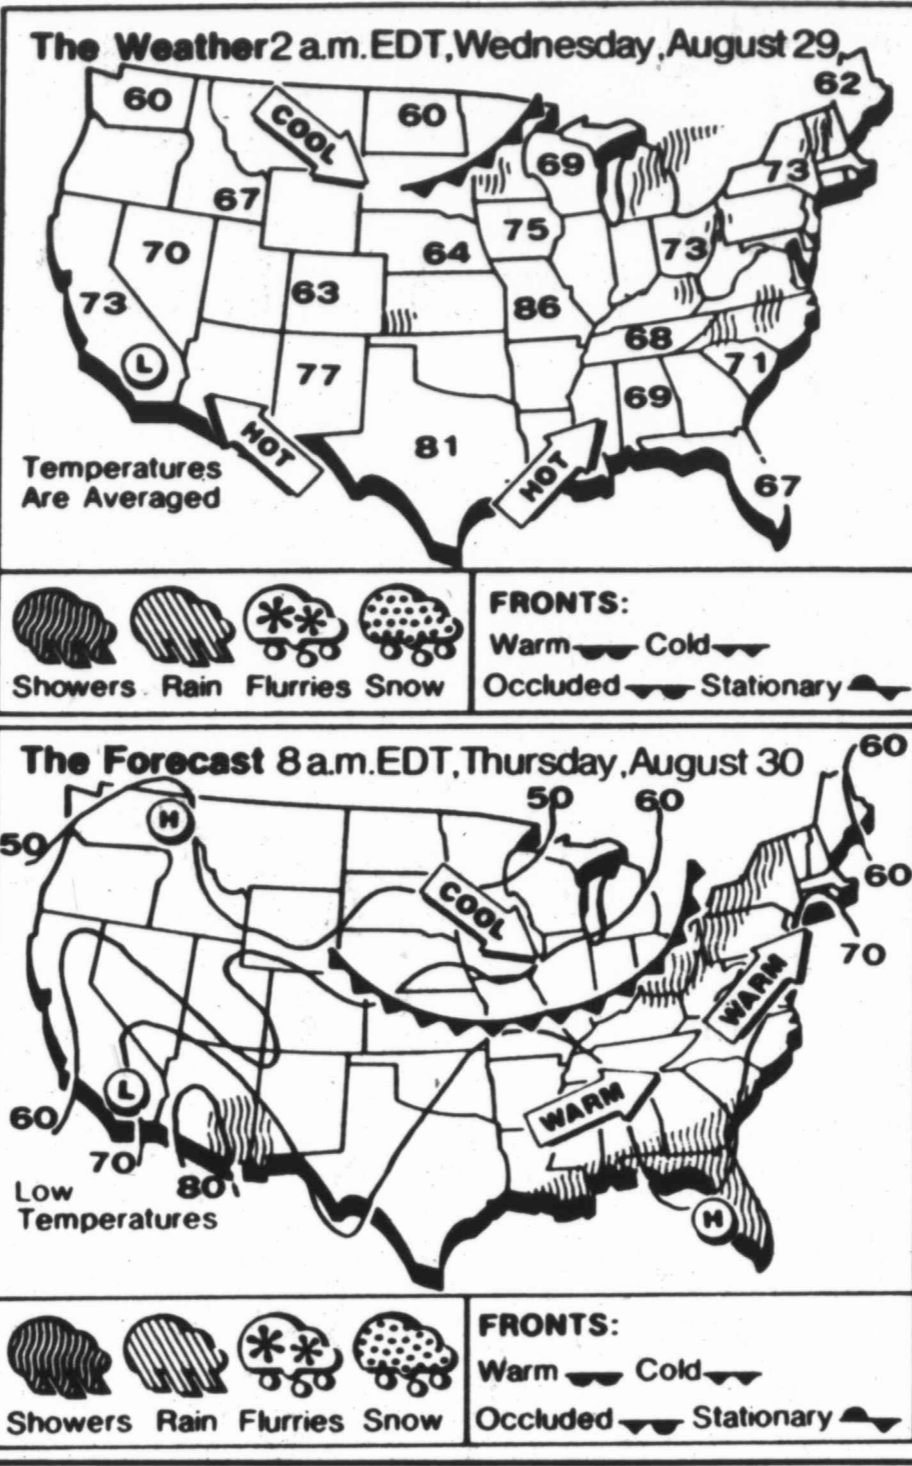

Temperatures climbed well into the 90s over most of the Plains and middle Mississippi Valley, and several cities in the area had record temperatures above 100 degrees.

Scattered schools closed early because of the heat in Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and South Dakota, and agricultural officials warned farmers to take special care of their livestock.

Dozens of cities hit record highs for the date, including 103 at Wichita, Kan.; 102 at Lincoln, Neb., and Lamoni, Iowa; 101 at North Platte, Neb., and Shenandoah, Iowa; 100 at Columbia, Mo., Sioux Falls, S.D., Omaha and Norfolk, Neb., and Des Moines, Council Bluffs and Spencer, Iowa; 104 at the airport at Kansas City, Mo.; 97 at Fargo, N.D., and 95 at Dubuque, Iowa.

"The normal temperature for this time of year is about 81 degrees," Iowa state climatologist Paul Waite said Tuesday. "So when the mercury is up at about 100, we're close to record range."

WEST TEXAS — Fair to partly cloudy. Lows in the 60s and 70s. Highs in the 90s, rising to near 101.

Police investigate vandalism

Tina Steffen of 2521 Dow told police yesterday evening that someone sometime between 5:03 p.m. and 5:22 p.m. Tuesday threw rocks at the windshield of her 1981 Pontiac while it was parked in the Big Spring Mall parking lot, police reports said. Damage in the incident was estimated at $200, reports said.

A 26-year-old Fort Worth man remains in Howard County Jail today on a warrant for revocation of probation.

Anthony Eaves was denied bond after his arrest Tuesday by Howard County sheriff's deputies.

- Adrian Calderon, 22, of Plainview also remains in county jail after his arrest Tuesday by deputies on a warrant when his bondsman went off a bond for suspicion of driving while intoxicated.
- Raul Gonzales, 32, of Fort Worth was released from Howard County Jail Tuesday on the authority of County Judge Milton Kirby. He had been jailed on a warrant for revocation of probation for DWI.
- Roy Raul Rodriguez, 18, of the Apache Bend Apartments was transferred Tuesday to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of burglary. He was released from county jail on $2,500 bond set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

Seminars

prohibitive to many districts.

Students will not be given credit for a course in which they have more than five unexcused absences. Excused absences include illness, a death in the family, quarantine situations at home, natural disasters or dangerous road conditions.

"Anything else is unexcused," Hise said.

Students will be allowed 10 absences per year for extracurricular activities.

"This is a problem for kids who participate in more than one activity," Hise said. "This will curtail their activities. The public needs to understand this. House Bill 72 keeps students in school, and demands academic achievement."

Legislation mandates that school not begin before Sept. 1 after this year. Hise said the 1985 year will probably begin Sept. 3.

Students have been taking the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills test in the 3rd, 5th and 9th grade locally. Under new legislation, they will be tested in grades 1, 3, 5, 7 and 9.

Students in grade 11 will be given an exit level test that will be repeated in 12th grade for those who do not pass the first test.

"No diploma will be given to a student who doesn't pass this test," Hise said.

Bill McQuery, principal of Big Spring High School, said the new legislation is designed "to get parents more involved with schools."

The legislation also requires students to chose areas of study in the general program, vocational area, advanced or advanced with honors.

McQuery said he sees some problems with the new legislation. "I see some morale problems with strict grading...Kids have still got to have fun."

"The next two to three years are going to be very challenging," McQuery said. "We are going to make the best out of it. We care about your kids or we wouldn't be in this business."

Trial

Later, Marquez told him, "We can make money doing this stuff (murder for hire)."

Testifying on his own behalf, Marquez denied any involvement in Dutchover's murder. Instead, he said he dropped Dutchover off about 8 or 9 p.m. at the Northside Park (now the county park) to meet a girl, before he and Rodriguez went to Sanchez' house.

"That was the last time I saw him," Marquez said. He also testified that he did go to Sanchez' house at least three times that night to borrow money; the first time he received $20, the second time he got $8 and the third time, $20.

The District Attorney's office has not set a trial date for Rodriguez in the Dutchover case, but has charged Rodriguez with the murder. Rodriguez recently returned from state prison after serving a sentence for burglary.

Rodriguez testified that he, Marquez and Dutchover were riding around in Marquez' car and drinking beer — they bought at least 1 1/2 cases that night — from the late afternoon to evening of Jan. 23, 1984, before Marquez shot Dutchover.

"I heard a gunshot," said Rodriguez, "and I took off running." Rodriguez also testified that he came around the front of the car to the side where Marquez was shooting Dutchover to stop Marquez, but that "Juan told me he would try to kill me" if Rodriguez came any closer.

"He (Juan) shot at Dutch while Dutch was on the ground," Rodriguez said. "We took off from there then. He wanted to run over the body (with the car). I told him he wasn't going to run over the body because he was dead."

Rodriguez then helped Marquez drag Dutchover's body to the side of the road, he testified. According to previous testimony by forensic pathologist Dr. Robert Rember, who performed the autopsy on Dutchover's body, and Texas Ranger Charles Brune, Dutchover's body was found shot twice in the head and once in the stomach in the area Rodriguez described.

Brune also testified he saw drag marks leading from bloodstains on Gail Road to the embankment where the body was found Jan. 30, 1984.

Rodriguez said he did not include information about Sanchez' involvement in his Feb. 8, 1984, statement about the murder to Brune and sheriff's deputy Bill Shankles "because I was afraid I would get the same thing that happened to Dutchover."

Ernest Arispe Guzman Jr., 18, now serving a four-year sentence for aggravated assault, testified he was in county jail when Marquez said he killed Dutchover.

Guzman testified he was in a county jail cell with Ray Galaviz, formerly of 503 Bell and now serving a seven-year prison sentence for robbery, when Marquez was placed in the cell. Galaviz asked Marquez what he was in jail for, and Marquez answered, "Attempted murder and murder," according to Guzman.

Under cross-examination by Marquez' defense attorney, Tim Yeats, about the exact question Galaviz asked Marquez, Guzman testified, "Ray asked, 'Who did you kill?' And Juan said, 'Dutchover.'" Marquez testified that Galaviz asked him whom he was accused of killing. Galaviz did not testify in the case.

Marquez also testified that he was answering whose murder he was accused of, not whom he killed.

Marquez testified the attempted murder charge had been dropped, but District Attorney Rick Hamby said he had not told Marquez the charges were dropped.

The Dutchover death is only the latest of a long string of aggravated assault and murder charges filed against Marquez.

He was indicted for aggravated assault on Aug. 11, 1982, but the charge was subsequently dismissed when his probated seven-year sentence for burglary was revoked Oct. 23, 1982, and he was sentenced to two years in prison.

In 1983 he was arrested on suspicion of murder, two charges of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and two charges of aggravated assault. A revocation of probation charge was dismissed in Dec. 22, 1983, about one month before Dutchover's death.

asked the board to reinstate Dr. Noonan.

A motion by board member Bob Reilly asking for the reinstatement of Dr. Noonan and the hiring of a consulting firm to run the hospital died for lack of a second.

Interim administrator Ray Mason told the board the hospital had undergone an inspection by a Medicare inspector, and the report will be included with the hospital's petition Sept. 4 for recertification, he said.

Mason told the board he had received a good report on the hospital's pending certification during his trip to Austin.

A budget committee was appointed to work up a budget for the hospital.

Big Spring prison inmate dies Monday from stab wounds

Compiled from staff and wire reports

A former Big Spring man sentenced to a 30-year prison term for murder died Monday night in state prison as the result of stab wounds.

Curtis Ray Williams, 22, formerly of 1518 Wood was one of two state prison inmates to die in separate stabbing incidents only a few hours apart Monday night. Two other inmates were being treated for non-fatal stab wounds, according to prison officials.

District Attorney Rick Hamby received notice of Williams' death in the Clemens Unit in Brazoria County Tuesday afternoon while he was prosecuting a separate murder case.

According to Texas Department of Corrections spokesman Charles Brown, Williams' death resulted from an earlier argument. A Dallas County inmate is being held in connection with Williams' death in the cellblock area.

Williams pleaded guilty January 1983 to the May 21, 1982, murder of his 19-year-old girlfriend, Cynthia Moore, and was sentenced to a 30-year prison term.

According to law enforcement officials investigating the case at the time of Ms. Moore's death, eyewitnesses identified Williams as having shot Ms. Moore in the chest and the chin area with a .22-caliber Shaffer 31 pistol.

In addition, Williams was serving a five-year concurrent sentence for revocation of probation for theft of more than $200 and less than $10,000, according to sheriff's records. He had been on probation at the time of the murder, according to records.

Sheriff's deputy John Wolf, then a Big Spring police lieutenant investigating the homicide, said during the investigation that Ms. Moore was shot at an acquaintances' house at 807 Wyoming about 1 a.m. May 21, 1982. Earlier that evening, she had told police that Williams assaulted her at Johnny Stone Park and forced her to walk to his house at 1518 Wood.

Also killed in a separate prison stabbing Monday night was Raymond Mathias, 25, who was sentenced out of Midland County to 99 years for murder with a deadly weapon. He was in the Wynne Unit in Huntsville at the time of his death, according to prison officials.

The Monday night stabbings bring the total number of stabbing fatalities in the Texas prison system in August to five; there have been 39 stabbing incidents, according to prison officials. So far this year, 265 inmates have been stabbed, according to prison officials.

City OK's $46,000 repair bill

Big Spring City Council members were taken by surprise last night by an emergency request for repairs that could cost as much as $46,000 at the city Waste Water Treatment Plant.

Public Works Director Tom Decell told the council his department discovered two months ago a leak in a chlorine feed line at the plant, but was unaware until recently of the amount of damage the leak caused.

"The chlorine gas got into the ditch line of the electrical wiring and subsequently into the conduit and switch gear. This has resulted in extensive damage to the switch gear, wiring and conduit," Decell told the council.

Decell told the council that chlorine had saturated the ground around the ditch to where soil in the area would burn the skin.

"Two bids for repair work were taken by Decell's department, the lowest at $46,000 and another for about $100,000. The council accepted the low bid for the project, which was from Bailey Electronics of Big Spring.

The council last night also heard an unscheduled presentation from Mary Kenny, director of the newly-organized Big Spring-Howard County Rape Crisis Center.

"We're here to help the 90-year-old victim and the 9-year-old victim — and they are victims," Ms. Kenney told the council.

"We ask for your financial support, but more than that, we ask for the support that comes from your heart," she said.

In other action last night, the council:

- Approved a request from Elaine Oliver for extension of Comanche Trail Park hours Sept. 8 to 1 a.m. The extension was requested for a rock-and-roll concert that will benefit the Chemical People teen center project and the Howard County Boxing Club.
- Approved on first reading an ordinance providing for a punch-card system for local business use of the city landfill. The business will be allowed 12 free dumps at the site, under the new system. The ordinance also makes garbage collection available to certain customers outside the city limits.
- Approved a contract between the city and County Attorney Bob Miller for use of the county Hot Check Fund for purchase of video taping equipment for the Big Spring Police Department. The equipment will be used to tape arrests and booking procedures for persons arrested in connection with driving while intoxicated.
- Posed questions to local Energas Manager Dearl Pittman in a public hearing on the proposed 7.7 percent rate hike in gas charges to city residents.

Work begins on 'bird streets'

Residents of the Big Spring neighborhood known as the "bird streets" can expect construction to begin later this year on street and water line improvements as a result of action taken at last night's Big Spring City Council meeting.

The council awarded bids totaling $313,000 to two construction companies that will make the improvements. A total of $300,000 of the money was given the city in a grant from the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

According to a letter to the council from city engineers Parkhill, Smith and Cooper of Lubbock, "the project was designed with the intention of utilizing 100 percent of the available grant funds."

The remaining $13,000 necessary for the project will come from either the city's Capital Improvements Fund or the Utility Reserve Fund, City Manager Don Davis told the council.

Companies who were awarded bids last night were K-R Utilities of Abilene for waterline improvements and South Texas Construction, which has offices in San Antonio and Midland, for street repairs.

The new construction will increase water pressure in the neighborhood.

7 killed in militia fighting

BEIRUT — Renewed militia warfare claimed seven lives in Lebanon's northern port of Tripoli, and an Israeli air raid in the Bekaa Valley near the Syrian border killed or wounded dozens of people.

Police said exchanges of machine gun fire and rocket-propelled grenades between rival Moslem militias in Tripoli again broke a week-old ceasefire. Seven people were killed and 17 were wounded, they said.

Police also said at least 25 bodies had been removed from the debris of a three-story building and an adjacent one-floor military center wrecked by an Israeli air attack Tuesday in east Lebanon's Bekaa Valley near the Syrian border. Thirty-five people were injured.

JOHANNESBURG — Elections for a new Asian chamber of Parliament, marred by violence and a nationwide boycott, attracted barely more than 20 percent of registered Asian voters.

The Department of Internal Affairs said final figures showed 20.2 percent — 83,186 of 411,711 — of registered Asian voters participated in Tuesday's election.

LONDON — Seven of Britain's 10 biggest ports were idle today as the nation's second dock strike in two months entered its fifth day, the National Association of Port Employers reported.

Longshoremen at many smaller ports refused to join what they and Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's government say is a leftist-led political strike. They say the dock strike is aimed at supporting the 24-week-old coal miners' strike in an attempt to bring down the Conservative government.

Fuel spill covers Channel

OSTEND — Efforts to salvage the 225-ton radioactive cargo of a French freighter that sank off the Belgian coast shifted today to controlling a worsening fuel leak.

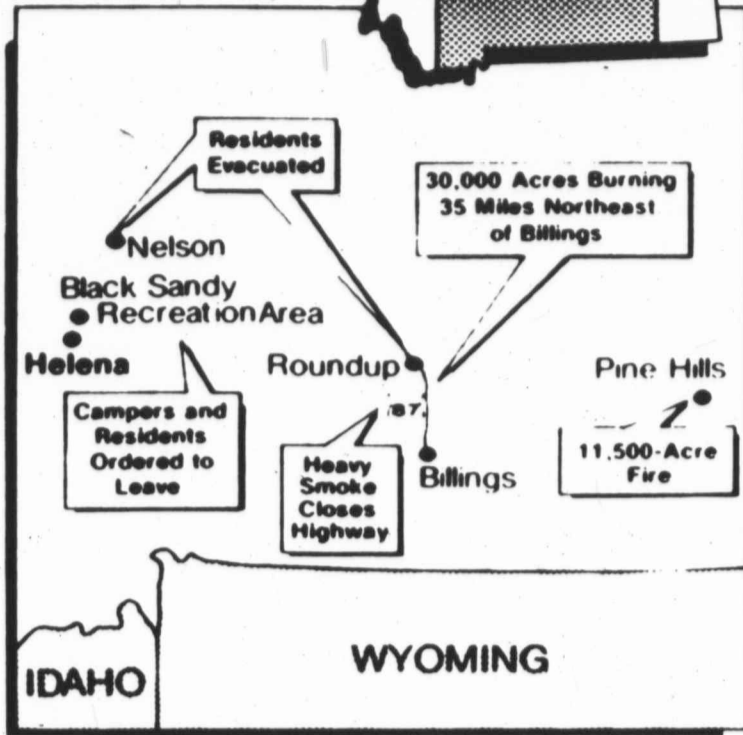

Belgian Environment Ministry spokesman Jan Peeters said the government's first priority was to deal with a fuel leak from the Mont Louis, which went down Saturday after colliding with a ferry boat.

He had no details on the size of the fuel spill, but he said initial efforts to stop it failed. The ship was carrying 400 tons of fuel when it sank.

Belgian Radio reported an oil slick about 1,000 yards long and 200 yards wide had formed around the capsized freighter. The freighter is resting in about 46 feet of water 12 miles off the Belgian coast.

Prairie fires rage out of control; 500 flee

HELENA (AP) — National Guardsmen and firefighters from six states battled rampaging fires around-the-clock today as stubborn windswept infernos blackened 150,000 acres of forest and prairie, routing 500 people and threatening more homes.

Most of the major fires remained out of control today with more than 1,000 fresh firefighters being summoned. A blaze that consumed 75,000 acres was added to a list of disaster areas eligible for firefighting assistance late Tuesday, becoming the third such battleground.

All three blazes threatened residential areas or ranch homes.

The flames also prompted the shutting down of a powerhouse Tuesday when a fire came within a half-mile of a Missouri River dam.

"Rain is the only thing that's going to stop it, because we're sure not," said Bob Lawrence, fire boss on the North Hill fire near Helena in west-central Montana that mushroomed to 17,000 acres Tuesday.

Hot and windy weather with scattered thunder-showers are forecast throughout Montana into the weekend.

President Reagan declared the North Hill fire and the Houghton Creek fire, which had charred about 12,000 acres between Libby and Kalispell, as federal disaster areas Tuesday.

A third major blaze, the 75,000-acre Hawk Creek fire, was added Tuesday night after officials of the Federal Emergency Management Agency met in Helena with state officials.

The North Hill fire nearly tripled its size Tuesday as strong winds prevented aerial retardant drops and pushed the fire into thousands of acres of the Gates of the Mountain Wilderness.

More than 400 firefighters were battling the blaze, including smokejumpers and crews from California and Idaho.

Spokesman Steve Jorgenson of the Department of State Lands in Missoula said 1,000 more firefighters were to join crews on the Houghton Creek fire today.

The fire started late Monday, and by Tuesday night had burned a 10-mile swath on both sides of U.S. 2 covering an estimated 12,000 acres of dense timber 30 miles south of Libby, near the Idaho border. Officials said the fire destroyed at least three homes.

About 200 residents of the area were evacuated Monday. Jorgenson said they have not been allowed to return.

The Hawk Creek fire converged Tuesday with the Goulding Creek fire that destroyed 30 homes in three hours Monday near Roundup, about 160 miles east of Helena. They are now being treated as a single fire.

The Napi Peak fire at the eastern edge of Glacier National Park grew to 3,200 acres Tuesday. That fire has destroyed at least two summer homes. At Red Owl, 20 miles southeast of Kalispell, a fire swelled to about 2,000 acres Tuesday as about 300 people fled their homes.

Montana firefighters were being assisted by crews from California, Idaho, Arizona, Wyoming and New Mexico.

Ship's crew rescued

LONG BEACH — The 23 crew members of a crippled Cypriot freighter were safe today after they abandoned ship in storm-tossed Pacific waters, but the 360-foot vessel was listing dangerously as its forward holds filled with water.

"There were no injuries," U.S. Coast Guard Petty Officer Pat Milton said after the crew of the hurricane-battered freighter Blue Falcon boarded the Panamanian cargo ship Josef Roth on Tuesday night.

The crew was taken off the Blue Falcon because its forward holds were filled with water and the ship was tilting five to 10 degrees to port, Chief Petty Officer Charles Crosby said.

Midwest wilts under heat

CHICAGO — Searing heat felled 55 members of a marching band at the Minnesota State Fair, cooked crops in Iowa's fields and turned Midwestern classrooms into ovens as it hit record levels in 30 cities, with forecasters promising no relief today.

The nation's midsection burned Tuesday with the mercury climbing above 100 from North Dakota, near the Canadian border, to Texas and the banks of the Rio Grande River.

At least 30 cities tied or broke all-time highs for the day, with 22 hitting 100 degrees or more, said Bill Sammler of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City, Mo.

Teens attack train, cops

MIAMI — A rowdy rock- and bottle-throwing crowd of youths attacked police and looted a freight train that struck a teen-ager who tried to scoot across the tracks as it approached, but police called the incident "pretty routine" for Liberty City.

At least 50 police officers were called to the scene after the first units arriving to aid the injured child were bombarded by a crowd that swelled to about 100, police said.

Apartment fire injures 13

KANSAS CITY — Fire swept a three-story apartment building early today, injuring at least 13 people, including three firefighters, near the city's fashionable Country Club Plaza.

Fire Department spokesman Harold Knabe said nine people, at least three of them children, were taken to St. Luke's Hospital. One apartment resident and the three firemen were treated at the scene.

Shuttle launch delayed to fix high-tech hijinks

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Five hundred microseconds is but a fraction of a heartbeat, but aboard the shuttle, where computers operate faster than human thought, that small particle of time can be the difference between success and disaster.

Problems that could occur within those 500-millionths of one second are what forced National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials on Tuesday to postpone for a third time the maiden launch of Discovery.

The problems were found only by accident in a system that experts thought had been tested, analyzed and scrubbed clean of any flaw. Engineers analyzing a new computer system on Discovery found there was a possibility that commands fired out at the rate of three every 500 microseconds could, in some cases, jam up at critical moments during launch.

The jammed signals — in an extreme, rare case — could theoretically keep the solid rocket boosters and external fuel tank from dropping off the shuttle at the proper time. That in turn could prevent the winged spacecraft from reaching orbit and even cause it to be dumped into ocean.

Opinion

U.S. must push onward in space

Within the next 25 years, selected U.S. scientists could be conducting their space research from a small colony on the moon and American astronauts may be mining resources from the lunar surface.

This is the striking conclusion of a report prepared for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by a panel of 20 experts at the California Space Institute in La Jolla, Calif. The 10-week study was commissioned by NASA to set goals for the U.S. space program through the year 2010. And the panelists have produced a fascinating scenario that might just as easily serve as the script for Steven Spielberg's next film.

The scientists say that a manned space station could be operational by the early 1990s. Once this is accomplished, the experts estimate that the United States may be able to establish a "permanent presence" on the moon 10 years hence.

Initially, the lunar colony would be expected to house a small contingent of astronauts. But the space outpost would eventually serve as an extraterrestrial observatory for astronomers, a service station for space vehicles, and a launch pad for trips to Mars.

Cynics are certain to carp about the colony's projected cost, which has been estimated at between $10 billion and $20 billion over a 10-year period. But that seems a bargain compared with the Apollo programs' total cost of $24 billion in 1960s dollars. It should be remembered that the U.S. space program has provided an astounding return on investment and has been the cutting edge of U.S. technological superiority for the last two decades. More important, the Apollo program has positioned the United States to explore the uncharted regions of the universe, as were the European voyagers of the 15th and 16th centuries.

The U.S. space program has come a long way since that day 23 years ago when President John Kennedy challenged NASA to put a man on the moon and return him safely to earth. Still, much remains to be done before this nation fulfills its promise to push the frontier of human intelligence to the solar system and beyond.

The '88 parade

WASHINGTON — As the main part in its coverage of the Dallas convention, television introduced the American public to the most likely Republican candidates for 1988. Jack Kemp, in ways a viewer could probably sense better than those on the spot, emerged as the pick of the lot.

But nobody even came close to President Reagan as a TV star. So whatever they do this year, the Republicans are far from certain to emerge as the majority party for the long pull.

A strange impression arises from watching on the tube persons and prophecies which this columnist has usually witnessed firsthand. Image goes to war with substance and comes out ahead. Perception beats reality. Thus, by a curious inversion, the crop of 1988 hopefuls filtered through television in almost opposite order of quality.

Howard Baker is, face to face, perhaps the most impressive leader in national politics. The senator from Tennessee is well informed, highly articulate and pleasing in personality. He listens attentively and persuades effortlessly. When there is no agreement, there are no hard feelings. He gives the impression of being fair-minded and sure about what is politically feasible. He seems, far more than anybody else in politics, to know exactly who he is — a secure, mature man.

On television, however, Baker came across as distinctly un-presidential. The set speech he delivered to the Dallas convention seemed ordinary, except in a few places where harsh shots at the Democrats showed signs of straining to please the Republican right wing. He looked cherubic rather than dignified. The frequent clips that showed him taking photos of others completed the picture of the little kid next door.

Bob Dole, the Kansas senator who is chairman of the Finance Committee, is less appealing than Baker in real life. But he is a handsome and imposing man. He commands great powers of analysis and a capacity to sum up complicated situations in a phrase. While a master of detail, he also knows what is important, and he has a fine sense of timing. Putting through a tax increase last year over the combined opposition of the administration and the leadership in both the Senate and the House was, after all, a major achievement.

Rugged honesty does come through on television. Dole's convention speech was notable for the acknowledgment that "ours is not a perfect party." But he looks threatening and angry much of the time. He was constantly paired with his wife, Secretary of Transportation Elizabeth Dole. He seemed to be less an individual leader than part of an entry — a bit player in a specialty act.

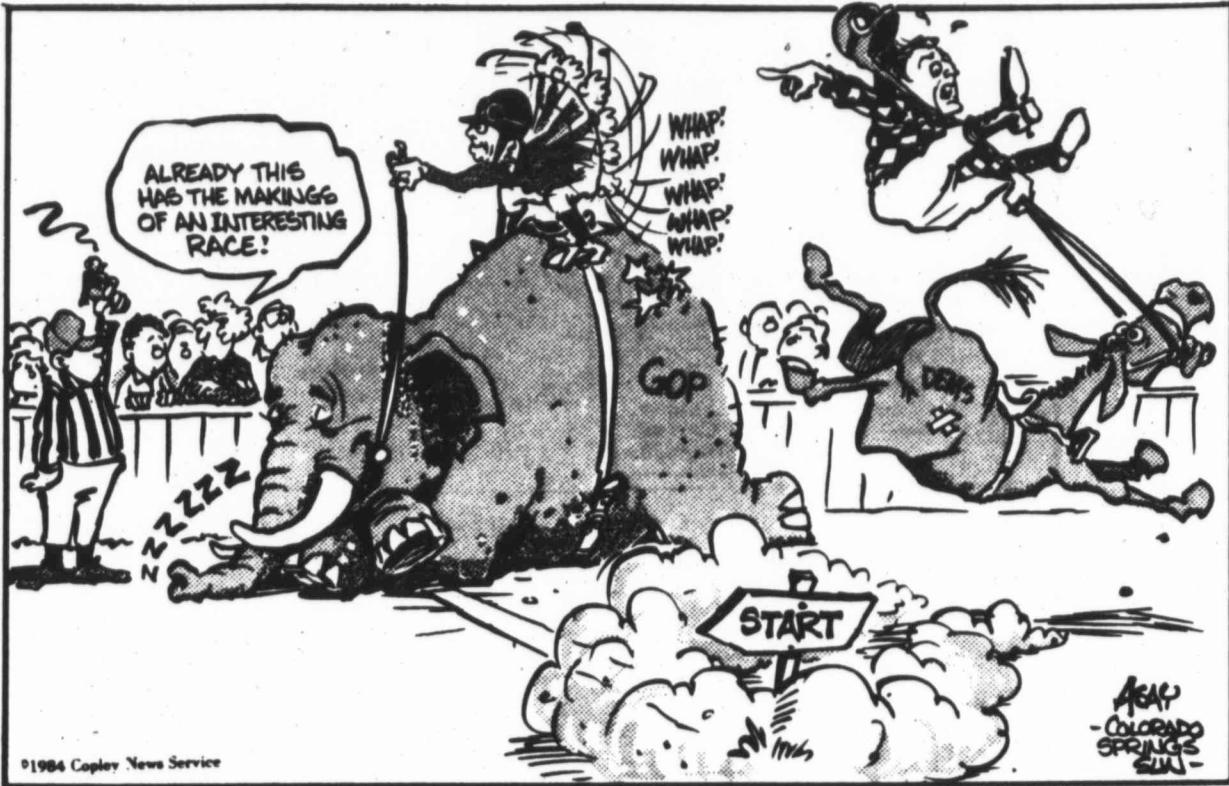

Vice President George Bush exudes charm as a man. He has classic good looks, a direct gaze and an open manner. He talks easily, and often with great insight, about everything from China to the oil business. He is a quick study on such hard subjects as nuclear missiles, where he played a key role in leading the Reagan administration to shape its position with an eye on winning European support.

But the television stamps him as irredeemably preppie. His normally pleasant voice sounds thin — almost a whine. Deference to the president, which is mandatory in his post, comes over as sycophantic.

Congressman Kemp, in person, is what a White House staff man once called "a hot dog." He is restless and impatient, rarely focusing long on a single subject.

His set speech in Dallas came across poorly on television. But otherwise Kemp was the man of the hour. He presented a fresh face. He looked young and sounded earnest.

'Thresholds' of Persian Gulf war

WASHINGTON — A tough-talking, top-secret memorandum on the Persian Gulf war has some State Department officials alarmed over the prospect of U.S. military involvement in the four-year conflict.

It describes five "thresholds" that must be crossed before the United States would be drawn into a shooting war with Iran.

What alarms the State Department officials is that, in the memo's scenario, the United States has already stepped across Threshold No. 3. Two more and the balloon goes up.

The memo's author, Adm. John Howe, was head of the State Department's bureau of politico-military affairs until last month. He set down his thoughts on May 22 in a memo intended only for the eyes of a few high-placed policy makers. State Department sources have described its contents to my associate Lucette Lagnado.

Here are the five thresholds laid out by the admiral:

- Threshold 1: Iran and Iraq are at war. Other Persian Gulf states, though understandably concerned, do not get involved militarily. The United States also keeps hands off.
- Threshold 2: The Gulf states start getting involved militarily using their limited capabilities — such as protecting oil tankers with their own aircraft. The United States monitors the situation, but does not commit its own planes or ships.
- Threshold 3: The Gulf states feel so threatened by Iran that they call for active U.S. military help. This has already occurred. AWACS surveillance in the region has been beefed up, according to sources, and American aerial tankers have been refueling Saudi fighter planes patrolling the Gulf.
- Threshold 4: The United States becomes actively involved in defense of the Gulf with escort ships, aircraft carriers and fighter patrols. The likeliest possibility of crossing this threshold would be in defense of Saudi or Kuwaiti installations against Iranian attack.

● Threshold 5: American military personnel involved in the limited action of Threshold 4 are killed by Iranians, either deliberately or inadvertently. The United States then takes military action against Iran, with "an active use of American forces to take out targets in Iran," according to the sources' description of Howe's scenario.

Although most of the sources believe there is still a good distance between thresholds 3 and 5, others are not so sure. But one source described the possibility of U.S. military moves against Iran as "absolute, active madness."

So far, there is no strong evidence that the policy makers at Foggy Bottom have decided to tread the risky path laid out in Howe's five-threshold memorandum.

In fact, Secretary of State George Shultz last month sent word to his people to find some way of telling Iran that the United States is not "implacably" opposed to its revolutionary Moslem regime.

The directive reportedly didn't go down well with some circles in the State Department, where hostility to Iran still rankles over the Tehran hostage seizure nearly five years ago.

So while Shultz is suggesting the tentative offer of an olive branch to the Ayatollah Khomeini, the State Department is also considering the possibility of trade sanctions against Iran. There are some in Foggy Bottom who want to make Iran a "pariah" like Libya.

Although it's not generally known, Iran is still able to buy certain items from American firms, including equipment — such as aircraft land boat engines — that is technically non-military but can easily be converted to military use. The hard-liners at State would like to cut off this trade completely.

One State Department source described the administration's policy this way: "It's in a state of flux. It is a real conundrum."

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: The Pentagon is conducting a quiet "cover" operation on its own grounds.

Last year, concrete barriers were placed at approaches to various entrances at the Pentagon to ward off terrorist attacks. These are similar to those at the White House and other key government buildings in Washington. But unlike less imaginative bureaucrats in town, the military brass have disguised their barriers as large planters — king-size flower pots that are effective but eye-catching islands of greenery.

In its initial attempts to discourage the sale of military equipment to Iran, the State Department concentrated on a few selected countries, such as Brazil, Israel and South Korea. But recently, our diplomats have extended their behind-the-scenes efforts worldwide to include allies like Great Britain. My sources tell me the campaign has aroused some resentment.

In recent years I've reported on the Defense Department's expenditure of millions of dollars on research into psychic warfare. It wants to find some military use for the claimed talents of spoonbenders, mind-readers and long-distance thought-transplanters. Researchers are especially interested in the possibilities of subliminal suggestion — the scientific equivalent of sticking pins into dolls that look like your enemy.

The idea of psychic warfare may seem less far-fetched now that Hollywood has picked up on it in the new movie, "Dreamscapes," which postulates a battle between government-trained psychics.

Marriage is give and take

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you think marriage is a 50-50 proposition? I mean, it seems to me like I ought to give in once in a while, and my husband should do that also, but it seems like when we have an argument he just digs in his heels and will never compromise or change his mind.—Mrs. S.P.T.

DEAR MRS. S.P.T.: Yes, there should be a "give and take" in marriage if it is to be truly happy. There may be some decisions, for example, in which the wife will have better judgment than the husband, and vice versa. That is why husbands and wives need to work at keeping their lines of communication open.

Ultimately, the Bible teaches, under God the husband is to have the final say if there cannot be mutual agreement on a decision, but this never is an excuse for a husband to be insensitive or insistent on his own selfish way. "Love is very patient and kind... Love does not demand its own way" (Corinthians 13:4-5, Living Bible).

Let me suggest, however, that your husband is unlikely to change as long as every decision is made in the heat of an argument. Emotions take over in an argument, and it becomes a battle of the wills rather than a loving and sensible examination of the problem.

The Bible says, "A gentle answer turns away wrath, but a harsh word stirs up anger" (Proverbs 15:1). Ask God to help you and your husband learn to discuss questions honestly, and without getting into an argument. And learn to say "I'm sorry" when you should.

But more than that, you and your husband need another partner in your marriage — God, who gave marriage to us.

Around The Rim

By KEELY COGHLAN

GOP mania

I love dinosaurs. Not the mammoth, scaly reptiles that lumbered across the continent eons ago, but the modern convention species, Tyrannosaurus Republicanus Rex, most recently seen at the Dallas County Convention Center.

Where else is it permissible for gray-haired men in button-downs and pinstripes to go around tooting elephant horns, a truly obscene and annoying sound?

Where else do they fence the respectable people in and keep the zoo of protesters on the outside staring in?

Nowhere else but the convention. This convention had so little news for 1984 that 25 reporters at a vice presidential news conference dived on one poor reporter from an alternative newspaper, wearing long braided hair, because George Bush mistook him for a woman when he agreed to take his question.

Michael Heatherly became an "instant media happening." The questions went something like this: "Did he apologize?" "What did he say when he stopped by after the press conference?" and "Who do you work for?"

More than 1,300 reporters were accredited for this? Outside, the reporters outnumbered protesters at Tent City and at media events, like the mass arrest in front of city hall. About 100 persons were surrounded and arrested after a march that included a wild run through Neiman-Marcus' downtown store, a die-in at Southwestern Bell (out-of-town protesters confused it with Bell Helicopter in Fort Worth) and the latest in graffiti art at other Dallas corporate offices.

Surrounding these corporate marauders were more than 100 Dallas police in riot gear, at least 50 Dallas County sheriff's deputies and building security officials, and at least 75 reporters and cameramen taking pictures and listening to chants of liberation.

The real action on the convention floor were the button and pin swaps. There were the ethnic buttons — "Estonians for Reagan," "Czechs for Reagan," and "Reagan" spelled in Hebrew.

The comedy buttons included Reagan and Bush in bathing suits over the legend "The Beef Brothers," the infamous "Fritz-busters" button with the slash through a pasty Walter Mondale, "Kennedy for Life-guard," "Reagan staffers do it cheap" and "Reagan women do it again," the last widening the gender gap by a few thousand feet.

Add flashing lights, batteries included, to any of the above and maybe — just maybe — you can trade it for a Mary Louise Smith button or an elephant trunk with "Groucho Marx" glasses and mustaches — status symbols for the new society and perfect attire for the Hunts' barbecues.

Opinions expressed in this column are those of the staff writer and do not necessarily reflect the views of the newspaper's management.

Dr. Donohue

Retractile testicle

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Our 2-year-old son was checked by his doctor, who told us he had a "retractile testicle." Will it affect his fertility when he grows up. Is that the same as undescended testicle, which we have heard about? — Mrs. A.

Retractile testicle is a fairly common occurrence in young children. The testicle is normal in every other way, but just slips into and out of its normal position inside the scrotal sac. It is not thought to be dangerous. The testicle continues to manufacture sperm, so fertility is not affected.

One way to check for retractile testicle is to immerse the child in a heated tub bath. The testicle usually descends to its normal position. Excitement, coldness and physical exertion, on the other hand, can cause the testicle to be pulled upward out of the sac.

One authority states that if the testicle has migrated into the normal sac position one time, no further complications are anticipated. It is not the same as undescended testicle, in which some abnormality has barred the testicle from its descent into the sac, and it never has been able to assume its position, even once.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have a granddaughter who is 2 years old. Recently, she has been diagnosed as having molluscum contagiosum. Tiny red spots break out in an area, and it seems they develop a core in the middle. They do not seem to irritate the child, but I do feel sorry for her. We know it is a virus, but how in the world do you get such a thing? Could you fill me in on the dangers (if any) of this? Is it contagious? — E.F.

You are right about molluscum contagiosum being a viral skin infection. It is a very common infection, occurring all over the world and mostly in youngsters. Its name tells you it is contagious. The virus is passed on from one person to the next, and it can even be transferred from inanimate objects, like towels.

Fortunately, it is one of those problems that looks worse than it actually is. And it is also one of the problems where usually the latest treatment is the best.

The little domes last from six months to a year, sometimes a bit longer. But they do eventually disappear. They do not tend to recur, the way warts do. They are best left alone, because you don't want to do anything that might promote scarring once healing has occurred. Molluscum contagiosum usually disappears without scarring. In selected cases, the doctor may want to freeze or scrape off the domes.

Because it is so common, readers may want a better description of the lesions. The skin forms tiny fleshy to pearly-white domes with a depression in the center, from which a cheesy material may leak. Ordinary hygiene practiced in the presence of any contagious skin infection is in order. I hope your granddaughter's acquaintance with molluscum contagiosum is brief.

Dear Abby

Owners responsible for out-of-control pets

DEAR ABBY: I am your animal control officer. I am not the dreaded "dog catcher" or the "murderer" you call me.

It is not I who allows your pet to roam the streets, to contract diseases from other free-roaming animals, to be hit by passing motorists or poisoned by rotting garbage. I am the one who must look into those sick, pain-glazed eyes, try to remove the animal without causing it further pain, and then humanely "put it to sleep" to put an end to its suffering.

It is not I who allows your pets to breed, then dumps the unwanted puppies and kittens on roadsides and in shelters. I'm the one who must find the tiny animals before they die of starvation, exposure or disease, and as an act of mercy, exterminate them. It hurts me to be forced to kill hundreds of thousands of animals each year, but because of your irresponsibility, I have no choice.

It is not I who abandons unwanted animals on farm roads, telling myself some friendly farmer will surely take them in and give them a good home. But I am the one who must pick up the frightened animal who waits in vain for its beloved master, wondering why it has been abandoned. I am the one who must help that friendly farmer trap, tranquilize or kill that animal because it has begun to roam in packs with other abandoned hungry animals, killing livestock, fowl and game.

I am not the one who breeds and fights dogs in the name of "sport." But I'm the one who fights the breeders and participants, and must pick up the dead and dying animals that have been left behind.

It is not I who keeps a pet confined in an area too small — without food, water, shelter or exercise. But I must deal with the irresponsible owner who does.

It is not I who refuses to spend the time and money to keep up regular inoculations that all pets require. But I am the one who must pick up the sick animal that is dying of a preventable disease.

So remember, the next time your child is bitten by a stray dog, your trash is dumped and scattered, your pet is lost, stolen, poisoned or hit by a car, it is the animal control officer you call — not the "dog catcher." The next time your pet is picked up, or you are cited for neglecting or abusing it, remember, I am only trying to get you to fulfill your responsibility to your pet, your neighbor and yourself.

Do not scorn me. Respect me, for I am the product of your irresponsibility. I love animals, and I care.
ANIMAL CONTROL OFFICER

DEAR OFFICER: Thank you for a powerful message that needs to be repeated often.

No pet should be allowed to breed indiscriminately. Please, please have your pet spayed or neutered.

Planned Parenthood Clinic sets new hours

Planned Parenthood of the Permian Basin has announced a change in the hours and days open for the Big Spring clinic beginning in September.

The clinic will be closed Thursday afternoons, but will be open Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. for supply pick-ups and to set appointments. "I think the new Saturday hours will be a real advantage to our clients who find it difficult to get off work in order to come to the clinic for supplies," said Diane Murphey, Big Spring Family Planning specialist.

Big Spring Planned Parenthood will continue being open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and Friday and from 8 a.m. to 12 noon Thursday. Appointments may be made by calling the clinic at 263-8351. The Big Spring clinic is located at 709 Johnson.

Planned Parenthood of the Permian Basin is a non-profit organization providing quality family planning care at a low cost throughout a 17-county region and is now in its 20th year of operation.

Ming Meek honored at reception

Ming Meek was honored with a reception last Tuesday night following her graduation from the Howard College LVN class.

Hosting the reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Rhoton, Village Road, were: the Rhotons, Mrs. Billy Rudd and Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Clayton. She was presented with two money trees.

Guests were served from an area decorated in red and white. Miss Meek begins work at the Big Spring State Hospital Sept. 1.

Volunteer Services plans rummage sale

The Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Services Council will have a rummage sale beginning Sept. 5 at the former Prager's Men's and Boy's Wear store, 102 E. 3rd.

Persons wishing to donate to the sale may take items to the rummage sale building. Plenty of clothing, household items, furniture, toys and other items will be available to shop from. For additional information about the sale, call the Volunteer Office at 267-8216 ext. 534.

Chapter has largest increase in fund-raising

Doris Carmack, field representative for this March of Dimes area, reported to the Caprock Chapter of March of Dimes at its Aug. 14 meeting that the chapter had the largest increase in fund-raising in the area. The meeting was held at Avery and Associates board room.

Plans for Monte Carlo Night were discussed. The event will be Oct. 20 with the theme "Circus! Circus!" Linda Floyd is working with the Chemical People on a parents seminar for October.

Guests attending the meeting were Cheryl New and Bob Coltrane. The board will meet again Sept. 11.

and by
KIM KIRKHAM
Lifestyle Writer

West German born Marianne Brown has shared many German recipes with the Herald Recipe Exchange. Several will be printed below. Others will be printed in later Herald Recipe Exchanges.

Mrs. Brown is from Heidelberg, West Germany. She came to the United States in 1959 and later became a U.S. citizen. She is wife of Chestnut Brown.

Mrs. Brown is the director of the Northside Community Center and provides the Red Cross' Service to Military Families. She also recently helped charter a local German club, which has 12 members. Anyone interested in joining the club, or any Military family needing help may contact her at the Northside Center at 263-2673 or at home.

Some of the recipes are listed with their German names on top and American names underneath.

JUST COOKIN — Marianne Brown shares many German recipes with the Herald Recipe Exchange readers. Some are featured this week and others will be published in the future.

STREUSEL KUCHEN

Streusel Cake

Marianne Brown

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tsps. baking powder
- 2 eggs (separated)
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 cups flour

Combine sugar, flour and baking powder by sifting them together. Add butter and mix with fingers to form crumbs. Take out 1 cup of crumbs. To the remaining crumbs add the well-beaten egg yolks and milk. Fold in the stiffly-beaten egg whites. Mix well. Pour mixture into well-greased deep pan and sprinkle top with leftover crumbs. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 45 minutes. Sprinkle top with melted butter and cinnamon.

KLEINE KAFFEE KUCHEN

Individual Coffee Cakes

Marianne Brown

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 - 2 whole eggs
 - 2 egg yolks
 - 3 Tbsps. sugar
 - 1/2 cup cream
 - 2 cups sifted flour
 - 1 yeast cake, dissolved in 1/4 cup lukewarm milk
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
- Cream butter sugar and salt.

Add eggs and egg yolks one at a time, beating well after each addition. To the dissolved yeast, add 3 Tbsps. of the flour and mix well. Combine with the first mixture. Add the remaining flour and cream alternately. Grease and flour muffin tins and fill 2/3 full with dough. Set pan in warm place until dough has risen to the tops of the pans. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 25 minutes.

APFEL PUFFER

Apple Fritters

Marianne Brown

- 1 cup flour
- 1 1/2 tsps. baking powder
- 3 Tbsps. powdered sugar
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 2 medium-sized sour apples (sliced thin)
- Shortening

Sift the dry ingredients into a bowl. Beat the egg and add the milk. Stir this into dry ingredients. Mix well. Add the sliced apples. Drop batter by spoonfuls to form small pancakes into hot shortening and fry.

FILLET GULASCH

Marianne Brown

- Salt and a pinch of thyme and rosemary
 - 1 tsp. tomato paste
 - 1 1/4 lb. fillet of beef
 - 1 Tbsp. flour
 - 2 ozs. butter or margarine
 - 1 onion
 - 1 tsp. paprika
- Not quite a half a pint of sour cream
- Cut fillet into small 1-inch cubes. Roast cubes in hot butter, then sprinkle with the flour. Add finely chopped onions and roast a bit more. Add tomato paste, salt, thyme and paprika. Now add the sour cream. Let simmer for about 20 minutes or until meat is tender. Serve with noodles, mashed potatoes or rice.

VEAL ROLLS WITH EGG

Marianne Brown

- 1 pinch of rosemary
 - 4 thin fillets of veal
 - Prepared mustard
 - 1 onion (diced fine)
 - Parsley (chopped fine)
 - Salt and pepper
 - 2 Tbsps. flour
 - 1 1/2 ozs. bacon (cut into small pieces)
 - 4 hard boiled eggs
 - 2 Tbsps. sour cream
 - 2 ozs. butter or margarine
 - 1 slice of lemon
 - 2 tsp. tomato paste
 - A little less than 1/2 pint chicken broth
- Beat the fillets lightly with a meat cleaver. Sauté onions and parsley in butter. Brush them on to the fillets, sprinkle with chopped bacon. Put a hard boiled egg in the middle and roll the fillets up. Secure with toothpicks. Roll them in flour and brown in hot butter. Add sour cream, lemon and tomato paste. Add a little of the broth at a time and simmer, covered, about 30 minutes. Serve with zucchini and mashed potatoes.

HAM PUDDING

Marianne Brown

- 2 ozs. butter
- 4 large tomatoes
- 8 ozs. sliced ham

- 6 eggs
- 3 Tbsps. milk
- Salt and pepper
- Chives

Cut tomatoes in slices and ham in strips. Heat butter and lay the tomatoes in it. Lay ham onto this. Beat milk, eggs, salt and pepper together and slowly pour over tomatoes and ham. Do not turn or stir. When eggs are set, slide it on a serving platter and garnish with chives. Cut in wedges and serve with a tossed salad.

CUCUMBER SALAD

Marianne Brown

- 2 large cucumbers
 - 3 Tbsps. oil
 - 2 Tbsps. vinegar
 - Salt and pepper
 - 1/2 small onion (finely chopped)
 - Dill or parsley (finely chopped)
 - 1 Tbsp. mayonnaise
- Wash and peel cucumbers. Taste each end for bitterness. If bitter, cut until it is gone (one slice of bitter cucumber can ruin the salad). With a grater, slice the cucumbers in a bowl. Sprinkle with salt and set aside for 30 minutes. Now drain of juice. Make a marinade of the oil, vinegar, salt, pepper, chopped onion and dill or parsley. Now add cucumber and mix up well. Let set for one hour in refrigerator.

HAMBURGER GRAVY

Marianne Brown

- 3/4 lb. lean ground beef
 - 1 oz. shortening
 - 1 onion, chopped fine
 - 2 Tbsp. flour
 - A little less than a pint of beef broth
 - Salt and pepper
 - 1 dash of vinegar
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1 clove
 - 1 tsp. tomato paste
 - 1 bit of sweet cream
- Fry the beef and onion together, getting it nice and crumbly. Sprinkle with flour and brown a bit more. Add the broth slowly. Add spices and bring to a good boil. Now remove from heat and add tomato paste and cream. If sauce is too thin, thicken with a bit of cornstarch. Serve over spaghetti.

BEEF PATTIES IN SOUR CREAM

Marianne Brown

- A little flour
- 1 1/4 lbs. lean ground beef
- Salt and pepper
- 1 onion, minced

- 2 Tbsps. butter
- 1 old roll, (soaked and squeezed)
- 1 egg
- A little more butter
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 tsp. tomato paste
- 1 pinch of rosemary

Preheat oven. Mix ground beef with salt and pepper. Add onions, roll and egg and mix well. Spice once again. Form patties and turn in flour. Brown in hot butter on both sides. Lay patties into a glass baking dish. Mix sour cream with tomato paste and rosemary. Pour over patties. Put into hot oven and let brown for 10 minutes. Serve with mashed potatoes and green salad.

FISH CASSEROLE

Marianne Brown

- 1 1/4 lbs. cooked fish fillet (any kind)
- 9 ozs. cooked macaroni
- 2 1/2 Tbsps. shortening
- 5 Tbsps. flour
- Not quite 1 pint of fish stock
- Salt and pepper
- 1 egg yolk
- 1 bit of lemon juice
- 2 Tbsps. bread crumbs
- 2 Tbsps. grated cheese (Parmesan)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Place the cooked fish and macaroni in layers in a greased casserole dish. On a pan, lightly brown flour in shortening, add fish stock carefully and salt and pepper. Add beaten egg yolk and lemon juice. (The sauce should be kind of thick). Pour the sauce over the macaroni and fish. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake for 30 minutes. Remove and sprinkle with cheese. Serve over boiled potato pieces.

SHRIMP IN DILL SAUCE

Marianne Brown

- 4-6 thawed shrimp per person
 - 1 1/2 Tbsps. butter or margarine
 - 4 Tbsps. flour
 - A little less than a pint of fish stock
 - Salt and pepper
 - 2 Tbsps. fresh dill
 - 2 Tbsps. sweet cream
- Lightly brown the flour in the butter. Add the fish stock slowly, so no lumps will form. Beat with egg beater to get it smooth. Add salt and pepper and simmer slowly for 10 to 15 minutes. Add dill and cream and simmer for another five minutes. Add the shrimp and simmer for another five minutes. Serve over rice.

Chocolate is favorite in all forms

By TOM HOGE

AP Wine and Food Writer

The Netherlands has long been famed for its mellow cheeses and brilliant tulip blooms. But it also plays an important role in the world chocolate market.

The Dutch radically changed the chocolate industry in the 19th century when a specialist named C. J. Van Houten took out a patent on a process to make chocolate powder by removing approximately two thirds of the cocoa butter that exists in chocolate.

The product he created was more digestible and easier to mix with warm water. The partially defatted chocolate powder became the base for hot chocolate, long a standby for schoolchildren on wintry days.

In another innovation, Van Houten produced a chocolate that was darker in color but milder to the taste, which mixed easily with hot water. It became known as Dutch cocoa and is still popular.

The Netherlands obtains most of its cocoa beans from the African nations of Ghana, Ivory Coast, Nigeria and Cameroon. The beans are shipped in jute bags by merchant vessel to Amsterdam, and the country processes about 10 percent of the world supply.

Today Holland is noted for its milk chocolate candy stuffed with raisins and nuts, but it is also famous for its bittersweet bars, which are rated among the world's finest.

Chocolate has long been a top favorite among Americans, who have a weakness for sweets. In 1983, the people of this country consumed more than 2 billion pounds. So great has its popularity become that Americans now eat more than $50 million worth of fancy bonbons at about $20 a pound on holidays and special occasions. The overall American chocolate sales have climbed to a stupendous $10 billion a year.

A national gourmet magazine devoted to chocolate, called the Chocolatier, is now being published. It is filled with recipes featuring chocolate, such as the following for "snowballs."

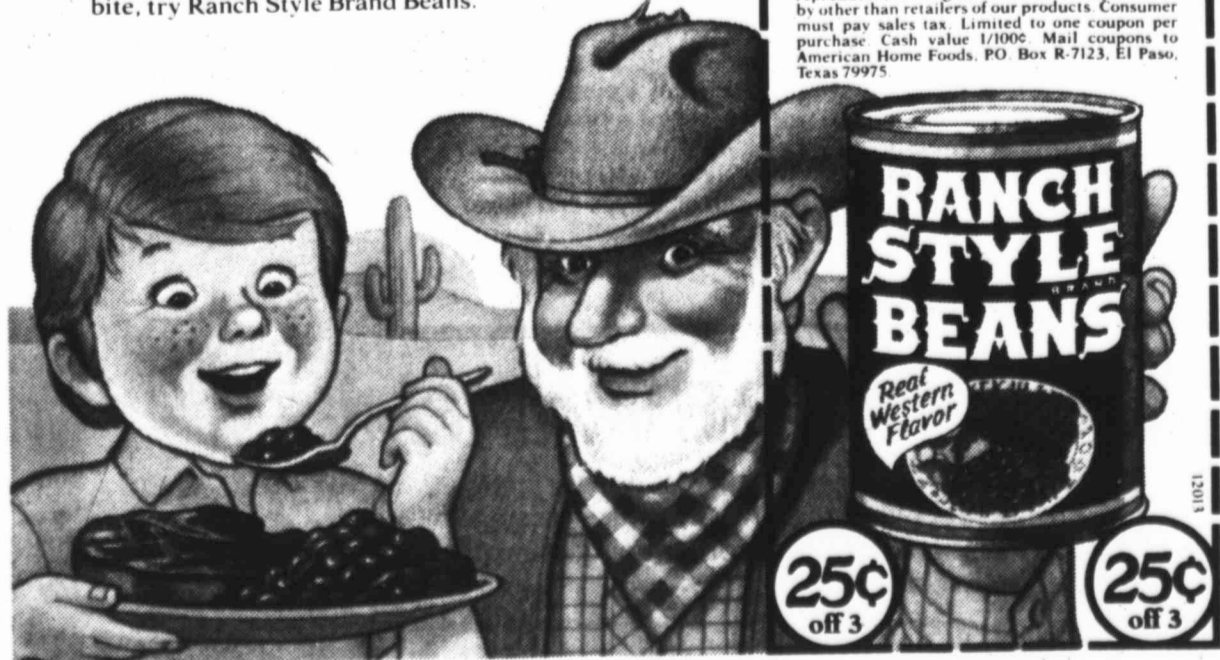

SNOWBALLS

- 1/2 lb. unsalted butter
 - 3/4 cup granulated sugar
 - 1 Tbsp. sherry
 - 2 cups sifted flour
 - 1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts
 - 8 ozs. chocolate kisses
- Confectioners' sugar for decoration
- Cream butter, sugar and sherry together until smooth. Add flour and stir in the nuts. Gather dough into a disk and wrap in foil or plastic. Refrigerate at least half an hour. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Remove foil from kisses and insert each one inside ball of dough about one inch in diameter. Make sure each kiss is completely surrounded with dough. Bake cookies on ungreased baking sheet about 12 minutes, until just cooked through. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar while still warm.

Venus, Texas, in orbit after new school opens

VENUS, Texas (AP) — The school district that was supposed to die is poised to reopen with a one-year reprieve.

Severe overcrowding and curriculum deficiencies plagued this growing district, state officials said, and the Texas Education Agency decided to strip the district of its accreditation and state funding.

The TEA's action came after the red brick school in this Johnson County town was burned by an arsonist last spring.

But the Venus Board of Education appealed the state's decision. Because the appeal has not yet been heard, Venus won the one-year reprieve.

"We've been resurrected," said Preston Holland, the new school superintendent.

The school year was supposed to begin Monday, but was postponed until Sept. 4 because the task of reassembling the school system is not yet finished.

On Monday, school desks were stacked haphazardly in the sun and workers scrambled to install new classrooms.

Holland, teachers and some students gathered on the school grounds to lend a hand.

"We just have to have our school. We're here and we are going to do it," said Modena Beames, a resident of Venus who works for the district.

"We have to keep this school," said Chandi Bankston, 15, a Venus High School cheerleader who has been coming with friends to the school every day in recent weeks to help with preparations.

"My mom and my dad went to this school, and I don't want to go to any other school," she said. "I figured if we all stayed together and fought to keep our school, we would win. We did it."

Holland, who began his tenure in Venus this month, admits saving the district will be a formidable task. Overcrowding is even a greater concern this year, since the school that held 624 students last year will have an enrollment this year of at least 750.

High school students will be housed in the prefabricated classrooms that were setup after the fire.

HAVE YOU SEEN EITHER OF THESE YOUNG MEN?

Both of these young men disappeared while delivering the Des Moines Sunday Register. John Gosch has been missing since Sept. 5, 1982. Eugene Martin disappeared on Aug. 12, 1984. If you have information concerning either boy call the Des Moines, Iowa, Police Department Hotline (COLLECT) 515-246-9988.

Eugene Martin of Des Moines, Ia. is 13 years old and disappeared on Aug. 12, 1984. He is 5 feet tall, 105 pounds, thin, with dark brown hair, brown eyes and a dark complexion. He was wearing blue jeans, a gray midriff shirt with white stripes and red sleeves, and blue Trax tennis shoes with white diagonal stripes.

John Gosch was 12 years old when he disappeared on Sept. 5, 1982, while delivering newspapers in West Des Moines, Iowa. He was described as 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighing 140 pounds, with blue eyes and light brown hair.

New UTPB president takes helm in Odessa

ODESSA (AP) — A year ago, Duane M. Leach was appointed to a position he seemed destined to reach.

As president of the University of Texas at the Permian Basin, the 49-year-old Leach says he loves his job.

"Sure it's fun, but not every day," Leach said. "And it's exciting to be a part of this."

Walking at a brisk pace around the UTPB student lounge area and gesturing when he spoke, Leach recently reflected upon his third college presidency and what he hoped to accomplish in the near future.

Besides his presidency at UTPB, which began in August 1983, Leach also has directed Texas A&I University in Kingsville and Northern Montana College in Havre.

"The challenge of coming here is there's something to be accomplished," Leach said, adding that UTPB is "young; it's in the forming process." Because "the traditions of the university don't happen overnight, you can shape a university," he said.

Shaping UTPB is what Leach

said he is doing.

UTPB's Director of Admissions Russell Monahan described Leach as a "mover" and "doer."

"He sees the things that need to be done and one way or another he gets them done," Monahan said.

Pam Price, UTPB associate art professor, says Leach has "brought a breath of fresh air here. He's a very dynamic, energetic person and I think he's been able to convey that sense of energy to students and faculty."

In addition to the structural changes, Leach has other plans.

Besides recruiting students locally, Monahan said, UTPB administrators will visit junior and community college campuses near Dallas, El Paso and Abilene once or twice a year to seek enrollment.

Leach said he also has plans to improve student housing, now consisting of 60 mobile homes.

Leach said UTPB also is encouraging businesses and banks to "get their employees to return to school on a part-time basis to upgrade their education."

Within 10 years, Leach said, he envisions UTPB enrollment to reach about 5,000 students. Last fall, 1,975 students were enrolled and 1,283 were enrolled for summer session this year. Monahan said he projects enrollment for next fall to top more than 2,000 students.

Leach also envisions a library, classroom complex, student union complex, expanded participation in intercollegiate athletics, a research center, technology diversification and a theater complex.

Gramm, Doggett spar over right-to-work

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican U.S. Senate candidate Phil Gramm, continuing to say Democrat Lloyd Doggett opposes right-to-work guarantees, on Tuesday charged Doggett with hiding from his record.

Doggett said he is hiding from nothing, pointing out that Gramm remains unable to find a single instance when Doggett voted against the Texas right-to-work law.

Their debate extended a controversy that began Friday, when Gramm told the Texas Association of Counties that Doggett had opposed right-to-work guarantees.

Later, Doggett said Gramm cannot find one vote that the 10-year state senator ever cast against "the Texas right-to-work law, which I have supported when it has come up."

On Tuesday, Gramm said Doggett is trying to put the issue into a equivalent as a condition for getting a job in our state," Gramm told a news conference.

"My statement was (that) my opponent has voted against right to work guarantees for Texas workers. My opponent said that was 'flat wrong' and then made the statement about his support of the right-to-work."

"The point I want to make is a pretty simple and straightforward point: it's going to be virtually impossible for us to debate the issues when my opponent goes around disavowing his own record," Gramm said.

Bill Collier, press secretary to Doggett, said Doggett had solid reasons for voting as he did on the five times Gramm cited.

Three of the votes were cast at a state constitutional convention in 1974. Collier said Doggett sees a substantial distinction "between the right-to-work law that's been on the books since 1947 and putting a law into the Constitution, which is supposed to remain a fluid document."

"That's what the constitutional convention was all about — getting rid of all those extraneous matters that don't belong in a constitution," he said.

In 1975, Doggett voted in the Legislature to table a proposed right-to-work amendment to the state Constitution for the same reason, Collier said.

In 1981, he voted against a bill to prohibit "agency shops" — whereby non-union employees must pay a fee to the union equal to union dues — because the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals already had ruled that state law prohibits agency shops.

"The other law was superfluous," Collier said.

State to aid local law enforcement

AUSTIN (AP) — More than $24 million in criminal justice grants were awarded by the state Tuesday to help boost local law enforcement agencies.

Gov. Mark White's office said the grants, ranging in size from a few thousand dollars to more than $1 million, would be used to put more officers on the streets, discourage juvenile crime, organize citizen-watch programs and fund other crime prevention efforts.

"To establish safer communities, we must encourage citizens and the police to work together to swiftly apprehend criminal offenders and to support programs designed to discourage young people from engaging in criminal activity," White said in a statement.

Funding for the programs came from fines levied against people convicted of violating state criminal laws, officials said.

National Geographic eyes Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — National Geographic magazine has taken a look at Dallas, the site of last week's Republican National Convention, and concluded the city is "an anything is possible kind of place."

Dallas is featured in the September issue, along with stories on manatees and Okies, soil and a wild river in Iceland. Writer Griffin Smith Jr. spent six weeks in Dallas last fall gathering data for the story.

"To me the distinctive part of Dallas is North Dallas, and that's what I focused my article on," said Smith, who lived in Texas for nearly 20 years before returning to his boyhood home in Little Rock, Ark.

Smith talked with developers, journalists, historians, entrepreneurs and social activists.

"Like the lighted globe atop 262-foot Reunion Tower, Dallas revolves around the dollar: Getting it, spending it, using it to keep score," the article says.

The article also says that "Dallas does believe in conspicuous consumption. Cadillacs attract scant notice. BMWs are as common as carrots. Every three hours last year, Dallas dealers sold another new Mercedes Benz at prices ranging from $23,000 to $7,000."

Dallas was a natural choice of subjects for National Geographic, said Associate Editor Joseph Judge. In addition to articles on rain forests and archaeological ruins, the magazine routinely reports on other U.S. regions and cities, Judge said.

"American readers may think, 'Dallas, that's nothing special,'" Smith said. "but National Geographic has 12 million readers all over the world and to many of them Dallas is fascinating."

A&M editor dies after auto crash

BRYAN — The incoming editor of Texas A&M University's student newspaper has died of injuries he suffered in a car wreck Aug. 20.

James William "Bill" Robinson, 22, suffered extensive head injuries and was in a coma for a week after the accident. He died Monday at St. Joseph Hospital in Bryan.

Robinson, of Round Rock, was a passenger in a Fiat sports car which overturned on a rural Brazos County road, officials said.

The accident occurred one day before Robinson was to take over as editor of the newspaper The Battalion.

Cowboys usher in Hogeboom era

By The Associated Press
 Boosted by the grass-roots support of his teammates, Gary Hogeboom took over as the No. 1 quarterback of the Dallas Cowboys today.

"The coach finally listened to us," fullback Ron Springs said of Tom Landry's decision Tuesday to replace Danny White with Hogeboom, a five-year reserve. "Hogeboom was the most respected on the team. Danny had great stats but his confidence was lacking. Players don't like to hear things like that but it's the truth. We expect great things from Hogeboom."

The Cowboys' coach was visibly upset at the prospect of supplanting his longtime No. 1 quarterback. Landry was so jittery at a news conference that at first he said the quarterback replacing White was "Pozderac," an offensive lineman also known as Phil.

Landry corrected that to "Hogenbloom," mispronouncing the name of his new field leader.

It was not a happy day for Landry, and was reminiscent of 1971 when he had to replace Craig Morton with Roger Staubach under similar circumstances. Landry said he wished he was on a lake "fishing with (former Minnesota coach) Bud Grant instead of making decisions like this."

Noted Landry: "This could be a one week thing. We're playing it game by game."

He said the No. 1 quarterback designation was subject to change as early as the second half of Monday night's game against the Los Angeles Rams.

Majority Cowboys owner Bum Bright speculated that both Hogeboom and White could see action this season.

"Mr. Landry has chosen one to start but I imagine both will be doing a lot of playing this year," Bright said.

In other training camp developments, veteran running back Rickey Young was cut along with kicker Rick Danmeier and defensive lineman James "Duck" White by the Minnesota Vikings. Young had chalked up nearly 7,000 yards in total offense in nine seasons with the San Diego Chargers and Vikings.

Danmeier, one of the NFL's last straight-ahead kickers who amassed 364 points in five seasons, was beaten out by 41-year-old veteran Jan Stenerud.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, meanwhile, waived nine players, including former starting defensive end Tom Beasley and wide receiver Paul Skansi.

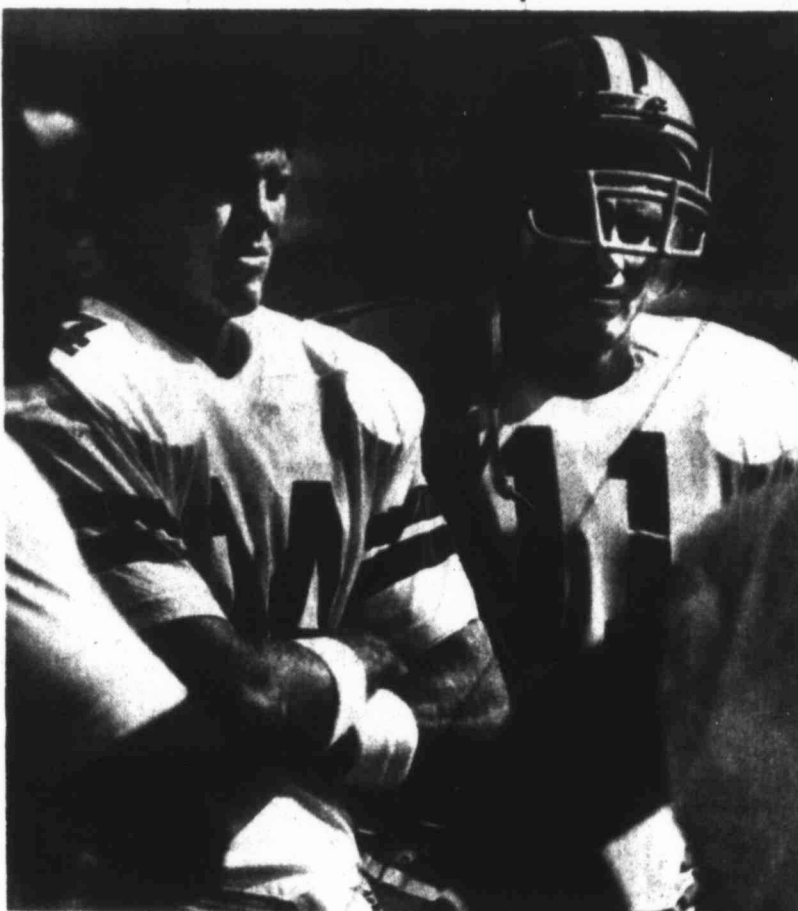

The Seattle Seahawks announced 10 cuts, including five veterans: nose tackle Robert Hardy, offensive guard Bill Dugan, offensive tackle Matt Hernandez, quarterback Steve Wray and linebacker Jerome Boyd.

The Cincinnati Bengals transferred two active players to the injured reserve list in order to recall two rookie free agents who had been cut Monday, linebacker Brian Pillman and wide receiver Clay Pickering. Strong safety Bobby Kemp and offensive lineman Mike Obrovac were placed on the injured reserve list.

The Denver Broncos put veteran linebacker Bob Swenson and recently acquired quarterback Scott Brunner on the injured reserve list and recalled two players waived a day earlier — running back Jesse Myles and safety Roger Jackson.

The Washington Redskins placed rookie defensive tackle Bob Slater on the injured reserve list along with veteran tight end Clint Didier and safety Ken Coffey.

Fourth-season quarterback Rusty Lisch and six rookies were among the roster cuts made by the St. Louis Cardinals. Lisch, a product of Notre Dame, was picked up by the Chicago Bears following his release by the Cardinals.

Three players cut from the Miami Dolphins were recalled Tuesday: safety Bud Brown, wide receiver Fernandez Burgess and linebacker Sanders Shiver.

"We couldn't let a hitter like that get away," said Miami Coach Don Shula, referring to Brown. "It was the longest of long shots but he kept continuing to do things to get our attention."

The Philadelphia Eagles placed tackle Rusty Russell on the injured reserve list and recalled quarterback Bob Holly, who cleared on waivers. The Detroit Lions acquired fullback Mike Meade on waivers from Green Bay and cut veteran running back Rick Kane.

In another training camp development, All-Pro cornerback Mark Haynes returned to the New York Giants.

Lady Steers rally past SA Lakeview

By STEVE BELVIN
 Staff Writer

It took a stern talk from coach Susan Sharp to boost the Big Spring Lady Steers to a win over the San Angelo Lakeview Maidens last night at Steer gym in non-district volleyball action.

Sharp's talk with her team came right after the first game in which the Lady Steers had blown an 8-5 lead, losing 8-15 as Lakeview scored 10 unanswered points. Instead of talking to her troops on the sidelines during the two minute intermission between games, Sharp quickly scurried her team into the dressing room for her talk.

Evidently her "little meeting" with her team must have worked wonders as the Lady Steers jumped out to early leads in the next two sets, winning 15-7 and 15-11, to gain their fourth win against four defeats.

"We simply talked about the mistakes we had been making," explained Sharp. "We were not playing as a team, we weren't getting any ups (first hits) to get any sets." "We were making mental errors which caused physical errors."

Big Spring jumped on the Maidens early in the second match after Lake View's Teresa Grothe scored the game's first point. The next time the visitors registered on the scoreboard the Lady Steers held a commanding 9-1 lead, thanks to the serving of Monique Jones. Jones' nine points were aided by an ace, two kills by Trell Clemons, one by Tanya Ferguson and five Lakeview mis-hits.

Clemons and sophomore Tab

Green were two of the main reasons for the Lady Steers success in recording nine and seven kills respectively. Jones had six spikes to her credit.

In the final game Lakeview jumped to a 2-0 lead behind the service of Carmon Franco. The lead was short-lived as Tab Green served up six points for Big Spring. The lead went to 10-2 as Clemons added three more points thanks to two kills by Jones.

Lakeview made a run for at the Lady Steers as Grothe's service narrowed the lead to 13-10, but that was as close as the Maidens could get as their record dropped to 0-2 for the season.

Sharp was happy for the win, but displeased with her team's inability to put their opponents away. "We just don't have that killer instinct. We are young and it shows. We get a team down, let up and they come back, but we'll learn though. I was really pleased with the play of Trell Clemons and Shelia Chatman."

JV WINS ALSO

The Lady Steers junior varsity gained its fifth win in 10 games by downing Lakeview 15-5, 15-8.

Sheri Myrick scored six points in the first game while Sonya Evans and Lisa Hale scored four points each in the second game. Coach Elaine Stone singled out the fine play of Taylissa Cork and Michelle Husted.

Both varsity and junior varsity will be in action Thursday night in Plains versus Plains. Junior varsity begins play at 6 p.m.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — U.S. Open 10th seed Eliot Teitscher grits his teeth as he hits the ball during his first round U.S. open match Tuesday against Heinz Gunthardt. Teitscher won the game, 7-6, 6-2, 6-7, 6-3.

Cubs could become nightbirds under Commissioner's orders

NEWYORK (AP) — The possibility of installing lights at Wrigley Field, even for day games, has arisen as the Chicago Cubs await a commissioner's decision on their postseason dilemma.

Wrigley Field, the only major league park without lights, has been the center of a rather poorly illuminated controversy ever since the Cubs battled their way into the lead in the National League East.

Because the Cubs play all their home games during the day, they could cost baseball owners substantial postseason TV money. Under its contract with NBC and ABC, baseball must provide a certain number of prime time postseason games; if it does not, it must return money to the networks.

Up to now, most of the speculation has been that Commissioner Bowie Kuhn would either order the installation of temporary lights to make night games possible, make the Cubs play in a different stadium or maneuver the schedule in such a way to eliminate weekday games at Wrigley.

Now, knowledgeable insiders are saying that even if the Cubs were allowed to play day games in postseason, they might be asked to rig up some sort of lighting. The worry is that rain or extra innings could delay a game long enough to force suspension because of darkness.

"It's an interesting point," says Oakland A's President Roy Eisenhardt, a member of baseball's Executive Council. "I haven't heard it discussed. I don't know what the starting times are for those games, but it's conceivable that a day game at Wrigley Field could become a night game.

"The fact that I haven't heard it discussed shouldn't lead to any conclusions. I think it should be discussed, and it probably has been."

Tom Merritt, a spokesman for NBC, said there was "a danger" in televising day games at Wrigley because "there's not much available daylight in mid-October."

Merritt said NBC had not discussed the possibility of lighting Wrigley Field with baseball, but he admitted that "daytime games themselves are fraught with danger because of the possibility of rain and the lack of available daylight."

The best-of-5 National League Championship Series, to be telecast by ABC, is tentatively set to start in the Cubs' East Division on Oct. 2. As a result, there could be two weekday playoff games that probably would be at night elsewhere.

And, with the World Series to start in the National League, a Cubs pennant could force four weekday games, a ratings nightmare for NBC.

The quandary has delayed release by the commissioner's office of the postseason schedule, and Andrew J. McKenna, Cubs board chairman, said the club was waiting for the decision.

"Our first objective is simply to get there (postseason), and not talk about it until then," McKenna said when contacted by telephone. "We really have kept a low profile in this situation. The matter resides in the commissioner's hands right now."

McKenna said the Cubs had discussed the situation with Kuhn, but not in depth. He said the discussions "deal more with the issue itself and have not really dealt too severely with whatever approach might be taken."

While speculation over installing lights has been widespread, schedule juggling also has been at the forefront.

Chances are, the NL playoff problem could be solved by starting the series in the West on Oct. 2-3, a Tuesday and Wednesday, then moving it to the East for the weekend.

The World Series has been a tougher problem. The Series would normally begin on Oct. 9-10 — a Tuesday and Wednesday — at the National League city. After a day off, the Series would move to the American League for three games starting on Friday, Oct. 12. The Series would wind up in the NL city on Oct. 16-17, another Tuesday and Wednesday. That schedule could mean up to four weekday World Series telecasts from Wrigley Field.

An option being talked about would delay the start of the Series at Chicago until the weekend of Oct. 13-14, moving the AL dates to the weeknights of Oct. 16-17-18, then finishing up in the NL on the weekend of Oct. 20-21.

"We don't have a terrific amount of time, but there is no precise timetable," Wirz said. "We're trying to get the postseason schedule worked out as rapidly as possible.

Heavy scrimmage schedule action on tap for Big Spring

Coach Quinn Eudy's youthful Big Spring Steers football squad will get the chance to see how well it stacks up against competition other than itself when the Steers host the Sweetwater Mustangs at 7 p.m. at Memorial Stadium in what is only one of a four scrimmage night in Big Spring.

The Steers scrimmage will follow a tussle between the Big Spring junior varsity and Sweetwater at 5 p.m. Over at Blankenship Field the Steers Freshmen will go against Sweetwater at 5 p.m. with the Big Spring Sophs going against the Loraine varsity at 7.

The Steers will have a very competitive foe in the Mustangs, a member of District 2-4A. The Mustangs under the direction of coach W.T. Stapler finished with a 7-3 record last season, one game from the playoffs. This season they are expected to challenge for a playoff spot.

The main thing on Eudy's mind is how his young offensive line consisting of Luis Puga, Scott Allison, Doug Walker, Charlie Ogle and Jay Burchum will perform. "I anxious to see how far along the offensive has come along," said Eudy. "I want to see improvement from the scrimmage Friday. I'd like to see more cohesion and everyone competing off the ball well."

The line will have its hands full with the likes of Mustangs' defensive tackle John Layfield (6-5, 210) and All-District linebackers Mike Welch and Bruce Carrington.

Eudy says he is seeking definite improvement from his skill people. "I want to see the receivers improve on their blocking. We will work hard on throwing the football." Such remarks indicate receivers Billy Russell, Tommy Gartman and tight end Sam Bauchun will get plenty of action their way.

The Steers defense will get a chance to go against a Wishbone team that "throws the football.

Youth football signups still underway

Signups are still being taken for all boys interested in playing in the Big Spring Youth Football League, slated to start Sept. 15. Big Spring Athletics is the location for signups. Big Spring Athletics will be open until 6 p.m. the rest of the week.

The league is open to all boys in fifth and sixth grades in Big Spring, Forsan, Garden City and Coahoma. Signup fee is $10 and covers the cost of a jersey.

All youngsters interested in signing up need to bring a birth certificate and be accompanied by a parent or guardian when registering.

Big Spring to host WTRC

Big Spring will host the West Texas Runners Club (WTRC) monthly run in September in conjunction with the Fourth Annual Bill Easterling Memorial Run.

Both events will take place Saturday, Sept. 8 at the McMahon-Wrinkle Air Park. Starting time is 8 a.m. for either the nine mile or two mile courses.

Registration can be done the morning of the race and registration fee will be $3 for non-WTRC members and $2 for members. For more information contact Don Davis at 263-8311.

Labor Day championship on tap

The Big Spring Country Club will hold its annual Club Championship Golf Tournament Sept. 1-3 in conjunction with the Labor Day weekend. Entry fee is $40 for the match play affair that will include a Sunday evening dinner on Sep. 2.

For more information contact tournament chairman Travis Hunter or assistant club pro Doug DeSive at the Big Spring Country Club, 267-5354.

Soccer signups scheduled

Signup for the Big Spring "Y" Soccer Program for youth ages 4-18 is now underway at the YMCA.

The league is open to all area youth ages four to 18. Signup fee is $12.50 for YMCA members and $15 for non-members. Included in the fee is shirt, socks, player insurance and registration with the North Texas Soccer Association.

Participants wishing to get into the program can sign up from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m. For additional information contact Rob McKenzie at 263-8125 or Mike Brock at 267-7213.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, AUG., 30, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon you are able to get in touch with persons you want to be allied with in the future. Then later, you can investigate the best means for carrying through with plans you have made.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Reach a better understanding with whatever partners are around and later you can do the work that is your part of the bargain.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get into work that requires exactness and neatness and gain the backing of outsiders you want to impress.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Early contact those persons with whom you want to set up fine entertainments; then get busy at the actual work required.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) You have every opportunity to please those who dwell with you in the morning, and then treat them to a nice dinner.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You can handle outdoor communications very well today and then have a wonderful time at your home tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Decorate your home so that it will look more charming and be more valuable, and then go after that date you need.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are dynamic today and can impress the right persons favorably before you get into the practical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get that plan formulated early and then start putting it in operation, making little changes as the day wears on.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be with a friend who is cooperative and can help you get what you want; then do the work necessary.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Gain the assistance of a bigwig for some special talent you possess so that you can commercialize on it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A new and enthusiastic approach at your duties can bring you fine benefits at this time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A nice gift for the one you love is wise and then you can gain fine results. Start on a new venture together.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will have a fine life, beginning with affectionate parents, a nice home to live in and plenty of good friends, and will thereby learn of the needs and desires of others early, and will later make a fine living in an investigative profession.
