Off the wall: Sian bids

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Many Olympic memento-seekers bought hats, shirts and pins adorned with the Olympic logo, but other souvenir hunters had something bigger in mind.

Olympic signs that used to adorn the freeways were bought Thursday at a California Department of Transportation sale that attracted 3,822 sealed bids from such far-flung locales as West Germany, New York, Florida, Washington, Iowa and North Carolina.

About 200 of the colorful signs which pointed the way to competition sites for visitors, were installed above the freeways when the Olympics opened July 28. Thieves, however, managed to make off with more than half

The highest bid for the remaining signs was made by Gary Osherhoff, a real estate developer from Los Angeles who became the proud owner of a 15- by 4-foot tennis and gymnastics sign.

Spring Family of ex-football pro killed

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The mother, sister and two nephews of former pro football star Kermit Alexander were slain Friday by two gunmen who walked into the family bungalow and opened fire, said police and neighbors. Two others survived. "They killed my grandmother! They killed my grandmother! My grandmother doesn't hurt anyone," said Ivan Bonner, 13, one of the survivors, as he ran from the house, according to neighbor Lewis Taylor. Bonner is Alexander's nephew.

"They didn't say anything. They just came in shooting," Bonner told another neighbor, who said he took another neighbor, who said he took the youth in after the shootings. Bonner told the neighbor he

Merkel man waits 40 years for medal

PURPLE HEART — Marion Bodine, seated, looks at his Purple Heart medal with John Webb of the Veterans Administration Medical Center. Bodine received the medal Wednesday, 40 years after his discharge from the service.

By CAROL BALDWIN

Staff Writer Because of a oversight by the military, Marion E. Bodine waited 40 years for his Purple Heart, a medal given to soldiers injured in battle.

Bodine, a Merkel resident who visits the Veterans Administration Medical Center locally to meet with the area Prisoners of War group, "had a very distinguished military career," John Webb, a VAMC social worker, said.

Bodine was injured in the Battle of the Bulge, an infamous battle on the Belgium border which saw thousands of American soldiers lose their lives.

The 58-year-old had celebrated his 19th birthday days before he found his division, the 99th infantry of the First Army, headed for the massive battle.

The Battle of the Bulge followed several months of combat for Bodine. He had been involved in several "sporadic battles" throughout the area. But this battle "was their (the Germans) last offensive and they knew it. That time we didn't win. Bodine was pushed into a foxhole with another soldier. The other man was killed instantly when he was shot through his chest.

"The Germans threw everything they had. They tried to wipe out our armies. They didn't make it, but they wiped out several of them."

'We were involved in heavy combat all night." He remembers 'a whole division was wiped out, but I never heard any details about it. (The Germans) completely surrounded us," Bodine said.

He and several other men decided to try to drive through enemy ranks in an Army truck. "We were trying to make a run for it. We didn't make it.(

Machine-gun fire riddled the truck and most of the men inside were killed. "There wasn't a tire left on that truck." Bodine said. See Medal page 2-A

WFAA's Bridgman labeled 'distraught'

DALLAS (AP) - Police say they have found evidence that WFAA-TV weekend anchorwoman Jan Bridgman, whose death was ruled a suicide Friday, had been "emotionally distraught,'

Ms. Bridgman stuffed newspapers into the cracks of her garage door, climbed into her car and started the engine, police said. A station employee found her reclining the car seat, clad in a nightgown on Thursday afternoon.

The Dallas County Medical Examiner's office said Friday that Ms. Bridgman committed suicide. The cause of death was carbon monoxide intoxication.

"From information we got at the scene, there was some indication she may have been emotionally distraught," Lt. Ron Waldrop said.

"Even though we're conducting an investigation, there's no real way we can know what brought it on," he said. "Our main role is to rule out foul play.

Ms. Bridgman's co-workers were stunned and puzzled by her death.

David Margulies, who coanchored the weekend news with Ms. Bridgman, said she was "very upbeat" when he last saw her on See Bridgman page 2-A

Thunderstorms erupt

By the Associated Press

Severe thunderstorms packing winds up to 70 mph erupted from New York to West Virginia today, downing trees and power lines, while rain ended the second longest dry spell in the history of normally soggy Portland, Ore.

Other thunderstorms dampened Louisiana and East Texas. A tornado touched down near one Texas town and golf ball-sized hail was reported in both Texas and Louisiana

In the West, showers and thunderstorms were scattered from western Oregon and northern Nevada across Idaho into southwestern Montana, where the precipitation dampened raging forest and prairie fires but not enough to put them out.

Power was back on for thousands of Michigan residents today after vicious thunderstorms knocked out electricity to at least 235,000 utility customers throughout the Lower Peninsula, authorities said.

Winds up to 68 mph destroyed a home in St. Johns in Clinton County and ripped the roof off two apartment buildings, one in Grand Rapids and one in Detroit. No injuries were reported.

A 12-year-old Kalamazoo girl struck by lightning remained in critical condition Thursday night. Winds up to 70 mph were recorded in Buffalo, N.Y., and hail also pelted parts of Ohio.

The National Weather Service said 0.04 inches of rain had fallen by 5 a.m. PDT at Portland International Airport, after 62 days without measurable amounts of precipitation. The longest recorded dry spell in Portland lasted 71 days in 1967.

At least 0.005 inches of precipitation must be recorded for the weather service to classify it as rain. Anything below that amount would be considered a trace.

Today's forecast called for more scattered showers and thunderstorms over Montana, Idaho, northwest Wyoming, northern Utah and northeastern Nevada

Cloudy skies were forecast across the rest of the nation. High temperatures were expected in the 70s across the northern states and in the upper Ohio Valley. Highs were expected to go above 100 in the desert Southwest and in southern Kansas. Temperatures elsewhere were to be in West Texas — Widely scattered thunderstorms south; otherwise mostly sunny, warm days and fair at night through today. Widely scattered thunderstorms on Sunday. A little cooler north Sunday. Lows Saturday night 50s mountains, 60s most sections and mid 70s Big Bend valleys. Highs Saturday low 80s mountains, near 90 Panhandle and near 100 Big Bend. Highs Sunday near 80 Panhandle to near 102 Big Bend of Rio Grande.

Andropov's son gets post

MOSCOW — Igor Andropov, son of late Soviet leader Yuri V. Andropov, has been appointed Soviet ambassador to Greece, Tass said Friday.

The official news agency confirmed the appointment, first rumored in June when reports of it appeared in Greece and also in Stockholm, where Andropov was part of the Soviet delegation to the European Disarmament Conference.

Tass said Andropov would replace current Ambassador Vladimir Kaboshkin, who has retired. Born in 1941, Andropov holds a history degree and worked for the prestigious U.S.A. and Canada Institute from 1970-74 before joining the Foreign Ministry as a senior instructor at its diplomatic which is burning about 30 miles souht of Libby, Mont.

Fiery nightmare

5,000 firefighters making headway

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Refreshed by needed rest and aided by cooling rains, firefighters struck hard Friday in the dense forests of northwestern Montana in their week-long battle against fires that consumed nearly 250,000 acres of timber and rangeland and destroyed more than 30 homes.

An army of 5,000 firefighters from throughout the West appeared finally to be gaining the upper hand on all the infernos that raged across the state, except the Houghton Creek fire, which still kept several hundred people away from their homes.

Rain helped firefighters contain the 145,000-acre Hawk Creek fire between Roundup and Billings in central Montana and the 28,000-acre North Hill fire near Helena.

The Hawk Creek fire destroyed 30 homes Monday while the North Hill blaze drove several hundred people from their homes.

Nearly 1,600 firefighters were hacking lines Friday around the 12,000-acre Houghton Creek fire 20 miles south of Libby. They hoped to have it encircled, although not contained, by late Saturday, said Thom

Corcoran of the U.S. Forest Service. 'We had hand lines around portions of it two days ago, but the wind came up and it got across," Cor-

Friday's cooler temperatures slowed the fire, but only a trace of moisture fell in that area.

"They were saying it would take three days of good rain to make any difference on this kind of fire, a lot more than this kind of rain," Corcoran said.

Corcoran said most people evacuated because of the fire had not been allowed to return. "We don't really know how many people are out of their homes," he said. "There's one evacuation center in Kalispell and it's not being used."

Unofficial estimates had put the number at about

Residents of a dozen or so cabins in the Crystal Lake area, about a mile from the fire, were prepared to flee if the blaze began moving toward them, Corcoran said. Heavy equipment was being used to cut protective lines around the area.

An 11-mile stretch of U.S. 2, the major traffic route across northern Montana, remained closed. The fire was burning down both sides of the highway.

It has destroyed three homes and 16 other structures, most of them farm and ranch outbuildings, Corcoran said.

At dawn Friday, some 400 rested firefighters launched the biggest assault yet against the Hawk Creek fire. Because of cooler weather and light rain, only three crews were needed to stand guard through the night while the other 12 crews rested.

No homes remained threatened or evacuated by that fire, officials said.

More than half an inch of rain fell on the 28,000-acre North Hill fire north of Helena on Thursday night and early Friday. The entire 800-member firefighting force was withdrawn to Helena overnight to rest.

Lewis and Clark County Sheriff Chuck O'Reilly allowed residents to return Friday morning to the estimated 75 homes that had been evacuated.

Officials said the only residential structure that burned was a cabin near the southern boundary of the Gates of the Mountains Wilderness

The North Hill fire "is only smoldering now," said Terry Seyden at the Helena Interagency Fire Dispatch Center. "There are no big open flames." Four other major fires still were not contained.

Feds seize pornography materials

CHICAGO (AP) - About 2,000 pieces of pornography — about half of which displays children have been seized by federal agents here within the last year as part of a nationwide crackdown, a U.S. rvice official said Friday.

The child pornography mailed to people in 19 states has been intercepted at the Customs Foreign Mail branch in Chicago, said Jack O'Malley, special customs agent. The material includes films, video cassettes, magazines and still photographs - the bulk of it coming from Denmark and the Netherlands, he added.

O'Malley said agents have identified 300 to 400 people who are "multiple receivers" of child por-nography in the region. "We had one person from whom we intercepted 25 parcels in a five-week period," he said. O'Malley said lists are maintained of these multiple receivers.

Among those who were recipients of the child pornography are a college professor, a high school counselor, a children's psychiatrist and an Air Force officer, said Allen Wilk, assistant regional commissioner of the North Central region of the customs

"One usually thinks of a person who is obsessed with child pornography as being some sort of 'sickie,' living in the shadows of society," Wilk said Thursday. "This description may fit some, but we've found others who could be considered pillars of the community.

Child pornography is detected during routine screening of foreign mail by customs officials. "If they feel there's a reasonable suspicion of contraband, they have the authority to open it," O'Malley

There are several federal laws containing felony provisions for importing, mailing and distributing child pornography items, he said.

In some cases, customs officials do criminal history checks to deterimine whether the recipient has contact with children or a criminal background,

Religious leaders buried

BALTIMORE - Two former leaders of Maryland's Episcopalians and Roman Catholics, who had worked together during their terms in the turbulent 1960s and early 1970s, were buried Friday after services held just two hours apart.

Many of the mourners at services early Friday for the Right Rev. Harry Lee Doll, former Episcopalian bishop of Maryland, were present at the noon funeral at Cathedral of Mary Our Queen for Cardinal Lawrence J. Shehan, former head of Baltimore's Archdiocese.

Among the dignitaries at both services was Gov. Harry Hughes

Texan arrested for arson

ST. PETER — A 32-year-old Austin man was being held Friday in connection with three fires at the Minnesota Security Hospital, including one last weekend, police said.

Police, who would not identify the man because he was not charged immediately, said he is a patient at the hospital. He was being held in the Nicollet County Jail.

Officials said they believe the man was responsible for setting three fires in the last 10 days, including last Sunday's fire that destroyed records from the former Rochester State Hospital.

Cops net elderly peddlers

SAN FRANCISCO — Three elderly women and a man were arrested for allegedly staging homesales parties to peddle thousands of dollars worth of stolen clothes, police said.

Police arrested three suspects betwen 60 to 62 years old Wednesday night. A fourth, the 79-yearold mother of one of the suspects, was taken to a hospital near her home in Sonoma after she suffered an apparent heart attack as police prepared to arrest her, authorities said.

Woman cleans up in court

LOS ANGELES — A woman who pressed a suit against a dry cleaners, alleging it charged more to clean women's shirts than men's, won an out of court settlement. The $250 lawsuit filed by Julie Stark was settled

Thursday, when Flair Cleaners vice president Joseph Futterman told attorney Gloria Allred he would eliminate the separate price lists, Ms.

"Women have a right to go to the cleaners without losing their shirts," Ms. Allred said. Ms. Stark said Flair Cleaners charged her $2.75 to clean a shirt, although the price for cleaning men's shirts was $2.35. "With this suit, we're sending a message to the whole industry to clean up their business practices," Ms. Allred said.

Child testifies in abuse case neighbor of a couple on trial on 48 counts of child sexual abuse testified Friday she was abused by the defendants and other adults in her hometown.

The girl was the fifth child to take the stand in the trial of Robert and Lois Bentz of Jordan, who are each charged with 12 counts of criminal sexual conduct and 12 counts of intrafamilial sexual abuse.

The girl said Bentz and others of the 24 adults charged with more than 400 counts of sexually abusing children also forced her and other children to have sex with

"The adults made me do that," she said. "You're just trying to help Bob and Lois get out of this stuff - child abusing," she told defense attorney Barry Voss on cross examination. "I'm not lying, you guys are. It's the truth — they hurt us.

MID-EASTERN SQUIGGLES — Dr Pepper fans in the Jackson, Miss., area have been puzzled recently to find circles of Middle Eastern writing on the tops of the popular soft drink cans. The drinks were canned in Reserve, La., and the writing lists the contents

Arabic writing on Dr Pepper sparks consumers' interests

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Puzzled local fans of Dr Pepper can rest assured — the Arabic writing on their soft drink cans isn't part of a contest or a foreign plot. It's simply the ingredients.

The cans began appearing two weeks ago, prompting hundreds of calls to Southern Mississippi Bottling Co. of Jackson, which distributes Dr Pepper and other soft drinks.

Bill Brown, vice president of Southern Mississippi Bottling, couldn't translate the message, or explain it. "I think it's Arabic. Or Saudi Arabian. How do I know? One downtown snack shop cashier, 70-year-old Emma Rogers, said she's had many questions from her customers, who've been puzzling over the cans since they started appearing two weeks ago in the tiny snack shop. 'We've got regular customers. We don't have too many strangers, and I'm afraid we don't have any customers that could read that," she said.

She confided that she has heard rumors that the squiggles on each container are part of an illegal foreign plot, because that's what a Coca-Cola delivery man told her.

But Brown and other officials at Southern Mississippi Bottling say there is no foreign plot:

The cans and their contents came by truck from a canning plant in Reserve, La.

Bobby Carol, manager of the MSB Manufacturing plant in Reserve, said the foreign tops were stuck on a small group of cans made last month when the company ran out of domestic lids.

"I don't know why we had them. I think a few years ago, the plant might have had a foreign contract.'

When the plant machines spit out the cans, they were packed up and shipped out to Mississippi, Carol said he had no idea just what the Arabic writing meant. But Abdel Naser, a Jordanian engineering student who speaks fluent Arabic, concluded "Some of the words I don't know what they mean in English, but this has on it, 'carbonated water, sugar, caramel coloring.'

Southern Mississippi Bottling Purchasing Agent J.C. Slater said he had been getting daily calls from people asking, 'what does it say,' or, 'can we drink it?' he said.

But Slater said he has had to disappoint customers who have called in hopes that the Arabic letters might translate into Dr Pepper helped the nation's major retailers post moderate sales gains in August compared with a year earlier. Industry leader Sears, Roebuck & Co. said Thursday its August sales climbed 8.1 percent, secondranked K mart Corp. reported an 11 percent gain and No. 3 J.C. Penney Co. said its sales rose 8.8 percent.

Retailers note sales gains NEW YORK (AP) - Brisk back-to-school business

"In the third week of the month, particularly in those regions of the country where schools started early, the back-to-school selling season picked up favorable momentum," said Jeffrey Feiner, who follows retailing for the investment firm Merrill Sales were weak early in the month partly because consumers stayed home to watch the Olympics on television and to avoid bad weather in certain parts of the country, he said.

But the back-to-school surge bolstered sales in the last 10 days of August and "should set the stage for a reasonably good sell-through of fall merchandise into September," said Jeffrey Edelman, an analyst with Dean Witter Reynolds Inc.

NEW YORK (AP) - The nation's basic money supply rose $1.7 billion in mid-August, the Federal Reserve reports, but credit analysts say the supply remains well within the growth targets sought by the central bank.

The basic supply, which measures funds readily available for spending, climbed to $547.9 billion in the week ended Aug. 20 from $546.2 billion the previous week, the Federal Reserve said Thursday.

The credit markets showed little reaction to the latest money-supply report, and to two other reports that showed the pace of short-term business borrowing has declined.

But credit analysts remained divided over the outlook for interest rates.

"We'll see basically flat rates for a few weeks," said David Wyss, chief financial economist at Data Resources Inc., consulting firm in Lexington, Mass.

However, Frank McCormick, an economist at Bank of America in San Francisco, predicted a slow rise in a key short-term interest rate - that on overnight loans between banks — through the end of the

ITT sells baking company

NEW YORK (AP) - ITT Corp. says it agreed to sell its ITT Continental Baking Co. unit to Ralston Purina Co. for $475 million in cash.

Continental Baking, best known for its Wonder bread and Hostess line of snack cakes, contributed 7 percent, or $1.47 billion, to ITT's total 1983 revenue of $20.2 billion. The unit's 1983 net income totaled $41 million, or 6 percent of ITT's 1983 earnings of $674.5

However, ITT's overall profit has been under severe pressure this year, and the announcement did not surprise Wall Street because the unit was rumored to be one of several operations ITT has on the auction block

ITT is concentrating on telecommunications and other high-technology areas, and to help fund that approach the company is expected to sell off some unrelated units. In another move to conserve cash, ITT in July ITT slashed its quarterly dividend to 25 cents a share from 69 cents.

ITT and Ralston Purina, the giant food and feed concern based in St. Louis, said Thursday their preliminary agreement was subject to the approval of both companies' directors and federal regulators.

ITT acquired Continental Baking in 1968 for $279 million worth of stock.

Cotton means comfort in fashions

Fiber from the fluffy, white cotton boll teams with the fashion industry to produce fashion which is in demand worldwide. Fabrics made of this versatile fiber appeal to consumers for fashion as well as comfort. Gotton's popularity has increased; consumers are buying more cotton and cotton-blend products.

> "SEW IT WITH COTTON" CONTEST

The Dryland Cotton Promoters sponsor the contest annualy to increase awareness and promote education about cotton. Entries are due by Sept. 12. Judging will be held Sept. 15 and the Style Show and Awards Program will be held Sept. 18 at the Howard County Fair. For more information, contact Beverly Jeffcoat (263-4134) or Patricia Bennett (267-1398). Entry forms are available at fabric stores and the Extension office.

Characteristics of Cotton - Cotton can be styled into an array of fabrics, from cool lightweight knits to warm corduroys and velveteens.

By changing fabric weights, finishes and garment styles, cotton or cotton-blend ensembles are suitable for many occasions and activities

Whatever the temperature outside, cotton and cotton-blend fabrics that contain at least 50 percent cotton are comfortable to wear. Cotton absorbs moisture from the skin, then allows it to evaporate.

Cotton is static-free, can be soft or crisp to the touch and sheds balls or pills. It can by dyed in a wide range of colors and is available in many colorfast prints and Cotton is blended with other fibers to combine the best qualities of each fiber. Cotton is blended with other fibers such as linen, wool and silk, polyester and rayon.

Care - Today's cottons are easy to care for. Read labels for specific performance features. Because of recent permanent press advances, cotton fabric can shed wrinkles and does not require ironing. Shrinkage has also been cotrolled. To maintain these qualities, carefully follow care instructions on laundry products and on clothing or household items. Permanent press washer and dryer cycles relax wrinkles. Do not overload the washer or the dryer. Remove clothes promptly from the washer to prevent dye transfer to other items. Also remove items from the dryer so they do not form wrinkles. A brief tumbling in a warm dryer may remove or reduce wrinkles. Cottons will mildew if stored damp.

Production - Cotton in its wild or natural state was found growing in Texas as early as 1530. Currenty, Texas ranks number one among the 16 cotton producing states; producing 20 to 30 percent of the U.S. cotton crop. Cotton is the leading cash crop in Texas.

All parts of the cotton plant are used. Cotton lint fibers are transported in bales to textile mills to produce fiber products. Cottonseed, meal and hulls are used for products such as margarine, cooking oil and animal feeds.

During the past weeks a tremendous number of "sick" trees have been noted throughout Howard County. Mulberry leaf discoloration is extremely prevalent this season. Single branches, certain areas and whole tree damage has

Typical leaf symptoms include vellowing in a mottled or irregular pattern, veins that are clear to translucent, some brown leaf margins and early defoliation of affected leaves. These leaf symptoms may have been present earlier in the year but only in a relatively few undetected areas of the tree. As limb and root growth have progressed this season the tree problems. Exotic fungi and "new diseases" often get undeserved blame. Unfortunately, the majority of the tree problems seen each year are caused by incorrect use of herbicides. Many people are unaware that herbicides are weed killers and vice versa. Users mistakenly feel that weed killers remove only unwanted plants from yards and surrounding areas. Tree root growth is poorly understood by some. We often hear that the feeder roots of the tree may extend to the dripline. This is not entirely correct. The roots of a healthy tree will extend beyond the

This years' root zone has the potential of extending to 1 to 4 feet next year and encountering almost anything in the soil. This is why herbicides with soil residue action can cause trouble years after being applied. Herbicidal action may make little or no distinction between broad leaved weeds and trees. In other words, many classes of herbicides are unintelligent about the plants they control. These nondiscriminatory weed killers are often called soil sterilants. The term soil sterilant is loosely and in the strictest sense incorrectly applied, to the following products: Borocil, ComPleet, Triox, Primitol, Hyvar, Velpar, Spike, Fenovar and Krovar. It should be noted that these herbicides and similar ones not named are excellent products. That is, they are excellent products when used as in-

of common sense The herbicides listed above all have non-cropland labels. They may or may not be labelled for other uses. Now comes the tricky part. The labels of these products may clearly state that the product may be used on driveways, brick walks, along fences, curbs and gutters and under gravel where no plant growth is desired. The same label may further state a need to avoid application over the root system of desirable vegetation. This can be extremely difficult to Soil "sterilants" used at high rates have long soil residuals in West Texas. Simply put, this means the weed killer will be around for many years.

Tree and shrub problems have been associated with herbicides used in alleys, in asphalt paving, on asphalt paving and streets, along curbs, along fences, along right of ways, in medians, near tanks and ponds, along highways, on gravel and on storage yards. There are hundreds of weed killers and weed killing compounds currently on the market. It is virtually impossible to keep up with each product, its' application rate(s) and labelled crop without an annually updated manual of herbicides. This means that weed killer applicators (homeowner, commercial or city,... county, state) must read the product label, understand potential problems and make applications at the correct rate.

Dr. Donohue

Birth control pills and endometriosis

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am taking birth control pills to control excessive pain due to endometriosis. I have this on my ovaries. Three questions: Can the endometriosis really just "go away" after awhile because the pills stop me from ovulating. Won't this reappear when I stop taking the Pill? Also, I have small cysts in the breasts. The doctor knows about them and just wants to check me regularly. Am I taking chances by continuing with the Pill? - Mrs.

The endometrium is the lini the uterus that forms and is lost with each period. Endometriosis is formation of lining tissue in places it doesn't belong, as on the ovaries. Birth control pills can make endometriosis disappear.

They fool the body into thinking it is pregnant, thus stopping ovulation. In the process, the transplanted endometrial tissue withers away - often. Atrophy is the medical word for that. Sometimes it will reappear when you stop the Pill. We just can't say. Yes, you can safely take the Pill even though you have fibrocystic disease of the breast. Granted, there is a little argument going on about that, but most doctors do feel the evidence is strong enough to justify its use. Your doctor's continuing observation should offer you the assurance you need. DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am one of those sleep apnea persons of which you wrote. I am trying to lose weight, which you suggested as a possible aid. Yet my wife still tells me my "sleep" activity of loud snoring and breathlessness continues. Would you recommend sleeping pills to quiet down this nocturnal non-sleep? — D.D.

No; sleeping pills are not a good idea. In the first place, your problem is not in getting to sleep. Rather, it is the string of episodes of semi-wakefullness once asleep.

Of even more importance is the action of sleeping pills in depressing breathing reflexes. You already have that problem, which is what keeps waking you. Adding the sleepiing pill drug effect to that can be dangerous.

You would be better served by seeking the cause of the sleep problem. For example, if you have a structural defect that is causing the snoring and breathless episodes, that might be corrected surgically. And your weight loss can only help. Sleeping pills, as I've mentioned so many times, are seldom a long-range answer to a medical problem. They are best reserved for brief use to tide a person over some difficulty, then ahandoned

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: For medicines and diseases by such hideous, unpronounceable names!

Beats me. They don't help me, either. Want to hear my all-time most despised term? It's diaphoresis. It means sweating.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Would you please try to answer some questions for me? I weigh 106 pounds and would like to know how many grams of protein and carbohydrates I should ingest when not dieting and how much when dieting. - F.L.

Whether you are dieting or not, you need the same proportional quantities of protein, carbohydrates and fat. Let's get that straight right at the outset. And those proportions shuld be: 20 percent of all calories as protein, 55 percent from carbohydrate foods, and 25 percent from fats.

You just add up your calorie total and split your intake appropriately into those three categories. That's easier than trying to figure precisely how many grams of this or that food you need. If you cut down on total calories you keep the same distrbution of proteins, carbohydrates and fats. The booklet "Lost Secrets of Reducing" offers some tips. Other readers may order by writing me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1.00 for printing and handling. DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What can you tell me about the new pill or curing herpes? — P.R.G.

There is an oral pill form of the same medicine that comes as ointment for herpes treatment. It doesn't cure herpes and it doesn't prevent it, but it may reduce the number of recurrences. We hope so. It is a step in the right direction, but it is still being investigated. We have to know the long-term safety of any medicine we take into the body. So it is not available yet for ne name of the dru acyclovir. Because herpes is of such concern to so many people, you will probably read of the results of the testing in the press when it is completed. It does seem promising

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a clean person, bathing daily and extremely germ-conscious. However, several years ago my husband and I both discovered we had crab lice. know I've never been with anybody else and I'm sure my husband hasn't either. We both were treated and got rid of them, but I still don't go a day without wondering where these little pests came from. I've waited to read something about them in your column, but so far it seems we are the only people concerned. - S.J.M.

You may never find out where the critters came from. Here's the crab lice story. It may be of particular interest to you to know that the crab louse can be transmitted from inanimate objects, like clothing, bedding or towels. This is also one infection you can possibly get from a public toilet.

It is not, and I'd like to underscore that word, not, spread only by sexual contact, although you or your husband may have passed it on from that. Does this put your mind at rest after all these

Follow label when cleaning cotton

Easy-care cotton can be exactly that if consumers will follow care label instructions, says Beverly Rhoades, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Some consumers got used to caring for cottons years ago by washing them in hot water and drying them at high heat. This is still possibile for some untreated 100 percent cotton fabrics, but will reduce the appearance and wearing life of other cotton fabrics.

Cotton fabrics are now usually treated with chemical finishes that control shrinkage and help them resist wrinkling. Even 100 percent cotton is likely to have some kind of wrinkles and then cools down to Cotton also is found more often in fabric blends with other natural and synthetic fibers. It's an excellent addition to blends because as a natural fiber cotton breathes and lets off heat and moisture to keep the wearer comfortable in any kind of weather, she says.

Cotton treated with permanant press finishes and most cottonblends need a permanent press washing and drying cycle. A permanent press cycle uses warm water to relax wrinkles and does not spin clothes quite so dry. The drying cycle starts out with hot enough temperatures to relax maintain the wrinkle free state.

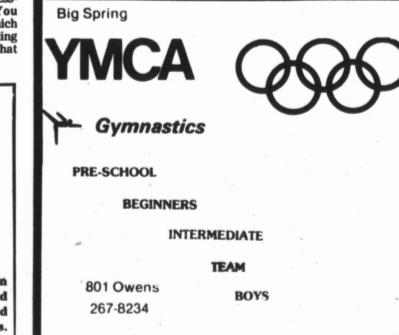

Because consumers know cotton is a durable fiber, care labels that recommend special laundering procedures or even dry cleaning. can be confusing. But it's still best to follow label instructions since they are designed to protect the finish and preserve easy-care qualities for the garment's life.

A dry cleaning instruction may be given because other fibers blended with cotton or some part of the garment, such as the trim or lining make it necessary.

STANTON — Kevin Glaspie hit Derek Sorley with a 26-yard pass on Stanton's final play of the Buffaloes final posession here Friday night to salvage some respectability in a 3-2 scrimmage that favored

The last ditch effort came on what amounted to a third and 11 situation after Glaspie had been sacked for a seven yard loss. It was only the second completion in eight attempts for the Buffs who were outgained by Class A power Wink, but still managed to find ways to hang tough aganst one of last year's Class A semi-finalist. Wink totaled 269 yards that included 169 on the ground and 108 through the air off the arm of All-State candidate Travis Price.

Price hit his five passes before misfiring on his final four. In between, Price rambled 55 yards for a score. He also intercepted a pass for a 45-yard score that was disallowed because of a penalty.

Stanton gained 195 yards, 152 on the ground. Danny Koonce, who scored Stanton's first score with a 45-yard run, led the Buffs with 114 yards on 11 carries.

Koonce's scamper to the endzone came after Wink already managed a 2-0 lead with a five yard run and a 70-yard pass. The first score covered 70 yards in 12 plays and Wink recorded four of its 13 first downs on that opening drive.

After Koonce's score made the scrimmage a 2-1 contest, Price came back, going 55 yards while breaking three tackles in the process. His score capped a six play offensive that started at Wink's 30.

And while Koonce starred in the backfield, Glaspie suffered from a breakdown up front. The Buffs signal caller was sacked five times for losses totaling 36 yards. Stanton's defense failed to get a singal

Cougars battle to 1-1 deadlock

Staff Writer
PATRICA - The Klondike-Whiteface scrimmage started out as a game of fumblelitis, but later settled down to a hard-hitting defensive struggle and ended with both Class A teams tied at 1-1 when all was said and done here Friday night.

In fact both teams scored their lone touchdowns on big plays covering 70 yards each — Klondike through the air pass and the Antelopes on the ground.

Both teams started off the contest in shabby form, namely by putting the football on the ground. On ech team's first offensive posession alone, there was a combined total of seven fumbles.

Most of Whiteface's fumbles were caused by the hard-hitting Klondike defense led by linebacker Tim Cope and defensive end Nicky Hill. All three of Klondike's fumbles happened during the exchange between the center and quarterback.

On Whiteface's first posession its I-attack moved the ball to the Klondike 20-yard line, but the drive was halted when tailback Jimmy Hays was hit hard and fumbled. Hill recorded a sack in the series while safety Scott Runge intercepted a Powered by Cope, the Klondike offense came alive on its next posession as the Cougars quickly moved inside the Whiteface 40. Cope ripped of big gains and Runge completed a pass to Brent Airhart. But the drive stalled when Runge was thrown for an eight yard loss on a bootleg.

Starting from their own 30 again, the Cougars pulled off a big play when Runge found Cope running free down the sidelines for a 70-yard scoring play.

With the reception and his 81 yards on 17 carries, Cope ended the scrimmage as Klondike's leading yard-gainer. Runge completed four of 14 pass attempts for 87 yards. Tight end Oscar Conteras had two of the catches.

Klondike coach Jimmy Thomas said his team still had a long road ahead of it. "We still have so many things to do," said Thomas. We have a long way to go before we are the caliber of club I'd like us to be. I was pleased with the way some of the kids filled in for sme of our missng players. Whiteface is a big team, but our guys weren't intimidated.

Zone dove prospects good

AUSTIN (AP) — Dove shooting should be particularly good around water holes due to dry conditions in much of Texas, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said of the Saturday opening date for north and central regions of Texas.

The north Texas zone mourning dove season runs from Sept. 1 to

Nov. 9 and the central zone from Sept.1 to Oct. 30. The wildlife department conducted a survey during the second week of August on 225 roadside routes, officials said, concluding that the most doves were located within 100 miles either side of a line running from Wichita Falls to McAllen.

to wait a week or two before they get under way, but six members of the Associated Press Top Twenty will be in action this weekend, including defending national champion Miami, which stunned topranked Auburn 20-18 in last Monday night's Kickoff Classic.

The Hurricanes, No. 10 in the preseason ratings, will be in Tampa on Saturday night to seek a measure of revenge against No. 17 Florida. The Gators beat Miami 28-3 last year, after which the Hurricanes stormed to the national championship with 11 straight

The triumph over Auburn made it 12 in a row, the nation's longest winning streak. Brigham Young, which has an 11-game streak, visits third-ranked Pitt while No. 4 Clemson entertains Appalachian State, 19th-ranked Boston College hosts Western Carolina in a night game and No. 20 Florida State is at home with East Carolina under the lights for a rematch of last year's wild however, and I expect the problems to work out. We have a great group of seniors who are 30-2-2 so far and they don't panic in difficult situations. That should be an advantage for us.'

Florida State, however, is not taking East Carolina lightly.

Tele-Help has the answers

"My phone's not working . . . who should I call? What can I do to save money on my phone service? Why are there so many pages in my phone bill? How do I pick the long distance service company that's right for me?'

These are some of the questions I've been getting from many of you since Southwestern Bell Telephone became an independent company on Jan. 1. Last year we anticipated many of these questions and began telling our customers about the changes in our business using advertising, bill inserts, news stories, brochures and public talks by our employees But we found that people aren't likely to listen until the message directly affects them. Our research shows that only about 17 percent of our customers fully understand the changes brought on by the Bell System split up. We're concerned about this confusion. That's why we've started a new informative program to help you. It's in the public interest. You've been good customers too long. We split from AT&T, not you. The new program is called "Tele-Help," and it will give you more information about your phone service, what to do, when and how. Perhaps you've already seen and heard some of the advertising. It's all designed to help clear up any confusion and make sure your phone service remains as useful as we can make it.

You can still "call on us" for help

Tele-Help is our way of saying we hope you'll still "call on us." Just as you've turned to us in the past, we want you to continue to do so in the future.

In talking with you, we identified six major areas that most of you want to know more about. These topics comprise the first six Tele-Help booklets: phone service in general, phone bills, repair, telephone sets, long distance service and money-saving tips. Other booklets are in the works, and I'll tell you more about them in subsequent columns.

We feel the booklets are easy to understand and they're available at no charge. You can order the entire set if you like.
