How's that? Postal rules

Q. How does a person get hired to work for the post office?
A. Postmaster Frank Hardesty said applicants must take a multiple choice clerk-carrier test and must make a 70 or above to qualify for openings.

The top three scorers from this test are first in line for any job openings.

Hardesty said the test was given about six months ago and the post office locally now has a pool of "230 eligibles" for post office positions. Vacancies are filled from the registry. "We have to exhaust this registry" before giving the test again, Hardesty said.

Hardesty estimated the test would not be given again for up to two years because of the large registry.

Off the wall: Sand castles

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Sand castles are for kids, you say? And Camelot exists only in the imagination?

Well, with a change of tides, yes.

But for now a mound of sand has taken shape as a detailed version of the fanciful city of King Arthur and his Round Table knights.

"I don't even have a camera here," said Todd Vander Pluym, who's been building castles in the sand for the Labor Day project. "I'd rather just see this forever in my mind's eye. I can remember all the castles I've ever done. The memory enhances the reality."

"It's transitory. It's what we really are," said Gerry Kirk, a general contractor from Solana Beach when he isn't playing in the sand. "We're only here for a short time."

Bomb injures 50

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A car-bomb exploded today in Newry, a town near the border with the Irish Republic, and at least 50 people were wounded, police said.

The injuries were not serious, police said, because an anonymous telephone caller warned security authorities that the device had been planted. Members of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, the provincial police force, were evacuating the area when the bomb went off.

Blacks riot in S. Africa

26 killed, 200 injured

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Police fired rubber bullets to drive off looters and arsonists today after 26 blacks were killed and more than 200 injured in the worst day of black rioting in eight years, police and news reports said.

Mobs of rioters enraged by rent increases hurled gasoline bombs and bricks at police, barricaded roads and set fire to dozens of buildings from Sunday to Monday night in three black townships near Vereeniging, 45 miles south of Johannesburg.

The death toll rose to 26 today as more bodies were recovered from destroyed buildings and areas police could not enter earlier, said Lt. Hein Lourens at police headquarters in Pretoria. He said 35 rioters were arrested.

Lourens said it was unclear how many victims were shot by police. National radio said black rioters killed three members of the black council for the townships and burned the homes of eight council members. An earlier report said four councilors were killed.

Looters today plundered shops in Sebokeng township that had been left by owners because of the rioting, Lourens said. He said police responded with rubber bullets in several areas, and that the worst of the disturbances appeared to have ended late Monday night.

Schools in the affected area were closed today, many workers stayed home and the few shops that escaped damage were closed. Police set up roadblocks and patrolled the townships in armored personnel carriers.

Officials said at least 55 shops and houses were hit by rioters, but film footage of the area suggested the damage was far more extensive.

In Thabong township near Welkom in central Orange Free State Province, police used tear gas twice this morning to disperse rioting youths, Lourens said. It was the first reported trouble there in several weeks.

Hospital officials, who had confirmed injury counts far higher than the official police figure of 46, said later they had been told not to discuss riot casualties with reporters.

The Rand Daily Mail said black hospitals and clinics reported 232 people were hurt. The worst violence was in Sharpeville, Sebokeng and Evaton townships near Vereeniging. In 1960, police shot dead 69 blacks protesting the white government's apartheid, or racial segregation, system, which denies equal rights to the black majority.

The rioting exploded during a one-day boycott of schools and work Monday to protest rent hikes, but apartheid foes said the root causes were desperate economic woes and frustration over the denial of black rights.

A crowd of young blacks set ablaze a training college in Evaton during the night, and the wreckage from the rioting scarred the streets of the three townships.

Unrest also broke out on a smaller scale in three townships near Johannesburg and Pretoria.

Killer storm

Asian typhoon leaves 580 dead

MANILA (AP) — Government workers and air force planes stepped up rescue and relief work today as the death toll in the worst typhoon to hit the Philippines in 12 years soared to 444, officials said.

Nearly 26 inches of rain also inundated central Korea over the weekend, causing the worst flooding in 12 years and killing 130 people, the South Korean National Disaster Relief headquarters reported today. It said 47 people still were missing. The Home Ministry estimated property damage at $48.4 billion from rain that fell Friday through Sunday.

Philippines' First Lady Imelda Marcos flew to southern Surigao del Norte, the hardest-hit province, 450 miles southeast of Manila, to survey the extent of destruction and supervise the distribution of relief goods.

The presidential palace said President Ferdinand E. Marcos was to have flown to Surigao del Norte on a separate plane, but the presidential Fokker developed a hydraulic leak and had to stay in Manila.

Typhoon Ike's 115 mile-per-hour winds left 345 injured, scores missing, and about 200,000 people homeless, according to reports from the Office of Civil Defense, the Red Cross and the Philippine News Agency.

Damage to crops and property was placed at at least 131 million pesos, the equivalent of $7.27 million.

Ike battered cities and towns in the Visayas and Mindanao regions south of Manila on Sunday and Monday before blowing out to the South China Sea.

City slickers moving to small farms

Staff and wire reports
The nation's small farms increased by more than 94,000 over four years as many Americans gravitated to more rural living, new government figures indicate.

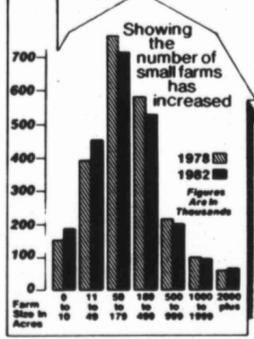

Analysts have noted a movement of people from cities and suburbs to the small towns and countryside in recent years, but had not anticipated the extent of the growth in farms of less than 50 acres.

"I was rather certain they would increase, but I did not expect, I frankly admit, a 17 percent increase in four years' time," Agriculture Department population expert Calvin Beale said of the Census Bureau study.

However, the trend has not reached Howard County, according to an Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service program assistant for Howard County.

Betty Shankles, who is in charge of the land division records at the Howard County ASCS office, said today the trend of city people mov-

UAW, Demos give Reagan Labor Day dunking

GRAND PRAIRIE (AP) — Sun, fun and barbecue took a back seat to politics when thousands of members and supporters of the United Auto Workers gathered for their annual Labor Day picnic.

Democratic campaign buttons, T-shirts with anti-Reagan slogans, a clown and gloomy predictions of labor's future abounded Monday at the union's get-together at Grand Prairie's Franko Park.

Union members said the event normally takes on a political flavor because Labor Day is the traditional start of the fall campaign season. But they added the campaign rhetoric was particularly strong this year because many labor supporters see Reagan's re-election as a threat to the future of unions and working people.

"He's (President Reagan) a union-busting president," said Lonnie Morgan, who works at the General Motors Corp. plant in Arlington. "He made that clear when he busted the air traffic controller's union."
U.S. Rep Jim Wright of Fort

Worth, wearing a T-shirt with the word "Solidarity" emblazoned in red letters across the front, told the crowd that "things have gone far enough."

"The (Reagan) administration is trying to convince us that everything is fine. Well, everything is not fine," Wright said. "...You and I can be jailed for making a joke about carrying a handgun onto an airplane, but the president of the United States can joke with impunity about bombing the Soviet Union."

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower drew some laughter from the crowd when he said: "Ronald Reagan never met a millionaire he didn't like."

"Four more years with no restraints of re-election," said Bill Casstevens, international UAW vice president. "If he did what he what he did with restraints, what's he going to do without them?"

Most of those attending the rally are employed at General Motors in Arlington, Bell Helicopter Textron Inc. in Fort Worth and Vought Corp. in Grand Prairie.

The UAW has about 15,000 members in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Weather

Clear skies prevail

By The Associated Press

A spell of cool and dry air continued to spread southward into Texas early this morning, while a weaker cool front trailed behind and enveloped the shore along the gulf.

Skies were mostly clear statewide except for some low clouds and patchy fog over the southern and eastern regions of the state.

Meanwhile, some very heavy thunderstorms continued offshore over the gulf, east of Galveston and in the southeast corner of Texas.

Elsewhere, a light rain shower was detected just north of Laredo.

Light northerly winds swept through most areas of the state, although the National Weather Service reported more light and variable winds racing through the West.

Predawn temperatures dipped into the 50s in northwest Texas, while readings over the remainder of Texas were generally in the 60s and low 70s. At 4 a.m. today, the mercury ranged from 52 at Amarillo to a warmer 76 degrees at Brownsville.

The forecast called for fair to partly cloudy skies with scattered thunderstorms in South Texas. Highs will range from the 80s to the lower 90s.

Thunderstorms and showers erupted from eastern Georgia to southern New England today after generating lightning that killed two people in New Jersey and struck a parked jetliner in Washington, D.C.

Two golfers were killed and two others were knocked unconscious in New Jersey when they were struck by lightning during thunderstorms that knocked out power to about 20,000 customers across the state, officials said.

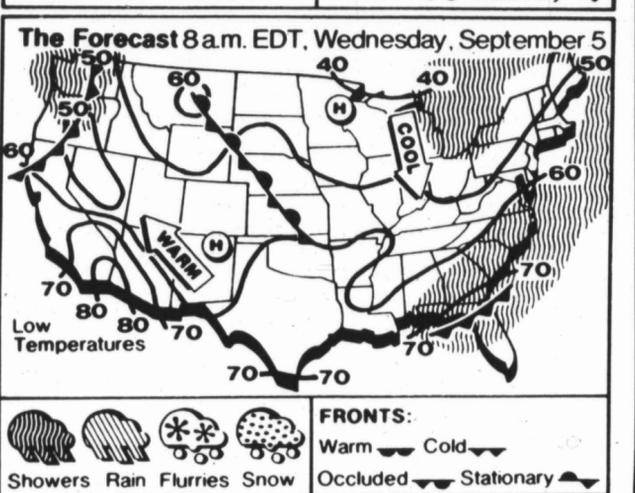

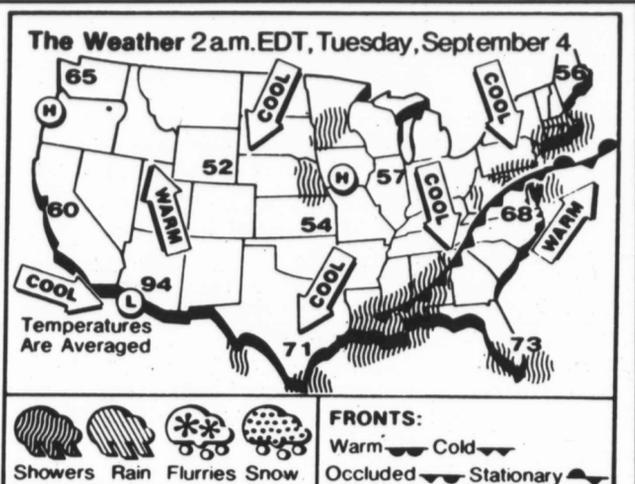

The men had sought shelter under a cluster of trees Monday afternoon when a rainstorm struck the Sunset Valley Golf Course in Pequannock, police said.

The survivors "really didn't know how long they were unconscious," said Lt. Ronald Mazzucco of the Morris County Park Police, which has jurisdiction over the county-run golf course. They were hospitalized for treatment of burns.

About 14,000 customers of Public Service Electric & Gas lost power because of the storms, said spokesman Ed Anderson, but all service was restored by early today.

James Lowney, a spokesman for Jersey Central Power & Light, said the storm knocked out power to about 6,000 customers.

WEST TEXAS: Fair, cool nights and warming Tuesday and Wednesday. Lows Tuesday night in the 50s except upper 60s Big Bend. Highs Tuesday and Wednesday mostly in the 80s except mid 90s Big Bend valleys.

Local man splits sentence

A 33-year-old Big Spring man was released from Howard County Jail today after serving 36 hours of a 48-hour county court sentence.

Luis Vasquez Gaitan of 900 E. 12th is scheduled to serve the remainder of his sentence next weekend.

Doby Walker of Sterling City Route told Howard County sheriff's deputies Monday that someone, between 7 p.m. Friday and 10:30 p.m. Monday, entered his house and took four guns.

Taken were a 12-gauge shotgun with a blue steel magazine, valued at $175; a .243-caliber Remington rifle with a four-power scope and sling, valued at $350; a .22-caliber Marlin tube magazine, valued at $100; and a .22-caliber Remington with a four-power scope, valued at $175.

According to the sheriff's report, entry was gained to the residence by a screwdriver-type of tool.

Jo Hughes of 2900 Lawrence, a waitress at Sam's Roundup at Snyder Highway, told deputies that three white males in a blue Thunderbird, between 9:30 and 10:45 p.m. Monday, took the CB antenna off the rear deck of her truck, parked outside the club. The three men had been asked to leave the club, according to the sheriff's reports.

Martin Diaz, 30, of 711 N.W. Eighth was transferred to the sheriff's office by the Department of Public Safety on suspicion of driving while intoxicated. He was released on a $1,000 bond.

Raymundo Cerda Galvan, 28, of 2911 W. Highway 80 was transferred to the sheriff's office from the police department on suspicion of DWI. He was released on $1,000 bond set by Municipal Judge Melvin Daratt.

Storms

The death toll, recorded in seven provinces, was the highest from a typhoon since 555 people on the main island of Luzon were killed in a typhoon in 1972, the Red Cross said.

Of the 444 people killed in Ike's path, 305 died in Surigao del Norte, where a lake in the town of Mainit overflowed and drowned 200 people, the military said. Eighty-two others died in the city of Surigao, and 23 perished on Nonoc and Capaya islands off Surigao. Surigao Mayor Constantino Navarro Jr. said the city morgues had run out of coffins and embalming fluids, and victims had to be buried in mass graves to prevent epidemics.

Navarro called Ike the worst typhoon to strike Surigao in 20 years.

The other deaths included 59 reported on the island of Negros, 26 on Cebu, 24 on Leyte, 22 on Bohol and two on Akla — all in the Visayas region about 300 miles south of Manila.

Six other people died in southern Misamis Oriental province. The typhoon triggered floods, flattered thousands of houses, and communication lines, sank a dozen boats, damaged others and drove two aground.

Marcos has included Surigao and two other provinces in a calamity declaration he made last week for 19 provinces battered by a milder tropical storm in last week that killed 53 people.

The declaration allows the government to commandeer food and other items for the rehabilitation of victims.

Air Force spokesman Col. Pablo Gonzales said helicopters today flew 33,000 pounds of food, medicines and used clothing to three points south of Manila for distribution in stricken areas. Similar airlifts were made Monday.

The presidential palace said Mrs. Marcos flew to Cebu — where nearly 100,000 people were left homeless — after visiting Surigao. She was to proceed later to Negros and Iloilo.

Farms

growing farms, "with a few exceptions, are so small they usually are operated by people who earn most of their income from non-farm sources. They are as much a way of life as a business."

There are exceptions, of course, and Beale pointed out that such small operations can be a success raising tobacco, or chickens and some other products.

But in general, he said, that's not the case. "The majority of these places are run by people who are not engaging in farming as their principal occupation," he said.

"Some of these are people of urban background changing their lives, finding a good place in which to rear their children. Others are rural people, maybe blue collar employees, who know something about small-scale farming, who want to engage in it, who don't want to live in town," Beale said.

In many cases both spouses commute to a job and work the farm on evenings and weekends.

On the other hand, the smaller scale commercial farms did decline in that four-year period, Beale observed.

The Census study showed a drop in the number of farms in the 50-acre to 1,999-acre range, and an increase in the number with 2,000 acres or more.

Overall, the Census counted 2,241,124 farms in the United States in 1982, down from 2,257,775 despite the growth among the smaller operations. The average size of farms declined from 449 acres to 439 acres over the four-year span. The land value increased, however, from $619 per farm acre, to $791 per acre.

The market value of farm products sold in 1982 totaled $131.8 billion, the report said, up 23 percent from four years earlier. At the same time, inflation, measured by the Consumer Price Index, rose by 35 percent.

Other findings from the Census of Agriculture included:

- Crop sales accounted for 47 percent of farm income, followed by livestock, 33 percent; dairy products, 13 percent, and poultry, 7 percent.
- Only 1 percent of farms had more than 500 head of cattle, but they accounted for 43 percent of cattle sales.
- The nation's farm land totaled 984.8 million acres in 1982, down from just over 1 billion acres in 1978.

41 deaths reported on Texas highways

By The Associated Press

Accidents on Texas streets and highways claimed at least 41 lives over the Labor Day weekend, the Department of Public Safety reported today, with alcohol believed to be a major contributor in a number of crashes.

Officials had estimated before the long weekend that 54 people would perish on Texas roadways, but emphasis on the wearing of seatbelts and tougher enforcement of traffic laws may have helped kept the number down, DPS spokesman Larry Todd said.

Todd said he believed alcohol was a major factor in a number of this weekend's accidents. More than half of the reported fatalities were one-vehicle wrecks, a good indicator that alcohol might have been involved, he said.

"We won't know for sure until detailed reports are submitted later," he said, "but alcohol plays a significant role in holiday and weekend accidents."

The latest reported death was 24-year-old Raulito Marquez of Houston, killed as a passenger in a one-vehicle accident Monday afternoon on Interstate 45 near the city limits of Ferris.

Also Monday, 78-year-old Lonnie Milton Gautney of Zavala was killed when his car ran off State Highway 63 just east of Zavala, hit a culvert and flew 50 feet before coming to rest, police said. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Mary Wallace McFarland, 43, of Texas City, was killed in a head-on collision Monday at an intersection inside Texas City city limits. She died in a local hospital at 4:25 p.m., almost two hours after the accident.

Fifteen-year-old Wendy Savage was killed in a three-vehicle accident at 2:10 p.m. Monday about 6.4 miles west of Burnet on State Highway 29. Authorities said the car in which she was a passenger and another car collided with a vehicle going the wrong way on Highway 29. She was pronounced dead at the scene. Police said seatbelts were not in use in any of the vehicles.

James Newton Bodine, 48, died as a passenger in a one-car accident at 2:55 Saturday. The accident occurred at the intersection of Robertson Road and FM 1220 in Northwest Tarrant County. Police said the car ran into a ditch and caught fire. Bodine was burned beyond recognition. The driver of the car, who was not identified, is hospitalized with second-degree burns over 40 percent of his body.

Other deaths over the Labor Day weekend include Cecil David Walker, 62, of Waco, who was killed while attempting to walk across spur 299 near Bellmead in McLennan County at 12:35 p.m. Monday.

April Ranaee Lones, 7 months, was killed by a hit-and-run driver as she was being pushed in a stroller at 8:40 p.m. Sunday on farm-to-market road 116 in Copperton.

Patricia Connaughton, 42, of Albuquerque, N.M., was killed by another hit-and-run driver at 1:20 a.m. Sunday as she walked across the Bridge of the Americas between El Paso and Juarez, Mexico.

Brook Gilley, 2, of Wellington was killed after he stepped off a curb and fell into the path of car at 7:17 p.m. Sunday on a city street in Wellington in Collingsworth County.

Henry H. Taylor, 57, of Jasper died when his car struck a tree at 4:20 p.m. Sunday about 20 miles north of Jasper on Letney Park Road.

James Wade Reindl, 21, of Huntsville was killed when his vehicle overturned at 7:16 p.m. Sunday north of Huntsville on farm-to-market road 2821. That accident also killed a passenger, 20-year-old Sheila Gay Spear of Wharton, who died at 9:30 p.m.

Danny Calvin White, 20, of Colmesneil died when his motorcycle struck a ditch at 8:30 p.m. Sunday about 23 miles east of Zapata on state highway 16.

Alice Ann Dabney, 37, of Port Isabel died when her car went out of control and struck an overpass at 9:05 p.m. Sunday on state highway 100 and U.S. Route 77 in Cameron County.

Leo Bardo Rendon, age unknown, of Mexico died at 10:15 p.m. Sunday in a three-vehicle accident on U.S. Route 87 about 2 miles south of Plainview. There were no other injuries.

Fidel Carreon, 30, of Laredo died when his vehicle struck a curb and ejected him at 1:35 p.m. on Interstate 45 south of Houston.

Asa Lee Forque, 58, of Houston was killed in a two-vehicle broadside accident at 2 a.m. Monday on U.S. Route 90 east of Houston in Harris County. Police say he was not wearing a seatbelt.

The South Korean Home Ministry said 28,040 houses were destroyed or submerged in the country, forcing 113,000 people to seek temporary shelter. The ministry said 76,165 were still in 285 relief centers early today.

Flood waters began receding in many affected areas of the capital of Seoul, and the ministry said most residents there would be able to return home by Wednesday.

Floods washed over 165,000 acres of farmland, soaked 55,000 tons of stored grain, wrecked 15 boats, and damaged six miles of roads, the report said.

In Seoul, one of the hardest hit areas, subway and railway services were restored today, but there was still no piped water or power in some places.

U.S. military units took part in rescue operations.

GALVESTON (AP) — Brazoria County authorities resumed a search today for a 22-year-old Oklahoma man who disappeared with his stepbrother while swimming in the Gulf of Mexico near Galveston Island.

The body of Larry White, 14, of Purcell, Okla., was found Monday morning on the West Beach of Galveston Island, but Alfred Atkinson, 22, also of Purcell, had not been located.

Liberals losing in Canada

TORONTO — A brisk flow of voters was reported this morning as Canadians began electing a new government, with Brian Mulroney, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, heavily favored to defeat Liberal Prime Minister John Turner.

Several polls in the past week put Mulroney's Tories more than 20 points ahead of the Liberals, who have governed Canada for all but nine months of the past 21 years. Turner, who took over the Liberal government June 30 when Pierre Elliott Trudeau resigned, seemed likely to wind up with one of the shortest tenures as prime minister in Canadian history.

3 killed in railway blast

MONTREAL — Workers cleared rubble today from Montreal's main railroad station after an explosion killed three people and injured 41. An American arrested in connection with notes threatening Pope John Paul II sent to the station was to appear in court.

The explosion Monday sent metal and glass fragments tearing into a line of about 150 people waiting to board a train for Ottawa at the end of Canada's Labor Day weekend. Thousands of people were heading home, and the Central Station was crowded.

Embryos to be destroyed

SYDNEY — Anti-abortion groups said today they will try to stop state officials from destroying two frozen embryos, whose fate was in limbo by the death of an American couple in a plane crash.

Scientists have said that the embryos, created with the aid of "test-tube" techniques, were unlikely to survive thawing and implantation into the womb of a surrogate mother. Despite the pessimism for survival, a government committee's recommendation for destruction has unleashed outcries of protest.

Chernenko still unseen

MOSCOW — A Soviet Foreign Ministry official declined to answer specifically Monday when asked if President Konstantin U. Chernenko was back at work in the Kremlin, but said Chernenko was "occupied" with his leadership duties.

The official, Vladimir Lomeiko, was asked about Chernenko by an American journalist at a news briefing on with disarmament issues.

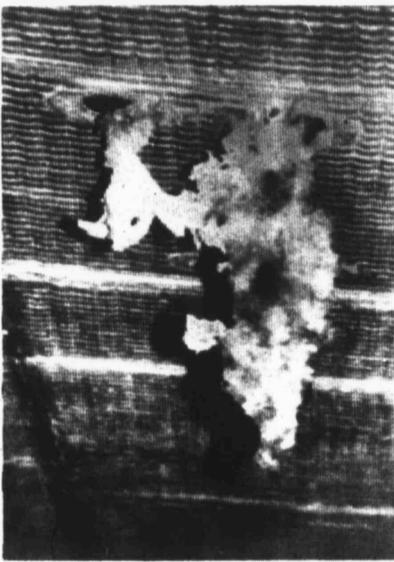

"He is occupied with his duties as general secretary of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union and as chairman of the Presidium of the U.S.S.R.," Lomeiko said. Lomeiko used a Russian word, zanyamaetsya, which means occupied with, or engaged in.

Strike cripples Argentina

BUENOS AIRES — The nation's first general strike since Argentina returned to democracy nine months ago brought heavy industry to a near halt but was widely disregarded by workers in smaller businesses.

The General Confederation of Labor, Argentina's largest union organization called for the 24-hour strike beginning midnight Sunday.

Operation Icecube

Shuttle's big chill flushed away by robot arm

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Discovery's astronauts successfully carried out "Operation Icecube" today, dislodging the greater part of a pesky block of ice from the side of their orbiting ship with a nudge from their 50-foot mechanical arm.

Mission Control said the 5-inch icicle still clinging to a waste water port was not a hazard, and the crew prepared to return to Earth on Wednesday.

The ice never posed a threat to the astronauts. But there was concern that the big chunk might fall off during re-entry and damage Discovery's tail, requiring lengthy repairs that would delay the shuttle's next flight.

"We got most of it," astronaut Judy Resnik reported after commander Henry Hartsfield had gingerly guided the arm out of the cargo bay and over the port side to get at the ice. He operated from a remote station in the cabin.

A picture televised live to Mission Control in Houston showed that after the initial tap with the end of the arm, a large hunk of the ice had been knocked off.

The block, melted down to about half its size by overnight heating, had measured about 15 inches in length and about 9 inches at its widest point before the operation. The remaining icicle had a maximum thickness of about 3 inches.

"The remaining piece is not considered a hazard to the orbiter," said Mission Control commentator John Lawrence. "It appears to be porous and very spongy and not very hard."

"It was a super job," controllers told the crew. "See you at Edwards."

The crew was scheduled to land at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., at 8:41 a.m. CDT.

Procedures for an all-out assault on the ice were teleprinted to the crew this morning along with a drawing of the shuttle with its robot arm, appropriately wielding an ice axe. The instructions were labeled "Icecube Ops," which NASA translated to "Operation Icecube."

The television picture, captured by a camera mounted on the arm, dramatically showed the robot slowly approaching the ice chunk. Hartsfield had to be very careful so the arm would not accidentally hit and damage protective thermal tiles on the shuttle's side and wing. He had only about a 10-inch clearance with the wing.

Sally Ride, America's first woman in space, worked out the arm procedures Monday in a simulator in Houston. She radioed instructions to Miss Resnik, the second American space woman, who relayed them to Hartsfield. Ms. Ride's husband, Steve Hawley, is among Discovery's crew.

The arm was called into use as an icebreaker after a series of jet firings failed for the second day in a row to shake the ice loose.

"No joy," Miss Resnik reported after Hartsfield triggered a series of jet bursts that vibrated the shuttle's frame.

The assault on the ice began early today when the astronauts turned the block toward the sun and switched on heaters at the openings to the two waste-water dump vents where the ice had formed.

Hartsfield inspected the chunk with the arm camera and reported it was about half the size it was Monday.

Fiery 5-car collision kills 7

CHICAGO — A five-car collision on an expressway turned into a fiery deathtrap when at least one of the vehicles' gas tanks exploded, killing seven people and injuring two others, police said.

Four of the dead were children, authorities said. Lake Shore Drive was closed for about an hour Monday night while the charred wreckage was cleared. Three of the five cars burned.

MDA telethon sets record

LAS VEGAS — Highlighted by calls from both President Reagan and Democratic presidential candidate Walter F. Mondale, the Jerry Lewis Telethon drew a record $32,074,566 in pledges for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The pledges, from millions of viewers across the United States and Canada, represented the highest amount ever pledged to a televised charitable event.

Fuel fire threatens city

NORFOLK — A gasoline truck explosion that sent flaming fuel racing through storm drains and set 21 cars on fire left the truck driver seriously injured and a garbage truck driver charged with reckless driving, authorities said.

The explosion occurred Monday when a garbage truck backing into a street collided with an Exxon tank truck carrying 8,500 gallons of gasoline.

3 held in 'thrill' bombing

BATON ROUGE — Three men were arrested after they allegedly planted a homemade bomb in a store chosen at random, blowing out a plate glass window and causing extensive damage.

The explosion occurred Monday when a garbage truck backing into a street collided with an Exxon tank truck carrying 8,500 gallons of gasoline.

3 die in motorhome fire

LOS ANGELES — Two passing motorists pulled a rear window out of a motorhome burning on a freeway to save two boys from the blaze, but could not rescue a couple and their great-granddaughter who died in the fire, authorities said.

The fire, which broke out as the motorhome traveled along Interstate 210, apparently was sparked after the vehicle's gas tank came loose and dragged along the highway until it ruptured, said Joseph Gruber, a coroner's investigator.

Deputy killed; teens held

RICHMOND — Seven teen-age jail inmates have been implicated in the slaying of a deputy sheriff during an escape attempt, but the officer may have been suffocated by tight gags rather than strangled intentionally, authorities said.

Lonnie Louis Freeman, 32, of Richmond, was overpowered, bound and gagged Sunday after he was tricked into entering a cell block housing 15 juveniles. Another deputy sounded an alarm, and none of the inmates escaped, Winston said.

Lightning strikes jetliner on ground

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lightning struck a Piedmont Airlines Boeing 737 as it was unloading passengers during a severe thunderstorm at National Airport, and six workers who felt a shock were taken to a hospital for examination, authorities said.

Airport spokesman Dave Hess said the plane had just landed on a flight from Charlotte, N.C., and passengers were debarking when the lightning bolt struck the plane's metal skin at 6:43 p.m. EDT Monday.

None of the passengers was injured, he said, but six workers who were standing near the plane on the ground felt a jolt and were taken to nearby National Orthopedic and Rehabilitation Hospital.

A nursing supervisor at the hospital, Nancy Phillips, said one of the workers had suffered irregular heartbeat after the incident but had stabilized by the time he reached the hospital. All six were examined and released, she said.

The airplane was taken to a Piedmont hangar.

Police dogs arrest burglar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 19-year-old man was arrested after he broke into Hollywood Dog Training School, where the "head of the class" held him until officers arrived, police said.

Hernandez Rodriguez was arrested Friday and booked for investigation of burglary, police Sgt. David Crockett said Sunday.

Rodriguez was not injured by the dog, but cut his arm breaking a window, he said.

Off-duty officer intercepts driver

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An off-duty policeman used his own car to cut off a hit-and-run driver who had struck an 8-year-old boy and dragged him 580 feet down the street, pinned under the car, police said.

Officer Alfredo Magallon of the Southern California Rapid Transit District saw the car hit the boy and drag him down the road Sunday, said police Sgt. Frank Lucero. Magallon stopped the driver, then held him until other officers arrived, Lucero said.

The boy was not identified and County-University of Southern California Medical Center officials declined to comment.

PUBLIC NOTICE

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., has filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) a proposal to reduce intrastate, interLATA long distance revenues to offset proposed increases in specialized service rates for private line, WATS, 800, OCC facilities and directory assistance services. The proposed tariff restructure will not result in any increases in the overall revenues of the Company. The proposed effective date for the tariffs is September 20, 1984. All customers and classes of customers will be affected by this filing.

The restructure in the basic long distance service (MTS) results in an overall decrease in the revenues received by the Company from such service of approximately $100 million. While this proposed restructure results in an overall decrease in revenue, certain MTS rates are proposed to be increased to more nearly recover the access charges approved by the PUC for such service.

AT&T Communications has also filed restructured tariffs designed to more closely recover access costs for private line, DATAPHONE® Digital Service (DDS), OCC facilities, WATS, 800 and directory assistance services. These restructured tariffs result in an approximate overall revenue increase of approximately $100 million from increases in its WATS, 800, DDS, OCC facilities and private line rates, and institution of a charge for directory assistance.

The result of these proposed tariff changes and the restructure of our service offerings is to more nearly recover access costs from those services for which such access costs are incurred.

This proposed restructure results in no increase in overall revenue to AT&T Communications and is not a major rate change as that term is defined in Section 43(b) of the Public Utility Regulatory Act.

A complete copy of all tariffs and rate schedules is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Patriotism's back in national style

Unless one is completely color-blind, it would be difficult to notice that patriotism is back in style this year. Americans have become Yankee Doodle Dandies again. The Grand Old Flag and both reasonable and some exotic reproductions (such as dyed skin) are proudly shown and worn everywhere. More bands are struck up with Sousa and "America the Beautiful" sounds more beautiful than ever. There is a big surge in flag sales. And companies that put a touch of red, white and blue in ads and promotions have been enjoying sizable sales increases.

Much of the renewed sense of American pride has been rightly attributed to the recently concluded Los Angeles Summer Olympics, which began with an epic torch-running odyssey in which millions of Americans participated and ended with a record number of American medalists.

But there were pre-Olympic hints: A television miniseries about George Washington was a big hit — in contrast to one a few years back about that of the family of another Founding Father, John Adams.

The ongoing restoration of the Statue of Liberty, in which millions have helped with their contributions, serves as a reminder of our great fortune in being Americans.

Another factor, no doubt, is the 1984 presidential election. American politics with its many faults — from exhausting primaries to exorbitantly expensive campaigns to boring conventions — is certainly preferable to that of most any other nation.

Olympic success? The liberation of Grenada? The decline of OPEC? A strong dollar and resurgent economy? A popular president? Peace? A working democracy?

Whatever the reasons, we're glad to see that flag-waving and patriotism are back in fashion. The red, white and blue tinge to summer's end is a brighter way to view life than those gloomy New Year's assessments of the arrival of George Orwell's 1984. Looks like everyone back then was writing about the wrong George.

The perfect crime

Sherlock Holmes tapped down the tobacco in his pipe and prepared to light it with a match. He was studying press clippings from Dallas.

Dr. Watson, who was playing "Trivial Pursuit" by himself, said, "Holmes, something seems to be bothering you."

Holmes replied, "You watched the Republican National Convention, didn't you, Watson?"

"I certainly did. Ripsnorting good show it was too. There was not a dull moment, as far as I was concerned."

"Quite, Watson. But wasn't there something missing?"

"Missing? I can't think of what it could be. If anything, it had too much of everything."

"Too much of everything, and yet an important ingredient was lacking. Wait a minute, Watson, I think I may have it. Would you hand me that book on the shelf, History of the Past Republican Conventions Since 1856."

Holmes excitedly went through the pages. "That's it. It was right in front of our noses and we didn't see it."

"What did we miss, Holmes?"

"For the first time in modern history the Republicans did not attack the media. Not one speaker raged at the networks or Eastern establishment press. Everyone passed up a surefire opportunity to get a standing ovation by refusing to complain that the reporters were not giving their side a fair shake."

"By Jove, you're right, Holmes," said Dr. Watson. "It was a love feast. Usually the Republicans shake their fists at the convention network booths, and beat up on the Washington Post and New York Times. What do you suppose turned them around?"

Holmes lit his pipe. "It's elementary, my dear Watson. Rather than attack the media this time, the Republicans decided to manipulate them. Whatever they wanted the GOP gave it to them. They served up everybody for interviews from Jerry Falwell to Joan Rivers."

"All animosity toward network anchor men was absent. Vice President Bush called Rather 'Dan,' Nancy Reagan called Donaldson

'Sam,' Barry Goldwater called Brokaw 'Tom,' Jesse Helms called Brinkley 'David,' and Phyllis Schlafly called Lesley Stahl 'Honey.'"

"Every Republican star was on a first-name basis with the interviewer. By playing the good guys, the Republicans wound up co-opting anyone who wore a press badge in Dallas."

"Amazing, Holmes. How did they get away with it?"

"There was no story in Dallas, my dear Watson. The networks were desperate to fill two hours of time every night, and the Republicans were more than happy to oblige them with such diverse right-wingers as Bunker Hunt and Jack Kemp. In the past the far right refused to talk to the press. This time they not only sought them out, but invited them to their $1,000-a-plate parties."

"Why the change of attitude, Holmes?"

"It was quite simple, Watson. While the media and the GOP Convention had no choice but to suck their thumbs, the pack of journalists who passed up Dallas were going after Geraldine Ferraro and John Zaccaro. The Republicans didn't want to antagonize the press while they were so intent on nailing a Democratic vice-presidential coonskin hat to the wall. The GOP wrote the script in Dallas last week but the real drama was being played in Queens, N.Y."

"So that's why the Republicans passed up an opportunity to make the media the scapegoats of their convention. What clue tipped you off to their strategy?"

"I became suspicious when all the media dogs were barking every time you saw Ferraro and Zaccaro on the TV screen. But not one of them barked in Dallas."

"Why didn't they bark in Dallas?"

"Between the heat, the tequila and the speeches, they all went to sleep, and gave the Republicans an opportunity to commit the perfect crime."

Cost-cutting crusade continues

WASHINGTON — Like a great vacuum machine, the federal government sucks up money at the rate of $4.7 million a minute. Every disappearing dollar is painfully extracted from the taxpayers, who don't begrudge money for the nation's needs but hate to see it wasted. Yet appalling sums are squandered, with reckless abandon.

The government's voracious appetite for greenbacks has stirred alarm across the country. Economists warn that federal extravagance is draining raw materials and skilled labor from the economy, that the astronomical deficits are driving up interest rates, that our political leaders must drastically change their wasteful ways.

Uncle Sam also purchases with his right hand what he already holds in his left. The procurement people have a cavalier attitude toward government funds. Enough is never sufficient; they must always have more.

Browsing among the billions, Grace has discovered that fraud and abuse are costing the government over $25 billion a year because of weaknesses in financial controls. He has also found $38 billion in overdue bills that are owed to the government. Yet the federal bookkeepers are indifferent to collecting the overdue money; it's less bother just to raise taxes.

Grace's exposures have caused members of Congress to become jittery over the spending excesses. But they're holding in abeyance their next move, lest the goose be killed with many a golden egg yet to lay.

3-cent screws that were palmed off on the government for $91, $15 hammers purchased by the Pentagon for $400, $235 million worth of firewood that was given away.

With our money, the government has subsidized the rich and pandered to the poor. Refrigerators have been given to Eskimos; tubes of toothpaste have been shipped to foreigners with no toothbrushes. Millions have been appropriated to persuade people to stop smoking and, at the same time, millions have been used to promote tobacco sales.

They would prefer to postpone any political inconvenience until their re-election is safely past.

Meanwhile, the bureaucrats have built a cordon sanitaire around their spending programs. It will take an outcry to overcome the congressional fummery and the bureaucratic resistance.

You are invited to join in the outcry. Grace and I have formed a non-profit, non-partisan organization to oppose government misspending. It's called Citizens Against Waste, and we need the support of all concerned Americans.

Please sign the following taxpayers' declaration and mail it to Citizens Against Waste, P.O. Box 1000, Ben Franklin Station, Washington, D.C. 20044:

Parents have trouble adjusting

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: We have a severely retarded 5-year-old daughter. I know my wife and I ought to be able to adjust to this, but frankly, I find it hard not to be resentful and angry at God for allowing this to happen. Can you understand why I feel this way? — H.G.

DEAR H.G.: I am sure many people in similar situations have experienced the same conflicts and feelings. But some of the most loving and patient people I have ever met have been those who have faced your kind of situation and learned the secret of adjusting to it.

How did they do it? By turning to Christ and discovering His strength and love. They knew they did not have the compassion and patience they needed within themselves, but they also knew God could help them — and He did. They discovered the same truth the Apostle Paul did centuries ago: "I can do everything through Him who gives me strength" (Philippians 4:13).

First of all, then, you and your wife need to turn to Christ and invite Him to be your personal Lord and Savior. Perhaps one reason God has allowed this to happen is so you would realize your need for Christ. Accept Christ, and build your future on Him and His Word, the Bible.

Then thank God for this child. That may seem impossible for you right now — but God loves you, and He is able to turn defeat into victory. Furthermore, God has many lessons to teach you through this experience — lessons you probably would never learn otherwise. He may, for example, be teaching you that you need to trust Him and turn to Him each day for strength. Perhaps He wants to show you the meaning of true love (instead of selfish love) and is teaching you what it means to express His love for others every day. God wants to change you and help you. Don't refuse His help, but thank Him for His love for you and learn through this experience.

Around The Rim Summer of '84

By CAROL BALDWIN

Although most of the nation bids summer goodbye on Labor Day, people in West Texas know it's not over yet.

In Texas, August can become unbearably hot. The heat lingers on through September, although an occasional cool morning makes us face the fact that summer is on the way out.

With spring gone and summer leaving, we can safely say that 1984 wasn't an average year in West Texas.

I knew something was different when our normally dusty spring weather turned into an endless stream of sand. The mornings would begin calm and beautiful but by 10 a.m. the wind would be whipping and the day would turn dark.

Although the wind subsided during May, we were in for endless days of blue, sunny skies with no hint of rain. We began a race with the weather. Cotton farmers gave predictions as to how long they could afford to wait before giving up hope of a crop.

Throughout the area, ranch land began turning to dust as grass withered and died and small lakes dried up. People on the street began talking about the weather. It wasn't idle conversation. Cattle were dying, lawns were burning up and crops were becoming an impossibility. Everyone was concerned.

It was sometime during this period that we started writing weather stories almost daily. We wrote articles about the drought and about every drop of rain we received. Rain in West Texas during the summer of 1984 became a major story.

It's no easy task to write rain articles about drops of rain which are barely measurable. I called the U.S.-Big Spring Field Station every time a drop of rain hit a windshield in the Herald parking lot.

The usual report was a trace of rain, or one to two tenths. But the people at the Field Station were friendly every time I called and they always had the figures I needed. They often put me on hold to look up other information I asked for and they never complained about my frequent calls.

Another unusual thing about the weather of 1984 has been the way rain cut the county up into sections. It rained an inch about two weeks ago on the city's east side, and not a drop on my lawn in the southwest section of town. Last week, it rained gently throughout the night at my house. I later discovered the city's east side had received no rain that same night.

But the rain continued, slowing and in sections, and August turned into a pleasant, cooler than normal month. We had several rains. Burned out pastureland and people's lawns began showing signs of coming out of the drought.

Despite the strange West Texas weather, I hate to say goodbye to the casual attitude of summer and return to the schedules of fall. But I don't think we'll soon forget the summer of 1984.

Dear Abby

Daughter seeks a church to go with her wedding

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, "Etta," who is 22, went steady with "Rick" for four years. He's 23. Five months ago they drove to a distant state, found employment and started living together there. Last week they phoned to say that they had been married by a justice of the peace. But listen to this: Etta says she would like to come back home next summer and have a big church wedding like her sister had. She says it's always been her dream to walk down the aisle on her father's arm.

My husband doesn't want to give her a church wedding. He says since she's already married, she doesn't need a church wedding.

I tried to tell him it's not unusual for couples who have been married by a justice of the peace to get married again in a church.

He says to write to Abby, and if she says it's OK, he will compromise and give Etta a small church wedding.

What do you say, Abby?

IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR IN: Many couples who have been married in a civil ceremony by a justice of the peace choose to be married again in a religious ceremony.

It need not be large to be beautiful and memorable. Don't deny Etta a church wedding. Be glad she wants one.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me why the three major networks (ABC, CBS and NBC) treat us, the listening/viewing public, as though we are a bunch of illiterate morons?

After President Reagan or some other dignitary has talked for 20 to 40 minutes, some newscasters comes on for another half-hour to tell us what was said. We are quite capable of understanding English and do not need an interpreter to tell us what the speaker has already told us.

I, for one, resent it! Care to comment?

GEORGE KELLY,
DES PLAINES, ILL.
DEAR GEORGE: I don't resent it. In fact, I find the interpretations interesting.

Dr. Donohue

Leg pains

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: For a long time now I have had pains in the calves of my legs. It becomes very noticeable when I've walked a few blocks, and climbing stairs is all but impossible. I'm not kidding myself. I know it is bad circulation. My doctor agrees and wants me to quit smoking, which is going to be tough for me. But I have begun to quit. I doubt very much that this is going to cure me. Aren't there other things than just quitting? — Mrs. T.L.

There are many things you can do to improve your circulation. You can lose any extra weight. You can cut down on saturated fats and cholesterol. And you can begin an exercise program.

Pain in the legs that occurs with exercise and disappears with rest is called intermittent claudication. It is a temporary blood deficit. A daily program of walking to the point of pain, resting for a while (until pain disappears), resuming walking to the point of pain again, then resting, and so on, will bring results. The circulation should improve with each exercise session. Eventually you should be able to increase the distance walked without pain. (See below).

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: How can one tell if leg ache is from arthritis or from poor circulation? How can one tell if nerves are involved in such pain? — E.M.K.

When blood flow is impeded, leg muscles cramp after exercising them for a predictable time or distance. (See answer to Mrs. T.L. above). The skin may become smooth, thin and shiny. The toenails appear crumbly. The pulse at the ankle is weak. Those symptoms reflect circulation deficit.

Leg pain from nerve problems often starts in the lower back, where nerves emerge that serve the leg areas. The pain radiates down into the thigh, calf or foot. This pain is often sharper than the aching circulation deficit pain, and the skin and nail changes don't appear. The pulse is good. Such pain can often be traced to a slipped spinal disc.

Arthritis pain is in the joint, the knee for example. But sometimes the pain from the inflamed (arthritis) joint can be so severe that it is felt as generalized leg pain. Arthritis is also marked by swelling of the joint and a grating sensation upon movement. Those pains are not accompanied by the symptoms associated with nerve or circulation-based pain.

Couple announces son's birth

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Albert Deanda Jr., 600 Douglas, announce the birth of their son, Brian Mac, at 8:19 a.m. Aug. 24 at Malone-Hogan Hospital. He weighed 7 pounds 15 ounces.

Daughter born to Gary Fines

The Rev. and Mrs. Gary Fine, 1800 Hamilton, announce the birth of their daughter, Anna Noelle, at 10:54 a.m. Aug. 20, at Midland Memorial Hospital. She weighed 7 pounds and 13 ounces.

Mel Prather
Founder, Arts & Crafts Festival

The Big Spring Arts & Crafts Festival, now going into its 8th year, is ranked as one of the top such Festivals in the nation, and is frequently mentioned in national arts/crafts magazines. This event was the brainchild of Mel Prather, who continues as its chairman. This October he expects 185 artisans from 16 states — and the festival is already booked through next year! West Texas seemed an unlikely site for this kind of show at the outset. "I really don't feel you can lose when you try something new," Mel says, "because you learn from that experience. The only time you lose, is when you don't try something new because you're afraid you'll not succeed." Mel is secretary of the board of trustees, Heritage Museum; secretary/treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors Club, and a member of the new Texas Sesquicentennial Committee. He has served in key positions with a host of civic organizations, including the West Side Community Center, March of Dimes, Chamber Cultural Affairs Committee, Big Spring Industrial Committee, Dora Roberts Center. Mel, office manager, McMillan Printing Company, Inc., lives on a ranch and raises Shelties. In his leisure, he enjoys photography for which he has won many awards. And his homemade bread is a legend, one time earning six prizes at the Howard County Fair!

'Fish Chewies' new snack food bait

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Chocolate bars and potato chips, move over. A research group is hoping to hook American snack food lovers on a treat tentatively dubbed "Fish Chewies."

The newest entry planned for the highly competitive and lucrative snack food market is made from "underutilized" fish and fish byproducts and designed to be nutritionally sound, said Mitchell M. Griffith, a microbiologist for Research Corp., a non-profit organization that evaluates and patents inventions.

High temperatures and high pressures make the fish taste in Fish Chewies undetectable, and the product then can be more appealingly shaped and flavored, said Steve Bacon, a spokesman for Research Corp.

"It's still very embryonic," Griffith said. "It's a new invention for us and we are just starting to have a program for marketing."

But he said the potential market for the snack is "huge."

"We feel it will sell in the United States and probably in Japan," where fish products are usually well received, Griffith said.

Researchers have long been trying to find ways to put to use fish species not common to the dinner plate, such as hake, he said.

Fish Chewies were developed by Endel Karmas, a professor in Rutgers' Cook College food science department, and Ellen Lauber, a graduate student.

Steve Bacon, a spokesman for Research Corp., said Fish Chewies are unlike many other junk foods because they provide an economical source of protein balanced with carbohydrates while still being low in calories.

Fish Chewies, however, doesn't appeal to Bacon as a name for the snack, and he said he hopes a switch is made to something more catchy.

Making Fish Chewies involves mincing, cooking, fermenting and then combining the fish with starch and water, Bacon said.

A dough is created that is cooked and formed at high temperatures and pressures, and any undesirable taste is masked, Bacon said.

The product then can be flavored as desired and any shape or texture can be produced, he said.

Some of the flavoring possibilities include lobster, crab cheese or even a candy taste.

The product also has a long shelf life at room temperatures, Bacon said.

Sales of snack foods in 1982, the last year for which Griffith had statistics, totaled $10 billion in the United States and are showing sharp increases in Europe.

Spending on construction up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spending on new construction edged up 0.7 percent in July, reversing a decline of the previous month, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said that total construction spending rose to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $311.4 billion following a decline of 0.5 percent in June.

The meager increase, however, was far below the robust hikes of more than 6 percent turned in during the first two months of the year. Analysts have said the construction industry has been hurt by rising interest rates with the weakness in recent months symptomatic of a slowing of the overall economy.

Construction of single-family homes was down for the second straight month, falling 1.9 percent from the June rate.

Opening night good to Dallas

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — While Danny White calls it an experiment, Gary Hogeboom figures to be the first-string quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys for years to come if his first National Football League regular-season start is an accurate measure of his talents.

Hogeboom set a franchise record for completions in a game Monday night as the Cowboys, as they usually do, opened the season with a victory.

"I had fun, hopefully there's more to come," Hogeboom said after completing 33 of his 47 passing attempts for 343 yards to lead the Cowboys to a 20-13 come-from-behind win over the Los Angeles Rams. "I was very pleased with my performance."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry announced last Tuesday that Hogeboom would replace White as the Cowboys' starting quarterback. White had been the starter since Roger Staubach retired after the 1979 season.

White said he had mixed emotions watching the nationally televised game at Anaheim Stadium.

"It was exciting to see how well the defense played," he said. "We have the potential to win the Super Bowl with defense like that."

Asked about his future, White said, "I won't make a permanent decision until this experiment is over."

Ironically, the record Hogeboom broke was set by White, who completed 31 throws last Nov. 13 against San Diego.

The triumph was the 19th for the Cowboys in their last 20 season-openers — their only loss coming at the hands of the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1982 — and gave them an 11-0 record in openers on the road.

It also enabled Landry to become the second-winningest coach in NFL history.

Landry, the only head coach the Cowboys have had since the franchise was formed in 1960, has 235 victories to 234 for former Green Bay Coach Curly Lambeau.

The late George Halas, who coached the Chicago Bears, is the all-time leader with 325 wins.

The Cowboys won despite committing four turnovers in the first 16½ minutes and five in the game. They trailed 13-0 after only 12:32 of play. Then, their defense took over and Hogeboom began hitting with regularity.

"I thought the key to the Dallas win was their defense, they were outstanding," said Los Angeles Coach John Robinson. "It was a game we let get away from us. I thought our defense played well but we left them on the field too long."

The Cowboys had the ball for 37 minutes, 53 seconds of the game and finished with 436 yards in total offense to only 204 for Los Angeles.

Yet Dallas fell behind after 3:01 of play, didn't tie the contest until Rafael Septien's 52-yard field goal with 13:44 remaining, and didn't go ahead until Tony Dorsett raced seven yards for a touchdown with 3:56 left to complete the scoring.

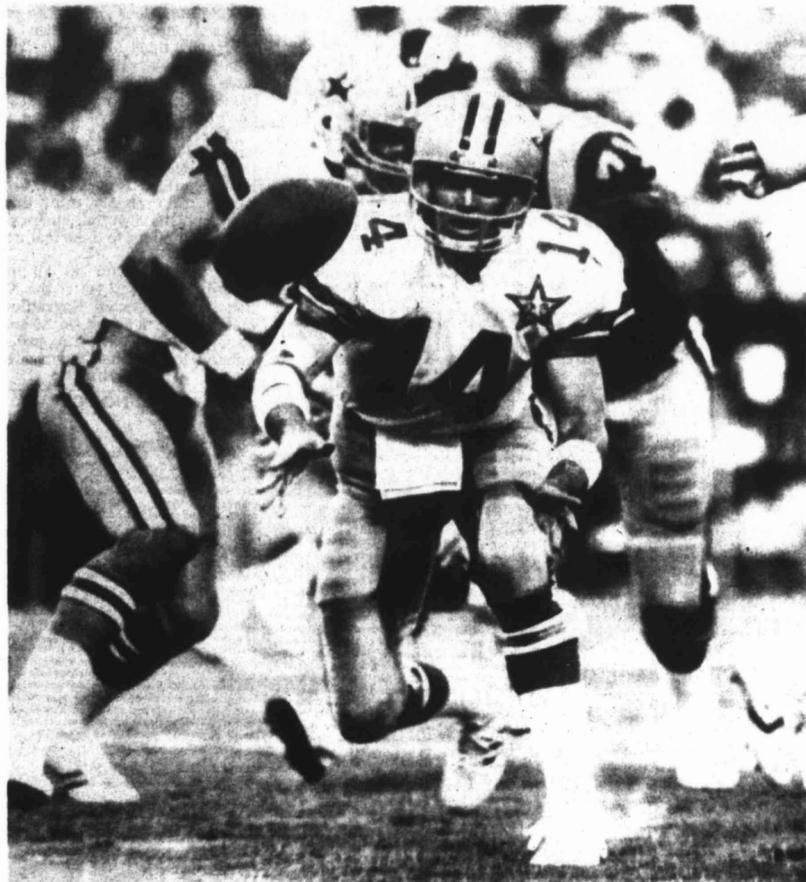

Los Angeles running back Eric Dickerson, who scored his team's only touchdown on a 2-yard run in the opening minutes, had a good game, finishing with 138 yards on 21 carries. Dickerson led the NFL in rushing as a rookie last year with 1,806 yards.

However, the Cowboys did a superb job in defending against the pass. Quarterback Vince Ferragamo of the Rams completed only 11 of his 33 throws for just 84 yards and was intercepted four times.

"Eric ran the ball well but our timing was off on our passing," Ferragamo said. "They made us throw quick and double-covered our receivers. The momentum totally changed after we were up 13-0. We had our chances but didn't capitalize."

Dickerson's touchdown came immediately after Hogeboom was hit while attempting to pass by Los Angeles linebacker George Andrews and fumbled. Defensive end Jack Youngblood of the Rams scooped the ball up and ran nine yards to the Dallas 2-yard line.

The Rams got their other points on field goals of 31 and 36 yards by Mike Lansford later in the first quarter. The first three-point return by Gary Green to the Dallas 44-yard line; the second came after a fumble by Dorsett was recovered

'Hoge' lowers boom on Rams

PITCH OUT — Dallas Cowboys quarterback Gary Hogeboom (14) pitches the ball out to runningback Tony Dorsett during first half action Monday night against the Los Angeles Rams in the season NFL opener for both teams. In his first start Hogeboom led the Cowboys to a 20-13 win.

by Eric Harris at the Cowboys' 25. The Cowboys made it 13-7 on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Hogeboom to Doug Cosbie with 5:51 left in the second quarter, and 13-10 on a 31-yard field goal by Septien with 6:01 remaining in the third period.

After the Cowboys drove 69 yards in nine plays to take their 20-13 lead, the Rams posed one final threat, getting as far as the Dallas 39-yard line. But on a fourth-and-one play, Dickerson was thrown for a 1-yard loss by defensive tackle

Randy White. "It was the exact same play as the Ram touchdown," said White, who was a holdout until a week ago Monday. "Dickerson gets the ball and picks his hole. I beat the center's cut block and was able to stop the play."

Three Dallas players established personal single-game highs in receptions — Dorsett caught 10 passes for 66 yards; Doug Donley had nine catches for 137 yards; and Cosbie had eight receptions for 99 yards. Dorsett also rushed for 81 yards on 25 carries. "This one will give us confidence with a long season ahead," Landry said. "It will be a very interesting season with a 40 percent turnover in personnel and 12 rookies."

Landry didn't even mention the new starter at quarterback. "I was very pleased with his performance," Landry said of Hogeboom, who is beginning his fifth professional season. "I felt he had that kind of game in him. We are blessed to have two great quarterbacks."

Golf champs crowned in Club tourney

Ronnie Broadrick and Mary Robertson claimed championship flight wins Tuesday to take the title of Club Champions at the Annual Big Spring Country Club Labor Day Golf Tournament.

Broadrick, one of the favorites in the men's championship flight, lived up to the expert's predictions as he downed Pat Weaver in the finals. He reached the match by downing Bobby Waters in semi-finals play.

In the first flight championship, Richard Terry pulled a slight upset over tourney favorite Mike Scarbrough. Scarbrough defeated Richard Palmer to advance against Terry. Terry defeated Brad Small in the semi-final round.

Another upset took place in the second flight championship when Drew Mouton won out over Richard Atkins. Atkins, along with Jack Cook and Bill Willis, who was defeated for third by Ray Mize, were considered the favorites in the flight.

"Beetle" Bailey was considered the clear favorite in the third flight, but had to settle for third when he lost to Waylon Reeves in the semi-finals. Reeves met his match in the finals when he was defeated by Tom Watson. Watson downed Scott McLaughlin to reach the championship match.

In fourth flight medal play Don McDonald fired an 83 to win the competition with a 244. Bill Hicks, who led with his opening round score of 82, recorded scores of 83 and 90 to finish third behind McDonald and Robert Patterson, who shot a three-day total of 255.

WOMEN'S TITLE
It was Robertson's day in the run for the women's club championship as she recorded a 90. That was nine strokes lower than Susie Welch, who led by one stroke going into the final round. Welch's 99 left her in second, eight strokes behind Robertson's 275.

Barbara Hall, who scored a 92 Sunday, shot a 101 Monday, but her 299 was well ahead of Martha Saunders' 313 to capture first flight championship honors.

For the third consecutive day Flo Hallam shot the best round of her second flight opponents (116), to win with a total of 328. Eileen Womack finished second with 345.

but whether anyone could even come close to beating Martina Navratilova.

She may be the only one who doesn't think that way — she says. Yet, through four rounds, no one has come close to beating her.

"I don't think about that," the top-seeded Navratilova said Monday. "If I did, I'd get beat. Maybe I have a low opinion of myself. I don't know."

"Everybody seems to think I have this in the bag. But you can't take anything for granted and I haven't, which is why I've been winning. I certainly don't think that way. It's nice that others do, but I can't afford to think that way at all."

On Monday, with an all-time record crowd of 21,112 at the National Tennis Center, Navratilova methodically defeated No. 15 seed Barbara Potter 6-4, 6-4 in just 61 minutes to move into the quarter-finals.

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

YOUR DAILY Horoscope from the Carroll Righter Institute

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 5, 1984

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day is not good for making loans or taking risks of any kind, but you soon find a whole new influence which gives you an opportunity to branch out in new expression.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't try to push your ideas in the morning, and try to complete jobs you have started; then you can later pioneer into new directions.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure you do not disturb the status quo in the morning, and then after lunch you can forge ahead into new channels.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Separate friends from figures in the morning, and later you can be with them for exchange of ideas and pleasure as well.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Study your civic duties and handle them well without involving a jealous partner and all will go well with you.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You have some plan in mind in the morning that is fine, so carry through with it and forget boring tasks.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good day to incorporate new methods into your work and other activities and get better results with them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Know what it is that partners want from you and don't let family affairs take up your valuable time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get busy at the work you have promised to do and get it done before you meet with your friends for fun.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Arrange to get into entertainments that are different and not so costly as the usual ones.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you want to get your abode more as you want it to be, you may have to compromise some with kin.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You could lose out in profitable duties if you stay home and fuss over something you can do nothing about.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put ideas across to others that can add considerably to present assets, but don't be extravagant in finding amusement.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be a born pioneer and quite different from most other children, and will want to delve into all sorts of things early in life, so give a good deal of attention so that the energies are directed in right directions. Teach to complete whatever has been started.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
